Spanish Printing Booming

MIAMI (AP) - Spanish-language magazines are a booming Miami export with 13 publications boosting over six million circulation from Mexico to Argentina. Publishers claim it's only the beginning. "Our company recognized the tremendous potential of Miami," said Guillermo Bermello, general manager of Saral Publications. "It's the location in Latin America and the area offers a vast pool of Cuban exile personnel. "We have writers, typesetters, make-up men, photographers, artists, secretaries... all bilingual, all talented." Saral prints nine periodicals with combined circulation of 4.6 million. It is the U.S. subsidiary of Editorial America, a Panama-based publisher. Other outlets - Omega Publishing Corp. and Editorial Omega - are companies born from a private corporation in Havana. Omega Publishing is controlled by the Hearst newspaper chain and publishes over 400,000 monthly copies of Bohemia, the Latin American to Good Housekeeping magazine. Editorial Omega prints some 350,000 copies of Mecanica Popular, the Spanish counterpart of Popular Mechanics with an array of self-bound books. A. D. Weiss Lithographs, in Hollywood, Fla., does the printing for Saral and the Omegas plus printing a Spanish edition of the Reader's Digest known as Selecciones. Saral Publications has increased its sales in nine years to $3 million annually and employs 70 persons, mostly Cuban exiles. Its most popular product is Vanidades, consistently with 480,000 monthly circulation, but the Latin grab up 220,000 issues every month of Romance, a title that needs no translation.

It Was Tried Back In 1962

Federal guidelines knocked out a surplus food commodity program for Seminole County back about 1962, it was revealed today by former County Commission Chairman James P. Avery Jr. The Herald queried Avery after receiving reports that a contract had been signed between the federal and county governments to supply surplus foods for the needy in the county.

"Agreement was reached to inaugurate the program," Avery said, "and the County Commission leased the old railroad building to use as a warehouse." (He was referring to the old railroad building on the north side of First Street at Myrtle Avenue.)

Avery continued: "The county spent $1,300 to put up partitions and otherwise get the building in shape to handle the food program. Then some smart A-lc bureaucrat came in from Washington and laid down guidelines how 'they' would handle the program. They were going to open it up so that everyone in Seminole County would have been eligible to draw free food.

"The county tried to reason... and finally called it quits. We sublet the railroad building to Chase and Company and recovered all the money the county had spent to put it in shape."

More Than 20,000 Pupils Expected Schools Have Growing Pains

By BILL SCOTT
Seminole County schools are facing growing pains. This was the gist of Supt. John Angel's comments during this morning's weekly news conference.

Angel brought out latest attendance figures and projections for the immediate future to a total of 21 additional teachers are needed to handle the additional teacher load this year.

Five of the 24 are remedial reading teachers, Angel said. Total county school attendance including kindergarten was up to 19,883 students Friday and is expected to increase to over 20,000 before reaching a peak.

Most of the growth has been in the south county area Angel said and noted that developers had planned 500 additional homes in the Howell Park area and this would mean an average of at least two additional students per home to already crowded facilities.

The superintendent disclosed that Lyman High needed seven more teachers now to take care of the 1,000 enrollment.

"We had projected a peak 1,500 students at Lyman and already we are way over this with the peak still to come," Angel explained.

"With the expected growth to continue at an ever faster clip after Disney World is opened, it is possible that within the next two or three years school enrollment could increase as much as 60 per cent in the south county area," Stewart Gatchell, assistant superintendent for instruction, commented.

Angel disclosed six additional teachers are needed at South Seminole Junior High; four at Crows High and remainder at Sanford Junior High, making a total of 19.

Five remedial reading teachers are also being sought to aid slow readers, he advised. Only Seminole High and Lakeside Junior High at Sanford had enrollments less than expected.

A problem of overcrowding exists at English Estates, Hillside, Lake Mary and Longwood elementary schools, the educator said.

"The problem can be solved in either a combination of three ways, he advised. These included, administratively shifting students from one school to another, move in portables or use libraries, lunchrooms and other school areas for classes," he informed.

County has only 11 portables not being used and needs 22 more before a solution could be found taking this route, Angel said.

Boaters Look To Marina

A Sanford merchant and yachtman has asked the city commission about leasing a 100 foot by 100 foot section of beach near the Monroe Harbor drydock on the marina for construction for the Sanford Yacht Club.

John Kader, member of the club, told commission the seawaterers intended to obtain a beverage license to serve members only and would ultimately hold dances at the club headquarters.

F. C. Matchison, city attorney, advised Kader to consult with the operators of House of Steak, lessees of other city-owned marina property, concerning the restrictions on anyone else holding a license or liquor privileges before deciding to construct the facility.

Hutchison said all rights to beverage sales might be contained in the marina group's contracts with the city.

Kader indicated he would check with the Holiday Inn operators to determine extent of restrictions involving alcoholic beverages before proceeding with request for a 20-year property lease with city holding right to approve the type structure to be erected.

In another action the commission approved a revised Sanford Airport yearly operations budget for $187,918; with $70,000 of the amount to fund salaries at the facility.

Airport employees received pay increases in line with same percentage of increase given city workers.

AIRBORNE FOR NINE FEET AFTER COLLISION

A truck pulled in front of a tractor-trailer, which, in turn, struck Mrs. Bryant's vehicle. Deputies said her station wagon was airborne for nine feet and rolled over twice down this embankment. 'Razz-mah-tazz' Doled To Casseberry Officer

By DONNA ESTES
County Commissioners. All we get is razz-mah-tazz.

"Show me one avenue where the County Commission has cooperated with any city in this county. If asked for help by any municipality they find an excuse to say 'no'."

"We don't want one penny from them we are not entitled to. If they do not want to protect these children, the city will take it upon itself to do so," Virz concluded.

The councilman, in a stinging statement to the board yesterday, asked for joint participation with the county on forming some type of protection for children at bus stops on the main arteries of Casselberry, Winter Park Drive, Seminole Boulevard and Ivy Lane. "We don't want to have another Camella Jo Hand," Virz said.

Commission Chairman John Alexander announced Virz's remarks with the statement, "All of us take the position that we wouldn't want to see the death of any child."

The chairman also pointed out there are some 1,000 bus stops in the county and to provide guards at all the stops would cost an estimated $40,000 annually. "You are talking of a program with no basis in reality. I do not know anywhere in Florida where such service is provided."

Alexander noted that the county has nothing to do with school busing and the matter might more properly be brought to the attention of the School Board.

At the same time, Commissioner Greg Drummond pointed out the responsibility for seeing children safely onto school buses resides with parents and made mention of the large number of mothers throughout the county who are handling the chore.

Pay Hike Asked

Seminole Memorial Hospital trustees at Tuesday's meeting asked for a 5 per cent pay raise from Dr. Fred Ionta, hospital pathologist, outlining Ionta's request for a five per cent increase in pay.

The pathologist sought to increase to 20 per cent the amount of gross proceeds taken in by the hospital's laboratory.

Presently Ionta receives 25 per cent of gross and has requested an increase of one per cent per year over next five years to bring remuneration up to 30 per cent, minus 15 per cent for bad debts.

Ionta's request also mentioned the need of a second pathologist to be employed at the medical center in the future.

Trustees, in discussing the proposal, asked Robert Bessener, administrator, to contact other area hospitals and the American College of Pathologists to determine what arrangements other hospitals are making in this regard.

Regarding care for mental patients at the facility, Bessener said an answer to placing county mental patients in jail may be found within next three months.

He said a report from John Burton IV, architect, concerning hospital facilities for mental cases would be made to the county commission.

Bessener said he preferred not to discuss the subject too much at this time, since the commission is wrestling with the problem, but he did reveal that state mental health people had not recommended having a holding place for patients until they could be hospitalized.

Voters Speak Out

County voters in favor of an expanded road building program, sex education in the schools and liberalized abortion laws.

These results are shown in a poll just completed by State Sen. Kenneth Plante in Seminole and Orange Counties. Questionnaires were sent to Republicans in one group and to Democrats and Republicans in a second group. Answers were similar for both groups.

Electorates returning the questionnaire said that present roads are inadequate for the traffic using them (the vote was 81 to 19 percent), while, at the same time, the survey showed 77 per cent of those polled favor spending $6 billion for a 16-year road program proposed by the State Department of Transportation.

The voters favored toll roads (64 per cent) as opposed to an increased gasoline tax (36 per cent). They turned thumbs down on an alternate mode of travel, such as monorail system.

In the matter of sex education, the voters favored 70-30 per cent - the subject as proper for public schools, if presented properly by trained teachers.

And the electors favored, by 82 per cent, the change in Florida's abortion law to permit medical people to decide if an abortion should be performed.

In other matters, the persons polled rapped the excessive legislative pay law; favored banking the use of DDT in Florida; approved a resort tax to finance recreation - tourist facilities; frowned on increased taxation in any form and were divided on the Governor's performance. Speculation Rife On War

The U.S. Command lately accepted the truce and abruptly curtailed its offensive operations including bomb raids. But they publicly rejected a ceasefire and his forces increased their military operations. There was no indication however, that they were killing any of the enemy. U.S. sources say that if the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese do not step up their present low level of activity after the end of the cease-fire, American forces likely will respond by continuing the curtailment in their offensive operations. As evidence of the rift between the United States and its Vietnamese ally, field reports said the U.S. Command was re-bombing the Viet Cong, artillery and bombers to support some of the South Vietnamese operations that continued despite the cease-fire.

The 150 residents watched with terror as the severed fuselage of the jet whistled toward them. Bodies, wreckage and luggage fell from the sky. Airport controllers said the jet disappeared from a radar screen as it dropped from 6,000 feet to 2,800 feet in its landing approach.

Film Censorship Eyed By County

Seminole-Orange Rep. E. Pope Basseti opened today that the county can pass any law under home rule provision of the new State Constitution that is not in conflict with state law. The opinion was sought in connection with a suggestion made to the Board of County Commissioners by Commissioner Greg Drummond yesterday that the county take action to require movie theater owners to not only a rating of movies shown but also the rating of coming attractions they are "going to inflect on children attending."

Ho's Will Exhorts People To Fight U. S.

By FORREST EDWARDS Associated Press Writer HONG KONG (AP) — Ho Chi Minh in a "final will" read today expressed sorrow at the split between the Soviet and the Chinese Communists and exhorted the Vietnamese people to fight on until complete victory over the U.S. aggressors.

The North Vietnamese president's will, a political testament that would be directed by a collective leadership which had been "carefully trained and selected" by Ho.

Without mentioning either Russia or China by name, Ho appealed to them to match up their quarrel. He told his own party that it should offer all help in reuniting and solidifying international communism.

Hurrah For Sanford Airport's 'Deed-Day'!

This is D (for DEED) Day in Sanford. It is the end of a time of uncertainty. It is the beginning of a new era for Greater Sanford as its possibilities to be what it can be as a major general airport with allied air-oriented industries in full swing is realized.

speaking out with firmness and preciseness about arrangements for such moves. To those wise industrialists who have already come here and started their operations on the base, go the thanks of all. Especially is this the case with Page Airways, Inc., the fixed base operator.

Sanford Industrial Commission is well aware of this fact and plans to move along two major lines of action. The commission will continue to improve the base for commercial aviation but its efforts to attract industries will be strengthened as the aviation facilities are improved.

The General Services Administration and the Federal Aviation Administration, who have wrestled a long time with our airport problem and have now produced just what our city needed.

"Snow Station!"

Did you know what South Seminole city was originally known as "Snow Station." (Altamonte Springs) That building permits in Casseberry last year totaled $4,787,302 — more than the three other South Seminole municipalities combined!

There are many other helpful facts to be found in the new map and fact sheet just published by Maitland-South Seminole Chamber of Commerce through the sponsorship of 21 area businesses.

We would congratulate the chamber for this community service which provides not only an up-to-date and attractive map of this rapidly growing area, where new streets and subdivisions seem to pop up overnight like mushrooms, but gives needed information on just about every subject.

This publication can certainly be used to advantage when presenting an overall picture of the Maitland-South Seminole area and both residents and businesses should find multiple uses for it.

A brief and interesting history of the area communities of Altamonte Springs, Casseberry, Longwood and North Orlando is also included. Copies are available simply or in quantity from the chamber office at 111 Independence Lane, Maitland, at a nominal charge.

Crane's Worry Clinic:

By - GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph. D., M. D. CASE L-502; Norma L., aged 23, is a charming feminine type of wife.

"We hope to have six kids," she laughingly announced as I dined with her and her husband. Apparently, I must have raised my eyebrows.

"Did I say something wrong?" she queried. "No," I replied, "your desire for six children is laudable. But you violated a basic rule of advertising psychology when you referred to your future babies as 'kids'."

"That's definitely a masculine term and thus it violates what advertisers call 'feeling tone.' "A man may call babies 'kids' or even 'buds' and so might a rough, tough woman who hangs around saloons and wharfs.

Helen Fuller Says:

Nixon On Inflation Trail?

WASHINGTON — Will your two envelope stretch to cover another increase in all prices of 8 to 7 per cent next year? That is what some top men inside the Nixon Administration as well as Wall Street analysts and many conservative private economists are trying to find out.

It is a most logical and happy fact that, as the runways, runway lighting, control tower and other basic needs are improved, the attraction of industries to this entire area is also improved.

Steel raised its prices 8 1/2 to 11 1/2 per cent, warning President Kennedy created such an uproar that the rest of the steel industry refrained from following suit.

But the old conventional methods are not working — or are working so slowly that the President has nightmares about economic and political disaster. Since steel goes into automobiles, among hundreds of other items, Ford has announced a price increase.

"Ogilvie Overlay" In Illinois

By BRUCE BLOSSAT, NEA Washington Correspondent. CHICAGO (NEA) — The up-bell condition of the Illinois Republican party is not only a tribute to tough-minded Gov. Richard Ogilvie but a telling demonstration of how success breeds complacency.

First, through organization of a fund-raising outfit called the Big Club, which vigorously solicited $500 contributions from a wide spectrum of the party citizenry, the Illinois leadership developed a better money base.

Under guidance of Robert Board, an experienced fund-raising technician, the staff is employing a range of modern political techniques, including data processing, door-to-door canvassing, and the extensive use of mail.

Secy. Of State: Would Save $300 Million

Year-Round Schools Pumped By Adams

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Florida taxpayers could be faced with a $238.6 million tax hike as a result of two plans presented Tuesday to the State Board of Education.

Secretary of State Tom Adams, however, responded with a plea against "jumping to the same old conclusion that the only way to approach our educational problems is to raise taxes and throw huge sums of money at them."

Adams called for year-round schools which he said would eliminate up to $300 million in present costs of poor utilization of schools.

He said the Legislature would either have to remove the 10 mill limit so counties could raise taxes or state increase state aid from state tax revenues.

North Orlando Roads Result In Complaints

By MARIAN BETHA. Former mayor from Van Buren complained to the North Orlando Village Council Monday night that the roads in her area were in deplorable condition due to heavy rains and damage caused by bulldozers used by Gulf American Corporation.

Specifically mentioned were South Edgemoor and Sunset in which she said the corner was founded. Mrs. Mary Williamson, for instance, asked that school children were based in "the hoodocks" due to the road condition, and that there were no mail carriers in this deserted area.

Parental concern for the children's safety was expressed and it was requested that a police official patrol the area. Mayor Jordan asked the acting police chief to "see what he could do." Commissioner of roads and bridges Albert Marshall also promised to ascertain a possible solution to the road situation as well as the usual problem "not enough money."

Mrs. Williamson also asked council if it had been determined how many people were availing themselves of the bus service to Orlando and Winter Park, remarking that it had been brought to her attention that the buses were carrying only three or four passengers.

Other costs are scattered throughout the budgets of numerous government agencies, making accounting complex.

Billions Of Dollars Said Involved

Atlantic States Fight For Sea Minerals

By DILLON GRAHAM Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Atlantic seaboard states are marshaling their forces for a Supreme Court fight for ownership of potential oil and minerals extending far out into the ocean. "There could be untold billions of dollars involved in offshore minerals and oil," said Maine's Attorney General James E. Felt.

Attorneys General of Atlantic seaboard states met here Tuesday to map their strategy against a federal government move for a high tribunal ruling that the states have no right to own or regulate the extraction of minerals from the ocean beyond their own immediate coastal waters.

U.S. Solicitor General Erwin Griswold filed a complaint against the 13 Atlantic Coastal states some months ago. The states are separately submitting their attorneys general plan to argue their cases before the Supreme Court.

They hope for oral arguments by mid-1970. Attorney General of their assistants from Maine Messacsettis, Rhode Island, Maryland, Delaware, Virginia, New Hampshire and South Carolina agreed Tuesday they would be represented in the arguments by a common counsel.

They selected the counsel but withheld his name pending his acceptance.

They also agreed to try to persuade Florida, Georgia, North Carolina, New York and New Jersey to go along with a common counsel and to contribute to his fee.

These five states have indicated their attorneys general plan to argue their cases before the Supreme Court.

Maine already is directly involved in regulating its offshore mineral exploration.

Maine in April 1968 granted the King Resources Co. of Denver prospecter permits to explore three million acres of the Gulf of Maine 8 to 60 miles offshore. Later it issued a license, under certain conditions to King Resources to explore, exploit and extract minerals found.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a married man with a family. I work for my father-in-law who owns some apartment buildings, and two evenings a week I do some rent-collecting for him.

About a year ago a woman (about 40) moved into one of his flats. She is a physical therapist and holds the rank of Captain in the WAF. She has never been married.

"Although I don't know her, I find her to be a very exciting woman. She is intelligent and interesting and has been all over the world. By contrast, my wife (whom I really love) seems very dull and uninteresting."

"Sleepless nights. She says if I refuse she will tell my wife about it. My wife doesn't suspect anything, but she has already threatened to tell."

DEAR ABBY: I've heard that my daughter has been telling friends that when she goes back to work I will buy her a car. (She's divorcing her husband.) This is quite a surprise to me because she hasn't asked me yet. I guess she just takes me for granted.

I have been a widow for 21 years and I have worked hard to send my four children thru college. I am not rich, but I don't need baby-sitting money to eat. Now that I am in my sixties, frankly, I am tired, and I think I've earned the right to take life a little easier.

How can I tell my daughter of my decision when she hasn't even ASKED me yet? She starts her job in five weeks. Should I come right on and tell her if she's depending on me, she'd better listen to some one else because Grandma isn't sitting anymore!

DEAR TIED: It is unfortunate that you and your daughter don't have a better communication system. Don't provide answers for unasked questions. I and what she asks you, speak your piece.

DEAR ABBY: Do you know what a real friend is? It's someone who cares enough about your feelings to treat you as much as possible. Example: Our 25-year-old daughter and her husband, after nine years of marriage, decided to get a divorce. They have two darling children. Fortunately, it will not be one of those messy affairs. They quickly made their decision and told us (first) that they plan to announce it next week. Of course, we were shocked and heartick that their marriage ended this way, but they assured us they tried hard to make a go of it, but it was hopeless.

Not wishing my dearest friend to hear it from outsiders, I told her in confidence this afternoon. Her only comment was, "Thank you for telling me."

She didn't say, "Oh how terrible!" or "WHAT HAPPENED?" or "Aren't you just sick about it?" or "Oh, those poor children."

When I left her, I thanked her for her considerate reaction to the news I gave her. Her only remark was, "What else is there to say? It's your daughter's business, and as an intelligent girl, she has given her decision much thought. I am sure."

Now, ABBY, there is a friend for you. THERE IS A FRIEND FOR YOU. Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 6706, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Have to write letters? Send 5¢ to Abby, Box 6706, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Jacoby On Bridge

Jacoby and Son

The correct way to play a hand is not necessarily the way that will produce the most tricks. Experts frequently use safety plays to insure their contracts and pay the insurance premium with an overtrick.

South leads the ace of spades. He does this to guard against the chance that West will hold all three missing spades. Since he does not hold the 10 he cannot guard against three trumps in the East hand.

When both opponents hold South can play aces and go after diamonds. If he picks up the queen he will be able to discard his losing heart and make an overtrick. In the other hand if he goes wrong with that queen the opponents

There is a much better play for the ace at his disposal. He must go through a process known as "stripping the hand." He leads his ace of clubs to dummy's ace at trick three. This ruffs a club, plays South to dummy's ace, ruffs dummy's last club and leads his four of hearts. Either opponent can win this trick. A heart or club lead will allow South to ruff to dummy and discard a diamond from his hand. A diamond lead will automatically take care of the problem of leading the queen. Of course, this safety play would fail if the second club were ruffed but playing against an 8-1 club break is a far better chance than trying to locate a missing queen.

DEAR POLLY: It was a problem keeping my kitchen counters neat and clean. There always seems to be something on them—dirty dishes, a pan soaking or meat that is defrosting. I solved this by setting that soaking pan in the oven and taping a note to the detergent bottle to remind me to wash it. Defrosting meat is also put in the oven with paper plates under it to catch drips. Between meals, dirty dishes are rinsed and put under the counter in a plastic can until time to wash them. The result is there is never anything on the counter but the cozy jar and canning jar.

DEAR POLLY: F. M. may find that removing the paint from two white chairs is a trying task and not worth the time and effort. I have painted white chairs with a spray gun and with a brush and find both ways are satisfactory. When using one with short bristles so that the paint can be clean then use a flat brush for the wider. An inexpensive brush will do—LOU.

DEAR POLLY: I suggest that you forget about renting wicker chairs to their natural state. It would be an endless task and if the wicker is to be used in a plastic can until time to wash them. The result is there is never anything on the counter but the cozy jar and canning jar.

Beauty after Forty

by Edyth Thornton McLeod

"What do you think of the 'see-through' dresses and blouses?" Reader

I think they are ugly, bad taste, and completely stupid. Maybe I am what they call a "square" but I stick to my ideas about this and I am glad to hear that the Paris collections are through with the nude fashions.

"Do you believe what I have reading, that one who really travels to the Moon one day?" Reader

Yes, why not? Some of the airlines say that they have people sending in reservations to be the first. If and when they get to the Moon. In my book, "Beauty After Forty" are written some years ago. I said that I believed in "grandma" will be one of the first to "fly" to the Moon. And I still believe that. So ladies, start making reservations!

"I weigh much more than I should always have. Now my teen-aged daughter is overweight just as I was and am sure we both reduce to our diet! If we have the will-power to try to reduce." After Forty

You must have the will-power and especially to get an "exercise plan" for your daughter. You both need to reduce, first a matter of health and looks. My "Figure Control" diet is prepared for discussion and approval by the project chairmen, Howard Middleton. Recommendations of the nominating committee for Chapter directors to be elected at the Annual Meeting in October will be presented.

New Shuttle Bus Appreciated

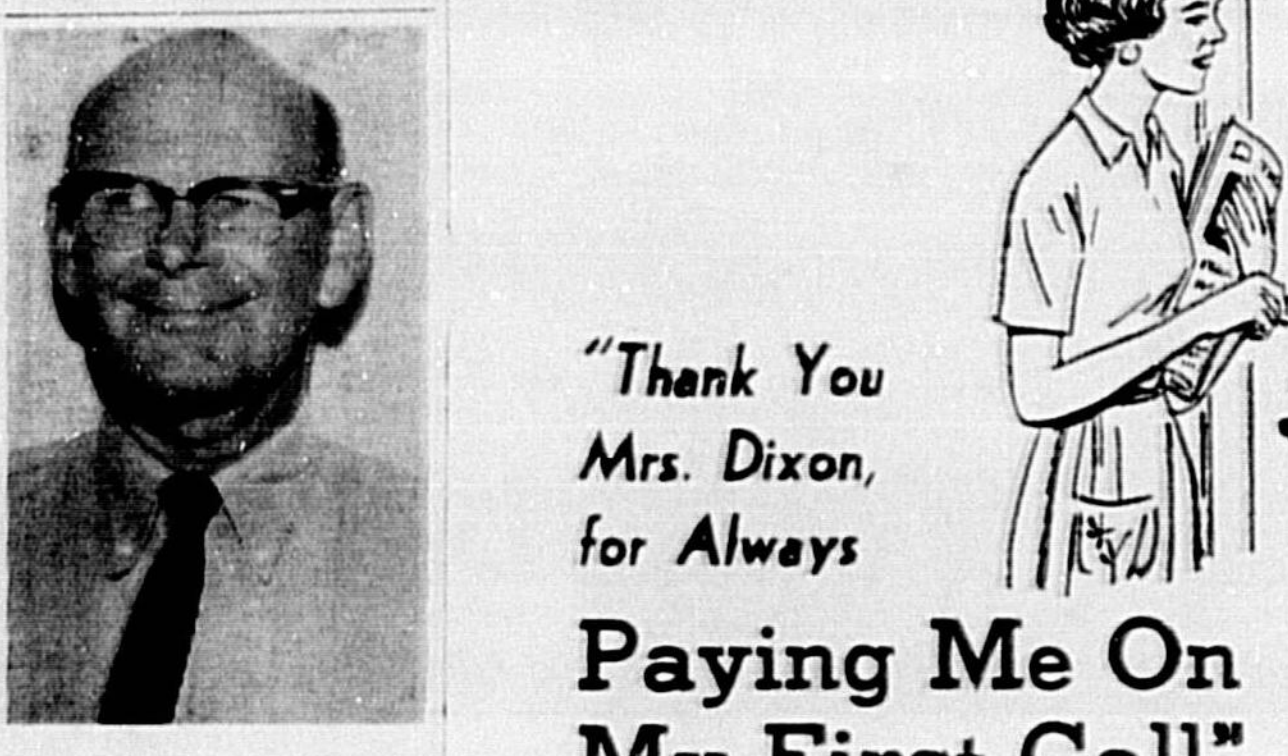

By MARY HYATT
North Orlando residents may now take advantage of a new twice weekly shuttle bus service to Winter Park, Colonial Plaza and Orlando. City Councilmen voted to join cities of Casselberry and Longwood in contracting for a 50-day trial run experiment with the Orlando Transit Company. Terms of the deal stipulate North Orlando will guarantee 3200 of the total $1,360 asked by the bus concern.

Mrs. Granville Brown and daughter, Patti, of 23 North Cortez, two of the first to take advantage of the new service were delighted with this ride. The wife of a North Orlando councilman, Mrs. Brown said, "This is a good idea. Now I don't have to wait until my husband is off to take me shopping."

Orlando Transit Company driver Roy Bent found his first run to North Orlando a huge success. "Tell everyone about it," he urged, "and it will be continued."

Mrs. May Lormann and Mrs. Eleanor Stiers from Casselberry appreciate the fact they don't have to hunt parking space. Mrs. Irene Mitchell and Mrs. Grace Mitchell from Longwood said, "We don't drive great, keep it going."

From Indian Hills, Casselberry were Jean and Karen Latta. "Love it," she "doesn't like to drive," says Karen. "So handy," added Jean. On his second trip, George Waldvogel, passenger from Casselberry, said, "A real convenience, lots of times it comes in real handy because I have no transportation. Do you think they will

HE MAY not say so very often, but your friendly newspaper carrier deeply appreciates the fact that most of his route customers always pay him the very first time he calls to collect.

HE'S GRATEFUL for their cooperation because prompt collections mean so much to him as a young businessman. They give him full profits from his efforts, enable him to pay his route bill when due, and minimize all-backs—a slow leaving him more time free for school work, sports, and other activities in a busy boy's life.

ALSO, they enable him to keep the other half of his bargain with you—provide on time delivery of your newspaper every day! You see how many ways it pays to have the change ready for him on collection days!

Blank Paper Fails To Fool Teacher

By DEE WEDEMEYER
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—One little boy turned in a blank sheet of paper for classwork and several children tried to sneak out of their seats. But otherwise it was a normal first day of classes for New York's first blind public school teacher.

"I shall grade accordingly with a zero," said the teacher, Alexander J. Chavich, 38. "I don't think I shall have to worry about a blank piece of paper again unless the job is absolutely suicidal."

The students who attempted to leave their seats quickly discovered Chavich can slightly see light and was aware of their movement. He returned them to their seats, somewhat astonished.

But the day in Macombs Junior High School, located in a disadvantaged area of the Bronx was not without problems, said Principal Milton Stier.

Furniture had to be rearranged so Chavich would not bump into P. Students were told Weissenborn said the wide vehicles are a safety hazard on Florida highways.

The Senate subcommittee will open its hearing on wide buses permission to extend test runs of a wide bus between Jacksonville and Miami for another six months. The Legislature soundly defeated a wide bus bill a few months before he acted.

"It's like a fleet of these things ready to go?" he said. "I don't know, but we're going to have someone there to find out."

"As a lawyer, I know he's out."

Make-Ahead Hors D'oeuvre

ATTRACTIVE hors d'oeuvre... Tiny tarts are filled with a delicious combination of deviled ham and peanut butter.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
Go down south and you pick up good food ideas. That's just what we did a few months ago. At a cocktail party we were served a delicious little hors d'oeuvre. When we asked our hostess for the recipe she said, "Just mix deviled ham and peanut butter and fill small square shells with the mixture."

When we got home again that's what we did—and here's the recipe. One of the good things about this hors d'oeuvre is that you can prepare it well ahead, put it in your freezer and bake it just before serving.

No tart pans are needed for making these pastry shells. They're shaped an ingenious, easy way with aluminum foil.

PEANUT HAM TARTS
2 cans (each 3 ounces) deviled ham
1/2 cup chunky peanut butter
2 teaspoons prepared mustard

1 package (10 ounces) pie crust mix
1/2 cup (1/2 inch) square pie shells
1/2 cup (1/2 inch) square pie shells

16 squares. Turn up sides about 1/4 inch and as you do so, pinch corners to form small square pastry shells.

Place a rounded teaspoon (1/4 teaspoon in actual measurement) of ham mixture in each pastry shell.

Repeat process with second batch of pastry.

Place filled shells on cookie sheet. Bake in a preheated 450-degree oven until crust is lightly browned—10 to 12 minutes. Let cool just until foil can be peeled off easily. Remove foil and serve at once.

Makes 32 pastries.
To freeze: Spread filled unbaked tarts in single layers on flat pans; freeze; remove from pans, wrap appropriately and store in freezer. To bake, place frozen pastries on a cookie sheet and bake in preheated 450-degree oven 10 to 12 minutes (baking time is the same as for unfrozen pastries).

How To Stuff Shrimp
By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
We came upon our first recipe for Stuffed Shrimp about a dozen years ago. It was contributed by an Illinois restaurant. Since then this good dish has been popping up in restaurants in various parts of the country, and cooks have been interested to make the dish in their own kitchens.

So here's the latest recipe for Stuffed Shrimp that we have tried. We think you'll like it as the main course for a luncheon or for a party of seven or eight.

STUFFED SHRIMP
2 1/2 pounds raw jumbo shrimp, peeled and to the count per pound
3 tablespoons butter
1/4 cup finely chopped onion
1 large egg
1 can (7 ounces) tuna, drained and flaked
1/4 cup minced parsley
1/4 to 1/2 teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
2 teaspoons liquid gravy seasoning and browning sauce
Extra melted butter (about 2 tablespoons)

Shell and devein shrimp. With a small sharp knife, on the de-veined side, split shrimp, deeply but not quite through.

In a small skillet over low heat melt three tablespoons butter and add onion and cook gently, stirring often, until softened.

In a medium mixing bowl beat the egg until yolk and white are combined and add onion-butter mixture, tuna, rice, parsley, salt, pepper and liquid gravy seasoning and browning sauce and mix well.

On wax paper place flattened shrimp on side. Put about 2 teaspoons of the tuna mixture on each shrimp. Fold up one side of each shrimp over stuffing.

Grease a shallow broiling pan with some of the extra melted butter. With a spatula, place stuffed shrimp in pan in a single layer. Brush shrimp with remaining melted butter.

Place pan under broiler about 5 inches from high heat. Broil, without turning, until cooked through—5 to 6 minutes.

Makes 6 servings as a main course.

Cookie Bar For After School

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Chances are this cookie bar will be a favorite at your home. Shaggy Bars: Milk, 1 cup sifted flour, 1/2 teaspoon baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 pound (1 stick) butter, at room temperature, 1/2 cup sugar, 1 large egg, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1/2 cup fine cornflake crumbs, 1/2 cup plus 2 tablespoons chopped toasted blanched almonds.

Caramel Frosting: See below. On wax paper sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. In medium mixing bowl cream butter and sugar. Beat in egg and vanilla. Add flour mixture, cornflake crumbs and cup almonds. With a spoon mix until thoroughly smooth. Spread in buttered cake pan (8 by 8 by 2 inches). Bake in a preheated 375-degree oven until lightly browned—about 25 minutes. (Expect center to sink slightly.) Cool slightly. Cover top with Caramel Frosting and sprinkle with the remaining 2 tablespoons almonds, pressing them into frosting.

When frosting has set, cut in bars. Remove with a small spatula to wire rack. When completely cold, store in tightly covered tin box.

Caramel Frosting: In a small saucepan combine 2 tablespoons softened butter, 1/2 cup firmly packed dark brown sugar and 1 tablespoon water. Bring to a full boil. Remove from heat. Stir in 1 teaspoon vanilla and gradually add in 1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar.

Shoppers Eye Price Of Broiler

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Nutrition Columnist

Traditionally, prices for broiler chickens (2 1/2 to 4 pounds) drop right after Labor Day. But will they drop as much this year as usual? That is a big consumer question.

"I suspect they won't," reports Dr. L. A. Wilhelm, president of the Poultry and Egg National Board in Chicago, explaining.

"Production of broilers is up, yes. But the heavy consumer demand for all meats seems to get even heavier as employment continues and consumer income gets higher. And, of course, the unusual strong demand for red meats reflects on broiler prices, also."

Incidentally, the steadily growing popularity of the carry-out market-cooked chicken parts in restaurants and whole roasted chickens is another factor in price stability.

"However, the price of broilers is expected to be steady in 1969, for example, the consumption was only 4.10 of a pound per person a year. In 1968, however, it reached 4.50 pounds per person."

"Why isn't it dropping? Because prices dropped year by year due to improved production and distribution. Price is a big factor in the rise. So is availability—easy to buy and use—and, of course, quality, too," he explains.

Wilhelm, a Ph.D. from Purdue University and highly experienced in poultry marketing, notes the increasing demand for service in food.

"Service runs up cost, remember. A month ago in Chicago, a local store was selling whole ice-packed broilers for 29 cents a pound. But they sold extra halves for 28 cents, cut-up broilers for 31 cents a pound. I doubt if many women today know how to cut up a chicken. So they are willing to pay 22 cents a pound for the extra service," he says.

The added "in Denver recently we found that at a cafeteria there we could have a get carry out tray to a table for 25 cents. A lot of people paid the 25 cents willingly. Higher incomes seem to make extra service almost necessary to do many people who used to do things for themselves. The way broilers are cleaned and ice-packed, ready for cooking, is another example of service, he remarks. It runs up the cost."

The real meat factor is vital to the price of poultry. If the price of beef stays high or goes even higher this fall, as some experts expect, the demand for broilers, as an alternate meat, will increase. They are a first-class protein food. Its costs much less, no matter how much price increases. Red meat is the No. 1 choice, of course. But broilers with some people are the second choice. If the demand for broilers is larger than normal, the price is bound to increase. At least a little.

No Hairsplitting

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Beginning next year, New York State will offer foreign language examinations to applicants for licenses as bartenders, hairdressers or beauticians.

A 1969 law authorized the state to give exams in languages other than English, and the Department of State said it would exercise the option so that persons unable to read or write English would have an opportunity to qualify.

A recent survey showed that most of the foreign language applicants are Spanish speaking. Requests also were made for examinations in French, German, Hebrew, Italian, Polish and Hungarian.

THE BRIDE COOKS DINNER
This main dish is made quickly in a skillet just before serving.

Tons Of Bombs From WW II To Be Disarmed

HONOLULU, British Solomon Islands (AP) — A British Army demolition expert has arrived in the British Solomon Islands to get rid of American wartime bombs and bullets at Hell's Point, near Honiara township.

Warrant Officer C.J. McKiernan of the Royal Army Ordnance Corps is expected to spend two years at Hell's Point, and two other wartime ammunition dumps.

Hell's Point has been fenced off since 1945 for safety reasons. Despite accidental explosions and fires which have destroyed much of the dump since then, officials believe thousands of tons of high explosive remain in the 270-acre safety reserve.

In 1942-43, American troops dumped 15,000 tons of explosives and ammunition there. In 1943 the Australian Army removed 2,000 tons, but a great deal remains.

In 1967 the British Army got rid of 12,000 rounds of shells and mortar bombs from between Hell's Point and the wartime Henderson Airfield, but it will be Warrant Officer McKiernan's job to clean up the remainder.

Chinese Picnic Pot Dish

By AILEEN CLAIR
NEA Food Editor
Like so many dishes with pretensions of being from an elegant foreign background, a Chinese favorite proves a partial fraud. This is "chow mein." American chow mein and any oriental version are worlds apart.

However, chow mein is extremely popular here and many who say they like Chinese food mean they could eat chow mein—shrimp, chicken, pork, etc.—for breakfast, lunch and dinner.

For these true chow mein hounds here is a variation that will please. It is a Chinese picnic pot with pineapple, green beans, frankfurters, and ripe olives. Certainly a tasty departure.

- 1 can (1 1/2 oz.) sliced pineapple
- 1 can (1 lb.) cut green beans
- 1 can (1 lb.) small whole onions, diagonally sliced
- 1/2 cup whole pitted ripe olives, halved
- 1/2 cup catsup
- 1/3 cup cornstarch
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon black pepper
- 2 cans (3 oz. each) chow mein noodles

Put kettle into center of pineapple rings in can and cut them halves. Turn undrained green beans, pineapple (with syrup), undrained onions, frankfurters, ripe olives into kettle; heat to boiling. Meanwhile, blend catsup, cornstarch, salt and pepper in small cup; stir into boiling liquid and cook, stirring until thickened. Serve over noodles. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

A special layered blueberry cake is a departure from regular batter cakes.

Just a small bit of extra effort yields an attractive and taste-pleasing creation. It's the type of dessert with great appeal for teen-agers... who could make it easily.

- SPECIAL OCCASION BLUEBERRY CAKE
- 4 eggs
- 1 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup water
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 2 cups dry-pack frozen blueberries
- 2 cups heavy cream, whipped
- 1/3 cup confectioners' sugar
- 2 tablespoons orange liqueur

Tunnels Discovered

PRETORIA, South Africa (AP) — A reminder of British statesman Winston Churchill's escape from a Boer prison nearly 70 years ago has been discovered here.

Pretoria history teacher Peter Digby and three of his pupils found the second of two abandoned escape tunnels dug by some of Churchill's fellow prisoners-of-war under the floor of a former school building used as a prison for British officers during the 1899-1902 Boer War. The tunnels, the first of which was rediscovered last year, were mentioned in British officer Captain Aylmer Haldane's recollections "How We Escaped From Pretoria." He and two companions dug the tunnels under the historic Staats Model School building but abandoned them when fellow-prisoner Churchill, then a young war correspondent, made an independent escape in December 1900.

Boer authorities, alarmed by Churchill's break, moved all the prisoners to another jail. But Haldane and his companions cut a fake escape hole in the roof as a diversion and hid under the floorboards during the move, to walk out in broad daylight when everyone had departed.

School Girl Beaten; Mother, Son Held

A Sanford woman and her 16-year-old son have been arrested in connection with a beating allegedly given the woman's nine-year-old daughter by her brother.

The brother was arrested and charged with aggravated assault, Butler said, and turned over to county juvenile authorities.

Police later took a warrant charging Betty Jean Peterson with child neglect after the girl was brought to the attention of police by West Side School officials who became alarmed when the girl came to school Wednesday with marks and bruises over her body.

The girl, when questioned, told police that her brother had struck her repeatedly with a wet towel leaving the marks and bruises over most of her body.

The brother was arrested and charged with aggravated assault, Butler said, and turned over to county juvenile authorities.

Meantime, police issued a warrant for the mother for child neglect and had the county serve the document since the woman was out of the city limits. She was jailed before making $1,000 bond last night. Father of the children is deceased.

Uncle Sam Delivers Title Sanford's Airport A Reality

By BILL SCOTT

Wednesday was a clear, sun-shine-filled day at Sanford Airport but somehow at precisely 3 p.m. the day took on an even brighter appearance when governmental officials from Miami and Atlanta joined Sanford Mayor Lee W. Moore and County Commissioners W. Vincent Roberts, Earl Higginbotham, J.H. Crapps and A. L. Wilson to undertake the ceremonial functions that ultimately lead to the City of Sanford receiving the deed to the 1,656-acre former Sanford Naval Air Station, now renamed Sanford Airport.

Charles McKinney, Atlanta General Services Administration (GSA) official, came early for the formal presentation and was conspicuous by the small-attache case he carried.

Inside the brown case was the document that had been sought by the city for two years before the governmental process and red tape finally ended.

Newspaper photographers and television crews with cameras stood ready as Mayor Moore strode across the floor of the airport terminal building, newly renovated and refurbished. Just in time for the hugging.

Moore stationed himself just as the cameras began to grind and elaborated how today's event represented the end of the trail that started two years ago when the city undertook the task of obtaining the property from the government after it was announced the air base was being phased out.

Moore thanked the various governmental officers for their help in securing the industrial site without the city having to pay $200,000 for the area which is intended to house the income-producing properties that will

AT LONG LAST! THE DEED IS DELIVERED! Moore, Earl Higginbotham and J. H. Crapps as Charles W. McKinney, General Services Administration, Atlanta, hands the document to Mayor Moore.

I Got My Rights!

By DONNA ESTES

Stiffening his back and grabbing onto a door facing a South Seminole lawyer, after refusing to heed the request of Altamonte Springs Mayor W. Lawrence Swoford for order, was forcibly ejected from the City Council meeting last night by two police officers.

Attorney Joseph Murasko, who has been legal counsel to Councilman William Nickols, identified himself last night as a citizen of the city. He insisted on discussing the federal grants and loan for the new municipal sewer system that had been mulled over and ended rather abruptly when a runner said into what he deemed to be third base.

There was plenty of excitement at the football jamboree in Winter Garden this past Friday, with lots of good Irish play and performances.

Who was most noticeable? Not any of the gridiron gladiators... as much as a beautiful Irish Setter.

While the football action was down around the goal line, the four-legged creature came out onto the field and right around the 20-yard line, he... he... actually, it reminded us of the story which appeared in the Owensburg (Ky.) News.

The baseball game continued in the cow pasture and runner said into what he deemed to be third base.

HUD Corrects Error On Bonds

The record was set straight by officials of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development in Atlanta today via telephone conference with Altamonte Springs City Attorney Davis and Engineers Harold Radcliffe and William Palm last night.

The engineers gave full explanation as well as the method of financing the $1.8 million utility with $900,000 plus federal loan, $200,000 federal grant, $200,000 State Health Department grant and $250,000 from developers' contributions and hook-up charges.

In other business, Council heard Palm advise that no further extensions will be given by contractors past Sept. 30 on bids for the first phase of the sewer system without at least an eight per cent increase in prices. Bids were received six weeks ago and work has not been let to contract.

Authorized the attorney to prepare necessary documents to complete loan of $200,000 from South Seminole Bank for interim financing on the first phase of the system.

The question created a "donnybrook" at last night's meeting of the city governing body when Councilman William Nickols showed a copy of the summary with the error in it. The matter was explained by Davis and Engineers Harold Radcliffe and William Palm last night.

Burglar Wounded By Ex-AF Officer

LAKE WINNIMISSETT, Fla. (AP)—A retired Air Force officer fought the "wildest gun battle of my life" early today and said he wounded a burglar during the shower of bullets at this normally tranquil lakeside community.

Corporal Avery, a 1966 graduate of Seminole High School, was awarded four decorations for wartime duty, three Purple Hearts and a Silver Star. (The Purple Hearts man he was wounded three times in action.)

Robert Bessner, administrator of Seminole Memorial Hospital, said on Monday there "are no wounded persons" in the local hospital. Police Chief Ben Butler said his department had not been requested to investigate.

Thompson, 61, said the "dark night" probably saved me. They didn't shoot for fun, they were a rough pair. In all, four persons must have unloaded 25 rounds of ammunition.

The former USAF officer, retired seven years, said he heard a noise in his bathroom. Upon investigation, Thompson saw a flashlight shining around in the wooden structure on Lake Winnimissett, near DeLand in Volusia County.

"The burglar's buddy was standing up by a pickup on the road," Thompson said. "He started shooting at me and then the man in the bathroom unloaded. I shot back and we were in a real gunfight for a few minutes."

Thompson said the bathroom occupant yelled out to the effect that he quit and said "I'm hit and it's bad."

Orange County Sheriff's deputies said a suspect was arrested in Orlando at 2:17 a.m. driving a pickup loaded with bullet holes. The driver, Samuel Crayton, 19, of Cocoa, was arrested by a Florida Highway Patrol officer at a southeast Orlando service station.

Crayton was held in Orange County Jail on a preliminary charge of carrying a concealed weapon, police said. "We expect more charges to come from Volusia County where the shoot-out took place," a spokesman for the sheriff said.

The truck was packed with enough ammunition for a small war, the police said. Included in the FHP officer's report were 21 rounds of ammo, two used rounds and a bottle of mace.

"I was told by the sheriff's deputies that the wounded man was left at a Sanford hospital," Thompson said. "I think they said he was wounded in the stomach."

"Yep, I'm certainly glad I can stand straighter in the dark than they can. I shot by accident and couldn't see them at all."
