Grave Robbers Strike Shiloh

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

When Rosella Fields, 48, of Sanford arrived to visit her husband's grave at Shiloh Cemetery, 35th Street, Sanford, at about 3:30 p.m. Wednesday she scared away grave robbers.

Fields told Seminole County sheriff's deputy Tom Wise that when she arrived at the grave of her husband, Benjamin Adams Jr., she saw four white males and a woman at the grave. Her husband's casket had been removed from its vault, which had been forced opened.

The casket had been opened. Two of the male grave robbers got into a light green 1979 Chevrolet, which the female suspect drove from the scene, while two other males ran. One of the males who ran was captured by Sanford police officer Frank Hilton. The captured youth was identified by Seminole County sheriff's deputies as a 14-year-old Sanford boy who is in the seventh grade at Lake View Middle School.

He allegedly told Wise and Hilton that he was in the cemetery.

Judge Alcee Hastings 'Not even fizin' pistol'

Hastings Disputes Panel

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

U.S. District Judge Alcee Hastings, formerly of Altamonte Springs, disputes a now-public report by a judicial panel that investigated his conduct, maintaining it finds no "smoking gun" or even a "flashing pistol" to warrant his impeachment.

Hastings, Florida's first black federal judge, contends the unanimous report from the investigating board of the Judicial Council of the 11th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals contains no new information to back up allegations that he conspired to solicit a bribe, a charge of which a jury acquitted him in 1963.

But in the 381-page report of the five investigating judges, Hastings is accused of "attempting to corruptly use his office for personal gain" and then lying under oath, "conduct which might constitute grounds for impeachment."

The report was released Wednesday, seven months after the Judicial Conference of the United States sent it to the House for consideration of impeachment proceedings. Hastings, who had pressed for his release, responded immediately.

"You aren't going to find no smoking gun," he told reporters. "You aren't even going to find a flashing pistol."

Hastings has told the Sanford Herald that he intends to fight every impeachment move.

"I am going to be a judge for as long as I am determined to be one. I will not be impeached," he said. "If the jury system doesn't stand for me, it doesn't stand for Richard Roe or Jane Doe... I am going to fight for the integrity of the jury system."

Plane Crash Kills 5

By Bill Wood

DELAND (UPI) — Federal investigators waded through the charred wreckage of a twin-engine Cessna that crashed into a vacant apartment building and exploded, killing all five people aboard.

The Cessna 421 rammed into the unoccupied building about 11:50 a.m. Wednesday, shortly after takeoff from DeLand Municipal Airport where it had just refueled, officials said.

"The plane was completely inside the house, not a wing or tail section was sticking out, and it was completely engulfed in flames," said Kenneth Young, who runs a used car lot 100 feet

Sales Tax Bill Debate Resumes

Grindle: 'Place Is Madhouse'

From Staff And Wire Reports

TALLAHASSEE — The Florida House resumes debate on the future of the services tax today, after pausing on the brink of passing tax legislation Gov. Bob Martinez had vowed to veto.

"This place is a madhouse and I don't think we're getting very far," said Rep. Art Grindle, R-Altamonte Springs.

House leaders had planned Wednesday to pass the legislation, which would give voters, through a referendum, a choice between a revised version of the services tax or a one-half cent increase in the sales tax.

"It is, 'which do you want? The boot on the left foot or the right foot,'" said Grindle. He said such a referendum would not really be a choice of whether to tax or not but which tax shall it be.

The either-or bill had been expected to receive a friendly welcome despite Senate concerns the bill would force budget cuts.

But the House recessed without taking up the tax after negotiations begun with the governor's office.

"The governor has said that if (the tax) come out as a sales tax on services he will veto it," said Grindle.

The plan as it came out of the House Appropriations and Finance and Tax committees gives voters a choice between a heavily-revised services tax and the half-cent increase in the sales tax on goods Martinez has proposed. The revised services tax would be repealed effective Feb. 1 and replaced with the half-cent increase, unless the voters say in a Jan. 15 special election they would rather pay the services tax.

The package calls for a one-half cent local option sales tax, available to county commissions through an extraordinary vote — that is, a majority vote plus one.

A one-cent local option sales tax, approved by the Legislature in the spring regular session, would be repealed.

The ambitious budget reforms Martinez has demanded would be reduced to a shell.

The plan would eliminate the services tax on the placement of advertising in newspapers and on the airwaves. But about 800

Four Were Fired For Failure To Monitor Inmate Who Hanged Himself

Second Jail Guard Appeals Firing By Sheriff

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

The second of four Seminole County jail guards fired by Seminole County Sheriff John Polk on Sept. 4, following the Aug. 27 jailhouse suicide of a 17-year-old murder suspect has filed an appeal challenging his dismissal.

Polk fired the guards on the grounds that they had failed to make 15-minute checks on the juvenile prisoners as they are required to do under state law and under Polk's rules for the jail.

The guards, Polk said, also falsified logs showing that the checks were made. They were fired for neglect of duty and for falsifying records. However, Polk said the guards were not responsible for the suicide of the victim who was dead for about four hours before his body was found hanging in his cell at about 6 a.m. Aug. 27.

Matthew McGill of Sanford, the second guard to appeal his firing, was a guard for eight years. He was fired along with Richard Blount, a guard for three years; Douglas Fauls, a guard for 10 months; and Dean High, a guard for three months. McGill's letter requesting an appeal hearing was received late last week by the Seminole County Sheriff's Department, just meeting the 30-day deadline for filing.

Blount was first to file an appeal to challenge his firing. His letter requesting an appeal hearing by the Civil Service Board was received at the Seminole County Sheriff's Department on Sept. 28.

Blount's hearing has been scheduled for Oct. 27 and McGill's is scheduled Oct. 29 at the Seminole County Sheriff's Department.

Because Fauls and High were guards at the Seminole County jail for less than one year, and were in a probationary period of employment when fired, they are not permitted to appeal their dismissals. High and Fauls, however, do claim that they were unjustly fired.

The appeals of Blount and McGill will be heard by the Civil Service Board, comprised of Seminole Sheriff's Chief Deputy Duane Harrell, sheriff's Sgt. Kenn Starr, and Sanford City Attorney Bill Colbert. If the board does not reach a unanimous decision in either or both cases the final outcome will be decided by the chairman of the Seminole County Commission, Harrell said.

Almost one month after the firings, on Sept. 29, the day after

Lake Mary Discuss City Hall Complex Again

By Richard Whittaker
Herald Staff Writer

The new Lake Mary City Commission will officially gather for the first time today since three new commissioners were sworn in last Monday for a workshop at 7:30 p.m. to discuss the issue of the proposed city hall complex.

The complex has become the subject of controversy in the city because of different opinions about where it should be located, the cost and size of the building, and the $3.17 million bond issue the old commission negotiated to finance it.

Former City Commissioners Charley Webster and Kenneth King ended their service to Lake Mary Monday when new Commissioners Randall Morris and Thomas Mahoney were sworn in to office along with George Duryea, who took the place of Arthur "Buzz" Peisos. Returning commissioners are John Percy and Paul Tremel.

The former body approved the purchase of approximately seven and a half acres of land located on the northwest corner of Old Lake Mary Road and Country Club Road for $625,000. King was the only commissioner to vote against the action. City Attorney Frank Kruppenbacher was instructed to research and use the city's privilege of eminent domain to obtain the property if necessary.

The city has since offered more than $700,000 to the seven owners of the land parcels making up the property. One of those owners, Harriet Mixon, said she absolutely refused to sell her land, and will fight City Hall "all the way" on the issue.

After Morris, Duryea and Mahoney were elected to the city's Sept. 1 election, Tremel suggested the commission delay any final move concerning the land until the new commission was seated. Tremel's motion passed unanimously.

Tremel said tonight's meeting should be interesting. "I'm looking forward to interacting with the new commission and seeing where they think the city hall complex should be," he said.

Tremel said the only real opinion he has on the issue of the location of complex is that it should be put somewhere in the downtown area.

Tremel said another city hall issue that could be brought up during the meeting is that some of the new commissioners feel the building should be phased in, with the city only building what it will use and need at any given point in the future.

Duryea has said he's concerned about finding a site for the complex because the city will have to spend at least 10 percent of the $3.17 million bond issue within six months or face a penalty. The issue was approved by the commission with Southeastern Municipal Bonds Inc. acting as the agent for the sale. The reason the city must spend the 10 percent by that time is so it can show its intent to the Internal Revenue Service of using the money for the purpose of financing the

IN BRIEF

Woman Said To Have Slipped Into Home, Ridden Off On Bike

Johnny Amaro awoke at about 12:45 p.m. Tuesday to see a woman riding away from his home on his bicycle. He and another resident of that home at 17 Cowan Maughton Terrace, Sanford, both reported to police that they saw the bicycle thief.

They named a suspect, and police called to the scene reported nabbing Tomeka C. Thomas, 18, of 78 Lake Monroe Terrace, Sanford, about 300 yards from Amaro's home. Although she didn't have the bicycle, police reported taking Thomas back to Amaro's home, where she was reportedly identified by both witnesses.

Thomas was arrested at 12:52 p.m. on a charge of burglary to an occupied dwelling and petty theft. She was being held in lieu of $1,000 bond.

Police did not recover the bicycle and reported that Thomas allegedly said she gave it to someone, whom she refused to identify. She allegedly said that she took the bicycle because Amaro owed her $20 for her having stored the bicycle at her home for about five hours on Tuesday.

Man Pleads Guilty In Sledgehammer Attack

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

A Longwood man connected with a sledgehammer attack has pleaded guilty to aggravated assault and criminal mischief. It was one of five cases heard recently in circuit court in Sanford.

Jerry Dennis Travlos, 19, of 128 Dellwood Drive, entered the plea before Circuit Judge S. Joseph Davis Jr., who set Nov. 12 for sentencing.

Travlos was one of about 10 suspects in the attack on three men in a sand pit near Lake Emma Road around 1 a.m. March 3. He was arrested after two victims picked him out of a photo lineup and after he was questioned by sheriff's deputies.

One of the victims said he was hit with a jack or a sledgehammer during the incident. Two victims said that combined damages to their vehicles were in excess of $2,800.

In a second case, a Fern Park man whose vehicle was stopped by officers has pleaded guilty to carrying a concealed firearm.

Junior Roy, 28, of 4 D-B N. Orlando Ave., entered the plea before Davis, who set Nov. 12 for sentencing.

Roy was stopped around 5:40 p.m. June 20 at state roads 427 and 436 in Altamonte Springs, according to court records.

Roy gave officers permission to search his vehicle, and they reported finding a .22-caliber revolver.

In a third case heard recently, a man charged with aggravated assault pleaded guilty to the lesser charge of battery.

Davis set Nov. 17 for sentencing Harvey C. Johnson, 35, of 868-1 Ballard Street, Altamonte Springs.

Johnson reportedly brandished a gun at his girlfriend and her sister as the girlfriend moved out of his home in July.

The summoned police arrived and reported meeting with Johnson on an outside stairway to the apartment complex. He said he dropped the gun into nearby bushes. The gun was recovered.

A fourth case involved a Sanford woman entering a plea after a jury was selected to hear her case.

Jacqueline Gail Tucker, 28, of 108 Hughes Ave., Sanford, pleaded no contest to petty theft. She had been charged with battery on a law enforcement officer and on retail theft. The incident occurred in April.

Circuit Judge O.H. Eaton Jr. set a November date.

After the jury was selected, Eaton acquitted Tucker on the battery charge. She then entered her plea to the theft charge, court records show.

In a fifth case, a 21-year-old Sanford man pleaded guilty to possession of less than 20 grams of marijuana.

Eaton set Nov. 12 for sentencing of Terry James Gibson, of 410 E. 10th St.

Gibson was arrested after making a street sale of $20 worth of crack cocaine to an undercover police agent on Seventh Street in Sanford in June.

The marijuana charge stemmed from the discovery of a marijuana cigarette in his car.

Course Of Homecoming Parade Mapped Out

The Seminole High School Homecoming parade will march down First Street Nov. 5 at 5 p.m. The Youth Advisory Committee Tuesday discussed the parade and nominated three new members to replace those students who have left the committee to go to college.

The nominees, all students of SHS, are Cory Smith, a junior; Andre Johnson, a senior; and Valencia Wells, a sophomore. The nominees must be approved by the city commission before they can join the board.

The committee appointed board members to work on the parade's line-up and publicity. SHS Assistant Principal Bobby Lundquist said last year the parade had about 30 units of bands, floats, civic organizations and clubs.

The parade will start at the New Tribes Mission and continue east on First Street to Laurel Avenue. Jim Jernigan, Sanford's recreation and parks director, said the bands will stop off at Magnolia Mall for a pep rally.

Jernigan showed the committee where parks and recreation centers are planned for the future according to Sanford's Comprehensive Plan. The plan provides for non-vehicular routes for pedestrians and bicycles. —Maryann L. Cross

Wreck Kills Longwood Woman; Man Injured

The accident occurred at 8:16 a.m. on Maitland Boulevard just west of the boulevard's bridge over Interstate 4. Troop's vehicle, a four-door Nissan, was southbound, exiting the I-4. Blacklock's truck was westbound on the boulevard.

Troop's car apparently did not stop for a light at the exit intersection with Maitland Boulevard, and Blacklock's truck struck the car broadside where the driver sits, according to a preliminary investigation by the Maitland police.

Blacklock was treated at Florida Hospital for a head injury and released.

Five-Day Forecast For Central Florida

Weather's Great Will Last Awhile

By Staff And Wire Reports

The official United States Weather Service through its official meteorologists at the NWS's official observatory at the Orlando International Airport has cited the low for this area as 60 degrees during the past 24 hours. We know, albeit unofficial, that it was sure colder than that. By at least four or five degrees. Felt good though.

Actually, the humidity is about as low as it can get in an area with as much water around as we have. Down in the 20s, if you can believe. However, with highs in the 80s during the day, it's just great weather. Oughta keep up for a few more days.

That suspicious area in the northwest Caribbean remains just that, suspicious, but nothing more right now. Planes check it out periodically, but so far no development.

So just enjoy what we're getting, watch the beautiful moon and figure out a way to bottle this weather to reclaim it later this year when we're gripping again.

Elsewhere in the nation they're not so fortunate.

The West Coast cooled off after a 100-degree heat wave earlier this week but sizzling weather persisted in the desert, while the Midwest shivered today from a big chill that brought early autumn frost warnings and record low temperatures.

"It's already dropped off (in the West) quite a bit from a few days ago," Lyle Alexander of the National Weather Service said. "It'll mostly be in the 70s and 80s the next couple of days but the desert areas will still be over 100."

Temperatures dropped to below freezing across the Midwest early this morning. The weather service issued freeze and frost advisories for

Attorneys Ask Court To Double Their Fees

TAMPA (UPI) — Attorneys for three hemophilic brothers who won a federal civil rights suit to gain admission to DeSoto County public school are asking the court to order the school board to pay them double their fees.

The case involves the Ray brothers — Richard, 10, Robert, 9, and Randy, 8 — who test positive for AIDS antibodies, which doctors say they apparently contracted through plasma-based medication. None of the boys shows any symptoms of the disease.

The boys were banned from public school last year when it was learned they carried the antibodies, and their parents filed suit to force DeSoto County officials to admit them to regular classes.

U.S. District Judge Elizabeth A. Kovachevich ordered the brothers admitted to public school Aug. 5 and they enrolled in Memorial Elementary School in Arcadia, about 75 miles southeast of Tampa Aug. 24.

A number of families kept their children home in protest and the school received bomb threats the first two days.

The brothers and a 6-year-old sister who does not carry the antibodies, were removed from the school by their parents at the end of the week following a fire that destroyed their home. Investigators say the fire was arson but no arrests have been made.

The family later moved to neighboring Sarasota County where the children now attend public school.

Stephen F. Hanlon of Tampa, who filed the action in federal court Tuesday, seeks double the amount the attorneys billed the county for in August, claiming they are entitled to extra money in order to protect the right of the public to file civil rights claims.

Hanlon claims in court papers civil rights cases are so hard to win that "there are virtually no attorneys in this area" willing to handle such cases.

The attorneys — Judith S. Kavanaugh, William L. Earl and Thomas T. Ankersen — say their fees now total $119,050, which they asked be doubled, and said bringing the suit cost another $7,500.

County School Superintendent Larry Browning said the request is exorbitant and will be contested.

"Obviously, we will just not sit still on it," Browning said.

"That's astounding," Fletcher Brown, the school board's regular attorney, said of the fee request at a special meeting of the board in Arcadia Tuesday night. Brown did not handle legal matters related to the Ray case.

"That, my friend, was what this whole thing was about — dollars and cents," said board member T.A. Strickland.

School Board Chairman Gameel Westberry said he thinks the school board's insurance will cover any amount the schools are ordered to pay if the court rules in favor of the attorneys, but said the amount being sought is not justified.

The Ray attorneys had billed the school board of $117,722.65 in August and Hanlon said county officials had ignored requests for payment, thus prompting the suit.

from the crash site. The Volusia County Sheriff's office identified the pilot as William Sager of Port Charlotte. Three of his passengers, also from Port Charlotte, were Lela Sekora, in her 60's, Clarence Battle, and Elyonne Battle, the sheriff's office said. The identity of the fourth passenger, believed to be a woman, was not released.

The investigation was expected to center around the engine, whose remains will be taken to a repair facility, possibly in Daytona Beach, to be examined today, said Joe Poole, an investigator with the Federal Aviation Administration.

The investigation will be turned over to the National Transportation Safety Board, he said.

"The engine is an important factor because witnesses have indicated it may have had a problem," Poole said.

"I heard the plane come real low," Young said. "You could hear the engines revving and actually feel the vibrations it was so low."

The apartment building, set among oak trees one mile east of the airport, about 20 miles north of Sanford, still smoldered hours after the crash. The smell from the site could be detected for at least a block down wind. The victims and many of their personal possessions were burned beyond recognition, said Bernie Buscher, a fire department investigator.

"The pilot had apparently refueled just before the crash, and the fire was explosive," he said.

The pilot did not file a flight plan, which is common for planes flying on visual flight rules, FAA inspector Ron Ferguson said.

A spokesman for Black Wing Inc., which services general aviation planes at the airport, said the pilot had recently traded in his old aircraft for the Cessna.

He said he had been told the pilot was a former military aviator experienced in heavy aircraft.

The spokesman, who asked not to be identified, said the pilot had been given brief instructions by a Black Wing pilot, but he declined further training because he said he was qualified enough to handle the Cessna. Airport spokeswoman Barbara Heas said fire units from several jurisdictions were called to the scene after the crash.

The building into which the plane crashed was a one-story wood-frame structure with yellow siding, and according to witness Young contained three small apartment units and a storefront office room.

The Volusia County Sheriff's Office said the building was unoccupied.

Researchers Seek Light On Turtles

GAINESVILLE (UPI) — Researchers hope to shed new light on Florida's hatchling loggerhead sea turtles threatened in their migration to the sea by the electric illumination of beachfront development.

The turtles usually emerge from their eggs at night, when the sand surrounding their nest is coolest, and instinctively crawl immediately in the direction they believe the ocean lies.

"The cue they use to find the ocean is to head for the horizon with the greatest illumination," Karen Bjorndal, associate director of the University of Florida's Center for Sea Turtle Research, said Wednesday.

"On any undeveloped beach, that will be over the ocean because even the slightest amount of natural light from the stars and the moon will be reflected off the water," she said.

But on an East Coast developed beach bathed in man-made light, the brightest spot is often the other side of busy State Road A1A, which is not an easy highway for any living creature to cross.

"Continued rapid development along the Florida coast is viewed as a serious threat to the survival of the Florida loggerhead turtle population," Bjorndal said.

With a $25,000 grant from Florida Power and Light Co., university researchers will investigate how the defenseless sea turtle hatchlings respond to different wavelengths of artificial light.

Bjorndal said recent research suggests turtles may not be as sensitive to some forms of light, especially red light. So the tests will involve putting newly hatched turtles out on a beach that has been marked out in a grid.

Masking Sexism In Armed Forces

Integrating more women into the armed forces, like the breaking of almost any tradition, requires getting used to. But the inevitable problems of adjustment shouldn't generate the epidemic of sexism recently found by Pentagon advisers at Navy and Marine Corps installations in the Pacific.

Some of the episodes might be classified as adolescent pranks. But the advisory committee also discovered outrageous examples: one ship captain offering to "sell" female sailors to Koreans, and some servicewomen complaining they had been told that granting sexual favors would make their lives "easier."

The findings mirrored those in a report last year on abuse of servicewomen at Army and Air Force facilities in Europe. Both reports said all four services had a generally good record inside the United States in forbidding abuse of women. The Pentagon's investigative team attributed some of the difference to women being stationed overseas usually were isolated from their families and had too few opportunities for recreation.

Clearly, the armed forces need to do better on behalf of these women who, like their male counterparts, are prepared to risk their lives for the country they serve. We suspect that one key stereotype giving rise to sexism - the notion that women are objects of sexual convenience - would be rarer if the Pentagon promoted more women to positions of leadership. Of 1,068 generals and admirals in the four services, only nine are women.

The military also needs to discipline, with criminal prosecution where warranted, men who think their rank is a license to abuse female subordinates. There are still too many men (and women) in the armed forces (and civilian life) who seem to think "macho," "man" and "sexy" are synonymous.

There is nothing manly or sexy about harassing or belittling people on account of their gender. That fact ought to be a part of basic military discipline, and those who can't or won't learn it should be told to shape up or ship out.

Smuggled Views

A videotaped interview with Lech Walesa, head of the outlawed Solidarity labor union, was smuggled out of Poland and recently shown on Connecticut public television.

Walesa was interviewed last July by Frank Luntz, an American tourist, at Brigida Church in Gdansk.

Luntz said he smuggled the tape out of Poland with the help of Walesa's priest. He said he found Walesa "restless and anxious to move on" with the union and frustrated that Solidarity is unable to force the communist government into more reforms.

"The message they used in the past - work actions and strikes - doesn't seem to be bringing about the change they desire," Luntz said.

The videotape is of interest but it isn't needed to prove the lack of freedom in Poland. The sole fact that Walesa's views, or those of any Pole for that matter, must be heard is evidence enough of that. Where ideas are considered contraband, liberty does not exist.

England declared war on Germany in 1939 to honor a treaty guaranteeing the independence of the Polish people. Though World War II took millions of lives, the Poles are not free today. That they are subject to the tyranny of Soviet communism is one of the cruel ironies of history. Poland today echoes the bitter anguish of ancient Greek tragedy.

By Polly, Frank, this new dummy computer DOES give you an aura of being with it.

GEORGE MCGOVERN

Let's Redefine War Powers Of Presidency

During our Constitution's bicentennial there can be no more important issue than clarifying the process by which our nation goes to war.

I have always believed that the Founding Fathers placed the power to commit America to war in the hands of Congress.

Clearly, the Constitution gives Congress the power to provide or withhold the funds necessary to conduct a war. It is also clear that the Constitution gives to Congress alone the right to "declare war."

The drafters of the Constitution originally gave Congress the power to "make" war, but they changed the wording to "declare" because they believed the president must have the power to act swiftly in emergency situations.

The Constitution also gives the president, as commander in chief, the power to direct American military forces.

From the beginning, the powers of Congress and the president in committing the nation to military conflict have been in dispute.

Michael Kinsey, editor of The New Republic, pointed out in a recent syndicated column in our 200-year history Congress has only declared war five times whereas we have become involved in military hostilities through presidential actions over 200 times - an average of once a year.

In view of the long, bitter American involvement in Vietnam, Congress acted in 1973 to re-establish the Congress's role in committing the nation to war. The War Powers Act, passed over President Richard Nixon's veto, stated that if the president commits American forces to combat or to an area where "hostilities" are "imminent," he must so inform Congress. Unless Congress acts within 60 days (or, in some circumstances, 90 days), the forces must be withdrawn.

One of the strong backers in the Senate of the War Powers Act, I thought it would put an end to "presidential wars" that bypass Congress. Unfortunately, while the act was respected by Presidents Ford and Carter, President Reagan has chosen to ignore it, charging that the measure is unconstitutional.

In fact, Reagan has ordered American forces into action in open violation of the War Powers Act, without serious consultation or approval by Congress.

In the case of Iran and Nicaragua, Mr. Reagan has defied other federal laws. It has been argued by some advocates of the "imperial presidency" that the only real power Congress has over the president's commitment of U.S. forces is the "power of the purse."

However, when Congress relied on this method with the Boland Amendment, cutting off further aid to the Contras of Nicaragua, Mr. Reagan and his men created a junta within the government to circumvent the law by begging Saudi Arabia and other foreign powers, as well as private right-wing citizens, to finance the contra war that Congress tried to stop.

I believe the Senate and House committees should make a careful study of the war powers issue, instead of lurching from crisis to crisis with debates erupting each time over procedural matters. Congress and the executive branch - if not the Supreme Court - should attempt to define the issue with no particular crisis in mind.

Protectors Senseless Harvest

JUNEAU, Alaska (NEA) - It is by far the country's largest national forest, covering 80 percent of the southeastern Alaska archipelago and spanning 500 miles, from the Pease Canal on the south to Disenchantment Bay on the north.

More than half of its 16.7 million acres are covered with western hemlock, Sitka spruce or red or yellow cedar. The oldest of these trees date back 800 years, measure 10 feet in diameter and soar 250 feet high.

It is the Tongass National Forest, the last old-growth rain forest anywhere on Earth outside the tropics - but its future is endangered by the federal agency that is supposed to protect it.

At risk are more than the majestic trees that require hundreds of years to reach maturity in this spectacular region of snow-capped mountains, mist-shrouded fjords, alpine meadows and pristine rivers and lakes.

The thriving ecosystem in Alaska, including the nation's largest concentration of bald eagles. Also present in abundance are grizzly bears, deer, salmon and trout.

Early in this century, the U.S. Forest Service concluded that timber production here was the key to the economic development of the remote, sparsely populated region.

Even today, only about 60,000 people live in the area, with 70 percent of them concentrated in Ketchikan, Sitka and Juneau.

Although logging contracts in other national forests seldom exceed 10 years in duration, the Forest Service argued that longer terms were required to attract timber companies to the Tongass.

Two 50-year contracts signed in the 1960s are still in effect. They guarantee the Louisiana Pacific Corp. and the Alaska Pulp Corp. exclusive access to timber on federal lands at exceptionally favorable prices.

But there is little domestic demand for Tongass timber. Virtually all of it is shipped to Japan (Alaska Pulp is a Japanese corporation), where it is used to produce rayon, cellophane and other products whose global markets are dwindling.

To provide the Japanese with an almost limitless supply of cheap pulp-grade timber, the U.S. treasury is being bled under an obscure provision of the Alaska National Interest Lands Conservation Act.

BEN WATTENBERG

Paradox Of Poverty

It is just 25 years since the publication of "The Other America," Michael Harrington's seminal book on poverty in America. Looking back, one can sense both the power and the limitations of his work.

Harrington's 1962 book said that about a third of Americans were poor, that little was being done for them, that they were "immune from progress," that they were "invisible to the affluent eye."

It was overstated. The rate of poverty from 1949 to 1964 dropped from 33 percent to 18 percent. During the 1950s, social welfare expenditures climbed by 52 percent. Actually, in an appendix, Harrington said the poverty rate was 20-25 percent, not a third. This is not statistical nitpicking. There was plenty of poverty, but it was clearly decreasing.

Harrington's book crystallized what was in the air, a willingness to further help the poor. When Lyndon Johnson became president, "war on poverty" was declared. Soon, enormous new sums were allocated. There were "cash" programs, such as additional Social Security, Supplemental Security Income and welfare. There were "non-cash" programs such as food stamps, rent supplements, Medicaid, job training and educational grants.

In some important ways, the "war on poverty" has been successful. In 1959, the poverty rate for the elderly was 35 percent. In 1986 it was 12 percent, or somewhere between 3 percent and 4 percent if you count in properly the "non-cash" benefits. Poverty among married-couple families has declined from 19 percent in 1959 to 7 percent in 1986, or 5 percent, counting "non-cash."

Yet, while poverty was diminishing, Harrington and the poverty warriors neither acknowledged nor saluted progress. They apparently thought poor-mouthing would keep the heat on America's conscience. The strategy boomeranged. It let Ronald Reagan and conservative agitators argue that poverty warfare wasn't working, highlight those parts that were legitimately flawed, and make an easy case that a war on poverty was "throwing money down a rat hole."

Well, that was then. Now is now. It's clear today that the parts of the poverty puzzle that were dealt with successfully were the easiest to handle. More cash worked for most of the elderly. Some programs and, mostly, a healthy economy worked for most of those in poverty who had a solid family.

Now, because of rising divorce and out-of-wedlock births, the biggest part of the poverty population is a composed of "female-headed households." That sounds neat and statistical. It shouldn't. We're talking mostly about poor kids. It's our No. 1 social problem. More than a fifth of American kids are now in poverty! One-third of our children will be in poverty at some point before their 18th birthday!

Woodward reported that President Reagan signed a top-secret order in early 1982, authorizing $10 million in covert aid to Gemayel's militia. Newman confirmed that Gemayel not only received cold cash but raw intelligence from the CIA. In fact, she used to pass on to us CIA reports, including secret CIA projects of all the top leaders in the Middle East, that she got from Gemayel.

Woodward contended that Israel's truculent former defense minister, Ariel Sharon, asked the late CIA director William Casey to provide paramilitary support to Gemayel. Newman learned from her warlord brother, that he had been ordered to support the Israeli invasion of Lebanon. Later, after Gemayel became Lebanon's president-elect, Sharon pressured him to sign a peace treaty that would crack Arab unity and recognize Israel.

Scientists Now Go High Tech

By Gayle Young Herald Staff Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) - The rare snout-nosed, delicately-hooved okapi of Zaire are caught today as they have been for centuries - lured into palm covered pits dug into the forest floor.

It is the only safe way to capture them. And it is only after they are captured that they can be fitted with high technology radiotelemetry collars, which send signals across miles of tangled jungle to recorders that monitor the animals on the run and at rest, as they give birth and when they die.

The Okapi Project, run by anthropologists Terese Hart and John Hart in Zaire, represents everything old and new about the emerging discipline of conservation biology.

Old fashioned techniques in bird and animal watching have been combined with the latest in computers, biology, genetics and technology.

"There was a period when conservation was equated with home economics by the scientific and academic communities," said Michael Soule, a biologist at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor who started the first peer-reviewed scientific journal for conservationists two years ago.

"Their isolation tended to prevent the diffusion of new information from other sciences," he said. "That's changing now. There are many advances in many fields that are applicable to conservation biology."

"It is becoming much more exact, much more accurate," conservationists said. It is increasingly important to turn their field - long noted for its eccentric individualists and characterized by quaint techniques - into a recognized science.

"The process of death and decline is accelerating," Soule said. "When we go to governments, hats in hand, saying 'we need to put aside land for this animal, we have to know exactly how much land and why.'"

George Schaller, director of Wildlife Conservation International, the conservation program of the New York Zoological Society, agrees.

"The research is needed as the first step to implementing conservation programs," said Schaller, who helped establish a program to save the rare giant pandas of China. "It's really a new field," he said.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Shuttle Schedule Takes Shape, Launch Target Still June 1988

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) - NASA's latest shuttle launch schedule continues to show June 2, 1988, as the date for the first post-Challenger shuttle flight, and sources say that while the target is optimistic, delays are not expected to be significant.

The new manifest, expected to be released this month, shows three shuttle missions in 1988, eight in 1989 and nine in 1990. Of the first 20 missions, eight involve military payloads, according to agency sources.

The June 2 date is subject to "reassessment," and NASA managers privately admit it is likely to slip. But they say current schedules indicate any slip will be less than a month and that such a decision, if it is indeed necessary, probably will not be made until later this year.

A key issue for meeting the June 2 target is delivery of the shuttle Discovery's redesigned booster with the new O-ring joints to prevent a repeat of the Challenger disaster.

Half Of Lehdor Jurors Rejected JACKSONVILLE (UPI) - A federal judge and lawyers in the cocaine smuggling trial of alleged Colombian drug kingpin Carlos Lehder rejected or excused half of the 20 potential jurors questioned so far.

Lawyers rejected five of those queried Wednesday because the prospective panel members had relatives with drug problems or had witnessed the effects of drugs.

U.S. District Judge Howell Melton also excused three of the 11 potential jurors questioned on Tuesday and one day of the trial. They said they could not afford to miss work for the three months the trial is expected to take.

Walsh Begins Lobby Effort WEST PALM BEACH (UPI) - A leader in a nationwide movement to find missing children said Wednesday he will begin a lobbying effort to provide money for child protection systems.

John Walsh, 40, father of Adam Walsh and founder of the non-profit Adam Walsh Child Resource Center, said states should set up a registration system to track convicted sex offenders.

Walsh, addressing a statewide seminar sponsored by the Palm Beach County Juvenile Association, said he is leading a legislative move to allocate state money for child protection services.

Chuck Suggs, London Bound: Off On A Wing And A Prayer

By Richard Whitaker Herald Staff Writer

An air-ambulance leaving the Sanford airport tonight will be carrying 14-year-old Chuck Suggs to a long awaited heartlung transplant.

Chuck Suggs, 14, has a rare heart condition that gives him a very small chance to someday fulfilling his dream of playing baseball again.

The Lake Mary youth, his parents and his sister will make the trip to England at 7 p.m. where his first appointment with the doctor willing to do the surgery is scheduled for Oct. 11.

The Indiana-based Children's Organ Transplant Association is paying for the operation. Dr. Magdi Yacoub, who will be performing the surgery, asked for a $60,000 down payment before he will operate.

David Cain, president of COTA, has been in Sanford helping with fund-raising activities to help replenish what the organization is spending on Chuck, and to support Chuck and his family's stay in England. Cain said he plans to be in the area at least until Chuck's plane leaves tonight.

The Seminole Pony Baseball League was planning a motorcade from the Suggs home in Lake Mary to the airport, but his doctors said they didn't want him excited, league spokeswoman Debbie Blanton said. She said the police escorted procession would probably have consisted of about 500 to 600 people and left Lake Mary about 5 p.m. today.

Chuck was an all-star first baseman in the league. His father, Ed, is the league president.

An afternoon fund-raiser to benefit Chuck held last Sunday at the league's complex raised $9,000 for the Suggs family, according to benefit spokeswoman Linda Schrolucke. She said the group that put on the event, called "Mission Challenge: A Grandstand for Chuck," estimated a total attendance of about 15,000 people for the event.

"We're real pleased with it," Schrolucke said of the benefit, adding, "We just want to thank everybody that gave their support to Chuck."

She said one of the highlights of Sunday's activities was the presentation of a baseball autographed by the entire Oakland Athletics Baseball Team to Chuck. The ball was donated to the cause by A's second baseman Tony Bernazard.

Schrolucke said the ball was given to Chuck and he would know that people "out there" knew about him and supported him. A second A's autographed baseball was auctioned off for $35.

Girl's Sentencing For Murder Delayed 3 Weeks

By Deane Jordan Herald Staff Writer

The sentencing Friday of a 15-year-old girl who pleaded guilty to manslaughter has been continued to Nov. 2.

Initially, three hours had been set aside for the sentencing of Susanne M. Phillips, 15, of 1532 Frances Drive, southwest Seminole County. Circuit Judge O.H. Eaton Jr., who will sentence Phillips, granted the three-week continuance. She faces a sentence of three to seven years.

Phillips pleaded guilty to manslaughter just hours after a co-defendant in the case, Edwin Bateman, 17, her boyfriend of the same address, hanged himself in the Seminole County Juvenile Detention Center in Sanford. In response to that incident, four guards were fired by Sheriff John Polk and a sergeant reprimanded.

Bateman and Phillips were indicted by a grand jury on charges of first-degree murder, robbery and kidnapping in connection with the June 23 death of Diane Lynn McGinnis, 36, who worked at a Hunt Club Boulevard floral shop.

Phillips, who is said to have shown suicidal tendencies since Bateman's death and the entering of her plea, was moved to the psychiatric unit of a Longwood hospital in September.

McGinnis was killed after she was taken from the floral shop to nearby woods. She was shot in the base of her skull, execution style. Less than 1000 was taken in the robbery.

Investigators believe that Bateman and Phillips, eating in a nearby pizza parlor, watched sheriff's deputies start their investigation into woman's murder.

Bateman hanged himself in the early morning hours of Aug. 27 by tying strips of a pillow case together, wrapping it around his neck and tying it to a table-high shelf. His body was discovered by a guard about 6:40 a.m., some three to four hours after he died, according to the county medical examiner. Death probably occurred within three minutes, according to the autopsy.

The guards were dismissed because they failed records and lied about checking Bateman every 15 minutes.

In the few days before Bateman's death, Phillips had agreed to testify against him if the state allowed her to plea to the lesser charge of manslaughter, which it did. Officials think Bateman was unaware of Phillips's bargain.

3 Local Businesses Honored With Awards

Three local businesses have received Small Business Awards from the Greater Seminole County Chamber of Commerce.

Robert Lewis, executive director of the Chamber, said the awards are presented each year to business people who, despite their limited resources and time, still manage to give a great deal back to the community.

The three categories for the awards are businesses with fewer than five employees, those with fewer than 15 employees, and those with fewer than 45 employees.

Sarcis Krone, the area franchisee for Mail Boxes, Etc., received the award for businesses with fewer than five employees. Mail Boxes, Etc., is a nationwide network of centers that offer standard postal and business services.

Bill Miller of SUDA, Inc., received the award for a business with less than 15 employees. Miller has built hundreds of homes in Seminole County since 1979. His company started building 10 to 15 homes a year and now builds as many as 80 a year.

John Ricketson, owner of the Apopka Chief and Planter newspapers, was the winner for a business with less than 45 employees. Ricketson credits his staff with the fact that in each of his years of ownership his paper had been judged one of the top four weekly newspapers in the state.

The awards were presented by Lewis and Jim Davis, chairman of the chamber's small business roundtable.

Bork Talks With Family, Reagan About Nomination Push

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With his defeat in the Senate now all but certain, Supreme Court nominee Robert Bork went home to talk with his family before what White House officials said would be another meeting today with President Reagan.

Bork and the president had maintained their public determination to press on following talks the morning after his crushing defeat in the Senate Judiciary Committee, but as eight more senators then declared their opposition, the conservative federal judge went home Wednesday night to mull over his future.

The round of announcements Wednesday raised the number of Bork's declared Senate opponents to 47, with 31 publicly supporting him and 22 undecided. But Assistant Democratic leader Alan Cranston of California claimed 52 solid votes against Bork and four leaning toward opposition — a total of five more than the simple 51 majority needed to deal Reagan a historic political blow.

White House aides said Bork would meet with the president yet again today, one week before the full Senate's scheduled date to take up the nomination.

Reagan, Wright At Contra Odds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Denying he is making new demands, President Reagan is calling for open-ended U.S. military support of the Contra rebels until Nicaragua's Sandinista government allows full democracy.

House Speaker Jim Wright, D-Texas, maintains Congress will not approve new military aid, but Reagan, asked how he would respond to that warning, issued his own challenge: "I can't repeat what I would say to Jim Wright." In a speech to the Organization of American States Wednesday, Reagan set out a plan for keeping the 15,000 Contra guerrillas supplied by the United States until "full democracy" is established by Nicaragua's Marxist-led government, which he said has "a long record of ... deceit and broken promises."

Defect: Smoking-Cancer Link

BOSTON (UPI) — In a discovery that could lead to earlier diagnoses of lung cancer, Dutch researchers have found a genetic defect that may explain how cigarette smoking causes at least some cases of the disease.

"This is a major step towards proving how tobacco abuse can affect cancer," said Frank Rauscher, senior vice president for research for the American Cancer Society. "Now that we've identified the gene and this association it might lead to far better predictability of those who are at greatest risk for lung cancer."

While genes associated with other forms of cancer have been identified, this would be the first time a genetic defect has been identified in association with lung cancer, the leading cause of cancer and cancer deaths in the United States, he said.

Bendectin Maker Relieved Of Paying Millions In Suit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A federal judge in Washington has dismissed a punitive damage of $75 million awarded in July to a deformed 8-year-old District of Columbia boy whose mother used the drug Bendectin during pregnancy, the maker of the drug announced Wednesday.

However, District Court Judge June Green left intact the $20 million in compensatory damages awarded to the child and his family. The $95 million total award was one of the largest ever in a product liability suit.

The maker of the anti-morning sickness drug, Merrell Dow Pharmaceuticals, said it would appeal Green's refusal to drop all of the damage awards.

The appeal now goes to the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia.

In a landmark ruling in July, 8-year-old Sekou Ealy and his parents, Sandra and Robert Ealy, were granted the total award of $95 million. The boy was born with crippled arms.

Bary Nace, the attorney for the Ealy family, said Wednesday that Green's ruling is "about as clean as a win as you're going to get" in a Bendectin case.

"We believe it's the largest verdict to get out of a trial court," Nace said. "(Green) found the evidence was sufficient that Bendectin caused this child's defects."

Nace claims Bendectin has caused birth defects in untold number of children.

Former Miss America Indicted

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mayor Edward Koch says he would testify in the conspiracy case against Bea Myerson, his former friend indicted in a scandal that could land the one-time Miss America who found television fame and political success behind bars for up to 30 years.

Myerson, 63, was accused Wednesday in a federal grand jury indictment of giving a city job in 1983 to the daughter of state Supreme Court Justice Hortense Gabel so the judge would lower the alimony payments of Myerson's boyfriend.

Myerson was charged with conspiracy, mail fraud, obstruction of justice and using interstate facilities to violate state bribery laws. The indictment also named Gabel, 74, and Myerson's boyfriend, businessman Carl "Andy" Capasso, 45, who is serving a four-year sentence in an unrelated tax fraud case.

Myerson, a long-time New York favorite daughter, won the Miss America crown in 1945 and went on to become a television star and a business consultant.

She later glided into politics, becoming the city's first consumer affairs commissioner in Mayor John Lindsay's administration and then playing a key role in Koch's 1977 mayoral campaign by appearing around town with the unmarried candidate.

Reform's Refund Amounts To $34 Million For Businesses

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Florida businesses and professionals will receive more than $34 million in refunds by the end of the year, the result of 1986's landmark package of insurance and legal reforms.

Insurance Commissioner Bill Gunter said Wednesday the refunds will be awarded either in cash or as a credit toward renewal of policies.

Most people with property and casualty insurance in effect during October, November and December of last year will get the refunds, which will be about 10 percent of their total premiums for 1986.

The refunds were to have been awarded early this year, but they were delayed by legal challenges to the insurance-reform law.

Up to 200 of the 600 property and casualty companies operating in Florida will be making refunds, including the largest carriers. The Cigna Group is refunding about $2 million; Aetna Life and Casualty, $2 million; Nationwide Mutual Insurance, $2.3 million; Firemens Fund Group, $1.7 million; U.S. Fidelity and Guaranty Co., $1.9 million; and Hartford Insurance Group, $1.1 million.

Thirty-nine companies requested waivers from the refunds totaling $31 million. Gunter approved $20 million of the requests.

The package was enacted during the 1986 regular legislative session in response to a national crisis of high rates for property and casualty coverage and, in some cases, a scarcity of coverage at any price.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Villagers Sing, Soldiers Rest As Nicaraguan Ceasefire Begins

COLONIA YOLAINA, Nicaragua (UPI) — Villagers sang hymns at an outdoor mass to mark the first day of a unilateral cease-fire and Sandinista troops hunkered down to guard against rebels who rejected the measure.

Colonia Yolaina, a town of 800 people 120 miles southeast of Managua, lies just inside a 175-square-mile cease-fire zone declared by the government in eastern Zelaya province. On Wednesday, senior military officers, journalists and Sandinista officials flew in by helicopter to officially kick off a monthlong cease-fire with Contra rebels who operate in the surrounding hills.

About 200 of the town's inhabitants gathered at a tiny church and sang "He Comes in Peace" after Lt. Col. Roberto Calderon, the regional military chief, outlined the exact areas of the cease-fire on a map hung inside the church.

Heavily armed soldiers, members of an elite Sandinista anti-insurgency battalion, stood watch on the perimeter of the church clearing. Calderon said the troops had suspended patrols in the hills and were taking up defensive positions around Yolaina.

Shark Attack Film To Be Aired

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (UPI) — A videotape showing sharks killing some of the more than 100 boat people believed to have died when their overloaded vessel capsized will be broadcast to discourage illegal emigration by Dominicans, a civil defense official says.

A 40-foot boat carrying about 180 Dominicans trying to sail to Puerto Rico across the treacherous Mona Passage caught fire and capsized Tuesday. More than 100 people are missing and feared dead, many killed in attacks by sharks, authorities said Wednesday.

Civil Defense Director Eugenio Cabral said he and Luis Rolon, civil defense director for San Juan, Puerto Rico, took five color photographs of the attacks by 40 to 50 sharks from a small airplane some 175 feet above the water.

New Fijian Government Formed

SUVA, Fiji (UPI) — Col. Sitiveni Rabuka, the coup leader who declared Fiji a republic and named himself president, has moved to form a new government composed of Fijians to replace the Indian-dominated Cabinet.

Members of Rabuka's new 19-member Council of Ministers are to take up their posts Friday to run the racially torn South Pacific island country until elections, which he said would guarantee ethnic Fijian supremacy over the Indian majority.

Only one member of the council appointed Wednesday is an ethnic Indian — Irene Jai Narayan, minister for Indian Affairs — while the rest are indigenous Melanesians, including three army officers and three members of the extremist Taukei Movement.

The Taukei Movement, which had threatened to kill Indians in a "bloodbath" if Melanesians were not given control, staunchly backed both of Rabuka's coups, one May 14 and the latest Sept. 25.

Poland Considers Reforms

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) — President Wojciech Jaruzelski today opened a one-day meeting of the Communist Party's Central Committee to discuss a program of sweeping economic and social reforms.

"Wojciech Jaruzelski emphasized the particular character of the meeting resulting from the significance of the problems to be approved," the official news agency PAP said.

PAP said Prime Minister Zbigniew Messner, who is a member of the Politburo, delivered a report on "the attempts to implement the economic reform." Details of the report were not immediately available.

$1.5 Million Classroom Building Projects Helps Situation

Seminole School Crowded But Compliant

By Richard Whittaker
Herald Staff Writer

Although the rapid growth of Seminole County's population is being felt in its classrooms these days, Red Bug Elementary School Principal Jack Frost feels his school can handle the situation; at least for a little while longer, that is.

Frost, who has been the school's principal since 1972, said that new construction is responsible for the school's ability to accommodate the 970 students enrolled since the Aug. 24, first day of classes.

The $1.5 million project has added eight more classrooms to the school by enclosing the outside patios around it. Frost said Red Bug Elementary has not had to resort to the use of portable classrooms because of the extra capacity provided by the renovations.

The latest growth figures available show the county is experiencing a growth rate of about 5.6 percent during this year. The county's population as of April 1, 1986 was 241,293. That number grew to 254,837 as of April 1, 1987. An estimated 18.9 percent of the county's population are enrolled in public schools.

According to Frost, the schools in Seminole County really hurt the most by overcrowding are Lawton. In Oviedo, Keeth,

In Winter Springs and Lake Mary. He added the Lawton and Keeth both originally split Red Bug's facilities before moving to sites of their own.

As of today Lawton has 1,119 students. Keeth has 1,078 and Lake Mary has 1,080.

Red Bug Elementary draws its students from a 12 square mile radius surrounding the school in Casselberry. Frost said he recently took an informal poll of developers in the area and discovered they plan to build over 1,200 more single family units in the area within the next two years. "Right now we're all right, but with growth, who knows?" Frost said.

Frost said Red Bug is staffed to accommodate 900 students. "We've been able to handle the new students with 48 instructional staff," he said. Frost added that the number included specialists such as music, art and physical education teachers.

Additional classrooms should be available to the school within the next two weeks, according to Frost. He said the construction of a new building sometime in December will provide a "super cafeteria and music suite" for students.

Wally Laube, the person in charge of the project for A.D. Arnold Company, said he thinks the new building can be completed much earlier than that. "I'm looking forward to the first of November, maybe a few weeks after that," Laube said of the expected completion date. He added that the date will depend a great deal on the availability of the parts he needs to finish the job.

In handling growth in the area, Frost said he hopes the construction of the new elementary school just south of Alafaya Drive in the future will help ease the overcrowding situation in the area elementary schools.

But, Seminole County Schools Spokesperson Karen Coleman said the school board hasn't even acquired the land for the new school yet. She said because of that it's difficult to say when the school will be ready for students.

Coleman said the biggest growth in county elementary schools is occurring in the kindergarten through third grade levels. The district's K-3 enrollment in 1976 was 9,749 students, Coleman said. "It's projected that in 1991 that figure will have increased to 17,185," she said.

The overall projection for elementary students kindergarten through fifth grade in 1991 is 25,426. The 1976 overall figure was 14,514, according to Coleman.

SF Draws Even, 5-0

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — The San Francisco Giants expect the power and defense that helped them split two games in a ballpark hostile to their strengths to lead them to the World Series at Candlestick Park.

"Candlestick will only work to our advantage," said Will Clark, whose two-run homer Wednesday led the Giants to a 5-0 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals in Game 2 of the National League playoffs and decided the best-of-seven series, 1-1.

"The only thing standing in our way is ourselves," he said.

The Giants turned two double plays on the artificial turf of Busch Stadium and threw out St. Louis' only attempted steal to counter four lead-off walks by Dave Dravecky. San Francisco sealed the victory on a rare error by shortstop Ozzie Smith that allowed two runs to score.

Jeffrey Leonard also homered, and the Giants pounded loser John Tudor for 10 hits to support Dravecky, who threw a two-hitter.

"Naturally, I would have liked to leave here up 2-0," said St. Louis Manager Whitey Herzog. "Now we have to win a game or two there to make sure we come back."

The Giants are excited about the prospects of returning to Candlestick for the next three games, where the Cardinals will lose some of their speed on the natural grass and the Giants will have a shorter fence to hit over.

"It means a great deal to us to go back to our park, 1-1," San Francisco Manager Roger Craig said. "We play much better there and, yes, I do think we have the advantage. Our park takes some of the Cardinals' advantages away from them."

It is not yet clear who will start against San Francisco's Allee Hamzaker in Friday's Game 3. Danny Cox, scratched in Game 1, is still bothered by stiffness in his neck and will start if he's ready. If not, the Cardinals will start rookie Joe Magrane.

"Dravecky showed a two-out single to Jim Lindeman in the second, and after a lead-off walk to Tony Pena in the third, Craig called a pitch out that allowed catcher Bob Melvin to throw out Pena at second.

Tom Herr followed an Ozzie Smith walk in the fourth with a

It may still be early in the season, but it appears Chuck Reinighaus is already in All-American form.

Last season, Reinighaus finished fourth in the state in the 100 freestyle with a time of 47.3. In a dual meet against Lake Brantley Wednesday afternoon, the Lyman High junior, unshaven, untapered and having gone through a hard workout the same morning, biased to an almost unheard of early-season time of 47.9 in the 100 free.

"In my opinion, Reinighaus is the best junior in the state of Florida," Lyman coach Don Clark said. "I can't think of another 4A junior in the state that can touch him. We're looking for at least a one-second drop in the 100 free time and hopefully he can break into the 45's at state. And, if he does, he can write his ticket to college already."

In the team results Wednesday at Lyman High, the Greyhounds, second in the state last year, rolled to a 110-45 victory over the Patriots.

Lake Brantley's girls, also second in the state a year ago, won all but three events Wednesday en route to an 87-61 victory over the Lady Greyhounds.

Along with winning the 100 free in impressive fashion, Reinighaus also took the 50 free with a time of 22.3 and swam a leg on the winning 200 medley relay which recorded a time of 1:47.5. Also on the medley relay were Dave Bandy, Rick Ott and John Jones.

Also taking individual firsts for the 'Hounds were Bandy in the 200 free (1:49.5), Ott in the 200 individual medley (2:14.3), Jones in the 100 breaststroke (1:10.2), Nick Radkewich in the 500 free (4:52.1) and Ed McGucking in diving. The 400 free relay team of Radkewich, Jim Bandy, Sam Rennard and John Metzdorf also took first with a time of 3:35.

For Lake Brantley, David Bridges won the 100 butterfly and Scott Rowe took the 100 backstroke at 1:02.1.

Seven different swimmers took firsts for Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots Wednesday afternoon. They included Dani Ohnman in the 200 free (2:01.6), Kristen Pauley in the 200 IM (2:17.4), Jennifer Moon in the 50 free (26.5), Manda Davis in the 100 free (57.5), Keri Kosich in the 500 free (6:12), JoDee Lake in the 100 back (1:08.9) and Christy Bridgewater in the 100 breaststroke (1:16.1). Brantley also won the 200 medley relay.

For Lyman, Karen Long won the 100 fly in 1:03.9 and Melanie Bergeson won the diving competition. The Lady Greyhounds also won the 400 free relay as the team of Tiffany Knolla, Long, Kelly Strayer and Rhonda Ricketson combined for a time of 4:11.7.

Twins Rock Alexander, Win Opener

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — The Minnesota Twins found two likely victims for their first-ever playoff victory — a weak bullpen and a starter who had not lost for two months.

Minnesota chased Detroit starter Doyle Alexander in the eighth inning Wednesday night and then rocked the Tigers bullpen to notch an 8-5 victory in the opening game of the best-of-seven American League Championship Series.

Alexander, 8-0 since the Tigers acquired him Aug. 12 from Atlanta, dropped to 0-4 in postseason competition. His combined-playoff and World Series ERA is 7.70.

"Bring able to come back as fast and hard as we did was a real good sign," said Minnesota starter Frank Viola, who did not gain the victory but who did keep his team close enough for reliever Jeff Reardon to win.

"It proves we can beat these guys," Viola said. "Especially against Alexander. His record was so good at the end of the year, he was just unstoppable. It just shows everybody's human."

It was Minnesota's first playoff game in 17 years and its first playoff victory in franchise history. The Twins were swept in 1969 and 1970, when the playoffs were a best-of-five series.

"It's always important for momentum to win that first game," said Detroit left fielder Kirk Gibson, who homered for Detroit. "Now we'll have to win to go home with a split."

Minnesota will start Bert Blyleven, 15-12 during the regular season, for tonight's Game 2 against Detroit's Jack Morris, 18-11. Morris is 8-0 in the Metrodome and 11-0 in his home state of Minnesota. The series shifts to Detroit for three games, beginning Saturday.

"They came back to beat us," Detroit Manager Sparky Anderson said after seeing his nine-game playoff winning streak ended. "Let's give them a little credit. I don't ever like to lose, now we have to beat them four of six."

A.L. Playoffs

Alexander took a 5-4 lead into the eighth on successive sacrifice flies in the top of the inning by pinch hitter Dave Bergman and Chet Lemon.

But Dan Gladden squeezed a single through the infield and Kirby Puckett shot a ball into the gap in left center one out later to tie the score and chase Alexander.

Rookie Mike Henneman was brought in to intentionally walk Kent Hrbek but then he unintentionally walked Gary Gaetti, who had already hit a pair of solo home runs. Willie Hernandez, the league's Most Valuable Player when Detroit won the World Series in 1984, then relieved Henneman.

"They can say what they want about our bullpen," said Henneman, the only reliever consistently effective for Detroit this year. "They can say we're the worst bullpen in baseball. It doesn't matter to me."

Hernandez was brought in to face Randy Bush but Minnesota manager Tom Kelly brought in veteran Don Baylor, who drilled a 2-2 pitch to left to break the tie and extend his playoff hitting streak to 11 games.

"He's a smart guy," Hernandez said of Anderson. "He's got to go with the percentages. I'm having a bad season. It could happen to anybody. In 1984, 1985 and even 1986, I pitched a lot. I could help if I could throw tomorrow (Thursday) and the next day."

Tom Brunansky lined a 3-1 Hernandez fastball into left center to score two more runs and give Minnesota an 8-5 lead. Eric King relieved and got the last out of the inning.

Reardon gave up a single and a walk but struck out the side in ending the game.

Gaetti made history with home runs in his first two playoff at-bats. Bush tripled and scored on a double by Brunansky after

Captain Jack's Hangout Snags Experts, Novices

There are few fishermen in the Port Canaveral area who have not heard of "Captain Jack."

Jack Rinehart has worked in Port Canaveral tackle shops for 14 years. He has owned his own tackle shop and marine supply, appropriately named "Captain Jack's," for five years.

Located on 748 Mullet Rd. in Port Canaveral, Captain Jack's is a hangout for the expert as well as the novice fisherman. Rinehart carries a full line of fishing tackle and marine supplies. A fisherman can make one stop and purchase anything he may need for a fishing trip — from frozen ballyhoo to a new Ioran or depth recorder.

Jack maintains a full line of rods and reels, designed to outfit any angler — from the beginner to the seasoned offshore veteran. Captain Jack's also features a full line of terminal tackle, plus a wide selection of the most successful lures, ice, beverages, snacks, rope, outriggers, downriggers, compasses and a wide variety of marine electronics can also be found in this well-stocked store.

Jack's feature-packed shop certainly draws customers, but it is the helpful, friendly nature of Jack that keeps fishermen returning. Jack gives each visitor personal attention and he readily dispenses expert advice on a variety of subjects from marine electronics to where the fish are biting.

Jack's lovely wife, Peggy, complements the personalized service that Captain Jack's affords. Peggy works long hours, but never fails to graciously provide assistance to all who enter. Her smiling face and soothing voice have cheered up many a weary angler after a long day (unsuccessful?) in the scorching sun.

Jack and Peggy typically work 10 to 12 hours a day, six days per week. Such a demanding work schedule would be overwhelming for most people, but this couple thrives on meeting and helping people. It is not uncommon for the Rineharts to miss lunch, and they often grab supper on the run.

In his "spare" time, Jack repairs rods and reels and also writes fishing reports for area newspapers, radio stations, and magazines.

Port Canaveral is a great place to fish due to the tremendous variety in this area. The Port itself has many bluefish, flounder, jack crevalle, sheepshead, mangrove snapper and trout. A little further out, the buoy line offers fantastic fishing for tripletail, cobia and smoker king mackerel.

Many anglers prefer to go offshore out of Port Canaveral because the inlet is so calm. The Gulf stream is also much closer in at Port Canaveral than at Ponce Inlet.

The next time you fish Port Canaveral, stop in and visit Jack and Peggy. You will like their well-stocked store, but you will be even more impressed with the warmth and helpfulness of this hard working couple.

OSTEEN BASS — Forty-eight boats participated in the monthly Osteen Bridge Bass Tournament. The anglers caught a total of 175 bass that weighed 264 pounds.

Sunday, Oct. 4 was terribly windy, and the anglers had to struggle for every fish.

D. R. Birle and Dick Thomas teamed up to win first place with 20 pounds, 15 ounces. Hank and David Gallagher held down second place with 16 pounds, 4 ounces and Ralph Curry and Paul Hanna slipped into third place with 13 pounds, 7 ounces. The father and son team of Bobby Coppen and Bobby Jr. came in fourth place with 13 pounds, 5 1/2 ounces.

Al Stebbins had to fish alone because his partner went hunting. His die-hard efforts prevailed when his only bass won the Big Bass Pot. The 4 pound, 9 ounce bass was worth over $400.

***
SUPE'S SCOOP — This is the time of year that lunker hunters have been waiting for! Big bass will start to stir out of the summer doldrums with the cooler weather and bass fishermen can expect to start catching some larger fish as water temperatures begin to drop.

***
WEEKEND CAST — Rick Rawlins of Highland Park Fish Camp reports that speck fishing has been good in Lake Woodruff. Anglers trolling Mal Files in open water have been averaging 20 to 30 specks per boat. Several good bass to 8 pounds have been caught on wild shiners fished near floating water hyacinths.

Deil Abernethy at Osteen Bridge Fish Camp said that fishermen are really catching the specks in the Old river channel. Fish three feet deep with Missouri Minnows and drift over the deep holes for sure results. Deil is looking for bass fishing to improve dramatically with the approach of cool weather. If you want fast action, fish with grass shrimp around the new bridge. You will catch a mixture of sunshine bass, broom, and speckled perch.

The bite is on at Sebastian Inlet! Snooks are being caught in good numbers as they feed on migrating schools of finger mullet. Redfish, bluefish, trout, and flounder have also followed the finger mullet into Sebastian Inlet. Virtually every angler is catching something for the skillet.

Captain Jack at Port Canaveral reports that offshore fishing has been spotty due to high seas. It is the time of year that deep water fishermen will have to pick their days and hope for the best. The buoy line is slow due to dirty water. Inside the Port, flounder, bluefish, jack crevalle, mangrove snapper, and sheepshead have provided action for frustrated offshore anglers. Trout and redfish have been improving in the Bahamas and Indian rivers. Saltfish are thick, and these river predators have been whetting their appetites with the approach of winter.

Waves have been breaking over the New Smyrna Jetty, and a few boats have been able to brave the high seas to fish the "rocks."

Shorebound anglers have been catching redfish, bluefish, flounder, and sheepshead. Some big blues should start appearing with cooler water temperatures and high northeast winds.

Free Agency Still On Hold

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The players' union and league management, unable to agree on the prospects for resolution and hesitant to confront the critical issue of free agency, meet again today in an effort to settle the NFL strike.

Jack Donlan, executive director of the NFL Management Council, and Gene Upshaw, executive director of the NFL Players Association, Wednesday conferred for six hours at the union leader's home in Great Falls, Va. However, representatives for both sides said the critical issue of free agency was not discussed and a settlement does not seem imminent.

"I think there is reason to be encouraged and it's still possible for something to come before this weekend," said Doug Allen, the union's assistant executive director. "But it's too early to tell. Once the process starts things happen fairly quickly, but there is no way to predict how long it will take."

NFL Management Council spokesman John Jones, however, was less optimistic, saying it will be "considerable time" before a resolution can be reached. As for Wednesday's meeting, he added: "The fact that free agency, the major issue, hasn't come up, I think that speaks for itself."

Defectors Number 145

Another deadline by owners brought another round of mass defections by union members in the NFL players' strike.

Joe Montana of San Francisco, a two-time Super Bowl MVP, and Tony Franklin of New England, the league's highest-paid kicker, broke ranks Wednesday to be eligible for this week's games and salary payments. Last week striking players faced a Friday deadline, but owners decided that wasn't enough time for players to prepare for games that Sunday. They instituted a Wednesday deadline for Week 5.

The NFL's Management Council reported 40 new strike-breakers, bringing the total to 145. Last Friday 100 players crossed in order to receive paychecks for Week 4. Teams still reporting no strike-breakers are Kansas City, San Diego, Philadelphia, Tampa Bay, Washington and the New York Giants.

Fans Can't Stomach Hamburger After Eating Steak

In an interview with ESPN this week, Miami Dolphins' owner Joe Robbie said last week's replacement games were pretty exciting, pretty competitive and pretty comparable to the real NFL. Robbie must think there are a lot of pretty gullible football fans out there.

His attitude kind of reminds me of a restaurant manager (not local) who once disturbed me. I ordered the Chuckwagon Steak only to be served a hamburger.

I called the manager and said, "This is hamburger." He said, "No, this is our Chuckwagon steak."

Upon exiting, I gave the manager a gum wrapper. He said, "What's this?" To which I replied, "That's my money."

The games last Sunday and Monday were a joke. That was not NFL football by any stretch of the imagination. Put any of those pickup teams against any of the Top 20 Division I college teams and we'll see if it's NFL football.

About 700,000 real football fans proved it was a joke by not showing up at the games. Those that did attend them included the diehards (who would watch anything that has a football and men hitting each other), the morbidly curious and the brain dead.

Let's hope this is the last week of ScabBall. It's hard to stomach a hamburger when you're expecting steak.

District Split Can't Dissolve Oviedo-Seabreeze Rivalry

By Scott Sander
Herald Sports Writer

During each of the past two seasons, Oviedo's Lions and Daytona Beach Seabreeze's Sand Crabs have met in crucial district football games which brought out the best in both teams.

With the redistricting last year, however, the Lions and Sand Crabs figured they would put a potential hot rivalry on hold.

Or would they?
When Seabreeze coach Rocky Yocam noticed his team and Oviedo shared an open date on Oct. 8, he gave Oviedo coach Jack Blanton a call.

The result: Tonight's showdown between Oviedo and Seabreeze. Kickoff is slated for 7:30 at Memorial Stadium in Daytona Beach. Seabreeze has won the first two games between the teams. The Crabs posted a 14-6 triumph last season after registering a 14-6 victory two years ago.

Both games featured savage defensive hitting and hard-running ground games.

"Oviedo is good, clean, hard hitting football team," Yocam said. "You have to execute very well in order to beat them."

Blanton concurred. "I'd rather schedule a good football team that a bad one," Blanton said. "They have a good program, and we like to play them. Plus, we've never beaten them."

Oviedo (3-1) is coming off a hard-fought 14-7 District 4A-7 victory over Leesburg. Seabreeze (2-2) is coming off a 19-14 upset over DeLand. Seabreeze has also beaten Titusville Astronaut while losing to Spruce Creek and Ocala Forest. Oviedo lost to DeLand, 14-7.

"That win over Leesburg felt just great," Blanton said. "We need to get on a roll before we get into the thick of our schedule."

Yocam said that he knows his team is in for a tough test. "They don't do a lot of fancy things offensively," Yocam said. "But they have a number of running backs that are pretty decent."

"They aren't that big, and they don't look particularly fast," Yocam continued. "But they are very hard to bring down."

The Oviedo ground game, the strength of the Lions offense, features running backs Rodney Thompson (245 yards), Preston Dames (207 yards), and Chad Duncan (117 yards). "They are a good running team," Yocam added. "And they also have a pretty good offensive line, especially that big guy."

The "Big Guy" that Yocam referred to is 265-pound offensive tackle Andy Palmer. Palmer has bulldozed several defensive linemen so far this season. "He can really move for his size," Yocam said. "We are going to have to play very well on defense in order to shut them down."

Blanton, who has a penchant for the trick play, said that his razzle-dazzle ideas work because of his simple offensive approach. "We just about put you to sleep," Blanton said. "It is then that we like to catch teams off guard, and we have been successful so far."

Blanton said quarterback John Pettit has been suspended for disciplinary reasons and son Matthew Blanton will start at quarterback. Matthew has missed most of the year with a broken collar bone. "Matthew has gotten a lot better," Blanton said. "This is a good opportunity to give him some playing time."

Receiver Alan Greene has been the Lions' top receiver with eight catches for 104 yards and three TDs.

The Crabs' defense, meanwhile, is led by linebacker Hoover Owens. Owens, who is also the starting fullback, is the team leader, according to Yocam. "He is on the field the entire game," Yocam said of Owens, who in his last two games has rushed for over 100 yards in both and had recorded 19 and 17 tackles. "He is the most dominating two-way player that I have ever coached."

Tailback James Gore is Seabreeze's other offensive threat.

"If we stop their running game, I think that we should be in pretty good shape," Oviedo linebacker Pete Lingard, who is averaging 8.5 tackles a game, said. "We know from the last two years that they are a good football team. Their strength is running the ball, and if we can shut that down, I like our chances."

Blanton said that Owens impresses him. "That kid is awesome," Blanton said. "They have always had tough linebackers, and he fits right into the mold."

Last week, Owens ripped loose the ball from DeLand quarterback Billy Knight and sprinted 58 yards for a touchdown. The crucial play came in the last minute and provided the 19-14 victory.

The Lion defense has been its strong point this season as it has given up only 35 points, with 21 of them being in the first game. "Oviedo has the type of defense that looks like it will be easy to move against on the chalk board," Yocam said. "But things are different once you get on the field. I know that they will be tough."

Oviedo cornerback Karl Wright said that the Lions are ready. "We are anxious to play them," Wright said. "We've come through a lot of adversity this season, and we need to win this game to get us on the right track."

Lady Lions' Vets Trim Seminoles

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

When you are fighting for a conference championship, it is nice to have experienced players who you can rely on in tight situations. Seniors Jill Knutson and Jodie Switzer used their court savvy Wednesday night to lead Oviedo's Lady Lions to an important victory over Seminole High.

Knutson and Switzer each made several big plays in the decisive third game as Oviedo outlasted the oncoming Lady 'Noles, 15-6, 6-15, 15-6 in Seminole Athletic Conference action before 141 fans at Bill Fleming Memorial Gymnasium.

"We got together before the third game and said we weren't going to get down after losing the second game," Switzer said. "We're not quite as strong as we would like to be at this point, but we'll get there."

Oviedo, which has won nine in a row, ran its record to 11-1 overall and 7-1 in the SAC. The Lady Lions lead DeLand by one-half game. Oviedo is idle tonight.

"Jodie (Switzer) and Jill (Knutson) made some real nice net plays and had some good sets in the third game," Oviedo coach Anita Carlson said. "Suzanne (Hughes) had another good game hitting and our communication was better than in the last two matches."

Seminole now stands at 4-8 overall and 3-6 in the SAC. The Lady Tribe will try to knock DeLand down a notch tonight in a conference match at DeLand High (JV 7 p.m., varsity 8).

"I was pleased with our play in the second game but we were too inconsistent overall," Seminole coach Beth Corso said. "I hope to see more of a fluid match tomorrow night so we'll have a chance to knock off DeLand."

Adrian Hillman's play at the net enabled Seminole to stay close in the early going of game three, but almost every time the Lady Tribe tried to grab back the momentum, Knutson and Switzer were there to keep it on Oviedo's side.

With Oviedo holding a 5-1 lead, Seminole had three chances to pull closer. Hughes' hit kept Seminole off the board the first time while Switzer got in an offspeed hit the second time and a nice dink by Knutson kept Seminole from scoring the third time.

After Knutson's dink, Hughes went on to serve four points in a row for a 9-1 lead. Knutson had another beautiful dink over the Seminole block for the ninth point. Seminole got two points back, but Knutson's hit returned the serve to Oviedo which took a 10-3 lead on Kerstin Colon's serve.

The Lady Lions pulled away when Bobbie Kelley served four points, one coming on another well-placed dink by Knutson. Seminole scored two points on Kim Walsh's serve but Knutson set up Hughes for a kill and Anna Hollis then served out the match.

Despite missing six serves, Oviedo won the opening game by a 15-6 count with Hughes' play at the net and the serving of Anna Hollis leading the way. Hughes had four kills in the game while Hollis served a total of eight points, including two aces.

Seminole got its offensive attack cranked up in game two as Liz Long, Adrian Hillman and Cindy Bengé all had good hits. Long's serving string of four points broke up a close game and Bobbie Osborne came on to serve the last four points. Hillman had two kills during the rally as Seminole evened the match.

The Lady Rams, who evened their record at 6-6, return to Seminole Athletic Conference play (3-4) tonight at home against Lyman.

After winning game one, Osceola took a 14-9 lead and was serving for the match in game two. Smith then served Lake Mary to a 14-14 tie and Marnie Frey later served the last three points to even the match. In game three, Smith served six points in a row for the early lead and Lake Mary never looked back.

"Valerie (Smith) had a very solid game for us tonight," Lake Mary coach Cindy Henry said. "Her serving was a big factor and she also provided good leadership on the court."

In junior varsity play Wednesday, Terri Peters served led the way as Lake Mary defeated Osceola, 15-12, 15-13. The JV Lady Rams now stand at 11-0.

Lake Brantley improved to 12-6 overall with a 16-14, 7-15, 15-6 victory over Eustis' Lady Panthers Wednesday night at Eustis.

The Lady Patriots have a big Seminole Athletic Conference match tonight at Lake Howell. Brantley is 4-3 in the league with Lake Howell at 3-4.

"We weren't really up for Eustis," Lake Brantley coach Stephanie Gance said. "We're going to have to increase our intensity level for Lake Howell because it is a very important game for us."

Lake Brantley was led by the defensive play of Jeanne Seidel and Heather Meyer Wednesday while Kim Gunderson and Pam Wittig provided the offensive power. Meyer did a good job starting in place of Barb Billmyer who will miss all of Brantley's games this week.

In junior varsity play Wednesday, Lake Brantley improved to 9-1 with a 14-16, 15-11, 15-10 victory over Eustis.

Hall Upset With Gators

GAINESVILLE (UPI) - Florida Coach Galen Hall says he is not at all happy about the Gators' performance on the practice field this week as they get ready for Saturday's home game with California State-Fullerton.

"We've still got a long way to go mentally. We were not sharp," he said after Wednesday's drills.

He said he could understand some sluggishness after the loss to LSU last Saturday.

Seminole County cross country teams are gearing up for a big midseason meet Saturday as they will travel to Titusville for the Dunn Open, which is being run at Dunn Airport, site of the State Cross Country Championships.

The meet will begin at 8 a.m. with girls junior varsity (all classes), followed by boys 3A JV at 8:30, boys 4A JV at 9, girls 3A varsity at 9:30, girls 4A varsity at 10, boys 3A varsity at 10:30 and boys 4A varsity at 11. All Seminole County teams, except Oviedo's boys and girls and Lake Brantley's girls, will run in the Dunn Open.

One team that was looking forward to the meet but has since had to change its goals a bit is Seminole High's boys. The 'Noles, enjoying one of their best years ever, were slowed down by injuries and illness last week.

"This is one of the meets we really wanted to point for," Seminole coach Ken Brauman said. "But, as of right now, we're just trying to see if everybody will be healthy."

Seminole will get a look at its competition in District 3A-4 as almost all of the 19 teams in the district are expected to be on hand. Up until last week, Seminole was considered one of the top three teams in the district.

"After last week, we're probably around fifth or sixth in the district," Brauman said. "Astronaut and Titusville High have made tremendous improvement since we've seen them last and have moved ahead of us."

Seminole was without its top two, Jason Kaiser (knee injury) and Rufaro Matipano (flu), last week but both will run Saturday. Also running on varsity for the 'Noles will be Dalvin Davis, Brent Posey, Alan Seward, Joe Peebles and Jeff Smith.

Seminole High's girls don't figure to be in the running for the team title, but the Lady Tribe has two of the top individuals in Class 3A competition in seniors Shownda Martin and Dorchelle Webster. Martin has won the last four races she has entered while Webster has consistently been in the top five. Both are shooting for individual berths in the state meet and will get a look at some of their top competition Saturday.

In Class 4A, six of the top 10 boys teams and four of the top 10 girls squads will be on hand Saturday.

The boys teams shooting for the title will be third-ranked Pensacola Washington, No. 4 Orlando Oak Ridge, No. 6 Lake Mary, No. 7 Fort Walton Choctawhatchee, No. 9 Orange Park and No. 10 Lake Howell.

Among the top individuals who will run in the three-mile race are Lyman High's Teddy Mitchell (second in the state), Choctawhatchee's John Oakes (No. 3), Orlando Boone's Dan Carroll (No. 4) and Jacksonville Wolfson's Rob Cowles (No. 7). Lake Mary's Brad Smith will also look to be among the top individuals and regain his spot among the state's top 10.

In the girls meet, No. 2 Pensacola Washington, fourth-ranked Orange Park, No. 8 Lake Howell and 10th-ranked Boca Raton Spanish River will be on hand while Lake Mary's Lady Rams will look for a good performance to vault them back into the rankings. Spanish River's Jennifer Atchley, Lake Howell's Jenny Bolt and Vero Beach's Shyla Mathews are among the top individuals.

"It's important we get on the state meet course," Lake Howell coach Tom Hammonree said. "It's not an easy course to run on and if you haven't run on it before, state can be a disadvantage. We don't want to pass up the opportunity to go."

Goldie, Lozano Pull Off Scottsdale Upsets

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (UPI) - Dan Goldie and Jorge Lozano varied their play to make the two top seeds in the Scottsdale Open uncomfortable in temperatures most would find unbearable.

"I don't think I changed my game that much," Goldie said Wednesday after ousting top seed Mats Wilander of Sweden, 7-6, (7-2), 6-3. In the first round of the $303,400 tournament, "I was trying to get my serve in and vary the set.

"I was trying to play him in a way that he would not be able to get used to the court and conditions during the match."

Lozano, of Mexico, ousted second seed Tim Mayotte 6-4, 6-3 in a second-round match. Mayotte, of Brandon, Fla., struggled for the second straight match in record-high temperatures that topped the 100-degree mark.

Lozano, who had never played his opponent before, said he took Mayotte by surprise and felt more comfortable in the desert heat because he had been playing in a similar climate in Mexico.

"I felt pretty confident."

Lozano said. "Mayotte didn't know what to expect of me."

Wilander, who arrived Wednesday evening for a tournament in Barcelona, Spain, said the time change had nothing to do with his defeat.

"I'm not tired," Wilander said. "You just need a few days to get used to the ball's bounce on the court. It's slow and heavy in Barcelona."

IN BRIEF

Allison Avoids Track's Pitfalls To Shatter 2 Charlotte Records

CONCORD, N.C. (UPI) — Bobby Allison broke two records driving in conditions that caused several of his competitors to crash.

Allison, 49, broke the Charlotte Motor Speedway's one-lap record Wednesday en route to becoming the oldest NASCAR Winston Cup driver to earn a pole position. Driving a Buick, Allison posted laps of 171.860 and 171.412 mph for an average speed of 171.636 mph and the pole in Sunday's Oakwood 500. Allison's first circuit broke the one-lap qualifying record of 171.712 mph, set in May by Bill Elliott.

It was the first time Allison, of Hueytown, Ala., earned the top starting spot since September 1982 at Richmond, Va. His performance gave him his 57th career pole and broke a streak of 149 races without a pole position.

"I felt confident about our run until that car blew an engine just before we went out," Allison said. "Then, I got awful jittery. Because of the oil in turn one, I was very apprehensive. I knew one slip could wipe out the car."

When the engine blew in Rodney Combs' car, Allison joined NASCAR official Dick Beatty in checking the track's condition. NASCAR then sent several safety vehicles onto the speedway after the oil drey was put down in an effort to improve the track's condition.

Lendl Knocks Off McEnroe

ATLANTA (UPI) — Ivan Lendl won the final five points of the third-act tie-breaker Wednesday night to defeat John McEnroe 5-7, 6-4, 7-6 (7-2) in a round-robin match of the $500,000 AT&T Tennis Challenge.

McEnroe self-destructed in the tie-breaker with unforced errors, including a double-fault that took Lendl to match point. The Czechoslovakian then slapped a backhand service return down the line to end the 2-hour, 47-minute match.

"The breakers — you win some and you lose some," said Lendl, who lost a third-act tie-breaker to Peter Lundgren in the semifinals of a San Francisco tournament last week. "I felt flat in my mind out there. It's harder when you're disappointed in yourself."

Earlier, Stefan Edberg of Sweden overcome lethargic play to rally past countryman Ulf Stenlund 4-6, 7-5, 6-1, and Miloslav Mecir of Czechoslovakia defeated Sweden's Mikael Pernfors 7-6 (7-3), 6-4.

Merkerson Sparks 2 Victories

Craig "Merk" Merkerson returned the kickoff 65 yards for a touchdown to lead the Cowboys to a 6-2 victory over the Bulldogs in Sanford Recreation Department Flag Football Wednesday at Chase Park.

The Bulldogs picked up a second-half safety for their only points.

In Monday's season opener, Merkerson tossed a 35-yard touchdown pass to Antonio Trammel and scored on a 25-yard jaunt to give the Cowboys a 13-6 victory over the Wildcats.

Jeffrey Brook's 65-yard TD run accounted for the Wildcats' points.

Gators, FSU Golf Feud Nov. 22

The Florida Gators will square off with the Florida State Seminoles in the second annual Red Lobster Florida Fed Golf Tournament. The event will be held Sunday, Nov. 22 at the Walt Disney World Palm and Magnolia courses. The purpose of the tourney is to raise money for both schools' Merit Scholarship Fund.

The style of play is a four-man scramble with entry fee $100 per person which includes all golf fees, hot lunch with beverages, cookout after golf, awards and prizes. The cookout is also available to those not playing golf for $11.

Anyone wishing to participate should contact Jim Faherty at 422-5560.

Miami's Jones To Miss Maryland

MIAMI (UPI) — Miami defensive tackle Derwin Jones, who broke his hand against Florida State, will not play Saturday night against Maryland, coach Jimmy Johnson said Wednesday.

Jones practiced this week, but Johnson said after Wednesday's workout that Jones was out. He joins defensive backs Donald Ellis (knee) and Darrell Fullington (knee) as defensive starters out for the Hurricanes' only home game of the month.

Authorities Seek Indians' Hall

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Authorities are seeking to bring Cleveland Indians outfielder Mel Hall to Texas to face theft charges.

Hall was arrested Tuesday in Cleveland on a fugitive warrant from the Dallas suburb of Irving, Texas, and freed on $5,000 personal bond, Cleveland police said Wednesday. The arrest warrant gave no details about the theft, police said.

SEC Throne Elicits Many Contenders

United Press International

Most college football conferences have two, maybe three, teams with a realistic chance of winning its championship. But it's open season on the title in the Southeastern Conference.

Momentarily, No. 6 Louisiana State and No. 15 Georgia are co-leaders in the SEC and one of those two should be sole leader after their meeting Saturday in Athens, Ga. But, in a conference where six of the 10 members are nationally ranked, such a lead could dissipate quickly.

However, if LSU wins Saturday, the Tigers would have the inside rail in the SEC race since four of their then-remaining conference games are at home and only one of those against a nationally-ranked opponent — No. 17 Alabama.

Georgia, on the otherhand, still has games with No. 19 Florida in Jacksonville and No. 5 Auburn at home. If Saturday's Georgia-LSU winner falls, the likely SEC front-runner appears to be No. 10 Tennessee, which has only a tie with Auburn marring its conference record and only Alabama (Oct. 17 at Birmingham) left to face against the SEC's nationally ranked clubs.

Auburn, 0-0-1 in the SEC and 3-0-1 overall, is heavily favored to move into a tie with Ole Miss (1-0-1) Saturday as host to Vanderbilt and Kentucky (3-1 overall) makes its conference debut as host to Ole Miss.

All other Southeast action is non-conference with No. 3 Miami hosting Maryland, Southern Miss hosting No. 8 Florida State, Alabama hosting Memphis State, Florida hosting California, and South Carolina hosting Virginia Tech. Tennessee and Mississippi State have open dates.

Georgia Coach Vince Dooley was surprised this week when his Bulldogs, who are 4-1 with the loss by one-point at No. 7 Clemson, were rated 1-point favorites over LSU, which is 4-0-1 including a tie with No. 9 Ohio State.

"That's the most incredible thing I've ever heard," said Dooley, who relishes the underdog role. "When you talk about LSU, you're talking about a team that has a shot at the national championship, a team that has exceptional balance on both offense and defense."

Louisiana State, with sophomore Tommy Hodson throwing for 1,007 yards in five games, leads the SEC in passing. Georgia, with exceptional talkback depth in senior Lars Tate and freshman Rodney Hampton, is the league's No. 2 rushing team at an average of 272 yards per game.

Tate is the SEC's No. 2 rusher at 138 yards per game — just behind Florida's exceptional freshman Emmitt Smith (141-2). But last week, when Tate sat out a 31-14 win at Ole Miss because of a sprained left knee, Hampton filled in by rushing for 227 yards.

Last year, at Baton Rouge, La., LSU overcame a 14-10 halftime deficit to beat Georgia, 23-14, enroute to the SEC championship and a Sugar Bowl berth. In that game, half of Hodson's completions (8 for 108 yards) were to wide receiver Wedell Davis.

"Slowing up Wendell Davis will be a major project," said Georgia cornerback Mark Vincent, who joined the Bulldogs this season after transferring from SMU. "I've seen some pretty good receivers this fall and Davis is so much better it doesn't even compare. He's scary."

Kentucky, off to a 3-1 start against non-league competition, goes into its first SEC game as a 6-point favorite. The Wildcats, featuring the running of senior Mark Higgs, who is averaging 123 yards per game, leads the SEC in total offense (472 ypg) and total defense (217 ypg) although the quality of their first four opponents must be taken into consideration.

Auburn, Alabama and Florida are all heavily favored Saturday. All three can use whatever breathers they can get since all three have extremely tough final-month schedules. Alabama's last three games are all against top-6 teams — LSU, No. 4 Notre Dame and Auburn; all of Auburn's last four opponents — Florida, Florida State, Georgia and Alabama — are nationally ranked; and so are three of Florida's last four opponents — Auburn, Georgia and Florida State.

"A lot of people criticized (Tennessee coach) Johnny Majors for going for that tie (20-20) against us," said Auburn Coach Pat Dye. "With the schedule the rest of us are playing, that one-point conversion may have won the SEC championship."

Edmonton's Chief Rivals Open NHL

United Press International

The Montreal Canadiens and Philadelphia Flyers, the two biggest threats to the Stanley Cup champion Edmonton Oilers, meet in the Spectrum Thursday night when the NHL season opens with nine games.

The Oilers open Friday night at home against Pittsburgh, but they will be without several players who have helped them win three of the last four Stanley Cups.

In addition to those who chose to leave the NHL rather than return to the Oilers, Paul Coffey and Mark Messier have missed training camp because of contract disputes.

Kent Nilsson and Reijo Ruotsalainen left the team following the playoffs to return to the European circuit, and goalie Andy Moog and defenseman Randy Gregg have joined the Canadian Olympic team.

Edmonton still has Wayne Gretzky, Glenn Anderson, Jari Kurri Esa Tikkanen and Grant Fuhr, but they cannot carry the team to the Cup again without the strong supporting cast. Owner Peter Pocklington is taking a hard line with his holdouts, and unless someone gives in, the Oilers are in trouble.

In other games Thursday night, it's Washington at Boston, Quebec at Hartford, Minnesota at Buffalo, the New York Islanders at Los Angeles, Pittsburgh at the New York Rangers, Toronto at Chicago, Detroit at Calgary and St. Louis at Vancouver.

The Flyers extended Edmonton to a seventh game in the Stanley Cup final last season without their leading scorer, Tim Kerr. The shoulder injury that knocked the 50-goal scorer out of the playoffs was corrected by surgery. But he is expected to miss the first two months.

Philadelphia also will be without second-year goalie Ron Hextall for the first eight games and Rick Tocchet for at least a week because of a knee injury originally incurred during the Canada Cup. Hextall, the Vezina Trophy winner will serve a suspension for slaughtering Nilsson during the Cup final last season.

"There is no reason we can't move up one notch and win the Cup," said Bob Clarke, captain of the 1974-75 team, who enters his fourth season as Flyers general manager. "We have been to the finals two of the last three years and it wouldn't take much for us to finally win."

The Canadiens are without defenseman Larry Robinson, who is expected to miss two months with a broken leg suffered playing polo during the off-season. Right wing Claude Lemieux, who suffered torn ankle ligaments in the Canada Cup, will be in the lineup, but probably not at full strength.

The Bruins will attempt to record their 21st consecutive winning season, a record unsurpassed in major American sports, and make their 21st consecutive playoff appearance, matching the Canadiens' NHL record. Ray Bourque, last season's Norris Trophy winner, and newly acquired goaltender Rejean Lemelin will attempt to lead the Bruins to a better finish than last season when they lost in four straight to Montreal in the playoffs.

Gaetti Loses Fan With 'Womp-'Em Zone' Homers

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — Gary Gaetti used to be one of Sparty Anderson's favorite players. Not anymore.

Gaetti slugged a pair of solo homers off Doyle Alexander and scored three runs Wednesday night to help Minnesota open the best-of-seven American League playoffs with an 8-5 victory against Anderson's Detroit Tigers.

Tuesday, Anderson identified Gaetti as a player for whom he held special admiration. It took the muscular third baseman only two at-bats to set a playoff record and convince the Tigers manager he still has an eye for talent.

"The first pitch I hit for a homer was an outside fastball," said Gaetti, who drove a one-out delivery 408 feet to center field. "The second was a slider right in the womp-'em zone."

Gaetti's leadoff homer in the fifth triggered a three-run inning that put the Twins ahead 4-1. The 390-foot blast to center also made Gaetti the first batter in playoff history to hit home runs in his first two career at-bats of the League Championship Series.

"It was probably the most exciting day of my career," said Gaetti, who walked and scored during Minnesota's four-run rally in the eighth. "I was excited all day today. I didn't sleep well. It's hard to control the heartbeat and distract yourself."

Playoffs

Alexander, 0-4 in postseason play, had allowed just three home runs for Detroit in 66 1-3 innings since his acquisition from Atlanta Aug. 12. He was touched for eight hits and six runs in 7 1-3 innings and Gaetti's second-inning homer left the Minnesota dugout in a more relaxed mood.

"The key was Gaetti's first homer," said Tom Brunansky, who drove in three runs with a pair of doubles. "After Gary hit that, there was a sigh of relief in our dugout. We said this guy is human."

CRAIG DEFENDS DRAVECKY
ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Manager Roger Craig came to the defense of pitcher Dave Dravecky Tuesday against those who have accused the left-hander of not having enough intestinal fortitude.

After watching Dravecky throw a record-tying two-hitter in a 5-0 San Francisco Giants victory over the St. Louis Cardinals, Craig acknowledged a rap against athletes who talk openly and often of their religious faith.

"They say Dave's a Christian and that Christian athletes don't have any guts but he's a Christian and he isn't afraid of nothing," Craig said. "Mr. Dravecky battled them like a lion today."

"Dravecky pitched a masterpiece. He's pitched outstanding most of the year. He showed you what Dave Dravecky can do. He goes out and battles you from the first pitch."

Dravecky said he was pleased that Craig would step forward and defend his religious beliefs.

"I appreciate the comments by Roger," Dravecky said. "What people don't realize about Christians is if you put Jesus Christ in my shoes, he would be one of the most aggressive pitchers around."

"As far as I'm concerned, Christians are the most intense and aggressive athletes today. They get a bad rap of being weak and meek. In fact, Christians, I find, are the most aggressive athletes around." Dravecky kept the Cardinals off-balance all day. He did not allow a hit after the fourth inning. The Cardinals had only six baserunners in the entire game and none reached third base.

"My backdoor slider was the pitch," Dravecky said. "The sliders normally are thrown on the inside part of the plate but I throw mine on the outside part."

Dravecky said a recent discussion with pitching coach Norm Sherry helped him.

"I spent some time getting my focus with Norm Sherry and he helped me make the backdoor slider more effective," Dravecky said. "I need to pitch inside in order to be effective."

Gaetti's second home run began the fifth.

Mike Heath hit a home run to tie it, 1-1, in the third and Gibson's home run cut Minnesota's lead to 4-2. The Tigers squandered a scoring opportunity in the seventh when three singles loaded the bases and they were able to score only one run, on Heath's one-out single.

Dollar Heads Down; Gold Looking Up

By United Press International

The dollar opened lower in moderate trading on major world money markets today. Gold was mostly higher.

Earlier in the Far East, the dollar fell sharply against the Japanese yen following reports that U.S. Federal Reserve Board Chairman Alan Greenspan predicted the dollar would weaken further.

The dollar closed at 145.18 yen, down 1.25 from Wednesday's close of 146.43 yen in moderate trading.

Traders in Japan attributed the dollar's decline to a statement by Greenspan that the dollar will be weaker in the long-run.

In Europe, the dollar opened in Zurich at 1.5185 Swiss francs, down from Wednesday's close of 1.525, in Paris at 6.0895 French francs, down from 6.078, and in Brussels at 38.025 Belgian francs, down from 38.08.

The dollar opened lower in Amsterdam at 2.0525 Dutch guilders, down from Wednesday's close of 2.0545, in Milan at 1,316.375 lire, down from 1,317.70, and in Frankfurt at 1.8230 German marks, down from 1.8255.

Home Shopping Profits Down

CLEARWATER (UPI) — Home Shopping Network Inc. said Wednesday the company's performance during the quarter ended Aug. 31 demonstrates its financial strength, despite a 41 percent drop in profits.

Income for the quarter was $3.3 million, or 4 cents per share, compared with $5.8 million, or 7 cents per share, for the same period last year. Sales rose to $159.9 million, up from $53.4 million a year ago, the video retailer said.

Chairman Roy M. Speer said

Home Shopping worked during the quarter to broaden services, expand its customer base and refine its financial management.

"We focused heavily on our strategic plan," Speer said in a statement.

Blount's appeal letter was received, Polk sent a letter of reprimand to jail Sgt. Jimmy Ferguson. The letter criticized Ferguson for failing to supervise the fired guards in carrying out their duty and responsibility. Ferguson was also criticized for failing to ensure the guards were doing their jobs as mandated by Polk and by state law.

Although he is not eligible to appeal his firing, High said both he and Polk agree with Blount and McGill. They, he said, believe they did not get a fair shake and were the "fall guys" in the incident.

High said that the four were doing their jobs as they had been told and had performed their duties in exactly the same way all other Seminole County jail guards did.

High said the guards did not enter the cell block where prisoners were locked into their cells for the 15-minute required checks, because ill. Seminole County jail has a rule that a guard does not enter a cell block alone. Jail officials deny that such a rule exists. But High said that was a rule that all guards operated under and two guards were not available to enter the cell block to make the required visual checks.

The checks were made from a glass-enclosed guard station outside the cell block and from that location the view into the individual cells is severely limited. The guards could only see prisoners if they were positioned directly in front of the door of their cells.

High, who was an Orange County jail guard for one year and who has 24 years experience as a U.S. Navy law enforcement officer, said before the suicide he had questioned his superiors and other guards about the practice of Seminole County jail guards not entering the cell blocks to make the checks. He said he was told, "This is how we do it here."

Jail officials said the checks were to be made with one guard entering the cell block while another station outside watched in case a call for help by other guards was needed. But High said, that sometimes, in this high-security area a single guard was assigned to duty alone, making it impossible for that guard to enter the cell block without breaking jail rules.

Polk said that as certified and trained corrections officers the guards should have known that they were required by law to enter the cell block to check the juveniles. High said he knew he was breaking the law by not entering the cell block for the checks, but jail policy and staffing limitations did not allow him to perform that duty mandated by the state. High said that he, just like all guards for the juveniles, logged that the checks were made. But, in all cases, High said, the checks were made from outside the cell block, which he claims was the common practice at the Seminole County jail.

...Disputes

Urging journalists to read the report and additional information prepared by his attorney, he predicted vindication and added, "If you come to a different conclusion, then I'll eat my words."

Hastings, appointed to the federal bench by President Jimmy Carter in 1979, was found innocent by a Miami federal court jury of conspiring with attorney William Borders of Washington to solicit a $150,000 bribe to reduce sentences of two racketeers convicted in Hastings' court. Borders was convicted in a 1982 federal trial in Atlanta and was sentenced to five years in prison.

Hastings said Wednesday he did not know what motivated judicial colleagues to investigate him despite the acquittal, but he faulted their conclusions.

"I am the first and only federal judge to be subjected to the impeachment process after being found not guilty in a court of law," he said. "Do we believe in the jury system or don't we?"

The five investigative judges rejected his argument that their probe placed him in unconstitutional double jeopardy, noting the burden of proof in a criminal prosecution is higher than in an impeachment proceeding.

An impeachment resolution was introduced in March and the House Judiciary Committee already is conducting its own investigation.

In such a proceeding, the House serves as a prosecutor and the Senate serves as a jury. The constitutional powers are rarely used, but only one year ago Friday, Congress removed a colleague of Hastings, convicted tax cheat Harry Claiborne, from his lifetime post as chief U.S. district judge in Nevada.

The judiciary panel concluded Hastings took part in a plan to obtain money from the defendants facing sentences in his court, and it also accused him of giving false testimony at his trial in an effort to cover up his actions. The report also claimed information that was not presented to the jury in 1983.

"We have sent a message across the country... that Florida is a safe place to live, and an excellent place for people to visit," said bill sponsor Ron Johnson, D-Panama City.

The loophole appeared in a new law that replaced an array of local gun ordinances on Oct. 1. The omission was quickly dubbed the "Dodge City" loophole and sharp tongues were referring to Florida as the "Gunshine State."

Law enforcement officials statewide feared the oversight would breed Wild West-like violence and there were numerous reports locally and statewide of people toting guns in public. Police urged lawmakers to reinstate the prohibition during the current special legislative session on the unpopular services tax.

Passage of the display ban became possible Tuesday, when Johnson agreed to a Senate demand that the prohibition be permanent.

complex.

Duryea said he was going to have a representative of the city's Capitol Facilities Committee to explain to the council what they did in their work on the city hall complex and the conclusions they made during their meetings. He said he doesn't know exactly what to think about the issue. "I guess that's why we're having a workshop," he said.

Morris said he believes the complex should be on the eastern side of the city at a location somewhere on Lake Mary Blvd. or Country Club Road. "I think the property should come from a willing seller, so that we're (the city) certain of the price," Morris said.

Lake Mary Mayor Dick Fess said the workshop will give the new commission a chance to set some parameters on the city hall issue and where they feel the new location should be. "No decision can be made during the workshop," Fess said, adding, "We're just going to set some parameters on what the commission wants to do."

The workshop will take place at the Lake Mary City Hall, located at 154 North Country Club Road.

...Tax

million would be raised by taxing advertising creative services, newspaper circulation, syndicated features, helicopter traffic report services and related services.

The bill would repeal the services tax as applied to construction of single- and multi-family homes, although materials would still be taxed. The levy would not apply to services by real estate agents, but the stamp tax on property sales would increase by one dime, to 65 cents per $100 of value.

House Speaker Jon Mills finally announced he would leave the legislation hanging pending continued talks with the governor.

The dispute boils down to the timing for a referendum on the services tax. The governor wants the tax repealed as soon as possible, but would allow a public vote later on whether to restore it. The House thinks the referendum should come first.

Mills — who at one point conferred with his lieutenants inside a locked bathroom, outside the hearing of reporters crowding the speakers' suite — said the governor's position was "interesting, but right now there are other ideas as well" and no decision had been made.

"I think they are trying to move to our position," said Susan Traylor, press secretary to the governor. "We have to credit them with that, but there are still some snags that have to be worked out."

Traylor added: "The repeal cannot be predicated on a referendum. The only way we can accept a referendum is if it stands free from repeal."

She said in the eye-to-eye confrontation with the governor, the House leadership had been the first to blink.

The delay on the vote may indicate a break in the impasse between lawmakers desperate to save the services tax and a governor equally insistent upon its repeal. But it also means a weary Legislature, already in the middle of the third week of a special session originally intended to last three days, must remain in Tallahassee at least one more day.

Any attempt to repeal first and ask the voters later will meet stiff resistance, even among the House leadership. "That's unacceptable," said Appropriations Chairman Sam Bell, D-Ormond Beach.

Senate President John Vogt, D-Cocoa Beach, was not available for comment and the door to his suite of offices was locked shut. Influential Sen. Jack Gordon, D-Miami Beach, said, "I don't think the Senate will support that (repeal before a referendum)."

Mills found grounds for optimism in the fact that negotiations were proceeding. He said the governor's position was "certainly better than repeal without a consideration of a services tax. I would say there is enormous progress."

The House plan would raise $183 million less than had been expected this year, and about $490 million less next year. Much of this year's shortfall would be made up from the state's reserve fund, but major budget cuts would be necessary next year and several senators objected to locking themselves into those spending cuts.

Gordon said the Senate might revise the House plan so the revenue loss is only $125 million, which could be covered entirely from the reserve fund. The impact on next year's budget also would be dramatically lessened.

Legislative Republicans lined up behind Martinez' demand for the outright repeal of the services tax.

Martinez was sticking to his guns and would veto the bill "as soon as we get it," said Traylor.

tery and saw two men and a woman going through Adams' casket and he walked over to see what was going on. The boy said he was putting clothing back into the casket when Fields drove up and those around the grave fled.

The boy has not been arrested, but the investigation into the incident has not been completed, sheriff's deputies said today. Fields gave Wise the license number of the car the suspects fled in and the registration of that vehicle has been traced.

Hilton had been called to the cemetery at about 4 p.m. Sunday when Adams' son Samuel Eugene Adams, 23, who lives with Fields at 2854 Bungalow Boulevard, reported that he had seen the same car at his father's gravesite. On Sunday, Hilton determined that the east end of the vault containing Adams' casket had been forced open, but the casket had not been removed.

In the Wednesday raid on the grave the casket had been removed and opened. Clothing had been taken out of the casket and teeth and gold filling and gold teeth had apparently been removed. Wise reported that some teeth were found lying on top of another nearby vault.

In addition to the 14-year-old boy sheriff's deputies have name of at least one other male suspect in the case. They have descriptions of the others. The woman is believed to be about 24 years old. She was the driver of the car and was wearing a pink jumpsuit.

A repairman was called Wednesday, to repair vault and family members reported that Adams' body would be reinterred today.

The Shiloh Cemetery has been hit by vandals and grave robbers on several occasions in recent years.

October brings sad memories to all of us, Your Husband, Son, daughter-in-law and grandson, of a loved one gone to rest.

Mom, just because you can't be with us doesn't mean that we do not love you. Life would not be so bleak today nor the year gone by so empty had you not been so dear to us.

Mom, each day that we are apart we all miss your presence in our lives and wish you could be here with all of us. We still grieve you passing and miss your understanding heart.

When all is still and silent, even though tears have passed, our thoughts are still with you our beloved one.

We all love and miss you.

Juanita Murray, D.E. Gorman Jr. Exchange Vows

Juanita Marie Murray and Donald Edward Gorman Jr. were married Aug. 15, at 2:30 p.m. in Lakeview Baptist Church, Lake Mary. Pastor Jackie Nix was the officiating clergyman for the traditional ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Murray of Sanford. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Barbara Gorman, Lake Mary, and Donald E. Gorman Sr., Sanford.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her vows a handmade satin gown fashioned along the slim silhouette with lace inserts down the front. Styled with a portrait neckline and long sleeves, the gown was embellished with clusters of seed pearls. The controlled skirt gently cascaded into a sweeping lace train. The bride carried a keepsake bouquet of pink silk roses interspersed with white flowers and lace streamers.

Missy Benink attended the bride as maid of honor. She wore a long pink gown enhanced with lace trim. She wore a white headpiece with a spray of flowers at one side and carried an all-pink bouquet.

Bridesmaids were Rhonda Gorman, sister of the bridegroom, and Denise Wood of Sanford. Their gowns and flowers were identical to the honor attendant's. Their headpieces were pink.

Robbie Reeder of Lake Mary served the bridegroom as best man. Ushers were Chad Fowler and Keith Hatfield, both of Lake Mary.

Flower girls were Candy and Pam Bair of Deltona, and Scott Sanborn of Sanford was the ring bearer.

The reception was held at the Sanford Garden Club. Assisting were: Susan Glassford, sister of the bride, Apopka; Lynn Bair, Deltona; Donna Sanborn, Sanford; and Christina Sanborn.

The newlyweds are making their home in Lake Mary. The bridegroom is employed by Jim Rowe Pest Control, Sanford.

Matchmaker's Blind Dates Are Not Exactly What Man Paid For

DEAR ABBY: Since my divorce two months ago, I've had a hard time meeting single women, so I signed up with a dating service. The fee was $750 (in advance) and they agreed to fix me up with as many women as it took to find me a wife within 12 months.

For my very first date, I was fixed up with a woman of a different race. I'm not prejudiced, but I had clearly told the people at the dating service that I wanted to go out only with women of my own race. When I complained and asked for my money back, they said they were sorry and it would not happen again, so I gave them another chance.

My second date was with someone who works weekends and is not available on Saturdays and Sundays. I date only on weekends, which I told my "matchmaker" when I signed up.

The third date was with a woman who lives 90 miles away. Before joining I told them I would drive no more than 25 miles. When I told these matchmakers I was dissatisfied and wanted my money back, they said, "Sorry, we don't give refunds." Now what do I do?

DUMBBELL.

DEAR DUMBBELL: You are not a dumbbell, only inexperienced and vulnerable. I'm reminded of a line from a song from "Fiddler on the Roof": "... playing with 'matches' a girl can get burned." Guys, too. The Better Business Bureau should be notified about this dating service. You were had.

DEAR ABBY: You hear a lot of jokes about how women try to get out of having sex with their husbands by saying, "Not tonight, dear, I have a headache." Well, this is no joke — my husband really gets a terrible headache when we have sex.

I told him it wasn't normal, and he should tell his doctor about it when he goes for his next insurance physical, but he says he won't because the doctor might think he's crazy.

Abby, have you ever heard of this before?

HEADACHES IN HOUSTON

DEAR HEADACHES: Yes, I have heard that the physiological changes that accompany orgasm (accelerated heart rate and sudden rise in blood pressure) have been known to cause headaches in some men.

Also, just the stress of worrying about getting one of those headaches is enough to precipitate one.

DEAR ABBY: A co-worker arranged a blind date for me with a man she's been wanting me to meet for a long time. She gave him a big bulldip, so I kept wondering why I a "handsome, intelligent, successful, 36-year-old accountant" had never been married. (I'm 33 and divorced.) Well, after the third date, I think I know why. This man doesn't believe in using a deodorant! I was very much attracted to him, so after the third date, in a very nice way, I told him he needed a deodorant — and even bought him one. He refused to accept it, saying, "There's nothing wrong with the honest smell of masculine sweat." (Can you beat that?)

I could really care for this man, but I get turned off when he gets close to me. He was born in this country and is modern and open-minded in every way except this. He says he showers every morning and sometimes twice a day, and I believe him.

but, Abby, he perspires profusely and I find the odor very offensive. Frankly it would be very hard for me to have a physical relationship with a man who smells bad.

Any suggestions?

TURNED OFF IN ATLANTA

DEAR TURNED OFF: Match

his "honesty" with this honest statement of your own: "I am very much attracted to you, but I can't make love with a clothespin on my nose, so if you want to get closer to me, get wise and use a deodorant." If he refuses, say goodbye with no regrets. He's selfish, insensitive and rigid.

Halloween Safety Event To Benefit Easter Seals

The Easter Seal Society kicked off its "Safe Halloween Campaign" on Oct. 1. The campaign is both a community safety event and a fundraiser for Easter Seals. Sponsored by Taco Bell Restaurants, Rock 100 WDIZ Radio and Century 21 Realtors, the promotion is based upon a coupon booklet.

The Safe Halloween Coupon Booklet contains 10 coupons for free treats such as tacos, burritos, soft drinks, and crispas from Taco Bell Restaurants in Seminole, Orange and Osceola Counties. Easter Seals encourages residents to give a Safe Halloween Coupon to trick-or-treaters in an effort to bring safety back to the Halloween holiday. The book of 10 coupons is available from local Taco Bell Restaurants, Century 21 Realtors, Meritor Savings Banks and American National Banks.

"Every dollar collected through the sale of Safe Halloween Coupon Books goes directly to Easter Seals," said Jeff Foster, owner of the local Taco

Bell franchisee. "What is especially appealing to us about the Safe Halloween promotion and about Easter Seals in general, is the fact that the funds remain in the community in which they were raised. So, we're not just helping people with disabilities, we're helping local people with disabilities, people right here in the greater Orlando-Kissimmee area. Our management and our crew people are really excited about the Safe Halloween Campaign. We're hoping to raise several thousand dollars for Easter Seals!"

Easter Seal programs in the central Florida region include 1) Early intervention - a daily therapeutic program for infants and toddlers with disabilities or developmental delays; 2) Camp Challenge - a completely wheelchair accessible outdoor camp facility for children and adults with disabilities; and 3) information and referral services for people with disabilities and special needs. For more information on Easter Seals or Safe Halloween, call the Easter Seal State Headquarters at (305) 896-7881.

U.S. Seeks Blocking Arms To Iran

By Richard Sale

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States could succeed within weeks in getting a U.N.-sponsored naval blockade of the Persian Gulf to stem the flow of arms to Iran if the Islamic nation keeps spurning a cease-fire with Iraq, sources say.

Under current plans, the United States would be "the primary enforcing agent" for any global arms embargo approved by the United Nations against Iran, and one of several administration officials interviewed Wednesday said such an embargo is expected to be passed by the U.N. Security Council "within a matter of weeks" unless Iran relents and agrees to a U.N.-ordered cease-fire.

There is no specific deadline at this point, but Iran "will not be allowed to stall indefinitely," said one U.S. intelligence analyst.

Iraq already has agreed to the cease-fire urged in July under U.N. Resolution 598, but should the government in Baghdad renege, the analyst said, an embargo also would apply to the Iraqis.

Pentagon, State Department and National Security Council officials arrived at the blockade strategy as a way to enforce any global arms embargo, according to the sources who spoke on the condition of anonymity. A military gate on the gulf is seen by these officials as the most effective means of enforcement.

With the help of British intelligence, U.S. officials already are laying the groundwork for a partial blockade by tracking suspected arms dealers, one U.S. intelligence source revealed.

Described as "selective search and seizure," the operation would have crews on American and allied ships stop, board and search "previously identified" weapons carriers and confiscate arms, an administration official explained.

State Department spokesman Bill Pierce refused immediate comment and Pentagon spokesman Fred Hoffman would not confirm or deny plans had been made for such a partial blockade.

"It is our rigid policy never to discuss anything related to possible future military actions," Hoffman said.

Several administration officials agreed the arms embargo would take effect should Iran fail to respond to new cease-fire proposals to be presented later this month by U.N. Secretary General Javier Perez de Cuellar.

The United States is lobbying France, West Germany, Italy and other allies to support the blockade plan in order to add weight behind de Cuellar's mission, sources said. Britain already has agreed "to help informally," they asserted.

The blockade would rely heavily on intelligence gathered by the CIA, the Defense Intelligence Agency, the Office of Naval Intelligence and other allied intelligence outfits.

One administration official said the United States might attempt the partial blockade "unilaterally" if U.N. provisions "aren't forceful enough."

The proposed arms embargo, now in the draft stage, has drawn support from the Soviet Union and other members of the U.N. Security Council, sources said. One predicted the Soviets would withhold public endorsement as long as possible in order to "extract as many diplomatic concessions as possible" from America.

An administration official said the Soviet Union is asking for an enforcement role but it is being "adamantly resisted" by the United States because it would "legitimize the Soviet presence" in the strategic gulf region.

Another administration official expressed concern that the Kremlin's public support for an embargo "may be contingent on its having a role."

The developments come at a time when some members of Congress have stepped up pressure on President Reagan to reduce the U.S. military presence in the gulf, which he increased this summer as part of his policy to escort U.S.-flagged Kuwaiti oil tankers through the treacherous waterway.

U.S. intelligence sources maintained the blockade should not be viewed as a military escalation, but congressional staffers disagreed.

"Obviously it is," one said. Another said many lawmakers "would be happier if the United States didn't have a major role" and would let a U.N. force of "French, British and Italian ships" conduct the searches and seizures.

The United States, France, Britain, Italy and other Western allies all have violated the official arms embargo to Iran announced as a result of the 1979 American hostage crisis in Tehran.

In the most publicized violation, the Iran-Contra scandal revealed Reagan and his administration secretly sold weapons to Iran for about $30 million as part of 1985 and 1986 efforts to win freedom for American hostages in Lebanon.

Though Britain has denied selling arms to Iran, administration sources said that in the last 2 1/2 years the British sold replenishment tankers, air-defense radars, spare parts for F-4 fighter planes and logistic support ships.

France has sold Iran three missile boats and 155mm artillery ammunition, while Israel has sold F-4 fighter spare parts, M-48 tanks, 155mm field guns, American Hawk and TOW missiles and tons of tank spare parts, sources said.

Alcohol Test Reliable, Even Records Medicine

DEAR DR. GOTT - What medicines and/or foods may cause a false reading on a Breathalyzer test?

DEAR READER - Tests that analyze the amount of alcohol in the breath are quite reliable. In fact, they're so reliable that they will measure alcohol in the mouth, as well as alcohol that is exhaled from the lungs.

Specifically, a person who has just taken alcohol-based liquid cough medicine or has just used an inhaler for asthma (if the propellant contains alcohol) will show up positive on a breath analysis test.

According to Dr. Charles Reading of the Connecticut State Department of Health, most police officers will wait about 15 minutes before administering a breath test. This allows the officer to observe the suspect for visible signs of intoxication. It also permits the dissipation of medicinal alcohol compounds that otherwise would cause false positive readings.

DEAR DR. GOTT - Recently, I married after living a widow's life. I love my second husband very much, but after several years of loneliness and lack of sexual conditioning, I now find it very painful to have intercourse with this caring and loving man. I don't want to disappoint him and hope you can offer some help.

DEAR READER - You should see a gynecologist. As women age, their reproductive tracts become drier and more sensitive. This is especially true for women who have abstained from intercourse for extended periods. A gynecologist can help you to regain your normal state by offering you concrete suggestions, and, possibly, by prescribing estrogen cream to be used externally.

Your problem is a common one; fortunately, you can be aided in your return to a normal and satisfying sex life. Learn how to help protect yourself from heart and arterial disease: Send for Dr. Gott's new Health Report, EATING RIGHT FOR A HEALTHY HEART. Send $1 and your name and address to P.O. Box 91368, Cleveland.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
Bridge players are creatures of habit, and it's customary in bridge to hold on to potential winners and let useless cards go. Sure enough, in thousands of deals that is the best approach. But one still needs to use the old noggin to determine which seemingly useless cards may in fact take tricks.

trump. Declarer forthwith began rattling off all his club winners. West thought he was being clever when he let a low spade go early in the discarding process. His plan was to save the jack of diamonds and rely upon his partner to save any potential spade trick. Alas, one low spade discard was too many. At the finish, declarer's A-K of spades pulled down all of the defenders' cards in the suit, and the lowly spade deuce was the 12th trick.

The unusual bidding was simple enough. South opened with a strong two clubs, jumped to four no-trump, asking for aces, after his partner's negative two-diamond response, and then bid six clubs. West led the king of hearts. East followed with the three, and it was easy to determine that declarer surely had no more than the singleton jack. Since it was possible that declarer had some diamond losers, West smartly switched to a

How could West know to keep his 10-9-4 of spades? Very simple. If declarer had a small diamond as a possible loser, surely he would have ruffed a diamond in dummy. Since that did not happen, West must hold tight to all of his spades and hope that the layout in that suit is as diagramed.
