Council appointments

The East-Central Florida Regional Planning Council (ECFRPC) has announced its new citizens and municipal representatives for this new year. The selections were made during a Feb. 15 meeting.

Seminole County Commissioner Win Adams was named to the council, and City Commissioner Kerry Lyons will be the Sanford representative.

Also named in Seminole County was Casselberry Mayor Bruce A. Pronovost.

Others serving on the board were representatives of Brevard, Lake and Volusia counties.

Boating courses

SANFORD — The Seminole County Flotilla of the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary will again be offering safe boating classes at the Seminole County Port Authority building, 1510 Kastner Place, in the Hidden Harbor Marina. The Boating Skills and Safety course will be taught Mondays and Thursdays from 7 until 9 p.m., beginning Monday, March 6.

Instruction covers boating skills and safety, and includes skills practice, an on-the-water practical and safety demonstration, and a question and answer program by a representative of a Florida law enforcement agency.

Graduation from this course will generally satisfy a required boating safety course for insurance and other purposes.

Class sizes are limited. There is no charge, but books and materials are available for a small fee.

For information and/or registration, phone Bill Binkley at 984-1789/6973, or Carl Carlson at 323-9416.

Have fun, learn with cops

CASSELBERRY — The Seminole County Sheriff's Office is sponsoring its annual Cops and Kids Day, Saturday, March 18 from 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. at Red Bug Lake Park on Red Bug Road near Casselberry.

Representatives from the Sheriff's Office and the seven municipal police departments in Seminole County will set up displays at the park. There will be K-9 and SWAT team demonstrations as well as food and games.

Admission is free. The Sheriff's Office sponsors Cops and Kids every year as a way of educating youngsters about the role of law enforcement in the community.

LAKE MARY — If I were a songwriter, I'd be Jimmy Buffet and I would write a ballad about Rich Burnell.

Take such paratropical favorites as "Living to Reason With Hurricane Season," "Changes in Latitudes," "Changes in Altitudes," and "Chesburger in Paradise," and you could almost describe Burnell's life.

Of course, songs like fiction are sometimes larger than life, but some of the experiences in Burnell's life could be the basis for a good stretch of the truth.

He's been a sailor on Windjammer sailboat cruises. He's an accomplished, self-taught French chef and has worked in some of the best restaurants between Freeport, Bahamas, and Miami. He's an inventor and has patent on a machine which makes a chicken appetizer called "poupons." And he's experienced a few hurricanes in his life.

Were storm victims, said Patricia Burnell, his wife.

Andrew refugees, Burnell adds. The Burnells relocated to Lake Mary 1 1/2 years ago, after being blown out of the southern latitudes by Hurricane Andrew. This was a big switch for the Burnells, who had spent most of their lives in Miami. The natives met 2 1/2 years ago, on the beach.

County ideas eyed

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce has focused its attention on two controversial proposals made recently by Seminole County.

The three major projects we have set up right now, said Dave Fari, executive director of the Sanford Chamber, "are monitoring significant changes, especially in the historic downtown Sanford area, monitoring these efforts to move the courthouse to Five Points, and the concept of merging the Sanford Airport Authority and Seminole County Port of Sanford."

Fari commented, "The move of the courthouse thing has just suddenly come up in the past few days, and we haven't taken any poll about the matter among our members yet. But no one I have talked to about it seems to be in support of this plan in any way."

The Board of County Commissioners has frozen plans to expand the downtown county courthouse until a study can be made to see if moving the facility to Five Points could save money. In addition to the county courts, the proposal would include moving the sheriff's office to the area.

The commission also waived the competitive bidding process, and immediately selected Architects See Chamber, Page 5A

Firefighters' contract may be resolved

By SANDRA ELLIOTT

SANFORD — The Seminole County Board of County Commissioners will take on a Solomon's role Wednesday as the members try to resolve six issues at impasse with the county firefighters union, IAFF Local 924, Seminole County Professional Firefighters.

Contract talks are entering their fifth year. When the firefighters and county could not agree on contract terms, a professional neutral party called a special master was appointed to hear both sides and render a decision on issues of disagreement.

Last month, the county rejected the special master's decision, placing the issue before the county commission.

Up to now, the commission has been negotiating against the union through the county manager's office. However, union attorney Richard Saxia notes the commission is required to "switch hats" and sit as an impartial neutral to resolve the remaining disputed issues.

You can still experience St. Johns Arts Festival

By VICKI DeSORMIER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — A cool breeze danced through the starched white tents, tickling wind chimes and scurrying through the trails and faces of dresses, t-shirts and other wearable art.

The St. Johns River Festival of the Arts attracted artisans and crafters from all over the state and from as far away as Hawaii to the shores of Lake Conilla, behind the Sanford Museum in Fort Mellon Park.

In the park, a few feet from the natural beauty of Lake Monon, nearly a hundred tents were assembled, laden with handcrafted treasures of every description.

There are all kinds of cute things, said Melvina Lark of DeBona. "I just love coming out here every year. This is nice and small but there's a nice variety of things."

Lark said she did not like the large shows like the Winter Park Art Festival, because she felt intimidated by the crowds.

There are lots of people here, but it seems like it is so much more friendly than when you go to those big shows.

Leah Shine was eager to show other finds.

From a gold and metallic purple top the Oviedo resident produced a wooden Uncle Sam waving a staff flag, a soft cream-colored pig in a ruffled skirt and a set of cotton bloomers with lace-trimmed knies.

"Aren't they great?" she asked. "I'm getting a great head start on Christmas."

Her boyfriend, Dave, said he didn't know who would want most of the things she had purchased, but said he enjoyed the ambiance of the festival.

"It's quaint," he said. "She taught me that word, but I think it is quaint out here."

Artists agreed with the assessment of the festival as a friendly, pleasant experience.

I go to festivals across the state, said Terry Andrews of Tampa, who created windchimes from ceramic glass and gnarled driftwood. "They are more conducive to having a good time than the big promotion shows."

Andrews passed up the massive Gasparilla Art Festival at home in Tampa in favor of the Sanford event.

This is more fun and the people are a lot happier, he said. "Besides, something like this is helping the community instead of the promoter."

Late Dineze Carter, three years old, totters along behind her mother, Lizette Stuart of DeBona.

Circuit Court judges reassigned

By SANDRA ELLIOTT
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — An action to shun and criticize judges has resulted in the reassignment of Circuit Court judges serving in Seminole County, including Judge George Daniels.

In summer in January, who had made an assignment of re-assigning four judges and three clerks (1993) that two presiding in family divorces.

The four judges who were re-assigned were Judge George Daniels, Judge William H. Hall, Judge Thomas G. Freeman, and Judge cases filed during 1993 over 1993. There were 1,767 dissolution cases filed in 1994 compared to 763 in 1993. The number of simplified dissolutions declined from 400 in 1993 to 281 last year.

Presiding in civil cases will be Judges Seymour Peterson, Mark A. Baker, Newman D. Brock, and Thomas G. Freeman. Freeman will also preside in dependency cases which involve juveniles who through abuse or neglect are in the court system. The remaining judges will divide the family court cases.

Judges William H. Hall, Leonard Wood and Eaton will divide criminal See Judges, Page 6A

Judge rules inmate entitled to starve

STUART — A hunger-striking prison inmate has the right to refuse medical treatment and starve himself to death, Martin Circuit Judge Larry Schack ruled in a pioneering Florida case. Inmate Michael Costello's privacy rights to refuse life-saving medical treatment outweigh the state's interest to preserve life, Schack wrote in his 16-page ruling Friday. The decision prohibits prison officials from providing any type of medical procedure without Costello's permission. Costello, 44, began fasting Jan. 3 to protest his transfers to two prisons in November and the reprimand of a prison chaplain who became his religious mentor. Costello, who is serving a life sentence for the 1969 murder of a U.S. Army captain in Broward County, sued a week later. He asked the court to prevent prison officials from force-feeding him should his health deteriorate.

Bill seeks disclosure of patient injuries

TALLHASSEE — A bill in the Florida Legislature would require hospitals to make their patient injury rates public so consumers could compare. The Patients' Right-to-Know bill would require the Agency for Health Care Administration to publish data it already collects but is barred by law from releasing. But even if the bill passes — which its supporters concede is unlikely — it's questionable whether the number of hospital injuries to patients would become public. Despite a state law requiring a summary of that very information to be published annually, it hasn't been done since 1990. "We have just not had the computer capability," said health agency spokeswoman Nina Bottcher. "I don't buy that," said state Sen. John Grant, R-Tampa, adding he was angered but not surprised the annual reports haven't been published. Grant is sponsoring the bill in the Senate; state Rep. Mary Brennan, D-Pinellas Park, in the House.

Utility's water proposal rankles counties

INVERNESS — Florida Power Corp.'s proposal to pipe water to the Tampa Bay area has drawn opposition in the rural counties to the north that would be tapped under the plan. "We guard our rivers and our lakes like most people guard their children," said Citrus County Commissioner Gary Bartell. Hatched secretly last year, the proposal involves running pipelines along the utility's power line corridors and tapping into sources such as Lake Rousseau in Citrus and the Suwannee River farther north. The idea is outlined in a confidential July report, revealed in news reports this past week, to Florida Progress Corp., the utility's parent company. The confidential report, prepared by a consultant, estimates Florida Power could make an annual profit of $5 million just by piping water from Lake Rousseau. "It's the invasion of the water snatchers," said Nancy Argenziano, who is among a group of Lake Rousseau residents who vow to fight any pipeline attempt.

25th wedding anniversary gift / triplets

TAMPA — Jane and Vito Pilla celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary by giving each other the perfect gift — triplet baby boys. "We wondered what we were going to buy," the 42-year-old mom said. "Look what we got today." They arrived on their parents' silver anniversary Friday afternoon at Tampa General Hospital. All between 3 and 5 pounds, Vincent, Vito and William were five weeks premature but doing well in the hospital's intensive care nursery. Said the 47-year-old father: "Every five years we gave ourselves something big." It was a gift 24 years in the making for the couple from the town of Hernando in Citrus County. Ever since their first daughter, Sheryl, arrived exactly nine months after their wedding day, they wanted more children. But Mrs. Pilla couldn't get pregnant.

Telescopes zoom in on quasar

CAPE CANAVERAL — Astronomers in space and on the ground cheered Saturday when ultraviolet telescopes aboard Endeavour zoomed in on a quasar near the edge of the universe, an incredible 60 sextillion miles away. The quasar, the most distant and desired target of the astronomy mission, appeared as a very faint pinpoint of light to ground controllers. It was invisible to the shuttle crew. The quasar is 10 billion light years away, or 60 sextillion miles — 60 followed by 21 zeros. "This observation is right at the limit of what can possibly be done with this camera," said Arthur Davidsohn, an astrophysicist at Johns Hopkins University. "It's the hardest thing we can do with this telescope, and it looks like it's going to work."

Kiwanis seek nominees for awards

By VICKI DeBORNIER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The Kiwanis Club of Sanford annually honors some of the finest people in the community for their civic and community leadership. At this time, they are looking for nominees for two of their most prestigious awards: the Roberta Gatchel Woman of the Year Award and the Randall Chase Senior Citizen of the Year Award. These awards allow some of the top men and women of the year to be honored for work they perform unselfishly and often without thought of recognition. The Roberta Gatchel award was established in 1969 in memory of the woman who catered Kiwanis luncheons for over two decades. It is presented each year to the Sanford woman who has done the most for her club and for the community. Each woman's club in the city is given the opportunity to nominate one of its own members. The award winner is given a plaque and a travelling floor banner to be displayed at her club meetings. The Kiwanis Club has established the following criteria for qualifying for the award: The nominee must be an active member in good standing of the sponsoring organization. She must have been a member of that organization for no less than three years; she must be recognized as a community or civic leader either in the pursuit of club activities or in service within her own community; and she should be chosen for service performed over and above those expected of her by the club. A sponsoring organization must be one that has regularly scheduled meetings no less than nine times a year. The basic goal of the group should be altruistic in nature and it should not be political in nature. The Randall Chase Award allows mature men in the community a chance to shine. The award honors a man over the age of 60 who has contributed to the community in a true humanitarian spirit. To be considered for the award, a nominee must be over 60 years old, must have been a resident of Sanford for at least five years, must be a registered voter and an active member of a church. The winner will have attained major accomplishments which benefited primarily others and distinguished himself by his service to humanity. Nominations should be sent to awards chairman Bill Fraasa, P.O. Box 1057, Sanford, 32772-1057. The deadline for nominations is March 15. The winners will be announced at a Kiwanis luncheon meeting later this year.

Getting it right

Members of the African American History class at Seminole High School hosted the "Black Brain Bowl" to conclude their recent celebration of Black History Month. For the contest AAH challenged the Alpha American United Club to see which group had the best knowledge of black history. Principal Gretchen Schapker served as moderator for the contest. Instructors Lamarr Richardson and Bernard Brown helped coach the students and Helen Morris, of the Full Service School program, sponsored the event. Student participants included Bernard Knight, Alicia Francis, Bridgett Wright, Dawn Campbell, Katrina Perry, April People, Kena Henry, Cubit Malone, Diane Holden and Anija Guess.

The way we were: Church marks 100 years

By MARGARET WESLEY
Herald Correspondent

Part 1 of 4 parts
LAKE MARY — One hundred years ago a little group of citizens of the settlement of Lake Mary gathered together to find a way to have regular Christian congregational worship. The first entry in the first minute book of the Lake Mary Presbyterian Church tells how this came about. It is unsigned. "1894, Oct. 14 — A neat chapel had been erected two years ago by Mr. A. Sjoblom at his own expense for union church purposes hoping to secure from ministers of various denominations, service every Sabbath. It was found, however, that only occasional services could be obtained and but little good accomplished in this unusual and unsatisfactory method, and that the only proper way to secure regular service was to induce one of the denominations to purchase the building and effect regular organization. It was but natural that Mr. Sjoblom should make this proposition to Rev. J.F. Sundell, pastor of the Swedish Presbyterian Church of Upsala and whose home was at Lake Mary, that our own church should take hold of the enterprise, and generously afford to, because the chapel, which had cost Mr. Sjoblom $600, for the sum of $225. Upon consultation with some of the

Rev. John F. Sundell, organizer and minister

Original church building, 1894-1895

brethren, Mr. Sundell determined to secure the building, and having secured in the neighborhood $24, made application through the Presbyterian Committee on Church Extension to the Board of Church Extension for $200. The board granted the application and the building was purchased, the property being placed in the hands of trustees of the Upsala Church, in trust for the Lake Mary Presbyterian Church, when such an organization should be effected. "Meanwhile, the Synodical Missionary, Rev. H. Keigwin had made during the summer three visits to the place at brief intervals and conducted evangelistic services and by the blessing of God, a truly religious interest was awakened, and the way was opened for the organization contemplated. A petition somewhat numerously signed was presented to the Presbytery at its meeting at Lakeland, Oct. 10, 1894, for the organization which was granted, and a committee consisting of H. Keigwin, J.F. Sundell and Elder Charles Erickson appointed to organize the church. The following Sabbath, Oct. 14, after a sermon by Rev. H. Keigwin, the following persons offered themselves to constitute the new church: viz: Mr. D.E. Griffen, Mrs. Eunice Griffen, Miss Cora Griffen, and Mrs. A.D. Round, all from the M.E. Church, south of Longwood; Mr. John Connor from the Baptist Church, Mrs. M.E. Miller, from the Baptist Church, Clyde, Ohio. On profession of their faith in Jesus Christ, the following on examination of the committee, accepted, viz: Miss Lillie Sundell, to whom baptism was administered, Miss Nannie A. POLICE BRIEFS

Fraud charged

Kevin Earl Greene, 31, of Orlando, was arrested Thursday at the Driver's License office on East Airport Boulevard. Sanford police said he attempted to obtain a license by giving his last name as "Green" and saying he had never had a Florida or out-of-state license. A license check revealed his Florida license had been suspended, and he had a previous license issued in New York State. He was placed under arrest on a charge of obtaining a driver's license by fraud.

Traffic stops

Longwood police stopped a car Thursday on Pineda Street near County Road 427. Both occupants, Douglas E. Wilke, 37, of Casselberry, and Thomas J. Wooden, 34, of Orlando, were placed under arrest on charges of possession of cannabis under 20 grams.

Robert Hill, 27, 1004 Scott Ave., Sanford, was stopped by Sanford police on 25th Street near McKibbin Park Friday. He was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol.

Domestic cases

Robert Lynn Johnson, 25, and Kelly Louise Brandon, 22, both of 1406 Valencia, Sanford, were arrested by Sanford police Thursday following a dispute. Each was charged with battery, domestic violence.

Antonio Michael Glenn, 22, 111 Cedar Ave., Sanford, was arrested at his residence by Sanford police Thursday, following a reported dispute with a female. He was charged with aggravated battery domestic violence, and false imprisonment.

Joyce Ann Williams, 30, and Eugene Anderson Butler, 35, both of 2609 Marshall Ave., were arrested by Sanford police Thursday at their residence, following a reported dispute. Each was charged with battery, domestic violence.

Warrant

Melvin Eugene Hunter II, 20, 701 Eighth St., Sanford, was served a warrant at the John E. Polk Correctional Facility Thursday. He was wanted for failing to appear on a charge of driving with a suspended/revoked license.

Retail theft

Ernestine Knox, 24, 1020 W. 12th St., Sanford, was arrested by Sanford police Thursday. Officers said she had removed two cartons of cigarettes, valued at $19.90 from a convenience store in the 7500 block of West First Street, without paying. Police said when they arrived at the scene, they found Knox still sitting in her car in the parking lot.

Sheriff reports

A vehicular burglary was reported Thursday in the 900 block of Bird Bay Court near Lake Mary. A CD player and speaker with a total value of $325 were reportedly stolen.

A $500 drain strainer was reported stolen Thursday from a business in the 5400 block of South Bryant Avenue near Sanford.

Sanford police reports

A 24-year old man told police 8-10 black males robbed him at gun point at 3rd Street and Olive Wednesday night, taking his bicycle, $5 cash and a pack of cigarettes.

A cement block was used to break into a business in the 1100 block of French Avenue about 1:30 a.m. Thursday. A display case containing jewelry was burglarized.

A man in the 900 block of West 11th Street, reported between Feb. 21 and March 1, someone took appliances valued at $1,500 from his property.

At a construction site off State Road 46 was broken into between Feb. 28 and March 1, and a jacket, gloves, safety glasses and a measuring tape were taken.

A weed eater and fishing equipment with a total value of $250 were reported missing Thursday from a residence in the 1500 block of East Second Street.

A toolhouse burglary was reported early Friday in the 2000 block of Washington Street. An estimated $200 in property was said to have been taken.

Various items of entertainment equipment valued at $111 were reported stolen Thursday from a residence in the 1300 block of Mellonville.

A business burglary was reported early Friday in the 2700 block of Flightline Avenue. $100 in cash was reportedly stolen.

Two bikes, a TV, an assortment of meats and a female Rottweiler dog, with a total value of $1,543 were reportedly stolen Thursday from a residence in the 600 block of West Ninth Street.

An attempted vehicle theft was reported Thursday in the 100 block of West 13th Street. A $35 AM/FM/Cassette player was reported to have been taken.

Retail theft

Sanford police arrested Brenda Gail Foster, 33, of 1813 Coolidge Ave., at a retail store in the 400 block of East First Street Tuesday. Police said she attempted to take some merchandise out of the store without paying. She was charged with retail theft.

Proper adieu

Edna H. Johnson, (left) senior deputy court administrator for Seminole County since 1989 enjoyed her farewell party Friday afternoon with courthouse colleagues. Johnson is leaving to become court administrator in Panama City which is part of the 14th Judicial Circuit. The 14th Circuit includes Bay, Calhoun, Gulf, Holmes, Jackson and Washington counties. Prior to coming to Seminole County, Johnson worked in Brevard County. Both counties comprise the 18th Judicial Circuit. Joining the party are Harriett Cambron, (center) and Judge O.H. Eaton.

What we can learn from new citizens

We hope you read the story in Friday's Sanford Herald regarding 278 people representing 50 nations, being sworn in as American citizens. It should be a lesson to all citizens.

A former resident of Columbia boasted, "I can vote and I can enjoy the opportunities and rights of being an American."

A woman from Madagascar commented, "I can not wait to vote in my first election." She said she intends to proudly display her American citizenship papers.

Most people said almost the same thing. They were pleased to be able to vote, and looking forward to freedoms they didn't have in their homelands.

Many natural-born citizens should hang their heads in shame. The people at this swearing-in ceremony worked hard to obtain their citizenship. They had to learn about our government, our history, and many other benefits they will receive being a certified American.

Many of them went through great difficulties in leaving their homelands. For a few it may have been a life-threatening escape. For most, leaving home cost a great deal of expense. Some may have even left loved ones and family behind, with the possibility that they may never be seen again.

And here we sit, fully aware that we are and always have been Americans, but hardly ever acting as such.

People often don't bother to vote in federal much less local elections. Not only don't some people help choose our elected officials, but they spend a great deal of time insulting and degrading those who do get elected.

Many people couldn't care less about our nation's history or how and at what cost we obtained the freedoms these new citizens are looking forward to in years ahead.

True, some of them, possibly moved by the grandeur of the ceremony, might have been overly patriotic. Perhaps, when election time approaches, they will have heard from others that their votes probably won't mean anything. A few will stay away from the polls.

For most, however, we believe, with the training they have received through the Americanization citizenship program, they will be outstanding new additions to our nation.

We welcome them to our numbers. In doing so, we should also give serious consideration to the freedoms we may take for granted. The main feature of our United States is a total combination of all the people who are citizens.

More Americans should take time to realize their freedoms, and exercise them. We will be doing ourselves a favor as well as being a good example for those who have now joined us.

Senate budget review

Between 1984 and 1994, state spending jumped from $13.3 billion to $35.5 billion. Even with the effects of inflation, that represents a 92.2 percent increase. Yet, during that same period, Florida's population only grew 23.4 percent.

Members of the Florida Senate are trying to divert the flow of money away from state coffers and back into the pockets of private citizens. Senators have asked state agencies to justify their expenditures through a theoretical exercise: if the agency's budget was reduced by 25 percent, which programs would they cut?

Many agency heads assert that no state program is non-essential. That claim begs the question. For instance, many people enjoy the annual Florida Folklife Festival. That doesn't give it priority over schools, roads or prisons.

Over and over again, Senate lawmakers have reiterated the theoretical nature of this budget review. They are acutely aware of the needs of their constituents, but they also have a moral obligation to spend our money wisely. And that's the whole point. Government does not spend its own money - it spends ours.

The business community wholeheartedly supports the Senate budget review. I suspect that when taxpayers are told the truth, they will as well.

Dismantling affirmative action

Dismantling affirmative action programs is the latest assault upon the survival of African Americans in America. It seems incredible to me that anyone acquainted with American history could not understand that affirmative action programs were instituted to provide access to educational and economic institutions for blacks.

Dating from the 17th century with the introduction of Africans in Virginia, race became the major criterion for enslaving blacks.

Gunnar Myrdal's "An American Dilemma" written about five decades ago spoke about the problems of race in America. W.E.B. DuBois believed that race would be the critical issue of the 20th century. John Locke affirmed that America had been in a perpetual state of war since the introduction of slavery. "Hence it is that he who attempts to get another man into his absolute power does thereby put himself into a state of war with him. It being understood as a declaration of design upon his life."

Samuel Yette's "The Choice: The Issue of Black Survival in America" (1971) and Andrew Hacker's "Two Nations, Black and White, Separate, Hostile, Unequal" (1992) both address the circumstances surrounding black survival in America.

Hacker suggests that racism transcends "big-

otry" because it often is the result of outlooks and assumptions of which people are largely unaware. He continues that institutions in America developed with a bias against black applicants. The underlying projection was that African Americans either could or would not live up to their organizational standards. He cited as examples of these kinds of white organizations - Yale University, United Airlines and the Omaha Police Force. "Historically, practically all people associated with these organizations were white." He concluded that the nation has never really granted black Americans full citizenship.

Yette discusses token blacks in high profile positions with little power. He also notes the economic distress of vast numbers of African Americans. He states, "A people whom the society has always denied social value, personality has also lost economic value. Once an economic asset, they are now an economic drag ... they are in a word, obsolete."

The current activities geared to end affirmative action is reminiscent of what happened almost 100 years ago to limit the newly freed slaves. The United States Supreme Court on May 18, 1896 decided the constitutionality of separate but equal doctrine "Plessy v. Ferguson." The court upheld a Louisiana law segregating railroad cars. Segregation became the design for race relations for the next 58 years. May 17, 1984, the Warren Court declared "separation was inherently unequal" (Brown v. Board of Education).

Ending affirmative action is unjustified in my opinion. However, I have sufficient faith in God and the possibilities of African Americans to overcome obstacles. Likewise, I believe that the multitude of people who believe in fairness and equality of opportunity will follow their conscience if the matter ever comes to a vote in Florida. America is rich in the diversity of its people and continually focusing on issues that divide our people is unhealthy for a society.

Succeeding and working for it

Writer's note: This week, there is one subject, one issue so unbelievably ripe for my form of editorial sarcasm, that I just know my readers expect me to make comment thereon. The specific item in this week's headlines, which deserves the most venial and saccharin prose I might pen, is, of course, Newt's newest debacle, the school lunch program, and his wish to shore up the federal deficit with its ill spent funds. Well folks, I'm not going to touch it. No sir, what could I possibly say about one of the few cost effective, useful and beneficial programs to have consistently done and provided good over the years, which our esteemed Mr. Gingrich would hear. I guess he just doesn't believe that anyone is entitled to a free lunch. And that includes malnourished kids.

Instead, this week, I wish to deal with the subject of affirmative overreaction. Now accepting that as a northern white Protestant male, I might be a tad prejudiced on the subject, I will attempt to deal fairly with the subject and in my own slanted way. Okay?

Under its original conception, affirmative action was to center around the subject of equality, or lack thereof, in America's workforce. In the post WWII world of our fathers, and traditionally for all previous millennium, the white male was the unquestioned breadwinner, and what jobs he chose not to undertake were reserved for the minority males. Females in general were not even considered in the equation unless they were either so pushy as to gain a small foothold within the male-dominated world or they were using their difference in sexual formation to earn that living. Circumstances of progress caused the requirement that the workplace was to eventually evolve into forcing these two denied groups into the periphery of the white male workplace, but it wasn't until the late '50s and early '60s that true progress was to be made.

Affirmative action was the salvation of the disenfranchised masses. It allowed the have-nots to obtain the education necessary to intellectually compete for the better jobs; it forced employers to set aside a certain percentage of jobs on all levels for those newly educated. And it even, to my way of thinking, diminished various forms of prejudice by the resultant integration of the masses in general. Affirmative action has further made great inroads towards the equalization of pay scales and benefits into the current allowance of maternity leave for the fathers of the world. Good stuff that, if things stopped there.

The unfortunate side of this opportunistic equation, however, is that just like the big unions up north, that absolute power corrupts, absolutely. In the case of affirmative action, this has come about in two forms: quotas and

positional requirements, both of which, by the way, I am in favor of, to a diminished degree. The problems arise, however, when through the imposition of quotas, jobs can go unfilled by competent applicants because a suitable targeted minority member cannot be found for the position, or a vastly superior candidate is denied because of those quotas. The problem is enhanced once more when the job requirements are modified in such a way as to fit the qualification of the lesser applicants, despite what those modifications may mean to the job itself. The example of the Los Angeles firefighters is a good case in point. The minimum qualification for strength and endurance has been lowered to allow more women to become firefighters. In and of itself, I accept that premise, to a point. However, when the women who hitherto did in fact pass the previous more stringent requirements, now object to the lessening of the minimal qualifications due to safety concerns, it tends to cause me to listen. And I believe the same is true for access to higher learning.

Yes, in the '80s and '70s, entrance requirements had to be adjusted to allow those previously denied, the opportunity for educational advancement. But today? ... The world has changed for the better and many inner city schools now compete successfully with their suburban counterparts. The children of those previously oppressed are theoretically not any more oppressed today than their fellow applicants for the grants and scholarships to institutions of higher education. Their parents theoretically prevented their being so. If that has not occurred, then in whose lap should the fault be now placed?

It is time for the playing fields to once more be leveled out, or nearly so. While there is still some discrimination which still needs attention, such as equal access of minority contractors to state and federal job sites and the full equality of pay for all persons in comparable position, for the whole, affirmative action accomplished its function, and should now be forced into semi-retirement. No one should be denied the opportunity to succeed if they wish to do so. But then again, one should have to work for it.

Art gallery report paints ugly picture

WASHINGTON - An unflattering portrait of the National Gallery of Art will be on exhibit this week before the House Appropriations Subcommittee on Interior.

And the subcommittee chairman, Rep. Ralph Regula, R-Ohio, is warning gallery officials in advance not to air-brush over evidence that it's failing to protect the nation's art treasures.

Last year, the gallery asked an independent team of experts from the Association of Higher Education Facilities Officers (APFA) to assess the safety and security of its collection - which includes more than 75,000 works of art ranging from Picasso to van Gogh.

Although the gallery grumbles at the broad brush review, the evaluation team was "unanimous in its opinion that the conditions of the facilities and the organizational problems" at the gallery "threaten the security of the collection," according to a copy of APFA's report.

"If I were them, I would address the issue in my opening statement," Regula told our associate Ed Henry. "And if they don't, we're certainly going to get to it in our questions.... You can't ignore the concerns expressed in the report."

At a time when the new Congress is scrutinizing arts funding, President Clinton wants to boost the gallery's $55 million budget. But Regula, who holds the gallery's purse strings, revealed that the APFA report is coloring his early impressions.

"We want to know what's happening to the money because they've been getting a substantial sum through the budget process plus they have a lot of private endowment," said Regula. Last month, he sliced from this year's budget over $400,000 the gallery wanted to use to start building a multi-million dollar sculpture garden.

"I think before we start investing in (the garden), let's take care of what we have," Regula said of the gallery's irreplaceable artwork.

APFA, a respected non-profit organization, completed the scathing evaluation last September. It charged that the gallery's skylights and roof "leak extensively," allowing water to seep into the gallery's East and West buildings. The buildings' heating and cooling system was assailed for frequent temperature and humidity malfunctions that "could easily exceed poorly trained workers' abilities" to bring the problem under control before it damages priceless artwork.

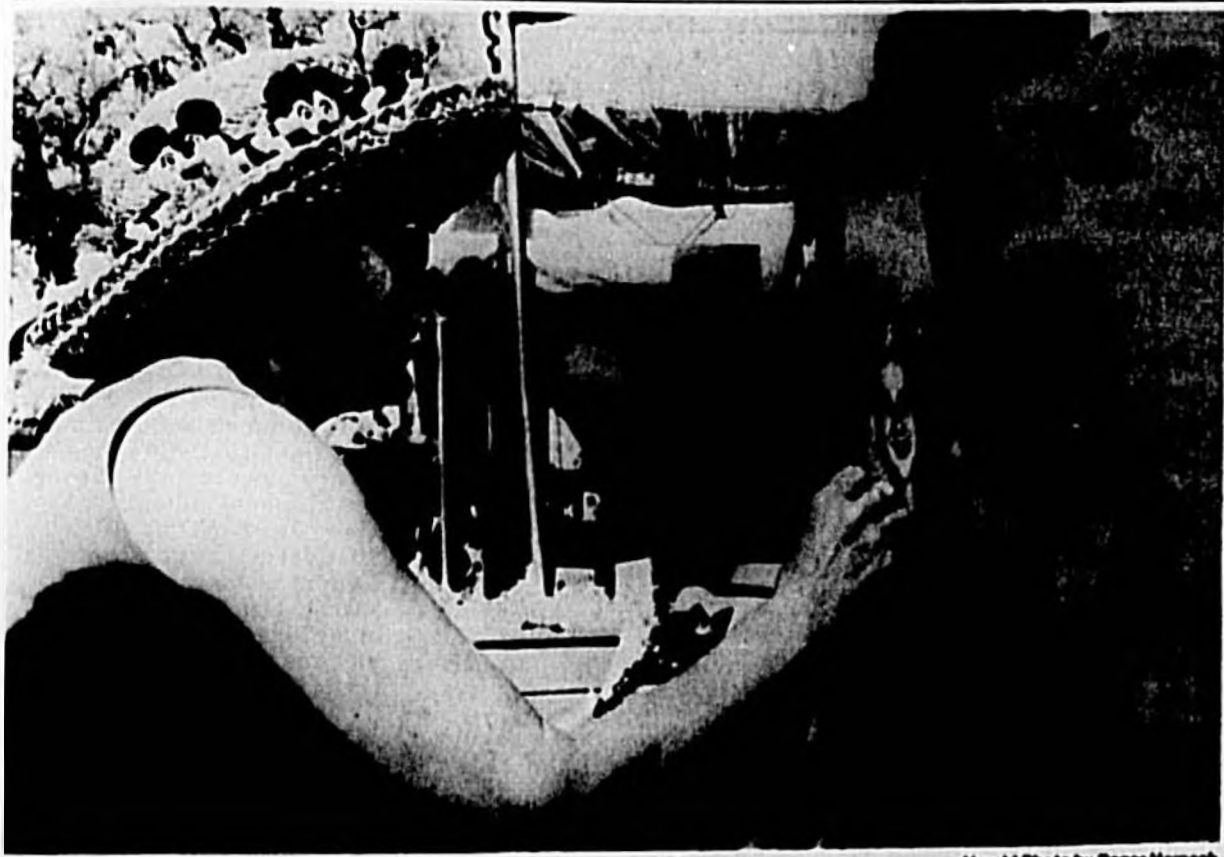

Even though the gallery commissioned APFA's services, gallery spokeswoman Ruth Kaplan says the report is "misleading" because it did not take into view corrective measures that were already combating the problems.

In fact, APFA noted that "these conditions are recognized by (gallery) staff and plans exist for their correction." But the report added: "The team wishes to state emphatically that steps should be undertaken immediately to correct these deficiencies before disaster occurs."

Six months later, the gallery has not taken those immediate steps. Kaplan told us that all of the skylights in the modern East Building will be re-sealed by the middle of April, but she confirmed that the building suffered a water leak just last month after a snowstorm in Washington. There was no damage, but 35 paintings were moved to temporary storage as a precautionary measure.

Design Group to begin a study of the move. The county would not reveal how much such a study would cost, or when it might be completed.

Farr speculated that moving county facilities out of the downtown Sanford area would be a serious economic loss to the city.

While he did not immediately comment on the proposed merger of the Airport Authority and Port of Sanford, he said a very strong committee has been assigned to keep a close watch on the concept. Farr says he is of the opinion that the chamber will also not support such a move.

Sign ordinances being proposed are larger than just the downtown historic area. They also include ordinances which the county is passing, and may have an effect on a great portion of the area. The Florida Chamber plans to focus on reducing government red tape.

"Regarding the state chamber's programs," Farr said. "Our chamber has always backed the state chamber legislative agenda, and we are confident they will make some excellent recommendations to our legislature this year."

Among items the Florida Chamber of Commerce has listed as priorities for 1995 are: red-tape relief, tort reform, and economic development.

The Florida Chamber's government relations team is presently working on obtaining all possible input in order to give a strong presentation to the state legislature.

Church

Sundell, Miss Annie Seigren, and Mr. Pearl Miller. Publicly consenting together to form a Presbyterian Church, they were by authority of Presbytery, announced a church. The name chosen was The Presbyterian Church of Lake Mary. It was, on consultation, thought best to defer the election of officers to some future time.

"At the evening service, Mrs. Louisa Anderson presented herself for membership in the church and, upon satisfactory examination of her faith in Christ, was received into membership and her name enrolled amongst the other members of the church."

So that is how the church began. And these persons are our spiritual ancestors. Who were they? Where did they come from? What became of them? Out of the mists and piecemeal records of the past, we find some answers. For some there are no answers.

Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Miller were dropped, March 18, 1898, from the church roll, along with Mr. E. McDonald, Mr. D.E. Griffen and Mr. A. Connor. "not having been heard from in three years and address unknown."

Miss Annie Seigren was dismissed June 12, 1898, at her request to the Episcopal Church of Lake Mary. (This Episcopal mission was started in 1891, predating the Presbyterians by three years. It is possible that Miss Seigren was Swedish, and came from the Upsala community, although there is no record.)

Nothing is known of Mrs. Roand or of Eunice and Cora Griffen. (There are no church records from 1906 to 1915.) (A Cora Hall was dropped from the rolls in 1915. Relationship unknown.)

Of the Sundells, there is a lot of information. The Rev. John F. Sundell, who was instrumental in organizing this Lake Mary Church, became our second minister and served for many years. A detailed biography may be found in "Lake Mary's Beginnings" by Margaret Green, available in local libraries. Rev. Sundell died in Lake Mary in 1913 and his wife, Mary, died in Oviedo in 1921. They are buried in Lake Mary cemetery. Their son, Oscar, did not marry. Miss Nannie Sundell married Aubrey Moran and settled in Geneva.

Miss Lillian Sundell married Samuel McBride of Delaware. John F. Sundell was the census enumerator for the Lake Mary area in 1910 and called himself a carpenter.

Fire strikes historic theater

DALLAS — A fire on Saturday destroyed the stage and screen of the historic Texas Theatre where Lee Harvey Oswald was captured after the 1963 assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

The roof over the stage collapsed but the walls of the two-story movie theater which doubles as a museum remained standing. The flames did not reach the 1,080-seat auditorium, although about two feet of water pooled on the floor of the pit area in front of the screen.

The damage, however, was "not irreparable," said Battalion Fire Chief Mike Jones.

The five-alarm fire was believed to have started in a furnace shortly before 3 a.m. It was brought under control about daybreak.

Oswald was arrested inside the theater in suburban Oak Cliff just hours after Kennedy was shot on Nov. 22, 1963. Nightclub owner Jack Ruby shot and killed Oswald two days later in the Dallas police garage while Oswald was being transferred to the county jail.

Ruby was convicted of Oswald's murder and sentenced to death. He died of lung cancer on Jan. 3, 1967.

The Texas Theatre, built in 1931 by the late billionaire Howard Hughes, has been hampered by financial problems and went into foreclosure in June 1992.

Gingrich tapes pitch for public television

WALESKA, Ga. — House Speaker Newt Gingrich videotaped a fund-raising pitch for public television Saturday and challenged viewers to match the $2,000 annual donation he's pledged for the next five years.

"As we move to balance the federal budget, public television needs your help," Gingrich said in a spot being aired on Atlanta's WPBA-TV Saturday night. He recorded the message after teaching his regular Saturday morning class at Reinhardt College.

Gingrich, R-Ga., has said public television should not depend on federal financing, which makes up about 14 percent of its budget. He and other GOP lawmakers have proposed eliminating all federal funds for the Corporation for Public Broadcasting.

Lawmakers so far have resisted doing this through 1997, but they are interested in cutting off federal dollars in 1998.

In his TV spot, Gingrich challenged the station's viewers to follow his example in donating to public television.

Deciding on Lopez testimony

LOS ANGELES — Despite her star witness billing in defense attorney Johnnie Cochran Jr.'s opening statement, Rosa Lopez didn't quite turn out as advertised.

The prowler became merely footsteps from feet that were never seen. The 3 a.m. voices from Simpson's house became 11:30 p.m. voices. And the 10:15 p.m. Bronco sighting became the "after 10" sighting.

Faced with a gap between testimony promised and delivered, the defense must decide how to deal not just with questions of Lopez's credibility but also its own.

Use her videotaped testimony, and the defense has a lot of explaining to do. Don't use it, and the defense leaves the jury suspicious.

After her testimony concluded, Cochran said the decision had yet to be made. But co-counsel F. Lee Bailey said her testimony will be shown to the jury.

While far from providing an airtight alibi, Lopez's testimony may close Simpson's window of opportunity to kill just enough to instill reasonable doubt in some jurors' minds.

And that's all it would take for an acquittal or hung jury.

Teen surrenders

BETHLEHEM, Pa. — A 16-year-old sought in the shooting deaths of his parents was arrested early Saturday in Missouri after apparently running out of gas 900 miles from home.

Jeffrey Leigh Howorth walked out of woods and surrendered to police about 1 a.m. The family car he took after the murders was found abandoned late Friday on Interstate 70 near Williamsburg, Mo., police said.

Howorth was charged with two counts of criminal homicide and will be tried as an adult in the deaths of George Howorth, 46, and Sue Howorth, 48, of Macungie Township in eastern Pennsylvania, prosecutor Robert Steinberg said.

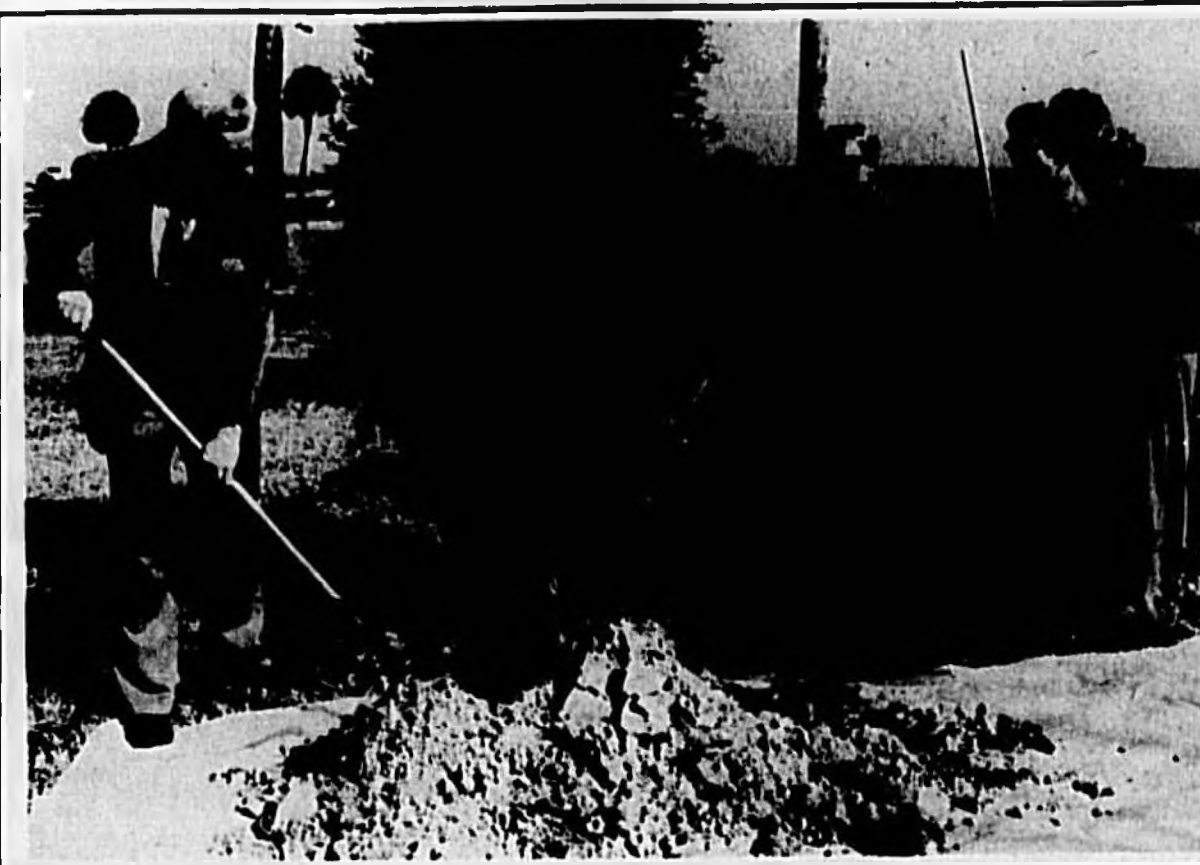

Howorth was being held at a jail in Columbia, Mo., pending extradition.

Police believe Howorth ambushed his parents when they came home from work Thursday afternoon.

His mother, a church secretary, was shot nine times and his father, a utility company employee, was shot five times with a .22-caliber weapon. The couple still had their coats on when their older son, Stephen, 20, found the bodies, authorities said.

Missouri authorities found a loaded 12-gauge shotgun under the Howorth car, and a backpack and loaded .22-caliber rifle in the woods, said Capt. Robert Werts of the Pennsylvania State Police.

Administration on affirmative action plan

By MICHAEL J. SHIFFEN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — With President Clinton reviewing federal remedies for racial bias, the Justice Department alleges an Illinois university carried out a voluntary affirmative action program too far by barring white men from a program to train and hire janitors.

In a lawsuit announced Friday, the department's civil rights division said Illinois State University discriminated on the basis of race, national origin and sex in violation of the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

"Cases involving employment discrimination against white men are rare, but no less important than cases involving minorities and women," Assistant Attorney General Deval L. Patrick said. "This administration is committed to protecting the civil rights of all Americans and this case is no exception."

The case is in reviewing its policies on federally imposed affirmative action in response to criticism by Republicans that such measures unfairly discriminate against white men in trying to remedy past discrimination against women or minorities.

That review had no effect on the Illinois case, said Myron Marlin, spokesman for the civil rights division.

Clinton told reporters Friday that he was almost finished reviewing all 160 federal preference programs in employment, housing and education.

"I want to know whether they are working," he said. "I want to know whether there is some other way we can reach any objective without giving a preference by race or gender in some of these programs."

Meanwhile, Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., introduced a bill to eliminate all federal affirmative action programs. He said they "have done more to harm good race relations, and have been exceedingly costly to the American taxpayers."

House Speaker Newt Gingrich, R-Ga., told reporters in his district Friday night that he had not seen Helms' bill but that he considered group affirmative action to be a form of "government racism."

Dieters may be eating not so 'healthy' entrees

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Frozen diet dinners saying they're low in fat, calories and sodium may also be low in vegetables and nutrition, according to a consumer group.

The Center for Science in the Public Interest says low-calorie, frozen dinners are not an acceptable nutritional substitute for a well-balanced meal. And some of the portions are simply too stingy, the center said.

The center is the same organization that reported last fall that a medium-sized bucket of theater buttered popcorn contains 43 grams of fat.

Many dieters who enroll in weight-loss programs purchase dieter-friendly frozen food entrees to ensure they're adhering to their program's daily vegetable, protein, bread and fat intake.

The frozen entrees are low-fat, low-salt and low-cal, because they're low-salt, says the center. "Some of the portions are so small that they might better be described as snacks than meals or entrees."

For example, the center said, Weight Watchers Nacho Grande Chicken Enchiladas, advertised as "stuffed with chicken, beans, corn and red peppers," has one tablespoon of beans, one tablespoon of peppers and one-half tablespoon of corn. The center, interested in the vegetable content, did not measure the meat content.

But the company insists the frozen meals are entrees and not dinners. The company said dieters who attend Weight Watchers meetings are told by their dietitians to supplement the entrees with a salad or additional vegetables.

In addition, the two tablespoons of vegetables in the enchilada entree count as one vegetable exchange — or half a cup of vegetables.

Weight Watchers recommends consuming at least three half-cup portions daily, which, according to the enchilada entree label, is really six tablespoons of vegetables. Weight Watchers spokeswoman Sharon Greenapan pointed out that purees, sauces and bases — not just easily recognizable vegetables — count in the exchange.

cases and probate work. Judge Gene Stephenson, who took office in January, will continue on the juvenile bench dealing with delinquency cases.

Eaton explained the numbers cited are new filings and do not give an accurate picture of the judges' workload because they do not include cases pending on the dockets.

A new circuit court judge was recently approved for Seminole County by the Florida Supreme Court, Eaton noted. He expects the new judgeship will be approved by the Legislature in its upcoming session.

"The Legislature is building all these prisons," Eaton commented, "they need judges to preside in the (criminal) cases to fill them up."

The judgeship was approved for the 18th Judicial Circuit comprised of Seminole and Brevard counties but the new judge will be posted in Sanford, Eaton added.

Conference addresses health issues for women Senior Friends learn, interact and enjoy

By SHAY KOZGEL
Herald Correspondent

SANFORD — A doctor, a nurse, a travel consultant and a poet came together at the recent "For Women Only" conference to provide senior women the opportunity to learn, interact and enjoy being a woman of the '90s.

The conference, sponsored by the Senior Friends Department of Central Florida Regional Hospital, was held at the Marina Hotel, in Sanford. Topics of discussion included breast cancer, self-esteem building, travel tips and a poetry reading. The conference was followed by a luncheon.

Breast Cancer
Dr. Victor Melgen, a local oncologist, discussed the epidemiology, diagnosis and treatment of breast cancer. Melgen quoted information from the American Cancer Society. The new cases of breast cancer each year number 930,000; 66 percent of these cases are diagnosed after the age of 65.

Melgen also explained the biological properties of cancer, including risk factors, incidence, mortality, morbidity, population affected, curative rates, environmental factors and family history. There is a three time greater risk of getting cancer if a woman has an early menarche; risk factors decrease with early pregnancies and early menopause including induced menopause (hysterectomy). There is a higher chance of developing breast cancer if a sister is diagnosed, rather than a mother.

The questions asked by the audience were interesting and thought-provoking and Melgen's answers encompassed a broad range of knowledge carefully and compassionately shared. Melgen said he was not impressed with the studies concerning diet, to prevent breast cancer. As far as hormone replacement therapy is concerned, Melgen said there are only two studies that report a higher incidence of breast cancer as a result of this type of therapy. Melgen added that mammography machines are very safe, especially, to his knowledge, those that are in hospitals. The machines are frequently checked and certified as there are now laws regulating inspections.

Celebrating womanhood
Sharon Embry, a psychiatric triage nurse at CFRH discussed self-esteem building techniques for senior women, shared poetry and provided statistics regarding the projected population of seniors in the future. Census bureau figures showed five million seniors in 1900. That figure rose to 32 million in 1995 and is expected to reach 50 million or more by 2030. Although it is common knowledge that, on the average, women outlive men by seven years, after the age of 65, that number is reduced to four years. Most senior men are married, most senior women are widowed. There are three times as many widows as widowers. Only five percent of the senior population live in nursing homes or institutions, no more than 20 percent ever experience any kind of institutional care, even for a brief time. Most seniors, 75 percent own their own homes.

Embry spoke about the challenge of changes experienced as we grow older and the ability we have to accept these changes. Physical illness is always a possibility, Embry said, and the senior woman needs to take care of herself in anticipation of this possibility. Body image, such as wrinkles, should be accepted as a sign of the experience of living. Mental illness and depression are treatable. Deaths of friends and loved ones are challenges which can be overcome. Seniors should consider their age in a positive manner, as role models for younger generations. Stable clear minds and productive lifestyles combined with experiencing intimacy with other human beings leads the way to accepting the challenges of life and meeting death.

Travel tips for women
Tom Schroder, American Automobile Association's manager of public and government relations, began his presentation by holding up ten handbags he had collected (stolen) from the audience while they were focused on the previous speaker. The point was made that a good number of those present had trusted the conference situation and made no effort to protect their belongings. Always, cautioned Schroder, take safety precautions.

Is it safe for seniors to travel? Yes, Schroder said, if you are smart. Make a list of all of your prescriptions and photocopy all of your credit cards and other important cards and store them in your luggage, in case your purse is lost or stolen. Don't look like a tourist, never trust anybody, keep alert and focused on your environment were just a few of the suggestions Schroder had for the audience. If you are desperate and need help, look for someone in your age group.

"Playing It Safe," a brochure published by AAA, includes lists of safety tips for travelers of all ages.

Women in poetry

Ada Johnson did not begin to write poetry until she was 72 years old. She has published a book of poetry, "Gentle Images," and shared several of her latest poems and some of her earlier writing with the audience. All of her poetry is illustrated with her own artwork and several of her poems have special meaning. In coping with life, "Sister, A Gift of Memories" helped her deal with the recent loss of her sister. "Just Words" is a tool to use in sorting out life, Johnson said. Her book is available at Acorn Books, in Winter Park, and Battaglia's Books and Cards, in Apopka.

Johnson did take a course in creative writing, at Seminole Community College, and her advice to anyone in the audience, that wanted to write, was "write, write and rewrite."

The Senior Friends program at CFRH is a wellness program for individuals 60 years or "better." The programs, such as the "For Women Only" conference, provide opportunities to improve overall quality of life through exercise programs, VIP hospital privileges and health screenings. For more information on Senior Friends, contact Ellen Rollins at 321-4388, ext. 5784.

Make Believe

*They pretended sunshine
Under blue skies at midnight
They walked on the mountains of the moon
There were no mountains*

*They carved their names on trees
In a forest
There was no forest
They danced in early rain
There was no rain*

*They laughed with a crowd
There was no one there
Autumn came
Their laughter calmed
Their voices slowed to a whisper
Wrinkles crawled over their faces
Like the web of a spider*

*Memories cracked
But slowly
They continued their journey
To the end*

New support group for parents

The Parent Network of Florida and the Mental Health Association of Central Florida will sponsor a free support group for parents of children with emotional problems. Meetings will be held on Thursdays starting March 9, from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Free child care will be provided. For more information, please contact Amy Riordan at 898-6886.

Breast cancer support group offered

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Florida Hospital will offer a breast cancer support group the first Tuesday of each month from noon to 1:30 p.m. in the Chalko Conference Center at Florida Hospital Altamonte, 601 E. Altamonte Drive, in Altamonte Springs. For more information or to register, call Cancer HelpLink at 897-5623.

Free eye screenings for diabetics

ORLANDO — From now until the end of the month, the American Diabetes Association and ophthalmologists from the Central Florida area, including Seminole County, will offer free screenings for diabetic retinopathy to anyone who has diabetes and has not had an eye examination for a year or more.

In 1994, participating ophthalmologists screened nearly 500 people for diabetic retinopathy. Forty percent of those screened were diagnosed with some form of eye disease, such as diabetic retinopathy, glaucoma or cataracts. Diabetic retinopathy is the leading cause of adult blindness.

This disease damages the blood vessels in the retina, the light sensitive tissue at the back of the eye. Damage to the retina can result in visual impairment or blindness. The longer a person has diabetes, the greater the risk that they will have vision problems. Approximately 60 percent of severe vision loss and blindness due to diabetes could have been prevented with regular eye examinations and appropriate treatment.

Anyone interested in the free diabetic retinopathy screening should call the American Diabetes Association at (800) 741-5688 or (407) 680-1928 for appointment information.

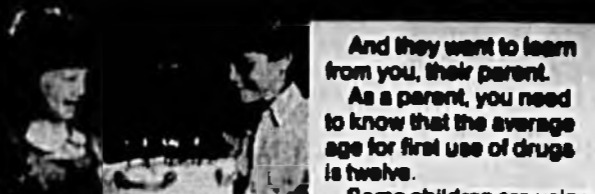

Camp for kids with asthma, lung disease

ORLANDO — The American Lung Association of Central Florida is now accepting applications for "Sunshine Station", July 23-29, 1995. The camp is designed for children, ages 7-11, with asthma or other chronic lung disease.

Sunshine Station offers a combination of traditional camp activities such as swimming, volleyball, crafts and nature hikes, in combination with intensive asthma education. This unique camping experience helps children with respiratory disease learn how to lead a full and active life and develop independence and confidence while sharing similar experiences with others.

The camp will be held at Camp Challenge, Sorrento, 20 miles north of Orlando. For more information call the Lung Association at 898-3401 or (800) LUNG-USA. Deadline for applications is May 15. A limited number of full and partial campships are available.

Burnell

Burnell said. They lived in an apartment on South Beach, in the Lincoln Road Art Center, "we could see the ocean from our bedroom, we could see all of Miami from the other side, we were on the 15th floor. Watching Miami Beach change in the last few years has been something else."

But Patricia says they're adjusting to life in Central Florida just fine. She likes the oak trees and the Spanish moss. And Burnell has found a new outlet for his creativity.

A painting contractor by trade, Burnell does more than just dabble. Actually, he's very handy with woodworking tools and likes to do a bit of carving.

What's a bit of carving? How about a 12-foot totem pole?

Carved from a white pine log, three feet in diameter, Burnell's work got a lot of attention while he was creating it in front of a bait shop on U.S. Highway 17-92 on the lakefront, near the Lake Monroe Inn. "It (the log) was just laying there on the ground, it wasn't painted or anything, I was just cutting it out, but people just came over all the time to see what was going on," Burnell said. Maybe the chainsaw he used to start the carving created some of the attraction.

This is Burnell's first totem pole. Totem poles are used by Native Americans as a symbol for a tribe, clan or person. While Burnell said he did study some designs, there is no actual significance to the eagle and bear which make up his pole, "the Russians and Americans, I guess," Burnell said. "It's my own version, I could never try to outdo the Indians." The wings on the eagle are fashioned after the Harley-Davidson motorcycle emblem, "they're pretty wings. Why not?"

Burnell sketched the design on the log and did the rough cutting with the chainsaw. He has also accented the pole with paint.

With his interest now peaked, Burnell plans a second totem pole, based on information he has studied about the Timucuan Indians.

The Timucuan pre-dated European explorers to this area by thousands of years. They had active and thriving settlements located up and down the St. Johns River. One of the larger settlements was located at what is now Blue Spring State Park. According to Dana Ste. Claire, author of "True Natives: The Prehistory of Volusia County," a large carved owl was recovered from the St. Johns River near the Rich and Patricia Burnell stand before a painting she did of Rich when she met him 23 years ago, sans beard, set on the beach at Fisher Island, in south Florida. Burnell built the frame and it is accented with oyster shells.

WORLD BRIEFS

Mafia suspected in church bombings

FLORENCE, Italy — A Florence prosecutor says he suspects the Mafia bombed two churches in Rome to get back at Pope John Paul II.

The pope denounced the Mafia during a visit to Sicily two months before the July 27, 1993, bombings, which damaged St. John Lateran Basilica and San Giorgio in Velabro church.

The basilica is the pope's church as bishop of Rome. In remarks carried on state television Saturday, prosecutor Pierluigi Vigna indicated he backs the longstanding theory that the Mafia wanted to strike back at the Roman Catholic Church.

Vigna was elaborating on remarks Friday during a forum on Church opposition to the Mafia.

Japan to slash military by 20 percent

TOKYO — Japan will reduce its military troops and hardware by about 20 percent to reflect post-Cold War needs, the Kyodo News Service said Saturday.

Kyodo, quoting unnamed military sources, said Japan would cut its ground troops from 150,000 to 144,000. Purchases of tanks and F-1 fighter planes would be reduced, the report said.

Kyodo did not say when the cuts would take place, although Japan is operating under a five-year military procurement plan.

The director of the Defense Agency, Gen. Tokuyukio Tamazawa, is expected to outline the cuts when he visits the United States in May, Kyodo said. A Defense Agency spokesman declined to comment.

Save that tiger

HANOI, Vietnam — Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia have agreed to work together to save their endangered wild tigers.

The population of Indo-Chinese tigers may have dwindled to 1,000 in recent years because of hunting and human encroachment on their habitats, participants in a three-nation tiger workshop said Friday.

It was the first time scientists and conservationists from the three countries met to discuss joint action to protect tigers. Cooperation is vital because the animals roam mountain jungles along the nations' borders.

The three countries already ban tiger hunting, but enforcement is weak. The region is impoverished, and none of the countries has the money or trained staff to accurately survey tiger populations or patrol against poachers.

David Ashwell of the International Union for the Conservation of Nature, said he has seen tiger pelts on sale in Phnom Penh for $100 — a fortune for a poor farmer.

Many tiger parts end up in China, Hong Kong, Taiwan or South Korea, where medicines made with tiger bones continue to be sold despite government bans.

Slain journalist buried

MOSCOW — Thousands grieved Saturday at the graveside of a respected television journalist whose death stunned the nation and underscored Russia's worst fears of mob rule.

Vladislav Listyev, 38, was gunned down outside his home Wednesday in an apparent contract killing.

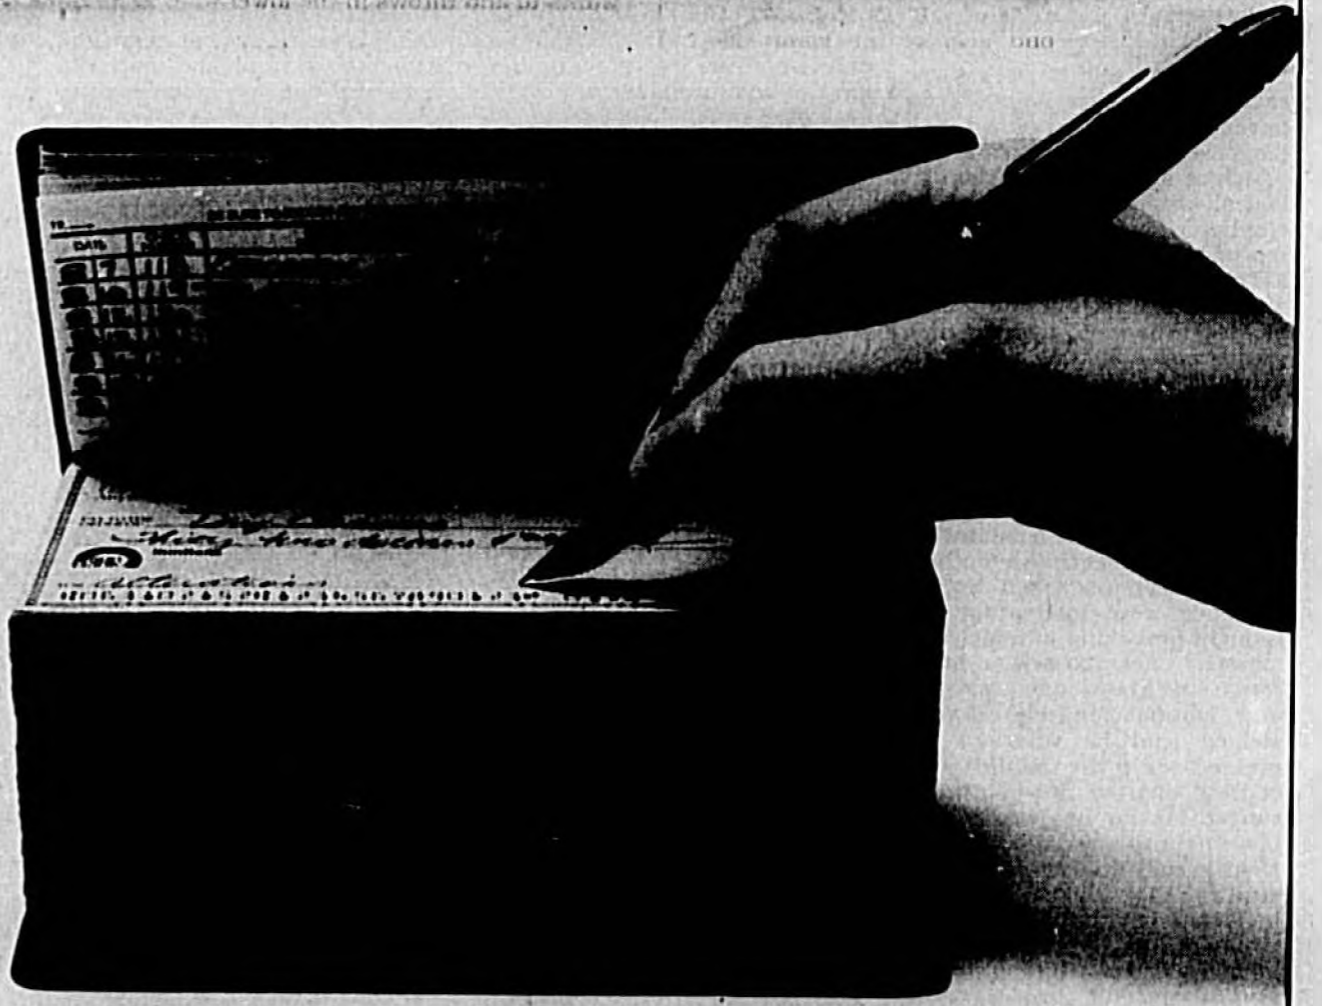

Everyone from cosmonauts and pop stars to housewives and manual laborers turned out to mourn the death of what the newspaper Nezavisimaya Gazeta called "the most beloved, popular person in the country."

They remembered Listyev as the anchorman of several popular current affairs and talk shows — a witty, charismatic journalist who championed reforms in groundbreaking shows in the early days of perestroika.

Huge crowds of people, many bearing flowers, lined the streets around his apartment building and the Russian Orthodox church where a private memorial service was held. As many as 10,000 others filed to Vagankovo cemetery.

FIU earns NCAA tourney berth

ORLANDO — Matt Luhn scored 17 points and James Mazyck added 11 points and 10 rebounds to lead Florida International to victory in the Trans America Athletic Conference Tournament, upsetting Mercer 68-57 Saturday.

FIU (11-18, 7-12) now has an automatic berth in the NCAA championship tournament that begins March 16th.

By beating Mercer (19-11, 10-9) for the first time in three meetings this season, FIU became the first eighth-seeded team ever to win the EAAC tournament in its 10-year history.

FIU's solid play down the stretch nullified a superb performance by Mercer backup guard Will Little, who scored all of his 20 points in the second half and filled the Bears' last 16 points of the game.

AROUND THE NATION

FAMU women earn tourney bid

BALTIMORE — Cathy Robinson scored 26 points and grabbed 11 rebounds to lead Florida A&M to its first NCAA tournament bid, as the Panthers defeated Howard 71-69 Saturday in the Mid Eastern Athletic Association championship game.

FAMU broke the game open with a 12-0 run at the start of the second half, then survived a final minute collapse that included a turnover and failure to convert on four 1-and-1 free throw situations.

Angela McPhail added 17 points for FAMU, which goes into the NCAA tournament with a 24-6 record.

Howard (16-12) was led by Candice Hayes' 22 points. Leah Turner added 14.

Whalers tip Lightning in OT

HARTFORD, Conn. — Hartford forward Rob O'Keefe scored at 1:11 of overtime, a blast from the left circle, to give the Whalers a 4-2 victory over Tampa Bay Saturday.

Kron broke in from the blue line and beat Tampa Bay goalie Doug Pipp with a 30-footer. The goal was Kron's eighth of the season and his first game winner.

Carson and Joe Van Lierneck had goals within a 5:12 span of second period to give Hartford a 2-1 advantage, a lead it carried into the game's late stages when Tampa Bay's John Tukey netted his second goal of the game on a deflection with 4:13 left in regulation.

Devils blast by Panthers

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. — Brian Rolston and John MacLean scored goals 96 seconds apart Saturday, igniting a five-goal second period by New Jersey that earned the Devils to a 6-1 victory over the Florida Panthers.

New Jersey improved its record against Florida to 5-0-2, as the Panthers saw their three-game unbeaten streak (1-0-2) come to an end.

Bill Guerin, Stephen Richter, Tom Chorske and Neal Broten also scored for the Devils. Gord Murphy had the Florida goal.

With the game tied 1-1, Rolston broke the deadlock with a deflection of a shot by Chris McAlpine at 11:11. MacLean followed with a short handed goal as he whipped his own rebound past goalie under Mark Fitzpatrick.

Wallace wins Hardee's 250

RICHMOND, Va. — Jeremy Wallace continued his Busch Grand National domination at Richmond International Raceway by pulling away over the final 51 laps Saturday to win the Hardee's 250.

Driving a Ford, Wallace had built his lead to about 12 car lengths over Terry Labonte when he took the checkered flag for his second consecutive Grand National win at Richmond.

It also marked the ninth time in 10 Grand National races on the three-quarter mile track that Wallace has finished in the top 10.

"I don't know what it is about this place," said Wallace, who won $25,000 for Grand National career victory No. 7. "Some people run great at Darlington. Atlanta places like that. For me, things just seem to go great at Richmond."

Seton Hall women dump Miami

SOUTH ORANGE, N.J. — Latrice Hens scored 22 points and hit a 3 pointer to ignite a late 15-0 spurt that led Seton Hall to a 69-50 victory over Miami in the quarterfinals of the Big East Tournament Saturday.

The win advanced the third-seeded Lady Pirates (22-7) to Sunday's semifinals, where they will play the winner of Saturday's second game, between second-seeded Villanova and seventh-seeded Georgetown.

Catavia Blue led Miami (11-16) with 18 points and Sheron Murray had 17, despite foul problems. Jordan had 14 points and 11 rebounds, while Cassandra Wines was the only other Hurricane player to score, getting 3 points.

Sofka, Rams highlight All-SAC wrestling team

Special to the Herald

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — When you dominate a conference the way the Lake Mary High School wrestling team or Lake Brantley 160-pounder Jason Sofka did the Seminole Athletic Conference this past year, you should be able to expect some recognition for the achievement.

The Rams swept their way to the SAC championship — earning Coach Doug Peters another SAC Coach of the Year award, which automatically goes to the coach of the conference champion.

And none of the five matches were close. Lake Mary winning each dual by 30 points or more. Only Lyman and Lake Brantley scored as many as 18 points against the Rams. Lyman was the only team to keep Lake Mary's team score under 50 (48).

On an individual level, Sofka enjoyed a nearly perfect season, compiling a personal record of 33-1 on the way to finishing third at the Class 6A state championship meet, where he suffered his only loss.

So when the All-Seminole Athletic Conference wrestling team was announced, it came as no surprise that Sofka and five Lake Mary Rams were on the first team. Lake Mary also had four wrestlers on the second team, and three made honorable mention for a county-best 12 All-SAC selections.

Leading the Lake Mary contingent are first team selections Rich Bradley (112 pounds), Greg Clayton (125), Nate Mitchell (130), Brad Harris (145), and Ronel Jump (220).

Second-team selections for the Rams were Brian Yang (119), Ben Crawford (135), Joe Collins (140), and Travis Crawford (152). Earning honorable mention nods were William Drake (103), Jamie Orras (160), and Jeff Norton (189).

Lyman (second in the SAC with a 4-1 conference mark), Lake Brantley (third, 3-2), and Oviedo (fourth, 2-3) each placed three wrestlers on the first team and had a total of nine wrestlers earn All-SAC honors.

Completing the All-SAC first team were Lyman's Pete Whittington (119), Isaac Hunter (135), and Alex Hannah (Heavyweight). Sofka, Robert Carlisi (103), and Ryan Davis (152) from

Buchanan no-hits St. Cloud

By BILL KERNS

LAKE MARY — Brian Buchanan hurled a no-hitter Friday afternoon, striking out 12 and not allowing a ball to go past the infield, as Oviedo ripped St. Cloud 7-0 at Lake Mary Field to take third place in the Raminole invitational.

Gaining momentum with every inning, Buchanan struck out the last nine batters he faced. He walked two in the first, and only one the rest of the game. Those were the only base runners he allowed.

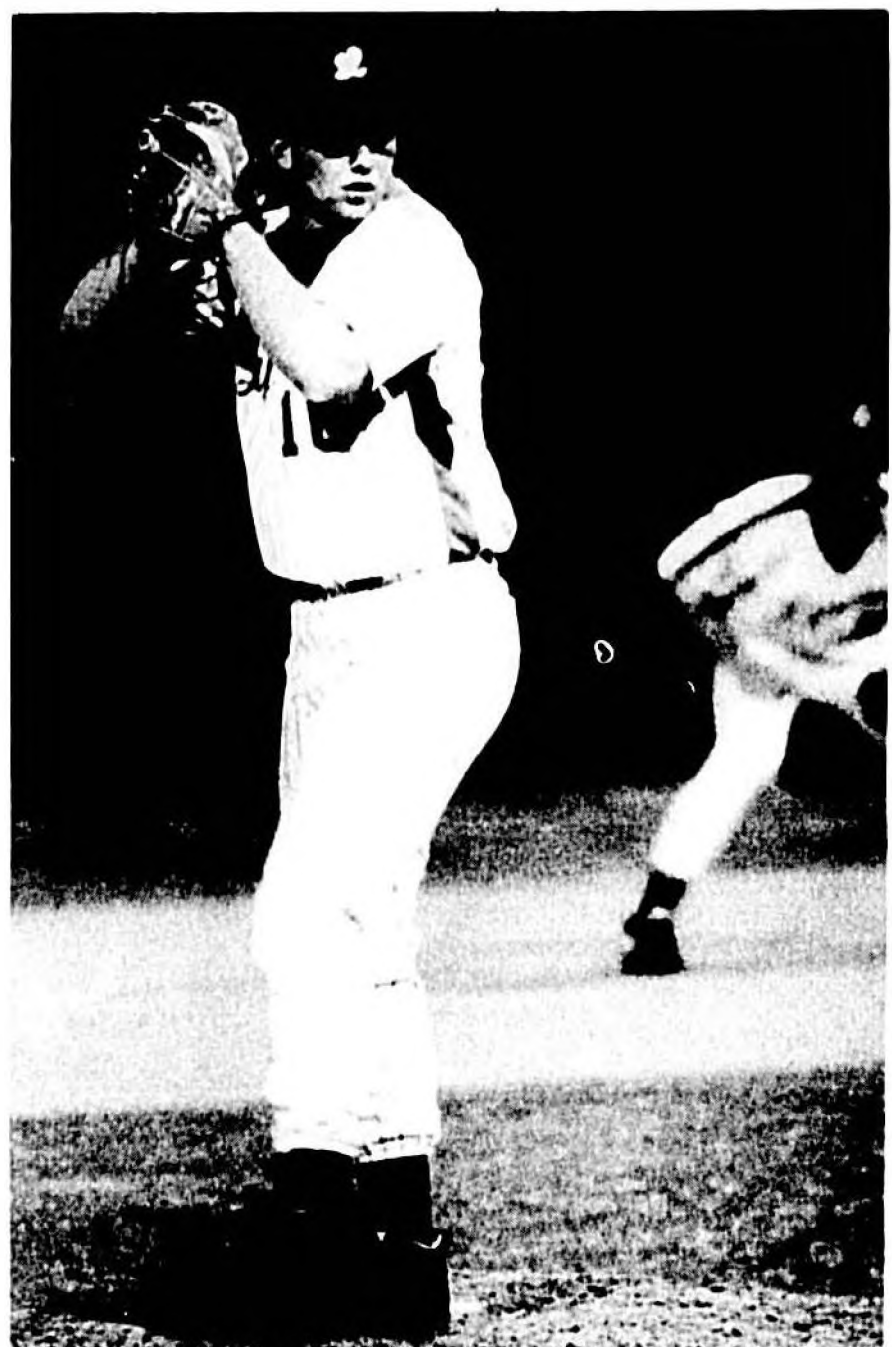

"He may have been throwing harder in the last inning than in the first," said Oviedo coach Kenne Brown. "He was just about untouchable. It's fun to watch him, because he places the ball where he wants to and throws in the lower to mid 80s."

Buchanan was the starting quarterback for the Oviedo football team and played guard for the basketball team. When basketball cut into the baseball season, he threw on the sidelines and worked with pitching coach Harold Hill.

In his only other start this season, Buchanan recorded the victory by striking out seven and walking one over five innings against Winter Park.

"He started off this summer really well," said Brown. "I knew he would be one of my main starters. He was fabulous against Winter Park."

LAKE MARY — It wasn't a no-hitter, but...

Tommy Dixon tossed a 1-hitter as Lyman won the Raminole Invitational Friday night at Lake Mary Field, shutting out Lake Mary 2-0. Dixon struck out 12, walked three, and never allowed a runner past first base.

"T.J. did a super job," said Lyman head coach Bob McCullough. "It's early in the season, but he did have a whale of a game. Plus, he stayed under the number of pitches we were watching for. Now, he won't pitch again until Friday."

Lyman scored both of its runs in the fourth inning. Mike Henschel and Jason Gronert sparked the rally with back-to-back singles. Henschel scored on an error, and Gronert came home when Danny Bogeaps drew a bases-loaded walk.

"We're not going to win a lot of games with only two runs," said McCullough. "Our hitting is not what it could be. We've got a lot to improve on, and we're taking it one game at a time. Good teams can never play tomorrow's games on yesterday's accomplishments."

Dixon is now 4-0, anchoring Lyman's 6-0 start to the season. Chris Kleibl singled solidly to left field in the second inning for Lake Mary's only hit.

Robert Vessey countered Dixon's performance with a four-hitter.

Hawk boys, 'Hound girls tops at Seminole Relays

By DEAN SMITH
Herald Sports Writer

SANFORD — The Lake Howell boys and Lyman girls came up the surprise team winners in a very competitive Seminole Relays on the Buddy Lawson Memorial Track inside Thomas E. Whigham Stadium Friday night at Seminole High School.

"It was a good turnout," said Seminole boys' coach Ken Brauman. "There were a lot of fans in the stands and most of the races were very competitive. It was a good meet."

The meet was sponsored by the Seminole Sunrise Kiwanis of Sanford.

Lake Howell's boys claimed victory in five different events to top the host Seminole, 125-113 1/2. Lake Mary came home a distant third (84).

But it was the surprising Lyman girls who trailed late in the meet, only to come back to edge Seminole and Lake Mary.

The Tribe was comfortably ahead with the results of three events still outstanding. But the Greyhounds won two of the events, the 1,600-meter medley relay (4 minutes, 43.8 seconds) and the 4 x 800-meter relay (10:42.28), and got a third in the high jump from Angel Rhodes, who cleared 4 feet, 8 inches.

That 31-point surge carried the Greyhounds to a 101-96 win over the Seminoles, who were shut out in those same three events. The Rams were a close third (92), just ahead of Seabreeze (89).

Two meet records also fell on the evening, with Bevel from Seabreeze getting off a throw of 38-11 to break the girls' shot put record of 38-5 1/2 set by Johnson from Hanes City back in 1987.

The other record was set in the girls' triple jump, where Seminole's Belinder Morgan topped her own record by a foot, jumping 36-2 Friday night to best her top skip and jump total of 35-2 set last year.

The Tribe's Donnell Williams was the top individual male performer, winning the triple jump (44-1/2) and getting a pair of thirds in the long jump (20-9) and high jump (5-10).

Brian Olson from Lake Howell and Deriko Shaw from Seminole placed in two events, Olson winning the shot put (49-10) and taking second in the discs (132) while Shaw won the long jump (21-5 1/2) and was third in the triple jump (41-10 1/2).

Other individual boys winners were Ryan Weatherbe from Lake Mary in the high jump (6-2) and Lake Howell's Chris Kempink in the pole vault (12-0).

The Oak Ridge Promoters dominated the running events, which were all relays, winning the mile medley.

Touchdown Pub throwers cop Hot Shot laurels

Special to the Herald

SANFORD - Touchdown Pub acas Mike Pavelchak and Dennis Walls were on the mark last week, throwing their way to Hot Shot honors in Playtime Darts Association play.

Pavelchak had the best night, collecting five wins, a 9-throw dart out, a 4-round out, six low tones, one high ton, a 6-mark, a 7-mark, and a CHT as a member of Bad Attitudes II (the Touchdown Pub's entry in the Men's A League).

Walls, who captains the Touchdown Pub's 60ers in the Ladies' League, turned in 4 1/2 wins, one low ton, a 6-mark, and a pair of 7-marks.

Through week No. 7, the closest race is in the Mixed A League, where Team No. 3 from the Bamboo Cafe (55 wins) has a one-win edge on Team No. 2, also from the Bamboo Cafe.

CENTRAL FLA. DARTS

It may be the D Division, but through week No. 9 of the CFDA's Steel Tip League, it continues to be the most hotly contested circuit.

Currently, On The Wire out of Games People Play has the most wins (29-22). By winning percentage, though, Crickets' Sharp Shooters (28-16, .636) have an edge over On The Wire (.569).

Right there with them are Kiwi's Killers from Kiwi's Pub & Grill (28-23, .549). And just one good week removed from the top of the pack is Top Gun, also from Kiwi's Pub & Grill (26-25, .510).

While its currently a two-team contest, the AA Division also boasts a too-close-to-call race with just one game separating the league-leading Wharf Rats from Beer: 30 (52-13) and the second-place Royal Shaft's our of Games People Play (51-14).

 Park Harold Hitt is one of the best pitching coaches in the business, and deserves a lot of credit."

It was sweet revenge for Oviedo (8-4), since St. Cloud (2-5) handed the Lions a 6-4 loss Monday to knock the Lions into the tournament loser's bracket. Oviedo turned the game into a runaway by taking a 7-0 lead after four innings.

Mark Metcalf went 4-for-4 with a double to lead Oviedo's offense.

Wrestling

 Lake Brantley, and Oviedo's Michael Giunmo (140), Shawn Craig (171), and David Zickafosse (189).

Lyman placed Andy Hebert (189) on the second team and had Joey Gause (135), Joey Gioia (145), Brad Goodwin (152), John Guerra (171), and Nick Popeck (230) earn honorable mention laurels.

Named to the second team from Lake Brantley was 112-pounder Matt Kingston. Alex Cheshire (103), Louis Rodriguez (125), Rob Moore (135), Brad Tripp (152), Shaun Glynn (189), and Daron Herndon (Heavyweight) were honorable mention choices for the Patriots.

Oviedo had a county-leading five wrestlers

IN BRIEF

Bank names board

LONGWOOD — United American Bank of Seminole County, which recently opened in Longwood, has named its administrative board of directors. Dave Powers, Seminole County president noted that the board provides the bank with a strong cross-section of industry leaders and long-standing residents of South Seminole County.

The members include: Donald F. Wright, chairman (Wright & Fullford PA), Scott Barnes (Aero Products Corp.), Gerald Sihle (Sihle & Williamson Insurance), Bruce Wallick (Waltree Construction), Bill Bentley (Bentley Architects and Engineers), Larry Furlong (Fidelity National Title), Larry Shores (CPA) and David Powers (United American Bank).

United American is located at 801 E. State Road 434 in Longwood. The bank is affiliated with United American Bank of Central Florida. It is a locally owned and operated independent institution with assets exceeding $120 million.

Coldwell gives home prices

Coldwell Banker Residential Real Estate has revealed the latest study of home prices in the Orlando (Central Florida) area compared to other areas.

The report says the average 2,200 square-foot home, typical for corporate middle-management, can be purchased for as little as $92,125 in Fort Worth Texas, or as much as $886,000 in Beverly Hills, Calif.

In the Orlando market, the same home would be $149,000, considering a four-bedroom two-and-a-half-bath home with family room and two-car garage.

Coldwell's Home Price Comparison Index is the result of over 280 offices in the United States, Puerto Rico and Canada, studying the last quarter of each year.

It says while the average home price in North America is $196,334, the same home in the Orlando area would be $149,000.

Michael Good, president of Coldwell said the quality of life is higher here than most other places in the country, and that fact is not overlooked by companies and families wishing to relocate.

Coldwell is offering a free copy of its Home Price Comparison Index to persons phoning 1-800-624-5292.

Purchasing meeting

NAPM-CF, the National Association of Purchasing Management, Central Florida, will hold their monthly dinner meeting Wednesday, March 8, at Lee's Lakeside in Orlando. Social hour starts at 5:30 with the dinner at 6:30.

The program will feature a presentation on Lease vs. Buy — Capital Equipment.

Cost for the event is $20 per person.

For additional information, phone Marian Bivens, 824-6014.

Tri-City and Parisian

SANFORD — Tri-City Electrical Contractors, headquartered in Altamonte Springs, has been named as electrical contractor for the Parisian department store, one of the major tenants at Seminole Towne Center. General contractor is Brasfield & Gorrie.

The two-story department store is one of five anchor stores planned for the 1.5 million square foot mall. The 132,000 square foot store is scheduled for completion in August of this year.

Construction costs for the Parisian are estimated at $9 million.

Thumb names Young

LONGWOOD — Paul Young has been named as the managing director of the "Thumb of My Friends" program, sponsored by Select Investigative Services, Inc. of Longwood. The program, endorsed by the Adam Walsh Foundation and Child Watch, was created to educate both children and parents on awareness, safety and prevention of crime. It was designed to be informative and educational in an entertaining way so as to engage children, yet instill the facts and preventative methods of safety.

Young's credentials include employment as a police officer for Winter Springs, work with the Volusia County Beach Patrol, and as a youth counselor at the Volusia House, a juvenile detention facility in Daytona Beach.

In a separate matter, Rickey L. Heath has been appointed as chief of security for the company. He will be responsible for all operations including purchasing, distribution and inventory, training, placement of officers, and other duties.

His background includes service in law enforcement with both Mt. Dora and Apopka police departments.

Select Investigative Services, Inc., a minority-owned nationwide security corporation, is located at 2520 N. County Road 427, Longwood.

SCC business courses

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The Seminole Community College Small Business Development Regional Center is sponsoring a five-part business education program. It will be held Tuesday evenings beginning March 28.

According to SCC's Tom Ingram, the program, developed in cooperation with many of the local banks, is designed to help familiarize the owner of an existing or new small business with the information necessary to successfully operate a company in the local economy.

The following is a listing for each of the Tuesday meetings:

- March 28 — Business Planning
- April 4 — Legal and Insurance Issues
- April 11 — Basic Recordkeeping and Taxes
- April 18 — Business Financing and Financial Management
- April 25 — Small Business Administration Loans

All classes will be held at the Greater Seminole County Chamber of Commerce facility at 4590 S. U.S. Highway 17-92 in Casselberry.

Classes will run from 6:15 until 9:15 p.m. The cost is $103.50 for all five classes, with an additional fee for non-Florida residents.

For additional information, contact Tom Ingram at 328-4722, ext. 3326.

BIG things happening in Sanford

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Last September, the City of Sanford's Community Development Department began formulating plans toward a series of commercial conferences and workshops.

The project is to be accomplished by the city's new Business Information Group (BIG).

The group held its first organizational meeting on Jan. 11, and by the end of February, had established the first in what Community Development Director Charles Rowe expects to be quarterly meetings.

In the BIG consists representatives from the city as well as prominent business and professional organizations.

They include City Manager Bill Simmons, Bill Barwick of Seminole National Bank, Suzanne Wells and Isatah Evans of Barnett Bank, Glen Morgan of Seminole Community College, Mike Seures of Security National Bank, Bob Parsell of Ace Hardware, Dave Farr of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, Rowe, and representatives of First Union Bank, SunTrust of Central Florida, Central Florida Regional Airport, and NationsBank.

The group is to be pared down to 12 participants.

Committees have been established including Marketing & Advertising, Syllabus & Presentations, Venue & Refreshments, and Statistics.

According to Rowe, the mission statement of BIG is, "to focus on the improvement, creation and expansion of small business through a coordinated network of interested pro-essionals and entities. To provide business information by planning and presenting group meetings, seminars and workshops."

To that end, the first workshop has been set for Tuesday, March 21, from 5 to 7:30 p.m. at the Chamber building, 400 E. First St.

The cost for the meeting is $5 per person, but no cost for persons from one of the sponsoring organizations and businesses.

The deadline for reservations is March 20.

The winners are...

Tim Raines, left, professional baseball star and resident of Heathrow, was guest of honor at a luncheon recently sponsored by Arvida Company, developer of Heathrow. A contest was recently held by Arvida for the fourth quarter, 1994 sales by real estate professionals. Of 14 who reached the level of qualification, Raines drew the winning names of Judy and Donne Kane. An oversized check for $10,000 was presented to the couple for their achievements in Arvida's $10K club.

Florida Chamber helps cut red tape

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

The Florida Chamber of Commerce has launched new telephone and fax hotlines. They are to be used for businesses statewide, to report problems with government red tape. At the present time, the "government" is only at the state level, not federal, county or city. "Any business operator in Florida can call or fax us, toll-free, to report their problems with state government rules and red tape, and we will collect the problems and deliver them to the right government agency," said Robert W. McKnight, executive vice president of the chamber.

"We are opening these hotlines to give businesses statewide a real voice in Tallahassee," he said. "It's hard for most business owners who have red-tape problems to know which agency to turn to, and even harder, to know who to talk to at that agency."

He continued, "Now, without ever leaving their desks, operators of small businesses in, say Crystal River, can use the chamber's hotlines to get their ideas and concerns quickly directed to the right person at the right agency. It is our aim to make it much easier to get the ball rolling on reducing government and cutting red tape," McKnight concluded.

Businesses statewide are being informed by letter of the availability of the hotlines to report their problems. This past Monday, approximately 8,000 businesses in the Tampa area alone received their letters along with an easy-to-use form that they can fax back to Tallahassee, toll-free.

The telephone number is 1-800-425-3001. The fax line is 1-800-425-5002.

For additional information, contact the state chamber's office in Tallahassee at (904) 425-1200.

Cable changes coming to area

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The Seminole County area may not see any immediate changes in the way cable television is carried into homes, but nearby Orange and Osceola soon will.

Adelphia Communications has announced it will take over the cable television systems owned by FPL Group, mostly in west and central Florida.

The move is part of Adelphia's continuing effort to build its cable television presence in Florida.

The company announced plans to form a joint limited partnership called Olympus Communications to own and operate the Telesat systems in Citrus, Hillsborough, Orange and Osceola counties.

FPL will own a third of that partnership and will receive 1 million shares of Adelphia Class A stock, valued at $11 per share on Wednesday. Adelphia will own two-thirds of the Olympus partnership.

Local Southern Bell official Larry Strickler said it's a sign of the future, not the distant, but the immediate future.

"We call it a convergence," he said. "All voice data or anything in the video category will soon be brought into homes. That is going to result in combined efforts by power companies, cable companies, telephone companies, and the television industry."

"This will bring about good competition," he explained. "But of course, the competition will only be in direct proportion to the decrease in regulations."

Strickler said Adelphia's decision to select Orange, Citrus, Hillsborough and Osceola counties is typical of what can be expected in establishing this new cable delivery system. "This will start mostly in metropolitan areas," he said, "where marketing data on the population shows that people will not only be receptive to new ideas, but will be capable of paying for this development."

Adelphia also has pending a contract to buy West Boca Cablevision from Rifkin Associates. FPL Group, the parent company of Florida Power & Light Co., also had an investment in that company.

With the Telesat and West Boca systems, Adelphia will have 460,000 subscribers in Florida, including 125,000 in Palm Beach County. The company also has an extensive system in Dade County.

Ixora plans home, garden show Club reviews heart disease in women

Spring is in the air and along with traditional harbingers of the season comes the Ixora Garden Club Home and Garden Show. The annual fund-raiser will be held on Friday, March 10, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., at the Sanford Civic Center. Proceeds will be directed toward scholarships and civic beautification.

According to Betty Dedman, luncheon chairman, lunch will be served from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. It is not necessary to have lunch to attend the show, which is free. Luncheon tickets, at $5.50 each, must be purchased in advance.

Betty said the luncheon menu features: Tropical Turkey Salad, Crudités, Tea Bread, Butter-scotch Cupcakes, Tea and Coffee.

For luncheon tickets, call Amelia Royster, 323-0755, or Nancy Rape, 322-5698.

Nancy, who is in charge of Ixora's Kitchen, said the kitchen will feature "all kinds of good stuff," and made especially by Ixora members.

Ixora's Horticulture Garden, managed by Rose Long, will offer a variety of beautiful plants at bargain prices.

Then, a number of crafts vendors will bring in their specialties for the big occasion. There will definitely be something for everyone.

Other events of the day include a silent auction for items on a white elephant table and there will be a drawing for the table centerpieces.

Shirley Schilke said, "The Ixora Garden Club has won many local, state and national awards for its projects and horticulture expertise. Several of the members have been blue ribbon winners in local and state flower shows and the club boasts of its members who were state flower judges and past state president."

She added, "Some of the (landscaping) projects we have been involved in are: Entry to the marina, Seminole High School, Poison Plant Gardens, Park on Park, Cultural Arts building and numerous other beautification projects in and around Sanford."

Clubwomen study heart disease

"Women and Heart Disease" was the title of a program presented to the Woman's Club of Sanford at the May meeting by two health authorities.

Gail McCord, one of the speakers, is the administrative director of Emergency Departments, Chest Pain Center and the Flight Medicine Departments for Florida Hospital. She informed the women that heart disease claims the lives of 250,000 women a year. It is the leading cause of death in white women over 50 and black women over 35, she said.

Gail went on to say that the chances of women getting heart disease are much higher than their risk of getting breast cancer. She told of some of the early warning signs of heart disease which include lightheadedness, dizziness, unexplained perspiration and pain in chest, neck, back and arms. Gail explained that the risk factors for cardiovascular disease in women include cigarette smoking, hypertension, obesity, physical inactivity, diabetes, advancing age and heritage.

The speaker advised women with any of the above symptoms to get medical help immediately since the greatest danger of heart attacks is the first two hours. "Be assertive," she advised upon entering the hospital emergency room. "Say I'm having chest pains."

Betsy Dasse, the other guest speaker, is educator for Florida Hospital's Emergency Departments. She explained how a blocked artery can lead to damage of the heart muscle, eventually causing that part of the heart to cease functioning due to lack of blood.

Betsy explained the three R's of heart disease - reduce risk factors, recognize early warning signs and respond by seeking medical attention.

The enlightening program was arranged by the Home Life Department with Eve Rogero as chairman. Jean Clontz introduced the two guest speakers.

DeLores Lash, club president, presided over the business session and heard routine reports.

National science program offered to Girl Scouts

In Girl Scouting, there are five Worlds of Interest: the World of Well-Being, the World of People, the World of Today and Tomorrow, the World of the Arts and the World of the Out-of-Doors. The World of Today and Tomorrow are science and math-related. Some troop leaders tend to shy away from this area, not because they don't like science and math, but because they are not confident in their ability to do it right. That's why leaders love the badge workshops offered at the Orlando Science Center.

Betty Hoyer, the Continuing Education manager at the Orlando Science Center, was instrumental in bringing the NSP (National Science Partnership) to Central Florida. Betty, a resident of Lake Mary, worked with Carla James of Citrus Council of Girl Scouts to get grant funding to participate in the National Science Partnership for Girl Scouts and Science Museums. The NSP is funded in part by the

Betty went to the Edith Macy Conference Center in New York for NSP training. She was then able to turn around and train leaders in Central Florida on how to use the kits provided by the NSP. Several Lake Mary Girl

Winners and runners-up in Amvets Auxiliary No. 17 Calendar Child pageant.

Amvets Auxiliary No. 17 held their first Mr. and Miss 1995 Calendar Child pageant Saturday evening, Feb. 25. The Sanford African-American Academy of Arts was the setting for the pageant. Master of ceremonies for the occasion was Etta Montague who did a wonderful job throughout the evening. The pageant's presentation was made by young people who represented the months of the year. They chose a black historian in the community and gave a brief history on that person and of that heritage.

The participants also were vying for the title of Mr. or Miss Amvets Auxiliary No. 17. The winners were: First place, Ashley Wynn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Wynn; sponsor was her grandmother, Eartha Melton, president of the auxiliary. Second place went to Sylvester Wynn Jr.; sponsor, Tiny Johnson. Third place, Aisha Hunt, sponsor, Rutha Hester, her grandmother.

Musical renditions were given by the trio of Kerstin Wynn, Sherly Weatherspoon, Chantiqua Phillips, and Kimberly Phillips. Words of appreciation for this special Black History Americanism program were made by Chairman Rutha Hester, and President Eartha Melton presented the evening's awards.

A special thanks to the students, their sponsors and parents for the success of this program.

Amvets mark 23rd anniversary

Gaynes and Morgan American Amvets Auxiliary No. 17 celebrated their 23rd anniversary on Sunday, Feb. 26, at Second Shiloh Missionary Baptist Church. The motto: "We Waited Together - Now Let's Work Together." The observance was presided over by Sister Paul Yorker. Musical renditions were given by the Rock Hill Missionary Baptist Church Youth Choir. The message was delivered by the Rev. Billy Jackson, dynamic pastor and singer of the Rock Hill Church, Jamestown. The spirit was indeed present at the celebration.

A special presentation was made by First Vice President Arthur Scott to President Eartha Melton. The president then made her remarks and presented lovely yellow bouquets to her auxiliary officers and program committee members.

Davis-Royal

SANFORD — Jack and Linda Davis of Sanford are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Angela Lee, to Thomas Everette Royal IV, son of Jackie and Tom Royal III of Lake Mary.

Born in Orlando, the bride-elect is the maternal granddaughter of Kenneth and Wilma Russell of Sanford and the paternal granddaughter of the late Mr. Benjamin J. Davis Sr. and Mrs. Constance Davis, formerly of Sanford.

Ms. Davis is a 1994 graduate of Seminole High School, Sanford where she was a member of the cheerleading squad, Pizazz, Fantasy and FCA (Fellowship of Christian Athletes). She is presently employed as a receptionist for Unique Travel Services, Fern Park.

Her fiancé, born in Sanford, is the maternal grandson of Helen and John Dunn of Sanford and Pat and Cecil Jones of Elloree, S.C. He is the paternal grandson of Tom and Myrtle Royal of Marquette, Mich. and Marjorie Woodfield, Asbury Park, N.J.

Royal is a 1991 graduate of Seminole High School where he participated in golf, band and show band.

He is currently employed as a mail clerk for AAA (American Automobile Association), Heathrow.

The wedding will be an event of April 8, 1995, 1 p.m., First Presbyterian Church, Sanford.

that the Florida Federation of Woman's Clubs District VII Arts Festival will be held in Orlando on March 15. Winners of the local show are eligible to exhibit.

Rose Jacobson, chairman of the club's Public Affairs Department, announced that the club's monthly Bridge Social will be held at her home on Wednesday, March 8. Co-hostess is Doris Stein. Those planning to play are asked to call Rose. Hours are 1 to 4 p.m.

The Epilon Sigma Omicron Chapter will meet at the home of Libby Boyd, at 10 a.m., on Wednesday, March 15, with Carolyn Cornelius as co-hostess.

The club's Taste of Sanford will be held at the club on April 21 with Fran Morton and Pat Bowen, co-chairman.

The Sanford Junior Woman's Club will host Kasino Klassics with the Sanford Rotary Club on March 24, at Timacuan Country Club.

Beth Abruzzino announced that Seminole will soon have its own shelter for victims of violence which is slated to open the end of the month.

The slate of officers presented by Pat Foster, chairman of the nominating committee, includes: Viola Frank, first vice president; Thelma Smith, third vice president; Beth Abruzzino, recording secretary; Martha Yancey, chairman of the Arts Department; Pat Foster, chairman of the Education Department; Betty Halback, chairman of the Home Life Department; and Rose Jacobson, chairman of the Public Affairs Department.

Two past presidents Hazel Cash and Dottie Karns greeted the members and guests at the door. Members of the Junior Woman's Club visiting were Sandy Gorman and Debbie Whitehead.

The hostesses decorated the clubhouse in a charming St. Patrick's Day motif. Hostesses were: Phyllis Conklin, chairman; Alice Magro, co-chairman; Tina Joseph, Karen Richardson, Eve Rogers, Viola Frank and Polly Pezold.

UDC hears history of Mosquito County

Members of the Norman De Vere Howard Chapter of the UDC (United Daughters of the Confederacy) met at the lovely home of Mrs. Jean Wheeler Friday, Feb. 24, for their monthly meeting, according to Hazel Cash. Attendance was light due to illness of members Hazel said.

George Means of Oviedo gave a most interesting, informative talk on the formation of Mosquito County, eventually divided between Orange and Seminole counties. During the years of the War Between the States, history was made in the formation of citrus growing and replanting due to the big freezes in the later 1890s, he said. Means mentioned well-known Seminole County residents influential in the celery-growing business making this the celery capital.

Delicious refreshments were enjoyed, followed by a tour of the beautiful yard containing different colors of tulips, carnations, lilies and jonquils. Members expressed their appreciation to the hostess and guest speaker.

Millie surprised on birthday

Millie Murray was the surprised guest of honor at a birthday dinner party on Feb. 4 at the Mayfair Villas home of Annette and Howard Hodges. Longtime friends of the honoree were invited to attend the festivity.

The guests enjoyed a sing-along accompanied by Jack Walters at the piano.

What a surprise when Millie cut into the beautifully decorated birthday cake. The inside was foam rubber which gave the guests guests and Millie a big laugh. However, at just the right moment, the hostess produced another "real" birthday cake.

Millie is active in the community and still operates her barber shop in Lake Mary.

to be done. why it was important, how much he would charge for the job, and how it would save them money.

It was a very successful business says Matt. I was 12 years old and I had everything that I wanted — a stereo and all the listening I cared to invest in, a bike, a computer, everything a 12-year-old kid could want and I had a savings account."

About the same time he was working on the lawn business, he met a neighbor down the street who was not only computer literate, but taught Matt the mechanisms of the computer and how it worked.

Matt's passion for computers led him to establish his next business, a computer manufacturing business. At the age of 14, Matt was sick when he lost $2,000 and his business folded. Not a quitter, Matt turned his bad business investment into a learning situation and analyzed the problems and began the new business, selling rebuilt computers, with a partner and a clientele. Encouraged by his newfound knowledge, he poured money into advertising and stock to the business plan he had developed through the analysis of the previously failed company. Two years later, he and his partner sold their company for a nice profit, enough to put both of the high school students through college, but Matt was already working on his fourth company when the third was sold.

The National Paging Communications, Inc. is in its second year and is located in the East Lake business offices on State Route 427. The company had its beginning in Matt's parents' home, moved to Matt's home, moved to its own office building and is now expanding to two office suites. The company that began with Matt doing all the work currently has three representatives, or salespersons, and is in the process of hiring a second person as office personnel.

Asked how the company became incorporated, Matt explained that he used software available and followed the procedure, with the help of a good friend. If you need a pager, $8 per month plus a nominal start-up fee, or any cellular equipment, call the National Paging Communications, Inc. at 834-5400.

Currently, Matt is going to college and planning to major in finance, business or accounting. He sometimes thinks about going to law school, but is warily conscious of the time commitment involved in law school.

What advice does Matt Stamer have for an entrepreneur of any age? "You need a good idea and the more capital the better. Do not be afraid to start small and do all the work yourself. Stick with it and it will grow. The best spent money is in advertising."

Gardeners to meet

Sweetwater Oaks Garden Club will hold its regular meeting on March 13 at 9:30 a.m. at Leaps and Bounds in Oak Grove Shoppes. Jim Mayfield, horticulturist with White Rose Nursery will speak on "Landscaping your yard and doctoring your sick plants."

Scout leaders have already taken the training and worked with their troops on the kits.

The NSP kits are based on Brownie and Junior Girl Scout recognition activities and offer additional activities to help the girls develop science concepts while learning that science is fun and easy. I don't normally interject personal comments in my column, but I went to the Sampler Workshop in September. The Sampler Workshop was held to give leaders an idea of what was in the three different NSP kits being offered. Leaders from Seminole County were thrilled to actually participate in hands-on science. I personally could never quite get the Bernoulli principle. I knew what it was and what it meant, but until I went to the workshop, I could never visualize it. Now I know how planes can fly.

Three workshops were made available in Citrus Council. Water Wonders for Juniors, Movers, and Space Explorer for Brownies.

Scouts explore Water Wonders

A majority of the globe is covered with water. Water is a vital component of every facet of our lives. These are just a couple of the things girls from Troops 148 and 112 learned at a Water Wonders badge workshop. The workshop was conducted in Lake Mary at the home of Betty Hoyer. Betty (mentioned in the segment above) is the mother of Meredith Hoyer of Troop 148.

The Girl Scouts also learned

that saltwater has a greater density than fresh water. The girls weren't told this fact. They learned it by hands-on experimentation when they tried to float an egg.

The troops also learned about pollution. They made their own little Lake Low and then polluted it. They added oil, liquid soap, garlic, pepper and alcohol. The task then was to clean it up. They tried straining the water through coffee filters, cedar mulch, and cotton balls. They added vinegar to counteract the soap. The best efforts after numerous tries still weren't clean enough to drink. The girls learned that it's better to prevent pollution than to deal with it after the fact.

Other Lake Mary troops have also participated in the NSP. Brownie Troop 1592 did the Movers Try-It Kit. Movers are air, wind and the forces that put everything from seeds to helicopters into motion. The troop planted peanuts, held balloon races, learned about the Bernoulli principle and water displacement.

Brownie Troop 1397 is working on the Space Explorer Try-It. Space Explorer is basic astronomy, light and shadows and space exploration. The highlight of their try-it will be a model rocket launch at the Orlando Science Center on April 22.

Unwanted visitor gets wings clipped before taking flight

DEAR ABBY: Your "visiting snowbird" letter gave me a chuckle, as I had a similar experience while living in Hawaii.

One Sunday afternoon, my telephone rang, and the caller identified himself as "Joe."

"Joe who?" I inquired.
"You remember me; I used to go with your daughter in high school."

"Yes, I remember you. How are you?"

"Fine," he replied. "I understand you have built a new home in Hawaii — well, my wife and I are coming your way and we'd like to see you."

"Somewhat startled, I said, 'That would be nice...'"

Then he added, "My wife's folks would also like to come."

"How nice," I said.
Then Joe said, "I understand you are single now — would it be all right if I brought my mother for you?"

I ignored that question and asked, "Would you like me to find a two-bedroom condo? Or would a three-bedroom condo be better?"

There was a long pause. Then he said, "Well — our plans are not firm'd up as yet. I will have to get back to you."

Abby, would you believe, I never heard from Joe again?

TOM IN ARIZONA
DEAR TOM: I believe you. And congratulations for having handled a rather sticky situation with tact and diplomacy.

DEAR ABBY: I have often wondered why some divorced men refer to themselves as "bachelors."

I am a genuine bachelor and consider it an insult when a divorced man refers to himself as a "bachelor." I have even heard some widowers call themselves "bachelors."

Abby, a divorced woman is called a "divorcee," so why can't they think up a name for a divorced man? Or simply call him a "divorced man" instead of a bachelor?

A genuine bachelor, in my book, is a man who has never married.

BOSTON BACHELOR

DEAR BACHELOR: Sorry, you must be looking in the wrong book. My Webster's Collegiate Dictionary (Tenth Edition) defines a bachelor as "a: an unmarried man; b: a male animal (as a fur seal) without a mate during breeding time." So, widowers and divorced men may appropriately be called bachelors.

DEAR ABBY: Why do some people always have to brag about their kids? I have a relative who bores people to death about how terrific his kids turned out. When they were in school, their teachers had never seen such brilliant students. And now that they're working, they have absolutely saved their companies from bankruptcy. You can't even say hello to this relative without hearing a broken record of his children's accomplishments.

Abby, isn't bragging about your own a little on the tacky side?

BORED TO TEARS

DEAR BORED: Yes, but be charitable and try not to look bored. What may sound like a broken record to you is a parent's favorite tune.

Ginger Brumley with her collection of dachshunds, chickens and nutcrackers.

Hobby: Her varied interests label her a master collector

By SUSAN WENNER
Herald Correspondent

SANFORD — Ginger Brumley is what one might call "a master collector." Her Sanford home is tastefully decorated from living room, bedroom to kitchen with her many collections.

She is also skillfully talented with a paint brush. Her hobby of toll painting on wood adds that little touch of country to, as her sister Debbie put it, "her little gingerbread house."

Brumley has been employed as a teacher with Hamilton Elementary for 10 years. She presently teaches in the kindergarten program. Intercession has become her time to catch up on toll painting or add to her collections of dachshunds, chickens, tins, ginger jar memorabilia, laquer boxes, ceramic eggs, wind-up toys and nutcrackers.

It's hard for Brumley to pinpoint which collection came first or which is the favorite. She talked enthusiastically about her nutcracker collection of 50 or more. She has an assortment from animal nutcrackers of alligators, tigers and elephants, to people. The people nutcrackers include Santa, Pinocchio, Pilgrims, Indians, Uncle Sam, a baker, a gardener and his wife and a farmer and his wife.

"I've been collecting the nutcrackers for about a year," she said. "I've always liked them. I do arts and crafts. One day when I was in a craft store I saw some nutcrackers. I decided to buy three. Since then family and friends have added to the collection."

A nutcracker that Brumley hopes to one day acquire is the Steinbach. "The Steinbach costs about $175," she said. "It is the maker of the nutcrackers. The Steinbach is a nutcracker of the nutcracker maker holding a nutcracker. It's very unique."

Wind-up toys sit comfortably in a display case. Brumley has approximately 10 of these toys. Mickey Mouse, Goofy, crabs and more are available for action.

Dachshunds total about 50 in the Brumley home. She tells of a story about a friend mistaking one in her collection as a real one because it is so lifelike. The friend called the dog while Brumley played along as if the dog was real. It made for a good laugh and a note of embarrassment. She spoke of her many figurines, shirts, rings stuffed and ceramic dachshunds. She displayed a dachshund bank, doorstop, ceramic serving tray and neck massager.

A recent favorite was a gift at Christmas. "I got Stretch Armstrong's dog, Flech," she said. "My mom gets me a dachshund every year and puts it in my stocking. I also got a video called "The Ugly Dachshund." It stars Dean Jones and it's about a Great Dane that is raised with a litter of dachshunds. I've got a dachshund for myself. It's a mom thing."

With all her watch dogs sprinkled throughout her home, Brumley still has room for 100 chickens. Most importantly, these dogs and chickens get along just fine. "I went to a flea market in Webster," she said. "There was a man there who people called 'Old Fart.' He also was the 'Chicken Man.' I found a covered dish with a chicken on it there. Most of those dishes are just reproductions. I have stuffed chickens, salt and pepper shaker chickens, an alarm clock and a cookie jar that crows. I've even combined my ginger jar collection with one that has a chicken on it."

She told a funny story about how one chicken got its name. "Someone called me a big fat chicken butt. After that I decided to sew one that I named 'Big Fat Chicken Butt.' The face is painted. It's overstuffed with a checked apron."

Brumley and friends refer to some of her collections as "instant collections." Those are the ones they find at stores or flea markets that are bought with many items already accumulated.

A tin collection also graces her kitchen. They total about 30 in number. A recent addition was from her grandmother. She spoke of how one evening her grandmother planned to use an old tin filled with paprika on their meal. Brumley wasn't thrilled about the prospects of antique paprika on her food but loved the container. "The tin said 'A&P Groceries' on it," she said. "You know how long it's been since we had one of those around here. The price tag said 29 cents."

A ginger jar collection also adds the finishing touche to her home. Anything dealing with gin or ginger becomes part of this collection and has since she was 17 years old. Sometimes they also carry one of her other loves on the label. She has gin bottles with glass stoppers, old ginger spice jars in ceramic and glass, an old ginger spice tin, a bottle of extract of ginger, old ginger ale bottles and an old gin label collection.

All in all, her many collections accent her little country cottage with a hint of charm that Brumley feels very comfortable with. She wouldn't trade her decorations for the world. Those decorations are just a part of her and that's the way she likes it.

LAKE MARY — The Seminole County Special Olympics will hold the annual Spring Games on Saturday, March 11, at Lake Mary High School, 655 Longwood-Lake Mary Road.

The athletes will be taking part in such events as track and field, cycling and volleyball on the track adjacent to the school.

Volunteers are needed for these events and should arrive at the school at approximately 8:15 a.m. The events should last until about noon.

Interested persons should contact either Lin Bonnett at 236-8043 or Larry Levine at 942-5279 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Idyllwild SAC sets meeting

SANFORD — The Idyllwild Elementary School School Advisory Council (SAC) will meet on March 9 at 7 p.m.

The meeting will be in the school's conference room. All interested parents are invited to attend. For more information, call the school at 322-8823.

Let us know

The Sanford Herald wants to know what is happening at your school.

If you have an event coming up at your school, or if you want to tell us about some of the great things the students at your school are doing.

Or, if there is a teacher, staff member or, even an administrator who has been honored or is doing something unique in the classroom let us tell our readers about it.

Send the information to the Sanford Herald, 300 N. French Ave., Sanford, 32771 or fax it to us at 407-323-9408.

Movers and shakers

Students all over Seminole County are doing well in their academic and extra-curricular endeavors.

They are achieving high honors at school and in the community and should be recognized for their efforts.

We'd like to give each of them a chance to show off their accolades here and give each of them a much-deserved pat on the back.

Good work, kids!

Idyllwild Elementary School, Sanford

Lyman High School, Longwood

The Rotary Club of Sanford

recently presented their monthly awards of recognition to a pair of Lyman High School students based on personal, academic and community-related achievements.

The students selected are picked based on their grades, school attendance, school and community activities and cooperative spirit.

Amy Repatien, daughter of Shirley and Roger Repatien of Altamonte Springs, and Isaac Hunter, son of Dr. Joel and Becky Hunter of Altamonte Springs, were honored with the award.

Also, Akex Hannah of Longwood has been selected to attend The National Young Leaders Conference from March 14-19 in Washington, D.C.

He is a senior at Lyman.

The theme of the conference is the Leaders of Tomorrow Meeting the Leaders of Today.

Seminole High School, Sanford

Amanda Marie Luke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Luke of Sanford, has been awarded a full tuition Greyson Scholarship to attend Mars Hill College in the Fall.

The college is located in Mars Hill, NC.

SHS Project Graduation meeting Monday night

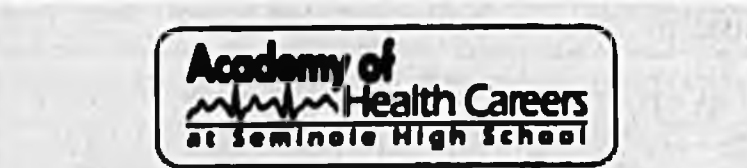

SANFORD — The Seminole High School Project Graduation committee will meet on Monday, March 6 at 7 p.m.

The meeting will take place in the school's media center and is open to all the parents of students in the class of 1996.

Project Graduation offers graduating seniors a chance to celebrate their leaving high school without using drugs or alcohol.

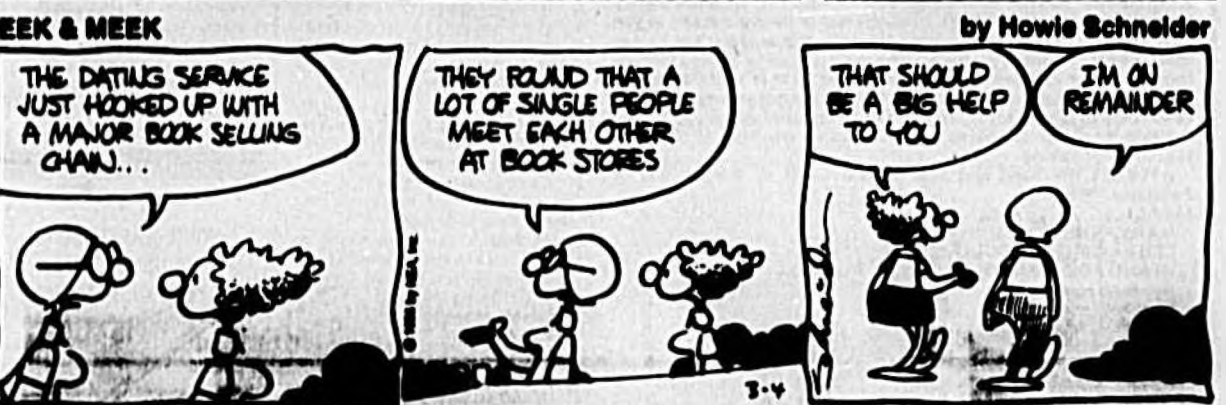

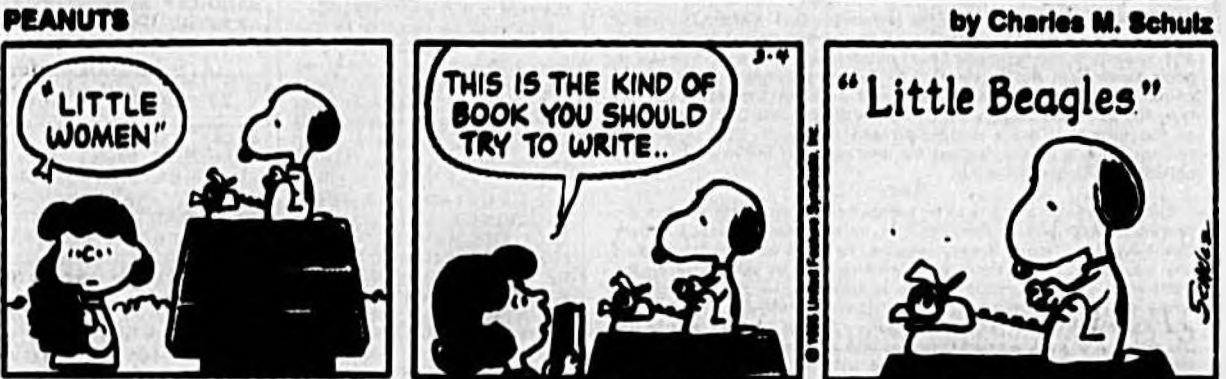

The drug and alcohol-free party is sponsored by the parents of the senior class and is underwritten, in part, by local businesses and individuals who support the concept.

For more information on the meeting, call Mary Hillman at 321-9943 or Evag People at 324-5919.

ATTENTION PARENTS AND 8TH GRADE STUDENTS OF SEMINOLE COUNTY MIDDLE SCHOOLS

The Academy of Health Careers at Seminole High School is presently accepting applications from current Seminole County 8th grade students for admission to the 1995-96 freshman class. For further information, contact Nancy Julian at (407) 322-4382, Ext. 126; Fax (407) 322-4589, or write The Academy of Health Careers, Seminole High School, 2701 Ridgewood Avenue, Sanford, FL 32773. Applications will be accepted until March 17th, 1995.

HOROSCOPE

By Bernice Bode Ouel YOUR BIRTHDAY March 6, 1995

A new, more ambitious you could emerge in the year ahead. Your no-nonsense attitude will enable you to accomplish anything you set your mind on doing.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) The right type of partner could be an enormous asset in your commercial affairs today. Seek a cohort who is practical and trustworthy. Pieces, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $2 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 4465, New York, NY 10163. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Events might not transpire as you'd envisioned them today, but the end results could still be gratifying. Try to remain realistic in your expectations.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Today you might treat your friends very inconsistently. You may find yourself unfairly blaming them one moment, then rewarding them later for no real reason.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Stay on your toes today. Through an unusual chain of events, an opportunity might arise that enables you to grasp something you thought was out of reach.

CANCER (June 21-July 23) Today you might find good use for some information you acquired through a past, painful experience. It will now make what you learned worthwhile.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 22) Something you've invested your time and resources in has great potential for profit. The tenor of your patience might be tested in the process, however.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Joint ventures have a better than average chance for success today if you engineer the operation yourself. Be a delegator, not a dependent.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Two of your major objectives are achievable today, but you're

Answer to Previous Puzzle

By Bernice Bode Ouel YOUR BIRTHDAY March 6, 1995

Take advantage of any opportunities in the year ahead to join organizations that are reputable and well connected commercially and socially. Valuable contacts can be established.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Your fertile imagination could furnish you with brilliant ideas today, but implement them yourself. Do not delegate any of them to others. Major changes are ahead for Pisces in the coming year. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today. Mail $2 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 4465, New York, NY 10163. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Your financial prospects might brighten a bit today, but don't misinterpret this as a sign to make extravagant purchases.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Your self-interests can be successfully promoted today if you don't let negative thoughts weaken your resolve. Be positive, positive, positive.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Conditions for personal gains appear promising today, but be warned that you might let the things you acquire slip through your fingers.

CANCER (June 21-July 23) Social involvements should prove pleasant for you today, as long as they aren't too expensive. If you're going out on the town, leave your credit cards at home.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 22) Do not take advantage of others in the pursuit of your ambitions today. If you do, you may lose what you had gained.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If you want to get your points across to others today, do not be coy or circuitous. State your case in an enthusiastic, direct manner.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Im-going to have to earn your spurs. Once you commit, go all out.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Do not reject social invitations this weekend because you might cross paths with someone of enormous importance to you. A lasting relationship could result.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Avoid seeking both primary and secondary goals today; they could become confusing. Select your most significant objective and focus on that alone.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Today it will be important to maintain a positive attitude. If you think negatively, it could stifle your talents and abilities.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Your commercial dealings could prove profitable today if you operate in ways that strengthen your position instead of weakening it.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) It will be important today to establish reasonable objectives. You have the capability to do many things, but you still have definite limitations.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) To maintain a smooth relationship with a valued friend today, try not to pry into matters he/she wishes to keep secret.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Maximum productivity can be achieved today if you are consistent and tenacious. Avoid assignments or tasks you know you can't complete.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By Phillip Alder

Are your sheets made of cotton, silk or artificial fiber? Rupert Brooke, the British poet, considered smooth sheets to be the ideal antidote to the "rough male kien of blankets."

In today's deal, after South had overbid to a poor slam, East made an excellent play. Yet if it hadn't been done smoothly, it would have been for naught.

West led the club queen. After winning in hand with the ace, South cashed the heart ace. West dropping the jack.

Now South had a problem. If West had the heart queen left, South could cash the king. However, if West had just played the singleton jack, South had to continue with a low trump toward dummy's 10, to hold his losers in the suit to one.

To decide which way to turn, South took the spade finesse. He led the 10 from hand and played the nine from the dummy.

Seeing partner's five and thinking quickly, East ducked.

Assuming the spade finesse was working, South now led a low heart from his hand -- and went one down. West won with the queen, and the repeat spade finesse lost a moment later.

That was excellent defense by East, but South should have taken a second spade finesse. Then, when it loses, South knows he must play the trumps for no loser.

One final point. When holding the doubleton queen-jack, as West does in this deal, don't drop the same honor every time. Otherwise everyone will know that when you play the other honor, it must be a singleton. You should vary your play.

Each Defendant is further notified that the Petitioner will petition for an Order of Taking before the Honorable O.M. Eaton, Jr., one of the Judges of the above-styled Court, on the 6th day of March, 1995, at 9:30 a.m., in the Seminole County Courthouse, Sanford, Florida. In accordance with its Declaration of Taking heretofore filed in this cause, All Defendants and all other interested parties may timely request a hearing on the Petition for the Order of Taking of the time and place designated and be heard. Any Defendant failing to file a timely request for hearing shall waive any right to object to the Order of Taking.

AND
 Each Defendant and any other persons claiming any interest in the property described in the Petition in the above-styled Eminent Domain proceeding is hereby required to serve written defenses, if any, upon the Plaintiff heretofore named in this cause for the Petitioner, and any request for a hearing on the Petition for the Order of Taking, if desired, on Petitioner's Attorney, whose name and address is shown below on or before March 17, 1995, and to file the original of your written defenses and any request for hearing on the Petition for the Order of Taking with the Clerk of this Court or other letters service on the Petitioner's Attorney or immediately thereafter, to show what right, title, interest or lien you or any of you have or claim in and to the property described in said Petition and to show causes, if any you have, why said property should not be taken for the use and purpose set forth in said Petition. If you fail to answer, a default may be entered against you for the relief demanded in the Petition. If you fail to request a hearing on the Petition for Order of Taking you shall waive any right to object to said Order of Taking.

"We don't call it old, we call it 'antique'."

"I don't think it's ugly, I think it's unique."

"It isn't silly, it's simply quaint."

"It doesn't need tossing, it just needs paint."

"It's not dented, it's simply scratched."

"It doesn't need mending, I'll just have it patched."

"It has plenty of years left and the price is right."

"It'll look brand new if we just paint it white!"
