

Lookouts End Season With 11 to 2 Win Over G-Men

Contest Is Featured By Clowning On Both Sides

Locals Mark Up Eight Runs In First Frame, While Hayes, Mote And Clary Hit Fine Ball

By JIMMY CHAPMAN
Drawing down the curtain of the Florida State League official season in handsome style, our Lookouts trounced the Gainesville G-Men to the tune of 11 to 2 last night.

The final win gave them a decisive hold on fourth place by the margin of two full games since they dropped their game with the Saints. Only one week ago the local machine, been out of the cellar, leaving the Reds holding the bag, during the past three weeks they have displayed a brand of ball which had every team in the league trembling at its sight.

A crowd of some 400 fans witnessed the final encounter until the Chaitanoga Lookouts begin their home next spring, and the crowd was very warm in their praise of the local team even though they knew that fifth place was their destination.

In the first frame the locals countered eight markers on six hits and a couple of errors to take a commanding lead over the man-hunters. One error was added in the second on two hits, and only two were marked up for the remainder of the contest, those coming on two more hits. Gainesville's two markers came in the third and ninth innings the first time on three hits, and the second on two walks and a hit.

The game was featured by some clownish entertainment from both teams, first when Red Sweeney, former Lookout pitcher went with the G-Men, went to bat with a muck and breast pocket on and lined out a fly to deep left, and in the ninth, when shortstop "Breecher" Clary went on the mound to relieve Dazy Mote, who had relieved "Lefty" Hayes in the sixth.

Clary put on an exhibition of plain and fancy pitching such as has never been seen before on the local diamond. Besides those changes Mote went to third and Eddie Davis to left field to receive Overstreet who became the initial sacker. The game finally ended with Davis, a left-hander on shortstop and Hoover on second.

Hitting honors in the final game went to Langston, Torres, Cates and Maltby for the Lookouts, with all of them gathering in two hits each, however, Bob Pitman in four appearances to top the G-Men. Bench also appeared three hits for five appearances, and McNamara, Adair and Guntharp all secured two singles.

So, all in all the season ended perfectly for the home team, and everyone was relieved to know that the Lookouts had emerged definitely from the cellar.

Soviet Says Nazi Prepare New Slaughter

Russian Newspapers Charge Hitler Is Ready For 'Provocative Campaign'

Declare Germany Near Starvation

France Offered Communion To Abandon Russo Pact

MOSCOW, Aug. 22.—(AP)—Official organs of the Soviet Government and Communist Party today condemned the simultaneous warning that Adolf Hitler is preparing a new surprise which will bring Europe closer to "slaughter."

Inventive, the government organ, and the Pravda, official party newspaper, professed to see violent anti-Soviet attacks by the German press and said they are "provocative of a campaign of preparation for new Soviet political adventures."

Pravda said Hitler is just a snake screen for Hitler to spring a new surprise which is directed by his venturous program. German Fascism, aimed to the north, is preparing a new slaughter for Europe."

It declared it was now saying Germany and bringing war to the verge of food shortages and eventual starvation.

Young Democrats Seek To Bolster Club Membership

Re-Elect Roosevelt Tags To Be Placed On Sale In County

Seminole County Young Democrats will inaugurate a campaign to obtain at least 100 members from the 150 eligible young men in the county, the organization voted last night in a session held in Judge James G. Sharon's office in the Court House.

A second endeavor which the group planned is the sale of 200 "Re-Elect Roosevelt" tags for display on automobiles. The plates will retail at 50 cents, and the collections are to be turned over to a senior Democratic Club to defray presidential expenses.

Alex Sharon, vice-president of the organization, announced that he and Joe O'Connor will canvass the county within the next week in an effort to swell the club's membership.

Sinclair Dealers Meet Here Tonight

R. J. Palmer, local distributor for the Sinclair Oil Company, has announced a meeting of all county Sinclair dealers to be held tonight in the Chamber of Commerce building at 8:00 o'clock.

The primary purpose of the meeting is to discuss plans for the elaborate contest being sponsored by the company, beginning on Sept. 12 and lasting for 11 weeks. The contest, to be known as the "Red Grange Contest," will be open to everyone with the exception of employees of the Sinclair Oil Company and their families, and will be based on selection of winners and guessing of scores of football games throughout the nation every week of this fall.

Thermometer Soars To 85 At 1 O'Clock

Sanford's official government thermometer soared to 85 at 1 P. M. this afternoon and Weatherman G. Newton indicated that he expected the mercury to advance one or more degrees before sunset.

Unofficial readings on business streets of the city many places showed 100 degrees. Slightly lower unofficial marks were noted in the residential districts where trees and shrubbery tended to disperse the heat.

Cloudy weather, with possible showers, are predicted for tomorrow.

King Alfonso

The presence of a powerful airplane at the retreat of former King Alfonso in Innsbruck, Austria, gave rise to reports he is planning to fly back to his revolution-torn country to effect an alliance with fascist rebels in hopes of restoring the monarchy. (Associated Press Photo)

Bar Members Table Report On Legislation

Group Wishes No Controversies Before Election Of President In November

BOSTON, Aug. 22.—(AP)—Forthrightly, its National Secretary William F. MacCracken said, that the report of its federal legislative committee might "embroil the Association in a controversy in the presidential year," the American Bar Association today voted overwhelmingly to table it.

The majority report, signed among others by Charles R. Taft, II, of Cincinnati, son of the late president, asserted the Roosevelt Administration was "distorting the Constitution" and added "there is no indication that the Administration recognizes any obligations whatever to protect the individual citizen in his constitutional rights."

Frederick Harold Stinchfield, 84, Minneapolis, was elected president of the Association succeeding William L. Hanson, New York. Stinchfield is an active member of the American Liberty League.

CITY NEWS BRIEFS

Price Angel returned yesterday from a two weeks' vacation trip to points in Kentucky and Tennessee.

Workmen today were making patch-work repairs to the circuit court room. Alterations are being made to the jury box.

L. W. Eichelberger today obtained a building permit to make a 2000 addition to a garage apartment on Pine Street. City Hall records show.

Raymond Lundquist and C. E. Clem returned today from two weeks' vacation trip, which carried them to the Texas, Canadian and to points in Oklahoma and Louisiana.

The weather—partly cloudy tonight and Saturday, possibly occasional showers in extreme south portion. Extreme Northwest Florida: fair tonight, Saturday partly cloudy with scattered thundershowers.

Sanford Elks will meet at 8 o'clock tonight in the organization club house, according to F. F. Durner, exalted ruler. A shrimp supper will be served and motion pictures exhibited, he said.

Judge Milard E. Smith, who visits Sanford each Friday to hear legal operations where a jury is not necessary, in one of a three weeks' vacation it was reported at the Court House today.

George Moya, who has been attending the coaches' school at the University of Florida in Gainesville, returned here yesterday afternoon for a short stay before going to Ft. Myers to assume his duties as head coach and assistant principal of the high school there.

Beach Beauty Show Is Bolstered By Three Girls From Sanford

More than 100 entrants, including three girls from Sanford, will vie for the title of queen of "Florida's Cavalcade of Beauty" in Daytona Beach on Labor Day. This city is the only municipality in the state which will have a trio of young women in the formal beauty pageant. They are Miss Annie Mae Ellis, Miss Louise Johnston and Miss Elizabeth Cameron.

Miss Johnston is "Miss Florida" of 1934. Miss Ellis was crowned "Miss Sanford" at a recent Ritz Theatre beauty pageant, and Miss Cameron was second.

The Cavalcade will be staged both Sunday and Monday evenings, and the contestants will appear in a float parade Monday at 11:30 A. M. Evening approval is in the dress for Sunday and bathing suits have been selected for Monday.

There are 330,000,000 feet of standing timber in the state of Washington.

ROOSEVELT REPORTED CONSIDERING PEACE PARLEY

The New York Times says President Roosevelt is considering, if re-elected, inviting these heads of several nations to confer on means of insuring world peace. Left to right: Top, President Roosevelt, King Edward VIII of England, and Adolph Hitler of Germany; below, Benito Mussolini of Italy, Joseph Stalin of Russia, and President LeBrun of France. The cause of war and prospects of disarmament would be discussed, the Times said. Later a spokesman for the President denied there had been any "conversations" aimed at bringing about such a conference. (Associated Press Photos)

Electrification Of Rural Areas Is Suggested

Gainesville Organization Offers Local Proposition

A movement was under way to Seminoles County today to stimulate interest in the rural electrification administration.

In bulletins issued by the co-operative extension work in agriculture and home economics bureau from the University of Florida, sketchy outlines of the plan were presented.

There are no single methods of obtaining REA help, the bulletins state, and the administration is willing to work with any person or group of persons interested in extending power lines.

In most cases, the bulletins say, the interested organization will fall in one of the following classifications:

- 1.—State authorities or agencies, established to promote rural electrification within the state boundaries.
- 2.—Farmers' co-operatives and other local corporations, profit or non-profit, organized for the specific purpose of building and operating a rural line.
- 3.—Municipal power plants having authority to make extensions into rural territory.
- 4.—Public power districts, or other forms of public bodies, or authorized under the laws of a particular state.
- 5.—Existing public utility companies.

In many ways, it was stated, the co-operative method is ideal for electrical distribution. The development section of the REA will advise co-operatives regarding methods of organization and operation.

Amateur Stage Bill Will Close Tonight At Sanford Theater

The last in a series of six amateur stage presentations will be seen tonight along with the regular feature bill at the Ritz Theater.

Five acts have been scheduled, each of the units having been awarded first place on its respective night during the series when a weekly winner was chosen by audience applause.

On the bill are Miss Elaine Winn, Evans McCoy, Velle Williams, Jr., Mac Cluser and Billy Parrish.

Joe Marantette, manager of the Ritz, has announced that the degree of interest in amateur shows series may be staged in the near future so pronounced that another theater.

Annual Stream Of Letters Pours Into Local Chamber

Winter Tourists Ask Information About Living Accommodations Offered In Seminole County

Northerners planning to come to Florida for the winter already have begun the annual stream of letters inquiring about living accommodations, according to the announcements from the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce.

Ralph Bagwell, secretary of the local chamber, daily receives a number of the queries, of which the following is a model:

"Will you kindly send me some information about small apartments or house-keeping rooms and any other information that will be of interest?"

"I have been through Sanford a number of times and have wintered nine seasons in Florida. This year, Sanford is my choice if rent and conditions are satisfactory. I want to go early this year and I have some friends who are coming down. They think that Orlando is best, but if I can locate them nicely in Sanford they will change their minds."

Chamber of Commerce indications point toward one of the best winter seasons in the history of the city if accommodations are available.

Movements are now under way here designed to influence the construction of apartment houses.

While the city is not offered as many apartments and rooming houses as some other municipalities of similar size, more than the usual building and remodeling activity has been going on here this summer with the point in view of caring for seasonal visitors.

Sanfordites Catch 500 Pounds Of Fish On Ocean Excursion

A party of 14 Sanford residents yesterday landed about 500 pounds of ocean fish during an excursion to the outside snapper banks off Ponce de Leon Inlet near Daytona Beach.

The group left the New Smyrna wharves early in the morning and returned about dusk.

In the catches were red snapper, rock bass, grouper and other sea fish.

George Gray won the party's pool for the largest fish landed, taking the prize on a 40-pound red snapper.

Those who were aboard the fishing smack were E. C. Harper, C. C. Briggs, George Gray, Otto Caldwell, Herbert Reitz, W. G. Workman, Joe Marantette, Basil Moore, R. E. Deas, Charles Wert, "Raw Meat" Bill Rodgers, Arthur Rodgers, Tom Simpson and M. L. Raborn.

Williams To Fly To Atlanta For Buses

Valle Williams, of the Sanford Buick Company, was scheduled to leave Jacksonville by plane tonight for Atlanta from which point he will bring three Mack buses recently purchased by the Seminole County School Board.

Mr. Williams said he will employ drivers out of Atlanta to operate the vehicles during the drive to Florida. He plans to return Monday.

Rebels Win Aerial Battle And Disclose Plans Of Bourbons

City Considers Power Question At Water Plant

Electrical Contract Expires Oct. 1; Two Courses Open

The City government today is considering the problem of power supply for pumps at the water plant used in forcing water from the wells to the reservoirs, Mayor Bisholzer said.

A contract, now in existence, with the Florida Power and Light Company will expire Oct. 1.

The mayor said two courses are open for the Commission to follow. It may renew the contract with the power company or it may provide a generator so that the water plant may produce its own power.

Tentative negotiations now are under way with the Florida Power and Light organization in relation to a contract renewal, although no definite steps have been taken toward consummation.

Diesel engines are employed in pumping water from the reservoirs to the standpipes.

Haggard Suggests Drawing Force For Northern Tourists

Pointing out that northern people desire the climatic refuge offered by Florida, Ashley P. Haggard, a former Sanford resident and now a Chicago civil engineer, yesterday afternoon advocated more pronounced tourist drawing power for the city.

Conferring with representatives of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and other local businessmen, Mr. Haggard ventured that housing facilities are, perhaps, the greatest hindrance to the advancement of Sanford as a tourist town.

He emphasized that northerners are now building homes in various sections of Florida and stressed that there is no reason why Seminole County could not obtain some of the money being used for these activities.

Among those attending Mr. Haggard's conference yesterday were E. D. Kirchhoff, E. K. Laney, Andrew Carraway, W. S. McCall, Sam Highleyman and David K. McNab.

WPA Labor Situation In Seminole County Is Ideal, Earle Says

Seminole County's public works labor supply generally meets the demand, according to a statement made today by W. S. Earle, WPA work director of three counties in this area.

With approximately 250 men on the payroll, Mr. Earle said there is a constant turnover which makes it possible to keep the "labor balance" from toppling to either extreme, insufficient work or insufficient labor.

At present there are five projects under way in this county, the director said. All are road building and repairing with the exception of the National Guard Armory.

Mr. Earle said today he had received no indications as to when several approved projects for this county will be allocated sufficient funds for opening.

Work Gets Under Way On Repairing Docks

Work was under way today at the Municipal Pier and yacht basin, where men from the county road camp are rebuilding the city docks, which have been in such a bad need of repair for some time.

New piles were being driven and new boards laid across the top to assure sturdy constructed docks, which will accommodate crafts up to 75 or 100 feet long.

James Moughton, superintendent of parks and streets, is supervising the work, and expects to provide good accommodations for persons wintering here who will have small crafts or even larger yachts.

Revolutionists Avow Madrid Desperate; Threats In Offered To King Alfonso

Loyalist Planes Routed By Scout

Capital City Placed As Scene Of Great Bloodshed

The American People are watching the Spanish battle above the Franco-Spanish frontier, disclosed that the former Bourbon dynasty figures in the plans for Spain and claimed Madrid's defenders were "desperate" today.

With machine gun bullets splattering French soil a single Rebel scouting plane routed two big government bombers in the battle area near Iruya and San Sebastian on the Bay of Biscay.

In the same zone government forces claimed a magnificent victory, loaded with food for beleaguered cities slipped past the Rebel naval blockade.

Insurgent radio broadcasts, vehicles of most of Spanish Fascist news and propaganda in the six weeks of the conflict, pictured Madrid as a scene of perpetual night of red terror with hundreds of persons being shot down and food supplies rationed.

In Madrid the government acknowledged a new air raid on the capital's airbase but said heavy damage was done. Rebel conditions were that heavy damage was done.

Rebel chiefs said if they won the civil war they would establish a military dictatorship and then, if the people would, restore the monarchy with the former King Alfonso returning to the throne.

Local Telephone Business Retains Unusual Standard

The usual summer lull suffered by telephone companies in resort areas has not been evidenced here this year according to a statement today from Earl Overlin, manager of the Sanford Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company.

He pointed out that while a natural discontinuance of some telephone use, due to the absence of winter residents, is recorded on the firm's books, the general average of summer service is well above that of last season.

Mr. Overlin said his Sanford personnel has remained consistently throughout the slack season.

The manager asserted that the winter upturn in telephone business locally is expected about the first of September, or slightly earlier this year than in former seasons.

At present Southern Bell is operating 1,270 individual telephones here. That number, according to Mr. Overlin, will be boosted considerably during the 1936-37 tourist season if tourist trends and current indications are to be depended upon.

PEACEFUL HOLLAND ARMS AMSTERDAM, Aug. 22.—(AP)—Peaceful little Holland, neutral in the Great War, is to raise a special force of between 12,000 and 14,000 men to guard her eastern frontier against "strategic" risks.

THE HOUND

Let the hound
 bark.
 Cries at a hound
 barking to read me.
 Oh to befriend me,
 I cannot tell.
 The hound's intent
 I'll be his spring
 As my hand
 With both or tongue.
 Meanwhile I stand
 And wait the event.
 Robert Francis.

The meek may inherit the earth but the politicians will take it away from them by taxation.

The Literary Digest will announce the first returns from its nation-wide presidential straw poll next week.

A communist is a person who believes in taking all the money away from the people who earned it and giving it to him.

A statesman is a person who discovers in advance where the people are going and then leads them to it.

Why is it that the people who drive seventy miles an hour out Park Avenue never have any thing to do after they get there?

It is a good thing no one has tried to flunk into office on the grounds to make every man a cotton king.

During times of war all people are divided into two classes: the dough boys and the in-the-dough boys.

If all the articles which have been written about highway accidents were laid end to end, the victims would still outdistance them.

We are in thorough accord with the proposal for the government to buy surplus fruits from our citrus growers, particularly if the plan doesn't go into operation until our own trees begin bearing.

People who advocate national territories for the purpose of proceeding government revenue probably don't realize that this would transfer the burden of taxation from the rich to the poor.

We are glad to see it was all a mistake about Roosevelt calling upon all the leading statesmen in the world to formulate a plan to prevent war. The last time we had a conference with those foreign nations, it cost us about ten billion dollars.

Isn't it funny? A lot of people seem to believe Thomas L. Mason, Morgan partner, who predicted there would be no war in Europe any time soon. But they wouldn't take his word on a stick of dynamite a mile high if he said St. Morgan didn't owe his income taxes. That's life.
 We believe what we want to believe.

Secretary of War Dorn visited Sanford during the first year of the Roosevelt Administration
 when in company with Alfred I.
 Dupont and a number of other guests the war secretary made an inspection trip up the St. Johns on board the Dupont yacht. At that time Mr. Dorn expressed interest in the beautification of the shore and the prospects for improvements in making it more navigable. Local citizens who met him at that time will probably regret his passing.

Comparative Living Standards

We may have our problems, our injustices, and our conditions in this country but they are no compared with the difficulties confronting the European peoples. Take the matter of national income. We have our poor folk, to be sure, but they fare far better here than they do in other countries. And the lot of the average man in the United States is vastly superior to that of his brothers and sisters in other lands.

This contention is substantiated by figures prepared by the International Labor Headquarters in Geneva, Switzerland, which show that the wages paid to American workmen are by far the highest paid anywhere in the world. And not only are the wages highest, but the actual purchasing power of these wages is even more important, is the highest in the world. In other words, the American standard of living is better than it is in any foreign country,
 and with the exception of four other nations,
 it is twice as high as in any other country.

COUNTRY	WAGES
United States	100
Canada	125
Denmark	135
Sweden	140
Great Britain	145
Ireland	55
Netherlands	65
Germany	75
Poland	61
Austria	61
Yugoslavia	45
Spain	45
Italy	35

The Literary Digest in its current issue also supports this contention by showing that the average American possesses more of the necessities of life, and more of the luxuries than do the people of any other country. Here, says the Digest, "Two out of every three families own a motor-car.
 Two out of three have a radio. Every other American has a life insurance policy. One out of every three has a savings bank deposit. One out of five owns securities. One out of eight has a telephone."

While one out of every five persons in this country owns his own automobile, in France only one out of every twenty-two can afford a motor car. In Italy only one out of every 109; in Poland, only one out of every 1,284. In Russia practically no people at all have cars except high government officials and the leading communist.

In the United States one out of every five persons has a radio. In England one out of every seven has a radio; in Russia, only one out of every 90; in Bulgaria, only one out of every 354. In the United States, one out of every eight persons has a telephone; in Denmark one out of every 10; in England, one out of every 20; in France one out of every 23; in Russia, one out of every 200.

In the United States the average family has to spend 32 percent of its income on food, leaving the rest of its earnings for housing, clothing, and luxuries. In Europe, 43 percent of the average family's income must go for food.
 In this country the average American spends 23 percent of his income on such conveniences as radios and automobiles; in Europe only 25 percent goes for such things.

Hot Weather Dress

We have noted with interest that at some of our recent civic dinners a few of our leading citizens have felt it incumbent upon themselves to appear with their coats on even though their faces were streaming with perspiration and they were obviously as uncomfortable as a cat on ice.

That the wearing of coats during the heat of the summer, except at night when in the presence of ladies, is old-fashioned, not to say, a relic of barbarism, has already been loudly proclaimed by a group of Jacksonville businessmen who have insisted upon their right to dispense with this superfluous outer garment.

And says the Miami Herald: "The idea of slowly taking root in south Florida that coats are a summer abomination and wholly unnecessary to the esthetics of the community.
 If the civic clubs of Miami, for example, were to make a definite and continuing pronouncement on the subject, we have no doubt the time would soon come when a coat in the business district of Miami during the summer would be as unnecessary as galoshes."

"In the evenings, at dances and dinners, a coat is a part of the male uniform. A man would no sooner think of showing up at a dinner without a coat than a policeman would consider going on duty without his peaked cap. At such times, however, the coat contributes little or nothing to man's physical discomfort."

SANFORD TWENTY YEARS AGO

The many friends in Geneva and Sanford will be sorry to learn that Mr. and Mrs. H. Y. Farber and two children, Nevell and Miss Thelma left Geneva last Tuesday for North Dakota, their home for many years. Mr. Farber is one of the Michigan colony who came to Geneva three years ago but decided to return to his first love-raising grain in the west.

The Sanford people who have been away at various resorts are returning home and this city is assuming its accustomed busy appearance. There are many points of interest in and around this city and the various swimming pools and springs are very popular now.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Nelson and their daughter have returned from Denver, Ga.
 Mrs. A. C. Powell, and son and daughter have returned to Lima after a pleasant visit to Mr. and Mrs. William Gillis.

Mrs. G. W. Douglas and little son, Kenneth, who have been visiting her sister, Mrs. A. C. Williams, have left for their home in Albany.

Attorney Schell Malone has returned from a trip to Charleston and Orangeburg, S. C., on legal matters.

The Executive Board of the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs closed a ten days' conference here with a charming program. Mrs. Fannie S. Munson made the announcements in her usual graceful manner. The first announcement brought Miss Fannie Mabe Munson to the place to reverberate on the study by Kullak, and she covered with Chapin's "Pro-ble in C Sharp Minor." The second number was the "Overture de Vestris" danced by Kathleen Brydy, Mildred Holly, Vera Turboun, Ned Lahn, Sylvia Lahn, Sarah Ryan Williams, Dorothy Rumph and Mary Elizabeth Pickett, under the direction of their teacher, Miss Wight. Others on the program were: Mrs. Lucille Austin and Tabbach, Mrs. Albert Fry, Mrs. Iva Sprague Baker, state superintendent of music, who received several plane addresses.

THE MAN OF HATE
 BY GEORGE E. COUGHLIN

I was motoring from Rhinebeck to Great Barrington, through the old Dutch country of New York state, a week ago Sunday. It was a hot day, but the woods and vineyards were refreshing, even if the ground had been pushed back two feet from the Hudson. One feels good in country like that and I, in particular, enjoyed the thought that this European crossed the Atlantic two and three centuries ago, and have been crossing ever since, to hold upon this continent a great nation.

And I thought how remarkable it is that at a moment when Spain is fighting England, and when France and Rome are again looking for the judicial murder of his old colleague, when Hitler's mind and tongue are devoted to the next great war, when China is in a great panic, and Japan is playing warlike games on the Asiatic continent, we dwell in peace,
 we, of fifty or more nationalities, of numerous religions and racial groupings, white and black and yellow, we live in a peaceful household.

In this mood, I turned on the radio. I had forgotten for the moment, that the Philharmonic is not on the air on Sunday afternoons during the summer. Instead of Beethoven, over the air came the screeching, discordant voice of somebody who not only wants to be president of the United States, but who said that he was going to be president. Hark his voice, hark his words, hark his ideas.

It was Lemke, the Coughlin candidate for president.
 My mood was changed. I would listen to Father Coughlin. I would listen to him in spite of the fact that it was Sunday, a day of peace and rest in this country for Jew and Christian alike.

And so I waited for Lemke to get his words over with and, in time, came Father Coughlin. Never, in all my life, have I listened to a more malevolent speech. Never had it occurred to me that any man could crowd so much hatred into such a short time. I fear that it would take me all my life to build up even a fraction of the hate that he has cast into a single sentence.

And this man of hate spoke such truths. His attack on the Federal Reserve system was so childishly untrue, so full of twisting of facts, that I shuddered at the thought that perhaps man believed this man of hate, perhaps men trusted him. And when he quoted the Holy Scripture, which my ancestors gave to the world, to justify his appeal to base passions, I felt that here is an unscrupulous person who dares anything because the memory of man is short and the mercy of God is great.

 And then I heard this:
 We are a Christian organization in that we believe in the principle of "love thy neighbor as thyself." With this principle I challenge every Jew in this nation to tell me that he does or does not believe in it.
 I am not asking the Jews of the United States to accept Christianity and all its beliefs, but since their system of
 "a tooth for a tooth and an eye for an eye" has failed, that they accept Christ's principle of brotherhood.

For a moment I thought that I might be listening to some violent Nazi. Could it be possible, I asked myself, that any man in the United States would permit his neighbors to hear these paragraphs?

And then I thought that before this man mounted the speaker he was trained for the pulpit, that he had studied that great book of brotherly love, the Bible, that he must have read the prophets, Isaiah and Jeremiah, who preach of love of men, that he must have come across that great rabbi, Hillei, who taught of brotherly love, long, long before Christianity.

I do not wish to enter into religious controversy. Christian missionaries from China and Japan will say that I have never shown narrowness in matters of religion, that even in this country when some Christians attacked the brave missionaries in China, I stood in defense of some of the finest and most selfless human beings I have ever known. It has always been my pride that the great bishop, Scherzhewsky, who founded some of the finest educational establishments in China, was a Polish rabbi before he became a Christian missionary.

And we, of differing faiths, but accepting the Fatherhood of God, lived harmoniously and in brotherly friendship because in our hearts was no hatred. We loved each other, because we were as brothers.

And then to listen to this man of hate, on a Sunday afternoon, speak in a political canvass, of my people as clinging to the doctrine of an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth.

Who, today, in the American political scene is demanding an eye for an eye? This man of hate. This man of unmitigated hate. This man stoops to every device of stimulating class hatred, religious hatred, hatred for individuals.

And the pity of it is that the present President of the United States permitted the social prestige of his high office to shine upon this person. He invited him to

automobile tags will be asked to subscribe to a membership.

Club members voted to call another meeting for Sept. 10 at which time full re-organization will be effected and officers for the new year will be elected.

During the membership campaign to be inaugurated in the near future, chairmen will be appointed in each of the county's precincts and every man will be held responsible for his respective area.

The Young Democrats are planning, tentatively, to schedule public speaking events, in the interest of all Democratic candidates, before the November elections.

The following persons attended:

S. Alex Sharon, Joe O'Connor, Gordon Barnett, Mrs. Gordon Barnett, James G. Sharon, Sherman Lloyd, Julian Stenstrom, F. E. Laney, Robbie Cameron, Bill Williams and others.

36 Hours To Kill Is Dynamic Thriller

A lifetime of love—if he can wipe out the last of the mobster—is the reward facing Brian Donlevy in "36 Hours to Kill," Fox picture coming Saturday to the Ritz Theater with Gloria Stuart, Douglas Fowley and Isabel Jewell also featured.

Fowley, cast as the last of the public enemies, boards a transcontinental express to go East and collect a prize he has won in a sweepstakes lottery. Donlevy, apparently a newspaper reporter but in reality an undercover man, is close on Fowley's trail.

As the express hurtles on, tension and terror develop when Gloria Stuart becomes involved in the plot. The excitement fairly crackles when Fowley kidnaps Miss Stuart, uses her as a shield, and makes his escape.

In a series of thrill-packed events, the film rushes to a thundering climax, replete with surprises and dynamic with action.

Stepin Fetchit, Romaine Calder and Warren Hymer are also featured in the cast "36 Hours to Kill," which was directed by Eugene Forde.

22 DIE IN TRAIN-TRUCK CRASH

Twenty-two men and boys were killed and a dozen more were injured as a fast freight train rammed into a truck in which they were riding near Louisville, Quebec. Norway Orders Trotzky, Wife Held In Country

OSLO, Norway, Aug. 22.—(AP)—The Norwegian Ministry of Justice tonight was reported to have ordered Leon Trotzky and his wife interned and two of his secretaries expelled from this country.

The Trotzky's, the report said, will be confined in their home at Hoenefoss until a new domicile can be found for them. It is understood the reason for the action was Trotzky's refusal to accept conditions which the government sought to impose for his continued stay in Norway.

Earlier in the week it was announced he had affixed his signature to a pledge to abstain from any type of revolutionary activity.

Ming Tomb Work Completed In China

PEIPING, Aug. 22.—(AP)—Restoration work on the celebrated Ming Tombs, near Peiping, where 13 Ming Emperors who ruled China from 1368 to 1644 A. D., are buried, has just been completed.

The tombs, famous for the long avenue of grotesque stone archways leading to them, are annually visited by thousands of American tourists on their way to see China's "Great Wall" which is only a short distance from the Ming tombs.

The restoration was begun last year with money provided by the government railways and the ministry of finance for the restoration of historic landmarks and cultural objects. Similar renovation activities are now going on at the famous Temple of Heaven, the Altar of Heaven, and other shrines in or near Peiping.

English Climber To Retire From Everest

LONDON, Aug. 22.—(AP)—Hugh Rutledge, leader of a British expedition thwarted this year in an attempt to climb unoccupied Mount Everest, will never try it again.

"I am certain some day it will be climbed but I shall never try again," he said. "I am 51 and too old. It does not mean, however, that I shall give up climbing. Smaller peaks are often harder than the highest mountains."

COWBOYS GO BERSY

ROOSEVELT STUDIES SUN-PARCHED LANDS

BISMARCK, N. D., Aug. 22.—(AP)—President Roosevelt set out on another train and motor inspection of the sun scorched farms in North and South Dakota.

The Roosevelt's, the report said, special drought committee recommending a program to transform whole economic scheme in the great arid area.

He had a first-hand view of the scorched area near here and declared he found conditions bad but the spirit of the people was good.

SOVIET SAYS NAZIS PREPARE NEW SLAUGHTER

GENEVA, Aug. 22.—(AP)—Soviet Russia tonight proposed a bold scheme of a League of Nations reform which would force almost immediate military sanctions against any nation making war.

The proposal would make it possible for the League Council in six days' time to determine where punitive action should be taken. The proposal also would make it possible for nations with a mutual assistance treaty to impose immediate military sanctions even if the League Council failed to name the aggressor.

MUSK OX MOVED

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Aug. 22.—(AP)—A herd of 27 musk ox formerly kept at the University of Alaska farm has been transferred to Nunivak Island in Bering Sea on orders of the U. S. biological survey. Officials of the Alaska Game commission protested the action, urging that the animals—which were brought from Greenland—be allowed to propagate on the mainland, where large herds formerly roved.

ATTACK REPULSED

ROME, Aug. 22.—(AP)—Twelve thousand Ethiopians were driven back from an attack on Abba Ababa with 200 dead. An official announcement said today. Fifteen Italian native soldiers were killed. The announcement said Ethiopians advanced on the city south of the airport.

FEW SWEDEN JOBLESS

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 22.—(AP)—Unemployment practically does not exist in Sweden, where, according to official figures, there were only 34,571 men and women out of work in May this year—the lowest in five years—against 61,400 at the beginning of 1936. In May last year, the unemployed numbered 61,177.

RECORD BOOMS
RIO DE JANEIRO, Aug. 25.—Official figures showed a record boom requiring consumption in Brazil to burn some parts of ordinary fuel of alcohol has stepped up production from 32,291,642 in 1933 to 47,230,346 in 1934. It comes from sugar cane.

UTAH RABBITS DECLINE
SALT LAKE CITY, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Jackrabbits, once typical of Utah's mountain country are rapidly decreasing in number, says R. Scott Zimmerman, district agent of the U. S. Biological survey. He blames drought, rodent poisoning activity, disease and hunting.

BURN MORE COFFEE
RIO DE JANEIRO, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Despite efforts at crop restriction, the national coffee department announced it had burned 259,463 sacks of coffee, 60 kilos each, the first two weeks of July, compared with 12,729 for all of June. Total stocks burned since destruction began four years ago totaled 36,857,722 sacks July 15.

FOODS FOR STREAMLINE FIGURES

Because debutantes lives are strenuous, filled with social activity from morning till night, they must keep fit to retain their figures. From experience they have learned that milk is a nourishing, non-fattening food and a good "safe-guard" to health. They know that butter is a "gold mine" of vitamins and energy and for this reason it is included in reducing diets. They are aware that fruits and vegetables, along with dairy products, are good sources for minerals and vitamins and that they must eat plenty of these "protective foods" to maintain health and pep for work and play. Chicago "deba" prefer these simple foods, according to a society editor's description of a recent party. Spicy hot gingerbread with plenty of butter, tart apple sauce and milk is a favorite combination for after-theater suppers and late evening snacks. Tender and fluffy gingerbread is delicious with the favorite flavor of butter and tart apple sauce. Milk makes the combination substantial and satisfying. We are delighted to pass on to you Aunt Susan's recipe for gingerbread made with sour cream which is a delicacy worth trying when you serve this Debutante Special.

GINGERBREAD

- 2 eggs
 - 1 cup sugar
 - 1 cup molasses
 - 3 cups flour
 - 2 teaspoons soda
 - 2 teaspoons cinnamon
 - 1-3 teaspoons ginger
 - 1 teaspoon cloves
 - 1-3 teaspoon grated nutmeg
 - 1 cup sour cream
- Beat unseparated eggs until light, mix with sugar, add molasses. Mix and sift dry ingredients, alternate with sour cream. Bake in buttered square tin 15 to 20 minutes in moderate oven. If sour cream cannot be obtained, use 1-2 cup butter, 1 cup milk, 1-2 teaspoon soda and 3 teaspoons baking powder; other ingredients as listed. Combine as an ordinary cake.

Agricultural Notes

By C. E. DAWSON

Approximately 85 percent of the farm acres in Seminole County have been made eligible for cash benefit payments under the 1934 soil conservation program. Growers who have not registered their farms should do so at once because only a few days remain in which registration can be accepted. The objectives of the 1934 soil conservation program are: to preserve and improve soil fertility; to promote the economic use and conservation of land; to reduce the exploitation, wasteful, and unscientific use of soil resources; and to protect rivers and harbors against the results of soil erosion. Bean leaf hoppers are doing damage to celery seed beds at this time. These insects are classified as one of the species of jassids and attack several truck crops planted early in the fall. Jassids are sucking insects and when present in sufficient numbers the plants turn yellow, are stunted and fall to leaf a full crop or die. One recommended control is 2-5 pint of black leaf, 40 to 50 gallons of Bordeaux mixture. The spraying should be done with the aid of a sort of hood covering the discharge nozzle. Spraying without the hood is not very effective because so many of the hoppers escape by flying away, and the escape is made more difficult by a hood. Seed bed covers should also be an aid in preventing the escape of the hoppers. The Florida Milk Law, in part, is designed to prevent any one other than the owner of a milk bottle serving milk in a bottle marked with the owner's name. There are many other provisions in the Florida Milk Law which are of benefit to the dairyman and public as well.

WANT NEW GOVERNOR

MANILA, P. I., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Assad Usman, influential Moro of Sulu, has asked the Philippine Commonwealth secretary of the interior to name a Moro governor to rule over that province, saying many Moros are dissatisfied with the administration of the American governor of Sulu, James R. Fugate.

Plan Now For September Food Menus!

Please A Man Give Him Onions Raw! Raw! Raw!

Old Favorites In New Recipes and Combinations Are Good

What salad appeals most to a man? The one full of finely sliced raw onions, of course. What does he always want on his hamburger? A succulent slice of raw onion and not too thin, please! What kind of a sandwich will do him at midnight? Raw onion, onion rye bread or white—with a little salt and pepper!

So then—if you want a meal to be especially appealing to a masculine palate, remember his weakness for onions and slip raw onion into your recipes whenever possible.

You probably have a cash book full of onion tricks—but here are some unusual uses for raw onions that you might not have about. They will surely give you a hit with men and women.

SANDWICH SPREAD
Mix 1 cup of peanut butter with 1-2 cup of mayonnaise or cooked salad dressing and one raw onion, finely chopped. And don't be too conservative when you spread it on the bread, it's grand on whole wheat, rye, or white. And for a midnight snack, it's perfect on crisp crackers.

SALAD FOR FISH OR GAME
The perfect salad for fish or game is easily created. Simply arrange alternate slices of peeled oranges and onions, cut water thin, on lettuce. French dressing adds the final touch.

ONION JUICE FOR SEASONING
When it comes to seasoning, there is no substitute for the juice of a raw onion. To extract this juice, cut a slice from the root end of a onion. Rub back and forth on a fine grater. Drain off the pulp and twist carefully the liquid. The pulp can be used when recipes call for grated onion.

Career Of Singing Discarded For One Of CrimeSmashing

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—(AP)—A young man from Orono, Mich., who came here to study singing and law, and turned to law exclusively, heads New York City's vice and racketeering probe.

He is Thomas E. Dewey, credited generally with the first prosecution and conviction of a big-shot gangster on a felony charge in 20 years. As special prosecutor he sent Charles "Lucky" Luciano and his lieutenants to jail after trial in a state court on their racket crimes. Men like Wasey Gordon and Alphonse Capone were placed behind bars for federal income tax evasion.

Thirty-four years old, ten from a few days' beating—he has not had a regular vacation in two years—brown-haired and crew-cut, with a black mustache and a deep "room voice," Dewey is a man that fired Laxow, Jerome and Beahmy, past crusaders against vice and crime, here, lights up his face.

Observers say he has brought a new method of criminal investigation to bear. Ballyhoo is out. No witness is named, no testimony made public, until he steps into a courtroom. In addition, Dewey is after the top men, not their hirelings, in the many-millioned industrial and miscellaneous criminal racket of the big city.

A businesslike atmosphere pervades the fourth-story Woodworth building offices of Dewey and his assistants. Appointed a year ago after a grand jury barred District Attorney William E. Dodge from viewing its findings, Dewey at once organized a staff of 20 lawyer aides, nine investigators, 10 accountants, four process servers, a battery of stenographers and a picked squad, numerically secret, of young detectives. Half a dozen young lawyers also serve, without compensation. Not infrequently his work keeps him an average of 16 hours daily in his office, and his staff, including stenographers, remain with him.

Night Planes Irk English Politician

LONDON, Aug. 22.—(AP)—Lloyd George declares he won't join in protests against war-time bombing practices—although he wishes to abolish bombing, and the practice flights keep him awake nights.

"Where I live in Surrey military planes hum night and day over my house," he told a minister who asked his views on the subject. "But I wouldn't sign a petition to remove this nocturnal torment to another part of the country. That would be illogical. It would simply mean disturbing other people."

Philippine Head Is Easy Man To Find

MANILA, P. I., Aug. 22.—(AP)—Members of the Philippine National Assembly find it comparatively easy to reach the chief executive, President Manuel L. Quezon.

After the executive moved into Malacañan Palace, former home of American governor generals, he had the ground floor remodeled. He then announced that this section of the palace would be a sort of club for the assemblymen and declared that he expected to meet all the law makers there frequently.

SUNDAY SUPPER SPECIALS

What fun it is to telephone a few friends to come over for Sunday night supper, then to plan a surprise menu to include a few of your favorite dishes. Something old or something new—but above all things to do that is delicious and that can be served over so easily with gray lines and dishes to make the occasion a festive one.

At our house we like to have help-yourself suppers. The meal may be simple, served buffet style so the guests can serve themselves. Chafing dishes are again in vogue so we planned Chicken a la King in a chafing dish for the main dish. It can be made at the table with guests assisting, or in advance, and kept hot in the chafing dish during the entire meal. With

CHICKEN A LA KING

- 2 cups cold sliced chicken
- 1 onion
- 3 tablespoons butter
- 1 1-2 cups milk
- 2 egg yolks
- 1 green pepper
- 3 or 4 mushrooms
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1-2 cup cream
- 3 tablespoons chopped pimento

Cook the shredded green pepper and mushrooms in 3 tablespoons butter 5 minutes. Add grated onion, flour (thin paste), 1 1-2 cups milk, salt and paprika to taste. Add the chicken, pimento, bring to boiling point, and add 1-2 cup cream with 2 eggs beaten in it. Cook about 5 minutes. Serve on buttered toast.

CHOCOLATE BROWNIES

- 2 c. chocolate (8 oz.)
- 1-2 cup butter
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 eggs
- 1-2 cup flour
- 1-8 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 cup nut meats

Melt chocolate and butter together, add sugar and mix well. Add the well beaten eggs. Sift flour, measure and sift with salt. Add to the chocolate mixture. Add vanilla and nut meats and mix well. Pour into well buttered 8 inch square pan and bake 35 minutes in oven 325 degrees F. Remove from oven, mark into bars or squares with knife. When cool remove from pan.

MAY FIND LOST TITIAN

DUBROVNIK, Yugoslavia, Aug. 22.—(AP)—A commission of art experts is undertaking close examination of a picture in the Dubrovnik cathedral in the belief it might be a painting by Titian. It had been attributed to the Italian Giorgio Vasari, but the British expert Bernard Berenson, who saw the work while a guest of Prince Regent Paul, declared it has earmarks of the Titian school.

WOULD BAN NEW LAWYERS

MANILA, P. I., Aug. 22.—(AP)—Philippine National Assemblyman Nicolas Rofols, of Cebu, has proposed a bill designed to limit the creation of new attorneys. The measure would suspend all bar examinations for five years beginning in 1934.

Tobacco Expects New Grid Deal From Red Dawson

New Coach Hopes For Best As Practice Is Begun On Sept. 1

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Tobacco's "new deal" in football will get underway with the first week of September.

Under the supervision of a new head coach, Lowell (Red) Dawson, and a staff mostly composed of new assistants, the squad of 58-odd men will begin training for one of the hardest schedules ever devised out to the Green Wave.

Dawson, quarterback of Tulane's 1931 Rose Bowl team and for the past four years varsity backfield coach under Bernie Bierman at Minnesota, will be greeted by 50 or 60 candidates. This number includes 25 lettermen of the 1935 team, an array which won six games and lost four.

The new Wave head man, at glaucous perhaps as Bierman in his most colorful hour, is promising no touch-down available for the fans. Dawson had a chance to stir up the squad in spring training and after a summer's study of the schedule ahead, he predicts at the best "an interesting season."

"We are proceeding nothing and claiming less," he laments.

Under the glass top of his desk is a copy of the schedule. O. M. Mize, the Orange Bowl representative from the 150th last New Year's Day, starts it off on Sept. 22. Auburn, one of the strongest teams in the country in 1935, and with even higher hopes this fall, is second on the list. Centenary, the Giant Killer, is third. Colgate's Red Raiders are next. Then Dawson's Red Raiders are next. Then Dawson's Red Raiders are next. Then Dawson's Red Raiders are next.

Warner of Temple University has been a football coach 42 years. Gil Doble of Boston College, "latency of Corps", has been in the business 36 seasons. Their teams will meet for the first time this year when Temple plays Boston in October.

Starvation Stalks Coast Of Liberia In Wake Of Fights

CAPE PALMAS, Liberia, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Starvation, starvation, and death are reported stalking great areas of the Kru Coast, where the Liberian government is engaged in fighting the Kru Chief Nibley and his followers.

The chief returned from the rule of the Liberian government in 1932 and has consequently sought government soldiers over him.

Now, with the entire frontier force of the government driving hard to conquer or exterminate the rebel Kru people, terror fills the land, according to reports received here.

Hundreds of native villages and towns have been burned and destroyed, while natives have been driven with their families into the jungle where they are dying from exposure and starvation. Children have been found abandoned by their fleeing parents. Others have been found dead from starvation or from strangulation.

GOVERNORS PLANT FLORIDA CITRUS TREE IN CALIFORNIA

California has succumbed to the salesmanship of Governor David (Dale) Phillips of Florida, and is trying out a new idea. A Florida citrus tree has been planted at Exposition Park at Los Angeles, where the natives will have a chance to examine at close range one of Florida's best talking points. Here is Governor Phillips, left, with Governor Merriam, of California, who turned the soil to admit Florida's permanent guest.

SPANISH LOYALISTS CAPTURE REBEL ISLAND

Following closely on the heels of a heavy bombardment from government warships that drove rebel defenders inland, loyal Spanish troops are shown landing on the island of Ibiza off Spain's eastern coast. Meanwhile, the bitterest sort of fighting continues in many sections of the revolution-torn country. (Associated Press Photo)

Saints And G-Men Tie As Islanders Win From Azaleas

Gainesville And Saints Stage Hectic Struggle

Falatkans Drop Contest In Ninth When Morton Doubles For Daytona Beach To Score Hosinski From First

DAYTONA BEACH, Aug. 28.—Jack Morton's double in the last of the ninth, scoring Dick Hosinski from first base, gave the Islanders a 6 to 5 victory yesterday as they opened the three out of five games play-off series with Gainesville.

With two out and the score tied, Hosinski singled sharply to left field. Then Morton rapped the ball back to right field and the Daytona Beach second baseman scampered around the sacks to end the ball game.

After a shaky start, Frank Gornicki, Polish right-hander who has been called by the Columbus club of the American Association to report for spring training next year, finally settled down and pitched a steady game. Gornicki gave up nine hits, including doubles by Horton and Krenzel, struck out eight and walked three.

Lefty Spirkman was his mound opponent, and the Islanders reached him for nine blows. Spirkman fanned eight and walked four.

The Azaleas built up a 4 to 0 lead in the first two frames before the Islanders managed to get under way.

Hosinski and Morton, with two hits apiece, led the Islander attack. Smith was the only Azalea to collect more than one hit. He got a pair of singles.

The two clubs meet at 3:30 today in Daytona. Moose Fralick is slated to pitch for the Islanders and Heinie Berger for the Azaleas.

GAINESVILLE, Aug. 28.—The game between the St. Augustine Saints and the Gainesville G-Men was called yesterday afternoon at the end of the ninth inning, the score being 7-7, and darkness having descended over the field.

As to where the game between the two clubs will be played today is still in doubt. Gainesville club officials made a long distance call to G. E. Gilliland, president of the league, and he ruled that the game today will be played in St. Augustine. Gainesville officials asked what the advantage was for them to be in first place at the end of the regular playing season did they not get the first game at home, as yesterday afternoon's contest was a no decision contest.

The Gainesville officials have gone over Gilliland's head and referred the matter to Judge Brannan, head of minor league organized ball, and no answer has been forthcoming at present. A reply is expected in the morning.

The game was a wild and exciting affair. The Saints started the scoring in the first inning with a pair of runs, and the locals came back with a five-run barrage. Another was added in the second to drive the Saints' starting hurler, Jeff Emerson, from the game. The Saints tallied twice in the third, and came back in the fifth with three runs to take a 7-6 lead.

The seventh frame saw the locals tie up the score at 7-7.

The run in the seventh was scored when Pittman doubled, took third on an infield out, and scored on Bevell's infield hit. George Andrews, the Saint first baseman who is on probation for his past unsportsmanlike antics, staged another scene because he was violently opposed to the decision on that play by Umpire Graham. He pushed Graham around, and then took his cap and kicked it around.

Graham, when asked as to why he did not put Andrews out of the game, replied that it would weaken the Saints.

Pittman was the hitting star with a single and two doubles.

SPORT BRIEFS

George Varoli, San Francisco's world record pole vaulter, will rest from sports until Christmas. He is anxious to catch up in his studies at the University of Oregon, where he is a sophomore.

When Carl Reynolds, Washington Senator outfielder, was ejected from a recent game it was his first forced exit in ten years in the majors. Reynolds threw dirt at Umpire Bill Summers.

SPORT CHATS

By JIMMY CHAPMAN

Champion Griper!
Though in our champion selection we named Manager Arnie Anderson of the Daytona Beach Islanders as the champion griper, since yesterday's contest between Gainesville and the St. Augustine Saints in the first game of the playoff series, we have changed our mind.

We now would like to name that individual who, on the field, and first baseman Andrews has been more detrimental to the league this season than any other player that we can think of. In the first place, he is a rather cocky guy and feels that the umpires should look up to him, and in the second place, he has absolutely no control of himself when he becomes enraged over an umpire's decision.

The big-boy seems to think that he can shove and push them around as much as he wishes, and never be fined or suspended, and he has proved that to a certain extent. Here's hoping that when the season opens next spring, the bad-boy of the Saints will be stationed in another league, where this circuit won't have to put up with his capers. And we believe that there is a possibility of his being thrown out of baseball completely unless he decides to cool off.

Battle Of Grippers!
All in all, the entire game yesterday at Gainesville was featured by argumentation and griping on the part of both teams. Should the teams have kept a little cooler, the game could have been finished instead of ending in a 7 to 7 deadlock after eleven darkened the field around 8:30 o'clock.

We sincerely hope that something will be done about all of this fighting and roughing of umpires on just any close decision on ball and strikes or at first base. This writer will admit that there are some pretty raw ones called, but enough is enough, and when the fans go to the ball game they go to see the game and not a debate or prize-fight. So, when the season begins next spring, we believe that Eddie Gilliland will be more strict than ever on players who come before him for cutting capers with the umpire.

After Alabama Pitts started a career of professions, baseball, he continued in football and basketball.

Olympic Row Is Brewing Again In New York City

Jarrett Chose To Be Renewed As State Coach U.S. Tonight

ABOARD THE PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, EN ROUTE TO NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—The returning Olympic team, although leaving most of the field, as well as the Olympic big game, today will try to get out about their state's honor on their arrival in New York tonight.

It has not yet been determined just what will be the consequences of the team's return to the United States, but it is expected that the team will be given a special reception by the state and the city.

Johnny Mize Of Cardinals Looms As Prize Rookie

Georgia Cracker Slugs Around .300 Mark And Fields Like Veteran To Lead Cards In Race For Top

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 28.—(AP)—The Cardinals' new prize rookie, Johnny Mize, slugged around the top of the National League, has given John Mize, more than a passing glance to the possibility of being the "prize rookie of 1932."

Weighted around by 200 pounds on a 5-foot, 2-inch frame, that big kid has been like a cyclone to the throngs of fans who appear to the St. Louis Cardinals' league leadership.

The man behind the bat, swinging it so easily as to batle the power, is only 22 years old, but his career has been full of outstanding offensive achievements since he left Princeton college in Dumont, N. J., his hometown, to play professional baseball in 1930.

The Chicago Cubs say they'll contest the pendency of Johnny Mize's hitting. In a recent series in Chicago, the recent first baseman was two games with home runs. He won another game with a circuit shot when the Cardinals resumed play with the Cardinals in St. Louis a few days later.

Mize came to the Gaslight Gang this season facing the tough job of pushing James (Ripper) Collins off first base and determined to root an injury line that hounded him in his effort to reach the major leagues.

He did both.

With Rochester in 1934, Mize suffered a groin injury that slowed his play and brought a drop in his batting average to .239 from his 1933 mark of .353.

Despite that, Cincinnati purchased him on trial from the Cardinals in the spring of 1935 and one of his tests at training camp was a 500-foot home run. But, just as the Reds were ready to plunk down to close the deal, Mize suffered a recurrence of his injury. The Reds returned him to the Cardinals.

Optimistic that his long-distance hitting, but his injury constantly troubled him. About mid-season he was recalled by the Cardinals and allowed to go on the voluntary retired list.

From this retirement because of injury Mize became the leading batter in the National league within one year.

He underwent an operation last winter for the removal of a private growth and then began a rigorous training program that brought him to spring camp in tip-top condition.

But there still was Collins, one of the best of the league's first-rockers.

Mize warmed the bench or broke in occasionally as a pinch-hitter until late in April when the Ripper went on a prolonged batting slump.

That gave Mize his chance and he responded with a wallop that established him as one of the league's leading sluggers. Mize has since corrected all his last, his first 23 safeties included five home runs, four triples and eight doubles.

When Collins came out of his slump by cracking out several home runs a pinch-hitter, Manager Frankie Frisch was faced with a problem he solved by sending Rip back to first and Mize to right field.

The rookie had been an outfielder with Greensboro in 1930-31, but shifted over to first base at Elmira in 1932 at the suggestion of Branch Rickey, major-domo of the Cardinal's far-fung farm system.

In July, Mize returned to first base when Collins' hitting again went into the doldrums. Mize's hasn't.

He hammered out exactly 400 hits in 296 times at bat, including 23 doubles, six triples and 16 home runs, for an average of .375.

A left-hander at bat but right-handed in the field, Mize has shown continued improvement in the way he handles himself around first base. He has only seven errors in his first 225 chances for an average of .031.

Witchcraft IN 1636

BUT "ALL-ELECTRIC" IN 1936

The household in 1636 that lived in dread of some magic power that would preserve food, wash and clean automatically or provide hot water without a fire would be just the "dishing stool" as a punishment for her sin. The things done electrically today would have been "witchcraft" or black magic in those days.

So many improvements have been made in recent years that the modern all-electric kitchen still seems almost like magic witchcraft. Cool summer drinks, frozen delicacies and protected foods from your electric refrigerator. An electric range that starts and stops, with automatically regulated temperatures, while you are miles from home. Instantly hot water, conserved for constant use. Best of all, the modern, gas-burning electric dishwasher—a miracle time-saver for every housewife.

These are the services of your all-electric kitchen—easy to install, a step at a time, with convenient monthly payments.

Chamberlain And Bride Ready For Stratosphere Flight Across Atlantic

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 28.—(AP)—Charles Chamberlain and his bride of less than two months, plan a transatlantic honeymoon flight—through the stratosphere.

They will climb into his two-seated Lockheed monoplane at St. John's, Newfoundland, sometime in the next two months and take off for one of three points—Land's End, England, London or Paris.

A flier who graduated from the ranks of transport hostesses, Mrs. Chamberlain says she will do the "backseat" piloting on the ceiling hop.

She is the former Louise Ashby, daughter of State Senator George Ashby of Maine.

Of the proposed flight, Chamberlain says:

"It will be only a part of our honeymoon."

But he added he expects to prove the era of stratosphere flying is near due to the "remarkable advances in the science of aviation engineering."

If the Chamberlains are successful in their flight they will be making aviation history.

Chamberlain says he never has attempted a solo stratosphere hop across a large body of water.

The failure on the part of the late Wiley Post to reach his goal in stratosphere flying—Post was forced down short of his destination on each of his transatlantic hops after flying hundreds of miles through the stratosphere—doesn't faze the veteran flier.

Nor does it bother his wife.

"I am so thrilled over the flight I can hardly wait," says blonde Mrs. Chamberlain.

Her husband says equipment for stratosphere flying has been perfected at this time that no trouble should be encountered.

"Clouds in the summer season," he says, "lie below the 20,000-foot altitude level. In the winter season, they're below 25,000 feet. By flying 35,000 feet we shall miss all clouds, have the advantage of good tail winds prevalent at that altitude and experience a minimum of resistance."

A 1,200 horsepower, super-charged motor will send the Chamberlains' ship, "Miss Stratosphere," zooming through the ether at a 400 to 500 mile-an-hour clip, Chamberlain says, the great speed being made possible by stratosphere flying.

Equipped with all improved devices for safe flying, "Miss Stratosphere" has retractable landing gear making possible forced landings in water or on land. The ship has a wingspread of 43 feet and is trimmed in yellow and black. She has a gasoline storage capacity of 600 gallons.

Chamberlain says one of the purposes of the flight is to pave the way for "shorter flying time flights" across the Atlantic.

"If we make the 1,850-mile hop from Newfoundland to Land's End," he says, "we expect to complete the journey in from five to six hours. A London or Paris hop would require 10 to 15 hours."

Regarding the speed angle, Mr. Chamberlain explains:

"That's one reason I don't mind the trip. We will make it in such a short time I won't have time to get scared. But I never am afraid flying with Clarence. He knows the mechanics of aviation as well as being the pilot he is, you know."

More than 50,000 Americans will finance the stratosphere flight.

They represent passengers of Chamberlain's and their associate pilot, Jack Wall, of Eastman, Ga.

Agent Who Took Capone Will Teach Law Enforcement

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Aug. 28.—(AP)—One of the federal agents who helped clean up Al Capone's gang in Chicago, Lieut. Dan L. Kooken, now of the Indiana State Police, will turn his talents to the teaching of policemen when the new four-year training course of Indiana University opens in September.

As supervising lieutenant of the state police force, Lieutenant Kooken has been assigned to direct the study of scientific methods, police tactics, general police administration, and criminal investigation. He has had considerable practical experience in the work as head of the state police school which he organized and headed and which is being abandoned in favor of the new college course.

Slight of stature and mild of manner—the antithesis of the stage and movie presentation of policemen—Lieutenant Kooken believes the non-political selection of a trained, educated police personnel is the answer to the crime problem of the United States. He believes college men of character and intelligence can be trained to become the best policemen in the world.

He was in the coast artillery from 1908-1911, then for six years was timber cruiser, guide and trapper in the Canadian northwest. He served as first lieutenant with the 300th infantry, seeing heavy service in the Vosges and Argonne sectors during the World War.

Returning from army service Lieutenant Kooken entered the service of the treasury department, later transferring to the Department of Justice as a special agent assigned to the Chicago division. In 1930 he resigned to become assistant director of the Secret Six, famed crime-fighting body organized by the Chicago Association of Commerce.

Possible Chance To Name President Stresses Congressional Elections

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—(AP)—The claim of several Union party leaders and others that Mr. Lemke will get enough votes to throw the election into Congress may—if it proves to have real weight—lay tremendous emphasis upon the congressional elections.

If no presidential candidate gets a majority of all the electoral votes the choice is left up to the House, each state getting one vote. The majority of each state's representatives decides which way the vote shall be cast, and in case of a tie or deadlock within the state delegation, that state gets no vote.

Moreover, the president must be selected from the three candidates receiving the greatest number of electoral votes.

There are few observers who see much prospect that Mr. Lemke will get enough electoral votes to prevent one or the other of the major party candidates obtaining the majority necessary for election. But those few insist there is a possibility.

Their idea is that the contest between the Republican and Democratic presidential candidates may be so close that even a few electoral votes going to Mr. Lemke would prevent either of the other two from having a majority—more than half of all the electoral votes.

Dr. Townsend of the $200-million movement has forecast a deadlock and says enough votes of its vote with the aid of government appropriations, send men will be elected to the House to let his organization name the next president.

It doesn't take much organization to picture the scrambling of the rival parties to elect their congressional candidates if they should become apparent late in the campaign that would put in prospect such a deadlock upon the House the job of selecting the president.

Such close races have occurred in the past. Two times the House selected a president, Jefferson in 1800 and John Quincy Adams in 1824. In 1876, in a post-Civil war dispute delegates to the electoral college, a special commission chose Hayes as president.

The area of the District of Columbia is 70 square miles.

"PUT IT DOWN FOR A FACT—

THIS AGRICO'S GREAT STUFF! I KNOW—BECAUSE WE AVERAGED 614 CRATES OF NO. 1 CELERY ON 75 ACRES"

—says Roy C. Bennett, of Sanford

TOP GRADE celery—tender, crisp, full-flavored—brings good money on any market, any year. But it isn't easy money, by any means. For celery-growing is "big-league" farming; everything has to be done "just right" . . . it's a long time from seed-bed to harvest, and lots of things can happen.

Just because we make fertilizer, we aren't trying to infer that fertilizer does it all! But it does play a mighty important part, because celery is about the hungriest feeder there is, taking a heavier application than any other crop. So it stands to reason that the fertilizer has to be RIGHT—"any old fertilizer" won't do.

That's why we ask you to consider AGRICO FOR CELERY: Here is a fertilizer made to meet the highly exacting requirements of celery-growing in this section—a fertilizer that contains ALL the plant-food elements needed to produce a larger yield of extra-quality No. 1 stalks—succulent, solid-textured, tender stalks that look right, taste right, and sell at top prices—a fertilizer that feeds the crop all the elements needed to insure healthy, vigorous growth and help ward off plant diseases.

"I'm 100% for Agrico!"

And, believe us, folks, it makes a difference when you feed your crop that kind of fertilizer. Ask Roy C. Bennett, of Sanford, for example. Mr. Bennett, well-known manager of the George F. Fish, Inc., farms, grows celery. He grows it up north as well as in Florida. So what Mr. Bennett says about Agrico deserves serious consideration. Last year, he tried the grade of Agrico specially made for celery up in New York State. On September 27, 1935, he wrote: "On one block of 5 acres planted to celery we used only 71 125-lb. bags of Agrico, nothing more. And it sure was a beautiful piece of celery."

As a result of that trial, Mr. Bennett used the grade of Agrico specially formulated for celery here in Seminole County. This is what he wrote about his last season's crop:

"I am one hundred per cent and on AGRICO FOR CELERY. This was our best year to use Agrico in Florida. We planted 75 acres with Agrico, and up to date (March 10, 1936), have averaged 614 crates of No. 1 celery per acre. We are more than pleased with Agrico."

Thanks, Mr. Bennett. We're hoping that a lot of other growers in this locality are going to profit by your experience and use Agrico on their celery this year. Wherever Agrico is given a fair trial, it produces the same outstanding results. There's your own son, Clinton E. Bennett, who followed your lead and tried Agrico on one acre last fall; he writes:

"Agrico's Made Good!"

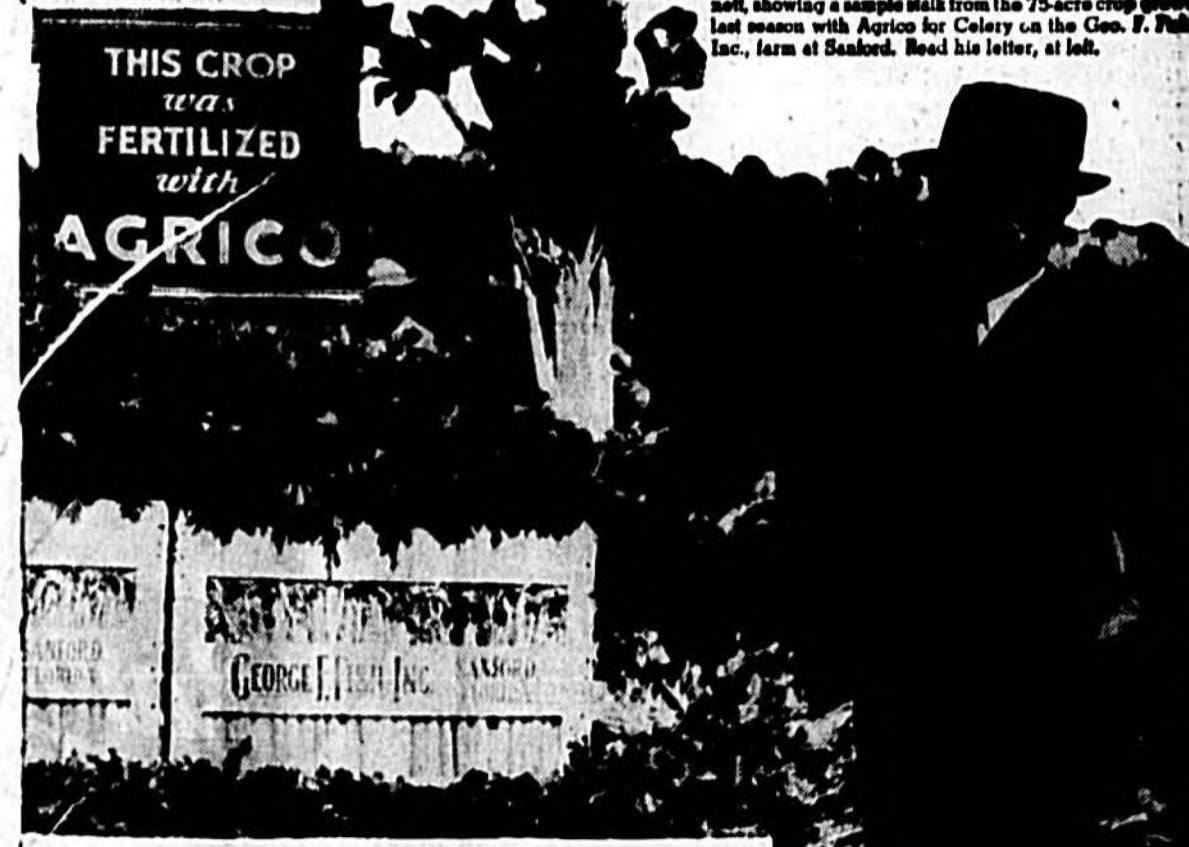

"Agrico made good; it produced 817 packed crates of extra quality No. 1 celery on one acre!" Scores of other growers say substantially the same thing. So there must be something to it. There must be—and there most certainly is.

The facts clearly show that Agrico is a step ahead, a real advance in the science of feeding the celery crop. It's specially made to do that very job and do it well. That is the reason why leading farmers throughout the country, all the way up to Maine and out to Minnesota and Wisconsin use Agrico—truly the nation's leading fertilizer—because there is a brand of Agrico made to meet the exacting needs of each important crop in each important crop-growing section. And results the country over furnish the most convincing kind of proof of Agrico's extra crop-producing power.

Use Agrico this Year

It is pretty nearly time to start another crop of celery. So this year why not do as thousands of other farmers have done—try some Agrico for Celery, the brand specially made for this section. See for yourself the big difference it makes in yield and quality.

Remember, Agrico is Manufactured Only by The AMERICAN AGRICULTURAL CHEMICAL Co., Ft. Pierce, Florida.

(Left) BIG-LEAGUE FARMING! Here are I. Howell Fish (at left) and Roy C. Bennett (at right) of Geo. F. Fish, Inc., Farm—a couple of growers who typify the kind of big-league farming that puts Sanford at the top of the league. Last season these growers used Agrico for Celery on 75 acres. Mr. Bennett's letter, printed in full at left, is of timely importance to every Celery-grower.

LINE FATHER, LINE SON: Clinton E. Bennett (left) of Sanford has reputation of his own as a leading grower of quality celery. When his father, Roy C. Bennett, reported the excellent results obtained with Agrico on celery in 1935, Clinton E. Bennett decided to try Agrico on one acre as a test. He writes: "I am more than pleased with results; Agrico produced 817 packed crates of extra-quality No. 1 celery on that one acre! It's some fertilizer, all right."

Argentina Expects To Benefit By U.S. Drought

High World Grain Prices May Bring New Business Era To South American Farming Country

SUENOS AIRES, Aug. 23.—(AP)—For the third consecutive year, Argentina expects to benefit by the drought which has dealt American farmers heavy blows, although the weather has dealt a lot of punishment in this country, too.

Argentina this year has one of the smallest wheat surpluses for export in a decade, and its maize harvest has been retarded and considerably reduced by prolonged and excessive rainfall, yet high world prices as a result of the North American droughts may alleviate what looked like a poor business year for this country.

Droughts in the United States and Canada have been a dominant factor in pulling Argentina out of the depression trough. This country's worst year was 1933.

Improved grain prices in 1933 and 1935, coupled with American droughts and good Argentine crops resulting in heavy exports, including much maize to the United States itself, gave Argentina tremendous trade boosts in those years.

This year signs of a slip were evident. The 1935-36 wheat crop, recently estimated at 2,800,000 tons, was one of the smallest in a decade, as a result of dry weather in the Argentine growing season. Newspapers estimate that Argentina has only 600,000 or 700,000 tons of wheat left for export until the new crop comes up late this year. But better prices, influenced by the American droughts, will offset to some extent the lack of quantity.

Argentina's maize surplus for export has not been fixed, because of six weeks of almost continuous rain which has held back the harvest.

Before the abnormal wet weather set in, predictions were for one of the heaviest maize crops on record, but new calculations must await knowledge of the amount of standing corn rotted by rain.

The American droughts may result in above-normal shipments of canned Argentine meat to the United States again this year, and Argentine papers are expressing a faint hope that sanitary restrictions against fresh beef will be removed.

The United States embargo against Argentine chilled beef prevailed for years because of hoof and mouth disease in this country. A sanitary convention signed in 1935 would change the flat embargo to one permitting shipment of meat from disease-free zones, which would free Patagonia, in southern Argentina, from the restrictions. And Patagonia is a sheep, not a beef producer.

The faint but persistent Argentine hope that it may one day export chilled meat to the United States is coupled with British proposals to place an import duty on Argentine beef. This worries Argentine cattle raisers because British buys most of the chilled and frozen beef this country exports.

English Lady Has Chance To Live In Peru White House

(AP)—Mrs. Grace Flinders de RIO DE JANEIRO, Aug. 23. Prado, an accomplished English woman, would become first lady of Peru if her husband, candidate of 12 out of a total of 16 parties should win the presidential election in October.

Manoelito Alolai Masella, papal nuncio, married the couple here shortly after Jorge Prado had been made Peru's first ambassador to Brazil in 1934. Sir William Seeds, British ambassador, and Jose Carlos de Macedo Soares, Brazilian foreign minister, were official witnesses at the brilliant ceremony.

Recently, as the ambassador prepared to fly home to conduct a stump campaign and Mrs. Prado sailed for a two or three months' stay in Sussex, England, she expressed concern for the strenuous care of office which must be her husband's if he wins.

"I really think the job of president must be very hard and tiring," she said. "And it seems that no matter how hard a president works he is always criticized, don't you think?"

Her emerald-blue eyes twinkled as she confided she was brushing up on Spanish and hoped to greet her husband and his countrymen in their native language when she arrives in Lima late in the fall.

Mrs. Prado's design for living would include a country house, music and sports, says Prado. She is considered an expert horse woman and huntress, in keeping with the traditions of her Lincolnshire family of warriors and explorers.

Mrs. Prado is a great-granddaughter of Samuel Flinders, one of England's first colonizers of Australia and Tasmania.

It was because a Peruvian president exiled him that Prado went to England and met the girl who was to become his wife.

Rome Will Allow Shaving On Sunday

ROME, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Minister Ferruccio Lantini of Corporations has issued a circular allowing barber shops to remain open on Sunday "when absolutely necessary" because shaving of Fascists was found to be a public necessity.

The barbers' syndicate, not unhappy at the implied importance of its profession, nevertheless is resisting as vigorously as possible attempts to carry flattery too far.

The barbers want their Sundays off, at least some other day in the week for those who must take their Sunday at trimming the neat growths in a Balbo which have sprung out in celebration of the African victory.

The WORLD OF STAMPS

By QUINTON JAMES

A song on a stamp might well describe one of Brazil's two latest stamps on her ever-growing list of commemoratives. It's an excerpt from the opera "Il Guarany," best known work of the Brazilian composer, Antonio Carlos Gomes.

The design consists of two lines of music in an oblong frame carrying the dates 1836 and 1936. (Gomes was born in 1836, died in 1896.) At the top are the inscriptions "Brasil Postage" and "Il Guarany." At the bottom, within the border, is the value, 700 reis, and directly above that the line, "Centenario de Carlos Gomes."

The stamp is light blue, on very thick paper. Forty were printed on a sheet, with an ornate watermark in the center.

Among his other works, Gomes composed music for two exhibitions in the United States. For the Philadelphia centennial in 1876, he composed "Il Saluto del Brasile," a Brazilian patriotic hymn, and for the Columbia exposition at Chicago in 1893, he wrote "Christoforo Colombo." His first opera, "Notte del Costello," was produced in 1861. "Il Guarany" appeared in 1872 after he had studied four years in Europe on a government pension.

To collectors who concentrate on "music stamps"—those adhesives on which music, musical instruments, composers or related subjects are treated—this operatic stamp will especially appeal.

The other Brazilian commemorative is issued to mark the first national congress of the country's judiciary. It has a value of 300 reis and is printed in red on this paper in contrast to the Gomes stamp.

An upright oblong, longer than average the stamp's design is centered by an oval-framed picture of stone tablets bearing 12 Roman numerals and the word "Lex." Behind the tablets appear the symbolic scales of justice.

It is possible to collect blocks of three. Francis W. Beedom of Muskegon, Mich., says this is the idea behind his specialized collection.

While such a collection is necessarily confined to a few countries, and only certain issues of two "blocks of three" from a sheet.

Two of the countries which from time to time print stamps in this manner are Czechoslovakia and Austria.

Philatelic experts look forward to 1937 as a year in which numerous commemoratives will appear. One event expected to produce a number of special stamps in the British empire is the coronation of King Edward VIII.

Argentina is planning an issue to commemorate the four-hundredth anniversary of the founding of Buenos Aires.

Two boys robbed the home of Edward Schinall, Attles, O., then fell asleep in Schinall's bed. He found them when he came home.

U. S. D. A. Scratches Head Over Patch Of Truffles

Hogs, Dogs Or Fish Must Be Trained To Locate 'Fruit'

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—(AP)—After secreting a batch of French truffles about the nation, the Department of Agriculture today faced the problem of how to find them when ripe.

"There are three approved ways to hunt truffles," said Dr. E. R. Lambert, "with hogs, dogs, or fish."

"Wait a minute, Doctor," interrupted your breathless correspondent, "what is a truffle?"

Dr. Lambert said a truffle is really a tuber melanosporeum—a mushroom-like growth about the size of a potato which meant $7,000,000 commercially to France last year.

"It is a rare delicacy," he explained, "and once a truffle eater, always one. The only trouble about French truffles is that we don't grow them and they come high imported."

With the United States as barren of French truffles as it is of icebergs, the department launched the first systematic effort to grow them—planting potential truffles near Leesburg, Va.; Auburn, Ala.; States College, Miss., and Knoxville, Tenn.

"There is no way to tell with the naked eye," said Dr. Lambert, "whether you've got a truffle. It grows from 2 to 8 inches beneath the surface of the soil. Hogs, dogs and fish can smell them out."

The scientist explained that the French spend considerable time in training swine and dogs to hunt truffles. They just let the fish take care of themselves.

"When we think our truffles are ready for pulling," he said, "I believe we'll use the dogs, although we will probably have to import them, too, until we train some."

Dr. Lambert said hogs are usually used in regions where truffles are plentiful because they have a keener sense of smell than dogs.

"Dogs," he added, "are able to range further and are used in rough territory. Also you don't have to muzzle them like you do hogs. The dogs hunt them for the sport of the thing."

The department is keeping secret when it expects the truffles to be ready for hunting or what sort of yield it expects. Officials did say, however, that more truffles are to be laid out in the Puget Sound section and irrigated sections of the West.

Already the residents of the famous Virginia hunt country near Leesburg are speculating about truffle hunts.

"We hear," said Dr. Lambert, "that there is talk of how to dress when riding to truffle bounds."

Citizens Of Russia Seeking New Names

MOSCOW, Aug. 28.—(AP)—Soviet citizens, imbued with the spirit of change, are shedding Christian or surnames they do not like.

Daily the leading newspapers carry long lists of advertisements of persons who have had notice of their intention to change for ones more euphonious names that consider annoying, as in the case of generally unsatisfactory.

The process is fairly simple. A citizen simply appears at the Registry for Acts of Civil State and files notice of his or her intention to change his name.

Public announcement of the change is published, and anyone who objects can appear and state his objections. If there is no protest within 30 days the civil authorities issue the citizen a new passport under his new name.

Drought Will Halt Poultry Production

LEXINGTON, Ky., Aug. 28.—(AP)—Because of the drought, the drought, the expected increase in poultry production may not materialize, says the College of Agriculture, University of Kentucky.

Prospects of higher prices for eggs are causing increased marketing of pullets, intended for layers, and hens also. Eggs have been exceptionally high-priced for the season, and both eggs and poultry may bring good

Hollywood Lights

By RODIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 28.—Not all movie actors have to leave town when comes the irrefragable urge to get away from it all.

"It all" is Hollywood; the business of being a movie celebrity, the stares of the curious and the demands of celluloid fame. Although their careers thrive on autographs and photographs and the hubbub that accompanies their every public appearance, the average actor not infrequently succumbs to that "goldfish feeling" and yearns to light out for nowhere or anywhere.

Eric Linden is one of Hollywood's inveterate runners-away. Sometimes it is to the mountains and again it's to the beach; but he likes solitude and will take it where he finds it.

But Claudette Colbert, who also likes to collect her thoughts, doesn't have to leave town. In the corner of her new house is a little room with sound-proofed walls and no telephone. When she wants to study a script or just to relax and forget that tomorrow is a full day—what with fittings and sittings and appointments here and there—she can go to this room and be as alone as Garbo.

Wallace Berry goes fishing or flying—not that Wally ever feels like a goldfish. But Carole Lombard, again, can "get away" at home in a far corner of her garden is the Lombard retreat, a little but concealed from view by trees and shrubs. Here she can study or rest or think up new party gowns, or just do nothing at all except be "away from it all."

Clark Gable goes hunting, and Preston Foster goes fishing, and Joel McCrea and Frances Dee go to their ranch. Mae West has moved to her ranch from the penthouse apartment in Hollywood; so now if she wants to get away she'll have to build a hut like Lombard's or take up boating or flying.

Gary Cooper and Bing Crosby are part-time ranchers. Gary's date farm in the Conchella Valley is a good place to look for him.

And Garbo isn't so bad, either. It's so good, in fact, that it's news when she isn't hiding out at home.

SCANNING NEW BOOKS

By JOHN SELBY
A pair of swallows doesn't make a spring, as has been said a good many times already. Nevertheless, there are signs that mystery-horror-detective fiction is picking up. We can cite three, at least.

One is "The Camp Meeting Murders," by Vance Randolph and Nancy Clemens (Vanguard), which we mentioned briefly the other day. Another is Gavin Douglas' "The Tall Man" (Putnam). The third is "The Undying Monster" by Jessie Douglas Kerruish (Macmillan). Each of these contains the promised suspense or horror or ingenuity. And each of them is readable as a novel.

"The Tall Man" is a first book. The first scene of Mr. Douglas' first book sets a very high pace—the Tall Man is seen snooping about the Antwerp docks, waiting for Captain Samson of the freighter "Koola." From that moment until his final disappearance, the Tall Man is a creature of mystery, genius of many a mysterious and frightening tangle. The captain is likewise a triumph in another field, and the people of his ship are real people. But perhaps the author's real achievement is double-headed: he has a sense of humor, and he can write credibly of the sea.

"The Undying Monster" is likely to fool you, for its starts with a stock situation: a brother and sister, last of a long and illustrious line, the two living under a curse which for heaven knows how many years has persistently threatened the head of the family. But once this has been stomach, the reader finds himself in a world of horror, concerned in a struggle of huge proportions which closes the novel in a cyclone of excitement. The writing is able and the plot is honest—a straight out horror mystery may seem anomalous, but Miss Kerruish has managed it.

"The Renaissance," by E. Funck-Brentano (Macmillan), an excellent and solid introductory survey of the period, not all dressed up for the popular trade.

"The Need We Have," by A. Hamilton Gibbs (Little, Brown); Mr. Gibbs writes a romance, set for all places in Ireland; it's pleasant, and perhaps not very important.

"The Olive Field," by Ralph Bates (Dutton); Spanish proletarian novel in which the mechanics of social change are somewhat overemphasized, but not to the exclusion of expert characterization, or of an amazingly acutal reconstruction of Spain.

"The Sky But Not The Heart," by R. L. Duffus (Macmillan); first rate social-political satire, in which the meat and the froth are very expertly balanced.

"Stories For Men," by Charles Grayson Little (Brown); a large and expertly selected group of short stories appealing primarily to young men having in this day of feminized fiction.

"No Letters For The Dead," by Gale Wilhelm (Random); a tender, delicately wrought novel about a woman Magdalen; one who "sins" without the consciousness of sinning; not for lovers of action.

"The Cat," by Colette (Farrar and Rinehart); a subtle (if slight) novel about a courtship and a boyhood and a cat; the cat is far away the best thing in the novel.

World War Veterans Will Converge On Denver For Convention In September

DENVER, Aug. 28.—(AP)—Mam'ville from Gay Paros will bring back memories to World War veterans in Denver Sept. 13-18 for the 37th annual national convocation of Veterans of Foreign Wars.

And a maid from Brittany in striped apron, will gather the merrymakers each marked in France with the price of the drink, an old Brittany custom.

A dozen or more of her sisters will grace the information booths in shady places along Colorado highways to direct the 25,000 to 40,000 visitors expected for the convocation.

All the girls are daughters of French "war brides" and will be dressed in the clothing their mothers wore when they were maids of France.

Marital pageantry will enliven the program the Colorado organizations of the V. F. W. have prepared to entertain their guests. There will be parades, aerial maneuvers, a gigantic buffalo barbecue and a wild west rodeo.

At least 30 heroes of the World and other wars will be here, James E. Van Zandt, national commander of the V. F. W., said recently in Denver.

Among them will be Sergeant Edward F. Younger of Chicago, who designated the unknown soldier by placing a wreath upon his coffin in a little French chapel.

Others who are expected include Jake Alex, also of Chicago, holder of seven foreign decorations and the congressional medal of honor; General Smedley D. Butler, U. S. M. C., retired; Rear Admiral Richmond P. Hooper, U. S. N., retired, hero of Santiago Bay; and General Pelham D. Glassford, former A. E. F. chief, now chief of police at Phoenix, Ariz.

An honor guard, consisting entirely of congressional medal of honor men, will provide an escort for Commander Van Zandt.

Denver, birthplace in 1899 of the organization, that became the V. F. W., was host to the first national gathering of overseas veterans in 1900. Denver members said. A formal ceremony is planned for this year in rooms at the statehouse where that meeting was held.

In 1913 Denver again was host to half a dozen veteran bodies which amalgamated as the V. F. W. and elected Rice W. Means, later U. S. senator from Colorado, commander-in-chief.

Three special trains already have been chartered to bring the delegates to the Colorado Rockies. An eastern states' special will start from Boston, Mass., under the command of Commander Van Zandt; a second will come from San Francisco; a third, the Hawaiian special for middlewestern delegates, will leave probably from Chicago. Some delegates also will come in a motorcade from the east and midwest.

Convention headquarters officials say they have learned at least three cities, Buffalo, N. Y.; Tampa, Fla., and Portland, Ore., will make bids for the 1937 convention.

London looks Toward Coronation Dance

LONDON, Aug. 28.—(AP)—One of the most brilliant social events of the period will be the Coronation Year Ball at Grosvenor House next June.

It will be organized on similar lines to the Shakespeare Ball which took place during the year of King George's Coronation, and which, attended as it was by many members of the royal family, was

Government Has Three Groups To Work Undercover

G-Men, Secret Service And Postal Inspectors Do Job

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—(AP)—He was an engaging young man who hung around an old German restaurant in New England, taking an occasional beer with the boys from a nearby factory. He worried when his money began to run low, but his new friends got him a job. Three months later the government won a case against the factory owners which stopped a huge annual food steal from the public.

The penniless young man actually was one of the small army of skilled detectives who work for the government. They are trained in law, accounting and chemistry, for the most part, but many of the glamorous old tricks of the profession, such as shadowing and acting, also are part of their mental baggage.

The most spectacular work falls to three divisions of government sleuths: The G-Men, the secret service and the postal inspectors. They naturally are best known. Tension between the G-Men and secret service flared into the open recently when treasury officials received a report that secret service men in the Chicago district had investigated work of the G-Men in bringing in "public enemies."

Although no mention of rivalry or jealousy was made, Attorney General Cummings, under whom the G-Men were announced, has anyone looking for the scalp of J. Edgar Hoover, director of the G-Men, would have Cummings to deal with.

But there are 3,067 other detectives in government departments who work so quietly even their neighbors do not suspect they are Sherlocks. Uncle Sam's detective roll includes: G-Men, 800; secret service, 271; postal inspectors, 878; investigators for the Public Works Administration, 800; for the bureau of narcotics, 400; for the customs, 200; for the alcohol tax unit, 1,700; for the pure food and drug administration, 102.

"Criminal" to most of these men does not mean "killer", and "crime" doesn't mean "murder."

One of the highlights of the time. Accommodation at the ball is being arranged for 2,500 guests. The proceeds will be divided between the many hospitals and institutions assisted by the League of Mercy, who are sponsoring the event. King Edward is patron of the league and Sovereign of the Order.

Many were decorated for bravery, more were wounded and gassed in action, others lost brothers and close relatives, while the eccentricities and conduct of others today can be traced back directly to their experiences from 1914 to 1918 while "somewhere in France" or on the other fronts.

The war left curious markings on the various leaders. Of some, like Anthony Eden, British foreign minister, it made arch-peacemaker, hating war and all that goes with it. Of others like Stalin and Hitler and Mussolini it gave definite preparedness complexes causing them to build up new military machines stronger than ever before.

Of the dictators, Stalin, Mussolini, Hitler and Kemal Ataturk, all saw years of military action during and after the World War.

King Edward of England, Leopold put him out of action on the Somme front. Returning later to the Yser he served until October, 1918, when he was temporarily blinded by gas and was in hospital when Germany collapsed and the war ended. He twice participated in single-handed captures of French soldiers and was decorated for bravery.

Mussolini went in with Italy and was wounded and spent seven

MOTHER HELD FOR KILLING GIRL TO 'END POVERTY'

Leaders Of Present-Day Europe Know Privations And Dangers Of Conflict

LONDON, Aug. 28.—(AP)—War months in a hospital after a trench mortar blew up in 1916, nearly causing him to lose his leg. He served in the ranks.

Kamal Ataturk saw years of action. He was the Turkish hero of Gallipoli and the Dardanelles campaign through 1915 and 1916, and in 1922 inflicted a crushing defeat on the Greek invaders in Asia Minor, nearly came to blows with Britain, and gained back almost all that Turkey had lost in the World War.

Stalin was serving his fifth sentence in Siberia when the war broke out. He kept there until the Kerensky revolution of February, 1917, permitted his return to Petrograd where he did yeoman service for Lenin in organizing the revolution armies.

He plunged into the revolution working with Voroshilov to rebuild the Red armies, and from 1920 until 1923 was involved in war in the defense of Petrograd, in the war against Poland and in crushing Wrangel in the Ukraine.

"In those four years I mixed with men, and found my manhood," said King Edward VIII of his experiences from 1914 onward. Overcoming parental and governmental objections he went to France in November, 1914, served with the Grenadier Guards, was many times under fire, and lived a soldier's life, first as a captain, later as a major. He visited the Italian front during the most critical period of hostilities in 1917 and also saw service in Egypt.

Eden lost two brothers in action. Another brother spent several years in a prison camp. He himself served from 1915 until the armistice in the line, was severely gassed, and decorated for conspicuous bravery.

King Leopold was 13 when he entered the battle sector, doing the duties of a common soldier except for standing outpost guard, which his father, King Albert, forsook.

Carol of Rumania was a regiment commander in 1916 when Rumania of Belgium and Carol of Rumania all served at the front, while King George of Greece participated in the first Balkan war in 1912 and again in the war with Turkey in 1922.

Pierre Etienne Flandin, a former premier of France, was a wing commander in the air force, serving throughout the conflict. Coaring of Germany shot down 23 airplanes, fell into Richtofen's command after the latter's death, and refused to demobilize he beloved unit after the armistice.

Hitler and Eden, the former a private and later a corporal, the latter the youngest captain in the British army, fought for years in France. Both were wounded and gassed.

Hitler joined the Bavarian army Aug. 4, 1914, as a private. He fought in France until 1916 when sharpshooter entered the war. His troops were defeated by the Germans and Carol's war record appears not to have been conspicuous.

Starbomberg, former vice-chancellor of Austria, joined the army at 17, and saw several years of action. Gombos of Hungary was wounded on the Rumanian front. Benes of Czechoslovakia was in the perilous information service for the allies until July, 1915, when he was forced to flee into Switzerland.

Great numbers of the younger statesmen of Europe below the top rank likewise saw action. No less than a half dozen British cabinet ministers were in service, the same is true of many of the statesmen under 50 in France, Germany, Italy and Russia.

Norway Told By Russia To Ban Trotsky

Soviet Government Demands Expulsion Of Ex-Bolshevik From Scandinavia

Refusal Would Strain Relations

Norwegians Declare Officials Powerless To Comply

MOSCOW, Aug. 29.—(AP)—The Soviet Government today officially demanded that Norway expel Leon Trotsky, exiled Russian Bolshevik leader. A government note handed to the Norwegian foreign minister by a Soviet representative in Oslo read: "The Soviet Government expects the Norwegian Government will not delay measures to deprive Trotsky refuge in the Norwegian territory."

There was no indication, however, that the Soviet Government had demanded the exile's return to Russia. The note made plain Norway's refusal would prejudice good relations between the two governments and would be considered a violation of international law.

Great Year Urged Of Local Elks By Fraternity Officer

W. M. Carter, newly-appointed district deputy grand exalted ruler, Florida West, last night urged local Elks to make 1936-37 a banner year. In an address before the Sanford organization, he pointed out the Florida clubs should be inspired to better work, because the state is the home of Dave Sholtz, new grand exalted ruler of Elkdom. A second address of the evening was delivered by Ashley P. Haggard, a Chicago civil engineer and former local resident, who spoke on patriotism.

Pariah Of Oceans En Route To Spain

SAINT NAZAIRE, France, Aug. 29.—(AP)—The homeward-bound liner Cristobal Colon, a pariah of the sea, sailed early today for Spain. The leftist control committee, the name adopted by stokers and seamen who accept or reject the captain's commands, had decided last night another attempt would be made to run the gauntlet of rebel warships patrolling Spanish waters. The control committee favors the Spanish socialist Madrid government and fears that if the vessel were sighted by rebel warships the committee would no longer have a voice in the ship's command.

Black Widow, Grasshopper Meet In Battle Of Death

Spider Entwines Green Insect In Glass Prison At Sheriff's Office As Six Are Spellbound

By PAT PATTERSON
A battle of life and death between a black widow spider and a spiny, strong grasshopper held an audience of six spellbound in the sheriff's office this morning. The black, little insect of death spining like a well-trained boxer, almost miraculously dodged the strong and stunning blows directed at her by the hopper as she entwined the doomed green-winged creature in a mass of webbing. Apparently realizing the potential danger which lay in the grasshopper's rear legs, the spider's first operation was to pinion them above the insect's back. This she did by cleverly darting in at opportune moments and with lightning-like rapidity whipping a strand of web around the green bug's feet.

Sinclair Dealers Ready For Contest Beginning Sept. 1

Seminole County Sinclair dealers last night laid preliminary plans for the football-score-guessing contest which will get into effect throughout the nation on Sept. 12 and continue for 11 weeks. The session was held in the Chamber of Commerce building. Each week the person guessing the largest number of correct football scores of certain important games will be awarded an automobile. There are 120 other weekly prizes, including radios, footballs and silk hosiery. A motion picture designed to cover the contest details completely was exhibited before county dealers.

Unidentified Ship Asks For Assistance

WEST PALM BEACH, Aug. 29.—(AP)—The Naval Radio Station at Balboa, Canal Zone, broadcast last night a request for assistance for an unidentified vessel adrift off the coast of Colombia with 50 passengers aboard. Position of the boat was given as 20 miles northeast of San Mateo, Colombia. It was said to be about five miles off the coast. The broadcast message was signed by "Lieutenant Earl." It did not name the vessel, nor did it tell the nature of the difficulty. The radiomarine station here picked up the message and relayed it. It was designed to reach all ships in the vicinity.

Franklin Bennett Attains Honors At State University

Franklin Bennett, local student at the University of Florida is here for the week end with his parents. Young Bennett is one of the most outstanding students at the university, and has been awarded several high honors on the campus. For the coming year he has been chosen as editor-in-chief of the Seminole, the University's year book and manager of the Gators, the college football team. The first honor is the highest literary honor that can be awarded to a student on the campus and carries with it the distinction of being in popular vote of the student body. As manager of the football team, Mr. Bennett will be in charge of arranging games, the time and date, and will be solely responsible for purchasing equipment to be used by the squad. Besides these accomplishments, the local youth is a member of the Phi Kappa Tau social fraternity and several other important social and honorary organizations on the campus.

State Ranks 30th Central Power Unit

Although Florida's 30th annual state of the nation in number of farms, it ranks 25th in the use of central station electricity, according to preliminary figures received here today from A. J. Spencer, vice-director of the state agricultural extension service. Yesterday Mr. Spencer called attention of Seminole County farmers to the advantages to be derived from opportunities offered under the rural electrification act of 1936. Mr. Spencer pointed out that Florida ranks 25th among the states in percentage of farms served by central station electricity. Only 5,096 of the 72,857 farms in the state, or 7.8 percent, were receiving the advantages of electricity at the end of 1935.

Legion Posts Plan To Unveil Safety Signs On Sept. 1

American Legion posts in many sections of the state will unveil highway safety posters at 11 A. M. Sept. 1, according to press dispatches received here today from A. L. Frank, state safety director. A part of the day's program will be a radio address by Gov. Dave Sholtz from WTAL, Tallahassee. Others to speak are Harry Johnston, state Legion commander at West Palm Beach, and Mrs. Elsie Gibbs, state president of the Legion Auxiliary.

Franklin Bennett Attains Honors At State University

Franklin Bennett, local student at the University of Florida is here for the week end with his parents. Young Bennett is one of the most outstanding students at the university, and has been awarded several high honors on the campus. For the coming year he has been chosen as editor-in-chief of the Seminole, the University's year book and manager of the Gators, the college football team. The first honor is the highest literary honor that can be awarded to a student on the campus and carries with it the distinction of being in popular vote of the student body. As manager of the football team, Mr. Bennett will be in charge of arranging games, the time and date, and will be solely responsible for purchasing equipment to be used by the squad. Besides these accomplishments, the local youth is a member of the Phi Kappa Tau social fraternity and several other important social and honorary organizations on the campus.

State Ranks 30th Central Power Unit

Although Florida's 30th annual state of the nation in number of farms, it ranks 25th in the use of central station electricity, according to preliminary figures received here today from A. J. Spencer, vice-director of the state agricultural extension service. Yesterday Mr. Spencer called attention of Seminole County farmers to the advantages to be derived from opportunities offered under the rural electrification act of 1936. Mr. Spencer pointed out that Florida ranks 25th among the states in percentage of farms served by central station electricity. Only 5,096 of the 72,857 farms in the state, or 7.8 percent, were receiving the advantages of electricity at the end of 1935.

Unidentified Ship Asks For Assistance

WEST PALM BEACH, Aug. 29.—(AP)—The Naval Radio Station at Balboa, Canal Zone, broadcast last night a request for assistance for an unidentified vessel adrift off the coast of Colombia with 50 passengers aboard. Position of the boat was given as 20 miles northeast of San Mateo, Colombia. It was said to be about five miles off the coast. The broadcast message was signed by "Lieutenant Earl." It did not name the vessel, nor did it tell the nature of the difficulty. The radiomarine station here picked up the message and relayed it. It was designed to reach all ships in the vicinity.

Pariah Of Oceans En Route To Spain

SAINT NAZAIRE, France, Aug. 29.—(AP)—The homeward-bound liner Cristobal Colon, a pariah of the sea, sailed early today for Spain. The leftist control committee, the name adopted by stokers and seamen who accept or reject the captain's commands, had decided last night another attempt would be made to run the gauntlet of rebel warships patrolling Spanish waters. The control committee favors the Spanish socialist Madrid government and fears that if the vessel were sighted by rebel warships the committee would no longer have a voice in the ship's command.

U.S. Interior Department Shows Annual School Cost

Seminole County Expense Of Education Is Half That Of Nation's Average, Or $45.81 Per Year

With the opening of Seminole County's 1936-37 school term less than a month in the future, parents might be casting an eye toward the expense of education to ask: "How much does it cost to send my child to school for one year?"

In this county, the annual per pupil cost is $45.81 for the 1935-36 term. The U. S. Department of Interior statistics show the average costs throughout the nation is $90.18, based on data collected from 312 city school systems.

Expense of schooling in Seminole County is above the average of the state, according to figures obtained locally. Breaking down the total cost of the nation's average the Department of Interior finds that the expense of giving a child well-trained teachers, proper supervision, school libraries, up-to-date text books and many supplies needed in the modern school-room amounts to $71.92 per annum. Half of that would apply to the local situation.

The "average" citizen pays $20.27 per year for engineers, janitors, other school building employees, fuel, heat and water. Maintenance costs, including that new roof or the new coat of paint on the inside of the school-room, run to $12.99 per year, based on the national average.

With the remaining $5.80 the average city school system manages to provide additional funds for transportation of the child to and from school if the distance is too great for walking. Maintenance costs, including that new roof or the new coat of paint on the inside of the school-room, run to $12.99 per year, based on the national average.

Higher school costs usually indicate better school facilities, better standards of instruction and superior school service," the department asserts.

Government Ammunition Running Low; Revolutionists Face Machine Guns

Europe Worries Over Conflict

Diplomatists Seek To 'Humanize' Strife By Official Note

(By The Associated Press) Aerial bombs exploded in downtown Madrid today in the first successful air raid on the city proper.

Several persons were wounded as the bombs shattered windows but did little actual damage to buildings in the city. Previously government war planes repulsed a rebel attempt to bomb the capital.

The successful raid was the sixth attempt made by Rebels this week. On the northern front, casualties were estimated at "thousands" as Rebel forces stormed Fort San Marcial, key to the City of Iron.

Government forces, admitting their ammunition was running low after the fourth day of fighting in that sector, kept their machine guns trained on Rebel redoubts.

All of Europe continued to worry over possibilities that Spain's civil war may not be kept confined to present boundaries.
