Farnum "Found Dead"

There is one scene in which William Farnum, the star, in "The Wonderful Adventure," a William Fox feature, is supposed to be dead on his bed. It was necessary for him to lie perfectly still, in a cramped position for five steady minutes. Such perfect control has he of all his muscles that as he lay there on the bed of the little hall bedroom in which he is supposed to have died, that there was not so much as the flicker of an eyelid. Not even the twitching of a muscle of the neck, throat or in fact of any part of the body.

It will be conceded by the general public when they witness this remarkable picture, that Mr. Farnum never before appeared to such extreme advantage. The above will be at the Star Wednesday.

pull straws in which contest Mrs. Venable won the prize and the theatre was duly christened the Lyric.

The Norene St. Clair presented for the evening's enjoyment the great play, "The White Sister," and it was most satisfying to the people present.

Each lady was presented with a carnation at the door, the little maidens, the Witten-sisters and Madam Holly and Lettice Jones distributing them at the doors.

The manager of the stock company called upon Manager Ed Lane after repeated calls for him had been made and he was forced to give an impromptu address, in which he thanked the people for their support of the new enterprise and promised to give them something good in the amusement line.

A. R. Keay, A. D. Roots and O. L. Taylor acted as judges of the contest in which the name was chosen, all of them being bank cashiers, the contest, of course, conducted in a honest manner and with perfect satisfaction to all.

The opening was very pleasant after and was greatly enjoyed by the many people present.

The Price of Malice

With Hamilton Revelle in the stellar role and pretty Barbara Terrian featured, "The Price of Malice," on Metro wonderplay will be presented here at the Star. The attraction, thus far, has been gripping acts and unfolds a story, tension and suspense, thrills and adventure. There is a strong supporting cast including William Davy, Helen Dunbar and other notable players.

Opened New Theatre

The new Lyric Theatre, located across the street from the old, opened last Friday night with a Grand Opening, the curtain being raised on the "Red Moon" of John D. Phillips, featuring 20 per cent of the running of the new feature, and when the curtain closed on 100 people presented were canvassed it was found that Mr. Venable and Miss Clara Phillips had the same name, the Lyric said it was decided to

Pretty Birthday Party

Little Miss Margaret Miller celebrated her eighth birthday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Miller Monday afternoon, with a charming party on the lawn. The hours passed quickly on the wing of pleasure, the little folks having great sport, playing games and romps. The decorations were confined to the dining room, which was lovely with its pretty green and red color scheme. Graceful ferns stood in pots draped with red, while ribbons of red reached from the center of the room to the corners overhead. The sideboard mirror gave back the reflection of broad bands of red, tastefully arranged across the front. The table, which was extended full length was unusually pretty with its white cover and red roses. In the center, upon the reflector a huge bowl of red roses was surrounded by white and yellow Easter eggs, while the favors were red roses filled with heart shaped candies and a white candle. Beside each place was an Easter egg. The birthday cake was a beautiful conception of culinary art, in red and white icing. Margaret's name and age was traced upon the base of the cake, for this important feature of the party was four stories and very lovely. Coral plant and red lilies in brilliant masses, completed the effective decorations in the room. The little girls in this happy occasion were Gladys, and Irene, Dorothy, Louise, Alice, Helen, Marie, and Gladys Steiner, Margaret Peters, Earl Dossey, Hattie and Sarah Lewis, Irene and Calvin McGraham, Virgin Horne Hyman, Margaret Ferende Lee, Tom Brother Earl Thompson and John Miller.

SEMINOLE BONDS SELL DESPITE WAR

BARNETT BANK PAYS BIG PREMIUM FOR SOME

With approximately thirty five representatives of bond houses in attendance and some twenty bids, the road bonds of Seminole county were sold yesterday afternoon to the highest bidder, at the court house, at 1 p.m.

The sale yesterday was most satisfactory in every particular. The bonds sold higher than was anticipated, the price of $261,775 for the sale of $250,000 or approximately $1,000 per ton.

The high price at which these bonds were sold should give the citizens of the country cause for rejoicing. It means that there will be over $1,000 more money for road work than was anticipated.

It is evident that the capitalists of the country are in earnest in their efforts to help the Seminoles. The sale of the bonds will go far to help the Seminoles in their efforts to help the Seminoles.

General Pershing's camp at the front in Mexico, April 15.—(Via aeroplane to Columbus, N. M., April 20).—American aeroplanes have been fired upon several times by Mexicans and in at least one case the assailants were Carranza soldiers.

Washington, D. C., April 21.—Major Gen. Hugh L. Scott, chief of staff of the army was on his way today to the border, as the personal representative of Secretary of War Baker, to report on the military problems confronting General Funston.

General Scott's report, on which the Washington government's final action on General Carranza's request that the American expeditionary forces in Mexico be recalled, probably will depend to a great extent, is not expected until a week or ten days. Meanwhile, no definite course of action is needed unless further outbreaks against the American army force immediate steps. Reporters who were expected to leave today on some of the questions involved in the forthcoming report to Carranza advised the press here before leaving that they would be delayed.

Washington, April 22.—Anxious to learn of General Funston's headquarters, Fred Langley of the Associated Press, and the Associated General South Commission is to obtain a clear view of the situation there could be gotten in official reports.

Before his departure last night, General Scott said he did not expect to go into Mexico to observe the situation, as he had no world

McKay is Elected

Tampa, April 20.—T. B. McKay was re-elected mayor of Tampa, defeating Frank C. Bowyer, the reform candidate by a majority of 546 votes. Watson, the reform candidate for municipal judge was elected over Cohen, incumbent, by a majority of 300. The results in Ybor City wards may be contested.

McKay, who is owner and editor of the Tampa Times has been mayor several terms, and a bitter fight against the administration ticket was made by the reform element which nominated Bowyer.

Wicker-Jennings

The following from the Richmond News Leader will be interesting, as the Wicker family resided here for many years:

"A pretty wedding took place last Saturday in the parlors of the officiating minister, the Rev. J. J. Wicker, pastor of Leigh street Baptist church, when Miss Alice Jennings became the bride of Lawrence Pope Wicker. Mr. Wicker is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Wicker, an employee as foreman in the American Locomotive Works. After a sojourn in the north Mr. and Mrs. Wicker will make their home in this city."

Will Come Back

The many friends here of T. R. Andrews were glad to see him here last week. "He was looking over his home place, Shell Mound on Celery avenue and expects to come back here in the fall with his family and settle down here for life. He has been living for the past year at his home in the state of Maine."

MARY PICKFORD

As "Factory Girl" at Star Tonight

More trapping and dragnetting in the photoplay in which Mary Pickford has ever appeared in the famous Players Paramount pictures. "The Eternal Grind" in which she stars as an overworked little drifter of the swing machine, whose inanity and personality compel admiration as well as sympathy. Can anything be better than the girl in Mary Pickford's notable series? Personating it is her personation of the character of Mary, the factory girl in which she strikes a new and compelling note of power.

The story of this production concerns Mary, Amy and Jane, three sisters, who work together in a factory owned by James Wharton and live in the direst poverty. Upon Mary's shoulders doing nothing the greater part of the time. A too sentimental director finished the third of two part picture and then decided to do it all over again. His ambition proved such for him and he became a victim of alcohol.
