This is the first time since 1927 that a girls' basketball team has represented Seminole High School.
The last girls' team was captained
by Mrs. Herman Morris, then known as Gladys Stemper. Rebecca Stevens played center for the team that year. The activity was abolished in 1934. The Principal's Conference of the Florida State Athletic Association,
during the 1927 season, the Seminole team won five of its seven games.

The two basketball games at the Seminole High School auditorium Friday night were witnessed by the largest crowd
we can ever remember at a tilt here in Sanford. We certainly trust that during the remaining home games of the season the Feds will be given such grand support.

During the football season,
there were two youngsters by the name of Sparkman and McNab
at Seminole High. These boys went out for football because they loved the game. They put everything they had into the sport during the year day after day. They were hailed by the whole student body and other Fed fans for their courage and spirit. Why? Because it's doubtful if their total weight together would exceed 170 pounds. Some people, including ourselves, thought notably that Sparkman and McNab were in a class by themselves. But we were wrong! Friday night the dust became a quartet. Two more youngsters pushed and fought their way into the select group and into the hearts of the large crowd at the high school who watched St.
Augustine down the Fed basketball team. Their names? Well, you've probably guessed them by now if you were there. Clyde Bowen and Floyd Swain, two sophomores, proved that they had enough ability to mix up it with the best of them, and regardless of their size, Coach George Mc-Clelland put varsity uniforms on varied thoroughly as both boys represented. McClelland's judgment was performed like veterans. They were handicapped in two definite departments. You see, both kids are only 5 feet six inches tall.

Bowen weighs only 106 pounds, while Bowen weighs the beams at 128. Both are only 15 years old.
And the two of them gave the lanky Mulletts plenty of fight.
Our derby goes off to Clyde Bowen and Floyd Swain.

We've received a story from the Associated Press that we think is one of the best yarns ever related in connection with the late Judge Landis, czar of major league baseball.
Judge Landis was noted for his stern rule of players. But under his grim manner the Judge had a keen sense of humor and understanding.

Associates of the Judge like to tell about the time he was hearing the case of Bill De-Lancey, the St. Louis catcher who had been involved in a heated argument over strikes with umpire Brick Owens in the World Series.
The Judge asked, "Young man, what did you say to him
when he called the first strike?"
DeLancey looked the Judge straight in the eye and started explaining, "Well, you see, was upset. I stepped out of the box and said, 'Why you old blind son of a so-and-so, can't you see the ball!'"
"On the third strike," De-Lancey continued, "I was good,
and had I said, 'OY at the alrighten, loney so-and-so, you are the limit.' And with that he checked me out of the game."
The Judge was convulsed with

Augustine defeated George Mc-
Clelland's Seminole High School
Celery Fed cage five Friday night by a score of 33 to 19
at the school auditorium.

The Mulletts, who proved to be a group of tall, rangy and experienced men, opened their attack in the first period when Clarence Sellers and Arnold Fagan dropped in two field goals.
Just before the end of the stanza, Fagan netted another to give the Mulletts a 6 to 0 lead.

The Feds, unable to penetrate the Mullett defense during the first period, scored three field goals and two free shots when Don Dyess sent the ball through the basket twice. Vern Clark netted one and Dyess took advantage of two free shots and sank them both. The Mulletts, however, scored 12 points during the period when Bill Kirkwood netted two field goals while Sellers, George Edminston, Fag-
an and Hartley tallied one each.

Ketterlinus racked up nine more points in the third quarter when Sellers, Fagan, Hartley and Edminston called a field goal each and Edminston sank a free shot.
The Feds were held to five points, two field goals by Dyess
and a free shot by Clark.

With the score 22 to 12 at the beginning of the fourth and final quarter, Edminston of the Mulletts dropped in two field goals
from under the basket while sinking a free shot along with Hartley. Dyess came back with three fast field goals to bring the final Fed points to 19 while the game ended with the Mulletts
in the lead with 33 points.

Dyess of the Feds was the outstanding offensive man of the evening with 16 of the 19 Celery Fed points, while second honors went to Edminston who gathered in four field goals and two free shots for ten points.

General Kenny Differs With U.S. Delegates

Military Advisor Urges Continued Control Of Pacific Islands Of Value

LONDON, Jan. 15, (AP)—United States delegates to the United Nations general assembly are disclosed to be at odds with their special military adviser over the future status of American-conquered islands in the Pacific.

Official sources have disclosed that the delegates favor placing the islands under United States military control. The special military adviser, General George Kenny, is urging that the United States Government retain control of all islands that have military value. General Kenny's position reflects the previously expressed opinion of American military men that the United States never should have to reconquer strategic islands won with American blood in the Pacific.

Observers say that if General Kenny insists upon his point of view, the question will come before the State Department and the War Department. President Truman might be obliged to settle the point.

The State Department takes the view that the United States has secured at the San Francisco Conference to the plan of placing territory wrested from the enemy under UNO trusteeship. It is felt in State Department quarters that the United States should not set a precedent for other nations by withholding the Pacific islands from the trusteeship program. Under the trusteeship plan one or more nations are to administer territories placed under UNO control. The United States would be one of the nations administering the islands, but the United States would have immediate control of them.

Today, police officers had to take a second look to recognize Thomas in civilian clothes, and everyone both at the police department and at the Sheriff's office, including State Highway man L. C. Bender, shook hands with him and stated they regretted that he was leaving.

Mr. Thomas also said he is leaving Sanford and is going to Glenwater to resume his former occupation as a city patrolman.

Eisenhower Reassures Congress On Demobilization Issue Today

Says Enlisted Men With 45 Points Or 30 Months Service Will Be Released Or Headed For Separation By April 30

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15, (AP)—General Dwight Eisenhower reassured Congress on the demobilization issue today. The general promised that by April 30 every enlisted man who has 45 points or 30 months' service will either be out of the Army or bound for a separation center.

In addition, the general said, every enlisted man with 40 points or two years of service will be discharged, or in the process of being discharged, by July 1. Fifty points or three and a half years' service now are required for release.

The general said the points are to be computed on the basis of last Sept. 2. Likewise he said the April 30 and July 1 dates do not apply to men in the service who volunteered.

The Senators and Representatives heard Eisenhower at an informal meeting at the Congressional Library. They were told that the Army's organization will collapse "if it demobilizes too fast. The Army Chief of Staff said the recently announced slowdown in demobilization was made necessary to prevent the Army from being depleted by March 1.

Electrical Workers Begin Strike Today

Walkout Affects 75 Electrical Manufacturing Companies In 16 States

NEW YORK, Jan. 15, (AP)—A nationwide strike shutting down the electrical manufacturing goods industry at 75 plants in 16 states today was called by the CIO United Electrical Workers, whose 200,000 members are walking out in a wage dispute.

Start of the strike was announced at 5:30 this morning, Eastern Standard Time, by Union President Albert J. Fitzgerald. He did not immediately announce the areas where picket lines would be established before plants of the General Electric, Westinghouse and General Motors Companies.

The states in which GE, GM or Westinghouse plants are located are California, Connecticut, Illinois, Indiana, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Wisconsin, Maryland, West Virginia and Kentucky.

The concerns affected by the walkout manufacture a wide variety of household appliances, including electric light bulbs, washing machines, radios and refrigerators. They also make electrical equipment for industrial use.

The electrical workers originally demanded a pay boost of $2.00 a day and a 10 per cent increase in strike if the demands were not met.

But shortly before the start of the strike, Fitzgerald said the union was prepared to accept an increase of 15 cents an hour from Westinghouse and a 10-cent increase from GE. He said this figure had been offered to CIO steelworkers by the United States Steel Corporation in the case of General Motors. Fitzgerald said the electrical workers had a 12 1/2 per cent increase a settlement recommended by a fact-finding board in the General Motors wage dispute with the CIO auto workers.

However, GM stood by its refusal to offer to pay 10 per cent more per hour. Westinghouse offered to up its work week from 40 to 45 hours, with no increase in its pay scale. GE offered 10 cents more an hour and workers making less than $1 an hour to go on strike. The union rejected these offers and Fitzgerald said the strike was called because of what he termed the companies' refusal to pay the higher wage demands.

The union's entire membership is to go out on strike. Already 10,000 workers at the GE plant in Schenectady, N.Y., have walked out and the picket lines are being established.

Kimmel Makes Statement To Investigators

Says War Warning Message Received From Adm. Stark Was Misleading

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15, (AP)—Rear Admiral Husband Kimmel has submitted a 25,000 word statement in defense of his actions as Commander in Chief of the fleet at the time of the Pearl Harbor attack. The statement was submitted today to the joint Congressional Committee investigating the Japanese surprise assault on Dec. 7, 1941.

Kimmel's testimony has placed him in direct opposition to much of the previous evidence offered by Admiral Harold Stark, who was Chief of Naval Operations at the time. The retired Pacific commander charged that Naval officials in Washington had withheld information which he said might have made Pearl Harbor an ambush for the Japs. Kimmel contended that the so-called war warning message sent him by Stark ten days before the attack was misleading. It was this message which Stark earlier testified he considered a fiction to alert the Fleet to a war base that Kimmel's statement asserted that no reasonable man could have been expected to consider that Stark's message was intended to suggest the likelihood of an attack in the Hawaiian area.

Admiral Kimmel also contended that he was not given information available in Washington from intercepted Japanese messages. He claimed that these messages told when and where Japan probably would strike. He further stated that even though such information was withheld, the Navy should have sent specific instructions to the fleet to be on alert when possible.

Kimmel said that had he possessed Washington's intercepted Japanese communications, he would have considered changing his plans as to ambush the enemy force. Kimmel also asserted that if he had known what Washington knew he would have ordered the fleet to search for the enemy, but lacking such knowledge, he had kept his vessels in the harbor where he thought they would be safer from an attack than at sea without carrier support.

200 To 300 Coal Workers Trapped By Mine Blast

Crews Of Rescue Men Succeed In Extricating 75 Miners

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15, (AP)—An official of the Bureau of Mines said today that 200 to 300 miners were trapped in a mine near Welch, W. Va., where a blast occurred today. The official, David Harrington, said five are known to be dead and 15 have been taken to hospitals.

Welch workers have succeeded in extricating at least 75 men, some of them badly injured, from the blast-shattered workings of the coal mine near Welch, W. Va. Officials estimate that 250 to 300 men were trapped in the mine when a powerful blast deep in the workings took the lives of at least 15 men and injured many others.

Leshner Submits Resignation As Zoning Board Head

The City Commission at its meeting last evening accepted Les Leshner's resignation, effective Jan. 1, as chairman of the Zoning Board of Adjustment. Edward Higgins was appointed to fill his place.

Norman Hughes, supervisor of the Sanford Transit Company, appeared before the Commission and stated that due to complaints of merchants, the bus stop on Park Avenue could be abandoned starting next Monday and that new stops and routes would be figured out, and will be announced soon.

Another Clothesline Robbery Is Reported

Judging from police reports of late, hanging clothes out to dry at night is a sure way of being burgled, especially ladies' undergarments, according to Police Chief Roy Williams. Today there was another report at police headquarters of a clothesline robbery of lingerie in the neighborhood of Twelfth Street and Magnolia Avenue.

Several large industrial firms in the surrounding area have offered all possible help to the 20-year-old soldier. A mass protest meeting was held last night in the Wallington municipal center. The Army and Navy Union of the United States has sent a petition to President Truman asking him to intervene in the case. Announcement of the petition was made by James M. Callahan, national historian of the union.

COMMITTED IN TOKYO

What Of The Future?

Bank statements published recently in The Herald disclosed the largest accumulations of deposits in the history of this county.

Taken together the two banks have increased their deposits $8,400,000 since the war began.

Where did all this money come from? In planning the future of Sanford it is well for us not to deceive ourselves about this matter.

To say that this vast sum of money now in the hands of the people is the direct result of wartime prosperity may be putting it a little bluntly.

The location here of the Sanford Naval Air Station with its enormous payroll and some two thousand Navy men many of whom brought their families here.

Now that the war is over much of the activity which brought in most of this cash has been, or soon will be, curtailed or terminated altogether.

The time is not far away when Sanford will sink, or swim, by its own efforts or lack of them.

We do not need to cite the example of Miami, once smaller than Sanford, now a metropolis of some 200,000 people as the role result of its tourist business.

We need to build more houses of modern and attractive design to rent to winter visitors.

Such a program, financed by private as well as public funds, would contribute greatly to the attractions which we have to offer tourists.

Considerable emphasis is being placed upon ability to pay in the current wage negotiations.

Four Discharges At 18 Years Of Age Make A Vet

BALTIMORE—Love of excitement and a bad case of hay fever got Donald J. Robbins four discharges from three different branches of the armed forces at the age of 18—two from the Navy, and one each from the Coast Guard and the Army.

He enlisted in the submarine service at 18 and was sent to submarine school at New London, Conn. Things went fine for six months—practice escapes with a kerosene tank, practice dives in the school's old R-type submarine of excitement.

Then, "somebody squeaked," Donald lamented. "They told me to re-enlist in six months when I turned 17."

He nine days later Donald was wearing a Coast Guard uniform. As his unit prepared to ship overseas, a last-minute check disclosed again that he was too young.

Mrs. C. P. Henderson, speaker, asked the question: "What is a garden without birds?" She said: "It seems to me that birds are synonymous with peace, just as flowers are. Nowhere do we see a cognize - a happy place without flowers and birds. So it behooves us now, with this wonderful new chance of world peace, to look for and to encourage the appearance of peace and happiness. Just as surely as we cannot be happy without appearing to be so it is true that we cannot appear to be happy unless we really are." What is a garden without birds? It is like a poem without words.

Efforts Of OPA Officials Praised By District Head

JACKSONVILLE, Jan. 15. (Special)—Seminole Countians who began their fifth year of service on OPA Price Control Boards this month were lauded today by OPA District Director Roy M. Coffey for their work in the past year.

Board members who gave so untiringly of their time and energy to the rationing of scarce commodities are the people who made price and rationing programs a fine example of American Democracy," Coffey asserted.

OPA continues to need the assistance of unpaid volunteers on local boards to meet the tremendous inflationary threat that is many times greater now than it was after World War I, Coffey said.

Reviewing the history of the organization of local boards, he related that immediately following Pearl Harbor, each government was asked to set up an organization to ration tires in his state by January 6, 1942.

Less than one month after the war began, he continued, approximately 7,500 local rationing boards, manned by 20,000 volunteer workers, were receiving applications and issuing ration certificates for tires.

This original army of 20,000 volunteers soon increased to 76,000 and another 200,000 men and women volunteered to assist the local boards, regularly, he said.

These volunteers—merchants, bankers, factory workers, doctors, housewives, high school boys and girls, teachers, office workers, and farmers—gave a splendid account of their time on a regular weekly schedule.

With everything but sugar now off the rationing list, OPA has changed the official name of its local organizations to Area Price Control Boards, Coffey explained.

Coffey stressed that while goods are scarce and in great demand these Price Control Boards will need the support of the volunteers who worked so efficiently on price control during the war.

SURPLUS GOODS
To pass on the benefits of low priced sales of government surplus property to consumers, OPA officials from the national, regional, and district offices met in Jacksonville this week to map out a program of effective price control on these commodities.

Conferences are being held with government disposal and owners agencies to determine the most effective methods of maintaining price controls on sales of surplus goods, he added. Price Controls already exist on most surplus items.

Chinese Factions Claim Each Other Violating Truce

CHUNGKING, Jan. 15. (AP)—The Chinese Nationalists and Communists renewed charges yesterday that each was violating the truce in their undeclared civil war. Hostilities were supposed to have ceased last midnight.

A government spokesman asserted today that Communists today increased their operations instead of observing the "cease fire order."

The Communists were accused by the government spokesman of burning villages all along the eastern section of the Lunghai railway.

The Chinese Communists issued counter-charges and maintained Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek's troops also were continuing operations.

However, there was hope the situation was not as serious as it appeared. Chungking observers said it was likely some of the troops in the field might not have received truce instructions as yet.

Meanwhile, a dispatch from Associated Press correspondent Richard Cushing in Shanghai said Chinese students demonstrated in the streets today against the presence of American troops in China. The dispatch said the students shouted to American troops "Why don't you go home?" and voiced demands for the establishment of a democratic China and the withdrawal of all American forces.

Student leaders asserted the Shanghai demonstration was part of a nationwide movement.

Police are still conducting an intensive man-hunt for the brutal slayer who broke into the little girl's bedroom, kidnaped her, and brutally dismembered her body after killing her.

HERE IS A DRAWING by Architect Lorenzo S. Winslow showing a proposed extension (right) to the White House which will add 15,000 feet of airy office floor space to accommodate executive assistants to the President. A $1,650,000 appropriation by Congress will also provide for an auditorium with facilities for formal ceremonies, radio broadcasts, receptions, and banquets.

Famed Indian Jim Thorpe Was Also Good Blacksmith

AP Newfeatures. CARLISLE, Pa.—Indian Jim Thorpe, whose athletic prowess is still a favorite topic of discussion where ever sports followers gather, was also a good blacksmith.

Authority is William C. Shambaugh, 72-year-old blacksmith at the Army's medical field service school at Carlisle.

THE PAPER shopping bag may become one of the key clues to the solution of the sadistic kidnap-murder of six-year-old Suzanne Degnan, found in a sewer near the city's tennis courts, it established the name "Frank" (arrow) was printed on the bag.

Climaxing day-long demonstrations at Port-au-Prince, President Elie Lescot of Haiti was forced to resign. A three-man military junta took over the government after six persons were reported killed and one hundred injured in the disorders. Lescot had been president for about five years.

Fact-Finding Plan Used In Puerto Rico Since 1942

By LESLIE HIGLEY WASHINGTON. A plan like President Truman's proposal to appoint fact-finding boards in industrial strife is already operating under the American flag in Puerto Rico. According to Rexford Tugwell, governor of the island, it works "very well."

The plan was put into practice in 1942 under the sponsorship of Tugwell and the Popular Democratic party as a means of checking wide-scale labor-management disputes over wages and working conditions. It is based on:

1. A Minimum Wage Board composed of five members—two representing labor, two management and one the public—to investigate labor troubles and establish minimum wages in accordance with industrial and regional requirements. Not all industries and all areas have the same type of wages.

2. A Labor Relations Board to negotiate on a voluntary basis between labor and management.

Board's Decree Final. This is how the set-up operates: Labor demands higher wages and sits down to negotiate with management. In the event bargaining fails, a strike is the next step.

The government, through its minimum wage board, offers its cooperation. The parties submit their case to investigation by the board.

A committee of experts including representatives of labor and management is appointed. It surveys the conditions of the industry involved and the workers' living standard, living cost etc. If the fact-finding survey reveals that wages can be increased, the board so decrees. The order has the weight of law.

A clause in the act which created the board gives it power to make any wage increase retroactive to that day on which the union involved called off a strike to submit the case to investigation.

The Labor Relations Board has special jurisdiction over industries which are called public utilities—electric power, transportation, communications, hospitals etc. It is empowered on all questions including wages.

In the case of an industry which has not been investigated by the Minimum Wage Board, a survey is made and wage rates established. If this has been done previously, the Labor Relations Board arbitrates and issues an opinion.

A rejection of this opinion by labor or management is not possible because prior to arbitration both parties have agreed to accept the board's final decision.

Strike Tested Plan. The plan had its first real test during an island-wide sugar workers' strike in 1942. That strike threatened to ruin many small farmers just as they began their harvesting season.

The strike was called, and the matter was turned over to the Minimum Wage Board. After a six-month fact-finding survey, wages were increased by about half of what workers were demanding but retroactive to the day they called off their strike.

At the beginning labor unions opposed the government scheme and Tugwell, calling the chief executive a reactionary, now labor as well as management have praised the set-up and commended its sponsors.

At a recent conference with President Truman, Governor Tugwell told Mr. Truman briefly of the similarity between his proposal and what has been in operation in Puerto Rico for some time.

Emerging from the White House, Tugwell said: "If it has worked in Puerto Rico I do not see why it should not work here."

Dated Feb. 22, 1942, the letter protested: "In all justice" the (Navy) department should do nothing further to inflame the public against me."

It goes on to declare: "My conviction before the public has about reached the limit. I am in daily receipt of letters from irresponsible people over the country taking me to task and even threatening to kill me." The Kansas answer was that nothing can be done by government agencies because of the loss of Nationality by the Act of 1940.
