County OKs Wekiva subdivision

By Bill Kerns

WEKIVA - The Seminole County Commission approved a 300-home subdivision just outside the Wekiva Protection Area, despite the objections of dozens of home owners in attendance at the special session Tuesday night.

The neighbors said rezoning 90 acres off Orange Boulevard and Ohio and Indiana Avenues for the Chapman project proposed by the CFG Real Estate Group would rob them of their rural lifestyle.

"We all chose this area of Seminole County because of the agricultural and rural zoning," resident Diane Voss of Michigan Avenue said. "If our area falls, then others fall also. If you approve this, there will be the perception that once again, he who holds the dollar holds the power."

Neighbors and environmentalists said will scare off wildlife, damage the environment, and risk flooding. Neighbors said increased population will bring crime, and brighter lights will hamper their view of the night sky. They said the development would lower their property values, increase noise.

"I feel as I sit here you don't listen to us," resident David Scott, who lives on Michigan Avenue, said. "This is not reasonable, not in that area."

The new homes will range in price from $110,000 to $250,000, with an average cost of $170,000, according to William Cole of CFG.

The commission approved up to four single-family units per acre for the development. Surrounding Suburban Estates permits a maximum of one dwelling per acre.

Developers said the new homes will fit in with area trends.

Neighbors from Suburban Estates said their

Police release tapes in Sanford double murder

By Bill Kerns

STAFF WRITER

SANFORD - The Sanford Police Department has released portions of the 911 call placed by Richard Lynch as he spoke with a police dispatcher from the Rosecliff Apartments on March 5.

Lynch, 45, fatally shot former girlfriend Roseanna Morgan, 29, and her 13-year old daughter Leah Caday after holding Leah in apartment 534 for about 45 minutes, police said. Lynch surrendered to police after more than a 90-minute standoff.

"I'm very, very frightened right now," Lynch told the dispatcher.

Police say Lynch called the dispatcher at 5:45 p.m. The two talked until a Seminole County sheriff's hostage negotiator took over. Lynch surrendered after SWAT team members removed the bodies of the mother and daughter from the apartment.

The dispatcher stayed on the line with Lynch as shots were fired and the door was barricaded.

"Jesus, oh my god," Lynch said.

When officers arrived at the Rosecliff Apartments off Lake Mary Boulevard at 5:19 p.m., they noticed blood in front of apartment 534. Officers were notified that there were two people injured. Lynch heard the police approach while listening to a police scanner.

"What we have now is we have a call with shots fired," the dispatcher said.

According to police records, when Morgan opened the door to her apartment Lynch told her to come inside. Morgan refused and stayed outside. Lynch later told police that as the two spoke, his 9 mm semi-automatic pistol accidentally discharged, striking Morgan in the leg.

Lynch told police the gun accidentally fired a second time, striking Morgan again. Lynch told police that as he attempted to put the gun down, it accidentally fired a third time, hitting Leah in the back.

Lynch told investigators he dragged Morgan inside, picked up a .38 caliber revolver, and fired it into the back of Morgan's head in "an attempt to end her suffering," the police report said.

Lynch is married with a wife and two young boys, age two and six. He told the dispatcher he wanted to talk with his wife again, and to be able to visit with his sons in prison.

Lynch told the dispatcher his wife used to page him to say "you know, I love you and I want you." He said they used to have a code when she paged him. He also said "but she is very, she has a temper."

Lynch called his wife from Morgan's apartment as he held Leah at gunpoint, waiting for Morgan to return home from work. He told her he was sorry for what he was about to do, then hung up the phone, according to arrest records.

Lynch spoke to the dispatcher of credit card debts he was concerned about. According to the arrest report, he told police he went to Morgan's apartment to discuss their breakup and unpaid credit card debts.

School district will maintain bus service for 'special' adults

By Vivian Callimore

STAFF WRITER

SANFORD - Seminole County School Board members on Tuesday voted 4-1 to continue providing transportation to clients of Seminole Work Opportunity Program (SWOP) for $38,081.88 annually.

At issue is the use of the same buses to transport the adult SWOP clients and high school, middle school and elementary school students. School board members voiced concerns about the conduct of the adults when riding on buses with youngsters.

The SWOP program, initiated in 1980, provides job training, transportation and job placement and follow-up to adults with mental and physical handicaps.

According to the program's executive director, William Poe, an agreement made with the school board in 1981 for replacement costs of buses, still in effect, forged a transportation partnership.

"At that time," said Poe, "we went to an institution and removed six adult mentally handicapped students" and formed the program. This year, 98 of about 140 SWOP clients are transported daily on 24 routes. Poe says that these 98 adults have no other means of transportation to and from the SWOP programs and work. Other SWOP clients get rides with friends and family members, ride the LYNX public buses, ride bikes or walk.

Poe, emphasized the fact that these people are no longer in institutions, are at home with family and that none are on welfare. He said that they learn a task to earn a wage and are visibly proud to receive a paycheck every other Wednesday. He promised to work with the board to find an amenable compromise to the problem.

"If you say we start work at 3 a.m., then we start work at 3 a.m.," Poe said.

More than one board member asked that he revise his clients' work schedules so that they could ride the buses during times students are not being transported. But since the agreement is based on the principal that the cost to SWOP is kept to a minimum by providing the transportation on a space available basis, even a drastic shift in SWOP work schedules is unlikely to help.

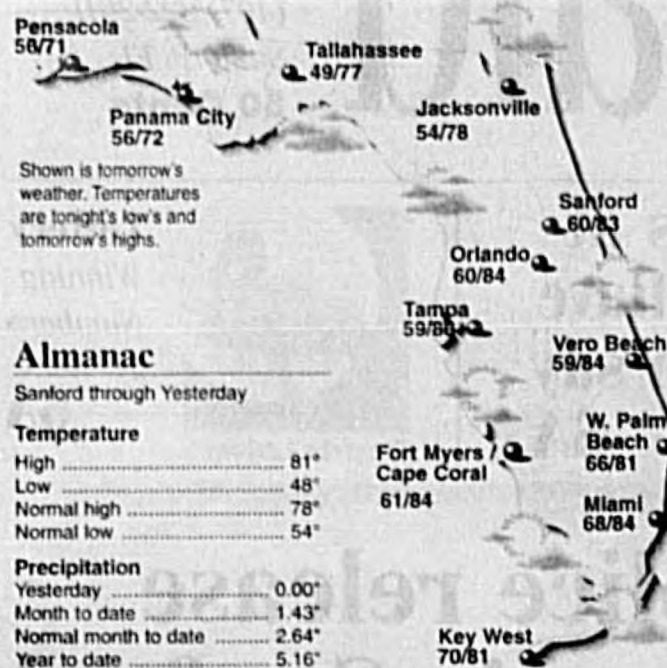

School district legal counsel Ned Julian clarified that, under school board home rule power made by local policy, this service is neither prohibited nor required but must be at no cost to taxpayers. The present annual reimbursement of just over $38,000 to the board barely covers the actual operating cost of transporting the SWOP clients. In order to provide separate buses for the adults and Seminole students, the board would require at least twice that amount be paid by SWOP.

County shells out $10,000 for conference center study

By Russ White
STAFF WRITER

SEMINOLE COUNTY - The County Commission agreed to spend another $10,000 for a consultant to evaluate plans for a regional conference center on the Lake Monroe waterfront. But Sanford Mayor Larry Dale isn't smiling.

While the 3-2 vote kept the project alive, the conference center is hardly a done deal. Commission Chairman Carlton Henley said the county has not made a "commitment" to spend nearly a half million on the conference center.

"The assumption is that it is a done deal," said Henley, one of the two ways in the vote Tuesday. Henley said the county already had spent more than $80,000 in studies for the center and that he felt it did not need to toss in another $10,000 so quickly.

Commissioner Daryl McLain, who champions the Sanford project, said, "The $10,000 is a very small investment. It would be short-sighted not to spend $10,000 at this time."

"We can't pull up now," Commissioner Dick Van Der Weide said.

Henley and Commissioner Grant Maloy disagreed. Maloy said he had questions about who was responsible for any debt. "What if this isn't all as rosy as projected?" he asked.

Dale, though pleased at the vote, was miffed that he did not get to speak at the county meeting. Dale was prepared to explain the nuances of a city/county agreement that has been six years in the making but said he was snubbed "rudely" by Henley.

"This is not a public meeting," Henley told Dale, "but go ahead if you keep it brief."

"Then, he was gone at his choosing," Henley said. "This is a complicated issue. Yes, the county is interested. We need a conference center for a number of reasons. We'd like a place to hold our high school graduations. The latest plans may not be big enough for it."

Henley said that Sanford City Manager Tony VanDerworp had presented the city's "game plan" Tuesday and that a proper vote was conducted. He said it was unfortunate that Dale considered that he was treated rudely.

"We added this item to our agenda at Sanford's request," Henley said. "Mayor Dale showed up and wanted to speak but he gave no earlier request. We were pressed for time. Commissioner (Randy) Morris had a Boy Scouts function to attend."

Henley said he was prepared to meet with Dale to further discuss the issue. Henley is the liaison to the city on the conference center business. He said Tuesday that he preferred to continue and not designate the chores to another commissioner.

Dale said he was concerned that Henley was determined to kill the project. That he was siding with those opposed to building a center at Fort Mellon Park.

"Carlton Henley's campaign signs last year were on the same sites with the (conference center) naysayers signs," Dale said.

Following completion of the approved feasibility study and financial analysis, and a parking study by the City of Sanford, there will be a review of the information by the Tourist Development Committee, County Commission and City Commission. Then, a decision can be made regarding moving forward and financing and the operation of the facility.

If there are sufficient TDC funds for the study or whether the money combed from the county's general fund must be determined.

"We're going forward," VanDerworp said. "That's why we came here."

Company will offer schools technology grant initiative

By Vivian Gallimore
STAFF WRITER

SANFORD - Bell South Foundation's two-year, $10 million grant initiative for BellSouth edu.pwr3 was announced Tuesday at the county's magnet school for math, science and technology -- Sanford Middle School.

According to Larry Strickler, BellSouth's Florida Director for Workforce Development and Education Relations, the grant brings to $50 million the foundation's gifts to school systems and individual facilities to promote the development and use of technology to enhance learning for students.

BellSouth's edu.pwr3, a "special three-part technology initiative to help schools take control of the power that technology can bring to their classrooms," says Strickler, "was created in response to a Clinton Administration challenge to 'make all children technologically literate by the year 2000.'"

The announcement, down-linked via satellite to eight locations in the Southeast, came from BellSouth headquarters in Atlanta. Featuring a keynote address by Duane Ackerman, BellSouth's chairman and CEO, the downlink utilized some of the school's equipment, installed a couple of months ago, for the first time ever, according to Strickler.

He said that the three component amounts of the grant are "power to lead" for $2 million, "power to teach" for $6.5 million and "Power to learn" for $1.5 million.

"Power to Lead," a leadership development program for superintendents, is built around a customized simulation of the superintendent's role in integrating technology into their schools.

"Power to Teach" grants will be awarded to school districts, teacher training organizations and a consortia of schools to foster professional development for teachers.

"Power to Learn" will award high-tech grants to three to five high schools in the BellSouth region to maximize the use of technology for teaching, learning and parental involvement.

"In 1988, 80 percent of teachers across the country felt they were not very well prepared to integrate technology into their curriculum," said education secretary Richard Riley. "BellSouth edu.pwr3 will work to prepare education professionals across the southeast to raise their schools' technology implementation levels."

"All the kids there [Sanford MS] use this technology" and participated in the event, said Strickler. "The key message is not about the money," he added, "but whether education is going to meet the needs of employers and raise standards for all students."

"It will take a full partnership between business and education, who cannot do it all by themselves."

Strickler cited BellSouth NetDay, began in 1996, as another example of his company's commitment to education. BellSouth foundation also underwrote funding for a donation to Seminole County schools for more than 40 wiring kits so that local schools could upgrade their internet access equipment.

"We also work in job shadowing on groundhog day, act as mentors and support education through key partnerships with industry. Partnership is key to the support of education as a lifelong process. It sounds trite, but students don't hear that a lot and often don't see the relation between school studies and life and work skills."

"Education is one of my passions," said the BellSouth spokesman, who sat on the district's school board from 1992 to 1996.

Resident John Pulk, who lives on Ohio Avenue, showed commissioners a picture his young daughter drew of two bald eagles in a neighbor's tree.

The commissioners said the development will come before a public hearing again, as state agencies review the developer's plans. They said that approving the development for up to four units per acre does not mean that will necessarily be the final density of the project.

"No significant decision has been made tonight," Commission Chairman Carlton Henley said. "The details and specifics will come next, and there will be more public hearings."

Commissioners said CPO would have to comply with lighting, buffering, traffic, landscaping, and other requirements.

Larry Furlong suggested that Poe re-examine his $1.3 annual budget to supplement the less than $40,000 allocated to reimburse the school district.

The board members and Furlong referred to complaints about behavioral problems exhibited by the mostly mentally handicapped clients. On the last of three recent incidents, according to Jean Crampton, the school district's director of transportation services, there was no bus monitor present.

Board officials indicated to Crampton that a monitor must be present without fail on all buses transporting both elementary and middle school students and SWOP clients.

That may not be enough to calm the fears of one father who addressed the board.

William Frantkowsky said he objects to this program due to its adverse effect on his daughter and other elementary and middle school students. The Sweetwater Oaks resident said that his daughter Rachel, 12, is an exceptional student at Milwee Middle School and that she rides alone with two SWOP clients daily. He added that if the program grows, "we will be putting students on a bus with SWOP clients" instead of the other way around.

Board member Bob Goff said that the SWOP program is "an extension of their education. We are charged with providing for them and the system must do whatever it takes. By the way, they are now taxpaying, wage earning citizens and I move we support the superintendent's recommendation."

Furlong, who cast the dissenting vote, said, "We're buying a lawsuit if we approve this. I can't vote for it. Our first duty is to the children of the school system." Furlong admonished that until this issue is "complaint free" he does not advocate the district's continued participation in that service.

Murder

Lynch told the dispatcher he was a police pairbrieman in New York for two years during the early 1980s in a housing development.

Some portions of the conversation between Lynch and police are being withheld by police to be used as evidence against Lynch.

Morgan, an employee at a nursing facility in Winter Park, was attempting to reconcile with her husband James Morgan, who recently had returned from a military post in Saudi Arabia, police said. Police said her affair with Lynch ended Feb. 9.

Leah was a popular eighth-grade student at Millennium Middle School who served on the Student Council.

Neighbors of Lynch in the suburban Hampton Court Area of Sanford described him as a quiet man who sometimes spoke of his days as a police officer in the New York Transit Authority and his military service in Vietnam.

Neighbors at the Rosecliff apartments reported hearing six to eight shots from apartment 534 at around 5:14 p.m., March 5. Police received 20 9-1-1 calls from the apartment, and responded in less than five minutes.

Lynch is charged with two counts of first degree premeditated murder, armed kidnapping, and burglary. He is being held at the John E. Polk Correctional Facility.

Virginia and nearby Washington, D.C., boast the country's top five places for ratio of singles-to-marrieds; one reason may be the high proportion of college students in many of these areas. Rounding out the top 10 list of single counties are New York, N.Y., and Clarke, Ga.

homes sit on lots of 2 1/2 acres or more, and that the new development would not be compatible.

"You actually think this is compatible?" resident Jack Goebel of Michigan Avenue said. "You can actually believe that in your heart? Come on."

Developers say the area's wetland will be preserved, and that there will be a 10 foot landscape buffer around much of the project. They said lights in the development would remain on-sight, and have a low impact.

Attorney Ken Wright, representing CPO, said that wildlife and environmental concerns including the reported existence of an active bald eagle's nest near the development would "be resolved in due course."

Taking a stab at back-stabbers

IAN SHOALES

Purely in the interest of research, I was watching TV's "FRIENDS" last week. I concluded that the friends on "FRIENDS," like the friends on "SEINFELD," are not generally found in nature (or in Manhattan, for that matter).

For one thing, look at their apartments! They're roomy! They're roach-free! They don't have crackheads twitching in the doorway! And don't these friends spend a little too much time in the (also roach-free) coffee house? And aren't they all just a little too damn adorable?

Keep in mind that "FRIENDS," like all true television shows, was invented in L.A. Therefore, "FRIENDS" is a Hollywood vision of what it hopes a certain viewing demographic dreams when it dreams of friends in New York. And that this whole dreaming process will suck in sponsors like a sponge. In real life, the East Coast seems to have redefined the concept fair weather friends. The East Coast is the Mircrosoft of backstabbing. I think it may actually have a monopoly.

There's Monica Lewinsky and Linda Tripp, for instance. In D.C. you only hurt the ones you wretap. But there's also President Clinton and his breezy habit of dispersing backfaced lies like party favors among his friends, all of whom line up for more. Then there's Newt Gingrich, whose GOP pals dropped like a radioactive brick, praising him tearfully even as he spun in the gutter he helped to make.

It's just a lovefest out there in the seat of power. We also have Christopher Hitchens and Sidney Blumenthal. These two friends were having lunch. It seems, when Blumenthal (reporter turned Clinton aide) said something bad about Monica to Hitchens, a cranky Brit (and Vanity Fair columnist), even though Blumenthal had sworn in court that the official White House position at that time was that Monica was a troubled young woman who just needed a little counseling. So Hitchens, unusual in that he's a rabid left wing Clinton hater, reported the luncheon to the law, thereby earning the grudging admiration of the Wall Street Journal's op-ed page, and many chiding editorials taking him to task for betraying a friendship.

This is all heady stuff, not the kind of stuff that happens in my circle. Sure, we have lunches, but if gossip is dropped we expect it to spread like wildfire through the circle. If we don't want that to happen, we keep our mouths shut. And we never report anything to the media or proper authorities (some of us have, but response has been indifferent). Then there's the granddaddy of neo conservatives — Norman Podhoretz. His new memoir, "Ex-Friends," apparently details the process by which he gradually cut every acquaintance from his circle who did not adhere to his high moral standards.

Well, you know, I tried that myself. But then I realized that my moral standards were so high even I couldn't live up to them. That's why I moved to California. I figured that if I could whittle my attention span to zero, ethics would fly out the window, and I'd have more friends than I could handle.

It hasn't quite worked out that way. I have learned to hang out with people so used to betrayal, they're surprised when it doesn't occur.

There's something to be said for that attitude.

On the East Coast, it seems, secrets are coins. But you aren't supposed to spend them, just hoard them until the lawyers arrive. Out here we spend our secrets like there's no tomorrow!

We never anguish about who betrayed whom. Hey, it's just another sunny day. Betrayal is a way of life in TV Land, but only when the cameras are off. It's not for publication, unless there's real money in it. We would never kiss off a friend just for the buzz. If we were both up for the same job, well, that's another story.

So until we each get our own personal spin doctors, what we say to a friend after a couple glasses of wine will not be newsworthy. That's true for me, at least. For the sake of friendships everywhere, and the future of America, I hope it becomes true for all of us.

(Ian Shoales' new book, "Not Yet Yet," is available from 2.12.61 Publications, PO Box 1919, Los Angeles, CA 90078. The toll-free number is 1-800-932-1361.)

Playing CDs at home

By the Editors of Consumer Reports

However you like your music, there's a CD player for you — at an attractive price.

For as little as $200, you can buy a CD jukebox that holds more than 100 discs. For only $160, you can buy a CD changer, most likely a carousel model. And for $100, you can buy a single-disc portable.

To help you choose a CD player geared to your music collection and listening habits, we tested jukeboxes, changers and portables. All are capable of producing essentially flawless sound, but that doesn't mean we found no differences.

Here are some key points to consider:

— Portables. A portable player's buffer holds the key to a skip-free performance. It's a memory that stores from 10 to 45 seconds of music. When movement causes a tracking error, you hear the music held in the buffer, not the mistracking. If you don't want to use the buffer, you can turn it off. In our tests, we subjected the portables to calibrated shakes and jolts with the buffer turned on and with it turned off so we could isolate the effects of the buffer itself. Players that are designed to minimize shock, we found, deliver the smoothest sound.

Of the 11 portables we tested, the Philips AZ7383 was exceptional. And at $160, it's one of our Best Buys. Buffer on, it provided smooth continuous music even when jounced continuously by some joggers — the first model tested ever to resist skipping that well.

The Philips AZ7383 and a few other portables we tested come with a car-kit adapter that draws power through the cigarette lighter and sends sound to the speakers through an adapter for the car's cassette slot. (You can buy car-kit adapters separately for about $20.)

If you can't find the Philips AZ7383, look for the top-rated Panasonic SL-SX500 ($150), the Philips AZ7383 ($130)

FROM CONSUMER REPORTS

or the Sony D-E409CK ($140). The headphones with these and the other portables we tested delivered at least decent sound.

— Home units. Three factors matter most when assessing a CD player: disc-to-disc speed, ease of use and taping. Jukeboxes subject you to a longer, noisier wait between selections from different discs than do carousels. In our tests, some jukeboxes emitted about 14 seconds of noise while switching discs. The faster carousels needed only 10 seconds to go from disc to disc.

The units that are easiest to use, we found, have a multicolored, uncluttered front-panel display with the main buttons grouped together by function and clearly labeled.

Front-panel controls should also make it easy to produce tapes from CDs. Good features for taping include a music peak finder, which finds the loudest passages so you can adjust the volume accordingly; running totals, or the ability to add up the time for all the tracks you're recording; and automatic insertion of a few seconds of silence between tracks.

Among home units, the top-rated Technics SL-PD008 ($155) is another of our Best Buys. A reasonable alternative is the Sony CDP-CE325 ($200). Both are five-disc carousel changers. The best jukebox was the Technics SL-MC6 ($200), which holds 110 discs.

If you're in the market for a CD player, note that large electronics chains like Best Buy and Circuit City offer low prices on a range of brands. Web sites like www.comparenet.com or www.jungle.com can also steer you toward attractive prices.

Was Victor Mature ever Tarzan?

Q. A friend of mine said that Victor Mature played or starred in a Tarzana movie years ago. Is he right? We would like to know. — C.H., Batesville, Ark.

A. No, he's wrong. Mature never was the ape man.

Q. What are actors Philip Abbott and Bruce Dern up to these days? You never see them on TV any more. — G.D., Joplin, Mo.

A. Dern is still acting, but Abbott God just had him.

Q. Do they ever show "Waterloo Bridge" on TV? At one time, I could almost repeat the lines with the actors Vivien Leigh and Robert Taylor. I am not certain who played the friend who took care of her. Was it Evelyn Keyes? Wasn't the story taken from Ernest Hemingway? I seem to recall it was shown in the 1960s. — M.H.L., Memphis, Tenn.

A. It wasn't Keyes and it wasn't Hemingway and it wasn't shown in the 1960s. That great 1940 film, which still occasionally pops up on late night TV, had Virginia Field as Leigh's friend. The story was an original screenplay by three Hollywood writers.

Q. Years ago, I saw Harry Belafonte in a movie called "The World, The Flesh and The Devil." Since then, I think the name has been changed. The movie was good but I can't find it. It was about a stranded coal miner who was one of the last people in New York. — M.B., Roseburg, Ore.

A. There has not been a name change for "The World, The Flesh and The Devil," a 1959 release. You can find it in any video store.

Q. In the movie "The Treasure of the Sierra Madre," Humphrey Bogart is approached by a young boy who sells him a lottery ticket. I was told that the boy was Burt Reynolds. The date of the movie (1948) and the physical resemblance of the boy lead me to believe that this is him. Did Burt Reynolds appear in that movie as a child actor? — F.D.S., Library, Pa.

A. No, Reynolds was never a child actor. The boy selling lottery tickets was a young Robert Blake.

Q. About four years ago, I caught a small part of the movie, "Blackboard, The Pirate." I noticed that Irene Ryan was in it. What year was this movie made and what year did Ms. Ryan die? Can I find this movie on video? How many of the cast of "Beverly Hillsbillies" are still with us? — G.B., Kasky, S.C.

A. That film, which is available on video, came out in 1952, and Ryan died in 1973. Of the principal players on "The Beverly Hillsbillies," most are still

COMMENT: (Enclosed was a clipping of our column, with a question about the song, "The Road to Mandalay"). The writer perhaps had heard my uncle sing this song on stage in those good 'vanderbilt days. My uncle, Doc Baker, was a headliner on the B.F. Keith Circuit, the Orpheum Circuit, etc. Uncle Doc was a quick change artist, a singer, and a good one, too. One of his song-and-dance routines was "On the Road to Mandalay." ## Paul's Truck and Auto Repair pounds pair; joins Sharks in finals

By Dean Smith
SPORTS EDITOR

SANFORD - So much for the regular season.

After struggling to a 4-4 record and a third place finish in the regular season, Paul's Truck and Auto Repair looked like the New York Yankees on Tuesday night, outscoring a pair of foes 50-5 in advancing to the championship game of the City of Sanford Recreation and Parks Department Women's Polar Bear Slow Pitch Softball League Tournament.

The night at Pinehurst Park had started as expected as the Sharks, which finished the regular season just one game behind champion Don Pablos of Sanford, scored eight runs in the bottom of the first inning and going on to handle winless Vaughan Incorporated, 12-2, by the Run Rule.

Things then got interesting. What was expected to be a close battle between Paul's Truck and Auto Repair and Curt's Alleycats, which were fourth with a 3-5 regular season record, quickly turned into a rout and never got any better.

Paul's Truck and Auto Repair scored eight runs in the top of the first inning and led 19-0 before Curt's Alleycats could score and moved to the semifinals with a 25-1 victory.

Paul's Truck and Auto Repair then stayed hot, scoring three runs in the top of the first inning and never trailing Don Pablos of Sanford, eventually scoring 14 runs in the fifth inning to close out a 25-4 romp.

Paul's Truck and Auto Repair will now battle the Sharks for the Championship next Tuesday night at Pinehurst Park at 7 p.m.

Providing the offense were: Sharks: three hits - Deborah Manfredi (two runs, RBI); two hits - Kathy Spellman (two runs, RBI); Teresa Howdyshell (run, three RBI); one hit - Robin Bishop (two runs, RBI); Tanya Origer (run, RBI); Sheila Sanders, Gloria Efrid and Debbie Huss (one run scored each); one run - Beth Hundriser.

Vaughan Incorporated: two hits - Debbie Berning (run), Bonnie Chaplin; one hit - Jana Booker (run), Lynn Webb, Martha Burkett; one RBI - Kelly Eckert.

Paul's Truck and Auto Repair: five hits - Micki Lewis (triple, three runs, RBI); three hits - Belinda Anderson (triple, three runs, two RBI), Teresa Finck (three runs, three RBI), Ann Lanza (run, RBI), Tammy Japes (three runs); two hits - Dino Wilson (four runs, RBI), Kim Myers and Becky McCarnan (two runs and one RBI each); one hit - Barb Martin (home run, three runs, three RBI), Shelli Walters (run, RBI).

Seminole shuts out Patriots

By Alex Kane
STAFF WRITER

SANFORD - Seminole blanked Lake Brantley, 6-0, in Seminole Athletic Conference softball action Tuesday night at the Seminole Softball Complex.

The win gives the Fighting Seminoles an overall record of 9-5 and 3-2 in the SAC. The Patriots fell to 6-8 overall.

Seminole coach David Rogers said his team played "six good innings" of the seven inning game, and that his team made too many errors.

"We have to do the little things right, and we have to execute," said Rogers.

Winning pitcher Ginny Carnes (4-2) only allowed two hits while striking out six.

Angela Keeler was 2-for-4 with two doubles to lead the Fighting Seminoles attack, while Laketta Bryant was 2-for-4 with a double.

Seminole will host Lake Mary on Thursday at 7 p.m.

Duo leads Rams to boys Lacrosse rout

By Jeff Berwick

LAKE MARY - It was like hearing the same song over and over again.

Montgomery to Kurir.

Kurir to Montgomery.

It's a song the West Orange boys lacrosse team heard a lot Tuesday night as host Lake Mary romped 16-3 for the Rams' fourth straight win after opening the season with two losses.

Adam Kurir and Brian Montgomery, two-thirds of Lake Mary's powerful attack, accounted for 13 goals and 18 of the 25 points. Kurir's eight goals came within two of the school record.

The win kept the Rams in the hunt for county supremacy, just behind Lake Brantley and Oviedo which both beat the Rams at the start of the season.

"We just started out playing two very good teams," first-year coach Jim Marino said. "We're playing better now and I'm convinced we'll see Lake Brantley and Oviedo again in the playoffs."

If he wants to get past the Patriots or Lions, Marino has to find someone to take part of the scoring load. His offense was diverse in a 15-2 rout of Lake Howell two weeks ago, but, for the most part, it's been Kurir and Montgomery.

"Look for Kenny Ho to step up," Marino said. "We need him to control midfield. I think he can do it for us."

The midfield combined for only three goals against West Orange, but the game got sloppy as Lake Mary outscored West Orange 5-0 in the second quarter after starting out slowly.

It was Lake Mary's first game in two weeks and the Rams started slowly, with the score tied at 2-2 after the first quarter.

In the second, Kurir and Montgomery took charge while the Lake Mary defense, led by Brian Bolden, dominated.

The Rams took the lead, for good when Montgomery scored through traffic, less than a minute later, Kurir took a feed from Montgomery and scored at point-blank range.

Lake Mary face-off specialist Peter King dominated and Lake Mary controlled the ball throughout the game.

In fact, the Rams were able to shuffle in three goalies - Shaun McLane, Todd Cherner and Jeff MacLeay - throughout the game. Just 41 seconds after Montgomery's previous goal, he scored again on a nifty move around the net to make it 5-2.

Kurir scored again on a pass from Montgomery less than a minute later and middle Rob Rauch scored soon after to pad the lead.

Manz leads SCC softball squad to sweep of Polk

By Dean Smith
SPORTS EDITOR

SANFORD - It took some extra innings and two come-from-behind victories, but the Seminole Community College softball team has reached the magical 20-win plateau.

Tuesday afternoon at Raider Field, SCC swept a doubleheader from Polk Community College from Winter Haven, 6-5 and 4-1.

In the first game, the Raiders trailed 5-1 going into the bottom of the fifth inning and completed the comeback as a pair of former Seminole Athletic Conference stars came through in the bottom of the eighth inning.

Lake Mary's Jeannie Manz doubled to center field with one out in the eighth inning and scored the game-winning run when Lake Howell's Jen Ollispe fouled with a double to left field.

In the nightcap, SCC fell behind when the Vikings scored a run in the top of the third inning.

But the Raiders rallied with four runs in the bottom of the fifth inning, two coming home on a single by Manz.

SANFORD - The Seminole Community College baseball team continues to creep closer and closer to the .500 mark.

The Raiders went on the road and split a Mid-Florida Conference doubleheader with Lake-Summer Community College in Leesburg on Saturday, then returned to Raider Field on Tuesday to crush Hagerstown Junior College from Maryland, 15-2.

SCC is now 15-22 on the season and will now go on the road for three important M-FC contests. On Thursday, the Raiders head to Lake City Community College to take on the Timberwolves in a single game at 3 p.m., then travel to Gainesville on Saturday for a noon doubleheader at Santa Fe Community College.

SCC will play a rare game next Sunday, hosting Madison Area Technical College from Wisconsin at 1 p.m. The Raiders will close out the month of March with home games against conference Florida Community at Jacksonville on Tuesday and the College of Lake County from Illinois on Wednesday. Both of those games will begin at 3 p.m.

On Saturday, SCC broke a 3-3 tie by scoring three runs in the top of the fifth inning, then, after the Lakers cut the lead to 6-5 in the bottom of the fifth, added a pair of insurance runs in the top of the seventh inning to win 8-5.

Da' Bomb!

Da' Bomb hears all...

Da Bomb says Midway Elementary is one of the most underrated schools in the county. You don't hear much about Midway since its tucked away from the rest of the county, but the kids are great and Ms. Tanner and Mr. Tossie seem to have a relationship with their kids that seems unique in the county. The kids also do some excellent writing which you can see on this page.

There's a lot of fun activities going on this weekend and Da Bomb says they are all close enough that you don't have to miss any of them. Check out the Indian Trails Middle School Sports Day this Saturday from 9 a.m. - 3 p.m. with plenty of games and speakers. Then, head over to Oviedo High where the sports booster club is hosting Spring Carnival '99 with rides, games entertainment and food all day. Then, if you're not too tired, Highlands and Winter Springs Elementary are hosting a health fair from 9 a.m. - 3 p.m. at Winter Springs Elementary.

Great job by the kids at All Souls Catholic School for their Science Fair Tuesday. Da Bomb checked it out and learned quite a bit. Some of the ideas were extra-original and intelligent.

Midway students have plenty to say

The 4th-graders at Midway Elementary School got together with their parents several weeks ago to do prompted writing for the Florida Writes test. These were not the entries submitted, but there's some pretty good stuff here. Check it out.

What mysteries were behind the door?

By Cayce Tanner
SPECIAL TO THE HERALD

Everyday, at the back of my school, I walked passed this mysterious door. It was always locked. It was always there making me wonder, driving my imagination crazy! What mysteries were hidden behind that locked block of wood? Why was it kept locked? Why was I being kept out? Or worse yet, what was being kept in? "Tomorrow," I said, "I'm going to check it out."

The next morning, I awoke to a cold and dreadful day. I hoped the weather didn't reflect what I would find behind that door. I got ready early so I could get to school before the bell rang.

When I got to school, I immediately went to that tall blue-green door. I turned the knob-locked! How was I going to get in? While I was trying to figure this out, two bullies sneaked up behind me and began to chase me around. There was no one to help me. Where should I go. Suddenly, I felt like the door was calling me. I stopped and looked. The door had red goopy stuff running down it. I knew at that time it was waiting on me. I approached this scary door. Suddenly, a note appeared which said "Come in". I reached for the knob, but the door squeaked open by itself! When I shut the creaking door, I heard gunfire tapping, bombs exploding and battleships crashing. All of this racket was going on around me. I tried and tried to open the door but it was again locked! I was now trapped in a world doing battle.

I had no choice, so I just started walking. I saw bodies killed by guns lying in the road. When I turned the corner, I saw a German soldier beating a Jew to death! I even saw Jews being loaded on a train which I knew was headed for concentration camps. "No! No!" I cried. But no one heard me. There were people waiting in line for food. There were children dirty and scared. I was so sad I dropped to my knees and cried!

After a while, I got up. I had to get back to school. What I had seen behind this door was no longer a mystery...it was history.

I went back to the door. I was thinking, "please don't be locked!" I turned the knob and the door opened. I was back to my own time. No war! No death! I walked to class with tears still dripping down my face.

When I got to class, I wiped my face with a napkin. I started my work. What I found behind that door was awful. Sometimes things that are mysterious are better left that way.

This essay was based on the times of Anne Frank.

Midway students Daniel Cohen, Sophia Habibi, Cayce Tanner, Jasmine Johnson, Tiffany Warren and

Jasmine Franklin were just some of the 4th-graders who did essays to prepare for Florida Writes.

Making the best ice cream sundae

By Jasmine Franklin
SPECIAL TO THE HERALD

Don't you know I make the worlds greatest ice cream sundae? I'm about to tell you about it! Some people use lots of toppings like two or more. I make ice cream sundae with my favorite ingredients in it.

First, I take a blue bowl out of the brown cabinet. Then I take my white scooping spoon out of the sink. I always was white scooping spoon before scooping ice cream out.

Next, I take out the big white bucket of vanilla ice cream. Then I take the white scooping spoon and dug a gob of vanilla ice cream out. When the vanilla ice cream drops it makes a big loud ploop.

Finally, I take the small bottle of chocolate syrup and one shiny red cherry out. Then I pour the chocolate syrup on the vanilla ice cream. The grand topping is putting the shiny cherry on top.

Now doesn't that sound like a great ice cream sundae? The sound of hearing people say sundaes makes me feel hungry. I could imagine ice cream sundaes in front of me.

Someone special in my life

By Tiffany Warren
SPECIAL TO THE HERALD

Everyone has someone special in there life. My friend Travis is unique in many different ways. Let me tell you why Troy is such a special person.

To start out with, Travis would always be there for me when I needed him the most. Travis would be there to cheer me up when I was feeling down. He would tell me jokes to make me laugh. Another time he bought me a journal so that I could write down my thoughts and my feelings.

Another characteristic unique about Travis was his personality. Travis was full of energy. He never ever sat still! Fingers tapped...chairs rocked...motion in action. I adored his sense of humor. One morning his funniness came into action! It was extremely frigid in our classroom. He proceeded to the front of our room, turned his "backside" towards the toasty heater and wiggled himself into warmness! Our entire family erupted into fits of laughs and giggles.

One can see why an interesting friend is so special and unique. It changes your life forever. Travis was always there for me and his personality made it easier for a life experience. He's gone today but his memory's of a special unique friend are always going to be with me. Take care of your friends and you will be able to understand the many different ways that they can be unique and special to you.

Midway held a Parents Night for parents to come out to the school and work with their children's essays as the 4th-graders worked on their writing schools in anticipation of Florida Writes.

Penny and Nick at Wet n' Wild

By Jasmine Johnson
SPECIAL TO THE HERALD

On one early and cool morning, I called into the radio station. The man said, "I was caller number 10. I won three tickets to Wet n' Wild."

First, you get two friends to Wet n' Wild with you this Saturday night. But the radio man didn't tell us that my friends and I were going to the mall on a shopping spree before we went to Wet n' Wild. My friends names are Kayana and Renaka.

Then, wow! The limo had pulled up outside at my house in the driveway. The limo was white, silver and gold. When the driver had opened the door there was some basketball players inside too.

Next, they told us what their names were. Their names were Nick Anderson and Penny Hardaway. The limo had really dark tinted windows. It had a Jacuzzi in the limo, nine door limo. We all got in it.

Finally, we were there, but a good thing we had our changing clothes. We had gone to change in to the restrooms. I just realized I lost the tickets. I checked everywhere for them. Finally, I saw them they were in the front seat. My friends and I and the basketball players were ready to go. When we were finished we came back but before we got home we ran out of gas. The basketball player Nick had to walk to a gas station. It was 2:00 in the morning. My mom and dad weren't home. We stayed to Penny's house. He had kids, and a swimming pool. He had a big house. When my mom and dad came home I called them. It was fine to be home again. It was early in the morning.

This was a fun day when we won our Wet n' Wild tickets on the radio.

Halloween horrors at my uncle's house

By Daniel Cohen
SPECIAL TO THE HERALD

A few Halloween's ago I was in for a scare at my uncle's house. I was walking through the dark neighborhood towards my uncles house. Quickly I rang the bell when the door opened I saw a haunted face. Then it started to make sounds. I was scared out of my pants, and didn't know what to do.

I slowly went into the house. When he took off the mask. Me and my family all sat down and we all ate candy together.

My uncle sure scared me a few Halloween's ago.

The most outrageous time

By Sophia Habibi
SPECIAL TO THE HERALD

One year ago I noticed a brown ugly-looking door. Everyday I tried to open it, but it wouldn't. One week ago I tried it and it opened! So I went through the ugly door. Wow, I had an outrageous time!

First I went right in as soon as I opened the door. The first thing I did right when I went inside, was explore. I saw a dark closet, a rugged sofa, a torn lamp and a broken down kitchen with pieces of glass everywhere! After I looked at everything, I heard the door creak! I was so scared! Then I spotted a black ugly dog with an odd-looking tail. The dog barked and barked and chased me around and around in the dark closet and over the rugged sofa! I ran over to the ugly door and tried to open it, but it wouldn't open! I had to escape! I went to the kitchen and thought the glass would hurt his paws, but before I got in, I fell over a coke bottle with a crash! I got right back up and turned to see the dog, but it vanished! I rubbed my head with confusion.

Next, I walked around and around trying to remember what just happened. As I walked around and around, I heard a loud whoosh! I was so frightened that I almost fainted, but I didn't know how! Then I saw a big, white ugly ghost. I tried to run away but the evil white ghost just knocked me right over as if I were a feather standing up. After I got up he tried to knock me over again, but before he could, I punched him right in his evil, nasty face! Then I ran all the way to the door without a noise. I tried to open the ugly brown door, but it was still locked. I turned around to run but as soon as I did, the evil ghost punched me so hard that I heard a big thud! and lost my conscience. When I finally got my mind straight, I looked for the mean ghost, but he vanished! Now I got scared and got goosebumps all over me.

Finally, I was so freaked out that I ran to the door and tried to open it and it finally opened! I was so happy that I ran all the way home and told everybody. Nobody me so I told them to go look for themselves, so they did. They came back half an hour later they came back and told me all about it, and I laughed so hard.

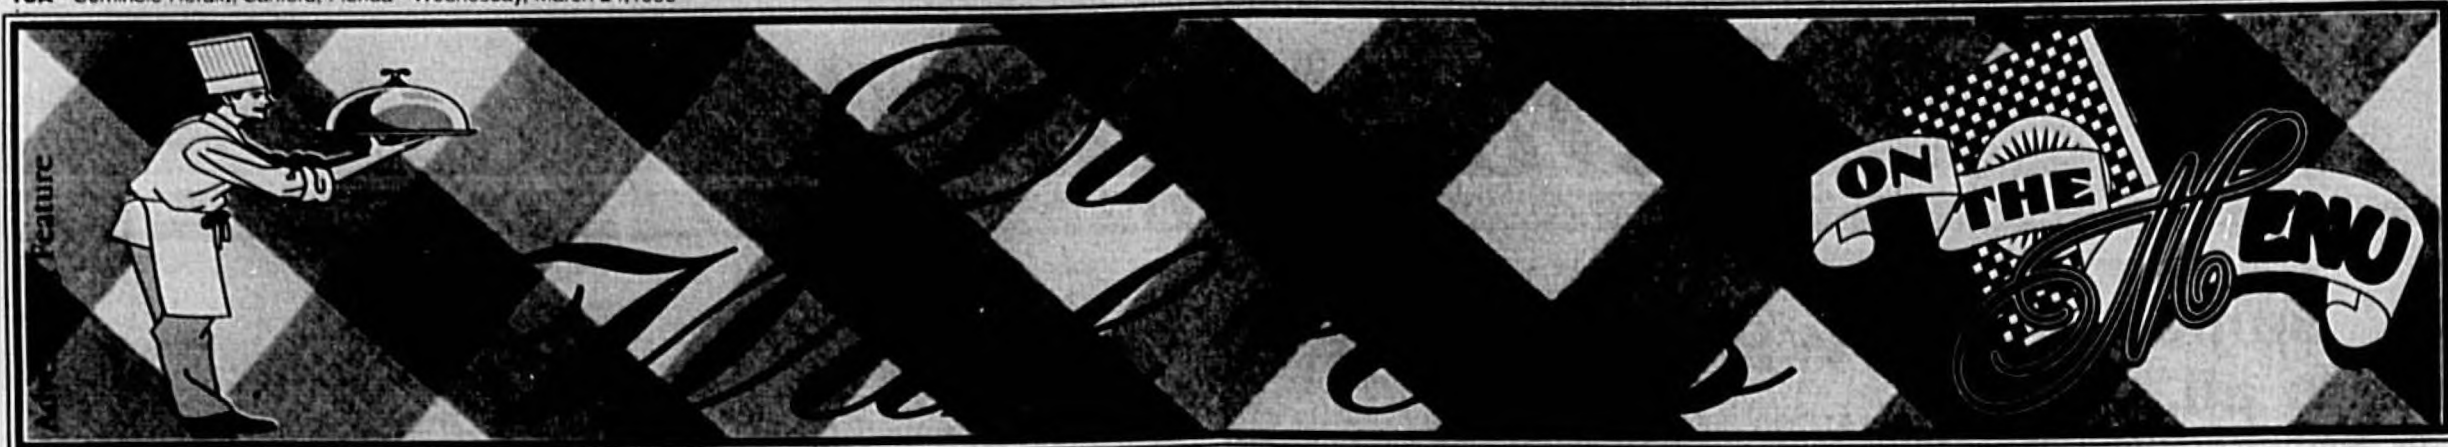

That was my outrageous time when I went through the unlocked door. I had fun, but it was also very scary that I had a nightmare about it. So never open a door if you don't know what's behind it.

HOROSCOPES

Thursday, March 25, 1999

The year ahead could hold many chances to further your personal interests, but your best opportunity might come via some type of inside information relayed to you by a reliable source.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Talk out your problems today with an inhouse you can trust. The more candid you are, the better chances you'll have of finding viable solutions to your dilemmas. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2.75 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 1788, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10118.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Although you can walk with friends and feel at ease today, your best moments of communication will take place in small groups with those you can enjoy more intimacy.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Use your head today and you'll stand a good chance of turning a profit that you'll enjoy, but your real pride of achievement will come more from the fact that you figured out how to do it.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Your words will carry more weight than you may realize today and the influence you'll have on others could be considerable. Two admirers may carry out your suggestions to the letter.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Someone you'll be talking to today may be especially good at making or saving money. Listen carefully if the conversation turns in that direction. His or her ideas could click for you.

VIROO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Even if associates are telling you otherwise, have faith in your assessments today, because your judgment regarding the outcome of new ventures could be especially on-target today.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Well thought-out goals you're eager to achieve can be attained today, but at one step at a time. Follow your game plan to the letter and your ideas are realized.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 22) Happy 44-ings could be coming your way today from someone you seldom see. The news may be quite uplifting for you by giving you the boost you need to carry on with your own plans.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) A problem you thought would be difficult to eradicate could suddenly be resolved today due to conditions or events taking a new turn in a more positive direction.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Try to go to some new places where you can see fresh scenery and faces. This change of venue will serve as a healthy tonic in refurbishing your outlook and attitude.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Fresh ideas for increasing your earnings may be found through networking with others today. Although it might not make you a millionaire, it could bring in those extra bucks you need.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) Try to get together with a few good friends today and learn how to enjoy themselves. It doesn't have to be anything special, just the socializing alone will make you happy.

WIN AT BRIDGE

Can the machine triumph?

By Phillip Alder

Do you think computers will someday play bridge as well as or better than humans? We know that they do in chess, but in that game all the information is available. In bridge, with two hands hidden, it is much harder. I doubt that a pair of computers will ever win, say, a national pairs title or world championship medal, if they are allowed to compete.

How do you think humans and computers would compare in the play and defense of this three-no-trump contract?

East won the first trick with the spade ace, then returned the spade jack: queen, king, diamond two. West continued with the spade nine, establishing his suit. Yet, when declarer played three rounds of clubs, East was in with no spades left. A moment later, South claimed an overtrick. How many mistakes were made?

Several! When South opened the spade jack with his queen, West should have ducked. Then, after East gets his club trick, he returns the spade seven, and West collects three tricks in the suit for one down.

However, South needn't have given the defenders the chance. He shouldn't have covered the spade jack. This play guarantees the contract whenever it can be made. If West has the club trick, South is always headed for defeat unless spades are 4-1.

Finally, East can make it much harder for South by inserting the spade jack at trick one. (As he can see a club trick in his future, this isn't such a far-fetched play.) True, declarer still succeeds by ducking, but how many humans — let alone computers — would find either of these plays?

ASK DR. GOTT

What causes tongue to swell?

DEAR DR. GOTT: I have a friend whose speech has been slurred for about a year. She's been tested and didn't have a stroke. Her tongue swells and, by night, she can't even eat. What's causing this?

DEAR READER: Slurred speech can certainly be caused by problems with the tongue. I'm not at all clear what you mean by "she didn't have a stroke." Some strokes don't show up on testing.

Be that as it may, I endorse your position that her difficulty may be caused by swelling of the tongue.

Now the going gets rough. Is this some sort of allergic reaction? Could she have a tongue infection? Is it possible that she could be experiencing "mini-strokes" that are affecting her speech by causing poor tongue movement and swelling? I don't know.

To begin with, she should be examined by a dentist. Localized infections could be easily treated with antibiotics. If he pronounces her fit, she ought to see an allergist. Perhaps something in her environment — for example, denture adhesive, toothpaste or mouthwash — could be to blame. The allergist will probably test her. If nothing shows up, I recommend a consultation with an ear, nose and throat specialist, or a neurologist.

DR. GOTT

This is truly a puzzling case. Let me know what happens.

To give you related information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Stroke." Other readers who would like a copy should send $3 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to PO Box 3017, Murray Hill Station, NY, NY 10156. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: It appears you have blown it. Not one mention of potassium in replying to the 71-year-old who consumed more than an egg a day and experienced the horrors of cramps. Many of us doctors are well swore of the cramps that come when we do not have enough potassium. The ingestion of a banana a day cures me from horrible night-time leg cramps. Please let the old gentleman know what might help him.

DEAR READER: O.K. Some (but by no means all) muscle cramping is caused by potassium depletion. This can be a particularly serious problem in patients who are prescribed diuretic medications for heart problems or hypertension. Bananas, orange juice and dried fruits are especially rich in potassium and can safely be used by anyone for conditions ranging from leg cramps to constipation. For people with leg cramps who are not helped by these natural remedies, medical evaluation is prudent.

(Peter Gott, a syndicated columnist for Newspaper Enterprise Association, can be written to at P.O. Box 91288, Cleveland, OH 44191-3288.)
