Nationalist Head Says
Grau Lacks Force
Of Public Opinion,
Need To Govern

HAVANA, Nov. 3.—(AP)—

The Nationalist leader, Carlos Mendieta, said today that he and his followers "are asking that President Grau San Martin resign."

At the same time, the political leader virtually blasted the hopes of administration supporters for a coalition government. "It is not a question of cabinet portfolios, nor jobs, nor representation in government," said Mendieta. "The question is that President Grau lacks the force of public opinion necessary to govern Cuba."

Renewed terrorism had this nation's nerves jangling last night as Mendieta, leader of the powerful nationalist union still abled away from the provisional presidency proffered him. While the capital waited fearfully to see whether Tuesday night's disastrous bombings would be repeated last night, the nationalists were urging Mendieta not to "commit political suicide," by taking over the leadership of the nation at this critical time.

Removal Of Prohibition Law Placed At Top Of Legislative Calendar For January Term

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—(AP)— Removal of federal prohibition enforcement laws from the statutes, books and revision of liquor taxes and tariffs yesterday were placed by Speaker Rainey at the top of the legislative calendar for the January session of Congress.

Although the Volstead Act would be nullified if the prohibition amendment were repealed, except for its application in the District of Columbia and its territories, Rainey said it should be eliminated.

Early action on a bill being prepared by the ways and means committee to increase the liquor taxes from $1.10 a gallon to between $2.50 and $3 was forecast.

SPECIAL REPORT

Regulation of The Stock Exchange

A complete outline and forecast of what the next session of Congress proposes to do in the matter of regulating the New York Stock Exchange (and the other 24 exchanges in the country) is presented in the current Collier's Weekly by John T. Flynn, economic adviser to Ferdinand Pecora of the Senate investigating committee.

"The Stock Exchange is about to be disciplined," declares Mr. Flynn. "Whatever else happens, we are about to see one of the most serious and formidable attempts ever made to bring the New York Exchange and all the other commodity exchanges under the regulation and control of government authority.

"Federal regulation of the exchanges is an inevitable step. It is impossible for a state to regulate an exchange. The exchange can move away. Federal regulation is the only kind which can be effective. To bring this about, the provisions of the Interstate Commerce law and the postal regulations will be invoked.

"The national government already exercises immense powers over speculation in grain and the exchanges where it takes place. The governors of the Stock Exchange can go into the books and private accounts of any stock broker to investigate his affairs. Now it will be proposed to give this authority to the federal government.

"In addition, the operations of brokers will doubtless be regulated. At present brokers act as commission agents for customers and at the same time speculate for themselves and also, in certain cases, act as houses of issue or dealers in securities. An effort will be made to put an end to this.

No exchange member will be permitted to combine all these functions.

As a matter of fact, there is no need on a stock exchange for anything but commission broker, who acts as the selling or buying agent of investors.

The trader who speculates for his own account—particularly the floor trader has no business on the exchange and an attempt will be made to do away with him.

The Senate Committee is now engaged in studies to find a way to put an end to margin trading. As a matter of fact, both margin trading and short selling are being considered together. Margin trading is far worse than short selling. One ought not to be meddled with unless the other is included.

If margin trading and short selling are ended, what will become of the stock exchange? The simple truth is that no elaborate and intricate mechanism is required for purely investment purposes. The great bulk of the funds brought into liquidity from securities is through the flotation of bonds. But there is no call money market for bonds and no short selling of bonds. All the immense business of buying and selling bonds is in reality carried on outside the Exchange and what is done there takes place in a small chamber at one side of the great trading floor. A space no bigger would be needed for the transactions between stock owners and true investors.

The aim of the Senate sub-committee will very likely be completely to dismantle the speculative mechanism of the exchanges. For one thing, an effort will be made to prohibit brokers from either borrowing at the banks or lending funds to their clients. Next, it is proposed to limit the extent on which banks can lend on securities. Third, the power of taxation may be invoked. Senator Glass' plan to levy a severe and graduated tax on shares which are sold within a short time of the date of purchase will be pushed. Short selling could be prohibited by law—that is, the sale of securities not actually owned by the seller at the time of sale could be made an offense.

Some attempt will be made to put an end to manipulation of shares by pools and syndicates and joint accounts, either for pure trading operations or for the purpose of making a market. The courts have already branded such operations as fraudulent in some cases. Laws will be proposed to make this impossible. Brokers will be subject to expulsion from the Exchange if they handle transactions like this. And their books will be open to government inspection at all times.

The Value Of Potatoes

The food which is the least expensive is not always the most economical. A good illustration of this well established fact is to be found in the potato, which is selling for a premium over certain other kinds of foods and yet because of its nourishing qualities can actually save the housekeeper money. In fact, the United States Bureau of Home Economics, in its low cost food guide, recommends potatoes every day in the week.

"Does that seem like too many potatoes?" asks the United States Daily. "It is not, the Bureau says; and the reason is, of course, the substantial food values you get for your money, plus the fact that most people like potatoes well enough to eat them often than any other vegetable."

Many people do eat them every day, just because they want to. That is true of white potatoes wherever they are cheap, and it is true of sweet potatoes, or yams, in their territory.

Some think of potatoes as meaning only Irish potatoes, white potatoes. To them sweet potatoes mean a different kind of food—sometimes they even serve both at one meal. That is not good practice, says the Bureau, for both are starchy vegetables.

In fact, although they seem to be different and are different in some respects, white potatoes and sweet potatoes are so much alike in food value that in planning a meal you can use either one in place of the other—paying due attention, of course, to the best combinations of flavor and color for the meal as a whole.

In other words you might prefer to use sweet potatoes with ham and white potatoes with beef—and you would be quite as well fed on one as the other. That is something to remember just now, because sweet potatoes which usually cost more than white potatoes in Northern markets are selling there for about the same price. In the South the sweets, or yams, nearly always sell for less than white potatoes. But for variety's sake it is good to change off now and then when you can.

Both kinds of potatoes are good energy and body building foods. The chief differences in food value are in the smaller quantity of sugar in the sweet potato, and of vitamin A. The sweet potato, in fact, is a very good source of vitamin A. The white potato, however, contains more iron. When it comes to variety of uses, the white potato is the best. You can use it in soups, in combination with many other vegetables and meats, and in salads. The white potato appears usually as a main vegetable dish, often in combination with fruits, or as dessert, in pie.

SANFORD FORUM

Sanford, Fla.

Dear Mr. Editor:
During the past few months I have talked with a number of persons, who seem alarmed about the safety of their insurance contracts. For this reason I desire, through The Herald, to furnish for the public information, what seems to me, very cheering and convincing facts as to the ultimate safety of old, well established legal reserve life insurance companies.

There is ONE structure that the world depression has not laid low or even weakened. It is legal reserve life insurance. An institution scientifically constructed to withstand financial storms and to last word in ultimate safety.

Calvin Coolidge once said, "An insured contract with an old, well established, legal reserve life insurance company, for safety, is comparable to Government Bonds."

The failure of a life insurance company can only occur through gross mismanagement. The principles underlying investment practice of life insurance companies restricts as to class of investments; no investment made in speculative securities; investments diversified as to kinds of securities and also geographically distributed. High interest bearing securities are often questionable, therefore insurance companies do not invest in such securities. On the other hand 3 to 3½% is all that is required to mature insurance contracts.

It is obvious that the eggs from all over must be proved sound before accepted but it must also be proved that the hen is a sound, perfect hen that lays the eggs, and then the eggs are classified and placed in a great number of baskets.

A legal reserve life insurance company has its assets in from a thousand to several thousand different investments, scattered all over the U. S.

Securities are purchased to hold and not to sell. Current premium and other income are always sufficient to meet normal outgo.

Safety of principal and the maturity value are the primary considerations. Fluctuations in market value are of minor importance.

The life insurance portfolio of the U. S. is made up of the gilt-edge securities of the nation.

A statement as of Jan. 1, 1933, of the combined holdings of fifty-two of the companies owning 91% of the total admitted assets of all the companies in this country, is a picture of financial solidity that should satisfy the most skeptical.

Here is the picture: Apportion on the same ratio to all companies:

Cash represents 1% or $200,000.

U. S. Bonds, State, County, Municipal and Canadian Bonds, 8.5%; Other Foreign Bonds, less than one tenth of 1%;

Railroad Bonds & Stock 15.6%;

Other Bonds & Stock 2.2%; Farm Mortgages 8.8%; Other Mortgages 27.4%; Real estate Holdings, including foreclosures, 4%; Collateral Loans, one tenth of 1%; Policy Loans, riskless 18.4% on entire portfolio;

Other Admitted Assets 3.4%; $20,000,000 Assets. First Mortgage on the basic wealth of this country. In the portfolio of investments, we find wide diversification in the best securities of the greatest nation in the world.

These assets form a financial basket worth more than $20,000,000, owned by 60,000,000 people.

"Safety First" is the primary principle that controls every insurance company in its investments of your money.

Virginia McDaniels Is Guest Of Honor

Honoring Miss Virginia McDaniels, whose marriage to Robert DeLoach of Deland will take place tomorrow morning at 9:30 o'clock at Holy Cross Episcopal Church, Mrs. F. E. Rummel entertained with a bridge party last night at her home on Palmetto Avenue.

Miss McDaniels received a gift from the hostess as a memento of the occasion.

A color scheme of green and gold was developed by vases and bowls of French marigolds and fern arranged about the room where the guests were entertained. The tables were designed in pastel shades. At the supper hour the tables were overlaid with gold colored linens cloths and centered with black vases of marigolds.

High score prize was awarded to Miss Rebecca Stevens and each went to Miss Margaret Wright. Assisting the hostess in serving refreshments was Mrs. Minnie Jones.

Those present were: Miss Virginia McDaniels, honor guest; Mrs. A. Douglas, Mrs. Minnie Jones, Mrs. Claude Herndon, Mrs. Allan Mooseley, Mrs. Ben Cantwell, Mrs. George Hardin, and the Misses Rebecca Stevens, Margaret Wright, Ellis Spencer, and Alice Elder.

MAN'S SIDE IN BUREAU OF RETAIL CODE

Not Termed Doubtful

Although All Are Glad It Was Signed

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—The day of free competition for small trade, signed recently by President Roosevelt, was hailed by New York and Brooklyn merchants as a great achievement, but it did not bring a smile to the faces of the big chain stores.

The leaders of the chain stores, who have been fighting the so-called "Retail Code," as far as possible, to the much-disputed "small trade" provision, were glad to see that the new and final version of the bill, which came into effect yesterday, was in accord in every respect with the "new and final version" of the most point of view.

They said that the code, which had been argued and discussed in retail circles and in Washington for the last four months, had been signed, and of how the settlement of controversial issues affected them, merchants declared that they would do their utmost to help the small trade, particularly the independent, family-owned business.

A group of merchants interpreted this ruling to mean that goods should be sold on the "basis plus whatever percent the Trade Authority might decide upon the actual wage of labor."

This becomes the accepted reading. It is possible, one authority stated, that the "Trade Authority" might, if it so desires, might be used as a basis and if so, he pointed out, the "basis" would likely be made higher than the 10 percent.

For the general average of pay all expenses in all departments stores amounted to 18.7 percent, according to the Retailers Association, which has 1,000 members.

It is the wages of the "other" employees, might be used as a basis and if so, he pointed out, the "basis" would likely be made higher than the 10 percent.

Hearst Engaged In Debate With Store NRA Policies

that everyone in this country was depressed. Monday, business pieces were at a low ebb. But what do we find to day? *

The secret of NRA is cooperation. In the days of the early days of depression, the NRA has been a subject in itself. We believe with our President, that our to day will not be over tomorrow, but we are on the right way, and are headed in the right direction.

His statement of Oct. 25, which began the discussion, and which his advertisement reflected, was that the "cost" of living was too high, and that there was no room for "inver cost." In other words, "that's that" that defined the NRA, even though he does not fit the Blue Eagle. *

AKERMAN HITS SMUGGLING

MIAMI, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Federal Judge Alexander Akerman today stepped down stepping "this amazement" when he sentenced James W. Akerman, 33, to three years and a fine of $1,000 for smuggling.

"We ourselves are employing men to smuggle and are paying many more thousands of dollars weekly in wages like recovery to us."

The NRA is simply a program of soil betterment, nothing else, and industry can expect and endure the program on NRA scale only after it has recovered, not before.

An editorial, which followed the letter by two days and which also was repeated in the ad, said "businessmen definitely on the back track, notwithstanding the administrative assault of the temporary legislation, the farm relief program, and the immensity of unemployment potential."

In fact, the smugling effect of the NRA has been so great that it is complete that's justifiable interpretation of the letters NRA would be that the NRA has been sold that previous policy had been a profit to the merchants a profit.

GOLD PRICE REACHES NEW HIGH FIGURE

While World Quotation Drops, Treasury Has Metal Boosted To $32.67 Per Ounce

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—(A.P.)—The world price of gold was lower today, but the RFC quotation for the newly-mined metal here went on to a new high, while dispatches from abroad indicated that the day saw no purchases in the bullion market there for the American government.

The London figure fell overnight from the equivalent of $32.57 to $32.08, but following their policy of constantly improving the domestic figure, administration officials raised it from $32.57 to $32.67 today.

Europe and America watched each other's markets Friday for effects of the Roosevelt gold buying program, and this is what they observed:

In relation to the British pound the American dollar declined and closed at $4.84 5-8, or 2 5-8 cents weaker than Thursday.

In Paris the dollar's final rate was 18.54 francs (8.845 cents to the franc), up 3 centimes from the previous close.

American commodity markets rose as the dollar declined. Wheat gained 1 5-8 to 2 3-8 cents. Corn was up 1 3-4 to 2 3-8 cents. Cotton went four points higher.

On the strength of these advances the stock market moved upward as well and closed one to three points better.

There was a slight drop in the London gold quotation to $32.29 on the basis of the early dollar quotation, but even so the bullion price was the highest since the administration started dealing in gold.

A figure of $32.57 was set for purchases of newly-mined domestic gold. This was 21 cents higher than Thursday.

In Berlin the American dollar was quoted at 2.69 marks (37.17 cents to the mark), in comparison with yesterday's rate of 2.705 marks (36.96 cents).

Hurston Singers Given Warm Reception Here

Zora Hurston and her chorus of local negro singers received a warm reception at the hands of an audience which had gathered in the City Hall last night to attend a benefit performance of "From Sun to Son," a musical story of the life of the average Negro railroad worker.

While Zora Hurston, as the author and producer of the show received considerable applause for her various appearances particularly in the African Fire Dance which came as a climax to the performance, the voice of Stafford Robinson, a baritone who led the group in most of his singing, was outstanding. His rendition of "Nobody Knows The Trouble I've Seen," "Old Black Joe," and "Bring Low Sweet Charlot" was accorded an enthusiastic reception.

Others in the cast were: A. H. Hicks, Millard Strickland, Alphonse Johnson, Louis Wright, Gabriel Brown, Robert Okena, Pauline Foster, Mattie Britt, Maggie Mae Fredericks, Willie Lee Hurston, Willie Louis Dorsey, George Nichols.

Following the performance Mrs. W. J. Hayton, of St. Petersburg, Florida, representative for the Harry A. Cole Memorial Home for crippled children briefly outlined the history of the Home, and invited the public to visit the 25 children who are now receiving treatment there. The proceeds of last night's performance went to the Home.

Pola Negri Humiliated Over Alleged Loss Of Her Panties To Play Boys Of Upper Crust

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Pola Negri, exotic star of screen and stage, has issued a vigorous denial that a pair of her stockings had been seized upon and exhibited as prize loot in high society's latest fad, a game called "scavenger hunt."

Miss Negri was fairly having fits at the Hotel Ambassador as a result of the episode, in which Henry J. Topping and Bobby La Branch of the social register, waved a pair of scanty panties her autograph before a large gathering of upper crust folk at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

"I," Miss Negri said, "am humiliated. I am deeply humiliated. I am perturbed. I am on the verge of taking drastic steps."

The scavenger hunt—a game which has achieved great popularity in Europe—was introduced to New York by Miss Elsa Maxwell, and the stepsies supposedly obtained from Miss Negri brought only second prize to their owners. Two live goats got first prize.

Some 300 leaders of New York society engaged in the first "scavenger hunt" held in this country. It brought a vast collection of oddities into the doggy parlors of the Waldorf-Astoria.

The contestants were given a long list of articles to be gathered by "sub" means or "fools and sent into the byways of the great city. They brought back virtually everything but the only of the man who wrote "The Last Roundup," and Mayor O'Brien's fourth chin.

They wrinkled their bushy brows when they read that a live goat was one of the items to be sought. Where, they demanded, could one find a live goat in New York? Yet the sum total of the departure had scarcely died down when in came two couples with goats, the judges, including Gene Tunney and Louis Bromfield, were as astounded that they divide first prize $500 among the goat-givers.

Recent Red Cross Work In County Is Outlined

Recent activities of the local Red Cross Chapter as they relate to the betterment of health and living conditions in this city were outlined this morning by Mrs. Linton E. Allen, Chapter member.

In combating the spread of colds among local persons, a total of 87 pounds of the 107 pounds of brewers yeast which the local chapter purchased have been distributed under doctor's orders.

An outstanding contribution of the Chapter during the past few months was the setting up of a negro clinic in home hygiene and care of the sick. This clinic was held at the Midway school, and 60 women were enrolled.

These women were instructed two days each week for four hours each day during the period Aug. 15–Sept. 29. Indicating that they were adept pupils, Mrs. Allen reports that on Sept. 19, Miss Ruth Mettinger of the state Red Cross headquarters visited the school on an inspection tour.

Miss Mettinger praised the capable handling of such a large class and the thorough teaching which was given. Upon asking questions of many of the pupils, she was given answers which she termed "Most satisfactory." All of the equipment for this school was purchased by the local Chapter.

QUICK RETURN TO GOLD BASIS OFFERED AS AID IS DEMANDED TO U.S. FARMER

NEW YORK Trade Body Solidly Opposed To Monetary Policies Now Being Pursued

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—(A.P.)—Demand that the federal government return to the gold standard was voiced yesterday by the state chamber of commerce in a resolution opposing adoption of a commodity dollar or other currency experiments.

The resolution was approved almost unanimously after J. E. Loker, head of the discovered and Hudson Railroad, waved a $20 bank note and said:

"The ending of the gold standard was as great a violation of trust and a denial of what is printed on that bill as Germany's wartime demand for Belgium's neutrality."

Attending the meeting was a special session called to discuss the administration's monetary policies.

WELL-known Wall Street bankers and New York industrialists.

A systematic resolution supporting President Roosevelt's policy of restoring the purchasing power of the United States was submitted by A. W. Henker, investment banker, but it was voted down.

The chamber cited the fact that the greatest importance to business recovery is the administration clearly and unequivocally announces that it will adopt an automatic commodity dollar or a managed commodity dollar or similar currency experiments, but when asked if Ford had agreed to the code he responded that he knew of no such agreement, and that he now knew of none.

If that view should be generally followed by officialdom, he said, a decision by Comptroller General McNeil overturning the order would throw a heavy spanner to those who have not taken affirmative action on a code.

In an accompanying report the committee on finance and currency said it would be "desirable" if it did not speak in favor of a policy of stabilization. A rise in prices, it maintained, is essential only if accompanied by a rise in the national income.

"We do not believe that a steady flow of savings and investment channels a process essential to the economic progress of civilization can be secured without a guarantee of monetary stability and of the recognition of the sanctity of all contracts and relations," read the resolution adopted.

U.S. FLEET WILL RETURN TO EAST EARLY IN SPRING

Atlantic Seaboard To See All Units For 1st Time Since 1930

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—(A.P.)—The United States fleet will be concentrated in the Atlantic next spring for the first time in at least four years.

President Roosevelt yesterday authorized the first line of defense to start steaming from the Pacific to the East Coast after the winter months. It will return to the Pacific in the fall.

The fleet, comprising the battle and scouting forces, the latter formerly known as the Atlantic fleet, have been stationed in the Pacific since the spring of 1932.

A year before they were together off the Panama canal. The two units were to be together again in May, 1930, when former President Hoover turned over his command to the Navy.

Reynolds turned the notes over to his attorney, Stratton Clegg, who communicated them to Sheriff Scott. The bureau of investigation of the department of justice was then notified of their receipt and federal officers came here from Charlotte to investigate.

In collaboration with deputies from the sheriff's office, the federal agents put the dummy package at the spot designated in the note at 1 A. M. yesterday. About 6 A. M. Lander came to the corner and after walking about the section for several minutes while the officers watched him from a hiding place he picked up the package. His arrest followed.

Coyner said members of the Reynolds family were not alarmed by the notes.

Reynolds told officers he hoped they would be lenient with Lander who has been ill.

Reynolds, eldest son of the late R. J. Reynolds, founder of the tobacco company which bears his name, is heir to approximately $20,000,000 of his father's estate which is now held in trust. He and Mrs. Reynolds, the former Elizabeth Dillard of Winston-Salem, were married last spring.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—(A.P.)—Puerto Rican senator yesterday of the Puerto Rican senate, yesterday Secretary of War Dern that activities of Robert H. Gore, in Puerto Rico, have brought the island to a semi-revolutionary state unknown since the remote days of Spain.

The senator declared the situation in Puerto Rico is the most ridiculous and dangerous development under the American regime solely because of the presence of Gore as governor.

Practically all units of the fleet except submarines, some of the base force aircraft and vessels undergoing overhaul are due to make the voyage.

The personnel to return will be slightly more than 60,000 enlisted men and 4000 officers.

There will remain on the west coast approximately 11,000 enlisted men and 900 officers aboard warships retained there.

The senator charged Gore's activities have transformed the most peaceful community in America into the place of turmoil and insecurity where bombastic and gun-toting has become common.
