Could Be Worst Single Plane Disaster In History

Japan Air Lines Jet Slams Into Mountain

TOKYO (UPI) — A Japan Air Lines jumbo jet carrying 524 people on a domestic flight slammed into a mountain and burst into flames today in central Japan after a cabin door blew open. There was no immediate report on casualties or survivors.

The Boeing 747 JAL Flight 123 was en route from Tokyo's Haneda Airport to the western city of Osaka when it went down off course in the district of Nagano some 45 minutes after its 6:12 p.m. (5:12 a.m. EDT) takeoff, officials said.

Japan Air Lines said the plane carried 509 passengers and a crew of 15. A JAL spokesman said 21 non-Japanese were aboard and issued preliminary identifications of 18 but further details were not immediately available.

JAL officials said the plane was packed with vacationers traveling for the Obon festival, a religious holiday week when Japanese visit family homes and pay respects to their ancestors.

If all the passengers aboard were killed, the crash would be the worst single plane accident and the second worst air disaster in aviation history. It would also be Japan's worst aviation disaster.

JAL officials said the pilot, Capt. Masami Takahama, 49, radioed at 6:39 p.m. that a back cabin door had burst its seal and the cabin had depressurized. He said he was diverting to attempt an emergency landing at the nearby U.S. Air Force base at Yokota.

The plane vanished from radar screens 20 minutes later.

A Japan Self-Defense Forces spokesman said the plane slammed into the 6,900-foot Mount Ogura near the village of Ikeimura, some 370 miles northwest of Tokyo, in the rural mountainous area.

Middle School Lot On City's Agenda

Rezoning For Stores Hotly Protested

By Rick Brunson
Herald Staff Writer

The controversial request for rezoning of 11 acres across from Sanford Middle School is scheduled to be taken up by the Sanford City Commission at a public hearing 7 p.m. today at city hall.

The Seminole County School Board is requesting the rezoning on behalf of Altamonte Springs developer Bob Hattaway who wants to build a shopping center, two small parks and a row of 20 duplexes on the property. Area residents strenuously object to the plan.

The school board declared the property surplus last year and wants to sell it so it will have more money to make improvements at Sanford Middle School. Hattaway wants to buy the land for $600,000, but needs it to be rezoned from single family residential to single family residential and commercial district so he can put his $3.5 million project there.

His plan calls for a 80,000-square foot center, which would include a 40,000 square foot grocery store and other smaller shops.

He would also build two small parks and a row of duplexes along Elm Street on the east side of the property. An alley would run north and south between 15th Street and 18th Street, giving access to the duplexes.

The city's Planning and Zoning Commission recommended July 18 by a 3-2 margin that the rezoning be approved.

But residents around the property are expected to show up in mass to voice opposition to the project, which they believe will create a traffic problem, devalue their property and generally disrupt life in their neighborhood.

It is unclear how the commission may vote on the proposal. Commissioners Milton Smith and Robert Thomas say they won't shove a shopping center on the residents if they don't want it.

Commissioner John Mercer said he favors Hattaway's plan being referred back for further consideration by the full P&Z board. At the board's July 18 meeting three members of the nine member body were missing and one member, Dr. Hortense Evans, abstained from voting because she works for the school board.

Mayor Bettye Smith and Commissioner Dave Farr said they will wait until the plan comes before the commission before commenting. Farr did say, however, he expects the meeting to be "jam-packed."

If the rezoning is denied the school board will decide Wednesday whether or not to grant Hattaway an extension of his Aug. 21 deadline to buy the property. If the school board does not give him more time it will start taking other offers for the property.

Another developer, Stanley Sandefur of Sandefur Properties, Sanford, has said he will give $410,000 for the property and build a bank on the corner of 18th Street and French Avenue and donate part of the land to the city to a park. He said he hasn't decided what he would do with the rest of the property.

Kindergarten Pupils, Parents Offered Bus Orientation

Seminole County school bus drivers are scheduled to provide this year's kindergarten students and their parents with a bus ride orientation at three locations on Friday and Saturday, August 23 and 24.

The orientations are scheduled to take place at Altamonte Elementary on Pine View Street, Altamonte Springs; Sanford Plaza, on U.S. Highway 17-92, Sanford; and Willa Springs Plaza, on Tuscahulla and Red Bug Roads, Casselberry, according to school district spokesman Karen Coleman.

The orientation at Altamonte Elementary School is scheduled from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. both days. The Sanford Plaza and the Willa Springs Plaza orientations are scheduled to be held from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. both days.

During the orientations, students, accompanied by their parents, will be invited to take a ride on a school bus to familiarize them with the experience.

School bus route information will be available for Seminole County students on the lower level center court at the Altamonte Mall, on the walkway area near J.C. Penney's at the Sanford Plaza, and on the walkway area near Publix at the Willa Springs Plaza. The Sanford Herald will be running the complete bus route schedule for all grades at a later date.

Last year, more than 21,000 students in Seminole County rode over three million miles in 214 buses with an outstanding safety record, Mrs. Coleman said.

"As this new school year approaches, we ask all motorists to use extra care and caution near school bus stops," said Superintendent of Schools Robert Hughes.

Union Carbide 'Bungled' Handling Of Chemical Leak

INSTITUTE, Va. (UPI) — Charleston Mayor Mike Roark accused Union Carbide today of not providing adequate information about a leak at its pesticide plant that unleashed a chemical cloud over four cities, sickening 149 people.

"They did not notify anybody other than making an initial call to the county," Roark said, "and the information that came from them was sparse to say the least. Somebody bungled the job."

Roark said he would seek a meeting with Union Carbide officials to convey his displeasure over their handling of the accident.

Union Carbide sounded its emergency sirens when the chemicals vented at 9:25 a.m. Sunday. Kanawha County officials declared an emergency and warned people to stay inside and turn off ventilation systems. Police closed two highways near the plant, some 10 miles from Charleston.

The yellow chemical cloud, which smelled like rotten eggs and rolled like a log over 20,000 residents in Institute, Dubois, Nitro and St. Albans, dissipated in 90 minutes, and county officials ended the emergency declaration about noon.

No one was seriously hurt, but 24 people were hospitalized overnight for observation. 119 were treated at five hospitals for burning eyes, lungs or nausea, and several others were examined at an emergency aid station.

Officials said nearly 500 gallons of a mixture of aldicarb oxime, dichloromethane, carbon monoxide, carbon dioxide and sulfur compounds being stored in a reactor tank vented into the air when a gasket failed and the tank pressurized.

Plant officials said aldicarb oxime is used to make Temik, a pesticide that also contains methyl isocyanate or MIC, the chemical that killed at least 1,700 people in Bhopal, India last December when it leaked from a Union Carbide plant.

Thad Epps, a Union Carbide spokesman, said there was no MIC in the chemicals that leaked Sunday, but added "I don't think this kind of incident can do anything but increase the public's concern."

Carl Beard, director of the state Air Pollution Control Commission, which has authority to close the plant, said investigators will check samples of the chemical cloud and go to the plant today to resolve "unanswered questions" about the accident.

South African Police Kill Youth

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — Police said they killed a black youth in Mamelodi and a man was found stabbed to death in Soweto today as racial violence flared following the funeral of slain civil rights lawyer Victoria Mxenge.

Police fired shotguns and tear gas at a mob of stone-throwing youths in the black township of Mamelodi, near Pretoria, killing a young black man and injuring a black man and woman.

Youths tossed gasoline bombs at buses and two private cars were badly damaged near Mamelodi, and a car was torched by mobs in nearby Ateridgeville, police said.

In Soweto, the huge black township outside Johannesburg, police said they arrested three youths who pelted police vehicles with rocks. Police said they found the body of a black man who was apparently stabbed to death.

U.S. Tells South Africa: End Apartheid Faster, JA

In other areas police said they clashed with youths hurling rocks and gasoline bombs. The latest deaths brought the death toll to 540 in nearly a year of racial violence across South Africa. About 100 people have died since the state of emergency was declared in 36 magisterial districts on July 21.

Enraged mourners attending the funeral of Mxenge Sunday stoned to death and burned a black police officer.

Police said two other blacks were burned to death Sunday in separate incidents near Pretoria.

ABBEVILLE, La. (UPI) — An omelet of 5,000 eggs wasn't enough so chef Paul Prudhomme added what every Cajun knows is the finishing touch — gallons of Tabasco sauce.

After 15 French chefs whipped up a 5,000-egg omelet — which also featured 420 onions, 75 green peppers, 52 pounds of butter, four gallons of scallions and two gallons of parsley along with other ingredients — Prudhomme stepped in.

"I think they'll be in for a good charge," Prudhomme said of his French counterparts. "They're used to eggs that just sit there. This Cajun cooking will really wake them up."

Prudhomme's omelet also started with 5,000 eggs but was flavored with gallons of Tabasco, bell peppers, onions, Louisiana peppers and Cajun spices.

The omelets were prepared in a 12-foot-wide skillet, which was custom-made by students at the Vermillion Parish Vocational Technical School.

School Board Moving Ahead On $100 Million Bond Issue

The Seminole County School Board Wednesday is expected to name an attorney and a fiscal agent for its proposed $100 million bond issue.

The bond issue must be approved by voters. A special election will be held in late October if the board meets state requirements in time.

The board voted to seek the bond issue in June.

Carey Farrell, assistant superintendent of finance, said the selection of the bond attorney is crucial to the stability of the bonds.

Many intricate, complicated laws govern the issuance of tax-exempt bonds, Farrell said. He said buyers will rate the bonds higher if a well-known reputable attorney has done the legal work.

"The bond attorney specializes in the issuance of tax-exempt bonds," Farrell said. "He reviews the laws, issues opinions and helps set the ratings," Farrell explained.

School Board Attorney Ned Julian is in the process of interviewing several attorneys. See BONDS, page 8A

Federal Buildings Checked For PCB-Leaking Transformers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Government auditors are inspecting electrical transformers in federal buildings nationwide checking for possible leaks of cancer-causing PCBs that, in a fire, would emit highly toxic dioxin, officials say.

The audits were planned before leaky transformers filled with PCB oil were found July 18 in museums of the Smithsonian Institution in Washington and at the White House 11 days later, said Dan Peysner, counsel to the Inspector General of the General Services Administration.

PCBs, or polychlorinated biphenyls, have been shown to cause cancer in laboratory tests and, when burned, emit dioxin — one of the most toxic substances known to man.

Medical studies have shown an increased risk of heart disease and cancer in some groups exposed to dioxin.

Half of GSA's estimated 1,800 transformers cooled with liquids containing PCBs are in or near federal buildings in the Washington area, agency officials said.

Used in the White House, Pentagon and State Department, installation of the equipment was barred by Congress in most cases in the late 1970s.

Nationally, 140,000 are in use, with more than half — 77,000 — in densely occupied structures built before the mid-1970s, such as shopping complexes, stadiums, office and large apartment buildings, said Lenise Keehner, an EPA official.

'Safe Sex' Could Stem AIDS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Eight cities have been awarded $145,000 from the U.S. Conference of Mayors to help pay for anti-AIDS projects to cut the incidence of the deadly disease.

The awards were announced Sunday as the head of the Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta said the best way to stop the spread of AIDS is for the government to persuade Americans to "develop a socially acceptable type of sex — safe sex."

The conference grants are to be used to continue a public education drive against acquired immune deficiency syndrome, a spreading viral disease that destroys the body's natural immune defenses and is normally fatal.

Dr. James Mason, who as head of the CDC is leading the U.S. battle against AIDS, said Sunday, "We know how this disease is transmitted. And if we can convince people to shift their lifestyle, if people will develop a socially acceptable type of sex — safe sex — a single, monogamous relationship, then we can stop the transmission of this disease in its tracks."

R.I. Keeps V-J Day Official

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) — Generations divided by the nuclear age clash over today's observance of the Allies' victory over Japan, which remains a state holiday in Rhode Island 40 years later.

Rhode Island adopted V-J Day as a state holiday in 1946, as did many other states. But states have since dropped the holiday one by one and the nation's smallest state is the only one where it is still celebrated.

The actual 40-year anniversary is Aug. 15, and today's holiday marks just another three-day weekend for many Rhode Islanders. State offices are closed but most businesses remain open. Unlike Memorial Day or July 4th, there are few, if any, parades or memorial services scheduled.

Bombing Of Village Called A 'Disgrace, Mistake'

DULCE NOMBRE DE MARIA, El Salvador (UPI) — The Army bombed the northern village of El Ocotal in a region of heavy guerrilla activity, killing a woman and her two children and wounding 10 other civilians, according to residents.

Witnesses told United Press International Sunday an army major came to the hamlet of El Ocotal, some 10 miles north of Dulce Nombre de Maria and about 40 miles northeast of San Salvador, to apologize for the Tuesday bombing.

"He told us it was a disgrace, and that something like that would not happen again," said one man, a resident of El Ocotal. The villager said the army officer did not identify himself.

"He said it was a miscalculation and a mistake of the pilots, and that if we wanted to stay there, the government would give us help," the resident of El Ocotal said.

Rock Idol Escapes Sailing Death

LONDON (UPI) — Simon Le Bon, lead singer for the chart-topping pop group Duran Duran, narrowly escaped death when his yacht capsized during a race, trapping Le Bon and five crewmen in the overturned cabin for 40 minutes.

"It was a terrible, frightening experience. But it's not put me off sailing," Le Bon said after he was pulled from his capsize vessel Sunday off the Cornish coast.

Le Bon was asleep below deck when the vessel's keel sheared off in 50-mph winds off southwestern England. Eighteen of the 24 crew members managed to climb onto the overturned vessel, Drum of England.

Le Bon and five companions were trapped in an air bubble in waist-deep, oily water for 40 minutes before a diver for the Royal Navy rescued them.

All 24 members of the crew were reported to be in good condition, but some showed signs of hypothermia, and one man had a cut on his head.

The Drum of England was among leaders in the grueling 600-mile Fastnet Race when the accident occurred. Experienced yachtsmen said vessel must have struck a rock.

Year-Old Search Goes On For Kidnapped Paperboy

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI) — Eugene Martin's "Welcome Home" cake sits frozen in his parents' refrigerator, a painful reminder of the peaceful, still-dark morning the 13-year-old paperboy vanished a year ago today.

"It's for Gene when he comes home. He's going to get the first bite," said Donald Martin, the boy's father.

Martin believes his son is still alive, despite a frustrating search that has failed to uncover any tangible leads since Eugene last was seen Aug. 12, 1984.

Police believe Eugene was sitting on a curb folding the Des Moines Sunday Register when he apparently was abducted in a case hauntingly similar to the 1982 kidnapping of another missing paperboy, Johnny Gosch, 12.

Pictures of the two boys still can be found throughout the Midwest on telephone poles, grocery sacks, milk cartons and semi-trailer trucks.

But the special "Find Eugene Martin" hotline set up by the police department has been disconnected. And the changes in the lives of Donald and Sue Martin have been bigger than they ever imagined.

Before Eugene disappeared Martin said he and his wife "were gone all the time." Now they stay at home nights and wait by the telephone, "which eventually is going to ring with the answers," he said.

Martin said when he goes to the shopping center and sees a screaming youngster being grabbed by an adult, "I start thinking evil things. Are they snatching this kid? There's no apparent cause for alarm. I never used to think that way."

Sue Martin said she has become wary of strangers and fears for the safety of her 6-year-old daughter and 17-year-old son.

"If somebody came into the yard and I didn't know them I wouldn't hesitate to shoot," she said.

Both Eugene and Johnny left their darkened homes to deliver the Sunday newspaper a few blocks away on the mornings they were kidnapped. Although similarities exist — Gosch disappeared about 7 miles from where Eugene did — investigators have been unable to officially link the cases.

There were no signs of violence in either incident, just a yellow newspaper carrier bag and a bundle of unfolded papers nearby.

Like the Gosches, the Martins have at times been critical of police working on the case. They say authorities lacked sufficient training to act quickly when the disappearances were reported.

"They know how to handle an armed robbery or a fight, but when it comes to missing children they don't know," he said.

"The answers that would break this case wide open are laying on some police officer's desk. They are not using the information."

The Martins have collected more than $10,000 from rummage sales and donations but have used the money to pay private investigators, so not much money remains, Don Martin said.

"We would just like to have whoever is responsible let us know where Gene is. If he's dead we would like to give him a decent burial," Martin said. "We could care less who this person is. Maybe he could show a shred of decency."

3 Days Of Vicious Fighting Subsidies

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Three days of bloody shelling and street fighting between rival Christian and Moslem militias subsided today after 10 people were killed and at least 55 wounded in the worst fighting in eight weeks.

A military official of a cease-fire committee said sporadic shelling between militias that continued in early morning hours today ended before dawn.

Fighting along the Green Line that divides Beirut into Christian and Moslem sectors was limited to machine gun fire, security officials said.

Shopkeepers replaced their shattered windows while shocked residents of Beirut's southern suburbs salvaged what they could from apartments set ablaze by salvos of rockets, mortars and artillery shells.

Security sources said at least 10 people were killed and 55 wounded in fighting since Saturday, the bloodiest fighting to grip Beirut in eight weeks.

West Beirut's American University Hospital reported "a number" of dead that were not included in the official death toll but were brought to the hospital.

Security officials said one person was killed and four others were injured by shells that struck the wooded campus of American University of Beirut.

Rockets, mortars and heavy artillery battered most areas of the city Sunday and families were forced to spend a third night in hot basements and shelters.

The shelling and street fighting raged despite a Syrian-backed security plan to end militia fighting that went into effect July 14.

Casselberry Man Jailed In Stabbing, Coke Possession

A Casselberry man accused of stabbing another man in the chest has been charged with aggravated battery and possession of cocaine. He was also charged with battery on a law enforcement officer after he allegedly tried to bite a policeman and kicked the officer on the leg.

Casselberry police responded to a reported knifing at 186 Southern Drive at about 9 p.m. Sunday. Michael W. McFarland, 24, of that address, told police two men who had left his home had been involved in a dispute and one had stabbed the other in the chest.

Police said they saw blood on the floor and found a paring knife in the kitchen sink, which McFarland claimed had been used in the attack.

The victim, Phillip Andre Harrison, 29, of 186 Southern Drive, was found by police at 700 Sandpiper Apartments, Casselberry. He was transported to Florida Hospital-Altamonte Springs where a stab wound to his chest was stitched up, the report said.

The suspect was traced by police to 140 N. Triplet Drive, Casselberry, where he was arrested at 9:59 p.m. While being questioned at the Casselberry police station the man allegedly tried to bite a police officer. Failing that, he kicked the officer, the report said.

Police questioning McFarland at his home reportedly found a mirror covered with a thin line of cocaine on a table. The suspect charged in the assaults was also charged with possession of cocaine. And police have requested the State Attorney's Office to issue warrants for McFarland and Harrison on a possession of cocaine charge, the report said.

Elmo Dean Goodson, 23, of 900 N. Triplet Drive, was being held in lieu of $13,000 bond.

POLICE HEAR ATTACK

Sanford police who heard a man hitting a woman inside a Sanford home when they responded to a disturbance call charged the man with battery and breach of the peace.

Police said they heard the man's girlfriend, who was not identified in a police report, trying to get to the door to let them into the home on Fifth Street, as they tried to get into the home.

Action Reports

The man was hitting the woman and using very loud and vulgar language, a police report said.

Billy Lee Cotton, 30, of 33 William Clark court, Sanford, was arrested at 8 p.m. Friday on 5th Street at Laurel Avenue. He was being held in lieu of $500 bond.

TIRE IRON ARMED

A man who was chased from a Longwood Winn Dixie with reportedly stolen goods, turned on the store manager who was pursuing him and tried to hit him with a tire iron before other Winn Dixie employees assisted the manager and helped hold the suspect for police.

The man reportedly ran from the store 140 U.S. Highway 17-92 to the parking lot at about 5:30 p.m. Friday. He reportedly took a tire iron from a car in the lot and tried to hit the manager who had chased him from the store, a Longwood police report said.

The suspect was subdued and held by Winn Dixie workers until police arrived and charged the suspect with armed robbery.

Sampson Lee Sharpe, 38, of Orlando, was being held without bond in the Seminole County jail.

THIRD ATTACKER JAILED

A third Sanford man accused of taking part in the robbery and baseball bat beating of a Sanford woman has been arrested.

Arthur Mitchell, 25, of 501 Sanford Ave., arrested at 9:17 p.m. Friday at the Seminole County jail, is the third man arrested in connection with the attempted purse-snatching which sent victim Barbara Cooper of Route 5, Box 624-13, to the hospital. She was treated for severe injuries received when the robbers beat her while trying to take her purse.

The attack occurred at 8:45 p.m. Aug. 6 as Ms. Cooper was leaving the Sun Travel Agency, 2311 S. French Ave., after cleaning the office, according to Sanford police.

FIRE CALLS

The Sanford Fire Department responded to the following calls.

Thursday

—3:32 a.m., 819 Pecan Ave., rescue. A woman of unknown age had a possible seizure. She was taken to the hospital.

—4:43 a.m., 132 Hayes Drive, rescue. A 77-year-old woman who had difficulty breathing refused treatment.

—7:07 a.m., 750 W. Ninth St., rescue. A man of unknown age was found lying in a field next to the Sanford Police Department. He had swollen ankles but no other apparent injuries. He was taken to the hospital.

—8:54 a.m., 600 Persimmon Ave., rescue. A 60-year-old woman slipped and fell while getting off the Auto Train. The woman, who already had a foot injury, was taken to the hospital for treatment of her bleeding foot.

—1:40 p.m., 712 W. 25th St., rescue. An 87-year-old woman who possibly injured her hip was taken to the hospital.

—2:52 p.m., French Avenue and Seminole Boulevard, rescue. A 32-year-old woman suffered pain in her knee after she was involved in an auto accident. Diane Weeks, of 1273 Anderson St., Sanford, went to the hospital on her own.

—5:32 p.m., 4300 S. Orlando Drive, rescue. A 15-year-old girl, who had possible emotional problems was taken to the hospital.

Friday

—1:01 a.m., 20th Street and French Avenue, rescue. A 45-year-old woman in an auto accident was taken to the hospital. Sandy Strang, of 115 Country Club Drive, Sanford, was treated for cuts on her head.

—1:31 a.m., 20th Street and French Avenue, rescue. A 23-year-old man was treated for cuts on his forehead after he was in an auto accident. Glen Davis, of 810 W. 25th St., Sanford, was not taken to the hospital.

—7:02 a.m., McCracken Road and Persimmon Avenue, rescue. A 28-year-old woman suffered neck and arm pains after she was in an auto accident. Theresa Ranson, of #91 Seminole Gardens apartments, was taken to the hospital.

—10:42 a.m., 700 Bay Ave., rescue. A 74-year-old man with a recurring cervical vascular problem was taken to the hospital.

The Winter Park man reportedly gave the drug-filled bill to a dancer at the House of Babes, U.S. Highway 17-92. The dancer turned it over to the club's manager who called Seminole County sheriff's deputies, a sheriff's report said.

When deputies arrived at the club at about 4 a.m. Saturday and escorted the suspects out, the Winter Park man reportedly dropped on the ground a second bill believed to contain cocaine, the report said.

The Winter Park man's companion was also questioned and arrested, the report said.

Edward Joseph Gerrits, 27, of 7514 G. Eschen Circle, Winter Park, and Michael Daniel Beclaro, 28, of Milford, Mass., were being held in lieu of $8,000 bond each.

WEATHER

AREA FORECAST: Today partly sunny. A chance of afternoon thunderstorms. High in the low to mid 90s. East wind 5 to 10 mph. Rain chance 40 percent. Tonight isolated evening thunderstorms then mostly fair. Low in the lower 70s. Light wind. Rain chance less than 20 percent. Tuesday partly sunny. A chance of afternoon thunderstorms. High in the low to mid 90s. Southeast wind 5 to 10 mph. Rain chance 40 percent.

NATIONAL REPORT: Thunderstorms continued today over much of the Midwest and in parts of the South and the West, bringing at least one tornado and hitting some areas with high winds. Thunderstorms and rain showers stretched from Wisconsin and the upper Mississippi valley across the northern half of the Plains. Rain was also scattered over Florida, Alabama, New Mexico and Colorado. Late afternoon and evening thunderstorms Sunday produced a tornado near Quinn, S.D., and winds of more than 80 mph at Philip, S.D. Philip Police Chief Andy Hulm said sheds and buildings were blown over and porches were blown off by the winds, which he said were the aftermath of a funnel cloud spotted 25 miles west of Philip. Golf ball-size hail and almost 2.5 inches of rain was reported south of Valentine, Neb. The storms also caused street flooding in Elgin, N.D., and Leipzig, N.D., while the area south of Bismarck, N.D., got up to 4 inches of rain in a two-hour period Sunday evening. A flash flood watch remained in effect Monday morning over the southwestern valleys and west-central mountains of New Mexico.

Congressional Members Taking Far-Flung Vacations

WASHINGTON (UPI) — At least 21 senators and 48 House members are visiting far-flung places at taxpayers' expense during the August congressional recess, with the Far East the most popular destination and the world's hot spots the least visited.

A survey of all 100 Senate offices, all House committees and several key House members found that virtually all of the 69 traveling legislators who are billing their trips to taxpayers are avoiding trouble spots in the Middle East, Central America and South Africa in favor of calmer locations in Europe and Asia.

A number of other members of Congress are traveling abroad but their trips are being paid for privately.

It could not be determined how much the travel will cost, but it is expected to run into the millions. Congress spent $22 million on travel in 1983, an investigation by UPI and the Better Government Association found.

Sen. Don Nickles, R-Okla., has filed a bill to cut down on "frivolous and extravagant" congressional travel. "I think a majority, but not all, of congressional travel is a waste of tax dollars," he said.

Rep. Stephen Solarz, D-N.Y., a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, is visiting riot-plagued South Africa, at taxpayers' expense, and also will tour Zimbabwe, Mozambique, Kenya, Nigeria, Zaire and, possibly, Angola during his nearly three week trip, which began Aug. 4. Rep. Norm Shumway, R-Calif., also left for South Africa on Aug. 5 but his trip is being paid for by several South African business groups.

The UPI survey found taxpayer-funded trips to Europe, Asia and South America, but none to Central America or the Middle East. Sens. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., and Chic Hecht, R-Nev., are now on a 10-day, privately financed visit to Israel.

A Hecht aide said the trip was being paid for by "some conservative Jewish organization," which wanted "to improve relations between Israel and Jesse Helms," a ranking Republican on the Foreign Relations Committee who opposes foreign aid, including billions of dollars in U.S. aid to Israel.

Senate Republican leader Robert Dole, R-Kan., and six other senators are taking a two-week trip to China, Taiwan, Korea, Hong Kong and Japan Aug. 15-29 to discuss the enormous U.S. trade deficit with Far East leaders.

Accompanying Dole are Sens. Daniel Patrick Moynihan, D-N.Y., Pete Domenici, R-N.M., Pete Wilson, R-Calif., James McClure, R-Idaho, William Cohen, R-Maine and Daniel Evans, R-Wash.

Senate Democratic Leader Robert Byrd, D-W.Va., is leading seven other senators on a trip to the Soviet Union and Hungary Aug. 27 through Sept. 4. The delegation is scheduled to meet in Moscow with Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev in advance of Gorbachev's summit meeting with President Reagan in Geneva Nov. 19-20.

Accompanying Byrd are Sens. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., Sam Nunn, D-Ga., George Mitchell, D-Maine, Dennis DeConcini, D-Ariz., Paul Sarbanes, D-Md., Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., and John Warner, R-Va. All will not continue to Hungary.

Other senators taking taxpayer-financed trips include Jeff Bingaman, D-N.M., who visited the Soviet Union Aug. 2-10 to discuss arms control and to visit Soviet research facilities; Intelligence Committee Chairman David Durenberger, R-Minn., to Stockholm, Zurich, Munich, Bonn and Heidelberg and, privately, to Poland Aug. 2-17; Phil Gramm, R-Tex., to Japan, Korea and Hawaii Aug. 4-15 to study Pacific military command structure; Russell Long, D-La., who is retiring in 1986, to Japan, Hong Kong and Korea Aug. 6 through early September to discuss trade; Ted Stevens, R-Alaska, to Geneva Aug. 2-29 for conferences on disarmament and nuclear non-proliferation; Edward Zorinsky, D-Nebr., to Ottawa, Canada Sept. 2-9, for the Interparliamentary Union.

In addition, Sen. John Glenn, D-Ohio, is taking a 10-day tour of Air Force bases and "Star Wars" research facilities in the United States.

Of the 31 senators up for re-election in 1986 (three are retiring), only Dole is traveling overseas this summer. Most others are staying close to home.

In the House, Speaker Thomas O'Neill, D-Mass., also is staying home but Majority Leader Jim Wright, D-Tex., is leading 12 congressmen to Yugoslavia, Geneva and Italy Aug. 8-22. Six members of the Agriculture Committee are visiting Russia Aug. 3-17 while 10 Armed Services Committee members are visiting Tunisia, Spain, Morocco, Portugal and Yugoslavia.

Scientists Study Ohio Murder Rates

Focus On Why Relatives Kill Each Other

COLUMBUS (UPI) — Ohio health scientists will use their epidemiological investigative techniques to try to reduce the number of murders and aggravated assaults in the state.

The Ohio Department of Health has started a study of homicides and aggravated assaults, looking for common factors that, if changed, might mean fewer such incidents, the Columbus Dispatch reported.

The investigation will center on domestic homicides involving close friends or relatives, said Frank Holtzhauser, chief of the state health department's section which investigates causes and controls of epidemics.

Researchers will compare the information they gather with incidents in which people are shot, but not killed, Holtzhauser said.

Homicides and aggravated assaults from Cleveland, Columbus and Dayton during 1983 and 1984 will be studied. Researchers will review police records and interview as many convicted murderers as possible.

"There is a lot of aggregate data on homicides available, but not much specific information," Holtzhauser said. "We know that being poor, young, and black are risk factors."

"We want to identify other factors, like education, job, prior history of violence, weapon used, caliber of weapon, type of bullet, intent — all sorts of things."

"We want to know what prompted one person to reach for the handgun, while the other didn't," he said.

The results of the study will help officials assess whether similar investigations might have an impact on such issues as child abuse and domestic violence.

Colombian Crime Families Take Over Miami Drug Trade

MIAMI (UPI) — Colombian "criminal families" are the new organized crime threat to the United States and have pushed the Costa Nostra out of South Florida's lucrative drug trade, says Miami's top organized crime fighter.

"We have some indication that the Costa Nostra is trying to trade heroin for cocaine dealing here," said Arthur Nehrbaas, director of Metro-Dade County's Organized Crime Bureau.

"But our intelligence says the Costa Nostra are afraid of the Colombians. So the Costa Nostra is staying with the northeast heroin trade."

Nehrbaas, a former FBI special agent, said the Colombian criminals are members of 14-25 loosely defined "families" in Miami and South America.

"Colombians are in Miami and Los Angeles and they'll be moving in the next five years to Houston and New Orleans," Nehrbaas told members of Sigma Delta Chi professional journalists society.

"The day is coming that this country will have the same problems with the Colombians as they had with the Cosa Nostra."

The crime chief said "incredible" amounts of cocaine are entering the United States, with 70 percent of all seizures occurring in Dade County. Miami and Dade County have a "double curse" in the fight against drugs, he said, because the area is a primary center for both importing and distributing cocaine.

According to the Drug Enforcement Administration, 4,400 kilograms of cocaine was seized nationally in 1982, 7,300 kilograms in 1983 and 11,742 kilograms in 1984. In the first six months of this year, in south Florida alone, over 13,000 kilograms of cocaine was seized, more than in the entire country last year.

Forty percent of Dade's homicide's are drug related, he said, attributing to the area's label as the nation's murder capital.

"That tells you there are professional killers here. In Dade County, you're as safe from being murdered as anywhere else — unless you are involved in drugs."

Support For Sanctions Growing

U.S. To S. Africa: End Apartheid Faster

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI) — The administration is warning South Africa that its failure to move away faster from apartheid could leave President Reagan powerless to stop a growing American backlash to its racial policies.

As Reagan began a 23-day California vacation Sunday, White House spokesman Larry Speakes confirmed a high-level delegation of U.S. officials delivered that blunt message to South African officials last week in Vienna.

While indicating Reagan still may veto economic sanctions expected to be approved by Congress after its summer recess, the U.S. officials warned an override could be in the wind unless Pretoria acts in the next few weeks to alter its policies.

"The president's decision on whether to veto or not to veto will be based on his own personal opinion as far as the pros and cons of sanctions — the advisability of the legislation," Speakes said.

At the same time, he said the U.S. delegation in Vienna, headed by national security adviser Robert McFarlane, made the South Africans aware that "the realities of the situation" point to passage of a sanctions bill with strong backing on Capitol Hill.

The hope of sustaining a veto of such legislation, he said, "then depends on what the mood of Congress and the public understanding is."

Underlying the assessment delivered in Vienna was a recognition by the administration that public patience around the world with the South African government has been tried by the bloodshed reported since the imposition of a state of emergency July 21.

Reagan said last week some provisions of the sanctions bill "could be helpful" in fostering change in South Africa but sanctions generally "would be harmful" not only to blacks in that country but also surrounding nations with close economic ties.

The legislation would ban bank loans, importation of the gold Kruggerand coin and the sale of nuclear technology and computers.

Speakes said Reagan remains committed to the diplomatic approach of his policy of "constructive engagement" on grounds "that the only way we can have influence" with the South African government.

One official said McFarlane told South African officials that Americans and Congress have "a relatively superficial view of the nature of the problem in South Africa" but believe the

Robert McFarlane ... 'U.S. and Congress have a relatively superficial view of the nature of the problem'

United States should take action to see that "legitimate black grievances" are addressed by the white-minority government.

Vietnam To Turn Over Remains Of 26 MIAs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vietnam will turn over the remains of 26 Americans listed as missing in action — the largest number of bodies returned since the end of the Vietnam War, the Pentagon says.

The action will take place in Hanoi Wednesday and the remains will be flown to the Army's Central Identification Laboratory in Hawaii for identification and subsequent return to relatives, the Pentagon said.

Vietnam has returned the remains of less than a dozen bodies at one time and the turnover of 26 will be the largest ever since the United States withdrew from South Vietnam in 1973.

In addition, the Hanoi government will provide information and evidence about six other MIAs, a Pentagon statement said.

U.S. officials traveling with Secretary of State George Shultz said in Hong Kong July 6 that Vietnam pledged to return the remains of 26 American servicemen. The Pentagon statement Friday confirmed the Vietnamese promise.

The United States Friday proposed a high-level delegation of Americans travel to Hanoi to resolve the question of Americans still listed as missing in action in Southeast Asia.

But a State Department spokesman said the U.S. delegation would focus exclusively on the humanitarian issue of the MIAs.

Apartheid Question

President Reagan often utters platitudes about justice and opportunity for all, but where was he when the United Nations Security Council voted against South Africa's apartheid policy?

The United States, like Great Britain, abstained; we did not vote on the issue. Every other nation voted for it, and it passed 13-0.

So there we stand in the world community taking no position against South Africa's abhorrent treatment of a group of human beings who live in that country.

France sponsored the resolution in the Security Council, calling it the "gravest warning" to South Africa to end its official policy of denying basic civil rights to blacks. This policy, known as apartheid, has led to the current violence in South Africa. The government has invoked emergency powers and arrested more than 1,000 black activists.

Voluntary sanctions against South Africa were all that the resolution proposed; there was nothing mandatory about it. Still, the Reagan administration refused to commit itself by voting for it.

Five possible actions were suggested in the resolution. These involved stopping: (1) any new investments in South Africa, (2) imports of gold coins, (3) guaranteed export loans, (4) contracts for nuclear programs and (5) sales of computers that could be used by police or the army.

The United States, according to the State Department, already has established a policy prohibiting the sale of computers that in any way could be used to support apartheid and prohibiting any assistance with nuclear weapons.

Chester A. Crocker, assistant secretary of state for African affairs, testified before a House subcommittee this year:

"The helicopters flying South African soldiers and police are not American. The nuclear power plants outside Cape Town are not American. Computers used by security forces and apartheid-enforcing agencies are not American.

"We have in place strong and effective policies that distance our country from such fields, sending both a tangible and symbolic signal that is clearly understood in South Africa."

If so, then we ought to have no hesitation about supporting a resolution calling on other nations to do likewise. Our abstention at the U.N. highlights our ambivalence.

We cannot be only halfway committed to a policy against apartheid any more than a woman can be only half pregnant; we either are or we are not.

President Reagan needs to speak out, and act, in a meaningful way against oppression wherever it may exist. We don't need any moral hair-splitting.

BERRY'S WORLD

DICK WEST

Psychoanalyzing The Half-Volley ...

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Among the books featured in the new fall Workman catalog is one called "Sex as a Sublimation for Tennis." I quote from the publisher's blurb:

"...we can now savor, the primitive taboo of the foot fault and agonize over the psychopathology of mixed doubles.

"...the repressed incestuous conflict of net play proves that man's basic drive is for tennis courts available in prime time."

Without disputing the need for such a book, particularly if it includes any tips on how to find vacant courts, I still believe the Freudian overtones of tennis have been overplayed.

It is all very well to observe that tennis matches generally last longer than sexual encounters, but that doesn't really prove anything. Permit me to point out that even in mixed doubles swapping partners after play has started is considered bad form.

Except in California, where anything goes apparently, there is seldom an odd number occupying the same court. The rules about that sort of thing are very strict.

There may indeed be a certain amount of "repressed incestuous conflict" involved in net play and it is true that some mixed doubles partners move to the net "in tandem," so to speak.

It may be added, however, that only two players are found on a given side of the net at any given time.

All in all, I would classify tennis as one of the most puritanical sports around.

The Oedipus complex, for example, is extremely rare. Male tennis players seldom choose a female parent as a role model, unless their mothers happen to be descended from Alice Marble or somebody like that.

As for "swinging singles," it's tough to play singles without swinging at the ball occasionally.

I hardly need add that the basic drive for vacant tennis courts in prime time usually can be sublimated by joining a country club.

To my knowledge, the only element the least bit Freudian that has been brought into the game in recent years is the so-called tiebreaker. I'll concede there is something kinky about ending a set in this fashion.

The "victors" — and I use the quotes advisedly — surely can't find anything terribly satisfying about winning a tiebreaker. Emerging on top is more likely to create frustrations.

Sigmund Freud probably could have had a field day with the change in the tiebreaking process. Basically, however, I consider tennis as being more political than a manifestation of sexual aberrations and hangups.

Make what you will of the primitive taboo aspects of the foot fault, putting one or more feet prematurely over the service line can be an egregious error for a politician.

I have always felt that former Rep. Paul Findley's rather blatant foot faulting was the main reason he lost his congressional seat in 1982.

The voters in Findley's home district in Illinois might have tolerated a defensive job occasionally, but his serving style simply was more than they could bear.

Tick Borne Disease A Worry

By Gino Del Quercio
UPI Science Writer

BOSTON (UPI) — A rapid increase in the number of tick-borne illnesses, particularly in the Northeast but in other parts of the country as well, has public health specialists concerned.

Of particular concern is Lyme disease, an illness first identified during an epidemic in Lyme, Conn., in 1975, which sometimes leads to long-term heart disease and arthritis.

Since its identification, Lyme disease has been found in 14 states mostly concentrated in the Northeast, upper Midwest and the Pacific coast.

Also of concern is babesiosis, a generally mild illness that can turn deadly when victims are 60 years or older, especially if their spleens have been removed or are malfunctioning.

"We're beginning to see thousands of cases a year," said Dr. Andrew Spielman, a professor of tropical public health at the Harvard School of Public Health, who is the leading authority on the transmission of these two diseases.

Both are transmitted to humans by a tick called Ixodes dammini. Also called the Northern deer tick, it lives its adult life on deer.

The tick's dependence on deer explains why the disease is becoming more common. By the turn of the century the northern deer had almost been eliminated from the Northeast because the area's forests had been cut down for farming.

As farming became less common in the Northeast, the forests regrew and the deer became abundant once again.

Other ticks are spreading common tick-borne diseases such as equine encephalitis, Rocky Mountain spotted fever and canine heart worm, which may be transmitted to humans by mosquito.

"They appear with alarming regularity in New England and some are deadly," said an article in the Health Sciences Report, published by the Harvard School of Public Health. "Disastrous epidemics are possible, in the view of health authorities and Harvard scientists."

"Even the desert armadillo, host of leprosy, is extending its range into colder and moister regions. The nonhuman residents of the Northeast threaten to share their diseases with the human inhabitants."

WASHINGTON — A decade ago, an American agent penetrated a previously unknown, top-secret Soviet military base in the Urals. The spy described the base in minute detail, according to a Central Intelligence Agency report.

He charted railways, machine shops and laboratories. He even reported that "an unusual proportion of women" were working at the facility.

James Bond should be so successful. Unlike his fictional counterpart, this agent was not particularly bold or dashing. He didn't parachute deep into Soviet territory or even slip across the Iron Curtain under cover of darkness.

In fact, America's agent was Patrick Price, a bulky, balding ex-police commissioner from Burbank, Calif. — the spawning

WILLIAM RUSHER

Monitoring The Right

Group Research Inc. is a liberal Washington outfit that keeps tabs on the conservative movement and the more extreme right. From time to time it publishes a newsletter called Group Research Report, summarizing the activities of various conservative organizations and individuals, presumably for the benefit of other liberals concerned about their evil antics. I enjoy reading the Report myself, however, just for the encouragement it gives me. Without it, I would never suspect how well we're doing.

Usually, the Report maintains a fairly clinical tone, skipping unnecessary editorializing and letting the grim news of conservative progress speak for itself. Thus, a recent issue discusses John A. Svahn, who has been President Reagan's chief advisor on domestic policy since the middle of 1983. "What is not generally known," the Report adds darkly, "is that Svahn was, in the '70s, the staff director of the American Conservative Union's task force on welfare reform."

We scarcely have time to digest the ominous implications of that piece of intelligence before being advised, a little further on, that Secretary of Education William Bennett recently appointed, as one of his own special assistants,

"William Kristol, a neoconservative like his father, Irving." By the time we learn that "Marshall Breger, the White House liaison with Jewish groups, went there from the right-wing Heritage Foundation," the reader is ready for a swig of either hemlock or champagne, depending on his politics.

I confess, though, to being somewhat mystified by another bit of news in the same issue: "A small conservative think-tank, the Institute for Human Studies at Menlo Park, Calif., conducts a program for writing 'Op-Ed articles', i.e., those signed opinion pieces that many newspapers these days run on the page opposite the editorial page. Well, OK, now we know about this little institute and its scheme for getting conservative opinions on Op-Ed pages. But the Report then adds, "Here are the newspapers which have carried them," and proceeds to list 50 of them, ranging from the London Daily Telegraph to the Anchorage Times.

Now, what is being suggested here? I don't know anything about the Institute for Human Studies or its "conservative" views, but in the absence of any pejorative adjectives in the Report we are entitled to assume that there is nothing extreme about the Institute or the opinions it has managed to propagate in those 50 papers. And if the Report's point was simply to highlight the ingenuity or success of the little institute's program, surely it would be enough just to mention the number of newspapers that have carried Op-Ed pieces generated by it.

But instead, all 50 newspapers are named in a list that is splashed over an entire half of one of the Report's four pages. That suggests that what the Report really wants to do is put a little heat on the papers in question, or, in other words, exercise a bit of amateur censorship.

grounds of some of Hollywood's most successful spy movies. During the entire mission, he never left the comfort of the Stanford Research Institute laboratory in Menlo Park, Calif.

Price, who has since died, was a self-proclaimed psychic. His amazing "mission" was part of a series of tests sponsored by the CIA. The purpose was to determine if people who claim unusual powers of telepathy could describe scenes in far-away places.

Before dismissing this as hallucinogenic hokum, the taxpayers should know that our government has spent — and continues to spend — millions of dollars on this hush-hush research. It began with the CIA's "Project Scantate" in the early 1970s, and has since become the Defense Intelligence Agency's "Project Grill Flame."

But the same Stanford Research Institute physicist has been in charge all these years: former National Security Agency employee Harold Puthoff. The government uses Puthoff as the Santa Claus for psychic research: funds are channeled through him to other research institutes.

Puthoff refuses to speak about the project. And Stanford Research Institute's doors have rarely been opened to invite skeptical examiners into the secret sanctums. But several sources close to the mind-expanding study claim solid successes.

The most striking occurred when one of the institute's top psychics, given only the geographical coordinates, described the Sempalinsk nuclear facility in Soviet Central Asia in detail only confirmed afterward by satellite spy photos.

The psychic also described equipment resembling accelerators and electron injectors kept in an underground cavern at the facility,

WASHINGTON WORLD

Political Shootout At Boise

By Arnold Bawlsak
UPI Senior Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Last week in Boise, Idaho, the nation's governors in all their majesty were holding one of their typical high-minded national conferences when, as the saying goes in mixed company, the peanut butter hit the fan.

Suddenly, the National Governors' Association, which prides itself on its membership's record of bipartisan cooperation, became a cockpit of snarling politicians.

At one point, the majority Democrats boycotted the climactic windup session of the conference and even muttered threats to sabotage the organization's tradition of alternating the NGA leadership between the parties by refusing to vote for Republican Lamar Alexander of Tennessee, the designated 1985-86 chairman.

What caused all this angst? The Democrats claimed it was a six-page letter over the signature of President Reagan soliciting 1986 campaign funds for the Republican Governors' Association.

The Democrats objected violently to claims in the letter that Democratic governors raise taxes while Republican governors cut them and that the Democrats, who hold 34 governorships to the GOP's 16, represent "the last unchallenged stronghold of the liberal 'tax and spend' philosophy that nearly brought America to her knees."

It is true that such a representation of Democratic governance is generally off the mark. Even in the North and especially in the West, Democratic governors tend to be more conservative than many of the party's members of Congress. Democratic governors who move on to the Senate also seem to be relatively conservative, as witness James Exon of Nebraska, David Boren of Oklahoma, Wendell Ford of Kentucky and others.

In any case, the Democratic governors in Boise were furious about the Reagan letter, pointing out that all but one of their number had a balanced state budget in 1985, in sharp contrast to the president, and that while some of them had raised taxes, so did a number of GOP governors, including Alexander.

The Republican governors at Boise defused the flap over the Reagan letter by promising to stop sending it out (120,000 copies had been mailed) and declaring that they did not mean to be unfair to anyone. That was some distance from the apology the Democrats originally demanded, but it saved enough face to accept.

which has since been reported as a "directed energy" facility.

The CIA smelled fraud, though, when he talked about giant steel spheres at the location which, they knew, could not possibly stand the stress associated with laser and particle beam research.

Once again, in the years that followed, the CIA found to its chagrin that the psychic was right. The Soviets had developed a process of "flux welding," which could hold the spheres together during military research.

Is all this ESP-ionage a boondoggle, or has the government-sponsored team stumbled onto something?

The stamp of secrecy keeps us from knowing for sure. Unless, of course, we choose to sit back in our chairs, close our eyes, and imagine ourselves into the privacy of Grill Flame Central.

If The Rain Doesn't Get To You, A Hedge Might

There have been some pretty unpredictable occurrences in youth baseball during the summer of 1985 but one thing that you could always count on all summer long was the rain.

There were more rainouts, rain delays and games moved to other cities because of the wet stuff this summer than any other I can remember. In just about every tournament, at every level, at least one game was rained out or delayed.

And, as usual, people found some innovative ways to get out of the rain or to while away the time during a delay.

One of the smartest moves of the summer came during the Southeast Regional Pony Baseball Tournament at the West Seminole complex in Forest City. When the day started, it was sunny and extremely hot. So, to keep out of the sun, a reporter got a big umbrella out of his van, implanted it in the ground and sat under it.

Not much later, the black clouds rolled in opened up and dumped mass amounts of droplets on the crowd. The reporter didn't have to move an inch and stayed dry while others were drenched.

The Winter Garden Little League complex had a pretty convenient feature for players. The restrooms were not more than three feet from the third base dugout. So, when a game was delayed by a downpour, the team that had that dugout at the time, the Altamonte Major Americans, could take care of nature calling while not being disturbed by mother nature.

Of course, for non-players and those less fortunate than Altamonte, it was wise to use the restroom before the rain delay.

Sometimes, players can come up with the darndest things during a rain delay. At the Big League Southern Regional Tournament this past week at the University of Central Florida, rain interrupted a game between District 14 (Central Florida all-stars) and Bristol, Va.

After a while, a small stream formed in front of the Bristol dugout. So a couple players got out a few paper Coke cups and sailed them down the stream while others tried to bombard the cups with whatever projectile they could find.

Just because they're in "Big League" (16-18 years old) doesn't mean they can't be kids.

There are also some things not to do during a rain delay. Here are a few:

1. Jumping over a four-foot hedge. I did this trying to get to cover in a hurry during a deluge at a baseball tournament (shall remain nameless out of embarrassment) this summer. Because of the slick surface, the footing was terrible. Because of three years of only occasional strenuous physical activity, I was only able to get about two and a half feet off the ground.

Fortunately, I regained consciousness before the game started back up. If I had been thinking ahead of time, I would have realized that, even if I worked out five hours a day, 365 days a year, I couldn't clear that hedge at least until the next appearance of Halley's Comet (1986), if not the one after that (2062).

2. Keeping score with a felt-tip pen. A scorekeeper's nightmare. If you happen to drop your scoresheet in a puddle, or it gets rained on, everything you've recorded so far is history. One night, at the end of a football game that was played in heavy rain, a writer went up to the losing coach for some comments only to have the coach throw his notes into a puddle. The writer was using a felt-tip pen and a possible Pulitzer Prize winning article went down the drain.

3. Be the first one to an area of only limited cover. Pretty soon, the thunderous heard will stampede the area, pinning you in probably in an uncomfortable position.

4. Hold a metal umbrella while leaning against a metal fence. This is hard to believe, but I found myself doing it during one rain delay. I might as well have been wearing a suit of armor with a lightning rod sticking out of the top. The first bolt of lightning I saw, I realized where I was and what I was holding, dropped the umbrella and bolted for my car.

Now, I might be saying this because I don't have a lawn, but I sure will be glad when the rainy season is over. After reading this, I'm sure my insurance company will be too.

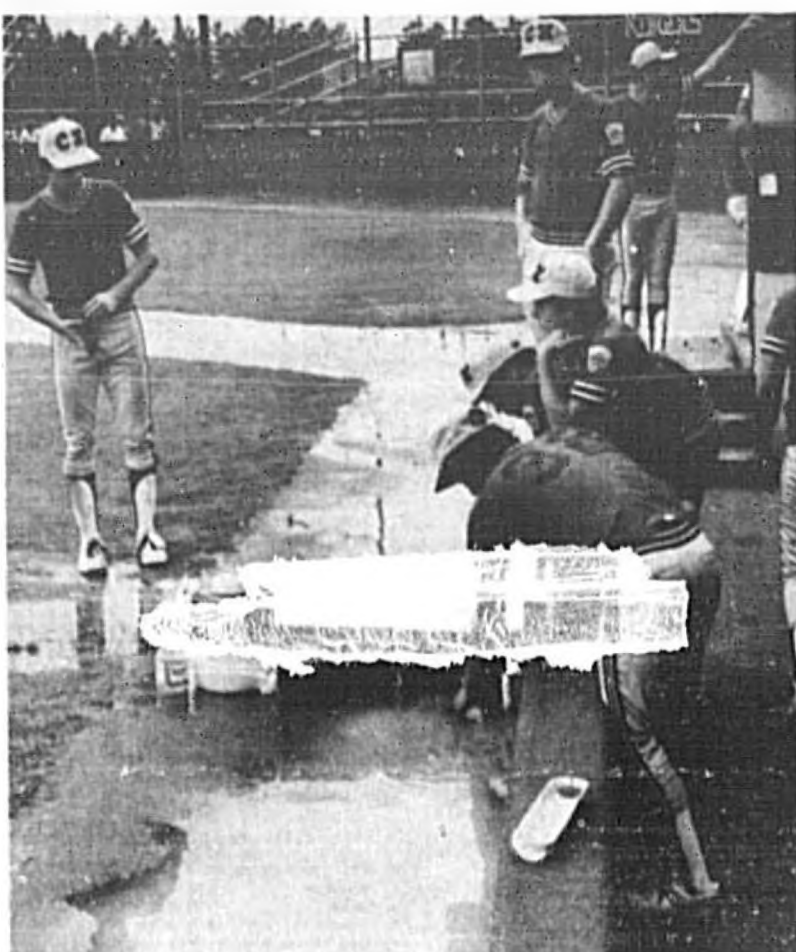

The summer athletic season has almost drawn to a close in Seminole County with only a pair of teams still competing. One, the District 14 all-stars, lost their first game in the Big League World Series Saturday night at Fort Lauderdale.

Getting a bye right into a big tournament can be embarrassing if you're team is not of the calibre as the rest of the team's in the tournament. There is never a problem with that for District 14 since it combines the top talent from Central Florida including Orange, Seminole and Lake Counties and is always competitive no matter what the opposition is like.

Another team that got a bye right into a major tournament was the West Seminole Pony (13-14 year olds) all-stars as they hosted the Southeast Regional Tournament West Seminole, which had more 13 than 14 year olds, proved it belonged right away by downing Gadsden, Ala., in the first game. Alabama went on to finish second in the tournament. But West Seminole also showed its inexperience as it dropped its next two games including a 20-0 setback to powerful Marietta, Ga.

One team that might have liked to play from the first level of competition instead of getting an automatic bye is the Eustis Junior League all-stars. Eustis hosted the Little League Junior Southeast Tournament and, in its first game, Eustis was shelled by Tampa Bay, 31-0.

The other team still alive in tournament play is the Seminole Savages softball squad. The Savages will be competing for the ASA 15 and under National Championship next week in Graham, N.C.

Rain delays. Bristol, Va., players take interest in a stream in front of their dugout (top). Until their attention is turned to another point of interest.

South Drops Opener

Sooner or later it was going to catch up with them. The District 14 all-stars won two games in the Big League Southern Regional Tournament with a combined total of six hits. In five games, the Central Florida team had just two extra base hits, a pair of doubles by Mark Merchant.

The higher you climb in a tournament, the better the pitching is going to get. So District 14 needed to get its bats going Saturday night in its Big League World Series opener.

However, District 14, representing the South, managed just two hits and this time it cost the squad a 9-4 setback at the hands of the East representative, Dutchess, N.Y., at Fort Lauderdale.

District 14 had Sunday off and probably took some extra batting practice to prepare for today's game against the Republic of China which is notorious for its outstanding pitching. The South and China were scheduled to play today at 2:30 p.m., with the loser eliminated from the series.

Despite its anemic plate performance, the South, which went right from the Southern Region Tournament Friday night to the Big League World Series, still managed to take the early lead against the East Saturday night.

District 14 scored twice in the bottom of the first and added another run in the second while Dutchess went scoreless the first two frames.

Then, Dutchess broke out the lumber and started hacking as it erupted for nine runs in the top of the third. District 14 couldn't answer though as it couldn't get on track at the plate and the East cruised to the victory to advance in the winners' bracket of the 11-team tournament.

Dutchess didn't score again after the third frame but it didn't have to as District 14 went scoreless until the bottom of the seventh when it scored once to make the final 9-2.

A year ago, District 14 rolled to three straight victories in the Big League World Series before being knocked out with consecutive losses to China and Venezuela. —Chris Fister

Green Back In Business, Wins PGA Title

DENVER (UPI) — Hubert Green's temper and his chief opponent threatened to do him in Sunday.

He managed to overcome both to win his second major championship and re-establish himself among golf's elite.

"It's been a long dry spell," Green said. "I will savor this. It's going to be fun to see some folks — I won't say they were vindictive — but who counted me down and out. I was down, but I wasn't gone. It's fun to come back."

Green came back by capturing the 67th PGA championship Sunday, winning a head-to-head duel with defending champion Lee Trevino by playing steady golf down the stretch while Trevino's putter finally turned sour.

Green won by two strokes, clinching the victory just after he almost holed a bunker shot at the final green during a brief, but torrential, rainstorm.

He began the final round with a three-stroke edge and protected it with a 1-over-par 72 that gave him a 72-hole total of 6-under 278. Green won $125,000, went past the $2 million mark for his career and earned a spot on the United States' Ryder Cup team, which will face Europe next month in England.

Trevino and Green traded a series of splendid shots over the first nine holes and went to the back nine deadlocked.

"When we got to the 10th tee I felt great," said Trevino, who shot a 71, finished at 280 and won $75,000. "But my putting let me down (missing key putts at the 11th, 12th, 15th and 17th). I'd like to have won. I tried my best."

While Green and Trevino battled for the title, a number of subplots developed during the final day of the year's last major championship.

There was the fight for the Ryder Cup team, which ended with Tom Watson missing the squad for the first time since 1975. Watson, who tied for sixth at 283, needed to finish one shot lower to make the team.

There was also the business involving the Chen brothers, who this year have made a huge name for themselves.

At the U.S. Open, Tze-Chung Chen held the lead for 58 holes before an eight at the fifth hole on the final day led to an eventual one-shot loss.

Chen shot a 66 Sunday while his brother,

Tze-Ming Chen, shot a 65 to pass 20 players to finish tied for third at 281. Andy Bean's 68 gave him a share of third place.

Nick Price, who played in the threesome with Trevino and Green and who was one shot behind after the eighth hole, finished fifth at 282.

Jack Nicklaus ended his fifth consecutive year without a major title. He put on a brief charge Sunday, but faltered when he needed 13 shots on the last two holes and shot a 74. He was tied with Seve Ballesteros, 11 shots behind Green.

But throughout the final round, the battle for the top remained the most intriguing story.

Early in the final round Green had three approach shots bounce on the hard greens and into the rough behind the putting surface.

Steelers Rebound To Top Tampa Bay

TAMPA (UPI) — A year ago, the wide receiver position was a huge question mark for the Pittsburgh Steelers. It is now an exclamation point.

The Steelers entered the 1984 pre-season with veteran John Stallworth coming off an injury-plagued year and rookie Louis Lipps still an unknown. On Saturday night, Pittsburgh rolled up 530 yards of offense in a 42-27 triumph over Tampa Bay, led by a receiver brigade that had its way all game.

Weegie Thompson, hoping to convince Coach Chuck Noll he has at least three standout pass catchers, did the bulk of the damage with five receptions for 98 yards, including three touchdowns. Lipps, who made the Pro Bowl along with Stallworth, added a 17-yard TD grab and rookie running back Woody Pippens snared a 19-yard scoring toss from Scott Campbell, who completed 12-of-17 passes for 209 yards and three TDs in a nifty 30 minutes of work.

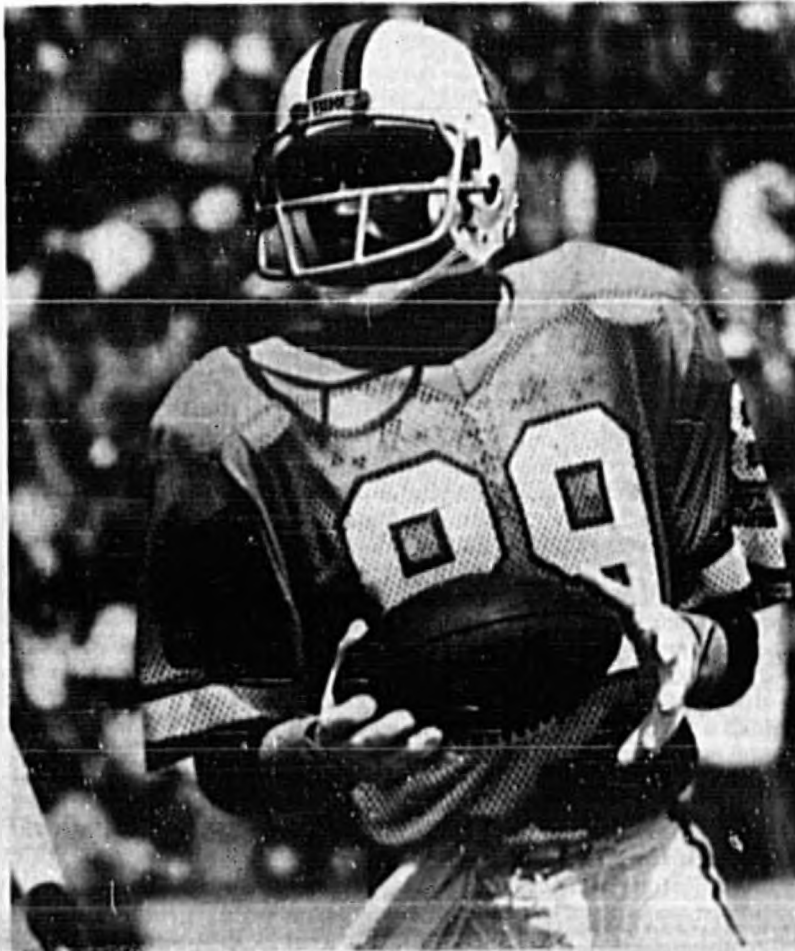

"I'm much more confident this year," said Thompson, a second-year player who helped the Steelers rebound from a 20-0 deficit as they won their 15th consecutive pre-season opener. "At the start we were kinda looking at each other wondering what was going on, but we weren't worried. Their defensive backs were playing off of us all night long. They didn't want to get beat deep and I guess they haven't put in all their formations yet."

Buccaneer fans fervently hope so. The Leeman Bennett era began with a rush as Steve DeBerg opened the game by lofting a 65-yard TD bomb to Kevin House. On the play following a Pittsburgh fumble, DeBerg and Jerry Bell teamed up for a 10-yard score for a 13-0 lead just 42 seconds into the game, but Donald Igwebuikwe's extra point attempt failed.

Another Steeler fumble led to Melvin Carver's 1-yard TD plunge before Pittsburgh ignited its 42-7 surge. DeBerg enjoyed a spectacular first half, hitting on 14-of-20 passes for 222 yards and three TDs.

Tampa Bay's Kevin House hauls in a pass from Steve DeBerg. DeBerg connected with House for a 65-yard touchdown pass on the Bucs' opening possession Saturday night but Pittsburgh rebounded from a 20-0 deficit to claim a 42-27 victory.

Stenerud's Field Goal Beats Dolphins In OT

MIAMI (UPI) — Jan Stenerud kicked a 25-yard field goal with 8:32 left in overtime Saturday to give Minnesota a 16-13 exhibition win over the Miami Dolphins and Bud Grant a successful debut in his return as Vikings coach.

It was the first exhibition for both teams. Grant, who guided the Vikings to four Super Bowls in the 1970s, retired after the 1983 season, but returned this year after the Vikings finished 3-13.

The Vikings won the toss in overtime and drove 72 yards on 11 plays to the Miami 8 to set up Stenerud's third field goal of the game.

The Dolphins had a chance to win the game in regulation when they recovered a fumbled punt on the Minnesota 24, but Revicz was wide left with a 41-yard field goal attempt with 11 seconds left.

Miami's offense picked up in the fourth quarter. With Bryan Clark completing 4 of 6 passes for 37 yards and Hampton rushing for 33 yards on 5 carries, the Dolphins moved 68 yards in 13 plays to the Minnesota 9. Revicz then booted a 27-yard field goal with 2:45 left to knot the score at 13-13.

The Vikings took a 13-10 lead in the third quarter following a 22-yard interception return to the Minnesota 37 by Keith Nord, who picked off a Clark pass that bounced off Lorenzo Hampton.

Nine plays later Stenerud booted a 43-yard field goal.

The Dolphins opened the scoring on their second possession when Joe Carter dove over from the 1, capping a 67-yard, 13-play drive. The big plays on the drive were a 16-yard pass from Don Struck to Tommy Vigorito and Struck's 24-yard toss to Bruce Hardy.

Struck started in place of holdout Dan Marino.

Minnesota evened the score on its next possession when Wade Wilson hit Allen Rice with a 15-yard scoring pass. It was the only pass attempted by the Vikings on the drive. Minnesota ran almost at will against the Dolphins, with the big play in the drive a 15-yard run by Alfred Anderson.

Two-out single by Cecil Cooper and a double by Ben Oglivie, his 1,500th career hit, produced the run that cut the Chicago lead to 4-1.

Walker, the designated hitter, hit his home run in the first inning to stake Davis to a 2-0 lead over Milwaukee starter Ray Burris. 6-9. De Sa homered in the second inning in his first at-bat since being recalled Sunday to spell Walker at first base.

Fisk became the seventh player in White Sox history to hit 30 home runs when he clobbered a 1-0 pitch from Burris into the left-field upper deck seats in the fourth inning.

In other games, Cleveland belted Detroit 7-2, California drubbed Minnesota 12-0, New York defeated Boston 5-3, Toronto defeated Kansas City 5-3.

Indians 7, Tigers 2
 At Cleveland, Neal Heaton won for the first time since July 8 and Julio Franco's third-inning single drove in the go-ahead run to lift the Indians. Heaton, 8-12, allowed 11 hits, notched a career-high 10 strikeouts and walked one in pitching his third complete game. Randy O'Neal, 5-5, took the loss.

Angels 12, Twins 0
 At Minneapolis, Brian Downing hit a bases-loaded triple, Ruppert Jones and Gary Pettis each hit a pair of RBI singles and John Candelaria notched his first American League victory for the Angels. Candelaria, 1-0, scattered five hits, struck out three and walked one over five innings in his second start since joining the Angels Aug. 2. John Flutcher dropped to 8-11.

Yankees 5, Red Sox 3
 At Boston, Dave Winfield and Ken Griffey each drove in two runs to help the New York Yankees extend their winning streak to six games. Ron Guidry, 15-4, allowed seven hits, walked one and struck out four over the first 7 1/3 innings to post his 14th victory in his last 15 decisions. Roger Clemens, 7-5, was the loser.

Blue Jays 5, Royals 3
 At Kansas City, Mo., Al Oliver and Garth Iorg homered in the 10th inning to lift the Blue Jays. Oliver belted a 2-2 pitch over the right field wall against Joe Beckwith. Iorg connected for his third homer to drop Beckwith to 1-5. Tom Henke, the fourth of four Toronto pitchers, improved his record to 3-0.

Martinez 9, A's 6
 At Seattle, Al Cowens and Dave Henderson each drove in two runs to highlight an eight-run third inning that carried the Mariners. Bill Swift, 4-6, survived a six-run Oakland first inning and went eight innings for his first major league victory. Reliever Rick Langford, 1-5, took the loss.

Orioles 9, Rangers 6
 At Arlington, Texas, Mike Young went 3-for-5, including a three-run homer, to lead a 14-hit attack and power the Orioles. Sammy Stewart, 5-4, was the winner in relief of Dennis Martinez. He yielded two hits over the final 4 1/3 innings. Mike Mason, 5-11, was the loser.

Texas pitcher Dave Rozema, hit on the left knee by a line drive in the Rangers' July 23 game against Cleveland, has been placed on the 15-day disabled list.

The 29-year-old right-hander was to travel Monday to his home near Detroit where he will have an arthrogram on the injured knee within the next few days.

Dwayne Henry, 23, is being recalled from the Rangers' Class-A Texas League team in Tulsa, Okla., to take Rozema's place.

Henry, a 6-foot-3, 205-pound right-hander, began the season as a starter, but was shifted to relief in mid-June.

At Tulsa, he compiled a 6-6 record with nine saves and a 2.83 ERA. He pitched 76 1/3 innings in 32 games, striking out 93.

Carter, Dawson Prove Their Worth

United Press International
 Sometimes gems must be broken up to become more valuable. Gary Carter and Andre Dawson are a perfect example.

Carter and Dawson, two of baseball's best players, could never bring the Montreal Expos the National League pennant as teammates. Both acquired a reputation for not producing in the clutch.

Now that Carter has moved on to the New York Mets, however, each is emerging as a valuable jewel in his own right.

Both contributed mightily to their team's victories Sunday. Carter hit a pair of two-run homers to help the Mets complete a three-game sweep of the Chicago Cubs, 6-2, and Dawson hit a three-run homer in the ninth inning — his third homer in two games — to give the Expos a 6-5 triumph over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Carter reached starter Derek Botelho, 0-2, for two-run shots in the first and third innings.

The New York catcher gave the Mets a 2-0 edge in the first when, two outs after Len Dykstra walked, he drilled a ball that ricocheted beneath the auxiliary scoreboard in left.

Phillies 4, Cardinals 1
 At Philadelphia, Ozzie Virgil and Mike Schmidt homered to lead the Phillies. Virgil doubled to lead off the third, moved up on a single by Shane Rawley and scored on a Juan Samuel's groundout to put the Phillies ahead to stay, 2-1. Rawley, 9-6, scattered six hits and struck out six.

Astros 7, Padres 2
 At San Diego, Mark Bailey and Bill Doran each homered in a three-run eighth to power Houston. Bailey's homer off Andy Hawkins, 14-4, opened the inning and broke a 2-2 tie. Doran hit his homer after winning pitcher Bob Knepper, 10-9, singled The Astros have hit 16 homers in their last 15 road games and 18 in their last 19 overall.

Dodgers 4, Reds 0
 At Los Angeles, Jerry Reuss fired a six-hitter and Enos Cabell had two RBI and two doubles to lead the Dodgers. Reuss, 10-7, recorded his fourth complete game and third shutout. Andy McGaffigan, 1-1, who was called up from Denver July 24, allowed 10 hits in 6 1/3 innings.

Olympian Gonzales Wins In Pro Debut

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Paul Gonzales could finally enjoy himself again.

Shaking off the effects of a year's inactivity since he won the gold medal at last summer's Olympics, Gonzales scored a unanimous decision over Jose Torres in his professional debut.

"I've been tense for about a year," Gonzales said. "Now that I've got my first boxing lesson, I have to keep going."

Olympic cruiserweight champion Henry Tillman recorded a second-round knockout over Larry Phelps, and the Games' junior middleweight champion, Frank Tate, outpointed Thomas Smith in the nationally televised card.

Gonzales, from East Los Angeles, admitted after the Games that he had fought four times with a broken right hand.

Redden Stars In Dickerson's Absence

By United Press International
 Eric Dickerson may have been missed by the fans, but his absence Saturday had no effect on the Los Angeles Rams' opening performance in a National Football League pre-season game.

Dickerson, who last year set the NFL's single season rushing record, is embroiled in a contract dispute with management and has not reported to training camp.

So, the Rams are prepared to open the season with Barry Redden in his place and, if he performs like he did Saturday, it could be a long winter for Dickerson.

Redden scored the game's only touchdown on a 6-yard run around the left end with 3:32 remaining in the third quarter to help the Rams defeat the Houston Oilers 7-3 at Anaheim, Calif.

Redden gained 94 yards on 17 carries and was the game's leading ground gainer while Dickerson was home in Sealy, Texas.

Joe Cooper booted a 20-yard field goal early in the fourth quarter for the Oilers' only points.

Canadian Football League import Dieter Brock made an inauspicious debut as the Rams' starting quarterback. Playing most of the first half, the 34-year-old connected on 5-of-12 passes for 49 yards.

Maitland's Chuck Scott, a Lake Howell High graduate and the Rams' second round draft pick out of Vanderbilt University, made his NFL debut Saturday but caught no passes for the ground-oriented L.A. offense.

Football

Saints 32, Patriots 20
 At Foxboro, Mass., Morten Andersen kicked four long field goals, helping the New Orleans Saints capitalize on five New England turnovers en route to triumph over the Patriots. Andersen hit field goals of 43, 42, 40 and 48 yards.

Redskins 17, Falcons 14
 At Atlanta, Joe Theismann completed 8-of-11 passes, including a touchdown, and backup Jay Schroeder threw for 104 yards to help the Redskins hold off the Falcons. Iko Holly hit on a 58-yard scoring strike and Cliff Austin added a 2-yard plunge as Atlanta scored all of its points in the fourth quarter.

Giants 30, Broncos 20
 At Denver, Jeff Rutledge fired a pair of touchdown passes, and Ali Haji-Shiekh booted three field goals to power the Giants past the Broncos. Rutledge, a backup to injured starter Phil Simms, connected with Joe Morris on a 25-yard scoring play and hit Lee Rouson from 42 yards for his second TD.

IN BRIEF

Canadian Girl Fights To Play Hockey With Boys

TORONTO (UPI) — A 12-year-old girl's fight to play hockey on an all-boy team is fast becoming a national issue in Canada and is headed for a challenge in a provincial supreme court.

Justine Blainey, who is backed by a Canadian women's group and some NHL players, was to take her constitutional challenge Monday to the Ontario Supreme Court.

"All I really want to do is play with the boys," the seventh grade student said Sunday. "If I get to be on TV too that's pretty neat."

Justine and her lawyer, Anna Fraser, are fighting the Ontario Hockey Association and a section of the Ontario Human Rights Code that says discrimination by sex is allowed in athletics.

Sponsored by the Women's Legal Education and Action Fund, they will challenge the males-only rule under the equality guarantees of Canada's Charter of Rights and Freedoms.

The girl was chosen last spring from among 63 tryouts for the Toronto Olympics, a boys' team in the Metropolitan Toronto Hockey League, which is governed by the OHA. But OHA rules say she cannot play in competitive games.

Justine has played two years in a girls' league. She became interested in hockey when her brother, David, 11, began playing the sport, according to her mother Caroline.

"She was allowed in on his practices and coach after coach said, 'I wish she was a boy,'" her mother said.

The attorney general in the central Canadian province has promised to introduce legislation to remove the section from the Ontario Human Rights Code. But that will not be done until the fall and Justine wants to play for the team before then.

Special Offer For Area Golfers

The American Lung Association of Central Florida has an offer that will not only help patients with breathing handicaps but help golfers lower their handicap.

For a donation of $20, golfers will have free green fees for one round of golf at the following Central Florida courses:

American Houk Upsets Russian

OSLO, Norway (UPI) — Michael Houk of the United States Sunday won the light heavyweight title in the major upset of the World Greco-Roman Wrestling Championships, where East Bloc competitors figured in all but two of the eight finals.

Norwegian Jon Roenning, the only other Western finalist, won the flyweight when he threw Soviet favorite Minsant Tazetdinov five seconds from the end.

Soviet's welterweight Mikhail Mamiachvili and super-heavyweight Igor Rostorotaky topped their respective categories, while Bulgaria's Jivko Vangelov won the featherweight.

The Soviet Union and Bulgaria boosted their overall tally to three titles each. The United States, Norway, Poland and Romania finished with one title apiece.

In the surprise victory of the competition, Houk, 198 pounds, defeated reigning world champion Igor Kanygin of Soviet Union.

The finalists scored a point each in the first round. But Houk took the initiative in the second, and chased the defensive Soviet round the mat. The Soviet finally was disqualified for passivity after 5 minutes 15 seconds.

Pastorini Takes Top Fuel Title

KENT, Wash. (UPI) — Former Houston Oilers quarterback Dan Pastorini of Sonoma, Calif., won the Top Fuel eliminator Sunday in the U.S. Funny Car Nationals at Seattle International Raceway.

Driving the Quarterback Sneak dragster, Pastorini ran the quarter-mile in 5.70 seconds (249 mph) to set an SIR track record and defeat Frank Bradley of Napa, Calif., who ran 5.83 (243 mph).

Atop the Double A funny car field was the Nighthawk, driven by Mike Dunn of Bellflower, Calif., who had an elapsed time of 6.08 seconds (226 mph) in downing Johnnie West of Chandler, Ariz., who lost at 6.24 (224 mph).

Mike Andriotti of Williams Calif., collected the victory in Top Alcohol funny car field by running the quarter-mile in 6.50 seconds over the broken Steve McGee of Lake Oswego, Ore.

Dave Hansen of Belmont Calif., won the Top Alcohol Dragster title by posting an elapsed time of 6.56 seconds (205 mph) over Walt Rhodes of Gardena, Calif., at 6.65 seconds (203 mph).

Davidson's Homer Lifts O-Twins

Mark Davidson's two-run homer in the bottom of the first inning led the way Sunday as the Orlando Twins upended the Memphis Chicks, 3-1, in Southern League play at Memphis.

Les Straker raised his pitching record to 12-6 with relief help from Gorman Heilmueller. Davidson's homer was his 21st of the season. Saturday, Mark Funderburk blasted his 30th homer but the O-Twins fell to Memphis, 7-2.

In Florida State League action Sunday at Kissimmee, Rob Mallicoat pitched no-hit ball until two-out in the eighth as the Osceola Astros downed the Miami Marlins, 3-1.

Osceola picked up a run in the second on Tony Hampton's RBI single then took the lead for good in the fifth with two runs. Karl Allair singled, Gerald Young walked and they were bunted to second and third by Maitland's Bob Parker. Jim O'Dell's sacrifice fly drove in Allair while Young scored on Curtis Burke's base hit.

Williams Leads Buffalo Open

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — Three-time champion Mark Williams of Beaumont, Texas, closed the second round with games of 237 and 234 to hold his lead Sunday night in the $110,000 Buffalo Open.

Williams, who led by 19 pins after the first round, had a pinfall total of 2,738. That gave him a 228.1 average for the first 12 games.

Dennis Jacques, Middletown, N.J., moved into second with 2,723, 15 pins behind the leader.

Mark McClain, Rochester, N.Y., was third at 2,680 followed by Casey Berry, Albuquerque, N.M., at 2,679 and Amleto Monacelli, Venezuela, at 2,663.

Williams, fourth on the PBA's money list this year with $109,018, has rolled 12 games over 200 to stay in the lead. His second-round games were 205, 258, 201, 214, 237 and 234.

Elliott Outruns Champion Field

NASCAR

BROOKLYN, Mich. (UPI) — Top qualifier Bill Elliott, dropped back to last place by an unscheduled early pit stop, worked his way back to first to win Sunday's Champion Spark Plug 400-mile NASCAR race at Michigan International Speedway.

The victory was his ninth in 18 races this season.

As Rick Baldwin spun and hit the wall to bring out the final caution flag with 40 miles to go, Elliott's crew put fresh tires on his left side during a final pit stop. Elliot then simply ran away from the field.

Darrell Waltrip, who made a $75,000 miscalculation on his required finish Saturday and lost the International Race of Champions to Harry Gant, nosed out Gant for second in the NASCAR race but was still roughly a quarter-mile from the top spot at the finish.

Waltrip has finished second four times and third five times this year to Elliott.

Elliott, who added first place money of $57,600 to his pre-race total winnings of $732,293, has a dozen NASCAR races left to become the first driver to win a million dollars on the circuit in one season.

On the 138th lap, during the fourth of five caution flags in the 400-mile race, Elliott came out of the scramble with Waltrip and Kyle Petty on his tail. Petty wound up fourth — only the top four ran the full 400 miles of the race.

Waltrip, who led much of the first 150 times around the two-mile oval, retook the lead on the 150th lap, but Elliott took over on the next lap and never trailed again.

While Elliott was getting new left tires during his last pit stop, Waltrip was adding tires to his right side. But the runnerup opened more car, not more rubber. Elliott won the pole for the race with a track record average 165.479 mph, nearly 2 mph faster than the second best qualifier.

He made an unscheduled pit stop on the fifth lap — apparently because his left front fender was dented in a collision shortly after No. 3 qualifier Tim Richmond's engine blew on the first turn.

But Elliott's crew put on a new left front tire and smoothed the fender out enough so it wasn't much of a drag on his Ford.

Elliott had worked his way back up to fifth by the 44th lap and was on top when Waltrip pitted for the first time on the 51st lap. Elliott went in on the 56th lap to lose the lead to Neil Bonnett and did not get back into the top five until the 92nd lap.

He retook the lead on the 97th lap some seven laps after the second caution flag bunched the field again, and ran with the leaders the rest of the way. Although his official winnings are $789,893, Elliott is assured of setting a new single-season NASCAR money winning record since he'll either get $100,000 after the Sept. 1 Darlington race — or a $1 million bonus if he wins it.

Evert Lloyd Whips Giant Killer; McEnroe Shoots Down Lendl In Volvo

Tennis

TORONTO (UPI) — At 30 and in her 14th year as a professional, Chris Evert Lloyd claims she is at the top of her game.

Her play Sunday did nothing to dispute that notion.

Evert Lloyd whipped giant killer Claudia Kohde-Kilsch of West Germany, 6-2, 6-4, in the finals of the $280,000 Canadian Open.

The triumph boosted her 1985 earnings to $692,569 — surpassing her previous record of $689,458 set in 1982.

"I've had the best year of my career," Evert Lloyd said. "I know I am getting to the end of my career, but I'm concentrating more and I have confidence going into the (U.S.) Open."

This was Evert Lloyd's second straight Canadian Open title. The victory was worth $40,000. It was Evert Lloyd's 139th career tournament title and gives her the No. 1 computer ranking for the U.S. Open later this month.

Fifth-seeded Kohde-Kilsch received $20,000.

Kohde-Kilsch, a 6-foot serve-and-volley player had staged the upset of the tournament Friday when she defeated second-seeded Martina Navratilova in a three-set quarterfinal. It was only Navratilova's fourth loss of the year.

Evert Lloyd said Kohde-Kilsch was noticeably tired after Saturday's tough two-set semifinal victory over fourth-seeded Helena Sukova of Czechoslovakia. "I think I got Claudia on a day when she was affected by those tough matches," Evert Lloyd said. "Mentally I've had an easier time this week. I really didn't expect her to come out 100 percent."

Kohde-Kilsch, who won a tournament in Los Angeles last week, said the past two weeks have been "the greatest of my career."

"I think I used some points a little bit today and I couldn't concentrate as much as I usually can."

The opening game of the first set established the tone for the 90-minute final. The game went to deuce nine times. The powerful West German was down break point four times before she was able to hold her serve and go up 1-0.

Kohde-Kilsch was down 4-3 in the second set, but broke Evert Lloyd in the eighth game to draw even. Evert Lloyd returned the favor in the ninth game without giving up a point, to go up 5-4.

"At 4-4, I thought if I could just hold my serve I could get back into the match," the 21-year-old Kohde-Kilsch said. "But in the important moments Chris hit great shots."

MCENROE RIPS LENDL STRATTON, Vt. (UPI) — John McEnroe proved he was alive, well and still able to play a mean game of tennis this week.

McEnroe concluded a week where he did not lose a set with a 7-6 (7-4), 6-2, destruction of Ivan Lendl Sunday to capture the $315,000 Volvo International tennis tournament for his first Grand Prix title since late April.

McEnroe was asked if the victory represented a comeback.

"Where was I?" McEnroe said. "It can be a comeback for the press who wants to write about that. But a comeback means you've gone away and then come back. I'm still number one in the computer ranking, still number one in the world."

The 26-year-old New Yorker started his stretch run toward his defense later the month of his U.S. Open title by dominating the event at the Stratton Mountain resort. It was McEnroe's first tournament since being upset by Kevin Curren in the quarterfinals at Wimbledon six weeks ago.

"I was a little worried that physically and mentally I couldn't put it together again," McEnroe said. "I was worried about getting myself in a rut."

Lopez Amazes Self In LPGA Victory

Golf

HIGH POINT, N.C. (UPI) — Nancy Lopez even amazed herself.

Lopez fired a final-round 6-under-par 66 Sunday, giving her LPGA records for scoring and earnings and a 10-shot victory in the $210,000 Henredon Classic at the Willow Creek Golf Club.

"What I did really hasn't sunk in," Lopez said. "If I were sitting back watching someone shoot 20-under, though, I wouldn't be able to believe it. I'd think they had just gone crazy."

Lopez boosted her season's winnings to $332,772 with a first-place check of $31,500. That surpasses the record of $324,804 held by Alice Miller entering this week's play. Miller gave in to heat exhaustion on the 14th hole Sunday and had to drop out of the tournament.

Lopez broke a pair of LPGA scoring records. Her 20-under total of 268 bettered Hollis Stacy's 72-hole mark of 271 set in 1977, and also bettered the 18-under score turned in by Jan Stephenson in a 54-hole tournament in 1981.

"I've been playing very well, very consistently," Lopez said. "But this was a week when everything fell together. Every time I got a chance to swing at the ball it was going at the hole."

"I just played the golf course this week and took what it gave me and it just happened to be 20-under."

Lopez led all the way in grabbing her fourth victory of the season. She was never challenged during the final round.

She began the day with a four-shot lead, pushed it to five with a first-hole birdie and was eight shots ahead after five holes. From there, her lead never dropped below seven strokes.

A tap-in birdie on the par-5 10th hole put her 4-under for the day and one ahead of Stacy's record pace. She also birdied the 12th and 17th holes coming in to smash that record.

Valerie Skinner closed with an even-par 72 to finish second at 278. Jane Geddes roled in a 10-foot birdie putt on the final hole to tie Lorie Garbarz for third place at 280.

Geddes shot 73 while Garbarz had a 68.

"In order to challenge that lead today you would have to have been unbelievable and be such a hero," Skinner said. "I didn't want to get into that. I didn't exactly want to play for second either, but by the time we made the turn I figured that was about it."

...PGA

Green's victory Sunday earned him a berth on the Ryder Cup team. But Tom Watson, hoping to be on the team for the fifth straight time, barely failed in his attempt.

Watson finished seven points behind Fuzzy Zoeller in their duel for the 12th and final spot on the team that will meet a squad of Europeans at Sutton Coldfield, England, next month.

The final placings were decided Sunday with the final round of the PGA. Watson needed to finish one stroke lower than his eventual 1-under 283 total to make the team.

The PGA champion is automatically placed on the team and this will be Green's third appearance.

Joining him will be U.S. Open champion Andy North, Zoeller, Curtis Strange, Lanny Wadkins, Raymond Floyd, Calvin Peete, Mark O'Meara, Craig Stadler, Hal Sutton, Tom Kite and Peter Jacobson.

Four members of the team — North, O'Meara, Sutton and Jacobson — will be making their first Ryder Cup appearance.

The veteran of the team will be Floyd, who will be competing for the sixth time. Wadkins and Kite will be on the Ryder Cup team for the fourth time, Zoeller the third and Strange, peete and Stadler their second.

"It's a strong team as usual," said Lee Trevino, who will serve as captain of the team. "Those Europeans will be waiting for us, I know. But we will have a tough team. They really want it. The Europeans consider it the Super Bowl."

At first, Trevino thought Watson made the Ryder Cup squad.

"Tom made it," Trevino said moments after he completed his closing round at the PGA. "He's the guy I was pulling for."

But PGA officials, after adding up the points, found Watson had not made the team.

IN BRIEF

Tropical Storm Claudette Swirls Away From Land

MIAMI (UPI) — A day-old tropical storm named Claudette is swirling farther from the North Carolina coast on an eastward path that forecasters doubt will cut across land.

Forecasters at the National Hurricane Center in Miami said the storm packed maximum winds of 45 mph late Sunday night and might grow a bit stronger today.

Early today, Claudette's center was located near latitude 34.8 north, longitude 68.6 west, about 250 miles northwest of Bermuda and about 450 miles east of Cape Hatteras, N.C. The storm was moving eastward at 10 mph, away from the U.S. coast.

"It's a minimal tropical storm," forecaster Bob Case said. "If it behaves and does what they expect it to do, it won't bother any land area in its future."

"It's pretty well going straight east," said forecaster Gil Clark. "It probably will last several days because it's in warm water. But I don't think it will become a hurricane."

Handicapped Boy Escapes Charges

MIAMI (UPI) — Fire officials say they will not charge a mentally handicapped boy who has admitted starting a blaze that injured two firefighters and blackened an elegant Cricket Club apartment filled with antique paintings.

The two-alarm blaze that was reported shortly after noon on Sunday sent Metro-Dade County firefighter Robert Cole and fire Lt. Bill Gustin to the hospital. Lt. Jon Lewis said Cole, who suffered burned ears, and Gustin, who got an object caught in his eye, were in good condition.

Authorities say Jerry Acevedo, 11, who is suffering from Down's Syndrome, admitted he was playing with matches when the fire began in a walk-in closet of the fifth floor apartment in the 24-story, 220-unit bayfront condominium.

Flames from the closet spread through the unit and caused 50 residents on the fourth, fifth and sixth floors to be evacuated for about two hours.

Firefighters estimated damage to the apartment and its contents at $400,000. The blaze was confined to the one unit and was under control in less than half an hour.

Refugee Criminals Will Be Detained Pending Deportation

MIAMI (UPI) — In the wake of protests by Gov. Bob Graham, the federal government has reversed a day-old policy that would have let Cuban refugee criminals who finished their jail sentences escape detention for deportation.

The U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service rescinded the policy Saturday, hours after the governor said the state would file suit in federal court to block the policy, which was announced Friday.

The policy would have allowed Cuban refugee convicts who had finished their sentences in Florida state prisons to go free, instead of reporting to federal prisons to await deportation proceedings as they had been doing.

Graham said 30 Mariel criminals are released from prison each month in Florida and more than 700 Mariel prisoners are being held in Florida prisons.

The convicts are part of an estimated 125,000 Cuban refugees allowed by Fidel Castro to come to the United States in 1980 as part of the Freedom Flotilla from Mariel, Cuba.

Some served time in Cuban prisons for a variety of crimes prior to the boatlift and were accepted by the United States as parolees. They violated their parole by committing crimes in the United States and were subject to deportation, INS officials said.

The United States and Cuba signed an agreement last December under which up to 20,000 Cubans would be permitted to come to the United States each year, and the United States could deport some 3,000 convicted felons and mental patients back to Cuba.

But Castro broke the agreement in retaliation for the startup in May of Radio Martí, a U.S. government-run station bearing programs to Cuba.

As a result, about 2,000 Mariel ex-convicts remain in INS custody. INS on Friday announced that there was no more room for more detainees. INS Miami district director Perry Rivkind said he received instructions from Washington not to detain Mariel refugees who have completed terms in state prisons on felony charges — for crimes that include murder, rape and criminal assault.

On Saturday, Rivkind said INS officials in Washington said the new policy was being dropped because it was "misunderstood" in regards to what type of criminals would be released.

Governor To Stiffen Enforcement On I-95

MIAMI (UPI) — Gov. Bob Graham has moved to flood Interstate 95 with officers and equipment to flush out and arrest modern-day highwaymen who have been terrorizing motorists for months, officials said.

Since the first of the year, bandits have been ambushing motorists either by throwing debris in front of their car and forcing them to stop or by assaulting stranded drivers of stalled vehicles. Nearly 100 such attacks have been reported on the highway since Jan. 1, most of them after dark.

Graham appeared Saturday at a meeting of an organization known as Miami Citizens Against Crime to announce more moves in a counter attack against the violence on the city's busiest expressway, said Pat Riordan, a spokesman in the governor's office.

"The idea is to provide a presence of law enforcement to send the message clearly and strongly that we're not going to tolerate this activity," Riordan said.

The Florida Highway Patrol has already stepped up enforcement on the stretch of highway that connects the Miami and Fort Lauderdale areas and work crews have been repairing light fixtures and trimming shrubbery that serves as cover for the robbers.

Riordan said the governor also plans to transfer more troopers and patrol cars into Miami for temporary duty.

He said some patrolmen would be put on motorcycles to "improve the maneuvering and mobility" of officers in pursuit of muggers.

Leonard Mellon, executive director of the Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles, said in one case a patrolman witnessed a robbery through his rear view mirror and couldn't get back to the victim soon enough to nab the bandits.

Mellon also said he hoped to arrange for the use of a helicopter to patrol from above and alert troopers on the ground of the presence of the highwaymen.

More troopers and city and county police would patrol streets surrounding the trouble area to cut off the bandits' escape routes, Mellon and Riordan said.

They also said in addition to uniformed officers, patrolmen would continue to work undercover, pretending to be stranded motorists in order to trap would-be muggers.

and about 500 miles southwest of Johannesburg at Cradock.

Three more people were killed during a sixth day of clashes in black ghettos near the Indian Ocean port city of Durban, bringing to 65 the number of people killed in the area since Tuesday, police said.

Mxenge, a well-known civil rights lawyer, was killed by four black men Aug. 1 as she left her home near Durban. Blacks attributed her death to government sanctioned death squads, and her death touched off a new wave of violence.

She was buried Sunday near Bisho, capital of the black homeland of Ciskei, alongside her husband, civil rights lawyer Griffiths Mxenge, who was murdered by unknown assailants in 1981.

In black townships around Durban, more than 4,000 Asians have abandoned homes and shops in the Inanda area they shared with Zulu tribesmen. Most of the buildings have been razed by mobs during riots following Mxenge's murder.

ion Carbide spokesman, said the plant would continue to operate because "you don't close the whole operation because of a little hysteria over a little leak."

Roark said he and Charleston's emergency services director were unable to reach Union Carbide officials to learn the extent and danger of the leak.

"At the earliest possible time, I'm going to meet with Carbide officials and convey my displeasure over events that transpired today and insist as best I can that there be someone at all of their facilities who is going to be available and accessible and credible when it comes to events such as occurred today," Roark said.

Pat Bactu, who was working at a gas station in Dunbar at the time of the leak, said the chemical cloud "sort of moved in like a fog."

and will make a recommendation to Superintendent Robert Hughes Wednesday night.

The fiscal agent structures the bond issue to see that it meets federal requirements, Farrell said, but his primary task is a report which outlines the financial health of the school board and the county.

Investors in New York will look at the fiscal agent's report and decide how good a bond is, Farrell said.

There are still some procedural hurdles the school board must overcome before it can call for the special election in October.

First, the school board must get the Department of Education's approval. This is contingent on a state school plant survey that shows a need for additional school construction. Farrell said the board expects the survey will easily show the money is needed.

Next, the school board must draft a resolution explaining how it plans to use the money and how the money will be invested and repaid.

Finally, the department must approve the resolution and give the school board permission to call for a special election.

"Although the time is tight, we are on schedule," Farrell said.

The bonds are expected to be sold at 9 percent interest and the money from the sale invested at 10 percent, with the profit going to help pay off the bonds, Farrell said.

area was so mountainous and rugged that rescue teams were having trouble reaching the crash site.

The defense source said Japanese military aircraft found burning wreckage on the side of the mountain.

U.S. officials said the Air Force had set up an emergency command center at Yokota but had not yet been asked for assistance by Japanese authorities.

The Nagano police reported rain and lightning at the time of the crash.

Police in Usuda, a town near the crash site, said residents reported seeing a flaming, low-flying plane passing overhead but it was not clear whether the plane caught fire before the crash. The witnesses said the craft cut a wide burning swath as it slammed into the wooded hillsides.

One witness told Kyodo news service that he saw "red flames shoot up" from a large aircraft near the border of Nagano and Gunma prefectures and then saw black smoke billowing from the aircraft.

Following is a list of the 10 worst disasters in aviation history in terms of lives lost, not counting today's crash of a Japan Air Lines jumbo jet with 524 people aboard.

—582 killed March 27, 1977, when a KLM Boeing 747 taking off crashed into a taxiing chartered Pan-Am 747 at Santa Cruz de Tenerife, Canary Islands, Spain. Worst disaster in

Nunnery Attends 4-H Focus In Washington

Seminole County 4-H'er George Nunnery, Chuluota, has had a first hand opportunity to study citizenship this summer. Nunnery spent eight days in Washington, D.C. and Williamsburg, Va. as part of a National 4-H Citizenship short course entitled Washington Focus.

Hundreds of 4-H'ers from around the country participate annually in this summer citizenship event. Nunnery accompanied a 42-member delegation from Florida while in Washington, D.C. He had the opportunity to visit many historical sites and to participate in citizenship workshops. Following a tour of the capital Nunnery met with Florida representative Bill McCollum.

Washington Focus is a 4-H event designed to encourage citizenship and government involvement. Nunnery is the first 4-H'er from Seminole County to attend this short course.

For information on the Seminole County 4-H Program, contact Sheila Wilkins, 4-H Agent at 323-2500, Ext. 180.

George Nunnery receives a check and travel bag for Washington Focus from Tiffany Moore, Altamonte Springs, Seminole County 4-H Council delegate.

In And Around Longwood Scouts Honor Top Executive

After 38 years in service to the Boy Scouts of America, Kenneth Drupiewski is retiring as Central Florida's top Scouting executive.

Drupiewski has worked with the Scouts since 1947 when he started as a Scoutmaster for a small troop meeting in a church in Waycross, Ga. where he owned a Nash Automobile dealership. He became so involved in scouting over the next few years that he sold this dealership and took on scouting on the professional basis.

After working for many years for the Boy Scouts of America throughout the Southeast and in Central Florida, he has for 16 years been the Executive Director of the Central Florida Council covering 12 districts in Seminole, Orange, Lake, Brevard, Osceola and Flagler counties.

Mr. Drupiewski will be honored for his many years of service at a special ceremony commemorating his good works on Saturday, Aug. 17 with an Open House from 1 to 5 p.m. at the Scouting Center in Orlando. Then on that Saturday evening he will be toasted with a black-tie dinner (invitation only) at the Orlando Citrus Club.

The whole Drupiewski family has been active in Scouting. From Mrs. Drupiewski, who has worked with Girl Scouts for 15 years, to two sons who were Eagle Scouts and on to five of the ten grand-children who are presently Scouts.

Mrs. Drupiewski reports that all of the children and grand-children will be in town for the events in honor of their father and grandfather.

The League of Women Voters of Seminole County has a board meeting set for Aug. 19 at the Altamonte Community Chapel in Altamonte Springs at 9:30 a.m.

The new Board Executive Officers are Phyllis Saarinen, president; Lynn Hyer, first vice-president; Aida Rowe, second vice-president; Lois Evans, secretary; and Marian Adams, treasurer.

Brenau Women's College in Gainesville, Ga. has announced that Lori Montero, daughter of Thomas Montero of Altamonte Springs, has been inducted into the Alpha Lambda Delta business fraternity.

What You Need To Know About AIDS

DEAR READERS: If you have no interest in AIDS, what it is, how people get it, how widespread it is, and how to protect yourself from becoming a victim, skip this column. In an effort to get the facts, I consulted Dr. Michael Gottlieb, the eminent UCLA immunologist who discovered the AIDS syndrome in 1981. The information in this column was confirmed by an information officer at the Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta.

What is AIDS? It is the name for Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome, a virus that attacks and destroys the immune system, leaving its victims vulnerable to infections and innumerable diseases, including types of cancer.

How widespread is AIDS? The

epidemic is almost worldwide. Since 1981, over 12,000 cases have been diagnosed in the United States alone, of which nearly half have died from it. It is epidemic in Central Africa and Haiti, and has also spread to Europe and Australia. It is estimated that 500,000 to 1 million people have already been exposed to the virus. All individuals exposed do not necessarily succumb to AIDS, but they do have an increased risk of developing it. There can be an incubation period of several years between exposure to the virus and the development of AIDS, but the exact period of time is not known.

How is AIDS transmitted? The most significant route is by anal sex, oral sex and "old-fashioned" sexual intercourse with a person who has been infected by the AIDS virus. While most cases have occurred among homosexual or bisexual men who have had multiple partners, AIDS is not exclusively a homosexual disease. An increasing number of cases is being found among heterosexual (straight) men and women. All sexually active men and women, gay or straight, should be concerned.

The virus is also spread by shared contaminated needles among drug abusers. Also through blood products given to hemophiliacs and other recipients of blood. Some good news: Transmission through blood is expected to decrease since the screening of blood donors to detect the AIDS virus began in early 1985.

How AIDS is not spread: There is absolutely no evidence that AIDS is spread by casual contact with infected individuals. It cannot be spread by sharing towels, food or eating utensils with a person who has AIDS. Neither can it be spread by touching, hugging or body contact other than sexual intimacy.

What can be done about AIDS? A massive national program of public education as well as continuing research for a vaccine is now under way.

All sexually active people should avoid sex with multiple partners. They should also avoid contact with semen. (Condoms, for example, may offer some protection.)

It is important for all of us in the human family to show compassion and understanding to the victims of AIDS. They should not be avoided or ignored. I repeat, AIDS cannot be "caught" by touching or contact other than sexual. And although about 70 percent of the AIDS victims are homosexual men, it is not strictly a homosexual disease.

AIDS victims should be visited by their friends and relatives. There is no danger to anyone who visits or cares for a person who has AIDS. I repeat, AIDS is transmitted by sexual interaction with a person who has it. Hugging, caressing, holding, shaking hands with or being in close contact with a victim will not put one at risk of being contaminated.

Don't assume that every person who has AIDS is sexually promiscuous. One contact (even years ago) with someone who had it is sufficient to infect a person. A wife can get it innocently from a bisexual husband who had been infected years ago by an AIDS victim.

How can one obtain more information about AIDS? A national hotline with an informative recording can be reached by calling (800) 342-AIDS. Many cities have a local AIDS information hotline. Your telephone operator can advise you.

Orthopedists Good At Keeping Us On Our Feet

causes for your sleeplessness than hormone deficiency. Your doctor may be able to guide you without the necessity of taking medication — either estrogen or a sedative. That would be a better option.
Send your questions to Dr. Gott at P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, Ohio 44101.

DEAR DR. GOTT — What do orthopedists do? Why are they listed apart from other physicians in directories (such as the Yellow Pages), although "M.D." is given after their names? Are they "legitimate" specialists? How do they differ from chiropractors?

DEAR READER — Orthopedists are medical doctors who, after completing training in general surgery, choose to specialize in problems relating to the body's bones, joints and muscles. As a group, they are certainly legitimate, but there is a variation of skills between members of the specialty.

My local Yellow Pages lists "Orthopedic (Musculoskeletal)" in the same manner that other medical-surgical specialties are listed. Since all M.D.s are licensed as physicians or surgeons, it is not surprising that the telephone company indexes them as such.
Chiropractors do not have medical degrees, and therefore are not listed with doctors. Orthopedic surgeons provide many more services than do chiropractors — for example, they can operate and chiropractors cannot. They are also pretty good at fixing broken bones, dealing with sports-related injuries and generally keeping us old folks on our feet.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Are bad breath and digestive problems related?
DEAR READER — Digestive problems can release gases and foul scents that may be perceived as bad breath. Certain foods can cause halitosis, as can some diseases and infections. Ordinarily, however, most bad breath arises within the mouth, where particles of food are digested and decomposed by saliva and then get caught in or around teeth. Persons with bad breath should improve their oral-hygiene habits before they malign an innocent and misunderstood digestive tract.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Ever since menopause, I have suffered from terrible insomnia. Will estrogen help?

DEAR DR. GOTT — Possibly, but insomnia is not an appropriate reason to take the hormone. A frank discussion with your doctor might be more beneficial. After menopause, many women have difficulty sleeping. The reasons vary. Depression, anxiety and a decreased sleep requirement are examples of insomnia-producing factors that are more likely

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
Our thanks to Houston rubber bridge pundit Ira Chorush for today's exercise in declarer skill. Congratulations to North-South for arriving at the superior contract of five clubs. Three no-trump would have no play with the lead of the spade king. There's a simple philosophy to the play of today's hand — when you need a finesse to make your contract, assume it will work. Then figure out the probable location of the other key cards. Declarer won the spade ace. Because he needed the club finesse to work, he placed the club king with West. But if West held the club king as well as the spade K-Q, how could he also hold the diamond ace? (As a dealer he surely would have opened the bidding.) Concluding that East had the diamond ace, South played a heart back to his ace and led a diamond to dummy, inserting the 10. When that card forced the ace, he was in good shape but still had to play with caution. East led a spade through South's jack to West's Q-10, and West played another spade. Declarer ruffled carefully with dummy's club jack, trumped a diamond to his hand, and led the club 10. When that won, he was able to take another club finesse and make 11 tricks. What if West plays the queen of hearts instead of the third spade? Declarer must then resist the inclination to discard both his losing hearts on the K-Q of diamonds. Instead he must trump a low diamond in his hand and then proceed with the club finesse.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...
YOUR BIRTHDAY
AUGUST 13, 1985
Bonds will be re-established this coming year between you and someone with whom you were once close, but from whom you have since drifted apart. The relationship will now be more meaningful and productive.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Once you undertake an assignment today, be tenacious and see it through to its conclusion. Doing what you set out to do will give you pride of accomplishment. Major changes are ahead for Leos in the coming year. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today. Mail $1 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Don't be reluctant to ask advice from those who are more experienced if you're hung up on a new project. They'll have the answers.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Rewards you are now earnestly striving for will be forthcoming. However, keep in mind you'll only be paid in proportion to your efforts.
SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) People with whom you'll be involved today will sense you mean business when you speak your mind. They're not apt to take liberties or doubt your veracity.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) The wheel is now turning and someone you were kind to in the past will be setting up something nice for you today.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) If it's necessary for you to negotiate a matter with an old friend today, it might be wise to make concessions, even though he or she may not be entitled to them.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Don't be hesitant to set a tougher career objective. If you have singleness of purpose, it can be accomplished.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 19) Fortune tends to favor you over the competition today, so go in with a positive attitude. Play to win and you will.
ARIES (March 21-April 19) A delicate matter may be concluded in your favor today. There will be some profit or advantage associated with the victory, but it's not apt to be too large.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Take to heart what is told to you today by a friend whose counsel you trust. He or she will offer you constructive advice that you can apply to your benefit.
GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Financial conditions are still favorable. What appears to be a nominal opportunity today can be built upon later.
CANCER (June 21-July 22) When managing others, don't be afraid to use a firm hand today if things look as though they are beginning to get out of control.
