Holland Asks Pepper To Use Only Truth

By United Press International
Sen. Spessard L. Holland today denied digging up an old photograph to use in his campaign against Claude D. Pepper in the race for the Democratic senatorial nomination.

Holland said the picture, showing Pepper with Negro singer Paul Robeson and former Vice President Henry Wallace, "has no part in my campaign." He said "I do hope they use only the truth in this campaign because I shall not use anything but the truth."

Holland said the picture, showing Pepper with Negro singer Paul Robeson and former Vice President Henry Wallace, "has no part in my campaign." He said "I do hope they use only the truth in this campaign because I shall not use anything but the truth."

Commenting on the picture, Pepper charged that his opponent is resorting to the "Hitler big lie technique - gutter tactics - a deliberate attempt to brand me as a Communist."

Pepper, speaking in Miami, flashed a letter that charged he was a "liberal socialist and radical leader" when he was in the Senate 10 years ago. The letter contained the picture taken in New York's Madison Square Garden. It was the same picture Sen. George Smathers used to help defeat Pepper in 1950.

The letter with the picture was mailed July 23 by the so-called "Citizens Committee for Holland" of Jacksonville. Holland's Duval campaign manager, Connie A. Harley, said the "Citizens Committee for Holland" in Jacksonville does not have the "function" of the Holland organization and "has nothing in the world to do with it."

Pepper said the Madison Square Garden meeting, when the picture was taken, was held in 1946 under the auspices and at the request of the national Democratic Party. He said he spoke at the meeting on behalf of Democratic candidates on the ticket in New York state.

Holland, in a Miami Beach address, said that the basic question in his campaign against Pepper is "whether freedom is going to live or whether Communism is going to live."

Holland accused Pepper of being too "credulous and gullible" in his relations with people friendly to Russia. He said this country should not attempt to "appear the great force that would destroy us."

Holland was scheduled to spend the morning in Broward County before flying to Tampa this afternoon for more campaigning and to make a television film. Tonight he will attend a reception in Orlando, moving Saturday to Lake County.

Meanwhile, Pepper today will attempt to drum up support in Pasco, Dade, Lake and Marion counties. Saturday he goes to northern Florida, hitting Putnam, St. Johns, Clay, Bradford and Alachua counties.

Sheriff Intensifies Murder Investigation

The Seminole County Sheriff's department has intensified its investigation into the shotgun slaying of Merrill C. Ginder Thursday morning.

"We're running everything down on every bit of information with all of the intensity we can put into it," Sheriff J. L. Hobby said this morning.

Sheriff Hobby revealed that "We have called in our reserve power in order to follow any and every lead that we can get."

"We have no definite leads at the present time," it was stated. "But we're working everything we can get our hands on that might turn up a trail that we can follow."

Sheriff Hobby said "We're not going to be satisfied until we've done some good."

The Seminole County Sheriff's office is operating its investigation around the clock and stepping up the intensity of the search for the person who pulled the trigger.

Ginder, according to officers at the scene of the shooting yesterday morning, was shot down by a person crouched behind an automobile parked in the driveway of the home in which he and Mrs. Ginder were visiting.

Shotgun shell pellets were apparently fired upward from the crouched position, according to the line of fire determined yesterday.

Wads from the shotgun shell were found about 60 feet from the home.

Holland introduced the guest speaker, Lt. Ed Graham, who is the president of the Seminole Toastmasters' Club. He chose as his subject "How the Toastmasters' Club program is designed to develop individuals in the arts of public speaking and basic parliamentary procedures."

A. K. Shoemaker was appointed chairman for the annual Claxton Fruit Cake sale which will be held this fall.

Next week the club will hold installation of new members. Charles A. Thomson, Lt. Governor of the Florida District of Civitan, will conduct Dr. Edwin L. Lindsey, C. Boyd Coleman, Pat Colbert and William T. Cavanaugh.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower today asked Nikita Khrushchev to meet western leaders face to face in the United Nations Security Council to cope with "indirect aggression against independent states" of the Middle East.

In a new note to the Soviet premier the President suggested that the meeting start "on or about Aug. 12"—the same date proposed by Britain—in New York or somewhere else but not Moscow.

"If such a meeting is arranged," the President told Khrushchev, "I expect to attend and participate and I hope that you would do likewise."

"As for the place of the meeting," Eisenhower said, "the United States agrees that the meeting might be held elsewhere than New York City, but we could not agree to the meeting being held in Moscow."

"The memory of the well-organized mass demonstration and serious damage to the United States embassy in Moscow is too fresh in the minds of the American people," he said.

The treaty and stiffly worded note, running only 600 words, was delivered in Moscow to Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister N. S. Patolichev by U. S. Ambassador Lewellyn Thompson.

It and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's similar message to Khrushchev Thursday raised the possibility that if a summit meeting is held, French Premier Charles de Gaulle will not attend.

De Gaulle proposed Thursday that the meeting be held in Geneva Aug. 18—outside the United Nations framework.

President Eisenhower chided Khrushchev for the tone of his message and accused him of wanting to undermine the United Nations and of disregarding the interests of small nations. He said "not procedural but basic" differences characterize U. S. and Soviet attitudes.

For the first time in the exchange of notes about such a possible summit meeting, Eisenhower said that he would attend.

The United Nations "embodied and still embodies the hope of mankind," Eisenhower declared.

This, the President added, "seems to indicate an attitude on your part which could have dangerous consequences in the future for the smaller powers of the world."

Three Conventions Slated For Sanford

Three conventions have been scheduled for the Sanford Civic Center this fall, Sanford-Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce yesterday at its noon luncheon meeting.

Perry reported to the Jaycees on the accomplishments of the summer recreation program which ended yesterday.

"This was the first summer program inaugurated with the county under one leader," Perry told the Jaycees as he pointed to the number of events and participants during the seven-week program.

We had an average daily attendance of 1200 white children and 700 Colored children, Perry said, and the playgrounds registered 2600 youngsters.

Breaking down the attendance at various events, Perry pointed to an attendance of over 200 a week for the afternoon program, 500 weekly at evening programs four nights a week, and 75 weekly at Seminole High School.

In other events he said that 150 participated for water skiing for which there was an average attendance of 110 a week. There were 65 youngsters for horseback riding; 44 participants for bowling; and 32 for golf.

The Recreation Director, citing a visit to the Sanford Zoo by 151 children, said that 70 per cent of 43 children visiting the zoo from the Pinecrest area had never seen the Sanford attraction and that 40 per cent of a Southside School group had never seen the zoo.

"We will open the winter program," said Perry "on Sept. 1 with an adult basketball league, a volleyball league, and square dancing on the patio."

The Youth Wing will be used all winter with special events, dances in the civic center for young people, arts and crafts for adults, Perry planned.

"It is planned to use this building as much as possible even up to 18 hours a day if necessary," he said. Perry also called attention to the fact that name bands will be attracted here for dances at the Sanford Civic Center.

"We hope to double the tennis courts and have them lighted," Perry said as he commented on plans for the future. Additional tennis courts will be built in the diamond in Fort Mellon Park and one in the Gold-burn Recreation area. Improvements are planned for the swimming pool, too, he said.

"We think we have had a successful program for the children of this area," Perry told the Jaycees. To hear out his statement, the year "found Recreation Director pointed to the total registration of 3200 youngsters "just quadrupled the last year's program"

Crowded Courtroom Expected For Hearing

The Seminole County Court House courtroom is expected to be completely filled Monday afternoon when the board of Equalization resumes its hearing at 10 o'clock.

Already a record number of protests have been voiced before the board and official, signed protests will be handed in Monday afternoon when the hearing gets underway.

Intensity of the campaign for the equalization of taxes and valuations is gaining momentum as citizens look into the amount of taxes being paid in comparison to the neighbors' amount.

Officials are keeping mum about what action will be taken following the completion of the hearing. However, the hearings can continue indefinitely until every citizen who desires to voice a complaint or protest is heard.

According to law, the Equalization Board can take whatever action it deems on individual cases that are handed to the board for consideration.

The first 1958 meeting, held earlier this week, is an unprecedented one with more than 100 people making an appearance in the courtroom, some with complaints, others just to listen to the proceedings.

J. Reatley Odham who entered an official protest over taxes paid on his home and other properties, told the board "I will take this action to court if necessary and into every court possible to see that justice is done."

Odham also called on the Seminole County Tax Assessor to answer the questions of the people who appear before the board to determine if their taxes are too low or too high.

It is expected that seating space in the courtroom, which normally will take care of an audience of about 200, will be at a premium.

There is also the possibility, however not officially stated, that the meeting will be again recessed in order to hear the complaints of taxpayers.

High Court Does Not Rule On Daisy Chain Charter

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—The Florida Supreme Court today declined to rule whether the Legislature may use the proposed "daisy chain" system of amending the state charter.

In rejecting a request from Atty. Gen. Richard Ervin for a clarification on the point, the court said that the question was not brought up when it struck the proposed new state constitution from the November ballot last week.

Ervin had asked the court for a ruling on whether the "daisy chain" system proposed in a separate amendment to be voted on in November is constitutional.

Under the system amendments are submitted to the voters in a package. If one amendment is rejected, all fail to pass.

In last week's opinion which struck the proposed 14-point change from the ballot, the court said that "under the daisy chain system all amendments must be accepted or all will be rejected, therefore the right of the elector to approve one or a few will become worthless unless all others including the ones he rejects, receive a majority vote of approval."

The opinion continued in part that under the system "substance is sacrificed to form," but in refusing the clarification today, the court sidestepped ruling on the legality of the "daisy chain" mechanism.

Merrill C. Ginder Funeral Tomorrow Afternoon 3 p.m.

Funeral services for Merrill C. Ginder, 39-year-old package store operator of Sanford, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 p. m. at Brison Funeral Home with Rev. T. C. O'Steen of the First Methodist Church of Sanford officiating.

Elks Lodge will conduct services at the graveside.

Interment will be in Oaklawn Memorial Park.

Mr. Ginder was killed instantly early Thursday morning from a shotgun blast at close range from an ambush.

PLAN CRIME INSTITUTE

LONDON (UPI)—Cambridge University has agreed to set up Britain's first Institute of Criminal Justice with government financial aid.

Home Secretary R. A. Butler told the House of Commons Thursday he believed the school would "make an indispensable contribution to the study of the problem of crime and the treatment of offenders."

Capt. J. R. Reedy Takes Command Of Lexington

On the morning of July 31, Captain James R. Reedy, USN, formally relieved Captain R. L. Bailey, USN, as Commanding Officer of the USS Lexington (CVA-16).

The change of command ceremony took place on the parade ground adjacent to the berth in Pearl Harbor where the giant attack carrier lay a few days prior to getting underway for operations at sea. Captain Reedy initially joined the Lexington on her deployment from San Diego, flying aboard at the controls of a A-1H Skywarrior, the Navy's latest jet attack bomber.

Captain Reedy was born June 16, 1910 in Cleveland, Ohio, the son of the late James A. Reedy, and of Mrs. May Reedy who lives presently at 3633 Bosworth Road. He is the brother of Mrs. Frank Greywitt, Mrs. Carl Monahan, and Mrs. George Hoy.

Boy Scouts Visit The Florida Forest Service Tower

The Florida Forest Service has host to a group of Scouts and Explorers of Troop 242, Lake Mary, yesterday.

The Scouts, led by Scoutmaster Coleman, hiked from Lake Mary to the Forest Service ranger station at Longwood where they were conducted on a tour and briefed on the operation of the station and equipment by Rangers Bob Leavett, Arnold Westol and Norman Bristol.

The highlight of the tour according to the Scouts, was climbing the tower and meeting George Otto, the Forest Service dispatcher. Otto described the use of the radio communication system and the method of plotting the location of fires in conjunction with other towers in the area. While the Scouts were in the tower, they witnessed the procedure in dispatching a crew to an actual fire.

The Scouts came prepared to have lunch at the tower, however it was noted that their long hike, all the lunches were consumed before 10 o'clock.

A thorough inspection of the crawler tractor and skyline plover was made and they also tried their skill at operating the backfire can and backpack water pumps. A rundown on the operation of the power wagon water tanker rounded out the visit.

The Explorer Scouts received special instruction in the organization of the Forest Service and the forest fire protection laws of the state.

County Ranger Bob Gray commended Troop 242 on their active interest in helping with the fire prevention campaign in Seminole County.

The Facts Can Be Seen, Heard. Action Is Needed In Addition

It is becoming evident that the interest being taken in the forthcoming re-evaluation of the Equalization Board...

However, the time is short for those who do not know how their property is assessed to secure the proper information from the office of the Seminole County Tax Assessor.

There have been many words used to describe the situation in which we find ourselves at the present time.

Most assuredly Seminole County's situation will not be relieved if one or two homes are reassessed.

Citizens are broadminded enough to realize that the situation in which Seminole County finds itself is due directly to the property assessments countywide.

There are some taxpayers who are not concerned in amounts sufficient to be able to pay these as fair and just.

The lawmen understand that all of the property in Seminole County is worth more than $100 a acre tax assessment.

Several men appeared before the board last Tuesday asking that the valuation of $100 on muckland be reduced—and surely the property spoken of here is worth even much more than the $100 value.

How can citizens be assured that political pressures are not brought to bear on tax pictures? To what extent can the "average" taxpayer expect protection from the bug-a-boo of paying the other man's way?

There are a lot of questions to be asked—AND ANSWERED—before the matter of equalization, reassessment, or revaluation can be faithfully brought to a close in the best interest of most citizens.

One possibility—and it might bring about a solution to the problem facing us today—is that a representative of the office of Governor LeRoy Collins attend next week's meeting.

We don't mean that the representative of the Governor should sit in on the meetings in order to take a firm hold in the proceedings and handle the situation from his office.

There is an indication that more businessmen will be represented before the Equalization Board next Tuesday afternoon.

Now here's what the citizens of Seminole County have been facing: one small group of big landowners—and some of them were named at last Tuesday's Equalization Board meeting—has been operating the county as they see fit.

Reassessment, reappraisal, equalization, whatever it is and by whatever name it should be called is the necessary and most important move that can be made to benefit all of the people of Seminole County.

Only when such a program is adopted and put into working order will each property owner and citizen pay taxes in proportion to the honest value of their holdings and comparable to the tax paid by their neighbor whether he be a small landowner or a big landowner.

Seminole County is suffering. It's needs are many and without any source of additional funds to accomplish the services that people are demanding.

Roads must be built, a health center is needed badly, a jail with proper facilities for juveniles and mentally retarded people, an old folks home that will fill the real need of the aged is necessary.

We know these things must be forthcoming, but workers, whoever they might be, cannot accomplish a task with their hands tied and their eyes blindfolded.

The facts are to be seen and heard. Action is needed now!

Herlong Reports

Judging by our mail, a number of people are concerned about the soundness of the Social Security fund. Inquiries made of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare always brought the same reply. They said the fund was securely sound and we reported to you. They did say that there was a "leveling off" of the fund but that was to be expected and that the next increase in Social Security taxes, due in 1960, would take care of that situation in fine shape.

At our recent hearings on Social Security this same conclusion was voiced by the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare. Just last week we got down to the roots of Social Security in the executive sessions of the Ways and Means Committee. We haven't had the "top brass" before us. Rather, we have had the actuaries—the people who actually do the work. Because of the continued concern of people at home as to the soundness of the fund we asked some searching questions of these actuaries and I, for one, have been shocked at the answers we received.

The plain facts are that under present law Social Security is not sound. Without any additional benefits and with the periodic increase in taxes as scheduled under present law it will be less before there will be as much paid into the fund as is paid out. In the meantime, unless something is done about it, the fund will be reduced approximately $1 billion. This, together with the fact that the fund has already been reduced about $2 billion in the last two years presents a dismal picture indeed. Why those who are in policy positions have glossed this over and have given us inaccurate information, I just don't know.

Allergic Tendencies Are Often Inherited

By NERMAN D. BUNNISON, M. D.
MORE than half of the common allergies such as hay fever, asthma, eczema and the like can be traced directly to inheritance either from parents or more distant relatives. Because of this, many allergic parents fearful of passing on their allergy to their youngsters, have asked me how they can prevent this from occurring. Well, you cannot prevent it. It just isn't, as yet, possible to eliminate the tendency of children to inherit allergy.

What Statistics Show
If it is your side of the family that is allergic, probably one-third of your children may develop an allergy. If it is on both your side and that of your spouse, two-thirds of your youngsters are apt to be allergic. The allergy they develop, however, might not be the same one which bothers the parents.

Now all of this does not mean that these youngsters must suffer acute asthmatic attacks, the seasonal annoyances of hay fever or the troubles brought on by other allergic disturbances. Most Be Reassured
Even if they are susceptible to allergy, they must become sensitized to a particular substance and then must become re-exposed to it before they will develop symptoms.

Backstairs At The White House

United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Backstairs at the White House: Deedings of high government officials at National Security Council and Cabinet meetings are destroyed with the same care as any notes they may take on top secret matters. Each participant in such meetings is supplied with a leather-bound note pad and attached brass magnifying pencil.

White House Appointment Secretary Thomas E. Stephens recently impressed the President with his speed of foot. The President came into the Cabinet Room for a swearing in and looked around in vain for a commission to hand to the new official.

Quotes In The News

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. — Harry Ashmore, executive editor of the Arkansas Gazette, deploring the "overwhelming endorsement" of Gov. Faubus in Tuesday's primaries:
"It will set the pattern for other Southern politicians. The issue has been compliance with the law and defiance of the law."

BOSTON — Bernard Goldstein's lawyers expressing disagreement with a congressional subcommittee's recommendation of contempt action against the Boston textile millionaire:
"We feel that no citizen has an obligation to reveal all the aspects of his personal life for the entertainment of a congressional committee or the public."

BOYNE CITY, Mich. — Premier Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson on retired Gen. James G. Gavin's charge, contained in a forthcoming book, that Wilson was "the most uninformed man, and the most determined to remain so, that has ever been secretary":
"He's trying to sell his book in a rather nasty way."

WASHINGTON — The Committee for Economic Development post-pone the idea that heavy defense spending threatens the American way of life:
"The risk that defense spending of from 10 to 15 per cent of the gross national product, as is necessary even more, will ruin the American way of life is slight indeed."

Try and Stop Me
By BENNETT CURT
JONATHAN, age 7, already had a younger brother and an even younger sister, so when his parents revealed that still another addition to the family was on the way, Jonathan was understandably wary.
"Which would you prefer," twitted his father, "another brother or another sister?"
"Everything's a tie being equal," decided Jonathan, "and if it won't put Ma out too much, I'd rather have a pony."

Miss McCarley, John Huber Jr. Exchange Marriage Vows, Friday

Miss Gertrude McCarley, daughter of Mrs. J. D. McCarley and John J. Huber Jr., son of Mrs. Gail M. Huber, exchanged marriage vows Friday, July 25.
Dr. W. P. Brooks Jr. officiated at the 8:15 p. m. double ring ceremony which took place in the First Baptist Church of Sanford. Fall white baskets of carnations and chrysanthemums and the musical background provided by the organist, Mrs. Margaret Wilam, set the scene for the soloist Gerald Covington. As the soloist sang the ever popular bridal selections "I Love You Truly" and "Because" his voice lent atmosphere to the church.
The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, H. M. Pearce Sr., was radiant in a floor-length wedding gown of lace and net over satin. The fitted lace bodice, fashioned with wrist-length lace sleeves and a lace-trimmed neckline led to the skirt of net featuring panels of lace. Her finger tip-length veil of net was held in place by a bandeau of orange blossoms. She carried a white prayer book topped with a corsage of white carnations from which fell a shower of ribbon.
Mrs. Jack Bellinger, of Lake City, acting as her sister's matron-of-honor, wore a street length dress of lavender lace. The dress was fashioned with a bouffant skirt, rounded neckline, and a fitted sleeveless bodice. She wore matching accessories and carried a bouquet of blue and white chrysanthemums.
Mrs. Robert G. Wade, of Orlando, and Mrs. H. M. Pearce Jr., the bride's cousin, were chosen to act as bridesmaids. They wore blue dresses identical in style to that of the matron-of-honor and carried identical bouquets.
William Mitchell acted as the groom's best man, and Gary Katka and Charles Weideman served the couple as ushers.
The bride's mother chose to wear a grey summer knit with which she wore pink accessories. Her corsage of white carnations accented her ensemble.
Immediately following the service a reception was held at the H. M. Pearce Sr. home, 605 E. 2nd St. The brides table was covered with an arrangement of white carnations. Crystal appointments and the traditional wedding cake, which was served with punch from the crystal punch bowl, completed the table setting.
Leaving directly from the reception for a short wedding trip to the coast, the bride wore a navy blue suit with blue accents. She wore a corsage taken from her bridal bouquet.
The couple have made their home in Lake Mary. The groom is attached to FASHION 31 at the SNAS and the bride is employed at the Florida State Bank.

Males Suffer Most Home Accidents

CHICAGO (UPI) — Apparently this is more of a woman's world than most women think. National Safety Council survey of 16 states shows that working age men die almost twice as fast as women in home accidents.
The council admitted that it has been virtually ignoring the male in designing safety programs which concentrate primarily on the safety of women and children. The result of all this precaution spells a grim destiny for men between the ages of 25 and 64. In one year, more than one thousand men between those ages and fewer than 500 women died in home accidents.
Council spokesman Ralph Kuhl offered two explanations: Whenever there is a hazardous job to be done around the house, the man does it. Kuhl said. Also, a man's everyday maintenance jobs usually require more dangerous tools. The survey showed that poisons, falls, fire, and firearms are the chief death dealers.
For Steak Garnish
NEW YORK — (UPI) — Blue cheese and tomatoes combine for an unusual side dish for steak. To make four servings, mix 3/4 cup crumbled blue cheese (about 4 ounces) with 2 tablespoons fine dry bread crumbs. Cut 4 medium-size tomatoes in half. Sprinkle tomatoes with onion salt. Cut 1 small green pepper in thin strips and place a strip on each tomato half. Sprinkle with cheese mixture. Broil 3 to 4 inches from heat 4 to 5 minutes.
Look where earrings are turning up now—in the hair. The latest fad has women clipping an earring to a silver or gold-colored bobby pin and tucking into the hair.

Slavia Residents Still Vacationing

SLAVIA — There are still some folks in this community who are vacationing. Mrs. Juliana Stankovic left earlier this week by plane for Bradford, Ontario, Canada, where she will visit with the Rev. and Mrs. John Obeda. Mrs. Obeda is the former Marian Starke, who for several years was a primary grade teacher at St. Luke's Christian Day School.
On vacation also for two weeks at Cocoa Beach are the Rev. and Mrs. S. Tuhy and three of their daughters. The two eldest Tuhy girls are attending summer school at Florida Southern and Gainesville Universities.
Mr. and Mrs. George Hanat have motored up to Cleveland, Ohio, to visit friends and relatives.

Sexy Sheath Sneaking Back Into Fall Fashions

PARIS (UPI) — Look what's sneaking back into fashion—the sexy sheath.
This little dress, a last word during the brief reign of the sack, emerged cautiously and is not yet offering competition to the high-waisted empire silhouette which had dominated almost all Paris designers' collections for fall and winter.
But the sheath is there, hugging every curve, in both daytime and cocktail clothes. One of its instant boosters is Serge Matta, who made his debut this week. Other designers have returned to figure flattery with the waist cincher. Whether more of the same is on the way will be determined today with the powerful House of Christian Dior show. Yves Saint Laurent, the late Dior's successor, talked to UPI just before "curtain time" but gave no hint of what was coming.
"I'll just show clothes I like," he said.
This was Saint Laurent's second Paris collection.
The one for the Dior New York wholesale firm, shown three weeks ago, placed belts high. But otherwise there was no hint of the empire.
Matta, a native of Chile, was one of three of the younger set of designers to show Wednesday. The others were Guy Laroche, 33 and Michel Goma, 23.
All three hampered a girl-midriff. Goma left waistlines, where nature put them in his daytime clothes but lifted them for evening.
Laroche showed both the normal and the you-know-what (it'll be darned if I'll say "empire" again) but the latter dominated. Matta provided a little something for everybody in his youthful and snappy clothes. He brought back the ball-shaped skirt, that pleasing silhouette which curves from a slim waist into several yards of fullness at the hem.

Bible Class Enjoys Barbecued Chicken

OVIEDO — The aroma of barbecued chicken which was met as one passed the First Methodist Church of Oviedo Friday afternoon was more than tempting.
This was the monthly affair of the Wesley Bible Class. It was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. John Landry, the Rev. and Mrs. George H. Carlson, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. McCallister and was served in the Fellowship Hall of the church.
Those enjoying the supper included: Mr. and Mrs. James Pearson, Mr. and Mrs. George Kelley, Mr. and Mrs. Don Uirey, Mr. and Mrs. James Parson, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Swenson, Mr. and Mrs. William B. West, Mrs. Ernest Luttrell, Mrs. Ralph Nealy, Miss Ruth Davidson, and Miss Elizabeth Olliff.

Parents Surprise Daughter On Her Birthday Recently

LONGWOOD — Barbara Petty was honored with a party on her birthday last week. Given by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Petty, at their home in South Longwood, the party was a complete surprise for the honoree.
Barbara spent the night with Dolores Martin and received special permission to wait until 1:30 p. m. to return home. When she arrived home she was greeted by the guests who burst into singing "Happy Birthday."
Eugene Futch won the door prize. Dolores Martin was the lucky cake surprise finder, while Gloria Gary won the Bingo game. Sandra Morgan and Shirley Stammer were the most successful stavey hunters.
After the games, the honored guest opened her gifts which were admired by everyone. Then Mrs. Petty invited everyone into the dining room for refreshments.
The table was centered with a green birthday cake decorated with yellow candles. Novelty pin-cushion chairs marked each guest's place.
Cake, ice-cream, and cold drinks were served to the following guests: Camilla Kirkland, Sandra Morgan, Shirley Stammer, Lorraine Marsh, Colleen Coyle, Dolores Martin, Mary Jane Ferrill, Brenda Petty, Beverly Letty, Jimmy Lycans, Eugene Futch, Terry Lycans, and Gloria Gary.

Spencer's Scene Recent Luncheon

Spencer's private dining room was the scene Wednesday for a bridesmaid luncheon given by Mrs. J. S. Moore and Miss Jo Ann Moore.
A lovely centerpiece arrangement of pink roses and astors graced the table at which the guests were seated.
Each of the bride's attendants were presented with a gift from the bride in memento of the wedding which is an event of today. Those present included Miss Alice Brown, bride-elect; Mrs. Paul Brown, the bride-elect's mother; Mrs. Vernon Hardin, matron-of-honor; Miss Jo Ann Moore, maid-of-honor; Mrs. Douglas Crites of Coral Gables, brides-

Polish Sports Fans Get A Look At "World's Greatest Athlete"

WARSAW (UPI)—Polish sports fans were promised today they'll see a glimpse of the "world's greatest athlete" when they see the U. S. Olympic team in Poland.

U. S. head coach George Eastman of Manhattan College said Johnson had not been entered as a competitor here since there is no decision event. But he will appear as an added, unofficial member in at least one event so fans can see him.

Johnson, who set a new world record of 6,920 points at Moscow in the U. S. men's team defeated Russia, has been one of the most popular team members among Polish sports fans who have been cheering the U. S. team since its arrival Wednesday.

The Poles also had something to say about Eastman — a promise that the most would be secured as two separate dual meets, one for men and one for women. At Moscow the Russians had promised the same thing but wound up lumping together both point totals and claiming a 170-170 overall victory.

Eastman announced that Al Carter, of New Hyde Park, N. Y., who is second in the distance event in Moscow with 154 feet, 10 1/2 inches, had returned home. He gave no further details of Carter's departure.

By JACK CUBBY
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI)—The Rocky Colavito incident reflects today's intensified search for pitching speed in the major leagues.

It's the jet age for baseball scouts. They want the kid with the missile whip, with the blazing fast ball, that can out-speed the reflexes of most batemen in these days of long balls and short punts.

Talk all you want about the "cuties" like Warren Spahn and Whiskey Ford; but the birdlike hunting talent really point when they hear the whish of a fireball. Scouts, getting their first look at a young pitching prospect, are not interested now in his curve or change of pace. They want to see his fast ball. They want to estimate his speed.

Because speed is king, Rocky Colavito of the Cleveland Indians made an experimental mound debut in an exhibition game against Cincinnati Monday night. Power in his Arm.

Rocky is an outfielder—a strong armed outfielder. In fact his right arm is one of the most potent rifles in the majors. I think throwing power could be harnessed for regular pitching. 24-year-old Colavito might be transformed into a million-dollar beauty—like Herb Score was before his injuries.

So, manager Joe Gordon gave him the ball Monday night and let him pitch two innings. Rocky threw practically nothing but fast balls; yet they were enough to give him five strikeouts. He yielded only one hit. He may soon be shuttling between the outfield and the mound, even though he'd rather remain in the garden where he can play every day.

They'll try to harness his speed all right. The speed-worshippers of today will go all-out to utilize it, once it's found. And the reason is simple.

Can't Teach Speed
"You can teach a young pitcher to throw a curve or a change-up," says Baltimore boss Paul Richards, who is regarded as the game's best handier of hurlers. "But no one in the world can teach him to throw harder than the natural speed with which he is endowed."

Practically every pitcher has more speed than the average player at other positions. Otherwise he wouldn't have become a pitcher. But the real "maker" who can depend most upon his speed is rare.

Scoring Rampage Expected In The North-South Game Wednesday

GAINESVILLE—Absolutely no one should be surprised if both the North and South squads go on a scoring rampage in this year's Florida High School All-Star Basketball Game in Florida Gym next Wednesday night (Aug. 8) at 8:15.

Both are loaded with basket-dumping headliners, with almost every man on each team capable of turning in a 30-point performance.

Captain John Baldwin of Jacksonville Bishop Kenny has a North team composed of talented courtmen.

Guard Doyle Thomas, Trenton, scored 40 points in one game and 400 his senior year. He averaged 450 a season over the past three years.

Guard Jennings Rowland, Gainesville, made 1,404 points during his three year career and 608 last season. In one game he made 84 points.

Guard Charlie McKinstry, Wildwood, averaged over 17 points per game last season; Guard Jimmy Norworthy, Campbellton, 600 last year, 1,108 during his career; Forward Dalton Epling, Hilliard, made 60 points in the state tournament.

Forward-Center Roger Strickland, Bishop Kenny, 2,126 points over a four-year career and 607 last season; Forward Walter Ward, Choctawhatchee, leading scorer in West Florida Conference; Forward Broward Green, Florida High of Tallahassee, All-Conference and high scorer; Center Carl Fabry, Oviedo, 900 points over the past two seasons; and Center Ray Swain, Jacksonville, London, scored 48 points against Florida in a state tournament game.

South Coach Joe Barton of Lake Placid has the horse to match. They include All-State Guard Joel Hancock, Miami Edison; Guard Derek Hamilton, Haines City, 702 points over the past two seasons; Guard Pete Perdomo, Miami Senior, 478 points his senior year; Center-forward Larry Sapp, Lake Placid, all conference; Center Robert Whitler, Vero Beach, scored on 43 percent of his field goals, had 230 rebounds.

Center-forward John Mullis, Bartow, made 81 points in a single game, 600 for the season (both are school and conference records); while forward Martin Clark, Tampa Hillsborough, scored 40 points in one game and 50 or more in four other games.

Forward Rufus Ashworth, Coral Gables, holds the all-time school record of 488 rebounds in a season. Forward-Guard Johnny Thomas, Belle Glade, averaged 24.3 points a game, while Forward-Guard Murray Cook, Clearwater, was voted the District 5 tournament's most valuable player and scored 370 points last season.

The two squads of ten men each arrive on the campus Thursday, July 31 to begin two-day drills.

Floyd Patterson-Roy Harris Fight Cited

NEW YORK (UPI)—Irving B. Kahn said "I believe the Floyd Patterson-Pete Rademacher fiasco will make the Floyd Patterson-Roy Harris fight a tremendous success."

Folley knocked out reluctant Rademacher in the fourth round of their facial encounter at Los Angeles recently. Heavyweight champion Patterson defends his title against unbeaten Harris of Cui'N Shoot, Tex., at Los Angeles, Aug. 18.

Kahn, president of the Teleprompter Corp., smiled radiantly and explained: "The pitiful showing of Rademacher against Folley indicates vividly that challenger Harris has an excellent chance to win the title from Patterson."

Knocked Four Times
Kahn, whose closed-circuit outfit will televise the Patterson-Harris fight to theatres and other locations in the United States and Canada, stressed that Rademacher, in his first professional fight, had given a much better performance against champion Patterson last August than against Folley.

Rademacher fought like a tiger against Patterson and floored him in the second round but ran out of gas later and took seven trips to the deck before being knocked out in the sixth round. But at Los Angeles Friday night, Rademacher went on the defensive and scarcely laid a glove on Folley, who decked him four times for a kayo in the fourth round.

"The two Rademacher fights prove nothing, but they indicate much," Kahn continued as he beamed across his office desk. "They indicate that Lou Visconti, Harris' manager, wasn't crazy when he accepted the title fight with Patterson—that he really did know Roy has a fifty-fifty chance to beat Floyd."

No Bad Tests
Wasn't it possible the Folley-Rademacher travesty might have left a bad taste in the mouths of prospective ticket purchasers? "Not at all," said Kahn. "The public already had seen, last Wednesday, a great television fight in which underdog Kenny Lane gave lightweight champion Joe Brown a terrific battle for the crown. And the Rademacher fiasco, though a disappointment at the time, has now made them eager to see what underdog Harris, a real professional, will do against Patterson."

Traffic on the mile and three-eighths speedway will be heavy again this week. Fireball Roberts, one of the five drivers who have started in all eight previous Southern 500s, will start his break-in runs Tuesday. The Charlotte Holman-Moody team will also be on the track during the week. Curtis Turner, 1956 winner and Joe Weatherly will drive the Holman-Moody entries.

RANGERS TO TRAIN
NEW YORK (UPI)—General Manager Muzz Patrick announced Monday that the New York Rangers will start training for the 1956-57 National Hockey League season on Sept. 11 at Niagara Falls, Ont. Coach Phil Watson will have 42 players on hand when workouts begin.

Whatever Happened To BILL SWACKI?

United Press International
Bill Swacki was one of the finest pass-catching ends in Columbia football history—and that's a history loaded with superb aerial facts. His greatest day, long remembered in Eastern football, came in the Army game of 1947 when underdog Columbia crushed a long Code winning streak by gun in the Davis-Blanchard era. In that 21-20 victory, Swacki made three "impossible" catches, one for a touchdown, and was a defensive star. Later he played with the Detroit Lions and New York Giants in the National Football League.

Whatever happened to Bill Swacki? He now makes his home in Southbridge, Mass., where he has his own insurance business, and recently was signed as an end coach of the Los Angeles Rams.

Elvis Scores With Hit Tunes
Drama In Superb "King Creole"

"King Creole" wings into the Ritz Theatre Sunday. It presents a new-dimensional Elvis Presley—singing, slugging, loving and acting, really acting—and even his most avid fans will say after seeing him in action as Danny Fisher, that they didn't know he had it in him.

In short, in this Hal Wallis production which was finished just prior to the start-off for Army service, Elvis Presley is terrific. There is enough of him in the Paramount drama-music-muscle to tide his fans over until his return to civilian life, and to make new fans for him to swell their ranks.

Co-starred with Presley in this dramatization of Harold Robbins' best-seller, "A Storm For Danny Fisher," are Carolyn Jones, Walter Matthau, Dolores Hart, Dean Jagger, Vic Morrow. The shapely French dancer Liliane Montevonchi has a terrific number called "Banana" that is a show-stopper, and character actor Paul Stewart is also featured in an important part.

Rock Hudson Getting Smarter Every Day

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Rock Hudson is getting smarter every day, preparing for the time when he will be producing his own pictures, then summed up his attitude about movie-making. "I just like to act," he concluded.

Tied down to a Universal-International contract—which has three years to run—Rock makes only $100,000 a year.

Only! As a freelance operator he could command more than half a million a year in picture, in addition to a percentage of the profits. As the nation's number one box-office draw he could name his price. Actors with a tenth of his drawing power make ten times his salary.

"When those three years are up Rock will be ready. I'm going to take college courses in finance and economics," he says. "If I'm going to be a high-salaried actor I'd like to know what to do with all the money."

"Right now I don't even know what a stock or a bond is. But I'll learn. And I'll find out how to run my own company."

Nothing to say. The broad-shouldered star stopped talking to act his lunch in the U-I commissary. It appeared he'd done his talking for the day. Asked why he limits interviews, Hudson said simply, "I have nothing to say."

"I don't know what to talk about. Maybe it's a desire for privacy. Everybody else has a private life, why not me?"

Rock fell silent again, then hopefully analyzed his success. "Fortunately, I haven't been forced to play any of those neurotic hero roles. And I'd just as soon keep it that way. Actually, I can't say that I do any real acting. I just stand in front of the camera and smile."

"When I left Chicago," the ex-truck driver recalled, "I didn't know whether to go to New York or Hollywood. If I'd gone to New York I might have attended the Actors Studio and become another Jimmy Dean. Maybe I'd have wound up as a bum. It's fun to think about those things."

"Most of all I'd like to go on the stage. It sounds like an ideal way to live. I'd have regular hours and be able to go to school during the day."

"The big guy is vaguely aware of his earning potential. He is one of a kind—the only young man on the Hollywood scene who can play swashbuckling heroes a la Gable, Cooper and John Wayne. Within the next 10 years he could earn upwards of 20 million dollars."

"I don't think much about that. And I don't give much thought to my box-office rating or winning an Oscar," he said. "I've made 20 pictures in the past eight years. He recently completed 'Twilight for the Gods,' and soon he's off on the road to make more of 'em."

"This Earth Is Mine" with Jean Simmons. Before leaving the lunch table Hudson thought deeply for a minute.

"This eliminates a certain amount of obligation to be purely creative. It gives us one less thing to create at a given moment, and in this business, with weekly shows, time is important."

Bob's girl boss up—Cathy Cruby, daughter of band leader Bob Cruby and niece of Diniz, arrives in New York from California. She is the newest member of the Cruby clan to enter show business.

It's Lots Simpler Writing Gags By Formula

NEW YORK (UPI) — The construction of jokes, like the construction of a building, often follows a blueprint, says Steve Allen.

"Those of us who must create jokes regularly come to realize after a while that a lot of them are based on formulas. The best example I can think of off-hand is my son, David."

"When he was six, he used to say, 'None of your beeswax.' I asked him one day, 'Do you know what that means?' He said yes and I asked him to explain. "'None of your beeswax,' he said."

"Now," Steve went on, "that's a formula-type joke, even if my son didn't realize it. Allen also has another formula for laughs: "Tragedy plus time plus the will to be amused equals comedy. If you don't have the will to laugh, you won't be amused—whether it's by a Chaplin or anyone like him."

Another thing about formula-comedy, said Allen, is that it makes the job of the writers a little easier. "We try to perfect departments to fall back on. On our NBC show, we've worked out three departments — The Allen Bureau of Standards, 'The Question Man' and 'Reports of the Nation.'"

"This eliminates a certain amount of obligation to be purely creative. It gives us one less thing to create at a given moment, and in this business, with weekly shows, time is important."

Cross-Eyed Cat Goes To Hollywood, Television

By NAZEL K. JOHNSON
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Wild-eyed cat hunter Elmer, who'd been touted as a "convergent strabismic" and named Elmer would mean a free trip to Hollywood from a Mendon, Ohio, farmer?

But late last month Larry Hamilton and his cross-eyed galice cat will be flown here as Elmer can take the title role in "My Aunt's Cat," Ralph S. CBS-TV television series to be filmed for the "Mulligan" series.

Elmer, in truth a she and the mother of a new litter, won out over 568 other felines whose owners had submitted photographs to the TV show's story editor, Milton Merlin.

Merlin launched a nationwide hunt for a cat when the usual Hollywood animal sources failed to turn up a cat which looked "unwanted" enough to suit the story. Elmer, a cool cat whose crossed eyes have never proved much of an affliction save for a barnyard mouse he failed to catch now and again, came to Merlin's attention thanks to Joe O. Riker, state editor of the Lima News in Lima, Ohio. The mistake is Elmer's gender was discovered only eight weeks ago. According to the CBS publicity boys, Elmer was missing from his usual haunts for a week and was found in a barn, aged 60, and harboring a lusty, newborn litter of kittens in a corner of the barn loft. But if there's any name changing to be done at all it'll be that of the story. Producer Don Federman, creator of the series, has indicated he may change the title to "My Aunt's Cat." Elmer, in deference to the now-found feline, Cost A Quarter "Elmer's two and a half years old now, a ripe old age for a cat," Hamilton told the publicity men, "and if we changed his name now, he wouldn't know we were calling him."

Ronnie Knox Quits The Gridiron For TV

By VERNON SCOTT
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Ronnie Knox, the much-publicized football hero, has quit the gridiron forever (he says) to tackle TV, movies and the recording racket. A triple-threat man on the field, Ronnie will burst loose on the unsuspecting public this fall in the movie "Pork Chop Hill," in "Steve Canyon" on TV and as a rock 'n' roll singer with a disc titled "Play Ball With Me Baby."

Ronnie is a big handsome kid with a mop of hair and an easy grin.

"I'll miss the thrill of the crowds and the excitement of football," Ronnie says. "But you can't get your brains knocked out singing and acting. I never play-

Too Late To Classify

By Edward Kay
 Are we handling the traffic safety problem as effectively as possible? In spite of the efforts of such groups as the American Automobile Association, National Safety Council, and many others, traffic accidents and fatalities continue to mount.

To find out "why" the Opinion Research Corporation recently conducted a survey to get the reaction of motorists themselves to the mass propaganda appeal for safe driving.

They came up with some interesting data. What do such signs as "Speed Kills," "Drive Safely," "Slow Down and Live," mean to the average motorist? Do the admonitions to drive carefully featured over and over again on radio and television, in newspapers and on billboards, have any effect on causing motorists to drive with greater caution?

The survey reveals that they don't mean very much. It seems that the so-called average motorist holds a pretty high opinion of his ability as a driver.

He readily admits that the nation's accident and death rate is appalling and thinks that something should be done about it, but from his point of view, the traffic safety program is aimed at the other fellow. He has been driving a car for years and doesn't have to be told how to drive. Those slogans and signs are for the dumb clucks that clutter up the highways, the kind you run into in a traffic jam. It is always the other fellow who is to blame.

People really want to be good, law-abiding drivers. They want to be so they say they are. Most of them really think they are excellent drivers and insist, when involved in an accident or traffic infraction that it was the other fellow at fault.

Very few motorists have a thorough knowledge of traffic laws now on the books. They are aware of those dealing with speeding, drunken driving or passing on a hill, but completely disregard many others that cause serious accidents.

A large percentage of drivers don't see any harm in running a red light or ignoring a stop sign and become indignant when given a ticket. These drivers set a bad example to the youngsters. Motorists don't scare easily, such
