HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL For Tuesday, January 27, 1981

YOUR BIRTHDAY January 27, 1981 In the year following your birthday things may not always be a bed of roses, but you won't let any adversities distract or hold you back from your goals. Because of this you are a success story. AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Fulfill your ambitions today, but do so in ways that will be proud to talk about later. The end must justify the means. Romance, travel, luck, resources, possible pitfalls and career for the coming months are all discussed in your Astro-Graph which begins with your birthday. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date. PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Methods which proved unfruitful for you previously are likely to come up empty again today. Learn from past mistakes. Don't repeat them. ARIES (March 21-April 19) Be an observer rather than a participant in the affairs of others today. In where you are not invited could cause complications. TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Unusual stress in important relationships is something you might have to contend with today. If opposed, keep your cool. GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your way of doing things and your boss's may not synchro- nize today. Think twice before biting the hand that signs your paycheck. CANCER (June 21-July 22) Normally you're cautious and prudent in financial or commercial dealings, but today you may act without having all the facts. LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Neither you nor your mate should make major decisions today without the full consent of the other. Two heads should prove wiser than one. VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You're extremely observant today, but you may focus more on the shortcomings of others than on their virtues. Look for the latter. LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Treat your resources and possessions with respect today, or you might not end up with as much as you started out with. SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) It's nice to be able to operate in a free and independent manner, but today this privilege may be denied you. Make the most of the hand you're dealt. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Instead of operating as you usually do, letting by-gones be bygones, today you may allow something another did to you in the past color your thinking. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Steer clear of friends who make unreasonable demands upon your purse or property today. You could be maneuvered into a giveaway position.

Prostate Cancer Treatments Change

DEAR DR. LAMB—I had a prostate operation in 1974. I just had my 57th birthday. The urologist did the whole thing called a radical prostate. He removed the prostate gland and both testicles. He said it was embedded and about the size of a match head. He said the radical to be on the safe side, I have been on hormones since. I have moved to another state and would like to know who much longer I should stay on hormones. My breasts have increased to the size of a small grapefruit and they get sore and feverish at times. DEAR READER—Your six-year history after surgery should be encouraging to others. Congratulations. You'll need to be under a doctor's care so he can tell what the status of your cancer really is. That is the only way anyone can tell you if you need to continue hormones or not. Concepts about treating cancer of the prostate have changed rapidly in the past few years. Today, if you had such a small cancer localized to part of the prostate gland a radical operation might be done, but you might not be castrated. Such early cancers can be completely cured in some cases with radical surgery. Some doctors say one year after stopping menstrual periods is sufficient but unless your doctor tells you that it is OK, you had better not throw caution to the winds on your own unless two years have passed. The oldest documented pregnancy was in a woman 57 years of age. You can read sensational accounts in news stories in papers that print that sort of thing for public attention, but there are no reliable records of births after 57. So what should you do? You can keep on getting opinions or you can follow your gynecologist's advice. After all, he is a specialist in this area and they is why you went to see him.

EPA Gives 'Interim Status' To Chemical Waste Site

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has given "interim status" to the waste chemical storage facility being operated on a two-acre site in Sanford, off Jewett Lane and Airport Boulevard. Time was the major element in City Chemicals Co. Inc., an Orlando-based firm being given operating status, according to John Lank, chief of Georgia-Florida Compliance Group of EPA. And time was on City Chemicals' side. Although Lank said City Chemicals would have to comply with federal regulations to be formulated within the next year to 18 months under a new federal law, the storage site was in operation prior to that law's effective date of Nov. 18, 1980. "If it were not in existence prior to Nov. 18, it would not have received the interim status," Lank said today from his Atlanta office. "Permits under the new law won't be issued for another year-to-18 months," Lank said. "But there is a possibility if they apply for an EPA permit and want it, they could get the permit," Lank said.

Kelly Vows He'll Fight Conviction

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Former Rep. Richard Kelly, caught on videotape stuffing a $25,000 bribe into his pockets, is vowing to fight his conviction and prove the government acted improperly in its Abscam investigation. Kelly and two co-defendants, Eugene Cluzo, a Longwood, Fla., businessman, and Stanley Weisz, a Smithtown, N.Y., accountant, were found guilty Monday on charges of conspiracy, bribery and interstate travel to aid racketeering. Each faces up to 25 years in prison and thousands of dollars in fines for convictions that resulted from the undercover probe where FBI agents posed as representatives of fictitious Arab sheiks in offering bribes to politicians. The only Republican among seven members of Congress snared in the web of Abscam, Kelly, 56, lost his bid for reelection after being indicted last July. After the guilty verdicts were returned Monday, he vowed to continue his legal challenge of the Abscam tactics and overturn his conviction. "The war goes on," he said. "The government has not proved that I have ever been involved in any kind of corruption, any kind of crime," said Kelly. "I think the government needs investigating more than the crooks that they have proven existed." A jury of seven women and five men, deliberating less than seven hours, rejected Kelly's story that he accepted $25,000 at a Washington townhouse on Jan. 8, 1980, to pursue his own investigation of men he had met through a one-time aide. "We never believed that," said juror Mary Venison, 58, a government secretary. Another juror, declining to be identified, said Kelly's story was "a little far-fetched." "I guess it was just a matter of someone trying to find some way out," the juror said. Kelly had maintained his innocence during 4½ days of testimony. "I think the story of my life is that I have not been a crook, and I have not tried to save my own hide at the expense of the people," Kelly told reporters following the verdict.

STAYMAN to see if South has a four-card major suit and then bid a proper six trump. Alan: "A quick count shows South that he has 11 top tricks and he can get the twelfth in either minor suit. He wants to try to guard against the chance that West will hold the queen of clubs and both missing diamond honors while retaining all other options. He can and does find a safety play to insure 12 tricks." Oswald: "He takes his second high heart at trick two and starts on the spades. Both opponents follow to the three leads so South takes dummy's ace and queen of hearts while discarding two little diamonds. All hearts and spades are now accounted for." Alan: "Note that South does not cash the fourth spade. He would squeeze himself if he did. He simply leads a diamond to his nine."

Deer Run: Not In Casselberry Judges Rule

By BRITT SMITH Herald Staff Writer After a four-year case of musical subdivision, the Deer Run development just outside Casselberry is officially no longer a part of the city. At least temporarily. That was the result of Monday's ruling by a three-judge panel which overturned Casselberry's 1977 annexation of the 1,200-acre community. In a 2-1 opinion, Circuit Judges Dominick Salfi and Robert McGregor set

Safety Post Dropped

Now that a "strong individual" has been appointed police liaison commissioner, it is no longer necessary to have a public safety administrator, Mayor Lee P. Moore told fellow commissioners Monday night. And Moore recommended, as City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles had requested, that an ordinance designating Knowles administrator over the police department be rescinded. The ordinance is to be rescinded at the same time as a new ordinance authorizing Knowles to handle police department purchasing and personnel record keeping is adopted, Moore said. Knowles asked that the police authority for his office be eliminated, saying it was an impossible task to ac-

UCF President Sympathetic To Anti-Iranian Protestors

By GREG PIERCE Herald News Editor The leader of a protest against Iranian students at the University of Central Florida emerged from a meeting with UCF President Trevor Colbourn Monday saying he was satisfied with Colbourn's response. "The president seemed sympathetic," said Altamonte Springs minister John Butler Book following the protest that demanded removal of 170 Iranian students, especially when the university is turning away qualified American students due to enrollment limits. Book led a 35-car caravan to UCF from his church. Wearing a yellow ribbon in the lapel of his brown, three-piece suit, Book stood on the steps of the administration building after his meeting with Colbourn. "I think it (the demonstration) was effective," he said. "It accomplished what we wanted to do—to focus attention" on the situation at UCF. Colbourn told the protesters he sympathizes with their anger toward Iran and believes the university has an obligation to serve Floridians first, but he cannot force out Iranian students in good academic standing. Colbourn said under Board of Higher Education policy, he cannot give preference to Americans transferring from junior colleges, where most Iranian students come from. Last week, Colbourn said he favors a change in that policy to allow the university to give preference to Americans. Book and about a half dozen of his supporters gave Colbourn a letter and a petition signed by about 75 people. The petition says: "We the undersigned citizens of Central Florida would like to encourage the Board of Regents to do all that they can within their power to see that the citizens of Central Florida have first priority for enrollment at the University of Central Florida; and that second consideration be given to American students from other states; and that no consideration be given to any student from a foreign nation that has shown hostility such as Iran has recently displayed on the 52 American hostages. If a student from a foreign country has displayed an attitude that is not aggressive or belligerent toward the United States, then we would desire you to make them the last consideration for enrollment."

Gold Falls, Dollar Holds

LONDON (UPI)—Gold continued its steep decline in London and Zurich, and the dollar again stayed firm against major currencies at the opening of European foreign exchanges today. At the opening of the London bullion market, gold had dropped $12.50 overnight to $516 an ounce while in Zurich it was down $11 to $516.80. "Speculators started selling the metal as soon as the market opened following advice from abroad overnight," said a dealer for bullion brokers Johnson Matthey. In London, the pound eased to $2.139 from Monday's close of $2.165. "Demand for the dollar was still spurred by high U.S. interest rates," said a dealer for Barclay's Bank International.

IRA Bombings In Belfast Injure 13, End Cease-Fire

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — Five explosions in towns throughout Northern Ireland and the firebombing of a Belfast warehouse injured 13 people in what police described as a provisional IRA blitz breaking a three-month cease-fire.

The attacks indicated the IRA has dropped a 12-week cease-fire called during a hunger strike by IRA inmates of Maze Prison who ended their protest last Christmas.

Nicaraguan Plane Downed

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (UPI) — Salvadoran fighter jets shot down a Nicaraguan air force plane and a small Costa Rican plane which was strifling guns for rebel forces fighting to seize power in El Salvador, military sources say.

The air strikes, which the source said occurred within hours of each other Sunday in southeastern El Salvador, were the first reported incidents involving a Nicaraguan air force plane in the 17-day letlist of offensive against El Salvador's U.S.-backed junta.

Neither Nicaragua nor Costa Rica had any immediate comment.

Search On For Kidnapper

NASSAU, Bahamas (UPI) — Police are searching for a German swimmer and a convicted Cuban-American kidnapper who escaped from Foxhill Prison. One of the escapees, Norbert Klaus Ginkel, 34, was facing extradition to Germany on charges of fraud involving the sale of 21 tons of Romanian cement to two different companies for which he collected $1.6 million. The cement never was delivered to either buyer, police said.

Casselberry Mulls 35-Foot Building Limit

High-rise buildings are not welcomed in Casselberry. After an informal $2 vote, the council decided to change an ordinance that allows buildings up to 100 feet high if approved by the council. The council informally decided to change the height limitation to 35 feet.

In a third work session on the subject, council members discussed the issue for more than an hour before deciding the ordinance should be changed.

Mayor Owen sheppard was displeased with the decision. "What you are doing is restricting this city from any future meaningful options of beneficial development to help share our tax base," he said.

The council agreed to place the recited ordinance on next week's agenda for formal action on posting.

Councilman Frank Schutte, who brought the issue before the council three weeks ago, said at a Jan. 13 work session, "We wouldn't be keeping faith and trust with those that elected us to serve if we permit construction of a type that won't pay its own way and therefore benefit only a few at a cost to many."

Schutte asked the council at Monday's meeting to either kill his request or move ahead. "Is council for or against high-rises?" he asked.

Councilman James Lavigne spent 20 minutes outlining his position regarding the request to change the ordinance. "Limiting building heights would be an unnecessary action," he said.

Lavigne said the council has the authority to accept or reject any high-rise developments under the current ordinance. To Schutte's concern that a ladder truck costing $300,000 with an additional six men and equipment costing $97,500 to operate the truck would be needed to give the buildings fire protection, Lavigne said the fire department needs additional men anyway and with the mutual fire agreement with Altamonte Springs, which has a ladder truck, the city would

Sanford Plans Study Of Entire Charter

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer

Appointment of a study commission to look over the city of Sanford's seven-year-old charter is to be considered by the Sanford City Commission at its Feb. 9 meeting.

While the city commissioners agreed Monday night to appoint a study group, they made it clear that the entire charter is to be examined and not just the portion concerning the large election of city commissioners.

At the same time, the commissioners rejected an interpretation by Rev. Amos Jones of the Dec. 2 straw ballot concerning the method of electing commissioners. Rev. Jones, head of a committee which asked for the straw ballot, insisted that the majority of the voters had opted for change in the election method to provide more equal representation of all segments of the community.

For proposals on the method of electing city commissioners were listed on the December election ballot. The people were asked for their preference.

The first question was to keep at large election of the four city commissioners and the mayor-commissioner. The second was to require that commissioners reside in certain geographic areas, but be elected at large. The third called for some of the commissioners to be elected at large while others would be elected within districts by voters of the district only and the fourth would have expanded the commission to seven members and combined at large voting and district voting.

Rev. Jones told commissioners Monday night that the first option to keep the status quo actually failed to gain the approval of the majority of the voters. He said the combined vote of the second, third and fourth alternatives was more than the votes cast for the status quo.

He said while 1,323 voted to maintain the current system, 1,871 votes were cast for change.

Mayor Lee P. Moore said the total of the two tallies accounts for more voters than voted in the election, proving that persons voted for more than one of the options.

Rev. Jones insisted the commissioners had agreed if more votes were cast for change than for the present system a charter revision committee would be designated to study both methods of election and boundaries of districts and make its recommendations to the city commission.

Mayor Lee P. Moore, noting his opposition to districting has been clear since the beginning of discussions some months ago, didn't agree with Rev. Jones' recollection of the agreement with the commission.

"It's reasonable to assume the ballot was loaded more to your side than mine," Moore said, adding, "I understood what the ballot meant."

Rev. Jones criticized the straw ballot, noting the question to maintain the status quo was listed on the front of the ballot, the other three were on the back of the ballot. In addition, he said, no instructions were given to the voters on voting procedures such as "vote for only one option."

"I agree with Rev. Jones," Commissioner David Farr said. He added he had discussed the commission's agreement with former-Commissioner John Morris.

"We said if the total number of votes for the three changes exceeded the votes for the status quo we would proceed with the charter commission. But I don't think the votes cast reflect what the people thought," he said.

Longwood Mayor Wants 'Any Money I Can Get'

By JANE CASSELLBERRY Herald Staff Writer

"Just because we're public servants doesn't mean we have to be public paupers," Longwood Mayor John Hepp said Monday night in support of a proposed raise for elected city officials. "If any others don't want they can turn it back to the city or a favorite charity, but I want mine."

New City Commissioner Timothy O'Leary brought up the possibility of an increase in compensation for the commissioners due to inflation and to make their salaries more comparable with salaries of commissioners in other cities in the area. He pointed out that while Longwood pays its commissioners $200 a month with $50 for expenses, Casselberry councilmen receive $300 a month and $150 for expenses, and the salary for commissioners in Allamonte Springs is also $300.

When some members of the audience voiced objections to the suggestion, Hepp solemnly demanded: "Did I hear a boo from the audience?"

"I'll take any money I can get. Inflation has hit us and I don't object to a raise. With a $200 set salary and $50 expense account, anyone who can stand out there and give me any objective reasons for not raising the salary should do so." No one responded.

Commissioner Steven Uskert said he would "go along with a raise." I feel chintzy about turning in mileage slip for a couple of miles at 17 cents a mile so I don't ask for expense money except on out-of-town trips on city business. I think the $50 should be added to the salary and the expense account be done away with."

City Administrator David Chacey, who pointed out that the $50 would be tax exempt as "expense reimbursement, but would be taxable as salary," is looking into the matter and will report back to the commission at its next meeting.

The only commissioner objecting to the increase in pay was J. Russell Grant, who said, "I'm not going to vote for a raise, I'm used to going 'hungry.'"

A workshop with Police Chief Greg Manning and local coin dealers was set by the commission on 3 p.m. Friday to discuss a proposed ordinance regulating the sale and purchase of precious metals in the city.

The ordinance slated for first reading at Monday night's meeting was tabled after the Longwood dealer in coins, currency, gold and silver, Dennis A. Kurie, president of M.P. Graham Co., pointed out some potential weaknesses in the ordinance as written.

Kurie commended the commission for trying to curb the trafficking in stolen gold and silver. "It's unbelievable what is going on about us. It's the greatest fencing operation in the history of the United States," Kurie said.

He said the ordinance should be written to stop trafficking in stolen goods, stop stealing and yet make sure the legitimate dealer can still conduct business.

'Foul Play' Suspected In Death

Police Beat

Authorities now believe that a two-year-old Sanford girl who died two weeks ago reportedly after falling on some railroad tracks near her home, was the victim of foul play.

Investigators said today Tiffany Bethnell, of the Higgins Terrace Housing project on Third Street and Pecan Avenue, may actually have been beaten to death.

The girl died Jan. 14 at Seminole Memorial Hospital from massive internal bleeding caused by a lacerated liver. An autopsy report prepared by Seminole County Medical

Reagan Sets Warning For Terrorists

Examiner Dr. G.V. Garay indicated that the fatal injuries could not have resulted from a simple fall.

No criminal charges had been filed as of this morning, but police said they have a definite suspect. His identity is being withheld, however, pending an arrest.

A spokesman for the State Attorney's office said once an arrest is made, the probable charge will be second degree murder which carries a maximum sentence of life imprisonment.

GOLD THIEF STRIKES DENTIST Sanford police Tuesday were investigating the weekend break-in at the office of Dr. J.C. Ringling, 1011 S. Sanford Ave., in which thieves made off with $1,000 worth of dental gold.

According to a police report, a cleaning lady found the office had been burglarized when she arrived at work about noon Sunday. Ringling reported the gold was in the form of a partial plate and tooth crowns.

Man Blinded In Experiment Gets $2.9 Million

NEW YORK (UPI) — A 27-year-old man blinded soon after birth by a federally funded experiment doctors performed without his parents' consent will receive $2.9 million in malpractice damages.

"It was a human guinea pig cover-up," said the attorney for Daniel Burton of Union City, N.J., who maintained in an inquest earlier this year after he was born prematurely at New York Hospital in 1953.

Doctors assured the Burtons, who had already lost one child, their baby was normal. But he went blind. For 27 years, the Burtons were

Budget Underfunds Military

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Congressional Budget Office said today $182 military purchases would be underfunded by $5.4 billion in the budget President Carter sent Congress before leaving office.

It estimated the government would have to authorize spending of an additional $2 billion for fuel consumption, $1 billion for full funding of proposed weapons purchases and $1.4 billion for defense supplies and other purchases.

The estimates were contained in a CBO analysis of the Carter budget soon to be revised by the Reagan administration and rewritten by Congress. The analysis was prepared for the House Appropriations Committee.

15% Hike In Food Prices Possible In 1981: Expert

MIAMI (UPI) — Now THREE things are certain — death, taxes and rising food prices. This year the cost of eating may go up 15 percent, a U.S. Department of Agriculture economist predicts.

"That's close to double the 8.6 percent rise in grocery prices during 1980, and faster than the price of non-food items are expected to rise in 1981, economist Harry Harp told a regional conference of the Food Marketing Institute Monday.

"We have uncertainties make it difficult to forecast food prices for 1981, but at this time, it appears that the moderate food price increases of 1980 are not likely to be repeated in 1981," Harp said.

Woman Describes Beatings

MIAMI (UPI) — A black woman who watched from the balcony of her Liberty City apartment as a mob of blacks dragged three whites from their car and beat them to death during the May race riot says one died "with blood splashing out everywhere."

"They were doing a job on him. They really beat him bad with sticks and rocks and bottles...everything," Doris Jones, 33, testified Monday about victim Benny Higdon, 21.

"She is scheduled to be on the stand again today in the trial of four young black men charged with murder in the bloody riots that erupted after the acquittal by an all-white jury of four white former policemen in the beating death of black insuranceman Arthur McDuffie.

Planes Aid Traffic Patrol

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Airplanes on traffic radio altitudes for more than 12,000 arrests in their first full three months of operation, Commander Eldridge Beach says.

Beach says the planes are taking up some of the slack caused by sending 100 troopers to Dade County to free local police to me a against a major crime wave.

But losing the men from the statewide force is causing delays in investigations of accidents elsewhere in Florida.

In addition to holding up people and cars involved in traffic mishaps, delaying removal of vehicles on roads where the accident occurred in heavy rain or fog can lead to other accidents, Chief Field Operations Inspector B.H. Spear said.

Students Fight Vandalism

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — A student-run, student-funded program to stop vandalism on the Florida State University campus was begun Monday.

The program offers a reward to any student causing persons leading to a guilty verdict providing information leading to a guilty verdict against persons willfully and maliciously defacing or destroying university property.

Neighbors Helped Free 6 Americans

Florida Lowers Flags Honoring Canada

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Four red and white flags with maple leaf silhouettes were lowered for the last time Monday after flying daily on the Florida Capitol's plaza since Feb. 11, 1980.

Gov. Bob Graham had ordered the Canadian flags displayed in appreciation of Canada's assistance in smuggling six American diplomats out of Iran. The flags were to fly, the governor instructed, every day until the 52 American hostages came home.

On Monday, two university bands, National Guardsmen, ROTC cadets, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, government leaders and several hundred others gathered at nighttime as the Canadian flags were lowered for the last time outside the Capitol.

"God bless the people of Canada. God bless America," Graham said in loud applause.

U.S. flags were run up the barren poles and hundreds of red, white and blue balloons were released, a breeze floating them over the dome of the Florida House Chamber toward the free nations must exhibit if we are to combat terrorism in our world today," she said, adding: "As I go to join the other celebrating families, I'm sure all of you will join with me in hoping and praying that we never again have to celebrate a day such as this one."

Graham gave a second flag to Ralph Stewart, Canadian consul general in Atlanta, saying Americans are grateful for the "selfless and timely aid of our good neighbors, the people of Canada."

"All Canadians join with our brother Americans in this great joy in having our boys and girls back home with us to stay," Stewart said. "We will stand by you as we have in the past as an example to the rest of the world."

Camera Ruling Gains Praise From Florida

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Attorney General Jim Smith says the U.S. Supreme Court properly conceded that Florida can run its own court system as long as it follows the federal Constitution.

Smith halted a ruling by the court Monday leaving to individual states a decision on whether to allow radio, television and still picture coverage of trials and legal proceedings.

The court refused to strike a rule by the Florida Supreme Court allowing cameras and tape recorders in the courtroom on a restricted basis.

"We tried to get over to the justices that, frankly, we don't care what you do with the federal courts. Run them the way you want...But let us run our courts the way we want to," Smith says.

The attorney general personally argued the case before the justices last fall.

The U.S. Constitution does not bar a state from allowing cameras in courtrooms, the Washington court said in an 8-0 decision. It emphasized, however, it was neither endorsing nor criticizing the practice, which has divided judges and lawyers throughout the country.

Several states are considering opening up their courtrooms to photographers and the electronic media, but only a handful have gone as far as Florida. It is likely other states will move now, Smith said.

"The debate will go on among lawyers, but this rather definitively decides it for the immediate future."

Print media coverage of Florida legal proceedings has been allowed for decades, but cameras and tape recorders were prohibited. The Florida Supreme Court carried out a 12-month experiment on limited camera and sound recording coverage, then issued a permanent rule allowing it in April 1978.

The number and type of cameras are restricted and photographers are required to stay in designated areas to the side or rear of the courtroom. And a judge retains the power to ban the electronic press under special circumstances.

Noel Chandler and Robert Granger, former Miami Beach policemen convicted of robbing a restaurant, contended that the presence of cameras kept them from getting a fair trial and demanded that their conviction be overturned.

The 3rd District Court of Appeal said the men would have to show how the media coverage prejudiced the jury against them and they didn't do so, that the presence of cameras by itself wasn't grounds for reversal of their convictions.

The state high court refused to hear the case, so Chandler and Granger appealed to the Washington court.

"An absolute constitutional ban on broadcast coverage of trials cannot be justified simply because there is a danger that, in some cases, prejudicial broadcast accounts of pretrial and trial events may impair the ability of jurors to decide the issue of guilt or innocence uninfluenced by extraneous matter," Chief Justice Warren Burger wrote in Monday's opinion.

The "appropriate safeguard" is the defendant's right to show in an appeal of his conviction that media coverage, whether printed or broadcast, prevented a fair trial.

"This case is another stand for open government in Florida," Smith said. The coverage is in line with Florida's "government in the sunshine" and public records laws and the state's commitment "to allow the public the greatest access possible to government."

The Florida law does not say that television and radio reporters never can be barred from covering a trial and the Supreme Court has established procedures to be followed by a judge when closing a trial or other legal proceeding.

Atlanta Considers 9 P.M. Curfew On Children

ATLANTA (UPI) — With Atlanta's 18-month-long string of child killings and disappearances now at 17, the City Council is considering a curfew that would slash heavy fines on parents if their children are not off the streets by 9 p.m.

The council's Public Safety Committee scheduled a hearing Tuesday to discuss the curfew. The entire panel was to meet a few hours later and possibly vote on the measure.

Children under 15 currently are due home by 11 p.m. under an ordinance that was extended a week ago.

But Atlanta Women Against Crime, a group pushing for stronger safety measures, has called for a permanent 9 p.m. curfew for children in the city.

"We want to let them know that it is too late for any child to be out," said Grace Davis, the group's president. "And I feel that it is needed now more than ever."

Their proposal would call for a warning to parents the first time their child was caught out after curfew; with a $350 fine on a second offense and fines up to $500 on any subsequent violations.

Carolyn Banks, a City Council member, said she has received several complaints children are on the streets long after the curfew.

Last Friday, the body of 15-year-old Terry Lorenzo Pue was found on Signal Road, a frequently traveled street in Conyers, a Rockdale County community about 25 miles east of Atlanta.

He was the 17th Atlanta child to disappear since July 1979 and the 14th found dead. Three others were still listed as missing. All of the children involved, ranging from 8 to 15 years of age, were black; all were from low-income sections of the city, and all were boys.

Vasectomies May Hike Heart Disease

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — Two monkey studies suggest vasectomies can trigger an immune reaction that increases the risk of hardening of the arteries, the state-setter for heart attack and stroke, an Oregon scientist reported today.

The government's National Institutes of Health are sponsoring several studies to see if the same thing happens in men who have undergone the widely used sterilization operation. There is no indication that it does now.

"If I had to guess, I would guess that vasectomy may be a risk factor for a certain percentage of the population," said Dr. Nancy J. Alexander, a reproductive physiologist at the Oregon Regional Primate Research Center at Beaverton.

Her monkey studies, conducted in association with Dr. Thomas Clarkson of the Rush Medical College in Bowman Gray School of Medicine at Winston-Salem, N.C., showed the animals who were vasectomized developed high rates of atherosclerosis while those the same age and fed the same diet who did not undergo vasectomies were free of artery disease.

Atherosclerosis is a slow, progressive disease that sets the stage for heart attack and stroke. It is marked by a buildup of fatty material on the inside walls of arteries and sometimes is called hardening of the arteries. Smoking, increased levels of certain kinds of cholesterol in the blood, and high blood pressure are considered major factors that

NEW YORK (UPI) — A 27-year-old man blinded soon after birth by a federally funded experiment doctors performed without his parents' consent will receive $2.9 million in malpractice damages.

"It was a human guinea pig cover-up," said the attorney for Daniel Burton of Union City, N.J., who maintained in an inquest earlier this year after he was born prematurely at New York Hospital in 1953.

Doctors assured the Burtons, who had already lost one child, their baby was normal. But he went blind. For 27 years, the Burtons were resigned to his dependence. Their attitude changed, however, when they saw a magazine article describing a federally funded experiment by doctors who administered massive doses of oxygen to premature infants.

The council's Public Safety Committee scheduled a hearing Tuesday to discuss the curfew. The entire panel was to meet a few hours later and possibly vote on the measure.

increase the risk of developing the artery disease.

Ms. Alexander reported her findings at an American Heart Association seminar. She said in reply to a question a man contemplating a vasectomy may have other strong artery disease risk factors "might well want to wait several years, or even more, until further data is accumulated."

The first study to look at this question in humans, published Jan. 3 in the British medical magazine Lancet found no association between non-fatal heart attacks and vasectomies. The longest interval after vasectomy was 16 years and Ms. Alexander said that might not be long enough for severe atherosclerosis to develop.

Dr. James Schoenberger, president of the heart association and chairman of preventive medicine at the Rush Medical College in Chicago, said the monkey findings have important public health implications.

"If the procedure (vasectomy) is atherogenic (disease causing), then the advantages of the procedure have to be weighed against the disadvantages," he said in an interview. "I think for most men — if it indeed is a significant factor — it would be too high a price to pay."

The explanation for the monkey findings is based around a complex immune system reaction. A vasectomy blocks the normal passage of spermatozoa, but does not stop the production of sperm.

The Clock

Just when the Five Star Conference was getting some definition to it, Spruce Creek goes and drops two games to throw the standings in a quagmire. The Hawks of Joe Piggotte were sailing along with a 12-game winning streak and a perfect 7-0 Five Star ledger. Sailing until last week. First, Lyman's Greyhounds nipped the Hawks 55-54. The Greyhounds had an eight-point lead until before center Eric French sealed the victory with two free throws. Just three days later, bill Payne's Fighting Seminoles, in the midst of a three-game losing skid, throttled the Hawks 36-28 with a superb defensive effort. Spruce Creek could muster only FOUR second half points. Spruce was without the services of 6' 9" Tom TenBroeck, but still, FOUR points. Now, the Five Star is known for its close finishes. But that comes during outside activities. It's when those guys dress up in all those pads and helmets and beat on each other. During football, the conference has even been known to go to a tie breaker. But this is basketball guys, come on. It's known for its runaway races. Remember the 27-4 and undefeated in conference Lyman team? Remember the Big Two (Mainland and Seminole) and the little seven of last year.

Let's get things in perspective. Now we have two teams tied for first. Spruce Creek and Deland are 7-2. Lyman is just behind at 6-2. Seminole, which seemed down and out two weeks ago, is holding down second with a 5-4 mark along with Seabreeze. And the Tribe has handled both Lyman and Spruce Creek. They have yet to play Deland. Seabreeze was the pre-season choice for the title. Lake Howell, who Payne calls "the darkhorse" for the district crown, is 4-5. Mainland (4-6, Lake Brantley (3-6) and Apopka (0-9) complete the rest of the standings. Seven conference games remain. It's anyone's guess who will draw the lucky seven.

Mutual Concert Needs Support

Dwindling memberships have left the Seminole Mutual Concert Association in deep trouble. A Champagne Ball scheduled for Saturday and the season's final concert by the Tommy Dorsey Orchestra March 16, may raise the $2,000 the group needs to avoid bankruptcy this year, but the drop off in memberships may mean the end of the association. This prospect should bother residents of the greater Sanford area, since the concert association has contributed a major portion of the cultural activity in this community.

The association formed out of a concert group started in Sanford about 44 years ago. It has brought Broadway and big name entertainment and other cultural presentations for the enjoyment and enrichment of all who care to attend. Such cultural offerings contribute to the circle of activity, including school, church, business, civic and recreational which makes for a cohesive community. The greater Sanford area has an abundance of the latter group, according to Mrs. Frederic Gaines of the concert association. "Why then should we leave out culture?" she asks.

We agree. Culture activities such as those provided by the Seminole Mutual Concert Association are vital to the community. But now the association needs the community's help. According to Association President Jan Freeman, what would help most now is a sellout of tickets to the Dorsey concert.

Although the group's state charter prohibits selling individual tickets, she said several sponsor patrons who have purchased season tickets in blocks have returned those to the last concert so they may be given out to non-members in return for donations.

Mrs. Freeman said the group is asking a small donation for the tickets. Anyone interested may call her at 322-7914.

Then, consider buying a membership for next season.

Renew Cooperation

A new treaty with Mexico to assist the recovery of stolen vehicles transported across national boundaries is a noteworthy example of workday cooperation between the two nations, despite their differences on high policy.

The treaty initiated in Washington in mid-January addresses a growing problem. As many as 10,000 stolen American automobiles and trucks are transported to Mexico each year, evading Mexican import duties and placing the vehicles beyond the reach of American police. So acute is the problem, that Baja California Gov. Roberto de la Madrid agreed in 1978 to release recovered cars at the request of the U.S. Consulate General, which undertakes to verify ownership. Vehicles are usually first identified by San Diego police and California Highway Patrol liaison officers in Tijuana.

The new treaty will require Mexican officials to notify the U.S. Embassy in Mexico City of the recovery of stolen vehicles within 30 days and to hold the vehicles 45 days for owners to claim them. While the agreement will improve the identification and recovery of American cars and trucks on a nationwide basis, it is likely to prove only a supplement to the mutual cooperation already existing between U.S. and Mexican police in Baja California, where 350 stolen automobiles have been returned to the United States since last March.

The treaty, which now awaits Senate consent and ratification by President Reagan, clearly indicates the mutual benefits to be had when there is cooperation on both sides of the border.

WASHINGTON WORLD

TV In The U.S. Senate

By STEVE GERSTEL
WASHINGTON (UPI) — In one of his first acts as majority leader, Howard Baker suggested the Senate move boldly into the 20th century and finally permit live television of the daily proceedings.

Maybe it will happen. But the idea, which has been around for a long time, has never come to fruition. There must be something about modern-day wonders that terrifies senators. Advanced technology in any form is to be resisted. Symbolic of the attitude are the little ink and sand holders on each desk, the pair of snuff boxes and the two spittoons, although Herman Talmadge of Georgia, last of the "lacey chewers, has now departed.

It seems to have always been that way. Only recently did the Senate finally succumb to the world of microphones and sound amplifiers. Although the learning process was somewhat slow, senators finally overcame their terror and now even the most traditional of them willingly clip on the mikes when they speak.

Alas, neither radio nor television have enjoyed such acceptance in the Senate chamber, although both are royally welcome at committee hearings.

The first intrusion of the electronic media into the hallowed Senate chamber was in 1929 with a radio broadcast of the swearing-in of one Charles Curtis of Topeka, Kan. That must have been a traumatic proceeding. The experiment was not tried again for almost 50 years when the Panama Canal treaty debate was aired.

Television has not done even that well. The only time the television camera was allowed to intrude was during the swearing-in of Nelson Rockefeller as vice president in 1973.

Senate Majority Leader Robert Byrd, at one point, was interested in televising the Panama Canal debate. Whether he planned it as a forerunner of gavel-to-gavel coverage of all proceedings or just a one-shot effort was not clear.

But the debate was never seen on television. Some say the problem of lights — too much heat and glare — was the reason. Others insist that Byrd was never that keen on television.

The House has had television for two years now and there is no question that the medium has brought about some changes. Yet, they apparently are not serious enough to warrant abandoning the show.

House sessions have lengthened as congressmen read speeches that were inserted in the record. And there is a tendency to create on meaningless bills a practice once the province of the Senate.

Balancing these minuses is a tendency among congressmen to dress better and rehearse what they are going to say, providing a smoother, more coherent delivery.

But it would be subject to the same excesses, probably even more. Some of them have a tendency to speak at great length, unheeded that the chamber is empty. Television would faithfully send out and record for posterity every one of those gems. Yet, time to time — not frequently — there are some notable debates on major issues that raise the level of rhetoric.

The former New York Jets' wide receiver has had similar success in the Metro Conference. In 1978, Evans posted an 8-3 record behind Weir and won the Rotary Bowl. The next year, Evans was 9-2 with another Rotary win.

A distressing possibility, in the view of some space-oriented private individuals convinced the public would not be getting full value from the billion of dollars expended in getting Viking to Mars if the few thousands necessary to continue monitoring the probe could not be scraped up.

Hence the Viking Fund, taking as its words a section of NASA's charter from Congress providing for private as well as government funding of space projects.

Viking has been transmitting on a restricted schedule since last August, when its relay station in Mars orbit ran out of gas — the steering compound that had kept cameras and scanners pointed at the Martian surface and antennas trained at Earth having been exhausted after four years. But the surface robot is still good for weather reports and occasional pictures for years to come, possibly through the end of the century.

Providing funds continue to be available to keep the receivers operating and to process data, which is the task the Viking Fund has set itself. Contributions are being received by the American Astronautical Society at its San Francisco branch, P.O. Box 7205, Menlo Park, Calif. 94025. Checks should be made out to the Viking Fund.

The space program people consider it well worth the effort even though they are not anticipating any more big discoveries on the red planet. On the other hand, there's always the faintest possibility that a hibernating Martian might awake and decide to take a stroll in Viking's vicinity.

There are also discoveries to be made right here on Earth. Such as the oil-producing microbes reported in a recent press dispatch from Canada.

Discovery of the microscopic organisms in a Saskatchewan lake raises the possibility that they might eventually be farmed as a new source of oil. Much of the Earth's present deposits may have been produced similarly in the distant past.

Commenting on the possibilities, scientists suggested that once established on a large enough scale, microbe farming might be capable of supplying vast quantities of fuel more cheaply than methods for processing synthetics now under development.

COACHING SHIFTS?

Tribe's Beathard Leads Field For Lake Mary Position...

"Roger Beathard is the leading candidate for the head coaching job at Lake Mary High School." With that simple statement from New Lake Mary Principal Don Reynolds, the matter of the county's prestigious new coaching position seems pretty well decided.

Beathard's 11 wasn't comparable to two years ago. Neither was Sanford's record. Beathard is a neat, organized, well-respected coach. He's easy-going off the field, but seems to be all business on.

Beathard does face one problem, it will be the transition from assistant to head coach. A head coaching job deals a lot more with organizational chores than actual coaching. Organization should prove no problem, but will Beathard want to cut back on his coaching duties? This is a good question.

If I could find a fault with Beathard, it would be the two too protective of his players. On one occasion two years ago Beathard told me I couldn't talk to his players. This didn't settle to well with me, so I went and talked to them anyway. It was after a very difficult loss and the Seminole coaches weren't used to reporters talking to their players — especially after a loss. But this was just one isolated incident. I'm sure the intensity of the loss had something to do with it. Beathard's always been cordial and cooperative since then.

The leading candidate to take over Beathard's vacant post at Seminole is Dave Mousure. Mousure was head coach at South Miami High School last year and guided them to the district title.

and O'Leary, a aforementioned, will pare the six committee selections to the final three. "Then I'll have all the say," said Jones. "If he's the best man, I would sure select him (Weir)."

For Weir the opportunity would be a stepping stone toward a fulltime head coaching job — something he covets very much. "The future at UCF is fantastic," said the 38-year-old Weir. "They're shooting for Division II in 1981. I think it will be a great place to be."

Another factor in Weir's thinking is that he feels he'll have to serve as an assistant before securing his own head job. "That Notre Dame guy (Gerry Faust) got a pretty good break," laughed Weir about Faust's move from Cincinnati Moeller to South Bend. "But that doesn't happen very often."

...Lake Howell's Weir Probable Choice For UCF Post

By SAM COOK
Herald Sports Editor
ORLANDO — Lake Howell's Sam Weir has applied for the assistant head coaching position at the University of Central Florida and for all practical purposes it may be his.

It is because of this success with the two AA high school conferences in this area — plus the fact that Weir has experience on the college level (Arkansas State and Marshall) — that makes him the leading candidate.

"I know this day was going to come," said a melancholy Dick Evans, Howell principal, about Weir's apparent departure. "He has my blessing. I wouldn't stand in the way of progress. He's done a real good job here."

After the deadline of Jan. 29, the UCF screening committee will pare the candidates to six. Then, Head Coach Don Jonas and Athletic Director Jack O'Leary will cut it to three. Those three will be called in for interviews.

The position is a co-coaching position. Jonas will be primarily in charge of the fund raising, while the new assistant will shoulder most of the practice coordination. The position pays between $11,500 and $19,200 depending on qualifications. Salary-wise it would be equivalent to the money Weir makes as a teacher.

One other benefit is there would be no classroom teaching. Former Lake Brantley Coach Jim Raye once told this reporter, "If I could fish and coach football year 'round, it would be the perfect life. Get the hell out of that classroom."

It's doubtful that Weir holds the classroom in as much disregard as Raye, but given the choice, he might be able to do without it.

"I'd say Sam has an excellent chance," ventured Jonas about the opportunity to join him. "He has very good qualifications and he's been a head coach everywhere he's been (high school)."

'Big Blue' Bolt Jolts Lady Tribe Crown Hopes

Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots delivered a lightning bolt to Seminole's Five Star Conference hopes Monday by Short-Circuiting the Lady Tribe 37-31 at Seminole High.

"We came out thinking it was going to be easy," said Coach Cheryl Klein. "Nobody could do anything. They didn't play a bit."

The last time the two teams met, early in the season, Seminole blasted Willie Richardson's Patriots 51-20. The loss dropped Sanford to 7-2 in the Five Star. They are 10-7 overall. Mainland is 8-1.

The Lady Blue, meanwhile, is 4-6 in conference and 10-11 overall.

Seminole's troubles surfaced immediately as Brantley jumped to a 25-17 halftime lead. "We threw the ball away all the time," moaned Klein.

The Patriots also shut off Robin Higgins, the Tribe's hottest player of late. Higgins, who tallied 25 points in her last outing, was limited to six points.

"Brantley played outstanding defense," lauded Klein. "They didn't let us get the ball inside at all."

Tony Hardy paced the Tribe attack with nine points. Cathy Jones, a 5-10 center, was next in eighth. Seminole's flashy point guard Johnnie Bennett was held to six.

Rhonda Vasquez and Linda Trumble each tossed in 12 points to head the Lake Brantley thrash.

In the junior varsity game, the Patriots romped to a 43-28 victory.

Sanford returned to action Friday against Seabreeze as the 5 p.m. game of a tripeheader at Seminole High.

Seminole Travel To Brantley Tonight

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Seminole's basketball team takes its "up and down act" on the road tonight for an 8 p.m. encounter here with Lake Brantley.

The Tribe snapped a three-game losing streak Friday by subduing Spruce Creek 36-26. The Creek Hawks had been the conference leaders prior to the game, but the loss dropped them into the tie with Deland at 7-2. Seminole Coach Bill Payne was pleased with the defensive showing his troops. They limited Spruce Creek to an unheard of four second half points.

Another impressed observer was Bruce Bob Peterson, who lost to Mainland 70-65 Friday.

"They'll probably shut us out," joked Peterson about the Tribe's defensive prowess. "That's not the first time they've done that well defensively."

"You could say they caught teams that haven't shot that well, but four points, that's unbelievable. You should have seen them shoot against us. They were hitting 30 footers," said Peterson incredulously.

Payne too is a little bewildered by his team's showing. "I can't explain it," said the candid Seminole coach. "We're playing a matchup zone and then overhauling to their hot shooters."

"We're not world beaters on offense. Sometimes a patient offense makes your defense look better," guessed Payne.

While the defense has been excellent, the offense is suffering. Against Evans the Tribe shot 45 per cent, but since then its been 33 per

BERRY'S WORLD

Korea: The Next International Crisis

WASHINGTON - While the foreign policy spotlight has been focused on the Middle East, another area of the world has been virtually ignored: Korea.

But highly classified intelligence reports indicate that the ideologically divided peninsula — scene of the first armed confrontation in the East-West conflict after World War II — may become the next tinderbox that the United States will have to contend with. Indeed, the intelligence estimates give the communist North Koreans an overwhelming edge in any future outbreak.

The census of our experts in the Pentagon and the Central Intelligence Agency is that North Korea could roll right up his neighbor to the south — unless there is heavy U.S. assistance to South Korea.

"By almost every measurement, North Korea exceeds South Korea in both quantity and quality of tanks," warns a secret CIA appraisal. "The North has a 2-3-40-1 numerical lead over the South in medium tanks and, within this category, a better than 3-to-1 advantage in numbers of first-line, high-quality tanks."

All things considered, the Pentagon experts conclude that "North Korea has the ability to launch and support a surprise attack against the Republic of Korea."

What's more, intelligence sources offer the ominous prediction that, despite infusions of aid from the United States, South Korea will be militarily inferior to North Korea for at least a decade.

There are two things that make the alarming situation in Korea capable of boiling over at any minute. One is the possibility that South Korean dissident Kim Dae Jung may be executed by the military regime. This, the intelligence experts fear, could precipitate the kind of unstable domestic situation in South Korea that would encourage the North Koreans to strike.

The other danger is that the transfer of American aircraft carriers and other combat assets from the Pacific to the Persian Gulf might also tempt the North Koreans to launch a sneak attack on South Korea.

IN-HOUSE INPUT: I've often lambasted senior bureaucrats for their Milgostovsky reluctance to stick their necks out. So I have to applaud the half-dozen career civil servants at the Agency for International Development who recently wrote a confidential memo to the Reagan administration, detailing the kind of bias they'd like to have. Agree with me or not, you have to admire their guts in putting their views on the line.

The new AID administrator, they wrote, should be someone who: -"Can awaken this country to a new thrust in foreign assistance...helping poor countries to develop while they become customers for our products and stable suppliers of the raw materials we need to maintain our standard of living."

Carben Jewelers Offers Romantic Gifts Of Love
 What better way to tell her you love her than with a romantic Valentine gift from Carben Jewelers?
 Located in Longwood Plaza on Highway 17-92 north of State Road 434, Carben has beautiful jewelry and watches to suit every budget.
 Put a sparkle in your dream girl's eyes with a sparkling diamond from Carben or a glow on the face of the man in your life with a gold watch or ring. Carben carries the Everside line of diamond engagement and wedding rings, including trio sets with a wedding band for the groom. Fashion dinner rings by Gold Lance with diamonds, emeralds, onyx or jade are also carried by Carben.
 Carben has Spielde jewelry in 14K gold overlay that has the look of 14K gold without the cost. Choose from matching necklaces, bracelets and earrings with a lifetime guarantee. Spielde identification bracelets come in all styles for men and women.
 Now in stock are the latest lines of Timex, Seiko and Spielde watches including electronic digital, quartz and conventional wind-up varieties.
 Carben also has class rings for all area high schools in white or yellow gold and you can design your own from the many stones and designs available.
 Sizing and soldering on 14K gold jewelry rings and resetting stones cost less at Carben than most other jewelry stores.
 Carben offers clock and watch repair service with Timex repairs a specialty. Antique clock repairs are done by a clockmaker who guarantees work on most antique clocks for five years. Watch batteries are installed without charge.
 Carben also has a variety of silver baby gifts and other items for newborns, baby showers and christenings.
 The store is open Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Japanese Stocks Look Good To U.S., Foreign Investors
 NEW YORK (UPI) — U.S. corporate pension fund investors and Arab petrodollar holders are finding Japanese stocks increasingly attractive.
 This increasing foreign investment has helped propel stocks upward on the Tokyo Stock Exchange, especially during the past summer.
 "The trend is expected to gather steam since the Tokyo government put into effect Dec. 1, a law aimed at liberalizing in principle foreign exchange and capital transactions, allowing more foreign investment in stocks of Japanese companies."
 Yoshiro Terasawa, president of Nomura Securities International Inc., a wholly-owned subsidiary in the United States of Nomura Securities Co., the largest Japanese securities firm, estimates the purchase of Japanese stocks by non-Japanese investors will total $20 billion for 1980 with two thirds of the amount coming from Middle Eastern countries.
 Terasawa said foreigners' investment has a significant "psychological" impact on the TSE because it is concentrated in the top 10 or 15 blue chip shares.
 As for Arab petrodollars, Kuwait is the biggest investor in Japanese stocks followed by Saudi Arabia and the United Arab Emirates, said Terasawa.

Some Of World's Greatest Succeeded Against Odds

DEAR ABBY: In a recent column, I shared an inspirational item sent by Herman Endler, who, at age 40, suffered a stroke that left him totally disabled. He wrote:

"I wasn't able to get out of bed, but by the grace of God and a surgeon's skill, I made it. At times I was so despondent, I prayed it would all end. Then a friend gave me the enclosed inspirational piece, which I must have read 1,000 times. I had moments when my vision clouded, and I thought, 'This is it; this is the end.' Then I'd read that passage again, and it pulled me through."

"Abby, some of the greatest men and women of our times have been saddled with disabilities and adversities but have managed to overcome them."

"Perhaps some where there is someone who is at the end of his or her rope and needs encouragement. Pass this along. It may save a life. It saved mine."

A portion of the inspirational piece:

"Cripple him, and you have a Sir Walter Scott.
 "Lack him in a prison cell, and you have a John Bunyan.
 "Hurl him in the snows of Valley Forge, and you have a George Washington.
 "Raise him in abject poverty, and you have an Abraham Lincoln.
 "Subject him to bitter religious prejudice, and you have a Disraeli."
 The response to that column was overwhelming. A distinguished publisher, philanthropist and former U.S. ambassador to Great Britain wrote:

"Dear Abby: Your column, 'In Adversity, May Find Strength,' is friend a masterpiece. I am adding it to my personal collection of reminders."
 "There are two great sources of inspiration in life, enthusiasm and tragedy, and I have been boxed in by both. But having been boxed in by both, I also recognize that perseverance is the key to escape and satisfaction. Sincerely, Walter Amenberg."

Hundreds of readers submitted additional names for the list of those who had succeeded against the odds. Some contributions follow:

"I am, first, humiliate him, then crush him and he forgives you, and you have Jesus Christ.
 Strike him down with infantile paralysis, and he becomes a Franklin D. Roosevelt, the only president of the U.S. to be elected to four terms."
 When he is a lad of 8, burn him so severely in a schoolhouse fire that the doctors say he will never walk again, and you have a Glenn Cunningham, who set the world's record in 1934 for running a mile in 4 minutes and 6.7 seconds.
 Deafen a genius composer who continues to compose some of the world's most beautiful music, and you have a Ludwig van Beethoven.
 Drag him, more dead than alive, out of a rice paddy in Vietnam, and you have a Rocky Bleier, that beautiful running back with the Pittsburgh Steelers.

FPL Head To Retire Misty Eyes Greet Burns' Last Days

There were a few misty eyes and a lot of applause as Scott Burns, district manager of the Florida Power and Light Co. in Sanford, concluded his last staff meeting Wednesday morning.

Among those things he has wanted to do is a little hunting and fishing, and mostly traveling, a favorite pursuit of his and his wife, Edna. They have traveled to 40 states.

Cleveland, Ohio, but moved to Florida with his family when he was six months old. Berger, his wife, Gail, and daughter, Haley, 4½, make their home in Sanford.

During the year Burns has been in Sanford, he has been actively involved in the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, the Rotary Club and is an honorary Kiwanian.

He has received numerous awards including the Chamber's "Man of Industry" award; the Sanford Kiwanis Club's "Randall Chase Senior Citizen of the Year" award and the chamber's "TOPPER" award.

Burns first worked as a groundsman, then as a helper, and in 1936 was made a collector. In 1939 he became a meter reader and the following year was promoted to cashier-clerk. He became a general clerk in 1942 and was named commercial service representative in 1948.

In 1954 after 20 years with FPL he was named manager of the FPL office in Live Oak. In 1957 Burns became manager of district manager in Sanford.

Orange Cleaning Service in Orlando, fell about 30 feet into dirt and gravel, sustaining a broken left hand and multiple cuts and bruises. Had he been working higher up or on the west side of the four-story building, he would have fallen on to concrete and his injuries could have been more severe, perhaps even fatal.

Crossland, a licensed Emergency Medical Technician who administered aid while waiting for an ambulance. "Piece of cake," says Kartak. — BRITT SMITH

Kirchoff's plan would draw some while students from the south side of the county while the Lake Mary School would gain students from the west side of Sanford, thus providing a more even racial balance.

Bell Seeks Rate Hikes

Southern Bell Telephone subscribers in Seminole County and the rest of Florida may be in for substantial rate increases in both categories — residential and business.

Announcement of the Southern Bell request came at a 2 p.m. news conference at the PSC filing, Wilson, Southern Bell's Sanford manager, the average residential customer's bill for basic service will increase by $3.60 per month, or about 44.20 per year.

Additional interstate toll discounts and reduced rates on certain long distance calls. Increased service connection charges for installation for business and residence customers.

Call For Circuit Judges

The chief justice of the Florida Supreme Court heard Seminole and Brevard County officials plead their case Tuesday for two new circuit judges and a new Seminole County judge.

Chief Justice Alan Sundberg came on a fact-finding mission to the Seminole County Courthouse accompanied by staff members of the House and Senate judiciary committees.

Kirchoff's School Redistricting Plan Gains Favor

By GREG PIERCE. Herald News Editor. If Tuesday night's meeting is any indication, Sanford residents will be supporting County Commissioner Bill Kirchoff's plan to redistribute the school population of Seminole County.

Nearly all of approximately 65 people who attended the meeting at the Seminole Chamber of Commerce raised their hands in support of Kirchoff's plan, which would funnel more students to Sanford's Seminole High School.

By GREG PIERCE. Herald News Editor. Kirchoff's plan, known as Plan 6, draws an east-west boundary line along the Seaboard Coastline Railroad tracks through Sanford, paralleling Lake Mary Road as the tracks leave Sanford.

Kirchoff said he would like to see some south end students attending Seminole High School "so it won't be a declining school like it has been in recent years." Under his plan, Seminole High would gain students, Kirchoff said, while under the other plans it would
