Citrus, Vegetable, Flower Growers Try To Save Crops

By JANE CASSELBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

With rain and cloudy skies today and another approaching cold front, area citrus growers will have longer to get freeze-damaged fruit off the trees and to juice concentrate plants. Seminole County Agriculture Extension Agent Frank Jasa said today.

It's when the temperatures are up in the 70s and 80s for several days that the fruit breaks down faster. We're a little better off in Seminole, because we have a greater percentage of early citrus varieties, much of which has already been harvested," he said.

But for the local vegetable and flower growers, it's a matter of waiting to see what their losses will be.

Alan Ponder, sales manager for the Harold Kastner Co., Sanford wholesale produce firm, said there was ice in the woods of cabbage until 2 or 2:30 p.m. Wednesday, but it will "blow out." Cabbage will withstand a duration of cold, but some of the younger stuff may have been burned by the freeze," he said.

"It will be another day before we begin to see the full effect on the vegetable crops, but there is quite a bit," said Ponder.

At the Andres Flower Farm on Celery Avenue, Sanford, flowers such as snapdragons and delphiniums are grown in the field for the wholesale market. No effort was made to heat them, but the soil around their roots was watered, a spokesman said. "It will be a couple of days until we can see the damage," she added.

Seminole County plant nurseries, such as the Haltaway Nursery in Altamonte Springs, heat their greenhouses to save their delicate multi-million-dollar crop of ornamentals.

"In weather like we had the other night it costs us up to $1,000 a night to heat or about $60,000 a year in all," said Marilyn Bales, head grower. "We heat with steam provided by natural gas boilers to keep the temperature at 60 degrees. To conserve energy, we have a thermal curtain that covers the plants at gutter level to keep the heat in."

Jasa said temperatures last night did not get below the 40s, but another cold wave is headed this way and temperatures are scheduled to dip back to near freezing in the next few days. "We're in our winter cycle now, with cold days interspersed with cool days," he added.

Statewide, the price of breakfast orange juice, vegetables for the table and even a Valentine bouquet for a sweetheart just went up because they froze.

Before officials went out to make a detailed survey today of the citrus groves, vegetable fields and plant nurseries, they said Tuesday's freeze was every bit as damaging as the 1977 blast from the Arctic. That freeze caused $500 million in damages to Florida's agriculture.

"Preliminary reports indicate we have had one of the worst freezes in recent times," said state Agriculture Commissioner Doyle Conner.

As the mercury plunged to record low readings from Tallahassee to Miami, it apparently froze every Florida commercial crop north of Dade County (Miami) — sugar cane and vegetables in the rich mucklands around Lake Okechobee, vegetables in the big Everglades region around Immokalee, and the multi-million-dollar plant nurseries along the southwest coast.

The freeze dealt a paralyzing blow to the tropical-fish industry south of Tampa, and fern growers in the north-central counties of Volusia, Putnam and Lake said their Valentine's Day floral crops were hit hard despite spraying them with water that quickly froze. The floral growers hope to salvage their business with Easter offerings if no more severe freezes come along.

Paradoxically, orange and grapefruit growers fear the warmup predicted today may be too warm and last too long. A big warmup causes frozen fruit to break down faster and dehydrate. A few more cool days and nights will help them salvage some of the frozen citrus for juice.

Soccer Club Land Use OK'd; Board Overturned

By LEE DANCY
Herald Staff Writer

Much to the dismay of many property owners in the county's Markham Lake area, the Seminole Soccer Club Inc. will soon have a permanent home there.

By a narrow 3-2 vote, the Seminole County Commission on Tuesday night overturned a county Board of Adjustment ruling that would have denied a special exception to the county land-use plan for a recreational facility for the soccer club.

The club plans eventually to build 12 soccer fields on the 46-acre site within about five years, said John Parker, its president.

Commissioners Robert "Bud" Feather and William Kirchoff voted against overturning the Board of Adjustment decision.

Both commissioners cited inadequate roads to accommodate the extra traffic and alterations to the basically rural community made by the soccer fields as their primary reasons for not wanting to overturn the decision.

Commissioners Sandra Glenn, Barbara Christensen and Robert Sturm said they were voting in favor of overturning the board primarily because they are committed to more facilities for youth activities.

After Mrs. Glenn made the motion to overturn the decision and it was seconded by Mrs. Christensen, Kirchoff asked how restrictions regarding access to the property and road right-of-way dedication would be determined.

Normally, when the commission grants a special exception for land use on a piece of property, it is not considered again by the Board of Adjustment. Mrs. Glenn consequently amended her motion to make certain the soccer club's proposal is reviewed by the county land management staff and development review committee.

After the county officials review the sports-facility proposal and make recommendations regarding access, right of way, waste disposal and other factors, it will again come before the board for a second public hearing. At that time such details as hours of operation and necessary site modifications will be stipulated by the commission.

The commission chambers were packed to the walls, with people who could not get in waiting outside. Among the people inside the chambers, those favoring the soccer fields only slightly outnumbered residents opposing them.

Last Nov. 16 the Board of Adjustment denied the soccer club's request for a special exception to the land-use plan for the fields by a 3-2 vote. Opponents of the recreational facility, primarily those living near Markham Lake in the county's rural northwest corner, appeared in force at the meeting.

Essentially the same group of property owners were present Tuesday night. The Markham Lake area property owners' spokesman, Ernest Cowley, said traffic from the county's new Sylvan Lake Park was already causing a significant weekend traffic hazard because of youth football games scheduled there.

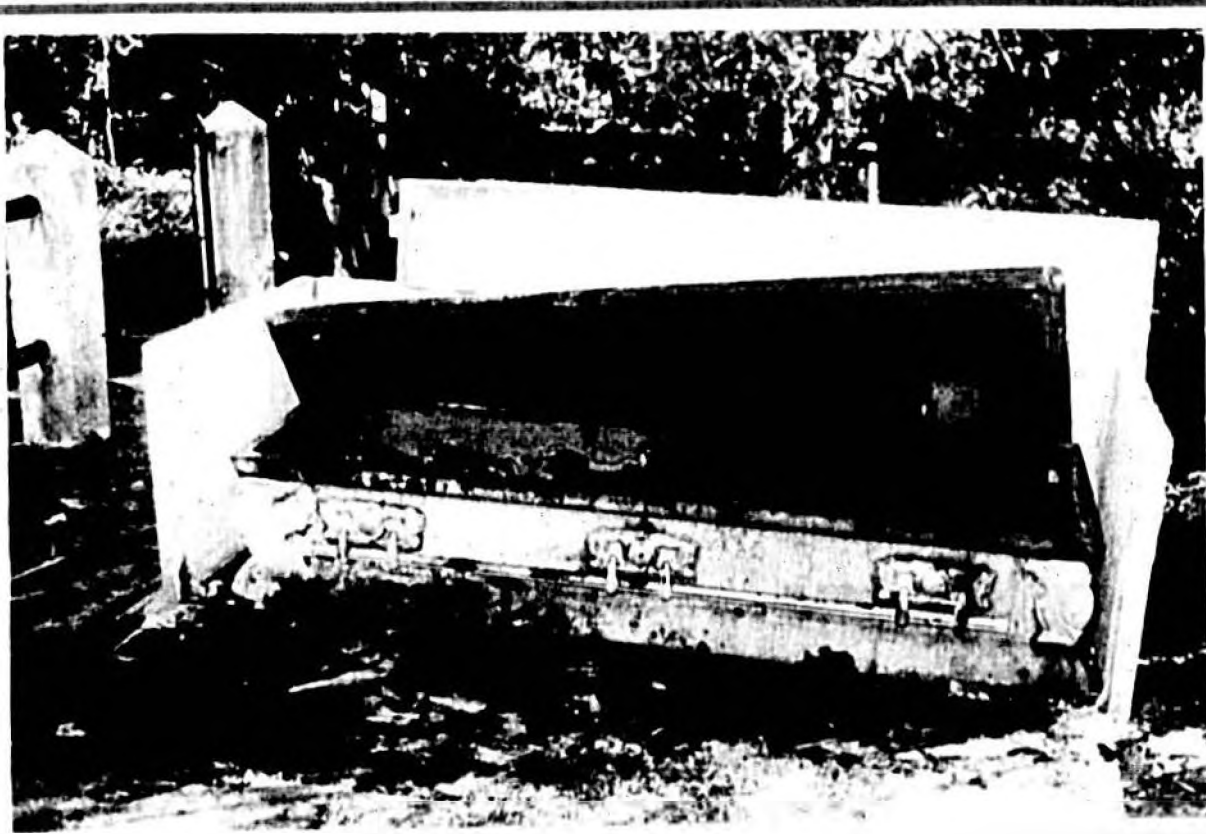

Sylvan Lake Park is less than a mile from the soccer club's site.

"This is the second recreational facility proposed for the area," Cowley said. "Persons who live here will have to live with this on a day-to-day, and possibly evening-by-evening basis."

"We feel the Markham-Paola sector is still a rural area," Cowley said. "A privately owned, quasi-commercial sports complex is certainly detrimental to the area."

Cowley said problems with traffic, parking, litter and noise already created by Sylvan Lake Park would be increased by the soccer club facility.

"To deny this field will not destroy soccer in Seminole County," he said. "To approve it would destroy the character of our neighborhood."

Vandals broke into several graves in the area behind Evergreen Cemetery on W. 25th Street, Sanford, over the weekend. The culprits removed the top slab and side wall of one grave (above) and opened the casket. Several other graves were vandalized, with large holes cut in the stone crypts (as shown at right).

Desecration Graves Broken Into At Sanford Cemetery

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

Sanford residents visiting the gravesites of deceased family members over the weekend were "appalled, disgusted and disturbed" by what they found in the privately owned cemetery on W. 25th Street, behind Evergreen Cemetery.

"I went out to the cemetery and couldn't believe it," said one Sanford woman, who wished to remain anonymous. "The graves and caskets had been broken into and there were bones and skeletons in plain view. I just couldn't believe anyone would do such a thing. It was just awful."

Sanford police reported Saturday that two graves at the cemetery were broken into and that a skull had been removed from one grave.

"This is a very old cemetery," said Sgt. Herb Shea, assistant to Sanford Police Chief Ben Butler. "The last case I can recall of this nature was about 2½ or three years ago. We patrol the area regularly, but we can't always catch the culprits."

Although Sanford police made the initial reports of the weekend vandalism and theft, the investigation will be turned over to Seminole County sheriff's deputies because the vandalized portion of the cemetery is in the county.

"We sent engineers out there this morning," said Steve Harriett, assistant to the city manager. "They have determined that that piece of land, located to the rear of the city-owned property which contains Evergreen Cemetery, is in the county's jurisdiction. Therefore I am instructing the police to turn the investigation over to the county."

"We (the city) will be glad to offer any assistance we can in determining who is responsible for maintenance of the cemetery," Harriett said. "However, the people who have buried family members there are responsible, and because this is an old, old cemetery it may be difficult to locate them."

"Since it has been determined that the site is located in the county, but not owned by the county, I am sure Roger Neiswender (county administrator) will agree, we will begin immediately to determine what authority we have over correcting the problem," said Jim Easton, assistant county administrator. "We will also move quickly to get with the health administrator and determine what we can do to avoid any potential health hazard today."

Sheriff John Polk said today, following the city's confirmation of county jurisdiction in the incident, that his department will begin "to investigate the case and to solve it."

According to Shea, a similar incident at the old cemetery site occurred several years ago. He added that a skull was reported missing in that incident.

"You know, we as police see a lot of things, but few are as disgusting to us as this," he said.

According to Chris Ray, Seminole County chief assistant state attorney, the penalty for anyone found guilty of disfiguring a tomb, a first-degree misdemeanor, is a fine of $1,000 and/or one year in the county jail.

Food-Stamp Line Overflow Annoys Bank

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

While officials in the state Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services (HRS) food-stamp office in Sanford are considering how to alleviate crowding at the office during the first five days of each month, City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles is going to take the problem to Tallahassee for a solution.

Knowles was brought into the situation, involving food-stamp recipients creating traffic problems and littering, after Janice Springfield, executive vice president and cashier of Flagship Bank of Seminole, complained in a letter to Mayor Lee Moore.

Noting that the bank has operated in its downtown location for 43 years, Mrs. Springfield said her complaint was the first formal one issued to the city during those years.

She said long lines form around the food stamp office on Oak Avenue at First Street beginning shortly after 7 a.m. the first five days of each month. She said that at times the line goes all the way around the building, congesting traffic on Oak Avenue and First Street with vehicles and humans.

And many of those in line at the Welaka Building, where the food-stamp office is located, park at the bank's parking lot, taking places reserved for tenants on the bank's second floor and for bank customers.

Mrs. Springfield said that to cope with some of the problems the bank has hired a part-time person to monitor the parking area. "We also have had to remove a bench that was enjoyed by all, because people were climbing on the top of the bench to get into a tree," she said. She said the bank also posted a "Do Not Walk on the Grass" sign, which was broken off and removed.

"There also have been occasions of persons urinating in the shrubbery in front of the bank," she said, adding that litter that is left by the human congestion flows over the bank premises.

Margaret Anderson, HRS service supervisor, who manages the service center where the food stamps are issued, said today, "We don't want to be bad neighbors. I hope we can solve the problem."

She said the U.S. Department of Agriculture gives states the option of staggering the issuance of food stamps over the first 15 days of the month, but Florida and "this district have opted to stagger over the first five days." She said the office during those first five days serves about 200 families each day.

"We are considering opening the office earlier and closing later during those five days," she said. Currently, the office issues stamps from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., when Wells Fargo picks up the stamps for safekeeping until the next day.

"We also are looking at the option of staggering the issuance to the first 10 days of the month, cutting the number issued to about 100 daily," Mrs. Anderson said. But, she noted, the earliest an extension of hours and a change in the number of days could occur would be no earlier than March 1, and more probably April 1.

One of the reasons for the congestion was the change in HRS rules which required that people personally pick up their stamps if they receive more than $128 worth monthly, because of the high incidence of theft and loss in the mails, Mrs. Anderson said.

In addition, lines slow up when the computer terminal used in the issuance slows down. She said the terminal was particularly slow in December. The answer, she said, would be to acquire an additional terminal but that is not financially feasible at this time.

The Sanford food-stamp office issues about $215,000 worth of stamps monthly to about 1,400 families in the Sanford, Lake Monroe, Lake Mary, Geneva and Snow Hill areas, Mrs. Anderson said.

Aaron, Robinson Elected To 'Hall'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Hank Aaron, who surpassed Babe Ruth's most glamorous record to become baseball's all-time home run king, and Frank Robinson, only player to win MVP Awards in both leagues and the major leagues' first black manager, were elected today to the Hall of Fame.

Aaron received 406 of a possible 415 votes or 97.8 percent — a percentage surpassed only by Ty Cobb in 1936 when he got 222 of 226 for 98.2 percent.

Robinson was elected with 370 votes or 89.1 percent of the possible vote.

The annual voting was conducted by 10-year members of the Baseball Writers Association and Aaron and Robinson will be formally inducted into the Hall of Fame in Cooperstown, N.Y., Aug. 1.

Close behind Aaron and Robinson but failing to gain election by seven votes was former Giants' pitcher Juan Marichal. Marichal received 305 votes in his second year on the ballot, a gain of 72, but was seven votes shy of election with 73.4 percent.

Aaron and Robinson are only the 12th and 13th players selected to the Hall of Fame in their first year of eligibility.

No other candidate came close to being elected, although several made important gains. Harmon Killebrew, with 246 votes, finished in fourth place and improved seven votes from last year. Shortstop Luis Aparicio made the most notable gain, receiving 174 votes compared to 48 last year.

Relief pitcher Hoyt Wilhelm finished fifth in the voting with 236 votes, followed by pitcher Don Drysdale (233), first baseman Gil Hodges (205), Aparicio, pitcher Jim Bunning (138), second baseman Red Schoendienst (135), second baseman Nellie Fox (127) and outfielder Richie Ashburn (126).

Aaron, who as a boy was a cross-handed-hitting softball player, was destined to become the man who broke baseball's most honored record — Babe Ruth's all-time mark of 714 career home runs.

Aaron broke the record by hitting the 715th of his career on April 9, 1974 and went on to compile a total of 755 during his career with the Atlanta Braves and Milwaukee Brewers from 1953 through 1975.

To reach and surpass the mark, Aaron underwent a physical and mental ordeal similar to the one suffered in 1961 by Roger Maris of the New York Yankees when he hit 61 homers.

New Oil Firm Due At Port Of Sanford

Promising larger-volume marketing than its predecessor, a new oil distribution firm will replace the Saxon Petroleum Co. at the Port of Sanford.

St. Johns Petroleum Terminals Inc., a firm recently incorporated in Florida is this state's representative for two North Carolina oil companies. The Lee-Moore Oil Co. and the Scotland Oil Co. will each be distributing oil from the Seminole County Port Authority terminal, said Dennis Dolgner, executive director of the port authority.

Lee-Moore Oil, based in Sanford, N.C., is a retail oil distributor. Dolgner said the firm sells its oil through 480 convenience stores in a four-state area.

Scotland Oil is primarily a wholesale distributor also based in North Carolina.

Dolgner said he expects St. Johns Petroleum to distribute significantly more oil from the Port Authority (SCOPA) terminal than Saxon Oil did. St. Johns' direct retail connections should make this possible, he said.

The new oil firm will pay a base annual rental fee of $28,000, which allows it to distribute 10.5 million gallons of oil from the SCOPA terminal without an added tariff, Dolgner said.

After the 10.5 million-gallon mark is achieved, a tariff of about 25 cents per gallon will be levied by the Port Authority up to the 15 million-gallon mark. After 15 million gallons is distributed, the tariff will continually be lessened as an incentive to the oil firm to increase distribution, Dolgner said.

'Peeved' Federal Judge Delays AT&T Settlement

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A peeved U.S. District Judge Harold Greene says he won't dismiss a federal antitrust suit against American Telephone & Telegraph Co. until he determines if the proposed settlement is in the public interest.

AT&T and the Justice Department said they don't foresee any problems and fully expect the deal to go through — with the world's largest company divesting itself of 22 local telephone companies and being free to enter new markets.

Phone Rates Up Regardless

ATLANTA (UPI) — Southern Bell customers should expect local phone rates to continue climbing whether or not an agreement between American Telephone & Telegraph and the government is implemented, a company executive said.

S.E. Jennette Jr., vice president for Southern Bell's Georgia operations, said Tuesday that to blame rate increases on the compromise — under which federal officials agreed to drop a seven-year antitrust suit against AT&T — is "wrong, wrong, wrong."

Jennette said costs for basic phone service would increase because of other factors, including inflation, competition, and regulatory decisions affecting the utility.

Gas Tax Hike Suggested

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal Highway Administrator Ray Barnhart is suggesting to President Reagan the federal gasoline tax be more than doubled — bringing in an additional $5 billion to the Treasury.

The gasoline tax now is four cents per gallon, the level at which it has been for 25 years.

UAW, GM Strike A Deal

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors has agreed to a United Auto Workers' proposal to slash car prices by the same amount it saves on UAW benefit concessions in what is being touted as a revolutionary joint survival plan.

GM agreed to the plan — the first ever approved involving auto prices — Tuesday, during a second day of historic bargaining talks to change present contract benefits. Ford, the only other automaker involved in the talks, was set to consider the proposal today.

3 Die In New York Cold

NEW YORK (UPI) — An elderly couple — both deaf mutes and one a bedridden invalid — froze to death in their home because their furnace malfunctioned as temperatures plunged to near zero.

The couple, found Tuesday afternoon by a visiting minister, were the city's second and third victims of the Arctic cold, authorities said. The body of a Brooklyn man was discovered early Monday morning on a street corner.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: The hardest freeze of this century kept a stranglehold on the Northeast and devastated the heart of Dixie today, rendering unequipped cities helpless under 7-inch snows and causing $500 million in damage to tender Florida crops. The weather was blamed for at least 133 deaths. Tennessee reported 4 inches of snow, Arkansas 7 inches, and Mississippi was laboring under slush and sleet in one of its worst storms in decades. Freezing rain glazed the Arkansas-Louisiana border area and much of Alabama, Northern Georgia, including Atlanta, and the western Carolinas also had snow. At least 130 deaths were blamed on the brutal cold that began Saturday and peaked Monday in what the National Meteorological Center described as the coldest day of the century. The record cold maintained its strongest foothold in the Northeast, where the mercury at Worcester, Mass., fell to 8 below zero and brisk winds plunged the wind-chill to a minus 46 flegrees. Florida officials said Tuesday's freeze was as damaging as the one in 1977, which caused $500 million in damages to Florida's agriculture. As a result, orange juice, sugar and many vegetables will be more expensive, possibly within only a few days, agriculture spokesmen said. Most officials in the South threw up their hands in dismay and were left to watch cities close down for lack of snow removal equipment.

Man Who Pulled Gun On Cops Cleared

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

Charges against a Geneva man have been dropped by the Seminole-Brevard state attorney's office based on insufficient evidence to prove any wrongdoing.

Chief Assistant State Attorney Chris Ray said the charges of aggravated assault, improper exhibition of a firearm and carrying a concealed weapon against Marvin D. Long, 50, of Old Mims Road, Geneva, were dropped because of insufficient evidence and, "because I might have done the same thing in a similar situation."

Long was accused of pulling a gun on undercover narcotics agents staked out on his property which was suspected of being a drop site for illegal drugs.

Ray said according to evidence submitted to him, Long noticed a suspicious car on his property and went to investigate. He came upon the narcotics agents, "drew down on them with his gun but after they identified themselves he tossed the gun in the bushes," Ray said.

"I'm just not, under those circumstances, going to prosecute a man who it appears was merely protecting his property," Ray said.

The $5,000 bond posted by Long following his arrest was later returned to him after he was ordered released on his own recognizance.

UNATTENDED HOME BURGLARIZED

A Sweetwater Club security guard discovered a Longwood man's home had been burglarized in the club area at about 11:30 a.m. Monday and reported the incident to County sheriff's deputies. The homeowner was out of town at the time of the break-in.

The home of Alfred Besade, of 703 Sweetwater Club Blvd., was discovered burglarized after thieves removed a pane of glass from a window and also opened the kitchen door. The burglars ransacked the house and had also attempted to pry open the patio doors, deputies said.

Besade was expected to return home soon and will provide a list of missing items at that time, sheriff's deputies said.

DOG ON ROOF

A Casselberry man returned home at about 9 p.m. Monday to discover his trailer had been burglarized and his dog on the roof.

Robert L. Hawkins, 39, of 804 Orchid Ave., said he came home and found the front door open, pry marks on the back door and his dog missing from inside the trailer. Hawkins later found his dog on top of the trailer, sheriff's deputies said.

Hawkins said nothing appeared to be missing from his home.

WARDS BURGLARIZED

Thieves broke into the Montgomery Wards distribution center, located at Eighth Street and Persimmon Avenue in Sanford, stealing an undetermined amount of property, sometime between 4:30 p.m. Friday and 8 a.m. Monday.

Ronald Addington, 28, warehouse manager, told sheriff's deputies that thieves got into the center by breaking a section of the garage door.

Addington is preparing a list of the stolen property, deputies said.

PAOLA SCHOOL BURGLARIZED

Burglars broke into the Wilson Elementary School, located on Orange Boulevard in Paola, sometime between 4 p.m. Friday and 7:30 a.m. Monday.

The thieves entered the school through a window in a school restroom and stole $40-$50 cash, desk keys and a radio valued at $130, sheriff's deputies said.

LONGWOOD WOMAN JAILED

A Longwood woman was in the Seminole County jail today on $5,000 bond following her arrest at 9:30 p.m. Tuesday for grand theft.

Sherri Dawn Jacobs, 20, of 281 Acorn Drive, was arrested at the Zayre Department Store, Sanford, where she worked as a jewelry clerk after a store security guard discovered several items missing from the store, deputies said.

Store security officer, Helen Musco said she had been watching Ms. Jacobs and saw her place a bag of merchandise under the jewelry counter. Ms. Musco confronted Ms. Jacobs and retrieved the goods from Ms. Jacobs' vehicle. Found in the car were 15 pieces of jewelry, three pairs of baby booties, an infant's hat and a ladies' wristwatch, police said. The merchandise is valued at $820.65.

JEWELRY, SILVER THEFT

Burglars broke into a Sanford man's home and stole about $3,695 worth of jewelry and sterling silver at about 1:05 p.m. Monday.

Donald Schwegman, 33 of 705 Briarcliff St., said someone forced the rear bedroom window of his home open and robbed him.

Sanford police said Schwegman is completing a list of the stolen items.

ments of oranges and grapefruit from growers who want to unload mature frozen fruit before it dries out. The salvage operation could save much of the mid-season crop for frozen concentrate and canned juice, although growers will receive less money than they might have expected otherwise.

Six to seven million boxes of mid-season fruit normally is harvested, but because of the freeze, growers are expected to send about 11 or 12 million boxes to processors.

The immature late-season oranges, such as Valencia, prized for their juice, are probably lost.

The Florida Citrus Commission scheduled a meeting for 3 p.m. today. It was expected to issue a shipping ban on fresh citrus for two weeks to prevent the export of freeze-damaged citrus to northern markets.

More than the loss of fruit, citrus growers were worried about the long-term effects on their trees. Many trees had to be cut back after a 1981 freeze, and the subsequent new growth was tender and vulnerable.

Conner said preliminary reports show that the entire citrus belt was covered with ice and the $1.29-billion industry will suffer major losses. However, a dollar estimate was not expected for several days.

"It is clear to me now that there will be a considerable decrease in the volume of citrus," Conner said.

On Jan. 20, 1977, a freeze produced ice in 90 percent of the citrus and caused damage in excess of $500 million, said Jack Slinka, Department of Agriculture information officer.

"It was a very, very severe freeze," he said. "The $500 million included vegetables too. It was a biggie. This one is a biggie too."

Slink said officials fear the latest freeze would prove to be as severe as that of 1977.

I'm on my own and off to a great start, thanks to First Federal of Seminole's new IRA Plan.

"I've got a good job with a secure future, but my IRA is going to make it even better. If I keep saving a few dollars regularly every month through payroll deductions, as young as I am, when it comes time to get the money out, I'll be financially independent. The good news is that I can save what I can now, and as I make more money in later years I can increase the amount, up to a maximum of $2,000. Even if I get married, I can keep my IRA!"

"Let First Federal of Seminole get you started now!"

Action Delayed On House Move Request

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

A lot of questions remain unanswered about history, especially in the minds of the Altamonte Springs City Commission concerning a turn-of-the-century house located in the city.

Because of those unanswered questions, the commission decided Tuesday night to postpone acting on a request by the Altamonte Springs Historical Society for the city's assistance in relocating the home, located at 130 Park Place, until later this month.

The historical society is asking the city to lend its support by waiving applicable fee and permit requirements in moving the house, providing a relocation site for the home and, if necessary, granting a short-term loan of up to $10,000 to cover moving costs.

The society is asking the city to donate either a portion of property on the west end of Hermit's Trail Park, off State Road 436, or a portion of the city-owned property directly in front of the Public Safety Complex, also off S.R. 436, as the relocation site.

"Our first concern is for a relocation site and by asking for the permit and fee waiver, we are asking the city's assistance in getting the job done," said Homer Sewell III, society spokesman. "The loan is being mentioned at this time only if additional funds are required to move the house. The loan may not even be necessary."

Sewell said the society has "been promised a $10,000 loan by a member of the society," and that nearly $6,000 in donations have been received.

"I see your motives are very commendable," said Commissioner Cheney Colardo. "However, I need more concrete evidence."

Ms. Colardo, along with other commission members, expressed their concerns about moving the two-story house, and about the city's liability for the house if it is placed on city property. The commission also questioned the city's responsibility for the house, should funds not become available to restore the home.

Sewell and other society members said they are willing to meet with the commission to answer their questions since they have been granted an extension by the Florida Hospital-Altamonte, donors of the house, to move the house off its present location, slated for future hospital use.

Society members hope to restore the 1900-era house and make it a city historical museum.

In other action Tuesday night, the commission voted unanimously to pay $6,166.67 for a 180-day double taxation study.

The study, to be conducted by Deland-based Kelton and Associates consulting firm, is also financially supported by Sanford, Casselberry and Lake Mary. Longwood, Winter Springs and Oviedo officials also have expressed support of the study.

The firm will analyze Seminole County services and financial records to determine if double taxation exists, whereby city residents pay county taxes for services they may not receive.

Officials say the cities vs. county taxation issue ultimately could wind up in court.

Cuban Refugee Wins Deportation Reprieve

MIAMI (UPI) — While Cuban-Americans demonstrated on her behalf in Miami, Clara Nunez, 20-year-old Cuban stowaway won a temporary reprieve against deportation from a federal judge Tuesday.

U.S. District Judge Frank A. Reed at Orlando ruled that he has jurisdiction to determine if the young woman received a fair hearing Dec. 26 from INS when she arrived in Brevard County aboard a freighter.

Hastings Enters No Plea

MIAMI (UPI) — The federal judge stood mute in court as a colleague on the bench asked him how he pleaded to bribery-conspiracy charges.

One of U.S. District Judge Alcee L. Hastings' attorneys stepped forward Tuesday and told federal Judge C. William Kraft Jr.: "At this time, the defendant respectfully declines to enter a plea."

Attorney Joel Hirschhorn of Miami asked Kraft to enter the "highest plea" for Hastings, indicted Dec. 29 on charges of conspiracy to commit bribery, defrauding the government and obstruction of justice. Hirschhorn explained to reporters he refused to enter a not guilty plea, for Hastings a Seminole County native, because he intends to "attack the sufficiency of the indictment."

Eckerd's Won't Sell 'Ludes

MIAMI (UPI) — One of the nation's largest drug store chains has banned the stocking and sale of methaqualone, commonly known as Quaaludes, from its more than 1,200 stores.

Eckerd Drug Corp. officials said they installed the ban Tuesday because the pills, called "downers" in the illicit street market, are used almost entirely by abusers. Methaqualone, as prescribed by doctors as a non-barbiturate sleeping pill. Officials said the decision also was made with the intention of helping to curb robberies at its stores, committed by persons seeking Quaaludes and other drugs.

Hawkins Released From Hospital

ORLANDO, (UPI) — Sen. Paula Hawkins was expected to be released today from an Orlando hospital where she is recovering from injuries suffered when a television stage backdrop fell on her during an interview last week.

The 53-year-old Florida Republican was struck on the head and shoulder by a 6-foot, 40-pound wooden backdrop Jan. 5 while taping an interview at the WESH-TV studio in Winter Park. She was briefly knocked unconscious.

Italian Police Try To Block Move Of General Dozier

ROME (UPI) — Police searched cars on all roads connecting north and central Italy today to prevent frightened Red Brigades kidnapers from switching U.S. Gen. James Dozier to a new hideout.

The special operation by 636 men and 222 police vehicles was launched when police feared reports that arrested terrorists were talking, apparently under intense interrogation, would scare Dozier's kidnapers into seeking a new hiding place.

Israeli 'Lack Of Will'

CAIRO, Egypt (UPI) — Secretary of State Alexander Haig, reportedly blaming "lack of political will" by Israel for the stalled Palestinian autonomy talks, brought new options in the dispute to a meeting today with Egyptian President Husni Mubarak.

Haig and his chief Middle East advisers met Tuesday with Foreign Minister Kamal Hassan Ali and his advisers for nearly two hours in a meeting that dealt exclusively with Palestinian autonomy.

The underlying problem according to an assessment just completed by the State Department, is "the lack of political will" on the part of the Israeli government to make the transition to real autonomy for the 1.2 million Palestinians in the occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip.

Thatcher's Son Missing

LONDON (UPI) — Algeria ordered troops into the Sahara Desert today to find British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher's son and two teammates who disappeared last week on a desolate section of the grueling Paris-Dakar Road Rally.

Mark Thatcher, 28, co-driver Charlotte Virney and an unidentified mechanic were last seen Friday driving their Peugeot-Dangel on the African Sahara Desert leg of the 10,000-mile, 20-day rally that began in Paris New Year's Day.

Conference Call To The Ukraine

Many children run away from home, but few runaways cause custody disputes between the superpowers. Walter Polovchak, who ran away from his Ukrainian parents in Chicago when he was 12, has just lost an Illinois court appeal to stay in the U.S.

He is 14 now, and doesn't want to return to his parents who, after six unhappy months in America, went back to live in the Soviet Union. A Juvenile Court judge ruled that Walter could stay in Chicago. But recently the Illinois Court of Appeals overturned the lower court decision and said it was made "against the manifest weight of the evidence." The American Civil Liberties Union, defending the right of Walter's parents to keep custody of their son, says the decision means he will return to the Ukraine. But Walter's lawyers contend that because he was granted permanent resident status in the U.S. by the Immigration and Naturalization Service, Walter has a right to stay here. The INS granted him religious asylum when he converted from his parents' Roman Catholicism to become a Baptist. But authorities on juvenile law say this represents an unprecedented federal government intrusion into the sanctity of the family.

As the lawyers bicker, relations between the U.S. and the U.S.S.R. grow colder. Living with foster parents in Chicago, Walter waits for a decision.

Is this a family problem or an international dispute? If there were a long-distance conference call between the Polovchaks, the judge, the ACLU and the INS, perhaps the following discussion would be heard.

Polovchaks: Come home! We love you and you are our child. You're too young to know what's good for you, and you belong with your family until you're old enough to be on your own. We promise to treat you well when you come back. Don't break our hearts by staying in that foreign country.

Walter: I don't want to come. I like it in Chicago. I have a green card and you can't make me leave America. If I come back, the kids will taunt me and the teachers will indoctrinate me.

Illinois Judge: Listen to your parents. The family is a more important institution than the state. The ties you break by living in Chicago can never be replaced by a new country, even America. And by staying here you are breaking Illinois law.

INS: Nonsense. Walter is a Baptist, a religious group that is persecuted in the Soviet Union. Although he has not reached the legal age of adulthood, he understands the difference between freedom and tyranny. The United States has granted him residence status which protects his right to remain here. Liberty is a gift which his family, no matter how well-meaning, could never offer him in the Soviet Union.

ACLU: The federal government is usurping the right of the state to decide family matters. The court has ruled and the ruling must be respected, or we abridge those freedoms which you claim to protect. The Illinois court decided that Walter cannot be made a ward of the state because he is not "a minor in need of supervision." He only ran away from home once, and this is not grounds to say he cannot be handled by his parents.

Walter: I'll run away again! But if you send me back to the Ukraine, there's nowhere I can run to. What will happen to me there?

All sides have a point in this difficult issue. But in the end, Walter is right: To return him to his family, is to hand him over to the Soviet state. President Reagan should act to ensure that Walter stays in Chicago until the Soviet Union protects the sanctity of families and the freedom of worship.

The pride of the Scots will be showing Saturday when the Scottish American Society of Central Florida holds its fourth annual Orlando Scottish Highland Games from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Central Florida Fairgrounds on West Highway 50.

Even if your family tree doesn't have roots in Scotland you're bound to enjoy the color and pageantry of the traditional Scottish athletic events, dances, piping and drumming.

So that you'll know what's going on, here is a glossary of some of the terms you may need to know.

Balmoral — The flat "tam" headgear worn with Highland dress.

Caber — The 16-20 foot pole weighing between 80 and 100 pounds that is flipped end over end in the Caber Toss event.

Clan — Originally a family unit, the Clan became the basic political, economic and social unit of the Scottish highlands until the political oppression of 1745.

Gaelic — The traditional language of the Scots.

Kilt — The traditional clothing of Scotland. Originally a large blanket wrapped around the body, the present kilt contains about six yards of material.

Plaid (Played) — The blanket like garment worn over the shoulder by some highland dress. Originally part of the kilt.

Haggis (as in Haggis Hurling) — A meat dish similar to sausage made from sheep, beef, and pork, livers, hearts, kidneys, oatmeal, barley, spices, and onions. The whole concoction is enclosed in a sheep's stomach and boiled.

There will be traditional Scottish foods served as well as American. There will be events going on all through the day. Admission is $5 for adults, $3 for students and children under 6 free.

While others were making lists of New Year's Resolutions Seminole County Home Economics Extension Agent Barbara Hughes was observing an old Victorian New Year's tradition. She heard about it when she was in college and has been doing it ever since. She says she spends several hours reciting and jotting down things she did in the previous year and people she met. ("Nothing too incriminating," she added quickly, "in case I should die and someone else might read it!") Then when the next January rolls around she takes out her notes and reads them over again.

The Central Florida Zoo near Sanford is going through a rough period financially due to such factors as bad weather, which hurt attendance and inflation. Betty Kienth, of Maitland, who is in charge of special fund-raising projects, said the zoo board is planning to sell advertising in a special newspaper supplement, similar to one the Couer de Couer recently put out to raise funds for the Heart Association.

Plans are also under way for the annual "Wild West" auction in April to be held in the Orlando Expo Hall this year. The auction has been the zoo's major fund raiser in the past. Mrs. Kienth is asking area merchants to donate items for the auction.

Rising Price Of Politics

WASHINGTON (NEA) — When several thousand men and women gather for a mid-January dinner in Dallas, they will establish a record for the most money ever collected on behalf of a politician at a single event.

No candidate for any public office — including the presidency — has ever reaped $1 million in gross proceeds from one fund-raising party. But Sen. John G. Tower, R-Texas, is about to surpass that mark.

Although the record Tower soon will set is a tribute to the efforts of the dinner organizer, political consultant Brad O'Leary, it typifies a disturbing trend in contemporary politics.

Each new election cycle produces increased pressure on office-seekers to start earlier, campaign longer and scramble harder for more money than ever before. "Campaigning and fund-raising," says O'Leary, "have become almost full-time jobs."

Item: In at least a half-dozen states throughout the country, candidates hoping to topple incumbents in this year's contests for Senate seats have been devoting virtually all of their time to that cause for more than a year.

They have, in effect, established an extraordinary new standard for Senate races — the two-year-long campaign.

Item: Texas Gov. William P. Clements, a Republican, spent $7.2 million in his successful 1978 campaign, with more than $4.5 million of that total coming from loans advanced by Dallas banks and personally guaranteed by the candidate.

With 10 months remaining before Clements faces re-election, no potential challenger who has not already raised more than $1 million is considered to be a "serious" candidate.

Item: West Virginia Gov. John D. "Jay" Rockefeller IV, a Democrat, spent more than $11.6 million — virtually all of it his own money — on his successful 1980 campaign.

That's the equivalent of almost $30 per vote.

Item: Some members of the Senate who were elected in 1980 already have organized their 1986 re-election committees and have started fund-raising for political contests that won't be held for almost five years.

Item: In addition to uncounted millions of dollars raised and spent at the local level, Washington-based Republican committees poured an unprecedented $4.5 million into 1979-80 GOP campaigns for seats in state legislatures.

Tower's term doesn't expire until 1984, but one of the axioms of modern politics is that accumulating a bulging campaign treasury far in advance is an especially effective device for dissuading potential challengers.

"These days, you've got to raise money earlier and spend every dollar wisely," says O'Leary, one of the country's most creative and successful political fund-raisers.

The Dallas dinner ostensibly is being held to honor Tower after 20 years of Senate service. (He won a special election in 1961 to fill a vacancy created after Lyndon B. Johnson resigned to accept the vice presidency.)

Labor Chief Didn't Do His Job

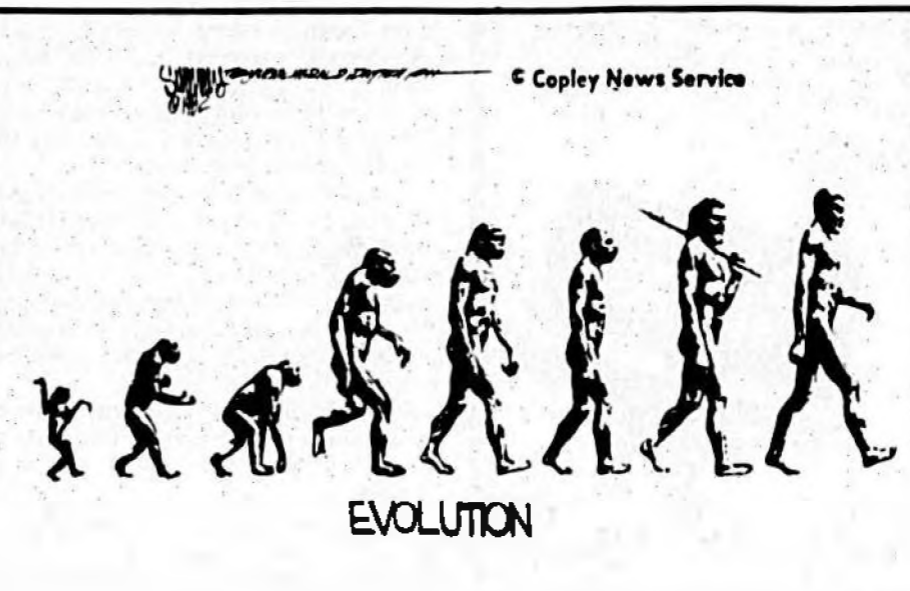

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Labor Raymond Donovan was chided last May by a federal judge for failing to take timely action to ensure that a New York union held an honest election.

The courtroom admonition got no publicity at the time. But what makes it significant is the identity of the union — Local 29 of the Blasters, Drillers and Mine Union; also the identity of the man who won the presidency in the election Donovan failed to have the Labor Department supervise — Louisa Sanzo.

A special prosecutor has been appointed, meanwhile, to investigate allegations that Sanzo was presented with a $2,000 payoff at a 1977 luncheon while Donovan was present.

Here's the history of Local 29's questioned election: In May 1978, Sanzo was re-elected president of the local. But the Labor Department ordered a new election because of suspicions of irregularity.

The new election was held in April 1980.

South's Senate Races

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The South has been a land of opportunity for the Republicans in recent years. But at this point it appears that the GOP will gain little ground as a result of the six U.S. Senate races that will take place in the region in 1982.

These contests are examined in detail in this fourth of five state-by-state reports on the 1982 Senate campaign.

FLORIDA: This state is known for its political fluidity. Yet, Democrat Lawton Chiles is about as safe a bet for re-election as an incumbent can be this far ahead of the balloting.

It is unusual for this state that Chiles has the backing of all elements of his party and faces no serious primary challenge.

The Republicans are still looking for a candidate. They have been trying to persuade either Rep. Bill Young or Rep. Skip Balfanz to make the race, but neither seems very enthusiastic about his chances of unseating the popular Chiles.

The Florida GOP has enough money to wage a strong race if the right candidate can be found. But as of now Chiles seems headed for another term.

MISSISSIPPI:

John Stennis may be the last of the old-line conservative Southern Democrats who ruled the U.S. Senate for decades.

Stennis has been running hard for re-election despite his 80 years. If nothing else, he has scared off any serious primary challenge from within his own party.

The GOP has a potential candidate who could retire Stennis in Rep. Trent Lott. But the state's business establishment, which would have to form the backbone of any GOP challenge, has been in the Stennis camp for 20 years and is urging Lott to wait his turn.

If Lott does not run, there are many other Republicans who have been buoyed by polls showing that a majority of voters think Stennis should retire.

Assuming a strong GOP candidate and a strong campaign, Stennis may have to count on a large black turnout if he is to win another term. His record on racial issues is moderate for a Mississippi politician.

A Lott-Stennis race has to be considered a toss-up.

TENNESSEE:

Incumbent Democrat Jim Sasser seems to be a safe bet to win re-election in this state of political contradictions.

The biggest political name in the state is that of Senate Majority Leader Howard Baker, but polls show that the quiet Sasser has a higher approval rating than his headline-grabbing colleague.

The GOP's likely candidate will be arch-conservative Rep. Robin Beard. Current polls show Sasser leading Beard by a margin of more than 2-1.

This has caused many Tennessee Republicans to urge former Sen. Bill Brock to run against the man who upset him in 1976. But Brock has so far shown little interest in leaving his administration post as special trade representative. Thus, Sasser seems to be an odds-on favorite to win re-election.

TEXAS:

Incumbent Lloyd Benisen has united the state Democratic Party behind him, which is no small feat considering the Byzantine nature of Texas politics.

The leading contender in the fight for the GOP nomination seems to be Rep. Jim Collins. But that nomination does not seem to be much of a prize in 1982, and the national Republican Party has reportedly conceded the race to Benisen.

The incumbent should handily win re-election.

VIRGINIA:

Harry Byrd's decision not to seek re-election means that no Byrd will be representing Virginia in the Senate for the first time in almost a half century. The decision by the "Independent" Byrd has also thrown the race wide open.

On the Democratic side, Andrew Miller, a former attorney general of the state, appears to be the front runner. He lost a Senate race to John Warner in 1978 by only a few thousand votes.

This time Miller probably can count on the union support that he lacked in his race against Warner. He will face stiff primary challenges from both the left and the right, but he should emerge as the Democratic nominee if he can shed his "loser" image.

The race for the Republican nomination is still wide open. Many potential candidates who would not have run if Byrd had remained in the race are testing the political waters. Rep. Paul Trible was the early favorite, but now it appears that the nod may eventually go to outgoing Gov. John Dalton.

It is far too early to speculate about the final outcome in this state.

WEST VIRGINIA:

While there will not be a Byrd representing Virginia in the Senate after 1982, there will still be a Byrd in the upper chamber. Robert Byrd, the Senate Democratic leader, is running for re-election.

Byrd won his last election with 100 percent of the vote. But this time he will get no free ride. Rep. Cleve Benedict, a Procter and Gamble heir, will be the GOP standard-bearer. Major conservative organizations say they are gearing up for massive anti-Byrd campaign.

But if anything is sure in politics, it is that Byrd will be returned to the Senate.

Weight Loss Through Acupuncture

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (UPI) — Every time Army Sgt. Jerry Yates feels a gnawing pang of hunger tug at his middle, he just rubs his ear. Without ever taking a bite, he says he suddenly feels as full as if he had eaten a seven-course meal.

Yates and many other dieters who have lacked the willpower to stick to dismal cottage cheese and carrot-stick regimens are turning to acupuncture in an attempt to control their weight.

A tiny staple or surgical suture about one-quarter inch long is placed in a particular spot on the cartilage portion of the ear and with a simple rub, it triggers the release of a chemical in the stomach that produces a full feeling.

"It's a very simple way to lose weight — if you're not hungry, you don't eat," said Yates, a psychologist stationed at Fort Sam Houston. "The feeling once the pin is inserted is you don't have any feeling of hunger at all. I lost 25 pounds in three weeks."

Acupuncturist David Chilcott of the Acupuncture Center of Texas said most of his patients — with whom he claims a 75 percent success rate — are those who have tried and failed over and over again at traditional dieting.

"For the majority, it's a fairly last-resort technique," Chilcott said. "Most people I see have been on innumerable diets. They know what they should and should not eat but don't have the willpower or physiological control to stay on a diet."

"With acupuncture, it's not necessary to follow a diet. The main thrust of the program is to decrease appetite and give them control over their appetite."

Chilcott said the procedure works by placing the staple above the vagus nerve, which is located in the ear and corresponds to the stomach in the anatomical breakdown of acupuncture.

When the staple is manipulated, it causes the release of a small amount of hydrochloric acid in the upper part of the stomach.

"That will give the person a slightly full feeling," the acupuncturist said. "It's a neurological appetite suppressant. It doesn't speed up the metabolism when you're nervous or have quite a bit of anxiety. It's a very safe type thing."

He said patients lose an average of one-half pound a day, or about three pounds a week.

The procedure, which both Chilcott and Yates said was not painful, costs about $75 for the initial visit and staple insertion and two follow-up "tune-ups." The staple remains in the ear for six to eight months.

"There's really just a total loss of appetite," said Yates, who opted for an acupuncture weight control program to stay within the Army's weight standards.

"You do still have a normal, satiable appetite from just wanting to munch. You know you're not hungry, but it's time to eat. If you go and crunch a carrot or something, it quenches that desire."

"Dieting is not normal; it's an abnormal way to lose weight. I tried all the meditational things and went to a weight control center. But what I wanted to get away from was the hunger feeling."

Chilcott said acupuncture seems to work for all kinds of overeaters.

Charities Are Swamped By Requests From Poor, But Donations Going Up

United Press International
Charities are swamped with pleas for help from the nation's poor because of the gloomy economy and welfare cuts, aid officials say. But even with the hard times Americans are showing they "have a heart" — and charity donations in many regions are up.

"These are bad times," said Salvation Army Major Ralph Morrell, a frontline fighter in the battle against poverty in Birmingham, Ala. "We have more clients than ever before. The transient population is picking up."

On the flipside, charity officials say the public — with the exception of residents in areas walloped by massive layoffs — is donating more than last year, even if it means contributors must make sacrifices.

But with some Salvation Army chapters discussing a revival of 1930-style Soup Kitchens to accommodate the poor, charity officials warn even more donations will be needed.

"Perhaps the most important ingredient is that Americans seem to have a heart as big as this country," said Tom Mason, a spokesman for the Christian Children's Fund, which received an increase in contributions in 1981, enabling it to help more than 250,000 needy children in the United States and 12 other countries.

"They seem willing to share with those less fortunate than themselves, probably even at the cost of some deprivation."

However, a national official of the American Red Cross, which is raising money to help the people of Poland, said contributions to the Polish Emergency Relief Fund had flowed slowly to date though he expected a speedup.

"People have doubts because they're afraid the money will end up in the hands of the Polish government instead of those it was intended for," explained another Red Cross official in New England.

In domestic charities, the Salvation Army in Indiana, where people are hard hit by auto industry layoffs, says it has taken in about the same amount of donated money as last year. But requests for assistance are up 20 percent statewide — and even more in major auto towns.

Layoffs have also contributed to an up to 10 percent decrease in money raised by the United Way in Indiana because much of its contributions come through payroll deductions. In Pittsburgh, center of the nation's ailing steel industry, the Salvation Army says its mail-in Christmas fund drive is down and its kettle toss-in contributions are just the same as last year.

However, in other areas charity officials say their fund drives are surpassing sums collected in the previous year.

In Raleigh, N.C., the Salvation Army reported winter and Christmas money donations were up about 20 percent over last year, the United Way of Greater Richmond, Va., said its 1981 fund drive was up 15 percent and the Red Cross in the New York City area said its 1981 contributions increased by about 13 percent.

"It seems strange but statistics show people still contribute in hard economic times — in fact it's a little better," said

Maryland Lincoln, a spokeswoman for the Red Cross in Farmington, Conn.

"People, especially in difficult times, feel closer to those with problems," said Ralph Chamberlain, director of development for the Salvation Army in New York City.

But up along with donations were pleas for assistance. The New York branch of the Salvation Army said requests for help rose by up to 30 percent in the holiday season compared to the year before and the Raleigh branch reported an up to 15 percent Christmas increase.

In Providence, R.I., a spokeswoman for the Salvation Army said the branch there has been swamped with requests by the poor for food, fuel and clothing. She said because of the number of requests, the group has been able to help only in 65 percent of the cases — compared to other years when it could aid in up to 90 percent of the pleas.

"Because of cutbacks in food stamps (and other welfare programs) more people are calling on us for help," said Raleigh Salvation Army Capt. Howard Bratcher, adding his local unit is prepared to revive Depression-era soup kitchens "if necessary."

Morrell of the Birmingham Salvation Army branch said donations were up in his group's Christmas drive, allowing the branch to buy 1,300 pairs of shoes and help feed 10,000 people for holiday dinners.

But with the economic hard times, he warned, "We're probably going to need even more money this year."

Sadat Met Death Like A Soldier

Anwar Sadat's widow believes her husband stood up in the reviewing stand last October to face what he knew to be his assassins.

That's what Jihan Sadat told Barbara Walters in an interview — the only one she has given since Sadat's death — to be broadcast on ABC's news magazine "20/20."

Liz Stays Legit

Elizabeth Taylor, who enjoyed her stage debut in "The Little Foxes," will stay legit. She and Zev Bufman are forming what is temporarily titled the Elizabeth Taylor Repertory Company, of which she plans to be an acting member.

The rep company will stage three plays a year to run 10 weeks in New York and Los Angeles and four weeks in Washington, D.C.

Among the first projects being considered is Shakespeare's "Much Ado About Nothing," which the Taylor-Bufman team hopes might be directed by Franco Zeffirelli and star Christopher Plummer.

Miss Taylor is interested in appearing in Tennessee Williams' "Sweet Bird of Youth" and they plan to approach Al Pacino to be her co-star.

The rep company is said to be seeking stars of the caliber of Pacino, Gregory Peck, Walter Matthau, Ian McKellen and Peter Ustinov.

Danny's Surprise Party
Danny Thomas thought he was going to the Hillcrest Country Club in California Saturday night for a quiet 70th birthday dinner with his family. Instead he found a crowd of comic waiting to sing "Happy Birthday" when he entered the dining room.

'Elvis Hated Rock & Roll'
Albert Goldman, author of the best-selling but brutal biography "Elvis," told People magazine this about Elvis Presley:

"He hated rock 'n' roll. It was just a vehicle he adapted to make himself famous. He didn't just want to be a singer, he wanted to be a big movie star like Rudolph Valentino. Elvis wasn't a great singer. He was a guy who had a fantastic talent for projecting an enduring image the public adored."

And he added: "Behind his theatrical image of love and happiness was a black hole of the soul where all the forces were negative. There was no genuine core to his personality. It was all down to drugs and comic-book macho."

Commission Shuffles Staffs Judicial 'Space Wars'

By LEE DANCY
Herald Staff Writer

Switching the locations of two family court staff members and two juvenile court staff members is the best temporary answer to an ongoing judicial space crisis, according to the Seminole County Commission.

Late Tuesday night, the commission unanimously agreed to relocate two family court staff members currently located in Circuit Judge Dominick Salvi's office to the second floor of the courthouse in the northwest wing where Clerk of Court Art Beckwith's offices are located.

In a corresponding move, juvenile court staff members currently located in the court clerk's office will move up to Judge Salvi's office on the third floor's northeast wing. In essence, the family court staff will switch places with the juvenile court staff, commission members agreed.

After Judge Salvi recently was assigned from family court to juvenile court, he said he needed the two staff members from that judicial branch working in his office.

The staff relocation is a commission response to complaints by the county judiciary of severe office space shortages. Judge

Snowstorm Interrupts Atlanta Murder Trial

ATLANTA (UPI) — The prosecution had just established its first eyewitness link between accused killer Wayne Williams and his last alleged victim when a snowstorm interrupted the trial which is unlikely to resume until Thursday.

Snow was already on the ground Tuesday and the city was already paralyzed when Superior Court Judge Clarence Cooper hastily recessed the trial nearly two hours early. It was virtually certain the trial would remain in recess until streets become passable.

Williams, a rotund 23-year-old black photographer, is in the third week of his trial for the murder of Nathaniel Cater, 27, and Jimmy Ray Payne, 21 — two of the 28 young blacks slain in the city during a span of nearly two years that ended when Williams came under suspicion last spring.

The final witness Tuesday gave the jury of eight blacks and four whites the most dramatic testimony the prosecution has presented in the five days it has been seeing forth its case.

Dusty Rhodes, the "American Dream," won't be in attendance, but there should be plenty of excitement just the same when the county's junior varsity wrestlers get together Thursday at Seminole High at 5 p.m.

Coach Paul Thomann's Lyman Grebouds have won the three years of its existence, but the "Hounds" needed help from Seminole against Lake Brantley to edge the Patriots in the final match last year.

Thomann looks for Brantley to be his stiffest challenge again. "We're not as strong as last year," he pointed out Tuesday. "Brantley usually gives us the strongest challenge."

The Lyman junior varsity whipped out Lake Mary by sweeping every match earlier this year, but Thomann looks for coach Frank Schwartz's first-year squad to be improved, but not seriously challenge.

Eight Is Enough, Tribe Trims Pats

By JOE DE SANTIS
Herald Sports Writer

Seminole High got scoring efforts from eight different players in the fourth period Tuesday night to break open a tight contest and post a 57-51 win over Lake Brantley.

The Tribe entered the final frame clinging to a three-point lead over the Patriots but outscored Lake Brantley 25-12 in the final eight minutes to secure the Five Star Conference victory.

The win improved Bill Payne's Seminoles to 5-1 overall and 2-4 in district play while Lake Brantley slipped to 5-9 overall and 1-6 in the district. The win snapped a five-game losing streak.

Prep Basketball

Bryant paced all scorers with a 21-point effort while Mitchell tossed in 17 and guards Grey and Vernon Law chipped in eight each for Seminole.

Lake Brantley's Mike Gregory turned in a steady game-long effort to share the scoring honors of 24 points with Seminole's Bryant, while Powers finished the night with 12 points.

Both the Seminoles and Patriots face busy schedules the remainder of the week. Friday night Seminole travels to Apopka and then hosts Boone Saturday evening.

Lake Brantley meets Daytona Beach Faber Lopez Thursday night and tackles county-rival Oviedo Saturday evening.

JVs Win Third In Succession

Tom Smith's junior varsity Tribe notched its third straight win by topping Lake Brantley's junior varsity, 53-42, in a prelude to Tuesday night's varsity match up.

In almost a carbon copy of the night-cap, Seminole trailed by two at the half, 24-22, but got strong scoring in the third and fourth quarters to pull away for the victory.

Twenty-four points by Steve Alexander and 15 from guard Steve Grey kept the Tribe win.

"We're getting more consistent lately," commented Smith. "That makes three straight for us and it moved us to 4-2 in the district."

Haider coach Joe Sterling ponders a winning, but unpleasant scorebook.

Coach Jerry Posey feels two other all-conference performers — Vince Edwards and light end Frank Rowe — will play exemplars. Both are wanted by Central Florida if preliminary feelers can be trusted.

Edwards, a fine safety, was the center fielder on coach Dave Moore's "Dare You To Beat Us" defensive squad.

When Seminole Community College basketball coach Joe Sterling steps on the hardwood tonight at Daytona Beach, it will be for the 453rd time as a junior college coach.

Watson Still Not Satisfied

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI) — Tom Watson won three tournaments on the TPA Tour last year, including the Masters.

Any golfer would be satisfied with a year like that, especially if it included $344,660 in winnings.

Not Watson.

After winning the money title and Player of the Year honors four years in a row from 1977 through 1980 and losing out in both categories in 1981, Watson was very disappointed.

Just as the song says "lets get physical", so do Eric French and the Lyman Greyhounds.

Tuesday night French and the 'Hounds traveled to DeLand and "out-physicaled", the Bulldogs, 74-65, to up their record to 9-4, and set up a Friday night match-up with the Spruce Creek Hawks for the Five Star conference leadership in the Lyman gym.

The final score doesn't indicate it, but Tom Lawrence's 'Hounds had to fight to the buzzer with the 7-8 'Dogs, to take home the victory. The first period got off fast as both clubs stayed even through 3:27 until Lyman began to take advantage of DeLand turnovers to take a slight advantage of 17-14 with 2:15 left in the opening period.

At this point, French began to assert himself to give the Greyhounds a 22-17 first-quarter margin.

Lawrence's Hurryin' 'Hounds quickly found that the home town 'Dogs were not going to roll over as DeLand worked the ball inside to John Ramsey and Cedric Brown to muscle their way to a 32-29 halftime margin.

As usual Lawrence rallied the Greyhound running game at the half as Lyman came out with their press and fastbreak, led by quick guard William Scott. Antoine "Pop" Lemon finally put Lyman back ahead at 47-46 at the 3:24 mark on a jumper.

The Greyhounds went on to take a 54-49 lead into the final period, a lead the 'Hounds would never relinquish. Lyman traded buckets with DeLand in an early running game which ended with Lyman going to their "banjo" stall at 60-55 with 4:41 left in the contest.

The 'Hounds ran the clock an ended up with layups, only to have the 'Dogs keep it close at 64-59 with 1:31 remaining.

Then the final blow took place as the DeLand bench was hit with two technical fouls on a whistled foul.

Vince Presley sank the two foul shots and French downed the four technical free throws to put the game away.

Lawrence's 'Hounds proceeded to stall away the last 41 seconds, to take home the victory and set up the Spruce Creek showdown Friday night at 8.

"It was just a great effort. They responded to what we wanted them to do," exclaimed Lawrence. "We showed great composure and a super bench."

When asked what they needed to improve on to whip the Creek, Lawrence simply replied "Get quicker, they got a bunch of rockets over there."

In the scoring column the 'Hounds were led by French with 23, while Scott added 16. Heading DeLand were center John Ramsey and Brown as they combined for 34.

In junior varsity action the DeLand squad out-muscled Norman Ready's young 'Hounds as the taller home boys prevailed, 60-48.

Roderic Hillman had 11 and Greg Pilot added eight points to keep it close.

Marcus Self tallied 22 for the victorious Bulldogs.

Crabs Bite Howell; Lions Lose Fourth

Daytona Beach Seabreeze pulled off three steals in the opening minute of the third quarter Tuesday to break open a tight game and down Lake Howell, 56-46, at Daytona Beach.

The 10-point victory keeps the Hawks winless in 10 games, while Seabreeze improved to 8-4. Lake Howell hosts Daytona Beach Mainland Friday at 8 p.m.

"We cut the gap to nine, but we couldn't get any closer," said Hawk coach Greg Robinson. "I could see improvement, though. We're going to get better."

Senior Mark Layton, who was named Burger King Player of the Week on Tuesday, paced the Silver Hawks with 27 points. Forward Tim Rae was the only other Hawk in double-figures with 10 points.

The Sand Crabs led, 18-12, when they broke open the game with a sticky press in the opening minute of quarter number two.

"We finally solved it, but it was too late," said Robinson.

Lake Howell

Speaking of solutions, St. Cloud solved the "Ronnie Murphy Puzzle" Tuesday at home for a 68-61 victory over coach Dale "Digger Phillips" Lions.

The setback was the fourth straight for Oviedo and Murphy continued to have his troubles, scoring 17 points, seven less than his average.

Bulldog coach Terry Woods, who was an assistant to coach Bill Payne at Seminole High last year, stuck footballer Brent Fullwood on the elusive Murphy.

The victory over the 8-7 Lions was the first on-court District 3A-8 victory for St. Cloud in three years. In two previous seasons, the only wins were via forfeit from Bishop Moore.

Herky Wolf, a 6-2 forward, poured in 17 points for the Bulldogs. The Lions' Gene Angel had 17.

Oviedo takes on powerful Bishop Moore Friday at home. On Saturday, the Lions host Lake Brantley.

Shad Running At Osteen Camp

Osteen Bridge Fish Camp regulars Bobby Midgett and Terry Hughes proved one thing last week.

The shad are running. Midgett and Hughes pulled in eight pounds of shad including a four-pound shad roe. They also had three sunshine bass.

I didn't realize the shad were running until we got our men out. The water is cool and moving well, so the fishing is good.

Bill Himes and John Pigh pulled in about 10 pounds of shad too. They had four nice ones. This is a shad-oriented area and it's a good opportunity to catch 'em.

Osteen's Charles Lee landed the biggest speck I've seen this year last week when he pulled in a two pound, six ounce.

Sanford's Jerry Malloy, another regular, hauled in a 10-pound, two ounce bass last Wednesday.

Fishing has been good at all the area

Here's a word from the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission for those who missed the Hunter Education Course.

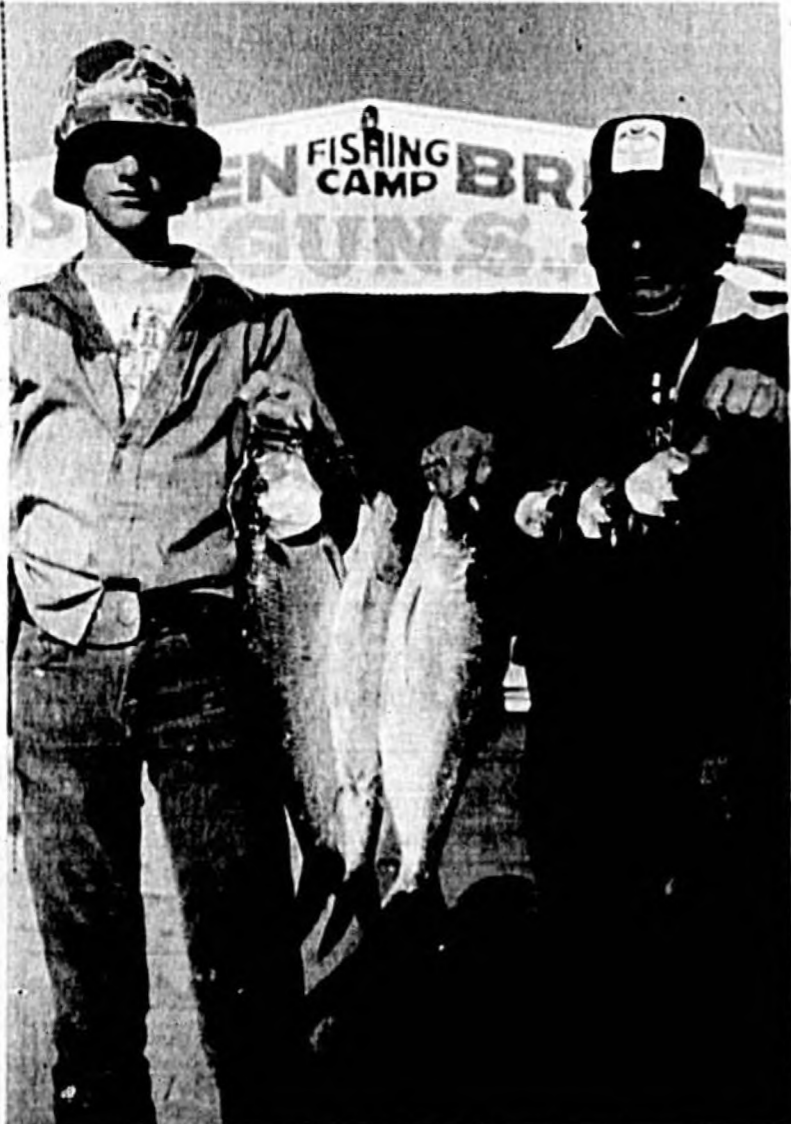

If you had planned to take the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission's Hunter Education Course prior to hunting season but simply didn't have enough time, don't despair. The next course being offered in the Sanford area will be held January 16th and 17th from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. both days. The class will meet at the Lewis Range located west of Sanford on Highway 44.

Firearms Safety, Wildlife I.D., Game Laws as well as nine other subjects will be covered during the course. Students will also have an opportunity to demonstrate what they have learned by going to a range and shooting rifles, shotguns and bow and arrow.

The free course is offered to anyone interested in learning more about hunting and the shooting sports. Florida's Hunter Education program is also recognized by all states requiring such certification before a hunting license may be purchased.

For additional information, interested individuals may contact the Commission's Ocala office at 1-800-342-9620.

Erving's Shot Drops Bullets

United Press International

Whether he was on or off, Philadelphia coach Billy Cunningham would have called on Julius Erving just the same.

"He was aggressive and going to the basket," Cunningham said. "We would have gone to him (for the last shot) anyway."

New Year, Same Old Backhand

Well, tennis fans the holiday season is over, it's time to start getting back on the courts and working some of that turkey and dressing off. Did Santa bring what you wanted? This writer asked for a new backhand and better second serve but Santa said he could not do the impossible.

Larry Castle
 Herald Tennis Writer

Several local and national tennis players and establishments did receive nice gifts during the season though. John McEnroe was named the number one men's player in the world and Chris Evert-Lloyd was named the number one women's player in the world — not bad gifts, huh?

Andy Castle and Mike Pernfors got a trip to Miami and played in the Orange Bowl.

Millions of Americans were given Prince Pros for Christmas (this racket is now selling more than all other oversized rackets combined.) SCC got a new player — his name is Mark Nicholls and his is from England. The Women's team welcomed local star Lynn Effer, from Winter Park. Martina received a new coach in the person of Renee Richards.

SCC's tennis courts received a facelift and Bayhead got a new pro — the ever personable Colin Meik. The U.S. has a brand new Davis Cup win. Lake Mary High has a new tennis coach, Doug Maliczewski, and John McEnroe was given a huge fine and two weeks suspension for his antics.

Former SCC players Rich Shanklin, Andy Veal, Jon Poling and Scott Reagan visited during the holiday. All are playing college tennis and doing well at their respective schools. A belated Happy Birthday to Emma Spencer. Many of Emma's friends and students came by Emma's courts for a little tennis and birthday celebration. Congratulations to Emma, Sanford's First Lady of Tennis!

Marguerite Leslie Cornell and David Alan Terwilleger were united in Holy Matrimony on Dec. 27, 1981, at 6:30 p.m., at the First Presbyterian Church, Sanford.

The Rev. Dr. Virgil L. Bryant Jr. performed the candlelight and double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Robert L. Cornell Jr., Sanford, and the late Mr. Cornell. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Terwilleger Jr. of Sanford.

John Charles Aiken, organist, presented nuptial selections and accompanied soloist Mrs. Rick Steele.

Given in marriage by her mother, the bride chose for her vows her mother's wedding gown. Fashioned of candlelight embroidered Japanese silk, the fitted bodice was designed with a Mandarin collar and long tapered sleeves. A panel of Japanese embroidery embellished the full taffeta skirt which cascaded into a graceful cathedral train.

Her fingertip veil of imported silk illusion was attached to a narrow band headpiece. She carried a formal cascade of orchids and white daisies.

Attending their sister were Robin Elise Cornell, maid of honor, Sanford; and Mrs. Jonathan D. Ohlman, matron of honor, Lexington, Ky.

Their gowns, reflecting the old-fashioned silhouette, featured candlelight blouses with ruffled jabots and ruffles at the wrists. Their floor-length emerald green skirts were caught at the back with a bow. Each carried a bouquet of holly berries and snowflake mums and wore sprigs of holly berries in their hair.

Bridesmaids were Betsy Lee Nies, Maitland; Darcy Stuart Robinson, West Palm Beach; and Sandra Leigh Mize, Sanford. Their gowns were identical to the honor attendant's and their flowers were similar.

William Alva Terwilleger, Sanford, served his brother as best man. James Brock Terwilleger Jr., Sanford, nephew of the bridegroom, lit the candles. Groomsmen were James Brock Terwilleger, the bridegroom's brother; Richard Alan Moreland and John Carson Tucker, cousin of the bride, all of Sanford; and Dr. John Edward Terwilleger, the bridegroom's brother, Arlington, Va.; and James Turner Cullis, Sarasota.

MRS. DAVID ALAN TERWILLEGER

Nancy Elise Terwilleger, niece of the bridegroom, Sanford, was the flower girl.

Following a reception at the Sanora Clubhouse, Sanford, the newlyweds departed on a wedding trip to Beech Mountain, Boone, N.C.

Mr. and Mrs. Terwilleger are making their home in Sanford. The bridegroom is a civil engineer for Crom Corporation, Gainesville.

Natural Mom Has Rights Too

DEAR ABBY: I married a divorced man who has custody of his two sons. I also have two sons from a former marriage who live with us.

The problem is that my husband's ex-wife has been making a habit of sending lavish Christmas gifts to her sons and totally ignoring my sons. When my boys see the expensive gifts their stepbrothers get, they feel very hurt and left out. This woman was told last year how bad my children felt, but apparently she doesn't care, or she enjoys hurting them.

Abby, am I out of line to demand that either all the children in my household or none receive gifts? Please print your opinion. She reads your column.

NO NAME, PLEASE

DEAR NO NAME: The woman cannot be faulted for sending her sons lavish Christmas gifts. And to expect her to treat your sons with equal generosity is unreasonable. However, modest Christmas gifts for your children would seem in order.

DEAR ABBY: The letter from "Waiting Patiently," who couldn't convince her fiancé to have sex with her before their marriage, reminded me of my first husband. He refused to have sex with me until our wedding night. Although I was not a virgin, I always believed that love and total commitment — not the marriage ceremony — should be the prerequisites for sex. But I did what you advised "Waiting Patiently" to do — I thanked my lucky stars that my fiancé respected me enough to wait for our wedding night.

Well, there was no sex on our wedding night either. That's when he broke down and admitted that he was gay. I never suspected it.

I am not saying that all men who want to wait until after marriage for sex are gay. I'm sure most of them are straight, but I think a woman (as well as a man) has the right to know all the facts about her intended's sexual preference.

I am not trying to sell premarital sex, Abby. I feel that sex should not take place until a sincere commitment has been made, and to me, an engagement with intentions to wed is the ultimate commitment. The wedding is the confirmation and celebration of that commitment.

PREFERS A PREVIEW

DEAR PREFERS: Well said. I agree. Sex is not for children.

Dear Abby

or experimenters. It's for mature people who regard it as a commitment.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please tell me if "Disturbed and Guilty," who's secretly in love with her brother-in-law, lives in Philadelphia? I am secretly in love with my sister-in-law. Maybe we can work something out.

STILL SINGLE IN SACRAMENTO

Problems? You'll feel better if you get them off your chest. Write to Abby: 12060 Hawthorne Blvd., Suite 5000, Hawthorne, Calif. 90250. For a personal reply, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Simmer Shanks In Wine Sauce

There are less expensive cuts of meats to select when shopping that will help ease the food budget. Many classic recipes are made with such cuts, but they do need longer cooking time than the top-grade meats.

Even an inexperienced cook can prepare wine-braised lamb shanks, for family or for guests. These shanks are very economical.

WINE-BRAISED LAMB SHANKS
1 tablespoon vegetable oil

4 lamb shanks, defrosted
1 1/2 cups thinly sliced carrots
1 cup chopped onion
1 clove garlic, minced
1 cup dry white wine
1 chicken bouillon cube
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons tomato paste

Evening Herald, Sanford, Fl. Wednesday, Jan. 13, 1982-3B

In large, heavy kettle, heat oil; brown shanks on all sides. Drain off all but 2 tablespoons fat; saute carrots, onion and garlic until onion is tender.

Add wine, bouillon cube, salt and pepper, bring to boiling. Cover. Reduce heat, simmer 1 1/2 hours.

Stir in tomato paste. Simmer 30 minutes longer or until shanks are tender. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 4 servings.

Tasty Fowl Magic

Chicken can be prepared in an infinite variety of ways if the cook isn't "chicken" to try something new. Opening the oven to a new chicken recipe can be as magical as pulling a rabbit out of the hat, if there's a special ingredient involved.

Actually, chicken has had a mystical aura around it for hundreds of years. In the sixteenth century a cooked chicken was a symbol of abundance and plenty. During this time, King Henri IV of France reputedly said that he wished there would be no peasant in all his kingdom who was too poor to have a chicken in his pot every Sunday.

Today King Henri's wish has been realized in a way. Poultry is one of the most reasonably priced, high quality protein meats available. Improved industrialization has brought a heavier bird to market during the last ten years than in years before. This new technology has reduced labor costs, allowing chicken to remain affordable in these inflation-ridden days.

The recipe offered below from the Kraft Kitchens lauds the magic ingredient of grated parmesan cheese with chicken for a succulent, crunchy-coated dish called Oven-Fried Chicken Parmesan.

Using a familiar ingredient in an unfamiliar way is the trick to this magical recipe. Parmesan is one of the best known of all Italian cheeses but not often associated with oven-fried dishes like the one with chicken below. Rather, this sharp, zesty cheese is commonly known as a kitchen must for soups, pastas, salads and stews.

Kraft is celebrating the first few months of the new year by sharing cooking tips with consumers in a First Quarter Promotion called "Cook Up Some Magic." A dream vacation to the Magic Kingdom of Walt Disney World in Orlando is being offered through various women's interest magazines and in grocery stores from January through April.

Join the celebration and try a little magic in your cooking.

OVEN-FRIED CHICKEN PARMESAN
1/4 cup (2 oz.) Kraft grated parmesan cheese
1/4 cup flour
1 teaspoon paprika
1/2 teaspoon salt
dash of pepper
2 1/2 to 3-lb. broiler-frier, cut up

1 egg, slightly beaten
1 tablespoon milk
1/4 cup squeeze Parlay margarine

Combine cheese, flour and seasonings. Dip chicken in combined egg and milk; coat with cheese mixture. Place in baking dish; pour margarine over chicken. Bake at 350 degrees, 1 hour or until tender. 3 to 4 servings.

Budget Steaks

The secret to successfully cooking less costly steaks, such as those cut from the chuck and top round, is to marinate them before broiling in a mixture containing an acid food such as lemon juice or vinegar. The marinade not only tenderizes, it also provides many possibilities for flavor variety.

For tender, juicy results, these steaks should be cooked at a moderate temperature only to rare or medium doneness. Top round steaks, cut at least an inch thick, should be carved into thin slices diagonally across the grain.

Easy Party Plan

By GAYNOR MADDOX

Special to the Herald
 Entertaining requires new techniques today because so many women are working outside the home. The emphasis is on preparing as much of the meal as possible during the days before the party.

A new book on these techniques is "Cook It Now, Serve It Later" by Maurice Moore-Betty (Bobbs-Merrill, $14.95).

He suggests a menu featuring eggplant caviar with french bread, chicken cacciatore and blueberry grunt.

Three days in advance, buy everything except the chicken, blueberries and bread.

Two days in advance, buy the chicken and blueberries. Also, prepare the eggplant caviar and refrigerate.

One day in advance, prepare the chicken cacciatore and refrigerate. Also, make the crumb topping for the blueberry grunt and set the table.

On party day, all you have to do is to buy the bread, finish the blueberry grunt, arrange the eggplant caviar on a serving plate with french bread, reheat the chicken and prepare the beverages.

Here are the recipes:

EGGPLANT CAVIAR: Salt eggplant halves and let stand for an hour. Rinse. Bake, cut side down, until tender. Cool. Scoop out pulp; chop and combine with onion, garlic, lemon and oil. Chill. Bring to room temperature. Serve as an appetizer with French bread.

CHICKEN CACCIATORE: Brown chicken parts and bake until tender with sauteed onions and garlic, tomatoes, bay leaf, salt and oregano. Refrigerate. When ready to serve, reheat with sauteed strips of green pepper.

BLUEBERRY GRUNT: Prepare a simple crumb topping of flour, butter and brown sugar. Sprinkle over blueberries in an au gratin dish. Bake until the berries are tender.

Moore-Betty's expertly planned menus and preparation schedules will show you how to save time and avoid the last-minute anxiety of entertaining. In addition, he dispenses helpful tips on such topics as setting an attractive table and selecting the right wine.

Meat Grading Change?

The next time you buy meat to feed your family or your guests, will you be getting as good a cut as you expect?

You will if a group of congressmen, consumers and restaurateurs are successful in combating changes to the U.S. Department of Agriculture's beef grading system.

The USDA's grading system is based on age and the amount of fat marbling. Younger beef with more fat marbling is considered more palatable and is given a higher grade, starting with Prime, then Choice, Good Standard and on down.

The proposal is to lower standards so that Prime would include beef which has less marbling and was formerly graded Choice. Choice would include some beef with slight marbling which was formerly graded Good or not graded at all.

What do you think of the proposed changes? Let your representatives in Washington know before it is too late.

Sugar Association Leader: 'It's Time For Industry To Fight Back'

Sugar, over the past decade, has been the victim of a vicious and contrived hoax that the industry can no longer tolerate, the president of The Sugar Association told an industry meeting today. Sugar is a safe and useful food that has been unfairly maligned by fad food and diet promoters and self-appointed consumerists, J.R. (Jack)

O'Connell told the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Association at its 100th anniversary meeting.

"It's time for the industry to fight back," O'Connell said. O'Connell called on the industry to "challenge our critics to prove their charges or face the consequences in both the courts of public opinion and law."

"We can win the battle of public opinion because we are right and we have the scientific community to back us up," he said. "Over the years we in the sugar industry have been confronted with every crackpot lottering on the scientific fringe," O'Connell said.

Nutrition has become a fashionably sensational subject, he said, and so nutrition information has fallen prey particularly to the excesses of show business.

"Nutrition information is today's snake oil of yesteryear," O'Connell said. "The nutrition exploiters have discovered a midas-like truth that it is equally as easy to bilk the modestly educated as it is the ignorant. Nutrition exploitation is a middle-class menace."

Television talk shows that give diet-book authors the opportunity to preach nutritional nonsense contribute to the problem, O'Connell said. Even "TV Guide" in a recent article deplored this type of over-exposure. But most of the press, forced to compete, has fallen into the trap.

"When the historians of the future open our time capsules and inspect the nutritional product of this dark age of journalism, they will be incredulous, for not only have the media been unable to cope with the scientific facts, they will be seen as having comforted and abetted the exploiters," O'Connell said.

Confronted with an onslaught of misinformation, The Sugar Association over the years has armed itself with the scientific facts concerning sugar's role in nutrition and health and is ready to answer any critic, he said.

The Association relies on sugar's governmentally established GRAS (Generally Recognized as Safe) status, rating that indicates that sugar, as currently consumed in the U.S., is safe and is not implicated with the death-dealing diseases. However, sugar does contribute to the multifactorial problem of tooth decay, he added.

The sugar industry established its credibility by substantiating its every message, O'Connell said. "By building its scientific information base, it was able to satisfy the scientific community—including government officials—of its motives. We now have the body of knowledge, we have the support of the scientific community, we have the support of our allies. We have earned the right to speak out, to be heard and to be understood."

Progress is being made and the sugar industry's message is getting through to the public, O'Connell said, citing a recent book by "Two of the great quack fighters in America," Dr. Victor Herbert and Dr. Stephen Barrett. The book, "Vitamins and Health Foods: The Great American Hustle," lists 17 tips to help the reader identify a quack. Tip Number 12 states, "He (a quack) warns that sugar is a deadly poison."

The sugar hoax can be dispatched through a program of counter-punching, O'Connell asserted.

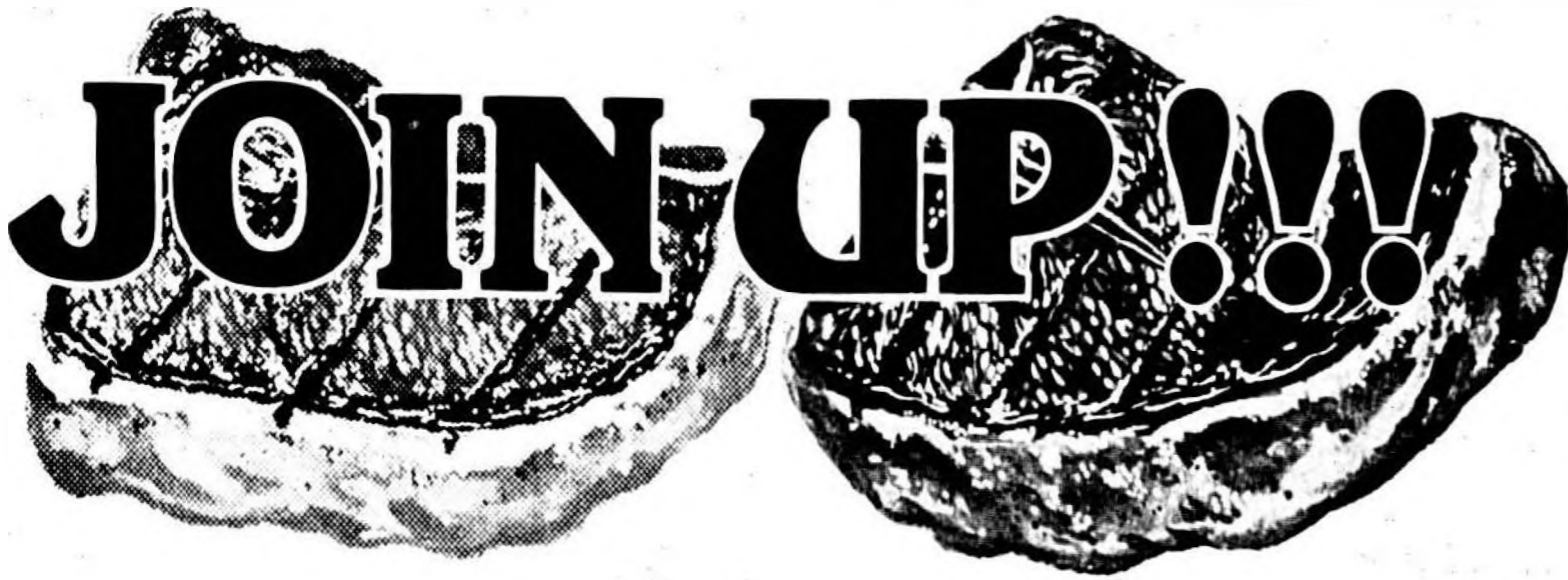

"We must establish the story of sugar's safety with every ally who can help us."

"We must speak out in support of sugar at every opportunity and against every pseudo-scientist who seeks to discredit us."

"We must urge the scientific community to speak out, to step forward and take charge in the vital area of nutrition information."

O'Connell pledged that the Association would be aggressive and visible in bringing the scientific facts about sugar to the public's attention. "We want our enemies to hear footsteps when they unload their lies on the public."

"Probably no more vital mission exists in the food industry today than to assure the consuming public and those responsible to it that sugar is safe," O'Connell said. "In addition to its many applications in the area of food technology, sugar is the catalyst that encourages eating, the ingredient that makes so many necessary foods palatable and therefore consumable. Eating beyond its essentiality, remains one of the great pleasures of life. This is a magnificent contribution."

Happy Chinese New Year!

Greet Year Of Dog With Fabulous Oriental Feast

New Year's Dinner

In Old China was

a sumptuous feast

sure to be remembered. To create a

memorable

Oriental meal in your kitchen, try

Dynasty Beef on

Green Cabbage

...a delicious way

to greet the

Chinese year, 4680

The Year of the Dog, which starts Jan. 25, follows the tradition of naming the years after constellations of the Zodiac in 12-year cycles. In order after the Dog are the constellations of Boar, Rat, Ox, Tiger, Rabbit, Dragon, Serpent, Horse, Ram, Monkey and Rooster.

People born in the Year of the Dog are said to be loyal, devoted, and moral — and intelligent and prosperous. Dog people, La Choy Oriental lore experts say, also can be defensive, critical and stubborn but they make good leaders and inspire confidence.

According to the Chinese moon calendar, Jan. 25 marks the beginning of the year 4680 and the Year of the Dog.

Chinese New Year is the biggest holiday in the Chinese Calendar, celebrated with feasts, fireworks, gift-giving and visiting.

To create an American version of a Chinese New Year feast, serve an Oriental dinner that includes Dynasty Beef on Green Cabbage. This dish includes beef, green cabbage, water chestnuts, green onions and fresh ginger, topped with a chicken-flavored sauce. Pea-Pod Cucumber Salad is a refreshingly different accompaniment to the entree.

Cherry tomatoes for garnish

Combine meat, water chestnuts, green onions and ginger. Stir in egg, 1 1/4 teaspoons cornstarch, sugar, salt, pepper and sherry; mix gently but thoroughly. Divide mixture into four parts; shape each part into a large meatball.

Heat oil in deep fryer or wok to 375 degrees. Using wire basket or strainer, lower meatballs into hot oil; deep fry until golden (about five minutes). Drain on paper towels. Pour off oil, straining and reserving for another use.

Cut cabbage into 8 sections. Heat 2 tablespoons oil in large skillet or wok over medium high heat. Add cabbage and cook, stirring constantly, until softened. Transfer to large casserole, lining bottom and sides. Place meatballs on cabbage. Pour hot chicken broth over the meatballs. Simmer covered, about one hour or until meat is thoroughly cooked. Using slotted spoon, arrange cabbage on serving platter; place meatballs on top. Blend remaining cornstarch and cold chicken broth; add to liquid remaining in casserole. Cook and stir over low heat until thickened. Pour sauce over meatballs, and garnish with cherry tomatoes. Serve immediately.

Noodles Integral To Chinese Meals

Noodles are integral to Chinese meals and, according to legend, it was Marco Polo who introduced noodles to Mediterranean cooking after his travels to the East.

Here is an Americanized version of Marco Polo Lo Mein to serve in celebration of the Chinese New Year of 4680, which begins on Jan. 25 this year.

The Chinese celebrate the new year with religious services, costumes and street parades and an elaborate dinner that includes delicacies such as dumplings, gingery fish and quick-fried vegetables, to name a few of the more than 20 dishes generally served.

MARCO POLO LO MEIN

- 4 chicken cutlets (about 1/4 pound)
 - 1 medium red or green pepper
 - 1 1/2 stalks celery
 - 1 clove garlic, minced
 - 2 tablespoons vegetable oil
 - 1 bunch scallions, coarsely chopped
 - 1 cup sliced mushrooms
 - 1 tablespoon cornstarch
 - 2 tablespoons soy sauce
 - 2 tablespoons water (or sherry)
 - 1/4 pound thin spaghetti, cooked and drained
 - 1/2 cup old world-style spaghetti sauce
 - 1/2 teaspoon sesame oil (optional)
- Slice chicken and pepper into 1/4-inch strips; cut celery into 1/4-inch slices.

In large skillet or wok, stir-fry chicken and garlic in oil for 5 to 7 minutes or until chicken is done. Remove chicken and set aside. Add vegetables to wok and stir-fry about 5 minutes or until almost tender.

In small bowl, dissolve cornstarch in soy sauce and water or sherry. Combine chicken and soy sauce mixture with vegetables in wok. Add spaghetti and spaghetti sauce; heat through, about 5 minutes.

Sprinkle with sesame oil and serve immediately. This kitchen-tested recipe makes about 4 servings.

ORIENTAL HOT POT

- 1 1/4 pounds flank steak or other lean beef
- 3 cans (13 1/2 fluid ounces each) beef broth diluted with 3 cans water
- 2-3 cup old world-style spaghetti sauce
- 1-3 cup dry sherry, optional
- 3 tablespoons soy sauce
- 1 tablespoon brown sugar
- 2 teaspoons finely minced fresh ginger
- 1 small clove garlic, pressed
- 2 cups (about 6 ounces) sliced mushrooms
- 2 cups (about 5 ounces) broccoli florets
- 1 can (8 ounces) sliced water chestnuts, drained
- 1 package (6 ounces) frozen Chinese snow pea pods, thawed
- 1 jar (4 ounces) sliced pimientos, drained
- 2 large scallions, thinly sliced
- 1/4 pound thin spaghetti, cooked al dente and drained

Slice beef lengthwise into strips about 3 inches wide. (For easy slicing, wrap meat and freeze until firm to the touch, about 3 hours.) Slice strips crosswise into 1/4-inch thick pieces and set aside.

To large stockpot, add broth, spaghetti sauce, sherry, soy sauce, sugar, ginger and garlic. Bring to a vigorous boil. Add vegetables and spaghetti.

Continue boiling over high heat until vegetables are almost tender, about 5 minutes. Remove vegetables and spaghetti from stock and place in a large serving bowl; cover and set aside.

Add meat to boiling stock; stir to separate slices. Boil over high heat until just cooked through, about 2 minutes. Add meat and stock to bowl with vegetables and spaghetti. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 4 servings.

FOR YOUR VALENTINE...

Old-Fashioned Treats With New Fangled Ease

The giving of sweets to the sweet has long been a Valentine's Day tradition. Since early days when couples were matched by lottery in a ritual held in mid-February of each year, gifts have been exchanged to symbolize one's affection for another. We now choose our own match, but come Feb. 14, we still give gifts, especially of candy.

Since homemade gifts seem to say "I Love You" more sincerely than any others, this year instead of stopping at the nearest candy shop, do as your grandmother did, and head for the kitchen.

Fortunately, today you can get that old-fashioned, temptingly rich goodness that took hours of grandmother's time with only minutes of effort. The secret is to use quality convenience products from the supermarket. One of the best for cooking, baking and candymaking is marshmallow creme, which gives smooth creaminess to fudge, fondant and other goodies. With simple ingredients such as evaporated milk, chocolate pieces, chopped nuts—you can create a variety of confections for your Love on Valentine's Day.

No matter what type of candy your sweetheart craves, there's a delicious recipe sure to satisfy. Fantasy Fudge is a traditional favorite all year round, but for Valentine's Day, make Sweetheart Fantasy Fudge, a rich white chocolate fudge garnished with heart-red maraschino cherries.

Or if white chocolate is hard to find, 12 oz. of butterscotch chips or peanut butter chips can be used in its place to create a lighter look and a new taste treat. Old-fashioned divinity is updated with marshmallow creme, for a recipe that takes only minutes and a few ingredients to prepare. The critical stage in the recipe is beating the divinity mixture, so be sure to watch it carefully according to instructions, for best results.

Elegant, hand-dipped chocolates are easy when they are Fondant Fancies, marshmallow creme confections dipped in melted chocolate pieces. Keep them chilled until serving time so that the chocolate stays firm. For almond lovers, make a variety of heart shapes with an easy Marzipan recipe requiring no hard-to-find or costly ingredients.

Whether you give these confections as a special gift to the one you love, or use them as the sweet finale to an intimate dinner for two, they're sure to improve Cupid's aim!

MARZIPAN

1-3rd cup margarine
1 7-oz. jar marshmallow creme
1 teaspoon almond extract
4 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
Food coloring
Cream margarine. Add marshmallow creme and extract, mixing with electric mixer or wire whisk until well blended. Gradually add 2½ cups sugar, mixing well after each addition. Knead in remaining sugar. Divide mixture as desired; tint with food coloring as desired. Knead in additional sugar if mixture becomes sticky. Form into heart shapes; let stand overnight until dry.

MARSHMALLOW CREME DIVINITY

¼ cups sugar
1-3rd cup water
¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
1 7-oz. jar marshmallow creme

1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup chopped pecans
Place sugar, water and cream of tartar in heavy 1-quart saucepan. Do not stir. Boil over high heat, without stirring, until candy reaches 248 degrees. Very gradually add hot sugar syrup to marshmallow creme in 1½-quart bowl, mixing at lowest speed on electric mixer. Add vanilla; continue mixing at lowest speed until mixture begins to lose its gloss, approximately 5 minutes, and hold shape when dropped from spoon. Stir in nuts. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto wax paper. Cool. Store in covered container. 2 dozen

SWEETHEART FANTASY FUDGE

3 cups sugar
¾ cup margarine
2-3rd cup (5 1-3rd fl. oz. can) evaporated milk
12 oz. white chocolate
1 7-oz. jar marshmallow creme
1 cup chopped nuts
1 teaspoon vanilla Maraschino cherries
Combine sugar, margarine and milk in heavy 2½-quart saucepan; bring to full rolling boil, stirring constantly. Boil 5 minutes over medium heat or until candy thermometer reaches 238 degrees, stirring constantly to prevent scorching. Remove from heat; stir in chocolate until melted. Add marshmallow creme, nuts and vanilla; beat until well blended. Pour into greased 13x9-inch pan. Garnish with maraschino cherries. Cool at room temperature; cut into squares.
Variation: Substitute one 12-oz. pkg. butterscotch or peanut butter pieces for white chocolate.

FONDANT FANCIES

1 cup marshmallow creme
1-3rd cup margarine
¼ teaspoon vanilla
¼ teaspoon salt
3 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
1 6-oz. pkg. semi-sweet chocolate pieces, melted

Combine marshmallow creme, margarine, vanilla and salt, mixing with electric mixer or wire whisk until well blended. Gradually add sugar, mixing well after each addition. Shape into 1-inch balls; chill. Coat balls by rolling in melted chocolate. Lift out with fork; scrape off excess chocolate. Place on wax paper-lined cookie sheet; chill several hours. 2½ to 3 dozen.

FANTASY FUDGE

3 cups sugar
¾ cup margarine
2-3rd cup (5 1-3rd fl. oz. can) evaporated milk
1 12-oz. pkg. semi-sweet chocolate pieces
1 7-oz. jar marshmallow creme
1 cup chopped nuts
1 teaspoon vanilla
Combine sugar, margarine and milk in a heavy 2½-quart saucepan; bring to rolling boil, stirring constantly. Have A Fun Taffy Pull

Winter months in some households always means a few evening sessions of making taffy. This is fun and those "working" the taffy will be giggling through-out, trying to control the warm, stretchy "rope."

Here is the simple recipe that will please taffy lovers.

BROWNSUGAR TAFFY

2 cups (16 ounces) liquid brown sugar
2 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon vinegar

Combine all ingredients in a large (2-quart) saucepan. Bring mixture to a boil and cook at a boil to 260 degrees on a candy thermometer or until a small amount when dropped into cold water forms a hard ball. Pour mixture into a buttered, 13-by-9-inch pan. Cool until warm enough to handle.

Butter hands well. Turn in sides of candy toward center and shape mixture into a long roll. Stretch out to 24 inches. Fold over and stretch again. Repeat until candy becomes golden in color, opaque, firm and elastic. (This will require from 5 to 20 minutes).

Have ready a surface dusted with confectioners' sugar or cornstarch. Form candy into a ball in your hands and press it into a point at the fingertip end. Grasping the narrow point in one hand, pull it away from the rest of the ball into a long rope, about 1-inch thick. Let the rope fall out onto the dusted board like a snake.

Cut it into the size you prefer with well-buttered shears. Let cool. Wrap pieces in foil or plastic wrap. Store in tightly covered container. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 1 pound of taffy.

1. Bring ingredients to boil in large saucepan.

2. Butter hands. Fold and stretch mixture.

3. Cut taffy and wrap in foil or plastic.

Exercise Good For Acute Back Pain

DEAR DR. LAMB — About four months ago I had severe back pain. My doctor diagnosed it as "acute muscular spasms of the lower lumbar area." He prescribed a muscle relaxant and sonic treatments. This was a very painful condition and I spent many nights sitting hot tubs of water and pacing the floor. The pain has left my back but I still suffer constant mild pain in the right thigh. Would you please comment on this condition?

DEAR READER

Backaches are one of man's most frequent complaints. Some are caused by ruptured disks that are placed like small pillows between the vertebrae. The irritation associated with the ruptured disk causes muscle spasm.

Some backaches are caused by things inside the abdomen rather than anything related to the spine or the muscles along the spine. So it is quite important to have a doctor examine you to make the proper diagnosis before you start any form of self treatment.

In most instances the muscle spasm is caused by a weak back in a person who does not get enough regular exercise of the trunk muscles. In these cases a series of regular exercises designed to strengthen the trunk muscles will do a lot to relieve and prevent back pains.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 13-10, Backache and What to Do About It, which describes in more detail the exercises that you can do. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper.

P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

Exercises for back problems include sit-ups for the upper abdomen. But if you want to strengthen the lower abdomen, and you should, you need to do leg lifts. These can be harmful if you have an acute condition or if you don't do them right.

Do them with your knees bent as you lift your feet off the floor. That will avoid jerking or overloading the muscles attached to the front of your spine and upper thighs. Voluntary contractions of abdominal muscles help. So do bumps, grinds and exercises to strengthen the long muscles along the spine.

Properly fitting furniture, sitting properly and good posture are all important aspects of good program. So is weight control if you are overweight.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I listened to a discussion of "Herpes V.D." on TV. Recently I got herpes zoster which my physician said is caused by a chicken pox virus which lies dormant. It followed the 5th cranial nerve of my brain. I had a hemorrhage in my left ear, scabs between my teeth, left side of my face and to just above my ear on the left side. He said this condition was called shingles by lay people but in medical terminology it is herpes. The dictionary says herpes simplex is V.D. I'd appreciate your opinion on this. I am a 70-year-old woman and am sure it is not from V.D.

DEAR READER — Herpes simplex is a different virus; it causes cold sores (type I) and genital herpes (type II). Believe your doctor.

Herpes zoster (shingles) is caused by the chicken pox virus, usually still alive in your nerve roots after a childhood episode of chicken pox. That is why it follows the distribution of a nerve as in your case. It can follow whatever nerve is affected.

I do hope my readers learn the distinction between herpes zoster and herpes simplex I and II. There are a lot of people who develop zoster. That is bad enough without thinking it is V.D.

WIN AT BRIDGE

The Polish pair were playing two-way Stayman so North's two diamond response asked for majors and forced to game. Sheehan doubled for a diamond lead so that West opened the eight of diamonds against South's three no-trump.

Rob started his defense by playing the diamond nine. South was in with the jack and led a club to dummy's queen. Sheehan played the eight!

At this stage of the proceedings South could have made six if he had known what Sheehan was up to. All he had to do would be to lead dummy's last club and rise with his king, then drop the ace and jack together and finally guess the heart position. But South was only human. He did lead the club, but played low after East played the 10. West took his jack and led the four of diamonds.

Rob's queen forced declarer's ace and a third club was led. Now East produced the ace and cashed his last three diamonds to set a contract that made easily when Great Britain held the North and South hands.

(NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

By Oswald Jacoby and Allan Sontag

In today's hand we see Rob Sheehan of the British team putting up an amazingly brilliant defense to beat a three no-trump contract by Poland.

She Teaches Modern Dough Techniques

By LOU CHILDERS
Herald Correspondent

Can you imagine being a high school junior — and a teacher? This week's special cook is both. Carol Sini of Geneva is a junior at Oviedo High School and she teaches the art of making different type doughs with a food processor.

Carol made a television appearance on the Channel 9 News last week on the Carole Nelson Show to demonstrate bread making in a food processor, and to announce the Bread Workshop held at the Agri-Center Auditorium in Sanford Monday.

Carol is a 4-H member who loves giving the demonstrations using the most modern technique for making dough. The food processor eliminates the tiring step of dough preparation — the kneading.

Carol has developed a recipe book which was made available to all who attended the Bread Workshop. Some of her recipes featured this week, such as pizza dough and bread sticks, have such excellent instructions, they should enable the novice cooks to step up to the ranks of first class bakers.

It is refreshing to see Carol in action. She is a young lady already excelling in the culinary arts, and willing to share her talents and experience with others.

No doubt, Carol's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sini, and her brother, Tony, are proud of her efforts in 4-H, and Carol says, "They are always glad to eat the goodies I bake!"

At the Agri-Center food demonstration, attended by over 60 people, Carol stressed one important factor in making bread the processor way: make sure your processor kneads breads, because some do not.

During the past summer and fall, Carol has been experimenting with recipes to adapt them for the food processor. Some recipes were simple to change, but others took up to ten tries before the ingredients were right.

Last summer, after three years in 4-H as a member of the Geneva Clovers, Carol won the first place trophy at the state competition in the Yeast Bread Demonstrations, using her own cinnamon bread processor recipe.

If you don't own a food processor, it will probably be on your next year's list of things for Santa to bring after you read Carol's easy steps for making the Staff of Life.

There are two methods of handling yeast in the food processor:

(1) The yeast may be mixed with the liquids and added through the chute. This method is used in the cinnamon bread recipe. The liquid can be no hotter than 115 degrees. If the liquid is any hotter, the yeast will be killed.

(2) The yeast can be added to the dry ingredients. Then the liquids added through the chute should not be hotter than 130 degrees. This method is used in most of the recipes. You may use either method in any of the recipes.

Kneading the dough in a processor is done in the following way:

After the dough forms a ball, remove it from the bowl. Divide the dough into two pieces. Break each half into four pieces and press on the steel blade. Process until combined into a ball. Remove the dough; break apart again and repeat the step above. Repeat the process with the other half of the dough. Then shape the two pieces into a loaf or ball to rise.

The dough needs to rise in a warm, draft-free place; a good place is in the oven with the light on. Do not let the dough rise too much before you punch it down. If the cell walls are permitted to stretch too far, they will break. Test the dough by pressing lightly with your fingers near the edge of the dough. If the dent stays, it has risen enough. Punch the dough all around a few times with the fist. This punching action breaks up the large gas pockets and brings a fresh supply of oxygen for the yeast cells to live on.

ITALIAN BREADSTICKS

- 1 pkg. active dry yeast
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 1/4 cups all-purpose flour
- Two-thirds cup very warm water (125-130 degrees)
- 1/4 cup vegetable oil
- 1 egg white
- 1 tablespoon water
- Course salt or sesame seeds

Place yeast, sugar, salt and flour into processor bowl. Turn on processor to mix ingredients. Mix water and oil in a liquid measuring cup. Turn on processor and add the liquid through the chute. Process until the dough forms a ball. Divide dough in half. Knead each half of dough in the processor. Roll each half into a roll. Cut each half into 16 equal pieces. Roll each part into rope, 8 inches long for thick breadsticks, or 10 inches long for thin ones. Place about 1 inch apart on a greased cookie sheet. Brush with oil. Cover; let rise in a warm place about 20 minutes.

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Beat egg white and 1 tablespoon water slightly; brush over breadsticks and sprinkle with salt or sesame seeds. Bake until golden brown, 20 to 25 minutes. Makes 3 dozen.

PIZZA DOUGH

- 2 1/4 cups flour

Kraut Sandwiches

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

Pork is reasonably priced at this time and using leftover pork to make sandwiches stretches the food budget even more.

Put together that perfect combination of draut, apples and sliced pork on a hard roll. Top with hot gravy and serve with milk and pineapple upside-down cake for a nutritional meal. Another kraut specialty is a hero sandwich that is perfect for feeding TV sports viewers.

PORK-APPLE-KRAUT SANDWICH

- 1 1/3 cups rinsed and drained sauerkraut
 - 2 tablespoons chopped onion
 - 1 tablespoon chopped pimiento
 - 8 medium-thick slices hot roast pork
 - 4 large hard rolls, cut in half
 - 8 unpared apple wedges
 - 1 cup hot pork gravy
- In a small bowl, mix together sauerkraut, onion and pimiento. Arrange on roll bottoms. Arrange pork slices on other roll halves. Add apple wedges for garnish. Top with gravy. Serve at once. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 4 servings.

KRAUTHERJES

- 2 cups rinsed and well-drained sauerkraut
 - Mayonnaise
 - 1/2 pound sliced bacon
 - 6 hero rolls, 7-inches long, split
 - 10 ounces sliced liverwurst
 - 1 medium onion, sliced
 - Sweet pickle slices
 - Pickles, onions
- Combine kraut and 1/3rd cup mayonnaise; toss lightly and chill. Fry bacon until crisp; drain on paper towels. Spread top and bottom halves of rolls with mayonnaise. On bottom halves of rolls, layer kraut mixture, bacon, liverwurst and onion. Cover with tops of rolls. Secure heroes with picks. Garnish with pickles and onions. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 6 servings.

Place flour, sugar, salt, and yeast in processor bowl. Turn on processor to mix dry ingredients. Combine the water and egg in a liquid measuring cup. Turn on processor and add the liquid through the chute. Process until dough forms a ball. Divide the dough in half and knead in the processor. Combine the halves and put in a lightly oiled bowl; let rise in a warm place until double in bulk, about 1 hour. (Dough can be chilled at this point to be rolled out later; let stand ten minutes before rolling.)

Punch dough down. Roll out the dough to fit the pizza pan. Press into a lightly greased pan. Lightly oil the top of the dough. Bake immediately for a thin crust or let rise in a warm place for 20 minutes for a thick crust. Bake at 450 degrees until top just starts to brown. Remove from oven; top with your favorite pizza sauce and toppings. Return to oven at 450 degrees and bake until cheese is melted. Makes 1 pizza.

CINNAMON BREAD

- 1 cup warm water or milk (105 to 115 degrees)
- 1 pkg. active dry yeast
- 1 1/2 tablespoons sugar
- 3 cups all-purpose or bread flour
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- Cinnamon sugar
- 1/2 cup raisins

Oil

Combine warm water or milk, yeast and sugar in a liquid measuring cup and set aside. Place the flour and salt in the bowl of the processor. Turn on the processor and add the yeast mixture through the chute. Process until the dough forms a ball. Divide the dough in half. Break one half into 4 pieces. Press the pieces on the steel blade of the processor. Process into a ball. Break apart again and repeat the process adding 1/4 cup raisins. Repeat with other half of dough. Combine the two kneaded portions and place in an oiled bowl; let rise in a warm place until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour. Punch down the dough and roll out into a rectangle about 9 x 18 inches long. Sprinkle with cinnamon sugar. Starting at the 9-inch side, roll the dough. Pinch the seam to prevent unrolling. Place in a greased 9 x 5 inch loaf pan. Cover and let rise in a warm place, about 1 hour. Bake in a 425 degree oven for 25 to 30 minutes, until brown. Makes 1 loaf.

WHITE BREAD: Can be made with this recipe by omitting the cinnamon sugar and the raisins. You do not need to roll the dough out. Just form a loaf shape and place in the loaf pan.

WHOLE WHEAT AND RYE BREAD Can be made by substituting half of the white flour with whole wheat or rye flour.

Microwave Magic

Low Calorie (25) Minestrone Is A Smart Way To Start A Meal

Many of you are probably the proud owner of a new microwave and if you are like most of the people I have talked to, you are a little hesitant about using it for anything besides heating water and baking a potato.

This will pass if you just keep reading the guide book that comes with your microwave; keep using it, and get some class instructions.

Most manufacturers offer free classes to their purchasers and of course, there are classes at Seminole Community College and in Orange County at various adult education centers.

The basic components of all microwave ovens are the same. Each manufacturer has its own way of making the parts, but they are identical in function.

All microwave ovens have a source of electrical power. The heart of the microwave oven is the magnetron tube. This device changes the electrical energy into microwave energy. The microwaves are channeled through a metal tube called a wave guide into the oven cavity. Microwaves are straight lines like light. A fan or stirrer distributes them around the inside of the oven. The microwaves strike the stirrer, are reflected against the metal surfaces of the oven cavity and are reflected back to the food from all sides.

A few manufacturers accomplish this by using a carousel or turntable at the bottom of the oven, thus, the food, rather than the fan rotates.

The oven cavity in all microwaves are a metal box. In order for the microwave to reach the bottom of foods being cooked, the food must be held off the bottom of the oven. Usually a glass shelf is used for this. It may be a removable glass tray, or it may be built in. The size of the microwave determines the output wattage. The smaller oven may be 450 watts to the larger ovens having 650-700 watts.

All microwave also have control systems, which have off and on switches, power settings, times, etc. The simpler the control system, the less expensive the oven, the easier it is to operate, and the more you have to do to get results you want. Variable power settings make it possible to cook foods that formerly were over cooked or toughened with full microwave power.

Power levels may be set mechanically or by touching an electronic pad. The results are the same. Other features of microwave ovens are temperature probe, browning elements or moisture auto sensor.

The cost of a microwave oven represents a considerable investment for most people. Used to its fullest capacity, it can save time, effort and electricity, and open new areas of cooking. Used only to reheat stale rolls or to defrost foods, it can be a very expensive gadget.

Learning to cook with a microwave oven requires time and effort, just as learning any new method of doing something. If you enjoy a new challenge, learning to microcook will be fun; if you resist change, or like things as they are, your microwave will have limited use. It's all up to you.

One of my New Year's resolutions was to eat more sensibly. So, for the next few weeks the microwave recipes are going to be calorie conscientious.

Low calorie Minestrone is a smart way to start a meal. It takes the edge off your appetite and helps to make you feel full.

Florentine Manicotti is a favorite of Eileen Brennan's family. The talented actress, left, claims her two young sons keep her in line by helping to cook creative, nutritious, vegetarian meals.

Manicotti Favorite Of Celebrity

If asked about her favorite foods, Eileen Brennan would probably respond enthusiastically, "I enjoy stuffing myself with baked potatoes and chocolate!"

Best known for her role as a tough army sergeant in the "Private Benjamin" film and TV series, the talented actress claims her two young sons keep her in line by helping to cook creative, nutritious, vegetarian meals.

"The boys are my first priority," explains Eileen, "and I enjoy being home with them — whether it means preparing meals together or just mingling with the street people."

Now divorced, Miss Brennan maintains a rich family life for her two sons Patrick, 8 and Sam, 9. The Brennans live in a bright orange Victorian house along with half a dozen dogs and cats in Venice, California.

Eileen comments, "Living in Venice allows the boys to see 'real people' and do ordinary things like cooking and growing a vegetable garden."

"The boys are not only very protective of my private life, but they are also a big help in the kitchen," comments the proud mother. Florentine Manicotti is typical of the vegetarian meals concocted by the Brennan family.

In keeping with her interest in family life, Eileen Brennan's latest television role is that of a zany aunt who escorts a young Vietnamese boy to Disney World. The program, entitled "Kraft Salutes Walt Disney World's 10th Anniversary", and will air Jan. 21 from 8-9 Eastern Time on the CBS Television Network.

Also featured in the TV Special are such celebrities as Dean Jones, Michele Lee, Ricky Schroder, Dana Plato, John Schneider, Michael Keaton and Larry Gatlin and the Gatlin Brothers Band.

"Performing in television specials is difficult, but it teaches a person grace under pressure," claims Eileen Brennan. It appears that the actress has mastered that grace — whether it is as a mother cooking vegetarian meals or as an actress.

Why not try out the delicious vegetarian dish suggested below and see how your family's tastebuds compare with those of the Brennans?
