Wise City Governments Keep Voters Informed On Improvements

Wise city governments keep the voters informed as to what they are doing, says the American Public Works Association.

If a street has to be ripped up, a number of cities now erect signs telling why it is necessary, and for how long.

Some even go further. One city sends passengers with mimeographed notes to each family or business along the torn-up street. Another city sends an announcement with the water bill to tell what public improvements are being planned.

People do not mind inconvenience if they know that it is in a good cause. But they do properly resent finding a street torn up unexpectedly.

Citizens are entitled to be told what is going on—while in the planning stage as well as in the stage of being carried out.

Fire Equipment

The early fire last Saturday night, when the home of an insurance man was destroyed, points up the need for new equipment for the Sanford Fire Department.

Firemen, answering the alarm, had their hands completely tied with equipment that was not competent to meet the situation.

The truck, equipped with a tank, held only 200 gallons of water, so little that it would have been hot in the fiery furnace of flames emanating from the burning wood structure.

The Sanford Fire Department was also handicapped because of the fact that the flames had spread to the entire house which was completely involved on their arrival. They were notified too late to accomplish anything toward saving the structure or whatever might have been inside that could have been saved.

Now, modern, up-to-date and competent equipment is needed.

This one home, a frame dwelling, is alone in comparison to some of the structures even in the downtown section of Sanford should they catch fire and threaten the business area or densely populated residential sections.

Board Of Health Says Motherhood Is Safer Now

Motherhood is safer now than ever before, says the Florida State Board of Health. During the past ten years, maternal mortality has decreased in the state approximately 70 per cent.

There were 197 deaths in 1944; a rate of 24.7 per 10,000 live births in 1953 (our latest complete figures), there were 57 deaths at a rate of 6.4 per 10,000 live births, says Dr. R. W. McCann, director of the Bureau of Maternal and Child Health of the State Board of Health.

That is particularly gratifying, he says, because in 1944, Florida had a record of babies born last year, a grand total of 89,128.

The maternal death rate, however, among non-white mothers is almost four times as high as among white mothers. Last year the death rate for white mothers was 8.7 per 10,000 white births as compared to 34.1 for the non-white group.

The Bureau of Maternal and Child Health accounts for the lower death rate among white mothers because they receive more adequate prenatal and post-natal care and most of their babies are born in hospitals.

The "modern" drugs and improved obstetrical techniques have also played an important role in the reduction of maternal deaths.

"Our statistics provide some reasons for the higher death rate among non-white mothers," says Dr. McCann. "In the white group, 97 per cent of the mothers are delivered by physicians and 95 per cent of their babies are delivered in hospitals. In the non-white group, 68 per cent are attended by physicians and only 55 per cent are born in hospitals."

Much of the efforts of the Bureau of Maternal and Child Health, he states, is devoted to encouraging low-cost maternity plans with physicians, hospitals and county health departments. An adequate prenatal and post-natal care plan which includes delivery in a hospital by a physician, within the financial means of low-income families, would do much to reduce the non-white mortality rate, he believes.

"Florida's maternal mortality rate is approximately the same as that of the nation as a whole," says Dr. McCann, "and this represents considerable progress for the state during the past few years."

according to their team's league standing. Syd Herlong is crying. He is again the manager of the Democrats ball team. And next week, his nine muscle bound Congressmen will take the field against an equally decrepit bunch of Republicans. How either team has won a game is more than most Washingtonians can figure. But, it's all for charity. And everyone seems to have a lot of fun—except next day when the Congressmen suffer from sore backs and feet. Usually at this time of year, Syd Herlong is predicting another victory—but this time he is complaining—which is the football's coach's technique. This year Dante Fascell is to be one of his star players—but Syd doesn't know who else will play. So far, he has called four practice sessions—and each time a different crowd has shown up.

Prediction: The game will look like a sand-lot affair—and be just as much fun. (And what better can you say about any ball game?)

Youth Physical Fitness

Vice-president Richard Nixon teased some figures at the President's Conference on Fitness of American Youth which took place last Tuesday at the United States Naval Academy.

However, two questions facing the conference preceded the figures which, in actuality, made them stand out more clearly. The questions were: "Is American Youth in danger of going to pot physically?" and "If so, what's to be done about it?"

It was agreed that if youth has not already gone to pot it is in danger of doing so in this age of gadgetry unless something is done to counteract.

The figures were these: Less than 50 per cent of our boys and girls in high school have physical education. Ninety-one percent of the nation's 150,000 elementary schools have no gymnasiums. Only 1,200 of our 17,000 communities in the United States have full-time recreation leadership.

And that's where we took special note because Sanford and Seminole County does not have a full-time, year-round recreation program for its youngsters... regardless of age.

We have been placing before the people of our community and the officials who head it, that the one way to stop juvenile delinquency before it ever gets started is to provide the facilities and the personnel for a dawn to night program of recreation. Give the children—from the pre-school age to young married folks—something to do—a recreation program for both their health and mind's sake.

We will have to agree with Vice-President Nixon: "We are not a nation of soldiers but we could become one if proper attention is not given to the trend of our time... to make life easy and in so doing reduce the opportunity for normal physical, health-giving exercise."

We're late in even starting such a program now.

thinking he is a human failure.

For the life of me, I couldn't see why, and I told him so. To begin with he was wrong. His job future didn't lie in the past. He hadn't reached his limit of promotion in his field, and his fears that he had gone as far as he could go were strictly premature.

But even if he had at nearly 30 achieved the top job and income of which he was capable, was that such a disaster?

This man owned his own home and his own car. He had kept his family comfortably fed, sheltered and clothed, and all was healthy. He had educated his two children and both had turned out well. He was a cop fighter or a pool-room shark.

By any sensible standard this man was a real success. He had done far better than most men throughout mankind's troubled history.

Many Suffer Middle Age Sickness

NEW YORK (AP)—Curbsome comments of a pavement flake: There is a disease in middle age that cripples more people than pneumonia—or so I believe.

This disease is cancer of the mind. Its symptoms are an unreasoning discontent with life, a feeling of futility that sears the souls of so many people in their middle years.

Recently a man I have known for years came up and spoke with me. In the midst of a casual conversation he suddenly blurted out: "Tell me, what do you do when you know for sure you aren't going to go any further? What has a guy got left?"

My friend was deeply depressed. He was suffering from his first onset of "middle age sickness." No sign of which is that a man sets tired of himself and starts

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERR

SPORTS EXPERT Don Daniel recalls a practical joke that was played on Paul Gallico early in his career. Gallico wrote "The Snow Goose" and a dozen other hits, but when he was a young sports writer, not so many people knew his name. Certainly, Jack Dempsey, then heavyweight champion of the world, hadn't heard it.

So when Gallico announced his intention of invading Dempsey's training camp at Saratoga in 1923 (the champ was getting ready for his fight with Firpo, "The Wild Bull of the Pampas") and boxing a few rounds with the champ to make a headline story, prankish trainers soon were able to convince the Museum Mauler that the visitor was an up-and-coming heavyweight hoping to catch him off-guard andlobber him.

Dempsey could have morted, "Lemon or lime? A muffled yell will be drawn over what happened (oh, so quickly?) to poor Paul when he climbed into that ring!"

World Communists Follow New Line

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—World Communists will now follow a line unheard of in Stalin's day: They'll criticize one another. This could wreck international communism if carried too far.

Until that day comes the criticism can be taken with a grain of salt. It is simply following the program outlined by Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev in his speech revealing the crimes of Stalin.

The purpose is simple: A Communist party in a non-Communist country may gain more mass support by appearing to operate as a nationalistic party instead of, as in Stalin's day, part of a Russian conspiracy.

Since Stalin never let them open their mouths, the problem for the Red leaders everywhere now is how to criticize one another without causing splits or damage.

This was clearly explained—

In Communist doubletalk—by the American Communist party leadership to its central committee two months ago. That was two months after Khrushchev made his speech.

That some self-criticism is the new line for Communist parties everywhere was made plain yesterday in the declaration signed in Moscow by Khrushchev and Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia.

Agreeing to cooperate, they said:

"The two sides have agreed that the foregoing cooperation should be based on complete freedom of will and equality, on friendly criticism and on comradely character of exchange of views on disputes between their parties."

Given some years in the practice of criticism, it is possible that Communist parties will develop internal antagonisms and break off into sects and factions.

If that happens, then all else that President Truman did to try to stop communism may seem insignificant beside his simple decision to give help to Tito when Tito broke away from subservience to Stalin.

Stalin had maintained absolute control of Communist parties everywhere until 1948 when Tito shook loose.

Two years later, when the Red Chinese got control of all China except Formosa, they also assumed some independence, although they played ball with Stalin in their war, after all, leading to a population twice that of Russia, go too far.

Stalin himself must have understood his absolutism would begin to disappear when the Red Chinese got control of China. His treatment of them for 30 years was an on-again-off-again affair. When Tito broke away, he provided the West with the first example of a Red leader who was a thorough Communist but had the nerve to tell Stalin off. If he could be kept alive, he would be an inducement to others to do the same. Truman helped him with American aid. Tito kept his back turned to Russia until Stalin died.

But when Khrushchev and his friends succeeded Stalin, they inherited an ugly fact: They had to make the best of a bad situation. The absolute Russian control over world communism, enjoyed by Stalin most of his life, was gone.

More Red countries might assert independence and grow fat on American help. The best way to prevent it—or so it may have seemed to the Kremlin—was to make some concessions and create friendliness instead of hate.

It is no wonder Khrushchev set out, shortly after Stalin's death, to win Tito back as a friend if not as a servant. And he succeeded. But in making concessions to Tito, he showed other Red leaders how badly Russia wanted them not to bolt.

With this new softer approach, it is natural Khrushchev would be willing for other Communists to assume some independence, at least Russia to raise some questions about the Kremlin from in. They war, after all, leading to a population twice that of Russia, go too far.

Nine-Year-Old Girl Attacked By White Man

VICE ADMIRAL WILLIAM L. REES, USN, Commander Air Force, U. S. Atlantic Fleet, is scheduled to visit aboard Sanford Naval Air Station Wednesday. The Admiral will arrive by plane from the Key West Naval Station on an informal tour of the station. (Official Photo, U. S. Navy)

A nine-year-old girl was criminally attacked Friday afternoon as she went to the restrooms at the Mayfair Inn which were being used by members of the Mayfair Inn Country Club.

The white man who is reported to have committed the assault on the small girl escaped as the child ran to her mother at the Mayfair Inn pool screaming "I've been hurt by a man."

Only partial descriptions of the white man attacking the child are available. However, Police Chief Roy G. Williams said this morning that every lead possible is being followed.

Chief Williams has called in federal authorities to help in the investigation.

Doctors examining the nine-year-old girl said Friday afternoon that the child was attacked and also said that the youngster was suffering from "shock."

Details of the attack were not available this morning, but it was learned that the man had gotten into the ladies' rest rooms and dressing room through possibly a locked door.

Chief Roy Williams said this morning "Every precaution is being taken for the protection of Sanford's children who might be accosted in a similar manner."

The Mayfair Inn has issued further instructions and rules for bathers and members of the Mayfair Inn's Country Club who use the swimming pool and have provided additional facilities for the protection of those who use the pool. A telephone has been installed for the use of the bathers and children using the restrooms and dressing rooms must be accompanied by parents or adults.

Another incident, which occurred Thursday night, is being investigated by the Sanford Police Department, Chief Roy Williams said this morning.

A home on Holly Ave. was broken into by releasing a latch on the back door at midnight Thursday night while parents of a teenage girl were away from home.

Three girls, two of them visiting the home, were shocked when they saw a Negro man at the bedroom door where the girls were reading.

Screams from the girls could be heard blocks away, according to neighbors and to investigating police, Lieutenant Jack Hickson and Patrolman Robert Lee Cooper. Chief Williams said the officers chased a Negro seen running from the scene but were unable to catch him.

Synod President Re-Elected

The Rev. Phillip Schlessmann, pastor of the Lutheran Church of The Redeemer, of Sanford, said today that the Rev. Dr. John W. Behnken of St. Louis, Mo., was re-elected president of the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod for his eighth successive three-year term in session of the 43rd triennial convention of the synod in St. Paul, Miss.

The 72-year-old churchman said in response, "I am going to accept my final term of office. God has permitted me to serve my church for 50 years," he said, "twenty-one of these as president of our beloved church. I deeply appreciate the confidence which so many of you have expressed. I am also grateful to you for endorsing the policies of my administration. You have asked me to continue. It is an honor. But it carries with it an enormous responsibility for another 3 years. Thanking you for your vote of confidence, and relying on my Lord and Saviour, I ask you to remember me in your prayers."

The synod declined an invitation issued jointly by the United Lutheran Church in America and the Augustana Lutheran Church "to consider such organic union as to give real evidence of our unity in the faith to proceed to draft a constitution and devise organizational procedures to effect union." The synod reiterated its historic position "that organic union should not be considered before doctrinal unity has been established." The synod at the same time declared its continued willingness to initiate or to participate in discussions leading to doctrinal unity with either or both of these two Lutheran bodies or any other Lutheran church in America.

Missions were keynoteed in several convention addresses and resolutions today. In a special report Dr. Behnken outlined the tremendous challenges and opportunities confronting the church body at the present time. He pointed to the fact that the increasing population of the United States affords greater opportunity for growth here in this country than at any time in its history. Turning to the foreign field the president referred especially to work being carried on by the synod in Canada, South America, India, China, the Philippines, and New Guinea.

The convention commended the progress the Mission Boards and missionaries are making toward the creation of the indigenous churches in the various mission fields; encouraged the selection of more experienced pastors to initiate new fields; approved the publication of a Gifts Catalog which will list the large variety of needs both in the home and foreign fields; and recommended the continuation of a program of amalgamation of small parishes in the interest of conserving manpower wherever possible.

It was noted that since the last convention held in Houston in 1953 a total of 86 parishes have either amalgamated or been discontinued within the synod. On the other hand, a total of 346 new churches have been organized in the United States and Canada during the past five years by the Missouri Synod.

Krider Reviving Interest In Sanford-Titusville Canal

THREE SANFORD NAS MEN miraculously escaped from the wreckage of this car early Sunday morning just south of the Lake Monroe Bridge. The car was declared a total loss. (Staff Photo)

Meeting Called Thursday

"I feel like it is time to revive interest in the canal providing a waterway connecting Sanford and the St. John's River with the East Coast," John Krider, Sanford City Commissioner and county commissioner-elect said this morning.

"We are ready to start a move," said Krider, "to have the much-discussed inland waterway completed to the East Coast."

"Such a canal will enhance the possibilities of securing a much needed docks and wharves to serve the Central Florida area," he said.

"Another valuable asset in having the canal completed would be the locks which would control the water and aid in a much-needed water conservation program," Krider commented.

"Now that the city is making plans to complete the boat basin and the causeway study is already underway," Krider said, "it is time that we revive the interest in a canal that would be an additional asset to our city and area."

Krider has called a meeting of all persons interested in seeing the interest revived in the canal for Thursday night at 7:30 in the City Commissioners Room at the Sanford City Hall.

The city commissioner said that there should be a large number of people at the meeting since the interest in such a project would be invaluable to Sanford and Seminole County as well as the entire Central Florida area.

Congressman A. S. "Syd" Herlong Jr., in a telegram to the Sanford Herald this morning, revealed that "We have been able to get the Flood Control sub-committee of the Public Works committee to expand the boundaries of the Central and South Florida Flood Control Project to include previously omitted portions of Seminole and Brevard counties."

"This may account for the word getting around on the revival of the Sanford-Titusville canal construction," Herlong said. "The full committee has not yet acted on the subcommittee recommendation," he said.

"As far as the Sanford-Titusville Canal Flood Control Project is concerned," said Herlong, "a favorable report by the Corps of Engineers is necessary. The engineers submitted an unfavorable report in 1953 and by law three years must elapse before a review can be requested."

Herlong suggested "This could be done this year by application to chief of Engineers and the District Engineer's office could probably prepare a new report in time for consideration by the Public Works Committee next year."

"However," Herlong added, "in view of prevailing low water conditions it seems likely that the engineers would take an unfavorable view of any work which has any possibility of increasing runoff and further lowering of the water table."

He said, "I want to help get all the work done in our section that is desirable but certainly don't want to lose any more water."

Rash Of Accidents Is Told Over Weekend

A rash of accidents confronted law enforcement officers over the weekend starting with a near-fatality early Sunday morning when three Navy men were thrown from an unseaworthy car immediately south of the Lake Monroe Bridge.

Florida Highway Patrolman Carl Williams said that the automobile, a 1951 Chevrolet convertible was apparently traveling at a very high rate of speed and failed to negotiate the first curve south of the bridge.

The automobile skidded 430 feet, 283 feet on its top and side, before coming to a stop on its top. The car was a total loss and is estimated at approximately $600. The car was torn down to its doors.

John Joseph Hanna, 39, the most seriously hurt of the three men, was driving the borrowed car, a 1951 Chevrolet. He is suffering from multiple cuts, lacerations and bad abrasions.

Those accompanying Hanna were Dale Wilbur, 19, who received abrasions and bruises, and William Matthew Sexton, 18, who received abrasions and bruises. Hanna and Wilbur were transferred to the Orlando Air Force Base Hospital for further treatment. Sexton was treated at the Sanford NAS Dispensary and released.

The accident occurred about 1:30 a.m. Sunday morning. Assisting Patrolman Williams at the accident were FEP patrolman W. C. Orsinger, Constable J. Q. "Slim" Galloway, Chief Deputy James Singletary, and Deputy Sheriff Denton Pruvett.

An accident, shortly before noon Sunday involved two cars at the County Levee south of Sanford.

Wilm Warren, 49-year-old Negro of Altamonte Springs had stopped his car, a 1951 Dodge, to make a left turn at Wright's Market near the county line, when Oscar W. Buchanan III, 37-year-old Malland Hill, driving a 1956 Buick traveling south at about 60 mph, didn't see the Warren car in time to stop. Damage to the Dodge was estimated, said Trooper T. Mark Mack of the Florida Highway Patrol, at $20, and to the Buick at $250.

Buchanan was charged with "failing to have his car under control." Warren was charged with "possession of an altered drivers license."

Savings Accounts Dividend Declared By First Federal

The Board of Directors of the First Federal Savings and Loan Assn. at a meeting Friday declared a dividend on savings accounts at the rate of three percent a year, according to Howard Paville, president.

This will make available to holders of savings accounts over $50,000 that will be earned on June 30 and will be available after that time, it was said.

Reviewing the progress of the local thrift association, the directors also made provisions for additions to the reserve accounts, maintaining the ratio of increased savings and reserves.

When asked how much of the earned increases in savings accounts would be spent, George Touhy, executive vice president, said it was difficult to say, but the majority of the account holders would leave the dividends in the account so that they, too, would earn dividends in the months to come.

It was pointed out that the usual statement of condition would be available after the books were closed this month. The association's offices at 118 West First St. will be closed June 30 and 30 will be the staff time to post the dividends to the ledger cards.

Authorities Seeking Hit, Run Driver

Raymond Douglas McDonald, bridge tender at the Osteen Drawbridge, was killed by a hit and run driver yesterday morning sometime between 6:15 and 7:15 a.m., according to Sheriff Denver Cordell who investigated the incident.

Apparently instantly killed while on the bridge fishing, McDonald was found by an unidentified woman passerby driving a Cadillac car and was accompanied by her small son.

Authorities are anxious to see and interview the woman driver of the Cadillac car and are making every effort to contact her relative to the hit and run incident.

Ambulances were called to the scene by Sam Cox who was walking toward the bridge and was notified of the incident by Wade Barrow of a Sanford address.

McDonald was hit on the Volusia County side of the bridge, Sheriff Cordell reported, by a vehicle traveling west toward Sanford.

The vehicle hit the corner of the bridge below a continuing on, Cordell said.

"It had been the habit of Raymond McDonald to get up early, check his bridge, and then fish with a cracker pole from the bridge," Cordell said.

Turner McDonald, the dead man's brother, had gone up the river to fish and had returned to the bridge when he heard sirens.

The two McDonald men lived in a house at the bridge on the Seminole County side of the St. Johns River.

Sheriff Cordell reported that he had called Constable J. Q. "Slim" Galloway, Florida Highway Patrol Trooper T. Mark Mack, and the Sheriff's office in Deland to the scene to aid in the investigation of the hit and run death of the bridge tender.

There had been no new developments in the investigation at an early hour this morning.

Coroner W. Hugh Duncan impaled a corner's jury at the scene to look into the death of McDonald. Coroner Duncan said that a hearing will probably be held on Friday of this week. L. L. Rowland is foreman of the jury.
