GERMANY ASKS FOR ANSWER ON SECURITY PACT

Houghton's Speech Is Signal For Teutons
To Press the Allies
For Immediate Reply

Messages Sent To Paris And London

Germany Seeks Removal
Of Militarism Stain,
Advocates Maintain

BERLIN, May 7.—Promptly Ambassador Houghton's speech at the Pilgrims dinner in London, instructions have been sent to Germany's ambassadors in London and Paris to press for an allied reply to the security pact proposal.

The action follows months of waiting. It was taken after the Reich's exclusive interpretation of the Houghton address in London, the disturbing fact being the security pact proposal.

Officially the pact plan is German. Actually it was presented to the world with British collaboration, and two weeks after it became known here as such a joint effort, it was released in London as a purely German proposal.

Made Before Election
The pact was made before the election, and both British and German are anxious to know to what the election has not changed the foreign policy of the Reich and that if there is a disturbing factor in Europe it must be France.

The secretary for Germany has a combination of motives for its purpose. It automatically removes the stain of militarism from the election. It announces that she is secretly friendly. It gives her the status of equal in the European family of nations.

Germany makes peace with France at the expense of her western borders, she stands, she does not concede her frontiers.

Germany is moving for peaceful negotiations to wipe out the Polish claim, thereby again, if successful, nullifying the Polish-French alliance and weakening the chain of French vassal states in Europe.

Britain Aids Germany These can be obtained from invest-pocket, combination secret, but Germany will rest content for the moment if she does more than prove that President Hindenburg can be a part of peace as Wilson. Britain stands ready to help her prove it.

France the advantages are obvious. She gives up an eye in the hand for a family of nations. The complicated Polish alone are enough to make her pause. And she is not satisfied by the fact that she assumes a scheme means elevating Germany to an equal, but to the possibility of a powerful nation seeking peace into the world. At least, she would emerge as a headline in the world.

Land Forces Join Dry Fleet In A Determined Effort To Rid U. S. Of Rum Runners

NEW YORK, May 7.—Naval warfare against rum smugglers, with the government's dry fleet along the coast from Boston to Atlantic City, Wednesday inspired the country's land armies of bootleggers to redouble their efforts.

As more than 60 coast guard boats, manned by 400 men and assisted by 13 seaplanes, patrolled the sea, the forces ashore dug up a local weapon which probably would prove as deadly as the fleet's warfare. This was the discovery of a provision in the tariff law of 1922 providing that compensation may be given informers who assist the government in the arrest and conviction of violators of the prohibition law.

War Extends to Land While this was the most important development of the rum war ashore, it was not the only one.
United States District Attorney announced that he had joined forces with R. Q. Merrick, prohibition director for New York and northern New Jersey, in a war of extermination on inland speakeasies.

The padlock court newly opened by Federal Judge John C. Knox, is to act against places charged with prohibition violations in all coun-

FRENCH ZONE HAS BRIEF REST FROM RIFFIAN ATTACKS

Lull in Fighting Is Reported Today on Battle Front; Riffian Losses Are Said To Be Heavy In Past Few Days

PARIS, May 7.—A lull is reported on the fighting front in Morocco where Riffian tribesmen are trying to secure a foothold in the French zone. Advisers say no further fighting has taken place since yesterday but another engagement is expected.

Total losses of French troops under Col. Freudenburg during the recent engagement were: 13 killed, 100 wounded and about 100 deserted. The Riffian losses were described as very heavy.

The impression at French headquarters in Morocco is that Abdel-Krim, the chief of the tribesmen finding his untrained men unable to withstand the French fire, is sending to the front line seasoned warriors who have given the Spanish forces so much trouble.

A political protest is arising over the rich Ouerghia valley, which by the 1904 treaty with Spain was considered a Spanish zone on the assumption that the Ouerghia, which had not been explored by Europeans, was believed to empty into the Mediterranean. By the 1912 treaty, when the geography was known, it was declared a part of French territory as a tributary to the Sebou, on which Fez is built.

The Riffians in entering the valley, it is now learned, claimed it as a part of the Spanish zone, which they had conquered. The French do not recognize the Riffian claim.

The Riffians possess at least one airplane, which has bombed the French, raising the charge that its pilots are German. There is no proof, but it is declared that Abd-El-Krim, when he was fighting the Spaniards, tried to get French pilots, offering 30,000 francs a month. Failing, he obtained Germans, it is declared, but reports from Morocco do not confirm this.

French Repulse Riffs.
RABAT, French Morocco, May 7.—An official communique Wednesday reported a fierce fight between French and Riffian troops in which the French repulsed violent counter attacks, killed many of the enemy and took some prisoners.

Dispatches from the interior, received here after the official communique was issued, said the French forces had serious difficulty Wednesday and sustained considerable losses.

REAL PROBLEM IN ARMS MEET IS UNSCREENED

French Delegate Frankly Tells Geneva Conference War Material Production
Cut Necessary For Peace

Traffic Control Is Impossible, Is Claim

Representatives of Nations Are Already Divided on Draft of League Protocol

GENEVA, May 7.—Characterizing the traffic in arms conference as the advance guard of an action against a problem which is being approached indirectly, Paul Boncour, head of the French delegation, Wednesday tore down the camouflage screen and revealed seemingly insurmountable difficulties facing the international negotiators at the conference.

Boncour incisively and dispa-sionately analyzed the situation accentuating three weaknesses of the draft protocol, on traffic in arms upon which a dozen delegations based attacks this morning.
It was charged that it infringes on national sovereignty, jeopardizes the security, and established inequalities among League of Nations members.

"We are approaching the ultimate objective from the flank," he said. "A publicity system of defenses whereby the traffic would be controlled is merely a minor issue. General reduction of armaments is the goal of another conference inevitably to follow, wherein private manufacture of war materials will be dealt with. This problem really should have been settled first.

"You cannot control the traffic without first controlling manufacture. The traffic should be struck at the source. Only when the forces of the entire civilized world are lined up against an aggressor can reduction and control be secured."

What would face a general disarmament conference was indicated by the triple attack against the league's draft protocol.

The delegations already are split into those of producing and non-producing nations. The United States, Britain, France, Italy, Germany, Holland, Belgium, Czechoslovakia, Sweden, and Japan are among the former.

Poland, Rumania, Juvo-Slavia and other Russian border nations partially based their opposition to the protocol on the publicity plan, which would be imposed upon their great-great-grandfathers.

Abyssinia, Persia, and China backed up by the Poles, Greeks and even the Swedish, declared the equality of league members is threatened and the future of the league would be impaired should discrimination be tolerated. The South Americans, in including Uruguay and Brazil, based their opposition on infringement of national sovereignty; they also upheld the argument for secrecy of the Baltic and Balkan nations.

Democratic Senators Are Opposed To Plan For Changing Senate Rules

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Democratic senators are manifesting great interest in the program of Vice President Dawes for changes in the senate rules, but are not in sympathy with it. Senator E. M.
Simmons, North Carolina, who helped to turn the administration tax bill into a compromise and defeated the Mellon plan, doubts the wisdom of making any pronounced change in the rules. He thinks the big interests could use a cloture to put through legislation for selfish purposes.

"There is no better argument against the Dawes plan than President Coolidge's defense of the senate, its prerogatives, its discretion and its manner of discharging its duties and obligations," said Mr.
Simmons. "In his speech of Mar.
4, 1921, he gave his views, and they do not run along with those of Mr. Dawes."

Mr. Simmons quoted the following from the president's speech with approval: "But it's the sen-

POLE'S SEEKER READY TO FLY TOWARD NORTH

Captain Amundsen Planning Trial Flight Before He Hops Off On Proposed Journey to World's Top

Airmen Expect to Reach Destination in Eight Hours; Weather Is Reported Good

OSLO, Norway, May 7.—Dispatches received here from Captain Amundsen, detailing his plans for the North Pole flight which he expects to start Wednesday, said the auxiliary vessel Fram will proceed as far northwest as ice conditions will allow, while the other auxiliary vessel, Hobbly will go as far northeast as possible.

Dr. Mowinkel, premier of Norway, sent a wireless message to Amundsen congratulating him and the people of this country are following his undertaking with the greatest interest and hope for success.

The weather forecast showed a high pressure between the Pole and Spitzbergen, and a lower pressure moving eastward from Labrador, which possibly may reach Spitzbergen, but which it was believed, would not interfere with the flight.

May Make Trial Flight.
LONDON, May 7.—A Reuter dispatch from Oslo says the Shipping Gazette asserts that Roald Amundsen may profit by fine weather and undertake a trial flight, landing on the ice at the edge of the northwest coast of Spitzber-gen.

The dispatch adds that the steamer Far, which set out to find a landing place, Wednesday reported her position as two miles west of Amsterdams Is. A northwest breeze was blowing and snow squalls prevailed. The temperature was about 8 degrees above zero.

Weather Condition Good
STOCKHOLM, Sweden, May 7.—
The weather prospects at Spitzber-gen are reported as propitious for the polar dash of Roald Amun-den by airplane.

The airplanes will be flown northward today, following the exposed steamer Fram and the Hobbly, which left Wednesday for the intending hopping off point on Danes Island.

The first plane is to be piloted by Lieutenant Riesser Larsen, with Amundsen as passenger and Hobbly as co-pilot. The second plane, piloted by Oscar Stenman, with Lincoln Ellsworth, an American engineer as navigator.

The planes have a speed of more than 50 miles an hour, making it possible, the explorers believe to reach the pole in about eight hours.

If possible, Captain Amundsen and companions will make a landing at the pole and attempt to locate its position. If this is impracticable the leaders plan to drop a Norwegian flag in the approximate vicinity.

The Oslo dispatch said the planes might have to land several times during the trip for this reason they might not get to Spitzbergen.

Chain Theater Firm Leases Hynes Block And Milane Theater

1925 SEASON TO

Sparks Enterprises Inc.
Announces Lease of Block for $200,000

Extensive Repairs
Are Contemplated

Milane To Close Six Weeks For Repairs
Of About $15,000

Acquisition by the E. J.
Sparks Enterprises Inc., of the Hynes Block of First Street on a 99-year lease basis and the purchase of a 20-year lease on the holdings of the Milane Amusement Company, were formally announced today following negotiations, which have been in progress for the past several weeks.

The lease of the Hynes Block was made on a valuation of approximately $200,000 and the one secured on the holdings of the company operating the Milane Theater is given at $10,000. As a further evidence of its faith in Sanford and the city's future development, the company also announces the purchase of property in the First Street extension to the amount of $25,000.

Lease of the Hynes-Block was negotiated through the Britt-Chittenden Realty Co.

Extensive Repairs Planned Simultaneous with the announcement of these three purchases, a statement was issued by the company through the firm of DeCottes & Spencer, representing its interests in this section of the state, giving plans for the remodeling and renovation of both the Hynes Block and the Milane Theater.

The Hynes Block, it is declared, will shortly be acquired on a straight purchase and in the meantime will undergo extensive repairs which will cost between $75-000 and $100,000. This property faces 200 feet on First Street and 117 feet on Oak Avenue. The building was purchased about a year ago from W. H. Hynes by a local syndicate, which disposed of it to the theater concern.

The Milane Theater with all of its equipment and furnishings will be taken over by the new owners on June 27 it is announced, and will immediately be closed for a period of six weeks during which time it will undergo alterations and relocations to the extent of $15,000. When these repairs are completed the Milane will be one of the most modern and attractive theaters not only in this state but in the south, it is declared.

Fine Pictures To Be Shown The company also announces that by virtue of its affiliation with Famous Players and the new large film companies, it will be able to offer a class of pictures, which will be among the latest released from the studios. In addition, the company plans to furnish this city with a weekly bill of Keith's attractions, this feature to begin sometime in the fall and continuing through the winter. A number of excellent road shows will be booked, it is further announced.

The E. J. Sparks Enterprises, Inc., is declared to be one of the largest theater concerns in the country and only recently acquired 21 theaters after having sold a chain of 17 to another corporation for a consideration exceeding $1-000,000. The company has been operating in Florida for several years and has now under its control theaters in practically every city in the state. The state headquarters are located in Jacksonville, from where E. J. Sparks directs the operation of the company.

Boy Talks for First Time in Eleven Years

SCIENCE has restored the speech of a 15-year-old boy after 11 years of silence. His first sentence since his auditory nerves became paralyzed by a blow on the head in infancy was, "Father and mother, I can talk." Eleven years ago Ray Pawlowski, Milwaukee, then four years of age, was struck on the head with a hammer. The shock caused the brain to reverse the natural co-ordination between the nerve centers and the muscles of the throat. Whenever the boy tried to speak, his mouth, instead of opening, rigidly clenched. A short time ago Ray was placed under the care of Prof. William Duff of Marquette University, who taught the boy co-ordination of mind and body. Now the lad talks in monotone. His next lessons will be in the modulation and distinctness.

WHY I AM A FARMER

Some think the farm work slow and hard,
With never any pleasure;
Their work is always poorly done, They sow with scanty measure.
I love the fields where nature dwells, With nothing to alarm her.
I love the live stock, too, and that Is why I am a farmer.

Some think a country life too tame, They leave it for the bustle Of city life and city ways, With constant grind and hustle.
I love the farmer's quiet life;
He wears no shining armor, But wears a happy heart, and that Is why I am a farmer.

Some think the country lads are green,
The country lassies ditto;
But when they try to prove the thing They fail a single bit to.

The country home's a guarded spot And vice thod seldom harm her;
'Tis full of peace and love, and that Is why I am a farmer.

"The nation's safeguard is the home," Is often said and quoted.
I doubt not that the country was The home of him who wrote it.
Then let us be the nation's joy,
And strength and honor give her,
The farms raise true patriots,
And that's why I'm a farmer.

A Cause for High Spirits

The voting freeholders of Seminole county again demonstrated their faith in this section when in Tuesday's election they registered themselves over six to one in favor of the $1,750,000 bond issue for new roads. Many times they have gone to the polls and voted for good roads, municipal buildings or other indications of progress and development, but never before have they declared themselves so unqualified as backing the administrative officials and as favoring all progressive movements.

For several years Sanford and Seminole county have been known as leaders in the movement for good roads throughout the state. Perhaps more miles of new roads have been paved in this section than in any other in Florida. And this widespread road paving has signaled the end of the old "regime" and the beginning of the new. It has called an end to old fashioned methods and ideas and has introduced new ones which are building in Sanford in the largest city in central Florida.

But now, with $1,750,000 more to be spent on new roads in our county during the next three years, nothing can hold in check the wonderful progress soon to be seen. New sections will be thrown open. Travel and transportation, so important to industry, agriculture, and tourists, will be tremendously facilitated. Large areas, hitherto almost unseen, will come to be upon well traveled highways, and will be immediately laid open to cultivation and development.

Thus it is easily seen that the result of Tuesday's election means to Sanford. Property formerly considered almost worthless, will now when touched by some well paved highway, rise in value until it will make its owner wealthy and the increase in assessed valuations will in all probability take care of the bond issue so that it will not be necessary to raise the tax millage.

Fooling Father Time

There comes a time in every man's life when the appeal of the comfortable warmth of a fireside hearth becomes too great to be easily resisted when the desire for dominos and checkers rises above a one time craving for driver and putter, when, in short, men who once on horseback followed the hounds or tramped for miles through the woods looking for quail, are perfectly contented to sit in an easy chair and do nothing more strenuous than simply think.

When this period of life strikes a man, varies tremendously with individuals. Some at thirty-five are beginning to look with hostile eyes upon the tennis court as being too strenuous. Some men at sixty are continuing to play a fairly good game of polo. Yet as a general rule fifty is the turning point in a man's life when the indoor sports of chess and thinking seize him with an irresistible grasp.

Where champions in the more strenuous sports begin to lose their grip is somewhat earlier in life. Jack Dempsey, who used to box some, and was fairly good at twenty-six, could hardly now, at the age of thirty, be induced into the ring by anything short of the United States Treasury. Firpo faded at an earlier age. Few of the best college athletes are over twenty-two or twenty-three. And there are few exceptions to the statement that Big League ball players are under thirty.

There is, however, one notable exception to this general rule. Not long ago Stanislaus Zbyszko, mighty Pole, but more like a living California red wood than any pole we ever saw, defeated in a wrestling match Wayne Munn. Wayne Munn had previously defeated "Strangler" Lewis, the heavy-weight wrestling champion of the world. Zbyszko conceded to Munn over thirty pounds in weight and nearly a foot in height. And Zbyszko, twenty-five years Munn's elder, is nearly three score years of age.

SANFORD'S FORUM

Sanford, Fla., May 6th, 1925

Editor The Herald:

We are all greatly interested in statement of the Census Bureau of Commerce dealing with Seminole county farm land values since 1920, which was published in The Herald of May 5. At the same time there are some very inaccurate statements made therein; these might do no harm, but on the other hand they might, if read by people at a distance and who know nothing already about agricultural conditions in this district. To make the claim that we have suffered a reduction of 49,000 acres in our farm lands in five years is laughable. As a matter of fact there has been a modest increase in the period. Their data with reference to animals is at odds with the facts, too, especially beef cattle.

I do not know who was the actual author of this report; but he must have been inspired by motives not very flattering to the local people.

MY FAVORITE STORIES

The colonel of one of our negro regiments serving in France during the World war impressed it upon the rank and file of his command that in the field a soldier addressing his superior officer invariably should have regard for correct military procedure and, as nearly as might be, for correct military language. The lesson must have gone home, because of that colonel is a certain document sent by runner from a forward trench to company headquarters, back of the second line of defense.

On a scrap of paper, with a stub of pencil, the author of the communication, a much-harried black corporal then undergoing his baptism of shelling wrote as follows:

"To Lieutenant Seth B. McClintock,
"Commanding Company F.—
"Blank Regiment.
"Blank Division, A. E. F., U. S. A.
"Dear Sir—I am being fired on heavily from the left. I await your instructions.
"Trusting these few lines will find you the same. I remain, "Yours truly,

THE OLDEST TREE IN THE WORLD

NEW YORK HERALD TRIBUNE

Jean Henri Fabre, the great naturalist, filled the better middle-years of his life writing seventy or eighty popular books on science, which finally made it possible for him to retire to Serignan and live with the insects that made him famous. French children have loved these books for a half century; the American publishers are gradually discovering them. In one of the latest to be published here, "The Wonder Book of Plant Life," is used by Lippincott, Fabre tells of a 6,000-year-old baobab tree in Senegambia.

We are accustomed to having the largest of everything. Is there an African tree to outlive our redwoods? The baobab, to be sure, does not grow to one-twentieth of the height of our Western big trees—a mere fifteen feet beside their 300—but its trunk is twenty-five to thirty feet through, which compares favorably with the California giants. In height, an Australian eucalyptus, which towers into the sky for 400 feet or so, outdoes the sequoia, but the eucalyptus is an upstart which attains its growth in a mere matter of a few centuries, whereas the redwood—takes its time. John Muir once spent a day with an ax studying the age of a King's Valley redwood, cutting away the scarred surface and counting the annual rings. "I counted over 4,000 rings," he reported, "which showed this tree was in its prime, swaying in the Sierra winds, when Christ walked the earth. No other tree in the world, as far as I know has looked down on so many centuries as the sequoia."

The baobab, if Fabre be right, was an old tree when Ramees built his tomb in Egypt, and our redwoods were swaying saplings. Well, they are old enough; some of them may have looked down upon the last mastodon that lumbered through California, and have seen things that would help solve the riddle of Indian civilization.

Battleships Fight Sharks, Mr. Debs' Men Will Fight,
Oh Good and Gloomy Dean
The Worms Sing Horrors!

By ARTHUR BRISBANE
(Copyright 1925)

SPAIN FINDS use for warships. They are sent to patrol the coasts and shoot sharks that despoil the great schools of sardines. These Spanish sharks that destroy sardines, as a small kind of whale off the coast of Alaska destroys the salmon, will meet "somebody their own size" when the Spanish battleships get after them.

That's the right kind of fighting for a battleship. A small part of the money now spent on war and murder would make this earth a different planet. It would end plagues, drain every swamp, irrigate all deserts. But is the human race as yet fit for such good fortune? Wouldn't it make them lazy as the mild climate and easy food in the Pacific Islands made the natives lazy?

TWENTY-FIVE thousand wanted to hear Eugene V. Debs speak in New York City on Sunday. Mr. Debs, sincere, courageous and utterly mistaken, as far off the track in this age as an old-fashioned wood-burning locomotive in the middle of a cornfield, told 15,000 that he wished "the workers of this country were patriotic enough to refuse to fight in any war."

MR. DEBS wishes vainly. Our workers won't refuse to fight in any war that interests them, because they descend from men that have fought and therefore have survived. Certain tribes have refused to fight. The include the timid Indians of California, satisfied to catch grasshoppers and other insects, lacking the courage to fight bigger animals and other Indians.

Asiatics living under British rule in India are "patriotic enough not to fight" and so three hundred millions of them are ruled by a handful of Englishmen thousands of miles away.

MR. DEBS, the most independent and successful class of workers in the United States are your associates, the locomotive engineers.

It isn't so long since they were doing the most desperate fighting ever seen in any strike. Don't advise men not to fight, unless you want them to be the slaves of somebody else. Advise them to attack only when they are right, and to defend themselves always.

THE GOOD and gloomy Dean of St. Paul's in London wants America to "aid the world." He has what seems to him an unanswerable argument. Pointing to America's prosperity, he says we have an awful lot of money, excellent credit, and it is our duty to save the world.

To that we reply, respectfully, that if we have a lot of money and credit, it is because we have hitherto taken the advice of George Washington and attended to our own business, keeping out of war, when the world let us, refraining from coveting our neighbors' goods and taking care of our own.

TO ASK one country to save the world is asking a lot. It is a big world. It is like asking Dean Inge to jump off a high cliff and save the drowning fat lady from the circus. The Dean would say, "She's too heavy, and, anyhow, if she will only keep her head she will float."

That's what we say to Europe.

DR. HANGOLD, serious scientist of Berlin, discovers that worms actually sing, in a sort of "sonorated" rhythm. "The voice of the worm, singing in chorus, can be heard twelve yards away."

To many this will add a new horror to death. It's had enough to be put down where the worms live, without having them sing about it, especially a syncopated song.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE'S good speech concerning the Jews praised their character and faithfulness to the land of their adoption.

It may be added that the Jews contribute to a nation something even more valuable than mere loyalty. THEY MAKE THOSE AROUND THEM THINK.

SEINE MADE all Germany and 50 other nations think and think hard. He made the Hohenzollerns think so hard that they never would allow a statute of him to be put in Germany.

And Spinoza, a Portuguese Jew, for 300 years has supplied to the philosophers of the world the basis of sound thinking. He has been to them what the supply of stock is to the chef in making his soup.

Such a man does not have an easy life. The synagogue excommunicated him, one of his co-religionists attempted to assassinate him. That didn't disturb him. He was a philosopher.

"FRENCH COLUMNS drive back Moors heading for Fez" and "French defeat Rifis in Morocco affrays."

That's the latest concerning the effort of Rif tribes to drive the French from Africa. The Rifis challenged France at the wrong time. Once in a "winning streak" the French do not stop. They will not be stopped by a Rif army, equipped as the Rifis are.

The days when Mohammed, dead and mounted up to Heaven from the sacred rock at Mecca, came back to guide his warriors to victory on every field, are gone.

OUR NATIONAL SALUTE

PLAYING THE GAME DAYTONA JOURNAL

There is something inspiring about achievement. When one journeys to a famous city and sees wonderful buildings, fine, artistic homes, a tremendous fabric of commerce and industry, he is inclined to go back and try to do some thing along the line of attainment. And the way to success is always open to those who know how to play the game.

Fortune does not come by luck. Success comes from playing the recognized game of business, taking advantage of economic law, giving the people some better service than they had before.

The pages of any well circulated magazine or newspaper will give the ambitious man hints about the way of business. In the magazines he will see the notices of products that have been boomed by advertising. A few years ago the production of these articles may have been obscure men. But they had faith to go through publicity, and a great harvest has resulted.

So it is in the use of publicity in the newspaper field. All big successes in retail trade have been produced by advertising. A number of years ago in many cases these firms were unknown or nonexistent, or only starting in a small way.

Their owners were students of human nature. They knew that if a concern kept its name and its business before the eyes of the people, if it constantly told about the things it was selling, it would arouse public interest and get more than its share of trade. When people get that idea and advertise intelligently and give good stuff, success is sure to come as anything can be in this world of change. It is a short path to success, and this door is always open to newcomers.

HOME COMING

WAYCROSS JOURNAL-HERALD

Roger Babson, the nationally known statistician, says "The average man's first real estate venture is probably the purchase of a home."

The advantages of home owning are many and the economic side of the transaction is probably less important than several other considerations, such as convenience, comfort, and peace of mind.

but the renting of houses is not as profitable as many people suppose.

There is little choice between renting and owning so far as operating costs are concerned, except that the property owner takes more interest in the property and probably does many things himself that he would insist that the landlord do if he were renting. So far as investment values are concerned the two should be considered as even.

The advantage in owning is the gain made not in monthly costs but in the probable appreciation in the property itself. A man may live in a ten-thousand dollar home for five years at what it would have cost him to rent, but at the end of that period, if he sells for fifteen thousand dollars the advantages of the investment are apparent.

The gain comes in the appreciation, which, as we have noted, averages 7.94 percent and the extent of the gain depends upon the owner's skill in selecting the right kind of a home for investment."

CARTERMEN LOSE TO TAMPA 4 TO 2 ON "LADIES' DAY"

Allen's Smokers Fellow, A. J. ...

The fourth inning of Wednesday's game was fatal to the Celery-Feds, for in this frame the Smokers received all of the breaks and with two hits, added, put three men across the plate, bringing their total to four, which proved sufficient to win the game by a score of 4 to 2.

The game was witnessed by the largest number of fans that have turned out since the season's opening day here, many ladies taking advantage of the invitation of the Sanford club on Ladies' Day.

Tampa made its first score in the first inning, when with one on Jessmer singled, stole second; Estrada was out to left and Jessmer scored on Lee's single to right. Allen retired the side.

LAKELAND BEATS SAINTS 12 TO TWO IN BATTING FEST

Highlanders Manage To Win From League Leaders For First Time Clouting Two Pitchers Heavily Yesterday

LAKELAND, May 7.—The Highlanders pounded out their first victory over the Saints here yesterday in a slugging bee that scored 12 tallies for the Highlanders to the Saints' 2. The game started like a fast one, no one scoring on either side in the first frame. Lakeland's single tally in the second caused by a wild heave by Beas in the general direction of centerfield which allowed Welch to come in from second. Walt Lather played "wildcat" from however, for the Highlanders and with the exception of a double in the second and two in the fourth kept the Saints hitless until the seventh.
