Great Britain Accepts Mufti As Delegate

Arabs Refuse To Participate In London Discussions With Jewish Delegation

JERUSALEM, Aug. 27.—(AP)—The Secretary of the Arab Higher Executive Committee did not like the tone of the British announcement today regarding the Arab delegation to London conference on the Palestine issue. Secretary Hussein Khalidi says there will be no London conference. Khalidi took exception to the British statement that the Arabs had requested that the exiled Mufti of Jerusalem be included on the delegation. Khalidi said the Arab leaders were not asking—they were telling the British that the Mufti would be a delegate. Declared Khalidi: "It is not the business of the British government to decide who represents the Arabs of Palestine."

LONDON, Aug. 27. (AP)—Britain is making every effort to save the conferences planned next month on the future of Palestine. A government official said today that as a final concession, Britain is prepared to negotiate with the exiled Mufti of Jerusalem as well as with detained Jewish leaders.

This is the first indication that the British are willing to accept the exiled Mufti as head of the Arab delegation. The Arab Higher Executive Committee named the Mufti yesterday as leader of the Arab delegation to the London discussions which are scheduled to begin Sept. 9. It also is the first indication that the British will accept at the conference Jewish leaders.

Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin will see Prime Minister Attlee today before returning to the Paris Peace Conference. It is assumed they will fix the limits to which Britain will go in working for the successful outcome of negotiations with Palestine Jews and Arabs.

The Arab Higher Executive Committee has declared it will not participate in the conference if Jews are permitted to sit in. In view of this, it's believed that the British probably will be compelled to have separate talks with Jewish and Arab leaders rather than attempt to find a solution to the Holy Land problem in a three-cornered conference.

Captain Arrested For Removing Two Valued Paintings

BERLIN, Aug. 27. (AP)—A United States Army captain is under arrest today on charges that he removed two paintings worth $10,000 from Germany. He is 45-year-old Capt. Norman T. Byrne of Hollywood, Calif., who has served as Fine Arts and Monuments officer for the American Military Government in Berlin.

The captain was arrested in San Francisco two weeks ago by the Army's Criminal Investigation Department, and he is now being held in Berlin. According to the CID, he had an etching by Albrecht Durer and an oil painting by David Teniers one of the prosecutors when the trial opened.

The Durer masterpiece had originally been part of a Swiss collection in Geneva, while the Teniers painting was from Amsterdam. Both paintings had been stolen by the Nazis and removed to Berlin, and it is there that the American captain is alleged to have found them. Each masterpiece is valued at $5,000.

Gen. Taylor Denies Mississippi Charge

WEST POINT, N. Y., Aug. 27. (AP)—The superintendent of the United States Military Academy, Major General Maxwell Taylor, issued a statement today denying a charge that a member of his Army golf team had not been permitted to resign from the academy. Coach Allyn McWilliams of Mississippi State had charged that Tom (Shorty) McWilliams had not been permitted to hand in his resignation.

Taylor termed the charge incorrect. He added that McWilliams had received a particularly lucrative financial offer from a certain quarter, designed to induce him to leave West Point and go football elsewhere.

Flood Of Newsprint Pulp Timber

DURING THE WAR, newsprint became a scarce item as long as loggers went off to war and pulp and paper mills provided nitro-cellulose for explosives, nylon for parachutes and other war essentials. With the re-opening by Canada of its number one manufacturing industry, lumberjacks all during the winter cut trees and since the Spring have been rending down a flood of the pulp logs. These loggers are shown above on the piers at Hull, Quebec, clearing a big jam.

Litchfield Camp Commander Flays Tactics At Trial

Kilian Says He Has Clear Conscience About Brutalities

BAD SAUHEIM, Germany, Aug. 27. (AP)—A court martial has convicted Major Richard E. Lohouno of knowingly permitting cruel punishment of American soldiers at the Army garrison in Lichfield, England. Major Lohouno, however, was acquitted on charges that he aided and abetted the cruelty. Lohouno formerly was a provost marshal at Lichfield.

BAD SAUHEIM, Germany, Aug. 27. (AP)—The former commander of the United States Army garrison at Lichfield, England, says he has a clear conscience about the brutalities alleged to have taken place there. The former camp commander, Col. James A. Kilian of Highland Park, Ill., made that statement today at the Lichfield army trial before a United States court martial.

The defense attorney, Mr. Sayer, said Kilian had been in power for 10 months and had been tried twice by German military courts for his conduct.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

WE CAN ESCAPE THE TUR-MOIL OF LIFE BY ALLOWING
GOD TO STEER OUR COURSE:
When he giveth quietness, who then can condemn?—Job 31:23.

By the way, did you realize that this is getting to be around about that time of year which is known as the hurricane season?

We don't see why the United States doesn't withhold all financial aid and food relief to those nations which deliberately shoot down American airplanes.

Crum: I've had this car for two years and never had a wreck.

Gravis: You mean you've had this wreck for two years and never had a car—Yellow Jacket!

Marshal Tito calls the shooting down and killing of five American airmen over Yugoslavia "a regrettable accident". Yes, so only, please!

Up in Logonia, W. Va., a man gains some notoriety by standing on his head for three hours in a valve hole at the waterworks plant. The way things look throughout the world today, maybe that is the best way to view them.

What a wonderful institution communism is, was indicated last week when a boatload of Estonian refugees arrived in Miami after a perilous journey across the Atlantic to escape Soviet domination.
You don't find any Americans putting out to sea in a 38 foot boat in order to find refuge in Russia.

A friend of ours writes that if Tom Watson, Florida's attorney general, runs for governor,
he will beat any man who runs against him, veterans included, and he goes on to mention the Tampa Tribune which recently gave the inside track to veterans.
To him and any others interested in Watson's possible candidacy,
we recommend the Tribune's editorial of Aug. 26.

The treasury department just disclosed that a Maryland meat dealer has been arrested for income tax violations. He claimed he had to pay more than other people and therefore should not have to pay as much in taxes. And a midwife, who made $30,000 performing abortions,
said she couldn't report
her income and pay the tax on it because her business was illegal.

What happens when wages are arbitrarily forced up beyond their economic level by well meaning but short-sighted labor leaders is seen in New York where Caesar Petrillo's musicians' union has forced wages so high it no longer pays to employ them. Now demanding a new 55 percent increase, they have been informed by 12 leading hotels that their services are no longer needed. It is nice to have music with your meals, but it is not necessary.

Both Florida's senators, that is, the old one and the new one, are in the limelight this week as two prominent magazines of national circulation express their views of them. "New men like Ralph Flanders of Vermont, Spearell
Holland of Florida, Edward Thye
of Minnesota should surely enliven and raise the tone of sena-tional debate," says Life Magazine. "Pepper is unpopular in the Senate . . . his influence there is small for a man of his abilities," says the Saturday Evening Post.

It is hard for the man who has an occasional drink to be hauled into court on a charge of drunken driving, when he knows so many people are driving in a more or less intoxicated condition all the time, but something has to be done if this dangerous situation is ever to get any better.

Out in California a few weeks ago, George White, 53, former Broadway celebrity and producer of "George White's Scandals" ran his car into a newly married couple and killed them. He had been drinking and was sentenced the other day to a year in jail.

In Orlando Saturday another drunken driver ran over two little girls, killed one of them, seriously injured the other. A year in jail for him will not ease their mothers' sorrow.

College Curriculum

Dr. George Dinsmore Stoddard, new president of the University of Illinois, thinks that technical education and sports have been over-emphasized there to the point of neglecting the liberal arts. For a comprehensive university, he proposes to bring the arts back into reasonable balance in the curriculum.

Dr. Stoddard does not want to return to the exact system of pre-war universities, before the national emergency shifted the concentration to science. That was not quite realistic, he apparently meant when he said, "We forget sometimes that every person, however masterful in a narrow field, is at the same time confronted with the problems of the parent, the citizen and the good neighbor."

A well-distributed education is Dr. Stoddard's goal. "Now we should make sure that the engineer knows something about history, art and sociology and, conversely, that the novelist, the artist and the musician sense the importance of physics, chemistry and biology in a technical world. Any failure to do this at the highest levels will create large islands of unreality leading to wrong and perhaps dangerous decisions in our public life," he said according to the Women's National News Service.

Time is too short for any college student to learn a great deal about a great many things in four years study, but if, while specializing in the field of his major interest, he can also attain some understanding of the character and value of several other fields of knowledge, he will have an infinitely broader appreciation of his world.

Food For Czechs

The hospitable impulse which prompted the welcoming delegation to thrust a Stein of beer into the hands of UNRRA director La Guardia, may have been a misguided one. The director's enjoyment of the cooling drink was tempered by the thought that where there's beer there's grain to spare. The fact that the Czechs consider beer to be a food does not deter La Guardia from his determination to institute a re-survey of Czechoslovak grain needs.

Theodore Andrić, a newspaperman writing from Prague, agrees that UNRRA has done a wonderful job in Czechoslovakia. He says that everyone from President Benes down to the least important citizen gladly admits the great improvement in their living conditions and gives most of the credit to UNRRA.

Not the least of these benefits has been the improvement in the diet of the working people. Their previous reliance upon starches and fats has given way to a fondness for tomato juice, vegetables, and milk. If an army, as has been said, marches on its stomach, so much more does an industrial nation do its work better on a balanced diet. UNRRA undoubtedly plays a large part in the reconstruction of war-ravaged countries.

WHATEVER COMES of these hotspots and impasses, dear friends and fellow Earthlings, let us thank God each morning, noon and midnight that America rather than Russia has had first call on Atomic power! Maybe we'll miss the cue but the Russians in our place would be over the stage by now with fourth act stuff directed at final curtains. Ill-fitted as we are for control over something so ultimate in power, we are infinitely more so than a people who never yet in long history, under Czar or Soviet, have known individual liberties or rights, who are strangers to Democracy, alien to justice as we use the word, and so suspicious of both God and man that their great Lenin laid down for them in 1920 a policy of "using any ruse, dodge, trick, cunning, unlawful method, concealment or veiling of truth . . ." and their great Stalin told them in 1923 that "the mightiest ally of Russia is strife, conflicts, and wars in every capitalist nation . . ."

Russia Seeks Control of Dardanelles
BY ASSOCIATED PRESS

By Associated Press
Russia today is after a prize dreamed of by Peter the Great, almost matched by Catherine the Great,
finally promised to Czar Nicholas II, and then forfeited
by Lenin in the Russian revolution.

This prize is control of the Dardanelles—the ancient Hellesopont—and its possession implies control of the Bosphorus, the fabulous Golden Horn and Istanbul—historic Constantinople.

This is a crossroads for the trade of continents, a hollowed spot of religious history and legend, and for centuries the queen piece in the chess game of European statesmen.

Little more than a river, the Dardanelles separates the Balkans from Asia Minor. On the European shore rise the cliffs of Galipoli where 115,000 troops were slaughtered in World War I. On the Oriental side stretches the realm of ancient Troy, where the first commandos rode a wooden horse.

The strait is only 45 miles long and from one to five miles wide.
At its narrowest point, between Abydos and Sestos, Leander once swam nightly in his amphibious courtship of Hero, beautiful priestess of Aphrodite.

At that point, Xerxes, king of ancient Persia, built the world's first pontoon bridge when he invaded Greece around 480 B. C.

Byron Swam The Current.

The current through the Dardanelles is so strong that Lord Byron, emulating Leander'sfeat, found that he had to swim four miles to make one. That current, flowing into the Aegean end of the Mediterranean from the Sea of Marmara, was unconquerable for early ships and thereby gave Troy its power. Troy controlled the road for portage on this historical trade route.

Plainly visible through the middle of the Sea of Marmara, the current is fed by the Bosphorus, a 17-mile strait from one to two miles wide, flowing out of the Black Sea.

Commanding the entrance to the Black Sea, pathway to the granary of Southern Russia,
to the oil fields of the Caucasus and Romania, to the rich markets of the Middle East, stands Istanbul with its famous harbor of the Golden Horn.

These straits have been technically Turkish property since the fall of the Roman Empire, al-took over the management of the Inn, he stated this morning, after having been warned by three outstanding Jacksonville men "not to touch Sanford." He said he was told that any time and money invested in the Mayfair would be a total waste of time. However, these remarks presented a challenge and with sharpened enthusiasm he came to town and began the job. Along this line of thought he said he would like to say that he was not received with enthusiasm when he came here and found that a good many citizens seemed to possess a defeatist point of view.

The Chamber of Commerce cannot do everything alone, Mr. Weber stated, and "I, for one am ready to fight to make this Inn along with Sanford go over with the tourists."

He added that the Inn would favor the canal and that contrary to the belief of many the Inn also favored the proposed hospital and hospital site. This is "virgin" territory, he added and in a few years should be a "tourist spot" in Central Florida.

Orlando Downs Sanford In Wild Contest By 7-5 Count

Appreciation Night Successful; Sanford Moves To Orlando Tonite

By ARTHUR BECKWITH
Herald Sports Writer

Before 1,816 howling fans the League leading Orlando Senators downed the Sanford Celery Feds last night by a score of 7 to 5, to spoil Sanford's player appreciation night.

Jim Schantel went to the hill for the locals and was nickel'd five safeties and six runs in a half dozen innings, being pulled by Manager Ed Levy for a pinch hitter in the last half of the sixth. Charlie Bisson took the relief roll and hurled credibly ball for three innings and allowed no hits and one run.

The outstanding event of the game was the 360 foot home run ball hit by Ossie Glorig, Fed third sacker. This was the first home run ball to be knocked out of the park this year. There have been other home runs blasted out of the park but they were all inside the fence.

In the top half of the second inning the Senators went on a rampage to score five of their seven runs. To open the inning Cal Ermer blasted a single to left field followed by a sacrifice by Sam Cozzi who was safe at first when Schantel's throw to second base in an attempt to nip Ermer was late. Les Bergman was safe on a fielder's choice and "Charlie" McCarthey went down swinging. With the bases loaded, pitcher Howie Martin dropped a bunt down the first base line to score Ermer from the third sack. Martin was out at first.

Hester singled to drive Cozzi and Bergman across the platter. Burns singled to right followed by a long fly to right by Mike Dominguez which was dropped by Jerry Silverman. This must have allowed Hester and Burns to tally. Jack Lavelle was the last man to face Schantel during the hectic uprising. He popped a long fly to Dave Brade in the center field.

Dyer wasn't so happy after the first game of the double, which the Cards lost by an run. Augie Calan scored the winning run after walking to third in the ninth. Dyer declared: "We had no business losing that first game but I figured Howe's wallet could afford to give in two walks. I guess I should have realized when Pelt should have realized when Pelt should have two batters he's getting tired."

Sanford added another run in the third. With two men away Bergman poked a drive down the left field foul line for a double. At this point Byron Sharpe dropped one of Schantel's fast breaking curve balls and Bergman came tearing home from second base.

The Senators added another run in the seventh as Burns opened the inning by landing on first base by the generosity of Bisson's issuance of a free pass. Dominguez dropped a sacrifice in front of the plate to advance Burns to second. Burns broke for third and Sharpe threw the ball into left field in an attempt to zip him into the third sack. Burns scored on the play.

Sanford's first run came in the third inning when Glorig poked the old pill over the left field fence. At the sixth the Feds tallied four runs as Bob Tuttle was issued a free pass and Brade was issued a free pass and Brade

Sanford Reaches Pre-Season Goal Of 55,000 Patrons

Last night when 1,816 fans paid their way into Sanford's Municipal Park, The Celery Feds passed a goal set last January for attendance this season.

During a winter meeting held here at the Mayfair Hotel on Jan. 27, clubs were asked to estimate the number of tickets they would need for the season.

Following a quick conference between John Krider, Julian Stenstrom and Bradley Uham, the Sanford delegation answered the roll call request for ducats with a sharp "$5,000."

Several other directors and league officials looked at the Sanford group with a bit of amazement but nevertheless, Sanford passed the $5,000 mark last night.

Four-Leaf Clover Charm Used By Cards

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 27. (AP)—On the wall of the St. Louis Cardinal clubhouse are ten cellulose-wrapped four-leaf clovers. Manager Eddie Dyer of the Cards sees these clovers as a good sign, inasmuch as the Brooklyn Dodgers had to throw ten pitches against the Cards in Sunday's double-header. That meant that Dodger Manager Leo Durocher used all but one of his pitches.

Dyer wasn't so happy after the first game of the double, which the Cards lost by an run. Augie Calan scored the winning run after walking to third in the ninth. Dyer declared: "We had no business losing that first game but I figured Howe's wallet could afford to give in two walks. I guess I should have realized when Pelt should have realized when Pelt should have two batters he's getting tired."

was safe on first as a result of the fielder's choice. Tuttle going out at second. Buddy Lake singled to right followed by Lake on half to Glorig, Bryant and Joe Howington. Men who tallied were Brade, L. ke, Levy and Glorig.

Levy with two hits in four trips was the leading Fed batter. Levy bashed a double and a triple in the four appearances.

LIVESTOCK OWNERS REALIZE VALUE OF CONTROL OF PESTS

More and more Florida live stock owners are coming to realize the importance of insect pest control in their enterprises.

For many years, farmers have tried to control the horn flies and other pests that plague their cattle, but it was often considered a sort of hopeless proposition because of the great number of insects and unsatisfactory results they obtained from most insecticides. The discovery that DDT would kill many stock pests and provide protection for animals

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidney

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, you can't continue doing nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention. The kidneys are Nature's chief excretory organs. They filter all the waste products from the blood. They help most people pass about 8 pines a day.

lot of miles of kidney tubes and filters work well, yet there are many miles of blood vessels in the blood. These pulses may start filtering down the tubes and cause backache, leg pain, getting up nights, sweating, giddiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness, or many passes through smart glands.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Dean's Pill, a stimulant that will bring relief to millions for over 20 years. Dean's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of tubes filter away the dangerous wastes from the blood. Get Dean's Pill.

against them for several weeks started something about two years ago, and that "something" doubtless will result in the adoption of pest control measures as a common, necessary phase of livestock management.

Hundreds of farmers have dipped or sprayed their cattle during the past two years with DDT, and many more are adopting this practice every week. Animal industry and entomological workers believe the day is not far distant when the farmer who does not take regular and systematic measures to control livestock pests will be a rare exception in Florida.

Besides the humane side of the matter (any many a farmer has felt sorry for his cows as they tried in vain to fight off insects), tests have shown there's a very important economic slant to livestock pest control. Beef cattle that have been treated properly with DDT solutions have made notably better gains than animals that have not been given this protection; dairy cows that have been sprayed with DDT have come much nearer that state of contentment in which body weight is maintained at a good level and maximum milk production is obtained.

Cows that have to spend a large part of their time fighting off insects instead of grazing in untroubled fashion can't get as much to eat as those that are protected. Too, cows lose weight and strength when attacked by horseflies and bloodsucking insects.

DDT and proper directions, for use in to control livestock pests are available now, and there is no good reason why every farmer should not use it and realize the benefits of this new treatment.

Truce Called By U.N. Over Greek Dispute

U. S. Proposes Eight Membership Appli- cants Be Okeyed By World Organization

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Aug. 28, (AP)—The United Nations Security Council called a truce in the dispute over Greece, and turned to the question of new members for the U.N. The United States proposed that eight applicants for membership be admitted to the organization. It was pointed out that the Council must decide on membership applications by tomorrow.

That was the reason the Council agreed to shelve the argument between Russia and Britain and the Netherlands over charges against Greece brought by the Soviet Ukraine. The Ukraine had accused the present Greek government of threatening peace.

The nations which applied for membership are Albania, Afghanistan, Transjordan, Eire, Portugal, Iceland, Sweden and the Mongolian Peoples' Republic. Spain has withdrawn her application pending settlement of a dispute with France over French Indo China.

The virulent germs of an international war appear to be widespread these days. In the Balkans in the Mediterranean. In the Moslem world, all the way from Egypt to India. Perhaps, too, in China.

Reporting from Jerusalem, Joseph C. Goodwin, of the Associated Press, observed today that in ten months of traveling in Iran, Iraq, Afghanistan, Western India, Palestine, and the Persian Gulf countries, he has seen only one spot of relative tranquility, and that was in tiny Afghanistan.

Political and religious conflicts and the imperialistic jockeying between the British and the Russians cause constant threats of trouble everywhere.

The Moslem League's direct action policy generally is held to be responsible for the delay in India's independence within the British Commonwealth. Iran, torn by internal strife, and only recently freed of foreign troops, now sees new forces massed near her northern and southern frontiers. Announcements in Delhi have said that a brigade of Indian troops dispatched to Iraq was sent to protect British and Indian interests in the south Persian oil fields.

Today, the Soviet News Agency carried a Tehran report that ten thousand fully-armed Punjabis had arrived in Basra, the port of Iraq near the Khuzestan oil fields in southern Iran. British officers, added the dispatch, openly say that they have been sent to occupy Khuzestan. In London, the British war office maintains silence.

Blood has flowed in India, Iran, and the Holy Land. British warships have anchored off Bahrain, Abadan, and Haifa. As Afghanistan put into effect modernization plans, its officials claimed to have a complete and friendly understanding with the great powers. But foreign observers are not convinced that the country is altogether free of fearing Russia or the suspicion of its neighbors across the gun-studded Khyber Pass.

In Tehran, foreign diplomats are saying that Russia is lining up troops along the frontier facing Iran. One of them predicted military action between the Iranian army and the Azerbaijan provincial army within two weeks.

French To Build Monument In Honor Of U. S. Soldier

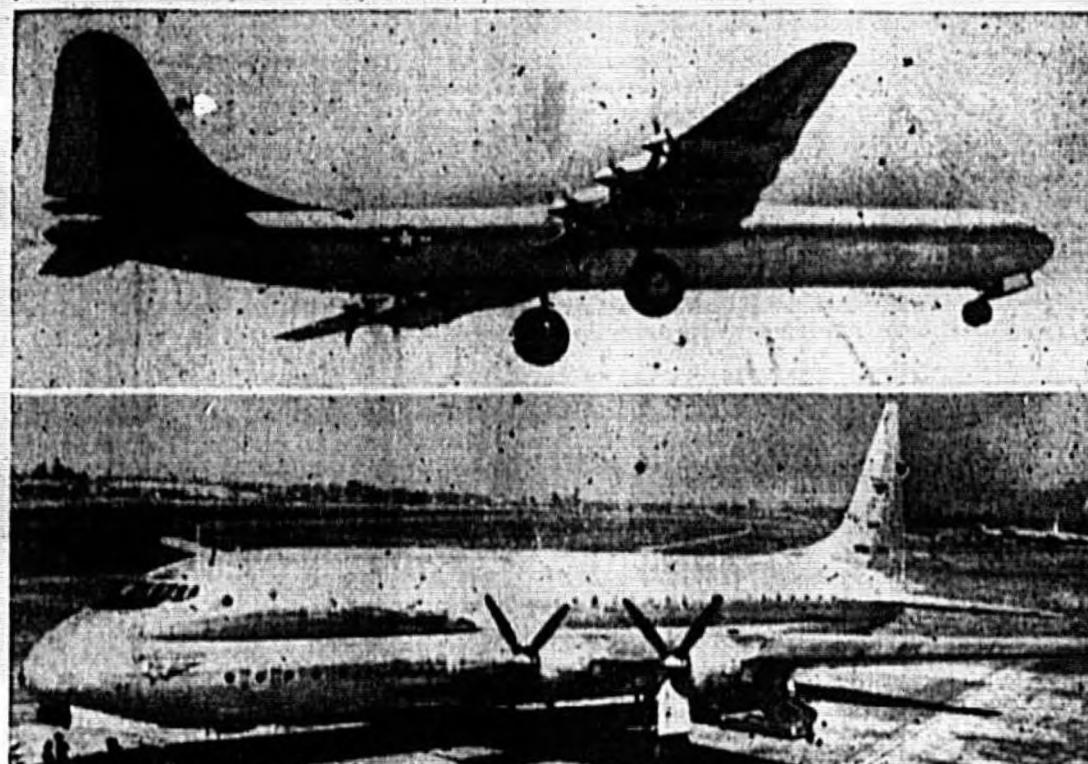

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28, (AP)—The War Department disclosed today that a monument erected by French girls will honor an American soldier here. The soldier, Pvt. James D. McCracken of Red Springs, N. C., died to save the Normandy town of Mayenne.

McCracken prevented the blasting of a bridge at Mayenne two years ago by cutting wires that led to German explosive charge. The Nazi's failure to knock out the bridge prevented the retreating Germans from making a stand which might have destroyed the town.

The Red Springs soldier, who was 20 years old, was killed by enemy fire as he emerged into the open with his machine to complete the mission. McCracken was with the 51st Infantry, Cavalry Battalion, 80th Infantry Division, in the Third Army.

He is buried in the American Military Cemetery at Marigny, France.

Guy D. Wood Is New Price Ceilings On Meat May Main Speaker At Kiwanis Meeting

Says Attack On Aircraft Made to Stir U. S. Public Opinion

For the purpose of stirring up public opinion in the United States to remove Allied forces from Trieste, the recent downing of two American planes by Yugoslav fighters was a deliberate act, Guy D. Wood told members of the Kiwanis Club at its weekly luncheon today at the Community House.

Marshal Tito, Mr. Wood declared, is tool for Premier Stalin's Soviet government. "I hope," Mr. Wood continued, "that public opinion in this country will not demand the removal of our forces from Trieste because the United States must make it happen."

"We did not think that Ethiopia or Poland was any business of ours," Mr. Wood continued. "But we found out later that it was."

Mr. Wood outlined his service as an officer of the United States Navy Guard, various assignments in the Mediterranean, and others, a including the recent world conflict.

He reviewed his experiences in such famous places as Tonkin, Oran, Casablanca, and others,

At Tonkin, he said, it was discovered that the moral fibre of the city's 200,000 population was broken after the invasion of Southern France. The scattered battleships and other vessels of the once mighty French fleet were scattered throughout the harbor and the stench of death still hovered over the coastal waters.

Trieste is a city of some 200,000 people, said Mr. Wood, who declared that the bulk of the people are Italian. Slavs are next in number he said, followed by a general mixture of many races. The port at Trieste was one of the best harbors in Europe, although some of the facilities were destroyed, he remembered. The city surrounded by natural beauty, has always been a site of trouble and unrest.

"On V. E. Day," Mr. Wood declared, "the Germans still had control of the city. It appeared as if a race would be held between the British, American and Tito forces to reach the city. Tito forced the American and British troops three way triangle

Foreign Ministers Seek Means To Speed Up Conference

Officials Begin Investigation Of Prison Disorders

Seven Convicts Are Recaptured After Break In Alabama

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28, (AP)—Federal officials today began a thorough investigation into two disorders which caused a night of heavy excitement.

Sixty State Prison near Mount Olive is continuing its investigation of a fire set off by inmates in the prison section of the blaze swept through the cell house and kitchen of the building. It was extinguished after water from a geyser system reached two inches in the second floor and spread through to the first floor. Warden W. D. Weston estimates the damage is very heavy.

At the same time the prison, located at Kelly, a separation camp, reported that 100 convicts had escaped from the facility last night. During the night, 100 convicts, mostly Negroes, had escaped from the camp. The escapees, however, developed their own organization and established a camp of their own in the woods.

Convicts, some of whom are Negroes, are said to have been released by the authorities.

The Warden said the authorities and an effort will be made in Washington to obtain a single Justice hearing on his petition for the immediate release of the defendant.

Lieut. Col. John Dwinell, the lawyer, said the court as a body already had advised him no trial could be conducted until the end of the current term, Oct. 7. Dwinell concluded that having fellow convicts on trial at the same time would be difficult. The defense intended to argue that the defendant, a Negro, was tortured, eight hours of which he was unbroken, and that he was impaired by his treatment by the men who arrested him and subsequently by the method of bringing the case to trial.

Meanwhile, the chief prosecutor, Maj. Roy Grantham, has indicated that the prosecution will rest its case tomorrow. Afterward, the trial probably will be recessed for some time. Attorneys expect a delay until certain defense witnesses either are taken to Germany or their statements are offered by the United States.

Counsel For Capt. Nash Seeks High Court Intervention

FRANKFURT, Aug. 28, (AP)—The counsel for Capt. John H. Nash, president of the American Legion, has disclosed that he is seeking United States Supreme Court intervention in the case.

The Warden said the authorities and an effort will be made in Washington to obtain a single Justice hearing on his petition for the immediate release of the defendant.

Lieut. Col. John Dwinell, the lawyer, said the court as a body already had advised him no trial could be conducted until the end of the current term, Oct. 7.
