President Says It Will Be Very Hard To Balance Budget

Tells Newsmen He Is Ready To Meet With Stalin Or Anyone To Promote Peace

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today it will be "very difficult" to balance the federal budget for the fiscal year starting July 1.

In his second news conference since taking office, the President also said:

1. This country would be put in a very difficult position if it tried to repudiate all international secret agreements made during World War Two.
2. He would meet with Premier Stalin or anyone else if he thought such a conference might lead to a lasting peace. The President said that, geographically speaking, he would be willing to meet at some halfway point rather than travel to Russia.
3. Eisenhower stressed that any agreement resulting from such a conference would have to be iron clad and what he described as self-enforcing.
4. And he said any such conference would have to be with the full knowledge of U. S. Allies.
5. He personally does not believe Communists should be permitted to teach in the nation's schools.
6. The President commented that Communists are capable of perverting even non-controversial subjects such as arithmetic to suit their own doctrine.
7. He is not exactly sure he knows just what Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) is aiming at in the investigation of the State Department's Voice of America program. He said it is up to Congress to make its own rules. Those comments were in response to questions as to whether he thought the McCarthy investigation was helping in the fight against Communism.
8. He will meet tomorrow at 10 a. m. with a group of military officers, a congressional delegation and administration officials to study the possibilities of dividing the U. S. into two zones, one for the federal government and one for the states. He said a program has been having for some time, the President said.

Moughton And Rogers Selected As Architects For County Hospital

The architectural firm of Moughton and Rogers was selected by the board of hospital trustees at a meeting last night to handle details for the construction of the new county hospital.

According to the trustees the choice was a hard one because all candidates presented excellent qualifications, but the ability of the men who make up the firm selected, plus the fact that they are near at hand for advice and the fact that they are associated with one of the nation's outstanding hospital designing and construction architectural firms, threw the weight of decision Moughton and Rogers.

The firm of Rogers and Butler, New York City, will be associated with the Florida firm in its experience as well as the hospital specialists in the New York office will be used in working out

Varied Items Are Freed Of Price Control

All Dry Groceries, Cigarettes, Copper And Aluminum Are Affected By Order

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government today lifted price controls from nearly all dry groceries, cigarettes, copper and aluminum.

Price Stabilization Control Board Chairman Joseph P. Fröhlich said controls will be retained only on coffee and coffee concentrates and the dry grocery line.

Items on which controls were retained include breakfast cereals, four soups, jams, jellies and similar products. At the same time the board of Price Stabilization Control Board announced that controls on coffee and coffee concentrates will be retained only on coffee and coffee concentrates.

Fröhlich said that controls on coffee and coffee concentrates will be retained only on coffee and coffee concentrates.

Road Board Member Apologizes To C. E. Johns For Mistaken Identity

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Earl Powers, Gainesville member of the State Road Board, today offered a public apology to Senate President Charles E. Johns for having been mistakenly identified as the senator's brother in a controversy over a county road.

Powers said last month that a "private road" had been built in Bradford County by the late Senator Johns under a deal between Senator Johns and former Road Board Chairman Alfred McKethan to pay for it out of state-wide primary road funds instead of Bradford County's share of gasoline taxes.

"Through some misinformation I made the statement that Lester Johns was a brother of Sen. Johns," Powers said. "I have been reliably informed that Lester Johns is no relative at all of the senator. I have embarrassed Mr. Johns, Sen. Johns and the people of Bradford County. I wish to offer a public apology," Powers said.

Sen. Johns is expected at the board meeting after Powers had made his apology but Powers repeated that Johns accepted the board member's apology.

Cardinals Sign Deal With Seminole Blues

It is official! The St. Louis Cardinals took an abrupt turn today and signed the Seminole Blues to a working agreement here this afternoon. The agreement was originally submitted to the Sanford Baseball Club three weeks ago. Blue Business Manager Jim Fields made the announcement this afternoon at press time.

Following the deluge of 50 to 60 telegrams on Monday night, St. Louis Cardinal President George Wainwright Jr. directed his team representative Walter Shannon to sign the Blues after last Monday's show-down meeting ended in the Cardinals withdrawing their original offer.

Loyalty Check For Employees Of Senate Urged

Rules Committee Proposes Drastic Step Affecting Workers

By EDWIN GELBER
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Rules Committee proposed today that all 1,800 employees of the Senate undergo a loyalty check.

It recommended that the name of every Senate employee be sent to the FBI for a check on whether there is "any derogatory information in the possession of such agency concerning the loyalty of such person."

The check would apply to all persons on the payroll of each Senate committee and the Senate itself.

Chairman Jenner (R-Ill.) reported the proposal was made by Sen. McCarran (D-Nev.) and approved by a voice vote.

President Eisenhower sent a new batch of nominations to the Senate today.

Lt. Shirley Tells Of Antarctic Trips With Adm. Byrd

Lt. Charles C. Shirley, USN, a photographic officer of VJ-62 at the Sanford Naval Auxiliary Air Station, told Kiwanis Club members at their weekly luncheon meeting at the Yacht Club today of his experiences in Antarctica as a member of Admiral R. E. Byrd's expeditions in 1939-41 and 1946-47.

The naval officer spent two years during the first expedition living in an area where temperatures of 70 degrees below zero Fahrenheit were not unusual.

Pilot Club Holds Annual Program In Honor Of "Bosses"

A varied and entertaining program was presented at the Pilot Club's annual "Bosses" Night held at the Yacht Club last night with Mrs. W. T. Tomlinson and Mrs. Ruth Scott in charge of the program.

Mrs. C. R. Walker, a member of the club, introduced the program with a reading of the "Bosses" list.

Lifer Who Fled Skyscraper Jail Sought In State

Convicted Slayer Of Miami Man Escapes From 20th Story

MIAMI (AP) — A state-of-mind man was under way today for a convicted slayer who escaped from the skyscraper jailhouse Tuesday night.

Sheriff Tom Kelly said Joseph Albert, 29, got away by sliding down a garden hose from the 20th floor to the 18th or 19th floor and climbing back through an open window. He then took an elevator to the 20th floor.

Two other prisoners who tried to get away at the same time were recaptured on the 20th floor. The jailer was shocked in the break but was not injured, reports.

Shortage Found In Brevard Tax Assessor Funds

Conversion To Personal Use Of $29,560 Charged By Auditor

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — A state auditor today reported he had found a $29,560 shortage in office funds of Brevard County Tax Assessor M. L. Edwards, but it was made up before he completed his audit.

The auditor appears responsible for the shortage. Edwards' account credited to his own personal use $29,560.25 "in public trust funds" which he withdrew from his official bank account during a two-year period ending March 31, 1952.

U. S. Delegate Lists Ten Facts Backing Up Charges Against Soviet Authorities

BY STANLEY JOHNSON
UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — U. S. Delegate, Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., today charged that Russia is "actively assisting the aggressors in Korea on a scale which makes possible the continuation of that aggression and determines its course."

He then listed 10 facts backing up the charge which he said the world must face and challenge. The Soviet Union to improve their situation and to improve their situation.

Mistrial Declared By Circuit Judge In Case Of H.B. Odham

DELAND (AP) — The state's prosecution of Hugh B. Odham, Sanford, on charges of manslaughter resulted in a mistrial here Tuesday.

Odham, whose brother Brailley was an unsuccessful candidate for governor in 1952, was accused of killing Diane Mills, 10, and her grandfather, Robert O'Toole, both of Deland, while driving drunk near Daytona Beach June 22.

Distraught Couple Seeks Assistance To Get To Sanford

By CHARLIE SOMERBY
Sanford as a municipality and the people of this city as understanding and considerate human beings are becoming ever-known well-known throughout the nation.

Recently a letter was received at the Chamber of Commerce offices from a man in Philadelphia, Pa., asking assistance from "a good Samaritan" in helping to finance a trip to this city for himself and his wife.

The writer explained that the couple's only child had died from cancer. A short while later the husband went to a convalescent home because of ill health. His wife felt that he, too, was afflicted with the dread disease and consequently lost all interest in living.

The Philadelphia resident went on to write that he is devoting most of his time taking care of his wife, who appears to be definitely in need of a change of environment.

"I was hoping," he wrote, "that you would make it possible for me to take my wife to Sanford for a visit or perhaps to make your city our permanent home. I know a complete change will in time awaken my my wife's interest in life again."

"I need the help of a good Samaritan because I am an amputee and at present we are living in a small apartment on a small amount of savings. I feel in time, after I am able once again to work, that I will be an asset to your lovely city."

Anyone who feels he can be of some help to the Philadelphia couple should contact Mrs. Camella Bruce, administrative assistant, at the Chamber of Commerce.

Red Cross Gives ODM GammaGlobulin

WASHINGTON, D. C. (Special)
The American Red Cross today will turn over to the Office of Defense Mobilization 1,714,096 cubic centimeters of gamma globulin which will provide 245,000 average polio shots for national distribution by the ODM this coming summer, to be used in the prevention of paralysis from poliomyelitis.

This was the first consignment of the blood fraction which the Red Cross will provide the ODM under an agreement of last December when the program was inaugurated in the national interest. The Red Cross is collecting the blood for production into gamma globulin and is paying for the fractionation, processing and packaging.

The Red Cross said it will continue to turn over to the Office of Defense Mobilization all supplies of gamma globulin as they come from the laboratories. All allocations of gamma globulin will be made solely by ODM, and all final distribution of the product will be the responsibility of the state health officers, the Red Cross emphasized.

"Now there's a Beautiful Roof"

That's what your neighbors will say when they see your new Barrett® Asphalt Shingle Roof. And there'll be more such compliments, too. For the Barrett Asphalt Shingle, with its rich harmonizing colors and neat geometrical pattern, is an eye-stopper anywhere. That's the way the women see it, at least.

Of course, from the man's view-point, the real beauty of the Barrett Asphalt Shingle is its durability. It's a tough shingle—made of high rag content felt, saturated with specially refined asphalt and surfaced with fire-proof mineral granules.

Anyway you look at it—"She's a real beauty."

Hal Boyle's Column by HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (U.P.)—The life of crusty old Field Marshal Karl Rudolf Gerd Von Rundstedt proves any future German army with a sound military maxim: "A good soldier should never take orders from a paperhanger."

Obscurely dead now at 77, Von Rundstedt must have often mused wistfully the last few years how much better the world would have been if he had shot Adolf Hitler dead the first time he saw him.

For it was the sad fate of the field marshal, one of the great warriors of this warlike century, to build a fine military machine—only to see it gambled away by a fanatic playing a foolish chess game of power with millions of lives.

Von Rundstedt was a Prussian military genius whose tragedy was his blind obedience to the ranting Nazi party chieftain whom he found personally distasteful and whose ideals repelled him.

Three times he quit Hitler's command in strong disagreement with his policy—1938, 1941, in 1944. But each time he came back to lead another Hitler lost cause.

By 1938 his military fame was secure. He had performed brilliantly in the First World War, helped keep the German general staff alive in the years that followed, and was an architect of the new modernized Army Hitler built.

Von Rundstedt opposed entering the Second World War, but put on his uniform again to mastermind the crushing defeat of Poland and France. He was against attacking Russia, but spearheaded the blitzkrieg through the Ukraine.

Again he retired after tiffing with Hitler, and again came back into Hitler's service to build his west wall defense line. After the Allies secured the Normandy beachhead, the canny old field marshal knew Germany's game was up. He wanted to lose in the sponge to save his country from piecemeal destruction.

But in the fall of 1944 he answered his final bugle summons from Hitler—to direct the last-gasp battle of the Belgian Bulge. Von Rundstedt knew it was hope less. And he resented the fact it became known as "the Rundstedt offensive." Actually, Hitler held the mad reins himself.

"They refused my advice," Von Rundstedt afterward said gruffly. "So I let it become their offensive, with their responsibility."

The great attack began the morning of Dec. 16, 1944, in the Ardennes. It caught the Allies completely by surprise, and forced them back 50 miles.

But when the Allies then rallied and held, Von Rundstedt wanted to begin a systematic withdrawal. Hitler overruled him.

One month of grinding wintry battle later, the German power in the west had been shattered. The Americans had suffered 76,500 casualties, including 8,607 dead. Nazi losses were put at 81,854, including 12,652 killed. And the war soon was in end, as Von Rundstedt had foreseen.

He went to his grave a lonely, embittered man. And if he could echo down a bit of professional military advice today from the Valhalla where all good Prussians go, it probably would be: "Never listen to a paperhanger."

Here's some handy kitchen arithmetic: There are two cups of granulated sugar in a pound; four cups of sifted confectioners' sugar in a pound.

NEW YORK (AP)—The health of the family pocketbook—no matter how it may look to you—still looks good to the slide-rule boys who figure out the averages. They think that for "The Average American" times will stay good for awhile.

Even the farmer, whose net income has been slipping, may have seen the worst of the drop, the Washington acres are saying. Factory workers continue to do a little better than last year—and that trend will probably continue for some months, especially for those in the higher-paid, defense-supporting industries.

The U. S. Department of Labor says in the last two years average hourly wages of factory workers rose nearly 12 per cent. The average hourly pay last month was $1.73.

These higher hourly rates, plus longer work weeks in many plants, sent average weekly earnings for factory workers up 13 per cent in the last two years to $72.40 by mid-December.

For the farmer the story hasn't been so good. Farm prices have been falling and his operating costs are either at a record high or have slipped only slightly.

But the Agriculture Department thinks the worst of the fall in farm product prices is over. It estimates today that total cash income of U. S. farmers this month will be about two billion dollars, just about what it was in the same month last year.

The rub, of course, comes when the farmers have to spend that two billion for things they need. Their net income will be down.

Congress is currently struggling with various proposals to help the farmer hold his place in the income parade.

TODAY'S BIBLE VERSE

We should try to have our accounts in order at all times. Watch therefore; for ye know not what hour your Lord shall come.—Matt.

We hope the Cards may yet change their minds about taking over the Blues.

Now that you have read our special edition, why don't you wrap it up and mail it to some friend up North? You too can help to advertise Sanford.

We see where former President Truman has been offered $500,000 for his memoirs. And just to think, his best memories will not even be included in his book.

A nine-year-old boy was bitten by a six-foot rattlesnake near Wauchula the other day and though he has been given a dozen blood transfusions, he is still in a critical condition. It can happen here.

Refugees are said to be pouring through the Iron Curtain from Poland and East Germany at the rate of 3,500 a day. No need to ask them how they like the economic security provided by the Communists.

Sanford Rotarians heard five of their own men put on a much better program the other day on the occasion of Rotary's 47th anniversary and they spoke on "What Rotary Means To Me" than many a program presented by some highly publicized celebrity from the outside. Sanford clubs should have more programs like this one.

When you go to the Central Florida Exhibition in Orlando, be sure to notice the new diorama for Seminole County built by Exhibit Builders, Inc. of Deland of which Earl Brown, president of the State Chamber of Commerce, is head. Later on this year this diorama will be taken on a tour of the county fairs held throughout the north and west.

"The news columns of the daily newspapers are the most effective means of campaigning," says Dr. Floyd Ruch, of the University of Southern California and president of Psychological Services, Inc. Dr. Ruch says the newspaper has "timeless value" because it can be read at any time during the day or night. Of course a lot depends upon how the news columns are used as to how effective they are.

Patience is what this country needs, in dealing with Russia, General Bradley said at the Animated Magazine Sunday, and patience is what we have the least of. Those who think that World War III has already begun are not apt to be patient with such annoyances as the Korean truce talks or the Berlin blockade. But we are not apt to make the situation any better by making it worse.

Those people who may think it is a simple task to publish the Herald's annual tourist issue may be interested to know that there were 52,000 individual operations merely in the comparatively minor matter of inserting the various sections into each other. Statistically speaking, if the pages of this issue were all laid end to end they would form a strip reaching all the way from Jacksonville to a point ten miles below Orlando.

The public and press will henceforth be allowed to hear the testimony in the Mickey Juba vice trial. The evidence may not be edifying and many newspapers may not want it but the public will know if they read it in their newspapers it is an accurate account of what happened. There will be no more manipulation of evidence by lawyers and no more twisting of the law to the convenience of big business by the courts. By the way, the witness called by Sanford reporter, James A. Mackay, was the same man who testified in the Juba case.

Treating A Disease

A year ago an interesting experiment in industrial sociology was begun in New York City. The Institute of Industrial Medicine of the New University-Bellevue Medical Center, in co-operation with the Consolidated Edison Company and other companies, established a consultation clinic for alcoholism. Employees who were addicted to the use of alcohol were treated at the clinic. The results of the first year of operation are very encouraging.

Of fifty-one employees of the Consolidated Edison Company treated at the clinic 41 have managed to control their drinking. This represents 80 per cent of the Consolidated employees who took the treatments. The others failed and were re-treated, discharged or resigned from their jobs.

The company now has 41 employees who are satisfactory and stable instead of 51 who were prone to miss work or work inefficiently. The report on the first year of the experiment adds that most of the men treated now have better relations with their families and with their fellow employees.

It has long been a policy of employers to discharge workers who drink too much and it is hard to condemn employers who follow this practice. But many men who have become addicted to alcohol have valuable training and skills which are lost to industry if they are cast aside. Once they have been fired their drinking becomes even more of a problem and the community and society in general is the worse for it. The New York program is a recognition that alcoholism is a medical condition and can be treated. It represents progress in the field of human relations.

Toward Wider Views

Advice for lawyers has just been conveyed by Justice Stanley F. Reed of the Supreme Court. He has given the University of Virginia Law School, where he studied 45 years ago, its 1000,000th volume. Did he select for his offering some rare legal tome? Not at all. He gave "Adventure in Ideas" by the late philosopher Alfred N. Whitehead. This does not deal with the technicalities of the legal profession, but treats of the philosophy of mankind. Reed puts it plainly:

"Education of a lawyer should not be limited to the study of law. A lawyer must attain an understanding of the intellectual forces behind the law. It is only from such a basis that he is capable of foreseeing the trend of the future in his profession."

This view inspired the judicial service of the century's greatest Supreme Court Justices, Oliver Wendell Holmes, Louis D. Brandeis and Benjamin N. Cardozo. The lesson is not confined to law. Medicine, engineering and other high specialized fields are more effectively handled if the practitioner has reflected deeply on outside subjects.

Questioner Abroad

Adlai Stevenson's projected journey around the world, to last from March to July, recalls that of another defeated presidential candidate, Woodrow Wilson. In 1911, just after his defeat by President Roosevelt, Wilson visited Europe. His aim was the same as Stevenson's, to get firsthand information about a world in crisis. He received great acclaim, met Churchill, Stalin and other war leaders, and expounded American views. Part of his success may have been due to the warm recommendation he received from Roosevelt, who always liked and admired him.

Stevenson has been pronounced an equally warm send-off from President Eisenhower, and he is at least as well known to Europeans as Wilson was in 1911. He will undoubtedly profit from his firsthand impressions. As he plans to visit Asia as well as Europe, he may be expected to learn what Orientals think about our Korean problem.

Smathers Urging Creation Of New Judicial District

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Smathers (D-Fla.) urged today to create a new federal judicial district in South Florida.

Smathers spoke on a bill he introduced recently to set up a third district in the state. There are now two.

The subcommittee is considering an omnibus judgeship bill providing new seats on the federal bench for the various states. That bill would increase from three to four the number of judges authorized for the South Florida District.

Smathers said in a prepared statement that there appeared little controversy over the judgeship increase but that getting a new district would be an uphill battle.

Smathers said the federal judicial system in Florida should be strengthened to provide "greater and truly equal justice in a state whose population growth points toward a five-million mark within the next decade."

Speaking on the present setup, Smathers said that more than 82 per cent of the state's population and land area are embraced in the single Southern District.

He said he proposed adding the present Southern District in half, making Miami the center for the Southern District and creating a new Central District centering about the Orlando, Tampa, St. Petersburg and Jacksonville areas.

Smathers said that equal justice could not really be provided in Florida until there is an orderly arrangement of districts.

He used a Florida map to show what he termed the "present ridiculous arrangement in which our three largest population areas are lumped in the Southern Judicial District."

He said the federal judges in South Florida are carrying case loads "which drive them toward an early grave or a forced neglect of the rights of our citizens."

He asserted that "This is no criticism of those fine unselfish men who serve long and arduous hours on the bench but it is a reflection upon our system which seems reluctant to provide relief."

26,000 - Mile Sailing Voyage Ends In Miami

MIAMI (AP)—A 26,000-mile ocean voyage in a 46-foot cutter ended here Tuesday for two former Australian Air Force pilots.

Philip Davenport, 34, and his brother, Keith, 29, left Sydney, Oct. 16, 1952, "because we had always wanted to take a good sail."

Their sailing voyage took them through tropical storms in the South Pacific and ice floes in the Patagonian Islands.

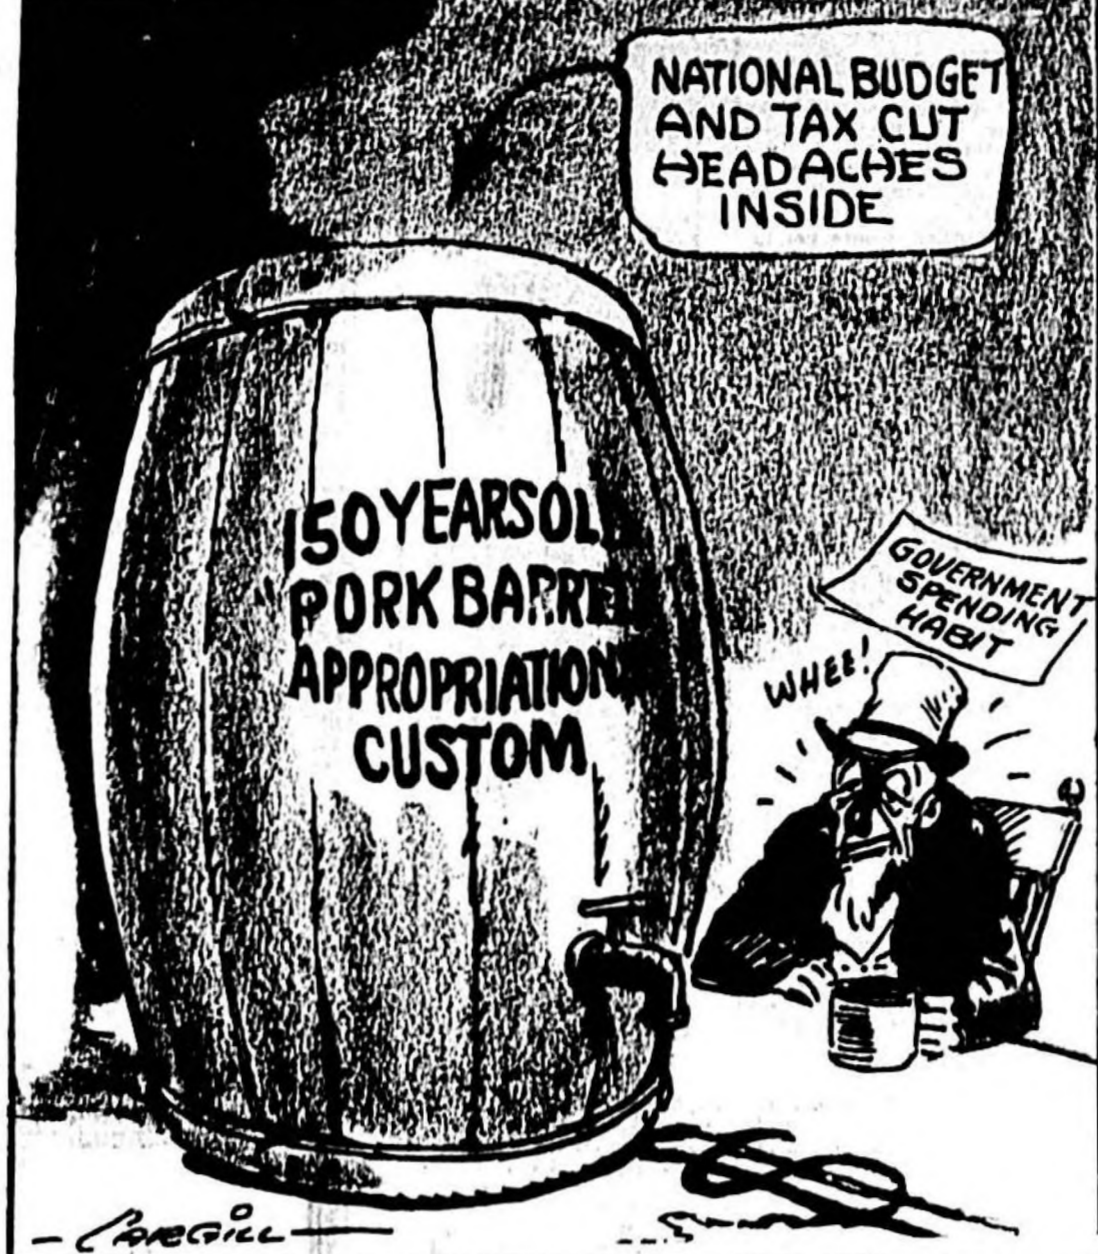

They decided to end their travels here, for the present, at least, because Philip wants to rush back to Australia. His wife was scheduled to have a baby there in January.

From Sydney, the brothers traveled to Auckland, N.Z., across the South Pacific to the West Coast of Chile into the Patagonian Channel and the Magellan Straits and along the coasts of Argentina, Uruguay and Brazil.

From Brazil, they sailed to England, Scotland, Norway, Sweden, Denmark and back to England. From where Philip's wife and a friend who had accompanied them returned to Australia. The brothers then sailed from England to Miami in 30 days.

Among the most helpful, constructive and informative data reaching my desk are the Economic Leaflets, published by the Bureau of Economics and Business Research, College of Business Administration, University of Florida.

Persons interested in the controversial toll highway question will find the leaflet issued in December entitled "Toll Highways: The Florida Proposal" highly informative. It is written by Merrill J. Roberts, associate professor of transportation and economics, and is summarized and analyzed very ably and not peculiar to Florida alone.

In his carefully prepared survey, Professor Roberts points out that highway inadequacy is nationwide, plaguing virtually every state and not peculiar to Florida alone.

Detailed studies of this state's highway system reveals a discouraging picture: nearly a billion dollars worth of highway construction is required to meet present day needs within the next three years. Available revenues under our present system will only produce about one-fifth of this requirement.

In 1951 the Florida State Primary System consisted of 0.672 miles, representing 18 per cent of the total mileage. This network, however, handled 65 per cent of the traffic and had 80 per cent of the deficiencies anticipated over the next two decades.

Inadequate long range highway planning in the past, when the rapid expansion of automotive ownership forced primary emphasis on immediately usable facilities, caused makeshift construction of highways incapable of standing up under the steadily increasing traffic flow and improperly engineered with a minimum of straightening and widening.

The further failure to protect highways against the encroachment of property owners led to exorbitant right-of-way costs when redesign and reconstruction became necessary.

Allocation of road funds by both state and federal government does not encourage construction where most needed but has resulted in a sprawling, disconnected system of county roads which serve isolated needs, while the primary system that is called on to carry the bulk of the traffic suffers.

If Florida is to solve its highway problem which is daily becoming more acute, it is apparent that she must start now on a long range program designed to establish an adequate primary system, and this cannot be accomplished unless additional revenues are found to meet the cost.

In any event, you can depend on it, highway users are going to have to pay the bill either in the form of toll or in increased gasoline taxes. If all motor vehicle taxes went for road construction it would still prove far short of the need, but in Florida, motor vehicle taxes are diverted to other uses to the end that the motorist is paying more than his share of

THE WORLD TODAY

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Once more the government has called labor and management leaders together to build, if they can, a road to industrial peace. There has been no widespread optimism about the outcome.

Secretary of Labor Philip H. Murray has established a 15-man advisory committee—five from labor, five from business, and five representing the public—to advise him on what changes Congress should make in the Taft-Hartley Law.

If the 15 can agree, so much the better for Durkin. If not, he'll have to figure out what changes to recommend. Since the committee is advisory only, he can accept or reject whatever it suggests.

The committee met Monday, gets down to work next week. But no matter what the committee recommends or Durkin suggests to Congress, it's Congress which will have final say on any changes made in T-H.

When a wave of strikes rolled across the country at the end of World War II, ex-President Truman called a 25-day management-labor conference. This was composed of 18 labor leaders, 18 business leaders, three men representing the public.

Truman said the time had come for both management and labor to show whether they could put their houses in order and establish "a broad and permanent foundation for industrial peace and progress."

That was still in the period of the Wagner Labor Relations Act which had been passed in 1935. About the most that act said was this: employers must bargain with a union. Representing their employees.

This put most of the load on employers, practically no restrictions on unions. Management had complained loudly for years it was one-sided.

It was against the background of the Wagner Act, and years of dispute about it between management and labor, that the management-labor conference of 1945 was held.

To no one's great surprise the conference broke up without settling up machinery to settle post-war labor disputes. Leaders on both sides were in complete disagreement on major issues.

At the closing session labor leaders blamed business leaders, and the leaders of the AFL and CIO, William Green and Philip Murray, weren't very happy with each other, either.

And John L. Lewis, the miners' boss, gave his fellow representatives of organized labor a lecture. He reminded them to watch how a monthly management people seemed to work together.

But there have been some major changes between that 1945 conference called by Truman and the advisory committee now set up by Secretary Durkin, who was himself a union leader before becoming secretary.

In 1947 the Republican-controlled Congress over Truman's veto, substituted the Taft-Hartley Act for the old Wagner Act. This new law spelled out a number of restrictions on both management and labor, particularly on labor.

Murray and Green are both dead. George Meany (he took part in the 1945 conference) is now head of the AFL and Walter Reuther (he didn't take part) is president of the CIO. It is on the advisory committee, too.

Meany and Reuther, who do not have behind them the long history of personal animosity as did Murray and Green, may work closer together.

While the AFL, CIO and Laborers all wanted the T-H wiped out in the past, the AFL and CIO facing the reality that they have no chance of getting it repealed will settle for changes. Lewis may suffer his view, too.

But the differences between what business leaders want changed in T-H, and what labor leaders want changed, may be so wide that they can't reach agreement—at least on major points, like eliminating the 90-day injunction against strikes.

Labor and management should be able to agree on minor changes in the present law.

If you pit and cut dates that you'll find that a pound of this unspiced fruit will give you about one and three-quarters cup.

Celery Crate News By GRACE M. STINECIPHER

The square dance that was held at the Crute last Saturday night was a huge success. There were lots of people there and everyone was having a wonderful time. Practically everyone there joined in the four big square dances of the evening. While reeling between them there was some round dancing. Lots of the kids seemed to enjoy these including J. B. Howell and Lennie Rutledge; Imogene Hostick and Bob Yarborough who really got on some exhibition. Some of the couples there were Ann Vance and Walter Winterholt, Betty Brian and Harvey Wilkinson, Colley Engerbreton and Bob Morris, Elizabeth Woodruff and Ernie Morris, Jimmy Fox and Joe Hutchinson had dates from out of town. Most of those there went out with their dates but there was really a crowd there!

We were also glad to see the parents up there Saturday night. They entered into the dancing and had just as much fun as the kids. Some of these parents were Mr. and Mrs. Wiederholt, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Sykes, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Osborne, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. StinecIPHER, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Assarelli and Mrs. A. C. Cleveland.

Furnishing the wonderful music for this affair was Dave Shannon's orchestra. Some people there just came to hear the music, so you know they must be good. The caller was Denton Prevatt who is really an expert at it!

Some want these square dances to be a monthly event. What do you think? And if you have any other suggestions as to how we might make the Crute a better success tell any of the officers or sponsors and we will certainly try your ideas.

This Saturday is just regular Crute, but something different is always happening so come on up!

BROWNIE SCOUTS BY MRS. RANDALL CHASE

A new world has opened up for scoreless girls a Brownie Scout World. Watch for news of it!

Troop 2 was the first to be started this year. Mrs. Frank Scott is the leader. Mrs. John Fonder and Mrs. Frank Dutton the assistants. It meets each Wednesday afternoon at the Jewish Community Center. Its 16 Brownies were started in an instructional service at Thanksgiving time. A most thrilled group you've never seen. What a busy few months they have had so far making leaflets, one-piece turkeys at Thanksgiving, Christmas door or blanket, and this was eclipsed however, by the excitement of their first annual parade in uniform in the Christmas parade. Since Christmas they have been learning how to cook, both inside and out of doors, under the direction of Miss Carol Stum; and enjoying folk dances from Miss Maude Wilson, who had a Brownie Scout Troop in Scotland! All along they study in their Brownie Scout Handbooks and each girl earns a nickel weekly to pay her dues. They are learning not only about Brownie Scouting but about all how to be better citizens, finer and better developed individuals. It is a great thing for Sanford!

Troop 3 has just started with Mrs. Fred Robb as leader assisted by Mrs. John Lee. This Troop will be sponsored by the Methodist Church in the Presbyterian Church. It meets every Tuesday afternoon and soon they will be ready for their

These Women By CYNTHIA LOWRY AP Newsfeatures Writer

A home face-lifting kit is soon to be on the market, according to a magazine called "People Today." What this may do for future male peace of mind depends entirely on the way it catches on.

Fortunately, this new, home approach to face-lifting does not require plastic surgery, so the door has not yet been opened on home appendectomies, prefrontal lobotomies or even stitching in a cut finger.

However, the possibility of lifting one's own face in the privacy of one's boudoir certainly opens new vistas of thought. Particularly since there's nothing permanent about it.

The manufacturer of this new and startling gimmick alleges that the device makes "women look 20 years younger," the magazine says, presumably meaning wrinkled ladies with flabby jowls. I rather imagine that a gentleman romantically interested in a lady would age permanently 20 years out of sheer fright if, under certain emergency conditions, it became necessary for her to let down her face. Should be more practical to try to win him with her personality and in spite of her wrinkles.

Things have come to a pretty pass already because women have a formidable armory for their fight against the ravages of time and the quest for beauty. What with expensive home permanent, every woman can have curly hair. Home hair tinting and dying preparations have made it possible for every woman, regardless of income, to banish gray hair.

A wide assortment of creams, unguents, oils and foundation makeup have made it possible for all except the most extreme cases to appear as what is apparently a schoolgirl's complexion or better.

Artful dressing, with discreet padding here and there can turn most figures into handsome ones, regardless of how they were actually endowed.

The average man nowadays must have a sharp and cynical eye if he can separate natural from art and tag a woman with something approximately her present age. This is the day when grandmothers by the score are able to play young girls on the stage and in the movies and are able to draw wall whistles on the street. But if permanents, dyes, cosmetics and padding can't turn the stick for me, I'll have an old-fashioned face-lifting or better still, a credit my fate. After all, what's so dreadful about wrinkles? They've been appearing a long as there have been people or eyes around.

When you summer food you cook at it just below the boiling point, bubbles will appear just below the surface, but they will not form and break on the surface.

Bob La Follette Will Be Buried In Native Wisconsin

By EDMUND LE BRETON
WASHINGTON—The body of former Sen. Robert M. La Follette Jr., who shot himself to death yesterday, leaves Washington today for burial in Madison, Wis.

There, in the state where electors kept members of the La Follette family in high office for almost half this century, the only services for "Young Bob" will be held.

Tentative plans were for funeral services Friday at Grace Episcopal Church in Madison, with Father John Keene officiating.

Mrs. La Follette, summoned home from a Red Cross meeting about noon yesterday by an urgent telephone call from her husband, found his body on the floor of a bathroom in their Northwest Washington house. A 22-caliber target pistol was in his right hand. A single bullet had been fired through the roof of his mouth.

Dr. A. Macruder McDonald, District of Columbia coroner, pronounced the death officially as self-inflicted. Police said no note was found.

La Follette, 58, was said to be working about a heart ailment which several years ago had caused him to be hospitalized for several months and which had recently recurred.

La Follette was 30, the youngest senator since Henry Clay, when he succeeded his father, Robert M. (Fighting Bob) La Follette. He was elected in 1925 and re-elected term after term until Joseph P. McCarthy, then a circuit judge, defeated him in the Republican primary of 1946, and went on to be elected senator.

McCarthy said yesterday he was "deeply shocked" at La Follette's death, and added, "I am sure that his many friends in Wisconsin and the nation will also be deeply grieved."

La Follette had lived in Washington since his defeat, acting as an economic adviser and consultant. He went to the city after the last time yesterday morning. He also was chairman of the board of a Milwaukee radio station and served on the boards of Sears Roebuck & Co. and the United Fruit Company.

Tributes to La Follette came from many of his former colleagues in the Senate and in Congress, including President Truman, the president of the CIO, who called him "a liberal in the truest sense of the word."

La Follette supported Franklin D. Roosevelt generally on domestic issues. He worked for minimum wages and unemployment relief, and pushed an investigation of alleged strong-arm tactics used by employers against unions. He was also author of a legislative reorganization law and served as chairman of the Civil Liberties Commission.

However, in the period before U. S. entrance into World War II he opposed many of Hoover and administration's foreign and preparedness policies, including such measures as lend-lease for Britain, revision of the neutrality law, selective service and the later extension of service by draftees. After the U. S. entered the war, he declared himself wholeheartedly behind the war effort.

He supported Roosevelt during three campaigns but took no official stand in the fourth.

La Follette married Miss Rachel Wilson Young, his secretary, in 1930. They have two sons, Joseph Oden and Bronson Cutting La Follette.

her's regrets and the two men shook hands.

Road Chairman Richard Simpson also referred to Powers' statement that the road which runs to the Lester Johns farm was a "private road."

"That appears to depend on the definition of a private road. Certainly this road is not a super-highway but it's not just a road to any one farm either," Simpson stated.

He said the road appeared in the 1952 Road Department budget for construction out of state-levied funds during the last year of the Warren administration and "this board is concerned only with 1953 roads."

Simpson said the $10,000 bill for the road has been paid from primary funds and no further action is necessary.

The board, meeting to adopt its 1953 construction budget, added one primary and two secondary jobs in Hillsborough County.

It placed in the budget as a primary project improvement of a mile and a quarter of 2nd St. south of Hillsborough Ave. in Tampa. It added to the secondary program the paving of 2.75 miles of a county road from Magdalene Rd. to Florida Ave. road, and 1.75 miles from Columbus Dr. to 10th St.

A resolution from the Manatee County commissioners for asking for construction of a proposed bridge project to be financed by a six million dollar Improvement Commission bond issue was received but no immediate action was taken.

A discussion of all bond-financed projects proposed or started by the Warren administration was planned later in the day. They include a 19 million dollar Broward County bridge and tunnel program, a seven million dollar Sarasota County bridge project and a two million dollar Manatee County bridge program.

and this in the relatively insignificant sum of $53,023 on Jan. 29, 1953.

Other remittances were made only upon demand by the county commission of call by an auditor, Asst. State Auditor Joe Henry said.

Bergert said when he checked Edwards' books as of March 1, 1952 he found the assessor's liabilities amounted to $23,330.38 but there was only $3,017.08 in the official bank account, leaving a shortage of $19,313.30.

When he presented his findings to the assessor, Bergert reported Edwards told him he had funds to cover the liability "but he did not state the bonds represented an investment of the funds nor did he present bonds or securities for inspection but made a deposit of two checks totaling $19,719 to cover the liability."

The auditor reported "the records disclose that the assessor withdrew from his official bank account, by means of personal checks, the total sum of $53,023 during the audit period (two years)."

"His total compensation for the period amounted to $21,381.75. An additional deposit of personal funds totaling $10,000 was made on July 24 and the checks were drawn and delivered for the amount of the excess income due to $29,382.25 in public trust funds, and payable for calendar years 1949 through 1951."

Of the two prisoners, Chapman and Johnson, must have lost their nerve because they were dazed around on the ledge of the 20th floor and then dived against swinging out over the street," the sheriff said.

Apology

Court appeal.

Night Jailor Joseph Frankin said at first the third man was Robert Johnson, but in a play-acting of a bartender. A re-check of prisoners revealed it was Harry Johnson.

Frankin said he was slugged by Chapman as he prepared to put 30 prisoners into small cells for the night. The men were in the corridor at the time and Albert approached him with a mail list from the prisoners.

"Chapman was partly hidden behind Albert," Frankin said "and when I tried to take the list from Albert, Chapman lunged over his shoulder and hit me on the left side of the jaw. His fist hit a small piece of pipe which did not turn from the plumbing."

"I sagged, dazed temporarily, and as soon as I realized they had the upper hand I faked unconsciousness," he continued. "Then the two killers pushed me into a cell."

Frankin said the other prisoners watched the proceedings but did not intervene. Some started a game of cards. Some started to dance.

The three escapees made their way down to the 20th floor in the 20 story building where the kitchen and trash chutes are located. From the kitchen they secured a 50-foot length of plastic garden hose used for cleaning jail floors.

"They secured one end of the hose on the 20th floor and Albert let himself down to one of the lower floors," said Sheriff Kelly.

"We are not sure whether he reentered the building on the 16th or the 17th floor, swinging in through an open window on the southeast

MARCH OF EVENTS

Senate May Look Into Lobby in Airliner Jets
Tobey Promises Inquiry Into Why Nation Trails

WASHINGTON—A new Senate inquiry is in prospect on American delay in catching up to Britain's development of jet-propelled commercial airliners. The commerce committee, headed by Senator Charles Tobey (R), New Hampshire, has been awarded funds to carry on the probe begun last year under the leadership of Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D), Colorado.

Tobey says that there is no reason why America, with its tremendous aviation "know-how" and record of previous accomplishments, should lag behind the British in the jet field.

The senator says he will fit the jet inquiry into his committee's already crowded investigation program, which includes scrutiny of crime and racketeering on the New York waterfront, and development of color television.

The New Englander has ruled out, however, any revival of the celebrated Senate "crime committee," which, when headed by Senator Estes Kefauver (D), Tennessee, two years ago made sensational headlines and, incidentally, spotlighted Tobey as a TV star in his own right.

TO THE RESCUE—The "comedy of errors" over extension of President Eisenhower's government reorganization powers has had one reassuring result from the administration viewpoint. The White House is now absolutely convinced that one of its best friends is Senator Robert A. Taft.

What happened is history: Two congressional committees voted to make it easier to reject any government reorganization plan the President might submit. They did so over the objections of Budget Director Joseph M. Dodge, whose plans for unrestricted authority were thought to have White House backing.

However, when it was announced that President Eisenhower had agreed in advance to the committee actions, it seemed that Dodge had not been notified, which left him on the end of a well-waxed limb.

Actually, the President did not want his powers trimmed. However, even before he told Congress so in the union message, Taft had straightened matters out on Capitol Hill. There was no further embarrassment. The chief executive got what he wanted.

MUM'S THE WORD—Cabinet members are taking very seriously the White House dictum against discussing what goes on inside their weekly sessions with President Eisenhower.

Moreover, the few public addresses made so far by members of the administration's official family have been singularly devoid of news as to life's policies.

Washington correspondents, accustomed to the news "leaks" which occurred so frequently during the Roosevelt and Truman administrations, are being forced to dig for news.

They are confident that as Ike's circle of associates grows, there will be more news, even though, as in the past, some of it comes without official sanction.

TAXES—Don't look for congressional action on tax reduction before mid-May at the earliest. Despite the drive being conducted by House Ways and Means Chairman Daniel A. Reed (R), New York, for quick enactment of tax relief, the administration and its top lieutenants on Capitol Hill are determined to go slow.

The President is reported to be adamant on the matter of finding a formula for balancing the budget before giving the green light to tax reduction.

Personal use.

"He re-deposited $10,785 of this amount according to unidentified bank deposits of the audit period.

"An additional deposit of personal funds totaling $10,000 was made on July 24 and the checks were drawn and delivered for the amount of the excess income due to $29,382.25 in public trust funds, and payable for calendar years 1949 through 1951."

Among the larger jobs in the Press Conference

commented that no quick solution can be expected, but that the group is going to try and come up with an answer.

There have been reports that the administration might propose that the states step out of the federal government's giving up taxes on such things as theater admission tickets and gasoline.

He does not believe Alaska has proved its case for statehood. The President said the matter needs more study but that he feels Hawaii, on the other hand, is ready for statehood.

He does not see how universal military training could be put into effect as long as the nation has to rely upon the draft to furnish manpower for Korea. He called the Korean conflict a fairly major war.

He favors extension of the Reciprocal Trade Act but is not prepared at this time to go into detail regarding a possible modification of the law. The current measure expires in June.

This second meeting of the President and newsmen drew another capacity crowd of reporters to the Indiana Treaty Room of the old State Department where the conference was held.

As his first conference last week, Eisenhower first brought up subjects he wanted to talk about before opening the session for questions.

His budget remarks were in response to a question as to whether he agreed with Budget Director Joseph M. Dodge that it will be very difficult to balance the federal budget for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Of course it will be difficult, the President replied. Terrifically. He added that if it were not most difficult the job the budget would have been balanced a long time ago.

The President turned then to the administration's resolution proposing that Congress join with the President in rejecting any international secret agreements "which have been entered into without the subjugation of free peoples."

A reporter told the President there has been criticism from some senators that his resolution was not critical enough of the secret agreements themselves. The resolution concentrates on criticism of Russia for violation of the pact.

Eisenhower replied that he is not one to say that his proposals can not be improved upon.

But he went on to say that his hospital field Mr. Rogers, associated with Yonke and Hart, designed and built the 105-bed hospital at Florida State College in Tallahassee—the 75-tion to the University of Florida hospital in Gainesville. At present he is supervising the Winter Park Memorial Hospital, on which he and three other architectural firms are working, with Mr. Rogers as chairman.

Large construction jobs done by Mr. Rogers include the Capital Center in Tallahassee made up of the Supreme Court, the Town Department building, and the buildings with a total cost of over five million dollars.

Scurvey Reported Among Children

Jacksonville, Jan. 17 (AP)—It is astounding but true that we had scurvey among children in a state which produces citrus as a major crop.

That was what one doctor, Dr. Charles J. Mathes of the Flagler-Putnam Counties health unit, told the Florida Children's Commission at a meeting here.

He and other public health doctors on a panel reported that malnutrition and disease which go with it affect 30 percent of children in small Northeast Florida counties and a large number in Duval County.

Dr. Wilson T. Sowder, state health officer, headed the panel which called hookworm, anemia and scurvey as active enemies of Florida children.

Scurvey, a locomotion disease, is attacking Florida's children... so say eminent doctors reporting to the Florida Children's Commission.

Vitamin C prevents scurvey. Vitamin C prevents scurvey. Vitamin C prevents scurvey.

Hospital

WASHINGTON (AP)—In addition to the work he has done in San Francisco, Mr. Rogers, in San Francisco, Chicago, Birmingham and Jacksonville, accumulating 37 years of experience. Local examples of his work are the Memorial Stadium, the public housing projects in West San Francisco and the Mayfair Inn.

Since construction started about a new hospital, many years ago, Mr. Moughtin has shown his interest from a civic standpoint in providing many sketches and serving as a consultant architect for many of the committees that have worked on hospital programs.

While serving with the Army engineers he worked on many projects that ranged from fortifications to hospitals and after service in Jacksonville he went to Savannah where he supervised the construction of a hospital for the government.

James Rogers Gamble II, the other member of the firm, has been a Winter Park resident for 30 years. He designed the remodeling of the Waterman Hotel in Florida converting it into a 100 bed hospital. He has been commended for his work, the trustees learned, not only in larger jobs but in getting the most out of space and money in the design of smaller clinics, among them the Medical Clinic of Dr. M. M. Hamann, that of Dr. Louis M. Orr in Orlando and that of Dr. F. W. Nickel in Winter Park.

Kansas Firm Likes Local Light System

The Sanford office of the Florida Power and Light Company recently received a letter from Meyer, Kan., which inquired into the source of the new-type area illumination system at the local office.

The letter, sent by M. C. Garrelts, office manager, Farmers Alliance Insurance Company, asked the name of the manufacturer and stated the Kansas company was considering the building of a new home office and that the installation looked "very good."

The information was furnished by H. H. Coleman, division manager for the Florida company. He said the installation appeared in several trade journals and apparently the insurance man saw it in one of them.

A defective oil stove burst into flames, causing minor damage at the home of Anna Jones, 812 Poplar Avenue, last night before firemen arrived to extinguish the fire.

Firemen Keep Busy With Minor Blazes

City firemen were kept busy last Saturday with a number of minor blazes. It was reported by Fire Chief M. N. Cleveland.

The first of four fires Saturday began with a call for firemen to walk across the street to put out a smoldering switch box in the apartment at 1225 Palmetto Avenue at 10:03 a.m.

At 12:34 p.m. the same day, the booster fire truck was dispatched to 2400 Mellonville Avenue to extinguish a grass blaze. Within one hour the booster returned to the same area to put out a fire in the vacant lot section of 2400 Mellonville Avenue.

The last of the flurry of grass fires was subdued Saturday afternoon at 1600 West First Street. After a quick firemen were called out on two house alarms yesterday. A defective switch box in the home of the Rev. John Owens, 1801 S. Hickory Avenue, brought firemen to the house at 2:55 p.m. yesterday. The men arrived to extinguish the fire.

Oviedo Blasts Boone JV's, 61-36, For 15th Straight

"Swish" Jones Hits For 27 To Raise His Total To 341; Lions JV's Benten

OVIEDO (Special)—Those in- comparable Oviedo Lions did it again last night by blow- ingly smashing the Boone Junior Varsity quintet that ended the regular season of play for Coach Paul Miller's Lions covers with a 61-36 victory that extended to the middle of December right on to the end.

It was Johnny "Swish" Jones who spearheaded the Lions from the court with a big scoring onslaught of 27 points, again, a combination that has become a habit as that morning cup of coffee.

The 15-year-old sophomore who still has two more years at high school, says all-abilities now leads the Seminole County prep scoring parade with a phenomenal 341 points in the 18 OVIDO games for an average of 19.0 points a game.

The Lions had a minor setback when the lifeline of the double-headed saw the Boone JV's substitute stars nose out the Oviedo B team, 32-20.

The Millermen started slowly in the first half, but gained a lead of 10-0 in the second period, but the subsequent half-time score out the Lions clearly in the lead, 23-10. Then the 20-point third quarter gave the Oviedoans a convincing 36-20 margin.

In the final minutes the Lions ripped through the Boone JV's, scoring 25 points in the last 10 minutes, and it was the lions' 10 Warren "Mac" McCall, star Oviedo rebounder and playmaker, dumped in 11 markers while Freshman Fred Wilton, operating from the guard, was third high for the winners with 10 tallies.

Russell and Neal of Boone were deadbeats for the losing scoring laurels with 10 each.

The Oviedo Lions, having concluded their regular season's schedule, now rest until May 6 when they enter the all-important state championship tourney in the initial group meet at Wrensboro.

It is no secret that "Swish" Miller is seeking at least one more game to tune up his cage phenoms for the big tourney. The Lions found an early regular state with a 16-2 record for the season and a brilliant unbeaten string of 15-0 in Central Florida conference play.

The Lions will be one of the ranking class C quintets in Florida when the state tourney opens next week.

SHS Varsity Loses To Mighty 'Crabs' 56-42; Richards Makes 23 Points

By KENT CHETLAIN

Those Seminole High School Junior "Blitz Kids" stunned the once mighty Seabreeze JV's here last night in a closely contested match, 56-42, while the bucket happy Sand Crab varsity pierced the Seminole varsity defenses from the free throw line and far out on the court for a 56-42 triumph in the feature contest.

The initial contest saw the Junior Feds romp to their 11th win in 13 games this year and second straight triumph over the once invincible Sand Crab JV's. This year's Sanford JV's will certainly go down in the books for they not only defeated Seabreeze here, but also up in the invulnerable Sand Crab fortress of Daytona Beach.

The two defeats suffered in 13 games by the Fed JV's were to Edgewater at the very beginning of the season in Orlando and to Ketterlinus here by a game winning basket that hit the nets after the buzzer sounded.

Jimmy Hawkins, tremendous fast breaking freshman from Lake Monroe, played only a few minutes but in the few minutes he was on the court he showed why he is called "Blitz Kids" with six markers.

In the less pleasant varsity encounter, Frank Stafford broke into his own as the Scottmen fought almost point for point with the supposed invulnerable Sand Crab JV's. Sanford defense and speedy offensive play kept the Crabs on their toes.

Stafford poured in three driving one-handers while adding a pair of free throws to amass eight points in the first quarter to keep the Feds within easy striking distance, 14-12.

Hubert Hilde was the second quarter Fed star with five markers as Seabreeze edged slowly away from Sanford at the intermission, 28-23. Junior Metts got going in the third period, one his only basket of the evening out of 15 or more attempts from the court, as the Crabs could do no better than equal Sanford's 11 points.

With the score reading 39-34 in the fourth period, Seabreeze poured on one of their typical ram- bled finishes with a scorching 17-point, thanks to foul shot by Artie Richards and Jim Vinelli, who hit for five each. Richards scored 23 for the evening on his first four-point finish.

Sanford ended its regular season's slate with a 6-9 record and a fair 8-5 East Florida Conference record, a far cry from last year's 3-12 mark at this time.

The Seminole will have a 10-day rest until state tourney time when they open against New Smyrna in the Group III A home meet on Mar. 5 in New Smyrna.

Coach Scott has expressed a desire to have another game for a preliminary tuneup, but most fans seem to be too tired.

Brunswick Fans Bring Baseball Back With $20,000 Expenditure

By SIGMUND KAUFMANN

BRUNSWICK, Ga. (S. C. S.)—Brunswick didn't even sport a professional baseball club a couple of seasons ago, but this year it will have a class D Georgia Florida League entry and an interest in four other teams.

The enthusiasm that brought Brunswick's Georgia Florida farm outfit here sold Branch Hickey, Pirates owner, on Brunswick as a training camp site as well.

Commencing Friday March 20, Brunswick becomes the Pirates' eastern minor league training camp. Burlington, N. C.; St. Johns, Quebec, Bristol, Va.; Danville, N. Y., and Brunswick will get their pre-season workouts here.

Residents of Brunswick and Glynn County are taxing themselves to the extent of nearly $20,000 to prepare suitable facilities for the farm clubs. Showers and lockers rooms are being constructed and additional ball fields readied. The considerable area of Miller Park and Lumber Field, the city's main athletic center, is being readied.

Hickey made in plain many years ago when he moved in the Georgia Florida League team that he liked to go where he is wanted. Baseball fever, always numbering many enthusiasts here, caught on and the city and county commissions readily agreed to form out the cash for additional facilities when Hickey invited the spring training plan could be had.

The tourist industry means a lot to Brunswick and local people are counting on additional interest in this area being generated in the home communities of the training teams under the setup.

The Burlington club will report on the opening date, along with free agent players and players who have returned from military service and who are members of the four other clubs.

On April 1, players from St. Johns, Bristol, Batavia and Brunswick will report.

Field supervisor of the camp will be J. Rex Brown, who is chief scout for the Pirates and is chief scouting supervisor for the Pittsburgh club in the Middle Atlantic and South Atlantic states.

Assisting in training will be Stan Wentzell, manager at Burlington; George Gougeon, St. Johns; George DeVore, Bristol, and George Kinnaman, manager at Brunswick, having last season and now the new Danville manager. The Brunswick manager has not been named.

Bobo Holloman Is Called "Sleeper" In Brownie Plans

By BEN FLEGER

AP Sports Writer

Maybe the St. Louis Browns ought to tell shortstop Willie Miranda to spend a few more days in Cuba so he can pick up a traveling companion.

Miranda wired the Browns he's leaving immediately for San Bernardino, Calif., training camp after a season of winter baseball in his native Cuba.

But the man the St. Louis Browns are more interested in during westward in Alva (Bobo) Holloman, a right-handed pitcher and the only unsigned St. Louis player.

Holloman climaxed a season of winter ball last night by hurling Puerto Rico to the Caribbean championship at Havana. Working with only two days rest, he gave up six hits and knocked in a pair of runs whipping Venezuela, 9-2 Saturday night in heat Cuba, 7-4.

The 26-year-old Georgian is working his way back to the big leagues after an unsuccessful trial with the Chicago Cubs in 1930. He went all the way down to Class A in 1931 and then had a real good year at Syracuse in the International League last season. He won 16 while losing 7 and posted an earned run average of 2.31.

Miranda, an infielder, played during the winter for Almaden, a second-place club in the Cuban League.

Money talked yesterday in the training camps of the New York Yankees and Philadelphia Athletics. The Yankees came to terms with pitcher Alie Reynolds, out-leaders Hank Bauer and Mickey Vernon and first baseman Joe Collins. It was believed Reynolds was $38,000, Bauer $21,000, Mantle $18,000 and Collins $15,000. Eight members of the world champions including pitchers Vic Raschi and Ed Lopat are still unsigned.

The A's signed first baseman Eddie Robinson to a two-year contract for an estimated $30,000 per year. This makes the ex-Chicago White Sox player the highest paid player on the squad. The A's also have eight men demanding more dough.

The Boston club did some contract business too, but the money Red Sox and pitcher Jim Wilson and catcher Paul Burris came to terms with the Braves in time to take part in the first round of $20 battery candidates at Bradenton, Fla.

Lyman Crushes St. Cloud, 75-37, As Driskill Hits For 25 Points

ST. CLOUD (Special)—Sophomore forward Bobby Driskill and his devastating one-handed pusher pumped in 12 baskets from the court adding a charity toss for a grand total of 25 points to pace the scrappy Lyman Greyhound quintet to a rounding 75-37 triumph over St. Cloud high here in the outdoor court last night.

Coach Jim Payne's Hounds, in amassing 75 points, gained their individual team high scoring mark in one game for a Seminole County quintet this season. Substitute guard Gordon Helms pumped the cords for 20 points while Hank Hopkins contributed 13 more markers for the winners.

The Paymen in annexing last night's Central Florida Conference win lost their CFC record to 4-7 for the season after a miserable start. They now have abated their season's record having won four of their last five games for a 7-11 season ledger.

Of the 11 defeats, Lyman has lost seven by the scant margin of five points. The dark horse Greyhound, entered last week's CFC tourney in Mount Dora with only a "Chinaman's bluff" and fought everybody by bumping off the second-seeded Tavara High, reaching the semi-finals before the second place Mount Dora quintet eliminated the Hounds.

In last night's affair, Lyman started fast on the clay court by piling up a lopsided 20-8 lead, which was increased to 36-14 by the intermission. The Hounds, who have only an outdoor court and must play all their games on the road, demonstrated their proficiency out-of-doors by compiling a 55-32 haluge at the three-quarter mark.

Lyman ends their regular slate this Friday night at Umatilla in a CFC game. A victory Friday night would give the Hounds a fair 7-7 CFC record. A week from Thursday, Lyman will open the state group tourney at Wrensboro. FG FT T

Professor Refuses To Tell If He Had Been Red Member

Harvard Educator Declines To Answer Question On Constitutional Grounds

By HARRY F. SNYDER
WASHINGTON—A Harvard physics professor today refused to tell House Red hunters whether he had been a member of a Communist cell.

Walter H. Furry, who was called before the House in an American Activities Committee hearing as part of its Red-in-education probe, said he does not believe the group had the right to inquire into his political beliefs and associations.

He said he was refusing to answer such questions under the constitutional amendments which give citizens the rights of free speech and assembly and protection from testifying against themselves.

Furry was one of 21 persons named by Robert C. Davis, a Smith College English professor and fellow member of a Harvard Red cell in 1942, who testified he had joined the Communist Party.

Proceeding Furry in the stand was Daniel J. Hoarstein, a University of Chicago history professor who said he belonged to Harvard and Oxford Communist Party units before breaking with the party in 1950.

Furry, who is 40, replied briefly to questions concerning his education, employment and work.

When asked if he knew of any Communist's joining the Cambridge center of the American Association of Scientific Workers, he declined to reply, citing the first and fifth amendments.

Committee Counsel Frank Tavenner then asked Furry if Israel Halperin, a former Harvard professor who figured in the Canadian spy case, was a Communist.

Furry refused to answer.

But, in response to the next question, he testified that he had "a personal interest in the Canadian spy case because Halperin was 'my wife's sister's husband'."

The witness said he has been teaching at Harvard since 1934 except for a two-year leave, 1942-43, because he became a research associate on a radar project at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

City Commission Outlines Sewer Problem To JCs

Immediate Construction Of Disposal Plant Is Debated

Four of the five City Commissioners present at today's Joint Chamber of Commerce meeting at the Yacht Club outlined the City's sewer problem and individual commissioners offered their opinions on the various proposals.

Commissioner William Stenmetz, John Kader, Denver Corbett and Charles Donald Chase spoke for five minutes each in the initial phase of the discussion, which ended in a general question and answer period with J.C. members asking questions from the audience.

All four commissioners agreed with the necessity of remedying the existing sewerage system extension of sewer lines to every section of the City, covering of the Pump Branch Creek in Georgetown—described as a "pre-spoil"—and location of all sewage at a central station on Mill Creek with some means of disposing the residue in either the lake or through chemical processing.

The latter point, involving the construction of a primary disposal plant or the erection of a full disposal plant, brought a sharp difference of opinion.

Stenmetz later declared he was in favor of cleaning up the lake now so it can eventually be used for bathing and building a sewerage disposal plant which would pump pure water into Lake Monroe and retain the residue in the form of fertilizer for City use.

"As long as we are going to spend $1,200,000 for these necessary repairs and sewerage extensions," he asserted, "then why not spend $500,000, or what ever extra amount you wish to spend, to build a full disposal plant?"
