Radio-TV Highlights

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—No law-making body ever had been able to legislate good taste. Efforts to protect the public morals lead quickly to censorship. Cooperative, solidified public opinion is the most potent force of moderation and decency. Such generalities flow in the main thought currents of American legislative bodies in our time. They are apparent in the recent report of the Senate Juvenile Delinquency subcommittee, which finds that while it cannot prove television crimes programs cause juvenile delinquency, it believes there is a "calculated risk" in children constantly viewing such programs.

Many Tales Told Nature Takes Care

Release Week Sept. 4
Many stories are told of unusual friendships which have sprung up between dogs and other animals. Dogs and horses generally get along well together, and many trainers of race horses insist on having a dog around the stable because of the quieting effect on their high-spirited charges. Newspapers frequently carry stories of canine mothers which have adopted families of another species, including kittens and even baby chicks. Stories have been recorded of many cat-and-dog friendships, but seldom has a tale of a dog's loyalty to another animal come to light which matches this one:

The Olson family lives in a suburban village not far from New York City with three pet dogs. Trigger is a lean, black and white English setter that spends every waking hour roaming the nearby woods and fields. Silver is the biggest white rabbit you ever saw, and was usually content to stay in her hutch hour after hour munching on clean raw carrots and lettuce leaves. One day recently the Olsons discovered that Silver was missing. They searched diligently through the surrounding woodland area without finding a trace of their lost pet. Fearful at their extremely tame rabbit, would become an easy victim of a fox, they called in all the neighborhood children to help seek Silver, but two days went by with no results.

When a male bird has inconspicuous colors like the female, he usually takes his turn in brooding the eggs, but when he is brilliantly colored, he usually stays away from the nest.

MRS. MARGUERITE E. GRAHAM

Florida Ahead Of Other States In Exceptional Children Work

"If you have an exceptional child get in touch with Mr. Milwee," advised Mrs. Marguerite E. Graham who is supervisor of exceptional children for the public schools in Seminole County. Mrs. Graham, who received her master's degree and additional work in the training and speech correction of exceptional children at the University of Iowa, is especially interested in correction of speech defect. "Exceptional," she said, "means, in the simplest of language, out of the ordinary." This could mean above or below normal in speech, mentally or physically, and physical difficulty. "Florida," says Mrs. Graham, "has several hundred workers in the exceptional field which is more than the other six southern states have all together. It is even doing a little on the geniuses. I do all the speech correction in the county and public schools and Mr. Milwee and I supervise the program for other exceptional children. There are 11 schools here which are under Mrs. Graham's supervision and she will serve all of them. That means a visit to each one every week or 1,000 miles travel every month. "Seminole County," she mused, "could handle two classes. Several more teachers should be added and the colored children are not getting any help whatsoever." Our county is joined with two others counties in a district which supports two special schools; one for physically handicapped children and the other for mentally retarded children. Both schools are located in Orlando. She stated that "children are sent every morning on buses to Forest Park School, for physically handicapped, and some to Primrose, for the mentally retarded. There is only a slight tuition. "We must remember," she went on, "that only one-half of one per cent have a speech defect caused by a physical problem. That is usually a 'hairlip.'" "A few children will outgrow a speech defect while others will get worse. The cruelest thing to do to a child is to talk baby talk to him. Instead of repeating a 'cute' childish pronunciation, the parents should stress the correct way to say the word." For an example she related that the child who is unable to express himself understandably will build up a terrific feeling of tension and frustration. Result, stuttering! When Mrs. Graham finds an "exceptional" child she first gives a test to see where the error is and then she teaches the child to recognize the sound. "Eighty per cent is articulation problems. After the child recognizes the sound he must learn to make it correctly and then to make words and sentences using the sound. "Sometimes this is hard" she said. "For instance, I had a child who couldn't make the sound 'ch.' I made lists and lists, of words with the sound in them and finally after many tries I hit on one word. "The purpose of the teaching are to let the child learn how to produce an adequate speech not an oratorical one." From her years of experience she has learned that the earlier correction of speech defects is started the better the results will be. "The first grade is the best for teaching corrections. It is hard sometimes to make the parents face the facts about their children. It is so much better for the parents as well as the children to accept the situation." Mrs. Graham strongly believes that a crippled child should be made self-sufficient as the first part of his treatment and education. "A little improvement is wonderful," she said. It seems strange that in the higher grades in our county exceptional children are usually from another state. She also explained that she has between 80 and 125 children to be helped and the State says she should have only 65. She also pointed out that according to the White House Youth Conference, six or seven per cent of all school children are handicapped in some way.

Girl Scout Troop Nine

By MRS. FRED ROHR
It's the end of a busy summer for the girls of Troop 9. Perhaps you would like to follow us through some of the activities that are teaching the girls to be better Scouts. Even before school was out the swimming program for all Scouts and Brownies was well under way. Miss Frances Cobb, leader of Troop 9, was in charge and together with the capable assistance of Miss Deva Clark and Miss Jean Wilson they classified the girls and in over a period of five weeks started with getting the smallest Brownies to put their heads in the water and up to the Junior Life Saving course. Two of Troop 9 passed Life Saving, Melinda McMurray and Sally Roth.

Miss Cobb planned and carried out a weekend camp the end of June and was good enough to include all the girls in Troop 9 that wanted to go. Friday afternoon found the girls congregated on the shores of Silver Lake. The next two days were spent living in the out-of-doors. Swimming was enjoyed and we must never forget that snipe hunt. In completing a successful cookie sale each troop was given $10 to spend on its own troop and the rest of the proceeds went into a general fund. Troop 9 voted to spend their money on a picnic at the beach so Mrs. Avrett and I transported the girls over where they had a wonderful day and a picnic lunch. Later we joined forces with Mrs. F. D. Scott's troop and went to Rock Springs in style, riding in a truck. This was through the courtesy of Harold Kastner. The girls brought their own lunches and the highlight of the day was the swim down the river and return trip against the current. Our troop was asked by Mrs. Bach to help with the cancer collection of old sheets and shirts to be used for bandages. The girls called and collected for three weeks. At the end of that time they had three large cartons solidly packed with sheets which they turned over to the committee.

Merit Badge work this summer was mostly a matter of individual work at home. The Troop however did have several meetings at the hut and with the help of Mrs. C. E. Jones and Mrs. F. McMurray started its sewing badge. The Troop also talked about having a special shut-in friend this summer and each patrol took turns in writing or sending her something every week. The first friend was the late Dr. Elizabeth Tracy and since her death another has not as yet been chosen. For a marvelous climax a five day "Day" camp was attended. The girls worked on their Adventure and Outdoor Safety Badges and learned quite a lot of new indoor and outdoor games. They also made a shell pin and earrings set, painted plaster of paris pins and went on a hike. One none everyone cooked on buddy burners and all said "hamburger had never tasted so good". Our special thanks goes to the "Cafeteria," translated Clive.

"And then Gerry disappeared," concluded Sara.
"What do you mean?"
Sara explained.
Clive said to Sara, "Don't you think it might have something to do with that jewel you're wearing?"

"Jewel?" Caroline fumbled in the pocket at her neck and brought up a large—large of the finest diamonds. "But it looks small beside that ruby. It's not real, I just don't believe it."
"May I?" Clive held out his hand. Edna gave him the jewel. He walked to the nearest lamp. "There is no doubt in my mind," Caroline. This stone is as real as your sapphires."
"Then how did it get into the 10-cent store?" demanded Sara.
"It may have been stolen," suggested Clive.

Dairy Industry Is Good Example Of Ups, Downs

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's dairy industry offered a good example today of the ups and downs of farmers' fortunes.
A year ago, dairymen were singing the blues. The government had cut its dairy price support level and milk prices dropped.
Today, dairy products are among the few farm goods commanding higher prices than a year ago. The others are poultry, eggs, tobacco and vegetables.
In August, prices farmers received for all their products were 6 per cent lower than a year earlier. But prices for dairy products averaged 2 per cent above those of August 1954.
The dairyman who buys feed is even better off today because of a drop in feed prices over the year. The story of the hog farmer has been the reverse of the dairyman's. A year ago, hog farmers were riding a wave of prosperity. Prices of hogs were good—perhaps "too good." They encouraged a "big expansion" in production this year. As a result, hog prices have dropped about 25 per cent from a year ago.

CHAPTER TEN
FOR THE first time Sara saw how much value is a matter of context. If Clive had seen this great chunk of red glass on a woman swaggering down Broadway in slightly soiled finery, he would have dismissed it instantly as the coarse fake it was. But seeing it in Caroline Larch's drawing room, on Caroline Larch's niece, it never occurred to him for a moment that it was anything but real.

"The light was dim. At the moment, he was not wearing the pince-nez that dangled from a black cord at his lapel. How should he know that Sara belonged to the poor branch of the Deere clan? Everything about her fed his illusion. Quiet and demure in dress-gray silk, she didn't look like a girl who would wear a cheap imitation of an outrageously enormous ruby."

"What should she do? Be particularly honest and say, 'Oh, don't worry, Mr. Clive! This is just a piece of junk I picked up in the 10-cent store this afternoon.' Or let the whole thing slide and spare him the embarrassment of finding he had mistaken a fake for the real thing? After all, he hadn't said he thought the jewel was real. She had inferred it. She could be wrong."

Nationalist Flag Put On Red Island
TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Daring frogmen planted a Chinese Nationalist flag Saturday on the beach of Amoy, a Communist island, and it was still flying there at sunset Monday, according to local press reports. The exploit was in celebration of Nationalist China's first Armed Forces Day.
Anti personnel mines were planted around the base of the flagpole. The press speculated the mines and fear of Nationalist gunfire away, made the Reds afraid to approach the flag.

What she had done? Be particularly honest and say, "Oh, don't worry, Mr. Clive! This is just a piece of junk I picked up in the 10-cent store this afternoon." Or let the whole thing slide and spare him the embarrassment of finding he had mistaken a fake for the real thing? After all, he hadn't said he thought the jewel was real. She had inferred it. She could be wrong. . . .
Aunt Caroline cut short her questioning. "Well, Sara, we're still waiting to hear about the unpleasantness."
She welcomed a change of subject.
"A man was run over and killed just as I was coming out of the 10-cent store with a friend of mine, George Bone. We were both upset."

"Are you all blind?" His voice rang out. "Caroline, you forget that I am an art dealer. I know a little about such things. I held that ruby in my hand a moment ago. It never occurred to me that it was not real. Don't you recognize its depth, its color, its brilliance?"
Caroline put down her lognettes. "Sara, did you really get this thing at the 10-cent store?"
"Of course. It was with a lot of other jewelry."
"But the whole thing is fantastic!" cried Clive. "This is a museum piece. It must be a famous jewel with a long history. If I knew more about Oriental art, I could probably identify it."
"Let me see it." Caroline stretched out her hand. Sara reconsidered the pendant. Her own hand was shaking. A real ruby, this was . . . And she had been wearing it as carelessly as a 20-cent rhinestone. Her blouse had concealed it this afternoon, but, if it were real, and if someone who knew it was real saw her buy it and saw Gerry thrust the box into his pocket and then saw that same pocket still bulging, later, at the Automat, when Gerry was alone . . .
Again Caroline lifted her eyebrows. (To Be Continued)

There were 82 legal executions in the United States in 1954, 45 of which were in Texas.

PAPER REPORTS RAMPAGE TOKYO
The newspaper Asahi said Monday "seven or eight" American servicemen "ran wild" in Maebashi City, 30 miles north of Tokyo, and battled police and bystanders for an hour but were finally subdued with clubs.
The paper reported three were arrested and jailed immediately. The others fled, but one was apprehended by military police and placed in Japanese custody, the paper said.
Names of the soldiers arrested were not immediately learned.

Plenty Room Is Left

There's still room for every hunter, fisherman and camper to practice his sport in these United States — even all at the same time, if you could spare them out like the men on a chess board.
But you can't. The average sportsman is lucky if he can get a week or so once a year to journey to his field. But he has a score of weekends—several times as many total days—that he could put to good use on jaunts within an hour's drive.

Putting the outdoors within tolley fare distance of the big cities seemed like an impossible task to public officials when they first grappled with it. And it still does, although many states have done their best.
During the past two decades, most such efforts have been in the pattern set by Wisconsin in establishing public hunting and fishing grounds. Federal funds, returned to the states by the Pitman-Robertson and Duggell-Johnson Acts earmarking funds from hunting and fishing tackle taxes, association officials say the average member is in the $5,000 a year bracket.

ury of the natural surroundings,

Reservations for the Thursday, Sept. 15 luncheon, at which Senator George Smathers will speak, are being received now at the Information Booth, Telephone 1372.

Chairman Tommy Stringer, in charge of the event, said that the joint civic club meeting is slated to be of immense success with reservations for only 400 available.

The joint meeting will be held in the Municipal Legion Fair Building on Mellonville Ave. next to the Sanford Memorial Baseball Stadium, which was obtained because of the capabilities of holding the number of people anxious to attend the meeting and to hear Senator Smathers.

No reservations will be made after tomorrow, said Stringer, who said that only the 400 places are available and none can be added.

The Sanford Rotary Club, Lions Club, Kiwanis Club and the Jaycees will meet jointly to hear Senator Smathers tell of the accomplishments during the 33rd session of Congress.

Every detail has been taken care of to make the event a complete success, Stringer said. Jaycees will help serve, set up the tables, chairs and other necessary chores to make visitors comfortable with the young businessmen's group.

Civic Club members who have not made their reservations with their respective clubs can call 1372 to assure the Jaycees the number of people who will attend.

All citizens who would like to hear Senator Smathers are invited to make their reservations no later than Friday afternoon, by calling the Jaycee Information Booth.

Meeting with the Merchants Association group will be the Jaycee chairman for the Christmas Parade, Ed Hunt.

Damage, said Knowles, was in the neighborhood of $10,000. City crews will take care of some of the repair work, the city manager reported.

Robert Miller Jr., Joe Hunt To Enter Tech Class Of '59

Two Sanford college students will be among the almost 1,200 freshmen from Florida, Georgia, 32 other states, and 15 foreign countries who will start their college careers on Sept. 15 at the Georgia School of Technology, according to registrar William L. Carnich.

Admitted to the class of 1959 from Sanford are Robert Cone Miller Jr., 2401 Myrtle Ave. and Joseph Fields Hunt, 2408 Palminto Ave.

With each member selected and admitted on the basis of his work and scholastic standing in high school, the class of 1959 should prove to be one of the best groups ever to matriculate in the 70-year history of the Atlanta Institution.

Whether studying engineering, science, architecture or industrial management, each of the freshmen will have to put in an average of 60 hours of work a week in classrooms, laboratories, drafting rooms, and study halls. During the first two years, he will also have a full schedule of English courses and be required to take basic military training with either the Army, Navy or Air Force R. O. T. C. units of Georgia Tech.

Based on the experience of the 1958 Georgia Tech class, members of the class of 1959 can look forward for years from now to starting salaries of $1,000 to $6,000 a year, since educators and industrialists predict a continuing shortage of engineers and scientists for the next decade.

Boat, Ski Club Sets Friday Meet

The Sanford Boat and Ski Club will hold the first of a series of meetings on a new schedule, tomorrow night at 9 o'clock, at the C. A. P. Headquarters in the Teachers Building.

The new schedule will find meetings being held on alternate Friday nights starting with this week, according to the announcement made by President Don Smith.

All members are urged to attend the initial meeting.

Storekeeper Freed Under $202 Bond

A Markham storekeeper was arrested yesterday, shortly after 3 o'clock, and charged with "careless and negligent driving," "no drivers license," and "driving while intoxicated" following a minor accident at the intersection of Fourth St. and Sanford Ave.

Spencer Crews, 44-year-old white storekeeper was released under a $202 bond.

The arrest was made by Patrolman C. C. Dodson and Ben Butler.

Warrants have been prepared, said Sanford Police Chief Roy Williams, for nearly 50 parking meter violators. They will be served as quickly as possible, the chief said, and will include all violations that have not been mailed, placed in the courtesy box attached to many of the downtown parking meters, or taken directly to the Police Station.

Many people have taken advantage of the opportunity to take care of their violation tickets, Chief Williams remarked, but we still have a problem with the numbers of business people parking in the downtown area for long lengths of time.

"We have a public parking lot," the Sanford police chief said, "for those who want to park all day."

There is no charge whatsoever for the use of the parking lot just behind the new Board of Education building on Commercial Ave. "We must realize," Williams remarked, "that the parking areas downtown, metered for behind the SHIRAZI, ETADI Non one hour or less parking time, are for the benefit of shoppers and visitors."

"We don't like to crack down on parking meter violators," said Chief Williams, "but it has come to a point where something must be done."

Tieup In Shipping May Go Further From Feud Results

NEW YORK — The feud between longshoremen and the bi-state Waterfront Commission, which climaxed in a shutdown of the Port of New York, today threatened to spread the shipping tieup to East Coast ports from Baltimore to Canada.

After some 25,000 members of Longshoremen's Assn. walked off the job, H.A. President William V. Bradley said:

"This is spreading very rapidly. If something isn't done by Monday, we'll have the whole coast tied up."

The walkout yesterday affected the entire area of the vast port, including Jersey City and Hoboken in New Jersey.

Bradley said a private union meeting would be held today.

"I do not think that this meeting will resolve the situation at all."

No Drastic Cuts Seen In Program

WASHINGTON — The Defense Department says it still expects to spend 34 billion dollars this year "as originally estimated," and will make no drastic cuts in approved defense programs in its approved budget.

Acting Secretary Reuben B. Robertson Jr. said last night "there is no factual basis" for published reports this week that further cuts are being considered in defense spending as a means of balancing the budget.

Other administration sources reported earlier that the department was studying the possibility of a billion-dollar cut in expenditures as part of a government-wide drive to eliminate a 1955-56 budget deficit estimated last month at $1,700,000,000.

J. Edwin Larson, State Treasurer and Insurance Commissioner, announced today that his office was inaugurating immediately an intensive program of public information to acquaint the people with the requirements and penalties of Florida's new Motor Vehicle Financial Responsibility Law between now and the time it becomes effective, Oct. 1. Larson is administrator of the law.

"Before I explain why the state is taking this step to inform the public about a new statute before it becomes effective," Larson said, "let me first offer a word of friendly advice to all motor vehicle owners and operators in Florida. An evangelistic crusade among Florida Christian churches, under the direction of Dr. Bayne Driscoll, Stillwater, Okla., will begin simultaneously Sunday with Prayer Covenant Day, and come to a climax with Decision Day, Dec. 11. Pastor Perry J. Stone of the local Christian church said today.

At morning worship Sunday the Rev. Stone will preach on "Prayer for the Harvest"; and opportunity will be given to worshippers to sign a card saying they will pray daily for a great intensification of souls on Dec. 11.

During the next few weeks the names and addresses of a large list of prospective members will be sought. Friendly calls will be made. Preceding Decision Day there will be four nights of visitation evangelism by lay men and women.

Evening services of worship will be inaugurated at 7:30 Sunday in nature and a number of favorably hymns will be sung. The minister will begin a series of sermons on "Major Ideas in the Epistles of James," the first being on "Overcoming Temptation." With public invited.

"About little bits of the change which we believe, by our Lord's blessing, reads more like a sermon that a letter. It is plain and practical in its teaching and quite modern in its emphasis."

Security Council Approval Is Sought By Western Big 3

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. — The Western Big Three sought today for a lightening of border restrictions to prevent new Israeli-Egyptian fighting along the Gaza Strip.

The United States, Britain and France asked Council President T. T. Tsiang of China to call the 11-nation group together to bolster peace efforts of Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, U.N. force chief.

Burns, who already has won new cease-fire promises from both sides, suggested setting up a physical barrier inside a neutral zone six tenths of a mile wide in which neither party could erect defenses or deploy troops. Burns urged placing barbed wire along the frontier last November but Egypt declined to cooperate.

Local Police Dept. Put On Honor Roll

The Sanford Police Department today received a scroll placing the department on the Honor Roll of the Florida Peace Officers Association.

The Sanford Police Department has a 100 per cent enrollment in the Peace Officers' organization.

The scroll was forwarded to the local police department from the association president, Gene Acres of Lake Wales.

Capt. Roy Tullis, vice chairman of the Peace Officers' Association, said that a fifth district meeting will be held in Estill this afternoon with Ben and Patricia C. C. Dodson attending.

Grammar P-TA First Meet Tonic

The Grammar School P-TA will hold its first yearly meeting tonight in the school auditorium at 8 o'clock.

The program, after a short business session, will be held in individual class rooms with the parents taking part in what the children will study for the coming year.

An exhibition of books used in each grade will be on display. All parents are urged to attend.

Insurance Program Is Launched

can be read in not more than four minutes, it is official and it is free. During the month of September, the County Judges will be busy issuing new licenses to all drivers. They have generously agreed to give each driver one of those leaflets with his or her license.

"If 17,000 fail, Sanford can just write itself off," Paul Burress, a Seminole County citizen who contributed property for the right-of-way, told the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce Long Range Planning Committee last night at a meeting held at Jim Spencer's.

"I've owned property here for 30 years," Burress said, "and there's a very deep interest in the future of this community in my heart." He told the nearly 100 interested citizens meeting for the purpose of discussing problems that must be solved that "I was told there was a very potent factor who wants this highway from one bridge down Hill for personal benefit."

"I can see the potential factors and forces back of all that we've discussed. We've got to do something to defend. If we divide, we haven't got a chance," Burress added.

Seminole County Board of Commissioners chairman John Meiseh said last night that "All suggestions for carrying out the purposes of the committee are very good. I think we can get this thing rolling and done in time. The County Commissioners have expressed themselves and will go along."

Milk Commission Sets Special Meet

TALLAHASSEE — The State Milk Commission will hold a special meeting Sept. 19 to consider a proposal by Gov. Collins that milk price fixing above the producer level be abolished for an experimental one year period.

The meeting will be held in Jacksonville.

Commission Chairman Raymond Lee, who himself is opposed to retail milk price control, said "I'll break my neck to get the thing through and I feel that at least three members will go along."

The commission has seven members, three representing consumers, one dairy farmers, one distributor, one the State Board of Health and one the Department of Agriculture.

Collins' suggestion came at the end of a conference with the commission. The governor opened the session by reporting widespread dissatisfaction with commission regulations and with "the procedure followed for fixing milk prices."

Navy Reportedly Puts Psychologist Clear As Officer

NEW YORK — The Navy reportedly has cleared a psychologist as a reserve officer but has discharged him as a civilian Navy employe — acting on the same evidence involving alleged Communist leanings in the man's immediate family.

The case was disclosed yesterday by an attorney for Joseph Gaherman, 42, who ensuired some of the Navy's basic manual on flight training.

The attorney, Montague Casper, said Gaherman was suspended from his $7,000-a-year job as civilian psychologist March 6, 1952. A three-man civilian loyalty board found he was a security risk but did not question his loyalty. An appeal failed.

On Sept. 3, 1952, Casper said, the Navy suggested an honorable discharge for Gaherman from his commission as a reserve lieutenant.

The attorney said the discharge was offered "with no indication of the nature of the underlying circumstances" if Gaherman resigned.

Former Resident Dies In Bradenton

E. P. Osborn died in Bradenton, Sept. 7, at the age of 60 after a brief illness.

He was once a Sanford resident but spent several years as a foreman in the Phosphates Mines in Mulberry.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Friday in Mulberry. He is the brother-in-law and brother of Mr. and Mrs. Reggie May, 213 Chapman Ave., Sanford.

Through political changes, upheavals, wars and famine, the Church has maintained its status, and will continue to stand when dictators shall have been molded into dust," the Rev. Perry J. Stone pastor of the First Christian Church of Sanford told the Kiwanis Club at its noon luncheon meeting yesterday.

"The Church, Rev. Stone said, "is the finest of the underprivileged."

"The Church endures our civilization, our businesses, homes, and society."

The Rev. Stone spoke to the Sanford Kiwanis Club yesterday on the subject, "Some of the reasons why I believe in the Church," as he told the Kiwanis group that their club is the only civic club supporting the churches of its community and their religious aims.

The Sanford preacher said, "It is at the altar of the church that our faith is renewed."

The Rev. Stone then listed some of the reasons why "I believe in the Church. Because of the contribution to my own life, he said, because the Church is patient with me when I falter, because it extended to me a hand of sympathy, he concluded, "The Church has made a contribution to my life that cannot be repaid."

The Rev. Stone was introduced by E. C. Harper, chairman of the Support of Churches committee and program chairman for the day.

Defiant Ex-Convict Holds Four Persons Hostages In Taxi

NEW YORK — A defiant ex-convict, who held four persons at hostages in a taxicab and challenged police to "come and get me," was shot to death by a policeman in view of after-theater crowds just west of Rockefeller Center last night.

The gunman, who had a withered left leg, held off police for 10 minutes before he was killed.

He was identified through fingerprints as Peter Hatzis, 35, of Brooklyn, on parole for armed robbery and a possessor of a long criminal record.

Hatzis had pulled a $200 holding in a restaurant on 6th avenue, and several employes and patrons followed him out with a great hue and cry.

Several policemen and an armed U. S. customs agent closed in on the fugitive in a 19-block chase in which several shots were exchanged.

Hatzis jumped into a cab, jammed in traffic in front of a hotel with two women and one male passenger.

Senators, House Men Watch Hoppe Case

WASHINGTON — Both Senate and House investigators had their sights trained today on the case of Edgar E. Hoppe a former Internal Revenue Service inspection chief who says he was fired two years ago for political reasons.

Hoppe, 47, now a Dallas lawyer, is suing the tax-collecting agency for $26,823 in back pay. He says he was ousted after uncovering "derogatory information" about a highly placed official still in the revenue service.

But Secretary of Treasury Humphreys contends the dismissal stemmed from incompetency on Hoppe's part for his high-level job and his "belligerent attitude" toward his superiors.

Chairman Olin Johnston (D-SC) disclosed yesterday his Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee staff already has interviewed Hoppe.

STIR IN THE STIR STATESVILLE, N. C. — There was more than the usual "stir" in the city jail here the other night. Police placed a "woman" wearing a black dress in a cell block with nearly 50 male prisoners.

They said Quince Shoemaker of nearby New Hope was wearing the dress when arrested on a public drunkenness charge.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Friday in Mulberry. He is the brother-in-law and brother of Mr. and Mrs. Reggie May, 213 Chapman Ave., Sanford.
