Prank Caller Asking Women To Do Strange Things

By GEOFFREY POUNDS Herald Staff Writer A prank caller said to have threatened as many as 60 women in Volusia County has begun to strike in Seminole County, Sanford police reported.

Police Department. According to Beasley, the caller's message is similar each time. He said it usually begins with the man asking the woman if she is alone.

Detective Karen Reynolds of the Sanford Police Department said the caller has asked women to go into the bedroom and take their clothes off.

Investigators questioning victims said the caller sounds like a white male between 25 and 35 years of age.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Protest Of Death Penalty Set At Florida's Border

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (UPI)—Death penalty protesters plan to travel to the Florida-Georgia border this weekend to denounce the state's death penalty to visitors coming into Florida.

"We think it's important that people coming to Florida know all about the state, not just the sunshine," said University of Florida student Adam Shedroff, a spokesman for Students Against the Death Penalty. Shedroff said the group expects about 100 people from around Florida to join the rally, set for the Visitor's Welcome Station on Interstate 75 south of the Georgia border on Saturday.

The protest will be held in conjunction with a group marching from Savannah, Ga., to the Georgia State Prison at Reidsville, where the state's maximum security prisoners are held, Shedroff said.

Crackdown On Prostitution

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI)—The city council responded to a plea from police to make Tampa an unpleasant place for prostitutes Tuesday, passing an ordinance increasing fines and making jail sentences mandatory for persons convicted of prostitution or other unlawful sex acts. "We have become a haven for prostitutes, pimps, johns and so forth," said Capt. R. S. Cowan of the police department's selective enforcement unit.

Work on the ordinance began two months ago after city officials were told prostitutes were coming into Tampa from Miami, Orlando, St. Petersburg, New Orleans, New York and Atlanta.

Outlaws Accept Injunction

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI)—Members of the Outlaws motorcycle gang have promised to quit treating a residential neighborhood as their personal playground. The Outlaws agreed, without benefit of a hearing, to accept a temporary injunction issued Tuesday by Orange County Circuit Judge Maurice M. Paul. The injunction orders the motorcycle gang to cease certain activities named in a lawsuit filed by several county agencies.

Kurt Kaszner Dies At 65

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UPI)—Character actor Kurt Kaszner, probably best known for his portrayal of Cmdr. Fitzgibbon in the "Hill Country" television series, died of cancer Monday night. He was 65. Kaszner was admitted to St. John's Medical Center nearly two weeks ago. Funeral arrangements were not announced. Kaszner, an Austrian restaurant owner, Kaszner was 7 when he made his first film appearance, the silent film "Max, King of the Circus," in Salzburg, Austria.

Nine Banned From Jai-Alai Frontons

Director Gary Rutledge of the Florida Division of Pari-Mutuel Wagering said Tuesday that Robert G. Moore, operator of the Miami Amateur Jai-Alai Fronton, four fronton partners, and five jai-alai players had been banned from Florida's 10 frontons. The banning is a result of crack-down by the state agency on illegal practices in the jai-alai, dog racing and horse racing industries in Florida.

Moore was one of those banned from betting at, attending or placing any jai-alai games at any of Florida's frontons. Banned jai-alai patrons named by Rutledge include Paul Commons, Bert Caskill, James Sobie and David Herman.

'Some I Stabbed, Some I Beat, Some...'

By ANDREW GELLER
FITCHBURGH, Mass. (UPI)—Self-proclaimed mass killer Joseph Fischer says most of his victims were murdered because they reminded him of his mother "and she was a whore."

In an interview with United Press International Tuesday, Fischer, 50, an ex-convict and former mental patient, said he opened up to killing at least 20 people during a 13-month, cross-country spree because "I want everything to be clean."

Fischer, who has been indicted for the murder of his wife, Christine Eggers, 76, said, "I know now my wife is dead. Soon I will have to join her. I want everything to be clean. I want her to know that everything is clean, that nothing has been held back." He added: "If I went to her now, I'd have this blackness on me."

The interview was conducted at the Dutchess County jail with Fischer's lawyers, James Brown, and Brown's investigator, William Paroli, present. The ground rules were chosen at random, but he had difficulty remembering details of the crimes because of heavy drinking.

"I've been drunk 13 months, until now," he said. "One time I was working in a pizza joint in Oklahoma and I asked, 'What am I doing here?' They said, 'You've been working here for two weeks.' I couldn't remember it."

Asked how he killed his victims, Fischer said, "Some I stabbed, some I shot, some I beat, some I choked."

Fischer's story came out July 22 when he walked into a Harlem police station and confessed to killing his wife the day before in their trailer park home in Wastatic, N.Y.

He said he did not know how he got to Harlem. Dressed in a purple T-shirt, Fischer, who has steel gray hair and arms covered with tattoos, spoke mostly in a quiet voice. Tears welled in his eyes twice — when the subject of his father came up, and when a reporter wished him luck.

"I'd like someone to like me. I want a friend," he said. "I only had two friends in my life, my father and my wife. Those were the only ones." At that point, he was overcome with emotion.

When the reporter remarked that he did not have the demeanor of a mass killer, he replied: "Good. I'm glad to hear it, because if I met you outside I'd bring your neck for a bottle of wine."

Rutledge also said the owners of 34 thoroughbreds had been ordered to return purses totaling $51,250 after an investigation had shown the thoroughbreds had traces of Sublimaze — a pain-killing drug.

Rutledge said the horses would be stricken from the winners' lists and horses finishing behind them would be moved up in the standings and the purses redistributed. Bettors would not be affected by Rutledge's ruling.

County commissioners met with field representatives of the Jacksonville office of the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) Tuesday to discuss future grant possibilities. The commissioners were told at the meeting the county must promise to hurry and spend all of the $202,000 it received two years ago if they hope to receive consideration for additional funding.

In 1977, the county applied to HUD for a community development block grant in the amount of $300,000 to make road and drainage improvements to five target areas and also to construct a community center in the Midway area east of Sanford. The grant was awarded a one-year grant of $202,000.

The following year, county officials told HUD they would not be able to complete the projects on time and asked for a one-year extension until the end of 1979. The extension was granted and the county did not lose the unused funds.

However, with the extension deadline this year approaching and three of the six projects still uncompleted, the commissioners decided to ask for another extension. Tuesday they were cautioned that the second extension request could jeopardize their chances for funding in 1980 unless the explanation for the delay in completing the projects can be well documented.

"We don't want to be penalized for doing a good job," county planner Woody Price said. Price said the county has been cost-effective and has not completed the projects because the scope of the improvements "was too ambitious." He said, "We aren't going to make an apology, we're moving with all deliberate speed."

To date, about $179,000 of the $202,000 awarded in 1977 remains unspent, records show. The three projects completed include improvements to Bokerstown, Jamestown and Johnson Hill. Uncompleted are improvements to the Winwood area in Altamonte Springs, the Lockhart area west of Sanford and the Midway community center.

County planner Linda Fields said the projects in Seminole County are larger in scope than projects in other communities because county crews have been used to do most of the work. The use of county crews doubles the dollar value of the projects, she said.

Field representative Robert Lyles of HUD said his office would be willing to grant a six-month extension, until March 31, to complete the three unfinished projects. However, he said that if the money was not spent by that time it might have to be refunded. He further said that any 1980 grant request by the county almost certainly would be eliminated from consideration if the funds are not spent by March 31.

Burglars Get Diamonds, Cash, Rifles, Underwear

Someone tried open the padlock of a trailer in South Seminole County and made off with $32,520 worth of property from diamonds to underwear, according to Seminole County deputies.

Robert A. Palmer, 37, of Box 310 Red Bug Road, near Maitland, told deputies the burglary occurred sometime Monday or Tuesday while he was out-of-town. Entry to the trailer was made through the rear door he said.

Burglars ransacked the trailer grabbing everything of value. The most expensive items stolen were three one-carat diamonds, several handguns and rifles and one yellow gold nine-diamond horseshoe design ring, deputies said.

Other items told off included undershirts and shorts, 20 bottles of whiskey, scotch, and gin, a couple of television sets and one brown envelope containing $5,000.

The burglars loaded all the property in Palmer's Toyota pickup truck that was parked at the rear of the mobile home, deputies say. Jumping the vehicle, they drove to a wooded area in front of the pastureland near Red Bug Road where the property was transferred to another vehicle, according to the report.

A 68-year-old Sanford man is free on $1,550 bond today on a charge of vehicle homicide in which three Deland persons died, according to Florida Highway Patrol (FHP).

Clifton Gaine of 105 Tangerine Drive, Sanford, was released Tuesday from the Seminole County Jail.

CIVIL SUIT
The following civil suit has been filed with the office of Seminole County civil court clerk Arthur Bewick seeking damages in excess of $2,500: Jay Donalson, a minor, and his mother Jill, are suing Happy Faces of Orlando, Inc., and its owner, Martha Martinez.

According to the suit, Donalson suffered injuries when he fell off a cot while napping at the daycare center on Bear Lake Road and McNeely Road, Forest City. He was two years old when the incident occurred on Feb. 7, 1979 between 8:15 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. Ms. Donalson, who worked during the day, said she discovered her son had been injured when she picked him up that day. He severely injured his head, face and extremities from the fall due to the negligence of the defendants.

Ms. Donalson also charges she was not advised immediately of her son's injuries "so that necessary medical accommodations could be immediately procured."

Children at the daycare center should be given clear instructions on how to get to the ground in case they should fall out of bed, the suit states. The daycare center should have equipped the cots with guard rails to ensure against children falling out.

Mr. Donalson says he was not advised immediately of her son's injuries "so that necessary medical accommodations could be immediately procured."

There's Good News For Area Motorists

At long last there's good news for Sanford and area motorists. No, gasoline prices aren't going down. But a fully automatic set of traffic lights is coming to County Road 46A and Airport Boulevard, long since a major headache to drivers and the site of several major traffic accidents.

"That intersection has been a problem almost since the day it was built seven or eight years ago," pointed out Bill Bush, Seminole County engineer. "The intersection was among the 25 most 'critical' areas identified two years ago in a study by consulting engineers. However, because of restrictions in the county's budget, work at the intersection slated last year along with work at six other 'priority' intersections was set aside, according to Bush.

"This year it made the top of that list. Now that's what we call getting one's priorities in proper order."

According to a Department of Transportation traffic count, no less than 700 vehicles travel daily along the intersection.

And attempts to alleviate the hazard with stop signs and flashing red lights didn't solve the problem.

Traffic engineers point out that when traffic backs up during peak travel hours, it becomes especially hazardous with motorists attempting to edge through the intersection, some not knowing who has the right-of-way; others knowing, but determined to 'change things.'

When will the matter be resolved?

Work already has begun at the intersection and should be completed by Oct. 1, according to Clifton Scott Jr., a traffic coordinator with the county public works department's engineering division.

Scott said crews have begun working on drainage at the intersection in preparation for widening the road.

What is planned, Scott said, is to provide the intersection with a completely controlled traffic signal that will include left turn arrows for each direction and a flashing yellow light that will trigger the lights by approaching vehicles.

The sensing device will permit the traffic signal to go to a constant red or green during light traffic periods, but approaching vehicles will activate the light to avoid long, unnecessary stops.

Scott also said it probably will be unnecessary to close traffic during road construction and traffic signal installations. He said motorists probably will be routed to one lane of travel until the project is completed, however.

Another problem which may be solved, is that of the unusually oily road surface peculiar to that intersection, according to Scott. He said he believes crews will resurface the road to eliminate the slippery condition.

A fully-automatic traffic signal at County Road 46A and Airport Boulevard is long overdue. Motorists, we're certain, will be relieved when the project is finished.

As we know we'll be.

Slidemaking: A New Boon

By LARRY POPE
UPI Business Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — It never will be as ubiquitous as the neighborhood document copying center, but computerized slidemaking could be a good thing for an expanding market.

The process, 30 years in development and commercially available for five years, uses computer, color terminals, electronic stylus and sophisticated software to design film slides on a cathode screen.

According to Hope Reports, Inc., which boasts statistics on such matters, the total market for film slides in the United States doubled between 1971 and 1977 to 121 million slides with a value of $80 million. Hope says this could double again by 1982.

From 75 to 90 percent of the slide business is for commercial presentation, the rest for amateur, artistic and scientific photography.

There are several companies involved in computer-generated graphics and a center affiliated with Harvard University has done a great deal of developing and expanding its capabilities.

General Electric Co. is heavily involved. It brought out five years ago, after 20 years of technology development, its first Geographics computerized image-making terminal.

It announced recently a new R-44 terminal and a package of sophisticated software to go with it that will reduce costs and improve slide image quality, according to Ronald H. Green, Geographics vice president in charge of the marketing division in Syracuse.

The GE R-44 terminal is an electronic, full-color drawing board. With the software package, an artist can design on the screen, in a fraction of the time required by traditional methods, presentation, statistical or training slides.

Once the slide is designed, it is transmitted by

VIEWPOINT

Major Lesson Is Adrift

By DON GRAPP

If the Geneva conference on refugees accomplished anything, it was to demonstrate the futility of attempting to deal with human tragedy of the magnitude of the Indonesian crisis in terms of government policies and diplomatic tradeoffs.

The 60-nation gathering convened by United Nations Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim included all the key participants — other than the refugees themselves — in what has become, forgetting the energy debacle for a bit, the world's top-line crisis.

It produced some strong language on the subject and pledges of funds, higher refugee admission quotas on the part of several recipient nations and tentative plans for improved transit facilities in the countries of "first asylum."

But all this still comes nowhere near meeting the problem. And it also has produced some new causes for concern.

It is yet to be seen whether the refugees will be any better off as a result of Geneva, but one party may have improved its situation marginally — Vietnam.

By attending and agreeing at least to discuss the situation, the Hanoi regime may have to improve its image somewhat. It shouldn't have, considering that the major Vietnamese contribution to the deliberations merits anything but an admission.

Hanoi's agreement to restrict emigration has received much attention. And at first glance it might appear welcome in that it suggests a loosening of the refugee flow. But what really means is that departure by people who want to leave will be prevented, a violation of the UN Charter of Human Rights. Hanoi has not promised to clean up its own act or that other UN entities will be able to do so.

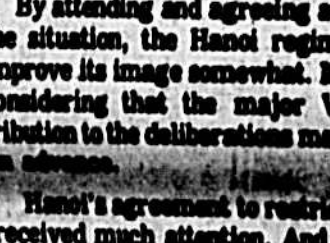

It has said nothing whatsoever about releasing its well-publicized practice of sending payment from those who do leave to their families, legally or otherwise.

The fundamental truth of the Vietnamese refugee situation is that there is no other short of replacing the present regime with one of the overwhelming majority of the population would wish to live under. And that is a situation that neither the world community nor any member of it, man has ever successfully attempted something along the line, is going to be.

It may be that on the pages of books and refugee admissions are reduced, as the new building complex promised by the Philippines and Indonesia are established, but the real contacts with Hanoi beyond the situation will likely to look more hopeful.

But for the present, the major lesson of Geneva would appear to be that efforts to develop effective international measures to deal with the best people are still adrift.

Watered Down

When one fireman dies, the whole fire department is in mourning.

Such was the case with Price.

Thursday, the team of investigators spent the day sifting through the rubble in search of clues as to how the hungry fire had started in the first place.

The team is led by Ernest Wright, state deputy fire marshal, who says, "Price was one of my best friends." He had spent half of Wednesday night at the fire scene and was up early the next morning to continue to comb the area.

Wright was not alone in his dedication. Several Sanford firefighters who had gotten off their shift at 8 a.m. came straight to the site to help. Eight hours later the men were still there.

"We're doing it 'cause we thought a lot of Bill (Price) for one thing," said Ernie Ellenberg of the Sanford Fire Department.

"If there's anything we can do to prove things, we are going to be here," Ellenberg said.

Ellenberg said the fire chief had asked for volunteers to assist the investigative team and several stepped forward in no time.

Carl Helms of the Sanford Fire Department, added: "When you spend that much time with somebody like Bill, they are more family than friend."

MISSISSIPPI RUNOFF AHEAD

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — Evelyn Gandy, a veteran of more than three decades in state government, outpolled five male opponents in her bid to become Mississippi's first woman governor, but faces an Aug. 28 runoff for the Democratic nomination.

Miss Gandy, 58, now serving as lieutenant governor, told a cheering crowd of supporters Tuesday night she was "no appreciative" of the impressive vote.

"My heart is overflowing with gratitude," she said.

Former Lt. Gov. William Winter, another veteran campaigner making his third race for the state's top office, was running a strong second as the slow vote counting continued into morning.

CARTER, ISRAELI MEETING

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter summoned Israeli Ambassador Ephraim Eylon to the Oval Office today to repair a rift in U.S. Israeli relations over the rights of the Palestinians.

Carter also planned to discuss African affairs with visiting President Ahmad Sekou Toure of the Republic of Guinea.

In recent days Eylon has met or talked with top U.S. diplomats, including Secretary of State Cyrus Vance, National Security Affairs adviser Zbigniew Brzezinski, and Middle East troubleshooter Robert Strauss concerning Israeli fears over Palestinian autonomy and other issues.

NATION IN BRIEF

138,000 Acres Devoured By Fires In Southwest

By United Press International

Raging fires have devoured more than 138,000 acres of grass and trees in Idaho, Montana and New Mexico. The bulk of the damage was in Idaho, where about 120,000 acres have been destroyed.

Although desperately needed rain was forecast for today, fire officials feared storms also could bring lightning and spark new blazes in under-dry areas.

In Montana, 10,000 acres were blackened in four fires in remote areas of Yellowstone National Park but none threatened tourist areas. All but a 500-acre blaze was allowed to burn in accordance with the park's natural fire policy.

Forest Service spokesman Lee Singer said 4,500 firefighters from across the country have been enlisted to battle the flames in Idaho, including fresh fire crews from Maine, New York, Kentucky, and New Mexico. They were flown into Boise Tuesday then transported to various locations in the state, said spokeswoman Sandra Brown.

RONALD REAGAN Movement To Remove Sanctions

While the member nations of what was once called the British Commonwealth (now known simply as the Commonwealth) debate the matter of Zimbabwe Rhodesia's status in Lusaka, Zambia, an energetic American missionary is criss-crossing this country to line up support for bringing to an end U.S. sanctions against Rhodesia.

The Reverend David Miller is one of 200 American missionaries in Zimbabwe Rhodesia. He says that the great majority of them support the idea of American recognition of the recently elected government of Prime Minister Abel Muzorewa (himself a Methodist bishop) and that the question of lifting economic sanctions by the United States and Britain will "make or break" the Rhodesian economy.

The Rev. Mr. Miller says that the economy will surge upward and many new jobs will be created if sanctions are lifted.

"This would mean that many guerrillas would lay down their arms. As it is now, there are few jobs for them to return to, so they continue in the guerrilla armies, not for ideological reasons but for money and food," he explains.

"The continuation of sanctions keeps the economy down," he adds. He contends that the guerrillas of our government about maintaining the sanctions despite the fact Zimbabwe Rhodesia's government was freely elected in having the effect of prolonging the war.

Ironically, Zimbabwe Rhodesia's neighbor, Zambia, is playing host to the Commonwealth summit meeting and, on an on-going basis, the guerrillas of Joshua Nkomo, Zambia, like many former British colonies in Africa, is itself a democracy on paper only.

The Rev. Mr. Miller will have spent 27 days in the United States before he departs for his adopted country next week. During this time he has called on regional conferences and conventions of such denominations as the United Methodist church, the Baptists and his own Christian church, urging them to ask their members to write elected officials in Washington to bring an end to the sanctions.

To Discourage Energy Use Will Graham Ask Increase In Gas Tax?

GOV. BOB GRAHAM

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — The possibility that Gov. Bob Graham may ask the Legislature to raise the state gas tax and forget about repealing the municipal tax on household utilities has been raised by Energy Director Lex Hester.

These taxes, Hester says, can be used to discourage use of energy. And a boost in gasoline tax income, he said, can be the source of money to finance a mass transit system that cannot be put off much longer without serious harm to the state economy.

In a report Tuesday to a subcommittee of the governor's Tax Reform Commission, he said Graham is seriously considering a major push in the area of mass transit construction, possibly tied to a gas tax hike.

He said no firm recommendations have been formulated and won't be until late September. He has no cost figures, he said, but estimated a rapid-speed light rail system linking major metropolitan areas at $7 billion.

A high-speed rail system, using Interstate 4 right-of-way from Daytona Beach to St. Petersburg, was estimated at $70 million without the trains.

Hester said Graham will propose a mass transit program — with a revenue source — to a special session of the Legislature in late October.

He suggested the subcommittee consider "gas-guzzler" taxes as a means of discouraging gasoline consumption and high mileage automobiles. "The urgency of the energy crisis supports using the gasoline tax as a disincentive," he said.

Will Graham Ask Increase In Gas Tax?

Hester said studies indicate gas could go to $1.50 a gallon without hurting the tourist business. Vacationers, he said, are more concerned about availability than price.

"Obviously, there is some point at which it is going to become a deterrent to travel," he added.

Energy-related taxes account for $723 million or 20 percent of the state's annual tax income.

"We've got to get moving or suffer serious harm to our economy," he said, estimating that "probably half of our economy is dependent on tourism, agriculture and construction, all energy-intensive industries."

More than one-half of the 5.5 million cars in the state are of gas-guzzling variety, he added, with the average getting 15 miles to the gallon of gas.

Studies show, he said, that a 10 percent gas tax surcharge would result in a 2.5 percent decrease in gasoline use.

Hester also discussed the possibility of upping the price of license tags for big cars to encourage citizens to buy small cars, and a raft of other taxes and tax credits for energy research.

He encouraged further cuts or outright elimination of the municipal utilities tax which he said serves as a "dis-incentive" to energy consumption.

He suggested a new severance tax on uranium and earmarking of the two cents a barrel tax on imported oil for solar promotion, including gasoline, after 1982.

Seminole 4-H's Award Winners

The 16th Annual Florida 4-H Congress was held on the campus of the University of Florida.

The theme "Freedom To" provided challenges to 700 4-H'ers, agents and volunteer leaders attending the event. The week-long program featured special mini-seasons, tours, demonstration contests, special recognition and entertainment.

Melanie Hart of Altamonte Springs, was awarded a trip to National 4-H Congress in Chicago in November as the Florida 4-H Horse Record Book Winner. Melanie also received a trophy as the first-place winner in the 4-H Horse Public Speaking Demonstration category. She will go on to represent Florida at the 4-H Regional Horse Show competition in Jackson, Miss. on Aug. 9th. The title of Miss Hart's 11-minute speech was "Negligence."

Andre Maynard of Sanford, was the recipient of a second place trophy for her demonstration in the Recreation and Photography Category. The title of Miss Maynard's demonstration was "Everything Is Coming Up Roses," and she showed how to make and use ribbon roses.

Susan Field of Altamonte Springs, was the recipient of a third place trophy for her demonstration in the Industrial Arts Category. The title of Miss Field's demonstration was "Mothers Helper," and she showed how to completely construct a letter caddy. Miss Field also received a trophy for her participation in State 4-H Share-the-Fun on Tuesday night. She entertained the entire 4-H Congress audience with her jazz and gymnastic performance.

There were a total of nine 4-H representatives from Seminole County.

Receiving certificates of participation were: Lori Phal, horse demonstration; Susan Dye, 4-H council delegate; Alice-Margaret Bose, 4-H Council delegate; Dianna Robey, 4-H council delegate; Miriam Leach, 4-H delegate-at-large and Yvonne Drake, 4-H delegate-at-large.

The 4-H delegation were accompanied by 4-H leaders: Nell Lyles, Donna Lyles and Debbie Kniffin and 4-H Coordinator Louise Poole.

Seminole County 4-H'ers also won awards at the Florida State 4-H Horse Show in Tampa.

Honors were brought to Seminole County by Reba Yarborough of the Genera, Saddle-Ups 4-H Club, who received a plaque as one of the Top Ten Junior 4-H'ers in the horse show.

Miss Yarborough earned the award based on her accumulated points received while showing her horse, Kedren, at the event.

A plaque was also received by Melanie Hart of the Trailblazers 4-H Club as Florida 4-H Horseman of the Year Scholarship.

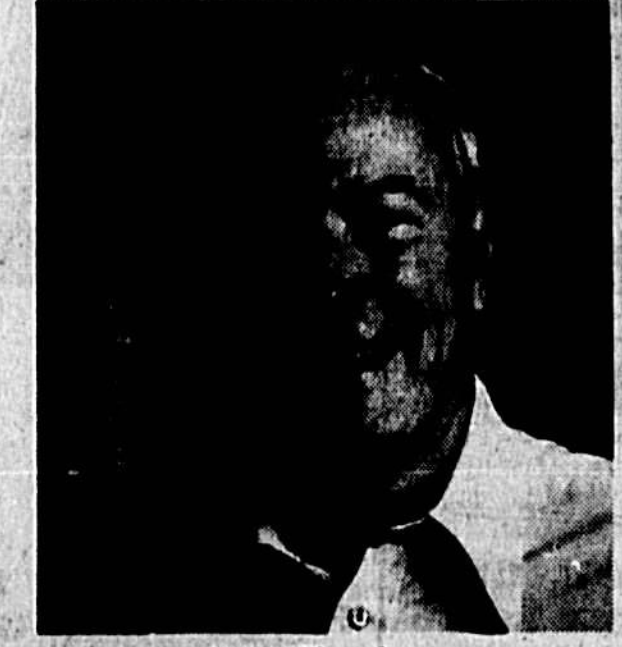

Receiving certificates were (from right): Lori Phal, Dianna Robey and Miriam Leach

Six people who did something about their electric bills.

Just like thousands of other Florida Power and Light customers, these six people are keeping their electric bills down. How? They started conserving electricity. Easily. Sensibly. And sometimes quite creatively. So look over these energy-savers and try them yourself. You'll find you may save money too. For more energy-saving ideas, pick up one of our folders at any FPL office.

Mr. Fletcher:
"We very sparingly used our air conditioner. We've installed paddle fans... we doubly insulated our attic... we've installed window-darkener blinds, along with regular blinds and drapes to keep the heat of the day out."

Mr. Bell:
"I've really cut down on my electric bill by the use of the paddle fans by the air conditioning vents. I also put that cool ray reflectant on the windows. And I blocked up several large windows of the house to cut out the bright light."

Mrs. Thompson:
"We try to turn on the cold water if possible. We try to bake different things at the same temperature. We cook enough for two or three meals and I freeze them. I shut the stove off about ten minutes before things are done."

Mrs. Lakon:
"I cook in the crockpot... or make something that doesn't need cooking. I use the toaster oven. I do read the FPL folders carefully."

Mrs. Katcher:
"We did install paddle fans in the bedrooms, and it's quite comfortable with the windows open. I find that's conserving my electricity."

Mr. Rousseau:
"First thing we did was insulate the attic. Then we installed airtight awning windows. I also put a canopy over the patio."

Awarded in the horse show was Reba Yarborough

Help For Spinal Disabilities Making 'Muscles Work'

ATLANTA (UPI) — The knuckles on Mary Lamb's slender fingers go white as she grips a heavy metal weight and struggles to lift it. She pauses and lifts it again.

"The first week I could not lift a one-pound weight in my hand," she said. "Now I can lift seven or eight pounds."

Mary, 34, was an energetic airline stewardess until a recent diving accident broke a vertebra in her back and left her paralyzed from the shoulders down.

Lying on a shiny red exercise mat at the Shepherd Spinal Center, the young Chelsea, Iowa, woman strenuously forces her arms and legs to regain whatever ability she has left from her fall.

"They say it will take from one year to 18 months to tell how far a level of injury will stay," she said calmly. "I am staying here until I reach my Peter Principle, until I can't attain anything higher."

All around her, about two dozen other patients worked with therapists, encouraging each other to do better, do more. The peer support is invaluable.

The Shepherd Center is one of about 20 such facilities in the United States, devoted to the care of people who suffer spinal cord disabilities. But it promises no miracles in its regimen of hard physical therapy exercises that it can't do anything to make those muscles work again," said therapist Carol Coogler.

Because the handling of a spinal cord injury is so crucial, the center has courses for Atlanta ambulance attendants. All nursing students in the city are given special instruction in the care of paralyzed patients.

The program is so complete that the Shepherd Center even has a specially equipped "climber" car for patients to practice driving on before their own cars are modified for them.

Mrs. Lamb broke her back in a 15-foot fall from a mock airplane emergency exit chute. When she recovered from delicate surgery, she began an intense therapy program.

"When I really realized what had happened, it blew my mind," she said. "My husband and I cried all one weekend but we decided that wasn't going to get us anywhere."

She and 10,000 other people suffer spinal cord injuries in the U.S. each year, most of them in car accidents. Others suffer from diseases or tumors which impair their arms and legs.

The Shepherd Center, like the Craig Rehabilitation Center in Denver it is patterned after, pushes patients to recover and utilize as much body function as they have left.

But it also helps patients and their families struggle with the mental trauma of an accident or illness and with the sexual complications of paralysis. Psychiatrists and counselors help Shepherd patients cope with inevitable bouts of wrenching depression.

And there are programs to help the paralyzed and their spouses enjoy sex lives as satisfying as before.

"We want them to be as independent as they possibly can," said Miss Coogler.

Morning mat classes are surprisingly lighthearted and the patients, most of them young, laugh and cajole each other as they work on unfeeling arms and legs. A male therapist sports a T-shirt irreverently lettered "The Body Man."

Truck accident victim David Tate, a 19-year-old from Gainesville, Ga., recently wrapped up his regimen at a Shepherd "graduation" ceremony. Like a fraternity initiation, he was forced to scold clear of a shower of water before he could leave.

Mary graduated in mid-May. She and her husband John, an airline pilot, are designing a new home with special features like lower kitchen counters to accommodate her reach and her wheelchair.

"I have decided I am going to be as independent as I was before," she said.

Irish Setter is a picture of dejection after being tied by his master at Lake Monroe. Ole Rover had gone into the water but was beached before he could cause any harm to sailboaters.

White House Tidbits When Powell Gets Sheepish

By HELEN THOMAS WASHINGTON (UPI) — Backstairs at the White House: Press secretary Jody Powell recently chided a group of out-of-town editors for belaboring press issues and White House coverage. With all the "momentous" events going on, he said that they should be more interested in quizzing him about the important issues.

The association prefers to have a president sit for the painting while he is in the White House for authenticity, but that does not happen often.

Rosalynn Carter's office is saying "no comment" to reports that she is being told to be more "low key" in order not to overshadow her husband.

Mrs. Carter traveled across the country in the immediate aftermath of the Cabinet purge and had to respond for her husband to the many questions asked about the shake-up.

In the White House, by staffers are saying that the press has "exaggerated" the first lady's role and influence in presidential decisions. But there is no question that the president is relying on her more and more as the political campaign approaches.

He believes that she is much more intuitive, aides say. And she believes she is much more in touch with the American people because she is among them more often.

But despite the criticism from some quarters, there is no doubt that Mrs. Carter will hit the campaign trail in earnest after her husband formally announces his candidacy.

Former President Richard M. Nixon's son-in-law, David Eisenhower, helped by his wife, Julie, is finishing his book about his grandfather Dwight D. Eisenhower. After its completion, sources say the Eisenhowers are planning to move to the Philadelphia area.

The sources say David is again flirting with the idea of running for Congress.

The move will put the Nixon-Eisenhower clan back on the East coast.

However, the Nixons are expected to keep their new luxurious $600,000 seaside home at Cypress Shores in California as a retreat.

Source say that Nixon expressed surprise and "was appalled" when Susan Ford married a Secret Service agent, and told friends that he never permitted any close contacts to be developed between his daughters and their agents.

Most of the agents, however, found Tricia Nixon Cox especially difficult during her tedious and tedious days in the White House.

Mystery? No Bones About It!

By SHARON CARASCO
Herald Staff Writer

Ten-year-old Matt Hines of Sanford poses at pit where he found "buried treasure" of animal bones and a lady's wig.

good whodunit, but the victims involved ruined it.
Sunday evening, a 10-year-old

Sanford boy was strolling down the railroad tracks, west of Brison Avenue, near Sanford, when he came upon a pile of sun-bleached bones sticking out of a pit.
Some of the bones looked like the remains of animals while others appeared human, but Matt Hines, 10, of 1511 Elliot Drive, wasn't going to take any chances.
He scrambled out of the pit to report his finds to the Seminole County detectives. They would know, he presumed what he found were the mysterious bones. When they responded to the scene, the detectives found a black and gray wig resting on top of some type of skull bone. The scene grew even more suspicious as a discarded murder victim's "sacrifice."
Dr. G. V. Garay, Seminole County medical examiner, was summoned to the scene Monday morning to determine the type of bones found. They weren't human but probably pig and cow bones, Garay said.
"With the large amount of bones out there, somebody must have had a big barbecue," said one of the detectives. Consequently, the makings of a good mystery turned out to be the remnants of a good litter bag.

10 Years Ago It Was Calm

When Seeds Of Political Tempest Were Being Sown

By ARNOLD SAWISLAK
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The summer of 1969 was one of the most peaceful of the decade. As exhausted by the spasm of riots and assassinations of the recent past, the United States seemed to be entering a period of calm.
The seeds of the most calamitous U.S. political crisis of the century were being sown that summer. It was when, like Elisha in the Old Testament story, a prophet outraged by the methods used to assure the 1968 nomination for Humphrey, they won major victories in the form of convention mandates for rules reform.
McGovern started as chairman of the reform commission in 1969; Rep. Donald Fraser, another Minnesota liberal, took over when the South Dakota went for the presidency. The result was a series of revisions that transformed the 1972 national convention: three times as many women and blacks and five times as many young people as delegates that 1968.
Some say McGovern won in 1972 because he was the only candidate who understood the new rules. That is an injustice; the rules were clear to all. But...

RICHARD M. NIXON

Back at the White House, Nixon was fretting...
McGovern may have been the only one who believed they would be enforced.
A full 40 percent of the original delegates were challenged and many, including Richard Daley, the kingmaker mayor of Chicago, were forced to watch the convention on television.
Like liberals re-fighting the last year's most candidly planned 1972 on the basis of what worked in 1968.
Sen. Edmund Muskie went out and got endorsements from scores of Democratic bigwigs just as Humphrey had done in 1968. The net result was that...

Richard M. Nixon
The 1976 election was close, but really not very exciting. This was because neither Carter nor Ford were exciting candidates and the reliance of both on pre-tested campaign tactics. There was little innovation in either tactics or substance, and the result was an almost even split of both votes and states.
Carter won by raising from the grave the FDR Coalition, with emphasis on the South. Ford made it close by taking some eastern "bedroom" states winning the industrial Midwest and all but sweeping the west.
Hopes of increasing voting by casting registration fazed as well.
The Democratic apparatus became the possession of the incumbent president. Carter got early support from party leaders, but many soon retreated to cover their own backs and see if the "new man" could survive.

The values of the 'Me Generation' had seeped into Congress and the bureaucracy...

Snake In Grass? Nope In Wall!

McMINNVILLE, Ore. (UPI) — Bob Gentry's family is taking a few extra precautions these days to avoid any unexpected meetings with Albert.
For instance, family members always turn on the lights when they go into a room. Only the adventurous spend much time poking around closets. They have even stuffed heating pads next to wall heating ducts.
Albert is a 5-foot boa constrictor who disappeared one recent summer day through a fireplace vent into a wall of the Gentry's house.
Now, no one knows where Albert — a female snake, by the way — has gone.
The boa constrictor made her way into the Gentry household in the loving arms of a friend of the Gentry's daughter, Linda, while her parents were on vacation. Deciding to do some laundry, the two girls put Albert on the living room floor.
The last anyone saw of Albert was her posterior as she wiggled out of the friend's grasp and into the fireplace vent.
At first, the family thought the boa would just poke around a little bit inside the vents and stuff inside the walls, then come out. That was a long time ago, note the Gentrys.
Now, they have taken to asking experts what to do about the recalcitrant snake in the wall. Following a conversation with one such expert, the family rejected a somewhat dramatic solution to the problem — building a fire in the fireplace to force the snake to leave.
The Washington Park Zoo's reptile expert said boas move slowly and Albert might be baked before making her escape. As for waiting for the boa to get hungry and come out looking for food, the expert noted that since Albert had eaten a white rat the day before she disappeared, she probably won't need any more food until September or October.
Boas don't move much and there really is no reason for her to move from her niche, the expert said. He said the only thing the Gentrys might do is lure her out with heat, which is where the heating pad tactic came from.
That didn't work either.
Now, the Gentrys say they've found some clues that the reptile might have ventured out — such as a mark similar to a garden hose on the rug and some "evidence" near the fireplace (made while the family was out).
That's about as far as it's gone, however. The Gentrys haven't the faintest idea where their visiting boa constrictor is — except that she's probably hanging around inside the wall somewhere, waiting to get hungry again.

Teacher Calls Herself 'Plain Vanilla Cook'

By TOM NETSEL
Herald Staff Writer

Glenda McClure calls herself a "plain vanilla cook" who serves her family an entire, a vegetable and a salad. "Nothing fancy but nutritious," she said.

Though she lives in Winter Park, Mrs. McClure has been at the college for three years. "I taught high school for three years until I had a family," she explained. "When they went to school I went back to teaching."

When not at school she keeps house for her husband, two children, Michele, 10, and Scott, 11, and a cat. "The kids like TV dinners," she said. "But one day I hope they will appreciate the taste of fresh foods when their taste buds mature."

Mrs. McClure laughs and says she never from a "Mistake!" omelet who put pork fat in everything to no salt at all — and sprinkled wheat germ on my food.

But now she feels she has left both extremes and tries to serve her family tasty, nutritious meals that are also easy and quick to make.

Planes MUST Yield To Non-Smokers Whims

DEAR ABBY: You were asked what you would do if you were on an airplane and were forced to sit in the smoking section because there were no seats in the non-smoking area. "I'd speak to the flight attendant."

Well, thanks a lot! I'm a flight attendant and if the flight is full, the most I can do is to get someone in the non-smoking section to voluntarily give up his seat to the smokers.

DEAR ABBY: Here's a hot place to ALLERGIC TO SMOKE. I'd like to see you annoyed by smokers on airplanes.

DEAR ABBY: You are not only in the middle, you are in error. Read on:

SEN. EDWARD KENNEDY

Teddy Leads Carter

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The latest ABC News-Harris poll of possible Democratic presidential contenders in 1980 gives Sen. Edward Kennedy his biggest lead over President Carter in the past two years — 59-34 percent.

In a three-way battle, Kennedy was favored over Carter 52-25 percent, with Brown getting 18 percent.

The Massachusetts senator holds an even bigger lead over California Gov. Edmund G. Brown, 69-25 percent, the polls showed.

The 63-33 margin was the largest spread in seven such polls over the past two years.

'The National Guard Treated Us Like Dogs,' Nicaraguan Insists

MASAYA, Nicaragua (UPI)—Masaya is a shattered city. Its cement houses are riddled with bullet holes. Government buildings — including the courthouse and post office — are either badly damaged or in total ruins.

The former national guard garrison building was burned by jubilant crowds when the guard made a tactical retreat from Masaya at the end of June. Only a mass of rubble indicates where it once stood.

The city's only movie house resembles a modern version of an ancient Greek theater, with the roof blown off and only twisted steel frames of the seats distinguishable in the debris.

The fighting this June and July and the popular insurrection of last September have left 80 percent of the city's 30,000 people unemployed.

The telephone system is so badly damaged that calls cannot be made to the capital of Managua just 16 miles to the northwest.

"For us it will be perhaps more than a year before we can see the city as it was before," said Luis Santiago Palaco, a member of the five-person municipal junta set up by the Sandinista National Liberation Front to run the city until local elections are held.

Despite the serious food shortage, a lack of medicine coupled with the threat of disease and the destruction that surrounds them, Masaya's people are serene and hopeful.

Crowds gather in small squares in the late afternoon among the piles of street cobblestones that were used as barricades against the guard. A religious procession to give thanks the war is over marches through the streets complete with a small brass band.

Masaya has a special place in the history of the civil war that overthrew President Anastasio Somoza and ended more than four decades of Somoza family dynasty.

It was in Masaya's Monimbo district, where the population of Indian descent always opposed Somoza, that the first full-scale battle took place between Sandinista guerrillas and the national guard.

On Feb. 28, 1978, a group of guerrillas bombed voting booths and burned ballots during a local election, an action that led to three days of battles between the national guard and some 60 to 80 Sandinista guerrillas.

"Here the guard treated us like dogs," recalled Commandante Comanche, 23, who participated in the attack and was imprisoned for four months until he bribed a guard with $300 to let him escape.

Cook Of The Week Teacher Calls Herself 'Plain Vanilla Cook'

By TOM NETSEL
Herald Staff Writer

Glenda McClure calls herself a "plain vanilla cook" who simply serves her family an elegant, vegetable and a salad, "adding fancy but nutritious," she said.

"I should not live and not eat out," she said, quoting an old proverb. "Did I say that right, or is it the other way around?" she laughed. "That's left over from my vegetarian days."

Mrs. McClure spends 30 hours a week at Seminole Community College working as a reading teacher in the adult division which includes the General Education Development Program (GED), English For Speakers of Other Languages (ESOL) and a community reading lab.

The lab is open to anyone 16 or over who would like to learn to read, improve his vocabulary or increase his comprehension. It is a free program that is designed not only for poor or uneducated, but for anyone wishing to improve or refine reading skills, she said.

"One lady, who is about 40, had trouble with phonics and pronunciation and we have some students working on a technique of reading. One is an eleventh grader who has several grade reading skills," said Mrs. McClure.

Though she lives in Winter Park, McClure has been at the college for three years. "I taught high school for two years until I had a family," she explained. "When they went to school I went back to teaching."

When not at school she keeps house for her husband, two children, Michele, 10, and Scott, 11, and a cat. "The kids like TV dinners," she said. "But one day I hope they will appreciate the taste of fresh foods when their taste buds mature."

Mrs. McClure laughs and says she went from a "Mississippi oyster who put pork fat in everything to no salt at all — and scrambled wheat germ on my food."

But now she feels she has left both extremes and tries to serve her family tasty, nutritious meals that are also easy and quick to make.

Planes MUST Yield To Non-Smokers Whims

DEAR ABBY: You were asked what you would do if you were on an airplane and were forced to sit in the smoking section because there were no seats in non-smoking. You said, "I'd speak to the flight attendant."

Well, Connie, a lot I'm a flight attendant and, if the flight is full, the most I can do is try to get someone in the non-smoking section to voluntarily give up his seat to sit with the non-smokers. You can't force anyone to do anything for a deal like that.

Tell your readers that the best way to circumvent that problem is to reserve seats well in advance. When flying standby, take the same attitude you would have at the gaming table; you pay for money and you take your chances.

IN THE MIDDLE IN TEXAS

DEAR IN: You are not only in the middle, you are in over. Read on.

DEAR ABBY: Have a hot flash to ABBEY TO SMOKE, and to all other smokers approved by smokers on airplanes.

All domestic airlines are now requiring you to provide a smoking seat for every passenger who wants one, even if the entire plane has to be given over to non-smokers.

In other words, if only one person in the whole plane is a non-smoker, that person's comfort and well-being must be considered above the whims of those who insist on sitting in the air with the stench and irritants of tobacco smoke.

Read you are more widely read than government regulations, you can force your great public service by disseminating the information: "Fines up to $1,000 can be levied by Civil Aeronautics Board on the basis of a single, unattended, well-documented complaint."

Readers with such complaints should write to: CIVIL AERONAUTICS BOARD BUREAU OF CONSUMER PROTECTION WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580 SMOKEY JOE

DEAR ABBY: With so many airline readers voicing their "right" to breathe air un-polluted by the stench and irritants of tobacco smoke while traveling by plane, may I have equal time?

I must travel over 100,000 miles a year on business, and I think I'm entitled to be protected against noxious fumes, peppy toddlers and talkative seat partners who interfere with my concentration when I'm trying to read or get some deadline paperwork done.

I also deserve protection from fellow travelers who drink too much and become boisterous and downright disgusting.

And, when flying coach, I pray that I won't be seated three rows with a fat person who invariably crowds me, breathes heavily and perspires a lot.

Wouldn't life be beautiful if we could all breathe ourselves from those things that bug us? But since we can't how about a little patience, flexibility and tolerance?

Rock Cornish hens get barbecued

Cornish Hens On The Grill Are Special

Rock Cornish hens, marinated in a special sauce for barbecuing, always make an attractive guest dish that is simple to prepare and serve. The hens may be baked, but they take on a different flavor when cooked over slowly burning coals. If you like, add some hickory chips to the coals just before cooking.

BARBECUED ROCK CORNISH HENS

1 Rock Cornish hen or small chickens, halved

1 tablespoon coriander
1 (8 ounce) can tomato sauce
1/2 cup soy sauce
One-third cup lemon juice
2 tablespoons onion powder
1/2 teaspoon garlic powder
1/2 teaspoon ground ginger
1/2 teaspoon black pepper

In medium saucepan, blend coriander with 1 tablespoon of tomato sauce. Blend in remaining tomato sauce along with oil, soy sauce, lemon juice, onion powder, garlic powder, ginger and black pepper.

Bring to boil, stirring constantly. Cook and stir 1 minute. Cool completely.

Place hens in snug-fitting pan. Pour 1/2 cup of tomato mixture over hens, coating them on both sides. (Save remaining marinade for another barbecue.) Cover. Refrigerate about 2 hours.

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Place hens on rack in shallow open pan. Bake, turning and basting occasionally with marinade, until hens are fork-tender, about 1 hour.

Or place hens on rack over slowly burning coals, turning and basting occasionally with remaining marinade. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 6 servings, 2 1/2 cups sauce.

Cauliflower casserole is bland.

Mexican Cooking Need Not Be Hot

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

Mexican dishes are challenging those of the Chinese and Italians for the ethnic dining spotlight.

It is interesting to note that myths surrounding Mexican foods are vanishing. All such cooking does not feature the red-hot chilies, for example. In fact, many Mexican dishes are surprisingly bland.

This cauliflower-sausage casserole is mildly seasoned for those who do not savor spicy foods. Serve with cornbread and a pitcher of sangria.

Remove sausage from casing. Brown in skillet, breaking into small pieces with wooden spoon. Pour off fat. Cook cauliflower according to package directions until crisp-tender. Drain.

Combine cooked sausage, tomato sauce, parsley, chilies and olives. Mix well.

Spread a layer of sauce mixture in bottom of 9-quart baking dish. Top with cooked cauliflower. Cover with remaining sauce. Top with cheese and crumbs. Dot with butter.

Bake in 325-degree oven about 25 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

MEXICAN CAULIFLOWER SAUSAGE CASSEROLE

1 pound sweet sausage
4 (11 ounce) packages frozen cauliflower
2 (16-ounce) cans tomato sauce
1/2 cup chopped parsley
1/2 teaspoon ground cumin

Nectarines And Lamb A Quick Gourmet Meal

We often overlook the combination of fruits and meat in rushing to prepare the day's meal.

It takes little time, however, to add fresh or canned fruit to a meat dish. Most fruits merely need heating during the final step of preparation. Even fruit sauces to accompany meat cuts can be fixed quickly.

Braised lamb chops with nectarines is a tasty combination that takes advantage of that late-summer fruit.

Select relatively inexpensive lamb cuts such as shoulder chops. Lamb tastes best when not cooked until dry so this recipe should take only 20 to 25 minutes.

Serve with rice and a herb lettuce salad.

BRAISED LAMB CHOPS WITH NECTARINES

2 tbs. butter or margarine
4 shoulder lamb chops
1/2 tbs. butter or margarine
1 cup chopped onion
4 tsp. dry mustard
1 cup port wine (or prune juice)
2 fresh nectarines, sliced

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Heat 2 tablespoons butter in ovenproof skillet. Brown lamb chops on both sides. Sprinkle chops with basil and transfer to warm plate.

Add 1 tablespoon butter to skillet. Sauté onion until soft. Stir in mustard. Return chops to pan. Add port and bring to boil. Add nectarine slices.

Transfer pan to 350-degree oven. Bake, covered, for 15 minutes or until chops are tender and nectarines are heated through.

Transfer chops and nectarines with slotted spoon to serving dish. Keep warm. Reduce liquid over high heat by 1/4. Pour over chops. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 4 servings.

Nectarines add new flavor to lamb.

Savory Summer Dining Is A Snap

You'll find more time for good old-fashioned summer fun with the help of three easy secrets—canned salmon, fresh Florida limes and icy cold tea. With these three great ingredients, you can prepare beautiful meals in no time and get out of the kitchen fast.

Canned salmon is always a summer favorite because it's light and so easy to serve. Bright to you from the icy waters of the North Pacific, salmon is quickly processed in modern facilities to insure freshness from the sea flavor all year long. Convenient, flavorful, tender chunks of salmon are an attractive addition to all kinds of salads, sandwiches and main dish meals. This delicately flavored fish has an extravagant aura about it, yet surprisingly, a very moderate price for such a valuable protein food.

For a delightful lunch or supper, try this Summer Salmon Platter of chilled Flare Mousse. Deceptively light and refreshing, this easy dessert can be kept — ready and waiting — in the freezer for up to two weeks. For extra appeal garnish the Mousse with wheels.

To complement the meal before, during and after serve a tall, icy old pitcher of tea. Whether you make it by the overnight, traditional or instant way, tea is America's most popular sipping beverage of summer.

Make a pitcherful of tea the night before or early in the morning so you'll have thirst quenching, low calorie refreshment all day long. Or, try Orchard Tea, a tasty blend of vinegar, lime juice, garlic, basil, salt and pepper in shallow dish. Add onion slices, tomato and cucumber. Spoon oil mixture over vegetables to coat. Cover and refrigerate at least 2 hours. Just before serving, line platter with salad greens. Drain vegetables, reserving marinade. Starting at outside edge of platter, arrange vegetables in concentric circles in the following order: onions, tomatoes and cucumbers. Drain salmon and break into chunks with a fork; arrange on salad greens in center of salad. Garnish with olives. Pass remaining marinade as dressing. Makes 6 servings.

If desired, half salad oil may be substituted for 1/4 cup olive oil.

ORCHARD TEA

1 quart boiling water
2 cups apple juice
2 tablespoons fresh Florida lime juice (about 1 lime)
3 rounded tablespoons instant tea
1/2 cup sugar
2 cinnamon sticks
1 teaspoon whole cloves
Lime wedges for garnish

Combine all ingredients in large pitcher or cooler; stir to dissolve sugar. Let stand an hour. Then place in refrigerator to chill. When ready to serve, strain to remove spices and serve over ice with a wedge of lime.

Variation: Use a quart of freshly brewed strong tea in place of boiling water and instant tea. Make tea using 9 teabags or 9 teaspoons loose tea and a quart of water. Makes about 1 1/2 quarts.

Iced Tea Is Easy To Make

THE TRADITIONAL WAY

(With teabags or loose tea): Bring a quart of freshly drawn cold water to a full rolling boil in a saucepan. Remove from heat and immediately add one-third cup loose tea or 15 teabags. Cover and let stand 5 minutes. Strain again and strain into a pitcher holding another quart of cold water. Keep at room temperature until ready to serve, then pour into ice-filled glasses.

THE OVERNIGHT WAY

(With teabags or loose tea): Fill a quart jar or container with freshly drawn cold water. Add 6 to 10 teabags, removing the tags. Cover and let stand at room temperature or in the refrigerator at least 6 hours or overnight. Remove bags, squeezing against side of container. Makes 1 quart. Recipe may be doubled.

Marinades Do Wonders

Yes, you can have steaks for your summer barbecuing, even if airtight is too dear for your pocketbook. Marinades transform less tender cuts of beef into succulent barbecued treats and impart delicious flavors to the meat.

Grilled round steaks, for instance become company fare after two hours of marinating, says home ecologists. They've developed two marinades that both tenderize and add an Oriental flavor to the meat when you use them as a baste while you grill.

HERB MARINADE
(1 1/2-qt. cups)

1-3/4 cup soy sauce
1/2 cup finely chopped onion
2 tbs. salad oil
1 tbs. dried oregano leaves
1/2 cup dry red wine

Combine ingredients; mix well. Use to marinate London broil, round or chuck roast before barbecuing; baste meat occasionally with marinade while cooking.

Milk Substitutes May Solve Problem

By LAWRENCE LAMB, M.D. DEAR DR. LAMB: My system cannot handle milk and milk products so I quit consuming them, but I've continued to have gas and rumbling bowels and diarrhea anyway. I have been using a liquid nondairy creamer and contains hydrogenated soybean oil.

In your Health Letter, Milk Products: Good And Bad, number 74, you said that there were soybean substitutes that you could use for milk, but you also said that some of the soybean products contain triple sugars and can't be digested either, and if you get too many of these products that they can cause the same symptoms that you get from the undigested double sugar lactose that's in milk.

I'd like to know if the soybean products in the non-dairy creamer I'm using on my cereal may be causing me to have gas and could you recommend a good non-dairy creamer without any soybean products in it?

DEAR READER — You've pretty well stated the problem. As almost everyone knows, the entire bean group, referring to mature beans, are a major source of gas. There are many people who can't eat beans without having this problem. Mature bean seeds, and that includes soybeans, do contain triple sugars. We just don't have an enzyme in our digestive system to break these down.

Since you can only absorb single sugars, these aren't absorbed. These unabsorbed sugars have a laxative type action which results in drawing fluid into the intestine and allowing fermentation to occur. The end result is gas, cramps and diarrhea. There seems to be marked differences in tolerance to bean products and about the only way a person can find out is to try it and see.

Another readers who want more information on milk intolerance can send for The Health Letter number 74 that you have. Send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Another solution is to use milk that's been treated. Perhaps the best approach would be to use the use of Lact-Aid. In some places you can find milk that's already been treated with this but otherwise there are little packets of the enzyme that you can add to the milk and let it stay in the refrigerator until the enzyme has broken down the double sugar. If you can't find these little packets of enzymes in your grocery store or health food store, you can write to the Sugar-Low Company, 3540 Atlantic Avenue, Atlantic City, New Jersey 08404.

About the only other suggestion that I can make is that you might learn to use something else with your cereal such as fruit and fruit juices. That leaves you without a good source of calcium and if you can't use milk or milk products or some of the soybean milk substitutes, then you should be taking some calcium supplements to avoid a calcium deficiency.

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BEDE SOOL

For Thursday, August 9, 1979

YOUR BIRTHDAY August 1, 1979

Creative endeavors will occupy a large portion of your time this coming year. Your chances for success in these developments is excellent. Also, look for some interesting trip opportunities to come along.

AUGUSTUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) The summer months have been a money afterthought, because the whole family will suffer, as well as you. Talk things over first. The alternatives are plentiful. Find out more of what lies ahead for you in the year following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 488, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

VINGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Make certain your hunches aren't masking selfish motives when dealing with others today. You're a good salesman and could peddle something worthwhile. This you'll later regret.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Take care you don't turn your back on your work today. Just because something nice has happened to you, you could lose more than you anticipated.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 23) Without sleeping on the toes of others, take charge and handle important situations properly. Be sure to use extreme tact, however, or someone will be nipped.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) If you're not too sure of yourself with something new, you're involved in, take a back seat and let others have their way. You'll learn a valuable lesson.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Don't let outsiders interfere in your important business. They may mean well, but chances are they'll only confuse things and make extra problems for you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) The summer months have been a money afterthought, because the whole family will suffer, as well as you. Talk things over first. The alternatives are plentiful. Find out more of what lies ahead for you in the year following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 488, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Bold measures will be necessary to overcome neglected tasks. However, they need better be well thought out or your recovery could prove expensive.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) The place to be today is home with your loved ones. The social sphere has too many complications and will only prove frustrating.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You might just as well take a day off and have fun with a pal, doing little or nothing. Everything else you attempt will result in beating your head against a brick wall.

CANCER (June 21-July 23) Be extra careful what you say and to whom you say it today. Telling jealous persons of your good fortune will prove harmful to you.

Arson Suspected in Spain

21 Die In Forest Fire

LLORET DE MAR, Spain (UPI) — Firefighters today were in control of a forest fire authorities said was deliberately set to kill more than 20 vacationers unable to outrun its wind-driven flames.

Authorities, who earlier reported 22 dead, today revised the count to 21. They said they had recovered the burned bodies of 10 men, six women, four children and one person whose sex could not be immediately determined. All were believed to be Spaniards.

Contaminated By Radiation

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI) — An ambulance driver and a worker cleaning up waste from the March 28 nuclear accident at the disabled Three Mile Island nuclear power plant have been contaminated by radiation.

Karl Abraham, a spokesman for the Nuclear Regulatory Commission, described the exposures as "tiny." The federal health limit for radiation workers in one quarter is 7,400 millirems, he said.

In making the announcement Tuesday, Metropolitan Edison Co. also disclosed the first batch of radioactive waste materials from the accident was making a 2,500-mile highway journey to a disposal site in Hanford, Wash.

On the subject of the waste, Klucick said the shipment was the first to contain any waste from the damaged nuclear reactor Unit No. 2.
