Tight-Fisted Winter Springs May Be Giving Taxpayers Best Buy

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

Winter Springs squeezes its tax dollar better than any city in Seminole; better than the county, too.

Oviedo, the smallest city in the county, lies at the other end of the money spending trail and seems to need more cash to play with per citizen than any other city in the county. The rest of Seminole's cities lie between the two in per capita spending, according to an analysis of just-adopted budgets. In terms of property taxes, however, Sanford residents pay the highest in-city rate, $4.38 per $1,000 assessed property value, which is exceeded only by the county's tax rate of $6.66 for the unincorporated areas.

In Winter Springs, the cost per citizen for city services is actually going down. Police and fire protection, sewer service and the like will cost the city's 16,636 residents an average of $260.35 each during the 1985-86 budget year. That amount is down $4.31 from last year when the city had 1,451 fewer citizens. The population figures are estimates provided by the University of Florida, Gainesville.

How does Winter Springs do it?
"I think we're very conservative," said Mayor John V. Torcaso, referring to the commission members' fiscal attitudes. "We cooperate pretty good together."

Torcaso said property taxes account for 17 percent of the city's revenues, with interest on bonds and a utility tax the primary sources.

"We're definitely fiscally conservative," he said.

Winter Springs, fourth in population in Seminole County after Altamonte, Sanford and Casselberry, first through third in that order, has the lowest tax rate, $1.50 per $1,000 of assessed property value. Its former rate is $1 per $1,000.

Lying in financial contrast is the city of Oviedo, a city with a population of 3,729 and a per capita cost to run the city of $490.27. The second highest per capita cost was Sanford, just 75 cents behind Oviedo at $489.52. Sanford's population is estimated at 27,494.

Oviedo surged ahead of Sanford in per capita costs this year by proposing a 33 percent increase in its budget, $1.2 million to $1.8 million. A large chunk of the increase is earmarked for improving police and fire service. The proportional increase pushed Oviedo's per capita costs into the big-city league because of the area's small population which grew by only 310 in the past fiscal year. That small increase in population, however, was a 9 percent jump. Oviedo was fifth in the county last year in per capita spending. Sanford's budget increase, 35.8 percent, is spread out over a larger population base.

Oviedo Mayor Bob Whittier attributed Oviedo's high per capita cost to population growth and the strain that puts on services, such as police and fire protection.

He said the city wants to modernize its police station plus it has to replace old cruisers and buy four more for four new officer positions. He said the city, under pressure from the state, has had to hire a city planner. City employees also got an 8 percent raise to bring their salaries in line with other cities in the county, he said.

Sinkhole Stabilized After Swallowing 5 Vehicles, Building

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — Workers have stabilized a 40-yard-wide and 30-foot-deep sinkhole at a car dealership, but not before it swallowed two trucks, two cars, a motorcycle and a building.

"We're trying to carry on business as normally as we can with a big hole in the lot," Pierre Perkins, general sales manager at Steve Hull Chevrolet in the Jacksonville suburb of Arlington, said Tuesday.

Officials said the sinkhole at the dealership was stabilized Tuesday afternoon. An off-duty policeman discovered the gaping hole about 3:30 a.m. EDT and it threatened to grow even larger.

Pierre Perkins, general sales manager at the dealership, said the hole appeared to have grown in size since it was discovered.

Officials at the dealership were not sure if the hole was a result of a normal sinkhole or just a washout from a drain culvert that serves a nearby shopping center, Perkins said.

"There was a 3- or 4-foot pipe under there that looks like it runs waste water from a shopping center across the street," Perkins said.

"It's hard to tell if the pipe burst and washed it out or if the sinkhole may have broken the pipe," he said. "The city got it blocked off earlier this afternoon and stopped the flow, though."

"It opened up right next to where our service people greet customers who bring their cars in to have them serviced."

Brush With The Law

Painting jail bars for an upcoming Jaycees Jail-a-thon fundraiser are Jennifer Bass, left, a director of the Sanford-Seminole Jaycees and Darryl Colwell, president. The event is to be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday at Rand Gardens on First Street in downtown Sanford with proceeds going to the American Cancer Society. Participants will have friends "arrested" for a $15 fee. The prisoner can make bail by calling others to make donation pledges. To have some one jailed, call the society at 322-0849. Submitting to arrest is voluntary.

Danger For Longwood?

Building Chief Cites 'Outside Influence'

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

Longwood's outspoken Building Official Bud Bryant, when asked for a clarification of the cryptic memo he sent to the mayor and city commissioners Sept. 25 alluding to "dangerous practices" being forced upon the building department, said Tuesday a "gag rule" has been invoked. He said he is not permitted to talk to the press.

When asked whether he had ordered Bryant not to talk, City Administrator and Police Chief Greg Manning said, "He's got an attitude problem. He just said that to make it look like I am running a Gestapo operation."

Manning said not just Bryant, but all city employees, have been told to clear the topic with him before talking to the press and if what they have said involves something out of the ordinary or controversial they should inform him afterward.

"If they give press interviews they are speaking for the city, which they are not authorized to do. We can't have some employee running off at the mouth because of an attitude problem, especially if there are allegations of wrongdoing or interference with his job," Manning said.

"It's a policy decision," Manning said. "I need to know what is being said so I can apprise the commission."

At a work session Monday the mayor and commissioners said they were puzzled as to whom and what Bryant is referring in the memo when he states:

"It is quite apparent that this (protection of citizens) cannot be accomplished unless the Building Department is permitted to perform its duties as prescribed by the adopted building codes and applicable city ordinances. Outside influence in the Building Department decisions is a dangerous practice that can lead to inadequate protection where it is sorely needed."

"The Building Department's credibility is based on making decisions that are fully backed by the building codes and city ordinances, otherwise it loses the ability to protect the health."

U.S. Should Have Warned Of Attack Tunisia Officials Say; Ask UN Slap

TUNIS, Tunisia (UPI) — Tunisian officials criticized the United States today for failing to warn them of an Israeli air attack on the PLO headquarters while Israel insisted world opinion endorsed their deadly action.

At the bomb-shattered Palestine Liberation Organization headquarters where a raid by six Israeli F-16 warplanes killed at least 50 people and injured 100, a spokesman warned, "Israel will pay very dearly for the attack."

Tunisian officials said the death toll could rise today as workers searched the three leveled buildings in the Tunisian suburb of Borj Cedira and warned that normally excellent relations between Tunisia and the United States could suffer dramatically.

Tunisia called earlier for an urgent U.N. Security Council meeting to condemn the bombing.

Government sources said the U.S. Sixth Fleet, permanently stationed in the Mediterranean Sea, was undoubtedly aware of the coming air raid but did not inform Tunisian officials.

The independent daily Le Temps called the American silence a "stab in the back" while the newspaper Al Sabha said Washington was "not alone. Where were the French and their monitors, the Italians and their radars?"

A formal statement in which the White House described the raid as a "legitimate response to an act of self-defense" added to Tunisian doubts about U.S. intentions, the sources said.

Israeli Foreign Minister Yitzhak Shamir, interviewed by Israel Radio from New York where he is attending the U.N. General Assembly session, said most nations approved of the raid and there would be "no political price to pay."

"There is general recognition in the world of the fact that Israel did what is necessary.... It certainly has the right to strike at the terrorist organization that attacks citizens both at home and abroad," he said.

"The statements of both the State Department and the U.S. president recognize this principle.... This is what Israel did and I don't sense in the political atmosphere any condemnation of this action."

Defense Minister Yitzhak Rabin told reporters in Jerusalem that any attempt to accuse Israel of torpedoing the peace process was "a total nonsense." He acknowledged the raid may cause "a certain delay" in the search for peace.

Acrimony Builds

SEA-School Board Fail To Reach Pact

By Jim Searis
Herald Staff Writer

The Seminole County School Board and the Seminole Education Association again failed to reach agreement in their month-old contract dispute during a chilly five-and-a-half-hour bargaining session last week that was highlighted by sharp exchanges at the table and long private caucus sessions. It was the first scheduled bargaining session since Sept. 4 when the school board declared the talks at impasse.

The two groups have since decided upon a "special master" or hearing officer from a list of names provided by the Public Employees Relations Commission and will hold their next scheduled bargaining session Oct. 8 at 7 p.m. at the Lake Mary High Media Center.

The initial exchange between SEA Executive Director Marshall Ogletree and Seminole County School Board Chief Negotiator Ernest Cowley set the tone for the rest of the day and early evening.

"You asked for us to come back did you not," Cowley said to Ogletree. "Yes, we are complying with state guidelines," Ogletree said. "You want $324,000 more don't you? You know the school board makes no apologies for its salary structure or for its budget. I can tell you that you aren't going to get anymore money from this school board, but we will look at your proposal," Cowley said.

"You negotiated four NIPSCO (Non-Instructional Personnel for Seminole County) contracts last month in good faith at a 4 percent increase over last year and now you want more for this group. Is that correct?" Cowley asked.

Ogletree replied, "Yes, that is correct and we are willing to give back two managerial positions worth a total of $80,000." Cowley's reply was, "So!" With that comment Ogletree handed his teams prepared proposal to Cowley who studied it and declared that his group needed time to caucus.

"These guys (school board) give lip service for higher wages but they won't do anything for us," said Mike Foley, Guidance Counselor at Lake Mary High. "I think we would do better with a special master. I think both sides would make a better effort to wrap this thing up quickly and get back to work," Foley said.

"We can't strike anyway so they know we have no choice but to sign and there is no collective bargaining in Florida so they don't have to negotiate with us," Foley said. "And the special master's recommendations aren't binding, the school board can ignore them, so the cards are all in their favor. I think this guy (Cowley) is really arrogant though, we would probably do better with someone else."

Another teacher at the negotiations, Maxine Edmiston, first grade teacher at Idyllwild Elementary School in Sanford, had unkind words for the school board. "There has been no progress on the part of the board, they have not given us any cooperation at all. I do not believe they are cooperating with us and we are not being represented fairly," she said.

Tot Pulled From Pool Dies

A 29-month-old Casselberry girl pulled from her family's swimming pool Sept. 25 has died from brain damage.

Jessica Marie Huff of 3655 Mustang Way, died Tuesday at Orlando Regional Medical Center where she had been hospitalized since the accident.

Seminole County Sheriff's deputies reported Jessica had apparently crawled through a window of her home at about 1:30 p.m. on Sept. 25. Her mother, Tammie, found her unconscious and floating in the pool. She administered CPR. County rescue workers arrived to assist, but Jessica remained in critical condition until her death. She was first taken to Winter Park Memorial Hospital and then transferred to Orlando, deputies reported.

Jessica's parents are Tammie and Gene Huff. She is survived by two sisters, Kristin and Jennifer.

Bullet-Riddled Soviet Corpse Found; Embassy Threatened

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Police today found the bullet-riddled corpse of one of four kidnapped Soviet officials near Beirut's bombed-out sports stadium and were investigating reports of a second body found behind the Soviet Embassy.

An underground Moslem fundamentalist group claimed responsibility for the murder and threatened to blow up the Soviet Embassy unless the rest of its staff left Beirut within 48 hours.

"The deadline for all Soviet embassy personnel and KGB members to leave Beirut expires at 4 p.m. (9 a.m. EDT) Friday. This deadline is not subject to any extension," an anonymous telephone caller told a Western news agency.

The caller threatened to "demolish the building over their heads."

A police spokesman confirmed one of the corpses found today was a Soviet hostage. "We have heard there is another corpse but we are checking that."

Computer Hacker Takes Poor To Task

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — A computer hacker changed a recorded telephone message for poor people inquiring about food donations and told callers to quit leeching off society and find jobs. Community Action Program officials say.

They said Tuesday the hacker left the message: "Listen you bums, if you want cheese, go out and get a job and buy your own cheese. Who do you think you are, leeching on the taxpayers like this?"

"Stop sleeping on park benches and go out and get a job."

CAP distributes government commodities to the poor and elderly. People seeking free food can call a listed phone number to learn from a recorded message what food is available.

The changed message upset many callers, program director Cathy Hoskins said. Police were asked to investigate.

Officers determined the computer operated by Telecom was broken into during the weekend. They said the hacker apparently provided the appropriate series of numbers and codes to get into Telecom's message system and switch messages.

Two Airplanes Collide In Mid-Air Killing Five People

DALLAS (UPI) — A plane piloted by a student pilot on a solo flight collided with a company airplane taking three oil executives home from a business trip, killing all five people aboard both planes and scattering debris for a half mile.

National Transportation Safety Board investigator Armond Edwards said the planes crashed in flight Tuesday afternoon under clear skies with visibility at more than 15 miles. The NTSB was to continue its investigation today.

"There were two explosions, then we saw trash falling out of the sky and smoke," said Kenny Cole, member of a surveying crew that saw the accident.

"The body of the small plane (flown by the student pilot) fell about 200 feet from us," said John Allen, another crew member. "All that was left of it was the wheels, the nose strut and the cabin."

Most wreckage from the corporate airplane, a Cessna 441 Conquest owned by the Dallas oil and gas company Rosewood Enterprises Inc., fell into a municipal landfill beneath the collision site in southeast Dallas.

Wreckage from the smaller plane, a Cessna 152, landed in a wooded area near homes about a half mile from the landfill. The remains of the student pilot, tentatively identified as Robert Milke, 53, of Dallas, were found inside the cabin.

Reagan Sets Krugerrand Ban

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Nine days from today, in a move ordered against "an important symbol of apartheid," South Africa will be barred from a market that has provided millions of dollars in sales of gold krugerrand coins.

With a necessary round of consultations with U.S. trading partners completed, President Reagan has ordered the import of the 1-ounce gold coins halted at 12:01 a.m. EDT Oct. 11.

The ban was issued Tuesday, 22 days after Reagan preempted Congress with a set of limited economic sanctions that forestalled congressional passage of harsher legislation directed against the South African government's policy of strict racial separation known as apartheid.

Reagan directed the Treasury to develop rules and regulations "as may be necessary" to implement the ban.

South Africa earned more than $500 million last year on U.S. sales of the krugerrand.

In a message to Congress, Reagan said the action was taken "in recognition of the fact that the krugerrand is perceived in the Congress as an important symbol of apartheid."

Shuttle Ready For Thursday Launch; Exact Time Unknown

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — Engineers faced a final hectic day of work today readying the new shuttle Atlantis for its inaugural launch Thursday to reportedly deploy two military communications satellites resistant to nuclear attack.

On board will be commander Karol Bobko, co-pilot Ronald Grabe and crewmates Robert Stewart, David Hilmers and Air Force Maj. William Pailles, a member of the Defense Department's "manned spaceflight engineer" program.

Bobko and Grabe planned to put in time today practicing landings in a shuttle training jet while launch engineers prepared their ship for blastoff.

The countdown to launch began early Tuesday. Atlantis, the fourth and final member of NASA's current shuttle fleet, is scheduled to take off sometime between 10:20 a.m. EDT and 1:20 p.m. Thursday. The exact launch time will not be known until nine minutes before liftoff.

Elena, Weather Affected Canker

GAINESVILLE (UPI) — Hurricane Elena and humid weather could have caused the recent outbreak of citrus canker, says a plant pathologist with the state Division of Plant Industry's citrus canker eradication program.

Citrus canker was discovered in another nursery this week and the find could more than double the number of nurseries believed to have the disease in their trees. The outbreak of canker is mainly due to the weather, said Tim Schubert, a plant pathologist at DPI.

"A lot of factors contribute to the outbreak of canker, but mostly the warm, moist air during the summer and fall are particularly conducive to the development of canker," he said.

...Cities

The city lineup of per capita costs is Oviedo, $490.27; Sanford, $489.52; Altamonte Springs, $458.38; Casselberry, $400.91; Lake Mary, $368.21; Longwood, $320.49; and Winter Springs, $260.35. City residents have a county per capita average cost of $475.65 since property owners located within city limits in Seminole County pay a $4.18 tax rate for county purposes. Based on the unincorporated area population, it cost the county $908.93 per person to run its operation.

Casselberry's per capita cost does not include a self-supporting sewer fund that serves residents outside that city.

Population count in the unincorporated areas is 120,327, for cities it's: Altamonte Springs, 28,362; Sanford, 27,494; Casselberry, 17,322; Winter Springs, 16,636; Longwood, 12,323; Lake Mary, 3,744; and Oviedo, 3,729.

Each city and the county submitted larger budgets for the 1985-86 fiscal year than their 1984-85 budgets. All but one city raised its tax rate. Altamonte Springs kept the tax rate the same ($2.72 per $1,000) but picked up about $2 million more to spend because of increased property values, as well as new construction added to the tax rolls. As in Winter Springs, the cost per capita in Altamonte Springs went down 2.5 percent to $458.38 from $468.46. The county also held the line in one area of taxes and did not raise the tax rate for people living inside cities, $4.18. The tax rate for unincorporated county residents increased from $6.48 to $6.66.

Among the cities, Altamonte and Sanford are adding the largest number of new employees with the new fiscal year: 35 and 26 respectively. Altamonte will have 388 on the payroll and Sanford 313.

Altamonte's salary and benefit expenses, respectively, for the two budget years are $5,129,052 and $1,320,461 in 1984-85; and $6,117,336 and $1,504,128 in 1985-86.

Similar figures for the city of Sanford were not readily available because that information is not specifically tallied in its city budget, according to City Clerk Henry Tamm.

Oviedo paid $520,783 in salaries and $95,878 in benefits in the 1984-85 budget and will pay $731,587 in salaries and $151,337 in benefits in the 1985-86 budget year.

In Altamonte the biggest increase in new employees is in the recreation and leisure department which includes such diverse duties as building, park and vehicle maintenance. That department increased from 68 to 81 workers. Police strength is increasing by five persons to 95; fire, 57 to 61; public works, 90 to 99; personnel, finance and billing, 31 to 33; and community development 11 to 13.

In Sanford, seven persons are being added to the police department, five officers, a parking enforcement specialist (meter maid) and a data processing clerk. It will bring the department strength to 77. Sanford Parks and Recreation Department is scheduled to get seven employees also, including four gardeners, for a total strength of 27. Other additions and department totals are: fire, 43, up 3; administrative services, 10, up 1; utilities, 65, up 2; sanitation, 26, up 5; and building, 7, up 1.

Oviedo's lineup includes five more police officers bringing the department strength to 16 uniformed personnel and 7 office personnel; four persons to the fire department upping it to seven firefighters; and a one-person increase in the maintenance department totalling four people.

The county is adding 90 new positions for a total of 1,358 employees. The county, of course, eclipses the cities in budget size with a $109,369,765 budget for 1985-86, up $12 million from its 1984-85 budget. The population in the unincorporated areas increased only 8,828 residents.

If the budgets of the seven cities in the county were combined, the money would service about the same number of people as the county serves for about half the cost. The cities have $50 million budgeted to serve 109,610 residents. The county has budgeted $109.5 million to serve 120,327 people.

If the cities' per capita rates are averaged, the tab is $440.10 per person. The county per capita rate for every citizen is $683.29. The county, however, does provide some services the cities do not, such as social programs, libraries, jail and courthouse maintenance.

The county and cities' budget and taxes pale however in light of the school board's approved budget and per capita cost.

The school board's 1985-86 budget is $148,779,909, up $18,068,222 from its 1984-85 budget, a 14 percent increase. Per capita school board costs in 1984-85 were $608.33. In the 1985-86 budget, the per capita cost is $647.05.

The school board's tax rate per $1,000 assessed valuation increased to $7.43, up 36 cents from $7.07.

Man Sues City Over Tussle With Officer

A Winter Springs man who objected to a police officer pointing a finger at him has filed a civil suit against the city of Winter Springs.

"I'm a citizen. You can't point your finger at me," was a quote repeated in court records related to the suit filed last week by James A. Barrett, 39, of 161 N. Devon Ave.

Barrett is asking for unspecified damages in excess of $5,000.

The suit stems from an incident Feb. 23, 1984 in which Barrett was arrested for battery on a law enforcement officer. Barrett was not prosecuted.

According to Winter Springs police records, Barrett's minor daughter was involved in a motorcycle accident in Winter Springs. The paramedics suspected her leg was broken and as the ambulance was carrying the girl to the hospital the girl's mother, Paula, reportedly stopped the ambulance and profanely ordered that her daughter be removed from the ambulance. The woman reportedly was driven to the scene by a friend because she had a previously broken foot and was taking medication. The officers at the scene finally convinced the woman to go with the girl in the ambulance to the hospital.

After they left, records report, Barrett arrived. When the officer told him where his wife was and of her alleged behavior he, too, apparently became upset prompting the officer to make a point while using his index finger.

Barrett reportedly objected to the officer pointing and reportedly said he was a citizen and that the officer couldn't point at him. According to report, Barrett then pointed back.

The officer reported when Barrett pointed back, he struck the officer in the mouth and pushed him. That led to an arrest scuffle in which Barrett was grabbed by the neck, wrestled to the ground and handcuffed. He was taken to Seminole County jail where, according to Barrett's suit, he was released 6½ hours later after posting bond.

Barrett states in the suit that he had not broken any laws and that the officers had no probable cause to arrest him nor a warrant to do so. He further states the officers battered him and that the city was negligent in hiring, training and supervising the officers.

He states in the suit that he has suffered embarrassment, humiliation, loss of reputation, injuries and the cost of medical attention.

Winter Park Woman Reports Double Rape

A 19-year-old Winter Park woman told Seminole County sheriff's deputies she was raped by two men after having been dropped off in the North Street area of Altamonte Springs by a man who had reportedly taken her along when he went to the area Sunday to trade some "items" for cocaine.

The woman told deputies the man took her to North Street, near County Road 427 at about 8 p.m. Sunday. There he met a second man and dropped the victim off. Within about five minutes another man came by and agreed to take her home, a sheriff's report said.

He took her to his home to pick up his car keys and two other men at the home kept asking to "have her" and grabbed her, the report said.

The two, in the company of the man who offered the woman a ride, forced her and dragged her behind a fence of Rosenwald School where, despite her kicking and screaming, they raped her, the report said.

The man who offered her the ride told the rapists to leave the woman alone, the report said.

No arrests have been made.

THREATS AT HOME

Election In Casselberry

Voters To Pick Mayor, 2 Councilmen

By Janie Gnat
Herald Staff Writer

Sewage capacity, labor unions, relations between the city and employees and transportation are a few of the issues facing candidates and voters in the Nov. 5 election for a mayor and two councilmen in Casselberry.

Running for mayor are incumbent Charles Glascock, John Leighty, and Owen Sheppard. Council seat 4 is being contested by incumbent Al Harmon and Phyllis Sheppard while seat 5 will be between incumbent Tom Embree and Ed Lewis.

Harmon said the biggest issue in this campaign is sewage problems. "We've been in a moratorium (on building) for the last year due to the lack of sewage capacity," he said.

Alternatives he sees to the problem include spraying treated effluent on the golf courses and expansion of the city's sewage treatment facility.

A by-product of having no sewage capacity is no building and no increase in the tax base and its accompanying tax revenues, he said, while the cost of running government keeps increasing.

Harmon said he feels transportation is a also problem. He said there are several streets in Casselberry that "are convenient arteries to U.S. Highway 17-92 and State Road 436. We're a convenient pass through. All we can do there is try to keep the roads maintained and the traffic flowing."

Although labor unions may be seen as a problem to some candidates, Harmon is not one of them. He said he has no problems working with the unions but he doesn't feel the city should allow an arbitrator to handle employment disputes currently handled by a civil service board. He said an arbitrator would be an outside third party who "knows very little about our city but who is deciding who is going to stay and who goes."

Another issue Harmon is concerned about is the increase in the number of paramedic units in the city. The city has one and is outfitting a second for operation in the near future.

The council wants to enter into a first response agreement with the county that would allow a city paramedic unit to respond to calls in the county areas if it is closer to the call than a county paramedic unit. Harmon said there are stipulations to such an agreement. First, the city's second unit must be operational before the agreement would go into effect and second, the county's Fern Park Fire Station would be staffed with a paramedic unit to respond to a call in Casselberry if the city's unit were already engaged.

A separate tax approved by the voters in a referendum made the paramedic units a possibility and Harmon said the residents need to get what they are paying for. "We can't be left totally without paramedic coverage. The concern that has been expressed has been satisfied," he said.

Harmon, 44, 1311 Avalon Boulevard, has a bachelor's degree in math from the University of Lock Haven in Pennsylvania, and has worked in computer programming and communications for 16 years. He has been a councilman for two years, was vice chairman of the council for one year, served on the board of adjustment for one year, and is a member of the Messiah Lutheran Church and Camelot Homeowners Association.

Phyllis Sheppard is concerned with returning government to the people in Casselberry. "I'm concerned as a citizen and that's why I'm running," Mrs. Sheppard said.

Mrs. Sheppard said she thinks the city's paramedic units are an important issue. "We have a first place paramedic program in this city. My feeling is if we are going to have vehicles here one should stay in the city," she said. "If we have added vehicles they can go out and take care of others."

About labor unions, Mrs. Sheppard said she didn't feel they were a disruptive influence on the city, but "I'm sorry to see that they're here. But they are and they have to be dealt with."

Mrs. Sheppard agreed that sewage is a big problem in the city, but did not have any suggestions for addressing that problem at this point.

Mrs. Sheppard is a housewife and 16-year resident of Casselberry with a high school education who wants to "get the tax dollar's worth" for the residents. She said she feels her experience handling a household budget has prepared her for getting the most for the tax dollar out of the city's budget.

Mrs. Sheppard has served as vice chairman and chairman of the recreation board.

John Leighty said he thinks communication is the number one problem for the city.

"The problem is the mayor doesn't get along with employees, other municipalities or the council," he said. "We have got to have somebody who can do a little communicating."

Although Leighty had no comment on paramedic units for the city he did say that labor unions were a "touchy situation."

"It's the responsibility of the mayor's office to get along with all employees. We do have a labor union in the city and we just have to put up with it."

"If city employees are not happy with what's going on they're not going to get the job done for the taxpayers," he said.

A 12-year veteran of the council, Leighty said the council needs professional people who the council can turn to for help running the city's departments "to get things done."

Leighty, 55, has lived in Casselberry for 26 years. He was first elected to the council in 1970 and was defeated in 1974. He was again elected to the council in 1976 and served until 1982. Leighty served on the board of assessment for three years, was council chairman for one year, council vice chairman for four years, served on the parks and recreation board for one year and spent one year on the code enforcement board for the county.

"I'm just a plain ordinary fellow," said Leighty, who never finished high school. Leighty is currently doing security work and serves on the county's parks and recreation board.

"I don't think there's any one issue in the council race that stands out," Tom Embree said. "The pressure from special interest groups does appear and you have to make sure you represent the citizens."

About the mayor's race, Embree said there is a necessity for harmony between the mayor and city employees. "You have to allow your department heads to do their jobs. When you don't have that and don't talk with the council that's not good. We (council members) should be able to go to department heads without having to ask the mayor," he said. "We've got to have some cooperation out of the administration."

$100 Million School Bond Issue Among Choices Facing Voters

Five elections are coming up in Seminole County and at least one contest is already decided.

One election, to be held Oct. 22, is countywide — a referendum for a $100 million school bond issue. The bonds would finance a new elementary school, build a new centralized maintenance center, partially renovate 40 of the school system's 41 schools and buy land for a new high school.

The other four elections are for city councilmen or city commissioners in Altamonte Springs, Casselberry, Winter Springs, and Longwood, according to Seminole Supervisor of Elections Sandy Goad.

Qualifying for the Altamonte Springs Nov. 5 city commission election for seats one and three has already closed and the only people to qualify were incumbent J. Dudley Bates, seat one, and Eddie Titen, seat three, who are commissioners-elect because they are running unopposed. Commissioner Bruce Furino, seat three, chose not to run again this year. Both Bates and Titen agreed that growth was the number one problem for that city this year.

Ambrose said public services such as transportation will have problems that should be reassessed by the commission.

Casselberry voters will have a choice when they go to the polls on Nov. 5 to elect council members and a mayor. (See story above).

Qualifying for the Nov. 5 city council election in Winter Springs ended Sept. 16 and contenders who met that deadline include for seat one incumbent Jim Hartman and Cindy Jo Kachler, seat three Ray Bradshaw, Art Harris and Phillip A. Kulbes, and seat five incumbent B. G. Adkins, Lawrence A. Cerra, Marilyn J. Piland, and Martin Trencher.

Mayor John Torcaso of Winter Springs said road repairs and a site for a hazardous waste transfer station just north of Winter Springs on county property are two issues facing the council.

"We need to have a commission that will continue with the progress that the city is making," Torcaso said. "The main thing they have to do is listen to the residents."

Although Longwood's city commission election isn't until Dec. 3 incumbents for all three seats up for election have already said they plan to run again. They are seat one mayor/commissioner Harvey Smerilison, seat two June Lorman, and seat four Harold "Ed" Meyers. Qualifying for the election is scheduled to run Oct. 4-18.

"Longwood has already undertaken the first steps of a major reorganization problem," Smerilison said. Drainage has been a problem in Longwood but a solution to that problem may be a reality before the election. Road upkeep is a problem, he said, but that too is currently being addressed by the commission. Smerilison said he would like to see the commission continue their endeavors to see that "problems are not swept under the carpet and hidden until a later date."

Chamber Room

Miss Seminole County Regina Garcia chats with Greater Seminole County Chamber of Commerce President Dick Fess, right, at open house for new chamber headquarters at 291 N. Mailland Ave., Altamonte Springs, recently. With more than 1,400 members, the chamber is one of the fastest growing in the state. The chamber has offices and a board room in the new $300,000 Altamonte Springs library addition, towards which the chamber gave $100,000. The Spanish-style addition to the 8,000-square-foot building, shown at left, expands the library's reference space and work area, adds a common area for art exhibits and receptions, an office, kitchen, and restrooms as well as the chamber's space. The city took over the private library in 1978.

Negotiations Underway

Atlantic Bank Building To Be Sold, Remodeled

Contract negotiations are underway that will give a Sanford developer ownership of the Atlantic Bank Building at 101 E. 1st St. and its drive-up facility at 1601 S. French Ave. in Sanford.

First floor space in the building and the drive-up will be leased back to the bank and the remaining five floors will house professional offices, according to real estate developer Stan Sandefur of Sandefur Properties Inc. of Sanford, which is purchasing the property.

"This may be a little premature, we have not yet closed on the contract but our intentions have been well laid out for the last two years," Sandefur said. "I intend to make an executive office building out of the property and it will also house my own offices, but that may take time. I hope to have a contract signed in the next 60 days, possibly by the end of the week."

Sandefur, a real estate developer who specializes in developing shopping centers, said he intends to gut and remodel all five floors above the Atlantic Bank and replace the elevator.

"I expect this to be a very extensive and elaborate remodeling project. It has been proven in the past that to bring quality business and professional people to Sanford you must do a good job of remodeling," Sandefur said.

He expects the building will be harmonious with its downtown surroundings and an attractive addition to the business community. He said the bank will lease the first floor from him and the remodeling is expected to take from eight months to two years. Cost for the building, drive-up facility and one acre lot was estimated at $2 million.

While he did not have a list of tenants for the upper floors, Sandefur did say he was confident that professionals from around the area, including as far away as Orlando, would be interested if the surroundings were attractive enough. Sandefur said he was planning to develop this property in the same fashion he developed the old Western Auto building downtown.

Atlantic Bank officials, Terence Coyle and Tom Barrett in Jacksonville, refused to either confirm or deny the reports of sale but did confirm negotiations to sell the facilities in Sanford are ongoing. No change in employees or change in daily operation is anticipated at either banking facility, they said.

Thunderfoot: Radcliff Keeps On Booming

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

While Lyman kicked a losing habit of 13 games last Friday, Greyhound Scott Radcliff is having fun just getting his kicks.

The Lyman booter boomed five more beauties to keep Lake Brantley at bay and keep a stranglehold on the county punting leadership.

"Radcliff has just been incredible," Lyman coach Bill Scott said about his sophomore thunderfoot. "Scott had a great leg and his form is good too. That's why they keep going over 40 yards."

Radcliff has stats that would make a college punter ecstatic. He crushed five long ones for an average of 42 yards per kick in the 20-10 victory over Lake Brantley. For the year, Radcliff has punted 15 times for an average of 43.4 per boot. Seminole's Sonny Osborn is next with a respectable 36.2.

Punting is not Radcliff's only skill, however. He plays a strong defensive backfield position for the Hounds. The 6-0, 170-pounder picked off two passes against Boone in the season opener and one more against Brantley to give him the county lead in interceptions with three.

"Scott was a little tentative earlier in the year," Scott said. "He's been more aggressive the last two. He's starting to play the safety position like we know he can. He can really stick you."

Football Leaders: 10A

Lyman has another Radcliff to look forward to next year. Chris, Scott's freshman brother, is a standout performer on the Lyman freshman team as a defensive back and running back. The former Little League hero should be ready for varsity duty by next fall.

Another Greyhound who took over a category lead this week is wide receiver Ralph Philippott. The 6-5, 185 pounder hauled in two receptions for 40 yards to give him eight for the year, two more than six other players tied in second place.

In passing yardage, Seminole's Jeff Blake took advantage of an idle week by Lake Mary to overtake Shane Letterio, 313-302. Lake Howell's Mark Walnwright took the lead in TD passes with three.

In rushing yardage, Mark Schnitker also took advantage of an open week by Oviedo to overhaul Andrew Smith, 369-276. Schnitker ran for 100 yards against Seminole. Schnitker is averaging 6.2 yards per effort, Smith 6.0.

Schnitker, Smith, Lyman's Robert Thomas and Lake Howell's Bill Wasson all have scored three touchdowns each for 18 points. Lyman's Kelly Greene booted two field goals and two PATs to move ahead of Howell's Jeff Phillips, 8-7, among the kick scorers.

Defensively, Seminole's Brian Brinson pulled even with idle Bernell Simmons for the tackle lead. Brinson has 27 solos and 17 assists for 44. Simmons is 24 and 20 for his 44. Seminole soph Earnle Lewis is third with 19/22 for 41. Lake Brantley's Mark Bousquet, who was moved to linebacker two weeks ago, had another good week to creep to sixth. Bousquet has 18/14 for 32 in two games.

Behind Radcliff in interceptions is Wasson with two. Oviedo's Pete Lingard and Howell's Ron Campbell have recovered three fumbles each. Lake Mary's Scott Ross leads in quarterback sacks with two.

Unseeded Gals Double Pleasure In Bayhead Field

The Annual Bayhead Racquet Club Doubles Championships were held this past weekend, and as usual it was a highly competitive and very successful tournament.

Play was held in women's and men's divisions with consolation tournaments for first-round losers.

In the women's division the team of Shera Jones and Susan Wheelchel defeated Betty Rathel and Jeanette Alexander in the finals. The score in this well-played match was 6-4, 6-3.

Neither of these two teams was seeded but both played outstanding tennis throughout the tournament to make it into the finals. Both teams play very smart doubles with the emphasis being in control.

The gals delighted an appreciative crowd with many long rallies. In the long run through, Wheelchel and Jones had a bit too much power and came out on top. Congratulations to the new club champions on a job well done.

By the way, Susan and John Wheelchel have been away from Sanford for several years and have just recently come "back home." John was actually the person behind Bayhead getting started in the first place and was the driving force in the early years of the club. Susan teaches at Lake Mary High and will coach the girls tennis team this year. We are all glad that the Wheelchels decided move back to Sanford.

In the Women's consolation, the team of Glennis Mann and Lois Metts defeated Micky Demetree and Jo Ann Smith by default.

In the Men's finals the team of Scott Reagan and Larry Castle defeated Rick Holt and Jim Edmonds by the score of 7-6, 6-1. The match was much closer than the score seems to indicate because almost every game went to deuce.

The veteran Edmonds and the talented Holt are an excellent doubles team and delighted on-lookers with their shotmaking. Reagan and Castle are on somewhat of a roll. This pair has only been playing together for a short time and in four tournaments have won two and, have been runner-up twice. Reagan is a very talented player, who, when he is hot, can be awesome.

In the Men's consolations, the veteran team of John Morgan and Billy Brumley beat Bill Mann and Joe Baker in a very close match. The scores in this one were 6-3, 6-7, 6-2.

Morgan and Brumley have been playing tennis in Sanford for many, many years and are excellent shotmakers. Both have a great deal of control and really know how to move their opponents around. Congratulations to all these men on winning at Bayhead this weekend.

Also a tip of the old tennis hat to pro Tim Anderson and his staff Sylvia Margo and Jeremy Walsh. As usual, Tim did his smooth, efficient job of running the tournament. Matches began on time and the whole tournament went without a hitch. Tim is one of the very top pros in Florida and Bayhead is very fortunate to have him.

Coop's Bullet Pierces Lady Seminoles, 15-11

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

Both Seminole and Lake Howell displayed the ability to come back after being down Tuesday night and it made for one of the season's most exciting matches.

First, it was Lake Howell's Lady Hawks taking command as they took advantage of Seminole's sluggish passing game to win the first game.

Then, behind the play of Jackie Farr and Sheri Peterson, the Lady Seminoles came back strong in game two and forced a third game.

The third game was a mirror image of the first two with Lake Howell jumping out early and Seminole coming on at the end.

The match finally ended when Jo Coop drilled a bullet serve that the Seminole defense couldn't handle as Lake Howell came away with a 15-4, 6-15, 15-11 victory in Seminole Athletic Conference action at Seminole High.

The Lady Hawks improved to 2-3 overall and 1-0 in the SAC while Seminole now stands at 2-2 overall and 0-2 in the conference. Lake Howell as the rest of the week off while Seminole hosts powerful Lyman Thursday night.

"It was a good showing for our first conference match," Lake

Howell coach Jo Luciano said. "Especially after a poor showing in the tournament (Orlando Evans)."

While Seminole High had its troubles in the first game, it showed it has the potential to be a winning team.

"We've got four games under our belt so it's about time for us to start coming along," Seminole coach Beth Corso said. "I liked the way we were moving as a team tonight."

Lake Howell reeled off the first seven points of the first game with the play of senior co-captain Jolee Johnson leading the way. Johnson had a pair of spikes and served two points, one an ace, as the Lady Hawks took a 7-0 lead.

Seminole went through an entire rotation before it scored two points on Farr's serve. The Seminoles got as close as 8-4 as Liz Long served two points but the Lady Hawks came back to score the next seven points.

A spike by Johnson gave Lake Howell the serve and Patti Rae served the Hawks to an 11-4 lead. None of Rae's three serves was returned. After a Seminole missed serve, Johnson came on to serve the last four points of the first game, one an ace.

"Everything revolves around Jolee (Johnson)," Luciano said. "She's a very sound player all around."

Seminole came back strong in game two with an impressive service string by Farr igniting the 'Noles.

With Seminole holding a 2-0 lead, Farr came on to serve seven straight points for a 9-0 lead. None of the seven serves was returned and the first two were aces.

The Lady Tribe ran its lead to 11-0 before Lake Howell scored three points on the sharp serve of Coop (two were aces).

A pair of solid serves by Long gave Seminole a 13-3 lead and, after two points by the Hawks, Diana Mitchell served the 14th point. Coop came back to serve another ace to make it 14-6, but Seminole got it back and Peterson served the 15th point.

Lake Howell stormed out to a big lead early in the third game as Anita Cechowski served six straight points, only two of which were returned. Cechowski's dink returned the serve to the Hawks and Christy Tibbitts got a pair of serves in for an 8-0 lead.

With the Hawks holding a 9-2 lead, Seminole got recharged as

Strawberry Delivers, Mets Win

United Press International

For 10 innings Tuesday night, the Cardinals and Mets struggled in vain to scratch out a run with bunts, steals, and even a suicide squeeze, succeeding only in stranding 15 baserunners. In the 11th, Darryl Strawberry took a different approach, and left no doubt about the outcome.

Strawberry blasted a 1-1 hanging curve from Ken Dayley in the 11th inning for his 28th home run to give New York a 1-0 victory over St. Louis and move the Mets within two games of the first-place Cardinals in the National League East.

Each team has five games remaining, including the remainder of the three-game series Wednesday and Thursday nights.

"He did what all good hitters should do with it," St. Louis manager Whitey Herzog said of the pitch Dayley made, to Strawberry.

Dayley started the 11th by striking out Keith Hernandez and Gary Carter. Strawberry followed with a mammoth home run, estimated at 450 feet, to give the Mets the lead.

"It had to be the biggest home run so far," Strawberry said.

Elsewhere, Houston blanked Atlanta 2-0, Chicago edged Pittsburgh 4-3, Cincinnati nipped San Francisco 7-6, Los Angeles pounded San Diego, 10-3 and Philadelphia at Montreal was rained out.

Rivalry: Mosure Down Plays Historic Edge (2-0) For Rams

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

As the showdown between rivals Seminole and Lake Mary draws nearer to Friday's 8 p.m. kickoff at Lake Mary High, each coach looks for an advantage — psychological or otherwise — to provide that difference between winning and losing.

Lake Mary coach Harry Nelson has two things he can bank on. They are absolutes. Seminole has never beaten Lake Mary. Sure, the history of the rivalry is just two years old, but it's two years Seminole remembers as losses, Nelson said.

"That's in our favor," the third-year Ram coach said about the 2-0 series edge. "We came back to win the first game and our defense won the second. They're got to think that we've got their number."

Seminole coach Dave Mosure, however, said the 2-0 edge won't have any effect. "We work on a day-to-day basis," he said. "Some of our kids were in eighth grade. I don't think many of the kids look back at all."

"We're not too concerned about history right now."

The series began in 1983,

Football

Nelson's first year at the Ram helm. Lake Mary was 1-9 the year before but it turned around quickly with a 6-4 record under Nelson. One of the key victories was a 34-19 win over Lake Mary which assured the Rams of a winning season. In 1984, Lake Mary scored a second-quarter touchdown and made it stand up for a 7-0 victory. The Rams finished 9-1 and won both Five Star Conference and District 4A-9 championships last year.

Nelson always maintains that his coaching job was better in '83 than it was in '84 despite the three-game difference in record.

"Turning winners into losers is always tougher," he said. "After we learned how to win, the next year we put it all together."

Lake Mary certainly put it together in the second half two years on the Nov. 11 meeting. The first game between the schools drew 4,300 and it provided some of the most exciting plays of the season.

Seminole broke three long-distance runs to take a 19-13 halftime edge but Lake Mary used a punishing, ball-hogging ground attack in the second half to pull out the victory, going away.

Dexter Jones, a sophomore, put the Seminoles on the board in a hurry when he zipped 47 yards for a first-period score. Later in the quarter, Deron Thompson, playing his best game as a Seminole, broke loose on a 33-yard TD scamper for a 12-0 lead.

Neal Wellon, who attended Crooms High with many of the Tribe as a ninth grader, pulled the Rams back into the game when he zoomed 51 yards for a score and Tim Curtin kicked the PAT.

Wellon struck again in the second quarter when he culminated a Lake Mary drive by punching it in from the 4 to push Lake Mary on top, 13-12.

The lead didn't last long, though. Thompson grabbed the ensuing kickoff at his own 15 and outran the Rams to the end zone, completing an 85-yard return. Rob Cohen booted the PAT and Seminole took a 20-

The Butler did it, of course. Outgoing Sanford Optimist Club president Ernie Butler is surrounded by Seminole High football players of the week (left to right) Sonny Osborn, Dave Rape, Earnle Lewis and Brian Brinson while he admires a citation for his service to the club. Butler, very active in youth sports in Sanford, turned over the presidential reins to Sanford police officer Greg Harrell at Tuesday's meeting. # Meisel Begins Search — Sports Illustrated Selects Lindsey

With a successful summer season tucked behind them, the Justus Dolflins of Orlando and coach Harry Meisel opened practice Monday looking forward to yet another winning year.

Junior members of the Justus Dolflins, who draw heavily from Seminole County, resumed training for the upcoming short course season, following their fifth straight Junior Olympic Long Course Championship, and a well deserved month rest.

Meisel welcomed 60 returning team members between the ages of 6 and 14. Practices are being held from 4:30-6:30 p.m. and involve conditioning and stroke development drills.

Meisel, who has seen and coached many world-class athletes, looks forward to another young Dolfin team.

"Our goal is to instill the four competitive strokes (backstroke, breaststroke, butterfly, and freestyle), starts and turns over the next three months," he said. "Then, work on qualifying as many swimmers as possible for the Junior Olympics in early April.

During the first two weeks, tryouts will be held for swimmers between 6 and 12 years as the Dolflins work to develop a broad base of young swimmers.

"What we're looking for," Meisel continued, "is strong, aggressive girls and boys who are willing to push for excellence in competitive swimming."

"Over the years, this has been the key to our program and has been the major factor in the success of area high school teams in state championships."

Parents with an interest in the Dolflins' program, and especially those in the Winter Park, Maitland, Eastbrook, Tusawilla, Orlando and Longwood areas can contact Meisel at 646-2123.

Oviedo's Austin Lindsey, a 12-year-old seventh grader at Trinity Prep, is only a year or two from joining the Saints' awesome boys' team. Maybe not that long if his times continue to drop.

Lindsey was selected to be in a future issue of Sports Illustrated's "Faces in the Crowd." His parents,

Chuck Burgess

SWIMMING WRITER

Van and Sharyn, confirmed that they have been notified by the magazine concerning their son's qualifications.

The younger Lindsey does have some outstanding accomplishments. The standout member of Dolflins had an incredible meet at the Long Course Junior Olympics Championships at the Justus Aquatic Center. He won the 100 free (59.37), 200 free (2:08.92), 400 free (4:32.92), 100 breast (1:17.75), 50 fly (30.7), 100 fly (1:08.71), 200 IM (2:27.03) and 50 back (32.97). The 100 breast time set a state record.

At least it did until the next meet.

Competing in the Southern Zone Meet in Columbia, S.C., Lindsey broke the Florida Age Group (11-12 year olds) record for the 100 breast. He also set a state record in 1:17.1. The former Jackson Heights sixth grader also set a Zone record in the 100 free at 58.77.

Out of five events, Lindsey had four firsts and one second.

The prep swimmers will be pretty busy this week with all strokes pointing toward the Gator Invitational on Saturday. There are a pair of dual meets today with Seminole entertaining Oviedo and Lake Brantley taking on Lake Mary at Parnell's Aquatic Center.

The big meet this week, though, is the Gainesville gathering at the University of Florida. Next to the state meet, it is probably the biggest meet of the year.

It will be one of the few times the 3A and 4A schools compete together. For that reason alone, the Gator Invitational may turn out faster times than at the state meet.

Countians to watch are Lyman's

Charlie Rose (100 back and 200 IM), Lake Mary freshmen Kelly Wise (200 and 500 free) and Steve Kostowitz (100 fly), Seminole's Jaime Bojanowski (50 and 100 free) and Trinity Prep's Rachael Weightman (200 and 500 free).

Also, Trinity's foursome of Chris and Brian Donahue, Robbie McMichael and Robert Penn has the fastest 200 medley relay time in the state. The Saints quartet recorded a 1:42.9 Saturday in the Bishop Moore Invitational at the Sheridan Aquatic Club.

Those four are expected to be fast enough for All-American status in their individual specialties later this year. Maybe even Saturday at Gainesville.

Lake Mary swim coach Walt Morgan will miss Saturday's big meet but he has a pretty good excuse.

Coach Morgan will marry Sanford's Donna Sallee on Saturday.

There's no truth to the rumor that the honeymoon is going to be in Gainesville so they can catch the finals of the Invitational.

IN BRIEF

Martina Gets Game Together, Sweeps Kinney At Maybelline

FORT LAUDERDALE (UPI) — Martina Navratilova worked her game into order after a three-week layoff from tournament play during a 6-3, 6-2 in a first-round victory over Kristen Kinney in the $150,000 Maybelline Classic.

Martina Navratilova

Navratilova, the top seed in the tournament, made several unforced errors, but suddenly found her game against Kinney, of New Canaan, Ct., who got into the main draw as a "lucky loser."

She was joined in the second round by second-seeded Steffi Graf, the West German 16-year-old who beat qualifier Anna Maria Fernandez, Torrance, Calif., 6-1, 6-2 in 51 minutes.

Seventh-seeded Terry Phelps, of Larchmont, N.Y. gained the second round Tuesday afternoon along with a couple of young teenagers, 14-year-old Mary Jo Fernandez, Miami, and 15-year-old Helen Kelest of Canada.

Phelps, 18, beat Beth Herr, Dayton, Ohio 6-3, 6-2. She took a 4-1 lead in the first set and went up 5-1 in the second.

Mary Jo Fernandez defeated Terry Holladay of Del Mar, Calif., 6-1, 6-2, and Kelest defeated Camille Benjamin of Bakersfield, Calif., 3-6, 6-1, 7-6.

Bills: Bullough For Stephenson

ORCHARD PARK, N.Y. (UPI) — Immediately after supplanting Kay Stephenson as head coach of the Buffalo Bills, Ken Bullough began delegating responsibility.

"I'm throwing the challenge out to my players now," Bullough said Tuesday. "Consistency is all I'm asking for... I hope in the future we have a lot to stand up and shout about."

Bullough, the ninth man to coach the team in the club's 25-year history, faces the task of bringing back the team to the stature it attained in 1980 when Chuck Knox directed it to the AFC East title.

"I don't have a wand to make everything all right," he said. "If I did, I would have given it to Kay."

Bullough inherits an 0-4 team that has lost 16 of its last 18 games, a team that went 10-26 since Stephenson was named to the post in 1983 when Knox left to join the Seattle Seahawks.

UCF Benefit Passes $250,000

Aided by the promotional wizardry of Steve Slack, Gene's Gate Crasher raised over $250,000 Tuesday night in a benefit for University of Central Florida's athletic program at Orlando's Expo Centre.

Almost 500 people attended the annual function which surpassed last year's total of $202,000. Twenty packages — from a day at sea with treasure hunter Mel Fisher to a pair of greyhound puppies — were auctioned off.

Don Dizney, manager general partner of the Orlando Renegades, and Budweiser distributor Wayne Densch, each coughed up $34,000 for the Fisher day at sea excursion.

"Last year I couldn't believe it," Slack exclaimed. "This year, I really can't believe it." Slack got into the act, too, paying $1,000 for his son Darin's No. 11 jersey. Darin, who prepped at Lake Howell High, is a sophomore quarterback for the Knights.

Gant Fastest; Elliott Plagued

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UPI) — More than 50 drivers were at Tuesday's final practice session on the Charlotte Motor Speedway track, preparing from Wednesday's start of qualifying for the NASCAR Miller 500.

Harry Gant, winner of last Sunday's NASCAR event, posted the fastest practice speed Tuesday at 164.034 mph. Bill Elliott posted the second fastest practice speed, but was plagued again by mechanical problems.

Dale Earnhardt had the third fastest practice run at 163.374 mph.

Jones' 5-TD Touch Lifts Tribe

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

Legend has it that King Midas was given the power to turn everything he touched to gold. Whenever Jarod Jones touches a football, he usually turns it into points.

Jones scored four rushing touchdowns and returned a punt for a fifth TD as the Seminole High freshman football team destroyed Oviedo's Lions, 54-0, Tuesday night at Oviedo High.

The Tribe frosh go up against rival Lake Mary in a battle of the unbeaten (both 3-0) next Tuesday at Lake Mary High.

"We know Lake Mary has an excellent team," Seminole coach Mike Ferrell said. "We'll have to work real hard to be able to play against them."

Lake Mary coach Jim Hughes said it might not be as tough as Ferrell thinks.

"I don't think there's any way we can play with them (Seminole)," Hughes said. "They're too quick for us."

The first time Jones touched the ball Tuesday, the Seminoles hit paydirt as he darted 58 yards for a TD on the first play from scrimmage. Ronald Cox, whose leg got a good workout, kicked the extra point.

Football

Jones, who carried 7 times for 188 yards in the game (a whopping 26.8 yards per carry), scored from 20 yards out later in the first quarter.

Seminole scored two more times in the second quarter, the first on an 88-yard jaunt by Jones.

The fourth Seminole score of the half came on a 45-yard pass from Dwight Brinson to Larry Nathan.

Ralph Hardy joined the touchdown club in the third quarter when he broke loose for a 57-yard TD.

Jones scored for the fifth time when he returned a punt 80 yards for a touchdown early in the fourth quarter. Hardy closed out the scoring with a three-yard run.

Leading the defense, which recorded its second shutout in a row, were David Willis, Jack Mann, Willie Grayson and Roger Livingston.

SHATTO, RAMS STOMP ST. CLOUD

Lake Mary rolled up 28 points in the first half and never looked back Tuesday en route to a 28-8 victory over St. Cloud in freshman action at St. Cloud.

Mike Raffner got the Rams on the scoreboard with a one yard run in the first quarter. Mitch Shatto threw a pair of touchdown passes in the first half, the first a 50-yarder to Jack Oberdeaus and the second a 10-yarder to Calvin Davis. The fourth TD of the half was a 30-yard run by Mark Parish. Alex Birlie kicked all four extra points.

LAKE HOWELL EDGES LYMAN

Lake Howell's stingy defense paved the way Tuesday for a 14-6 victory over Lyman's Greyhounds. The Silver Hawks held Lyman scoreless after the first quarter, including a pair of goal-line stands.

Lake Howell jumped out to a 7-0 lead in the first quarter but Lyman came back within 7-6 on an eight-yard run by Ray Williams. The two-point conversion failed and Lake Howell had a 7-6 halftime lead.

The Silver Hawks sewed up the win with a touchdown in the fourth quarter.

Williams led the Lyman offense with 102 yards rushing. Leading the Greyhounds' defense were John Scherph (10 tackles, 12 assists) and Larry Wadkins (10 tackles).

...Rivalry

ingly secure 19-13 lead into halftime.

In the second half, however, Lake Mary tightened up defensively and got its "Bison Backfield" in order. Charlie Lucarelli scored on a three-yard run in the third quarter while Scott Underwood (10 yards) and Billy Caughell (three yards) added TD runs in the fourth quarter to sew up the victory.

A year later produced a completely different game. Before an overflow, homecoming throng of 8,000 at Seminole High, Underwood punched in from one yard out and added the PAT himself for a 7-0 victory.

It was a game of great defensive play interrupted by Lake Mary's 96-yard march for the touchdown. Mosure, who was in charge of Seminole's defense then, remembers the game as one in which his defense just ran out of steam — and encouragement.

"Every time Lake Mary's defense came off the field, their crowd gave them a standing ovation," Mosure said. "That had to pick them up. It seemed like when our defense came off, everybody expected us to hold them. They took us for granted."

Lake Mary's winning drive was ignited by a fine defensive play by nose guard Darrin

Washington. Seminole moved the ball behind Jones and Daryl Edgemon to the Lake Mary 4 early in the second quarter.

On a third and one, however, Jones was stopped by a swarm of Rams for no gain. On fourth and one, coach Jerry Posey called on Jo Jo McCloud from the Power-I. It was a play that had been effective all year but this time Washington beat the center and squashed McCloud for no gain.

Twenty-one plays and 8 1/2 minutes later, Lake Mary had a 7-0 lead with just 1:51 to play in the half. "I wasn't too worried about the first 40 yards," Mosure said. "The chances of anybody going 96 yards without a fumble or a major penalty is pretty tough."

"That's a long shot in Las Vegas."

A long shot that came in with a 7-0 victory.

Apopka Goes Up And Down

The Florida Sports Writers Association Poll is compiled by Tom Brew of the St. Petersburg Times. The Dunkel Index is compiled by Dick Dunkel of Port Orange.

Brew polls sports writers and coaches while Dunkel has a rating system based on margin of victory and loss.

Apopka, with wins over Lake Mary (21-0), Winter Park (28-9) and Edgewater (32-7) for a 3-0 record, moved from No. 6 to No. 4 in the writers poll but fell from No. 5 to No. 6 in the Dunkel.

Daytona Beach Seabreeze, which whipped Oviedo and Titusville Astronaut on successive Friday, slipped into No. 10 spot of the writers AAAA poll.

Here's a look at both football polls:

Cook Of The Week

'Mexican Mess' A Favorite Of Schmitt Family

By Dorothy Greene
Herald Correspondent

Don't call her a southern belle or a Georgia cracker, but she'll settle for "Georgia Peach." Our Atlanta-born Cook of the Week is Melanie Schmitt of Sanford whose days are filled to capacity with two bright-eyed youngsters who keep her on her toes.

Melanie is a 1970 graduate of Oviedo High School and has lived in the Central Florida area most of her life, "except for one year when Daddy was transferred to Mississippi," she says.

Always weight conscious, Melanie admits, "I was so fat while I was growing up that when we got married and started planning our family, I said, 'If this is going to be my full time job, then I'm going to do it right!' So I started studying nutrition, balanced meals, making it fun and colorful, and just making mealtime the best they could be for all of us." Melanie has started off on the right foot with young Spencer, 6, and pretty little Stephanie, who is "almost" 3. Even at their tender ages, Melanie says they will skip the junk food and reach for a piece of fruit or celery or carrots. "I love the expression people use," says Melanie, "that instead of 'living to eat,' I eat to live," and it's so true.

Married to Dick Schmitt in 1972, Melanie has three grown stepchildren, Ginger, Fred and Bill. Ginger and her husband are professional skiers at Sea World, Fred works for United Parcel Service and is also a top notch mechanic, Bill, a paramedic, lives at home with them and, Melanie says, "It's hard work trying to watch my weight with Dick and Bill around. It's like a smoker who's trying to quit. They can both eat non-stop and never change their body weight. I figure if I'm doing all that cooking, I must be inhaling all the calories and I still get them. I can't win," she laughs. When asked how she met Dick, Melanie says, with a chuckle, "It was so all-American, really. I was doing my laundry at the laundromat he owned and this tall, handsome fellow asked if he could help me. I said, 'No, I can handle it myself!' I was living with a girlfriend in Sanford at the time and shortly after that I moved back to Chuluota with my parents. I was sure that he wouldn't want to travel 22 miles to see me, but he did, and 10 months later we were married."

"I never did much cooking at home, except the 'goodie cooking,'" says Melanie. "They used to tease me at home because when I cooked a meal they knew Dick was coming to visit. In fact, when Dick and I got married he had a Betty Crocker cook book, and he and I learned a whole lot together!"

Melanie's Mom is a great southern cook, she says. "The biggest difference between Mom's cooking and mine is that she cooks her vegetables a long time, southern style, and I cook mine or steam them a short time, or we eat them raw. I like our vegetables crunchy," says Melanie. "And I wouldn't even try to duplicate some of the meals my grandmother makes, like her pound cake or chili or chicken with mushroom gravy. It could never measure up to hers."

Melanie and Dick and their family live in a grand old frame house which, she says, stood vacant for 22 years until Dick bought it in 1967. Its large, comfortable rooms, attractive woodwork, and cozy fireplace are echoes of an era gone by. When Melanie was actively working in the Real Estate field a few years ago, someone told her that "we would be hard pressed to find a home that would really satisfy us, and he was right. And so we are still here," she says.

The Schmitts are owners-operators of a coin laundry in Sanford and also own some rental properties which Dick maintains in tip-top shape. Melanie says Dick is a real handy fellow who can do just about anything.

Relating some fond memories of family vacations with her mom, dad and sister, Melanie says,

"We always camped every summer. We would take off in the middle of June and come back after the fourth of July. Mom and Dad were always so good about us going and doing and playing. We'd camp on a stream, usually in the Smokey Mountains, and Dad would teach us how to build a dam to keep our cantaloupes, watermelons or drinks cool. We always got to bring friends along and it was always a fun time for us."

Melanie says that when the children were younger, she always tried to make fun things in the kitchen, and now that Spencer has started school, she is looking forward to being a "home room mother" and making all those good cookies and cupcakes for the children to enjoy on special occasions.

Melanie and her family are active members in the Sanford Church of Christ where she teaches the two and three year olds. "We enjoy going to the family dinners at church and like to support whatever the church is doing at the time," says Melanie. At the present time, Melanie is working at one of her favorite pastimes, sewing bean bags in the form of little sprites for her Sunday school children.

Mothering isn't the only thing this young homemaker is good at. "I love to sew and I make just about all the clothing we wear," says Melanie. Except for an occasional pair of store-bought jeans, Melanie stitches everything from Dick's shirts to the children's clothing to her own finely detailed blouses and dresses. "My mother-in-law is an excellent seamstress and she taught me how to sew. In fact, she bought me my first sewing machine. I'm not a very creative person, so I guess that's why I do all right with cooking and sewing because I've got a pattern or a recipe and I've got instructions so I can go from there. If I have the instructions, I can handle it," she laughs, "but my mother-in-law can just look at something and come home and make it."

Melanie says she has gotten a lot braver with her cooking, and is not afraid to change recipes to suit her family's tastes. "I have cut down on sugar in almost all my recipes and it isn't even noticed," she says. Another short cut Melanie came upon while making lasagne one day resulted in a time and finger saving step, she says. "One day I was in a great hurry and I decided not to boil the lasagne noodles and burn my hands again! So I sprayed the pan with Pam, which I think was invented for me — I love it — and layered the raw noodles straight from the box with the other ingredients. Then I put it in the refrigerator until I was ready to bake it, and it was perfect. Nobody knew it, and I've never had a problem doing it that way," says Melanie.

Even when she makes mashed potatoes, Melanie has a little trick she uses to make them taste more "Potato-y." Using just enough water to cover her potatoes, she boils them until they are done. "Then I just pour off a little bit of water, not all of it, then add a little sour cream while mashing them. You're still getting the nutrients in the potato water, and the sour cream fluffs them and gives the potatoes a creamy texture," she says.

Turning to gardening, Melanie says, "We don't have a garden right now, but my father is a frustrated farmer and he has a mammoth garden up in Georgia. My sister and I usually make several trips up there each year and bring back some of his fresh vegetables. This year he had some home-grown popping corn, the Spencer variety, which was ready just in time for our son's birthday. We especially enjoy the fresh squash and his peas this year were just delicious — sweet and tender."

Melanie says, "My family mainly likes basic foods. Dick doesn't like one dish meals. He and Spencer like their meat and vegetables nice and separate. We have a tossed salad almost every evening with our meal and the children love it. They eat tomatoes like apples."

One of the favorite meals in the Schmitt household is what Melanie calls "Mexican Mess." She says, "Some people call it Patio Stack, which is probably a nicer name for it, but by the time they stir it up, it's a 'mess.' The kids like it and it provides their vegetables and proteins."

Melanie's claim to fame happened when her recipe for Chocolate, Chocolate, Chocolate Cake was chosen as the overall winning recipe for 1983 in the Herald's annual Heritage Cook Book contest, and it surely deserves an encore for all the chocolate lovers who missed it the first time around.

Below is a sampling of Melanie's easy recipes which are sure to please a family on the go.

MEXICAN MESS/PATIO STACK

1 bag corn chips
1 large can refried beans
1 pound cheddar cheese, grated
1 cup sour cream
2 cups lettuce, shredded
2 large tomatoes, chopped
1 small onion, chopped
Heat beans with approximately ¼ cup water to make them smooth. On individual plates, layer the remaining ingredients in this order:
Corn chips, refried beans, cheese, onion, lettuce, tomatoes, and sour cream. Serves 4.

ITALIAN CHICKEN

1 large chicken, cut up
1 small bottle Italian salad

dressing

Parmesan cheese
Spray a large baking pan with Pam. Arrange chicken in pan and pour dressing over all. Cover with foil and bake in a 350° oven for 1 hour. Remove from oven and drain liquid. Sprinkle with parmesan cheese and return to oven, uncovered, for 15 minutes more. Serves 4 to 6.

CORN PUFF

2 packages (10 oz. each) frozen corn
1 cup Bisquick baking mix
1 cup milk
2 eggs
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup shredded Cheddar cheese

Prepare a 5½ cup souffle dish or 1½ quart casserole by spraying with Pam. Cook corn as directed on package. Drain. Beat baking mix, milk, eggs and salt until smooth. Stir in corn and cheese. Pour into dish and bake 1 hour at 325°, or until knife inserted in center comes out clean. Serves 6.

Variations: Spinach Puff — Substitute 2 packages frozen chopped spinach.
Broccoli Puff — Substitute 2 packages frozen chopped broccoli.

SOUR CREAM PINEAPPLE PIE

1 cup sugar
½ cup flour
1 can (13½ oz.) crushed pineapple
1 cup sour cream
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup lemon juice
3 egg yolks, slightly beaten
1 baked 9-inch pie shell
Combine first six ingredients and cook over low heat until thickened. Pour a small amount over egg yolks and blend. Add eggs to hot mixture and cook, stirring constantly, for 2 minutes. Cool, stirring frequently. Pour into baked pie shell.

MERINGUE

3 egg whites, beaten
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
Beat egg whites until foamy, then add salt, sugar and cream of tartar and continue beating until stiff peaks form. Swirl meringue on top of pie, being careful to seal all edges. Bake at 350° about 12-15 minutes or until it is delicately browned. Watch meringue carefully as it bakes.

LAYERED NACHO DIP

1 can refried beans (16 oz.) or 2 cups fresh
½ package taco seasoning mix
1 carton (6 oz.) avocado dip
1 carton (8 oz.) sour cream
1 can (4½ oz.) ripe olives, chopped
2 large tomatoes, chopped
1 small onion, firmly chopped
1 can (4 oz.) chopped green chili
½ cups shredded Monterey Jack cheese
Combine beans and taco mix. Spread mixture evenly in 12x8x2 inch glass dish. Layer remaining ingredients in order listed. Serve with large corn chips or nacho chips. Yield: approx. 6 cups.

CHOCOLATE, CHOCOLATE, CHOCOLATE CAKE

3 to 4 tablespoons cocoa
½ pound butter, softened
4 oz. cream cheese, softened
¼ cups sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups milk

4 squares (1 oz. each) unsweetened chocolate, melted
1 bag (6 oz.) chocolate chips
Grease 3 8-inch round cake pans and dust with cocoa. Cream together butter, cream cheese, and sugar until light and fluffy. Beat in eggs, one at a time; blend in vanilla. Sift together flour, soda, and salt.

Blend flour mixture into creamed mixture alternately with milk, beginning and ending with flour. Thoroughly blend the melted chocolate into batter.

Pour half the batter into prepared pans. Sprinkle chocolate chips evenly over batter in pans and top with remaining batter. Bake at 350° for 20-25 minutes.

Remove from oven and cool 10 minutes, then turn out on racks to cool completely before frosting.

Frosting:
Melt 1 package (6 oz.) chocolate chips with 1 tablespoon vegetable oil. Beat together 4 oz. cream cheese, softened, and ½ cup butter, softened, until fluffy.

Slowly blend in 4 cups confectioner's sugar and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Blend in melted chocolate. Beat in 1 egg. Add 1 tablespoon milk, a teaspoonful at a time, until frosting is of spreading consistency.

PARTY OR ANYTIME PUNCH

1½ cups water
1½ cups sugar
3 cups Hawaiian Punch
¾ cup orange juice
¼ cup lemon juice
3 ripe bananas
Frozen strawberries, sliced
3 cups ginger ale, chilled
Orange sherbet
Dissolve sugar in water over heat, cool 3 minutes. Put orange juice, lemon juice, and bananas in blender and blend until smooth. Place in a large container and stir in sugar water and Hawaiian Punch. Chill well. To serve, place chilled banana mixture and chilled ginger ale in punch bowl and blend well. Garnish with sliced strawberries and small scoops of orange sherbet.

Dining Out Big Event For Handicapped

DEAR ABBY: I'm writing to comment on the letter signed "Sees Both Sides" — concerning a friend who had gone to a lovely restaurant and was seated near an invalid who had to be fed. He said it was a "revolting" sight, and his appetite was spoiled. He suggested that such people stay out of public view.

You said, "Those who cannot eat normally desperately need to get out and dine in a lovely restaurant, and if one encounters a 'revolting sight,' he need only turn his head, and avoid looking in that direction again."

I cannot adequately express my gratitude for your compassionate answer. My husband was a captain of industry in his prime. He developed a neurological condition and became an invalid, so I know what a treat it is for an invalid to dine out and be in the real world for an hour or two. (He has since died, and I treasure those happy times.)

Dining out is a big event for handicapped people who need to get out of their prisons of confinement once in a while. Thank you, Abby, for a beautiful answer.

D.W. IN BOCA RATON, FLA.

DEAR D.: Not everyone thought my answer was "beautiful." Read on:

DEAR ABBY: Having read your response to "Sees Both Sides" in the Boston Herald, I can only conclude that your feelings are one-sided and selfish.

You obviously condone the practice of doing whatever you want, no matter what the expense to the comfort of others. Please wake up! How desperately do you think they want to be seen in public? You advise those who must witness this "revolting sight" to turn their heads. We are not all nurses and doctors who are used to nauseating sights, and can just turn our heads and forget what we saw and continue eating.

Dining out is expensive these days. To justify the expense, the food must be excellent as well as the service and atmosphere. Not everyone can afford the luxury of dining out as often as you, Abby. Step down from your financial heights and look from a commoner's table.

DIGUBSTED IN BOSTON

P.S.: It would be commendable of you to print this, but seldom do I read where you publicly admit you're wrong. And like it or not, you are wrong.

DEAR ABBY: Can you come up with a word I can use to introduce a gentleman named Sam? He and I have had a very close relationship for seven years.

We do not live together, but our relationship is much closer than the word "friend" implies. Because we are in the 45-55 age bracket, "boyfriend/girlfriend" sounds too much like a pair of teenagers. I have also ruled out "mate" or "partner," as they give the impression that we are married. I don't care for "companion"; it sounds as though one of us is a paid nursemaid. And "lover" is too sexual for older relatives. Any suggestions? SAM'S BLANKETY BLANK

DEAR BLANKETY: After seven years of togetherness, everyone who should know how close you and Sam are, already knows. And to those who don't know, he should be introduced as "Sam."

National Nutrition Quiz

Dr. David Watts Wants You To Eat Right

David Watts, M.D., is a photographer who was hand-picked to study his craft with Ansel Adams in the wilds of Yosemite. He plays jazz bass and classical French horn. He's a composer of serious music and Christmas carols, a published poet and a children's author.

Furthermore, Watts is a husband, a father of five, a skier, jogger and tennis player who'll turn 46 on his next birthday and looks maybe 34, 35 years old. HE smiles a lot.

And he eats right.

Watts wants you to eat right, too, and look 10 years younger, and have the energy to fly down mountains and take up new hobbies and keep up with your kids. That's one reason Watts will be seen as co-host, along with Jane Brody, science and medical reporter and columnist for the New York Times, when "The National Nutrition Quiz" airs on Public Broadcasting Service (PBS) stations Oct. 5 at 7 p.m. The quiz is presented in part by Central Florida Regional Hospital.

Watts, a trim, curly headed internist who grew up in Texas and now serves on the faculties of the Stanford University and University of California medical schools, is a strong believer in television as the ideal medium for spreading health information.

"TV is our single most powerful tool of communication," he says. "We know now that people retain much better what they both see and hear on TV than information they get through seeing or hearing separately. I saw a change coming in the areas of fitness and health about 10 years ago, and seven years ago I began to explore using television as a way to help people increase their knowledge."

Those explorations have included "Health Notes," Watts' continuing series of five-minute fitness tips currently seen on most PBS stations, and a cable series aimed at health professionals.

But is information about health and nutrition what people really want from their television? Watts concedes that programs like "The National Nutrition Quiz" aren't likely to push "Dallas" into the ratings cellar, but he believes he and co-host Brody will reach a large and interested audience when the one-hour PBS special airs in September.

"Oh, there's no question. The curiosity level of the general public is so high for this type of information — anything at all about fitness as a whole. There's a certain group that is out there actively seeking good, reliable information they can apply right now to their daily lives. Others," he continues, "may not be looking for radical changes, but they'll pick up one, two or three facts that they can do something about."

Many of the facts Watts and Brody pass along in "The National Nutrition Quiz" deal with what not to eat, or what to eat less of, rather than which foods one should seek out. "As an internist," Watts explains, "I see nutritional problems every day, but they aren't nutritional deficiencies. The problem in this country is our nutritional excesses: too much fat, too much salt, too much of practically everything."

The natural question is, Why? Why is it that the richest, most highly educated country on earth is eating itself into an early grave by pigging out on precisely those foods that multiply wildly the chance for cancer, stroke, heart attack, obesity and diabetes, to name a few? Why do we zero in on these foods?

"Because they taste so good!"

That's it? There's no great conspiracy at work here, no dark streak of masochism buried in our national soul that makes us want to die young and painfully after leading short, gluttonous, unfulfilled lives?

"No, it's just taste. Watts believes. "Our taste buds, unfortunately, don't choose the foods that are most beneficial." By the time a child is able to seek out his or her own food choices, he says, "our taste buds get their most satisfying stimulation from the very worst things: salt, sugar, fat and so on. Think of a nice, juicy steak; it isn't the lean meat that tastes so good, not the protein. It's the fat!"

Fortunately, Watts doesn't think the only answer is to lead a life of sensory deprivation. "When we finally begin to change our eating habits," he says, "our taste buds will eventually come around to recognize the sensory stimulation that is just as present in nutritional foods as in the other. We can end up seeking the good stuff and being repulsed by the foods we used to love."

"The National Nutrition Quiz" has some recommendations about "the good stuff," such as Jane Brody's very tasty Pita Pizza, a quick and easy meal that can be breakfast, lunch or an on-the-run snack just by varying the ingredients a bit.

Watts and Brody also have some tips on making permanent changes in our eating habits by moving gradually to a life-enhancing diet without trying to accomplish miracles overnight.

"It's a good show," Watts says, the kind of program television can do well, when it wants to. "It's exciting to be a part of the shift now taking place in the medical profession — moving our focus from the treatment of disease to its prevention. People want to live better and longer, and feel good while they're doing it. As a doctor I want to help people, and as a communicator I feel a strong responsibility to insure that our information is genuine, that it is balanced and comprehensive and defensible in light of everything we know. What we have to do," he concludes, "is insert wisdom into the communication process. That's what 'The National Nutrition Quiz' is all about."

Major funding for the broadcast is from the Hillcrest Foundation with additional funding from Campbell Soup Company. Produced for PBS by KERA, Dallas Texas.

Microwave Magic

Ribs And Kraut With Authentic German Accent

October is a good time to serve hearty German food and you can prepare these typical dishes in your microwave oven and they will be just as delicious and authentic as if they were prepared in the conventional kitchens of Germany, but quicker and easier.

The variable control on most microwave ovens allows us to reduce the power setting, similar to reducing the heat when cooking conventionally. This permits us to microwave on power as low as 30% which is sometimes needed for slow cooking. Such a lower power setting is needed when preparing this traditional favorite that contains pork.

RIBS AND KRAUT

- 1 can (32 oz.) sauerkraut, drained
- 1 medium apple
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 2 tablespoons brown sugar
- 3 pounds country ribs
- 1 small onion, sliced

Midge Mycoff

Home Economist
Seminole
Community College

- 3/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper

Combine sauerkraut, apple, garlic and brown sugar in prepared 4 qt. simmer or clay pot. Arrange ribs and onion slices on sauerkraut. Sprinkle with salt and pepper.

Microwave on 100% power, covered, 15 minutes, reduce power to 30% (low) 60-70 minutes or until meat is tender, rearranging ribs halfway through cooking time.

Sausages and wurst are served in many different ways. When microwaving them be sure to prick the skins to prevent them from splitting.

BRATWURST AND SAUERKRAUT

- 1/2 cup onion, chopped
- 1/4 cup margarine
- 2 pounds sauerkraut
- 1 large raw potato, grated
- 1 teaspoon caraway seed
- 1 1/2 pound smoked bratwurst

Micro-saute the onion in the margarine in a 3 qt. container on 100% power for 1 1/2 minutes. Add the remaining ingredients, except bratwurst, and toss gently. Prick skins of the bratwurst several times. Bury in the sauerkraut mixture. Cover and microwave on 100% power 15-18 minutes.

Sweet and sour is a combination often found in German cooking; sweet and sour lettuce, sweet and sour green beans and of course hot potato salad which is sweet and sour.

KNOCKWURST AND HOT GERMAN POTATO SALAD

- 3 medium potatoes
- 3 slices bacon, diced
- 3 small onions, diced
- 1 tablespoon flour
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 1 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 cup vinegar
- 1/4 cup water
- 1/2 teaspoon celery seeds
- 4 knockwurst
- 1 tablespoon finely chopped parsley

Wash potatoes; dry and cut in half. Place in plastic bag, cut side down. Leave ends of bag open. Cook by microwave for 10 minutes or until tender. Remove skin and slice. Cook bacon and onion in 4-cup measure for 4 minutes. Stir in flour, sugar, mustard, salt and pepper; mix well. Add vinegar, water and celery seeds. Cook another 4 minutes stirring once. Set aside. Make several cuts in plastic bag holding knockwurst cook for 3-5 minutes or until heated through. Cut knockwurst in 6 pieces. Arrange meat and cooked potatoes in shallow bowl. Pour hot sauce over, toss to coat evenly. Sprinkle with chopped parsley. Serve immediately. Makes 4 servings.

If you like sweet, sour, and spicy you'll like these Sauerbraten Meatballs. The ginger snaps add the spice as well as the thickening for this recipe.

SAUERBRATEN MEATBALLS

- 1 pound ground beef
  - 3/4 cup soft bread crumbs (about 1 slice)
  - 1 small onion, finely chopped
  - 2 tablespoons lemon juice
  - 2 tablespoons water
  - 1/2 teaspoon salt
  - 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- Sauce:
- 2 1/4 cups water
  - 3 teaspoons or cubes instant beef bouillon
  - 1/2 cup packed brown sugar
  - 1/4 cup raisins
  - 1/4 cup lemon juice
  - 1/2-3/4 cup crushed gingersnaps (10-14 cookies)

Cooked noodles
1 teaspoon poppy seed
Combine ground beef, bread crumbs, onion, water, lemon juice, salt and pepper; mix well. Form into 1-inch meatballs. Place in shallow 2-quart casserole. Cover with paper towel. Microwave (high) 5-6 minutes (10-11) or until no longer pink. Drain if desired. Stir in remaining ingredients except noodles and poppy seed. Cover with casserole lid. Microwave (high) 8 to 9 minutes (17-18) or until mixture boils and thickens, stirring once or twice. Sprinkle noodles with poppy seed and serve meatballs over noodles. Makes 5-6 servings.

Any dessert that contains apples is a good ending to a German meal... Apple pie, apple dumplings or apple crisp will be a pleasing end to this hearty kind of eating.

APPLE CRISP

- 1 cup brown sugar, packed
  - 1 cup flour
  - 1 cup oatmeal
  - 3/4 cup butter
  - 1/2 cup chopped walnuts
  - 1/2 teaspoon salt
  - 4 cups sliced apples
  - 2 tablespoons lemon juice
  - 1/2 cup granulated sugar
  - 1 teaspoon cinnamon
  - 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
- Combine brown sugar, flour, oatmeal, butter, nuts and salt. Mix with a fork until crumbly. Spread 1/2 of the mixture into bottom of 12x8-inch baking dish. Arrange apple slices over crumbs. Sprinkle with lemon juice if apples are not tart, then sprinkle with sugar-cinnamon mixture. Cover with remaining crumbs. Microwave on 100% power for 15-20 minutes, or until apples are tender.

Serve warm with whipped cream.

Microwave Hint: Test apples for doneness before the cooking time is complete. Some varieties cook faster than others.

Filled Shells

ITALIAN VEGETABLE FILLED SHELLS

- 12 uncooked jumbo pasta shells
- 2 packages (10 ounces each) frozen seasoned Italian-style vegetables

Fish Oil May Be Future Lifesaver

The term "omega fatty acids" may become the buzzword of the 1980s. At last, scientists have defined a new family of polyunsaturates that shows enormous potential to retard arteriosclerosis.

The hottest member of this welcome family is called "omega-3." Remember the name. It may save your life. It is an active ingredient in fish oil.

Dietary fats can be classified into two broad categories: saturated and unsaturated. In general, the more saturated a fat, the more firm it is. As more carbon double bonds accept hydrogen, a stringy fat molecule becomes heavier and harder. Wax is fully saturated; so is the animal tallow we call lard.

Cholesterol is a form of saturated fat. When eaten in abundance, cholesterol tends to form slimy deposits within the linings of our blood vessels. With time, metabolic debris sticks to the cholesterol, causing progressive arterial obstruction until circulatory insufficiency develops. Heart attacks and strokes can result.

A few years ago, biochemists verified that unsaturated fats do not behave in quite the same way as their greasy saturated relatives. The more unsaturated a fat, the more double carbon bonds it has and the lighter it is. When humans were fed unsaturated fatty acids in place of saturated fats, blood cholesterol plummeted. Hence, there was an almost-unanimous consensus that the prudent consumer would do well to substitute more polyunsaturates for saturates in his diet.

Predictably, this led to a revolution in American eating habits. Gone were the dripping sirloins, the crisp pork roasts, the beef Wellington. Health-conscious citizens teetered, paused, and then ferociously committed themselves to products containing corn oil or safflower oil.

Polyunsaturated vegetable oils contain linoleic acid as a major constituent. This fat belongs to a class called omega-6 fatty acids.

Although linoleic acid is an improvement over saturated fat in the diet, it is a poor cousin to the omega-3 clan. These remarkable compounds have recently been shown both to reduce blood fats and to prevent white blood cells from adhering to arterial linings. Omega-3 fats protect against heart attacks. In addition, the omega-3 fatty acids slightly inhibit blood clotting; this fact may explain, at last, why Eskimos tend to bleed more readily than non-Eskimos — and have a lower incidence of heart disease, too.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

It was lucky that North and South had failed to find their 4-4 diamond fit, since the outstanding diamonds split badly. Six clubs had a chance, but declarer had to play with care. But first a word about the auction.

Two clubs was strong, forcing and perhaps artificial. The two-diamond response was a bid waiting for South to clarify his type of two-club bid. Three clubs showed a long club suit and a hand good enough to play game. Three spades was natural, and South bid the no-trump game. Finally, after North had invited slam with four no-trump, South bid six clubs.

I don't like the nine of hearts as an opening lead. If declarer needed to dislodge the spade ace for his contract, the best chance for the defense might be to set up a quick diamond trick. When the heart was led, declarer won in his hand, drew trumps and ducked a diamond. East won the jack and returned a spade. South ruffed, played a high diamond (revealing the bad split) and then proceeded to make the contract on a squeeze. He cashed all his clubs, discarding a diamond and two more spades from dummy, and then played the heart king and a heart to dummy's ace. West had the choice of chucking the spade ace or unguarding the diamonds.

If West's opening lead had been a diamond, declarer would have won that trick, drawn trumps, and then probably ducked a diamond as before. But West, not East, would be on lead. West could continue the suit, knocking out South's other high diamond and depriving declarer of the communication needed for the squeeze to work.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY OCTOBER 3, 1985

In the year ahead you will make a number of valuable contacts who will help you expand your outlook and horizons. Things you thought were too big to attain will be cut down to size.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) For best results in dealing with others today, lay everything out in the open. If you're frank and honest with them, they'll behave similarly with you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) A financial matter, which up until now has looked rather hopeless, is going to make a change for the better today. Something substantially profitable may result.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Partnership arrangements will work out extremely well today, provided both parties pull together to achieve a common good. Be team-minded.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Sometimes it helps to do business in convivial surroundings, but this won't be true today. Conduct commercial affairs in a commercial environment.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Keep your social calendar flexible today to be free to attend an impromptu event that could be more fun than your original plans.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Where important negotiations are concerned, Lady Luck will be backing you up today. Hold out for the terms you desire, even if you meet with resistance.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) It's best to do things as you envision them today, instead of trying to comply with the suggestions of a well-meaning friend who lacks your know-how.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Manage your financial affairs wisely today and try to cut out non-essential expenditures. If you do a good job, you'll end up with a surplus instead of a deficit.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Don't jump to conclusions today because your initial judgment of situations may not be your best. However, with careful analysis nothing will be overlooked.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Be extra selective today as to whom you reveal confidential information. If you talk to the wrong person, he or she might hinder you rather than help.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) A friend whose help you were counting on today might not be able to deliver, while someone you thought didn't care for you will come through like a champion.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Associates will respond favorably to your directives today, provided you issue your requests in a congenial fashion. Don't be dictatorial.
