

Cat Racket Used By Juvenile Gang To Extort Money

MOUSTON, Tex., Sept. 5—(AP)—A gang of juveniles used an aged woman's love of cats to extort between $2,000 and $3,000 in less than a year's time.

Police yesterday revealed they had broken the unique extortion racket of 11 children, aged 9 to 18.

Crime prevention detectives E. E. Kirkland and Leo Hurlton said the amazing story started last Halloween night when Mrs. Annula Edmonds, 76, saw three boys throwing rocks at a cat.

The detectives said Mrs. Edmonds rebuked the boys for being cruel. Then to persuade the lads not to torture the animal any more, she gave them each a $1.

Next day the boys again managed to throw stones at a cat near Mrs. Edmonds' house. Again they were given a cash reward to leave the animal alone.

The word spread to other boys. Soon they were bringing cats to Mrs. Edmonds and threatening to torture them unless she bought the animals at $3 each. Mrs. Edmonds bought the cats.

Almost every day she bought cats, and the detectives said a 13-year-old boy soon became the "brains" for the group.

The boys told the detectives they had gotten from $2,000 to $3,000 from Mrs. Edmonds in 10 months.

The gang leader thought of "refinements" to get money. He called and told Mrs. Edmonds he had found a cat with a broken back, but needed money to take it to a veterinarian. She gave him $10.

A surprisingly number of "injured" cats were found near the home of Mrs. Edmonds.

Police started an investigation last Friday after receiving a call from Mrs. Edmonds' maid.

The 11 boys were arrested over the week-end. Eight were released to their parents. The leader and two brothers, 9 and 13, were turned over to the probation department.

Mrs. Edmonds said she had been giving the boys money for nearly a year but she didn't think it was as much as they claimed. She said she lives on a monthly allowance left to her by a brother.

Police said the boys used the money for picture shows, soda pop and other items of desire.

duction of about 1,100,000 cars in the October-December period but auto industry sources disagree.

Auto manufacturers say they already are unable to get the steel they need to meet permitted production rates, and they expect copper to be increasingly a bottleneck. Fewer than 800,000 cars may be produced, some industry men predict.

Fleischmann said the copper strike and a slump in imports created a "terribly acute" supply situation. All users have been notified to give preference to military and atomic energy commission orders if supplies are further reduced.

Despite the sharp cut in steel copper and aluminum allocations for consumer goods, Fleischmann said supplies of finished products should be "adequate to meet normal demand," considering the stocks in the hands of producers and dealers.

He commented: "American ingenuity has not been rationed, and I know that substitute for scarce materials and make the most effective use of their allotments."

COMMISSIONER'S JOB

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 5—(AP)—Governor Frank J. Lausche may break his silence about the baseball commissioner's job later this week.

The Governor strongly indicated at a press conference today he will have something to say about speculation over his prospects for selection to the baseball post.

The Governor has answered all recent queries about the baseball situation with a "no comment."

Although the Governor refused to say anything about a report he had written a letter to the baseball committee taking himself out of consideration, friends expressed doubt he had taken any such action.

Police Crackdown

JACKSONVILLE, Sept. 5—(AP)—Mayor Hayden Burns today dealt the police department's top officers a clean-up order.

The mayor commissioner spent half an hour in conference with all officers of the rank of lieutenant or above.

"I told them no one in the city is immune to arrest if they are in violation of the law," Burns said afterwards. "I expect them to clamp down on moonshining, racketeering, bookmaking, prostitution and any other vice activity."

roughly 20 miles north of the parallel and 20 miles from the coast.

The Korean Reds attacked three points on a ridge line dominating the valley. The attacks began before midnight and continued four hours. The Communists finally pulled back. They still hold some parts of the ridge line.

Elsewhere along the battle front only brief patrol clashes were reported. At one point a small group of Reds infiltrated through U. N. lines.

U. N. troops killed, wounded or captured the equivalent of three Red divisions last month, the U. N. ground commander reported today, mostly on the eastern front.

General James A. Van Fleet's conservative estimate of at least 15,000 Red casualties covered a period in which action was limited while both sides held truce talks—now broken off.

Van Fleet said that, even after truce talks were carefully evaluated and cut down, the figure showed 15,000 Reds killed, 15,000 wounded and more than 1,000 captured.

The pace of Red casualties undoubtedly increased the past few days. Waves of Communists were committed in repeated counterattacks aimed at stalling an Allied push in mountainous eastern Korea.

The fighting subsided Tuesday but only after a limited offensive by three U. N. divisions, three South Korean divisions and an Australian brigade had ground out miles up to five miles and seized an important punchbowl area 20 miles north of Parallel 38.

The Allies dug in Tuesday and consolidated their gains. The drive had pushed the United Nations line within artillery range of Kumsong, a Red stronghold 20 miles north of 38 in east central Korea.

There was no letup in sea and air attacks.

British Commonwealth warships hammered the eastern end of the Communist battlefront while the U. N. planes Los Angeles and other bombers bombed at night.

business before the conference was adoption of the rules and held that the Soviet proposal was out of order.

Acheson said the rules of order were now under discussion.

There were handclaps through the assembly.

The representative of Czechoslovakia Dr. Gertruda Schabounova, deputy foreign minister, speaking in English, rose and asked first that the motion of the U. S. S. R. be considered.

Acheson waved his hand and asked permission to speak again. He said the rules of procedure have not been adopted. For that reason he argued his proposal to invite the Chinese Peoples Government could be extended.

Gromyko said the question of the invitation to Red China was a question involving the composition of the conference itself. He referred back to the United Nations conference of 1948 and the rules of procedure which applied then.

Communist Chinese were present at that session in the San Francisco War Memorial Opera House; but the present Chinese Red regime had not then been set up.

Gromyko insisted that Acheson was mistaken in his ruling because all governments that participate in this conference should be present before the rules are adopted.

The Russian appealed to the floor for a vote on the chairman's ruling.

Acheson repeated that it was out of order.

Acheson said there was another motion pending—that of Brandson for adoption of the rules.

"I wish to protest this ruling and I'm opposing it formally and officially," Gromyko said. "We are opposing this ruling since we consider the conference is presided over by a temporary chairman and we have a right to ask for an expression of the delegation on his ruling."

STEPLECHASING

NEW YORK, Sept. 5—(AP)—Eddie Arcaro, generally regarded as one of the best jockeys on the flat, has accepted a dare to pilot a mount in a steeplechase sometime this fall.

Arcaro said today the venture was the result of a discussion with friends at his home in Saratoga recently.

He already has made arrangements to ride Fulton, owned by Lucille Sanford, either at the current meeting at Aqueduct or later at Belmont.

Senator Invited To Send Witness To Press Trial

Grand Juror Claims Hill Spoke Without Knowing Facts

By KRITH FULLER
LAKE CHARLES, La., Sept. 5—(AP)—A grand juror, one of those who indicted five Lake Charles newspapermen on defamation charges, invited U. S. Senator Hill (D-La.) to "have your investigators present" when the cases are tried in open court.

In a statement Monday Hill criticized the grand jury's action and said the indictments were "so flagrantly unjust they will alert the people to the need for a grass roots uprising against crime and corruption."

The Senator said Congress should appropriate money to reopen Crime Committee hearings, which officially ended Friday.

The newspapermen's indictments followed an anti-gambling crusade by the Lake Charles American Press. The indictment included the paper's publisher, co-publisher, managing editor, city editor and a reporter.

Those allegedly defamed included Sheriff Henry Reid, district attorney Griffin Hawkins and the 15 members of the Parish (county) police jury, the county governing body.

The grand juror, Beth D. May, a Lake Charles businessman, answered Hill's statement in a 600-word telegram to the Senator last night.

"I cannot understand how a U. S. senator can pass judgment on men or conditions unless he has the facts in front of him," May's telegram said.

"You state that the indictments are unjust. How do you know they are unjust? You must certainly not know what happened during the secret session of the grand jury, and I regret that due to the laws of this state I am unable to give them to you."

"In my opinion every man on the jury believes in freedom of the press."

Earlier yesterday a trio of Parish ministers released a letter sent to District Attorney Hawkins in which the ministers assumed equal guilt with the press on one of the alleged defamation charges.

The ministers, William O. Byrd, Methodist, and T. V. Owen, and of the benefits in character and leadership to be derived from playing in the band, which at present has 52 members.

An expression of sympathy to Sheriff P. A. Mero, who was scheduled to address the Kiwanis luncheon today, was approved, due to the death of his son, Lieut. "Bobo" Mero in action in Korea. The message read: "Please accept our sincere sympathy in your great loss, the Kiwanis Club of Sanford, Joel Metts, president." Edward F. Lane read the message.

Mr. Cawley indicated that the High School Band will have "something special" in store for the game at Orlando. He pointed out that until recently playing in the band had not been listed in the curriculum, but is now included. Music trains not only the mind, but the emotions and the body as well, he pointed out.

Walter Routh, tackle and president of the student body, told the Kiwanis that the team had good prospects of winning this year as the line is big and experienced, and declared that the team has two great coaches. He also stated that the backfield was fast. He predicted that the Sanford team will "stomp Orlando."

Junior Metts, back, told of the speed and experience of the backfield and quipped that "not much line" would be needed to win. He pointed out that there will be plenty of backfield reserves as two men are available for each position.

Ganas said that he and Mr. Fleming are perfectly happy with their positions as coaches, and declared that he will direct the line work and Mr. Fleming the backfield. He stated that the line would be an unbalanced line, and a single wing back formation will be used. He predicted the team will give Orlando a battle.

Mr. Fleming said that the backfield will be strong and fast, with three boys left from last year. In addition to the A and B high school squads, a team will be developed at the Junior High School.

Mero Killed

17th birthday he joined the Navy. Following his release from active duty he entered Stetson University where he studied law for two years. In spare time he worked as a deputy sheriff under his father.

Called back into the Navy in December, 1940, he took up flying after a period of training at Jacksonville and Corpus Christi, Tex.; received his wings at Pensacola. He was sent to Korea in May, 1951.

He was reported to have seen initial action in Korea about June 1.

Shortly afterward a Far East naval headquarters summary of the action in the form of a clipping from a newspaper, dated Tokyo, June 2, was received here by Mrs. P. A. Mero.

It stated: "Squadrons Corsairs and Panthers, launched in dawn to duck attacks from fast carriers USS Boxer and USS Bon Homme Richard, swarmed over Red frontline positions in the eastern sector, North of Inje, the Navy flyers were credited with high enemy casualties during strafing runs which controllers said covered 90 percent of the area."

Lieut. Mero is survived by the widow, the former Miss Francis Coppock of Jacksonville; a daughter, Patricia; the parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Mero; two brothers, Thomas Wight Mero and P. A. Mero, Jr., and the grandmother, Mrs. J. W. Mero.

Allied Force Battles Free Of Red Trap

Fighting Increases In Savagery As New Communist Attack Looms Menacingly

By JOHN RANDOLPH
U. S. 8TH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Sept. 6—(AP)—Thousands of tank-supported Chinese today surrounded an Allied unit in a surprise attack on the western front. The Allies fought their way out in an 18-hour battle.

United Nations infantrymen and supporting armor said they killed more than 400 of the 3,000 attacking Chinese.

The Communist attack on the front of the 24th Infantry Division, U. S. 8th Army, back 400 yards on the northern edge of the Punch Bowl, 20 miles north of the 38th Parallel. The 24th Infantry counterattacked and regained the last ground.

Chinese attacking on the long quiet western front, some miles north of Parallel 38 were supported by eight tanks. One intelligence officer said 20 Russian-Lvov tanks were in the area.

The fight began Wednesday midnight and continued into Thursday night when the U. N. force fought its way clear. It took out its wounded on tanks and armored vehicles.

The Allies said they killed 300 to 400 Chinese. At least eight Reds were taken prisoner.

One Allied officer said the abrupt attack by at least a regiment of Reds might be the beginning of a new offensive. An Eighth Army spokesman said it was too early to tell.

Another officer suggested it was a Red attempt to clear U. N. troops out of the Punch Bowl area 30 miles north of Seoul in preparation for a buildup for an ultimate major Communist offensive.

The Reds attacked with two tank-supported forces of about 2,000 men each.

The British sent their Northumberland Panthers to try to reach the surrounding Allies. They ran into heavy Red fire and were pulled back.

Allied planes pounded one attacking Red force fiercely.

British 35-pounder guns took the second Red outfit under the eyes. The British said the final escape of the U. N. force was a "mad dash" by armored vehicles and foot troops.

The Red attack last night precipitated a battle that lasted throughout Thursday in the low hills 25 miles northeast of Kaesong. (Continued On Page Three)

Papers Force City Council To Cease Secret Meetings

ELKTON, Md., Sept. 6—(AP)—The Elkton Town Council, accused of closing its meetings to local newspapermen, threw the doors open last night to reporters and anybody else who wanted to attend.

Paul E. Fitzgerald, editor of the Cecil County Whig and one of the two newsmen involved, said: "It seems the mayor and town council were aware of their actions. We noted a change of policy."

However, Mayor Henry H. Mitchell said after the session that he doesn't have any future policy in mind. He said that last night's policy "should not be regarded as temporary."

Fitzgerald and Gerard Borstel, editor of the Cecil Democrat, recently complained that the council had not met since Aug. 1.

They had reported in their papers about a disturbance at a cafe, as a tipoff about a raid, and Mitchell contended that he served the two newsmen. He said he published the story although he had requested them not to.

The Mayor said he did not plan to reply to James A. Pope, editor of the Lottsville County Journal and chairman of the American Society of Newspaper Editors' Committee on Intimidation.

Pope had written Mitchell last week in a letter that the council news cannot be considered behind a screen of secrecy, nor was any government official to be what a newspaper can print.

Mitchell said he would not talk for a reply and he did not intend to send him any.

Korean War Hero's Body Arrives In Washington

THE FLAG-DRAPED CASKET containing the body of Sgt. John R. Rice, a Winnebago Indian who gave his life fighting with the U. N. forces in Korea, is escorted by an honor guard on arrival in Washington from Sioux City, Iowa. The Sergeant's mother, Mrs. Samie Davis, 87, in wheelchair, and his sister, Mrs. Helen Wolf, accompanied the body to Washington. President Truman ordered the soldier buried in Arlington National Cemetery when he learned Rice had been denied a grave in Sioux City because of his race. (International)

Yugoslav Writer Says Adamic Was Murdered By Reds

Threats Against Life For Pro-Tito Book Are Told By Friend

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6—(AP)—A Yugoslav newspaperman said today he is strongly convinced that Louis Adamic was murdered.

The author was found dead from a rifle shot in his New Jersey home Tuesday. The death tentatively was listed as a suicide pending investigations.

M. Anton Smole, correspondent for the Yugoslav News Agency, Tanjug, said he had been a close friend of Adamic since 1947.

Smole, in San Francisco for the Japanese peace conference, told the Associated Press:

"Mr. Adamic's life was threatened four times, twice by an American connected with Communist agents operating in the United States." The Cominform (Communist Information Bureau) is a Russian propaganda agency.

Smole said he last saw the 52-year-old writer in June in New York. Adamic told him:

"The threats began in 1949 when he returned from Yugoslavia with material for an anti-Soviet, pro-Tito book.

Adamic said he was beaten and kicked unconscious one night last March near Los Angeles. He blamed persons determined to see the book was not written.

He said the book would be published at the end of 1951. (Adamic's secretary, Mrs. Ethel Sharp, said he had written all but one chapter of the book, "The Eagle and The Rock," the manuscript was missing.)

The first threat was made in the summer of 1949 when a man went to the Adamic's isolated farmhouse near Milford, N. J.

"His wife was away," Smole said. "The man bearing threats usually came when Mrs. Adamic was away."

"Adamic said he knew the man slightly.

"This man advised Adamic to cease writing favorable articles to the Communist Party, particularly those which would help the book. He said there would be a 'bad ending' if Adamic did (Continued On Page Three)

B. And P. W. Holds Board Meeting At Home Of Mrs. Routh

The board of directors of the Business and Professional Women's Club met at the home of the president, Mrs. E. J. Routh, Wednesday evening.

Reports were made by the various committee chairmen, and plans were discussed for the twenty-fourth observance of National Business Women's Week, Sept. 23 to 29.

The program theme for this year is "Full Partnership for the Job Ahead." The work activities will be eliminated with a civic luncheon to be held at the Yacht Club, Friday, Sept. 28.

Present at the meeting were Mrs. W. E. Baker, Mrs. E. B. Carter, Mrs. Lucy M. Grantham, Mrs. Gertrude (Gilbert) Mrs. Marion Harman, Mrs. C. E. Hunter, Mrs. Ed Little, Mrs. O. T. Pearson, Mrs. Ellnor Ravenel, Mrs. R. E. True, Mrs. Eric Vilien and the Misses Elsie Farley and Dorothy Von Herbulis.

Sabotage Of Bond Campaign Laid To Communist Party

Jaycees Hear Of Big Inflation Danger; Gatchel Appointed

The Communist Party is attempting to destroy the United States by driving us into a vicious inflationary spiral, ending in a boom and bust," Michael J. Mainwaring, Director of the Department of the Treasury, said in an address at the weekly luncheon of the Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce today.

Introduced by T. E. Tucker, head of the Small Loan Department of the Florida State Bank, Mr. Mainwaring told the Jaycees of the pressing danger of inflation, in announcing the appointment of Forest Gatchel as head of the Deflation Savings Bond campaign in the Sanford area.

Pointing out that the Communist Party held a meeting in New York City recently in which it was decided to discredit by every possible means the savings bond program, Mr. Mainwaring reiterated the importance of the bonds in maintaining America's economy on an even keel.

"By disrupting the savings bond program the Communists could totally defeat attempts to halt the increasing inflationary pressure and eventually plunge the nation into the depths of depression enabling them to take over the country without firing a shot," Mr. Mainwaring warned.

"It can happen here," he added, pointing out that in every country taken over by the Reds, just this progression has been followed—and in none of them did the leaders or the people suspect the imminent danger which threatened.

"War Savings Bonds bought during World War two now total more than $55 billion and will begin to mature at the rate of $18 to $20 billion every couple of years, beginning in 1952," he pointed out.

Soviets May Use Korean War As Lever At Treaty Meeting

Soviets Say U. S. Puppets Control Jap Treaty Meet

"Rubber Stamp" Tactics Are Rapped By Russian Papers

By EDDY GILMORE
MOSCOW, Sept. 6 (AP)—The Soviet press reported today that the United States was trying to sign the Japanese peace treaty into a "rubber stamp" ceremony.

In extensive Tass dispatches from San Francisco, the papers said the radio explained that "large numbers" of delegations at the conference are from countries that "did nothing towards the destruction of Japanese militarism."

Tass said about one-third of the delegations were from Latin America and stressed the absence of China and the attendance of the "puppet" states of Laos, Cambodia and Hainan (Taiwan).

Tass said the Soviet government decided to participate in the conference because of its "steadfast" support of peace, and in this connection desired to present real proposals for a true peace treaty.

Tass said Russia's decision to send a delegation to San Francisco caused "shame" in American government circles. The dispatch said American news papers admitted this.

The Soviet papers said American ruling circles saw in advance that the Soviet proposal would "force serious support among the people of all countries" and as a consequence are trying to "turn the conference into a purely formal procedure of treaty signing."

The Russian dispatches from San Francisco said the American delegation was seeking to "hide" any real discussion of the peace treaty by a "show" of the conference in four days.

They said Australian delegate Percy C. Spender named vice-chairman of the conference was put in the chair with power to take the floor away from speakers.

The dispatches gave three paragraphs to President Truman's speech opening the conference, which consisted of "praising the actions of the American occupation authorities in Japan and the American project for a peace treaty which, according to him, pursues the cause of peace."

Tass described Soviet delegate Andrei Gromyko's speech yesterday morning as "an energetic address" in connection with Russia's unsuccessful efforts to change the rules, the dispatch said the American rules were "put through by the American (Continued On Page Three)

2 Tropical Storms In South Atlantic Swirl Westward

MIAMI, Sept. 6—(AP)—Two hurricanes in the summer storm parade swirled westward over the open Atlantic today, the second one 1,300 miles southeast of the Florida coast.

This storm, the fifth of the season and named "Easy" because "E" is the fifth letter of the alphabet, contains 135-mile winds. It is moving west-northwestward about 16 miles an hour.

An Air Force hurricane hunter plane located the storm's center at 10:30 A. M. today at latitude 22.3 north and longitude 61.2 west, or 340 miles northeast of San Juan, Puerto Rico.

Grady Norton, chief storm forecaster, in the Miami Weather Bureau, said it was too early to tell whether the 135-mile an hour "Easy" would threaten land areas.

"The hurricane will move along its present course for another 24 hours," said Norton. "It is drifting along at a 10-mile pace, but the 1,300 miles separating it from the Florida coast. Ample warning will be given by the Weather Bureau if a threat develops."

Storming along in the Atlantic far to the east of "Easy" is the sixth hurricane of the season, known as "Fox." That name is the communications word for the letter "F" and means merely that it is the sixth of a series.

"Fox" is some 1,400 miles east of the Lesser Antilles, or about 2,000 miles southeast of Florida. It is moving westward at a faster rate than an acknowledgment of its existence. Anything could happen to it before it reaches the coast. (Continued On Page Three)

Rate Increase Is Asked Quickly By Telephone Co.

TALLAHASSEE, Sept. 6—(AP)—The Southern Bell Telephone Company wants its rates increased immediately to give it $7,000,000 more a year in gross income.

It offered yesterday to post a bond with the State Utilities Commission sufficient to guarantee refunds to customers if the stoppage of rate increases could be permanent upon completion of the hearings later this fall.

The severe losses already suffered by the company because of increased operating costs are now beyond recovery and all we are asking in this motion is protection against further loss in revenue pending final determination of the matter," said A. B. Dooley, Bell's Florida manager.

"The continuation and completion of service improvements and expansion now in progress in Florida call for large sums of new capital. We can obtain this money only if people with savings to invest in our business. That is why it is so necessary that the earnings on our investment be adequate."

Dooley said increasing costs of operation, a $1,220,000 annual wage boost and higher taxes have cut the rate of earnings on the Florida intrastate net investment to 3.75 percent. It has 7.25 percent.

About half of the $7,000,000 a year the company would take from subscribers in higher telephone rates would go to the federal government for income taxes.

Korean Turning Point Came After Reds Failed In Attack On Pusan

By DON WHITEHEAD
WASHINGTON, Sept. 6—(AP)—One year ago today the U. S. Eighth Army in Korea won its first decisive victory in the stubborn and bloody defense against the Red hordes from the north.

That victory chopped down the Communist hopes for a quick conquest of South Korea. It set the stage for General Douglas MacArthur's brilliant Inchon landing which crushed the North Korean army.

The man who engineered the defense was a chunky, hard-faced Texan now dead—Lt. General Walton H. Walker.

It was Walker who fixed the date of victory in the tooth-and-claw fighting around the old Pusan perimeter, a defense that at times appeared hopeless.

Shortly before his death in a jeep accident last December, Walker said in an interview: "I knew on Sept. 6 that we had them licked. I knew then they were through."

General J. Lawton Collins, Army chief of staff, has praised Walker's defense of the Pusan perimeter as one of the greatest achievements of the war.

U. S. Delegation Prepares To Counter Any Soviet Move To Obstruct Action

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6—(AP)—The fourth Japanese peace conference opened today with American delegates alerted to the possibility that Russia may try some new move here to offset the sharp defeat she suffered yesterday.

As non-Communist delegations moved to the speaker's platform and voiced their approval of the treaty draft, much concern was shown off the floor as to what the Russians would do next.

The Soviet demand at yesterday's first working session for a wholesale rewriting of the treaty was dismissed by western diplomats as being "out of order" and doomed to failure.

However, a Russian effort to regain lost prestige was anticipated. What form it might take was uncertain.

There was a possibility that Andrei Gromyko, the Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister, might try again to get his proposed amendments officially before the conference.

Another theory was that the Russians might act entirely on their own side of the conference. There was an increasing tendency among American diplomats to link news of stronger Communist activity in Korea with the San Francisco developments.

While governments of the non-Communist majority were making their statements at the San Francisco Opera House today, the line that they must be on guard against new maneuvers was understood to have been developed in the U. S. delegations closed daily huddle by Charles E. Bohlen, U. S. State Department counselor.

Achonov's chief adviser on Russian affairs.

This caution is understood to have been supported by other American delegates.

One Western diplomat remarked, "Perhaps the Russians don't consider this the main arena at all."

"Perhaps what we have to look for is a hard struggle elsewhere," he made clear that he meant the possibility of a major Red military drive in Korea.

In any case, Gromyko, defeated in his initial efforts to get Red China into the San Francisco meeting, and to change the rules to suit his own purposes, appeared certain not to sign the treaty.

It took such a battering on every move he made yesterday that some Western delegates believed he might be seeking new instructions from Moscow.

Anything from a walkout to new and stronger threats of war in the Far East was considered possible for the Russians, and their Polish and Czech satellite delegations, in view of the situation which has developed here with extraordinary speed.

Gromyko told the conference yesterday that what the United States and Britain are sponsoring "is not a treaty of peace but the way for the preparation of a new war in the Far East."

"The draft treaty," he charged, "reading rapidly from his prepared speech 'creates conditions for the reestablishment of Japanese militarism, creates a danger of a new Japanese aggression.'"

Instead of providing for withdrawal of foreign (that is, American) occupation troops, he went on, "it insures the presence of foreign armed forces on the territory of Japan and the maintenance of foreign military bases in Japan even after the signing of a peace treaty."

Officials Refuse To Kick Out Head Of Convict Camp

TALLAHASSEE, Sept. 6.—(AP)—A Pinellas county grand jury recommendation that the head of the Largo convict camp be fired for permitting brutality to prisoners had a defiant "no" today from two state officials.

Chairman Alfred McKethan of the State Road Department and Commissioner of Agriculture Nathan Mayo rejected the recommendation in a joint letter to the clerk of the Pinellas county circuit court.

The Road Department operates the Largo camp and all other highway convict camps. Mayo, as head of the prison system, supervises and has charge of inspection at all convict camps.

The grand jury inspectors had looked into the Largo camp situation, just as the grand jury did, and "the entire investigation does not show any acts that would warrant, in our opinion, the discharge of Captain L. P. Jones, who is in charge."

Captain Jones will continue in the employment of the prison system as long as his services merit, they said.

The grand jury investigated affairs at the camp after a former guard complained that prisoners were treated brutally. It recommended that Jones be discharged and not be permitted to hold any other position connected with the prison system.

Mayo and McKethan said "it is noted that the grand jury, after thorough investigation, has not cited any violations of state laws, and has not brought in any indictment of any employee of the camp."

They said before the grand jury started its investigation they had sent two inspectors from the state prison system and the State Road Department to this camp to make an investigation.

Based on the recommendations of these inspectors, two employees of the camp were dismissed from service and their commissions taken up.

"Our inspectors were instructed to continue their investigations, and they made a complete investigation of the operations of this camp. They gave full and complete cooperation and assistance to the state's attorney, the FBI and the grand jury."

Korean War

Hundreds of United Nations planes swarmed in to rocket, bomb, strafe and burn the Chinese. At least two Russian-type tanks were knocked out.

An Allied tank-infantry force fought through a hail of Red fire trying to relieve the encircled unit.

At least one tank and two armored vehicles got through. They joined tanks already with the trapped outfit in carrying out the wounded. An Allied officer said the wounded reached U. N. lines at 6 P. M. 18 hours after the Red's T-34 tanks first opened up.

Red fire slackened at nightfall. Then the U. N. unit began its fighting pullback toward its own lines. Allied planes provided air cover.

The sudden outbreak of fighting seven miles west of Yonchon switched the scene of Korean action to the long quiet western front. Previous hard fighting was in the east-central mountains where Allies cleaned Red off key ridges Wednesday.

The scene of the new fight is seven miles north of the 38th parallel and west of the Imjin River. No Reds were in the area earlier in the week.

A front line dispatch from Associated Press correspondent Sam Sumner said the attack was made by a regiment of Chinese, believed to be from a new unit. Another regiment, about 3,000 men, was spotted in the same area.

TOKYO, Sept. 6.—(AP)—General Matthew B. Ridgway told the Reds in a stinging note today that if they want to end the shooting in Korea they should agree to start truce talks anew somewhere else.

The United Nations commander also brusquely told the Communists to stop their "constant deceit and treachery" in manufacturing incidents for "false and malicious" charges against the Allies.

Almost simultaneously with delivery of Ridgway's sharp note, Chinese Communists launched a heavy, tank-supported attack on the western front. A front-line officer said it could be "a prelude to a major offensive."

The Red assault on the long inactive front was only 25 miles from Kaesong, site of the disrupted armistice negotiations.

A major Red offensive could blast the dimming hope of reviving truce talks. The Reds might ignore Ridgway's note and again try to drive U. N. forces out of Korea.

Ridgway left it completely up to the Communists whether negotiations are resumed. But the U. N. commander made it clear the talks won't be at Kaesong.

Ridgway's information officer said Kaesong is not a suitable site for armistice discussions because "it is within Communist lines."

A release by the information officer said the situation has reached a point "where the question of the neutrality of the Kaesong zone has overshadowed the original purpose of the meeting."

The Reds broke off the talks Aug. 23 after charging the U. N. violated the neutrality zone. Ridgway reiterated Thursday that that charge, and others that followed, were "without the slightest basis in fact."

His proposal to set a new locale for negotiations actually changes the situation of the stalled talks only slightly.

He said if the Reds are ready to start negotiating a cease-fire again, their liaison officers could talk about a new site. The Communists would resume negotiations only when Ridgway admitted responsibility for their long list of charges, which Ridgway called "baseless and intentionally false."

Adamic Death

"In October, 1949, the man came back and threatened 'stop writing that book. You are a traitor to the working people. You are connected with the Fascist clique, the Tito clique. There will be a bad ending for you.'"

Adamic said he refused to stop work on the book. He told the man it was important to bring to the American people facts about Yugoslavia and explain the Soviet threat and Yugoslavia's fight for independence.

"In the middle of 1950, while Mrs. Adamic was in New York seeing her doctor, a car with Michigan license plates drove up to the farm house. Four men got out. He knew none of them. They demanded the manuscript. Mr. Adamic gave them curt replies, but he was frightened.

Adamic decided against calling the police, and to leave the farm and finish his book in California."

Smole said the Adamses left New Jersey secretly and took a seaside house near Los Angeles.

"Adamic worked on the book at night. When he got drowsy, he would take a walk along the sea cliffs.

"One night two men beat him on the head and face with their fists, threw him to the ground and kicked him. They threatened to kill him unless he turned over the manuscript. He said the publishers had it. They kicked him unconscious.

Smole said Adamic, fearing publicity would make matters worse, didn't call the police. He told his wife he had fallen down a cliff. Smole said the writer couldn't identify the men. He added:

"Adamic tried to analyze where the threats were coming from. He said there were two possibilities: Communist agents in the United States who feared the effects of his book in Soviet lands, or a group of political emigrants who came from Yugoslavia in 1946 and 1947 as displaced persons and who violently opposed any friendly cooperation between the United States and Yugoslavia.

"Knowing him, I exclude the possibility of suicide. I am strongly convinced he was murdered."

Increased taxes, prices and costs, the United States can well afford to make secure its high standard of living by buying these bonds and practicing increased thrift," Mr. Malnguth emphasized.

"If this is not done and we do push through the roof in an uncontrolled inflationary spiral, those who have refused to heed the warning will weep and gnash their teeth bitterly," he declared.

The American people must ignore the Hitlerian tactics of the "big lie" and not let the false propaganda against the bonds drive them away from what is not only a good investment but a shoring up of the future of the United States, he continued.

Mr. Gatchel, in an address following that of Mr. Malnguth, pointed out that every employer will be contacted in an effort to sign up the entire community on a payroll savings plan with bonds being purchased through pay deductions.

The Jaycees agreed to postpone their regular weekly meeting next week in order to hold a special meeting with the Business and Professional Women's club.

Turning Point

Walker gambled everything on holding the Naktong line, refusing to fall back to a smaller beach-head around the port of Pusan. He was gambling for time and the arrival of the Marines, the 2nd Infantry Division and the British Brigade.

Then for five terrible weeks he shuttled troops around to plug gaps in his thin line of defense. As each new unit arrived, it was rushed into combat.

At times, Walker had nothing that could be called a reserve force. He had every major unit committed to battle.

In mid-August, the Reds threw their heaviest punch at the southern end of the line driving for Masan and the roads that led to Pusan. The line sagged and broke. But it was patched up again and it held.

The Reds unleashed a powerful drive in the north. Again the defense line sagged—and broke. But Walker quickly shifted the 24th Infantry Division to the danger point and beat back the enemy.

The 27th Regiment of the 25th Division was shunted around so much to the hot spots that it became known as the "Fire Brigade." And its commander, Col. Mike Michalski—now brigadier general, won the nickname "Fire Chief."

The Reds threw everything they had against the Eighth Army lines. But the fury spent itself. The North Korean offensive faded.

And on Sept. 6, 1950, General Walker knew he had won the victory that saved South Korea from the Reds.

In another dispatch from San Francisco, Tass reported "a serious conflict" developing among the delegations.

"Notwithstanding all efforts of the State Department to turn the conference into an empty formality on the surface, serious conflicts are appearing. They are taking place between the State Department and the countries which usually follow in its wake," it said.

County Board

Bonner Carter, representing a group of growers located on the West Side and north of the area affected by the Smith Canal drainage, declared that action was needed to drain the area immediately west of the Atlantic Coast Railroad's main line and north of First Street.

He pointed out that a ditch leading north from First Street to Lake Monroe provided insufficient drainage due to a two foot culvert running under Buchanan Road.

Due to the shallowness of the ditch, a larger culvert cannot be installed, Mr. McClelland stated, and proposed that a bridge be installed there. The Commission tentatively agreed to this.

Among the farmers who stated their work on drainage problems were Gus Schmitt, who told how at one time the farmers of the West Side had co-operated with the County in cleaning the ditches in the area.

He suggested that the Farm Bureau take steps to co-operate with the County and the Railroad again on drainage problems.

Other growers who asked for action on draining the West Side area were Henry Thurston, L. Butler, Herbert Helrens and Percy Chapman.

Tropical Storms

While three two storms whipped the Atlantic, a dying disturbance known as "D" for "dog" was in its final throes in the Gulf of Honduras. "Dog" once had 100-mile winds and threatened Jamaica, but broke up and moved south of that island as an area of heavy squalls. It has shown no renewed vigor and is expected to push inland over British Honduras without causing any damage. Its winds were down to 10 miles an hour in rainsqualls.

Jap Treaty

(Continued From Page One) sense of Japan," he said, "the draft provides for the participation of Japan in an aggressive military alliance with the United States."

"The draft treaty not only fails to provide for obligations that Japan should not join any coalition directed against any of the states which participated in the war against militarist Japan, but on the contrary is clearing the path for Japan's participation in aggressive blocs in the far east created under the aegis of the United States."

Gromyko wound up his speech with a proposal of 13 major amendments to the British-American draft. These included provisions to force American troops out of Japan, bring China into the peacemaking, and give Formosa to Red China. Only such changes, he declared, would make the treaty acceptable to Russia.

He got isolated applause from the Communist delegates and advisers—and a loud explosion of "boos" from the spectator sections. The spectators were reprimanded by conference Vice President Percy C. Spender of Australia as Gromyko stalked to his fifth row seat.

Altogether the day was one of the roughest a Soviet delegation ever experienced in a public session of a major international meeting. In only two hours at the outset Gromyko lost the rules fight that had been expected to last all day at least. A tight set of rules limiting debate and barring changes in the treaty was adopted 18 to 3.

That was at yesterday morning's session, the first business meeting of the conference. U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson, elected President, immediately shifted the conference into high gear—driving toward a treaty signing ceremony scheduled Saturday.

In short order, after lunch, Ambassador John Foster Dulles, speaking for the United States, and Kenneth Younger, minister of state, speaking for Britain, explained the proposed treaty. They said it opened a new era in the history of Japan and bolstered prospects for peace in the Pacific.

As the day progressed they were followed by representatives of Mexico, the Dominican Republic, Russia, Chile and Bolivia. All except Gromyko praised the proposed treaty and said they would sign.

In a session opening at 10 A. M. today speeches were scheduled by the delegates of El Salvador, Norway, Haiti, Nicaragua, Egypt, Laos and Ceylon. This was to be followed by an afternoon session (5 P. M. EST) in which representatives of Pakistan, France and the Philippines were to speak. French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman will make the address for his country.

JOSEPH JOEL KEITH

Senator George predicts a six billion dollar tax increase next year.

What is now happening in Britain may some day happen in this country. There they have soaked the rich so long that according to Hugh Gaitskell, chancellor of the exchequer, they are running out of rich to soak.

A grand total of 658 persons met death in accidents during the nation's Labor Day week-end. Two of them died in plane crashes, fires, or drownings, but by far the larger proportion of them died on the nation's highways where the mad rush to get somewhere in time to beat the traffic dash home proved fatal to about five hundred persons.

Russell Kay who writes an unusually interesting column for a number of Florida papers discloses that the President's salary sometimes thought of in rather modest terms reaches a total of $236,215 a year including expense allowances, police protection and other incidentals, but including the yacht, Williamsburg and its crew of 164 men and certain other incidentals. On a small part of this salary income taxes are payable just as the rest of us have to pay income taxes, but an even larger part of it being listed as expenses in the free.

The war comes home to us in the frightful tragedy as word received that one of Sanford's has been killed in action.

Now, it has the Times-Herald recently came up with some figures on what it costs to maintain the top man in government.

Gambling And Sports

The effects of organized gambling on professional and amateur sports is to be studied by a nine-man committee of leaders from various fields of sports.

The recent basketball scandals, which ruined the sports careers of a number of young men and may damage their whole lives, were the fruit of organized gambling.

One way to deal with the problem is to find corruption which exists in the sports world and bring it to light. If there are other areas where corruption threatens but is not yet present, perhaps investigation will help to ward off trouble.

Communist Registration

Benjamin Gitlow, who once ran for vice-president on the Communist ticket, testified before the Subversive Activities Control Board that American Communism is dominated by Russia.

Gitlow broke with the party in 1929 after a disagreement with Stalin. At the hearings he stated that he never knew of a single instance of disobedience to a Russian directive by the Communist Party in the United States.

The Constitution forbids any law which would inculminate a person for something done before the law was passed, and once again the Communists are seeking the protection of the Constitution they despise and would destroy.

A Scottish airline has set up a plan by which American soldiers returning from Europe by plane can have their pets flown to this country with assurance that they will be well cared for.

Soldiers And Pets

The fact that such an air service for transporting pets is profitable to an airline says something about the nature of the American soldier.

Every political campaign brings forth the chest-thumping finger-pointing aspirant for this or that office who climbs up on a stump and froths at the mouth about the salaries received by big corporation executives.

Too Late To Classify

Probably the most amazing figures in this summary are the 128 Secret Service men plus another 170 White House police.

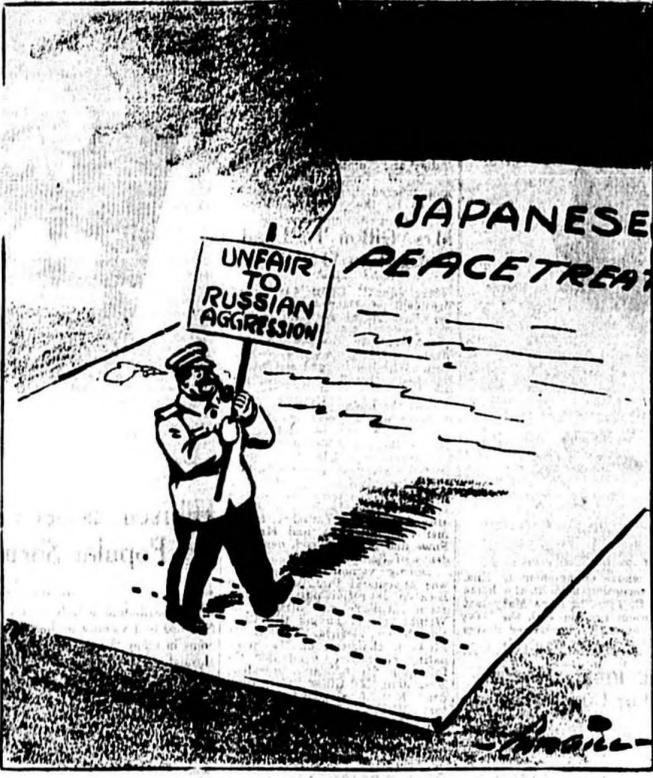

Compare this to the police force that guards the entire city of Jacksonville, a community of over 300,000 population that employs 876 men or Tampa, with only 198 in the department including clerks and stenographers.

SIGN ON THE DOTTED LINE

THE WORLD TODAY

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—(AP)—President Truman practically opened a peace offensive of his own in San Francisco and at the same time tried to put the Russians on the spot if they tried any shenanigans there.

Whether his emphasis on peace brings peace any nearer—such as a settlement in Korea—remains to be seen. But it's doubtful anything he said would make the Russians bat an eye or change their plans.

At noon yesterday he told a Democratic Party rally he would go to California in the interest of world peace.

In that speech he used the word "peace" 18 times—in practically every other paragraph of his talk.

He reminded the delegation from the various nations that this treaty was to be signed against the backdrop of the still "unofficial" war with Communism in Korea.

But even if somehow the shooting in Korea is stopped, it will mean peace in only that one place. The unbroken war with Russia will certainly continue.

The West will keep on building its defenses, drawing an armored ring around the Communist world, and the Russians will not abandon their world crusade because of any speech.

So at least San Francisco provided him with the opportunity of presenting to the world the picture of America as a peace-lover and of Communism as the enemy of peace.

What he had to say about the Japanese peace treaty itself wasn't new. It had all been thoroughly explained and hashed over before.

He saved his direct shot at the Russians—without naming them for almost the very end of his speech.

Of all the delegations at San Francisco the large Russian crowd is the only one expected to denounce the treaty, try to block it or use the occasion for anti-American propaganda, and probably, as usual, call this country's warmongers.

Without using the word "war" himself against the Russians, the President in effect gave them a word for which they had no room, and which they start to use.

The treaty now before us is far more than a piece of paper. It is a peace treaty for peace. It is a peace treaty for peace.

The Russians tried to block it, but they failed.

The Senate Crime Committee has ended 18 months of investigation conducted amid sensationalism, controversy and a shower of scolding chairs, falling on both sides of the political fence.

What are its solid achievements? We think they are considerable, both in Florida and the nation. The committee has done these things:

It proved beyond any shadow of a doubt that the gambling racket in the heart of the criminal underworld and this heart cannot beat without political protection.

It awakened the people of many communities, large and small, to the fact that gangsters and hoodlums have virtually muscled them out of control of their own government.

It showed how the partnership of crime and politics, once begun, reaches out in ever-widening circles of influence to pollute the streams of democracy.

It pointed out ways the federal and local governments can fight more effectively against commercialized crime.

Florida citizens have more than the average interest in the committee's work. It was in Florida that the committee began its detailed investigation of syndicated crime; and it was in Florida that the committee met the bitterest criticism.

The final report of the committee, as expected, gives a grim picture of the gambling racket in the state in 1949.

The committee's factual findings cannot be summed up by Governor Warren's statement that the racket is still in the hands of the racketeers.

The crime committee says in its final report that "illegitimate activities, such as gambling, continue to exist on an extensive scale" in Florida.

Gamblers are still operating in this state. But their operations are much less extensive than they were before the Senate committee came to Florida last summer and put the racket on the griddle. The fire it started has been kept going by civic groups, grand juries, state investigators and federal income tax agents.

Probably the most important lesson to be found in the committee's report is that the battle against organized crime is, and must continue to be, primarily a local responsibility.

How well the people of Florida have absorbed this lesson now will determine whether the gambling racket hops off the griddle and back into the plentiful gravy of the old days.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—(AP)—George Flores, 30-year-old Brooklyn boxer, was buried today while two investigative groups probed for the reason of his ring death.

The welterweight died four days after he was knocked out by Roger Donoghue in the eighth and last round of their semi-final fight last Wednesday night at Madison Square Garden.

The district attorney's office is continuing an investigation of circumstances leading to the fatal accident and the State Athletic Commission said it planned to hold a public hearing.

Assistant D. A. Alexander Herman said the prosecutor's office has not decided whether to place the facts of the death before the September grand jury.

Five per cent of the U. S. male population over 14 held college degrees, according to census figures.

Hoary-Haired Old Timer Educates Youngsters On How To Fool Wives

By HAL ROYLE

NEW YORK—(AP)—The average American husband's life outside his home is like his bank book. There isn't enough there to merit much interest.

But it cannot help attracting the curiosity of his wife. After all, in those hurried moments before he leaves for work, she does help him comb his hair and put his breakfast on straight. What happens to him then, this lamb love she wedded? In the ten hours or so she isn't at hand to tell him, "Inhale, dear—now exhale, dear," well, what really goes on? She must know.

So, when he returns from his daily bread-winning chores, she greets him with a cheerful or accusing, "And what did you do today?"

This—as every husband knows, and she knows—has a fellow tell his wife? An informal spot poll, taken at a standstill rather than a gallop, shows that this problem is being met by American husbands in many interesting ways.

The survey point was an office watering trough. "I tell my wife nothing important happened," lamented a newly wed. "But she doesn't believe me. She thinks I'm hiding something from her. She busts out crying and says I must be in love with someone at the office, or I'd tell her sooner."

An older co-worker heard him with small sympathy. "Wait until you been married ten years and got five kids like I have," he growled. "All my wife knows to know every night is whether I can keep going until the next payday."

The other men at the trough, all 100 per cent loyal American husbands, all muttered, "Unfair, unfair. Shame on you."

One fellow said he told his wife all the news in the overheard. Another remarked, "All my wife knows to know every night is whether I can keep going until the next payday."

"I tell mine that the boss picked me out for a promotion," he bragged. "But she says she's not interested in the kind of person he dared to interrupt. He said he just mentioned the weather—and she went on from there."

"I tell mine that the boss picked me out for a promotion," he bragged. "But she says she's not interested in the kind of person he dared to interrupt. He said he just mentioned the weather—and she went on from there."

The brilliant colors and increasing variety of the hibiscus make it a favorite garden shrub in this section. Many persons have been attracted to the plant nursery of Mrs. S. C. Dickerson on South San (left) in a single type she described as Eleanora Altheon, with large pink blossoms with red centers.

Hibiscus Is Seen As One Of Most Popular Shrubs In Local Gardens

Contributing greatly to the bright and vivid color of gardens in Sanford and vicinity is the hibiscus, a flowering shrub with large blossoms in many shades and colors which is rapidly increasing in popularity throughout this section.
Blooming practically the year around and produced in the number of its blossoms, hibiscus is finding increasing favor with new and old residents alike.
One of the major factors in this increasing popularity of hibiscus is the number of new varieties which have been developed by horticulturists who estimate that more than 500 types are now on the market.
Although there is an almost unlimited variation observed in shades of color, in both the double and single varieties, there are only four primary colors in addition to white which are concerned in the color pattern of the flowers, namely red, yellow, orange, and purple.
The importation of new varieties of hibiscus has further enhanced the appeal of what is sometimes called the "Queen of Shrubs." It is also known as the "rose of China," native habitat of the plant being the beautiful glossy evergreen leaves and gorgeous blossoms all contribute to make this shrub top flight material.
Among the colors and types of hibiscus to be noted at local nurseries are double red and single red types in varied shades of red, yellow, pink, white, lavender and apricot.

Photos by Raymond Studio The center is a fringed blossom of the Eleanora hibiscus at right is the same pink shade as the first but is named after and is of the double type.

Mr. Mrs. H. E. Starnes Honor Phillip Boyd

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Starnes entertained in honor of Phillip Boyd on his eighteenth birthday recently at their home on the Country Club Road. The guests gathered on the porch for music and singing to the accompaniment of "The Blue Rhythm Boys". They then went into the candlelit dining room where the table was covered with an Irish linen cloth and centered with a birthday cake "Happy Birthday" was sung to Phillip.
Music and singing was enjoyed until late in the evening. Those invited to be with Mr. Boyd were Mr. and Mrs. Lewy Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Duval Gillyard and family, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Starnes and family, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Walker and son, Glenn, Mr. and Mrs. Beverly May and daughter Shirley, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Tatum and family, Mrs. Samuel Hamilton, Mrs. Patricia Gillyard and daughter Mickey.
Also Mrs. Lucille Starnes, W. D. Perry, Milton Kelly, Danny Sweet, Louie Bullard, Richard Cross, Emile P. Williams, Jr., Eddie Kelly and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Starnes and family.
