After you unscramble the six sets of scrambled letters, which appear above the pictured objects, you will find that, correctly unscrambled, five of them identify the six pictured objects and each correct identification word in spaces provided. Their total letter point score is 800.
Next, choose any three of these five unscrambled words. Print these words, with letters appearing consecutively that are common to the three shaded horizontal letter paths in the diagram in the remaining unshaded horizontal letter path, print any additional six-letter word.

Add to the identification word score of 800 the total letter point value of the four horizontal words and the total letter point value of the five vertical words. (Note that in this counting your score, the eight intersecting letters common to two words count twice.) No word may be repeated; each must be differently spelled.

Truman Causes Heated Retorts

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former President Truman's accusation that the Eisenhower administration is guilty of political trickery with serious foreign and domestic issues brought heated retorts yesterday from GOP ranks.

"Neither vicious personal attacks on the President nor the ridiculous efforts to undermine his outstanding record in office will succeed," chairman Leonard W. Hall of the Republican National Committee said.

Truman did not mention Eisenhower by name, but delivered a blistering attack on his administration Saturday night at a big Democratic dinner honoring Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn.

In a speech reminiscent of his 1948 "give 'em hell" campaign efforts, he charged the Eisenhower administration with bad management, blunders and with trying "political tricks with the grave and serious issues of both foreign and domestic policies."

The sessions produced no new word on the intentions of Adlai E. Stevenson, the former Illinois governor who lost to Eisenhower in 1952. Stevenson has made it clear it will be several months before he makes any decision. He leaves from New York today on a month-long business trip to Africa.

Tom Deen, Assistant State Service Officer of Jacksonville, will speak tonight to Campbell-Loussing Post No. 53 of the American Legion, on "Veterans Field Work." Election of Post officers and fair association officers will be held and a ham supper will start at 7:30 p. m.

Local Post Office Gets Face-Lifting With Color Change

The Sanford post office is getting its first paint job in four years and its first change in colors since 1917.

City Painting & Decorating Co. of Albany, Ga., began work today. The seven-man crew is expected to wind up the job in two weeks.

In a departure from the usual color, the walls of the lobby will be painted a sand shade, while the other rooms will be painted a light green. All ceilings will be white.

Postmaster Joel Field pointed out that the company will also erect a 40-foot flag pole in the lot at the side of the building. The pole will be located two and one-half feet from the sidewalk.

Referring to the new colors to be used in the post office, Field said they are designed to make work "easier on the eyes" of employees.

As if to bear out the trend toward livelier colors, the post office has received a red, white and blue delivery truck. All trucks in the past were painted olive drab.

The post office still has only one delivery truck. The old one was taken away at the time the new vehicle was delivered.

The truck delivers within the city all packages weighing two pounds or more.

Admiral Expresses Different Belief

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—Admiral Robert B. Carney, chief of naval operations, said today he does not subscribe to the belief that in event of an atomic war "it would be all over in a few minutes."

In an address prepared for the Armed Forces Council here, Carney declared: "I do not believe this is true matter how terrible the destruction might be. I say this because I do not believe that tough people, on either side, are likely to give up as long as they have anything left to fight with. For that reason the possibility of a dragged-out conflict must be reckoned with."

Salk Polio Vaccine Arrives In County

The Seminole County Health Unit early this afternoon received 1700 cubic centimeters of the Salk polio vaccine, enough to administer the first and second graders in the county.

The second shot will be given two weeks later. Another shipment of vaccine is expected prior to that time.

Today's shipment was delivered to the health unit by a special truck from the State Department of Health in Tallahassee.

Scientist Einstein Dies Today

PRINCETON, N. J. (AP)—World famous scientist Albert Einstein died at 1:15 a. m. (EST) today at Princeton hospital.

Einstein, who was 76, had been admitted to the hospital at noon Friday. The hospital said the cause of death was inflammation of the gall bladder.

Einstein, who had secluded himself from public contact in recent years, had been attached to the Institute for Advanced Study here.

The quiet, unpretentious wizard of mathematics and physics spent his lifetime searching for a unified mathematical concept of the laws that govern the universe.

Born in Ulm, Germany, March 14, 1879, of middle class Jewish parents, he was swept to international fame by the theory of relativity which he devised at the age of 26.

A revolutionary idea, it added a fourth dimension, time, to the trio—length, breadth and width—which had formed man's basic knowledge of the measurement of matter. It also astounded scientists by disputing Newton's law of gravitation.

Sparkman Predicts Stevenson To Be Demo Candidate

ST. PETERSBURG (AP)—Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala.) predicted last night that Adlai Stevenson would again be the Democratic party's presidential candidate in the 1956 election.

Sparkman, who was Stevenson's running mate in 1952, predicted that Stevenson's selection would be supported by Averell Harriman, Democratic governor of New York. The Alabama Senator was interviewed by League of Women Voters members while he was here to address the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs.

He blasted those "self-styled patriots who under the guise of protecting us against communism use communist tactics for selfish or political gains."

Ferrell's Trial Goes On Schedule In Patterson Case

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Former Prosecuting Atty. Arch Ferrell's murder trial was called on schedule today, though the presiding judge still must rule on a defense motion for postponement.

Ferrell, who rose to power during the heyday of vice in wide-open Phenix City, is the second of three defendants to be summoned into court for the slaying of Alabama Atty. Gen. nominee A. L. Patterson.

Defense attorneys filed a motion for continuance last week, claiming that the 38-year-old ousted public official cannot get a fair trial in Birmingham at this time. Special Judge J. Russell McElroy heard witnesses for two days but delayed a decision until prospective jurors are questioned on that point today.

Action To Double On Turnpike Bill

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—The full-length turnpike bill, which has been building up a head of steam at two stormy committee sessions this week in the Legislature.

"First activity comes tonight" when the House Public Roads and Highways Committee votes on an administration-backed bill calling for an inland route toll road with authority for a spur to the Tampa Bay area.

Committee Works To Release Fliers

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Investigations subcommittee sets out today to find out what is being done and what can be done to free U.S. fliers and other Americans trapped behind the Iron Curtain.

"I think it's time some committee of Congress look a look-see at the situation," Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.) said.

He said a closed-door conference of the subcommittee with State Department and Air Force representatives was to be exploratory in nature. He said he did not know what course the inquiry would take or whether public hearings would be held later.

Hegedus Is Elected As Hungary Leader

Tomorrow he marries Princess Dina Abdul Hamid, 25. She is a distant cousin and a teacher of English literature at the University of Cairo. She holds a master's degree from Cambridge University.

Dina and Hussein met while attending school in England. Dina will be Jordan's first queen with an advanced education, the first to have had a career of her own and the first to appear in the country without the traditional veil.

Succeeds Premier Imre Nagy

Public Receives
Message Today

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—Hungary's Communist party made public today its long-expected purge of Premier Imre Nagy. Former Deputy Premier Andras Hegedus was elected to succeed him as head of the government.

The Hungarian Parliament elected Hegedus in a session today shortly after a party announcement said Nagy had been fired and stripped of all party posts for causing "grave damage to the party, to the people's democracy and to our social building."

Just before electing Hegedus the Parliament selected the ouster of Nagy. Imvan Dobi, president of the presidential council, announced he had failed to carry out his functions sufficiently.

Nagy was not present. Joseph Meker, president of the Hungarian Trade Union Council, was elected deputy premier to succeed Hegedus.

The brief party announcement also said Mihaly Farkas had been ousted from the party's five-man secretariat for supporting Nagy's ideas and expelled from the party's political committee and central leadership (the central committee).

Farkas had been defense minister in the previous Haskot government. He lost that post when Nagy became premier but continued in his party posts.

Intelligence Info On Chinese Reds Received By Ike

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower has received intelligence information that the Chinese Communists are engaged in "an extensive buildup" of Red airpower opposite Formosa, which the United States is committed to defend.

Announcing this at Augusta yesterday after a conference with the President, Secretary of State Dulles told newsmen the buildup has "grave implications." He described it as:

1. "More intense and more broad in its scope" than the United States had been aware of until a few days ago.

2. A buildup which "indicates a higher degree of capability" on the part of the Communists to launch an attack "than we had been aware of a few weeks ago."

In a formal statement after a two-hour meeting with the President, Dulles said:

"In relation to China, we discussed the grave implications of an extensive buildup, now in progress, by the Chinese Communists of offensive airpower on the China mainland opposite Formosa."

Californian Dies In Electric Chair

RAIFORD (AP)—John H. McVeigh, 25-year-old Californian, convicted of shooting a Jacksonville policeman, Robert Q. Tucker, on Christmas Eve 1952, was electrocuted at State Prison today.

The switch was thrown at 8:30 a. m. and the prison physician, Dr. Mark E. Adams, pronounced him dead at 8:35.

Supl. L. F. Chapman said McVeigh made no statement, adding "He walked calmly to the chair and just sat down. That was all."

Chairman Francis Bridges of the Florida Parole Commission said McVeigh was on probation for narcotics law violations in California when he came here.

U. S. FOREIGN AID LOWER IN 1954
WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. foreign aid came to $4,600,000 last year, most of it for building up the military power of this country's allies.

The commerce department said yesterday this net total of gifts and loans—after subtracting loan repayments—was about one-fourth lower than in 1953.

Simeon Baldwin

When a party has suffered a series of defeats, it may often best recoup itself by accepting the leadership of some eminent man outside of politics. Though unsuccessful, the Republicans were smart in 1940 when they nominated for President a prominent business man, Wendell Willkie. The successful choice of Gen. Eisenhower in 1952 shows how wise this out-of-politics policy may sometimes be.

In Connecticut, where Democrats are ordinarily in a minority, the party in 1910 made the same prudent choice. They chose Governor Chief Justice Simeon E. Baldwin of the Supreme Court, an eminent legal figure who, almost single-handed, founded the American Bar Association. His other distinctions have just been recorded in a biography of him by Frederick H. Jackson.

Baldwin served two terms as governor, but was defeated for the Senate. He was conservative for his time, and his party did not suit the majority of Connecticut voters. As a lawyer and a jurist he was one of the great figures of his profession, and in 1953 was justly honored for his work in instituting the American Bar Association.

TODAY'S BIBLE VERSE

A man's heart deviseth his way, but the Lord directed his steps.—Prov. 16:9—We become conscious of destiny in our lives long after we have passed middle life. We should be willing to be guided, and we should be trustful.

HAL BOYLE

It's Pretty Tough Job To Rebuild

CAIRO (U)—It is one thing to run a revolution. It is quite another to build up a nation after you have won a revolution.

Lieut. Col. Gamal Abdel Nasser, the 37-year-old strong man of Egypt, spent 10 years plotting the army's overthrow of King Farouk. That was accomplished nearly three years ago. Nasser now seems quietly determined to devote the rest of his life to carrying out a reform program that will cure his backward country of its ancient ills.

He told his hopes the other day in a rare interview granted to a group of visiting American newsmen. Coming into the anteroom of his headquarters, you had the feeling the revolution had just been pulled off a few moments before.

It was crowded with milling army officers and businessmen, all anxious to reach the leader's ear. Armed guards lounged by the windows, carefully scrutinized each visitor who entered.

Prime Minister Nasser, 6-foot and handsome, greeted the newsmen pleasantly, answered each question slowly and thoughtfully. He spoke in perfect English.

Nasser, who proved himself a master plotter in his seizure of power, spoke many times bitterly of "the landlords" whom he holds responsible for Egypt's poverty and past corruption. Millions of acres of land have been redistributed to peasants under his regime.

"No man now can control more than 500 acres," he said. His problems range from providing fertilizer to small farmers to the building of giant irrigation and industrial projects. But Nasser emphasized the new regime's attack on illiteracy. Less than one out of four of Egypt's (totaling 23 million) now can read or write.

"We plan to build 4,000 new schools in the next 10 years," he said. "Last year we completed 200 more than had ever been built in so short a time before."

He indicated he had long advocated mass mobilization until the workers were educated enough to vote for their own best interests.

The impressive gains by his regime were that neither Nasser nor his revolutionary council of army officers intend to step down from power until their reform program has modernized Egypt. Of this task Nasser has written "It is one of the functions of an eye that one is able to see the work of so many eyes."

However, a quiet, self-controlled Nasser never raised his voice. All of the while: "The one who is able to see the work of so many eyes..."

Noise And Controversy

Edward R. Murrow said over two months ago that controversy is not a dirty word. Critics claim the general public is still fairly well convinced that controversy is a grimy business. They further describe the American citizen as apathetic, disinterested and unresponsive.

This may be true of some people, even of many people. There are always the hollow men who stumble among us who do not stir the air nor cast a shadow. But protest is not dead. As a matter of fact, the American air is red, white and blue with jangling voices. There is more criticism than there is complimenting. There is a much and more condemnation, righteous indignation, haranguing, abusing and just plain griping than any man with one free vote has a right to. Freedom of speech is being exercised at the top of the lungs in the midst of this pandemonium, the disinterested is probably the fellow with laryngitis.

It is a mistake to accuse the conformists of a quiet, implacable cullism, to describe them in terms of terrible power, to say they menace and distort truth. The most obvious power of both conformists and those who speak for controversy is currently lodged in their lungs.

The time to worry is when this noisy nation falls silent.

Costly Winds

What a pair of days April and May first of last year must have been, at least in Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Arkansas and Missouri! On those two days no fewer than 47 tornadoes struck this area, causing nearly $5,000,000 damage, 10 per cent of the tornado damage for the entire year.

Tornadoes and their cousins, hurricanes seem to be more frequent. In the last few years the Atlantic coast has suffered to an unprecedented degree. The New York Weather Bureau traces a connection between the prevalence of tornadoes, and that area's series of milder winters.

Perhaps modern science will find a way to head off tornadoes or do away with them altogether. That discovery would be greeted with enthusiasm by millions, especially by those in the seven western states which are at the present moment going through the miseries of clean-up from recent winds and the anxiety inevitable as to the future of lands subject to dust-blow.

WASHINGTON — An all-important move initiated on Capitol Hill toward decreasing the scope of federal activity is the effort to prevent state laws against federal encroachment.

You will be hearing a lot in the next few months about this legislation, which is intended to let the people back home handle more of their problems instead of running to Washington with them.

The idea is that the people back home are in a much better position to handle local problems, with which they are familiar, than are strangers in distant Washington.

Bills to permit this are sponsored in the House by Representative Howard Smith (R-Va.) and in the Senate by Senator William E. Jenner (R-Ind.).

These measures would protect all state laws from being overturned by the federal courts under the doctrine of federal pre-emption. The pre-emption theory holds that whenever the Congress has seen fit to enact any legislation in a given area, all state laws dealing with the same subject are invalid.

Under the Smith-Jenner bills, Congress would have to provide specifically that a state law would not continue to be effective before the federal courts could apply the pre-emption rule. Mr. Smith, in part, has had this to say about the pre-emption doctrine:

"Let me illustrate the inequities of such a doctrine. I will use the doctrine of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania that caused me to introduce this bill. I am the author of the Smith Act that, among other things, makes it a crime to teach or advocate the overthrow of the government by force. Forty-seven of the 48 states have some kind of laws against sedition and subversion.

"Pennsylvania undertook to provide a narrower Communist who was a citizen of that state under the Smith Act. The Supreme Court of that state, following the decision above referred to, decided that, as Congress had created the Smith Act, it had withdrawn from all of the states the power to prevent Communism from propagating its evil. And, incidentally, it held that the federal government had no power to prevent Communism from propagating its evil in that state. It is a matter of record that the Pennsylvania Supreme Court intended to do so."

Prices May Be In For New Tests

NEW YORK (U)—The fairly level course of most prices in the last year or so may be in for a new testing period.

High flying copper has taken jolt in London. And American buyers of the tight metal hope that means they won't have to pay premium prices much longer when they need copper in a hurry.

Steel scrap prices took a tumble in Pittsburgh. Scrap is mixed with iron by the makers of steel. And while the production pace of the steel mills continues near a record high, the collection of steel scrap has improved with the coming of open weather. So some scrap dealers are willing to take 32 cents a ton, or 33¢ for No. 1 heavy melting scrap. Steel scrap had risen about one-third above last summer's price.

The break in copper prices in London followed an announcement that the British government would release up to 45,000 tons from its stockpile. American users have been after the U.S. government to let them have copper from our strategic stockpile, but Washington is cool to the idea in spite of a world wide shortage of the metal.

In London the price had risen to a record high of 46 cents a pound, and here it had climbed six cents recently to 36 cents a pound. The London price break brought it down to 36 cents there.

American producers expect the supply situation to stay tight for some time to come and the present price to hold here. But the pressure for another price hike has lessened and a premium price above the 36 cent list price may be on the way out.

The real testing of the prices of metals is yet to come, however. As long as the makers of cars and appliances keep up a fast production pace, the price they pay for their materials may hold. But if output slackens, metal prices could follow the course of others which have shown tendencies to weakness.

Farm products which the food industry buys are lower than last summer. The cotton, wool and hides which the apparel industry buys are below last summer's level.

Weakness in these commodities has about matched the rise in metal prices, keeping the level for commodities as a whole fairly stable.

But because the return in industrial activity has affected mostly just the metals in light supply principally because of previous strikes, many observers are looking for a real test of the whole price structure if a full revival in industrial output.

Bache & Co., a brokerage firm that deals in commodity futures as well as in stocks, believes that the price outlook for many commodities is on the downside. It cites the large supplies of such things as wheat, corn, cotton, dairy products which the government holds reluctantly in its warehouses under price support programs.

But the brokerage firm thinks coffee may be an exception. It

Many Revolutions Start In Cellar

WASHINGTON (U)—Other revolutions may have been hatched in cellars but one of the biggest in American history—a social revolution—is being worked out in the Supreme Court.

There was nothing clandestine about this one: The nine justices made their decision—that racial segregation in public schools must end—in full view and in accordance with the Constitution.

Cartoons picture revolutionaries with long hair, unshaven faces, fanatic eyes. The nine dignified justices are the exact opposite: Neatly groomed and relaxed in their long black gowns. But they are not detached behind their bench.

So far their decision is merely that. Now they must decide how, and when, their ruling is to become a reality in every state which has had some form of separation between white and Negro schools. There can be no doubt of the revolutionary effect of school integration on relations between the races in the South. White and Negro children, growing up in the same classrooms, are bound to have different attitudes from their ancestors.

There is no indication when the court will lay down the ground rules for ending two school systems. It has a triple problem and all it can hope for is that its answers are wise:

1. To find a way which will compel the states to end segregation.
2. To do it in a way which, while integration is being carried out, will keep conflicts between the races to a minimum.
3. To do it in a way which will preserve, for the benefit of the country, respect for the court and its authority through compliance.

Law Has Hard Time Dealing With Man

JACKSONVILLE (U)—The law has had a hard time dealing with Louis McCall, accused DeLand moonshine runner.

Palatka police tried and failed; Putnam County authorities couldn't make anything stick either. Now Federal Court will get a turn.

The story begins Jan. 12 when Palatka police said they found 10 five-gallon jugs of moonshine in the back of his car. A charge of illegal transportation of tax-unpaid liquor was made. But there was no such city ordinance.

Police then booked him for illegal possession of firearms. McCall posted $250 bond and the case went to court where it was discovered there also wasn't a city ordinance against that.

Sheriff Ernest W. Pellier was called in. McCall was convicted in County Court of illegal possession of moonshine. He appealed to Circuit Court which threw out the conviction an grounds County Court had no business trying the case because the charge is a felony.

The Putnam County state attorney's office was asked to take over. It decided illegal search was involved and that it could not file a criminal information.

Head the New Hot in Handling — the 4-Door Wildcat

WANT to do what a pilot does when he clears for take-off?

Want to feel the pulse-quickenning thrill that comes of giving the gas to a high-powered automobile with the world's first airplane-inspired transmission?

Want to try Buick's Variable Pitch Dynaflo® — the spectacular new wonder drive that's the talk of car makers and car buyers alike — and the drive that's sending Buick cars soaring to new record-breaking mile?

Well, sir — be our test-pilot guest at the wheel of a '55 Buick and let today's Dynaflo do the honors.

When you press the pedal as you normally would, you move ahead in velvety smoothness, getting plenty of miles from each gallon of gas...

When you speed, propeller-like blades inside the Dynaflo unit, spinning in oil, force an angle of "pitch" for top economy — like the sliders

Blene's propellers when cruising in the air.

But comes the need for emergency acceleration, and — like a pilot does for quick take-off and climb — you switch the pitch of those Dynaflo propellers for action, just by pressing the pedal all the way down.

Instantly, you get full-power response for split-second getaways, or for a sudden safety-urge to get out of a tight spot on the highway.

It's a response thrilling beyond all previous experience — because there's never been anything like it before in any car.

And we'd like you to try it — along with the walloping new V8 power, the cruiser-steady ride, the fine handling ease, and the true 10 car roominess that are all part and parcel of every Buick.

Can you come in today — this week, for sure — and test pilot the hottest Buick yet built? *Dynaflo Drive is standard on Buicks, optional on cars not on our other lines.

Starry-Eyed Girl Has Good Career For Film Career

HOLLYWOOD — Lucy Marlow, a brown-haired beauty who wants to be a movie star, has the best possible teacher—Joan Crawford.

As a matter of fact, Lucy started out her film career as a make-believe movie star. She was the gushy actress who appeared at a premiere in early scenes of "A Star Is Born." Her brief performance made such an impression that she landed a contract at Columbia.

Now she is playing her biggest role thus far in "Queen Bee." She portrays a young girl who idolizes a Southern matron (Crawford). The picture shows Lucy's disillusionment as she discovers her idol is really a wicked woman.

Crawford, who has lasted longer than any star in Hollywood history, is naturally a starlet's ideal. When "Queen Bee" started, Lucy said to the star: "I'm new at this, and you know so much. I wish you would criticize me."

So Joan took Lucy under her wing. It's been quite an education.

"I've learned all kinds of things," the young actress remarked. "She knows everything about lighting. Miss Crawford—she says to call her Joan, but I still can't get used to it—can stand in a whole bunch of lights and know which one of them is not focused correctly."

"I'm amazed at how she makes every minute count. Whenever she isn't busy on the picture, she's handling some business or answering fan mail. She answers every letter herself."

Notes, Comments On Movie Scene

HOLLYWOOD — Notes and comment on the Hollywood scene—Look for a battle royal to ensue over Rita Hayworth's notification that her contract with Columbia is at an end. Needless to say, the studio doesn't see it her way and is prepared to fight. The battle could keep Rita out of work until 1960, if it's carried to the highest courts. By that time she will be 42.

The studio feels that it has taken good care of Rita, putting her in big films to restore her to popularity after bad publicity.

Final observations on the Academy Awards: Wonder how Jennifer Jones and Frank Sinatra feel Jones was set to do the wife's role in "The Country Girl," but had to check out because of pregnancy. Grace Kelly replaced her.

Sinatra was originally set for the role of the ex-fighter in "On the Waterfront" during the early stages of the picture's planning. Later the cast was shuffled and Marlon Brando got the role.

Some folks are still muttering that Judy Garland should have won the award. Although she was a good loser, she wanted the Oscar badly. She wanted to show her long-time studio MGM, which fired her. Her adherents argued that she should be given a special Oscar for her achievements on the screen. But it was ruled that stars cannot be given special awards in the same year they are nominated for regular Oscars.

Frank Sinatra is not one of those who express alarm over the rhythm and blues trend in modern music. Says he:

"At least rhythm and blues broke the crass for cowboy laments, which I think were awful. Maybe rhythm and blues isn't very good music, but at least it's got a beat. Perhaps it will lead us back to the good band music such as Tommy Dorsey and Benny Goodman play."

Mrs. Reggie Finkle Says Million Hats A Year Her Job

By DOROTHY ROE

No matter what the jokers say, most women buy hats to coax compliments from their husbands or boy friends, says Reggie Finkle, one of the millinery dynasty that turns out more than an million hats a year.

Blonde, dynamic Reggi has been mad about hats since high school days. Daughter of a hat maker, Samuel Lish, she thinks no woman looks well dressed without one and makes it a point always to wear one of her own newest creations.

The Lish hat empire, which occupies several floors in a skyscraper office building in the heart of New York's wholesale millinery district, includes four separate companies, turning out women's hats in various price ranges from $1.50 to $20.

This mass production hat business was started by Reggi's grandfather, Isaac Lish, and at present the firm includes her father, two uncles, a brother and various in-laws, each running a segment of the vast business.

Reggi started at the switchboard before she finished high school, worked as stock girl, model and showroom manager before she became head of the company turning out the upper-bracket hats, which retail from $15 to $30. In private life she is the wife of Dr. Theodore H. Finkle and mother of two children, Peter, 13, and Ricki, 7.

In her job Reggi makes frequent trips to Europe, buys materials, oversees the designing rooms and overbooks, meets buyers in the showroom, takes orders, plans promotions and models her own hats when necessary. In her 20 years of intimate contact with the national millinery market, she has learned a great deal about the hat-buying habits of American women.

"Year in and year out, no matter what the current fad may be, the sailor always is the best-seller for spring," says she. "Practically all women look well in some variation of a sailor. A brim is flattering to most faces. And they seem to feel that when they take off their heavy winter coats they need more hat, to balance the silhouette."

Here is Reggi's idea of a well-dressed woman's yearly hat wardrobe:

For Easter, a sailor or a flower-trimmed hat with a little brim and a veil.

For summer, a small lacy straw or a big-brimmed picture hat.

For August, a velvet hat, either small or brimmed.

For fall, a small, close-fitting velvet or felt hat in a dark color.

For holiday wear, a dark velour, a pastel satin or a jeweled velvet hat.

For January, a small shiny black straw hat, as a harbinger of spring and the patent-leather look.

This makes six hats a year and Reggi says she believes women who can afford it buy this many.

SMITH & JONES

QUESTION: Some young friends of mine in another town are running a small new business rather successfully but they are heavily in debt both in the business and personally. I've mentioned Business Interruption insurance to them as a good buy but they think they should wait until they are in a little better financial position. What do you think?

ANSWER: Various Business Interruption policies provide gross income, net profit or fixed expense payments during a period when normal business is stopped by fire. A new business such as you described is the very best type of prospect. Without the insurance how could the owners survive a long period with no income? How would they handle their personal and business obligations?

"If you'll address your own insurance questions to this office, we'll try to give you the correct answer and there will be no charge or obligation of any kind."

Tell Her It's MURDER

Copyright, 1954, by Helen Reilly. Distributed by King Features Syndicate.

SYNOPSIS
Jim Andrus had served a prison term for the vehicular slaying of eight-year-old Roger Felham, whose lovely mother, Regina Felham, was about to wed. Overconfidence during his bachelor dinner had blacked out Andrus' mind, and he had swerved next morning to find the lad dead in the driveway of the Felham home in a suburb of New York. Unmistakably, Andrus' car had killed the boy, but Jim had no recollection of having driven his car that night! Back now in his New York apartment, Andrus and his loyal aide side how to clear the Andrus name. Jim's silver Saab had vanished during his blackout. He hopes to retrieve it for some busy subplot of that fatal night. Aunt Lucius Lousier, Rich From New York homicide to enter the case, and Andrus is further rewarded by finding his silver Saab in a pawnshop near the Felham home. Armed with a clue to the identity of the car, Andrus might have been known as "Midnight Mike." Andrus starts forth to find the fellow.

CHAPTER SIX
ANDRUS carried the lamp back inside and leaned against a wall and smoked three cigarettes. Then he went over and sat down on one of the straight chairs. The chair opposite the window. The table was between it and the door. From the new position objects rearranged themselves; Andrus looked, and put his shoulders hard against the back of the chair. His eyes narrowed until there were no whites showing. Patches of shadow... the dark panes... the yellow light... This was it. Yes, this was it. He had been in this place before... He had been in this place on the night he was supposed to have killed Roger Felham down in his car.

The door, the table, the window were part of that fragmentary mental picture. The lamp, the table, the window, a man—and the voice. Midnight Mike's voice complaining at him about throwing the Saab across the room? He could hear the crash it had made when it hit the wall. He got up and examined the irregular boards between the two-by-four uprights. There was no recognizable mark. But this was the place. He sat down on the arm of the upholstered chair and lit another cigarette.

He had walked out of the inn on that other night, staggered out, at well before 12 o'clock, had run into Midnight Mike somewhere, and come back here to this shack with him. There was a dim memory of a bottle now, brown and round and empty, lying on its side, some for, useless. O. K. He had been here that night, not in a car but on foot.

The tightness went out of him. He gave his head a shake. It wasn't any good. He could have started for this place after he had killed Regina's son. Could have—only he hadn't driven the car. But how to prove it? Not by Midnight Mike, who had probably been drunk, too... There was no clock in the shack and a man who had disappeared with the disappearance of existence would scarcely be the owner of a watch... Talk to him anyway.

The goal's chain rattled loudly and boots stamped. Andrus went over to the window and peered out. The blackness remained unbroken. No one came in. He settled down in the armchair. After a while he dozed. When he jerked erect the cabin was dark and full of a hazy, smoky smell. The lamp had burned out. There was pale light near the window. The moon had risen. It must be late.

It was late. His watch said 20 after 2. Andrus was cold and stiff, there was a crick in his neck and his fingers were numb. He got up and slumped his arms vigorously around his body. Midnight Mike might leave the tavern at the stroke of 12, not to come back here, but to go somewhere else. That struck a note. A woman, decidedly... Andrus caught and held on to another vagrant memory. There had been a woman with Midnight Mike. Not in this shack, some place else.

Andrus yawned. He was dead tired. Now that he knew who the man was and where he could be found, it didn't so much matter. He left the shack.

The route he had come lay plain before him in the moonlight. The thread of a path showed clearly stretching south on that high tongue of rocky moorland. He walked fast to get the chill out of his blood, following the path blindly, losing it on the outcroppings of granite, picking it up in the grassy hollows. It brought him finally to the rim of a cliff he had circled around on his way to the shack, but farther to the south. There was evidently a way down the cliff. The path went between two immense boulders. Silver bushes, silver grass, silver rock, blackness beyond and below. Andrus started slowly down, holding on to the bushes, the grass, feeling with his feet. Felham slid, his feet went from under him and he landed hard, on rock-strewn ground 10 feet below.

The fall knocked the wind out of him. Sitting up, he moved his arms and legs experimentally. He had wrenched one knee and his shoulder was wrenched but there didn't appear to be any bones broken. How near was he to level ground? He struggled to his feet and tried to pierce the darkness. The cliff above cast an impenetrable shadow, made deeper by light flooding the woods 50 feet beyond and below. The ground was rough and sloped sharply. He had no desire to spend the rest of the night in the open with a sprained ankle.

Andrus felt in his pocket and got out the flap of matches. There were only two left. He struck one. The little flare illuminated only a small space. The edge of a sharp rock—coming from behind his bulk—a hand attached to an arm pointed at him out of blackness. The match died.

Andrus lit the other and took an uncertain step. The wavering flame did better by him this time. Yellow light fell on a white, broken face painted with dark streams of blood, a dead face. Life had gone out of it. It was as empty as a paper bag. The match in Andrus' fingers went out. Stones rattled close by. A fraction of a second later a piece of cliff fell on him from behind and he pitched forward and went down like a log.

Andrus tried to turn over and groaned. The sound of the groan brought him to. He opened his eyes on darkness. Someone was driving spikes through his head with a sledge hammer where he was lying stretched out face down on a lumpy mattress. Recollection began to come back...

Pilot Lands Plane With No Trouble On Busy Highway

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (U)—How do you land an airplane at night on a busy highway?

"When I saw an opening in the traffic I just put her down," said crop duster pilot W. A. Fowler.

Happesly lost in a new four-coupled Sunday night on a busy truck highway in the Huntsville suburbs—five blocks from the business district Piper cruiser, Fowler landed.

Police arrived in time to help him push the plane from the highway.

"I was the most lusted guy you ever met in your life," said Fowler, 30, of San Antonio.

He was flying from Knoxville, Tenn., where he plots the plane, to San Antonio. He plans to convert it into a duster. After leaving Shreveport, La., his radio went dead.

His next stop was Bryan Air Force Base, Tex. When he failed to arrive on schedule, the base put out an alert for him.

Two Huntsville policemen spotted Fowler's plane. It was circling town. They decided to turn on the airport runway lights.

But Fowler didn't even know what town he was over, much less where the airport is.

Before the policemen reached the airport, he set his plane down on the north-bound lane of US 75, the main Dallas-Houston highway.

He explained:

"I could see the lights of the cars. I knew about where the power lines were.

One Man's Idea Of TV Soap Operas

NEW YORK (U)—This, if I can read my tear-stained notes, is one man's log of one day of television soap operas:

10:30. Way of the World. First day home for Cynthia and Walt after their honeymoon. Her brother Fred blackmails $50 out of her to bet on a horse and to "keep quiet about those calls from New York." Claire drops in, warns Walt, "you'll never find emotional security with Cynthia. She's an opportunist."

12 noon. Valiant Lady. Helen wishes Chris happy birthday. For a few seconds they're actually happy, until he opens her present. She: "What's the matter?" He: "Linda used to give me a pipe every birthday. But, of course, you had no way of knowing."

In mental hospital. Linda begins to recover her mind, remembers his name was Chris, remembers it's his birthday, remembers about the pipes, begs the doctor to let her see Chris. Organ music swells up, underlining Chris' gathering problem: What will he do with two women who love and need him—and with all those pipes?

11:30. Search for Tomorrow. A specialist, Mrs. Barron plans to marry Arthur Tate, who is recovering from heart surgery, just as soon as he can "walk the length of the corridor." They'll be married in a room at the end of the corridor. The doctor worries: "Anyone who can walk out of this hospital and be struck by a car." Organ music swells up with melody still in the air. "This can't be well. But what will happen to them?"

1:30. Head of Lid. Although divorced, Aunt Maggie is determined to stay with Jim and Julie. Mrs. Andrus goes to Washington to find out if she's going to be deported.

3:30. The Greatest Gift. Fran is tricked into the room of the "syndicate man," who threatens to force her into the baby black market while back home Eve tells Ned, "Don't you think you're thinking something has happened to Fran because you won't face the alternative—that she might be drinking?"

Next Generation May Learn More About Outdoors

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The next generation of hunters and fishermen may learn more about the outdoors incidentally than many of their parents managed to find out on purpose.

Incidentally, but not accidentally, across the country, those concerned with the future of fish and game, forest and stream, have discovered that a youngster can pick up a good basic education in these subjects before he realizes that all the outdoors can be a classroom.

From New York to California the gun clubs, hunters and conservation officials are pitching in with safety and school authorities to teach young hunters something about firearms before they have a chance to shoot their neighbors.

And the kids pick up bits of game management, sporting principles and conservation problems in the process.

Some millions of the nation's cub scouts currently are studying the woodland community in a story and cutout kit involving a tree named Peter Pine. American Forest Products Industries picked up the check for the scouts on that.

"It leaves the commonplace far behind!"

Charlie Morrison Umpires Matches

Fred Perry, internationally famous tennis professional who appeared in exhibition matches on the courts of Rollins College in Winter Park yesterday afternoon, was greeted by a personal friend of long standing from Sanford when Charlie Morrison, member of the advertising staff of The Herald umpired the matches.

Perry, former U. S. National Singles Champion in 1933-34 and 35; Wimbledon Champion in 1934, 35 and 36 and holder of the Australian Singles Championship in 1934, teamed up with two members of the Rollins tennis squad and showed that he was still the suave, accomplished exponent of tennis as it should be played in winning his service four times at love.

In a two set exhibition, teamed with Guy Piliard, who defeated the number one and two men of Rollins by scores of 6-4, 6-4. He then engaged in a short exchange of shots with little 6-year old Hugh Curry of Orlando, announced as the worlds youngest tennis player. The large gallery of over 150 fans were amazed at the ability of the youngster, who really put on a great show.

The final match of the day found Perry teamed with Vincent Antonelli of San Juan, Puerto Rico against the brothers, Nano and Memo Garcia from Santiago, Chile. Perry and Antonelli took the first set 6-2 and the Garcia were the victors in the final set by a score of 8-4.

Following a series of exhibition matches in Central Florida, Mr. Perry leaves for Europe Saturday.

Sam Snead Wins Greensboro Title

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—Sam Snead, an infrequent tournament player in view of his approaching 40th birthday, is still the old master as far as the Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament is concerned. The slumping man from White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., who won the inaugural tournament here in 1932, came through with a last-hole birdie Sunday to take his fifth Greensboro tournament.

Snead needed a lucky bounce in the fringe of the green after apparently missing his second shot, but he got it and chipped up to about 18 inches for the hole. The hole was to edge Art Ball Jr. of Pine Manor, Pa., and the runner-up, Ben Hogan, N.C., by one stroke with 188 total.

Red Sox Leading American League In Victories And Batting Average

By JOE REICHLER
The Associated Press
Ted Williams was still some 2,000 miles away from Fenway park today but could it be that the Boston Red Sox have been using the power-laden bats he left behind? The end of the first week of the infant baseball season finds the Red Sox not only leading the American left field, has done the most toward League with five victories in six games but they also are on top with an astonishing .330 team batting average and 11 home runs. The Red Sox yesterday pounded sweeping both ends of a double-header 14-3 and 12-9 in leap past Cleveland and New York and grab a full-game lead on the field.

Faye Throesberry, 23-year-old ex-GI filling in for Williams in easing the big guy's absence. The Memphis, Tenn., sophomore, clubbing at a torrid .400, is tied for the league lead with 12 runs batted in. His 30 hits include four doubles and three home runs. He rapped four hits yesterday including a double and home run, drove in four and scored six times.

Sanford Thumps St. Pete, 10-5 As Dan Keith Hits Third Homer

Dan Keith hit his third home run of the young Florida State League season Saturday night in leading the Sanford Cardinals to a 10-5 victory over St. Petersburg before a crowd of 700. Keith also contributed a single to a five-run flurry in the fourth inning off the Saints' Edward Hoehonle.

Roger Cook, 18-year-old rookie making his first start in organized baseball, went the route for Sanford, giving St. Petersburg eight hits.

Tigers Triumph Over Cubs, 2-0 In Action-Packed Rotary Game

Although the Cubs outlit the Tigers in their Rotary game at Municipal ball park Friday afternoon, they couldn't push over a run and went down fighting in a thrilling tussle, 2-0.

Both Tiger tallies came in the second inning. Getman led off with a liner to left field. Smith was hit in the arm by Nash. Bramlett laid down a nifty bunt to move the runners around but Nash delayed his decision as to which base to make the throw and all hands were safe. Upset by this turn of events the Cub pitcher hit Stafford the next batter, and Getman scored. Smith ratted across the plate a little later on a passed ball.

Cason struck out but McCarty walked to lead the sacks again. Scott luffed to Cherry back of the plate and the fire died out as Brooks fouled out to Moya.

The Cubs threatened in two frames. In the second McMurry and Cherry were out on infield knocks. Nash took life on Cor-

Cocoa Has Only Perfect Record Left In League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Cocoa's Indians had the only perfect record left in the Florida State League today after the first five nights of play, thanks to an 8-3 victory over Orlando.

Previously unbeaten Orlando fell before the two-hit pitching of Gaspar del Monte last night. The Cocoa ace would have had a shutout but for errors by his mates who supported him with a 10-hit attack. Leo Rodriguez led the barrage with four hits in as many trips.

Other action saw defending champion Lakeland blank Sanford 2-0; Gainesville drub West Palm Beach 11-1; and Daytona Beach take St. Petersburg 7-1.

Kernit Turner, a former Lakeland high school player, pitched Lakeland to victory in his first appearance in professional baseball. He struck out five, walked two, but gave up nine hits. The Florida ace got to Sanford pitcher Howard Kaplan for only two hits, both of which however led to scores.

Civil Defense Talk Delivered To Group By Bart Peterson

Bart Peterson, who for 15 years has held the position of director with the Seminole County Civil Defense Program, spoke to Gamma Lambda Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority Monday evening at the home of Mrs. L. Hawkins Connelly.

In his informal talk, Peterson outlined the two defense phases of the Sanford Area, the first, and foremost in everyone's thought, was that of the possible defense in the event of enemy attack. In an interesting manner Peterson reminded his listeners that civil defense is no new problem. With each new destructive power requiring a protective measure down through the ages, power, strategy and methods of military minds provoking defense find ways and means in a community or country.

Detention Home Need Discussed

The need for a juvenile detention center was cited at today's meeting of the County Commission, and Judge Ernest Housholder said the plan is "something very worthy of consideration" before the next county budget is prepared.

Proposing that a center be established was William A. Leffler, chairman of the board of Chase & Co., who said the jailing of youngsters with adult criminals is "not good practice."

Leffler emphasized that the center could be started on a small scale in "some dwelling" with a good fence around it. He said the city might join with the county in such a project.

Judge Housholder told Leffler and the Commission that he was preparing a bill for presentation to the Legislature which would give the Commission authority to appropriate money for "that very thing."

"I have instructed the Sheriff's department not to place juveniles in cells with adults," he said, but added that "it is almost impossible to place juveniles in cells not adjacent to those occupied by adults."

Judge Housholder said he had in mind some property near the County Home for the detention center.

Referring to the growing load of juvenile cases, Judge Housholder said "juvenile court requires about half of my actual time."

Leffler said he was acting as a public-spirited citizen in proposing the detention home. He said recent newspaper stories had focused his attention on the need for it.

The Commission authorized Judge Housholder to inspect detention centers in Orange, Volusia and Duval counties and report to the Commission in the near future.

Judge Housholder is serving in the capacity of County Attorney at the Commission meetings in the absence of Rep. Mack Cleveland Jr., who is in Tallahassee for the legislative session.

Publisher Is Freed On Senator Charge

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — Hank Greenspun, Brooklyn-born publisher with a touch of Western maverick in his editorial makeup, was freed today of a federal charge of mailing matter tending to incite the murder of Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.).

A jury of six men and six women acquitted the 45-year-old publisher and columnist of the Las Vegas Sun last night after 2 hours 45 minutes deliberation.

Jury Foreman Gail Andres said "there was never any doubt in our minds" that Greenspun's fiery column posed no threat to McCarthy's life. The jurors, however, had to wade through a long list of technical instructions.

Innocent Man Held In Minnesota Jail For 19 Years To Get Reward

ST. PAUL, Minn. — A man who went through 19 years of hard and humiliating life in Minnesota prisons will within a few weeks earn the final reward of a plodding justice.

Blender Leonard Hankins of Dawson Springs, Ky., will accept the first of $300 monthly pension checks, Minnesota's payment for the years of suffering it inflicted on an innocent man.

Hankins will accept it with gratitude, some disappointment and no bitterness.

"It's enough to live on," the 30-year-old Southerner said in a resonant drawl that carried no anger. "But I'm kind of disappointed that they couldn't have done more for me."

A bill providing Hankins with $300 a month for the rest of his life has been passed by both houses of the Minnesota Legislature. When a number of other unrelated claims are settled by a conference committee, the bill goes to the governor. Hankins' payments would be retroactive to Jan. 1.

"I thank God that the legislature did as much for me as it did," Hankins said. "The only thing for me to do now is to put all of those terrible years behind me. I don't want to think of them. 'But I don't blame the people who sent me to prison. You forget all about that because it's so good to be a free man.'"

Jeffcoat, re-elected third vice-commander; R. W. Deane, re-elected finance officer; Captain Earle T. Loucks, re-elected historian; Walter C. Hires, sergeant at arms; Ed Blomforton re-elected chaplain, and the executive committee consisting of J. J. Singletary, Paul Brefka, Joel Field, John Robinson and Eugene Stoval.

A meeting of the Air Association Inc. of the Legion was held and the newly elected officers will take office immediately. They are president, R. Z. Johnson Jr.; vice-president, George Maybury; secretary, Karlisle Housholder; treasurer, John L. Galloway; and board of directors, J. D. Cordell, James A. Singletary, Joel Field, J. Q. (Slim) Galloway, Lynn Lyon and Walter C. Hires.

Commander O. E. Weaver from the Altamonte area was introduced as guest. An announcement was made concerning the Sixth District Constitutional Conference to be held here May 1 in which five counties will participate.

An interesting talk was given by Tom Deen assistant state service officer who was introduced by Karlisle Housholder county and post service officer.

A musical program for the entertainment of the evening was presented by the "Golden Jets," a drum and bugle corps from Orlando Post 19. Director was Herb Perry and Dick Hume was drum corp captain.

Southern Heads Try To End Strikes Crippling Industry

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — A reliable source said today Southern governors in conference here probably would urge an immediate return to work in both the Louisville & Nashville Railroad and Southern Bell Telephone Co. strikes.

The source, who declined to be quoted by name, said the conference probably would make three recommendations:

1. Urge arbitration in both labor disputes.

2. Request an immediate return to work, with guarantees that arbitration would be adhered to, and that any agreement would be retroactive to the date work is resumed.

3. An appeal to President Eisenhower to intervene personally.

The source did not detail exactly what presidential intervention would entail.

Governors or their representatives from 14 states met here at the call of Kentucky Gov. Lawrence Wetherby to discuss the two strikes, now five weeks old.

No official announcement was expected until after the meeting.

Weir is a nominee of American College of Hospital Administrators, member, Council on Government Relations for the Florida Hospital Association, and a member of the Florida Hospital Assn. and Central Florida Hospital Assn.

Selling Swamplands As Citrus Property Is Basis For Charge

TAMPA — Trial of C. J. Goolerman of Cleveland, charged with selling swamplands in Palm Beach County as fine citrus properties, is expected to get under way today before a 12-man Federal Court jury.

Goolerman, 62, and Osceola Groves, Inc., are charged with using the mails to defraud, and with making a false statement to the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Goolerman allegedly offered investors units of land at $1,000 each which he was to plant to citrus groves. The indictment charges the units were not planted and that many remained uncleared swampland.

In 1933 mobster Jesse Doyle, a member of the Barker gang, cleared Hankins of any connection with the crime. A long chain of hearings followed for Hankins. Several times he was promised his freedom.

Hankins won his release largely through the efforts of his sister, Mrs. Della Lowery, Jack MacKay, St. Paul correspondent for the Associated Press, and Sig Couch, a former Minneapolis detective. Mrs. Lowery was granted $10,000 by the legislators as partial recompense for money spent in gaining her brother's release.

Hankins within a few days will return to Dawson Springs, Ky., where he now helps his sister run a tourist park. He is writing a book about his experience, titled "19 Years—Not Guilty."

From it he hopes to make enough money to help out needy kids.

Big Four Meeting On Austrian Treaty Asked By Soviets

MOSCOW — The Soviet Union called today for a meeting of the big four foreign ministers in Vienna in the near future to sign an Austrian state treaty.

Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov called in the top diplomatic representatives of Britain, France and the United States this morning to hand them notes declaring:

"As a result of the exchange of opinion (with Austrian Chancellor Schusniigg) and his delegation last week it is clear that the possibility exists to settle the Austrian question and conclude a state treaty with Austria."

The note said representatives of the Austrian government should take part in the talks.

Molotov also gave the three Western representatives information on the result of the talks he held last week with Chancellor Schusniigg.

Debt To Investors Paid By Songwriter

SAVANNAH, Ga. — A good reason nowadays for songwriter Johnny Mercer to sing a merry tune, he's fulfilled an ambition of long standing—at a cost of $200,000.

The Hollywood songwriter deposited a check for that amount yesterday in a Savannah bank to pay off about 500 persons who invested in a real estate and insurance firm owned by his late father, G. A. Mercer.

The company failed 28 years ago. Both the elder Mercer and his Savannah-born son long cherished the hope of paying off the holders of certificates of deposit with the defunct firm.

Sanford Residents Are Cautioned Not To Be Alarmed By Test Alert

Residents of Sanford are cautioned not to be alarmed when Co. 1, 124th Inf., Sanford's own National Guard unit, mobilizes for a test alert soon.

The warning was issued by Capt. Joseph D. Bryant, commanding Co. 1, which will participate in the alert sometime this spring with every other Army and Air National Guard in Florida and the Nation.

"One day soon the residents of this community will see their National Guardsmen mobilize quickly," Capt. Bryant said, "and carry out duties assigned to them in case of an emergency."

"We ask our fellow citizens not to be disturbed in the slightest by this Guard activity, which is simply exercise to test the speed and efficiency with which local Guardsmen can be mobilized in case of a disaster, or other emergency calling for our services."

"Please remember that this is only a test alert. However, another purpose is to give our fellow citizens an opportunity to see Co. 1 in training and to learn more about the important mission assigned to our Guardsmen in peace and war.

Exact time and date of the test alert, to be known as "Operation Minuteman," will be secret until just a few hours before it is sounded, Capt. Bryant explained. The "go ahead" order will be issued by the Adjutant General and transmitted to all Florida Army and Air National Guard units.

Meanwhile, Capt. Bryant added, nearly 400,000 Guardsmen in more than 2,200 other communities in the remaining states and in the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, Hawaii and Alaska will be alerted by their own Governors and Adjutant Generals. The greenlight for "Operation Minuteman" will be given by Major General Edgar C. Erickson, Chief of the National Guard Bureau, from his office at the Pentagon in Washington, D. C. General Erickson and his staff are coordinating the test alert.

Assistant Secretary Is Named

Statement Read At Closed Meet

WASHINGTON (AP)— Secretary of State Dulles said today that Asst. Secretary Carl W. McCordle, "the man who gave out the Yalta papers a day ahead of their general release."

Dulles told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that McCordle, "gave a galley proof" to the New York Times the evening of March 13.

"This involved an exercise by Mr. McCordle of a discretion that was his," Dulles said. "It involved no breach of security."

Dulles said he had concluded by the time the one copy was given out that the British government had withdrawn its objections to publication and that the publication would not hurt U.S. relations with Allies.

Release of the single copy came just a day after the State Department had said disclosure of the record of the wartime conference between British Prime Minister Churchill, Soviet Premier Stalin and the late President Roosevelt would not be in the national interest.

Dulles was summoned to a closed-door session of the committee headed by Sen. George (D-Ga.) and read a prepared statement. In it he said James H. Doolittle of the New York Times told Dulles and McCordle the morning of March 15 that it was Boston's "impression" of a conversation he said he had with George "that the Senator wished to see the Yalta record made public by the State Department."

"As a result of the exchange of opinion (with Austrian Chancellor Schusniigg) and his delegation last week it is clear that the possibility exists to settle the Austrian question and conclude a state treaty with Austria."

The note said representatives of the Austrian government should take part in the talks.

Molotov also gave the three Western representatives information on the result of the talks he held last week with Chancellor Schusniigg.

Vietnamese Army Headquarters Hit In New Outbreak

SAIGON, Viet Nam — The Binh Xuyen private army shelled the headquarters of the Vietnamese national army this afternoon in a new outbreak of violence in free South Viet Nam.

Eight battalion soldiers and two Binh Xuyen commandos were wounded in a 30-minute battle which raged around the three-story building in the heart of Saigon.

The attack followed a break yesterday in the two-week truce between the army and the troops of the Binh Xuyen Society, a group of former river pirates and vice operators who oppose American-backed Premier Ngo Dinh Diem.

In yesterday's outbreak the army charged the Binh Xuyen with kidnaping a national soldier and later firing on two army vehicles, killing the driver of one.

Pope Will Request Reduction In Bill

TALLAHASSEE — Chairman Pope says he'll ask the Senate Appropriations Committee today to report out Gov. Callahan's 200-a-year teachers' pay raise bill as a committee bill.

When the group meets at 2:30 Pope says he'll ask the committee to substitute the governor's $200 figure for the Florida Education Assn. $250 request.

The Senate has voted to take the EPA measure from the Senate Education Committee and leave its consideration to the appropriations group.
