City's First Clean-Up Drive Gathers Steam

The Sanford City Commission's March clean-up campaign is on a roll, according to Commissioner John Mercer.

He said he is receiving calls almost daily from civic groups and individuals who want to help rid the city of trash and blight.

"I'm real excited by the way the people are responding to our request to clean up," Mercer said.

Commissioner Robert Thomas reported Monday to the commission that the campaign was so catchy one of the sites the commission designated for itself to clean up was already cleared of trash.

"Somebody already beat us to it," he said.

This is the first year the commission has had a clean-up campaign, Mercer said. In the past, he said efforts have been left to a few altruistic citizens and a once-a-year free pick-up of extra large "junk" items by the city.

But during the last election, candidates for the commission started including cleaning up

Sanford in their speeches, making the effort a political action.

"All of us — especially the three new members (Mercer, Thomas and Mayor Bettye Smith)— when we started campaigning said we wanted to clean up and beautify the city," Mercer said. "We want the citizens to look around and see the ugly things and clean them up."

Mercer has drawn up the following list of dates, times and locations where groups may be involved with the clean-up:

● Saturday, 9 a.m., First Street to 13th Street from Sanford Avenue to Laurel Avenue; sponsored by the Downtown Sanford Rotary Club.

● March 30, 9 a.m., Airport Boulevard from Sanford Avenue to 25th Street; sponsored by the Sanford Breakfast Rotary Club.

● March 30, 9 a.m., U.S. Highway 17-92 from First Street to 25th Street; sponsored by the

Tot Serious After Men Lift Car In Rescue

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

A 5-year-old girl was in serious condition today after being pinned under a car that struck her after she darted in front of it Tuesday afternoon.

She was rescued when three or four men lifted the front of the vehicle off her so another man could pull her clear.

In a separate incident, an autopsy was performed today on a 9-month-old infant that was found drowned in a bathtub in Sanford.

The girl struck by the car, Shannon Lynn Skipper, of Second Street, was in a critical care unit of Central Florida Regional Hospital, Sanford. According to witnesses her skull was opened and her leg appeared broken. The incident occurred at about 4:30 p.m. She is the daughter of Lynn Skipper, 615 E. Second St.

Witnesses said the girl, carrying a doll, ran from behind a parked car into the path of a westbound car on Second Street. The car, driven by Pamela Ramey Wilde, 32, of 172 Winsor Court, Sanford, came to rest on the north side of the east-west road with the girl under the front of the vehicle.

Sanford police Sgt. C.R. Tate and officer N.J. Raby try to pry open Sanford Mayor Bettye Smith's car door while she watches. Mrs. Smith said she was running late Tuesday to an assembly of 250 students at Lakeview Middle School where she was to be a speaker. In the rush she left her keys in her locked car and had to request police help in getting them when the assembly was over.

Seminole Opts For 5-Acre Library Site

Too Costly, Swampy, Kirchhoff Complains

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

The county commission voted 4-to-1 Tuesday to buy a 5-acre site for the county's main library for $340,000. The site is located off Oxford Road, near state Road 436 in Casselberry.

Only Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff voted against the purchase, saying the price is too high and the site too low and swampy.

Kirchhoff has opposed the purchase since it was discussed the first time several months ago. County Engineer Bill Bush has said as much as half the parcel may be wetlands.

Commission Chairman Bob Sturm was authorized to send a letter to Norman Rossman, a spokesman for a group of developers who own the parcel, saying the county wishes to buy the property.

The county's conditions for the purchase, cited in the letter, include that the seller provide a warranty deed (guaranteeing the purchaser is fully entitled to accept title to the property and the seller will defend the title against anyone who attempts to upset it), a marketable title policy, taxes paid until the land sale is closed. The county also demands no real estate commission be charged.

County Commissioner Barbara Christensen said Commercial Site Selectors which has the property listed for sale is owned by the Rossman group and she was sure it does not plan to charge the county a fee on the purchase.

County Administrator Ken Hooper told commissioners Tuesday Rossman had set a Tuesday deadline for commissioners to vote on the purchase. The $340,000 price is the appraised value, set by county appraisers. Rossman originally asked for $375,000 for the site.

A 25,000 square-foot building is to be constructed at the site as the county's main library. The facility is to be built so that a second story containing 25,000 square feet can be added at a later time. The costs of buying the property and building the main library will be paid from a $7 million bond issue approved by a citizens' referendum in 1982.

The county already has purchased a site for a new branch library in Sanford for $130,000. Sites must yet be found in the Forest City area, the Oviedo-Tuskawilla area and in the Lake Mary area for other planned branch libraries.

County Expressway Link Studied

County staff members are doing a mini-study on the feasibility of building an expressway in Seminole County, connected to the planned extended east-west expressway in Orange County near Seminole's Dean Road and terminating in Sanford.

The study, according to County Public Works Director Larry Sellers will take two to three weeks to complete.

The Seminole County Expressway Authority Tuesday ordered the study after a consultant's report showed that an expressway ending in Sanford at Sanford Avenue is more feasible than either of two proposed routes taking the expressway to Interstate 4 via Lake Mary Boulevard. All three routes proposed a bridge across Lake Jesup.

The study completed by the Orlando engineering-planning firm of Howard, Needles, Tammen & Bergendoff showed that none of the three routes studied could be paid for solely with toll fees.

But Sellers, who plays the dual role of county public works director and director of the expressway authority, said there are other financing possibilities. Among them, he said, money from the state and federal government and a cooperative arrangement with Orange County.

First, he suggested that he and County Planner Woody Price be authorized to conduct the mini-study and look into how the feasibility would be affected if the proposed Lake Mary Boulevard extension from U.S. Highway 17-92 to Sanford Avenue and a six-lane Lake Mary Boulevard west from 17-92 to Interstate 4 were considered. In addition, the study would consider a route from Sanford Avenue south of the Sanford Airport to intersect with state Road 46.

That route, he said, could be expected to draw traffic off Interstate 4, relieve traffic on both state roads 434 and 436 and draw traffic from Volusia County's Deltona area and from Lake County. The authority members also discussed a series of exchanges from the expressway at possibly state Road 434, Lake Mary Boulevard and U.S. 17-92.

Sellers said the commissioners could seek additional money to finance the expressway from

UCF Student Dies In Hotel Fall

A Winter Springs man was one of two college students who fell to their deaths early Tuesday while climbing balconies on beachfront hotels in Daytona Beach.

Jeff A. Kulhanek, 21, of 1037 Winter Springs Blvd., Winter Springs, lost his balance and fell from a sixth-floor balcony railing at the International Inn, landing on the concrete below. He was pronounced dead at the scene at 3:33 a.m., said Police Sgt. Walter Carr said.

Sean Convery, 21, from Ontario, Canada, apparently was trying to climb from the fifth floor to the sixth using the outside balcony at the Beachcomber Inn. He slipped and fell and was pronounced dead at the scene at 1:23 a.m. Tuesday, Carr said.

Both hotels were packed with vacationing college students.

Kulhanek was a student at the University of Central Florida. Police said they have no record of Convery's student status.

"I saw him balancing himself on the balcony railing," said witness, Don Longo of West Chester, Ill. "I told him to stop twice. The first time he got down. The second time he couldn't get down and he just slipped and he fell."

"I just seen him falling over and trying to grab for the rail and he couldn't," Longo said.

At least one of the victims reportedly had been drinking, but Carr said police would not know whether they were intoxicated until autopsies are complete. Both incidents are being investigated as accidental deaths, he said.

Earlier Monday, at about 7 p.m., another student fell from a balcony at the Sea Dip Motel, also on the beachfront strip.

"He was hospitalized, but he's still alive," Carr said.

Both hotels are on the city's beachfront Atlantic Avenue.

"The beach front hotels are packed. They're full of kids and 95 percent of them are drinking," Carr said. "We were there several times earlier in the night because of disturbances out on the balconies, kids throwing things off the balconies and carrying on," Carr said.

Subway Gunman Faces New Grand Jury Probe

NEW YORK (UPI) — A witness who says subway gunman Bernhard Goetz appeared calm when he shot four teenagers has prompted a second grand jury to examine the case, attorneys for the youths said today.

Lawyers for Goetz insist the new attempt to charge the so-called vigilante with attempted murder is politically motivated and they will try to block it.

Acting State Supreme Court Justice Stephen Crane Tuesday approved an unusual request by Manhattan District Attorney Robert Morgenthau for a second grand jury to review the Dec. 22 shooting and the panel is expected to begin hearing evidence next week.

The original grand jury declined to indict Goetz on charges of attempted murder, opting instead to charge him with illegal weapons possession.

Goetz, 37, shot and wounded four teenagers after one of the youths demanded $5 on a Manhattan subway. Goetz has claimed he was in fear of his life at the time of the shooting.

But a witness to the shooting, who spoke to the district attorney Friday, said Goetz was calm when he gunned the youths down, said Ron Kuby, a lawyer for one of the subway gunman's victims, Darrell Cabey.

"The witness saw Goetz's face and it was totally calm," Kuby said.

Public support for Goetz, while still strong, has waned with the release of his videotaped confessions. At one point Goetz said he checked each of his victims and when one did not appear to be bleeding, said, "You don't look so bad, here's another," and fired again.

It is believed that this witness, who has not been identified, is the "new evidence" used to re-submit the case to a special grand jury.

Kuby said the witness, who had been in the subway car during the shooting, had called a police hotline a day later, but the phone call was never followed up by investigators.

Kuby said the witness came to him and Cabey's other lawyers and was encouraged to contact the district attorney.

But Goetz's lawyer, Joseph Keiner, says he questions "strongly whether there's any new evidence."

Lawyers for both sides have charged that case has become an election year issue.

"There are so many politicians riding for re-election on the back of Mr. Goetz," Keiner said.

Several candidates in this year's mayoral race, including Mayor Edward Koch, have commented on the case, and black leaders have urged Morgenthau, also up for re-election, to re-submit the matter to a grand jury.

Morgenthau has denied his action is politically motivated.

Retail Sales Up Sharply

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's retailers posted a good February, increasing sales a strong 1.4 percent with department stores making major gains, the Commerce Department said today.

Sales reached a record $112.1 billion and the month's increase was the largest since November's 1.4 percent, after seasonal adjustment.

The month-to-month comparisons showed February sales were quite a bit healthier than indicated earlier in the month in the year-to-year comparisons issued by the major retail chains. Those figures showed generally disappointing sales results.

White House spokesman Larry Speakes hailed the increase as an "outstanding" sign of growing consumer confidence. "People are emerging from the winter season with an economic strength that is showing up at the cash register," he said.

Commerce Secretary Malcolm Baldrige said the sales gain should allow retailers to reduce their backed-up inventories "and clear the way for further growth in domestic output and employment."

Department stores reported 3.7 percent higher sales than in January but auto dealers said they did only 0.4 percent better.

Sales were up just 0.5 percent in January.

Great-Grandmother A Chop Off The Old Block

O'FALLON, Mo. (UPI) — A year ago Lucille Thompson, 88, couldn't put her own coat on. Today the great-grandmother can break a board with her elbow and shatter concrete with her foot.

Thompson, of Danville, Ill., became interested in martial arts after she saw a demonstration last year and signed up for a Tae Kwon Do class.

Despite some initial soreness, her progress has been remarkable, said instructor Han Kyo Min.

The white-haired great-grandmother was the star of the show at the 1985 National Tae Kwon Do championships Saturday in O'Fallon, demonstrating self-defense tactics.

She also broke a board with her elbow, smashed another with her toes, then crushed a piece of concrete with her foot.

Thompson said she was in failing health prior to the classes.

"I couldn't put my coat on, and I couldn't sit down in the bathtub. Now I can," she said.

"The only failure is when you quit trying," she said.

Thompson said her martial arts training has allowed her to do what she never did as a young woman. "I was never allowed to do anything athletic, and I ached inside. This is my release."

Another benefit, she said, is confidence.

"I was on a suburban train in Chicago, and this guy was getting a little too close. I gave him an elbow and he moved away pretty quick," she said.

"The kids call me 'Killer,'" she said.

Thrice-Condemned Killer Goes Quietly To Execution

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (UPI) — Thrice-condemned killer Stephen Peter Morin, who said his final kidnap victim converted him to Christianity, willingly accepted death by injection early today.

Morin, who shunned all attempts to halt his execution, lay quietly on a gurney in Texas' death chamber for 41 minutes while medics probed arms and legs for a vein to carry the drug that would kill him.

He was pronounced dead at 12:55 a.m. CST.

Morin, who faced other death sentences in Texas and Colorado, was executed for the 1981 murder of a San Antonio waitress. He told his attorneys not to fight the death sentence and refused last-minute attempts by the American Civil Liberties Union to stay the execution.

Morin claimed he was converted to Christianity by kidnap victim Margaret Mayfield Palm. She testified that after Morin abducted her at gunpoint, they drove around for 10 hours as she read Scripture and played tapes by Copeland.

U.S. Uses Veto To Back Israel

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Defying Shiite Moslem threats, the United States cast the only negative vote to strike down a U.N. Security Council resolution condemning Israel for its military raids in southern Lebanon.

Lebanon charged the U.S. action would encourage Israeli brutality.

The vote after four days of debate was 11-1, with three abstentions Tuesday. U.N. resolutions can only be adopted by a unanimous vote in the 15-member security council.

The U.S. Embassy in Beirut immediately tightened security after the vote, a U.S. official in Lebanon said.

In Washington, the State Department refused to comment on a report by CBS News that U.S. Ambassador to Lebanon Reginald Bartholomew had been taken to a "secure and secret" location in the Lebanese countryside for protection.

The United States last vetoed a U.N. resolution condemning Israeli actions in Lebanon Sept. 8. Two weeks later, a suicide bomber attacked the U.S. Embassy annex in East Beirut, killing at least nine people, including two Americans.

The Lebanese resolution condemned Israel for its raids of villages and alleged mistreatment of civilians in southern Lebanon and asked for a U.N. fact-finding mission to report to the council.

Six Die In Fiery Plane Crash

FORT HOOD, Texas (UPI) — An Air Force C-130 cargo plane crashed in a ball of fire at the north end of the Fort Hood military reservation in central Texas, killing six of eight people on board, authorities said.

Two crew members were listed in stable condition at Darnall Community Hospital in Fort Hood early today.

The four-engine propeller plane, one of three involved in a training mission, went down 5 miles from the town of Gateville at about 11 a.m. CST Tuesday, said Fort Hood spokesman Jim Symmonds.

Identities of the victims were not immediately available, but all were believed to be military personnel.

What caused the plane to crash was not immediately known.

Door Repairs Will Throw Shuttle Schedule Way Behind

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — Work to repair the shuttle Discovery's punctured payload bay door will push blastoff to around April 13-16 and throw the space agency's planned launch-a-month schedule even further behind, officials say.

A spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Tuesday engineers will need "a week to 10 days" to fix two punctures in Discovery's left payload bay door caused when a bucket-like service platform dropped onto the spaceship Friday.

The accident left a technician with a broken leg.

Discovery had been scheduled for blastoff around March 29 for a revised satellite-launching mission with a crew that includes Sen. Jake Garn, R-Utah.

But the accident Friday threw the repeatedly interrupted launch schedule off track again.

So far this year, only one shuttle mission has made it off the ground — Discovery's January flight for the Department of Defense — and two missions have been canceled. When Discovery finally does fly, it will have been more than five months since the last commercial flight in November.

First AIDS Screening Begins

MIAMI (UPI) — A blood service is testing its supplies for antibodies that could mean a donor has been exposed to a virus thought to cause AIDS, but it is not now revealing test results to donors.

Florida's largest blood service, South Florida Blood Service, serves 57 hospitals and dialysis centers in Dade, Broward and Monroe counties. It is the first in the state to use the test to screen its donations, Tom Donia, a spokesman for the organization said Tuesday.

The blood service notified donors on Monday that it had begun using the test during the weekend.

About 1 percent of the tests are expected to show positive results. The test is known to produce false positives, but as a safeguard the service will discard any blood donations that test positive, Donia said.

Budget Panel Seeks Compromises Tax Hikes, Major Domestic Spending Cuts Rejected

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Budget Committee, having rejected tax hikes and major domestic spending cuts, now starts looking at possible compromises to slash the federal deficit, and the key items are still on the table.

The 22-member Republican-controlled panel completed its step-by-step work on individual sections of the budget Tuesday, voting down two Democratic plans that would have raised taxes by $44.2 billion and $159.8 billion during the next three years.

Instead, with President Reagan sending lawmakers strong anti-tax warnings, the committee voted to approve no new revenues — even though its efforts to cut the more than $200 billion deficit have fallen far short of the goals set by Chairman Pete Domenici, R-N.M.

The "no tax" concept was passed 12-7 with three Democrats joining Republicans on the winning side.

At the same time, the committee voted to preserve federal revenue sharing with local governments for a year and passed a modified two-year hiring freeze for the federal civilian workforce.

The panel today planned to look at the budget in terms of overall packages — proposals to try to cut the deficit through new combinations of spending cuts and, possibly, taxes.

The complex key to any compromise seemed to be getting factions to agree on a combination of three major factors:

defense spending, Social Security cost-of-living adjustments and taxes.

Despite the defeat of the two tax plans Tuesday, several senators have said they may support tax hikes if the committee voted to freeze Social Security cost-of-living adjustments — a move the panel rejected last week.

Likewise, other lawmakers, mostly Democrats, have said they could support a Social Security freeze if there were some corporate tax increases. However, some Republicans have refused to back taxes.

The two tax plans were rejected by substantial margins.

On a vote of 18-4, the committee defeated a $159.8 billion plan from Sen. Ernest Hollings, D-S.C., that would have frozen tax indexing as well as imposed a 5 percent minimum corporate tax. Sen. Mark Andrews, R-N.D., joined three Democrats on the losing side.

The committee also rejected, 16-4, a $44.2 billion plan from Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, that would have imposed a minimum 15 percent corporate tax on profits of more than $50,000 annually. The four affirmative votes came from Democrats.

The defeats came as Reagan made his opposition to taxes clear.

"If there is one thing he is adamant on, it is no — and I repeat, no — new taxes," said White House spokesman Larry Speakes. "He is as strong as 10 pounds of onions on this."

Chyle Brothers Get Lengthy Prison Sentences For Escape

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

Two brothers who went on an out-of-state crime spree after escaping from the Seminole County jail and then led to jail officials after their capture, claiming a guard helped them flee, have been sentenced to lengthy prison terms.

Jed Allen Chyle, 20, and Michael Allen Chyle, 22, both of Tampa, were sentenced Tuesday to 15 and 6 years respectively for escape.

"You are going to have a long time to think about it," Seminole Circuit Judge Robert McGregor told Jed Chyle, referring to Chyle's extensive criminal background and apparent inability to go straight.

"You can go in and resolve to come out different, or resolve to come out a smart crook. Each time you get caught from here on out, its going to get hard," McGregor said, warning Chyle he could receive double sentences as a habitual offender if he is found guilty of another crime.

The 20-year-old and his brother were being held on two counts of burglary when they made their escape Aug. 23 by scaling a wall at the jail and slipping under a coil of razor-sharp barbed wire.

At the sentencing hearing, the brothers were in leg irons and deputies carried night sticks.

The pair, called "partners in crime in every sense of the word" by Assistant State Attorney Tom Hastings, were recaptured in Tennessee Oct. 26 after a police stake-out.

The elder Chyle told McGregor he and his brother escaped from the jail because they were afraid of getting long prison terms.

"I think anybody given the opportunity we were given would have done the same thing," Michael Chyle said.

"That's a cop out," McGregor shot back. "You know it is wrong to escape. I don't buy it, and I am sorry that you have deluded yourself into justifying what you did. That's a bunch of... horse feathers."

Chyle asked that he and his younger brother be sent to the same prison so that their parents could visit them at the same time. (The Chyles come from a family of 12, eight boys and four girls.) Chyle also said he could help control his brother who is facing an additional charge in Seminole County of assaulting prison officials with a mop handle.

"Do you need to take care of him, or him you?" McGregor asked. "Are you a good influence on him?" The judge said the younger Chyle seemed to get his older brother into trouble.

McGregor then said he had no influence where the brothers were sent in the prison system.

The Chyles face burglary charges in DeSoto County, charges in Orange County and in Tennessee.

Longwood May Put Brakes On Skateboarders

While neighbors deluge Longwood City Hall with complaints and city officials struggle with ways to control the many skateboard ramps cropping up in residential neighborhoods, the young skateboarders keep rolling along.

One resident, John Slevin of Devonshire, even played a tape recording at Monday night's City Commission meeting that he had made while inside his house of the loud, irritating noise of skateboarders doing their thing on the ramp next door.

Slevin said it looks like the kids are building "Noah's Ark," but another resident was quick to assure him "the one off 14th Street makes that one look like a midget."

"Besides the noise, there are the beer cans and cars on the yard with their lights. When the schools are out and on weekends, it's all day," she said, "but I've only had to call the police once because they were using it at 10:30 at night."

Another frustrated resident told of 9- and 11-year-old neighbors building a ramp with the help of kids from several nearby subdivisions. They started hammering at 7 a.m. on Sunday were at it until 10:30 at night, she said.

One ramp is even furnished with lounge chairs on top.

In effort to gain some control over the situation, the commission gave preliminary approval to an amendment so that the ramp builders can be required to obtain permits and conform to municipal building regulations. A public hearing and final approval are scheduled for April 8.

Residents fear, however, that ramps built before the ordinance is passed will not fall under the new regulations and they will be stuck with the problem.

Acting City Administrator Greg Manning said he can't crack down on the noisy skateboarders under the city's noise ordinance because the code enforcement board has said it needs more explicit wording to make it enforceable. —Jane Casselberry

Bendectin 'Not Guilty'

CINCINNATI (UPI) — The manufacturer of Bendectin, prescribed for "morning sickness" in expectant mothers, hailed a jury's decision that the drug did not cause birth defects and said it is unlikely the company will try to settle any other pending lawsuits.

Following 22 days of often complex, highly technical testimony by expert witnesses and five hours of deliberations, a jury of five women and one man Tuesday found Bendectin did not cause birth defects in the children of women who took the drug during their pregnancies.

Mubarak Gets Reagan Blessing For Jordanian-PLO Alliance

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Warning the Middle East cannot afford "another missed opportunity for peace," Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak has won President Reagan's backing for an alliance by Jordan and the Palestine Liberation Organization.

Mubarak tonight concludes a five-day trip to Washington in which he was rebuffed on pleas for $870 million more in aid and suggestions the United States meet soon with a delegation of Jordanian and PLO members.

One of Mubarak's successes came with Reagan's public declaration that he sees a "promising beginning" in last month's agreement by Jordan's King Hussein and PLO leader Yasser Arafat to work for peace in the Middle East.

Reagan said he hoped the development would "open the path to direct negotiations" between Israel and its Arab neighbors, including the Palestinians. He did not, however, volunteer to meet with a delegation representing Jordan and the PLO — as Mubarak had suggested.

Chernenko Buried

MOSCOW (UPI) — President Konstantin Chernenko, with a final kiss from his weeping wife, was buried today in an elaborate Red Square funeral presided over by new Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev.

The body of Chernenko was interred behind Lenin's tomb alongside heroes of the Soviet Union and other leaders, including Leonid Brezhnev and Yuri Andropov.

Chernenko was eulogized by Gorbachev, members of the Communist Party and workers who stood atop Lenin's mausoleum.

The world leaders, including U.S. Vice President George Bush, paid their last respects to Chernenko Tuesday and began a flurry of bilateral meetings scheduled before and after the funeral.

Bush, who led a delegation that included Secretary of State George Shultz, was expected to meet Gorbachev after the funeral to propose a summit meeting between the Soviet leader and President Ronald Reagan. He met early today with West German Chancellor Helmut Kohl and Indian Prime Minister Rajiv Gandhi.

Bush carried a personal letter from Reagan to Gorbachev, calling on the new Soviet leader to open a fresh era in superpower relations.

Shooting At Turkish Embassy

Armenians Charged In Murder

OTTAWA (UPI) — Police charged with murder three men who stormed the Turkish Embassy, killed a security guard and held 12 people hostage for four hours in a desperate bid to avenge a 70-year-old massacre of Armenians.

The men, who surrendered to police to end the ordeal Tuesday, identified themselves as members of the Armenian Revolutionary Army.

Turkey's ambassador to Canada was injured when he jumped to safety from a second-floor window of the embassy. Ambassador Coskun Kirca, 58, was to undergo surgery today in Ottawa.

Police said none of the other 12 hostages, including the ambassador's wife, teenage daughter and 10 embassy staff members, was injured in the incident.

Ottawa General Hospital spokesman Claude Dufault would not release details of Kirca's injuries, but police said earlier it appeared he had multiple fractures.

Police Staff Sgt. Donald Devine late Tuesday identified the three suspects charged with murder as Kevork Marachelian, 35, LaSalle, Quebec; Rafi Panos Titzian, 27, Scarborough, Ontario; and Ohannes Noubarian, 30, Montreal.

Police said the gunmen approached the gate of the embassy in a rented U-Haul vehicle at about 7 a.m. and were confronted by the embassy's Pinkerton security guard, Claude Grunelle, 31.

Grunelle was shot, but he managed to sound an alarm before he died.

The three gunmen then blew the embassy door off its hinges with explosives, authorities said.

Armenians blame the Turks for the deaths of 1.5 million Armenians in a 1915 World War I massacre, which was in retaliation for Armenian efforts to set up an independent homeland in eastern Turkey.

The Turkish Embassy in a statement described the Armenian Revolutionary Army as one of the "deadliest international terror organizations."

Mechanic Repairs Plane From Moving Car

ST. AUGUSTINE (UPI) — A mechanic standing in a car going 90 mph reached through the vehicle's sunroof and yanked down the wheel of an airplane flying seven feet above a runway, allowing the craft to land without a scratch.

Pilot Scott Gordon, 25, was trying to land a Piper Turbo-Arrow around 11:45 a.m. Tuesday when he noticed his landing gear was stuck, said Jim Moser, the St. Augustine Airport operator who drove the car.

Moser was in his office when he heard Gordon say by radio he couldn't lower the landing gear on his right wing and may have to make a belly landing.

"Landing wheels up is no big deal," Moser said. "We weren't worried about personal injuries but the plane probably would have been damaged."

Moser said he advised Gordon to stay aloft while he sought two airport mechanics, Joe Lippo and Rhett Radford.

Moser said he and the mechanics made radio contact with Gordon and devised a plan. The plane would make a one-wheel landing with a flatbed truck being used to support the right wing. However, the scheme didn't work due to the wind and the truck's failure to keep up with the plane.

After more discussion, plan two was developed. Moser said he and the mechanics brought out a BMW sports car and made one run to test timing and to match speeds.

Bikini Cleanup To Cost $42 Million

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States today agreed to pay $42 million to clean up radiation on Bikini Atoll, settling a lawsuit with the island people who were moved in 1946 to make way for 23 U.S. nuclear tests, their attorney said.

"We're absolutely delighted," said Jonathan Weisgall, who represents the 1,200 Bikinians, most of whom have been resettled since 1948 on Kili, a smaller, isolated island.

Bikini, a tiny ring of 26 islands, is located in the Marshall Islands of Micronesia, 2,500 miles southwest of Hawaii. Almost four decades ago, the Navy forced the 167 residents to evacuate for the series of tests — including the first of the hydrogen bomb — and promised to take care of them.

Bikinians filed suit in federal court in Honolulu May 1, 1984, seeking an injunction requiring the U.S. government to make Bikini Atoll safe for human habitation.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: Levees built by crews that mixed college students with prison inmates held firm today in the Illinois River village of Meredosia, keeping floods safely away from fertilizer tanks filled with potentially hazardous ammonia. Meanwhile, winds that gusted to 66 mph in the East Tuesday knocked out power and knocked down walls, fanned forest fires that forced evacuations and caused the death of a Pennsylvania mailman.

AREA FORECAST: Today partly cloudy and warm with a slight chance of showers. High in mid 80s. Wind light and variable. Rain chance less than 20 percent. Tonight fair except for some fog late tonight. Low in low 60s. Light wind. Thursday some morning fog then mostly sunny and warm with high in low to mid 80s. Wind southwest around 10 mph.

BOATING FORECAST: St. Augustine to Jupiter Inlet out 50 miles — Wind variable less than 10 knots today becoming mostly east tonight then south to southwest 5 to 10 knots Thursday. Sea less than 3 feet. Partly cloudy with a few showers.

EXTENDED FORECAST: Partly cloudy with a chance of showers mainly Friday. Low in the 50s north to 60s south and low 70s southeast coast and keys through Sunday. Highs in the 70s north and near 80 south.

the state Department of Transportation. He said the expressway would serve the function of taking traffic off state roads, thus saving the state agency money.

Commissioner Sandra Glenn said the federal government might chip in most of the construction costs of two lanes of the four-lane expressway in return for designating those lanes for car-pooling. This is a requirement for federal funding on interstate highways.

Commissioner Bill Kirchhoff said an expressway that doesn't channel additional traffic to the interstate would appeal to federal authorities. Those authorities, he said, have taken the stand in recent months that interstate highways are primarily to be used for interstate travel rather than for commuting from one place to another within a county or to an adjacent county. Local officials are to provide local roads for traffic within a county.

Of the authority members — all five county commissioners and Sanford Commissioner David Farr and Altamonte Springs Commissioner Lee Constantine — only Kirchhoff was not surprised that the consultant's report showed that an expressway terminating in Sanford would be the least costly to build, the least costly to maintain, generate the most traffic and be most financially feasible.

The members also discussed the possibilities of the Orange County Expressway Authority cooperating with Seminole County in floating a bond issue for the improvement in Seminole when one is floated for its east-west expressway extension.

If the Sellers-Price mini-study comes back with a finding that the proposed new route would generate enough traffic to make the project feasible with tolls alone, the Lake Mary Boulevard extension will be critical.

the medical examiner Dr. G.V. Garay.

According to officer Keith Wright, spokesman for the Sanford Police Department, Van Shawn Buckner was declared dead at 10:55 a.m., Tuesday, at Central Florida Regional Hospital.

The infant, being cared for by his grandmother, Christine Buckner, of 84 Lake Monroe Terrace, was found by a young cousin at about 10 a.m., Wright said. The child's mother, Verette Buckner, was not present at the time, he said.

Police and officials from the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services are investigating the death, he said.

Wright said a child drowned at the same address two years ago in a separate incident.

Transfusion For The PBS

Public broadcasting in this country has had to struggle for operating funds ever since it came into existence, and the Reagan administration's efforts to slash its federal funding has made the task even more difficult. Now, thanks to technological advances and less restrictive regulation, the day may be coming when the Public Broadcasting Service (PBS) is able not only to survive but to flourish. One encouraging step in that direction was taken recently when PBS executives in Washington announced the creation of a joint venture with IBM and Merrill Lynch to provide stock quotes and other financial information services to subscribers via an unused portion of PBS's broadcasting signal.

With IBM and Merrill Lynch providing all the start-up funds, the service will be available to subscribers — initially, mostly stock brokerage offices which, for a monthly fee, will pick up the transmitted material on personal computers with the aid of a decoder. Although the information will pass through regular television receivers, it will not be visible except on computer screens and thus will not interfere with regular PBS programming. If successful, the venture could produce tens of millions of dollars in annual revenues for the more than 300 PBS affiliates around the country.

In the narrow sense, such an enterprise could be seen as a violation of the PBS mandate to provide a non-profit service and to give the public network an unfair competitive advantage. In fact, public stations already engage in some profit-making services, such as furnishing studio facilities and equipment to commercial TV producers, services whose profits are fully taxed as in any commercial enterprise. Profits from the financial information service would be subject to tax as well. Moreover, this new source of revenue should lessen the pressure to expand what now amounts to quasi-commercials on public TV by corporations financing PBS programs. And it should lessen, at least to some extent, the continuing threat to public television's viability from an administration that clearly doesn't have much use for it. Federal funds now make up about 17 percent of PBS's operating revenue.

The advantage to IBM, which is now moving heavily into the personal computer market and for which the new system would be tailored, are obvious. Merrill Lynch, which now buys its market information service from another firm, will be able to buy the same product from one of its own subscribers. For PBS, it will broaden the range of revenue sources and create a use for a segment of its broadcasting band that now is unused. And for the viewing public, it will help fund, perhaps indefinitely, a programming service largely free of commercial interruption and, even more important, of commercial influence.

Such ventures cannot become a substitute for broad public support of involvement in public television. Congress, therefore, should continue to resist, as it did last year, attempts by the Reagan administration to further cripple one of the few alternatives to the mediocrity so much in evidence elsewhere on the spectrum. But the partnership with IBM and Merrill Lynch is nonetheless encouraging and welcome.

Aiding Rebels: An Open And Shut Case

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Now let me see if I have this straight: President Reagan overtly favors increasing covert aid to the Nicaraguan rebels whereas congressional leaders prefer making any covert assistance overt.

There is, of course, always a remote possibility I don't have it straight and that the above summary misrepresents both positions.

There is no doubt, however, that covertness vs. overtness has become one of the great issues of our times.

According to my dictionary, covert means "not openly and easily observed." Overt, in this same dictionary, is defined as "openly and easily observed." Get the difference?

The distinction is subtle, to be sure, being mostly a matter of shading, but it must be grasped by anyone coming to grips with Central America.

If I were one of the "Contras" opposing the Sandanista government in Nicaragua, or a member of an anti-government force anywhere else for the matter, I definitely would opt for covert aid.

No self-respecting guerrilla wants to be

"openly and easily observed" as he sneaks through the jungle.

In the Middle East, we have seen the advantages that can accrue when one side is armed with American-made equipment and the other supplied by the Soviet Union.

It's a ideal opportunity for battlefield testing and comparisons under actual combat conditions.

But if a foreign soldier is captured, American gear could be an embarrassment.

Presumably, when the aid is covert, all "Made in the U.S.A." markings are removed before munitions are shipped to the revolutionaries. Let's keep it that way.

It was 40 years ago, we are told, that that last war to bear a global title began grinding toward V-E and V-J days. I can't remember many details — time can dim a lot of memories — but as I recall most of the aid American forces received from the United States during World War II was overt.

In the European Theater, however, in those days in early 1945, there was more talk about "discharge points" than there was about military assistance. It was patent after the German surrender that an American GI would need a large number of points to avoid being trans-shipped to the Pacific Theater once he left the ETO.

My total was too small to get me out of uniform when the unit to which I was assigned for quarters and rations got back stateside. So under the original timetable my U.S. stay was to have been only temporary.

As it turned out, "The Bomb" was dropped on Hiroshima before I ever sailed from France. Ergo, my services in the Pacific weren't required after all.

There must be millions of World War II discharge points, including mine, unused and still in pristine condition, warehoused somewhere. Perhaps they could be taken out of mothballs and make a part of our overt aid package.

I'm sure any "freedom fighter" in Nicaragua would appreciate getting a packet of overt discharge points from the Americans even if his rifle ammunition was covert.

VIEWPOINT

Plight Of The Few

By Robert Savage

In the past few weeks, the plight of the American farmer has been amply reported. The Senate staged a full-fledged filibuster for the farmer by a coalition of farm-state Senators. Finally, the White House released its assessment of the agricultural problem, and its recommended solution.

Reaction to the President's 1985 Farm Bill has been disappointing. The liberals of the Senate have made plenty of political hay with the media's aid, by portraying President Reagan as an uncaring miser. Regardless of the protest, the White House 1985 Farm Bill addresses the serious problem of the nation's agricultural policy.

Since 1949 the country has intervened in the farm market with commodity loans, price targeting, export controls and planting restrictions. Every five years, the Congress squeaks out another continuation of the 1949 law. This time, the President is asking the Congress and the nation to look at the government's policy and rework it.

Since 1981 the U.S. Government has shelled out $51 billion in various farm programs. For the nation's 2.3 million farmers, both part-time and full-time, the government has given $4.5 million a year per farmer. Most assuredly, if all farmers really got $4.5 million in cash they wouldn't be going bankrupt. Instead, the nation's farm programs squander the taxpayers money — bureaucrats dip their fingers into the till, banks get their share and, of course, there is that mysterious monster — government waste.

Farmers are going bankrupt for thousands of reasons, just like other businessmen. Three reasons predominate: high interest rates, falling land prices and the strong dollar. Undersecretary of Agriculture Frank Naylor estimates that up to 40,000 farmers have debts equal to 70 percent or more of their assets. At this point, a farmer is paying more in interest than he earns. Another 160,000 farmers have debts between 40 and 70 percent of their assets, which means that they are unable to invest in new equipment or buildings.

If all farmers were miracle workers, then the American people would go for giving each of them another $5 million a year. But farmers are like all businessmen — some good, some bad. Contrary to what some of the media has suggested in their blitz of farm stories, not all farmers belong in the business.

Farming is one of the noblest professions on earth, but throwing $15 billion a year at the plight of a few, hurting the rest and gorging the taxpayers is not the solution.

Saudis Ruled By A Dissolute House

WASHINGTON — Our diplomats tend to view Saudi Arabia's royal family through rose-tinted lenses, which soften the raw intelligence that comes into the State Department.

But I've had access to uncensored reports on the royal princes, who have ruled Saudi Arabia since the first oil well was tapped — and have enriched themselves beyond the dreams of Croesus.

These reports portray King Fahd as a kindly but wary political manipulator who has no visions for the future of his strategic desert domain, and no cause except the protection of his family inheritance and the perpetuation of a benighted religious sect.

Contras Need Help

In his press conference Feb. 21 President Reagan revealed the logic and reason for his support of the "contras" or better named "Freedom Fighters" of Nicaragua. He emphasized that they are risking their lives to have a government in their country that will follow through on the promises made by the victors in the revolt against Somoza. These are for free elections, freedom of the press, freedom of religion and home, in essence simple genuine democracy. These things the Sandinista regime refuses to permit.

Ronald Reagan stated the Freedom Fighters' objectives could be realized by the Sandinista government simply giving the original freedom fighters against Somoza their rightful representative part in their national government, thus securing a return to the ideals and commitments they had all together fought for against Somoza.

Fine Job On First Street

As president of the Greater Sanford Development Corp., GSDC, I would like to express my appreciation to City Manager Warren Pete Knowles and the city of Sanford for the fine job completed on First Street.

This completes Phase I of the GSDC's project in the downtown area.

Because of this effort, property owners and businesses are continuing to do their part during Mayor

Bettye Smith's proclamation for March as "clean up, fix up, paint up month" in Sanford. Civic clubs as well as beautification committees are joining in this effort as well to make Sanford a beautiful place to live, work and play.

Many have expressed their appreciation for the new look. The GSDC is looking forward to Phase II as the city grows and as new neighbors move in.

Dems Search Souls

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W.Va. (NEA) — The Democratic Party is still engaged in intensive self-analysis, examining what went wrong last November and how it can change its image for 1986 and 1988.

Recently, House Democrats decided to gather at a remote spot, away from Washington, for a long weekend of planning and self-examination. It seemed like a good idea on paper, but it probably was far less successful than the House Democratic Caucus had hoped.

"Getting away from it all" didn't mean roughing it. The meeting — which about half of the Democratic House majority attended — was held at the ultra-plush Greenbrier Hotel and Resort in the West Virginia mountains.

The meetings — which were closed to the public and the press — included talks by Chrysler President Lee Iacocca and former Rep. Barbara Jordan of Texas. Also featured were motivational psychologist Ira Weinstein, a marketing consultant to many of the nation's largest corporations, and former White House communications director David Gergen, who explained what President Reagan did right and what Democrats did wrong in November.

The speakers' messages varied, as did the audience's reaction. Ms. Jordan said she told the legislators to "stop being so defensive about our programs and stop sounding like some kind of pseudo-Republicans."

Iacocca's presentation got a less enthusiastic reception. He delivered a hard-hitting speech centered on his favorite theme: What's wrong in the world today is Japan's trade policies. Said one listener, "It sounded like a Reagan speech on Nicaragua, with Japan substituted for the Sandinistas and the U.S. auto industry substituted for the 'contras.'"

Japanese-American legislator Rep. Robert Matsui, D-Calif., called Iacocca's presentation "racist." "This kind of thing is the same thing that my parents heard before they were sent to the internment camps," he added.

Addressing the only public session of the weekend Gergen said: "At first I was sure this was a Republican gathering — the plush surroundings, the private train, the press kept at a distance. But then I knew it was Democrats when I saw your solution to getting a country-and-western band was to get it from the government."

The band was supplied by the U.S. Navy.

— Of the estimated 3,000 Saudi princes, the secret report states that "many, such as the sons of (King) Fahd, have unsavory reputations for sharp business dealings and for degenerate personalities." In the public version of Long's report, Fahd is not named, and the phrases "unsavory reputations" and "degenerate personalities" were scissored out. All that was left was a mild reference to the "sharp business dealings" of "some princes."

— Fahd himself is described in unflattering terms in the secret report. He is "a thoroughly political animal," it says, adding: "By temperament, he is kindly and goes to inordinate lengths to avoid offending anyone. The result of his constant search for consensus has been indecisiveness...."

— There are references to "personal degeneracy and moral corruption among members of the royal family, particularly the younger princes." This has been "accompanied by ... arrogance of power devoid of a sense of responsibility," which "has grated mightily on many Saudis."

pockets. The report uses such phrases as "unsavory reputations" and "degenerate personalities" to describe them.

With help from Steven Emerson, a former congressional investigator, I have learned what the intelligence reports really say about the ruling family of Saudi Arabia.

The State Department reports on Saudi Arabia invariably are excerpted and watered down before they are released to Congress and the public. Typical is a secret report prepared in 1980 by David Long, a pre-eminent State Department expert on Arab affairs. A sanitized version of the report — published by the Georgetown Center for Strategic Studies with a grant from a company that did business with the Saudis — turned up on Capitol Hill.

Iron Bridge Hook-Ups May Get OK

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

New connections to Orlando's Iron Bridge sewer plant near Oviedo, held up by state and federal anti-pollution agencies since last May, are expected to be approved today.

The state Department of Environmental Regulation and the U.S. Department of Pollution Control stopped new connections to the plant last spring after it was determined the plant, by dumping its effluent into the Econlockhatchee River, was polluting that waterway with nutrients, a by-product of sewer effluent.

Seminole County Administrator Ken Hooper informed the county commission Monday of the expectation the stop order will be lifted Wednesday and a lawyer for one builder, General Homes, said his client will likely go to court if the county places restrictions on the number of homes developers can connect to the plant.

New construction, especially of housing units, has been virtually stopped in southeast Seminole County and other areas waiting for capacity at the Iron Bridge plant to be released.

The Orlando-owned sewer plant not only serves Orlando, Winter Park, Maitland and other parts of Orange County, but also southeast Seminole County and the cities of Casselberry and Winter Springs.

Hooper and Cindy Wright, acting director of the county's environmental services department, suggested the commission reaffirm earlier adopted guidelines restricting each developer, on the county's waiting list for sewer service, to 52,500 gallon of daily capacity — the amount needed for 150 homes — at the plant until the county's portion of present capacity at the plant is exhausted.

The county has 1.4 million gallons of capacity at the Iron Bridge plant, which is to be divided up among Seminole developers, who pay connection fees of $2,071 per unit in advance.

Paul Gugelman, representing General Homes, said he had a court reporter recording the county commission work session Monday on the matter of sewer capacity because General Homes may go to court if denied the opportunity to build 521 homes it has planned.

Hooper said with 60 developers on the waiting list for sewer capacity, the plan calls for restricting that capacity to 150 homes per developer means that each would be treated fairly.

Gugelman called the policy "blatantly prejudicial," saying a first come, first serve policy is "ingrained in the American way of life."

He said General Homes views the county decision on sewer capacity as extremely important since it already has spent $7 million on its proposed development.

Commissioner Barbara Christensen insisted that only those developers who already have plans approved for their projects should be permitted to buy sewer capacity through payment in advance of connection fees. She added that the county will get additional capacity, after the 1.4 million gallons daily is exhausted, in proposed expansion and modification of the sewer plant.

She said additional capacity will be available to Seminole County if Orlando's experiment using water hyacinths to remove nutrients from the sewer plant effluent before it is dumped into the Econlockhatchee River is successful. More capacity will also be available when the plant is expanded, she said. She called developers who pay for capacity, but have no county-approved plans, "speculators."

Her commission colleagues, Commissioners Bob Sturm, Bill Kirchhoff and Fred Streetman, said developers with or without plans should be allowed to pay fees in advance, but be required to begin development within one year.

Kirchhoff said, "When developers start paying, they become serious" about rapidly developing their property and could no longer be considered speculators.

The commission will consider again the guidelines for connection to the plant at its March 26 meeting.

Youth Service Set

Jerry Walsh, a student at Seminole Community College, will be the speaker at a 5:30 p.m. sunset youth service in Sanford's Veteran's Memorial Park Saturday. During the service, a cross will be erected to remain in place until after the Easter Sunrise Service on April 7. The Fellowship of Christian Athletes, the Key Club, and local church youth organizations will be participating. The Seminole High School Concert Chorus will sing the Hallelujah Chorus and the Seminole Girl's Chorus will sing, Lift Thine Eyes. Soloist Strickland Smith will sing The Trumpet of Jesus. The program is open to the public.

A Sanford man photographed when he cashed a stolen check has pleaded guilty to uttering a forgery.

Alphonso Glover, 26, of 120 Bethune Circle, entered the plea before Circuit Judge C. Vernon Mize Jr. who set April 12 for sentencing.

According to court records, Glover was accused of taking two checks from Bahama Joe's restaurant, 2508 S. French Ave., Sanford, on Dec. 1. He was photographed at Poplar Grocery, Sanford, cashing one of the checks on Dec. 3.

Glover was arrested Jan. 16 at the restaurant. He could receive up to a year in the county jail.

In other court action, a Midway man who surrendered to police after he burglarized a church pleaded guilty to burglary.

Darrell Anthony Johnson, 25, of 2590 Frog Alley, entered the plea before Mize who set April 26 for sentencing. Johnson could receive up to a year in the county jail.

According to court records Johnson surrendered to police after he took a $250 television set from The Reddick Memorial Church, 3155 King Road, Sanford. The incident occurred on or just before Jan. 1.

In a third case, an Altamonte Springs man pleaded guilty to grand theft in connection with an Oct. 20 burglary of a shed at Rolling Hills Country Club.

Lynn Outhouse III, 20, of 100 Ridgewood Ave., entered the plea before Circuit Judge Dominick J. Sali who set May 30 for sentencing. Outhouse could receive up to a year in the county jail.

According to court records, two lawnmowers, an edger and other items were stolen from that club on North Street at Blackwood Street, Longwood.

Outhouse was arrested after an investigation by the sheriff's department. —Deane Jordan

Store Sues For Slander

A Casselberry statutory business has filed a civil suit in circuit court claiming it was slandered by a man who rumored the company sold inferior products and was going out of business.

Jewelry Auction Inc., is suing Mike Jones, of Tarama, Calif., doing business as National Company. The suit was filed Monday.

The Casselberry business is asking for unspecified amounts of compensatory and punitive damages in excess of $5,000.

Jewelry Auction — which sells bronze statues — states that Jones on two occasions in February falsely told its customers that the company sold inferior products, was going out of business, and when it failed that he was going to be around to take over the sale of such products locally.

The business states in the suit that Jones maliciously made slanderous comments and did so to interfere with its trade.

The case has been assigned to Circuit Judge S. Joseph Davis. No trial date has been set.

Woman Flees Thirsty Abductor

A suspected kidnapper lost his prey when he stopped for a drink of water.

His victim, a Sanford woman he forced from her front yard at knife-point, saw her chance and broke free. About an hour later, police reported nabbing him as he was again lurking in front of the woman's home.

Sanford police haven't determined why the man approached 28-year-old Gloria Allen and forced her from her front yard at #3 Lake Monroe Terrace at about 11 a.m. Tuesday.

Ms. Allen told police the man brandished a chrome knife with a small blade and forced her to follow him through a backroad maze to the Sanford Nursing and Convalescent Center at 850 Mellonville Ave., Sanford.

The man took the woman inside to get a drink, she broke free and escaped to an office where she asked for help, a police report said.

The man fled and Ms. Allen went home around noon after being questioned by police. An hour later she spotted the man outside her home and called police, the report said.

Police arrived and reported finding a knife where the man said he had dropped it beside a tree. Ms. Allen reportedly identified the knife as the weapon she had been threatened with.

Avocado Avenue, Sanford. He has been charged with false imprisonment, aggravated assault and use of a weapon in the commission of a felony. Collins was being held in the Seminole County jail today in lieu of $15,000 bond.

PIPED INTO JAIL

A 22-year-old Longwood man has been charged with possession of drug paraphernalia after a Seminole County sheriff's deputy who searched him reported finding a pipe used for smoking marijuana in his pocket.

Deputies said they nabbed the man while investigating a report of a suspicious vehicle parked in Woodlands Park at Penelope Drive, Longwood, at about 11:35 p.m. Monday.

The man charged and another man were reportedly found sitting on the hood of the suspect's car drinking beer, a sheriff's report said. Deputies asked if they could search the car and the owner agreed. Both men were also searched and the pipe found, the report said.

Michael John Rieas, 22, of 102 Des Pinar Lane, was charged in the case. He was released on $500 bond and is scheduled to appear in court March 20.

BURGLARIES & THEFTS

About $1,000 worth of jewelry, a $500 television, a $100 camera and other items were stolen from the home of Robert J. Rolly, 50, of 201 Ranch Road, Winter Park, March 5, a sheriff's report said.

A dishwasher worth $400 disappeared from the home of Carswell Metts, 50, of 2851 Celery Ave., Sanford, between March 9 and Monday, deputies reported.

James R. Beard, 37, of 3670 Celery Ave., Sanford, reported to deputies that a $375 video player was stolen from his home Monday.

A $300 onyx ring with an antique silver mounting is missing from the jewelry box of Kaylyn Shoffer Phillips, 34, of 1003 S. Wymore Road, Altamonte Springs. Deputies report a suspect has been named who may have taken the ring around Feb. 10.

Two watches, a stereo and a television with a combined value of about $250 were stolen from the home of Kim A. Fuller, 28, of 261 Arletta St., Forest City, between March 7 and 9, a sheriff's report said.

An $850 refrigerator belonging to The Village, Casselberry, was stolen from a home being built at 4004 Maryland St., lot 91, Casselberry, between March 8 and Monday, deputies reported.

A thief who broke a front window to enter took 65 cartons of cigarettes worth $865 from the Lil' Champ store, 706 Bear Lake Road, Forest City, between 2:30 a.m. and 5 a.m. Tuesday, according to a report manager Debra Lynn Rinard filed with deputies.

8 Sentenced For Driving While Intoxicated

The following persons have either pleaded to or been found guilty of driving under the influence, or having an unlawful blood alcohol level.

As first-time offenders, most have had their driver's license suspended for 6 months, ordered to pay a $250 fine, pay court costs of $27.50 and complete 50 hours of community service. When a guilty or no contest plea is entered or if the defendant is found guilty of an alcohol-related charge, other charges are usually either not prosecuted or dismissed. Some sentences are deferred until the defendants complete an alcohol education class. Most of the first-time offenders are allowed to apply for the business-only driving permits. In the cases where the sentence differs, the actual sentence is reported:

—George La Luz, 41, of 207 Spoonwood Court, Winter Springs, arrested Dec. 22, in the parking lot of Season's Restaurant, U.S. Highway 17-92, Casselberry, after a highway patrolman saw his motorcycle parked in a space reserved for the handicapped. He was fined $500, had his driver's license suspended for 5 years and was ordered to spend 30 days in the county jail.

—Thomas Lynn Durham, 38, of 007 E. Balland St., Altamonte Springs, arrested Sept. 29 after his car was seen weaving on state Road 436, Fern Park.

—Donald Ralph Croslyn, 21, of

P.O. Box 1732, 77D Morris Station, Sanford, arrested Jan. 11 after his car failed to maintain a single lane on U.S. Highway 17-92, Sanford. Croslyn's sentence was deferred until April 8.

—Charles Stephen English, 19, of 113 Orange Ridge Drive, Longwood, arrested Jan. 12 on state Road 434 in Seminole County after he was found asleep in his car. The keys were in the ignition and the headlights on. His sentence was deferred to May 6.

—Charles Alan Vandusen, 23, of Orlando, arrested Jan. 16 after his car was involved in an accident on Delores Drive near Altamonte Spring.

—Ann Wilson Phyllis Baratta, 45, of 790 Crestview Drive, Casselberry, arrested Feb. 23 after her car was seen weaving on 17-92 at SR 434, Longwood.

—Paul L. Davis, 53, of Orlando, arrested Feb. 23, after his car was involved in an accident on 9th Street and Magnolia Avenue, Sanford.

The following driver's DUI charge was amended by a judge to the lesser charge of willful and wanton reckless driving:

—Victor Julius Savage Jr., 34, of Orange City, arrested Jan. 15 after his car was involved in a single car accident on Interstate 4 near SR 434, Longwood. He was fined $250 and ordered to attend an alcohol education class.

Merthie Resigns As Girls' Coach

Ron Merthie makes a point with his girls. Seminole's most successful girls' coach resigned Tuesday to pursue other career opportunities.

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Ron Merthie, the most successful girls' basketball coach in Seminole High School history, said he resigned that position Tuesday to move on to other career opportunities.

Merthie posted an impressive 85-26 record during his four years at Seminole. Included were three Five Star Conference championships and a second place finish. Merthie's teams posted 20-5, 16-10, 25-5 and 24-6 records. He was conference coach of the year three times.

"I really hate to lose him," said Seminole Principal Wayne Epps. "He built the program into a consistent winner. He's done a great job with the girls, developing their character and academic ability."

"He'll be hard to replace. It's hard to find somebody who will take that much interest with the kids off and on the court."

Merthie, 34, said he has been considering the move for the past two years. The easy-going former Crooms High basketball and football standout is the dean of students at Lakeview Middle School and his duties there have become more involved in the past few years. He is close to obtaining his master's degree from Rollins in administration and said he aspires to be an assistant principal and eventually a principal.

"Mr. (Lakeview Principal Ted) Barker has been pretty patient with me the last few years," said Merthie. "But it became time to make a choice. I finally decided which way I wanted to go."

Merthie said he has also started his own church where he is pastor and the Newlife Word Center Church needs his attention. "As much as I love basketball and as much as it has helped my life, I felt that I could reach more people with my church," he said. "It's something I've wanted for a long time. We finally have a building and it's beginning to grow."

After graduating from Crooms, Merthie received a football scholarship to Texas Southern in Houston. Once there, however, he said he became disillusioned when he was redshirted his freshman year. "I was used to being the big man on campus," he laughed. "I didn't know how to take that."

Merthie said he went out for the basketball team and made the varsity as the seventh man. "I was all ready to transfer," he said. "If it weren't for people like Willie Holt, Dick Evans and La Marr Richardson, I don't know where I'd have ended up. They all helped me." Holt and Evans are former Merthie coaches who are now principals at Milwee Middle School and Lake Howell High School, respectively. Richardson is an assistant principal at Seminole High.

Merthie said his basketball experience saved his football career at Texas Southern. He later became a starter at quarterback and was the most valuable player his junior and senior years.

After college, he coached one year at Miller Junior High in Houston and posted an 11-1 record before returning to Sanford and working with the recreation department. He began teaching physical education at Lakeview and he coached sixth and seventh grade basketball boys' teams to consecutive Seminole Youth Sports Association championships. Epps tapped him for the Lady Seminoles four years ago.

Merthie said his one regret was not making it to the state tournament and bringing home a championship. "The most difficult thing for me was that I didn't reach my ultimate goal, a state championship," he said. "I try to reach every goal I set. It was tough to leave without a state championship."

Lake Howell's 22 Hits Pound Tribe

By Chris Flater
Herald Sports Writer

The bottom part of Lake Howell's batting order has been producing well the past few games. But the top part showed where the power is at Tuesday afternoon as the Lady Hawks' first five hitters combined for 16 hits and 16 runs in a 20-7 rout of Sanford's Lady Seminoles in Five Star Conference softball action at Fort Mellon Field.

Lake Howell, which pounded out 22 hits in the game, improved to 5-2 overall and 2-0 in the Five Star, Seminole, which made matters worse Tuesday by committing 13 errors, now stands at 2-4 overall and 0-1 in the conference.

"That's the most hits I ever remember us having," Lake Howell coach Jo Luciano said. "I'll be happy just as long as it carries over the rest of the week."

Lake Howell has a key conference game Thursday as it hosts Lake Mary (both are 2-0 in the Five Star) and the Lady Hawks will try to avenge one of their losses Friday when they host Metro Conference power West Orange.

The Lady Hawks rapped out five hits and took advantage of five Seminole errors to score five runs in the top of the first inning. Jaudon "Pee Wee" Jonas got the rally started as she unloaded a shot over the left fielder's head that went for a home run and a 1-0 Lake Howell lead right off the bat.

Seminole got the next two hitters out but Eileen Thiebauth started up the rally again by reaching on an infield single. Grace Ley followed with a single up the middle and Ava Gardner reached on an error, scoring Thiebauth. Another Seminole error allowed Christy Tibbitts to reach safely and Ley scored for a 3-0 lead. Gardner then scored on Beth Saunders' single to left center and Tibbitts scored the fifth run on Mindy Manuel's single to right.

The Lady Tribe went down quickly in the bottom of the first and Lake Howell tacked on two more runs in the second. Jonas led off with a single and Erin Hankins followed with a single to left. Jonas scored when Sandy Gillies reached on an error and Gillies later scored via another Seminole error.

Lake Howell came up with one of its three double plays in the bottom of the second inning.

Softball

With one out, Mary Hicks walked and Jackie Suggs followed with hard grounder to Gillies at second. Gillies flipped to shortstop Ley who gunned to Gardner at first for the inning-ending DP.

Lake Howell added four more runs in the fourth on three hits and three Seminole errors. Gardner's sacrifice fly plated one run while the other three scored on Seminole miscues for a 11-0 lead.

Seminole scored twice in the bottom of the fourth on Hicks' RBI single and a Lake Howell error. The Lady Hawks had three errors in the game.

Lake Howell punched across three more runs in the fifth, four in the sixth and two more in the seventh. Key hits in the fifth included RBI singles by Gillies, Ley and Gardner. In the sixth, Ley smacked an single to drive in two more runs and Thiebauth added an RBI single. Jennifer Wallace's fly ball to center was misjudged and ended up as a home run in the seventh. Wallace now has 10 RBIs for the season.

Hankins and Ley led the way for the Lady Hawks Tuesday with four hits each while Gillies and Thiebauth had three apiece. Hicks had two hits and two RBI for Seminole and Showanda Walker got a home run in the seventh when her fly ball was misjudged.

Seminole had more errors (13) than hits (11). "You can't make that many errors and expect to win," Tribe coach Beth Corso said.

Seminole will try to regroup Thursday when it travels to DeLand.

LADY PATRIOTS SURVIVE
ALTA MONTI SPRINGS — Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots built a 9-2 lead after three innings Tuesday and had to survive a bad spell in the field in the fifth inning to come away with a 9-8 Five Star Conference victory over Seabreeze's Lady Sand Crabs at Lake Brantley High.

Lake Brantley improved to 1-1 in the conference and 2-3 overall with the win. The Patriots host Spruce Creek Thursday and travel to Lake Mary Friday.

Powerful Tribe Demolishes Lake Mary

By Chris Flater
Herald Sports Writer

The big names are usually the ones to grab the spotlight in the big meets but the dual meets are where Seminole High's track teams show you just how much depth they have.

You think you've seen everything the Tribe has to offer, but along comes a Thomas Luckett or an Arthur Hersey or a LaShon Cash to make an easy win for the Seminoles even more of a rout.

Seminole's boys and girls teams destroyed another opponent Tuesday afternoon. This time it was county rival Lake Mary in a dual meet at Seminole High. The boys team came away with a 106-37 victory while the girls won by the score of 91-32.

Seminole County track teams are getting ready for Friday night's Lyman High Invitational and both the Seminole squads will be the meet favorites.

In the boys meet Tuesday, Seminole took first place in all but four events with Cliff Campbell and Billy Penick winning two apiece.

Campbell sailed to a season's best time of 48.1 to lead a Seminole sweep in the 440 dash. He was followed by Eric Martin at 49.3 and Louis Brown at 49.9. Deron Thompson finished fourth (top three places score) at 50.0. That foursome makes up the usual Seminole High mile relay team and, with four runners capable of dipping under 50 seconds in the open quarter, it makes the Tribe practically untouchable in the mile relay.

Campbell also led a Seminole sweep in the 220 dash Tuesday with a time of 22.1. Brown was second at 22.5 followed by Martin at 22.8.

Penick claimed first place in both the mile and two mile Tuesday. The junior standout ran a 4:29.8 mile compared to 4:42.8 for Lake Mary's Ken Rohr and a 9:56.3 two mile compared to 10:05.9 for Rohr. "Penick's mile and two mile wins was a good double considering he wasn't pushed," Seminole coach Ken Brauman said. "He went out and broke it open early in both races."

Also taking first for the Tribe were Fran Barnett in the 120 high hurdles (13.9), Pat Davis and Jerry Parker tied for first in the 100 yard dash (10.2), Chuck Thomas in the discus (124-0), Anthony "Big Ant" Hall in the shot (47-4), Leo Peterson in the long jump (22-4½) and Dexter Jones in the triple jump (41-9).

Seminole also won all three relays. The team of Ken Temple, Alvin Jones, Davis and Dexter Jones won the 440 relay at 43.6; Dexter Jones, Davis, Temple and Larry Cosby combined to win the mile medley at 3:41.9 and the team of Herbert Hillery, Temple, Cosby and Martin won the mile relay at 3:38.4.

Freshman Arthur Hersey took a pair of second places for the Tribe including the pole vault (10-0) and the 120 hurdles (15.7). "He's a good little athlete," Brauman said of Hersey. "He did five events today. He wanted to try the pole vault and went and took second place."

Luckett took second place in the 330 hurdles (42.9) and third in the triple jump (36-10½). Brauman said the biggest sur-

Early Leads A Bad Omen For Seminoles

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

DAYTONA BEACH — Early leads are starting to be a bad omen for Sanford's Fighting Seminoles' baseball team. Monday, the Tribe jumped ahead of Lyman in the first inning and lost. Tuesday, the 'Noles had a 3-1 lead in the fourth inning but finished on the short end of a 7-5 decision to the Seabreeze Sand Crabs at City Island Park.

The setback dropped the Seminoles to 1-7 in the Five Star Conference and 5-9 overall. They host Spruce Creek Thursday at 4 p.m. at Seminole Community College. It will be one of the infrequent home appearances since Sanford Memorial Stadium is not available for Seminole's use this year. Seabreeze improved to 2-9 and 2-6.

"They're improved, no doubt about it," said Seminole coach Mike Ferrell about the Crabs' infusion of talent from the basketball team.

Seminole's James Hersey, who had yielded just one run in the his last two starts, tired in the fifth inning. He was touched up for four runs in the fifth and two more in the sixth.

"Hersey and (Brian) Sheffield are both going to get a rest," said Ferrell about his two starters. "We start the second half of the conference season Monday and they could both use a breather Thursday."

Despite tiring, Hersey, whose live right arm has drawn the attention of the area college and pro scouts, struck out 12 hitters. He walked nine, though, and the free passes, plus some more defensive misadventures by his younger teammates hurt again Tuesday.

Seminole pushed across three runs in the fourth to erase a 1-0 Seabreeze lead. Sheffield singled up middle, sophomore Roy Jensen reached on error by third baseman and both moved up on a wild pitch. Sophomore Joey Corsi then singled between third and short to score Sheffield. Wilks walked to load bases. One out later, Hersey singled to center to score Jensen. Sophomore Alonzo Gainey's groundout chased home Jensen.

Seabreeze jumped on Hersey for four runs in the fifth to take a 5-4 lead but the Tribe bounced back for two to tie in the top of the sixth. David Rape reached on an error and Hersey socked a double off right center field fence to score Rape. Hersey stole third and Gainey singled to left to score Hersey.

In the bottom of the inning, though, the Crabs pushed across two runs to win it.

WIGWAM WISPS — Ferrell said Tuesday that Jeff Blake and Dwayne Willis have been promoted to the varsity from the junior varsity. Blake will be used at shortstop and second base while Willis will be added to shore up the outfield. Both were standouts in the Sanford Junior League last spring.

The JV continued to have its problems, losing a 10-5 decision to Lake Howell Tuesday. It was the sixth straight setback for the Tribe.

Hey Coach Castle, What Do I Do When...

I guess the question that I am asked the most by my tennis students is, "What do I do when..." What to do in a certain situation, what shot to use to get out of trouble or what shot to use to cause your opponent problems.

These things are the secrets that unlock one's ability to play well, to move on to a higher level. I really hate to over-simplify the matter. Tennis, after all, is not a simple game, but one can get caught up in trying to be too complex, too technical, and, indeed, even too thoughtful about the game.

Actually there is an answer to each shot that is presented to you and a way out of any situation you find yourself in. Of course, we are first assuming that the player is on a high enough level and has enough control to execute the shot, then indeed there is an answer. (An inexperienced player should concentrate on only one thing, just get the next ball back.)

However, it depends on practicing the shot or situation over and over again until it is part and parcel of your game. It has to be so entrenched in your mind and habits that you do not even have to think about what shot to take, you just take the one that the situation calls for.

It can't be done on paper or by just reading or talking about it. It must be practiced over and over again. Then it becomes natural, a habit if you will, and you will find yourself automatically making the right shots at the right time.

The following are a few of the common situations that you might find yourself in and the answers to these situations. To begin with I guess one of the shots that causes a person some very big problems are the passing shots. Our opponent hits the approach shot and comes to the net. What do we do? What shot do we select? Well, it's really quite simple. It depends on the shot he hit you. If you have received a shallow approach shot and one that does not make you run very much, say one or two steps, you should try to pass with topspin and go cross-court.

Larry Castle

The net is lower in the middle, you have more court to hit at and the margin of safety is greater. If you have been hit a good, deep approach shot, one that makes you run for several steps and really extends you, you should pass down the line. You are running too hard to try to jerk the ball back cross-court and it would take a super shot for you to be successful. Just go with the highest percentage shot — which in this case is down the line.

If your opponent has presented you with a really great approach shot, one that gets you way out of position, your best answer is to lob, preferably over your opponent's backhand side. This will get you back into the point and cause him to have to hit another ball.

You should not have to think about what shot to take, just go with the best answer to what is presented to you.

What to do if your opponent hits you a short ball. In this case you should make an approach and come on to net. In 90 percent of the cases you should approach down the line. You are too easily passed if you approach cross-court because that opens up the down that line pass for your opponent. (We are assuming here that your opponent is in the middle of the court when you approach.)

Make the approach down the line, come on into the net and set up for the volley. If the ball comes back to you, you should firmly volley the ball to the open court. Again you don't really need to think about this, just practice it enough until you do it automatically.

What if your opponent lobs? The answer again is simple. If it is no deeper than mid-court you should answer a lob with a smash. Hit the overhead firmly and try to end the point. If the lob gets over your head, though, and you have to turn and run it down then you should answer that shot by lobbing the ball back. Do not try to hit a smash from the baseline.

By the way, if your opponent does get the ball over your head and cause you to run back, he should quickly take advantage of the situation and come to the net himself.

How to answer a drop shot: Again it's simple. If your opponent hits a drop shot and stays back at the baseline you should answer a drop shot with another drop shot. If he hits a drop shot and starts moving in, you should try to chip or slice down the line.

There are others but these are the basic ones. All are simple but depend on first ones ability to control the ball and lots and lots of practice.

prise Tuesday was Parker's performance in the 100. "It was kind of surprising for Jerry (Parker) to do that well just coming off of basketball."

The closest race of the day came in the 880 run as the top three places all finished at 2:08.1. Lake Mary's Jeff Johnwick outdistanced the other two though for first place as Seminole's Alan Seward was second and J.J. Partlow third.

"That was the most exciting race of the day," Braunman said of the 880. "Seward and Partlow are two freshman that are really coming on."

Lake Mary a double winner Tuesday as Troy Stutts won the pole vault and the high jump. Stutts cleared 10-6 to win the pole vault and 6-0 to take first in the high jump. Chris Bonham took first in the 330 hurdles with a 41.7 clocking.

In the girls meet, freshman Shownda Martin showed her amazing versatility Tuesday by winning the 440 dash, the 880 run and coming back to take the grueling two mile to highlight Seminole's victory over the Lady Rams.

Martin's first place time of 47.5 in the 440 puts her in first place on the Seminole County track honor roll. She won the 880, which she also leads the county in, with a 2:26.5 clocking and the two mile, which she now ranks fourth in, at 11:56.8. Martin is also second in the county in the mile, which she didn't run Tuesday, and is tied for first in the long jump, which she finished second in Tuesday (15-10 3/4).

Freshman teammate Dorchelle Webster joined Martin at the top of the county in the long jump with a first place lead of 17-3/4. Webster also won the mile with a time of 4:38.

Senior sprinter Katrina Walker took a pair of first places including a Seminole County leading time of 25.8 in the 220. Walker also won the 100 yard dash at 11.5.

Also taking first for the Lady Seminoles were Adrian Smith in the shot (33-3/4), Glenda Bass in the 110 high hurdles (16.4) and Catherine "Kitty" Anderson in the high jump (4-11). Seminole also won all three relays.

For Lake Mary, Fran "Flash" Gordon took first in the 330 hurdles with an impressive time of 47.7 and Anquetette Whack won the discus at 100-1. Jill Buddenhagen took a pair of seconds including the mile (5:39) and two mile (12:12.6).

Gordon and Becky Durak tied for second in the high jump at 4-9 and both broke the senior record in the process.

Hawks Destroy Winter Park

Brian King and Scott Knudson won two events each and both ran on winning relay teams Tuesday as Lake Howell's Silver Hawks destroyed Winter Park's Wildcats, 111-30, in a dual meet at Lake Howell High.

King took first place in the triple jump (35-7) and his specialty, the 330 hurdles (41.0) while Knudson won his specialty, the pole vault (12-0) and the 120 high hurdles (16.7). Both King and Knudson also ran on the 440 relay team which won with a time of 44.6.

Lake Howell's girls team also came away with an easy dual meet win Tuesday over Winter Park, 90-32.

Double winners for the Lady Hawks included Cheryl Brinkley, Amy Ertel, Rochelle Spearman and twin sister Michelle Spearman.

Brinkley won the high jump (5-0) and the 110 high hurdles (18.8). Ertel doubled up in the distance events winning the mile (5:21) and two mile (11:54). Rochelle Spearman took first in the long jump (16-6 3/4) and 330 low hurdles (48.0) while Michelle Spearman won the 100 yard dash (11.8) and 440 dash (61.4).

Other first places for the Lady Hawks included Mary Kay Scott in the discus (91-11), Hillary Stout in the shot put (32-0) and Lisa Samoel in the 880 run (2:28).

Lake Howell also won all three relays Tuesday. The team of Julie Forrest, Diane Dimairo, Angie Rector and Lisa Cobert won the 440 relay (54.8). Gwen Lane, Brinkley, Cobert and Nancy Nystrom teamed up to win the mile medley (4:38.5) and the Spearman sisters, Angie Smith and Forrest combined to win the mile relay with a time of 4:18.4.

Once 'Chubby' Tisdale Earns All-America Honors

NEW YORK (UPI) — Wayman Tisdale, the Oklahoma scoring sensation once known as the chubby boy who sang in his father's church, Tuesday was among those named to UPI's All-America basketball team.

In a nationwide balloting of 159 sports writers and broadcasters, Ewing received 145 votes, at center. At forward,

Basketball

Tisdale picked up 114 votes and Lee HO. At guard, Mullin had 133 votes and Dick Ricks 35.

The second team was: guards Dwayne Washington of Syracuse and Steve Harris of Tulsa, center Jon Koncak of Southern Methodist and forwards Xavier McDaniel of Wichita State and Kenny Walker of Kentucky.

The third team featured Mark Price of Georgia Tech and Sam Vincent of Michigan State at guard, Roy Tarpley of Michigan at center and Alfredrick Hughes of Loyola (Ill.) and A.C. Green of Oregon State at forward.

Tisdale, the son of a Baptist minister, has reshaped basketball at Oklahoma. He averaged more than 25 points and 10 rebounds a game in making the Sooners the nation's highest scoring team. At 6-foot-9 he plays forward or center. Tisdale can bull his way low or deliver the soft outside jumper.

"On a bad night, Wayman is going to get 18 to 20 points," Colorado coach Tom Apke said. "On a good night, he might get 40 to 50 and beat you single-handedly."

Major League Losses Scare Owners

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) — Eighteen of the 26 major league baseball teams combined for more than $66 million in losses in 1983 and nine of 11 teams submitting 1984 data reported losses, owners told players' union representatives.

The Player Relations Committee, representing the owners, Tuesday delivered a five-page letter to the Players Association outlining financial operating problems.

Duncan Fans 12, Lions Win

ORLANDO — When a baseball team is struggling, a little bit of the Jones Tigers can go a long way. The Orlando 3A school is a powerhouse in several sports but baseball is not one of them.

Oviedo's Lions found that out Tuesday as they erupted for 13 hits in a lopsided 14-3 Orange Belt Conference victory over the Tigers at Jones High School. Oviedo improved to 4-10 with its first conference win in three tries. Jones, which plays only a conference schedule, fell to 0-2.

Craig Duncan, who relieved a wild Mark Merchant in the second inning, struck out 12 Tigers to pick up his second win of the year. The junior curvball specialist whiffed the side in the fourth, fifth and seventh innings.

"Duncan's fastball was working pretty good and he was hitting the corner at the knees," said Oviedo skipper Howard Mable. "His curvball was pretty effective, too. He threw with confidence today. We needed that."

Mable is prepping his Lions for a big game at home Friday against Osceola. "Osceola could be the turning point in our

Baseball

season," he said. "It will be an assessment for us. They beat us, 4-3, up there but this time we'll be playing at home."

While Duncan took care of the Jones' bats, Eric Shogren and Bobby Bradley provided the offense for the Lions. In the first, Shogren drew a one-out walk stole second, moved to third on a passed ball and scored on Bradley's single to right.

In the third, Shogren walked, stole second, moved to third on the catcher's overthrow and scored on Bradley's sacrifice fly to center.

In the fourth, Steve Hofmann walked and stole second. Bill McCurdy walked and Duncan received a free pass to load the bags. Merchant then walked to force in a run and Shogren singled up middle to score Mc-

Curly Bradley followed with a shot to right center to score Duncan and Merchant for a 6-2 lead.

Lee Trembley walked to start the outburst in the fifth. He moved up on a passed ball and went to third on Lester Cabrera's single. Merchant then singled past shortstop to drive in Trembley. Shogren walked to load the bases and Jimmy Barrett reached on error by shortstop to score Cabrera and Merchant. Shogren later scored on passed ball.

In the sixth, Oviedo added two more when John Lawrie singled past third, stole second and scored on Trembley's single. Trembley, though, was thrown out going for two bases but Cabrera doubled to left center and Duncan singled past short to drive in Cabrera.

Two more came in the seventh. Barrett singled, advanced on passed ball and stole third. Junior Frank Torrez, subbing for injured Tony Bellflower, singled past shortstop to drive in Barrett. Torrez advanced to second and third and home on three passed balls.

"But I decided that there are other things that are more important than a state championship. I'm a goal setter and I like to reach my goals and that was the most difficult thing to accept."

"I had to readjust my goals. But one of my main goals was to get the girls a scholarship. If I can get them into college, I think I've done a service to that child."

Every year Merthie sent at least one girl on to college. Included were former stars Tony Hardy, Robin Riggins, Johnnie Bennett, Cathy Jones, Dieder Hillery and Maxine Campbell all went on to play basketball or another sport in college.

Merthie's best, senior Mona Benton, who played all four years for him, is expected to sign with a school before April 1.

"I know he has mixed emotions about it," said Epps. "But it's a good career move for him."

Epps said he didn't have anyone in mind as a successor. "The job is wide open," he said. "I will rely on what Ron has to say about a successor because he has the girls' best interests at heart. He will help make whoever it is have an easy transition."

Merthie said he is looking forward to being part of the decision making. "Seminole has always been very supportive," Merthie said. "I'm thankful of the support I got from Mr. Epps and I'd like to see somebody take the foundation that is there and go win that state championship that we never got."

Hoyas Are 33-Point Favorite Against Lehigh

United Press International
 For the defending national champions the start of the NCAA Tournament looks very much like the beginning of the regular season.
 No. 1 Georgetown began the year with mismatches against the likes of Hawaii, Louisiana Southern, Connecticut and St. Leo. The Hoyas find themselves going against a foe of similar stature Thursday when they open the NCAA Tournament at the Hartford Civic Center against 12th-ranked Lehigh.
 Georgetown, the top seed in the East, is listed as a 33-point favorite in its noon EST game with the Engineers, who qualified by winning the East Coast Conference tournament.
 Lehigh's best strategy — short of not showing up — may be to try to score first and stall the rest of the game.

 You can't afford to underestimate any team in a tournament," said Georgetown coach John Thompson — but really, what else could he say?
 In other East games Thursday it'll be Temple (24-5) vs. Virginia Tech (20-8), Loyola (Ill.) (25-5) vs. Iowa (26-4) and Southern Methodist (22-9) vs. Old Dominion (19-11).
 Another apparent mismatch takes place Thursday when St. John's, which lost its No. 1 ranking with two losses to Georgetown in the last weeks of the season, meets little-known Southern University in the West Region at Salt Lake City.
 The Redmen, 27-3 and ranked third in the nation, are a 19-point favorite and are glad to be performing far from the Big Apple.

Basketball
 It'll be good to get away, said reserve Ron Stewart. "All the media and attention it's good and all, but it can get to you after awhile. What we need right now is total concentration."
 In other games at Salt Lake City, Iowa (21-10) faces Arkansas (21-12), Nevada-Las Vegas (27-3) meets San Diego State (23-9) and Washington (22-9) opposes Kentucky (16-12).
 Notre Dame coach Digger Phelps believes mismatches such as Georgetown-Lehigh, St. John's-Southern and Oklahoma-North Carolina A&T — where the Sooners are 25-point favorites in the Midwest — are rare in the 64-team tournament. He thinks the tourney offers well-rounded competition and adds no team will have an easy road to victory.

 Phelps is touting Loyola as the potential sleeper, pointing to the Ramblers' 17-game winning streak and No. 17 ranking. Loyola, the 1963 NCAA Champions, have been playing exceptionally well lately and boast acrobatic Alfredrick Hughes, the nation's co-leading scorer with Xavier's Daniel of Wichita State.
 Don't be surprised to see them do something in the NCAA Tournament this year, said Phelps, whose squad opens against Oregon State Thursday on its home court. That's going to be the kind of team that can get in the Tournament and do something because no one will expect them to.

 Phelps also pointed to Louisiana Tech (No. 8) and Virginia Commonwealth (No. 11) as other teams that could surprise. He likes VCU because of the club's excellent ball-handling skills.
 The Southeast Regional has Kansas (24-7) vs. Ohio (22-7), Purdue (20-8) vs. Auburn (20-11), North Carolina (24-8) vs. Middle Tennessee (17-13) and Notre Dame (20-8) vs. Oregon State (22-8).
 Auburn coach Sonny Smith hopes the emotional drain of the Southeast Conference tournament hasn't crippled a Tiger team that must face 20-8 Purdue — a tenacious, hustling, well-balanced Big Ten squad.

Wake Forest Suspends Eustis Standout Green

WINSTON SALEM, N.C. (UPI) — Wake Forest will play South Florida in the opening round of the NIT without Kenny Green because the Deacons' leading scorer and rebounder missed a practice, coach Carl Lacy says.
 Green, a 6-foot-7 junior from Eustis, missed practice Monday night when the Deacons started preparing for Thursday's contest against the Bulls at Tampa. Lacy said.
 "We had given our players permission to go home from the Atlantic Coast Conference tournament in Atlanta on the understanding that they return for practice on Monday," Lacy said Tuesday. "I talked with Kenny on Monday and he informed me that he would not be able to be back on time."
 Lacy said 6-foot-5 senior Lee Garber will start in place of Green, who averaged 17.0 points and 8.3 rebounds a game this season. Garber averaged 8.2 points and 4.0 rebounds a game off the bench.
 It is regrettable that this situation should occur as we are entering postseason play, but I am confident that our team will adjust and play well on Thursday," Lacy said.
 Wake Forest advanced to the final front of the NIT two years ago and Lacy said he is looking forward to another shot at the title.
 "We are obviously very happy to be a part of the NIT again," he said. "We had a good experience two years ago when we were determined to get off to a good start. This year's 32 team field is another strong one and I hope our players are determined to do well."
 The advantage for the Deacons is the chance to play against a team unfamiliar with the Wake Forest system, Lacy said.
 "We feel like we'll be able to run our basic schemes, both offensively and defensively, much more effectively than we were able to in the later conference season," he said. "But I know enough of Lee Rose's coaching and South Florida's season to know they will be an extremely tough test for us."

Basketball

PERRELL: BEST ACC FROSH
 GREENSBORO, N.C. (UPI) — A Georgia Tech player captured Atlantic Coast Conference Rookie of the Year honors for the third straight season as ACC sports writers named Yellow Jacket Duane Ferrell the league's best freshman.
 Ferrell follows in the footsteps of Georgia Tech's Bruce Dalrymple and Mark Price, who won the award in previous years.
 Ferrell picked up 78 of 127 ballots cast, followed by Virginia's Mel Kennedy with 20 votes, Maryland's Derrick Lewis with 13, Wake Forest's Charlie Thomas with six, Clemson's Grayson Marshall with 4 and Duke's Kevin Strickland with one.

Cook Of The Week

Former Fashion Model Has A Flair For Fixing Fine Foods

By Dorothy Greene
Herald Correspondent

A mixture of fashion modeling and homemaking are only a small part of what has given our Cook of the Week, Mary Pugh, a full and satisfying life.

Mary, who lives in the Ravenna Park section of Sanford, is a native of Lynchburg, Va., and moved here in 1962 from Durham, N.C. Raised by her grandmother from the age of 9 when her mother died, Mary can recall the valuable lessons she learned from her at an early age so that housekeeping came easy when she married John M. Pugh in 1934. Mary's four brothers were raised by her father but my father thought that as a young girl I would need the influence of a woman while growing up, so he sent me to live with my grandmother.

Although widowed for several years now, Mary traveled throughout the U.S. with John who was a heavy equipment operator until they decided to settle down in Durham. A daughter, Evelyn, was born there and now resides in Sanford with her husband. Two granddaughters and one grandson are a source of great pride to Mary when she speaks of their accomplishments.

Back in Durham, Mary was a buyer for the millinery department at Belk Leggett's, a large department store. At the same time she modeled ladies' fashions for the store and hosted a weekly modeling show on television. Mary also judged a weekly Home Economics television program in which young girls from local schools competed in sewing techniques for which they earned credits.

It was a lot of fun and because I stayed so busy all the time when I came to Sanford I felt like I'd come to the end of the world. I had always done my own housework and cooking. I'd get up real early in the morning to do this. Mary has always made her own drapes and curtains for her home and says she is just one great big do-it-all-yourseller.

Mary's first community interest in Sanford was the Welcome Wagon Club, with which she was active for about a year until she returned to her former profession as a buyer for Ivey's at the Winter Park Mall and then at J.C. Penney's in Sanford. There she was the buyer for about 17 different departments. Mary's job took her on many buying trips to New York for a week or 10 days at a time several times a year and she laughingly tells of the teasing she received in the "Big Apple" for her Southern accent.

Being on her own, Mary puts her talents to work for her. An accomplished seamstress, she enjoys working in her bright and conveniently laid out sewing room on her computerized sewing machine. She is busily working on choir costumes for an Easter play at Central Baptist Church. Mary also enjoys making decorations for the church for holidays and special occasions.

Bowling over a week with a ladies' team called the Jet Bowlerettes helps keep Mary fit and trim. Mary, who is very self-sufficient, takes pride in the fact that she has always maintained her home by herself, which includes painting it inside and out. Her tastefully decorated home bears signs of her sewing expertise and her careful work on pillows add a comfortable touch. She says, "I love to sew and I love to grow flowers in my garden. The recent frost has really turned things brown, but it won't be long before the warm weather is here and it will be ready to plant again. There isn't a task that Mary won't tackle herself except she says, when the car breaks down. Then it takes a good mechanic to fix it.

Mary Pugh Says she enjoys homemaking.

Mary also loves to cook and having a father who was Greek and owned his own restaurants has certainly rubbed off on her. She likes to tell the story of how her father stowed away on his uncle's ship when he was about 16. When the ship docked in New York, he just took off on his own and never returned to Greece, Mary says. "He had restaurants in several different cities in Virginia and Ohio and he did all his own cooking. He was an expert at pies, doughnuts, pastries, anything you want to name, he was a professional. I wish I could cook like he did. I like to make his best stew, his was the best."

Mary's outlook on life is a pleasant one. She says, "I've always trusted in the Lord to see me through difficult times. When a problem comes up, I always try to look forward to something else. Taking life one day at a time just as it is, has always worked for me. Basically, I'm a jolly person and like to joke a lot."

Mary recalls a pleasant memory of the post World War II years when one of her brothers brought his new English bride to the United States. She was amazed by the bountiful supply of meat and fruit in this country and the first thing she requested when she arrived was a steak. Mary says, "Getting to know her new sister in law was a delightful experience for Mary and they shared many a cup of delicious English tea, which is milder and much better than ours," she says.

As comfortable in the kitchen as she is at her sewing machine, Mary shows a hint of her Greek heritage in some of her recipes.

The following recipes are her favorites when entertaining family and friends or for church gatherings.

CHICKEN, GREEK STYLE

(For the Crock Pot)
1 Fryer cut up
3 tablespoons flour
1/4 tsp salt
1/4 tsp pepper
1/2 tsp oregano
3 tablespoons shortening
3 small onions sliced thin
1/2 cup chicken broth
1/2 cup lemon juice
Mix flour and seasonings together and dredge chicken in mixture. Heat shortening in skillet and brown chicken. Place chicken in slow cooker and add remaining ingredients. Cook on high for 3-4 hours. Serves 5.

TURKEY-VEGETABLE SOUP

2 quarts turkey broth
2 cups chopped cooked turkey
1 can (16 oz.) whole tomatoes undrained and coarsely chopped
1 can (8 1/2 oz.) whole kernel corn drained
1 can (8 1/2 oz.) English peas drained
1 cup cooked Navy beans
1/4 cup chopped celery
2 tablespoons barley
1 tablespoon instant minced onion
1 tablespoon beet flavored bouillon granules
1 tablespoon chicken flavored bouillon granules
1 tsp. hot sauce
Dash of garlic powder
Combine all ingredients in a large Dutch oven. Bring to a boil.

Keogh Wins State Cookoff

The culinary championship duel between Florida and Virginia determined — at least for this year — what state can claim the honor of being the "1985 Seafood Super Bowl Champs." Florida was victorious, with Chef Keith Keogh, formerly of Lake Mary, leading the way as the winning chef. The contest was a matchup of each state's best seafood and its best seafood chef. A seafood cookoff challenge from Florida's Governor Bob Graham to Virginia's Governor Charles Robb inspired the Florida/Virginia duel.

The Seafood Super Bowl was held on Feb. 22 at the American Culinary Federation in St. Augustine. Chef Keith Keogh from Disney's Epcot Center represented Florida, and his challenger was Chef Chuck Mamoudis from Yorgis in Virginia Beach.

At the final showdown, it was serious business for the competitors. Keogh and Mamoudis hustled about the kitchen, stirring and whisking and pouring, slicing and tasting while the news cameras snapped away from every angle, capturing the excitement on film. The crowd peered curiously through a pair of unlooking windows for the chance to observe these culinary experts at work. "Just look at those pear-shaped potatoes — what a clever idea!" thought one observer. Her friend wondered what the judges would think of this unusual work.

It was obvious that the chefs were used to working in a kitchen filled with distractions, as they hardly noticed the crowd. They'd occasionally glance toward anyone who was close enough to add an assisting hand. "Could you hold this lid up please?" asked Keogh of one photographer, as he reached in to pick out a fresh snapper.

The crowd's attention was captured when Chef Keogh's special assistant, Mickey Mouse, arrived. Mickey added a special excitement to the event that only he could bring. When questioned about whether Mickey added an advantage for the Florida Chef, Keogh answered, "You know what they say about mice in the kitchen!"

Simple Chocolate Sauce Adds Elegant Finale To Seder Meal

The phrase "something simple" is music to a busy homemaker's ears. And when it's a dessert recipe that's as rich and elegant as it is simple, you're really playing her song. "Philly" Chocolate Sauce is just the recipe to conclude a Seder during Passover. Made with cream cheese and milk for dairy richness, chocolate and sugar, this sauce transforms simple desserts into something extra special. Serve warm over fruit, ice cream or cake for a memorable holiday treat.

The Kraft Kitchens have compiled forty of the most popular Jewish holiday recipes they've developed in a 16-page booklet called "Jewish Holiday Recipes from the Kraft Kitchens." From Passover to Hanukkah, from appetizers to desserts, this recipe collection offers traditional as well as modern variations on dishes perfect for holiday meals.

"PHILLY" CHOCOLATE SAUCE

1 8-oz. pkg. cream cheese, cubed
 1/2 cup milk
 2 1-oz. squares unsweetened chocolate
 2 cups sugar
 1 teaspoon vanilla
 Combine cream cheese, milk and chocolate; stir over low heat until smooth. Add sugar; stir until sugar is dissolved and sauce is smooth. Remove from heat; blend in vanilla.

2 1/2 cups
 Note: This sauce can be refrigerated and then reheated.

ELEGANT LEMON MERINGUE

3 egg whites
 1/2 teaspoon vinegar
 3/4 cup sugar
 3 egg yolks, beaten
 Sugar
 3 tablespoons lemon juice
 2 teaspoons grated lemon rind
 Dash of salt
 1 8-oz. pkg. cream cheese, softened
 1 cup whipping cream, whipped
 Beat egg whites and vinegar until foamy; gradually add sugar, beating until stiff peaks form. Pipe mixture using pastry tube or shape with back of spoon into 9-inch shell on well-greased cookie sheet. Bake at 250°, 1 hour. Turn off oven; dry in oven 2 hours.

Combine egg yolks, 1/4 cup sugar, juice, rind and salt. Cook, stirring constantly, over medium heat 8-10 minutes or until thickened. Cool. Combine 2 tablespoons sugar and cream cheese, mixing until well blended. Gradually add egg yolk mixture to cream cheese, mixing until well blended. Fold in whipped cream. Spread cream cheese mixture into meringue shell; chill.

SEAFOOD

8 servings
CHEESE KREPLACH
 2 eggs, beaten
 1/2 cup water
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 2 2/3 cups flour
 1 8-oz. pkg. cream cheese, softened
 1 egg, beaten
 2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
 2 tablespoons chopped parsley
 2 tablespoons dry bread crumbs
 Parkay margarine

Combine eggs and water. Add salt and enough flour to form soft dough. On lightly floured surface, knead dough until smooth and elastic. Cover; let stand 10 minutes. Divide dough in half. On lightly floured surface, roll each half to 1/8-inch thickness; cut into 3-inch squares.
 Combine cream cheese and egg, mixing until well blended. Add onion, parsley and crumbs; mix well. Spoon rounded teaspoonful of cream cheese mixture onto each dough square. Fold dough to form triangles; press edges to seal. Cook, a few at a time, in boiling salted water 3-4 minutes or until kreplach float; drain. Fry in margarine until lightly browned.

Approximately 2 dozen
Make Ahead: Prepare kreplach as directed; drain. Place in single layer in baking pan. Cover; chill. When ready to serve, fry in margarine.

POTATO CHEESE BAKE

1 8-oz. pkg. cream cheese, cubed
 1 cup milk
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 3/4 cup shredded carrots
 1/4 cup green onion slices
 4 cups thin peeled potato slices

Combine cream cheese, milk and seasonings; stir over low heat until smooth. Stir in carrots and onions. Add potatoes; mix lightly. Spoon into 10x6-inch baking dish; cover with foil. Bake at 350°, 55 minutes. Uncover; continue baking 15 minutes or until potatoes are tender.

6 servings
MICROWAVE. Microwave cream cheese, 1/4 cups milk and seasonings in 2-quart casserole on High 1 1/2-2 minutes or until sauce is smooth when stirred. Stir in carrots and onions. Add potatoes; mix lightly. Cover; microwave on High 20-22 minutes or until potatoes are tender, stirring every 5 minutes.

NOODLE AND CHEESE RING

1 8-oz. pkg. cream cheese, softened
 1 cup cottage cheese
 2 eggs, beaten
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 Dash of pepper
 3 cups (6 ozs.) noodles, cooked, drained
 2 tablespoons corn flake crumbs
 Combine cream cheese, cottage cheese, eggs and seasonings, mixing until well blended. Add noodles; mix lightly. Sprinkle greased 4 1/2-cup ring mold with crumbs; spoon noodle mixture into mold. Bake at 375°, 30 minutes. Invert onto serving plate.

6-8 servings
Variation: Substitute dry bread crumbs for corn flake crumbs.

CREAMY COCOA CHEESE CAKE

1 cup graham cracker crumbs
 3 tablespoons sugar
 3 tablespoons margarine, melted
 2 8-oz. pkgs. cream cheese, softened
 1/2 cup sugar
 1/2 cup cocoa
 1 teaspoon vanilla
 2 eggs
 1 cup sour cream
 2 tablespoons sugar
 1 teaspoon vanilla
 Combine crumbs, sugar and margarine; press onto bottom of 9-inch springform pan. Bake at 325°, 10 minutes.
 Combine cream cheese, sugar, cocoa and vanilla, mixing at medium speed on electric mixer until well blended. Add eggs, one at a time, mixing well after each addition. Pour over crust. Bake at 375°, 30 minutes.
 Combine sour cream, sugar and vanilla; mix well. Carefully spread over cheesecake. Bake at 425°, 10 minutes. Loosen cake from rim of pan; cool before removing rim of pan. Chill.

10-12 servings

Irish Pie Top 'O The Meal March 17

The spirit of St. Patrick's Day is infectious. It's a favorite parade day up and down the East Coast - a festivity that grew from an impromptu parade of Irish-American soldiers in New York City staged March 17, 1762.

Their celebration trip to Hull's tavern on lower Broadway that day led to many a "slainte," or toast to your health.

Breakfast at a local tavern once was a favorite way for Irishmen to honor the Saint. Times have changed but it's still "slainte" to all on St. Patrick's Day.

Here's a special pie to top off the Irish stew, corned beef and cabbage and soda bread served up this day.

HIMSELF'S COOLER PIE
 1 graham cracker ready-crust
 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
 1/2 cup water
 1 cup light corn syrup
 3 tablespoons lemon or lime juice
 1/2 cup sugar
 3 cups cut-up fruit (cantaloupe, honey dew, watermelon, pineapple)
 1 kiwi

In a small saucepan, sprinkle gelatin over water. Stir over low heat until dissolved. Place in blender or food processor with fruit, sugar, corn syrup and lemon juice. Cover and blend on high until mixed. Pour into shallow metal pan and freeze 1 hour, or until firm but not solid.

Spoon into chilled bowl and beat until light and fluffy. Return to pan and freeze for about 2 hours, or until firm enough to scoop. Place scoops in pie shell, return to freezer until ready to serve.

Slice and garnish with fresh fruit, if desired. Add a few drops of green food coloring for additional color. Top with kiwi, if desired. This kitchen-tested recipe makes one 9-inch pie.

Melting Pot

Variety Taste-Tempters Add New Vigor And Vitality To Menu

Melting pot is a process of blending that often results in invigoration or novelty, according to Webster. Perhaps he was referring to the combined efforts of the multitudes of people from many lands who felled our forests, forded our rivers and scaled our mountains to tame the wilderness into the "New World." Whatever Webster's motivation, the same spirit of adventure and longing for a better life that propelled our pioneers can transform today's tired menus into a new world of dining pleasure!

Each of these melting pot recipes has stood the test of time to become a classic in its native land. And, each has been adapted to take advantage of ingredients readily available across America and to suit modern timetables.

One common thread runs through this recipe collection — eggs. No matter what corner of the globe, eggs are an important part of the local cuisine. With their high-quality protein, inexpensive price tag and incredible versatility, it's no wonder!

See for yourself. Try one of these taste-tempters tonight to add new vigor and vitality to your menu.

NORTH-OF-THE-BORDER HUEVOS RANCHEROS

This wonderfully variable country-style Mexican dish becomes quite a meal when accompanied by refried beans. You needn't spend time making the sauce from scratch with all the excellent bottled and canned ones on the market today. Any of a dozen or so different sauces are used in Mexico, so if the taco sauce called for here doesn't tempt your taste buds, use any salsa you prefer. And if fried eggs aren't your favorite, go ahead and poach or scramble them!

1 ripe avocado, optional
Lemon juice, optional
1 can (10 oz.) taco sauce
8 corn tortillas
1/2 cup cooking oil
1/4 cup butter, divided
8 eggs
1/2 cup (2 oz.) shredded Monterey Jack or Cheddar cheese

Halve, pit and peel avocado, if desired. Cut into 16 slices and sprinkle with lemon juice. Set aside. In small saucepan over medium heat, bring taco sauce to simmering. Cover and keep warm.

In 10- to 12-inch omelet pan or skillet over medium heat, cook tortillas 1 at a time in hot oil until lightly browned at edges but still soft, turning once, about 1 to 2 minutes. Drain on paper towels and place on aluminum foil. When all tortillas are cooked, wrap and keep warm in preheated 300°F oven. Pour oil any excess oil.

In same skillet, over medium-high heat, heat 2 tablespoons of the butter until just hot enough to sizzle. Add drop of water. Break and slip 4 eggs into skillet. Reduce heat to low immediately. Cook slowly to desired doneness, spooning butter over eggs to baste or turning eggs to cook both sides. Repeat with remaining butter and eggs.

For each serving, place 1 of the eggs on each of 2 of the warm tortillas. Top each with 2 tablespoons of the reserved taco sauce, 1 tablespoon of the cheese and 2 of the reserved avocado slices. Makes 4 servings.

MODERN GOLDEN BUCK OR BUCK RABBIT

There are both English and Welsh variations of rabbit or harebit, both calling for cheese sauce or cheese slices on toast. The sauce might be laced with beer or ale or the toast soaked in wine before being topped with the cheese. According to legend, the poached egg was added and the name changed to include "buck" after the one that got away from the hunter who returned home with no meat for the table. Serve this fast, flavorful version as the main dish for any meal of the day.

2 cups (8 oz.) shredded Cheddar cheese
1/2 cup beer or milk
2 teaspoons prepared mustard
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1/4 teaspoon salt

2 English muffins, split, toasted and buttered
4 poached eggs*
Paprika or parsley sprigs, optional

In small saucepan, combine cheese, beer, mustard, Worcestershire sauce and salt. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until cheese is melted, about 3 to 4 minutes.

Spoon 2 tablespoons of the cheese sauce over each muffin half. Top each with 1 poached egg. Spoon an additional 2 tablespoons of the cheese sauce over each egg. Garnish with paprika or parsley, if desired.

To poach eggs in 3-quart saucepan or 10- to 12-inch omelet pan or skillet, heat 2 to 3 inches of water to boiling. Reduce heat to keep water simmering. Break eggs into large bowl. Then slip eggs into water, holding bowl close to water's surface. Cook 3 to 5 minutes, depending on desired doneness. With slotted spoon, lift out eggs. Drain in spoon or on paper towels and trim any rough edges, if desired. Makes 4 servings.

EASY SPAGHETTI ALLA CARBONARA

Though we are accustomed to thinking of spaghetti and a meat-spiked tomato sauce as being one and the same as if they were inseparable, there are numerous other pasta treatments. From Rome comes this simple, but savory, version. Some recipes call for drenching the spaghetti in butter and heavy cream, but neither are necessary to maintain the rich flavor of the dish. To "do as the Romans do," pass additional Parmesan cheese at the table along with freshly ground black pepper.

8 slices bacon, diced
8 ounces spaghetti
4 eggs
1 teaspoon garlic salt
1/4-1/2 cup (1-2 oz.) grated Parmesan cheese

In 10- to 12-inch omelet pan or skillet over medium heat, cook bacon until crisp. Remove from pan, drain and set aside. Pour off all but 2 tablespoons of bacon drippings. Reduce heat to low.

Meanwhile, cook spaghetti according to package directions. Drain and add hot spaghetti to drippings in skillet. Beat together eggs and garlic salt. Stir into spaghetti along with cheese. Toss gently until eggs are thickened but still moist. Add reserved bacon and toss gently until evenly combined. Makes 4 servings.

Serve Easter dinner guests delicious leg of lamb basted with coffee for an unusual treat.

Easter Fare: Coffee Lends Seasoning To Spring Lamb

The serving of lamb has long been associated with Easter. Since a Passover seder featuring lamb was Jesus' last supper, it was only natural for Christians to include the custom of eating lamb in their celebration of the resurrection of the "lamb of God."

This Easter, an unusual way to prepare the traditional roast leg combines this staple meat of the Middle East with another ingredient favored in that part of the world: coffee. Though best known as a beverage, coffee's distinctive, appealing flavor lends itself to seasoning various foods, including lamb.

Coffee Basted Leg of Lamb excites the palate as the exotic richness of the dark brew complements the aromatic goodness of lamb. New Zealand lamb, raised in that country's pristine environment, comes by its delicate flavor naturally. It is flash-frozen to lock in its tender goodness.

The recipe is easy, nutritious and quite economical. Full of protein, certain B vitamins and iron, a five- to six-pound leg of lamb will feed six people generously. And since the roast needs only occasional basting, the chef is free to attend to arrangements, hunt for Easter eggs or join in other holiday festivities.

To complement this entree, serve new potatoes in parsley butter, sautéed carrots with a brown sugar glaze and fresh asparagus.

Should there be any leftover meat, a post-Easter feast can be had with Lamb Florentine. Casserole layers of lamb, spinach and macaroni are bound with a savory cheese sauce in this dish to be made in advance and baked just before serving.

Both recipes show that New Zealand lamb provides good value for the holidays and every day.

COFFEE BASTED LEG OF LAMB

- 4 to 5 pound leg of New Zealand Spring lamb, frozen
- 2 cloves garlic, cut in slivers
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1 1/2 cups strong coffee
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1/2 cup water
- 2 teaspoons brown sugar

Thaw lamb in refrigerator overnight. Trim excess fat from lamb. With tip of knife, cut small slits in meat. Insert slivers of garlic in slits, sprinkle with salt and pepper. Place lamb, fat side up, in shallow roasting pan, roast in a 325°F oven 1 hour. Baste lamb with coffee and continue roasting 1 hour to 1 1/2 hours longer or until meat thermometer registers 160°F for medium, 170°F to 180°F for well done. Baste often during cooking. Remove meat to serving platter. Allow to "rest" 10 minutes before carving. Pour any remaining coffee into roasting pan. Make a paste of the flour and water, stir into pan. Cook, stirring, until mixture boils and thickens. Stir in brown sugar. Serve gravy with lamb.

LAMB FLORENTINE CASEROLE

- 3 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 1/2 cups milk
- 1/4 cup plus 2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese, divided
- 1 cup cooked macaroni
- 1 1/2 cups cooked, diced, leg of New Zealand Spring lamb
- 1 package (10 ounces) frozen chopped spinach, thawed, drained

In medium saucepan melt butter, sauté onion until tender. Stir in flour and salt; cook stirring over medium heat 1 minute. Remove from heat. Gradually stir in milk. Return to heat, cook, stirring until mixture boils and thickens. Stir in 1/4 cup Parmesan cheese. Place macaroni in buttered 1 1/2-quart casserole. Pour one-third of the cheese sauce over macaroni. Add half the lamb and spinach. Repeat with remaining cheese sauce, lamb and spinach, ending with cheese sauce. Sprinkle with remaining 2 tablespoons cheese. Cover. Bake in a 350°F oven 20 minutes. Remove cover and bake 15 minutes longer. YIELD: 4 servings.

BROCCOLI-PEAS CASSEROLE

2 pkgs. (10 oz.) frozen chopped broccoli
1 can (17 oz.) green peas
1 can (10 3/4 oz.) cream of mushroom soup
1 cup mayonnaise
1 tsp salt
1/2 tsp pepper
1 cup shredded sharp cheddar cheese

1 medium onion, chopped
2 eggs, beaten
1/2 cup crushed round crackers
Cook broccoli according to package directions, drain. Arrange 1 package of cooked broccoli in a greased 2 quart casserole dish. Cover with peas. Mix mushroom soup, mayonnaise, salt, pepper, cheese, onion and eggs to make sauce. Pour half of the sauce over the broccoli and peas. Add remaining broccoli and top with remaining sauce. Sprinkle crushed crackers on top. Bake at 350° for 30 minutes. Serves 8.

SWEET POTATO MUFFINS

1/2 cup butter or margarine, softened
1 1/2 cups sugar
2 eggs
1 1/4 cups canned mashed sweet potatoes

1 cup milk
1 1/2 cups all purpose flour
2 tsps. baking powder
3/4 tsp salt
1 tsp ground cinnamon
3/4 tsp ground nutmeg
1/2 cup raisins, chopped
3/4 cup chopped pecans
Cream butter gradually beat in sugar. Add one egg at a time, beating well after each. Stir in sweet potatoes and milk. Combine flour, baking powder, salt, cinnamon and nutmeg. Add to creamed mixture, stirring just until moistened. Stir in raisins and pecans. Spoon into greased muffin pans filling 3/4 full. Bake at 400° for 25 minutes. Yield: 1 1/2 dozen.

GRATED SWEET POTATO PUDDING

4 cups grated raw sweet potatoes
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup light corn syrup
1 1/2 cups milk
1/4 cup melted butter or margarine

3 eggs, beaten
1 tsp ground nutmeg
1 tsp ground cinnamon
1/2 tsp salt

Combine all ingredients, mixing well. Spoon mixture into a lightly greased 2 quart casserole. Bake at 325° for 1 1/2 hours or until slightly firm. Serves 6-8.

COCONUT CREAM POUND CAKE

1 cup butter or margarine, softened
1/2 cup shortening
2 1/2 cups sugar
5 eggs
3 cups all purpose flour
1/2 tsp baking powder
1 cup milk
1 tsp grated lemon rind
1 tsp vanilla
1 cup coconut

Cream butter and shortening. Gradually add sugar, beating until light and fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Combine flour and baking powder and add to creamed mixture alternately with milk, beginning and ending with flour mixture. Mix just until blended after each addition. Stir in the lemon rind and vanilla.

Pour into a greased and floured 10 inch tube pan. Bake at 350° for 1 hour and 15 minutes. Top with glaze below.

POWDERED SUGAR GLAZE

1 1/4 cups sifted powdered sugar
2-4 tablespoons milk
1 cup coconut

Blend ingredients and spread over cooled cake.

When Mary prepares her Cranberry Salad for a church dinner or special occasion she always brings home an empty dish. A light and delicious molded salad, it can be sliced and served with cold turkey or other luncheon meats, or enjoy it as a cool dessert. Clip and save for the holiday season when fresh cranberries are plentiful.

CRANBERRY SALAD

1 lb raw cranberries, ground or chopped
2 cups sugar
Juice of 1 lemon
Juice of 2 oranges
Grated rind of 1 1/2 oranges

Mix above ingredients and let stand in refrigerator overnight. Next morning mix together 2 small or 1 large package of cherry Jell-O, 2 cups hot water. Add 1 small can crushed pineapple and 1 cup chopped nuts. Add this to the cranberry mixture and blend well. Pour into mold and refrigerate until firm. Serves 8.

Parents Want 'Stolen' Son Returned

DEAR ABBY: Our hearts are breaking. We raised a wonderful son, put him through college, and now he is a successful professional man. He and his family mean the world to us. Our problem is his wife. She doesn't want our son to see us anymore. We want to love her, but she has stolen our son from us. We never see him. They refuse our invitations. We rarely see our grandchildren unless we go to their house, which is not often. They invite us only at a large gathering at their house on Christmas, and again at a big free-for-all Fourth of July party with a bunch of strangers.

Our daughter-in-law is very close to her family. She has won our son over to her people, and now it's as if we don't have a son anymore.

What can we do, Abby? My wife and I are in deep pain. We are decent, churchgoing people who keep praying that our daughter-in-law will give our son back to us. What more can we do?

HEARTBROKEN PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS: First, your son is not a sack of groceries that can be "stolen" from you. He has free choice, and if he chooses to ignore you, it's his choice — not his wife's. (She may influence him but the final decision is his.) I know you're hurting but it's time you told your son how you feel instead of praying that his wife will give him back to you. He is not "hers" to give.

DEAR ABBY: I am engaged to be married in November, and so far everything is going as planned — except one thing. My fiancé insists that when we feed each other the first two pieces of wedding cake, we're supposed to grind it into each other's faces! We've seen this done at other weddings, and I think it's stupid and disgusting.

Furthermore, I don't relish the idea of getting cake in my hair and ruining my makeup. I want to look my very best on my wedding day.

My fiancé wants to go along with this tradition. In fact, he's adamant.

Am I wrong? Or is he being inconsiderate and immature? By the way, he's 26 and I'm 24.

NOVEMBER BRIDE

DEAR BRIDE: You're not wrong. And if your fiancé is "adamant," knowing how you feel about it, perhaps you'd better take a second look at him. Marriage to such a man would be no piece of cake.

Microwave Magic

St. Patrick's Day Food Is 'In' Anytime

When the middle of March rolls around it is time to think "green". St. Patrick's Day of course, then we think of corned beef and cabbage. A good meal anytime, but especially appropriate in this month.

Many grocery stores feature corned beef at attractive prices also. The corned beef may be purchased in a round or brisket cut, and with or without seasoning. I like to microwave the corned beef in a clay pot, but any large container or simmer pot with a lid will do fine.

ST. PATRICK'S BOILED DINNER
(serves 6-8)

- 2 1/2-3 pounds corned beef with seasoning packet
- 1 1/2 cups water
- 3 medium carrots, scraped and cut into thin strips

6-8 small new potatoes, cut in half
1 medium head of new cabbage, cut into sixths Place corned beef and seasoning, water and carrots in a 3-quart microwave safe pot. Cover tightly. Microwave on 100% power 8-10 minutes, or until water boils. Reduce power to 50%. Microwave 30 minutes. Turn meat over. Add potatoes and cabbage. Recover. Microwave 30-45 minutes, or until vegetable are tender. Let stand covered 10 minutes.

To serve, carve corned beef diagonally across the grain in thin slices.
* To microwave on 30% power (LOW) increase the cooking times to 40 minutes, and 40-80 minutes.
To carry out the "green" theme, serve a green (lime) congealed salad and Key Lime Pie for dessert.

The corned beef can be glazed and microwaved thinly sliced and served hot or cold. The methods of preparation make very tasty sandwiches.

GLAZED CORNED BEEF

3 pounds corned beef with seasonings

- 2 cups water
- GLAZE:
 - 1/4 cup brown sugar
 - 1 tablespoon prepared mustard
 - 1 teaspoon wine vinegar
 - Dash of cinnamon and nutmeg
- Place corned beef, seasonings and water in a 2 quart casserole. Cover tightly. Microwave on 100% power 7-9 minutes, or until water starts to boil.
- Reduce power to 50%.
- Microwave 18-22 minutes per pound. Turn meat over after half the cooking time. Let stand in liquid covered for 15 minutes. Mix all glaze ingredients together in small bowl. Microwave on 100% power 30-60 seconds, or until sugar melts. Remove beef from the liquid. Spoon glaze over meat. Carve diagonally across the grain in thin slices.

A rice casserole would be a good accompaniment to the Glazed Corned Beef.

WILD RICE PILAF

- 1/2 cup wild rice
- 1 cup water
- 1/2 cup long grain white rice
- 1 1/2 cups water
- 1 teaspoon beef bouillon
- 1 medium onion, chopped
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 2 cups sliced mushrooms
- 1 cup chopped celery
- 1/4 cup butter or margarine
- 1 cup frozen peas
- Rinse and drain wild rice. Combine with 1 cup water in a 1 1/2 quart casserole. Cover. Microwave on 100% power 4-5 minutes, or until mixture boils. Let stand 1 hour. Add white rice, 1 1/2 cups water, salt and beef bouillon. Cover. Microwave on 100% power 5-6 minutes, or until mixture boils. Reduce power to 50%, power and microwave 13-14 minutes, or until rice is almost tender. Let stand, covered 10 minutes. Combine onion, garlic, mushrooms, celery and butter in a 1 quart batter bowl. Cover with plastic wrap. Microwave on 100% power 5-6 minutes, or until peas are tender.
- Stir once during the cooking. This makes 6-8 servings.

A dessert that features fruit would be a good ending to this special meal. Pineapple Upside Down Cake is usually a favorite with men.

PINEAPPLE UPSIDE DOWN CAKE

- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
- 1/2 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
- 5 slices pineapple with syrup
- 5 marachino cherries
- 1/2 package yellow cake mix* (Jiffy cake mix - 18.5 ounces)
- Melt butter in an 8 inch (or 8 1/2 inch) square dish in the microwave. Stir in brown sugar. Drain pineapple, reserving syrup. Arrange pineapple slices and cherries over brown sugar. Prepare cake mix according to package directions, substituting pineapple syrup for water. Spoon batter over pineapples. Cook by microwave 5-6 minutes, turning dish several times. Let stand 1 minutes, then turn up side down on cake plate.
- Serve warm or cold.
- *Use other half of cake mix for another upside-down cake, or for cupcakes.

Fruit Zaps Bland Diet

Food can be colorful and appetizing, even for those on special diets.

A curried fruit appetizer, for example, may serve as a first course to a meal and some might enjoy it as a dessert. It's added value to a meal is that it's a high potassium dish and will help supplement the intake of potassium in a daily diet.

CURRIED FRUIT APPETIZER

- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1/2 teaspoon salt (optional)
- 1 1/2 teaspoons coriander
- 1 teaspoon turmeric
- 1/2 teaspoon cumin
- 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1 1/2 teaspoons honey
- 1/4 cup tomato juice
- 2 apples, cored and cut into cubes
- 2 pears, cored and cut into cubes
- 1 1/2 cups halved, seeded grapes
- 6 bananas
- In large saucepan mix onion, garlic, salt, coriander, turmeric, cumin, ginger, dry mustard, pepper, vinegar, lemon juice, honey and tomato juice.
- Place over low heat; cover and simmer 15 minutes. Cool. In large bowl combine apples, pears and grapes. Peel bananas and slice. Add to fruit and mix lightly. Add curry sauce just before serving.

This kitchen-tested recipe makes 6 servings; 785 mg. potassium per serving.
Note: 2 to 3 teaspoons curry powder may be substituted for coriander, turmeric and cumin.

Bleeding From Bowel Could Be Cancer Sign

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am concerned about blood that is passed in the bowel. I had a bowel X-ray taken recently, and it showed mild diverticulosis of the colon. There were several diverticula. Can you give me some information on this subject? Can anything help the situation? Should I follow a fiber diet or a bland diet?

DEAR READER — One of the complications of diverticulosis is bleeding. An artery usually perforates the wall of the colon at the point where the small pocket forms. Some physicians think the artery that passes through the wall weakens it, which is why the small rupture of the colon wall occurs at that point.

More than 50 percent of people 60 or older have diverticulosis. Very few people with diverticulosis, probably less than 2 percent, have bleeding from one of the small pockets. The fact that you have diverticulosis and also have blood in your bowel movements does not prove that the bleeding comes from a diverticula.

You could bleed from internal hemorrhoids. This portion of the rectum is not seen on an X-ray of the colon. You should have an examination of the rectum for internal hemorrhoids and any other disease. Internal hemorrhoids usually do not cause any symptoms other than bleeding.

I can't advise you about a diet for diverticulosis without knowing exactly what your condition is. The concept about different diets for diverticulosis is discussed in The Health Letter, Special Report 20, Diverticulosis: Pockets of the Colon.

No one should disregard bleeding from the bowel, since it can be a first sign of cancer. Don't guess, but see your doctor for an examination and advice.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am #1. I have discussed a question several times with my wife and many other people and have gotten different opinions. The question is: When a woman gets pregnant by a man, does her blood get mixed with his?

DEAR READER — Your question reminds me that sex and reproduction still mystify many people. No, there is no exchange of blood. The normal semen does not contain any blood. The pregnancy is caused when one sperm cell from the male's millions unites with one ovum from the female. There is no blood involved in the process. The fertilized ovum is then one complete cell that begins life.

Half of the genes in the new cell are from the sperm and half are from the ovum. Together, these make up the total number of genes a cell contains. This one cell then divides repeatedly to form all of the new cells used in developing the baby. The genes control what the baby's blood type will be. That will depend entirely on which blood-type gene comes from each parent.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
Here is more from "Winning Bridge Intangibles." Yesterday you saw the danger in giving away information by taking a long pause before passing. Today's deal exposes a different error.

East had been playing in a rubber bridge game for about 10 hours. He had held lousy cards all day and was a substantial loser. As the opponents swifly arrived in seven hearts, East groaned and vacantly stared into space as he tried to calculate the inroads on his pocketbook of a vulnerable grand slam. South noticed all this. After winning the opening lead in his hand, he led the heart jack and finessed against the queen in West's hand to bring in the grand slam.

It's normal to be more enthusiastic with good hands than with poor ones. It is also normal to defend carefully when you see a real chance of beating a contract and not so carefully when the cause looks dim.

Nevertheless, when one defender seems uninterested, the frequent result is more accurate play by declarer. An astute declarer may succeed in a difficult contract by noticing the diligence, or lack of it, on the part of one of the opponents. Do not lose interest even though you hold a terrible hand.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY MARCH 14, 1985

You will be fortunate this coming year in establishing idealistic friendships. You are going to meet someone who will be the type of pal you've always desired to have.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) In most instances you'll be quite efficient today, with the exception of estimating costs. The projection you make could run over budget.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Success is likely today because you'll have the drive to be an achiever. However, you may leave a few loose threads.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Think in terms of the whole picture today, but do not overlook small but significant details. Be sure there is a piece for every empty space.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) It'll prove wise today to be close-mouthed about your present commercial involvements. Don't let information slip out that could be used against you.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Things will go smoothly for everyone today if you don't place your interests above those of people trying to help you achieve a collective goal.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Semantics and grand praises will be of small value today. The only thing that will count is what you produce, not what you say.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) When socially involved with friends today, don't split hairs or count how many pennies each has spent. Even if they don't ante up what you expect, be understanding.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) In financial matters today your judgment may be keener than your mate's. Listen to his input but also think for yourself.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) It will be impossible today to gain the approval of everyone. However, all you have to know is that you'll be able to win over people who really count.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Govern your spending patterns along prudent lines today and you'll have no financial problems. Departing from this procedure brings less-desirable results.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Be a booster of your friends today, even if you know unflattering things about them. Voicing their flaws won't make you sound better in the ears of your listeners.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You'll be more productive today if you use your own ideas and methods, instead of those recommended by companions or associates. Do it your way.

The Only Choice is U.S. CHOICE!

Don't compare prices until you compare grades! Many of our competitors no longer sell beef that's government graded U.S. CHOICE. Their beef just doesn't come close to what you'll find at WINN-DIXIE. The flavor and tenderness of Winn-Dixie's U.S. CHOICE beef is unsurpassed. One bite and you'll be convinced . . . the Beef People sell the best beef.
