In search of Capt. Mellon

Until recently, very little was known about Capt. Charles Mellon, the man for which Fort Mellon, Mellonville Avenue and Fort Mellon Park are named.

Drug investigation lands men in jail

Deputies confiscate 23 ounces of cocaine, $79,000 and two vehicles

By Dan Ping Editor

SANFORD — Deputies confiscated 23 ounces of cocaine, $79,000 in cash and two vehicles during a five-week drug investigation that landed two men in jail.

Agustin Duenes Lopez, 55, of 3530 E. Celery Ave., Sanford, and Eutiquio Ochoa, 33, of 531 Spring Hill Court, Osteen, were each charged with five counts of trafficking in cocaine. Lopez faces five additional counts of conspiracy to traffic in cocaine.

Beginning in early December, an undercover agent with the Seminole County Sheriff's Office City/County Investigation Bureau (CCIB) made a series of cocaine purchases at Lopez's Celery Avenue address.

The first purchase occurred on Dec. 3 when the agent and a confidential informant went to Lopez's house to purchase 2 ounces of cocaine. Lopez contacted Ochoa by phone to arrange the transaction. Ochoa arrived at the Celery Avenue address a short time later and exchanged the cocaine with the undercover agent for $1,800.

Three days later, the agent and the confidential informant contacted Lopez at his home. Like the earlier sale, Lopez called Ochoa, who arrived with 1 ounce of cocaine, which he sold to the agent for $800.

The agent, without the confidential informant, made two more purchases on Dec. 18 and Jan. 2. In each case, the transaction occurred in the same manner as

Riverwalk hits milestone

Employees with Ed Waters and Sons, a seawall contractor based out of Jacksonville, install seawall panels for the Sanford Riverwalk.

First seawall panel installed in Sanford project

By Dan Ping Editor

SANFORD — Construction of the long-awaited Sanford Riverwalk hit a significant milestone Wednesday with the installation of the first seawall panel.

The Riverwalk is expected to attract more residents to Sanford's downtown waterfront by incorporating wide pathways for walking and biking, improved landscaping and additional mini piers for fishing. But replacing the aging seawall is the foundation for the entire project. When completed, crews will have created a seawall consisting of 1,666 concrete panels, some weighing as much as 15,000 pounds, from Mellonville Avenue to French Avenue.

Chris Smith, capital projects manager for the city of Sanford, stands next to seawall panels that will be used for the city's Riverwalk. The first panel was installed on Wednesday.

"The first panel went in just fine," said Chris Smith, the city of Sanford's Riverwalk project manager.

"It slipped right on in there. Getting the first panel installed is a milestone for the Riverwalk project. Of course, we're waiting on panel No. 1666."

The new panels are being placed directly in front of the existing seawall, Smith explained. As work progresses west from Mellonville Avenue, the cap of the old seawall will be cut off allowing the new panels to abut the existing wall. Once in place, large screw

Suspect wanted for fondling 14-year-old walking to bus stop

From Staff Reports

The Seminole County Sheriff's Office is investigating a fondling incident that was reported to deputies Wednesday, Jan. 8, by a 14-year-old girl.

According to the teen, the incident happened near her bus stop in the Bear Lake area. She said that a male, of unknown race, fondled her while she was walking to her school bus stop around 6:30 a.m. on Curtis Drive, near Bear Lake Road.

The girl said the unidentified male ran up from behind, grabbed and groped her, and covered her mouth. When she screamed, he ran away. The girl could only describe the subject as being about 5-foot-4 to 5-foot-5-inches tall, of average build and wearing a dark jacket.

Seminole County authorities said the case appears isolated, but extra patrols are being done in the area. Anybody with information on this case is asked to call the Seminole County Sheriff's Office at 407-665-6600, or 407-862-1554. The Seminole County Sheriff's District 7 Office is handling the case.

Former Cheepo Depot building deemed unsafe

By Jamie J. Anderson Staff Writer

SANFORD — The former home of Cheepo Depot in Sanford was labeled unsafe for use or occupancy by the Sanford Fire Department Monday.

According to Fire Inspector Tim Robles, throughout the weekend Deputy Building Official Bob Bott witnessed non-certified contractors working on the two-story building located at 1219 S. French Ave.

"They were told to cease and desist and leave town," said

Robles.

According to Robles, the crew removed a vertical support column located at the front door entrance. The support transfers the roof disbursement to the floor, a major component when supporting a structure.

With this support gone there is question as to whether the second story can be supported, fire officials said.

"Oddly enough, the acts were witnessed by Bob during the weekend when many businesses

Contestants wanted for Miss Seminole County Scholarship Pageant

By Jamie J. Anderson Staff Writer

SANFORD — Do you have what it takes to represent Seminole County in the upcoming Miss Florida Scholarship Pageant?

If you're a single woman between the ages of 17 and 24, you could be crowned the next Miss Seminole County and vie for the Miss Florida crown in June.

"This pageant is a great opportunity for the ladies to go on to other pageants," said Dr. Beverly Baird Boothe, executive director of the Miss Seminole County Scholarship Pageant.

The pageant, which is open to women living within 75 miles of the Sanford city limits, is an official preliminary event for the Miss Florida and Miss America pageants. The current Miss Florida, Katherine Carson, is a former second runner-up in the Seminole County pageant.

In February, Shannon Shelton, the reigning Miss Seminole County will pass on her crown to the winner of the annual pageant.

"This is one of the few ways women who are not athletic can earn a scholarship for themselves,"

- What: Miss Seminole County Scholarship Pageant.
• When: 7 p.m. Feb. 22 (deadline to register is Jan. 24).
• Where: Helen Stairs Theatre, 201 S. Magnolia Ave., downtown Sanford.
• What it costs: $10 in advance, $15 day of show (there is no registration fee to compete in the pageant).

said Valerie Weld, who is in charge of the production and co-owner of Mariam and Valerie's School of Dance Art in Sanford and Lake Mary. "It was a great experience when my daughter, Natalie, was crowned in 1999. She enjoyed being Miss Seminole County and earning the scholarship money."

Organizers of the pageant, themed "All We Need is the Girl," are still looking for contestants as well as sponsors. Applications are available at local high schools, colleges and at the Helen Stairs Theatre. The deadline to register is Jan. 24.

"This is not a beauty pageant," explained Boothe. "It's a scholarship pageant."

According to Boothe, this year's winner will be awarded a one-year scholarship to Seminole Community College and a four-year scholarship to Stetson, if they are accepted to the school.

"The beauty of a pageant is that it does a lot for the community," explained Boothe. "Above and beyond the perks the ladies receive, Miss Seminole is a role model in the community and for young people."

SEMINOLE SUMMARY

A GLANCE AROUND OUR COUNTY

Injured reserve: It's that time of year when key team members are nursing all manner of injuries that prevent them from performing at their peak levels. No, I'm not talking about the National Football League. I'm referring to the Iron Lady of the Seminole Herald staff, Doris Dietrich.

Loyal readers have noticed for some time that Miss Doris's column hasn't been in its usual spot on the LifeStyle pages. Miss Doris suffered a nasty fall just after Thanksgiving and has been recuperating over the holidays.

Unfortunately, she's taking a little longer to heal than we - or she - would like. Cracked ribs and vertebra will do that to you. But be assured that the feisty First Lady of The Herald is doing her best to get back behind her word processor.

After a stint at Central Florida Regional Hospital, Miss Doris was staying at Lake Jesup Assisted Living Facility. She and her husband, Carl, have since moved to Renaissance of Sanford.

While I'm sure many of you would like to pass along kind words to Miss Doris (and she would certainly appreciate it), please do so by cards or letters (what other way would an accomplished wordsmith prefer it?) for the time being. She's trying to regain her strength and phone calls and visitors - though well-intentioned and normally very much anticipated - quickly zap her usually energetic demeanor. If you would like to write, the address is:

Doris Dietrich
c/o
Renaissance of Sanford
300 W. Airport Blvd.
Sanford, FL 32773.

Those interested may also drop off cards and letters here at The Herald and we will make sure Miss Doris gets them. I'll keep ya'll posted on her progress. In the meantime, get well soon, Miss Doris!

Not a chance: The referendum on whether Sanford should adopt a strong mayor form of government is a little less than two months away, but already the little birds are buzzing with all kinds of outrageous stories. The one that tickles my funny bone the most involves me, your trusty Clock Keeper.

Word Around The Clock is that I'm angling for a spot as the new city administrator, should the referendum pass on March 4. That's flattering, though I don't expect it was meant that way when it was originally put on the grape vine.

For the record, as the politicians like to say, I have no interest in such a job. Of course the politicians usually make that comment as they're on the way to the courthouse to file papers for whatever office they deny they're seeking. Not in this case.

The last time I worked in the public sector I sat on a tractor cutting grass at the baseball and softball fields. I suspect that unlike that job, a city administrator can't work on his tan all summer or cruise by the city pool to check out the female lifeguards. Without those perks, why bother?

Other tidbits floating Around The Clock:

- Sanford Mayor Brady Lessard, who proposed the change in government, is a puppet of former mayor Larry Dale, and this is all a behind the scenes plot by Larry to make the city his kingdom. Maybe, but with a 60-acre ranch, a new house and a truck as big as Texas, why be king of Sanford when you can be president of the airport?

- City Manager Tony VanDerworp is leaving town. Again, maybe. There are "For Sale" signs in the yard, which could mean the VanDerworts are leaving town or it could mean they're relocating in the city. Long before the referendum was proposed, however, Mrs. VanDerworp was quite vocal about her dislike of the city. I wouldn't bet against this one.

Continental Congress didn't pick up the full tab

Back in the late 1960s, I came in contact with the hand-written minutes of the second meeting of the Second Continental Congress meeting in Philadelphia. Why I had the papers is another rather interesting story, but not related to the comments in this column.

Nick Pfeifauf

Reading Jamie Anderson's story in the Midweek Seminole Herald (Jan. 8), brought those papers to mind. Jamie reported on how area reservists were flocking to Al's Army Navy store in Sanford to stock up on provisions should they be called to active duty. Most of the items, she wrote, were flight bags, along with knives, belts and other necessities.

While much of the congressional document from the 1700s related to the eventual creation of our nation, many pages called for the establishment of an army and what they would have to supply for themselves.

Men would be allowed to, even urged to furnish their own firearms, although powder for the ammunition would be supplied. Most of them were urged to bring their own horses as well. They would be given one uniform (if the material was available), and under certain circumstances, an extra pair of pants.

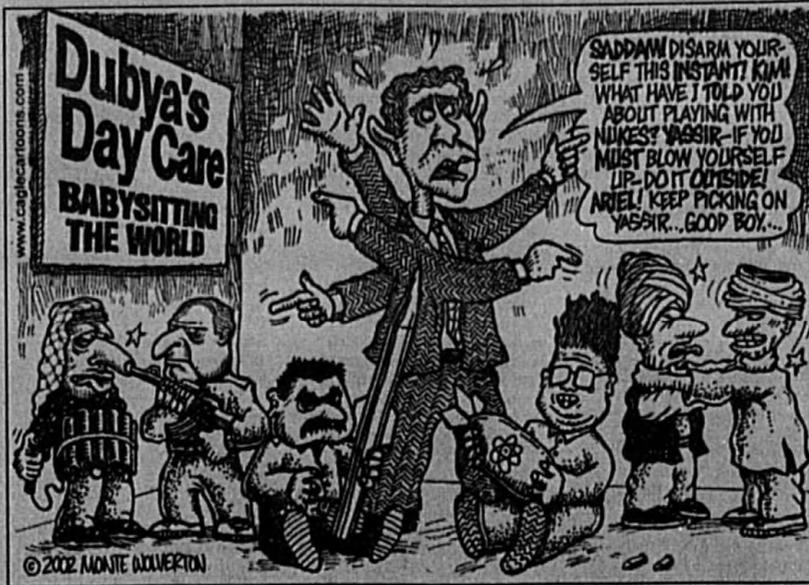

One necessity they had to provide for themselves was their own undergarments. They could take a few pairs when they left, hoping the folks back home would send them packages containing more, as the months went on.

While servicemen were always waiting for packages of candy, cookies and other foods, the army was to provide two meals per day, one rather small around noontime, and the evening meal, which was to be cooked. Also, if available, they would be assigned a certain amount of alcoholic beverage per day. Soldiers just in training, or not in an actual battle situation, would have only one pint of whisky or rum per day, (government supplied). Those in battle would be allowed two or three pints per day.

They would (at least on paper) not be allowed to march more than 50 miles per day, unless their officers thought more ground should be covered.

The military pay was also approached in the document. Soldiers were to receive, depending on their rank, $1 to $3 per month, a low wage even at that time in history.

In modern times, service in the military isn't quite as rough as it used to be, but we commend these reservists in preparing ahead. Hopefully, they will never have to go overseas in the pending conflicts, but if they do, while we won't have to send them underwear, we will have to give them our support.

Smith invites community to annual dinner

To the editor:
"On my honor, I will do my best, to do my duty, to God and my Country."
Each week thousands of Central Florida youth make this pledge as they raise their hands in the Scout sign and repeat the Scout Oath. Not many places in society today offer the kind of value-based activities found in Scouting. In 2003, the Boy Scouts of America celebrates 93 years of service to the youth of America. Please join me at the fifth annual Seminole County Boy Scouts Golden Eagle Dinner. In addition to an interesting and brief program to update you on Scouting, we will honor Dr. Paul Hagerty, superintendent of Seminole County Public Schools for his contributions to our community, 42 years of service to education and celebrate his retirement. The dinner is Wednesday, March 5, at the Orlando-Mariotti-Lake Mary, 1501 International Parkway, Lake

Mary. Reception is at 6 p.m. with dinner at 7 p.m. Although there is no cost to attend, during the dinner, attendees are asked to pledge their financial support to Scouting. Also, companies have the option of purchasing corporate sponsorships. For additional information, fax to 407-889-4702. George E. Smith Dinner Chairperson

Where did all these democrats come from?

The men and women of the permanent government here woke up after the holidays and noticed two things: snow, which has been rare in these parts for years, and that there are still Democrats in the capital.

The loyal opposition was popping up everywhere, usually one at a time and usually announcing a candidacy for the Democratic nomination for president in 2004.

"First stirrings," the great chronicler of presidential elections, Theodore H. White, used to call the beginnings of the campaign. The first Democratic stirrer was a man named Howard Dean, who said he was governor of Vermont, a state, title and name that meant nothing here. He, like Bill Clinton and Jimmy Carter before him, was immediately dismissed by both Democrats and Republicans as an outlander trying to get his name in the papers.

But then came two senators, John Kerry and John Edwards, who seem handsome enough and rich enough for a campaign, and House Minority Leader Richard Gephardt, who has been around long enough. Then there are Sens. Joseph Lieberman, Bob Graham and Christopher Dodd, who hear "Hail to the Chief" as they shave each morning. The Rev. Al Sharpton wants his name and face in the papers and lights.

Others may surface, too; the most interesting of them could be Sen. Dianne Feinstein.

What's happening to these folks who were hiding in plain sight this past year or so? Well, yes, it was politic to avoid criticizing President Bush with the nation at rhetorical war around the globe. But now it seems safe, for the most obvious of reasons: Professional Democrats now think Bush and the Republicans are screwing up and calculate that there is a real chance that the Lone Star Ranger may end up a one-term president like his father.

The Democrats are beginning to think that George Bush, as popular as he is right now, does not know what he's doing abroad. Examples? There are two big ones — war and war:

— Bush declared war on terror after Sept. 11, and the nation rallied 'round the only president we have. Now he is declaring war on every country and evil that comes to his attention. God knows, the United States has a lot of power, but the only person in town who thinks we have enough power to take on all the bad guys out there is Bush's Tonto, Secretary of Defense Donald Rumsfeld.

— Bush is declaring class war at home — at least that is how Democrats see it. He believes, as far as anyone can tell, that the way to create the prosperity of full employment is to ensure that the investing class has enough money to spend to keep the working class working at one job, or two or three. Many Democrats are willing to bet that he has gone too far in removing or trying to remove any tax or regulation that inhibits people with enough money to invest. Mario Cuomo, a Democrat who did not understand that you have to run for president to become president, came here the other day to interpret Bush's economic policy as: "I declare war on all the rest of you."

The Republicans are not worried about Cuomo or his ilk. They are much more worried about Democrats who call themselves "moderate," and right now that means Edwards, the cutie-pie who says he represents "the regular people" — as in class warfare against the rich. (Edwards is, of course, very rich himself, enough to essentially buy a Senate seat in North Carolina and put up seed money for a national campaign.) On the day the North Carolinian announced, the Republican National Committee sent me and just about every other reporter in town a 15-page e-mail denouncing him as "an unaccomplished liberal in moderate clothing."

Among the RNC headlines was the citation of a state poll indicating that Edwards would lose his own state, North Carolina, to Bush by 17 percentage points. But the 2004 presidential race will not be decided by what North Carolinians thought in 2002. In fact, it will not be decided by what anyone thinks about Edwards. The election will be about Bush.

To win a second term, Bush has to win his wars. Success will be its own reward. If he is right about the general benefit of the rich getting richer, he will be very hard to beat. If he prevails in all or most of the confrontations he seems to seek around the world, he will be very hard to beat. What is happening now politically is that many Democrats think he will fail, that most voters can be persuaded that Republicans don't care about them, and that the administration's aggressive military policy will win more enemies than friends.

Bush wants to elevate judge with suspect past

After Trent Lott's longing for a segregated past embarrassed the White House, President Bush got busy trying to repair the damage.

First, he arranged to have Lott deposed as Senate majority leader. Then, the White House suggested that the president would reinvestigate his efforts to attract minority voters. After all, President Bush has always claimed to be interested in a racially diverse Republican Party. But he isn't serious. If he were, he would not insist on sending U.S. District Judge Charles Pickering, a close associate of Lott's, to the U.S. Court of Appeals for the 5th Circuit (Texas, Mississippi, Louisiana). Pickering's political and judicial record on issues of race is troubling, at best.

Early in his career, Pickering established a record of staunch support for segregationist views. But his many friends and supporters — not just Lott, but also well-known activists such as James Charles Evers, brother of slain civil rights leader Medgar Evers — claim he has long since renounced those views and worked to eliminate racial disparities in Mississippi.

That may be true. But Pickering's recent record still suggests a glaring racial insensitivity — a callousness that ought to give the White House pause. Just one example is Pickering's handling of a 1994 cross-burning case over which he presided as a federal judge.

Pickering was upset because Daniel Swan, one of three white men convicted, was sentenced to 7 1/2 years under strict federal guidelines. Two co-defendants had received lighter sentences because they pled guilty. (There is nothing unusual about prosecutors offering lesser sentences in exchange for guilty pleas.)

Pickering called prosecutors into his chambers to insist that they reduce the sentence against Swan, calling his actions a "drunken prank." He threatened to order a new trial if they didn't comply. (The men not only burned a cross in the yard of an interracial couple, but they also fired shots into the house, which just missed the couple's baby. I can't imagine Pickering demanding a lesser sentence for a black man convicted of a similar crime.)

Pickering also called the U.S. Justice Department to complain about federal sentencing guidelines, even suggesting that U.S. Attorney General Janet Reno intervene. Eventually, prosecutors caved in and dropped one of the charges against Swan — although he had already been convicted. As a result, Pickering was able to sentence Swan to 27 months.

Not only did Pickering's handling of the case raise questions of racial insensitivity, but his lobbying on behalf of a convicted criminal was also shamefully unethical.

So were Pickering's answers to questions about his record during an earlier confirmation process, in 1990. Asked about his relationship with the Mississippi Sovereignty Commission, a staunchly anti-black group formed in the 1950s to resist the civil rights movement, Pickering said: "I never had any contact with the Sovereignty Commission." But the record shows Pickering was an ally, voting to give the group state funds when he was a Mississippi state senator in the 1970s.

Pickering might have renounced his segregationist past, but he surely must understand that he can still be called to account for it. If he has had a change of heart, he has no reason to hide the truth.

There are scores of other conservative judges who would not bring Pickering's baggage to the confirmation process. So why would Bush insist on Pickering? Why would the president, who probably doesn't have a racist bone in his body, stand by Lott's friend?

Because in the White House, the only real agenda is winning re-election in 2004. So Bush constantly courts his ultraconservative base, including religious conservatives who admire Pickering's rigid anti-abortion views as well as Southern whites who still resent progressive racial policies. In standing by Pickering, Bush pays homage to both groups.

On matters of race, President Bush clearly finds political expediency more important than moral leadership.

The Way We Were: Gas rationing and steel collections occur in 1942

The year 1942 continued to be a busy one during July - September. The locals had a big July 4th celebration, enjoyed a new A&P Store, and Sanford celery workers were laboring in Syracuse. Gas rationing began, scrap metal and rubber continued to be collected and the Navy base was taking shape. Sanford men continued to enlist in the various branches of service while others were drafted and sent off with big fanfares.

Grace Marie Stinecipher

This was World War II as experienced by the city and its residents as chronicled by Peter Schaal in "Sanford and the World War II Years, 1936-45."

July 4th celebration

The Sanford Concert Orchestra played in the bandshell during the July 4th Celebration. It was made up of R.M. Ball, Virginia Chapman, Huston Babcock, violinists; Mrs. F. Bauer, bass; Oscar Eckstein, Billy Brumley, H. Wait, R.E. Kipp, Eugene Kendall, horns; H.C. Haskins, solo clarinet; M.L. "Sonny" Raborn, mellophone; Herman Brumley, Ed White, trombones; Hugh Wheelchel, saxophone; Rosemary Burdick, snare drum; Dorothy Crumley, bass drum; Willard Connelly, guitar; Charlotte Isbill, piano.

Over 6,000 people enjoyed the parade, concert, beauty contest, fish fry and rodeo events held that day, some at Fort Mellon Park. Valerie Wells won the beauty contest. E.E. Householder was master of ceremonies for the speaking program. Speakers were Cdr. R.H. Gumble of NAS

Jacksonville, State Ration Board Chairman W.C. Sherman, and Fuller Warren. The parade was directed by Ned Smith while Gus Schmah was fish fry chairman. Troops from Camp Blanding were in the parade.

Business/Farming

On July 1, Gray Taxi Cab Company raised rates to 40 cents to the Navy base, and 25 cents to any point in the city limits. On Sept. 3, the company advertised for women drivers, as all the men were leaving.

On July 4, Florida Hotel introduced J.A. Childre as its new manager with Mrs. Pearl Hansel as dining room operator. A few weeks later, Mrs. Hansel began bingo games at the hotel with Navy men crowding the spot every night.

Mrs. Lourine Beal became Sanford Herald advertising manager while Marjorie Cogburn became society editor.

Earl Evans, manager, opened the doors of the new A&P, located on Magnolia Avenue at Second Street on July 23. One of the oldest firms in Sanford, Speers Department Store, closed its doors.

C.H. McNulty of Melbourne, bought controlling interest in Florida State Bank and became president with J.E. Rowland holding over as cashier.

Over 300 celery workers, mostly from Sanford, were in the Syracuse, N.Y. area, managed by W.T. Whitehead and Keith Westfall.

War Related Events at Home

The final rubber drive count reached 252,000 pounds. The quota was 66,000. Agent Dawson reported 235,000 pounds of scrap metal was collected and sold for 25 cents per pound. The Legion Post was proud to be the fifth in Florida in collecting 5,000 old phonograph records for scrap use. The post also volunteered to dig up an old four-ton boiler on the Ben Fish farm to add to the scrap drive. Seminole County led the state in percentage of scrap metal collected.

Motorists were swarming to filling stations to fill tanks before gas rationing began on Sept. 22. The new "A" gas rationing stamps were worth four gallons per week; "B" stamps could be used for nine gallons; "C" stamps, for essential purchases, could be used for up to 32 gallons.

W.B. Hester, SPAR gas station owner, at French and 10th Street, was found guilty of violating gas rationing regulations and was prohibited from selling gas for 30 days.

Although 15 teachers had resigned, married or were in war work, all county schools opened on schedule Sept. 14. (I entered first grade at Southside Primary. Miss Zillah Welch was my teacher).

Sheriff Hand and Chief Williams instructed their men to crack down on all motorists who violated the national 35 mile per hour speed limit effective Oct. 1.

Sanford Naval Air Station

Over one million feet of timber was stacked at the Navy base which was patrolled by eight saddle horse riders.

The Navy payroll was at 635 with 90 percent investing in war bonds according to bond sale chairman V.A. Speer. On July 29 the Navy payroll was $25,000 per week for 900 employees.

Navy base finger printer, B.F. Whitner, Jr. reported that 400 prints had been made by September 29.

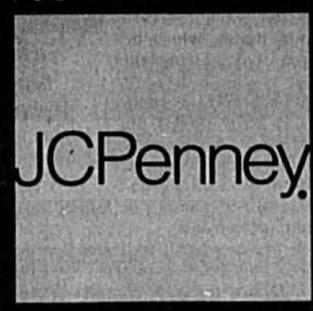

Sanford Men in Service

EPL Manager H.H. Coleman was ordered to Dartmouth with a Navy lieutenant commission. Jack Bolt was sent to Miami to win his Navy wings. Ensign W.L. Cooper, Jr. was ordered to report

Luther McWorter and Robert Steele joined the Air Corps.

Dismayed over the local reaction to his book "Small Town South" with a Sanford Setting, Sam Byrd wrote that he was spending his leave time in New York City rather than at home.

Greg Kinlaw was at home for the first time in four years. He told of his experiences at Pearl Harbor.

Over 400 were at the draft board when Judge Householder spoke to the first 40 black draftees. The Crooms High School band serenaded them.

On July 29, over 200 were at the bandshell when the draftees got a warm sendoff with cigarettes, books, candy, etc. The OAFB band played and the Banana River NAS displayed three sea planes.

On Sept. 23, Earl Kipp directed a bandshell program at which Supt. T.W. Lawton congratulated the draftees on their opportunity to be of service to their county. Mr. Fellows' band played and the Legion Auxillary distributed cigarettes, candy, magazines, etc.

Reported missing in action in Japan during this time period was Capt. John C. Hart. Sgt. Robert T. French was missing in Australia.

Church Activities

Rev. George W. Zeimer, pastor of Southside Baptist Church accepted a call to Sunday afternoon services at Osteen Baptist Church.

First Baptist Church membership reached 959 with 72 members in service. The years' contributions totaled $10,113.39.

Sports

With so many youth employed at the Navy base, only 16 turned out on Aug. 31 for Coach McLucas' first SHS grid practice. On Sept. 15, 50 turned out. L.V. McLaulin was line coach.

Lake City's visit to SHS Football game was postponed when transportation failed.

SPOTLIGHT ON BUSINESS

A True Counselor Of Law, In Spirit And In The Courts

During the past 21 years, Maher Guiley & Maher has been privileged to have John Jones "of counsel" to the law firm. Mr. Jones opened his law office in Seminole County 30 years ago and has strong ties throughout the Central Florida community.

Senior partner Michael Maher and Mr. Jones both attended Stetson University College of Law. When Mr. Maher was in his last year, Mr. Jones was in his first. Mr. Jones says that, in 1980 "Mike became my mentor. I decided to focus my law practice. I changed from a shotgun approach in law, doing the whole spectrum of cases, to using a targeted approach, helping injured people."

Outside of his law office, John has two commitments: his family and his church. He has a long history of involvement and leadership at Calvary Assembly of God. As vice-chairman of the board at Calvary Assembly, he is part of the leadership that serves 5,000 parishioners. He is extremely proud of the successful campaign that eliminated the church's debt of $15 million in 2000.

Mr. Maher says that Mr. Jones is a great asset to the law firm for many reasons. "John has the best reputation of any lawyer that I've ever known. He has developed deep friendships in the community. His empathy for people and his ability to communicate with everyone is exceptionally strong and sincere."

Mr. Maher adds, "John is truly every man." Mr. Jones has a broad range of experience from working as a professional football scout for the Kansas City Chiefs to four years' active duty in the Navy during Vietnam and 18 additional years in the Navy Reserves through Desert Storm during which he obtained the rank of Lieutenant Commander.

He also serves on the board of directors for Calvary Towers, a HUD project for lower income elderly people and persons with handicaps. Through this involvement, Mr. Jones became aware of medical problems faced by the elderly. For example, he learned early on of defects with Sulzer hip replacements.

On a personal level, Mr. Jones and his wife Carolyn, like many families, help to care for an elderly parent. They have been with Carolyn's mother through her transition from an assisted living facility into a nursing home, where they visit her daily. As a lawyer, he is particularly astute regarding nursing homes and other difficulties the elderly face.

As a child, Mr. Jones lost his father who was killed by a drunk driver, and he was raised by a single mother who faced the struggles that usually occur in those situations. At the same time, she instilled values in him that he lives by today. Knowing this helps with an understanding of Mr. Jones' personal devotion to helping people.

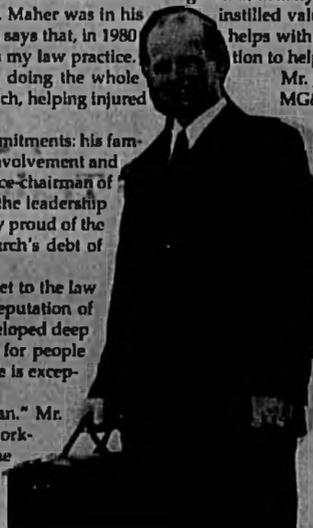

Mr. Jones works with the partners and associates at MG&M on significant medical negligence, wrongful death and automobile accident cases. In his 30 years as a lawyer, Mr. Jones has exhibited an outspoken respect for the legal system and developed tremendous credibility with the judges in the Central Florida area. According to Mr. Maher, "John's professional manner has influenced the younger members of our firm with their professional development as lawyers. He stresses the ethics that he has demonstrated so strongly throughout his career."

The mutual respect between Mr. Maher and Mr. Jones is obvious and extends to their personal friendship. Mr. Jones says, "I see much of Mike's strength of character in his son, Steve. I will work with them as long as I practice law."

Mr. Jones' ties to the community have been further strengthened through his three children. His son, Randy, is a city commissioner in Sanford and is dedicated to planning for the future and improving the lives of his constituents. His daughter, Julie, has given Mr. Jones and his wife three grandchildren. Their younger son, Andrew, is in his first year of law school at FAMU.

In his church community, Mr. Jones has counseled people from all walks of life who face problems and tragedies in their lives. As a lawyer, he is able to conduct both his personal life and career by his own moral standards, while at the same time accepting people in a completely non-judgmental manner. This is an invaluable characteristic when helping people solve problems and change their lives for the better. John Jones is truly a "counselor" of law.

attempt to remodel without permits," said Robles. "They don't think they will get caught."

According to Robles, he has contacted the building's owner, Michael K. Jackson of Sanford, to resolve the problems.

"My goal is to get the city of Sanford happy and have the thing done right to keep them off my tail," said Jackson, property owner since 1980. "I have some-one ready to lease the building, so I have to get the building up to code."

"I recently had to sell my house and file for bankruptcy," he added. "I'm living off my savings account and credit cards. I have to buy food."

According to reports, this is not the first time Jackson has received complaints from the city of Sanford.

According to Jackson, he spent $10,500 throughout the past year to remodel the building and prepare for the new tenant to move in. Jackson says, the events during the weekend were not meant to break any rules.

"I ordered new doors, but they were a little too big for the frame," said Jackson. "We removed the trim only to find the support beam missing. The city thinks we did it, but we didn't — it was the previous tenant."

According to Jackson, several years ago someone drove into the building. The tenant at the time, Bill Shanks, took the insurance money, but didn't fix the structure properly. Instead, he covered the hole with a piece of painted plywood. The structure has remained vacant since the previous tenant moved out nearly a year ago.

"I was living in DeLand at the time and I had no way of knowing what was going on," said Jackson.

After the building is brought up to code, Jackson plans to lease the building for $1,500 or sale the structure for $375,000.

in 1931 with winner Dorothy Haines of Sanford, took place periodically until Boothe took responsibility in 1999. Now in its fourth consecutive year, the scholarship pageant continues to be a mainstay in the county.

In order to determine the winner, five judges will critique contestants in several areas, including presentation and community achievement in a private interview (40 percent), artistic expression in talent (30 percent), lifestyle and fitness in swimsuit (10 percent) and presence and poise in evening wear with on-stage interview (10 percent). New to the pageant this year, is a general allowance which accounts for 10 percent of the contestant's overall.

The highest and lowest scores in each category will be thrown out. When the remaining three scores are compiled the winner will be named.

Dorothy Haines of Sanford won the first Miss Seminole County Scholarship Pageant, which was held in 1931.

Winter Springs Commission meets Monday

The Winter Springs City Commission will meet Monday, Jan. 13, beginning at 6:30 p.m. in the commission chambers. Among items on the agenda is a request to reject the Winter Springs Little League proposal regarding concession operations at Central Winds Park, and appointments to the Planning and Zoning Board and Board of Trustees (Pension Plan).

You are invited to MESSIAH IN THE PASSOVER

The Messiah in the Passover is a visual message that illustrates not only Israel's freedom from slavery in Egypt, but also how individuals can be redeemed from the bondage of sin. After having this program, one Pastor said, It was Awesome! "Everyone I talked to said it gave them not only a deeper understanding of Passover but also the communion table!"

Sanford natives complete Marine Corps basic training

Marine Corps Pvt. Brian J. Young, Pfc. Arthur Davis, Pvt. Chad Fuller, Pfc. Jonas S. Thomas, and Pfc. T.J. Hunter, all of Sanford, recently completed basic training at Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S.C. Young, a 2002 graduate of Seminole High School, is the son of Toni U. Young of Greenway Street in Sanford. Davis is also a 2002 graduate of Seminole High School. Hunter is the son of Gwen Bryant and Dwayne F. Hunter, 116 Scott Drive in Sanford, is a 2002 graduate of Seminole High School. Fuller is the son of Debbie Fuller, 1114 Park Avenue, Sanford, and a 2000 graduate of Gaither High School, Tampa. Thomas is the son of Kelly S. and Robert P. Thomas of Still Forest Terrace, Sanford, and was a 2002 graduate of Seminole High School. He was meritoriously promoted to his current rank at the completion of his training. Young, Davis, Fuller, Thomas and Hunter successfully completed 12 weeks of training designed to challenge new Marine recruits both physically and mentally. They also received instruction on the Marine Corps' core values - honor, courage and commitment, and what the words mean in guiding personal and professional conduct. They, along with fellow recruits ended the training phase with The Crucible, a 54-hour team effort, problem solving evolution which culminated with an emotional ceremony in which the recruits were presented the Marine Corps Emblem, and were addressed as "Marines" for the first time since boot camp began.

anchors will be installed and a concrete cap will be poured to secure the new panels. Ed Waters and Sons of Jacksonville is installing the panels. "They are a very experienced company," Smith said. "In fact they drove the largest piling in the state for the Florida Department of Transportation." The company uses high-powered jets of water to install each panel, Smith said. The panels, most of which are 20 feet tall, 4 feet wide and 9 inches thick, are lowered into the water by a crane. Four three-inch pipes straddle the panel and shoot jets of water in the area the seawall panel is to be installed. Smith said turbulence created by the jets displaces the sand, soil and mud on the lake bottom so the panels can be inserted several feet below the floor of Lake Monroe. Once the panel is in place and the jets turned off, sand and soil naturally backfill the hole, securing the panel in place. After the initial 20 panels are installed, Smith said crews working four 10-hour days should be able to insert about 20 panels per day or 80 panels per week. Installation will slow once work reaches the marina and Memorial Park. The park will have to have several corner panels installed, and because the panels must fit together snugly, crews will not know the exact dimensions until the installation process reaches those areas. "Those panels will have to be built when we get to that point," Smith said. The panels are built by Gate Concrete of Jacksonville. Smith said the company can build 45 panels per day but can only truck five at a time, which will require about 350 trips between Jacksonville and Sanford. "When we get west of the marina, Gate may decide to deliver the panels by barge," Smith said. "Their facility is right on the St. Johns River, so it would be no problem for them. The reason we aren't doing that now is that it's not deep enough on the east end to bring in a barge, and Gate understandably doesn't want to handle the panels twice before they are installed." Smith said there have been no major obstacles in the early stages of the project, though a rather large impediment may temporarily block work near the marina. "We've done some sonar and there is a large object on the west end of the marina," Smith said. "We're not sure what it is, but it looks like a Volkswagen." Smith said the sonar also detected a "very deep hole with lots of fish" nearby. "I've told them I'm going to be watching to see if any buoys with fishing lines pop up over that area," Smith chuckled.

the two early December purchases.

On Wednesday, Jan. 8, the agent contacted Lopez and asked to purchase 9 ounces of cocaine. Lopez called Ochoa, who informed Lopez that the agent should meet him at the Walgreens located at the corner of U.S. Highway 17/92 and State Road 46.

Ochoa

While Lopez and the agent traveled to the site, agents with the CCIB apprehended Ochoa as he drove to meet the two men. Agents found the 9 ounces of cocaine shortly after he left to make the drug deal. They found another 9 ounces of cocaine and the cash.

Ochoa was arrested at the scene of his traffic stop and transported to John E. Polk Correctional Facility in Seminole County. Lopez left the drop point with a female, Raquel Benavides, prior to Ochoa's arrest. Agents later found Lopez at his home, where he was arrested before he was taken to the Polk correctional facility.

Sweet Viburnum: A versatile tree for the Central Florida landscape

The sweet viburnum, a tree native to Japan and the Himalaya region, is a common plant in the landscape of central Florida. The viburnum, a member of the honeysuckle family is an evergreen tree with leathery, dark green leaves and white fragrant blooms in the spring. This versatile tree can be used as a small tree, hedge or in foundation plantings near large buildings. The tree produces small, red to black berries that are attractive to wildlife.

opposite, oval, and about 6 inches long, with a leathery texture and smooth upper surface that produce a characteristic aroma when crushed. Blooming occurs in the spring. The flowers are very fragrant, white, tubular, about 1/4 of an inch and borne in showy terminal panicles to 4 inches long. The fruit is a drupe bearing a single seed, about 1/4 of an inch, initially red but turning black at maturity.

Al Ferrer

Culture
Viburnum in containers can be transplanted at any time of the year. Plant the tree in a sunny location for better growth and bloom production. This plant can be grown in most soil types and can tolerate a wide range of pH but the soil must have good drainage. Once established the plant has a high drought tolerance but will benefit from supplemental irrigation once a week. Use a complete fertilizer in March, June and September to promote growth and healthy tissues. Pruning is probably one of the few necessary cultural practices this plant needs.

When grown as a small tree, it will require pruning to control size and shape. It can be trained to one or multiple trunks. Interior sprouts and branches need to be removed to make the trunk show. Usually, a natural compact canopy will develop without any training.

Most commonly, Viburnum is used as a hedge that is kept pruned half as wide as tall. It is also used as residential street tree, container or above ground planter, a shade tree near a deck or patio, and small parking lot islands. This tree grows well in urban areas where air pollution, poor drainage, compact soil or drought is prevalent. Propagation is mainly by cuttings or layering. The cultivar "Emerald Lustre" has larger leaves and "Nanum" is a dwarf form. The cultivar aiwabuki also known as mirror-leaf viburnum has large glossy leaves and produces beautiful red berries.

Pest and Diseases
Plants are usually considered pest free but occasional pests can do some damage. The Viburnum aphid, mites, whitefly, and bagworms may be present but cause little or no appreciable damage to the plants.

Bacterial and fungal leaf spots can also cause some damage to the plant but usually they cause no serious problems. Shoot blight causes grayish to brown dead spots on the leaves.

The spots first appear at the leaf margins and spread to the rest of the leaf. Infected flower clusters or twigs might be killed by the pathogen. Remove by pruning infected tissues and apply a copper fungicide to control this problem. Downy mildew and powdery mildew can also be present but they do not seriously damage the plants.

Al Ferrer is Seminole County Urban Horticulturist. Inquiries may be directed to him at the Cooperative Extension service, 250 W. County Home Road, Sanford, FL 32773 or phone 888-5558. All Seminole County Cooperative Extension services are open to all regardless of race, color, sex, handicap or national origin.

The plant
The viburnum is a small tree that can grow up to 20 feet tall but is usually smaller in the urban environment. The tree has a rapid growth with a multi-branched round canopy and the trunk has prominent raised lenticels. The leaves are simple,

Revolutionary Varicose Vein Treatment Brings New Hope to Sufferers

Oviedo, FL—By age 55, nearly 1 out of 2 Americans will be afflicted with unsightly and painful varicose veins. If left untreated, varicose veins can often lead to serious complications such as phlebitis, leg ulcers, and potentially life-threatening blood clots. For decades, millions of varicose vein sufferers have chosen to live with their condition rather than undergo painful "vein stripping" surgery to remove the defective veins. There's not a revolutionary new procedure that's transforming the treatment of varicose veins. It's called Endovenous Foam Treatment™, and it's giving new hope to those who thought shorts or skirts were part of their past.

For those suffering from varicose and spider veins, the problem often originates in the greater saphenous vein – the main blood vessel that runs from the ankle to the groin. Tributary veins empty blood into the saphenous vein, which carries blood to the deep veins and ultimately back to the heart. When the valves of this vein stop functioning, it becomes varicose. This causes blood to backup into the tributary veins causing them to become varicose as well. Until now, the usual option was to have the saphenous vein painfully stripped from groin to ankle in the hospital with the risks of general anesthesia, prolonged recovery, potential infection, and unsightly scars – not to mention the expense. There's now a safe, comfortable and cost-effective alternative developed by Dr. Daniel Thomas called Endovenous Foam Treatment™. With this new procedure, under ultrasound guidance, a slender catheter is inserted into the saphenous vein at the knee through a tiny needle stick in the skin. A special foam medication is then infused into the diseased vein. The foam irritates the lining of the vein causing it to contract and close, allowing blood to be rerouted to healthy veins. The treated vein then becomes harmless fibrous tissue and is gradually absorbed into the body. There is virtually no discomfort afterwards and no downtime.

Since 1987, Dr. Daniel Thomas has been a pioneer in the treatment of veins. He is certified by the American Board of Sclerotherapy and has 15 years of experience. He is a Member of the American College of Phlebology, and is an author, teacher and researcher. Dr. Thomas has performed over 60,000 vein-related procedures. Using the most advanced techniques available, he has improved the lives of thousands of patients.

For more information on the new Endovenous Foam Treatment™ procedure, visit the Clinic's website at www.noveins.com, or contact them by phone at 407-971-9600.

Oviedo, Lake Mary boys teams post impressive wins

By Chris Bernhardt
Herald correspondent

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Lake Brantley High School's boy's basketball team may already have three more wins than all of last season, but Wednesday night they found out they still have some work to do. In a home game against local powerhouse Oviedo High School, the Patriots took one on the chin in a 66-46 defeat.

"It's a young group," Lake Brantley head coach Steve Jucker said. "Our defense still needs work, offensive execution. So we've got a long way to go yet but hopefully by the end of the season we'll be all right."

The Lions set the tone quickly as Pat Kiscaden scored five points to help Oviedo out to an early 12-2 advantage. After Jucker called a timeout, the Patriots regained some control to close the period on an 8-3 run.

The Patriots' Todd Stamp hit a three-pointer early in the second quarter to cut the Lion's edge to 15-13. Yet Lake Brantley could get no closer, allowing Oviedo to score seven straight points and open up a 22-13 lead.

But the Patriots stormed back once again, ending the quarter hot and leaving the Lions with just a 34-30 halftime lead.

"At times we played well, at times we just seemed like we were going through the motions," Oviedo head coach Ed Kershner said. "A lot of that is because of Lake Brantley. And I thought at times they really played well."

Oviedo came out more focused after the break, getting 12 points from Grant Herren and eight from Raul Davila en route to dominating the second half. The Lions continually capitalized on scoring opportunities while the Patriots struggled to score just 16 in the half.

"We didn't compete the entire game," Jucker said. "You got to play four quar-

Raider women ease past Brevard

By Craig Johnson
Herald correspondent

SANFORD — Despite a sloppy offensive effort, the Seminole Community College women's basketball team still managed to shoot 45-percent from the floor in a 75-51 victory over Brevard Community College at the Health and Physical Education Center Wednesday night.

The Raiders have now won six straight and 10 of their last 11 and are stand 14-7 on the season heading into the start of Mid-Florida Conference play this Wednesday.

The schedule makers did not give SCC any breaks however, as the two-time defending conference champions must open play at favored Daytona Beach Community College. The Falcons, who have finished second to the Raiders in the SAC both years, are 21-1 and ranked No. 7 in the nation.

The women will begin the night's action at 6 p.m. and will be followed by what figures to be another excellent matchup between the SCC and DBCC men. The No. 5 state-ranked Raider men are 15-5 and on a five-game winning streak, while the Falcon men, the defending M-FC champions, have also been on a roll after a very slow start to the season.

Sophomore Yamil Cordero came off the bench and nailed a three-pointer on her first touch to give SCC an 8-2 lead just over three minutes into the game Wednesday.

The Titans closed to within 10-7 and trailed just 13-9 when the hosts finally got going behind a strong defense and the offense of Rosanna Davis and Lauren Boyd as the Raiders closed the half on a 24-

The rebounding and inside play of freshmen Rosanna Davis (No. 34, above) and LaTasha Johnson (No. 22, left) have been key in the turnaround over the past month for the Seminole Community College women's basketball team. In addition to their strong rebounding and defense, Johnson scored 53 points and Davis 40 points over the past four games as SCC ran its winning streak to six games and overall the team has won 10 of 11 to improve to 14-7 on the season. Mid-Florida Conference play this Wednesday (Jan. 15) with the two-time defending conference champions opening play at favored Daytona Beach Community College. Bobby Labonte fastest on final day for odds

DAYTONA BEACH — The first round of NASCAR Preseason Thunder ended Thursday at Daytona International Speedway as NASCAR Winston Cup Series teams wrapped up a three-day test in preparation for the Feb. 16 Daytona 500.

Bobby Labonte (No. 18 Interstate Batteries Chevrolet) had the fastest lap of two "regular" sessions, at 183.539 mph. There also was a one-hour "drafting" session during which cars were permitted to run in packs if they desired.

Preseason Thunder continues Saturday at DIS, with the first of three test days for the NASCAR Craftsman Truck Series. The NASCAR Winston Cup teams return Jan.

14-16, with the second round reserved for teams with owners who had even-numbered finishes in the 2002 owners points. This week's three-day test run was for the "odds".

Labonte, the 2000 NASCAR Winston Cup champion, has switched from Pontiacs to Chevrolets this year.

"We're excited," Labonte said. "We spent 2 1/2 days working on things. One car [we eventually set aside] and just worked on the other car."

"Today we put everything on that car and came up with the fastest lap. Falback (Michael McSwain, Labonte's crew chief) and the guys did a great job working on the car. Obviously we feel good coming out of Daytona with the fastest lap."

Michael Waltrip (No. 15 NAPA Chevrolet), the 2001 Daytona 500 champion, ended his testing strongly. He had the day's second-fastest lap, a 183.445 posted in the afternoon. Waltrip, also the winner of last year's Pepsi 400 at Daytona, also had the morning session's fast lap, 183.423.

Elliott Sadler (No. 38 M&Ms Ford) looked ready to prove his runner-up finish at last year's 500 was no fluke. Sadler was second-fastest in Thursday's morning session at 183.277, then third-fastest in the afternoon at 183.423. A total of 40 cars tested on Thursday; 24 participated in the drafting session.

Cars hooked up in packs at various times during the session, which was topped by

Top girls quintets continue winning

By Chris Bernhardt

OVIDO — Two of the best high school girl's basketball teams in Seminole County squared off Tuesday. But only one played up to the billing.

Oviedo sent Lake Brantley home with a 44-28 defeat, only the third of the season for the Patriots.

"We didn't play well at all," Lake Brantley head coach Mimi Sams said. "We turned the ball over too many times, couldn't make good decisions."

"It appeared things would go Lake Brantley's way early when Andrea Beluarte hit two three-pointers to give her team a quick 6-1 advantage. But the Lions used a trapping defense that seemed to frustrate the Lady Patriots, causing Lake Brantley to continually throw the ball away.

The early turnovers allowed Oviedo to get out to several fast breaks as the Lions went on an 8-0 run to begin the second quarter. Lake Brantley didn't score in the period until the 3:12 mark, when Brittany Mixon hit a lay-up. But the Lady Patriots continued the onslaught from there for a 22-13 halftime edge.

"We should have reacted better (to Oviedo's pressure defense) and we didn't," Sams said. "Our girls are much better than that, I don't know what happened to us tonight."

The Lady Patriots played sharper out of the break and looked like they might make a game of it, but turnovers and poor shooting plagued them down the stretch and allowed Oviedo to pull away for the winning margin.

Whitney Tossie and Sis Losauro each had 13 points to lead the Lions. Mixon paced Lake Brantley with 10.

"Our defensive intensity definitely put us in position to win the game," Oviedo head coach Brad Specht said. "(Lake) Brantley is a much improved team from last year and they showed it tonight. It's definitely a good quality win for us."

Both teams picked up wins on Thursday as Irimar Hernandez led a balanced attack with 11 points as the Lions (17-1) rolled over Winter Springs, 61-44, despite a game-high 20 points by the Bears' Sara Nuxol.

The Patriots (12-3) also got back into the victory column in impressive fashion as Mehgana Saaji had 23 points and five assists and Mixon grabbed five rebounds in a 71-38 whipping of Lyman, which got 12 points from Oliver.

Lake Mary (17-1) continued to roll, also, running past DeLand (51-30) and Lake Howell (56-33).

Angie Pressey (15 points) and Meghan Chamberlain (.3

Another team that has gotten on a roll of late is Seminole. The Tribe got past Winter Springs (19 points by Noxell), 46-39, on Wednesday as Chequilla Jessie scored 21 points and grabbed 16 rebounds and Denelle Gamble handed out six assists, and Jessie then scored 17 points and collected 16 rebounds as Seminole thwarted DeLand, 56-49, Thursday.

Lake Howell, which got eight points and four rebounds from Kat Luetzow and four assists from Lauren Isaacs against Lake Mary, had won big, 45-28, in a district game over Lyman on Wednesday. Luetzow (13 points, nine rebounds) and Isaacs (13 points, team high assists) had big night's, while Leigh Ann Brown chipped in with nine rebounds against the Greyhounds.

Trinity Prep and The Master's Academy both picked up two wins apiece this week. Badawi (16 points), Chase Kirkwood (seven rebounds) and Gulu (assist) did the damage as the Saints crushed Merritt Island Christian, 59-7, and the same trio Kirkwood (11 points), Badawi (nine rebounds) and Gulu (four assists) had been the big guns on Wednesday in another drilling, 62-24, over Forest Lake Academy.

The Eagles also were huge winners as Porter had 10 points and eight rebounds and Anne Bustran three assists in a 33-14 thumping of Lake Mary Prep, and Phillips had 13 points, Bortz five rebounds and Abby Kohn nine assists in a 64-15 laughter over Eastland Christian on Thursday.

The second half started ugly for coach Lisa Nuxoll's Raiders as they had more turnovers than shots in the first five minutes of the half to allow BCC to close to within nine points.

But Boyd, who turned in her best game of the year (13 points on 4-of-4 shooting from the floor and 5-of-6 from the free throw line) quieted the Titans spark with a nice jumper from the corner and then hit two more free-throws to give the Raiders some breathing room.

Freshman guard Natalie Emmanuelli then made two plays that would make the pro's proud, shaking her defender at the top of the key and hitting Boyd with a no-look pass for an easy two and then making a steal and leaving a two-hand over-the-head pass behind her for a Cordero lay-up and a 58-41 lead, and the rout was on.

MIKE GOOD WINS RED EYE 100 AT NEW SMYRNA SPEEDWAY

SAMSULA — Lake Mary's Mike Good warmed up an otherwise cold night at News Smyrna Speedway last Saturday night (Jan. 4th). The former Seminole High School and Florida State University star offensive lineman, turned successful Lake Mary businessman, showed that he knows his way around race cars as he topped 16 of Florida's best Super Late Model drivers in the first Super Late Model 100 lap race of the year, the Red Eye 100.

Good proved right from the start that he would be a factor on this night as his 18.138-second qualifying lap was second only to Aric Almirola, who set fast time with a 17.931, the only driver to run in the 17 second range. Bruce Lawrence was third with a 18.154.

Because of the luck of the draw, Good started on the pole along side Lawrence. At the drop of the green flag, Good fell back in the pack and bided his time in the long race.

At the halfway mark, 50 laps, Good was not even in the top eight, but the leaders were about to get antsy and started to trade paint. The first caution flag did not fall until Lap 55 and when the race restarted on Lap 60, Good started his move up the ladder.

By the time the second 'yellow' was displayed on Lap 71 Good had moved into second place and inherited the top spot when leader Almirola, who was running his first Super Late Model race, suffered a flat tire.

Good would not give up the lead again despite two more caution periods, the second on Lap 95 bringing out a red flag when Orlando veteran David Rogers and rising star B.J. McLeod got together and hit the wall the turn 1-2 wall. McLeod climbed up the wall but came down on all fours. Both cars were done with only five laps remaining, ending their good runs.

Good held the point on the final restart and took the win followed by Daniel Keene, Lawrence, Almirola, the only cars left on the lead lap, and Jim "Hoot" Flynn who was fifth.

Tim Clark had the point for the Late Model division feature but it was Tim Russell who took the win. Bobby Orr debuted his new #30 Late Model owned by Bobby McClelland. Following Russell to the checkers was Tim Clark, #25, Bobby Orr and Bobby Fleckenger.

David Castello held the point for the Mini Stock feature but it was Tim "Missleman" McPhail who jumped to the lead in the #61 which will be driven by his father during the World Series of Asphalt Stock Car Racing in February. Also joining the Mini Stock field was Mike Williams, son of Michael Williams, in his new #1 Mini Stock. Following McPhail to the checkers was Derrick Reeves, Ted "Mr Mini Stock" Vulpius, Dick Laszlo, and Rex Christensen. In tech, McPhail was dq'd giving the win to Reeves and moving Williams into fifth.

Ron Lufcy took the lead for the Sportsman feature event but it was Mike Trocki who passed Lufcy for the point. Bruce Gayton, one of the regular Sportsman drivers at Orlando SpeedWorld, gave the crowd a thrill when a fire was seen under his car. The race was stopped and Gayton was able to pit and repair and return to the race. Following Trocki to the checkers was Ron Lufcy, Terry Wright, Bruce Gayton, and Dennis Gilliam.

When Jeff Colburn took the point for the Super Stock feature, fans were making sure they still had toes and fingers with the rapidly dropping temperatures. Colburn brought out the caution which turned the lead over to David Gould but it was Charlie Collins who fought Billy Cuddy for the checkers. Collins also did a great save coming off turn 3 when Cuddy pushed him up towards the wall. Following Collins to the checkers was Billy Cuddy, David Gould, Lee Wagner, and Robbie Gauthier.

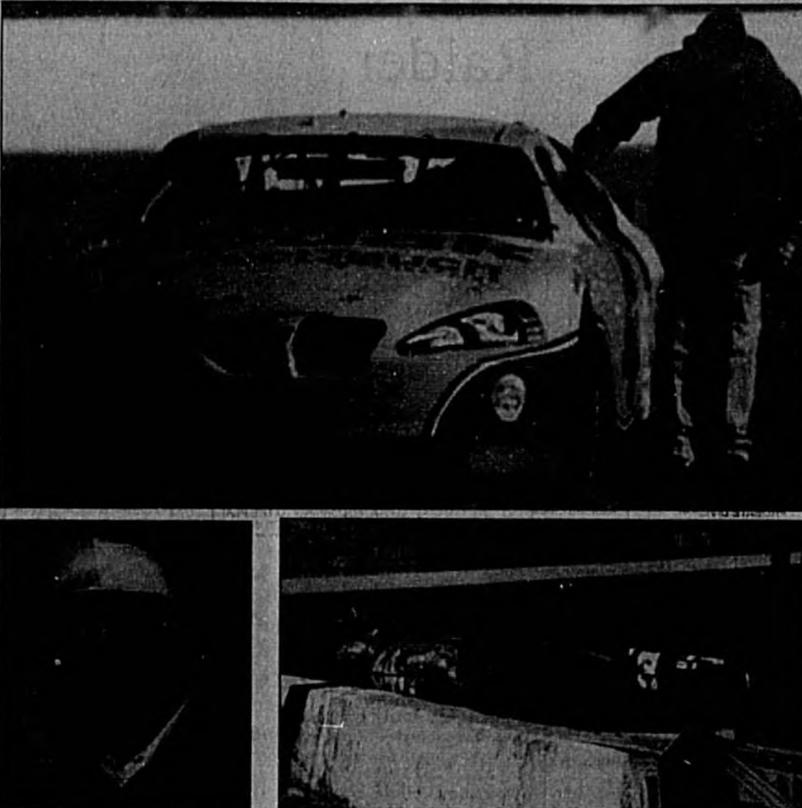

Stane Held, another Orlando regular, held the point for the Modified feature but it was Brad May who took the lead over Held on the green.

May tried but was unable to stop Jerry Symons from taking the point and the win. Following Symons to the checkers was Bray May, Chad Pierce, Shane Held, David LeBeau, and Tom Held.

The last feature event of the night was the Strictly Stock division who saw Tim Edmundson lead from flag to flag. Following Edmundson to the checkers was Jim Leslie, Jeremy Hovencamp, Kerry Payne and James Smith, Sr.

On January 18th, the first Pete Orr Memorial 125 Sunbelt Super Late Model race will open the 2003 season for the Sunbelt Super Late Model Series.

Continued from page 11 ters against Oviedo cause if you let up just a couple of minutes they can bust it wide open. We didn't have any answers for their press."

Stamp led Lake Brantley with 16, while Marquis Johnson scored 11. Oviedo used a balanced scoring attack, with six players netting at least six points. Kiscaden paced the team with 14, while Herren and Davila chipped in with 12 and 10 respectively.

"That's the way we've been playing because of the fact that we're so inexperienced and we sort of have to find out who's going and who's not," Kershner said. "We try to go inside-outside, sometimes it works, sometimes it doesn't."

Lake Brantley, who finished last season 5-21, fell to 8-5 this year. Oviedo improved to 11-4. Lake Mary also picked up a huge district win as it continued its outstanding turnaround season.

Sophomore star Darryl Merthie scored 26 points and handed out five assists as the Rams (8-4) got past defending district runner-up DeLand (8-4), 72-62.

Lake Mary trailed 18-12 after the first period, but then took the lead by outscoring the Bulldogs 25-11 in the second quarter.

Eddie Willingham was the only other Ram in double figure scoring with 19 points, but Keith Wright also had a good night with nine points and 13 rebounds, while Lyndon Merthie, Darryl's cousin, also dropped in nine points and Larry Smith tied for the team lead in assists with five.

RAMS 72, BULLDOGS 62 DeLand (62) Patrick 10, Fisher 13, Whipple 6, Brumbaugh 31, Schroey 2. Totals: 23 11-62. Lake Mary (72) Smith 3, Bryant 6, L. Merthie 9, D. Merthie 26, Wright 9, Willingham 19. Totals: 25 16-72. DeLand 18 11 21 12 62. Lake Mary 12 25 19 16 72

Winter Springs won twice, knocking off Titusville (66-57) in a district game and Seminole (81-49) in an SAC contest on consecutive nights.

Senior scoring machine Ryan Exter had his usual big game with 21 points and six assists against the Terriers, but it was Abel Lucca who came up big against Arrow Force XI with 20 points. Shane Grundhoefer and Jordan Davidson had seven rebounds each against Titusville and Seminole, respectively, while Exter had six assists against the Tribe.

Lake Howell also enjoyed a big district victory, rolling over Lyman, 67-42, Wednesday.

Jared Laskey led the Silver Hawks with 15 points and 10 assists, while Pat Calathes also scored 15 points.

Lake Mary Prep posted pair of victories as C.J. Marimon's 30 points and six assists in an 85-70 win over The Master's Academy and Justin Stanley, who had nine rebounds against Master's, had 26 points and 12 rebounds as the Griffins (10-3) edged Orlando Christian Prep, 70-67.

Master's, who got 20 points from Joey Phillips against LMP, bounced back with a 55-32 thumping of Eastland Christian. Beau Griffin had 11 points.

Trinity Prep (8-4) was also a double winner, nipping Bishop Moore, 53-50, as Omar Qazi scored 18 points and handed out seven assists and Mac Hampden pulled down nine rebounds, and Qazi's 14 points, Chris Bahke's eight rebounds, and Eric Schneider's seven assists were key as the Saints rolled over Melbourne Central Catholic (7-5), 65-44.

In search of Capt. Mellon

By Michelle Jerla
Managing Editor

Until recently, very little was known about Capt. Charles Mellon, the man for which Fort Mellon, Mellonville Avenue and Fort Mellon Park are named.

Many local residents know Mellon served in the U.S. Army during the Second Seminole War and that he died on Feb. 11, 1837, defending the fort. However, no one was really sure if the captain was a family man or what his life was like before he died fighting the Seminoles.

All that changed, however, when Mellon's six-times great grandson contacted the Sanford Museum.

Charles Mellon of California was researching his genealogy when he found information about Fort Mellon and Mellonville on the Sanford Museum's website. He contacted the museum and discovered there is a connection between his family and Sanford's Capt. Mellon.

"The family knew nothing about Sanford and Capt. Mellon except that he fought in the Seminole War," Sanford Museum Curator Alicia Clarke said. "And, we didn't know Capt. Mellon had a family. This is just one of those fortunate things that happens in history."

Local historian Christine Kinlaw-Best started e-mailing Charles Mellon to learn more about his family. She is working on a book about Mellonville and decided communicating with a direct descendant of Capt. Mellon would help in her research. "There's been a lot of serendipity in all of this," Kinlaw-Best said. "I decided I had to do a book on Capt. Mellon, because nothing is known about his early life or after his death. I'd done 10 months of research when Charles Mellon contacted the museum. He was overwhelmed by all the information we had on Capt. Mellon, and we were just happy to learn more about the captain."

Descendants of local icon pay visit to Sanford

Although Charles Mellon — there's been a Charles in every generation since Capt. Mellon — couldn't make the trip, several other Mellon descendants decided to visit Sanford. Charles' sister, Patricia Mellon Hart, her son and daughter-in-law Maynard and Nina, Isabella Mellon and her son Arthur J. Mellon arrived in Sanford earlier this month to tour Mellonville, Sanford and several museums.

"I've been to Orlando several times for the winter, but I knew nothing about Sanford and Mellonville," said Arthur Mellon, who is from Milwaukee. "I'm surprised by all of this, and I will definitely be back."

Even though the group was only in Sanford for a day, they now know the history of Capt. Mellon and the impact he had on the Sanford community. And, local historians know a little more about Mellon's personal life outside of his military life.

There was one thing, however, that didn't surprise Patricia Mellon Hart.

"We've always known that the Mellons are hard headed," Hart said. "When we found out that he led a charge during the Battle of Withlacoochee, it didn't surprise me at all."

Isabella Mellon talks to Sanford Deputy City Manager Roger Dixon while visiting the Sanford Museum. Listening to the conversation is Mellon's son, Arthur J. Mellon Jr. of Milwaukee, Wis. Isabella's husband was a direct descendant of Capt. Charles Mellon.

Sallie Harrison Chapter DAR holds Christmas luncheon, program

By Virginia Mikler
Special to the Herald

Sallie Harrison Chapter DAR members and guests met at the Sanford Garden Club Saturday, Dec. 14, for a Christmas luncheon and program by members of Fort Mellon Society, C.A.R. Tables were beautifully decorated by Fran Morton who used maroon tablecloths centered with ribbon, beads, miniature symbols of Christmas and exquisite ceramic angels. The angels were a gift for all attendees from Regent Virginia Powell. A nativity scene faced the audience from the center of the head table. Colorfully decorated Christmas gift boxes on the registration table added to the festive decor. Caroline and Melissa Schneider, C.A.R. members played Christmas carols on keyboard and violin as guests assembled. Mitch Lassiter, a WW II Army Nurse veteran and the Chapter Chairman for service to veteran patients, received white socks and other items for Christmas gifts for veterans. This is a joint project with Fort Mellon Society. Vice Regent Dr. Lois Somerville graciously presided at the meeting. Chaplain Mary Williams offered Grace. The Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag of the United States was led by Mitch Lassiter. Virginia Mikler led the recitation of the America's Creed. Lois Somerville led the singing of the National Anthem and Julia Sartin read the President General's message. After lunch, Dr. Somerville called on Vanra Decker, Senior President of Ft. Mellon Society who introduced C.A.R. members who participated in the program. They were Susanna Sovran, Society president, William Sovran, Victoria Sovran, Caroline Schneider and Melissa Schneider. The group assisted in narrating an original depiction of Sacagawea, Soshone Indian guide during the Lewis and

Clark expedition almost 200 years ago. The informative narration was written by Chuck Decker who for many years has been active in local, state and national C.A.R. service. Chuck took the part of Philippe Larogue, Indian guide, as the narration unfolded. Members listened intently and were quizzed about the expedition and the amazing life of Sacagawea after the program. At the end of the presentation Chuck quizzed

Crooms classes gather for reunion

Class reunions at Crooms Academy are ultimate rituals that build tradition. It is the time we refresh our minds and memories we harbor deep within us. We remember the Crooms Academy that is a part of our lives the work, teaching, professors and Mrs. J.N. Wealthy, Crooms teachers, staff and students.

Dec. 26 and Dec. 29, 2002, over 200 alumni, former students, friends and family of Crooms Academy shared and celebrated the bond of friendship and history. They recommitted their support to dear ole' Crooms Academy of Information Technology.

Marva Hawkins

This new facility continues the Crooms' vision for excellent education. The school continues to serve as a beacon of light to the students who passed and are still passing through its doors. Successes are living examples of the work and commitment given each student.

As we visited our memories, we gave thanks and praise to God for our many blessings.

A reacquaintance hour began the festivities on Thursday. Friday, alumni, families and schoolmates joined at a picnic feast and nourished their body, minds and soul.

Saturday morning, Principal Connie Collina, Ed.D. of Crooms led the eager reunioneers on a complete tour of the academy campus.

Many alumni pledged their support to become volunteers, mentors, and dividends to Crooms teachers and students.

Saturday evening, the group enjoyed the finest in dining and a professional theater musical show, "Sugar Babies" featuring baggy pantied comics, variety acts and the elaborate production numbers with plenty of long-legged chorus girls and a ribald humor.

"Crooms Classes of the 50's, Growing Together In Christian Fellowship" was the theme of the reunion worship service Sunday, Dec. 29 at 11 a.m. at New Mt. Calvary Missionary Baptist Church. Rev. Ricky Scott, pastor, and the Mt. Calvary Church family welcomed the reunion with Dorothy Lowe Curry presiding. The classes marched in a processional with Crooms Academy musicians of the 50's, Earl E. Minolt at the console, playing "God of Our Fathers". The Praise Team set the pace for the morning's worship, also with music from the Net Mt. Calvary Male Chorus.

Greetings from City of Sanford District 2 Commissioner Dr. Velma Williams.

Reunion chairman Richard Evans gave greetings and observations. The deceased teachers and classmates were remembered for their dedication and contributions to the students. Mrs. Pearl Caldwell presented Rev. Dr. Franklin Caldwell of the class of 52' who delivered the morning message, "The Glory of the Ordinary", Luke 9:28. We were told to live the ordinary, secure the moment, enjoy the ordinary, take time to listen, to care, to love. The handwriting is on the wall.

After presentation of awards to various committee chairmen and workers by Religious Chairman Modistine Smith Rachel, Algerine Miller, Lizzie S. Foster and Janie H. Eudell. Chairman Richard Evans and Benny Alexander, Committee Treasurer were honored for their 20 years of service to the committee.

Closing with the Alma Mater, "Dear Ole' Crooms Academy" Rev. Dr. Franklin D. Caldwell of Newport News, Virginia, gave the benediction.

And the alumni gathered for a delicious dinner, and a few last minute pictures of 2002.

Modistine S. Rachel looks on as Algerine Miller presents Richard Evans with a plaque for his 20 years of service to the community.

Former Crooms Academy students and their friends and family pose for a picture while touring the current Sanford facility. The tour was part of the Crooms Classes of the 1950s Reunion held last month. The group is standing in front of a mural portraying Professor and Mrs. J.N. Crooms.

School's PTSA now hosting community get-togethers

Sanford Middle School will be hosting Burger King Nights during the month of January.

Each Wednesday night at the two Burger King locations on Highway 17-92 at the intersections of 3rd Street and 17-92 and Lake Mary Boulevard in Sanford, the middle school's PTSA will be hosting a community get-together, with games, prizes, balloons for the students and children, and a prize drawing to be held at each location. Twenty percent of the proceeds will go directly back to Sanford Middle School.

Dates for the Burger King Nights are Jan. 15, Jan. 22, and Jan. 29. Activities start at 4 p.m. and end at 8 p.m.

Zoo searching for volunteers

If you love animals and enjoy the great outdoors, the Central Florida Zoo is looking for you!

The Zoo is seeking dedicated people to participate in the Docent Training Program. Volunteer teachers, referred to as docents, are an integral part of the Zoo staff. Providing exceptional education for children and adults about conservation of animals and the environment, docents participate in an array of activities.

In 2001, docents served over 12,500 hours, reaching thousands of people through tours, animal encounters and community outreach programs.

A docent training course is being offered with two classes running concurrently on Wednesday, March 5, and Saturday, March 8, 2003 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Anyone 18 or older is eligible to participate in the seven-week program.

The cost is $40, which includes class materials and a Central Florida Zoo shirt.

Volunteers able to work during the day to assist school children are especially in demand. No teaching experience is necessary. Applications are due by Feb. 21. A volunteer orientation will be held on Feb. 25.

Course graduation will qualify each volunteer to conduct Zoo tours, participate in school outreach programs, provide exhibit interpretation, and more. Also, each docent will be offered a three-week Animal Handling Class, to learn how to handle species of reptiles, birds, mammals, and invertebrates for outreach programs and animal encounters.

For additional information on the program or applications, please call 407-323-4450, ext. 120, or visit the Zoo's website at www.centralfloridazoo.org

Messiah in the Passover
Messiah in the Passover, a sermonic demonstration showing how Jesus fulfilled the ancient feast of Passover, will be held Sunday, Jan. 12, at 9:30 a.m. and 10:45 a.m. at Grace Baptist Church in Longwood. Messiah in the Passover will be conducted by Dr. Al Reichman.

The meetings are open to the public, Christians as well as members of the Jewish community. Grace Baptist Church is located at 919 Longwood Hills Road in Longwood. For additional information, call 407-869-4509.

Leadership Conference
Jan. 23 and Jan. 24 are the kick off dates for the House of Refuge annual Leadership Conference. Dr. Jeanette Holmes of Jacksonville will speak at 7:30 p.m. each evening. On Sunday, Jan. 26 at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m., Dr. Robert Matthews, noted author from Upper Marlboro, Md. will speak.

The conference will culminate Jan. 27 with Dr. Matthews speaking at the 7:30 p.m. service.

The theme is "Let the Church be the Church." Services will be held at 1001 Celery Ave. in Sanford. For additional information, call 407-324-4711.

Concert Series

Because of major renovations to the heating system in our sanctuary, St. Luke's has cancelled a proposed concert for Jan. 18.

The remainder of the Concert Series schedule is valid. The next concert will be performed on Thursday, Feb. 13, at 7:30pm, featuring the University of Central Florida Orchestra performing Dvorak's New World Symphony and guest artist, Ayako Yonetani performing Beethoven's Concerto for Violin and Orchestra, Op. 61.

St. Luke's Concert Series is free and nursery care for small children is also available. In keeping with our Concert Series goals, families with school-age children and music students are especially encouraged to enjoy this opportunity to hear quality musical performances.

Parents need to teach children to do the 'write' thing

QUESTION: I've always had an interest in creative writing, primarily because I had a teacher who encouraged me to express myself and gave me the skills to do it. My kids, however, have not had that exposure. The school system just doesn't teach writing skills anymore. How did you come to be a writer, and how might I give my children a nudge in that direction?

DR. DOBSON: It is true that writing skills are seldom taught today. That was evident a while back when I was considering hiring a Ph.D. candidate from a large university. I called her major professor for a recommendation. He spoke highly of this woman and said he was sure she would do a good job for me. I then asked if she was an adequate writer. He said:

"Are you kidding? None of my students have strong writing skills. Young people don't learn to put their thoughts on paper these days." He was right!

It hasn't always been that way. I remember diagramming sentences and learning parts of speech when I was in elementary school. It was a major part of the curriculum. Also, my parents encouraged and helped me to grow in this area. I wrote a letter to a friend when I was 9 years old. My mother then suggested that we read it together. I had written, "Dear Tom, how are you? I am just fine." My mom asked me if I thought that sounded a little boring. She said, "You haven't said anything. You used a few words, but they have no meaning." I never wrote that phrase again, although that is the typical way a child begins a letter.

Looking back, I can see how, even at an early age, my mother was teaching me to write. In addition, I was also fortunate to have a few English teachers who were determined to teach me the fundamentals of composition. I had one in high school and another in college who insisted that I learn grammar and composition. They nearly beat me to death but I'm glad they did. I earn a living today, at least in part, with the skills they taught me. I would especially like to say "thanks" to Dr. Ed Harwood. His classes were like Marine boot camp, but what I learned there was priceless.

It's not terribly difficult or time-consuming to encourage and teach kids some of the basics of grammar and composition. One approach is to ask a family member to correspond with your child

Medix Performance
The popular Christian Rock group "Street Corner Medix" will perform at 7 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 18. The concert will be held in the community gymnasium at The Salvation Army, located at 700 West 24th Street, in Sanford.

"Street Corner Medix" has performed throughout Florida and in Texas. Most recently they performed at "The Last Wave" in Orlando, for which they received a rave response from the audience. Through special arrangement, "Street Corner Medix" will award copies of their new CD and T-shirts at the Jan. 18 concert. CD's and T-shirts will also be on sale at the concert.

"Street Corner Medix" has a large local following and keep much of their information available on their website located at www.streetcornermedix.com

Their stated mission is: "We want God to use us, so to speak, as EMT's for souls. There are many people out there, in and out of the church, who need to be rescued, and we intend to go out into all the earth to bring God's spiritual healing."

Our inspiration lies in the founder of the Salvation Army, William Booth, who dared to take the love of Christ to the impoverished streets of England.

"And, of course, the perfect example of this love is our Savior, Jesus Christ himself, who spent most of his time outside the temples, in the streets, sharing love with all," the group added.

Along with the Saturday evening concert, "Street Corner Medix" will provide the Praise and Worship music as part of the Sunday Holiness Meeting at The Salvation Army on Sunday, Jan. 19. There is no charge to attend the Sunday service and everyone is welcome to attend.

Tickets for the Saturday concert are $5 and go on sale Jan. 2. Tickets are available at The Salvation Army, 700 West 24th Street in Sanford. Seating is limited; therefore everyone is encouraged to purchase their tickets in advance. For more information, call 407-322-2642.

and encourage him or her to write back. Then when the reply is written, sprinkle a few corrections, such as the one my mother offered, with a generous portion of praise. Finally, entice that youngster to engage in a little creative expression. As for what you can do to compensate for the de-emphasis on writing in school, I really don't know — except to seek instruction outside the classroom.

The teaching of writing has gone out of style — much like the old "homemaking" classes for girls. But it is an incredibly valuable craft that can be used in a wide variety of settings. Don't let your children grow up without developing it.

QUESTION: If punishment is never indicated for an infant, what form of discipline is appropriate at that age?

DR. DOBSON: The answer is loving leadership. Parents should have the courage to do what is right for their babies, even if they protest vigorously. Dr. Bill Slonecker, a pediatrician and good friend, has stressed the importance of parents taking charge right from the day of birth.

Too often he has seen mothers in his private practice who were afraid of their infants. They would call his office and frantically huff, "My 6-month-old baby is crying and seems very hot." The doctor would ask if the child had a fever, to which Mom would reply: "I don't know. He won't let me take his temperature."

These mothers had already yielded their authority to their infants. Some would never regain it.

Good parenting and loving leadership go hand in hand. And it should begin on "Day One."

Dr. Dobson is president of the nonprofit organization Focus on the Family, P.O. Box 444, Colorado Springs, CO. 80903, or www.family.org.

Local Girl Scouts now taking orders for cookies

Before she won the gold for the heptathlon two Olympics in a row, Jackie Joyner-Kersey was a Girl Scout. Before she was Secretary of State, Madeline Albright was a Girl Scout. Before she learned how to give advice, Ann Landers was a Girl Scout. Before she perfected her hoop shot, Rebecca Lobo was a Girl Scout. Like today's Girl Scouts, these women learned to work as a team, set goals, improve math skills and polish their public speaking abilities. How? By selling Girl Scout cookies!

On Friday, Jan. 10, Girl Scouts in Lake Mary and all throughout Central Florida began going door to door to take cookie orders. The girls will continue to take orders until Jan. 26. The cookies will be delivered around Valentine's Day and cookie booth sales will begin Feb. 15.

Mary Rowell

Why buy Girl Scout cookies? Well, they taste good and you're supporting a good cause. By the way, it's okay if you buy a lot. They freeze really well! One year, my aunt forgot about a box in her big freezer.

We thawed them out 13 months later and they were great! So, where does the money go? Part of the money goes directly to the troop, part to the cookie company to pay for the cookies and the remainder goes to the Girl Scout Council.

So what does the Girl Scout Council do with the money? Proceeds from the yearly cookie sales goes to the support and upkeep of the council properties, such as the Girl Scout camps. Because of cookie sales, troops can camp at Girl Scout camp cheaper than anywhere else, including state parks. Cookie money also keeps the cost of Girl Scout Summer Day Camps and Resident Camps affordable.

Cookie money also goes to scouterships for those girls who need it. If a Girl Scout doesn't come to your door and you really want cookies, call the Girl Scout Council at 800-367-3906 and tell them what city you live in. They should be able to give you the name of a cookie mom near you.

In Lake Mary, you can order online! Email Service Unit Coordinator Nancy Wong at mcwong@bell-south.net.

Strange Encounters

Have you ever seen a manatee up close and in person? They have a beauty and grace that is astounding considering their size. I know some people say they have a face only a mother can love. But if you've ever seen a mother manatee nursing her calf, you know that love is there. I don't think I've ever seen any mammal as gentle as the manatee. Imagine my shock then, after overhearing a loud obnoxious non-Floridian in a jewelry store recently. The woman was looking at a display of Florida themed sterling silver charms; a lighthouse, a palm tree, a dolphin and a manatee.

"Oh gross," she exclaimed with genuine venom in her voice. "I hate manatees. They're so stupid and ugly. We're trying to save them and they can't even save themselves!"

What do you say when you hear something like that? A lot of things, many unkind, flashed through my mind. But I said nothing. How can you change the opinion of someone who holds such malice toward a creature so inoffensive as the manatee? How can you make someone see beauty when they are so full of unreasoning hate?

The answer, of course, is that you can't. All you can do is stand up for those who can't protect themselves, who can't save themselves. Manatees aren't the only ones in that category.

Children are too. We must protect both from the mean angry people of the world. It's our duty as members of a civilized society. It's our responsibility as human beings.

Idyllwilde students inducted into Junior Beta Club

Fifty-three fifth-graders from Idyllwilde Elementary School in Sanford were inducted into the National Junior Beta Club on Thursday, Nov. 21.

Idyllwilde is the only elementary school that has a Junior Beta Club in Seminole County. Students can continue to participate in middle school, high school and college. This is the third year for the Junior Beta Club at Idyllwilde, with 107 students previously inducted.

The motto for the Junior Beta Club is "Let us lead by serving others." Seven service projects are planned before the end of the school year. The club was honored in the 2001-2002 school year with a service award for their participation in the National Service Project.

Idyllwilde Elementary School Principal David Scott said he is dedicated to the club and supports the many services the members provide. Betty Bourne, counselor, has been the Junior Beta Club's sponsor since its inception.

January is recognized as National Mentoring Month

The term "Mentor" is derived from ancient Greece. Since that time, the term has come to mean a wise and loyal advisor, teacher or coach.

In Seminole County Public Schools, 945 mentors are making a difference in the lives of students. One hundred twenty-one of these mentors are matched with scholarship students in the Investing In Our Future and Take Stock In Children Scholarship Programs.

Seventy-six mentors are volunteering as part of the Goldsboro Front Porch Program. The rest of the mentors are volunteering at the Ninth Grade Academies and the Special Friends Program (elementary schools.) There are also school faculty mentor programs where school staff are matched with students. The schools include Bear Lake, Bentley, Eastbrook, English Estates, Goldsboro, Hamilton, Winter Springs Elementary Schools, Millennium, Milwee, and Sanford Middle Schools.

Training and background screening are required for new mentors. Mentor training sessions have been scheduled for: Thursday, Jan. 16 at 5 p.m. and Tuesday, Feb. 11 at 9 a.m. Both sessions will be held at the Educational Support Center, 400 E. Lake Mary Boulevard, Sanford.

For more information on Seminole County Public Schools Mentor Programs, please contact the Dividends School Volunteer Program at 407 320-0182 or the Take Stock In Children Program at 407 320-0196.

Pet of the Week

'Rubio'

Rubio, an 8-year-old neutered male lab mix, is looking for a good home. Although Rubio's friends at the SPCA of Central Florida in Seminole County — where he's lived since August — will miss him, the canine is looking for a new home where he can get lots of attention, especially from children and cats. His friends say he's playful, full of love and fun. He loves his ears rubbed and his back patted. He also enjoys being around other dogs.

To adopt Rubio, call the Humane Society of Seminole County at 407-323-8685 or visit the facility at 2800 County Home Road in Sanford.

listeners. Those who answered correctly were given a commemorative coin featuring Sacagawea.

Another segment of the program was a three-fold poster featuring Pompey's Pillar, an American National Landmark. "Pompey" or "Pomp" was the affectionate name of Jean Baptiste, son of Sacagawea and her husband Charbonneau, bestowed on him by Captain Clark. DAR Member Sandy Hux, visited the Landmark and made the poster, using pictures and historic commentary.

After the Indian presentation Caroline and Melissa played Christmas hymns with all present joining in by singing the first verse of each number.

Following the business meeting Chaplain Mary Williams closed with the prayer for Christmas taken from a DAR publication, "Let Us Pray."

Good hedge may make better neighbor of woman next door

DEAR ABBY: I hope you can help resolve an ever-widening dispute between my husband and me. We live in a small town with our young children.

Our next-door neighbor is a troubled woman. I call her the Wicked Witch of the West. She's openly hostile, a mad-at-the-world type. Extending an olive branch to her is not possible, as testified to by her many former friends and family members who avoid her.

When the "witch" is out in her yard, she ignores the innocent greetings of our young children, which hurts their feelings. Yet she refers often and loudly to her dogs as her "children" and speaks to them as one would a child. I worry what a person so filled with anger may be capable of. I don't feel safe having my children grow up next to her. Our neighbor to the east of us is a wonderful person who showers our children with attention and affection. I want to move, but my husband says we have to focus on the positive — the delightful neighbor whom our children adore. What do you think we should do?

Dear Abby

CONCERNED MOTHER IN NORTHERN MINNESOTA

DEAR CONCERNED MOTHER:

I vote with your husband. If you move, there is no guarantee that your new neighbors will relate well to children.

A more realistic way to handle this would be to explain to your children that the neighbor to the west is troubled and unhappy, and that they should leave her alone. It shouldn't be hard to impress on them, because children usually respond to people who show an interest and pleasure at being around them. If possible, plant a nice, thick hedge along the west side of your yard so they don't have to see her or be rebuffed by her.

DEAR ABBY: Recently I began dating a girl from work, and I think she's absolutely wonderful. I'll call her Sheryl. She's a part-time college student. We get along great, and our relationship is slowly progressing.

The one problem I have with her is that she has stopped going to her classes. Sheryl says she "just doesn't feel like it" anymore. She said school started off well, but because of poor attendance she's missed some tests and is failing two of her four classes.

I have encouraged Sheryl to pull herself out of this pit and salvage her grades, rather than accepting failure. However, it shouldn't be my job to constantly remind her to go to class. Sheryl already knows what she needs to do but is very discouraged. She's unhappy with her major, and now she's talking about dropping out and taking some time off.

What should I do, Abby? I can't bear to watch Sheryl fall.

ANDY IN OHIO

DEAR ANDY: You are a caring friend, and Sheryl is fortunate to have you in her life right now. Please urge her to talk to her school counselor about her ambivalence in continuing college.

As a part-time student, she may be carrying too heavy a load and might do better if she cut back. She may also be suffering from depression, and should be evaluated at the student health center before dropping out. However, ultimately the choice is hers, and whether she stays in school is not your responsibility.

New officers announced

Over 50 Club celebrates 31st year

The Sanford Over 50 Club was started in 1970 as a social group at All Souls Church. In 1979, it was opened to all seniors over age 50. It is now a very large senior group.

The members meet the second and fourth Tuesdays of every month beginning at 10:30 a.m. in the Sanford Senior Center. The active group enjoys trips, cookouts, and speakers.

The club also sponsors the Wednesday afternoon dances at the Sanford Civic Center, which includes a 12-piece orchestra. An annual activity of the club is the Golden Age Games, which are held in November. The club sponsor's the mid-week banquet, host the morning breakfast, handles registration and helps with many of the events.

The group has several community projects, including collecting and donating items to Safe House of Seminole. Members also are bell ringers for the Salvation Army's Red Kettle Drive.

Morris, Blatt announce engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Rowe Morris of Longwood recently announced the engagement of their daughter, Ann Elise, to Marc Benjamin Blatt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Blatt of North Miami Beach. Morris is a graduate of Bishop Moore High School of Orlando and the University of Florida, where she earned a bachelor of science degree in business administration. Blatt is a graduate of North Miami Beach High School, the University of Florida, the University of Florida School of Pharmacy and Nova Southeastern School of Medicine. The wedding is planned for Feb. 9, 2003.

Cut the fat from Super Bowl snacks

You don't have to sack your guests' diets for them to enjoy the food at this year's Super Bowl party. Just tackle their hunger with some great tasting, low fat snacks.

Don't worry, trimming the fat from your Super Bowl menu does not have to mean passing on taste. You can make a variety of delicious, healthy snacks with items from the grocery store or that you may already have around the house. For example, Goya Food's Pica de Gallo Salsa or Salsita hot sauce can be served with baked tortilla chips for a tasty and more healthful alternative to potato chips and dip.

If you want something a bit more filling to satisfy your team of partyers, try this recipe for BBQ Chicken Breast Fajitas:

BBQ Chicken Breast Fajitas

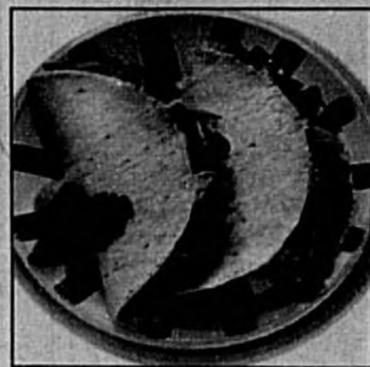

- 1 pound chicken-boneless, skinless breast
- 6 white mushrooms, sliced
- 1 green or red pepper, cut into strips
- 1 medium onion, cut into strips
- 3 tbsp Goya Olive Oil
- 1/2 tsp Goya Adobo All Purpose Seasoning with Pepper
- 8 6-inch Goya Flour Tortillas

Garnishes

- Goya Salsa Picante Sauce
- Goya Salsita
- Nonfat sour cream

Cook

1. Preheat oven to 350°
2. In a skillet on medium, heat 2 tbsp. oil and cook onions and mushrooms until onions are golden. Stir in peppers and cook 1 minute. Shake on Adobo, remove from skillet and keep warm.
3. Add 1 tbsp. oil to skillet and turn heat to medium-high. Cook chicken to desired doneness. Remove from skillet and allow meat to cool for a minute before cutting against the grain, into thin slices.
4. Sprinkle tortillas with a few drops of water, wrap in foil and warm in preheated oven for 5 minutes.
5. On a large platter, arrange chicken, onion mixture and garnishes. Keep the tortillas warm in foil or a cloth napkin. Spoon chicken and onion mixture into center of tortilla. Add desired garnishes and wrap.

There's nothing better on a cold winter weekend than a hearty bowl of homemade chili, especially during football season.

Score big with some super good chili

Nothing tastes better on a cold winter weekend than a hearty bowl of homemade chili. And if you're hosting a special get-together, like a Super Bowl party, your guests will be cheering as you pass a bowl their way. Super Good Chili is super easy, too. Quickly brown ground beef, then add garlic, onions, tomatoes, kidney and pinto beans, and a generous splash of Tabasco® brand pepper sauce. Simmer until beef is tender and then serve or set aside until your guests arrive. What's more, it's a meal that can be made ahead of time and reheated. This sure-fire chili recipe is an all-winter all-timer!

Super Good Chili

- Makes 6 servings
- 1 tablespoon vegetable oil
 - 1 1/2 pounds ground chuck
 - 1 large onion, chopped
 - 2 garlic cloves, minced
 - 1 tablespoon ground cumin
 - 1 12-ounce can diced tomatoes
 - 2 16-ounce cans pinto beans, drained and rinsed
 - 1 16-ounce can red kidney

- beans, drained and rinsed
- 1 12-ounce can or bottle beer
- 1 4-ounce can diced green chilies
- 1 tablespoon Tabasco® brand pepper sauce
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- Shredded cheddar and Monterey Jack cheese, optional

Heat oil in 5-quart Dutch oven or sauce pot over medium heat. Add beef and cook until well browned on all sides. Remove with slotted spoon and put in bowl.

Add onion and garlic to drippings remaining in skillet; cook over medium heat until tender, about 5 minutes. Return meat to Dutch oven; stir in cumin; cook 1 minute.

Stir in diced tomatoes with their liquid, pinto beans, red kidney beans, beer, green chilies, Tabasco® sauce and salt. Heat to boiling over high heat. Reduce heat to low; cover and simmer 20 minutes to blend flavors, stirring occasionally. Serve with cheese, if desired.

Appetizers sure to rack up some points with hungry guests

Football season is in full swing and hockey fans are already warming up the ice. Where there are sports, there are usually parties to celebrate the "ohs" and "ahs" of the games.

Some of the best parties are those that take place right in the parking lot of the sports arena or in your own driveway or backyard. Here are a few tips to make sure your party is a blast whether you're hosting a get-together with four or 40 friends. The more people attending the better, therefore make sure you have plenty of surefire ways to keep fans cheering.

You'll need plenty of beverages to keep rowdy fans well hydrated. You can find keg-style coolers that will store gallons of water or soda.

Next, get ready to make a little noise. Musical air horns can add the right amount of enthusiasm to your event when you've pushed your vocal cords to the limit. In addition to the customary air horns usually found at tailgating parties, January may be cold and dreary, but things will heat up on the 28th when the top teams in the NFL battle it out in Super Bowl XXXVII in San Diego.

However, the first thing that makes the party is the right blend of snacks. Fire up a portable grill that showcases the name of your favorite team and whip up any number of tasty tailgating treats, like these "Spicy Buffalo Chicken Wings," courtesy of "The Entertaining Survival Guide" (William Morrow) by Lois Brody.

Spicy Buffalo Chicken Wings

Makes 6 to 8 servings
If you don't want to serve them spicy, cut the amount of Tabasco. And be sure to have lots of napkins on hand—these are very messy!

- 1/3 cup vegetable oil
- 1/2 cup dark brown sugar, firmly packed
- 1/4 cup soy sauce
- 1 tablespoon dry mustard
- 3 tablespoons Tabasco Pepper Sauce (or more to taste)
- 3 tablespoons red wine vinegar
- 3 pounds chicken wings, ribs removed at the joint
- 1 celery stalk, rinsed, dried and cut into 3 1/2 inch strips

Place everything but the wings and celery in a 2 quart mixing bowl and stir to combine. Add the wings and toss to coat them well. Cover the bowl with plastic wrap, refrigerate and let the wings marinate for at least one hour or as long as 24 hours.

Preheat the broiler to high with the rack in the upper third of the oven. Line a heavy-duty shallow roasting pan or baking sheet with foil. Remove the wings from the marinade (try to leave as much on as possible) and place them in a single layer in the prepared pan.

Broil the wings for six to eight minutes on each side, broiling once or twice with the marinade until deep brown and crisp. Transfer them to a platter and serve them hot or at room temperature.

Blue Cheese Dressing

- Serves 6 to 8
- 5 ounces best-quality blue cheese, crumbled
 - 3/4 cup mayonnaise
 - 1/2 cup sour cream
- Place all the ingredients in a food processor or blender and process until smooth.

Two great American favorites make a super team

Pizza and sports are two great American favorites. Put your own pizza together with your friends on game day and you've got a party that really scores.

Want to add your own secret play? "food&family" magazine's Andrea MacAlpine suggests these simple ideas that win with guests:

- Go for the conversion: By adding a couple of ingredients to a frozen pizza, such as a Digiorno Rising Crust Pizza, you can quickly create a whole new taste experience.
- Mediterranean-Top a Four Cheese with a handful of Athenian Feta cheese and sliced olives.
- Bacon Cheeseburger-Top

a Four Cheese pizza with a handful of cooked ground beef and cooked bacon pieces.

- Get the extra point kick: Let your guests add their own personal flavor to their baked pizza with toppings like garlic salt, Parmesan cheese or red pepper.

- Show your team spirit: Match your pizza to your team's colors. Simply take a few teaspoons of grated Parmesan cheese and mix in a couple drops of food coloring. Use cheese to top a cooked pizza—you can sprinkle into a fun sports shape.

- Cheesy Salsa Dip: Heat 1 lb. cubed Velveeta Process Cheese Loaf and 1 jar (16 oz.) salsa in a large, microwavable bowl on High for 5 minutes or until cheese is melted, stirring after 3 minutes. Serve hot with Wheat Thins Crackers, tortilla chips and fresh veggies.

- Make-Ahead Hero Sandwiches: Combine a handful each chopped onion, shredded mozzarella cheese and sliced green olives. Toss with enough Kraft Special Collection Balsamic Vinaigrette to coat. Slice a long, crusty loaf in half lengthwise. Squeeze enough Miracle Whip Squeezable Dressing to cover base of cut bread evenly. Layer with a few slices each of thinly sliced Oscar Mayer Deli Meats, such as ham, smoked turkey and salami. Spread onion mixture evenly over top and cover with top half of bread. For an entrée serving, a 16-inch loaf of bread yields 4 servings.

- Color coordinate your plates and napkins to match team colors.
- Keep a couple of foam footballs handy for live "instant replays."

Cut a pizza into strips for easy dipping when the crowd gathers.

AAA Travel Expo 2003 opens

AAA Auto Club South's annual Travel Expo opens Thursday, Jan. 23, at Auto Club South, located at 1000 AAA Drive, Heathrow, and promises invaluable information for anyone considering a cruise, tour or resort vacation.

Hosted by the Orlando area branch offices, Orlando and Heathrow, the event will be held from 4 until 7 p.m. and will include "Day of Show" specials, on-site bookings and prize giveaways including a Grand Prize cruise for two.

Admission to the event is free for AAA members and non-members alike.

The great benefit of the Travel Expo is that it provides the very latest offerings and travel packages to suit every taste and lifestyle imaginable. This is a one-of-a-kind opportunity to talk with the experts. Representatives from Disney Cruise Line, Holland America, Radisson Seven Seas, Trafalgar Tours, and many more cruise and tour companies will be available," said Patricia Diaz, Travel Manager at AAA, Heathrow.

The event will also offer "Day of Show" specials, so anyone who purchases a vacation trip may also gain tremendous savings by booking on-site. In addition all participants are eligible to win one of many door prizes, including cruise, tour and airline ticket giveaways.

AAA Auto Club South is the third largest affiliate of the AAA federation with 3.5 million members in Florida, Georgia and the western two-thirds of Tennessee.

Officials see boom in development

By Michelle Jeria
Managing Editor

LAKE MARY — With a somewhat optimistic outlook on the economy, city officials believe 2003 will bring more commercial development to the area.

"We do expect a significant upturn in commercial development next year," City Manager John Litton said. "We see this by the activity that is currently going on. Buildings that have been dormant for two years are starting to see change. Interest is starting to pique."

In agreement with the city manager, Mayor Thom Greene said he hopes to once again see a boom in Lake Mary development.

"I think the economy is showing signs of turning around, and that means hopefully the building boom will turn around," Greene said.

One main focus in the city this year will be City Hall's expansion, which will include a fire substation, Litton said. Initial construction for the new main fire station on Rinehart Road may also start in 2003.

In the police department, a canine unit should hit the streets in the next few months, Litton said. A dog has already been identified and will be ready for patrol following training. City staff will continue developing the master plan for the downtown area. Funds have

City matriarch dies at age 90

By Michelle Jeria
Managing Editor

LAKE MARY — The city lost one of its matriarchs last Tuesday.

Mary Louise Dunn Wolff, 90, died Jan. 7. Many will remember her as a community activist who always wanted to help her city and neighbors.

"If someone was a city matriarch, it was her," said City Manager John Litton, who was also a long time friend of Wolff. "When I think of Lake Mary, I think of her."

Wolff was born on Oct. 5, 1912, in her parent's home in Lake Mary.

Mike Good wins Red Eye 100 at New Smyrna Speedway

Special to the Herald

SAMSULA — Lake Mary's Mike Good warmed up an otherwise cold night at New Smyrna Speedway last Saturday night (Jan. 4th).

The former Seminole High School and Florida State University star offensive lineman, turned successful Lake Mary businessman, showed that he knows his way around race cars as he topped 16 of Florida's best Super Late Model drivers in the first Super Late Model 100 lap race of the year, the Red Eye 100.

Good proved right from the start that he would be a factor on this night as his 18.138-second qualifying lap was second only to Ark Almirola, who set fast time with a 17.931, the only driver to run in the 17 second range. Bruce Lawrence was third with a 18.154.

Because of the luck of the draw, Good started on the pole along side Lawrence.

At the drop of the green flag, Good fell back in the pack and bided his time in the long race.

At the halfway mark, 50 laps,

Good was not even in the top eight, but the leaders were about to get busy and started to trade paint.

The first caution flag did not fall until Lap 55 and when the race restarted on Lap 60, Good started his move up the ladder.

By the time the second 'yellow' was displayed on Lap 71 Good had moved into second place and inherited the top spot when leader Almirola, who was running his first Super Late Model race, suffered a flat tire.

Good would not give up the lead again despite two more caution periods, the second on Lap 95 bringing out a red flag when Orlando veteran David Rogers and rising star B.J. McLeod got together and hit the wall the turn 1-2 wall. McLeod climbed up the wall but came down on all fours. Both cars were done with only five laps remaining, ending their good runs.

Good held the point on the final restart and took the win followed by Daniel Keene, Lawrence, Almirola, the only cars left on the lead lap, and Jim "Hoot" Flynn who was fifth.

 been budgeted this year for beautification and a fountain. The amphitheater in front of City Hall, which has structural damage, will be renovated and ready for use following the expansion to City Hall.
 In regard to projects from last year, the city's water system will continue to be improved, along with several paving and sidewalk renovations. Mayor Greene said he hopes to see construction begin this year on the Evansdale Sidewalk Project.

 Litton said the city would also continue annexation talks with Colonial Park. Late last year, the developer pulled its application for annexation but said talks would continue in the future.

 As for the city's current revenue, Litton said the numbers are the same as what was expected during last year's budget cycle.
 "We are still sensing a lack of stability in the economy, and our revenues are a direct result of the economy," he said.

 which was located west of Seminole Community College and is now known as Woldunn Subdivision. Wolff stayed involved in the city by serving on the Historical Commission and the Board of Adjustment. She was also a member of the Lake Mary Historical Commission, Lake Mary Woman's Club, the Garden Club and River Oaks Presbyterian Church.
 Wolff was known for her faithful attendance at City Commission meetings. Short in stature, a podium was constructed for her so she could see the commissioners when she addressed them. It became known as the "Mary Dunn Wolff Podium."

 "She'd come to every meeting," Litton said. "She'd tell us what she thought, and then after the meeting, she'd come up and hug us."
 Mayor Thom Greene also remembers Wolff's loyalty to the city.
 "She may have been small in stature, but she was loud in her promotion of Lake Mary," Greene said. "She sized you up, and if you were good for Lake Mary, she loved you. But, if you weren't, then you better watch out."
 In 2000, Wolff was honored by the city with a proclamation making Oct. 5 Mary Dunn Wolff Day. Former mayor David Meador said it was a rare moment when the city got to thank a person who was instrumental in creating Lake Mary's good reputation.

 Wolff is survived by her husband, Charles Leonard; three sons, Charles Jr., Stuart and Robert Byron; two daughters, Mary Elizabeth Scruggs and Barbara Davenport; 10 grandchildren and eight great grandchildren.
 "She was a very loving and caring person," Litton said. "She will live in the hearts of all of us."

Happy New Year, Lake Mary ...

It's hard to believe that 2002 has come and gone! 2002 was a great year for the city of Lake Mary. The year began with the City Commission committing to making beautifications of our city a priority. During the year, efforts to improve the Rinehart Trail got off the ground. With the help of the Trail Blazers, the private sector and the city of Lake Mary this project is going to be a success.

Mayor's Message
 By Lake Mary Mayor Thom Greene

to play, practice, take lessons and meet neighbors.
 Speaking of meeting neighbors, our new skateboard park has been extremely well received and generated more than $10,000 in three months. It is composed of a bowl and a street course, and there are separate hours for bikers and skaters. Much of the fun is had by parents watching their children from the comfort of our adjacent covered picnic shelter and talking to newly acquired friends. Fees are very reasonable, and each skater must have a waiver signed by a parent if under the age of 18. Helmets are required and waivers are available at the park. There's an attendant on duty during all hours of operation.

At the end of the year, our City Hall and adjacent area were decorated in a massive display of lights. The City welcomed back Santa Claus, who visited many neighborhoods in our city closing out the year 2002. I predict the year 2003 will be as exciting and successful as 2002 for our city.

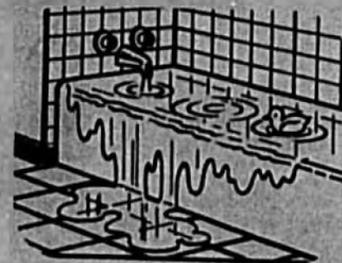

Welcome Year 2003
 As our park crews ready the Sports Complex fields for spring play, I would like to mention some of our other excellent facilities which are available to persons of all ages and recreational needs.
 The clay tennis courts recently received the U.S. Tennis Court and Track Builders Association "Outstanding Tennis Facility Award" in recognition of excellence in design and construction. This is a great place

I have not mentioned our automatic batting cages, basketball courts or concession stand, all of which are located at the Sports Complex one mile north of Lake Mary Boulevard on Rantoul Lane.

Herbal therapies, vitamins offer practical approach to battling cold and flu season

With cold and flu season upon us, millions of Americans are arming themselves with some of nature's tried-and-true remedies: herbs, vitamins and minerals.

"Herbal remedies and vitamins can make a dramatic difference in getting you through the cold season," said Hyla Cass, M.D., a leading authority on supplements who is on the faculty at UCLA. "Like over-the-counter cold medicines, they address symptoms. But vitamins and herbs also help build up the immune system to fight off infections and prevent recurrences, and they don't cause drowsiness the way antihistamines and decongestants sometimes do. The key is to get plenty of rest, drink lots of water and start taking supplements at the first sign of cold symptoms."

The Dietary Supplement Information Bureau recommends these herbs and vitamins:

• Astragalus — Valued for centuries by the Chinese for its ability to enhance the immune system and its stress-fighting properties, astragalus is used to improve resistance to colds and to decrease their duration.

• Echinacea — First used in America by the Sioux, echinacea has been found in American medicine cabinets since the late 1800s. One of the most popular herbs in the world today, echinacea enhances the body's natural defenses as an immune system stimulant, helping fend off colds, flu and other infections.

• Elder (also known as elderberry) — The flowers and berries, from which the standardized extract is made, have been used as a food and medicinal agent for thousands of years. (The plant itself is not eaten because the roots, stems, leaves and unripe fruit are toxic.) Traditionally, elder is used to treat and prevent colds, flu and sinusitis. It promotes anti-viral activity by increasing bronchial secretions. Studies have shown the flowers have anti-inflammatory properties.

• Eleuthero (formerly known as Siberian Ginseng) — Used to treat colds and flu for 2,000 years in Chinese medicine, eleuthero boosts non-specific body resistance to a wide range of stressors. The standardized extract, made from the root of the plant (a member of the ginseng family) is reported to increase stamina and endurance and protect the body against stress-induced illness.

• Goldenseal — One of the best-known herbs in the U.S. today, goldenseal root was used by Native Americans and was very popular as a medicinal remedy from the 1850s to the 1940s. An anti-infective, it has also been used to relieve congestion and as a digestive tonic. It is not recommended for inflammatory conditions.

• Vitamin C — It supports healthy immune system response to viral and bacterial infections, and its antihistamine activity reduces some inflammatory reaction. Studies suggest vitamin C lessens the severity and duration of colds, and research indicates moderate to high doses lead to fewer colds.

• Zinc — Essential for the functioning of over 300 body enzymes, zinc regulates a wide variety of immune system functions. It is also believed to have anti-inflammatory properties and stimulate anti-viral activity. Studies have shown zinc gluconate lozenges can reduce the duration and severity of cold and flu symptoms.

Survey says Americans prefer big, bright smiles

What makes someone's smile really dazzle? Americans say it's all about those pearly whites. A recent national survey on smiles revealed that America's favorite kind of smile is a wide, toothy ear-to-ear grin. With big, bright healthy-looking smiles ranking most appealing, certain celebrities are considered the greatest grinners.

According to the survey, stars that have big, beaming smiles have the best smiles. One out of three, or 34 percent of Americans think pretty woman Julia Roberts has the winning smile among female celebrities. Among male celebrities, Tom Cruise got the most votes as having the standout smile.

When it comes to teen idols, one out of three or 32 percent of Americans say Britney Spears has the grooviest grin. Among male teen idols, one in five Americans think Prince William's smile reigns supreme.

The smiles of star athletes score big, as well. Of female athletes with the best smile, figure skater Michelle Kwan took first place. Among female tennis stars, 20 percent think Anna Kournikova has the ace smile. Nearly half of Americans voted Tiger Woods as having the best smile among male athletes.

When Americans were asked about their own smiles, 38 percent think their teeth are the best part of their smile. Forty percent of those surveyed believe white teeth make a person's smile most attractive.

With such a definite idea of what makes a terrific smile-big, bright and lots of pearly whites—here are a few simple steps to getting your own red-carpet smile:

- Brush teeth after every meal
- Avoid the five stain-culprits: coffee, tea, berries, wine and smoking
- See your dentist for regular cleanings
- If you are a gum-chewer, try a whitening gum, such as Trident White® Spearmint sugarless chewing gum, for a convenient way to boost your smile's brightness

You can learn more about Trident White sugarless gum by visiting the Web sites www.tridentgum.com, or www.prod-help.com

Join golf hole-in-one history with just a click

Scoring a hole-in-one is the dream of every golfer. Whether the shot is made intentionally or by chance, hitting an ace is something you'd want to tell the world and have recorded proof for posterity.

"I was doing some consulting work for a hole-in-one insurance company and was surprised to find out that no one kept a record of all the people who had achieved this feat," says Jay Bowen, a Shreveport entrepreneur and golf enthusiast. "Considering that the odds of hitting a hole-in-one are one in 33,000, you would think records like this would be kept somewhere."

Bowen did some research and was surprised to find that no official national registry existed that registered or archived hole-in-ones.

For that reason, he launched the United States Golf Register in 1989.

The United States Golf Register allows golfers to register their hole-in-ones online and at no cost. And the registry is not just for bragging rights with your buddies — it is recognized as the official hole-in-one register by the United States Golf Association (USGA), which maintains the historical records in their permanent archives. Any hole-in-one made during a round of at least nine holes can be registered according to USGA guidelines. Golfers can register aces hit in the past if they have maintained information about the course played and equipment used.

Registrations can be recorded via the Web site (www.usgolfregister.org) or by requesting a registration form by mail: United States Golf Register, 712 Milam Street, Suite 100, Shreveport, LA 71101.

It's tax preparation countdown time: File online to save some time before April 15

Tax preparation is not a welcome event for most people. Many find the forms complicated and put off preparing their returns in an attempt to delay the stress and confusion. This year, April 15, 2003, is "D-day" to file your taxes, but there's no need to fret at the prospect of poring over incomprehensible forms and charts.

However, Internet users can find some much-needed relief as the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) and certain Web sites make it easier to prepare, file and pay taxes — online. Filing online can greatly reduce tax-time anxiety and aggravation — even for those who wait until the last minute to file.

Taxpayers are warming up to the idea of turning to the Internet for all of their tax-related needs. The IRS has recently reported that 35 million taxpayers filed their 1999 returns electronically, and the agency is expecting that number will jump to 42 million this year.

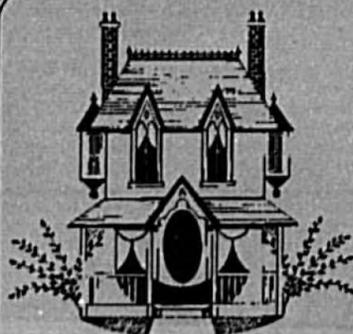

Why file online? Larry Wright, spokesperson for the IRS explains, "It's easier, faster and less confusing."

The IRS won't reject your return or make an error because it can't read your handwriting. Plus you get your refund faster. Filing electronically pretty much sells itself; once people file online, they never want to go back."

E-filing can be as simple as visiting one of your favorite Web sites. Yahoo!, for example offers user-friendly, secure online filing through its popular Yahoo!

Finance site. Consistently ranked as the No. 1 finance site on the Web, it guides taxpayers through a series of simple steps for preparing and filing returns, and provides a number of relevant tools and resources during the process.

Commitments totaling $172,500 raised for beautification project

The Trailblazers are on their way to reaching their $500,000 goal.

The Lake Mary Rinehart Road Beautification Project has commitments for $172,500 from businesses, organizations and other groups from the area. The project is a public/private joint effort to enhance the Cross County Trail in Seminole County.

The Lake Mary Rinehart Road Beautification Project was created more than one year ago by homeowners associations and city and county leaders to showcase the trail section on Rinehart Road between Lake Mary Blvd. and County Road 46A. Featuring strategically placed landscaping, exercise stations, mile markers and rest areas across the 2.2-mile trail section; it is scheduled for a completion date of Spring 2003, coinciding with the opening of the pedestrian connection bridge over I-4. The trail will serve as a model for other local and regional community projects.

The Trailblazers project provides a very visible opportunity for Lake Mary to demonstrate what can be accomplished through a cooperative effort," said Lake Mary Mayor Thom Greene. "The Lake Mary City Commission fully endorses the work this volunteer group is doing and urges everyone to support this important project."

A groundbreaking ceremony was held last year at Trailhead Park to commemorate the launch of the landscaping enhancements planned for the trail. Plans are now under way to begin the beautification.

With approval from the city and Seminole County for project development and construction, the Trailblazers group continues to ask the corporate community for financial donations. One of the first donations was made by Community National Bank stepped up to the plate as the founding sponsor with a matching funds donation of $25,000.

Late registration begins at 8 a.m. with the field events starting at 9 a.m. and the running events beginning at 10 a.m.

Gold, Silver and Bronze medals will be awarded to the top three finishers in each event, male and female, with one High School age division.

Competitors may not wear school uniforms since this is an age group event.

For more information and to obtain an entry form, please call 407-333-2370.

Oviedo Benefit Golf

The 1st annual Glen Abbey Two-Person, Best-Ball Tournament benefitting the Oviedo High School girls and boy's golf teams will be held Saturday and Sunday, February 8-9.

This two day event is limited to the first 60 teams and entry fees are $95 per person or $190 per team and includes 2 day green fee and cart fee, plus a BIKQ chicken buffet with all the trimmings on Sunday at completion of round. Up to $2,400 in prizes will be awarded along with individual trophies for division winners.

The format will be Best Ball on Saturday to determine which of the four divisions teams will be placed (teams with combined handicaps of 10 or less, or within four strokes of the lead, will be in the Championship Division).

All scores are on a Scratch Basis with division winners determined by two day totals. Ties for first will be decided by a playoff with other ties broken by matching cars, starting with the 18th hole on back. Team skins can be purchased for $20 per day.

For information call Rich (407-328-3883), Dan (407-302-7270) or the Glen Abbey Pro Shop (386-668-4209) or for entry forms visit the Glen Abbey Pro Shop.
