King Carol Emerges From Crisis As Rumania's Strong Man

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Railroads rejected today a plea from Secretary Wallace for an emergency reduction in the citrus freight rates, explaining the financial condition of railroads was the most critical in history.

He counted on a majority composed of his own moderate Radical Socialist party and groups further to right Government circles produced he could muster enough strength to avert the opposition of Communists and Socialists.

A. E. Cleveland, vice president of the Association of American Railroads, told the Secretary in a letter that the existing rates on citrus fruits were much lower than the maximum authorized by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

In Rumania, King Carol, who also emerged dramatically as the nation's strong man, acted with similar speed to extend his power.

Dozen More Injured In Smash-Up Near Salt Lake City On R.R. Grade Crossing Driver Hampered By Snow Storm

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 1.—(AP)—A freight train today crashed into a loaded school bus during a snow storm, killing 26 children and seriously injuring a dozen more.

The school bus was crowded with children and was stopped at a grade crossing when the freight train struck it.

The plan, which would require the shipper to pay the cost of the extra work, was rejected by the carriers, who said it would be a burden on the industry.

The freight train was carrying a load of lumber and was moving slowly when it struck the bus.

The carriers, who are represented by the National Carriers' Association, said they would not support the plan.

The school bus was carrying children from a nearby school and was stopped at the crossing when the train struck it.

Sanford Youth To Take Up Winter Sports After Seeing First Snow

The story of a Sanford youth who witnessed his first snow in New Britain, Conn. where he has set up a headquarters for handling Florida citrus was told in the following news article appearing in the Sunday edition of The Hartford Courant.

"It's rather colder than I had expected," he remarked Saturday, but he was delighted with the snow. Two boys who are aiding him here and who have spent all of their winters in Connecticut have for two days been joshing him about a little incident—it seems they caught him handling some new-fallen snow outside of his store, teasing it into the air, and enjoying it as a child would a new plaything.

"Two weeks ago he left his home state with a carload of oranges and grapefruit to set up business here, and he had but given much thought to what kind of weather he might run into while here. He and his father have for years been connected with the business of raising and selling oranges, and New England weather and orange-raising somehow do not seem to have any relation to each other.

From The London Abstract
When I was lonely
Your fingers reached for mine
their touch
Natural as sunlight.

When I was hardened
Your warmth thawed my rock as gently
As music thought.

When I was angry
You smiled: "But this our day is

For these long shadows."

When I was solemn
You held out laughter, casual as

For a cigarette.

When I was troubled You understanding crossed the bounds of Words to silence.

When I was frightened
Your eyes said: "Fear's a child's

Have dreamed and woken."

The rate reduction of the Florida
Power & Light Company applies to 180 Florida communities served by the company.

Among prominent winter visitors
already sojourning in Florida
is Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, wife of the United States president.
She is visiting her aunt,
Mrs. David Gray, in Sarasota.

Germany announces an increase in its standing army of four army corps, giving it a peace strength of 1,000,000 men under arms. Before the World War Germany had a standing army of 800,000. This does the "Peace for Our Times" bring war closer even before the ink is dry.

It certainly would be a good joke on French labor if, while they are all out on strike, because they are being asked to give up the 40-hour week, Hitler marched by unexpectedly, took the country by storm, and superimposed German labor conditions. Then there would be something to fuss about.

Just as we feared, Fulgencio Batista has returned to Cuba with his pockets full of trade concessions.
It's goodbye to Florida's sugar industry, we gathered, when we read of his announcement that he had promised concessions in the Cuban sugar tariff. Cuban products already get such favorable treatment from this country that Florida growers are unable to compete with them. But, according to Batista, the present rate of 90 cents a hundredweight, is going to be reduced shortly to 75 cents.

The only city served by the Florida Power & Light Company which does not benefit from the new rate reduction is Miami where a legal controversy between the Company and the City Commission has raged for five years. There the Supreme Court authorized a mandatory rate reduction after charges had been filed that the Commissioners offered to settle the matter out of court in 2,000,000 dollars for the payment of a $250,000 bond, but even the reduction authorized by the Court falls short of a year to be as much as Miami would have gotten under terms of the rate reduction authorized by other Florida com-

A Place To Play

The City Commission is yielding to a crying demand of the people in encouraging and aiding financially an increase in recreational facilities in the city. It has recently authorized the construction of a golf ball diamond on the lake front. It has begun work on the rehabilitation of the back nine of the golf course. And it has set up a regular recreation department of the city under a paid recreational director and the supervision of a recreational committee from the Chamber of Commerce.

Partly motivated by increased activity in adding to our recreational facilities is undoubtedly our desire for attracting tourists. Visitors who are looking for a place to spend the winter are naturally going to consider first and foremost the open-air sports of golfing, fishing, hunting, playing tennis, shuffleboard, and all the other games which naturally appeal to a person who is on his vacation.

There is, however, an additional reason, and an important one, for enlarging our recreational plant. And that is to give our boys and girls and our young men and women something to do during their spare hours, which will spend them with good, healthful exercise, under proper supervision, and to a large extent may serve to keep them out of trouble. An idle brain, someone has said, is the devil's workshop.

When we were a young boy it was not an unusual thing at all for a boy of eight to deliver papers. As a matter of fact, I was generally considered a rather healthful and profitable way for him to spend his spare time.
It did not interfere with his schooling and to a large extent it kept him out of trouble at school hours. Today that sort of thing would be absolutely illegal.

It is against the law today for anyone under 14 to work in almost any capacity. It is against the law for anyone over 14 to work more than 44 hours a week in many lines of trade or industry. Working more than 44 hours a week is frowned upon, if not actually outlawed, almost everywhere. It simply isn't done any more.

And nowadays it is often difficult for a young fellow to find a job which will keep him busy as little as 44 hours a week. If he is young, inexperienced, and doesn't know anything, but is willing to learn, it is practically impossible for him to find a job, unless someone is willing to pay him 25 cents an hour. We can remember when the pay for a full time job for a beginner was about $1 a week, and the hours per week were likely to be nearer 60 than 40.

And so we say that something has got to be done to give people something to do when they are not working.
We have a great deal of unemployment anyway. And all our laws and tendencies today are further increasing the amount of idleness, particularly among our young people.
For our way of thinking, it is nothing short of a crime to say to a person that he cannot work and then give him
nothing else to do.

The success of the reduced working week is bound to depend upon the use which people make of their spare time. And the use which they make of it is bound to depend in no small degree upon the recreational facilities which are available. If people take advantage of their newfound opportunities to improve their minds and bodies, they can lead much happier and more useful lives than under the old system. The City is doing its part by giving them a place to play in the right environment and under proper supervision.

Unselfish Service

Indicating that the business of publishing a newspaper is something more than a business and involves an indispensable public service based upon the highest principles and ideals, the Tampa Tribune editorially condemns
the suggestion which has been made that the Florida Citrus Commission spend some of its advertising fund in Florida newspapers.

Had as the newspapers of Florida used this money at this time, we believe they will be unanimous in agreeing with the Tribune that this fund could be put to better use by advertising in northern centers of population where Florida citrus normally finds its greatest market. Whatever boosting Florida citrus needs among Florida people will cheerfully be given free of charge in the news and editorial columns.

Admitting that it is antagonizing its own financial interests, the Tribune announces that it will not cripple the citrus advertising program by selling it space to the Citrus Commission. "The citrus advertising fund is established by law to be used in creating new markets for Florida citrus," the Tribune says, "and should be so administered and expended by the Citrus Commission.

DANGER OF SKIDDING!

IN THE HUSTINGS

WITH JOE CRAIN

When "legislative time" arrives early next year, and the members start debating "labor law", one of the suggested measures will be a wages and hours bill extending the provisions of the federal act to Florida's industries that are not now operating under its provisions.

Although it is impossible to put a finger on the active proponent of this state wages and hours measure, rumors of such a proposition are widespread and legislators have spent some time
in "off the record" discussions of it. Of course, Washington and its New Dealers will need its adoption, in an effort to widen the scope of the federal act,
but like the child labor law,
confronted opposition to this New Deal dream is sure to spring up when the bill goes into the legislative hopper.

By next April, when the legislature convenes, it is probable that some definite information as to the workings of the federal act will be available to the lawmakers. Today, however, state authorities on industrial conditions confess themselves unable to determine, definitely,
just what effect the measure
has had on Florida's business.
Of course, the wages and hours
act became effective only a month ago; too short a time, probably, to decide whether it is a benefit or a curse.

Early reports, however, indicate that the act is not completely accomplishing its purpose,
at least in this state. Editor
Lion Ward, of the Southern Labor Journal, reports that at least half the lumber mills in this state closed down on Oct.
1, although some of these have reopened since that time. He adds that the operating mills have not been forced to increase their payrolls to any great extent, although basic pay of unskilled workers has been raised from 10-17 cents per hour to the minimum of 25 cents. Contracting this, the mills have reduced the week's working hours, so that the employes find very little extra in his pay envelope
on Saturday.

However, in this particular industry, prospects are bright. An exceptionally heavy demand for lumber is expected this spring,
which will enable all the shutdown mills to re-open, and will send the industry into a peak production schedule. With a return to normal activity, it is probable that workers will get 25 percent higher wages.

Another affected industry,
however, sees no bright prospects. This is the business of picking and packing pecan nuts.
The largest of these operators, in Monticello, shut up shop when the wage hour act went into effect but reports say, is now planning to re-open. However, the operator has already determined that his present crew of 200 workers cannot stand a season of work as a unit, in his

News Of The World In Pictures

VANDERBILT WAS CONVINCED that a citizen named Babe Wood consisted of a split personality, for he was in two places most of the time and scored the two touchdowns which gave Tennessee a 14 to 0 edge here today. He is shown in the picture over the line with his second touchdown.

Composite of movie stars Ann Sheridan, Olivia De Havilland, Gloria Dickson, and Patsella Lane, this picture represents Chicago architects' idea of the "accredited" girl to be chosen queen of the architects' ball.

THE RUINS of two (11) unit apartment houses and six bungalows on the beach near Santa Monica are shown here. They were destroyed in the huge brush fire in California.

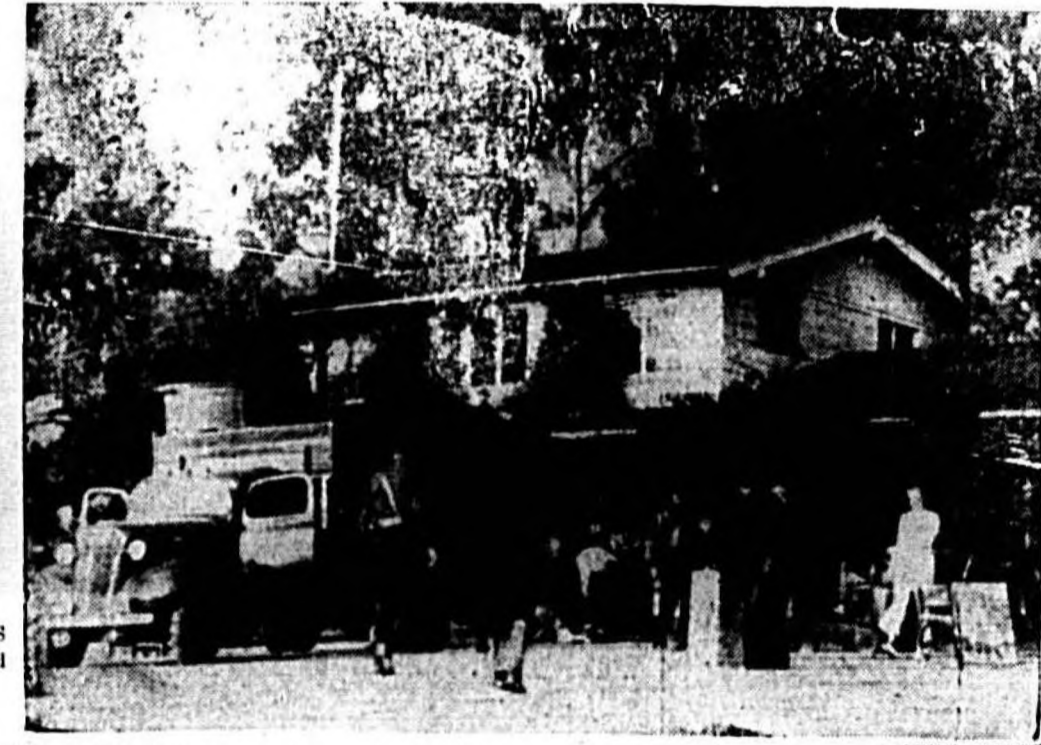

THE RAMS of Fordham ignore rain and mud as they hand South Carolina a 13-0 setback at the Polo Grounds, New York. Ralph Friedgen, No. 4 of the Rams, is shown picking up a few yards.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull is shown aboard the SSS Santa Clara before sailing for Lima, Peru, where he will attend the Pan-American Conference.

Anti-aircraft gunners of the 65th Coast Artillery repel "invaders" in a simulated air attack on Treasure Island—San Francisco Bay site of Golden Gate Exposition.

THIS PICTURE shows furniture and valuables being removed from the Santa Monica home of the late Will Rogers, as the great brush fire raged out of control in California on Thanksgiving Day.

One in a thousand—this picture of the late Will Rogers, now being honored by a memorial in his home town of Claremont, Ohio, was selected as his favorite picture by Will's son from the family collection of more than 1000 "favorite pictures" of their famous father.

"Just like that!" Business Economist Roger Babson explains with gestures his theory that unemployment would vanish in six months if capital, labor and distributors allowed interest, wages and prices to find "natural levels" instead of "padding" them artificially. Mr. Babson is pictured at the Babson Institute, Wellesley, Mass., where he made his argument.

Held by police at Le Mars, Ia., while search is made for bodies in her rock garden, is Mrs. Sumner Knox, pictured in custody. The body of Mrs. Knox' mother already has been found in a shallow garden grave.

"They seemed drunk"—Pretty Ione Robinson, art student, describing Nazi moves against Jews. Pictured in New York on return from Germany.

Suffering from a hangover, and hazy about events since his employer's wife entrusted about $120,000 in jewelry to his care, George Fleming, chauffeur for Edward N. Townsend, Jr., of Syosset, L. I., was arrested by New York police in the home of a friend where he had gone after a two-day drinking spree. At the police station where, bleary-eyed, he is pictured above, Fleming said he didn't know why he made off with the gems, most of which were found on him. He was held for grand jury.

Grinning happily in the face of a life sentence, Robert Irwin bids good-bye to his attorney, Samuel Leirwitz, right. His hysterical plea of second degree murder guilt abruptly ended his New York trial on charges of killing Veronica Gedeon, artist's model; Mrs. Mary Gedeon, her mother, and their boarder, Frank Byrnes.

Simple Way To Bag Game Found By Hunt

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla.—(AP)—The hunting was terrible today. Marion Roberts had trudged over the countryside searching for something to shoot. Not even a rabbit came his way. So Roberts started toward home.

THELMA BELSON FREED NEW ORLEANS.—(AP)—Beau-tiful Thelma Belson, flaming red-haired sweetheart of the man whom narcotics agents de-clared the leader of the biggest "come ring" in New Orleans in 1932, last night was free on a $500 bond.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—(AP)—John Steinhoff was stabbed by Will Colyn's pet monkey over pickings from the Steinhoff home. Jack, the monkey, appeared while Steinhoff was unmaking the lunch in the shade of Colyn's orchard. Jack started picking tidbits from the pail and then stabbed Steinhoff's arm with a pruning knife when the man tried to drive him off. The monkey scrambled into a nearby tree and Steinhoff was taken to a hospital.

State Department Announces Plans For New Cuban Pact Interested Parties Have Until Dec. 21 To Send In Views

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—(AP)—The State Department issued yesterday the following statement concerning supplemental trade agreement negotiations with Cuba: "The acting Secretary of State today issued formal notice of intention to negotiate with Cuba a trade agreement signed at Washington on Aug. 21, 1931, and now in force. In-terested parties are invited to submit their views in regard to these proposed negotiations to the committee for reciprocity information."

The committee for reciprocity information is held at the State Department. It is the closing date for the submission to it of written views of writing and of applications to appear at public hearings to be held by the committee. This notice also set the date, January 3, 1934, at 10 A. M. as the time for the opening of public hearings with respect to these negotiations, which hearings will be held before the committee for reciprocity information in the hearing room of the United States Tariff Commission in the old Land Office Building, Eighth and F Streets, N. W., Washington, D. C.

The notice of intention to negotiate issued by the acting Secretary of State is accompanied by a list of proposals, to which, unless further announcement is made, consideration of changes in import duties applicable to Cuban products imported into the United States will be confined.

In commenting upon these proposals, the acting Secretary of State pointed out that a general revision of the trade agreement concluded in 1931 is not contemplated, that there is contemplated a supplemental agreement to effect certain additions to and modifications in the existing trade agreement. Consideration will be given to the possibility of providing concessions to Cuba in respect to tobacco products, and of granting a further concession in respect of the import duty on Cuban sugar. The concessions provided for Cuban tobacco in the trade agreement of 1931 ceased to be effective on March 17, 1933, following the termination of the domestic cigar tobacco adjustment program after the invalidation of certain provisions of the original agricultural adjustment act. Consideration of a further reduction on Cuban sugar is of course subject to the 50 percent limitation imposed by the trade agreements act and the maximum reduction which can be considered is therefore to a rate not lower than 0.75 cent per pound on 96 degree sugar.

"Certain other matters of an essentially technical nature, relating mainly to the general provision of the existing agreement and to the concessions provided in that agreement on Cuban potatoes and rum, will also receive consideration. The only products, other than sugar and tobacco, included in the list issued in connection with the notice of intention to negotiate are rum and potatoes.

"The inclusion of rum in this list is in order that consideration may be given to the bidding in Cuba's own right of the rate of $2.00 per proof gallon on rum in containers holding each one gallon or less, now applicable to Cuban rum by reason of the guaranteed margin of preference provided in the trade agreement with Cuba and the rate of $2.50 per proof gallon provided in the trade agreement with Cuba and the rate of $2.50 per proof gallon provided in the trade agreement with Haiti signed on March 28, 1933.

"The inclusion of potatoes is for the purpose of considering an amendment which will permit the concession on seed potatoes, provided in the trade agreement concluded with Canada on November 17, 1932, to become fully effective. Under

Defenses Overhauled By South Africans

CAPETOWN, S. Africa.—(AP)—Facing a "strong forward movement" in South African defense, a meeting of the Empire group of South Africa passed a resolution today that it is of vital importance.

The group also passed a resolution to register a protest for the active citizen and coast guard force.

Appraisers Appraised By a Charging Bull

FLORON, Ill.—(AP)—Attorneys Joseph J. Wiegmann and Alton H. Trischke of Elgin went on the Morris Doherty farm to appraise a cow. They walked right up to the animal and started examining it. But the cow was a bull and he charged the appraisers. They escaped after a lively spout to the nearest fence.

Cold storage lockers to preserve meats, fruits and vegetables are now being used by 7,000,000 American families, estimates show.

The existing agreement with Cuba, the duty on white or Irish potatoes of Cuban production is fixed at 20 cents per 100 pounds and a preferential margin of 50 percent guaranteed, for imports entered for a consumption during the months of December, January and February. In the agreement signed with Canada on November 17, 1932, it is provided with respect to the concession therein granted Canada on certified seed potatoes that if and when the United States is no longer obligated to exceed to such potatoes produced in the Republic of Cuba a preferential reduction in the rate of duty in excess of 20 percent, the rate of duty applicable to certified seed potatoes from Canada within the quota limits provided shall be 37 1/2 cents per 100 pounds during the entire year.

"Only a limited supplemental agreement is contemplated. There will be no general revision of the schedules of concessions provided in the existing agreement, and no increases in the guaranteed percentages of preference in tariff rates will be made. Due consideration will, however, be given to all presentations which may be made to the committee for reciprocity information regarding any provisions of the agreement with respect to which the interested persons may feel that adjustments are necessary."

The notice of intention to negotiate issued by the acting Secretary of State is accompanied by a list of proposals, to which, unless further announcement is made, consideration of changes in import duties applicable to Cuban products imported into the United States will be confined.

In commenting upon these proposals, the acting Secretary of State pointed out that a general revision of the trade agreement concluded in 1931 is not contemplated, that there is contemplated a supplemental agreement to effect certain additions to and modifications in the existing trade agreement. Consideration will be given to the possibility of providing concessions to Cuba in respect to tobacco products, and of granting a further concession in respect of the import duty on Cuban sugar. The concessions provided for Cuban tobacco in the trade agreement of 1931 ceased to be effective on March 17, 1933, following the termination of the domestic cigar tobacco adjustment program after the invalidation of certain provisions of the original agricultural adjustment act. Consideration of a further reduction on Cuban sugar is of course subject to the 50 percent limitation imposed by the trade agreements act and the maximum reduction which can be considered is therefore to a rate not lower than 0.75 cent per pound on 96 degree sugar.

"Certain other matters of an essentially technical nature, relating mainly to the general provision of the existing agreement and to the concessions provided in that agreement on Cuban potatoes and rum, will also receive consideration. The only products, other than sugar and tobacco, included in the list issued in connection with the notice of intention to negotiate are rum and potatoes.

"The inclusion of rum in this list is in order that consideration may be given to the bidding in Cuba's own right of the rate of $2.00 per proof gallon on rum in containers holding each one gallon or less, now applicable to Cuban rum by reason of the guaranteed margin of preference provided in the trade agreement with Cuba and the rate of $2.50 per proof gallon provided in the trade agreement with Cuba and the rate of $2.50 per proof gallon provided in the trade agreement with Haiti signed on March 28, 1933.

Trade Agreement To Test Opposing Tariff Principles

Pact Is Small Scale Experiment To Test Various Arguments

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—Scrapping those new trade treaties with Canada and the British Empire shown to their economic bones, and you have left a fairly simple agreement that will test out two opposing principles of international trade regulation: tariff vs. sugar tariff.

It's only a small scale experiment, for the great bulk of trade between the two nations will remain intact. A few outstanding commodities in dollars will provide the basis for the experiment.

Practically all nations today are high tariff nations. Most have gone a lot further, they restrict imports by imposing quotas and prohibit the exchange of goods between foreign sellers and domestic buyers.

Germany is the outstanding exponent of those "rigid" tariffing foreign sellers with high prices, and at the same time protecting important industries with subsidies. Foreign as well, however, must spend in Germany most of the money they collect for the goods they sell here.

Meanwhile, Cordell Hull, U. S. American Secretary of State, has insisted that the whole scheme of things is heading to a common economic way that eventually will demolish world trade barriers.

High Tariff Principles Fined. Mr. Hull agrees that the principle of high tariffs is too well established everywhere, especially in the United States, to be overboard. It would be like pulling the roof off your protection in mid-winter to let in snow and sunlight but he insists a little tariff window should be opened here and there to encourage trade, and, above all, tariff should be equal to all comers.

On that principle, the secretary struck bargains with 18 nations between 1931 and 1937. The idea was, "You lower a few duties, and I'll lower a few," in—most important of all—share the benefits of the reduced tariffs with all nations except Germany, the only U. S. trade partner that refused equal treatment to the United States.

The treaties with Canada and the United Kingdom (the British Isles and colonial possessions) represent his crowning achievement because Great Britain and the United States together do almost half of the world's trade in dollars worth of swapping every year.

Two questions remain: "What have our first 18 treaties done to stimulate trade?" "What will the British agreements do?"

With figures galore to play with, there are almost as many answers as economists, but usually economists have been divided into the pro-Hull school and the anti-Hull school.

Lineup of Beliefs. Here is how the two schools thought line up on the major treaty points:

1. World Peace
Hull School—Orderly trade based on the principle of fair play and equal treatment for all is necessary for world stability. "Live and let live." Any other way leads to misunderstanding, cut-throat competition, dumping, savage economic wars, and ultimately, war. Set your tariff high or low, but leave them there for everybody.

Anti-Hull School—Trade is war and always has been the subject of dispute among nations. Those having advanced standards of living must protect them, and set the world's lowest level. For example, both peaceful rivalry and war established the British Empire, the greatest trading nation of all time. Free-trade was an afterthought.

2. Trade Increases
Hull School—During the nearly four years of trade agreement program, the volume of American exports and imports has been on the upgrade. Although this phenomenon is not due alone to the treaties, our exports have shown a consistently greater growth with treaty nations. For example, exports to trade agreement countries in 1937 increased 72 per cent over 1931.

Anti-Hull School—Our imports from foreign countries have increased 90 per cent during the trade program, while exports were increasing only 50 per cent. That's like putting out 10 cents to get a nickel's worth of business, and the new treaties will intensify the evil.

3. Domestic Benefits
Hull School—Trade agreements mean better times for everybody. They bring more workers into the mills, more workers into the mines. These workers will have money to buy farmers' products, and the farmers in turn will have money to buy the products of

OUT OUR WAY BY J. R. WILLIAMS

WHY MOTHERS GET GRAY

Canadian and British treaties offer the farmer direct competition on such important items as wheat, corn, apples, pears and other domestic products.

Anti-Hull School—The average price of all American imports during the treaty period, 1931-37, increased 29 per cent. The average price of items on which the United States retained duty, as a concession to other nations, dropped 10 per cent. Manufacturers of articles suffering from tariff wars, and so on, daily were unable to maintain their scales. Some carried on production and thereby lost their employment. Those who could not work foreign competition complained that the quantity of all articles coming in under reduced tariff levels of 15 per cent, while the tariff on many articles was only 10 per cent.

G. O. P. Delegates Lack Harmony in Washington Meet

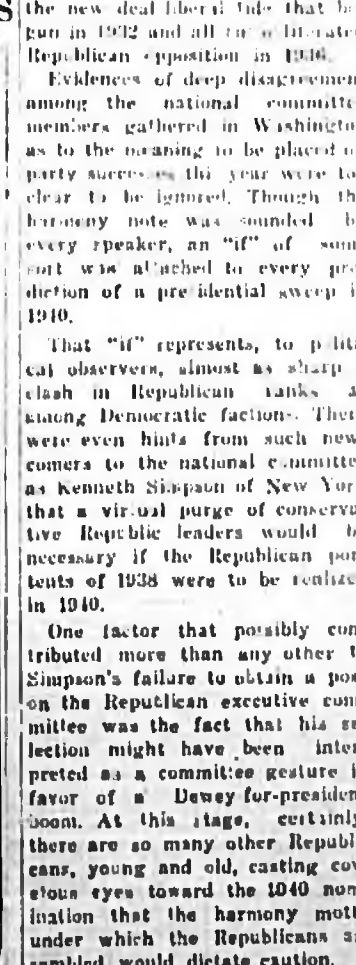

BY KIRK E. SIMPSON
WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—The Republican national committee in its annual meeting, held in Washington, D. C., today, was marked by a lack of harmony among the delegates.

The meeting was held in the grand ballroom of the Mayflower Hotel, and was attended by approximately 1,000 delegates from all over the country.

The delegates were divided into two main groups: the conservative wing and the liberal wing. The conservative wing, led by Senator Charles McNary, favored a return to the policies of the 1920s, while the liberal wing, led by Senator Charles McNary, favored a more progressive program.

The meeting was marked by a series of heated debates and a lack of agreement on many key issues. The delegates were unable to reach a consensus on the party's platform for the 1940 election.

Temporary Order Prevents Enforcement Of Law Requiring "Florida" Stamp

Canners Take Suit To Federal Court

Plaintiffs Placed Under Bond Pending Legislative Action

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 2.—A three-judge federal court today granted an interlocutory injunction to prevent Florida officials from enforcing the recently enacted State law that require fruit processors to use cans embossed with the word "Florida" in the shipment of their goods.

The court placed the Polk Company of Haines City, Fla., and 19 other plaintiffs under a $5,000 bond pending the possibility that the Florida State Legislature, meeting next April, might repeal or modify the embossing statute.

The court was composed of Circuit Judge Rufus E. Foster, District Judge Wayne C. Horah and Alexander, sitting for the southern district of Florida, appointed Judge Akerman to represent it in extending the injunction to "day new parties."

Judge Akerman also was instructed to appoint the commissioners to take the testimony if the necessity for a trial arose. Under the court order either side could sue for the trial of the case.

Florida Leads South In Aid For Old Age, Blind

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 2.—Florida is leading the entire South in the percentage of population more than 65 years of age receiving Old Age Assistance and Aid to the Blind.

Statistics acknowledging this claim were published in the October number of Social Security Bulletin, issued monthly by the Social Security Board, with headquarters at Washington.

Outside the South, Florida ranks near the top, being second in the entire United States in the percentage of population more than 65 years of age receiving Aid to the Blind, with Maine leading.

In the Old Age Assistance category it is surpassed only by Oklahoma, Missouri, South Dakota, Arizona, Colorado, Utah and Nevada. Oklahoma's matching funds were halted by the Social Security Board when it charged that ineligible were being placed on the assistance payrolls.

For comparison, statistics covering the Seventh Region, of which it is a part, show that in Florida 320 persons per 1,000 population 65 years of age, 137 in Alabama, 213 in Georgia, 184 in Mississippi, 150 in Tennessee and 309 in South Carolina have been granted Old Age Assistance.

In the Aid to the Blind category the showing is even more favorable with Florida leading with 47, followed by Tennessee with 47, South Carolina with 24, Georgia with 37, Alabama with 10 and Mississippi with none.

Florida's Aid to the Blind program was inaugurated in December of last year, while its Old Age Assistance program was picked up by the State Welfare Board when it assumed office on July 1, 1937. At that time the case load was slightly in excess of 10,000. November Old Age Assistance checks were mailed out to 32,879 recipients and Aid to the Blind checks to 2,142 recipients.

Jurors Fail To Reach Verdict In Negro Trial

Hastings Case Ruled Mistrial After 26 Witnesses Testify For Two Days

After a veritable parade of witnesses who gave testimony for two days, a jury last night failed to reach a verdict, causing a mistrial in the case of J. C. Hastings, negro chauffeur of Charles Bradshaw of Altamonte Springs, charged with assault with the intent to commit murder.

Assistant State Attorney Lloyd E. Kyle, who is prosecuting the case for the state, called in 11 witnesses, while 12 persons testified on behalf of the defendant who is represented by E. F. Housholder.

The negro is alleged to have fired several shots into a junk joint after going to his home to procure a pistol. One of the bullets was said to have seriously wounded one of the negro occupants of the place.

After hearing the evidence in the case the jurors retired to reach a verdict but after deliberating until 8:00 o'clock last night reported to Judge Millard B. Smith that they were unable to reach a unanimous verdict.

The jurors were Karl Deul, A. R. Hunter, Willie B. Munson, J. O. Lybrand, J. A. Benson, and T. W. Prevatt.

While returning to the court room yesterday afternoon to complete his work in the case Attorney Housholder became unconscious and fell at the foot of the courtroom.

Kidnaped Girl Stumbles Home After Release

OXON HILL, Md., Dec. 2.—(AP)—William B. Brown, father of 18-year-old Mary Brown who reappeared at her home last night after a 30-hour absence, said today she was abducted by men who mistakenly thought he could pay ransom.

When his daughter, a business school student, convinced the men she was unable to pay any ransom, he said, they released her.

She arrived haggard and in tattered clothes at the Brown home last night, saying the men freed her from an automobile a short distance from the farm house where she lives. Her father and doctor said she was unharmed.

Speaking almost incoherently, she said that she had not been criminally assaulted but that her captors had "knocked me out with their fists" several times. She said she had been kept blindfolded and could not identify the three men "except that one of them had a mustache."

According to the girl, the three men thrust her out of the truck, still blindfolded. She then walked home, she said.

Reaching the front door of her home, she knocked weakly and when the door was opened she fell into the arms of Robert L. Manning, retired Washington detective and an old family friend.

Manning said that the girl was without her coat and that her sweater was badly torn. The rest of her clothing, he said, was in "shreds."

Sanatorium Head Outlines Methods Of T. B. Control

Importance Of Early Diagnosis Stressed By Dr. Thompson

Dr. R. D. Thompson, superintendent and medical director of the State Tuberculosis Sanatorium at Orlando, outlined methods of tuberculosis control and control of this disease, and the part the State Tuberculosis Sanatorium has played in this work, at a meeting in the Junior High School last night.

Addressing a large audience, a number of whom were teachers in Seminole County schools, Dr. Thompson stressed the importance of early diagnosis in the control of tuberculosis, and the importance of education in this respect.

At nightfall last night, patients from West Palm Beach and Augusta, Ga., were on the grounds and last night a special car from Columbus, Ga., arrived with 25 convalescing patients.

While in Orlando, the convalescing patients will have four patients with two Scouts in each tent. However, they will not cook their own meals as a central dining room has been built in one of the large fan buildings adjoining the park.

The first attraction for the Scouts will be tonight when they march to Tinker Field in Orlando to see the annual Stetson-Rollins football game and the Scouts are preparing to put on a giant scout exhibition during the half.

On Saturday the scouts meet in the Municipal Auditorium for a giant Stetson-Rollins game. The Daytona Beach High School Band will furnish music for the scout parade and will also play at the football game tonight.

The Jubilee will come to an end Sunday morning about 10:00 o'clock following the inspection of the camp by officials and the awarding of scout emblems.

Three Local Scout Patrols Leave For Jubilee In Orlando

Three patrol of Troop No. 5 of Sanford Boy Scouts left early this morning to participate in the Georgia-Florida Jubilee being held today, Saturday, and Sunday in Orlando.

Walter L. Hays, president of the Central Florida Council, met together with a group of Orlando scouts welcomed approximately 1000 Boy Scouts and their leaders who arrived this morning from all points in Georgia and Florida.

Market Operators To Assist Growers With Their Sales

Harold Kastner, president of the Sanford Market Operators Association, today said that a plan is underway among the members of the organization to welcome farmers to the market.

"Our main idea," said Mr. Kastner, "is to make the farmers, who come from surrounding territory, feel at home and get acquainted with the dealers of the operators association."

Mr. Kastner said these farmers would be given every opportunity to sell commodities direct to the dealers from a stall given them free of charge or they may rent stalls from the market and sell to anyone.

Mr. Kastner added that the farmers would be immediately introduced to the dealers and truckers on the grounds over the public address system.

At the market yesterday, Mr. Kastner said that beans were averaging about $1.00 per hamper and were moving slowly but better than any day since the Thanksgiving holidays. Mr. Kastner also said there was a fair movement on beets yesterday.

Empty Stocking Fund Total Reaches $90

Contributions of $350 yesterday boosted the total for the Salvation Army's Empty Stocking Fund to $90 and with only three weeks remaining until Christmas, chairman H. James Gut and Capt. R. E. Ross of the local citadel, are planning final efforts to reach the $500 quota estimated as needed to spread Christmas cheer to the homes of needy families in Seminole County.

Numerous requests for baskets have already been made of the Salvation Army and Capt. Ross has requested support of fund which is used solely for this purpose, so that none of these requests will have to go unfilled.
