Judge Hears Arguments

In Suit To Allow Death

MORRISTOWN, N.J (AP) — A judge hears arguments trday on the request of Joseph T. Quinlan that his adopted daughter be allowed to die. She has been in a coma for five months and doctors say there is no hope for recovery. Quinlan filed the suit Sept. 12, seeking court approval to disconnect a hospital's respirator from Karen Ann Quinlan, 21, which would result in her death "within minutes" because it is "God's will," he said. Doctors say the coma was probably caused by an overdose of alcohol and drugs and there is no chance of recovery. "I was the last to hold out because both my wife and my other daughter were critically ill in the past, and the Lord always answered my prayers before," Quinlan has said. "But after a lot of prayers I became convinced this is what God's will was, that Karen was being called by Miss Quinlan's heart and lungs have been dependent on a respirator at St. Clare's Hospital in nearby Denville since April 15.

Appropriation Bill Draws Fire

WASHINGTON (AP) - A $6.2-billion appropriation bill is turning out to be a lightning rod that attracts such controversial issues as school busing, the occupational health and safety law and abortions.

The debate, which is resuming today, has delayed the measure which Senate leaders had hoped to pass last week and then turn to legislation dealing with natural gas. The bill would provide funds for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and the Labor Depart-

Nixon Arguments Heard

TUN (AP) - A Special federal court hearing three hours of arguments on Richard M. Nixon's attempt to reclaim ownership of millions of documents and the White House tapes accumulated during his presidency

In the oral arguments today, lawyers for the former president were expected to claim that Nixon has a constitutional right of ownership to the 42 million documents and thousands of hours of tape reels from his administrations

The former president's lawyers contend that only Nixon can properly assure the privacy rights of the thousands of persons mentioned in all those papers or recorded on the apes. Nixon also says he needs the materials to write a book and help establish a library of his records.

SLA Bomb Links Probed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - In the wake of the capture of Patricia Hearst, federal investigators are checking for possible links between the Symbionese Liberation Army and terrorist bombings around San Francisco in the last 20 months.

FBI Agent-in-charge Charles Bates said evidence - in cluding explosives gathered in connection with the arrest Thursday of Miss Hearst and three comrades - is being compared with evidence on recent Bay area bombings

"We're combing the evidence found Thursday," he said in an interview Sunday. "Anytime we find anything, it's checked and rechecked against the older bombings."

Imported Fuel Oil To Drop

WASHINGTON (AP) — The price of a gallon of im-ported fuel oil will drop 1.5 cents as the result of the Ford dministration's decision to remove the 60-cents-a-barrel import fee on refined petroleum products, officials say. Federal Energy Administrator Frank G. Zarb announced the move Sunday and said President Ford will decide soon whether or not to remove a $2-per-barrel fee on crude oil imports.

Dropping the 60-cent fee came as a response to the abrupt lapse in price controls on most domestically produced oil, which could result in higher prices and spur

Energy Program Pushed

MONTEREY, Calif. (AP) - President Ford has decided to push for a major federal program to encourage heavy private investment in domestic energy resources, officials say.

Sources who relayed this word said Ford might decide to make public at least the broad outlines of his plan in a San Francisco address today to a convention of the AFL-CiO building trades department.

The President was said to have been still working on his AFL-CIO talk late Sunday after flying here from Anaheim, where he addressed the National Association of Life Underwriters.

Luggage Tag Rule in Effect

By The Associated Press

At Los Angeles International Airport an estimated 60 per cent of boarding passengers didn't have one. But at O'Hare International Airport in Chicago, one airline said only one passenger in 19,000 didn't have one. The "one" was an identification tag or sticker attached to every piece of luggage checked at airline ticket counters in the United States. The Civil Aeronautics Board regulation requiring the tags went into effect Sunday. Passengers generally cooperated with the new rule, either by coming with their bags equipped with ID tags or accepting them from airline ticket counter personnel.

Bitter Parents Blame Navy

LIBBY, Mont. (AP) - The U.S. Navy tombstone of Timothy E. Nunley is resting in a city garbage dump today, replaced with one inscribed by his parents. "We lost our beloved son through the negligence and stupidity of the United States government and its agents.' the new marker reads.

Timothy, 19, died of cancer in a Navy hospital in Jacksonville, Fla., on Sept. 20, 1974. His parents say the Navy failed to diagnose the disease and repeatedly refused to admit their only son to a hospital until it was too

'Generation Gap' A Success

FORT LAUDERDALE (AP) - They haven't any gold records and their concerts are attended by only a handful of elderly listeners. But the musicians of "The Generation Gap" know they are successful.

The band, its 12 members ranging in age from 14 to 75, plays songs of "the good old days" every weekend in local nursing homes and hospitals.

Striking Teachers Want Federalization

As holders of at least one college degree, teachers should be as astute as anyone in understanding how inflation and recession are putting the squeeze on school financing. Costs are up, and the economy which generates taxes is still pulling out of a recession.

This should result in teacher unions taking a restrained view of what they can expect from school districts this year in wage and benefit increases and job guarantees. That's not the case, however, in some American cities

It is unfair to accuse striking teachers of poor economic sense. Rather, an explanation for these strikes has been suggested by leaders of the parent organizations of most teacher unions, the National Education Association and the AFL-CIO American Federation of Teachers.

John E. Ryor, elected president of the NEA last summer, acknowledged that large metropolitan areas would be the most likely strike targets this fall because it is relatively difficult to recruit enough substitute teachers to keep schools open in large systems. Moreover, he spelled out a new political strategy for the NEA which provides the logic for striking against school systems which obviously do not have the financial resources to meet teacher demands.

Mr. Ryor says the NEA for the first time next year will endorse a candidate for President. It will increase its campaign support, which stood at $3 million in 1974, for congressional candidates agreeable to the aims of the NEA. What are those aims? In simplest terms, to achieve the federalization of public education in America.

A priority goal of the NEA, says Mr. Ryor, is federal financing of at least one-third of the cost of operating public schools - a giant leap from the eight per cent of those costs now met by federal aid programs.

If a school board tells teachers it cannot afford to meet their demands, that's music to the ears of the teacher unions. With strike actions to dramatize their case, they are already engaged in selling the next President and Congress on the idea that Americans can no longer finance their own school systems without massive doses of federal

Are local taxpayers really unable to pay for the schools they need and want? We think they can, unless the demands leveled by unionized teachers force their school boards into appeals to Washington for help. And that appears to be exactly what striking teachers in some cities are trying to do.

Eyes On New York

It must be assumed that big city mayors across the nation were watching - with apprehension, probably - as New York Mayor Abraham Beame was pinched recently between the threat of municipal barkruptcy and the understandable desire to retain control of the city.

The mayor's choices remain unenviable.

Barring last-minute federal aid, he can default on the city's obligations, including a $100 million payroll, or relinguish budgetary authority to a state-sponsored agency. Potential investors in notes aimed at relieving New York City's financial crunch are insisting presumably on hard evidence that future spending would be geared to revenues. New York City's woes, simply because of the city's size, are the Pentagon should be adopted as gospel by every president, senator and representative. McNamara, it will be recalled, established the five-year, look-ahead system in the Department of Defense. That is, each major project was calculated ahead by five years to determine what pressure it would exert on the budget. As AcNamara knew, and as every president and congressman should have learned by now, it's not the initial cost of a program - which may be in the low millions - that counts, but the cost after it has grown to adolescence and adulthood, which may run into billions a year.

This is what Congress has neglected in carrying out its new budgeting system. This year, Congress faithfully promised fiscal restraint and responsibility, and set up some impressive rules to prove sincerity. Nevertheless, in voting on money bills thus far this session, congressmen collectively have failed in practice to give any apparent appreciable thought to the cost of their programs five and 10

Thus, the much heraided congressional monetary reform, which was to save us all money, may prove, in the end, to be considerably half a load

The importance of looking ahead becomes clear when it is realized that more than half the average federal budget today consists of commitments inherited from previous budgets. Each year, the dollar value of these old commitments inevitably rises, pushing the Letter To The Editor budget up beyond reason.

Now this is not because no one thought of the Strikers On Welfare problem. The budgeting reform voted by Congress, in fact, requires the President to make five-year projections for all budget items - in the McNamara tradition. Food Helps Feed World *

It is not only an inadequate food supply that millions of people in the underdeveloped world suffer from, but inadequate nutrition in the food supply they do have.

The lack of proper vitamin and mineral nutrition causes such diseases as beriberi (a deficiency of vitamin B-1), pellagra (a deficiency of niacin and B vitamins), rickets (a deficiency of calcium), anemia (a deficiency of iron) and vitamin A deficiency blindness.

In India alone an estimated 10,000 people become blind each year because of vitamin A deficiency. In that country and others, shortcomings in the quality, not just the quantity, of food aggravate the social, economic and medical problems associated with hunger.

Prevention of diseases caused by nutritional deficiencies is not expensive and well within the reach of even the poorest nation. For example, fortifying foods with vitamin A would cost only about 1.5 cents a person a day. According to John W. Gage, marketing manager of Hoffman-La Roche Inc., a major supplier of vitamins, the total cost for providing effective levels of 13 essential vitamins and minerals comes to less than 18 cents a person a day, or approximately 65 dollars a year.

Yet little is being done in this country or in many other countries around the world where the vitamin-mineral fortification of key foods could result in important health benefits at very low cost.

By focusing on the quantity of food required to meet world needs, we have lost the perspective of nutritional quality, says Gage. Vitamin and mineral deficiencies will not be eliminated simply by giving the underdeveloped countries of the world more cereal grains. Without proper consideration to both quantity and quality, it is (Mrs.) Priscilla B. For Supplies As Ransom

PARIS (AP) - The chief of a rebel tribe in the northcentral African nation of Chad is reported holding out for supplies instead of cash to ransom French archeologist Francoise Claustre, captured with two other Europeans 17 months ago in a raid on a desert village.

Marc Combes, who escaped the rebel camp in a stolen Landrover some time ago, said in a French television interview Sunday he believes rebel chief Hissen Habre will carry out his threat to shoot Mrs. Claustre on Tuesday if the French government does not meet his terms. Combes said Habre, a graduate of law and political science studies in Paris, is "not of the same tribe" as his Toubou tribe lieutenants and could not afford to lose face with them by modifying his demands.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Florida Asks SEC To Limit

All Squads To 48 Players

GAINESVILLE (AP) - Home teams, a siting teams, would be limited to 48 players for Southeastern Conference football games under a proposal by the University of Florida.

A rule by the National Collegiate Athletic Association limits visiting teams to 48 players while allowing the home team to have 60. Coach Doug Dickey said Sunday that Dr. Robert Q.

Marston, president of UF, has contacted the conference and asked that the limit be the same for both teams. "Forty-eight is just six or seven too low and favors the home team," Dickey said. Florida plays at Mississippi State this Saturday.

Ryder Format Change Eyed

LIGONIER, Pa. (AP) - America's resounding, nearecord triumph over the helplessly, hopelessly outmanned British-Irish team has prompted renewed speculation that the Ryder Cup format may be changed to provide the British with some much-needed help in the biennial golf matches.

"They simply have to do something to extend their area of selection," said Arnold Palmer, the non-playing captain of the deeply talented American team that ran up a 21-11 triumph over the best from Great Britain and Ireland in the matches that ended Sunday at the Laurel Valley Golf Club.

It was the Americans' 13th victory against one loss and one tie in the decades since World War II and the overwhelming margin accented Britain's need to bolster her forces.

Boros Wins State PGA Crown

TARPON SPRINGS (AP) - Julius Boros has cap-tured the Florida PGA golf tournament, taking a threestroke victory over his South Florida rival, Butch Baird.

"I am playing as well as I ever did except when my back stiffens up on cold days," Boros, a veteran touring pro from Fort Lauderdale, said after his Sunday victory. "That takes about 10 yards off my drives, but doesn't really make too much difference."

He responded to the warm weather here by leading on all four days of the 72-hole event. Boros fired a one-over-par 73 Sunday, but was steady on the final holes and emerged victorious after finding himself tied with Baird for the lead when his Miami opponent birdied the 15th hole.

DANGER: Eloise Pounds Panhandle

PANAMA CITY (AP) - Hurricane Eloise, spawning tornadoes along its path, slammed into the central panhandle of Florida today with 130 mile-an-hour winds, raging surf and lashing rains. Only 24 hours after being reclassified a hurricane deep in the Gulf of Mexico, the storm thundered ashore between Fort Walton Beach and Panama City, wreaking havoc in both cities and in a 40 mile stretch between.

Evening Billing Billin

Trees, power lines and billboards toppled before the onslaught, and the area was plunged into darkness in the grey dawn as power transformers exploded in brilliant showers of blue-green sparks. Thousands of people along a 100-mile stretch of shoreline had fled in a last-minute rush to escape the oncoming fury of the storm in the darkness of early morning.

In Panama City, a truss manufacturing plant caught fire, from what officials said was either a leaking gas line or a downed electrical circuit. Firemen tried to fight the blaze in screaming winds and rain.

Three tornadoes were reported in the Fort Walton area. One destroyed a house and ripped the roofs off half a dozen others, but no injuries were reported. Surf riding the abnormally high tides crashed across the unprotected sand dunes of the summer resort area, ripping up roads and highways and undermining the foundations of homes, condominiums and motels built dangerously close to the sea. U.S. 89, running along the coast for nearly 200 miles from Apalachicola Bay to Pensacola on the far western edge of the Panhandle, was reported breaking up under the waves in many places. No storm-related injuries were reported immediately, but communications were down in many areas and an accounting of the safety of residents would have to wait the hurricane's passage Given only a few brief hours of warning, residents of lov-lying areas jammed highways leading inland, many of them fleeing in sleepwear covered by raincoats.

After crossing the coastline, Eloise plunged into the rolling pincy woods of the panhandle, spreading heavy thunderstorms before it on a course toward southeastern Alabama and Georgia.

Forecaster, warned of 5 to 16-inch rains and possible flash flooding in the dozens of streams and rivers lacing the area. Winds were expected to diminish rapidly as the storm moved inland, but the threat of tornadoes persisted. "We've got a lot of damage," said Bob Smith the county commission chambers today to protest pay raises granted Seminole County officials by the 1973 Commissioners sat stunned as citizens stacked 40 to 50 "care packages" in front of the commission room, saying items in the packages are so commissioners will be able to "survive" the tight economy.

"We can't live on our salaries, and they (public officials) are putting more money in the budget for their salaries," said Jan Hobby.

Commission Chairman Sid Vihlen Jr. ordered the packages removed and told protestors, "we're doing our best to hold a county commission meeting. We'll let you do your thing, but you let us do ours."

> Extra police were ordered to the courthouse to handle the flow of traffic which brought protestors to the meeting. Packages were addressed to Vihlen, Sheriff John Polk and Commissioners Mike Hattaway, John Kimbrough, Dick Williams and Harry Kwiatkowski.

The County Officials Salary Act provides about $40,000 worth of raises this year to the school board, the county commission and other top ranking county officials.
