County Man Doesn't Like Slimy Guests

By DENNIS FEOLO
Herald Staff Writer

When it rains, Jack Ives worries about the snakes. At his house, snakes and rain come together.

Ives lives at 124 Fairlane Circle in Park Ridge near Sanford. For the past eight years, he said, during the heavy summer rains, the water backs up to the houses in the circle and floods the low lying areas behind his house driving the water moccasins to higher ground.

Since he has been unable to find any government agency willing to take responsibility for the flooding on his block, the snakes continue to come. During last week's rains, he killed four water moccasins, one in his kitchen, three in the carport.

His house is on one of the first pieces of higher ground the snakes reach when they desert the flooded low lying areas, he said.

Saturday, Ives filed a report with the Seminole County Sheriff's Department.

"I just got fed up," he said. "I wanted a deputy to see it. Even if he couldn't do anything about it I wanted a report."

The report, filed by Deputy J. E. Alford, indicates the water was 40 feet into Ives' yard when the deputy arrived.

"He couldn't even get out of his car," Ives said referring to Alford.

Ives said he plans to take his case for having something done to alleviate the problem back to the county commission.

He said he has complained about the situation to county commissioners in the past with no results. He said he has also complained to the county zoning commission and roads department.

He said the single storm sewer in the area is blocked by mud and debris and serves no useful function.

His biggest fear, Ives said, is the poisonous water moccasins coming in contact with neighborhood children.

"You know these kids are going to play in the water," Ives said. "No matter what you tell them. Someone's going to get hurt."

4 Teen-Agers Found Slain In Eatery's Freezer

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI)—Six restaurant employees, including four teen-agers, were bearded into a back freezer room and methodically shot to death in a robbery at a steakhouse along a busy Oklahoma interstate highway Sunday night.

Police said the bodies of two men, three teen-aged boys and a 16-year-old girl were found stacked on top of each other in the 200-square-foot freezer room by Siron Stockade's assistant manager, Michael J. Click, 25.

Click arrived at the restaurant about 11 p.m. Sunday to take the young girl home. The restaurant had just closed for the night.

This is the worst mass killing I can remember in 18 years on the force," said Police Chief Tom Hegay.

The victims were identified as Louis Zacarias, an assistant manager, about 40; Isaac E. Freeman, 16, a customer; David Lindsay, a cook, 17; Anthony Teu, 17; David Salzman, 16; and Terri M. Horst, 16.

All had been shot once in the head. Michael Horst had also been shot in the abdomen.

Police said several weapons had been used during the shootings. They were still unsure about the caliber of the weapons.

"We believe there was more than one suspect," Police Sgt. Tom Mundy said.

John Wright, 30, a former employee who recently quit and moved to Little Rock, Ark., said, "It's a shame. They are all kids going to school. Man, it's the most horrible thing I've ever heard of."

A police spokesman said the workers apparently had just closed for the night and turned the lights out when the assailant or assailants entered through a back door.

The six were taken to the 200-square-foot freezer room at the back and methodically shot with a pistol — each body falling on top of the one cut down before it.

Police said the assistant manager waiting outside in his car eventually began to wonder what was taking so long and carefully picked out every word as if he were stopping in a delicatessen.

'Gloomy' Young: 'Just Wait'

PARIS (UPI)—U.N. Ambassador Andrew Young, appearing glum and dispirited, said in an interview published today he "accepted" President Carter's rebuke for saying there were "hundreds, even thousands" of U.S. political prisoners.

But Young denied he had overstated the number and he defended most of his controversial statements as right in the long run.

Young was asked by a reporter from the International Herald Tribune how he took President Carter's rebuke of his remark to a Paris Bond. Carter Needs Young, Page 1A newspaper about the prisoners.

"I accepted the rebuke," Young said in Geneva where he is on U.N. business.

The overstatement was the result of a "misunderstanding," he said.

Reporter Jonathan Powner wrote that he found Young "dispirited and gloomy. He talked extraordinarily slowly and carefully picked out every word as if he were stopping in a delicatessen."

He added that in connection with Soviet dissident trials, a critique of the Soviet Union becomes stronger when given from the perspective of having faced up to U.S. weaknesses and imperfections.

Winter Springs Counsel Rules

De-Annexation Study A 'Must'

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

No matter how the city of Winter Springs proceeds in the requested de-annexation of the 3,500-acre Tusawilla area, the city must first conduct a feasibility study. So ruled City Attorney Thomas Lang today.

Lang said a feasibility study is an absolute necessity, or at least that is the way he reads the law to de-annex territory from a municipality, according to the 1974 statute.

He said two methods are available for de-annexation after the feasibility study is accomplished. The city council may adopt an ordinance excluding the territory from the referendum to be voted on by those in the area seeking de-annexation.

The referendum can either be sought by the people, or the council itself can call the election, Lang said.

The city council at a special workshop session scheduled for 7:30 tonight at the community building will discuss methods of accomplishing the required feasibility study.

Petitions containing the signatures of 106 persons, 40 percent of the registered voters in the Tusawilla area, were presented to the city council last week requesting the referendum on de-annexation.

Robert O. Williams of 1039 Elk Court, one of the circulators of the petition, said only nine of the persons approached by the petitioners refused to sign. He added the committee will continue circulating the petitions until more than 50 percent of the voters in that area have signed.

The petition committee consists of Williams, former Councilman Donald Sines, Mrs. Sheila Sines, Herbert G. Monson and Stanley J. Obaraki.

Sines, who initiated the petition said the area wants to be de-annexed because of lack of city services and the prospect that the area may have to pay for purchase of a utility system serving another section of the city.

The Tusawilla area, according to City Planner Dick Rozanski, encompasses 3,500 acres, about 30 percent of the city's territory. He said the area has about 423 homes in the $45,000 to $150,000 price range and includes an estimated 1,100 of the city's 5,002 residents.

'Pretty Baby' Gone

The movie "Pretty Baby" which had met with opposition from county juvenile detention center employee Steve Sweet, is no longer being shown at interested theater.

"It's like a disease and you could say that I am glad it's gone," said Sweet who said he found out today that the movie was no longer being shown locally.

A check with the theater found a recording identifying the movies playing.

The movie "Pretty Baby" was not among them.

Sweet had initially hoped to picket the movie but noted this was not needed after the paper showed what type of movie it was.

He noted that after the story appeared in The Evening Herald he received mostly favorable comments and "I assume they contacted the theater."

7 Nations Agree To Blackball Skyjacker Harbors

U.S. Report On Summit: 'Have Total Agreement'

BONN, West Germany (UPI)—The seven nations meeting at the summit in Bonn agreed to sever all civil air relations with any nation that harbors aircraft hijackers, a Carter administration official said today.

Such a move would effectively cut all airline connections between all of the seven and any country granting sanctuary to hijackers.

The chiefs of government of the United States, Canada, Britain, France, West Germany, Italy and Japan will announce the new policy late today at the end of the summit meetings that began Sunday.

U.S. administration sources said the seven will pledge to sever all civil relations with any other nation that harbors or gives asylum to aircraft hijackers or refuses to return the hijacked aircraft or any of the hostages aboard that aircraft.

Although the pledge will mention no other countries by name, the sources said it obviously will be aimed at such countries as Algeria and Libya, which have harbored air hijackers in the past.

In 1977, for instance, Red Army terrorists hijacked a Japanese airliner to Algeria, which kept the plane and a $6 million ransom.

The schedule is proceeding well "and I think the communiqué will support the U.S. position," Blumenthal said. He said it would be a "strong communique" and that "the discussion was lively and substantive and it came out with a very meaningful result."

Carter and six other leaders of major industrial nations discussed trade and terrorism before breaking for lunch today on the final day of a summit conference aimed at worldwide economic recovery.

At a working lunch hosted by Walter Scheel, the West German president, told the summiters that "drastic adjustments are necessary lest short-sighted protectionism will preserve unprofitable jobs at the expense of profitable ones and thus ultimately ruin the whole global division of labor."

Carter, clearly elated by the prospect of the successful summit result he had predicted, leaves for Washington tonight to fulfill the pledges he made in Bonn.

- The sources said the administration would have preferred for the pledge to have been adopted by the U.N. General Assembly, but that it realized it could never put together a majority there for such sharp sanctions.
- European leaders at the world economic summit earlier told President Carter the Common Market's proposed new European Monetary System is not aimed against the dollar.
- The system, which was unveiled at the recent Bremen meeting of European Community heads of government earlier this month, has been criticized as being aimed at toppling the dollar as a world reserve currency.
- West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt and French President Valéry Giscard d'Estaing — co-authors of the new system — took time at the economic summit to explain to Carter how it works and assure him it was meant to help the dollar, not attack it.

HONOLULU (UPI) — Hurricane Fico, packing winds of 150 miles an hour, roared across the Pacific today, and the National Weather Service said it could hit Hawaii sometime Wednesday if it continues on its present course.

Fico, the third hurricane spawned off the Mexican coast this season, was reported about 900 to 1,000 miles east-southeast of the island of Hawaii early today, moving on a 280-degree course — practically due west — at a speed of 15 knots.

A weather service spokesman in Honolulu described Fico as "very much a hurricane force which, unlike its predecessors Carlotta and Daniel, has not disintegrated as it approaches Hawaii."

Police Car Is Damaged Pursuing Stolen Cadillac

By DENNIS FEOLA Herald Staff Writer

A woman, still unidentified, led police from three Seminole County departments on a high-speed chase Sunday evening. She was stopped when a Casselberry police sergeant shot out a tire from the stolen Cadillac. A Casselberry police car sustained $800 damage in the chase.

The incident began as Casselberry patrolman Bill Morris was working with his radar equipment at Howell Branch Road and State Road

OS. The Cadillac came through the intersection at 86 miles an hour, Casselberry Police Chief George Karcher said. Morris followed the car on a high-speed chase Sunday evening. She was stopped when a Casselberry police sergeant shot out a tire from the stolen Cadillac. A Casselberry police car sustained $800 damage in the chase.

The driver sped up the car and was doing better than 90, Karcher said, when it reached Interstate 4 and State Road 638. Initially the driver attempted to enter Interstate 4 via the eastbound exit ramp, Karcher said. With cars coming in the

The driver slammed the brakes, Karcher said, and Clapper's car hit the left rear causing minimal damage to the Cadillac and an estimated $800 to the front of the police car, Karcher said.

The driver spun the car around again and Morris fired two shots at the rear tires causing the car to cross all four lanes of State Road 638 and come to a halt at the guardrails on the overpass.

The woman driver was taken to Florida North Hospital for drug treatment, Karcher said, and during the night was taken to Florida South Hospital for evaluation.

Karcher said the woman claims to be 15-years-old. Two men in the car were taken into custody on their charges until police can confirm their story that they were simply hitchhikers.

The car was reported stolen by William Frelander of 1701 Lee Road in Winter Park. Also participating in the chase were Altamonte Springs police and Seminole County sheriff's officers.

TRIAL TO BEGIN Robert Anthony Preston Jr., 20, facing charges of first degree murder, kidnapping, robbery and sexual battery stands trial beginning at 9 a.m. Tuesday at the Seminole County Courthouse. Circuit Judge J. William Woodson will preside.

Preston faces charges in connection with the Jan. 9 abduction-murder of 48-year-old Earlene Walker of Winter Park. Mrs. Walker was abducted during a robbery at the L'I' Champ convenience store in Altamonte Springs. Her mutilated body was discovered in a field in Forest City at State Road 638 and Pine Street.

An autopsy revealed death was caused by stabbing with a sharp instrument. Records show the driver had been drinking in $29 auto accidents in which fatalities occurred, careless driving was the second most frequent cause in traffic fatalities and the leading cause listed in all traffic accidents.

Statewide there were 284,885 traffic accidents in 1977 compared with 270,859 the previous year. Fatal accidents were up from 1,983 in 1976 to 1,852 in 1977, and non-fatal injuries from 95,641 to 101,528. There was a total of 2,086 traffic deaths last year.

There were 358 accidents statewide involving motor vehicles and railway trains with 53 fatalities. There were 4,772 accidents involving pedestrians with 78 deaths. Sixty-four percent of all drivers in accidents were male and 78 percent of all drivers in fatal accidents were male.

Sixty-eight of all persons killed in traffic accidents were pedestrians. Nineteen percent of all pedestrians killed were not crossing at an intersection or crosswalk. Thirty percent of the pedestrians killed were 65 and older.

Eighty-seven percent of all motor vehicles involved in accidents were equipped with seat belts; however, only 17 percent of those vehicles had seat belts in use at the time of the accident. Of the 1,126 persons killed who had seat belts available, only five percent were using them.

The most dangerous month for accidents was December and the worst day, Friday. More accidents occurred between 4 p.m. and 5 p.m. than any other hour of the day and more fatal accidents occurred between 7 p.m. and 8 p.m.

The age group of drivers most prone to accidents, death or injury was the 25 to 34-year-old group which registered 22 percent of the total. Eighteen percent were in the 30 to 34 age group.

Of drivers involved in accidents, 81 percent were residents of the county where the accident occurred; 82 percent where there were injured and 70 percent where there were deaths.

FLORIDA ARRIVE ALIVE

...27 Didn't In Seminole In '77

By JANE CASSELLBERRY Herald Staff Writer

Traffic deaths in Seminole County more than doubled last year, according to a newly released Florida Highway Patrol (FHP) report. Traffic fatalities rose from 13 in 1976 to 27, they were still below the 1974 total of 35 for this county.

There were 4,043 accidents reported in Seminole County for the year and 23 of these involved fatalities; 2,099 persons were injured; and 1,640 accidents accounted for 1,403 of the total; and 1,640 occurred in Seminole's urban areas.

Statewide, alcohol was the leading contributing factor for fatal traffic crashes in 1977, according to statistics just released by the FHP. Records show the driver had been drinking in $29 auto accidents in which fatalities occurred, careless driving was the second most frequent cause in traffic fatalities and the leading cause listed in all traffic accidents.

Protesting Indians Carry 'Manifesto' To Capitol Hill

WASHINGTON (UPI)— Indian demonstrators headed today for Capitol Hill to protest almost a dozen "anti-Indian" bills and to present a "Native American manifesto" calling on Congress to honor treaties. The Indians are concerned about several bills which would eliminate their rights to land, water, and fishing and hunting Congress has not seriously considered any of the measures.

Last Chance For ERA?

WASHINGTON (UPI)— Equal Rights Amendment supporters have what could be their last chance Tuesday to win key House committee approval for a bill to extend the time needed to ratify the ERA. Subcommittee chairman Don Edwards, D-Calif., believes it will be passed — but perhaps for fewer than the seven years sought by proponents.

Crackdown On Vet Fraud

ATLANTA (UPI)— The U. S. attorney's office has launched a crackdown on veterans who have been obtaining educational benefits under the GI Bill by lying about going to college. U.S. Attorney William L. Harper said six persons had been indicted on felony charges for either embezzling VA funds or lying to try to get them.

Meals on Wheels, sponsored in the Sanford area by Seminole Community Action (SCA), continues to feed 700 seasonal citizens daily with a nutritious, well-balanced meal delivered to their homes each day while the agency waits for federal funding through the state Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services (HRS).

The program received two blows in May that it might have to be discontinued. First, the Area Agency of Aging (AAA), District VII of Florida, issued a critical report on the management by SCA of the Meals on Wheels program. That was followed by a critical audit report from HRS.

Although both audits showed the program was "not being operated strictly in accordance with complex federal regulations, there was no indication of any wrong doing nor that funds for the program had been misappropriated.

A corrective action plan has been developed by HRS after reviewing the whole situation," said Rev. Jones. "We have virtually satisfied that corrective action plan-cost analysis. The actual cost per meal. We have either accomplished or are in the process of accomplishing them," he said.

political prisoners in the United States. "Have and politics are one and the same," said Bond. "America's political prisoners are behind bars because they can't afford good legal counsel, and they have taken unpopular views."

He said as a result of racial prejudice, many blacks remain in jail longer than whites for committing the same acts. Meanwhile, another Georgian, Rep. Larry McDonald, a Democrat, who led the unsuccessful effort to impeach Young last week, says it is only a matter of time before even the most liberal observers demand Young's ouster.

Meals On Wheels Rolling Along; U.S. $$ Awaited

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer

Meals on Wheels, sponsored in the Sanford area by Seminole Community Action (SCA), continues to feed 700 seasonal citizens daily with a nutritious, well-balanced meal delivered to their homes each day while the agency waits for federal funding through the state Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services (HRS).

The program received two blows in May that it might have to be discontinued. First, the Area Agency of Aging (AAA), District VII of Florida, issued a critical report on the management by SCA of the Meals on Wheels program. That was followed by a critical audit report from HRS.

Although both audits showed the program was "not being operated strictly in accordance with complex federal regulations, there was no indication of any wrong doing nor that funds for the program had been misappropriated.

A corrective action plan has been developed by HRS after reviewing the whole situation," said Rev. Jones. "We have virtually satisfied that corrective action plan-cost analysis. The actual cost per meal. We have either accomplished or are in the process of accomplishing them," he said.

Roland Williams, appointed by Gov. Reubin Askew to the school board, district 1, until after the November elections, has filed qualifying documents to have his name placed on the ballot for reelection. The term Williams is seeking will be the remaining two years in the unexpired term of resigned Davis Sims. Others who have qualified include: Alan Keith, seeking a fourth four-year term on the school board. Keith was among the first few Republicans elected to county office in Seminole County history in 1968. School board races are now non-partisan. — Pat Telson, currently school board chairman, elected to that position by her colleagues. Mrs. Telson is the first woman in the county's history to have been chosen chairman of the board and only the second woman to have served on the school board. — Ron Holman, a Republican and a dentist, for the district 1 seat on the Board of County Commissioners. — Robert Sturm, an insurance executive from the Woodlands, is seeking the seat on the county commission currently held by John Alexander. Alexander was appointed by Gov. Askew to fill the unexpired term of resigned James E. Smith. The qualifying period will end at noon July 25.

How Best To Prepare Those Low-Fat Foods Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB - After roasting meat, if the broth is chilled and hardened, fat is removed from the fat but it also removes the cholesterol. Cholesterol is not a fat but it accompanies animal fat as some kind of fatty substance. Is it lighter than water and does it settle on top with the fat?

DEAR READER - There will be some cholesterol in the amount of fat removed but it will not remove the cholesterol within the meat fibers themselves. If you had perfectly lean meat fibers with no fat at all there would still be about 70 mg of cholesterol in three-and-one-half ounces of lean raw meat fiber.

Nevertheless, the method of cooking that you described is an excellent one to remove fat from roasts or boiled meats. This helps in the preparation of low-fat foods, and since nearly half of the fat in beef is saturated fat it also helps in decreasing the portion of saturated fat in the diet. Saturated fat seems to stimulate the body's own production of cholesterol in some people.

To give you more information on low-fat, low-cholesterol diets, I'm sending you The Health Letter number 1-2, Diet, Preventing Atherosclerosis. Others who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB - In some of your columns you have referred to the effects of male and female hormone pills. I am somewhat confused as to why female hormones are prescribed for males and vice versa. How do these hormones affect one's sex life?

DEAR READER - As I have pointed out before, all males produce both male and female hormones. Similarly, all females produce both male and female hormones. In fact the chemical difference between the male hormones and some of the female hormones is very slight.

Progesterone, one of the two main types of female hormones, is converted to testosterone, the male hormone. And testosterone is converted to estradiol, one of the female estrogens.

Perhaps the most common use of female hormones in males is to arrest carriers of the male reproductive system, particularly in the control of cancer of the prostate gland. Male cancers depend on male hormones for stimulation and continuation of growth. In a similar way male hormones are sometimes used in women who have cancers arising from the female reproductive system or breast. Female hormones are in part used in maintaining and accelerating the growth of such cancers and testosterone is believed to have the opposite effect.

As far as the effect on sex drive is concerned, it is the balance of male and female hormones that counts. A little bit of testosterone may increase a person's sex drive although that's pretty difficult to measure.

Even a small amount of male hormone added to a combination of hormones that a woman is taking may be helpful in some medical instances. In contrast if you give a man too much female hormone it begins to neutralize the effect of his male hormone production and he may begin to lose his sex drive and interest in sexual activity.

HOROSCOPE By BERNICE BEDELOSI For Tuesday, July 18, 1978

YOUR BIRTHDAY JULY 18, 1978

This coming year should be a series of socially stimulating experiences for you. Take care, however, not to neglect old standbys in order to woo new pals.

CANCER (June 21-July 21) Be careful today not to force people if you're fond of on your mate if he or she doesn't take to these people as enthusiastically as you do. Find out more about yourself by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter. Mail 50 cents for each and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 400, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth sign.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) It isn't like you to try to skim the cream from a collective effort. Today, however, you may look to fatten your coffer well by vending helpers.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Today's fun happening could turn somewhat sour if those you're sharing the good times with fail to pick up their share of the tab. Avoid light-fisted types.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Don't spoil what should be a pleasant day by insisting that those with you must march to the tune you look. Let their melodies and years blend.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your ingenuity and efficiency today will not be fully appreciated.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) In social situations today make sure your conversation is light and breezy. Serious subjects important to you may only bore others.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Conditions appear profitable today; provided you don't divide your efforts between work and play. Concentrate on the former. Eliminate the latter.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If you adhere to your automatic responses you're capable of surprising accomplishments today. Too much soul-searching evokes a negative attitude.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Friends appreciate you for what you are, but you may have difficulty in believing this today and try to buy their good graces with material favors.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) For best results financially and careerwise today, keep nonaligned parties out of the act. Kibitzers could muddy the water.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) In social situations today make sure your conversation is light and breezy. Serious subjects important to you may only bore others.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Conditions appear profitable today; provided you don't divide your efforts between work and play. Concentrate on the former. Eliminate the latter.

tract West opens a diamond. If South takes the diamond finesse and it works, he will make five or maybe even six spades. If South takes the diamond finesse and it fails, he will make four tricks and leads back the queen of clubs. Eventually, South loses four tricks and complains about two being wrong.

Oswald: "The man who's worth his while at the bridge table counts his winners and losers, and sees that he doesn't need any successful finesse to make his contract. Fired Sanford Police Chief Awaits Notice; Eyeing Fight

By DENNIS FEOLA and DONNA ESTES

Police Chief Wallace N. LaPeters, fired unexpectedly Monday night, said he'll confer with a lawyer this afternoon to determine if he'll resist the Sanford City Commission's action.

"As of this moment," LaPeters said shortly after 11 a.m. today, "I had no idea it was coming off."

"I still have not received official notice from the city manager or city commission that I have indeed been fired," LaPeters said the first indication he had of trouble came Monday afternoon when he was visited by Sanford's Mayor Lee P. Moore.

"Mayor Moore told me he was bringing me a message from the city commission that I would be fired unless I chose to resign. I told him to tell them to 'Stuff it in their ear,' or words to that effect," LaPeters said.

The fired police chief said he is angry over the move and surprised. "I had no idea it was coming off. I had several telephone calls from local lawyers who said they are angry and offered me advice."

"I'm going to meet with the lawyer all of them recommended this afternoon and then I'll decide what I'll do," he asserted.

Meanwhile, ex-Sanford Police Chief Ben Butler was sitting in LaPeters' place this morning.

"It is business as usual," was the prevailing sentiment among police department employees.

In a surprise move at a budget hearing Monday night the city commission voted 3-2 to fire LaPeters who was hired last October to succeed Butler.

Butler, who served as police chief for 10 years, and City Manager Warren E. Knowles held a meeting with all police department personnel at 8 a.m. today.

According to those at the meeting, Knowles and Butler simply announced the change and asked the employees to act professionally and go about doing their jobs.

When the meeting ended, Butler went to his new office for a morning of closed-door meetings.

LaPeters did not show up at the police station this morning and none of the police personnel knew of his whereabouts.

Commissioners Eddie Keith, A.A. McClanahan and Julian Stenstrom voted in favor of firing LaPeters. Mayor Moore and Commissioner John Morris cast the dissenting votes.

City officials declined to cite specific reasons for the firing. However, sources close to the police department said today

Russians Convict Yank Newsmen; They're Fined

MOSCOW (UPI) - A Soviet court today convicted two American reporters on charges of libeling Soviet television officials and ordered them to pay fines of $1,647 each and publish retractions of the offending material in either Soviet or American newspapers.

The verdict came in a swift, three-hour trial that was boycotted by the defendants, Craig Whitney of The New York Times and Harold Piper of the Baltimore Sun, both of whom are vacationing in the United States. Both said they would return to Moscow when their vacations are finished.

Chief Judge Lev Almazov of the Moscow City Court ordered that Whitney and Piper pay $1,647 each for "slandering only interested in distorting Soviet reality."

Paul Banker, managing editor of the Baltimore Morning Star, said the paper was prepared to pay the fine but that the required retractions "was another matter."

"The conviction is what we expected," he said. "Piper was charged. We stand on the conviction that the news article was correct that friends of the dissidents said they doubted the confession." Banker said he had talked with Piper briefly over the phone after the report of his conviction. He said Piper was scheduled to spend a couple of weeks on vacation but would then return to his assignment in Russia.

"I don't know what the Russians mean by a retraction," said Banker. "I don't see how we can do that. We didn't say the dissidents said the television program was faked. It was friends of the dissidents who said that and they did. If they want us to retract that I don't see how we can."

The Soviet television officials summoned the 39-year-old Gamsakhouria - who is now serving a three-year prison sentence for anti-Soviet activities - as their key witness.

With Soviet and Western journalists and television cameramen allowed to look on, the prosecution aimed its case at showing that Whitney and Piper allegedly virtually ignored such official Soviet sources as Tass news agency and opted instead to believe what the prosecution called "unreliable dissident sources."

'I don't know what the Russians mean by a retraction'

"Whitney and Piper are slanderers only interested in distorting Soviet reality," prosecutor Georgy Skarevov told the court in his summation.

He asked the court to convict the Americans, send a letter to the Soviet Foreign Ministry asking that they be deprived of their official accreditation, order them to pay $1,648 in fines and court costs, apologize to the Soviet television officials and publish a retraction both in the United States and the Soviet Union.

In a preliminary hearing July 7, Whitney and Piper challenged Soviet jurisdiction over articles published outside the Soviet Union.

"They made their point and managed to make themselves look like fools in the process," the diplomat said. "Now they ought to make as graceful an exit as possible by just dropping it."

Whitney, 34, and Piper, 30, declared they would not participate in the proceedings and left the Soviet Union earlier this month for vacations in the United States.

The verdict was considered sure to further strain U.S.-Soviet relations, coming just five days after the sentencing of Soviet human rights activists Anatoly Sharansky and Alexander Ginzburg.

How Police, Merchants Are Reacting

By MAX ERKILITIAN Herald Staff Writer

The sudden firing of Wallace N. LaPeters as Sanford's Chief of Police may mean the end to dissatisfaction by the local business community with police protection, but some police officers do not support the move, according to some patrolmen.

"I think the main objection," said Nora Gordon, president of the Sanford Business Association of LaPeters, "was that we never had a policeman on the street. We didn't feel we really had police protection."

Gordon related to the performance of the police department had been discussed at several meetings of the business association, according to Mrs. Gordon.

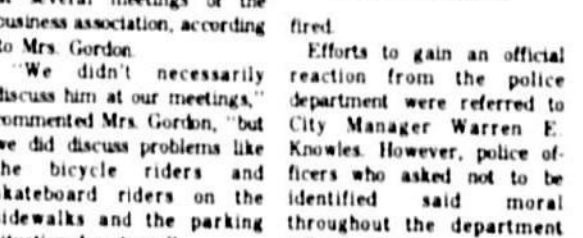

"We didn't necessarily discuss him at our meetings," commented Mrs. Gordon, "but we did discuss problems like the bicycle riders and skateboard riders on the sidewalks and the parking situation downtown."

The association pushed for the ordinance prohibiting the riding of bicycles on downtown sidewalks.

Mrs. Gordon indicated members of the association were dissatisfied with LaPeters' lack of effort to improve downtown parking conditions. "Many office workers park on First Street when they go to work, she noted, blocking parking for store customers.

"I hate to comment on this too much, because I don't know what is behind the firing," said Mrs. Gordon. "I do know people were unhappy."

Though there was unrest among downtown business interests concerning LaPeters, Mrs. Gordon said her organization was not in any way involved in a push to get him

Efforts to gain an official reaction from the police department were referred to City Manager Warren E. Knowles. However, police officers who asked not to be identified said moral throughout the department today is "low."

"I think that's a natural reaction at a time like this," said one supervisory officer of the decline in morale.

"I didn't like the firing and I think the majority didn't like it," said another patrolman. "I thought he (LaPeters) was doing a good job."

Reaction to the replacement of LaPeters by Ben Butler, assistant to the city manager, was negative, according to another officer.

"I didn't care for it," the officer said of the return of Butler as police chief.

LaPeters replaced Butler as chief of police last October.

"He left with a lot of problems," the officer said of Butler. "Now that they've taken care of those problems, he's come back in. I just don't think it's right."

11-Year-Old's Abductor In Custody, But... Who Is He?

By TOM GIORDANO Herald News Editor

Here's what police have been able to piece together regarding the incident:

The 11-year-old boy was from Lawrence, Mass., and had gone to live with an 18-year-old brother and his wife in Tampa some time ago.

The child, police said, is the product of a broken home and had been living with his mother in Massachusetts until leaving for Florida.

Soon after the boy arrived in Florida, his brother lost his job in Tampa and the three of them, the 18-year-old, his wife and the 11-year-old, went driving around Florida trying to find work and a place to stay. They had been living in the car, police said.

Not too long ago, the three arrived in Orlando and, still living in the car, the boy's brother continued looking for work, police said.

Monday, the boy's brother had an argument with his wife and she ran off, police said he was told.

"From what the boy tells us, his brother left him at the lake and said he was going to look for his wife," Chief Benson said.

The boy, according to police, was walking around aimlessly at Lake Eola Park when a man drove up, got out of his car, grabbed him and forced him into the auto, then drove off.

"Sometime later I guess he drove into that wooded area near the country club. The boy told us the man forced him to take off his clothes and ordered him to walk around like a girl. Then the boy said the man punched him in the stomach, kicked him and bit him, then assaulted him," police said.

"He (the suspect) must have been high on alcohol or something else, because he wasn't too coherent when we questioned him," police asserted.

"Anyway, after he assaulted the boy, he apparently fell asleep in the woods and the boy put on his clothes and escaped," Chief Benson related.

The boy managed to run into a subdivision off Rantoul Lane, according to police.

A Lake Mary woman, who asked not to be identified, said she was working in her yard shortly before noon when the boy walked up to her.

"He was dressed, but his clothes were disheveled. He asked me how to get to Orlando. My goodness, I told him it was quite far away and asked him what he was doing here. His story was horrible. I can't believe it," the woman said.

She telephoned Lake Mary police and several officers as well as Seminole County sheriff's deputies went to the area and found an abandoned car.

"A couple of us went into the wooded area to look for the man while Officer Dave Higginbotham stayed at the abandoned car with the boy. Then the suspect came out of the woods and Higginbotham arrested him," Chief Benson said.

Police said the man was not armed and offered no resistance.

"From what we can gather, he had been recruiting pickers for a South Carolina company where he works," Benson said.

Other charges are expected against the suspect, but Benson pointed out the sexual-battery-of-a-child charge is a capital offense in Florida.

The man remains in custody today until authorities get a positive identity.
