Most Reverend Patrick Barry Dies Suddenly

Bishop Of Diocese Of St. Augustine Was With Fitzhugh Lee During Spanish War

Was Pastor In Palatka 10 Years

Special Rites To Be Held Tonight Fr. Kellaghan States

JACKSONVILLE, Aug. 13.—(AP)—The Most Reverend Patrick Barry who rose from assistant pastor of a Jacksonville parish to Bishop of the St. Augustine diocese died in a hospital here shortly after midnight of a heart ailment. Although he had not been feeling well for several days, his death was unexpected. He came here from St. Augustine only last Sunday. Death was the result of coronary occlusion. Born in Ireland, Bishop Barry was 71. He was ordained priest in 1895. Funeral arrangements have not been made.

Dr. Barry, the fifth occupant of the See of St. Augustine, entered Mengret College in 1887 and in 1890 passed on to St. Patrick's College, Carlow, where he studied philosophy and theology.

Immediately after ordination, he was appointed to Jacksonville. During the Spanish War, he served with General Fitzhugh Lee's army corps and ministered to the spiritual and temporal needs of the men with skill and devotion.

His death was reported in the west. Father Barry did all in his power to help during the days of the Jacksonville fire. In 1908, he was appointed pastor at Palatka where he built a splendid rectory.

The late Bishop Kenny appointed Father Barry to the newly established Parish of the Assumption in South Jacksonville in 1918. In four years he had erected a fine church, rectory, and parish hall. In 1917 Dr. Curley called him to St. Augustine as pastor of the Cathedral and Vicar-General.

When the diocese became vacant upon Dr. Curley's transfer to Baltimore, Father Barry was appointed administrator. On Feb. 22, 1922, he was named Bishop by Pope Pius XI, the first American Bishop to be appointed by the new Pope.

His dying at 7:30 o'clock the evening will be recalled at All Souls Church in Sanford for the repose of the soul of Bishop Barry. Rev. J. J. Kellaghan announced today.

Andrews of Orlando without opposition in the November general election and state GOP leaders said no other Republican would be placed in the race.

Draper, whose announcement followed a conference of Florida Republican chiefs and several other candidates here, said he was cutting out of the race in that "positive support" may be given by Republicans and Democrats alike to the presidential campaign of Al Loomis, Republican of Palm Beach, Florida, Republican National Committee member who came here from New York for the campaign, said Draper's withdrawal would mean the money "will not be spent."

Estimate On Airport Cost Is $101,650

Lubinski Tells City Commission That Sanford's Share Would Be $25,000

Sanford's enlarged airport will cost $101,650, of which $25,000 must be paid by the City of G. Lubinski, consulting City Engineer, Fred Williams, told City Commissioners at their regular meeting at the City Hall last night.

Work done with that sum would be getting ditching, laying sewers, lighting, and clearing the property. Mr. Lubinski explained. The WPA will put up three-fourths of the money if the project is approved.

Commissioners are seeking an agreement with the Civil Aeronautics Authority now to get approval of the project before it is presented to the WPA.

Mr. Lubinski limited the enlarging would require the 113 laborers and 21 construction-time keepers and others workers for one year.

Purchase of 1,000 Series B refunding bonds of $50 each for Miss Mary R. Cutting of Chicago was authorized by the Commission, in addition to two Series A refunding bonds of $50 each from Howard Bros. there Insurance and Realty Company, St. Petersburg.

Requests for permits to sell beer and wine at 1907 W. Thirtieth Street and 1301 W. Thirtieth Street were referred to Chief of Police Williams for investigation and removal. A request from the Sanford Taxicab Company for two reserved parking spaces in front of the Gilman Hotel was also referred to Chief Williams.

Commissioners discussed having all taxicabs carry liability accident insurance, but the action was deferred.

Commissioners approved sale of the balance of second hand Redwood water pipe which was recently taken up when a new pipe line was laid from wells to the burning station. The pipe brought $185, according to City Clerk Saver, who made the sale to J. D. Hunter and Sons, Orlando.

City Attorney Fred Wilson was instructed by the City to prepare a resolution condemning the old Charles R. Tyler warehouse on Charles Avenue so it would be torn down.

Mrs. Bolly Relates Experiences On Auto Trip To Land Of Midnight Sun

About 40 miles west of Holbrook, between Winslow and Winslow in the state of Arizona, and only five miles south of the main highway is Meteor Crater, and only five miles south of the meteor striking the earth. This meteor was discovered in 1921, although many unsuccessful drillings were made prior to that time. The reason the meteor would not be located earlier was that the crater was so shallow that the old penetration it made in the earth, it penetrated off at an angle. On the highway was a signpost and "lookout" which held a model showing the cross-section of the path of the meteor. The information given on the model was as follows: In the largest meteor in the world, 600 feet deep, 6150 feet across, 40 to 75 thousand years old, weight estimated at ten million tons and was discovered in 1921.

Demotion Of Col. Lindbergh Asked At Legion Meet

That Charles A. Lindbergh's commission as colonel be taken away from him was the recommendation of the Florida Department of the American Legion at its annual mid-summer conference at Daytona Beach Saturday and Sunday, according to George Weinstein, commander of the seventh district, who was present.

About 300 delegates attended the conference and heard how the State legislature passed one of the best activities the Legion has sponsored, Mr. Weinstein said. The year 1938 boys were in the group that took Tallahassee for boys what makes the wheel of State government go round.

The Legion is already planning another Boy's State next year and Mr. Weinstein stated that boys are expected to be in the group.

Two leaders of Boy's State, Howard Warrs, St. Petersburg, who was elected governor, and Arthur McCormick, also from St. Petersburg, attorney general of the group, appeared before the Legionaires to thank them for one of the "finest experiences they have ever had," Mr. Weinstein declared.

Sanford Legionnaires who attended included J. J. Deane, James O. Huff, R. W. Deane, K. G. Soderblom, A. L. Barnum and Mr. Weinstein.

Minister Suggests Planting Trees By Cemetery Road

Rev. Brooks Offers Beautifying Drive To Improve City

Planting the cemetery road on both sides with Australian pines and cypress myrtle is the suggestion of the Rev. W. P. Brooks, minister of the First Baptist Church. Rev. Brooks presented his idea in a letter received Monday by The Herald.

"Not only would it greatly help in a way to the cemetery, but also to the Country Club and Lake Mary."

The minister stated that he called attention to the beautification project in a letter, but also to the Country Club and Lake Mary.

"I have no desire to back into a corner, but there is a matter to which I should like to call attention. It may appear to be a small matter that does not amount to anything but after all, a town is only judged by its surroundings. Things as well as anything larger."

"I have referred to the drive out to the cemetery. It is a long, dusty drive and yet could be made, without much expense, into a beautiful driveway. If it were lined on both sides, not beyond the houses, with either Australian pines or pines with some cypress myrtle or hibiscus to give it color, it could be a very attractive road."

"Not only would it greatly help in a way to the cemetery but also to the Country Club and Lake Mary."

"This is something that won't bring in any payroll but it would greatly improve the appearance of the city. I think, would help the city."

"I call attention to this with the hope that some group or groups might get interested in the matter."

'Zero Hour' Nearing For Attempt At Long Throated German Invasion

Channel Shoreline Reported Shelled

Swift RAF Fighters Engaging Raiders In Aerial Battles

Hitler's 24-day-old aerial blitzkrieg against Britain struck in chain lightning attacks by 100 to 600 Nazi warplanes today, raining havoc on towns and military objectives all along a 200-mile front on the English Channel.

British conscription vetoed the night of death and destruction. It is reported that 89 British RAF planes were destroyed with only seven Nazi planes left. Winston Churchill said a mid-air collision had shown 36 German raiders downed.

With the "zero hour" apparently near, Hitler's threatened attempt to invade the island of England, huge waves of Nazi bombers and fighting planes, reported to be attacking this afternoon.

Swift rising RAF fighters flew to engage the raiders in dog-fight, twisting in and out of the low hanging clouds.

At least a score of 50 to 100 the "Lifeguard" were using their air power.

In the four big days since Hitler turned on his aerial assault, power full blast, starting at 11 o'clock, some 2,000 Nazi planes have crossed the Channel to form Britain.

While British RAF Spitfires and Hurricane fighters roared to meet the Nazi sky raiders, the captured London press reported that a German attempt at actual land invasion may be imminent.

From two other points—one in the west, one in the east—came strong indications that the long awaited "zero hour" is near.

In Berlin, Louis P. Lochner, Associated Press chief of bureau there, messaged: "A signal hour for the Nazi offensive against England with its climax in an attempt to land German troops on the British Isles."

In London, Scotland, foreign military attaches agreed that an attempted invasion of England may come within 72 hours.

The Iron dispatch also said reports were current there that the 10,000 Nazi "Big Berthas" at Calais and Dunkerque had already begun laying down a cross-Channel barrage behind Dover. Dover is just 22 miles from Calais, the narrowest point in the English Channel.

Simultaneously, the English censor, after holding back a dispatch from an Associated Press correspondent in a southeast coast town for 24 hours, finally passed a cabled report that shells were falling on a coastal town there.

If this was true, the Germans apparently were blasting at British beach and shoreline defenses to prepare for troop landings.

Untold hundreds of German planes, apparently surpassing the 500 hurled into yesterday's great battles, bomb and strafed coastal towns with a rising toll of British soldier and civilian casualties.

Striking with intensified fury along a 250-mile coastal front the Thames estuary southward to the Portsmouth region, more than 400 German bombers and fighters in waves of 70 roared upon Portsmouth, airdromes in Kent and Sussex, convoys in the channel and protective balloon barrages along the coast.

The air ministry, depicting Nazi claims, said the attack in Portsmouth naval base was "with little success" although a United States correspondent in Portsmouth at the time of the assault told of considerable damage to the town with dead and injured.

Far into the night the German planes continued to sweep over England and Wales, dropping incendiary bombs and dropping bombs on communities in southeast England.

British officials, rather than regarding the massive aerial assault as a prelude to an immediate attempt by Adolf Hitler at invasion, believed German were using "blitz" tactics.

Wasting Time

In an attack on the compulsory military service bill in the Senate yesterday, Senator Norris, isolationist senator of Nebraska, declared that peace time conscription inevitably would result in dictatorship. If that is true, the only question for the American to decide then is whether they would rather be governed by an American dictator or by Hitler and Mussolini.

But it by no means follows that because we enact conscription this country will become a dictatorship. We had conscription in the Civil War and in the World War without abandoning democratic forms of government. The only difference between its enactment then and now is that this time we haven't quite declared war yet. There is no reason why "peace time" conscription during the existing emergency should any more necessarily result in dictatorship than war time conscription.

As a matter of fact, if we are going to have conscription at all, we had better enact it now because under the modern blitzkrieg methods of warfare we wouldn't have time after the war began to get through even the first phase of the debate on the bill before the war would be over. Furthermore, actual declarations of war, if that is what we are waiting for, are as old-fashioned as the muzzie loader. Recent history shows that nations are conquered and completely subjected before war is declared.

The only thing that keeps Senator Norris and other isolationists from realizing the seriousness of our present predicament is that England, the farthest outpost of our eastern defenses, still stands, making it impossible for any combination of European nations to attack us thus far no matter what we do. But the blitzkrieg on England has now begun. In the next few weeks even Senator Norris may realize how much time we have wasted in preparing ourselves to meet a similar invasion.

If we had entered the war last September at the same time France and England did, we would be no more liable to attack today than we are anyway. But we would have been infinitely better prepared to resist it when it does come. With the outbreak of war we would devote our full national energies to the task of national defense. We would not be merely making appropriations and debating conscription bills, we would be building armaments in every plant in the country which the necessities of life could spare and we would be training men, not in hundreds of thousands, but in millions, to man them.

War for America is inevitable no matter what we do, no matter who is elected president, no matter what his foreign policies are. The forces of evil have gone too far to be stopped now by England alone nor is there any conceivable way by which the power they represent, flushed with fresh victories, could exist side by side in the same world with the intensely conflicting systems and emotions of the nations of the Western World without clashing.

The sooner we recognize this condition and prepare for eventualities the better for all of us.

Better Health

Pneumonia mortality among the millions of industrial policyholders of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company made such a phenomenal drop during the first three months of 1940 that even the startling improvement established in the pneumonia death rate in 1939 was outdone, according to the insurance company's information service.

For the first quarter of 1940 the pneumonia death rate dropped 27 per cent as compared with the corresponding period of 1939, while from 1938 to 1939 the rate declined 15 per cent, a development which was heralded as being "the most striking in the entire field of public health in 1939."

Along with the improvement in pneumonia mortality which is continuing into its fourth year, other favorable factors in the mortality record lead the conclusion that "1940 is developing into one of the best health years in the history of the company's industrial policyholders. And there is, in fact, good prospect that the current year will set a new mark for low mortality in this important cross-section of the population."

Mrs. Bolly Tells
Of Experiences
During Auto Trip

lay buried.
And that would be all.
At Bright Angel Lodge we as a novelty picture showing the trail trip by mule back into the Canyon, also heard a Ramona naturalist give a lecture on the Canyon origin.

He also gave a most unique legend portraying the spiritual belief the Indians have for the Canyon.
"A long time ago there lived a great Indian Chief who had a very beautiful young wife, then suddenly she died. He grieved and mourned so his tribe saw he too, would soon die, so they prevailed the Good Bee to come comfort him. So the Good Bee told him if he will never tell another living soul, he would take him to his beautiful wife.
Big Chief agrees, and is carried to the bottom of the Canyon.
While he was there looking at palaces towering above, painted in colors he had never seen before, all so perfect and beautiful and peaceful he was convinced knowing his wife's spirit lived in such a wonderful world, unknown to all human beings.
Later Spirit Bee was sorry for what he had done and was afraid Big Chief would break his promise and tell another living being, so he made the mighty waters flow through this paradise, to keep any other human feet from treading its sacred paths."
So goes the Indian Legend of the Colorado River rushing at the bottom of the Canyon.
We left the Grand Canyon from the west highway, which was nothing but a good road until we were near Prescott, Ariz. then we drove for miles through the Granite Dells, majestic and weird rock formations.
After leaving Prescott the highway wound over lovely mountains for 60 miles.

The valley of the Sun with Phoenix the metropolitan center is where we had the car carefully checked and filled to its capacity, as we were crossing the desert just as the sun was rising, just as soon as the moon day heat subsided.
It was about 4 o'clock Arizona time (six Sanford time) as we very jubilantly started out on our 200 mile trip to cross the desert, just as soon as the ed, with its uncertainties, and then too, a full moon would come up about 9 o'clock.
But never in my life have I been so hot! I felt as though my body was parched, and the intensity was so great it gave one the feeling of having to moisten the lips constantly.
There was no humidity in the air, and the body did not perspire, just baked in that scorching heat.

We were about 20 miles out while civilization miles and miles apart, when we were petrified to see at our back the most horrible redish, black smoke, cloud or just what, we did not know, so we it was a cyclone. We could not turn back, as it was over the road we had traveled.

We speeded up to 75 and behold, that monster traveling at about 65, and every moment was gaining in velocity and size. We are sure the main body was no more than 500 yards from us, making a path about 15 miles long, and I never heard a tropical storm roar so fiercely. By now all back of us was completely obliterated, and it was following a small trail of mountains to our side, yes,

Sanford Plays Double Header With Gainesville Tonight

Hayes Relieves Jeter And Pitches Sems To 9-6 Victory Over G-Men

Marion, Hyder, Johnson, And Kimbrel Get Nine Of 15 Blows Off Midovich; Howington, Jeter Pitch Tonight

Pounding out 15 hits, the Sanford Seminoles won a 9-6 decision over the Gainesville G-Men in a double header at Municipal Ball Park last night and added half a game to their league lead in front of Daytona Beach, which was rained out last night by a full moon.

Joe Jeter opened on the mound for the Sems and after allowing three runs on four hits in one inning he gave way to Whaley Hayes. Hayes pitched seven hit bats the rest of the way and gave up no runs until the third inning when he allowed three runs on two hits in the seventh and one in the ninth.

Tonight Gainesville will play a double header at the Municipal Ball Park. The first game starting at 8:00 o'clock. Manager Whaley Campbell will probably send Jeter back into action in one game with Jodie Howington twirling the other.

Sanford, by winning both games, can add half a game to their slim lead, even should Daytona defeat Leesburg in their single game. If Daytona should lose while Sanford was winning two, the Sems would gain a game and one half and be out in front of the pack by two and one half games with only three games left until the All-Star deadline on Aug. 15 is passed.

Conn Favored To Beat Pastor In Polo Ground Fight

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—(AP)—With a September shot at Joe Louis as the somewhat painful reward, Billy Conn and Bob Pastor fight it out in the Polo grounds at 9 P. M. (E. S. T.) tonight in a battle bringing together the two best boxers among the "big" fellows in the ring today.

As a fight, it figures to be the classic exhibition of ring science since Tommy Loughran and Jimmy Slattery, against their 15-round deal 13 years ago, but the cash customers aren't taking it. Most optimistic estimates are that 20,000 will contribute to a gross gate of $50,000.

Although Pastor went 21 rounds with Louis before the Bomber's depth charges exploded on him, the betting fraternity has made the light-heavyweight champion from Pittsburgh the favorite. The odds, however, have nose-dived steadily, and Billy the Kid probably won't go into the ring at better than 6 to 1, with even money a possibility.

This will be the fifty-eighth fight of Conn's skyrocketing career, which boomed him in five years from the four-round ranks of the Lightweights to a real spot in the sun.

This factor, alone, gives Pastor an added incentive. In the past he has liked nothing better than to upset the apple cart whenever a heavyweight champion is hopeful. Tonight's party will be his fiftieth fight. He has lost only five—two to Louis.

Waves Of Planes Bombard Channel Coast Defenses

By launching constant day and night waves of attacking planes, it was said German pilots hope to keep the Royal Air force so busy it could not reconnoiter blitzkrieg preparations underway along the German-held coasts of France, Belgium and Holland.

The air ministry said 30 German planes were shot down yesterday bringing the "bag" of the past 48 hours to 99 Nazi aircraft, while the British lost nine planes in beating off the attacks.

Striking with new fury along a 250-mile coastal front, German bombers and fighters, estimated at more than 400 in all, roared upon Portsmouth, air-dromes in Kent and Sussex, convoys in the channel and protective balloon barrages.

The air ministry, asserting Germans had attacked the Isle of Wight for the first time, said large numbers of Nazi bombers attacked Portsmouth dockyard "with little success" and were driven off by defense forces.

The official German news agency said "the greatest fire ever seen by German airmen over England" occurred at Portsmouth when Nazi planes attacked the naval base and arsenal.

In admitting the attack on Britain's great base, the air ministry said "some" bombs were dropped on the outskirts of the dockyard area where a fire was started in a store. Minor damage was done to a jetty.

German planes swept over like great flocks of birds and swooped down on craft in the harbor. The air ministry said two small harbor services craft were damaged by bombs and subsequently sank.

In other parts of Portsmouth, a railway station was hit by a bomb and a number of buildings were shattered. Fire broke out in a brewery.

Several persons were killed, the air ministry said, and several others injured.

Play-by-play reports of air combat along the south and southeast coasts from the Portland area to the Thames estuary—indicated the fighting was on a scale comparable with that Sunday when more than 400 German planes unloaded a "blitz" assault.

The air ministry said 30 German planes were shot down, running the total bag for 48 hours to 99 aircraft and lifting the total German plane losses since June 18 to nearly 500, according to the British count. The air ministry said nine British planes were lost.

A British royal commission recently recommended the expenditure of $3,000,000 in the West Indies for social services.

In advance have until Thursday midnight to send their advance teams to the league secretary, Peter Scheal, Box 261, Water Haven.
