Stocks Take Biggest One-Day Loss In History

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market plummeted Wednesday, suffering its largest single-day loss in history on fear interest rate declines have ended. Trading was the fifth heaviest ever.

The Dow Jones Industrial average plunged 39.10 points to 1526.61, a 2.5 percent loss. The Dow's previous record one-day drop of 38.33 occurred Oct. 28, 1929, during the Great Depression, but represented a far greater loss of 12.8 percent.

Large-scale futures-related sell programs aggravated the losses in the final hour of trading. When futures contracts, traded mostly in Chicago, began to trade at a discount to cash indexes, arbitrageurs took advantage of the price differences by buying futures contracts and selling the underlying stocks.

The Dow more than doubled its loss in the final hour. Market bellwether IBM dropped 6 3/4 to 148 3/4.

Losing issues pounded winners 1,254-510 among the 2,084 issues traded.

The New York Stock Exchange composite index lost 2.94 to 120.20.

The market took a number of hits Wednesday.

A stronger-than-expected 0.1 percent decline in December unemployment, including a substantial rise in the number of people on non-farm payrolls, led economists to conclude that the economy was picking up and that the Federal Reserve would have little reason to let interest rates fall more than they have already.

Interest rate declines and expectations that the Federal Reserve would lower its discount rate fueled the 1985 stock market rally. When those impetuses seemed to vanish, disappointment set in, first in the bond market and soon after in the stock market. A muted reception to the Treasury's sale of $4.75 billion of bonds due in 2006 also helped drive the bond market lower.

A mid-afternoon statement by Salomon Bros. chief economist Henry Kaufman, contending the December unemployment news significantly reduced the chances for a discount rate cut in the very near future, accelerated selling in both the bond and stock markets.

Concern that the Gramm-Rudman-Hollings amendment to balance the federal budget by 1991 could be declared unconstitutional also helped unnerve the market, said Monte Gordon of Dreyfus Corp.

Gordon said the day's action demonstrated the market's enormous volatility and vulnerability.

"People have been looking over their shoulders for a correction, and when the market began to give way, they got nervous," he said.

Analysts said the bond market underwent a profound weakening.

Mason Didn't Serve Minimum Sentence For Killing Wife

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

Released convicted murderer Ed Mason does not face any violation of parole or probation problems stemming from a Dec. 23 drunk driving arrest because his sentence had expired and he was a free man. According to county and state records, however, Mason, a former Orange County commissioner, did not serve the minimum amount of time required under his sentence.

He got out of jail about three months earlier than permissible at the time of his sentence for the shooting death of his wife, Diane, in May, 1981.

Mason, a resident of Brevard County, is scheduled for arraignment on the DUI charge Jan. 22 in Melbourne and is free on bond.

According to the Department of Correction records, Mason was sentenced Nov. 23, 1981, to five years of which he had to serve at least three years, according to DOC and Orange County records. Prisoners under such a "minimum-mandatory" sentence are not eligible for time off for good behavior, according to state statute. Time Mason spent in the Orange County jail, however, did count towards the sentence. He was credited for 191 days spent in there.

According to statute, a person convicted of murder with a firearm shall be sentenced to a minimum term of three calendar years or 1,092 days.

A spokesman for the Orange County sheriff's department said they had custody of Mason from May 18, 1981 to Nov. 25, 1981, or 192 days. The Department of Corrections was in custody of Mason, according to their records.

Group To Endorse Frey For Governor

Orange County Commission Chairman Tom Dorman scheduled a press conference for early today to endorse former U.S. Representative Lou Frey, 51, of Winter Park, for Governor of the State of Florida.

Dorman said he and seven other Republicans, longtime friends of Frey, wanted to offer their support, "because we feel he'll make a fine governor."

P&Z Delays Vote On Wekiva Area PUD

By Sarah Nunn
Herald Staff Writer

The Seminole County Planning and Zoning Commission Wednesday delayed action on a rezoning request for the construction of a 1,600-unit residential development along the Wekiva River in northwest Seminole County.

As residents packed the meeting room to voice their concerns over the proposed Plantation project, commissioners voted unanimously to continue the public hearing at their March meeting when they will consider the request by Richmond American Homes to rezone 573 acres to the west of Markham Woods Road from agricultural to planned unit development.

Developer Hugh Harling of the firm of Harling, Locklin and Associates asked for the 60-day continuance in order to further study the effects of the development on traffic, sewage disposal and drainage in the area.

Harling said he has met with the citizens group called Friends of the Wekiva and the Markham Woods Homeowner's Association, who are concerned with the proposed density of the development and its impact on the rural atmosphere of the area and environmental quality of the Wekiva River.

Harling indicated that a review of the project may result in a reduction in the density of the development in order to reduce its impact on the area.

"There is a strong possibility that there may be a downward adjustment in the density," he said.

However, any change in the design would require the project to go back before the county's development review committee for consideration within the next two months, according to County Planning Director Tony Vanderworp.

The East Central Florida Regional Planning Council last month okayed the project. Because it is a development of regional impact, it must also go before the county planning and zoning commission and ultimately the county commission for final approval.

Planning and Zoning Commission member Harry Hagle said he feels the main issue is the density on the Wekiva River corridor. Although the decision to continue the hearing was unanimous, Hagle and Commission member Alda Rowe said they preferred the request be discussed at last night's meeting to address the density issue and other concerns over the project.

"These people here have a right to know these concerns," Rowe said. Speaking for the continuance, board chairman Sue Lewis called the delay a "fair and honest effort on (the developer's) part to do what's right for the community." However, she told those residents in attendance "I think you have won a victory."

Commission member Jim Weinberg said a comprehensive plan is needed for the entire area where the Plantation development is proposed to be located.

"I have problems with approving anything until that is completed," he said.

Under a new state growth management law, the county has until 1987 to update its comprehensive land use plan.

Sanford Will Lose Dumping Battle, DER Official Says

By Karen Talley
Herald Staff Writer

A state Department of Environmental Regulation official said today Sanford will probably lose its most recent bid to continue dumping effluent in Lake Monroe and will have to wait until next fall for an appellate court ruling if choosing to pursue the matter.

DER Secretary Victoria Tschinkel is expected to hand down a final decision Feb. 8 on Sanford's effort to overturn a state administrative hearing office ruling that sided with the DER in mandating the city to get its wastewater out of the lake. Because Sanford had to submit its rebuttal to the same agency the administrative hearing officer sided with, "It's very doubtful the decision will be overturned," according to DER deputy general counsel Deborah Getzoff. "I'm not saying it's impossible, but I haven't seen it happen in five years."

This raises the question of whether Sanford would seek appellate court approval for what city representatives term "an optional" wastewater management program. The city has given priority to trading Lake Monroe for land surrounding Yankee Lake as its effluent disposal site, although obtaining the new location has led to an as yet unresolved legal battle with Seminole County, which just bought the property.

Ms. Getzoff said the DER is aware of "the difficult position" Sanford is in and that "a decision to challenge the DER ruling in appellate court and the costs it would involve are matters that lie with the city."

Under an appellate review, Sanford and the DER would submit documentation to the court and then supplement their positions with 15-minute presentations, according to Ms. Getzoff, who said it would then be approximately six months before a decision is rendered.

"If it comes to a court proceeding," she said, "the DER is certainly prepared to defend its position."

Sanford's decision to institute an appellate action may consider events that transpire five days before the DER secretary is expected to hand down her ruling. On Feb. 3, the city faces defending its Yankee Lake condemnation suit from dismissal, according to defense attorney Mack Cleveland. A hearing in Melbourne that day will address the defendants' position that city charters were violated when Sanford commissioners met to sanction the eminent domain proceeding, Cleveland said.

Without the 2,867-acre Yankee Lake site, compliance with the DER mandate to get out of the lake will put Sanford in the considerably more expensive position of obtaining a number of smaller parcels for effluent disposal, according to Bill Simmons, city planning and engineering director.

Compounding the problem is whether enough of these sites can be found, he said.

Research Defies Gravity Theory

5th Force Is With Us

By Jan Ziegler
UPI Science Writer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Galileo demonstrated more than three centuries ago that gravity causes all objects to fall at the same rate, but researchers say they have discovered another force that defies the old natural law.

"It is actually a force the Earth is exerting on us right now," said Ephraim Fischbach, principal author of a study in the Jan. 6 edition of Physical Review Letters describing the force scientists call hypercharge.

Galileo determined around 1604 that, excluding the effects of wind resistance, all objects dropped from the same height fall at the same speed.

The new study theorized another force besides gravity — the previously unidentified hypercharge — makes objects fall at different rates depending on their composition.

Fischbach, a physics professor at Purdue University in Indiana, is a visiting professor this year at the University of Washington in Seattle.

If proven by other scientists to exist, the hypercharge would constitute the fifth basic force of the universe. Fischbach and other scientists said in telephone interviews Wednesday.

The others, besides gravity, are electromagnetism, responsible for electricity; the strong force, which holds the nucleus of the atom together; and the weak force, responsible for certain kinds of radioactivity.

The four forces, which physicists have been trying to unify under one formula or theory, are thought to explain all natural phenomena.

Fischbach and his colleagues based their study on data from two decades of research conducted by a Hungarian scientist and reported in 1922.

In his theory of general relativity, Albert Einstein also assumed all objects fall at the same rate.

Longwood-gate?

Changes In Works At City Hall

Longwood City Commission is eyeing changes at city hall — after only its first meeting of 1986.

Deputy Mayor June Lormann said she was determined to "clean house" while Acting City Administrator Greg Manning wanted to plug a "leak". Parks and Recreation Director Bill Goebel wanted to get the "bugs" out, and a city Celebrity may be leaving the country.

It may have sounded as if the city is on the verge of a "Longwood-gate", but not to worry.

Mrs. Lormann just wants to advertise for bids for someone to clean city hall carpets. Manning told the Monday gathering he wants $700 transferred from the commission's contingency fund to repair a leak in the roof that occurred during the holidays. Goebel wants to use city employees to spray for "roaches, silver fish, ticks and fleas," which would save 20 percent over a commercial exterminator.

The commission approved a one-year lease-purchase deal with Don Reid Ford for an $11,588 car for the fire department. The deal would involve $4,000 trade-in for the department's Celebrity, one of the diesel cars the city would like to replace because of the expense of keeping them in repair. Manning said the dealer plans to ship the diesel car to South America for resale.

Dollar, Gold Higher In Foreign Markets

LONDON (UPI) — The dollar was generally higher on foreign exchange markets Thursday. The price of gold also firmed.

Dealers in Zurich and Milan said the dollar's strength was due to one forecast in New York that American interest rates may not go down further.

The dealers said gold rose on concerns about the American-Libyan confrontation.

Reagan Looks To Allies For Aid But They're Looking Elsewhere

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan, still lacking a "smoking gun" to link Moammar Khadafy to terrorism, is embarked on an escalated campaign against Libya combining economic pain with the implicit threat of military attack.

Delivering a one-two punch against Khadafy with economic sanctions and freezing Libyan government assets in this country, Reagan today looked to U.S. allies to strengthen an economic boycott designed to punish Libya for alleged sponsorship of terrorism.

The administration also held out the prospect of additional unilateral action, to both increase pressure on Khadafy and demonstrate to nervous allies that Reagan is determined to see his drive succeed with or without their help.

In a further bid to marshal world opinion against Khadafy, the State Department released a report alleging Libyan involvement in 58 previously known incidents of terrorism between 1979 and 1985.

The FBI has been watching about half the 6,500 Libyan nationals living in the United States, presumed to be supporters of Libyan leader Moammar Khadafy.

Judge Firm On Butcher Sentence

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — A federal judge who sentenced Jake Butcher to 20 years in prison for bank fraud denied the former banker's request for a reduction of the sentence despite a moving letter from Butcher.

"I want to humbly beg for your help and understanding," Butcher's letter said. "Hopefully you will be able to see me and my family as we really are. As I write this letter to you, my life is one of confusion, hurt and guilt."

U.S. District Judge William K. Thomas said he believed it was important that Butcher's sentence remain at 20 years to demonstrate to the public that white-collar crime does not pay.

"This court concludes that under all the circumstances, the imposition of the maximum sentence agreed to in the plea bargain was not 'unduly harsh,'" Thomas said in a memorandum filed Wednesday.

NASA: Not Today, Maybe Friday

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — The space agency, facing bad weather and engine valve problems, called off an attempt to launch the luckless shuttle Columbia Thursday morning. It was the ship's fifth postponement.

A new launch date was announced as 6:55 a.m. EST Friday.

NASA spokesman Joseph McRoberts announced the launch had been postponed and that a statement was being prepared to outline reasons for the latest delay.

Mission managers met throughout the Wednesday to assess their options but pressed on with a practice countdown for the shuttle Challenger, set for launch in two weeks with school teacher Sharon Christa McAuliffe on board.

Marcos Critics Fear Threat Will Be Excuse To Cancel Election

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) — Government critics today said they feared a reported assassination attempt on President Ferdinand Marcos's daughter could lead to a reimposition of martial law and cancellation of February's election.

Opposition Member of Parliament Homobono Adaza said the incident was a "danger sign that the President is up to some mischief again" as opposition Presidential candidate Corazon Aquino appeared headed toward a landslide victory.

"This is the beginning of a possible declaration of martial law and the abortion of the election," Adaza said. "He (Marcos) sees the handwriting on the wall because of the huge crowds Mrs. Aquino is drawing. His machine may not be sufficient to cope with the avalanche."

Civil Rights Attorney Rene Saguisag said Marcos could be laying the groundwork to cancel the elections because of "massive peace and order problems."

Marcos declared martial law in 1972, citing conspiracies involving both the left and the right to topple him. Martial law lasted eight years.

...Dumping

Appellate court, then, would be Sanford's only avenue if choosing to pursue effluent disposal in Lake Monroe. The cost for this program, which involves an Advanced Waste Treatment (AWT) system, has been put at $24-million by city engineers. The city's other wastewater management effort, which calls for acquisition of Yankee Lake, would cost approximately $33-million, $8.6-million of which would be offset by state and federal grants.

When the city filed its rebuttal to the administrative hearing decision last month, City Manager Frank Faison described the move as a way to get the case for AWT "out from under" the jurisdiction of state agencies and into the court system.

He also said the process to gain approval for continued dumping "would be a long and expensive one," although he declined to estimate what the cost would be.

According to both Faison and Simmons, the process would most likely have been abandoned if the city had been able to successfully negotiate the purchase of Yankee Lake last fall.

Prior to seeking the property, however, Sanford elected to challenge the DER mandate by calling for the administrative hearing. During three days of testimony last spring, engineers and water experts hired by the city sought to prove that the state's water quality rating for Lake Monroe should be amended. The Site Specific Alternative Criteria (SSAC) Sanford sought to establish would have cleared the way for the city to apply for an AWT permit.

The administrative hearing decision, however, said the city failed to prove its case. The ruling cited several "flaws and weaknesses" in presentations made by the Sanford representatives and concluded, "The city's evidence is more easily characterized by the elements of the SSAC rule which it failed to address, than by the elements it did address."

According to the city's rebuttal, the decision "erred" on 13 points of fact and, "Since petitioner's evidence was the only showing on point, with no rebutting evidence being put on by DER, the hearing officer may not reject petitioner's conclusions."

Family Buries Son Who Gave Heart To Girlfriend

PATTERSON, Calif. (UPI) — Through the orchards and fields of the valley, Felipe Garza's funeral procession seemed to roll on forever.

The cortege was so long it might have been that of a prince, but Felipe Garza's only claim to fame was his death, a death so poignant it transfixed the world.

For in his passing Felipe Garza, the Hispanic son of an out-of-work trucker, gave Donna Ashlock, the Anglo-Saxon daughter of a public servant, the gift rejected lovers have promised since lovers' words were first recorded.

He gave her his heart.

Fifteen-year-old Felipe died Saturday of a cerebral hemorrhage, the only warning of it his own loveborn vows. On Sunday, in a hospital in San Francisco 75 miles away, his healthy heart was transplanted into 14-year-old Donna's chest to save her from certain death.

Donna and Felipe dated steadily until last summer, when she cooled on the romance and began dating other boys. For Felipe, his friends said, it never cooled.

It was just three weeks ago that doctors discovered Donna was dying of degenerative heart disease. When he learned of it Felipe told his mother matter-of-factly that after his death, he wanted Donna to have his heart.

Wednesday 500 people crowded into the little stucco Sacred Heart Catholic Church for Felipe's funeral.

"Felipe's passing is a light of hope not only for Donna but for all of us," said the Rev. Tom Cargo, speaking in both English and Spanish. "There is no greater gift to pass on than life, and Felipe's sacrifice contradicts the selfishness that predominates in our society."

Patterson High School closed for the funeral and as the mourners passed by Felipe's open casket, some of the girls bent to kiss him.

Another 200 people who couldn't get into the church joined the procession to Escalon Cemetery, and the procession that pulled away from the church under leaden gray skies was at least 150 cars long, escorted by half a dozen Patterson policemen and two California Highway Patrolmen.

At the graveside Felipe's half brother collapsed on the simple white casket, sobbing "Pino, Pino," the family nickname for him. Other family members pulled him away, a priest spoke softly in his ear, and one by one the members of the Garza family stepped forth, each to drop a red carnation on the coffin.

Then, from amongst the brown faces around the grave stepped Donna's father, Raymond Ashlock, pale and tight-lipped. Silently, he dropped on the casket a single red and white carnation, and slowly the box was lowered into the grave.

Felipe's mother sobbed aloud and tears rolled down his father's cheeks as they walked away. The boy's friends began plucking flowers from the sprays and funeral bouquets and dropped them into the grave.

Ed Moreno, a social studies teacher at Patterson High, said as the mourners left that "I wanted to be here because I liked that kid from the first day I met him."

"He sometimes got into trouble but it was never anything serious and he never hurt anyone. I saw him give his lunch money to a friend who forgot his one day, so it doesn't surprise me that someone now has his heart."

Donna's father told her Tuesday what had happened. He said she responded only by asking who knew that Felipe's heart beat in her chest. He told her all the world knew, and she was silent.

David Skipper, of the DOC public information office, said it appears Mason got time off for good behavior, though by statute he was not eligible for gain time.

Bobbie Glover, Admissions and Release Administrator for the DOC, said today Mason did earn some gain time because a District Court ruled in September 1982 that prisoners serving minimum-mandatory sentence could get some "incentive" gain time. Although Mason was sentenced before the decision, the offense the court considered in a separate case occurred before Mason's, thus making him and other prisoners eligible for "incentive" gain time, she said. The time he earned was subtracted from his 5-year sentence. He earned a total of 705 days gain time.

The body of Mrs. Mason was found around 9 p.m. May 17, 1981 in a stairwell of her condominium in Orlando. Prior to the incident, sheriff's deputy had been called to her home where Mason was brandishing a gun. She declined to press charges and Mason spent three hours talking with the sheriff's psychologist. The Masons had marital problems and she had filed for divorce.

my policies and political philosophies," Kutun said.

"I've known him for 14 years, so I know him very well," he continued. "We both have the same philosophies on law enforcement, agriculture, and taxes, and are sensitive on issues dealing with human needs."

Hattaway pointed out that his voting record is "very conservative," and Kutun's basic philosophy is the same.

Kutun and Hattaway were in Tallahassee Tuesday and Tuesday night, preparing for Wednesday's state-wide launch of their campaign.

Kutun resigned his seat in the Florida House which he had held since 1972 effective December 31, to run for governor. Hattaway was a legislator from 1974 to 1980. He ran for the Senate in 1982 and was defeated by incumbent Republican Tom Jennings.

Hattaway is the second lieutenant governor hopeful from Seminole County. Representative Bobby Brantley, a Longwood Republican, is running for the state's number two spot with Tampa Mayor Bob Martinez at the top of the ticket. They are the only two announced candidates for lieutenant governor.

Kutun said Hattaway would bring balance to the viability of a ticket that would have state-wide appeal. Kutun is from Miami and the south Florida area, while Hattaway is familiar in the central and north Florida areas.

"Because of the fast growth in the central Florida area, there will always be a great interest in having leadership from central Florida," Kutun said.

Hattaway had a busy schedule Tuesday, as he met with legislators from the House and Senate, and three cabinet members, to discuss the issues of the upcoming campaign. He told The Evening Herald one of the strengths he brings to the ticket is his familiarity with members of the legislature.

"I have been friends with many legislators for many years, and know 80 percent of the House members by name," which would enable him to communicate well in facing the issues which concern the state.

He also said he is well aware of the issues and concerns, "of the constituents in the 1-4 corridor. I have know many people and have many friends there," he said.

"People in central Florida are concerned about the rapid growth in the area," Hattaway said. With a Kutun-Hattaway ticket victory "Central Florida will be helped in areas such as roads in Seminole and Orange County," he said. The Kutun-Hattaway ticket has well defined stands on key issues that are on Florida citizen's minds, such as casino gambling, a state lottery, and capital punishment.

Of casino gambling, Kutun said, "I'm against it absolutely. I feel that it is related to the criminal element, and there is no place for it in the State of Florida," Hattaway said. "Casino gambling would take away from the family orientated atmosphere of the state. We're not living in Nevada or New Jersey."

Scheduled to lend their support for Frey at the conference, held at the Orange County Administration Building, were county commissioners Lou Treadway and Hal Marston, State Representatives Bruce McEwan and Tom Drage, State Senator Tom Jennings, Orange County Property Assessor Ford Hausman, and Clerk of Orange County Court Bill Gorman, and Dorman.

They are, however, in favor of a state lottery, "on the condition that the funds (collected) are allocated for education. Its government controlled, non-infiltrated by the criminal element, and has overwhelming support across the state," Kutun said. Hattaway echoed the comments.

On the issue of capital punishment, Kutun says, "I'm in favor of it, and I'm the only candidate that has voted for capital punishment."

Hattaway added, "I've always been in favor of capital punishment for those who commit vicious crimes, and I, and I think the people agree, that those criminals should be made to pay."

Hattaway is a millionaire developer and businessman based in Altamonte Springs. He is also involved in real estate, and his family owns a large Seminole County nursery. He said he has been involved in agriculture for 30 years, and in real estate for almost as long.

He said he is currently developing single family residential properties including 17 lakefront units in Altamonte Springs. He is also involved with some commercial, professional and industrial projects. In addition he has an interest in a farm in Puerto Rico which grows tropical plants.

Senators Call For Moratorium On Master Teacher Program

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Commissioner of Education Ralph Turlington and the chairmen of two key Senate panels Wednesday called for a moratorium on the state's master teacher program, branding it a failure in need of a "major overhaul."

Education chairman Curtis Peterson, D-Lakeland, and Appropriations subcommittee on education chairwoman Betty Castor, D-Tampa, asked their committee members to sign a letter asking Gov. Bob Graham to suspend the merit pay system until it can be redesigned.

The letter urges Graham to stop testing whether teachers qualify for master teacher status by Feb. 1 to allow lawmakers to reevaluate the program in the spring.

Ruling Victory For Home Schools

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — In a victory for "home schools", an appeal court has cleared the way for four Starke, Fla., children to resume their educations at home free of a court order that declared them truants and wards of the state.

Robert Edeward, lawyer for the children's parents, said the ruling by the 1st District Court of Appeal stops short of the wider opinion he sought on parents' rights to teach their children at home.

But Elaine Crawford, who with her husband Allen challenged Bradford County Circuit Judge R.A. Green's order, greeted the appeal decision as a victory.

"More than anything, what my husband started, he thought was right," she said in a telephone interview. "We were being refused our right to be able to educate our children as we see fit."

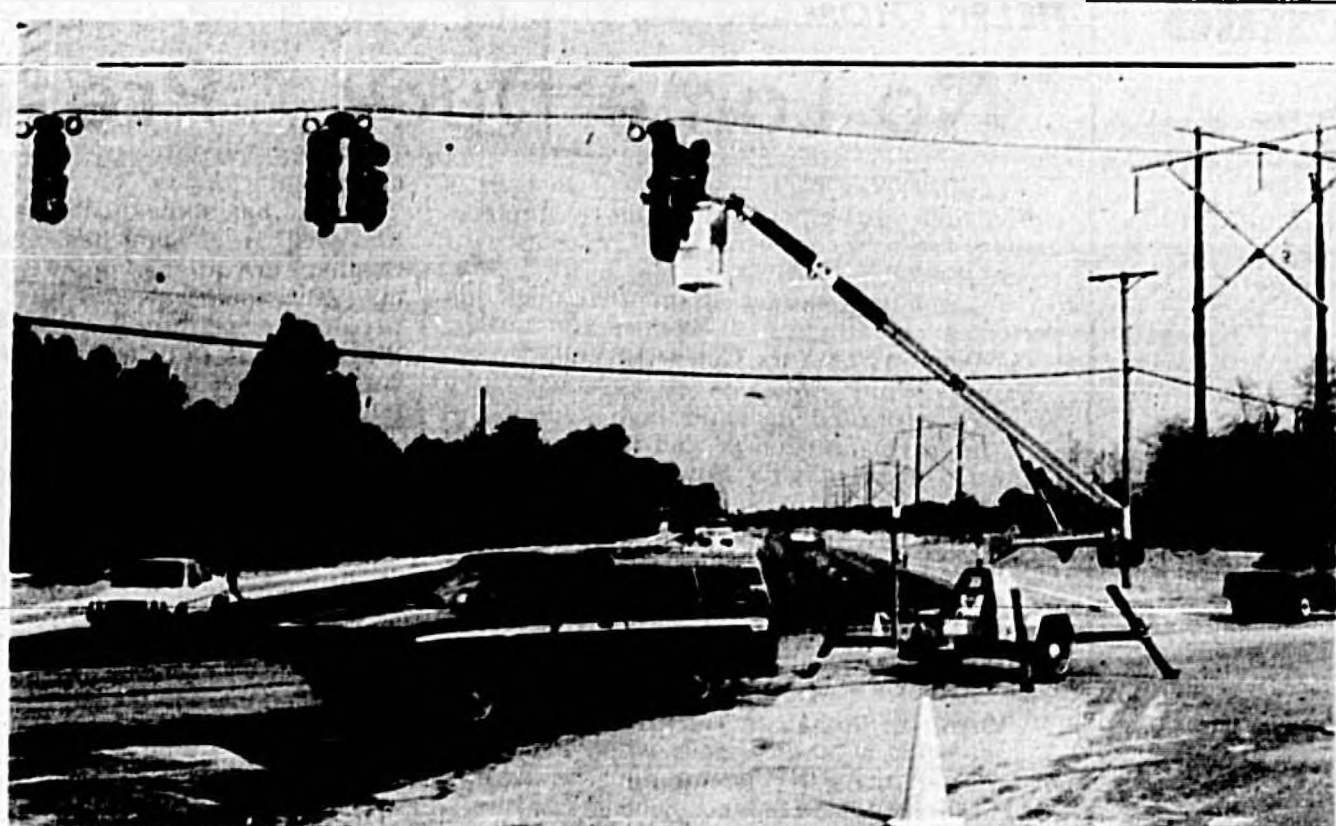

A three judge panel of the appeal court based the unanimous ruling on state laws allowing so-called "home schools".

Bond Set For 2 'Enterprise' Cops

MIAMI (UPI) — Three policemen charged in a drug ripoff scheme dubbed "The Enterprise" that ended in the Miami River drownings of three smugglers have been awarded bond.

Dade County Circuit Judge Arthur Snyder Wednesday also denied bond for three other officers allegedly involved in the scheme. He said he would have preferred to deny bond for all of them.

He then denied bond for Armand Estrada, 26, Armand Garcia, 23, and Roman Rodriguez, 29. All three have been charged with first-degree murder, racketeering and drug charges.

Only Flashing Now

Seminole County workers install a traffic signal at the intersection of Weldon Boulevard and U.S. 17-92. The signal should be operational Monday morning following inspections by the county and state Department of Transportation, according to County Traffic Operations Engineer Dave Nicodemus. However the county may be required to make wiring and other minor changes to the light before it turns on the switch, he said. The signal was put on "flash" Tuesday morning to get the public used to its presence at the intersection, Nicodemus said.

Phony Prescription Brings Charge

A 39-year-old Orlando man who allegedly obtained a prescription cough syrup from an Altamonte Springs drug store had been arrested by Altamonte Springs police and charged with fraud to obtain a controlled substance.

Pharmacist Howard Kieker of Eckerdt's Drugs, 1098 Montgomery Road, told police that on Dec. 7 he filled a prescription for Tyssen liquid, a cough syrup that contains a controlled narcotic, for a man. A woman, who said she worked for a clinic and gave a proper prescription number, called in Sanford police charged a 24-year-old Deltona woman with fraud after she allegedly paid for several articles of clothing at a Sanford shop using a $156 check drawn on a closed account at the Barnett Bank of Deland, a police report said.

The woman reportedly made the purchase at Pants USA, 3621 S. Orlando Drive, and was found by police and the store owner at a sandwich shop next Donna Jean McConachee was arrested at 2:20 p.m. Tuesday and has been released on $1,000 bond. She is scheduled to appear in court Jan. 27.

County Administrative Reorganization Okayed

By Sarah Nunn
Herald Staff Writer

A shuffling of county positions has filled two of three posts vacated when three top county officials resigned last month.

Seminole County Commissioners Tuesday approved the reorganization as recommended by County Administrator Ken Hooper.

The deputy county administrator's title, formerly held by Richard George, has been redesignated to assistant county administrator/computer services director. County Computer Services Director Montye Beamer had been chosen to fill that position, Hooper said.

The public services department has been eliminated from the county organizational structure, including the public services director post formerly held by John Percy, County Library Manager Jean Rhein has temporarily served in that capacity.

Public Works Administrative Assistant Ric Holt will assume the job of facilities maintenance director.

George, Percy and Parks and Recreation Manager Leonard Carswell resigned in December for reported differences of opinion between them and Hooper.

Two of the men said they felt they resigned under threat of dismissal.

A replacement for Carswell has not been named, however County Parks Director Robert Chorvat is serving temporarily as parks and recreation manager. The county has advertised the position, with Jan. 13 being the closing date for applications.

The county will also be looking to hire a computer services manager. Rhein's title has been redesignated as library services director.

Other vacant positions deleted under the reorganization include public services administrative assistant, personnel officer, senior secretary/deputy county administrator, mechanic, mechanic helper, wheel and tire repairworker and machinist.

In all, the plan calls for 13 county positions to be deleted and five to be added. Hooper estimated the reorganization will save the county $250,000 per year in salaries and fringe benefits.

County To Nip Monster

Residents of the Ridgewood Street neighborhood are angered over what they called a developer's proposal to build single-family homes and turn them into boarding houses.

The citizens turned out at the county commission meeting Tuesday to voice their claims that Developer Robert Hieller is violating the county's zoning regulations.

Hieller apparently told the residents and several county officials of his intention to build four-bedroom single family homes and then rent out the rooms individually.

The commission voted to notify Hieller that he will be in violation of county codes if he goes ahead with his plan, but legally the county cannot prevent the construction. Deputy County Attorney Bob McMillan said.

"We need to advise (Hieller) that these are single-family homes and we intend for them to be operated as such and if he violates the code he will be prosecuted," County Commissioner Sandra Glenn said.

The homes are in Glenn's district.

One of the area's residents, Max Fullerton, presented the commission with a petition signed by 60 citizens opposed to the proposed use of the homes. Fullerton said two of the houses on Ridgewood Street are under construction, the county having approved the building permits in December.

He also said Hieller planned to build several more, some 12 each year, to be used as rooming houses. Fullerton said he understood it was the developer's intention to rent the house to one person and that others living there would pay rent to that person, who would then pay the property owner.

"The intent is to have a multi-family dwelling," he said. "This violates the intent of the zoning regulations and is an attack on the entire county. We need to nip this in the bud before it turns into the monster that is has the potential to be."

Fullerton also alleged that Hieller violated a stop work order issued by the county late last month.

Herb Hardin of the county's land management division said he talked with Hieller prior to the building permit being issued and told the developer the plan was not permissible under the county codes.

Hardin said he was "surprised" when he found out the permit had gone through and that the county proceeded to "red tag" the permit and issue the stop work order.

The work was able to continue, Hardin said, after Hieller modified the building plan to eliminate four enclosed exterior windows.

"(Hieller) has been put on notice and the (land management) department will monitor the situation. If it becomes a boarding house we will turn it over to the code enforcement board," he said.

The county's hands may be tied until a violation of the county codes is actually committed, that is until the rooms are rented, McMillan said.

He said Hieller cannot legally rent four different rooms to four different people in a single-family home but that the county cannot stop the construction at this point.

"There is nothing the county can do if the building meets the requirements for a single-family home regardless of what he plans to do with it," McMillan said.

Area residents said they are concerned about the amount of traffic the multi-family use would generate and the impact septic tanks and drainage from the residences would have on their water wells.

Glenn told the residents the county "will do everything it can" to prevent the homes from being converted to multi-family uses. She predicted the matter may wind up before the county's code enforcement or possibly in court.

Classmate Ripoff

Ernest Champion of Roswell, Ga., stopped his car to change a tire on State Road 427 south of Magnolia Avenue on Tuesday when an old school mate from Lyman High School, stopped to chat.

They talked over old times, but after about 10 minutes the old school buddy grabbed Champion's wallet, containing $125 in cash, in addition to four gold chains and five gold bracelets with a total value of about $1,000 and ran south on Magnolia Avenue. Champion gave chase, but lost the suspect on North Street.

The jewelry the man grabbed belongs to Champion's employer, a Seminole County sheriff's report said.

Deputies have the name of a suspect in the case and Champion wants to press charges, the report said.

Big Bass Are Biting At Rodman Reservoir

Fishermen who would like to fish a new spot with beautiful scenery and big bass will be glad to hear that the Rodman Reservoir, which is just north of Salt Springs on State Road 19, has been drawn down approximately five feet in order to expose the kill hydrilla growth. The drawdown will remain in effect until the first of April.

Fishing can be red hot during a drawdown because the entire fish population is forced into a much smaller area. Fish tend to concentrate, and anglers who locate these concentrations of fish can experience fast and furious action.

Speckled perch action at Rodman is good, with many of the specks being caught in the old Oklawaha River channel. Anglers either fish with Missouri minnows or jug the hyacinth patches. Old timers carry rakes with them to clear out holes in the hyacinths. It is easy to spot where the speckled perch are biting due to the number of boats in certain areas.

All serious bass fishermen have heard about Rodman Reservoir and the huge bass that lurk under the stumps and hyacinth patches. The current drawdown offers bass fishermen an opportunity to catch numbers of large fish.

Wild shiners are undoubtedly the most effective bait for bass at Rodman Reservoir. Many large bass are caught by anglers "free lining" shiners under hyacinth patches. The shiners are hooked by the anal fin and pitched gently to the edge of the hyacinths.

Reels are kept on free spool, and the shiners are allowed to swim under the floating vegetation. Many times the bass will be on the edge of the cover, while at other times strikes will come 10 to 20 feet under the vegetation.

Other bass fishermen have a great deal of success trolling shiners behind their boats with the use of a trolling motor. The banks of the Cross Florida Barge Canal are a good spot to troll shiners. Some anglers troll with a cork, and others simply use a large weedless hook.

Jim Shupe

GOING FISHING?

While shiner fishing, heavy tackle must be used at Rodman due to the thick cover. It is impractical to use anything lighter than 25-test line in order to wrestle a big bass out of its weedy lair.

Bass fishermen who prefer artificials will enjoy tossing spinnerbaits and plastic worms in the stump fields on either side of the Cross Florida Barge Canal. The jug and pig is also deadly at Rodman.

Rodman Reservoir is approximately a two-hour drive, but it is well worth it for anglers who want a change of scenery and an opportunity to get their line stretched by a lunker bass.

Launching facilities are available at Orange Springs, Florida on State Road 315, or at Kenwood Landing, also on State Road 315. Fishermen are advised to use the ramp at Kenwood, as the main channel is blocked by hyacinths just above the ramp at Orange Springs.

Wild shiners may be purchased at Orange Springs and the price will range from $6 to $7 per dozen. Anglers should purchase at least two or three dozen shiners for a day's fishing.

JIM'S TIP — Here are four lures or baits are very effective for cold-water bass: jigging spoons, spinnerbaits, the jig and pig, and live bait. Jigging spoons are deadly when bass are in deep water, while spinnerbaits catch many fish if the bass are buried in weeds. The jig and pig is good in heavy cover, and live shiners are best in extremely cold water.

FORECAST — Dell Abernethy at Osteen Bridge Fish Camp reports that bass fishing has improved a great deal. Many bass were weighed in during last Sunday's Osteen Bridge Bass Tournament and all were released alive. Jim Renick and George Smith won first place in the tournament with a combined catch of 22 pounds, 8 ounces. Speckled perch are still dependable in Lake Monroe, with catches averaging around 25 fish per boat.

Ricky Rollins from Highland Park Fish Camp said the speck fishing is slow, but that several large bass have been caught recently. Wayne Arr from Deland caught a 12 pound, 17 ounce bass. Chuck Heath caught an 11 pound, 10 ounce bass, and Dan Rollins caught a 10 pound, 2 ounce bass. All of these big fish were taken on wild shiners fished near heavy cover in Lake Woodruff and the St. Johns River.

Action has slowed down considerably at Sebastian Inlet. Bluefish and large flounder provide steady action, while the redfish are not as dependable. Snook fishing is just about over until the water warms up in the spring.

Captain Jack from Port Canaveral reports that large bluefish are providing reliable action in the port. Offshore action has been good in 140-160 feet of water. Quite a few blackfin tuna and sailfish have been caught at the water depth recently. Trout and redfish are scattered in the Banana and Indian rivers due to the recent warm weather.

Large bluefish have been hearing it up around the north jetties at New Smyrna. Archie Smith of Sanford has been catching a lot of big blues using a floating diving plug and working it close to the rocks. Big sheepshead are also being caught around the jetties on live shrimp.

Bears' 46 Puzzles Offenses

CHICAGO (UPI) — Teams in the NFL this season have tried various ways, most of which were unsuccessful, to match up against the Chicago Bears' complex '46' defensive scheme.

The Miami Dolphins solved it by throwing the ball on nearly every down and came away with the lone victory over Chicago this season.

The Los Angeles Rams, the Bears' NFC championship opponent Sunday at Soldier Field, ranked 28th in passing this year. Translation: the Rams wouldn't appear to have much of a chance scoring against the league's No. 1 defense.

However, the Rams have beaten the Bears and the '46' in the past two years thanks to an offensive line most consider football's best. If the Rams can match their running success they have enjoyed all year against the Bears Sunday. Los Angeles may have the ticket for New Orleans and Super Bowl XX.

LA's four interior linemen are Pro Bowlers, counting injured center Doug Smith. Guards Dennis Harrah and Kent Hill and tackle Jackie Slater are the others who provide the holes for Eric Dickerson to pierce opponents' defenses.

Dickerson, after an early season holdout, rushed for 1,234 yards in 292 carries.

"But he gets stronger as he runs the ball more and he showed that during the season," said Bears linebacker Mike Singletary.

The Rams have 2,057 yards rushing and their ability to maintain the flow of the game on offense has been the key to their first 12 wins this year.

The Bears' defensive line has been the best at rushing the quarterback the past two years but has had some trouble against a bigger back like Dickerson.

That puts more pressure on the linebackers, namely Singletary, Otis Wilson and Wilbur Marshall.

Because Chicago has jumped to such big leads early, most run-oriented teams have been forced to go to the pass earlier than expected.

Chicago has given up 1,319 yards rushing and 82.4 yards per game, some 40 yards per game below the Rams' offensive average. The Bears have allowed 176 yards passing, 23 fewer than the LA offense, but a lot of those yards have come in the second half when teams have tried to mount comebacks through the air.

If Los Angeles has a successful ground attack early, which has been the key to the Rams' success because they have passed 100 fewer times than they have run this year, it may spell upset.

If they are forced to throw against a Chicago defense that has 64 sacks and has a 6-foot-5 defensive end in Richard Dent (34 sacks in last two years), Los Angeles will be in for a long afternoon.

Dieter Brock and the Rams' passing attack has averaged just 153 yards passing and is last in the NFL. Additionally, the Bears have given up a scant 71 points in the second half in 16 regular season games, proving their invincibility once they have a lead.

"We smell blood once we get ahead," Singletary said. "I kind of feel sorry for them if a team gets behind."

Because of the pressure the Bears' defense applies, Chicago has come up with 34 interceptions.

Throwing In The Towel

There are times when you have to throw in the towel but Lake-Sumter's Thor Shaffer carried it to the extreme Tuesday against Seminole Community College. Shaffer, left, who was ejected after his third technical foul, not only threw in the towel, he threw it at coach Jon Scarbrough. Scarbrough, fittingly, tossed it back at his disgruntled player.

Pats Lose WR Fryar

STOUGHTON, Mass. (UPI) — New England Patriots All-Pro punt returner Irving Fryar cut his right hand with a kitchen knife Wednesday, damaging tendons in at least one finger and will miss Sunday's AFC championship game against the Miami Dolphins.

Fryar, who led the NFL in punt returns with a 14.1 yard average, cut the ring and small fingers on his right hand Wednesday morning when he was placing a kitchen knife into a drawer at his suburban Easton home, a team spokesman said.

The injury occurred less than one hour before the team was scheduled to attend a send-off rally at Boston City Hall and then fly to Miami.

Fryar missed the flight and will join the team later, team spokesman Jim Greenidge said.

"There is a cast on his hand just to stabilize it," Greenidge said. "One stitch was used to repair the tendon and 10 stitches were used to close the wound."

"He definitely won't play Sunday," Greenidge said, adding that team physician Dr. Burt Zarins would examine Fryar's hand Monday.

Dr. Daniel Sigman, a Brockton plastic surgeon who treated Fryar at the Godard Hospital, had indicated that Fryar might be able to play against the Dolphins if he used some sort of protective covering.

"It's an injury that usually would require several weeks of healing," Sigman said. "But his status as regards to playing will have to be made by the team physicians."

Patriots coach Raymond Berry said wide receiver Stephen Starring would replace Fryar in the lineup.

"Starring, in my opinion, has the ability to be an All-Pro receiver," Berry said, adding the team is "fortunate" to have great depth at wide receiver.

"As has been the case so many times this year, one of the strengths of our football team has been our depth and the quality of our depth," he said. "This is a classic example."

"We've lost one of the greatest athletes that I've ever seen in pro football — Irving Fryar," Berry said. "He has tremendous ability."

Fryar, in his second year out of Nebraska, returned 37 punts for 520 yards and two touchdowns this season with a long of 85 yards.

He was the team's third highest receiver, pulling down 39 passes for 670 yards and a 17.2 yard average with a long of 56 yards. He was the team's second highest scorer with 60 points, including catching seven touchdown passes.

During the playoffs, Fryar made two catches for 47 yards with a long of 39 yards. He returned four punts for 12 yards with a long of 8.

Fisk, Sox Agree — Tigers Cage Gibson

A.L. Baseball

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Chicago White Sox signed catcher Carlton Fisk to a two-year contract today, two hours past the midnight EST deadline that would have made him a free agent.

"I am delighted we worked it out," White Sox Chairman Jerry Reinsdorf said. "The negotiations were long and difficult, but always maintained a great deal of integrity. The differences were worked out basically because Carlton wanted to come back."

The midnight free-agent deadline was extended by the Player Relations Committee at the request of Fisk and the White Sox, officials said.

No further details of the agreement were available, but additional details were to be announced at a news conference scheduled for 3:30 p.m. EST Friday, team officials said.

Earlier in the evening, Reinsdorf issued a statement saying there were "substantial differences" between the two sides.

In the case of Fisk, 38, the stumbling block was not length of contract but money.

Reinsdorf said Fisk had his choice of contract lengths and was given the option of retaining a no-trade clause at a lower sum of money or waiving it at a higher rate.

"We wouldn't sign him with the idea of trading him," Reinsdorf said earlier Tuesday. "But we would like to have that option. Either way, the amount of money he has asked for is higher than what we are willing to pay."

Fisk's 38 home runs last season were a career high. Thirty-three of the homers came as a catcher, setting an American League record for backstops.

NO 5-YEAR DEAL FOR KIRK

DETROIT (UPI) — Kirk Gibson lost his bid for a five-year contract from the Detroit Tigers but won a guaranteed $4.2 million, 3-year pact just before he would have had to look for a new team.

"They've both agreed to terms," Detroit general manager Bill Lajoie said early today. "That's all I can tell you I've got a lot of work to do now."

UPI learned Lajoie and Gibson's agent, Doug Baldwin of Seattle, worked out a compromise that raised the club's $3.9 million offer to $4.2 million. But Detroit did not budge from its three-year offer that contained no option years.

The slugging right fielder did get a signing bonus plus a relatively low attendance bonus.

Tom Brookins also accepted the Tigers' long-standing offer a two-year contract guaranteed at $3,600,000 a year with an option for a third year Detroit could buy out at a reduced figure.

Both agreements were made late Wednesday night, just before the time limit ran out on Detroit.

The agreements were seen as a victory for the owners in their efforts to hold down costs. While the dollar amounts are big, the contracts are for three years or less with no down-the-road money.

"I never gave it a thought," Detroit manager Sparky Anderson said by phone from his Thousand Oaks, Calif., home. "I always feel like people are going to sign."

"We've got our club," Anderson said.

YANKEES SIGN WYNEGAR, NIEKROS

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Yankees came to contract terms Wednesday with free-agent catcher Butch Wynegar and pitching brothers Phil and Joe Niekro several hours before the midnight deadline.

Major-league teams failing to come to terms with free agents by midnight EST Wednesday can no longer sign such players until May 1. The players may make a deal with other teams during that time.

Financial terms of the contracts were not disclosed. The three players were the only Yankees to become free agents.

"These have been long negotiations, going right down to the wire, but I feel the results are extremely fair to all parties," said Yankees vice president Woody Woodward, who handled the negotiations.

ANGELS RE-SIGN TOP RELIEVER

ANAHEIM, Calif. (UPI) — The California Angels Wednesday night re-signed their top reliever, Donnie Moore, three hours before a deadline would have prevented the action until May 1.

The team said the contract was for three years, but no other terms of the pact were released.

Moore, a 31-year-old right-hander, set a team record with 31 saves last year. He had been a free agent since his contract expired at the end of last season.

"I really wanted to be an Angel again," Moore said. "We simply got together and both sides bent a little."

The reliever originally asked for a 5-year contract, but later said he would settle for the "right" three-year deal. He had balked Tuesday at an offer worth $2.68 million over three years without incentives.

Georgetown, 11-2, survived a brawling Big East game. Terry Coles scored 21 points for Connecticut. First-swinging by Gerry Bessehek of the Huskies and Ralph Dalton of the Hoyas emptied both benches.

"In the Big East, every game is like a street fight," Huskies coach Don Perno said.

MOTEN SPURS GATORS

GAINESVILLE (UPI) — Andrew Moten scored 19 points and spearheaded an 11-0 streak during the second half Wednesday to power Florida to an 86-55 Southeastern Conference rout of Vanderbilt.

Center Brett Burrows, Vanderbilt's leading scorer, was held to 6 points by an aggressive Florida defense. Only one Commodore — Barry Goheen with 12 points — scored in double figures.

Vanderbilt, 7-5 and 1-2 in the SEC, led 8-7 with 12:47 left in the first half. A Moten jumper put Florida ahead and the Gators, 8-3 and 3-0, never trailed again, building a 37-26 halftime lead.

Cotney Quits

TAMPA (UPI) — Defensive back Mark Cotney, one of three original Tampa Bay Buccaneers still on the team, retired from the NFL Wednesday because of a severe neck injury suffered in a pre-season game.

Cotney, 33, missed the entire 1985 season after fracturing two cervical vertebrae in a game against Atlanta Aug. 17. He played most of his Tampa Bay career at strong safety and he said Wednesday he would like to become involved in coaching.

"I regret never having the opportunity to have coached Mark in a regular-season game," said Leeman Bennett, who went 2-14 in his initial season with the Buccaneers.

IN BRIEF

Detectives: No Evidence That Robinson Sold Teammates Drug

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — City narcotics detectives said there is no evidence that Vols quarterback Tony Robinson, who was charged with selling cocaine to undercover agents, sold drugs to his Tennessee teammates.

"This is not a widespread problem that permeates the football team or the athletics department at the University of Tennessee," city spokesman Chuck Storey said Wednesday after Robinson's arrest.

Tony Robinson

"To my knowledge, there are no other team players involved in this particular investigation," said Capt. Stan Bullen, head of the city police Organized Crime Unit.

Robinson and his roommate, former Tennessee fullback Kenneth "B.B." Cooper, were arrested at 8:30 a.m. at their apartment after they allegedly sold 30 grams — just over an ounce — of cocaine to an undercover detective.

Both athletes were charged with the felony of sale and delivery of cocaine.

Cooper, who played at Tennessee from 1981 until 1984, and Robinson, a superb quarterback who was in the running for the Heisman Trophy before he injured his knee in October, were booked at the city jail and released on a $1,000 bond each. They spent 30 minutes in jail Wednesday.

A preliminary hearing was set for Feb. 5. Each athlete faces from four to 10 years in prison if convicted.

Lendl Too Physical For Connors

ATLANTA (UPI) — Ivan Lendl said his physical conditioning helped him outlast Jimmy Connors in the third set of their match Wednesday night after Connors had saved a match point and rallied to win the second set.

Lendl, the world's No. 1 player, defeated Connors 6-3, 5-7, 6-1 in 2 hours and 31 minutes in the second round of a $500,000 tournament. The victory clinched a spot in the semifinals for Lendl along with a flu-stricken John McEnroe, who defeated Anders Jarryd 6-3, 6-3.

In other matches Wednesday, Stefan Edberg defeated Kevin Curren 6-4, 6-4, and Yannick Noah beat Andres Gomez 3-6, 6-3, 6-2. With their losses, Curren and Gomez have no chance of reaching the semifinals.

Peete, McCumber Share Lead

CARLSBAD, Calif. (UPI) — At this time of year, Calvin Peete's golf clubs are usually gathering dust in a darkened garage. And Mark McCumber's are being jostled by an overseas baggage clerk.

But because the 34th annual Tournament of Champions is now the season-opener on the PGA Tour, both sets of clubs are working this week at the La Costa Country Club — and both belong to first-round leaders.

Peete, returning to this tournament after being disqualified in 1985, collected five birdies in an eight-hole stretch Wednesday to share the top spot with McCumber in the $500,000 event.

Peete got off to a fine start by earning birdies on Nos. 9, 10, 12, 13 and 16 in his 4-under-par round of 68.

Garrison Comeback Tips Phelps

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The top seeds in a $150,000 tennis tournament are still sailing along, despite the determined efforts of a few to rock the boat.

There haven't been any major upsets after three days of play, but there were some close calls Wednesday.

"For a while there, I didn't think I'd come out of it," fifth-seeded Zina Garrison said after winning a tough match over unseeded Terry Phelps to advance to the quarterfinals.

"I thought it'd be tough, but I didn't know exactly how tough," Garrison said after trailing 5-2 in the second set, then facing two match points and a tie-breaker before winning 2-6, 7-6 (9-7), and 6-4.

2 Players Quit Cage Teams

Robert Hill, a reserve guard for Seminole High, and Matt Newby, a backup forward for Lake Mary High, have quit their respective basketball teams their coaches said Wednesday.

Seminole coach Bill Klein said Hill, a senior, was dissatisfied with his lack of playing time. Lake Mary coach Willie Richardson said Newby, also a senior, had lost interest in the game.

POOR SHOOTING DOOMS HAWKS

Doomed by 29 percent shooting from the floor, Lake Howell's Silver Hawks dropped a 62-46 decision to West Orange's Warriors Wednesday night at Lake Howell High.

Lake Howell, which now stands at 3-7 overall, opens play in the Seminole Athletic Conference Friday night at home against Lyman.

"We can't beat too many people shooting the way we did tonight," Lake Howell coach Greg Robinson said. "I hope it was the holiday break that was the reason we were so flat."

West Orange built a 21-14 lead at halftime and continued to add to it in the second half. The Warriors led by 21 with four minutes left when Lake Howell put on a desperation comeback.

The Hawks cut the lead to 10 with 2:03 left and were shooting a one and one at the free throw line. Lake Howell missed the front end and West Orange went down and scored a three-point play to up the lead to 13. "That pretty much did it," Robinson said.

Kevin Lienard had 14 points to lead Lake Howell which made just 14 of 47 from the floor. John Lowe added nine points and Terry Gammons tossed in eight. Derek Pollard poured in a game-high 18 points to lead West Orange.

"We were our own worst enemy tonight," Robinson said. "We can play and must play much better than we did. We have to shake up the personnel a bit." — Chris Fister

Lady Rams Pound Mainland — Lyman Holds Off Orange

By Chris Fister Herald Sports Writer

Lake Mary's Lady Rams didn't overwhelm anyone Wednesday night, but they really didn't have any need to.

The Lady Rams built a 12-2 lead after one quarter, then stretched it to 20-7 at halftime and that gave coach Bill Moore a chance to experiment and to clear his bench in the second half.

The Lady Rams went on to claim a 40-29 District 4A-9 victory over the Lady Bucs at Daytona Beach. Lake Mary, which ran its record to 9-2 with the win, opens play in the Seminole Athletic Conference Friday night at home against Oviedo.

"It was a good experience even though we didn't shoot the ball very well," Moore said. "We tried some new things and everyone got a chance to play which was important."

Tonya Lawson pumped in a game-high 16 points to lead the Lady Rams who were playing without senior leader Karen DeShetter who Moore said had a pulled muscle in her side. Cynthia Patterson added six points for Lake Mary and grabbed 11 rebounds while Teri Whyte tossed in four points and yanked down eight boards.

Anquetette Whack contributed four points, five assists and four steals while Lawson added three assists and four steals.

LAKE MARY (40) — Patterson 4, Lawson 16, Daniel 2, Whack 4, Noell 0, Whyte 4, Leckie 4, Dawson 2, Lucarelli 0, Roldan 2. Totals: 20 0 3 40.

LYMAN SURVIVES

After blazing to a 34-12 halftime lead, Lyman's Lady Greyhounds seemed like they would blow out West Orange's Lady Warriors Wednesday night.

But the hot hand Lyman had in the first half froze solid in the second as the Lady Greyhounds couldn't locate the basket. With West Orange not shooting much better, Lyman was able to survive as it came out of Winter Garden with a 42-33 nonconference victory.

Lyman, which now stands at

Basketball

6-1, returns to Seminole Athletic Conference action tonight at Lake Howell.

"We just couldn't buy one the second half," Lyman coach Dick Copeland said. "We would miss from the outside, then get the rebound and miss the layup. We looked like a completely different ballclub the second half."

West Orange outscored Lyman, 14-4, in the third quarter to pull within 38-26 going into the final period. Lyman managed just four more points in the fourth quarter and West Orange came as close as seven before bowing out.

Denise Stevens continued to play well for the Lady Greyhounds as, after an 18-point performance on Monday, she popped in a game-high 15 points against West Orange. Kim Forsyth, averaging 22 per game going in, was held to 14 points and LaTonya Johnson tossed in nine.

LYMAN (42) — Roberts 2, Bouey 2, Forsyth 14, Johnson 9, Drakes 0, Stevens 15, Richardson 0. Totals: 17 8 21 42.

WEST ORANGE (33) — Jefferson 13, Must 7, Richardson 7, Edwards 0, White 4, Hughes 0, Tucker 2, Jones 0. Totals: 13 12 23 33.

Junior Simmons might be getting a little old to be called junior, but the 45-year-old Sanford stock car driver can still drive his 1985 Thunderbird with the best of the youngsters. Simmons, who races every Saturday night at the New Smyrna Speedway, has a lot of "family involvement" while preparing for his Thundercar runs. For a look at Simmons and the upcoming Speed Week, see Carl Vanzura's AUTO RACING column which debuts Friday in the Evening Herald.

Refusing To Tip Is Matter Of Money, Not Of Principle

DEAR ABBY: I never leave a tip at a restaurant. Not a dime! It's not the money; it's the principle of the thing.

Everyone else who is in business has to pay his help a living wage, but restaurant owners pay peanuts because they know their customers will make up the difference in tips.

And when you take a look at the prices they charge, you know darned well they can afford it.

Print this. Maybe it will wake up the eating public.

AGAINST TIPPING

DEAR AGAINST: Whenever someone says, "It's not the money; it's the principle of the thing," it's usually the money. Let me explain something to you. (Watch my lips.)

The government, also known as Uncle Sam and the IRS, assumes that every person who collection is being taken up, or while the organist is playing a loud solo — or unwrap it fast!

I've talked to several friends who are as irritated as I over this.

IRRITATED IN NEW HAMPSHIRE

DEAR IRRITATED: I'm glad you wrote. See? I listen to my readers.

DEAR ABBY: Jill Turner's statement, "Just because you are against something doesn't give you the right to decide for everybody else," has been blown up and displayed in two places in our office: (1) Behind my desk and (2) next to the anti-smoking cartoons in another cubicle.

No doubt you will say that this statement doesn't apply to smoking. I think it does.

MOLLIE B.
DEAR MOLLIE: Just because you are against smoking doesn't give you the right to decide that everybody else should smoke — but you have the right to insist that smokers may not smoke around you.

DEAR ABBY: To "Her Loving Daughter," whose mother is an "incurable" backseat driver, my advice is to give up.

I tried for 30 years to get my wife to stop telling me how to drive, but one day while passing a military air base where the largest planes in the world routinely take off and land, I surrendered to the inevitable.

One of those monsters was coming in for a landing as we drove down the interstate near

Charleston, S.C., and I heard my wife say, "You'd better get your wheels down; you'd better get your wheels down."

Now that's backseat driving!
STILL LOVING HER IN COLUMBIA, S.C.

DEAR ABBY: "Mother of the Bride" asked you how long she should wait to tell a couple she had known a long time that she noticed they had attended her daughter's wedding and reception, but her daughter never received a gift or money from them.

You told her to wait "forever" — that to mention it would be very poor taste. Wrong!

We sent a nice gift to a couple for their 25th wedding anniversary and we waited and waited for their thank-you, but it never came, so I rang her up and asked the lady if she ever got our gift and she said, "What gift? We never got a thing from you, and I wondered why, because we gave you one for your 25th anniversary."

Abby, I called the store and they tracked down the delivery record, and sure enough the gift had been delivered to the wrong house — and the people had kept it!

So, I think it's perfectly OK for a person to call a friend to find out if they sent a gift or not. Thanks for letting me put in my 2 cents, but don't use my name.

GLAD I DID IN OMAHA
DEAR GLAD: I'm glad you're glad. But I know of no diplomatic way to ask someone if a gift was sent because one was expected, but none was received.

Get A Second Opinion Before Breast Surgery

DEAR DR. GOTT — A year ago I had a breast biopsy, which showed slightly abnormal tissue. A week ago I had another biopsy of a second lump, which showed severe abnormality but was not malignant. My doctor recommended removing the breast, possibly both, but this seems so severe. After all, I do not have cancer. What should I do?

perhaps even a low-back brace — may be able to help you maintain your independence.
DEAR DR. GOTT — I get tiny brown wart-like things on my neck. My doctor calls them tags, says he doesn't know what causes them and just cuts them off with surgical shears. They grow right back. Is there a way to get rid of them and keep them off?

DEAR READER — Skin tags are small outgrowths of skin that ordinarily cause no harm. They are easily removed by a variety of methods. I am not aware of any way to prevent them.
Dr. Freedman asks: "Can the practitioners resist the change? Yes, but only for a short time."

DEAR READER — Some forms of growth are neither truly malignant nor truly benign; they are considered to be "pre-malignant" in that they can progress to cancer, given enough time. Removal of both breasts for a "severe abnormality" that is not malignant seems too aggressive to me. Ask your doctor to refer you to an oncologist (cancer specialist) for a second opinion. Most breast lesions, even pre-malignant ones, can be treated with excisional biopsy ("lumpectomy"), and the patient can be closely monitored medically thereafter. Total breast removal is not considered to be as necessary a procedure as it was several years ago.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I am female and 74 years old. When I'm on my feet doing housework, my back hurts all over. If I lie down for 20 to 30 minutes, the pain is gone. My doctor says it is arthritis, but I didn't think arthritis would stop hurting simply from taking a rest.

DEAR READER — The type of back pain you describe is most likely due to muscle spasm and contraction. If you have arthritis of your spine, the irritated joints may be triggering the spasm; however, the most effective treatment would, in my opinion, be directed primarily at relieving the muscle contraction.

Most people over 70 have some degree of spinal arthritis. Unfortunately, this condition comes with age. Yet severe pain that is helped by rest is not common in later years. I suggest you make an appointment with an orthopedic surgeon, who, by using exercises and heat — and

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
Most partnerships using an opening two-club bid as strong and usually artificial also have an agreement that the two-diamond response to that opening is either temporizing or negative and has nothing to do with diamonds. Therefore the immediate response of three diamonds was positive and natural. After South had bid diamonds a second time, North's jump to five no-trump was the grand slam force, a conventional bid asking South to bid seven with two of the top three honors. Seven diamonds was a good contract, but declarer got just a mite careless.
South won dummy's ace of clubs and played the diamond ace, getting the bad news about the trump suit. Next he played ace of spades and ruffed a spade. He returned to dummy with the diamond jack and began playing high spades. Instead of ruffing in and allowing declarer to overruff and pick up trump, East discarded all three of his hearts and then a low club. If South now came off dummy with a heart, East would simply ruff. If South ruffed a club, East would have a long trump for the setting trick.

As often happens in the excitement of playing a grand slam, declarer got a little ahead of himself. After ruffing a spade, he should immediately cash the king of hearts. Now he can return to dummy with the diamond jack and proceed as before. The difference is that at the finish, declarer as well as East will be down to only trumps, and the contract will be made.
