Proposition 1 Backers Pin Hopes On Federal Court

The Florida Supreme Court's action tossing the tax limiting Proposition 1 off the ballot will be appealed through the federal court system, its supporters decided.

A suit charging the state's high court decision violated the constitutional rights of Florida citizens by denying them the right to vote on the issue and that its ruling was contrary to precedent set by the state's justices four years ago will be filed in the federal district court at Orlando, said Tom Binford today.

Binford, a real estate broker and Winter Springs businessman, was active in the drive in Seminole County to promote the passage of the proposed state constitutional amendment.

He said it appears to the group that the state Supreme Court broke precedent in deciding to take the issue off the ballot on the basis of its containing several subjects. The court said the several subjects violated the state constitutional requirements of a single subject per amendment in a people initiated proposal. But only four years ago, Binford said, the high court permitted constitutional amendments endorsed by Gov. Bob Graham which carried multi-subjects.

Binford said hundreds of supporters from all sections of the state, calling themselves the "Limit Government Committee," agreed in convention at the Hilton Hotel in Orlando Saturday to go through the federal court system with their appeal rather than diluting their strength through another petition drive.

George Shulte, one of the authors of Proposition 1, was slated to announce after noon today the convention's decision.

Binford said the appeal process is expected to cost $100,000 and the group has no idea how long it will take before a final decision is reached by the federal courts. Raising the $100,000 is expected to be the group's biggest problem, he said.

The committee has scheduled several strategy meetings for the coming week.

In the meantime, distribution of literature concerning the amendment and bumper strips promoting its adoption will continue, Binford said.

Although the group was considering circulating a new petition drive to get the amendment on the ballot and petitions for two additional amendments to return the state public service commission to an elective rather than an appointive body and calling for direct elections by the people of state Supreme Court judges, Binford said it was decided not to divide the group's strength by circulating new petitions at this time.

The amendment, slated for the November ballot after signatures of more than 300,000 registered voters were collected, called for limiting the revenues which state and local governments in Florida could raise beginning in 1985.

It required the governments to limit revenues by beginning with total income of the 1980-81 fiscal year and computing two-thirds of the consumer price index up to 5 percent annually for the intervening years plus new construction values to determine the total each government could raise.

In Seminole County, the school board, county commission and the seven cities estimated their revenue losses would total nearly $70 million the first year.

Vandalism

Baseball Complex Ransacked; $10,000 Damage Estimated

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

A reward of up to $1,000 has been offered for information leading to the arrest of vandals who ransacked a concession stand and a utility shed at a baseball complex between Saturday night and Sunday morning. Although the vandals apparently stole nothing, damage was estimated at $10,000 and baseball officials who posted the reward were forced to postpone four games scheduled for tonight.

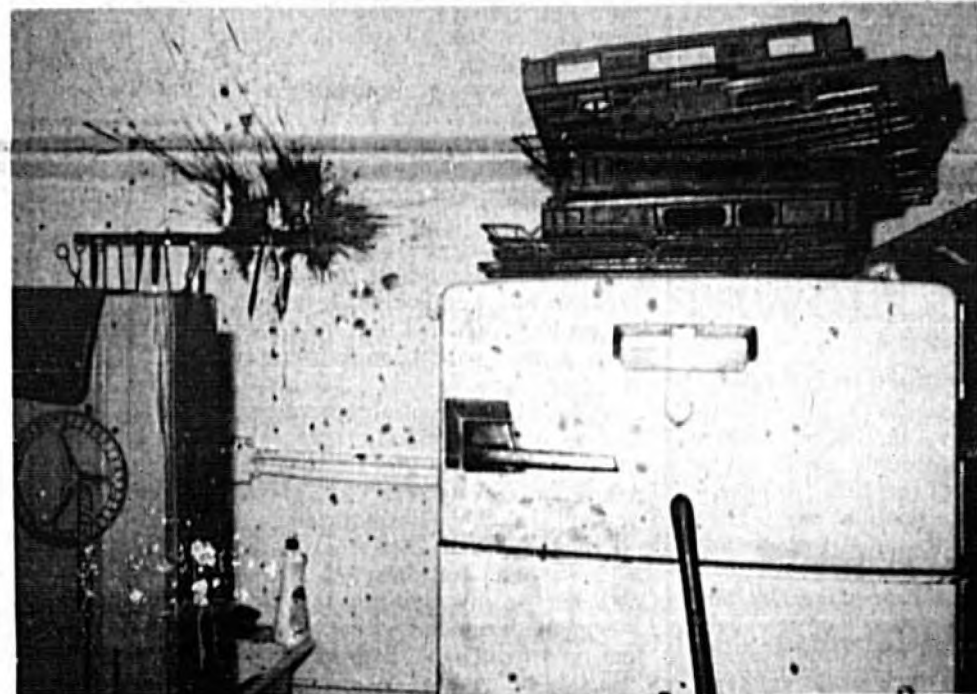

Officials for Seminole Pony League Baseball, Inc., who operate a four-field complex on state Road 419 near Winter Springs, are cleaning mustard and ketchup from the walls and ceiling of the snack stand there and have gathered up and thrown out 100 pounds of chicken several cases of weiners and other food items which were thrown around the building. All of the food in the stand will be destroyed, said baseball association president Deibert Wilks, because it may have been tampered with. "We couldn't take a chance on that," he said.

Damage is estimated at $10,000 and most of the monetary loss came from damage to food equipment, such as soft drink machines, steamers and coffee makers, according to Wilks of Sanford.

The vandalism was discovered at about 10:30 a.m. Sunday by sheriff's deputy Dan Prast who while on routine patrol noticed water flooding out of west door of the concession stand. He determined that two padlocks had been cut from the door and when he entered the Trooper J.T. Watkins fills out an accident report as driver Richard Roemer returns from checking damage to his borrowed Volkswagen Rabbit after it flipped twice and came to rest against a tree. Roemer walked away from the mishap uninjured.

Driver Uninjured

Car Flips Twice, Hits Tree

A DeBary man was uninjured today when a compact car he was driving left Interstate 4, flipped twice, and came to rest on its side against a tree.

The man was wearing a seatbelt. Richard Roemer, 55, of 3 Lilac Drive, DeBary, was driving southbound on I-4 approximately 2 1/2 miles south of the Lake Mary exit in a 1982 Volkswagen Rabbit when he edged onto the median.

According to Florida Highway Patrol trooper J.T. Watkins, Roemer then overcompensated, skidded across two west-bound lanes of the interstate, and traveling sideways careered down an embankment, struck a five-foot wide cement spillway then flipped twice.

The car — which lost its entire windshield during the plunge — stopped resting on the driver's side with the bottom of the car against a small tree. Roemer, who was alone in the borrowed car and heading for work, was uninjured. The car received about $2,200 worth of damage, according to Watkins.

The accident was the third in the area recently in which driver's overcompensation after running onto a road's shoulder resulted in wrecks.

The other two, however, involved fatal injuries. Friday, a Longwood man died on state Road 419 after his car traveled onto the shoulder, and then because of overcompensation, swerved into the path of an oncoming truck. And a Sanford motorcyclist was killed Feb. 19 when a car lost control, hit the shoulder on state Road 415 north of Osteen and then swerved into the cyclist's path.

'Lost' Plane Turns Up, Pilot Still Missing

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

Authorities are still trying to assemble disjointed facts today regarding a plane landing in a cow pasture in southeast Seminole County Sunday.

Unclear today is why the plane landed at the remote spot and why it took so long for authorities to be notified of the exact whereabouts of the plane and the condition of its passengers, who were later said to be unhurt.

According to a sheriff's report, the Sanford Airport tower reported at 10 minutes to noon that it lost sight of a plane which was to land there. Its last given location had been Seminole Woods, south of Geneva. Because another report indicated the plane had actually gone down further south, both Seminole and Orange county units were notified and arrived in the Chuluota and Fort Christmas Road area to find the downed plane.

All authorities had been told the plane either crashed or landed near the Bithlo tower.

A Seminole deputy's report states the plane, with an elderly couple inside, landed at the Kilroy Ranch 1 1/2 miles south of the Old Mims Road, though that information was not known until late Sunday night.

According to the report, the passengers were not injured nor was the plane, a Skyhawk II.

Owner of the ranch, Mrs. Schulsmeier, no first name given, took the couple she did not know to Bithlo and reportedly did not notify the authorities of the plane on her land until 10 p.m. Sunday, according to Seminole County sheriff's spokesman John Spolski.

Spolski called the incident "strange" and said an investigation is being conducted.

Reporters who went to the area were told by Orange County sheriff's deputy on Fort Christmas Road that the landing was in Seminole County and that the plane was "within walking distance" of the Seminole Flying Ranch, on state Road 419, and that was where the pilot was taken.

However, at the flying ranch, proprietors said no planes had landed near there and no pilot from a downed plane had arrived at the terminal.

At the same time, the Seminole County sheriff's department spokesman said the plane was in Orange County and they were not investigating it.

'Blackout Sunday' Protest Against FP&L Fizzles

'Blackout Sunday,' a grassroots protest against Florida Power & Light's $455 million rate hike request, seems to have fizzled.

Although some FP&L customers may have shut off the electricity in their homes from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. in observance of "Blackout Sunday," the demonstration caused no measurable effect in power usage, according to Al Montgomery, manager of Sanford's FP&L office.

In fact, "at 2 p.m. Sunday, our readings showed power usage was up slightly over what is usually expected on a Sunday at that time," Montgomery said.

Although some residents were expected to shut their power off for the 12-hour period on April Fools Day, organizer Albert Starke of 10 Carriage Cove, Sanford, could not say how many local area residents participated.

Starke circulated petitions in the Sanford area last week, garnering 600 signatures of rate hike protesters, many of whom promised to shut off their electricity Sunday for the day.

Starke said he shut off the power in his mobile home at 9 a.m. Sunday and missed the electricity hardly at all.

He said FP&L serves about half of the state's 10 million people and if 20 percent — or 1 million — participated in the blackout, it would have cost FP&L about $1.8 million in lost revenues.

He said the intent of 'Blackout Sunday' was not only to stop the rate increase, which he said would cost the average consumer more than $7 per month, but also to get a reduction of the charge for "lifeline power," which he said is the bare minimum need for a household of 750 kilowatt hours monthly.

"We hope it had some effect," he said.

Starke said if many people shut off their power in observance of the blackout and FP&L didn't notice it, perhaps the company doesn't need a rate increase after all.

He also questioned the accuracy of FP&L's figures, saying he didn't expect the company would admit it even if the blackout did work.

17 Years Given For Assault On Girl, 9

A 28-year-old Apopka man captured after an intensive manhunt was sentenced to 17 years in prison and 20 years probation for the attempted rape and kidnapping of a 9-year-old Longwood girl.

He had been charged with assaulting and raping her.

Thomas Francis Gildart Jr., a self-employed landscaper last living at 2125 Kilmer Lane, pleaded guilty Friday before Circuit Judge C. Vernon Mize Jr. on two counts of attempted sexual battery, one kidnapping charge, and burglary.

If he had been convicted as charged — of the rape of the 9-year-old girl — he could have been sentenced to death. The kidnapping charge could have meant a life sentence.

At the time Gildart was arrested Aug. 11, he on parole for a 1980 aggravated assault, a 1976 burglary and a 1978 escape.

According to court records,

Thomas Gildart Jr.

According to a sheriff's report, Gildart lured the girl to the sliding glass back door of her home in the Longwood area at about 10 p.m. July 29, grabbed her and dragged her to an open field behind the home where he sexually assaulted her.

The girl screamed and Gildart released her. She ran home and told her parents of the attack.

The girl picked Gildart's picture and identified him as her attacker after looking through a file of photographs, according to the report.

According to prosecuting state attorney Ralph Eriksson, a hero in the case was a Longwood man, Michael Cohn, who saw Gildart's truck race from the scene. Though Cohn did not know for sure anything had happened, he felt something was wrong and followed Gildart's truck. He got the tag number of the vehicle and gave it to the police when he returned to the scene.

Arizona Man Buying Circus World

ORLANDO (UPI) — An Arizona developer plans to purchase financially troubled Circus World and boost the faltering amusement park with more rides, a new hotel and a residential development, officials said.

"I think I can make it competitive with Disney, (World)" said Jim Monaghan of Phoenix, Ariz.

Monaghan said Sunday he has been negotiating with Mattel Inc., the park's owner, for about two weeks. The closing is set for April 30.

Monaghan and Mattel officials declined comment on the purchase price, but knowledgeable sources reported the price is more than $10 million.

SHS Pair All-Stars In Brain Bowl

Two Seminole High students were scheduled to leave this afternoon for Jacksonville to compete in the state's All Star Brain Bowl in scholastics. The students were chosen following the SHS team's conference victory — a first for Seminole County.

Michael Brooks, captain of the Seminole High Scholastic Team, and Tammi Basso, a member, were chosen for the All Star honors after the SHS team won the conference championship of all public and private high schools in Seminole and Volusia counties.

Scheduled to accompany the students, their teacher, Anna McCarthy said today this is the first time a Seminole County team has won the conference title.

The SHS team played each of the other 11 high school teams in the two-county conference twice, winning 20 of 22 matches. The team will be in Jacksonville until Thursday.

NATION IN BRIEF

Marvin Gaye's Father Held In Singer's Death

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The preacher father of singer Marvin Gaye faces murder charges in the shooting of the Grammy-winning entertainer whose passionate delivery on such hits as "I Heard It Through The Grapevine" and "Sexual Healing" topped the record charts for more than 20 years.

Gaye, who would have been 45 today, was shot Sunday as his mother watched during an altercation with his father, Marvin Gaye Sr., 69, over an unspecified "insurance matter," police said.

Lt. Bob Martin said when officers arrived at the two-story, Victorian house in the Wilshire area where Gaye lived with his parents, his father, a retired minister, was sitting on the front porch.

Hope For School Prayer?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court agreed today to decide whether the Constitution allows a "moment of silence" for quiet prayer or meditation in public classrooms.

The mere fact that the justices agreed to review the matter gave hope to school prayer advocates, who have been lobbying in Congress to make prayer a part of the school day.

Last month the Senate defeated a constitutional amendment to allow school prayer, despite efforts by President Reagan, who has put the issue near the top of his re-election agenda.

The administration urged the court to take up the question, arguing that "permitting children to maintain a moment of silence presents no threat" to the Constitution's bar against state aid to religion.

Man Shoots Wife, Self

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A man repeatedly shot and killed his estranged wife in a hallway at the Labor Department today and then turned the gun on himself, police and witnesses said.

Neither was immediately identified. "At approximately 9 a.m., the estranged husband entered the Labor Department building where he met his wife in a hallway on the 5th floor," police spokesman Jim Battle said.

"He shot her several times. She's dead. Then he turned the gun on himself. He's in very critical condition."

Paramedics took the man to a city hospital, but police refused to identify the facility. Battle said there were no other injuries and police did not describe the weapon used.

Millions In Cocaine Seized

MIAMI (UPI) — The U.S. Coast Guard stopped a Canadian-registered sailboat in the Windward Passage between Cuba and Haiti and seized $100 million worth of cocaine aboard, authorities said today.

The 2,200-pound seizure Sunday night marked the largest in maritime history and the third largest anywhere, said a Coast Guard spokesman in Miami.

Two people were arrested and were taken to Guantanamo Bay, Cuba.

Vegas Workers Strike

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — About 30,000 workers at three dozen gambling resorts went on strike early today, forcing three of the opulent shows on the famed Las Vegas "strip" to ring down the curtains early.

Shows at the Flamingo Hilton, Las Vegas Hilton and Desert Inn Hotels were halted by the walkout, which occurred minutes after the workers' contracts ended at midnight. The MGM Grand Hotel and 16 other hotels had cancelled late shows in anticipation of a strike or else had none booked.

Longwood Man Threatens Roommate With Gun

A Longwood man who allegedly threatened his roommate with a gun and was charged with aggravated assault, carrying a concealed weapon and possession of cocaine is being held in county jail in lieu of $5,000 bond.

A sheriff's deputy who responded to a disturbance call at 115 Holderness Trail, Longwood, at about 7 p.m. Sunday, reported that when he approached a man and two women who were in the front yard someone inside the house warned him that the man had a gun.

Deputy T.A. Brown reported that the man who allegedly had the gun refused his order to put his hands behind his head, but surrendered after the officer drew his own gun. Brown searched the suspect and reported finding a .25-caliber, automatic handgun with two live rounds in its clip in the man's pants pocket. A plastic container of cocaine was also reportedly found in his possession.

The suspect's roommate, Keith J. Brown, told investigators that after he ordered the suspect to move out, because he had not paid his rent, the man carried the gun with him as he packed and then went outside and pointed the pistol through a window at Brown, a report said.

Jeffrey Paul Adams, 25, was arrested at 7:48 p.m. Sunday. He is scheduled to appear in court at 1:30 p.m. today.

DRUG BUST

A hitchhiker who got a lift from a plainclothes Altamonte Springs police officer wound up in jail after he allegedly sold the officer a small foil packet of cocaine for $20.

The lawman picked the suspect up at about 1:30 a.m. Friday at the intersection of state Road 436 and Montgomery Road, Altamonte Springs. At the man's request, the officer drove to where his passenger's disabled car was stuck in a ditch on state Road 436 at Spring Oaks Boulevard so the man could remove some items from the car, a police report said.

When the man returned to the policeman's car, he allegedly offered to sell a packet of cocaine, which he produced from his shirt pocket. After the transaction was made, the man was arrested and charged with possession and sale of a controlled substance.

Edd Wiley Jr., 30, of Apopka, was arrested at 1:42 a.m. He is being held in lieu of $8,000.

THEFT ARRESTS

Two Altamonte Springs men charged with grand theft for allegedly stealing a boat, motor and other nautical items from the residence of David Lee Blackwelder, 622 Orange Drive, Altamonte Springs, on Feb. 29 are being held in lieu of $5,000 bond each.

The missing boat, valued at $2,975, was recovered at a construction site on Montgomery Road, Altamonte Springs, March 2, and Clearwater police recovered the $600 engine, which had been sold in that city for $600.

Joseph A. Iaformard, 19, and James G. Fisher, 19, both of 115 Oak St., were arrested at their home at 11:10 a.m. Thursday.

PLANTS STOLEN

Nearly $400 worth of plants were taken from a Sanford Industrial complex on Old Lake Mary Road.

John K. Spolski, 25, of Lake Mary, told police that someone took $397 worth of plants from an industrial complex owned by Design Structures Inc., of Lake Mary. Spolski, a supervisor for Design Structures, said the plants were probably taken between 5 p.m. Sunday and 7 p.m. Monday.

A total of 41 plants were removed from the complex.

NEW MOTORS TAKEN

Someone removed two motors from a boat at a Sanford residence.

Between 7 p.m. Tuesday and 9 a.m. Wednesday, someone removed a 4-horsepower trolling motor worth $150 and an outboard motor worth $1,200 from a boat in the yard of Ezra Turner, 62, of 911 S. Maple Ave.

Turner told police he had just purchased the motors.

CERTIFICATE TAKEN

Someone pried open the door of a Sanford man's pickup truck and removed a briefcase containing a $1,000 certificate of deposit.

Julian E. Whigham, 40, told police the theft occurred between 7 p.m. Wednesday and 7:30 a.m. Thursday. In addition to the certificate, also stolen was a bank savings book, a record book, change and assorted papers.

PICK UP BURGLARY

A Sanford private investigator reported someone took his .45 caliber automatic pistol from the glove compartment of his truck while it was parked at a dentist's office.

Wayne Albert Csisko, 43, told police that while his four-wheel drive truck was parked at the office of Dr. Andrew Greenberg, 819 E. 1st St., Monday between 1:13 and 2:20 p.m., someone entered the vehicle by opening the vent window on the passenger side and stole the gun and holster.

The gun was worth $360.15 and the holster $26.25, according to Csisko.

Thieves Make Off With Construction Materials

Almost $2,000 worth of copper wire and other electrical materials were stolen from a rest area west of state Road 434 on Interstate 4. A second rest stop victim reported the loss of $150 worth of electrical supplies and a $150 drill.

Walter Evans, of Groveland, told Seminole County sheriff's deputies that the $2,000 worth of supplies which belong to Sentry Electric, Orlando, were stolen between 3:35 p.m. Wednesday and 7:20 a.m. Thursday. The materials had been stored in a utility box and chained and padlocked to a tree near a restroom, a sheriff's report said.

In the other theft, the items were removed from a construction site trailer between 2 p.m. Wednesday and 12:17 a.m. Thursday. The rear door of the trailer had been forced open, according to a report by owner Robert J. Kozlik of Palm Bay.

A $300 television and a $600 cassette recorder with two speakers were taken by a thief who entered the home of Jeri Catherine Polverino, 25, of 116 Georgetown Drive, Casselberry, between March 21 and Friday.

William A. Tall, 52, of 2931 Summerfield Road, Winter Park, reported that his $4,000 boat was stolen from the parking lot of his apartment complex between Monday and Thursday.

Clothing valued at $800 and belonging to David Paul Burr, 26, of 246 Spanish Trace Apartments, Altamonte Springs, was stolen from two dryers in the laundry room of that apartment complex around 8:45 p.m. Thursday.

The rear bumper of Barbara C. Srak's 1979 Oldsmobile was stolen when the car was parked at Lake Howell High School, Casselberry. Ms. Srak, of 251 Fallen Palm Drive, Casselberry, reported that the $300 bumper was stolen Wednesday or Thursday.

Duarte First In Election Results

SAN SALVADOR. El Salvador (UPI) — Moderate Jose Napoleon Duarte won a plurality in last week's presidential election and will face his rightist opponent, Roberto d'Aubuisson, in a runoff, elections officials said.

After a week's delay in the vote count, the Central Election Commission released final official results

Sunday showing Christian Democrat Duarte first with 43.4 percent of the vote, d'Aubuisson second with 29.7 and conservative Francisco Jose Guerrero third with 19.3 percent.

The remainder of the votes were split between five minor parties.

Under Salvadoran law, a candidate must have more than 50 percent of the vote in order to win a presidential election. The second round of voting will probably be in late April or early May, officials said.

The March 25 elections were marred by confusion at polling stations over complex voting procedures and by guerrilla attacks that prevented nearly 30 percent of El Salvador's 1.8 million eligible voters from casting ballots.

New York Primary Battle Winds Down

(UPI) NEW YORK (UPI) — Making their pitches at churches, a toxic waste dump and jogging trails, the three Democratic presidential contenders are wooing voters on the eve of the New York primary, a showdown that has turned into a political brawl.

Today is the last full day for campaigning before balloting begins for the 252 national convention delegates at stake. Walter Mondale, Gary Hart and Jesse Jackson all had marathon campaign schedules aimed at luring undecided Democrats to their camps.

The latest ABC-Washington Post poll gave Mondale 41 percent support among New York Democrats likely to vote, against 30 percent for Hart and 22 percent for Jesse Jackson.

The poll was based on interviews with 326 people statewide, from Friday through Sunday evening, who said they are certain to vote and has a 6 percent margin of error.

In the crucial battle for convention delegates, the latest United Press International count gives Mondale 728 of the 1,967 delegates needed for nomination, while Hart has 440 and Jackson 101. There are 325 uncommitted.

Mondale and Hart slugged it out again during an hour-long televised debate that was broadcast Sunday in New York City, while Jackson testily objected to what he said were his rivals' attempts to exclude him.

Man Steps In Front Of Knife To Save Friend

MIAMI (UPI) — When Robert "Shorty" Henderson stepped in front of a knife that was being thrust at his friend Daniel Evans all he could think of was Evans' 4-month-old son.

Henderson, a 43-year-old black man, took the knife in the stomach to save the life of his 22-year-old white friend. He was in good condition Sunday night at Jackson Memorial Hospital with a punctured lung and a slashed liver.

The two construction workers have been friends for more than three years. They have worked together and played together.

Thursday they almost died together. They had just finished a roof repair job and were standing in the back of Evans' truck when a black woman and a baby came down the street. The trouble started when Evans spoke to the woman and her infant.

"The next thing you know, I walk in the yard and some guy comes up and says I was talking to a black woman," he said. "...His face looked like he just wanted to kill me."

The tall, strong, unidentified attacker stabbed Evans in the shoulder several times. Evans started to fall and the man struck him in the throat.

"I heard Danny say, 'Shorty, Shorty, He got a knife.' I went around the corner and I seen he'd stabbed Danny in the arm."

"I ran over to get in it too and I saw the knife coming but I couldn't grab his arm. I just dove between him and Danny. If he'd stabbed Danny he would have killed him. And Danny is a friend of mine. Is he a good enough friend to die for? Yes he is."

At Jackson Memorial, emergency room surgeons had to massage Henderson's lungs and heart to bring him back to life. He said he has no medical insurance and doctors have given no estimate on how long he will be hospitalized.

Evans required 250 stitches for wounds to his neck, shoulder and chest.

"When he saw that guy stabbing me and knew I was going to die he told me all he could see was my four-month-old son," Evans said, his voice cracking. "He said he couldn't let it happen. Not as much as he loved me."

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: A spring storm packing a foot and more of snow moved across the Rockies and Plains today. Snow changed to rain and severe thunderstorms on the storm's southern edge. The southern edge of the storm was expected to spread rain and thunderstorms from the Texas Panhandle to Missouri today, with snow farther north and west. Utility companies in New England estimated only 25,000 of the 1 million people left in the dark by last week's deadly blizzard still were without power today. In the desert Southwest, Phoenix, Ariz., observed its 87th straight day without rain Sunday. Another rainless day today would equal the record dry spells of 1917 and 1979. Massachusetts utilities hoped to restore power to all customers today.

Workers continued pumping 140,000 gallons of oil from the Greek freighter Eldia, which ran aground on the eastern shore of Cape Cod Thursday. The Coast Guard ordered the oil removed as an environmental precaution.

Man Guilty Of Shooting At Deputy

A Chuluota man has been found guilty in Seminole Circuit Court of shooting at a sheriff's deputy while the law officer pursued the vehicle in which he was riding.

Gerald Luther Edwards Sr., 39, of 361 4th St., was found guilty Friday after a two-day trial before Judge C. Vernon Mize Jr.

The three-woman, three-man jury found Edwards guilty of aggravated assault with a firearm and shooting at an occupied vehicle, second- and third-degree felonies respectively. He was acquitted on another charge, shooting at an occupied structure.

Edwards, according to court records, said that he is totally disabled and lives on $750 a month Social Security. He could receive up to 15 years in prison under state statutes, but new sentencing guidelines recommend 2 1/2 years.

Mize set May 10 for sentencing.

According to court records:

Shortly after 7 p.m. on Aug. 9, deputy Lyn Petta responded to a report of a fight in progress at the Handy Way convenience store on state Roads 46 and 426 in the Geneva area.

As Ms. Petta's patrol car approached the store, she saw a crowd of about 15 persons gathered in front of the store and in front of the Leisure Time Bar across the street.

As she pulled into the store's parking lot, a brown 1969 Ford van screeched away and headed south on SR 426. Ms. Petta gave chase with her car's flashing blue light and siren on.

While Ms. Petta pursued the van, Edwards leaned out of the passenger side of the van and fired one shot from a rifle at the officer. The van ran off the road at the intersection of Snowhill Road after sideswiping another vehicle.

The aging van then travelled across a sandy area and onto Snowhill Road where it turned south, then east onto Lake Mills Road. As the chase continued, one of the men in the van opened the van's rear door and threw a tire onto the patrol car.

Ms. Petta finally cornered the van on an access road between Third and Fourth streets in Chuluota where she was joined by a deputy sergeant.

After broadcasting their presence over a loud speaker, the deputies approached the van and arrested Edwards. A second man, William Gary Pendarvis, of the same address, was arrested for disorderly intoxication.

Disney Mass Transit Position Defended

ORLANDO (UPI) — An Orange County commissioner says Walt Disney World is at fault in the demise of a plan to pay for part of a mass transit system with private sector money but area businessmen say they wouldn't have supported the plan anyway.

Commission Chairman Lou Treadway said Disney should have been at the forefront of efforts to raise the money from hotels and other entertainment interests along the $886 million, 34.6-mile rail system's path. Disney instead adopted a neutral position.

"They've got to show some leadership," Treadway said. "In this case, I haven't seen any."

But hotel owners and other businessmen said their failure to support private sector funding for the system was based on sound business policy and not Disney's cool reception of the project.

"Disney is a corporation just like the rest of us," said James Brown, president of Orlando Central Park, which is along the proposed rail route.

"We may have gotten a little too excited and a little too dreamy," Brown said. "Maybe we got so excited about it, we wanted Disney to be a godfather to us."

The rail system would connect downtown Orlando, Disney and Orlando International Airport, carrying an estimated 78,500 people daily. Half of those people would be tourists, consultants said.

Treadway said the tourist industry showed a lack of vision in its failure to support the plan.

"Sometimes you take a risk. They took a risk when they went into business," he said. "This project is a risk. But it's a risk worth taking for the benefit of the community."

But industry leaders said it was never made clear how the $150 million to $250 million private sector investment required for the project would pay off.

"I think a lot of people looking at nose-diving occupancies are saying, 'Hey, why are we worried about crowds,'" hotel owner Jim Rosen said of claims the rail system is needed to cut down on traffic problems.

"No one was able to pinpoint what the benefits would be," Rosen said.

Israel Shells Suspected Valley Terrorist Bases

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Israeli gunners shelled suspected terrorist bases in Syrian-controlled eastern Lebanon, raising new tensions in the Bekaa Valley where Israeli and Syrian troops are dug into opposing lines.

The Israeli barrages Sunday were reported on several Lebanese radio stations and announced in Tel Aviv by an Israeli military command spokesman.

The spokesman said the shells were fired at "terrorist command posts that serve as staging areas and departure points" for guerrilla attacks on Israeli soldiers, 10,000 to 15,000 of whom occupy southern Lebanon.

He did not identify the terrorists, but the Israelis generally use the term in referring to Palestinian guerrillas.

Nazi Vets End Reunion

OBERAULA, West Germany (UPI) — About 300 veterans of Adolf Hitler's elite Waffen-SS quietly concluded an annual reunion that was held despite an international outcry and a demonstration by 5,000 protesters demanding a ban on such meetings.

The silver-haired veterans of the 3rd Totenkopf, or Death's Head, Waffen-SS Panzer Division concluded the weekend meeting Sunday in a small brick hall in Oberaula, a rural town 80 miles northeast of Frankfurt, West Germany.

Outside the building, town residents paid little attention to the dozen police on guard against potential trouble.

Hundreds of police backed by riot vehicles and water cannon were on hand Saturday when 5,000 protesters led by Nazi death camp survivors marched through the town wearing Star of David armbands and chanting "Nazis out."

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Record Number Of Manatees Killed This Year

FORT LAUDERDALE (UPI) — A record number of Florida's endangered manatees have been killed this year, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service reported.

Careless boaters and a bitterly cold winter took its toll on the flippers mammals. The winter manatee season, when speed laws are in effect for boaters in four south Florida sanctuaries, ended Saturday with 59 of the slow-moving sea cows killed in the state.

U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service statistics for 1984 through last Thursday show 13 manatees die in collisions with boats or barges, two were crushed in flood gates or locks, four were dependent calves whose mothers died, and 19 died of unknown causes.

The greatest number, 21 manatees, died of natural causes, mainly the cold, and mainly in the Jacksonville area.

School Support Growing

MIAMI (UPI) — Support for Florida's public schools is growing, with an overwhelming majority of voting-age residents saying they would pay more taxes to bolster education, a published report says.

A statewide poll last week of residents 18 and over by the Miami Herald showed support of public schools is growing compared to the results of a similar survey last year, the paper reported Sunday.

The newspaper found 48 percent rated Florida's public schools as "good to excellent," 33 percent rated them as "fair," six percent as "poor." A July 1983 survey found 32 percent rated the schools as "good to excellent," 31 percent "fair" and 23 percent "poor."

Lawmakers: Issues Important, But Dull

By Jon Peck

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The issues that will dominate the legislative session beginning Tuesday may not have much pizzazz, but lawmakers say they cover some of the most serious problems confronting a booming Florida.

The topics are important — the ever-increasing cost of health care, protecting the environment, planning for growth — but legislators know they aren't likely to rivet public attention.

"It's hard to get up a group to march on the Capitol on any of those issues," sighed Rep. Sam Bell, D-Ormond Beach.

"Those are unsexy," agreed Rep. Betty Easley, R-Largo. "You just have to sort of explain it as you go along."

According to legislative leaders, one thing is certain: 1984 will not be a year for tax increases.

Until last week, the specter of the revenue-limiting Amendment 1 hung over the approaching session. Despite the state Supreme Court decision striking the amendment from the ballot, lawmakers say the spending floodgates will remain bolted.

"This should be a no-tax year, whether Amendment 1 were going to be on the ballot or not," said House Appropriations Chairman Herb Morgan, D-Tallahassee.

Along those lines, legislators will have to figure out what to do with the unitary tax. Gov. Bob Graham is now willing to accept repeal of part of the corporate tax set-up, but business opposition could fuel a fight to repeal the entire $95 million tax package.

House Speaker Lee Moffitt anticipates much of this year's work will be a polishing job, refining the sweeping changes enacted last year in education, criminal justice and environmental protection.

But topping the priority lists of most government leaders is the search for a lid on the ever-increasing cost of health care. At least three plans are being considered in the House and Senate, all designed to give the state limited authority to limit hospital rate hikes.

Powerful, profitable hospital corporations are fighting anything that resembles rate-setting, but the cause has the influential backing of Graham, Insurance Commissioner Bill Gunter and key legislators.

With Florida expected to be the nation's third-largest state by 2000, lawmakers have been working for more than a year to come to grips with the problems associated with the boom, including a fragile water supply, inadequate schools and increasing crime.

A special House panel has been working on growth management issues since last session, and is expected to present bills regulating development along Florida's delicate coastal areas and creating a statewide tax on new growth to avoid further burdening existing residents.

Another committee is drafting protection measures for wetlands, the marshes that filter the state's drinking water supply and provide a habitat for fish and wildlife.

House leader Moffitt has filed a resolution that would put the Clean-Up '84 constitutional amendment on the ballot. That proposal would give all Floridians the right to sue in court to stop violations of environmental protection laws and to block harmful large developments.

In education, lawmakers and educators agree there are rough spots to be smoothed over in last year's first-in-the-nation merit pay plan for teachers.

Both Moffitt and Senate President Curtis Peterson, whose RAISE bill changed the direction of high school academics last year, have other pet school projects as well.

Peterson wants the school day lengthened by one period, and Graham's budget includes $36 million for an extended school day. Moffitt, however, tends to favor superintendents' recommendation to keep the school day at six periods, but make each period longer.

Moffitt also has taken up the cause of students in grades four through eight who were not affected by RAISE or by the early-grade improvements of several years ago. He says those middle years have been "neglected."

In the area of criminal justice, lawmakers will consider the Sentencing Guideline Commission's proposal to toughen recommended sentences for rape and child abuse.

Legislative budget-writers also will discuss additional funding for prosecutors and public defenders, to handle added caseload resulting from Florida's growing population.

Other proposals that figure to attract attention are bills to abolish all exemptions to the open-government "Sunshine" laws unless legislators find a good reason to restore them; to allow banking across state lines in the Southeast; to increase the drinking age; and to stop the spread of billboards along Florida's highways.

48 Wounded In Jerusalem; Three Terrorists Captured

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Terrorists fired a submachine gun and tossed grenades into Jerusalem's crowded main intersection today, wounding at least 48 people, police and witnesses said.

Police captured three suspected terrorists and searched for a fourth.

One of the gunmen was wounded seriously when an angry bystander snatched an M-16 rifle from a reserve Israeli soldier and shot the terrorist, a witness said. The witness said the soldier appeared to freeze when the shooting began.

The attack was the third serious terrorist incident in Jerusalem in four months.

At least 40 injured people were taken to hospitals, two in serious condition. At least eight were treated on the scene by mobile units, police said.

The Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine (PFLP), a radical splinter group of the Palestine Liberation Organization, claimed responsibility for today's attack.

Pinchas Stern, 65, owner of a camera shop, told United Press International that the attack began at 9:55 a.m. local time when a young man in a blue sweater pulled out a submachine gun and began firing at random into crowds on King George Street less than 20 yards from Jaffa Street, Jerusalem's main downtown intersection.

Across the street, another young man started throwing grenades, striking a bus and injuring passengers, Stern said.

Terrified people poured out of stores into the street, some shouting "Kill them, kill them," said Shoshana Cohen, 49.

"It's a miracle that no one was killed," Ms. Cohen said. "He shot like a wild man."

The attack occurred not far from a Feb. 28 bombing on Jaffa street, in which 21 people were wounded.

On Dec. 6, six people were killed when a bus was bombed on the western outskirts. The PLO claimed responsibility for that attack.

Archbishop Being Probed

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — American Archbishop Paul Marcinkus, president of the Vatican bank, denied today there was any irregularity in a loan for which he is reportedly being investigated on suspicion of embezzlement.

Asked in a telephone interview whether there was any wrongdoing in a $30 million loan to the Italmobiliare real estate company, the 62-year-old prelate said: "Absolutely none, absolutely none."

The burly archbishop from Cicero, Ill., declined to say whether he had received a judicial letter from Italian magistrates investigating the deal, as newspaper reports claimed.

"I don't know if I have or I haven't," Marcinkus said. "I don't know what's going on today in this country but as I understand it a juridical communique doesn't mean you are accused of anything."

building through the open door he discovered that the stand had been ransacked and water was flowing from damaged plumbing fixtures, his report said.

A tractor had been driven out of a nearby storage shed and light fixtures had been broken in that facility. Uniforms, balls and bats were scattered on a playing field.

Wilks, who heads the group that supervises 48 children's teams, said he couldn't understand who would vandalize the buildings, but Betty King of Sanford, the last employee to leave the fields at 9:30 p.m. Saturday, told investigators that at about 5:30 p.m. Saturday she had ordered two boys in their late teens to leave the areas. She said they had been drinking beer and using abusive language, according to the sheriff's report.

About 800 players, of all ages from Sanford, Lake Mary, Winter Springs, Casselberry and Longwood will be using the fields when the high school season ends next month. The delay of tonight's games effects the younger players who are 7 to 14 years old.

"We have clean-up crews who will work today and tonight and we'll be back in business for Tuesday's games," Wilks said.

Workers Rights In A 'Workers' State'

Freedom's Foundation
Features

The freedom of American workers to band together into labor unions, collectively bargain with their employer, and support their demands with strikes is an accepted part of our economic life. Although labor relations is fertile ground for raising differences of opinion, and management and labor are capable of memorable donnybrooks, few would advocate stripping American workers of their right to collective action.

Few, too, would ever confuse free trade unions with the pale imitations that exist in totalitarian communist states, but it is good to have an occasional reminder of the differences between workers rights in a capitalist economy and in a "workers state." Just such a reminder has recently been provided by the Organization of American States' report on human rights in Cuba.

A basic statement of labor rights would have to include three elements: the right to form or join unions of one's choosing; the right to collectively bargain with one's employer; and the right to withhold services, to strike, to press one's demands. How do Cuban workers score against this standard? 0 for 3, nada!

Despite stirring rhetoric and the usual communist blather about the workers paradise, Cubans are unable to exercise any of these basic freedoms enjoyed by their counterparts in capitalist countries. In fact, the Castro government has throughout its entire history denied unions their traditional role as protectors of worker interests, viewing them instead as agents of the state.

To begin, there is but a single union in Cuba, established by law and directed and guided by the Communist Party. Formation of any workers' groups outside of this single, vertically structured union is strictly prohibited. Constitutional guarantees of the right of assembly and "full freedom of speech and opinion, based on the unlimited right of initiative and criticism" are rendered functionally meaningless by a later section of the Cuban Constitution which states that these rights and, in fact, all other individual freedoms may not be exercised "contrary to the existence and objectives of the socialist state, or contrary to the decision of the Cuban people to build socialism and communism."

Cuban workers currently have no more right to collective bargaining than they have to free trade unions. Ironically, collective bargaining in Cuba was legally recognized in 1934 and constitutionally protected in 1940. However, under Castro, Cuba has moved from being one of the labor relations leaders among Latin American nations to one of the most oppressive.

The OAS report notes: "... In December, 1959, collective bargaining was temporarily suspended, but in practice was eliminated." Subsequent legal developments have served to further restrict collective bargaining and to reinforce "the power of the Ministry of Labor to directly and unilaterally regulate working conditions." The culmination of this change is that collective bargaining agreements are now viewed as "collective labor commitments" whereby workers agree to meet production goals established by the government.

It should come as no surprise that there is no right to strike in Cuba. Work stoppages are viewed as counter-revolutionary activities and punishable by dismissal or imprisonment. Erastwhile revolutionary Ernesto "Che" Guevara summed it up in 1961: "Cuban workers must become accustomed to living in a regime of collectivism and in no case may declare a strike." The Miami Herald on Aug. 23, 1982 quoted Antonio Villaverde, Director of the Cuban Chamber of Commerce, telling potential foreign investors, "there is no danger of strikes in Cuba" — a boast his capitalist counterparts can't make.

The OAS report concludes: "It is in the area of collective labor rights that the Commission finds the greatest contradiction between the system's ideological postulates and its operation in practice... The very function of unions has been distorted, and rather than protecting the concrete interests of workers they have become a channel to transmit government orders; the unions have thus become an instrument of control."

It could have concluded with a simple question: In whose name was the Cuban revolution fought?

BERRY'S WORLD

"He still hasn't gotten over being listed as 'non-essential personnel' at our embassy in Lebanon."

By Diane Petryk

It's just a start. But the National Toxicology Program provides a plan for the development of a systematic testing program that will someday begin to fill the huge gaps in our knowledge about chemicals, according to Florida Commissioner of Agriculture Doyle Conner.

Many of us are disturbed about threats to our external environment — air pollution, "acid rain", EDB. Yet millions pollute their internal bodies with chemicals potentially harmful to their health. Not just the ones associated with drug addiction like cocaine, heroin, or marijuana. Millions are hooked on the "legal drugs" of alcohol, nicotine and caffeine. Millions suffer "medicine chest addiction" as every year the U.S. population purchases $6 billion worth of over-the-counter drugs and $9 billion in prescription medication. Some drugs, obviously, save lives. Many more are used excessively and lead to chemical dependency.

Together, these external and internal chemical onslaughts seem overwhelming. Will we ever have enough knowledge to be sure what we are doing to the environment and our own bodies is right?

A report by the National Toxicology program says there are about 5 million chemicals in scientific literature. Thousands more are being introduced each month. A few are known to be hazardous. Many, in moderate quantities, are believed safe.

For the most part, according to Conner, there is not enough experimental data available to determine the severity of the risk of exposure to individual chemicals.

"While a great deal of attention is being paid to agricultural chemicals," he said, "there is a great deal less information available on the toxic nature of hundreds of chemicals used in industries, in foods as additives and cosmetic ingredients than there is about farm pesticides."

Should we be more apprehensive about traces of the pesticide ethylene dibromide found in Sanford's water supply or about the many things in our food, air, water, and physical environment that either haven't been discovered or haven't been studied?

Connor says complete health assessment is available for about 10 percent of food additives and 2 percent of cosmetic ingredients. Least is known about those chemicals used in commerce, even those produced in excess of a million pounds a year.

Do we throw up our hands in helplessness?

Connor indicates there's hope. Although the National Toxicology program, established in 1978 to develop a strategy for selecting and testing potentially toxic chemicals, has yet only outlined the awesome task ahead: determining which chemicals are hazardous and what degree of risk to humans they pose.

Do we take on the task?

Satisfying the need for toxicological information about the chemicals with which we come into daily contact is not going to be cheap, the agency says. Establishing the lifetime risk of exposure to just one chemical can cost up to $1 million.

Are we worth it?

JACK ANDERSON Vietnam A Slave To Russia

U.S. officials have received additional information on slave labor in the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe. The latest victims are Vietnamese workers.

An Internal State Department report quotes a document the British circulated at a NATO meeting that was attributed to "official communist sources." The document stated:

"We have evidence of bilateral agreements on labour cooperation signed by Vietnam and Czechoslovakia and with the USSR. There may be similar arrangements with other Eastern European nations."

The report estimates that 100,000 Vietnamese will work in the Soviet bloc nations through 1985 — 65,000 in the Soviet Union. Roughly one-third of the wages these workers earn reportedly go toward payment of Vietnam's debts to the Soviet-bloc nations. The Vietnamese work as slave-laborers for five or six years in construction, coal, chemical, power, engineering and textile industries to pay off the debt of their communist masters.

UNSAFE HOUSES: Recently I reported that the publicly funded U.S. Synthetic Fuels Corp. was using so-called "safe houses" to keep information away from the prying eyes of congressional investigators. Synfuels officials told Congress that the safe houses were used by contractors applying for federal assistance to store proprietary information, or trade secrets.

Besides, the Synfuels officials said, the Energy Department also uses safe houses.

But a recent Internal DOE memo suggests otherwise. It instructs DOE employees not to sign safe house agreements with companies doing business with the agency, because "these agreements are significantly more restrictive than normal government regulations regarding access to proprietary information."

EXECUTIVE MEMO: Fifteen officials of the Commodity Futures Trading Commission flew off to Boca Raton last month at taxpayers' expense for an industry conference. Chairman Susan Phillips, a featured speaker, stayed only one day. Five other agency officials were discussion panelists and remained for the full three days of the conference. The nine other officials didn't take part in any formal panels, but stayed for the full three days.

OUTSIDE CHANNELS: Dale Atkinson, a Navy enlisted man on leave between assignments in Okinawa and Pearl Harbor, was sent home with his family to Florida recently. The family's belongings went directly to Honolulu. But when Atkinson reported for duty at Pearl, he was told his wife and two young sons would not be following him. His tour, the Navy said, would be too short.

Atkinson's parents appealed to Sen. Lawton Chiles, D-Fla., who pulled his rank (Politician First Class). The Atkinson family was soon reunited in Hawaii.

Mondale's Dilemma

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Walter Mondale's resounding win in Illinois has reportedly resulted in something of a debate among his advisers about how to run the remainder of the campaign.

The Mondale campaign was originally designed for the quick kill. A year ago, the Mondale brain trust assumed, as did most of the national media, that the former vice president's chief rival would be Ohio Sen. John Glenn. So his staff considered early states to be critical. The reasoning was that if Mondale could win big, first in Iowa, then in New Hampshire, then on Super Tuesday and finally in Illinois, Glenn would be out of the running and it would be clear sailing to the convention.

Of course things have not exactly worked out that way. As the Mondale people hoped, Glenn has fallen by the wayside, but Gary Hart has replaced him as the chief rival. Mondale's quick kill is not to be. Meanwhile, that quick kill strategy has created some very real financial problems for Mondale. Federal election law limits spending by any presidential candidate to $20.2 million for the entire primary season. Hoping for those early victories the Mondale people spent lavishly in the early going, much too lavishly given the fact that they are now involved in a long race.

One source inside the Mondale camp estimates that by the time the New York primary is completed, Mondale will have spent $14 million. That means he will only have about $6.2 million left for the remainder of the primary season. Already Mondale has laid off 30 of the 80 members of his Washington campaign staff, and told the rest that there are likely to be some payless paydays ahead.

Hart, by contrast, had spent only $2.2 million through the end of February and will have spent less than $6 million through New York. Thus Hart will be able to outspend Mondale in the remaining primaries by a considerable amount, if — and it's a big if — the Hart campaign can raise the funds.

The debate going on within the Mondale camp centers around how to budget for the remainder of the campaign. That problem has been complicated by the Illinois result.

After Hart's showing in the New England primaries, the Mondale people resigned themselves to a fight to the end, the end being the California, New Jersey and West Virginia primaries on June 5. But after the results in Michigan and then in Illinois, some in the Mondale camp are having second thoughts.

As they view it, Hart was made almost overnight by the media and the media could break him just as easily. They reason that if Mondale can duplicate his Illinois victory in the next three major primaries — New York, Pennsylvania and then Texas on May 5 — the Hart boomlet could be dead and gone forever.

A close reading of the results in Illinois leads some in the Mondale camp to believe that Mondale has successfully blunted Hart's momentum. Hart's early victories came about through his appeal to so-called "yuppies", "young upwardly mobile professionals." These were voters who identified themselves as independents or even Republicans and who, for the most part, live in the suburbs ringing the major cities.

Hart played heavily to this voting bloc in Illinois. For example, he brought actor Robert Redford into campaign for him and appear at fund-raisers (nothing convinces a female yuppie to fork over $100 at a cocktail party more than the chance to shake Redford's hand).

Yet an examination of final vote totals shows that Mondale gained ground among those voters in Illinois. Hart won among voters under 30 but did not do as well with them as he had done in the early primaries. Among voters in the next age bracket, 30 to 45, which Hart had dominated previously, Mondale broke even this time.

Geographically, Mondale actually beat Hart 45-40 in suburban Cook County, and only lost DuPage County, the other major Chicago bedroom county, 51-40.

DON GRAFF Borrowing Gives U.S. The Blues

President Reagan speaks proudly of the way he has realigned the federal budget by boosting defense spending and slowing the growth of non-defense outlays. But he rarely mentions an equally dramatic change in spending patterns — the surge in the interest the government pays on the national debt. In the four years starting with fiscal 1981, when Mr. Reagan took office, interest payments on the debt rose 57 percent to $108.2 billion, outstripping even the growth rate for defense outlays.

I didn't write that, although I agree with every word. It appeared the other day on the front page of the Wall Street Journal, whose editorial page thumps the tub so enthusiastically for Reagan economic policies.

But then, the Journal's editorial writers apparently take pride in being impervious to the excellent reporting that appears elsewhere in the paper. In this case in a dispatch from Washington on the reasons for and consequences of the increasing cost of debt servicing.

Briefly, this is the horror story. Figures are the Journal's.

The national debt passed $1 trillion shortly after Ronald Reagan was inaugurated. (He wasn't responsible for that — his predecessors had been working on it for 200 years.)

If he is re-elected, it is projected to top $2 trillion by 1989 when he leaves office, even if efforts to lower annual budget deficits succeed. With continuing high interest rates, servicing the debt will require ever larger shares not only of the budget but also of the gross national product.

As the Congressional Budget Office calculates it, debt servicing by the end of the decade could be absorbing more than 4 percent of GNP, up from 3 percent this year and 2 percent in 1980, the last pre-Reagan year.

The total debt by then could be 50 percent of GNP — the equivalent of half of all the goods and services produced by all Americans during a year.

As the Reagan budget for fiscal 1985 itself notes: "Interest payments on the debt must be financed by either higher taxes or more borrowing, and more borrowing raises still further the amount of interest that must be paid in the future."

The extra tax money needed to service the debt won't be staying at home. Because the deficits of the last several years have been financed by foreign money, attracted by high U.S. interest rates, the debt is becoming to a very considerable extent foreign-held. Which means interest payments in increasingly large amounts will be going abroad.

The pressures by then are likely to be intense to "monetize" the debt, that is expand the money supply sufficiently to reduce the real value of the dollar and thus the debt.

In another word, inflation. That's how the Journal's man sees it. One group of economists, however, doesn't think we'll have to wait until the end of the decade to feel some inflationary effect of the federal government's way with money.

Who Needs Opinionated Computer?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The fifth generation of computers now on the drawing boards is reported to include some super-intelligent models that will be capable of "thinking."

Not only will these babies be wired to respond to oral commands, rather than just keyboard instructions, they also will be able to mull over problems until the data stored in their memory banks come through with "rational" solutions.

I don't know what sorts of problems the computer industry envisions solving. But since the Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency is interested in the concept, I assume the cogitation material will be fairly high-level stuff. In the beginning, at least.

Eventually, have no fear, the thinking capability will be offered on small home computers. What impact that might have on television commercials, I wouldn't even guess.

What I dread is the generation of home computers that will have the capacity for meddling as well as thinking.

It will be like having a live-in mother-in-law who never sleeps and is available for consultations at any hour of the day or night.

Available, did I say? Shucks, the computers I have in mind will be initiating consultations and volunteering solutions to all sorts of household problems, some of which haven't even arisen yet.

The capacity for anticipating problems before they occur will be the attribute that computer manufacturers will be pushing hardest in their advertising.

Then will come a revolutionary new generation of computers capable of creating problems in addition to anticipating them.

I mean, nobody is going to want to shell out that kind of dough for a computer that just sits around waiting for problems to arise.

Suppose, by way of illustration, that you have bought a new living room chair. Possibly you didn't anticipate any problems arising from the purchase, beyond figuring out some way to pay for it. Here is where the computer comes in.

Say you need a "rational" place to put the chair. Just feed the dimensions of the living room into your thinking computer, plus a schematic diagram showing the location of the rest of the furniture.

Pretty soon you will have a print-out or a multicolored graph on your television screen showing you exactly where the new chair belongs. One word of caution, however.

Thinking computers are said to depend on "human experience" for their reasoning ability. This means the recommended location of the new chair is the spot now occupied by a footstool.

To accommodate the chair, the computer-owner must move the footstool. Which will require rehandling all the pictures on the living room walls, dragging the sofa to the other side of the parlor and sliding the piano at least 20 feet.

Now the only problem is what to do with the footstool. Turn that one over to your computer, too. After all, that's what electronic superintelligence is for.

Parents Serve Kid's Sentence For Life

DEAR ABBY: Some time ago you devoted an entire column to the drug problem. I was so impressed I gave it to the principal of the Mason City (Fla.) high school, who in turn made copies and gave them to other school officials.

Please run it again, Abby. It's needed even more today.

R.H.H., MASON CITY

DEAR MR. H.: I agree. And here it is:

DEAR ABBY: Recently a 17-year-old Florida boy pleaded guilty to possessing hallucinogenic drugs. He also had been charged with violence toward a Miami Beach police officer.

Judge Alfonso Sepe sentenced the youth to one year in the county stockade and four years' probation. The comments of the judge so impressed me that I ordered the transcript from the court reporter so that I may read it to my own children.

widely read I am sending you the "lecture." Judge Sepe gave that boy in the presence of his grieving parents. Please publish it and give it the national forum it deserves.

MRS. A.L. CATES, MIAMI, FLA.

DEAR MRS. CATES: Rarely do I devote an entire column to one letter, but I agree, this is worth it.

Judge Sepe spoke directly to the youth and said, "Do you know who is going to serve that year? Not you; your mother and father will serve that year."

"That is what's wrong, they get sentenced. They get sentenced for a lifetime.

"You serve a year. Your body is in the stockade for a year, but their souls are tormented for a lifetime. Why? Because you are a selfish, spoiled boy, that's why."

"There is no punishment in the world that I could inflict upon you that could in any way compensate for what you are doing to your mother and father. I have not spent five cents raising you. I didn't know you from Adam. But your mother and father have put their lives, their hearts, their sweat, their money and everything else they have into bringing you up. And now they have to sit in this courtroom and listen to a total stranger who had nothing to do with your upbringing scold you and put you in jail.

Dear Abby

"This is at a time when phony kids your age are yelling, 'You adults have your alcohol, we want our drugs; you have polluted our water and our air, you have polluted this and that,' and all the rest of the garbage that comes out of your mouths. "Meanwhile you put yourselves above everybody else. I feel sorry for you."

"I want you to think of this for one year, and the reason why I say it: "If you are sick, a doctor will treat you and he won't be on drugs. The lawyer who represents you won't be high on drugs, and the people in whose custody you'll be won't be on drugs."

"Your astronauts are not on drugs, and your president is not, and your legislators are not. "And your engineers who build the bridges that you drive across and the tunnels that you drive through are not on drugs, and those who build the planes that you fly in and the cars that you drive are not.

"Neither are those who build the bathrooms that you stink up with your lousy, rotten drugs. "None of them have been on drugs, and this is because of people like your mother and father.

"But in the world of the future, the same may not be true. Teachers, doctors, lawyers, legislators — products of the new drug-oriented generation — may well be high as kites.

"You won't know whom you send your child to, or whom to trust your life to."

Sepe sighed and closed the case file. "Let's see what kind of world you leave to your children," he said, "before you talk about the world that we left to ours."

Foreign Student Speaks To Pilots

The Sanford Pilot Club held its dinner meeting at Buck's Restaurant with 18 Pilots and co-pilots and two guests from Seminole Community College attending.

In celebration of International Relations, two speakers enlightened the club members on foreign customs.

Dr. Ann Bachman, who teaches Russian, Spanish and English to foreign students, gave an interesting talk about her recent visit to Russia. She explained how friendly the people were and how they aimed to please.

Rustom Amarla, a student at SCC is originally from Qvetta, but lived in Bombay, India. Rusty, as he wishes to be called, talked about the people of India. They are very family oriented cousins, aunts and uncles all living in the same house together, he said.

Rusty stated that 75 percent of the people of India are educated, but so many are unable to find work they are qualified for.

Rusty hopes to major in telecommunication so that he may go home to help and instruct his people.

Rusty is a star in his own country as he has made several films.

Junior League Opens At Chase Park

Sanford Baseball

The two teams which battled for the Sanford Junior League crown in 1983 figure to be the leading contenders when the loop's 1984 season opens tonight at Randall Chase Park.

Knights of Columbus defeated Rotary for the title last year, winning the final two games of a three-game championship series.

Rotary opens the season today at 3 against Ball Motor Line, while Elks and Kiwanis tangle in the nightcap at 7:15 p.m. Knights of Columbus plays its first game Wednesday against Moose at 5 while Rotary goes up against Elks in Wednesday's second game.

League games are played at 5 and 7:15 on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

Knights of Columbus has a new coach this season, Sylvester "Slack" Franklin, who takes over for Alvis Whitted after several successful seasons at the helm of Poppa Jay's in the Sanford Little National League. But Franklin's work will cause him to miss the first few games and former Sunniland coach Rick Taylor will coach KOC in his absence.

The top draft choice this year for Knights of Columbus was Dwight Brinson, an all-star who played for Sunniland. Leading the returning players are Leonard Lucas, the most valuable player in last year's Junior League championship series and Todd Revels. Both were Junior League all-stars last year. Rotary drew the number one draft choice this year and coach Ed Korgan selected Jeff Blake, a lanky all-star catcher who played for Poppa Jay's last year. Leading the list of returnees for Rotary is Ron Blake. Jeff's uncle, who was an all-star last year. Other key returnees include pitcher Jason Harrington and hard-hitting infielder Johnny Wright.

Monse, coached by Bill Dube, picked up three Little National League all-stars in this year's draft. Tim Graham from Sunniland, Harry Chibberton from Poppa Jay's and Jimmy Murphy from First Federal. Leading returnees include Calvin Davis, Terrance Carr and John Lewis.

Bernard Mitchell, a Little American League all-star who played for Adcock Roofing, and Sammy Edwards, who played for Adcock Roofing before he left the Sanford program last year to play in Eustis, were the top draft choices for Kiwanis, coached by Pete Courlas. Reginald "Cheese" Bellamy and Willie Grayson are the top returnees for Kiwanis.

Ball Motor Line, coached by Earl Williams, picked up Little American League all-star hurler Ronald Cox in this year's draft while Elks, coached by Russ Frysinger, grabbed Tony Curry as its top choice.

Willie "Sugar Tex" McCloud, considered the top player in the Little Majors last year, didn't sign up or tryout for the Junior League.

White Sox, Orioles Highlight Majors

By United Press International
The rites of spring are over. It's time for the realities of the long season.

Can the Baltimore Orioles repeat as world champions? Will anyone seriously challenge the Chicago White Sox in the American League West? Will Yogi Berra finish the season as manager of the New York Yankees?

In the National League, the Cincinnati Reds, baseball's oldest franchise, will have the honor of opening the campaign by playing host to the New York Mets. Mario Soto will start for the Reds and Mike Torrez will pitch for the Mets.

There are three games scheduled in the American League. The world champion Baltimore Orioles will play host to the AL West champion Chicago White Sox, the Kansas City Royals entertain the Yankees and the California Angels play host to the Boston Red Sox.

In a conscientious effort to avoid as many April postponements as possible, the schedule makers have tried this year to take advantage of warm weather cities and those with domed stadiums. Therefore, the three teams with domed stadiums — Seattle and Minnesota in the AL and Houston in the NL — will play their first week of games at home as will the West Coast-based teams in Los Angeles, California, San Francisco, San Diego and Oakland.

On the other hand, the two Canadian cities, Toronto and Montreal, will not open their home seasons until the middle of the month.

'Old-Fashioned' Lady Hawks Outdistance Tribe

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

ORLANDO — To put it in the words of John Houseman (motion picture director and TV commercial star) the Lake Howell's Lady Silver Hawks, "do it the old-fashioned way, they earn it."

The Lady Hawks' track team doesn't come at you with blinding speed and it doesn't have a bonafide superstar who scores 20 or more points a meet. However, Lake Howell has a determined bunch of young athletes who are always striving to improve.

Lake Howell continued to make progress Saturday at Orlando Evans High as the Lady Hawks scored in 13 of 15 events and compiled 78 points to win the Lady Trojan Relays. Sanford's Lady Seminoles finished second with 70 points while Apopka was third at 57 and Lyman completed the Five Star Conference's dominance of the meet by finishing fourth with 48 points.

"We're not gifted with pure sprinters, but we scratch and claw for every point we get," Lake Howell coach Tom Hammontrree said. "I thought the meet would be between Evans and Sanford and I thought we'd do well in the distance events. But, we scored in 13 of 15 events. I was really pleased with the team, we have a lot of young kids who did a very good job."

Lake Howell got off to a good start in the field events as Christy Scott, one of only a few seniors on the team, was second in the shot put at 36-7/8 and won the discus at 111-6. Sophomore Cheryl Brinkley cleared 5-0 to finish second in the high jump and freshman Kim Hammontrree was sixth at 4-10.

Lake Howell's strength in the distance events enabled them to win two relays. The team of sophomore Amy Ertel and freshmen, Lisa Samocki, Martha Fonseca and Mary Fonseca won the 4 mile relay with a school record time of 22:38.8. The Lady Hawks also picked up a first place in the two mile relay as the team of Nancy Nystrom (a junior), Debbie VanOrden (also a junior), Martha Fonseca and Samocki recorded a time of 10:23.1.

While they finished first in just two events, the Lady Hawks were among the contenders in nearly every relay event. Lake Howell picked up third place in five events, fourth in one event and fifth in two.

The Lady Hawks finished third in the 990 yard hurdles relay as the team of Rochelle Spearman (a junior), Brinkley and Mindy Kim (a freshman) ran a school record 2:34.1. Lake Howell was also third in the mile medley as the team of freshman Emily Faulkner, senior Kim McCollum, freshman Diane DiMauro and VanOrden came through with a 4:46.2.

A team composed of three sophomores, Lara Ruddy, Kellee Johnson and Brinkley and a freshman, Laura Niedzwiecki finished third in the 880 medley relay with a time of 2:06.5 which is a new freshman-sophomore school record. The distance medley team also set a new school record as freshman Rachelle Barnes, senior Cathy Saunders along with Mary Fonseca and Ertel turned in a 13:31.5. The mile relay team of Michelle Spearman (a junior), Hammontrree, Monica Osgood (a senior) and Saunders was third at 4:28.4.

Lake Howell's fourth place finish came in the 440 relay where the team of Michelle Spearman, Lisa Cobert (a sophomore), Hammontrree and Rochelle Spearman recorded a time of 51.3. Fifth place finishes came from the sprint medley team of sophomores Julie Forrest, Jolee Johnson and Megan Lane and junior Lynn Lucas which finished with a time of 2:41.8 and the 880 relay team of Michelle Spearman, Monica Osgood, Hammontrree and Rochelle Spearman which turned in a time of 1:49.1.

Seminole, meanwhile, had first-place finishes in the mile medley relay and mile relay. Sharon Jenkins, Crystal Caldwell, Katrina Walker and Glenda Bass cruised to a 4:18.3 clocking to win the medley.

The quartet of Jenkins, Caldwell, Walker and Bass also took the mile relay in 4:03.4.

Rose Will Push Expos To First; L.A. In West

If the Montreal Expos can't win the National League pennant with the collection of stars they've had the past five years, what makes you think they can do it with this year's version?

But the Expos will finally win the East Division and the pennant.

Why? Well, Pete Rose, of course. "Charlie Hustle" will be 43 on April 14, but he'll be buried in his baseball uniform somewhere near home plate when he finally hangs up his spikes for the final time. All this guy ever wants to do is play baseball — and he plays it with enthusiasm, something the Expos lack.

Despite his age and diminishing skills, Rose might have one last championship left. He's been in six World Series during his career with Cincinnati and Philadelphia and if winning is contagious, the Expos will play in their first October classic.

Not that the Expos need Rose to do that much with his bat. If he gets two-thirds of the 202 hits needed to break Ty Cobb's record, Montreal will be very happy with his contributions.

And if he doesn't produce? "If I'm sitting on the bench here," said Rose. "Then, Montreal must have a pretty damn good starting eight players."

Sounds like a "No-Lose Situation."

Look for Pittsburgh, St. Louis, New York, Philadelphia and Chicago to finish next in line.

In the West Division, the Los Angeles Dodgers will put it all together to take care of the Atlanta Braves. Second-year men Mike Marshall and Greg Brock will live up to expectations this year and the Dodgers still have the best starting pitching in the league.

The Braves will give them a run, but pitching will hurt the Braves. Although the relievers (Bedrosian, Forster and Garver) are solid, the starters are suspect. Pascual Perez, though, will pitch this year. I don't know if he'll be wearing the Brave blue or the prison grey, however. Bob Horner will also get hurt...again. He hasn't played a full season yet.

Look for Houston, San Diego (a year away), San Francisco and Cincinnati to follow in that order.

In the American League, anybody could pick the A.L. West. The Chicago White Sox were 20 games better than anybody last year. Add veteran Tom Seaver which moves talented Britt Burns to the bullpen and you've solved Chicago's only weakness.

Oakland may get within 20 this year. Steve Boros has an imagination and he's added a few names (Joe Morgan, Dave Kingman and Bill Caudill) which could make a difference.

California, Texas, Kansas City, Seattle and Minnesota will complete the standings.

In the A.L. East, easily the class of baseball, Baltimore will be tough to keep from repeating. The World Champions (it's finally nice for an American League fan to be able to say that) have added Wayne Gross to platoon with their only weak link (Todd Cruz) at third base. The pitching is superb as usual.

The Detroit Tigers could be right on their heels, though.

New York, Toronto, Milwaukee, Boston and Cleveland will round out the division.

Seminole Boys Fall Just Short In Relays

GAINESVILLE — Pleased, but disappointed.

That's how Seminole boys' track coach Ken Brauman summed up his team's performance at the Gator Relays Saturday.

The Tribe's sprinters turned in some excellent efforts, but fell just short in two events. Those were the pleasing moments. Standout hurdler Franklin Barnett false-started in the preliminary round of the high hurdles and was disqualified.

Barnett's state rival — Arthur Blake from Haines City — had a spectacular day Saturday by winning the hurdles in 13.47, the sixth-best time ever run. Barnett had run the nation's best of 13.5 before Blake's time. Blake also won the 100-meter dash in 10.83, Seminole sophomore Louis Brown was fifth in the 100 meters in 11.1.

In the mile and 880 relays, the Seminole just missed bring home the top prize. Jacksonville Raines nipped the 'Noles by two-hundredths of a second in the mile relay. The foursome of Louis Brown (50.3 440 split), Eric Martin (50.6), Deron Thompson (49.5) and Cliff Campbell (47.4) turned in a 3:17.33 clocking compared to Raines' time of 3:17.31.

Prep Track

"We ran an excellent race," said Brauman. "Cliff (Campbell) couldn't quite catch the Raines anchorman at the end. Another four feet and we would have won the race."

Last week, the same Raines quartet tipped the Seminole by a one second. "We're pleased because we've been consistent," said Brauman. "Just two-hundredths of a second. We're getting closer."

While the mile relay team was just edged, the 880 relay unit came almost as close to a first place. The foursome of Thompson (21.9), Barnett (22.0), Brown (22.0) and Campbell (22.0) finished three-hundredths of a second behind Government High of the Nassau of the Bahamas. Seminole ran 1:27.91 to Government's 1:27.88.

A mix-up on an exchange point hurt Seminole in this one. "It was a very close race again," said Brauman. "We thought we had it won but Cliff (Campbell) was told to line up on the wrong exchange mark."

"When he realized the mistake, he had to run back to the proper mark. The exchange suffered because of this and it was just enough to cost us the race."

Lake Howell's Ken Cheeseman came away with first place in both the mile and two mile Saturday in the Florida Relays at the University of Florida.

Cheeseman ran a season's best of 9:08.05 to win the two mile and he recorded a 4:14.65 to win the mile.

Lake Mary's Pat Murray came away with the only top six place for the Rams as he was third in the long jump at 21-11 1/2.

The spotlight shines on the freshmen and sophomore performers Tuesday when the Seminole County Freshmen-Sophomore Championships gets underway at Seminole High at 3 p.m.

The Seminole boys are expected to run away with their portion of the meet while the girls' portion should be hotly contested among three schools. Lake Howell (77), Lyman (78) and Lake Mary (72) were the top three finishers in the Five Star Conference Freshmen-Sophomore Championships while the Seminole boys topped runner-up Lake Brantley by 100 points.

Lady Hawks Avenge Only Losses, Win Warrior Invitational

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

WINTER GARDEN — Lake Howell's Lady Silver Hawks literally tore the cover off the ball Saturday as they collected a season-high 22 hits and rolled to a 10-1 rout of Apopka in the championship game of the Lady Warrior Invitational softball tournament at the West Orange Girls Club.

The Lady Hawks avenged both of its previous losses of the season in the tournament as they hammered Lake Mary, 12-0, and got by DeLand, 3-1. Lake Howell beat Orlando Oak Ridge, 4-3, in the semifinals to advance to the final against Apopka which beat Lake Mary, 3-1, and West Orange, 8-2, to reach the final.

After two scoreless innings in the championship, Lake Howell erupted for four runs on six hits in the top of the third. Sandy Gillies led off the inning with a triple and Mary Johnson reached on a fielder's choice. Eileen Thiebauth followed with a sacrifice fly to drive in Gillies and Johnson scored on Ava Gardner's single.

Grace Ley and Barbara Helm then hit back-to-back singles and Apopka intentionally walked Mary Meier to load the bases. Beth Saunders then drilled a RBI single and Cherie Green did the same to give Lake Howell a 4-0 lead.

The Lady Hawks made it 6-0 with two runs in the top of the fourth. Gillies led off with a single, Johnson followed with a single and Thiebauth then ripped a single to drive in Gillies. Johnson scored as Ley hit into a fielder's choice.

Apopka scored once in the bottom of the fifth but Lake Howell added two runs in both the sixth and seventh innings to take a 10-1 lead. In the sixth, Thiebauth and Gardner hit back-to-back singles and Thiebauth came around to score on Meier's single while Gardner scored on a single off the bat of Green.

In the seventh, Gillies led off with a hit for the third time in the game and Johnson followed with her third hit. Gillies came around on a sacrifice fly by Thiebauth, her third RBI of the game and Johnson scored on Gardner's sacrifice fly.

While the Lady Hawks belted out 22 hits in the game, hard-hitting Apopka managed only five hits.

Lake Howell opened the tourney with a 12-0 rout of Lake Mary's Lady Rams as the Rams had only four hits and committed an uncharacteristic 12 errors. On the other hand, Lake Howell's bats were sizzling as the Lady Hawks collected 14 hits.

Prep Softball

"We turned the tables on them (Lake Mary)," Lake Howell coach Jo Luciano said. "We were really up for the game and could sense it (victory) coming." The last time the two teams met, Lake Mary snapped Lake Howell's seven-game winning streak with a 11-2 rout.

Lake Howell came out blazing as it scored five runs on three hits in the top of the first inning. With one out, Gillies reached on an error and Johnson followed with a single. Thiebauth, one of the hottest hitters in the county the past few weeks, followed with a RBI single, scoring Gillies. Johnson came around on Ley's RBI groundout to make it 2-0.

Thiebauth scored the third run as Meier reached on an error and both Helm and Green reached on Lake Mary miscues to load the bases. Tami Hankins then stepped up and clubbed a single to drive in both Helm and Meier for a 5-0 Lake Howell lead.

Lake Howell added single runs in the third and fifth innings to build a 7-0 lead. In the third, Helm reached on an error and scored on Erin Hankins' single. In the fifth, Tami Hankins reached on a fielder's choice and scored on an error after Jaudon Jonas singled up the middle.

The Lady Hawks continued to pull away as they scored two more runs in the sixth. Gillies led off with a single and score when Helm hit into a fielder's choice and Thiebauth, who had singled, scored on a sacrifice fly by Green.

Lake Howell added three runs in the top of the seventh to make it 12-0. Jonas reached on an error. Erin Hankins singled and Thiebauth cleaned house as she drilled a three-run homer to right field, her third homer of the season.

While Lake Howell swept through the tournament without a loss, Seminole County's other two entries, Lake Mary and Oviedo, didn't make it quite as far. After the 12-0 loss to Lake Howell, the Lady Rams were upended by DeLand, 3-1 and lost to Apopka by the same score. Oviedo lost its opener to Oak Ridge, then defeated St. Cloud, 5-4, but was drilled by West Orange, 15-0.

Erin Hankins drills a single for Lake Howell. The Lady Hawks captured the Lady Warrior Invitational Saturday.

Couples Gains Wife's Faith With TPC Title

POINTE VEDRA (UPI) — Deborah Couples may have more faith now in her husband's golf game.

Fred Couples asked her to come from California to watch him play this past week in the prestigious Tournament Players Championship. At first, she turned him down — with good reason.

"My wife told me she'd see me Friday night because I'd probably miss the cut," said Couples, who had in fact missed the cut in his two previous appearances in the TPC.

"She has faith in my game," Couples explained, "but just not here." The 24-year-old former University of Houston All-American, now in his fourth year on the PGA Tour, avoided the cut by shooting a course record 8-under-par 64 in Friday's second round.

And Deborah led the cheers Sunday when he beat Lee Trevino by a stroke to win the tour-record $144,000 first prize in the $800,000 event.

Couples, now this year's No. 1 money winner with $219,483 in the first three months, started the final round with a two-stroke lead over Spain's Seve Ballesteros, who will be defending his second Masters title next week in Augusta, Ga. Tom Watson, another two-time Masters champ, was three back.

But he played the first 12 holes of the tough Tournament Players Club course in 3-under and was sitting on a three-stroke lead over Trevino and out of sight of anyone else with six holes to play.

However, he bogeyed No. 14, missed birdie putts at the next three holes and then three-putted No. 18 for another bogey to wind up at 1-under 71 for the round and 11-under 277 for the tournament.

Trevino, 44-year-old former TPC champ (1980) playing in only his fourth tournament of the year because of a bad back, birdied No. 16.

1 Previous Loser Will Win Tonight

SEATTLE (UPI) — Georgetown coach John Thompson and his NCAA final counterpart, Houston's Guy V. Lewis, both know what it's like to sit and watch a NCAA title slip away in the last seconds.

Last year, Lewis' Cougars had a NCAA title taken away in the final seconds when North Carolina State's Lorenzo Charles tipped in a shot at the buzzer to give the Wolfpack a 54-52 triumph.

Two years ago, Thompson's Hoyas turned the ball over on an errant pass in the final seconds, allowing North Carolina to escape with a 63-62 title triumph.

Tonight, one of the two men will know the feeling of losing in the finals once again. The other will come away a winner for the first time. The game will be telecast on Orlando's WCPX-TV, channel 6 at 9 p.m.

"We both know what it like to lose a NCAA title," Thompson said when asked to compare the two teams.

Georgetown enters the title game with the playing status of guard Gene Smith in doubt. Smith strained his arch in the team's 53-40 victory over Kentucky in Saturday's semifinal and was hobbling around on crutches on Sunday.

"Gene told me he was going to be able to play," Thompson said. "But we are not going to have him practice today (Sunday) and really will not know his status until tomorrow."

If Smith can't play it will be a severe blow for the Hoyas since he is one of their pacesetters.

"Gene certainly is one of the keys to our team," Thompson said. "He created our tempo on Saturday against Kentucky and I think it's going to be important for him to do that against Houston."

The Hoyas have an advantage at the guard slot in the fact that they are very deep and possess much more quickness at that position. The Cougars rely on Reid Gettys and Alvin Franklin at guard. It is doubtful whether Gettys can match the speed of the Georgetown guards on defense.

Lewis said he as aware of the fact that Gettys is a step slower than the Hoyas but added "he'll play."

The key for Houston could be reserve guard-forward Benny Anders, who scored 10 points in last year's finals. Although Anders did not see any action against Virginia in the semifinal, Lewis said he would play on Monday night.

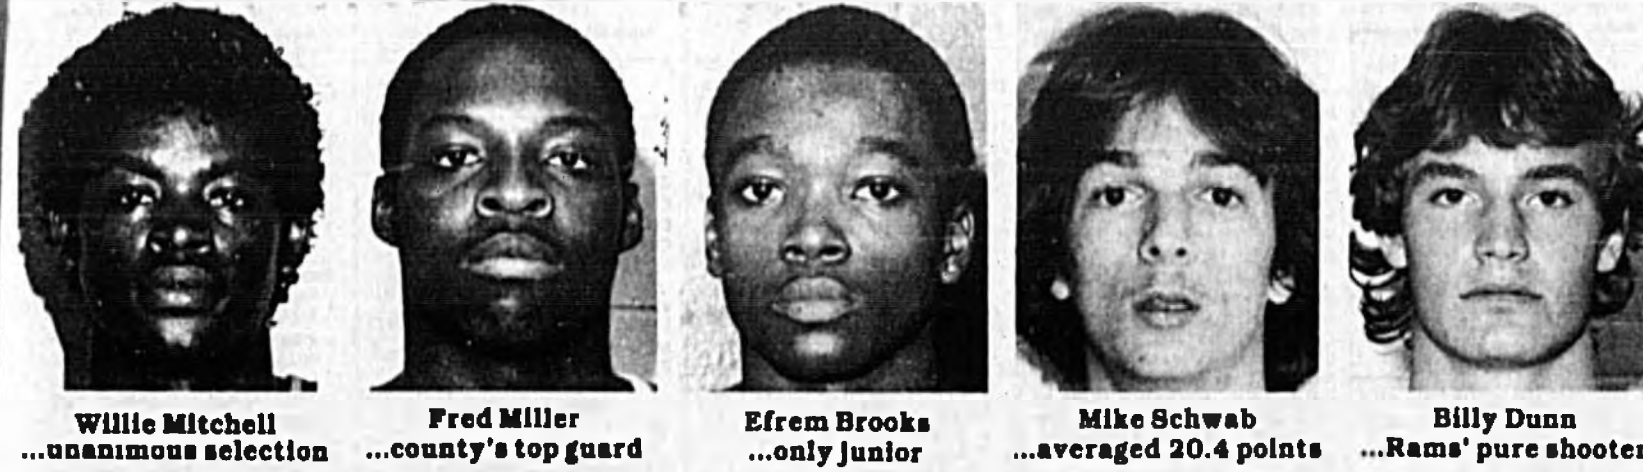

In the middle, both teams possess one of the best big men in the game in the Cougars' Akeem Olatujun and Georgetown's Patrick Ewing.

Lewis says that Olatujun is the center of his offense and it will be up to Georgetown to stop him. The Hoyas proved Saturday they could stop not one but two big men as they held Kentucky's Sam Bowie to just 10 points and Melvin Turpin to 5.

Both Ewing and Olatujun said Sunday they were excited about playing against each other. Given their strengths and weaknesses, they will probably neutralize each other in Monday night's finals.

That leaves the real battle underneath between the forwards.

Both Houston and Georgetown possess a gifted freshman power forward. The Hoyas have David Graham, who came off the bench and scored 8 points and took down 6 rebounds against Kentucky. The Cougars start Rickie Winslow, only the third freshman ever to start for Houston. Winslow set a first year record this season for dunks with 56.

Willie Mitchell ... unanimous selection; Fred Miller ... county's top guard; Efreem Brooks ... only junior; Mike Schwab ... averaged 20.4 points; Billy Dunn ... Rams' pure shooter

Mitchell Unanimous For Player Of Year

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Willie Mitchell, a three-year starter for Sanford's Fighting Seminoles, was a unanimous first-team all-county basketball choice by the Seminole County coaches and Evening Herald sports writers as the Seminole County Player of the Year.

The 6-3 senior was ranked as the top player on all eight ballots, giving him a unanimous 80 points. He was joined on the first team by Lake Mary's Fred Miller with 69 points, Lake Howell's Efreem Brooks with 53 points, Oviedo's Mike Schwab with 52 points and Lake Mary's Billy Dunn with 47 points.

Mitchell averaged 17 points and eight rebounds per game while leading the Seminoles to the district championship and a berth in the regional where they lost to Orlando Evans. Despite his lack of height as an inside player, Mitchell used a quick turnaround jumper to cut many of his taller foes down to size. His excellent hands and good positioning led to may buckets inside the paint.

Miller, also a senior, became the Rams leader this year. He ran the point guard position well and earned the nickname "Slama Jama" for his breakaway dunks. He averaged 15 points and handed out four assists per game.

Brooks, the only junior on the squad, had several 30-point plus games for the Silver Hawks. A jet-like guard, the 5-8 Brooks was a sharp passer, a good driver and a solid defensive player.

Schwab, a 6-6 senior, led the county in scoring with 20.4 points per game and pulled down seven rebounds an outing for the Lions. "We lost most of our scoring punch when Ronnie Murphy graduated," said coach Dale

Phillips. "But Mike came through and put the points on the board."

Dunn, a 6-3 senior, was the best pure shooter and top free-throw shooter in the county. He averaged 14 points per game and was deadly from the wings for Lake Mary. He teamed with Miller to give the Rams the most potent backcourt in the county.

Dunn nosed out Seminole's high-leaping center Jimmy Gilchrist by five votes for the final spot on the first team. Gilchrist, a 6-4 senior, led a second team comprised of Seminole teammates 6-2 junior James Rouse and 5-8 senior Bruce Franklin. Rouse was a deadly outside shooter who excelled for the Tribe in its big games while Franklin led the county in assists with eight per game.

Lake Mary junior Darryl Merthie (14 points per game) and Lake Brantley senior Eric Trombo (13 points per game) completed the second unit.

Four juniors — Seminole's Kenny Gordon, Lyman's Reggie Douglas, Lake Brantley's Austin Hodges and Lake Mary's Donald Grayson — joined Oviedo 6-5 senior Darrin Reichle on the third team.

Players received 10 points for a first-place vote, nine points for second, eight points for third, etc. All county coaches completed ballots.

In the Burger King All-County selections last week, Seminole High made a clean sweep of the yearly honors.

Willie Mitchell and Dieldre Hillery were selected as Players of the Year while Seminole girls coach Ron Merthie and Seminole boys coach Chris Marlette were voted the boys' Coaches of the Year.

The county coaches and the Burger King Selection Committee formed the voting panel.

Young's Passing Promotes Optimism Despite Loss

United Press International

On a day when one millionaire made his USFL debut and gave his team a reason for optimism, two others suffered injuries that have dampened their clubs' immediate futures.

The Michigan Panthers lost wide receiver Anthony Carter with a broken arm during a 26-10 win over San Antonio. New Jersey Generals running back Herschel Walker severely bruised his left shoulder in the fourth quarter of their 26-10 triumph over Los Angeles, which marked the pro debut of Express quarterback Steve Young.

Carter is expected to be sidelined at least six weeks. He suffered the break in his left arm when he landed on it after making a leaping sideline catch for a 22-yard gain to the Gunslingers' 26. It was his third catch of the game and his 30th of the season.

"It's a great loss to us, but the train has to keep moving," Panthers Coach Jim Stanley said. "Nobody can replace what Anthony means to this team, but we have people like Walter Broughton and Frank McClain who want to show what they can do."

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Unless It Hurts, Go On Exercising

DEAR DR. LAMB — I'm a 65-year-old woman in fairly good health. I exercise for about 15 minutes every day, including leg-lifts, jumping jacks, sit-ups and jumping rope. I also try to walk and ride my bike, weather permitting.

I have some joint pains in my hips, knees and fingers, but only temporarily. The weather seems to affect them. After reading your comments on osteoarthritis, I'm wondering whether I should discontinue the exercises and just stay with walking and bike riding? You said some exercises could affect the weight-bearing joints.

DEAR READER — Unless your exercises are causing you pain, don't be too concerned about them. But people should be careful about strenuous or endurance exercises. From your comments it sounds like you don't overdo it, although the jarring exercises such as jumping rope might cause you problems.

Running or a lot of walking on hard surfaces might not be so good. If one does this, shoes are very important because they provide cushioning.

Your list of exercises should include some stretching exercises. These become more important as you get older. You should stretch before and after exercise.

A person who has disabling arthritis — pain or difficulty in movement — should limit his or her exercise to maintain muscle strength and flexibility. Additional exercise aggravates the condition. The pain in osteoarthritis often will stop if the involved joint is rested.

To give you more information on osteoarthritis, I'm sending you the Health Letter 20-2, Osteoarthritis: Degenerative Joint Disease.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I'm a 33-year-old woman. My problem is that whenever I'm exposed to cold weather my fingers turn waxy white. When I get back indoors and warm up, my fingers then turn bright red and hurt. I've been told I have Reynaud's disease. What is this and what can I do about it?

DEAR READER — It's what doctors call a vasospastic disorder, meaning that the blood vessels constrict. That's what causes the waxy white appearance. There's usually a rebound reaction when your hands warm up, where the vessels dilate and cause your hands to turn red and become painful.

In some individuals this indicates an underlying abnormality such as rheumatoid arthritis. In many others no underlying disorders can be found.

You should avoid the cold if at all possible. That doesn't mean keeping only your hands warm, it means keeping your whole body warm. And anyone with such a complaint shouldn't smoke at all. Stress also seems to be a factor in precipitating some attacks.

You should have a complete medical evaluation to be sure you don't have an underlying medical problem that needs treatment. Your doctor may want to give you some vasodilator medicine. There are several of these, but the new calcium channel blockers, specifically Procardia, have been reported to be effective in some cases.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY

APRIL 3, 1984

Your possibilities for a rise in status are stronger this coming year than they have been for quite some time. You'll devise ways to realize your ambitions and hopes.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Financial matters could be tricky again today. Personal situations should turn out to be fortunate, but this might not be true when others are involved. Major changes are in store for Aries in the coming year. Send for your year-ahead predictions today, Mail 81 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Persons with whom you associate today might not adhere to the standards you establish. Bring them up to your level. Don't retreat to theirs.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your greatest benefits today are likely to be derived from joint ventures. However, you must pull your own weight; don't leave everything up to others.

CANCER (June 21-July 21) Look upon life as if it were a game today. You could be exceptionally fortunate in situations where you don't allow yourself to get uptight.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Conditions are a trifle unusual today in that a difficult project will prove easy, while something you thought to be a snap may develop complications.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) In competitive social sports today, play to win — but if you should lose, do so with grace and charm. A game is just a game.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) An opportunity may arise today to give you a chance to rid yourself of an obligation you have to another. Don't let it go by the boards.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Usually you have adequate self-confidence, but today you might experience unwarranted anxieties as to how you'll be accepted by others.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Do not worry about things today that may never happen, especially regarding your material needs. Luck will get you over the rough spots.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Try to excuse yourself from social involvements today that you know will be replete with stodgy, negative types. Associate with the hopeful and optimistic.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Unless you are strongly motivated today, you're not likely to get into high gear. This may cause you to leave undone things you should do.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Your optimism regarding a current project is justified. Don't let pessimists away you to their way of thinking.

In the modernist's bible...

Jim: "Let's start with a simple hand. West is on lead against a three no-trump contract and opens his fourth-best spade. Old-fashioned, but effective. Dummy ducks, and East wins with his king and returns the six. South takes dummy's ace and leads the queen of diamonds for a finesse. It loses to West's king. West takes his two winning spades but now has a lead problem. He must find a trick in partner's hand."

Oswald: "It is easy for him since East has played the eight of clubs on West's last spade. That eight-spot has to be a high club. Since East is using the simple signal of high for strength and low for weakness, West plays a club. East takes the ace, and three no-trump has been 'Spurio versenkt,' to use a phrase from World War I."

Jim: "This is a simple hand, and undoubtedly modernists would also beat that three no-trump contract."
