

University Modifies Cheating Penalties; Honor Court Resigns

GAINESVILLE (AP)—Two members of the University of Florida's Honor Court which resigned Sunday night said today that President J. Hillis Miller had destroyed the effectiveness of the university's honor system. Chancellor of the Court John Trinkle and Clerk Fred Jones said that Miller "has removed all our constitutional rights by setting up a policy that cannot suspend a student in the recent cheating investigations."

GAINESVILLE (AP)—The University of Florida's 13 member student Honor Court resigned in a body Sunday night because the school's administration modified some of the penalties handed down in recent cheating investigations. Honor Court Chancellor John Trinkle said some of the sentences were modified by a faculty committee and others by University President J. Hillis Miller.

Trinkle said at the time of the investigations last February that some 200 students, including a few football players, were involved in the investigations. Florida's enrollment is 8,000. The cheating reportedly involved the selling of keys to machine graded examinations.

The resignation of the Honor Court—first announced by Paul Horton, editor of the Florida Aligator, official student newspaper at the university—was dated to take effect May 1. A new Honor Court was slated to take effect May 1. A new Honor Court elected last week will take office May 6.

In a long statement "to the student of the University of Florida," Trinkle, a law student from Plant City, and Honor Court Clerk Fred Jones said of the resignations: "We take this action as a means of information to the students of the supererogation of the activities of the student Honor Court by the university administration."

The statement said an "atmosphere of personal integrity and freedom, achieved through the individual and collective responsibility of all Florida students... can not exist where the penalties levied by your student court are modified and reversed, though gullible is conceded in practically every instance by the accused person and the administration; where such penalties are reduced without regard to justice to those similarly involved who did not appeal, though all were penalized in strict accordance with the extent of their guilt by the Honor Court; where the schedule of penalties provided for in the student body constitution is completely disregarded on review, though the Honor Court has levied instant penalties; where the university administration has equivocated the expressions of your Honor Court, thought your student justices have been sincere in attempting to express the conscience of the students we represent; where public statements made by the administration to the effect that the traditional heritage of student control of student activities would be preserved, have been disregarded, though your Honor Court proceeded on a good faith application in those statements."

The statement says "we have in no way lost our faith in the ability of the student body to uphold and preserve the Honor Code" and that "we believe... students, like groups of men and women everywhere who seek and believe in the basic moral rules of society, do not wish to have the sincere efforts of your Honor Court representatives subjected to an equivocal statement that renders the results both unjust and ineffective for the purpose for which the penalties are prescribed."

The statement said the resignations were made "in the hope that the student body and alumni who have experienced the everlasting values of an Honor Code will recognize the serious consequences of the issues involved, and the threat to the moral welfare of the present and future University of Florida students."

Trinkle said a letter from President Miller Friday advised the Honor Court of the modification of some of the sentences handed down by the court in the cheating investigations. Trinkle said the court held a meeting Friday night and met with Dr. Miller four hours Saturday to hear his reasons for reducing the sentences.

Several hours after the court's unanimous decision to resign Sunday night, notices of the action appeared on the campus. The notices were signed by Trinkle, Jones and nine other Honor Court members.

President Miller, in a statement after the resignations, said: "In a limited number of cases, the best interests of the university, of the students involved in violations, and of the great majority of students in the university who are in no way involved, may best be served by a change in the penalties imposed."

"The President is of the opinion that all students convicted during the extraordinary sessions of the Honor Court should be rehabilitated on the campus of the university and that such rehabilitation should begin immediately. "As a means of rehabilitating the students involved, and of giving them an opportunity to consider further the gravity of their offenses, while at the same time affording them a chance of establishing within themselves a strong will and deep sense of moral integrity, the President is appointing a special counseling committee to whom such students will be responsible and to whom they may look for guidance in academic, moral and ethical matters. "This action in no way minimizes the great worth and highest esteem with which I regard the Florida honor system, but above all I recognize my responsibility to save the young men and women involved in this unfortunate episode as far as possible within my power."

Dr. Miller's statement also said: "The president has no judicial

Fruit Company Is Hit For Violation Of Shipping Rule

JACKSONVILLE (AP)—Best Fruit Co. of Florida, is charged with shipping citrus fruit during the Christmas holiday in violation of federal law.

An information charging seven violations, was filed in Federal Court here Friday. Arraignments are scheduled at Ocala April 2. William S. Walker, assistant U. S. district attorney, said the firm is accused of making six shipments Dec. 31, labelling the shipments for Florida destinations but verbally instructing the truck drivers to take them to Chicago, Pittsburgh or New York.

Oranges were not allowed to be shipped outside the state between Dec. 21 and Jan. 1, the annual holiday to permit Northern dealers to dispose of the heavy pre-Christmas shipments.

Walker said Ronald Earl Lundy, vice president of Best Fruit Co., said in a statement he thought it was all right to pack and inspect the fruit Dec. 31 so long as it didn't leave Florida before Jan. 1. Records of the case show that field investigators for the Growers Administrative Committee followed the fruit shipments outside Florida and reported to the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Maximum penalty for conviction on the charges would be $500 fine on each of the seven counts.

Seven Floridians Die In Accidents During Weekend

By The Associated Press
Death from violent causes came to at least eight Floridians over the weekend.

Highway accidents was the largest single cause. Three Jacksonville residents were killed in separate Dade County traffic accidents Sunday and two persons were charged with manslaughter in two of the accidents.

Lloyd Ellison, 12, died when he fell beneath the wheels of a truck in which he was riding. Albert Thomas Keene, 20, was fatally injured when the motorcycle he was riding collided with an automobile.

Nathan Simmons, 37, Negro, was killed when he was struck by an automobile while crossing the street near his home.

Mrs. Lrnie Williams was charged with manslaughter and released on $500 bond in Keene's death. Thomas Billings, 43, was held on charges of manslaughter, reckless driving and driving without an operator's permit in Simmons' death.

Tommy Cohen, 25-year-old Miami accountant, was held on charges of reckless driving as the result of an accident which cost the life of Jack Stern, 48-year-old Miami Beach hotel owner.

Florida Highway Patrolman S. H. Walker said Cohen's automobile went out of control at high speed on Big Pine Key about 30 miles northeast of Key West early Sunday and Stern was killed in the resulting accident. Stern was a passenger in Cohen's car.

Mrs. Minnie Strouse, 81, who lived alone and had no close relatives, made funeral plans and then walked to her death in the waters of Lake Worth.

Peace Justice T. P. Carry said the woman's body was found on a sand bar about 1,000 feet south of the Lake Worth cove Sunday in her home. Carry said he found several addressed and stamped letters along with a note saying she had made all funeral arrangements.

The death was "definitely suicide," Carry added.

Fire took the lives of two small children and left several persons homeless when it swept through five houses in a Tampa Negro section Sunday. Dead were seven-month-old Gary Baker and his brother, two-year-old Ernest Baker. At Gainesville, John Charles Rodriguez, 65-year-old Tampa same- wital from injuries received when his automobile overturned on Highway 301 north of Island Grove.

Bullitt Told In '39 About Alger Hiss

French Premier Quoted As Saying 13 Years Ago Hiss Was Agent For Russia

WASHINGTON (AP)—William C. Bullitt testified today he was told in the fall of 1939 of a French Premier's report naming two U. S. State Department officials named Hiss as "Soviet agents."

Bullitt, former ambassador to Russia, said the Senate internal security subcommittee had information about the report came from French Premier Daladier.

Bullitt said Daladier, in first telling him about the report, mentioned no names. Bullitt said he asked for names and that the Premier looked at a memorandum and said "two brothers named Hiss."

"When he said that I, in my ignorance, laughed," Bullitt said. "I never had heard of a Hiss in the State Department and said there was a committee made by the President to get better information."

In relating the incident, Bullitt volunteered that he knows of nothing that "refers to Hiss in any way outside from the original statement of the Prime Minister."

Donald Hiss, like his brother Alger Hiss, was in the State Department at the time, Bullitt said. Alger Hiss is serving a 5-year term in prison following his conviction on charges he lied when he swore he never defected from government secrets to a Soviet spy ring. His attorneys are now trying for a new trial.

Warren Picks Sen. Russell For President

Leading Candidates For Governor Continue Campaigning Throughout Florida

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—Governor Fuller Warren is endorsing the candidacy of Sen. Richard Russell (D. Ga.) for the Democratic presidential nomination.

In his weekly column, "Facts and Figures," distributed to newspaper and radio stations for use Thursday, Warren called Russell a "fair, impartial, sound and well-balanced leader."

"America sorely needs such a man to lead it through the difficult years lying ahead," the governor declared. "On May 8, the people of Florida may determine who will be the next president of the United States. It will be Sen. Russell's first significant test of strength."

The state's non-binding Democratic presidential preferential primary election will be held that day.

The governor recalled meeting Russell when both were attending a college boxing tournament and said his rise to the United States Senate has "not changed him from the plain, friendly, manly man who stood at the ring-side in Virginia 23 years ago."

650,000 Steel Workers Ready To Walk Out When Deadline Is Reached Tonight

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Ernest T. Weir, board chairman of National Steel Corp., charged today that there must have been a deal between powers in the administration and labor leaders in which the labor leaders received assurance their demands would be supported in the corporation employ about 32,000 workers, called for use of the Taft-Hartley Act to avert a steel strike at midnight tonight.

By The Associated Press
Washington officials said today the Department of Commerce is ready to operate the steel industry in the event President Truman decides on government seizure.

A strike of 650,000 steelworkers is set for midnight tonight.

Secretary of Commerce Sawyer flew from Detroit to Washington today on the President's orders to lead a hand in the situation. A spokesman for the Office of Defense Mobilization said the President wanted Sawyer back to advise on government policy. He described seizure as only one of several possibilities.

Other officials said seizure orders have been drafted, but there apparently had been no definite decision to seize the industry.

Meantime, Nathan Feinsinger, Wage Stabilization Board chairman, said he had no idea what wage dispute may be settled without a strike. It was the most hopeful sign in recent days in the darkening steel picture, that has already caused mills to begin cooling their furnaces in expectation of a shutdown.

Feinsinger told reporters as he emerged from a conference with...

Longwood Roads Are Discussed At Commission Meet

Protest Is Sounded To Proposed Change In Road To Springs

Proposed improvements to the Longwood-Banlando Springs Road came under the fire of two delegations of protesting citizens at the meeting of the county commission this morning.

One delegation of Longwood citizens headed by Mrs. Emily Madden protested the action of the Longwood City Council in changing the route of a portion of the road which now leads directly west from the business section of the town to the Springs. She said that the change would be detrimental to the business portion which would be shortened.

The alternate route proposed would start two blocks south of the present road at Jean's corner where the road now runs east to Highway 17-92. From Jean's corner to San-Lando Springs the road would cut through the colored section to connect with the present east-west road.

The Longwood delegation was advised by the Commission to compose their differences in their own town and with their council before approaching the State Road Department on the matter.

Immediately following this discussion, Fred H. Wilson, attorney, representing about 100 citizens along the Forest City-Sanlando Springs Road, appeared to protest any money being allotted for Longwood-Banlando Springs Road until the present clay road from Forest City to the Springs is hard surfaced and improved. This road is two and three-eighths miles long.

Mrs. Mary Merritt, developer of Merritt Manor, a $500,000 development on the road between Forest City and the Springs, protested the appropriation of $38,000 for improvement of the mile and a half stretch between Longwood and the Springs. She claimed the money was misappropriated as the government regulates the use of the land.

She declared that she did not desire to deprive the Longwood people of an improved road to the Springs; but that she felt that the Forest City link, already heavily traveled by trucks and automobiles, should receive attention first.

Donn stated that the Commission would visit the roads and area this afternoon after attending the funeral of former commissioner Ben Merritt.

Baseball Outlook Is Told To Lions By Ball Officials

Prospects for a successful season for the Sanford Blues Baseball team were outlined today by the Lions Club by John Krider, general manager, Marion Harman, publicity director, and Joel Field, president of the Sanford Baseball Association.

They were introduced by Cecil Caslon, president, and by Huddy Lake, former Sanford baseball player, association chairman.

Harman, reported moderate success at the Lion sponsored Blood Bank clinic yesterday with 30 donors giving 90 pints of blood.

The clinic was held at the Episcopal Parish House with the aid of Central Florida Blood Bank personnel. As a result, the local Blood Bank is no longer overdrawn, said Mr. Robson.

Marion Harman predicted a wonderful season ahead for the Sanford team and pointed out that the new Stadium ranks far ahead of other teams in cities much larger than Sanford.

Joel Field told of the financial burden ahead, described the formation and set-up of the Association and cited the interest in local baseball as evidenced by the fact that $800,000 fans voted in the recent contest conducted by The Herald to name the team.

Mr. Krider described the present Blues infield as the league's best, and introduced the new catcher find, Bob Ward of Ovidio for whom he predicted a bright future. He added that pitching and fielding help is needed yet and told of efforts being made to secure new players.

The City has helped considerably in the program, he said, and the Giants have helped by turning over the baseball bus and uniforms, said Mr. Krider. He predicted a 5,000 attendance at the opening game here on Apr. 15, opening Kettles, former Sanford manager and manager, will serve as an umpire in the league this year, he stated.

Plans for promoting the candidacy of Henry Witte for governor of Florida District 0 were outlined at the meeting.

Senator Mundt Admits South Is Balance Of Power

Civil Rights Senators Determined To Go Ahead With Hearing

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—The South for the first time since 1930 holds the balance of political power both within the Democratic Party and the nation, reported Senator Karl Mundt (R. S. D.) today.

"The South faces an opportunity such as no other segment of our country has ever faced and such as Dixie has not had since the Democratic National Convention in 1936 repealed the 'two-thirds rule,'" Mundt declared.

His remarks were in a speech prepared for delivery before the annual meeting of the Mississippi Economic Council.

Mundt, who for two years has stumped the country advocating a liberal-conservative realignment of the nation's two major parties, said that such a shuffle could result from the 1952 election.

Praising Sen. Russell (D. Ga.) as a deserving "united and sustained support of Southern Democrats" in his bid for the Democratic Presidential nomination, the South Dakotan said failure of the Democrats to nominate Russell would be the first step in such a realignment.

Inability of the South to support the national nominee and reluctance to vote a Republican ticket could lead to another Southern presidential ticket which would have a good chance of throwing the entire election into the House of Representatives, he said.

"A presidential selection by the House of Representatives would undoubtedly bring about a permanent realignment of party forces in this country," he went on.

"Those joining forces in the choice of the President would in all probability also organize the Senate and the House and thus provide the needed nucleus for evolution."

Bill Kirk Named County Manager For Sen. Russell

William I. Kirk, local Plymouth Chrysler dealer received his appointment yesterday as Seminole County campaign manager for Senator Russell here for a personal appearance.

Mr. Kirk, who served as county campaign chairman for Governor George Smathers in 1930 for the U. S. Senate, is hopeful of bringing Senator Russell here for a personal appearance.

"This is the first time in 90 years that the South has had a president to elect," said Mr. Kirk. He quoted ranking Democratic authorities as predicting that Senator Russell will go into the 1952 Democratic convention with a minimum of 800 delegates.

Car banners, brochures and buttons will be available for the campaign soon, said Mr. Kirk. Senator Russell will be represented at the County Democratic rally at Altamonte Springs Saturday night and at other county rallies later on.

Mr. Kirk said that he is proud to have been chosen to head the Russell drive, and that he will move rapidly to collect enough Russell delegates to give the South recognition, but that Russell backers are determined to see that he will be the first President in 1952.

He further said that Russell had already done more in bringing harmony to the Democrat Party in Florida than anything that has happened in years. He pointed to the fact that entire Florida congressional delegations is 100 percent behind Russell, and all the leading candidates for governor are with Senator Holland, Senator Smathers, Rep. Heriing, former Senator Claude Pepper and many others are dropping all political differences and backing Russell.

C. Ferris Bryant, the House Speaker designate, is handling all speakers for the campaign and some of the leading political figures in the South are ready to give the stamp to Russell's behalf.

An encouraging note was voiced yesterday from Senator Kerr of Missouri, who he said that Russell would go into the convention with a minimum of 800 delegates.

Florida Honor Court Continues Cheating Fight

Mass Meeting Of Entire Student Body Slated Wednesday

GAINESVILLE (AP)—The University of Florida's student Honor Court today continued its fight over the expulsion of students who had led in the mass resignation of the court Sunday.

Following up Monday's move to take their case to the student body, the Honor Court members scheduled an appearance before a meeting of the John Marshall Bar Association later today.

The association is an honorary fraternity in the university's college of law where many of the student leaders are enrolled.

There were also rumors on the campus that a mass meeting of the entire 2,200 students of the university would be called Wednesday to hear the court explain its side of the case. Whether University President J. Hillis Miller would be invited to the meeting was not known.

Miller and the court have been carrying on a war of statements since the scandal broke. Miller is suing a statement Monday night which he told newsmen would be the last he would have to say on the case.

He said the "extraordinary" situation in the cheating scandals had led to modification of some of the sentences handed down by the Honor Court.

The cheating scandal came to light last month.

GERMAN RATS HELGOLAND

HELGOLAND, Germany (AP)—For seven years, this rocky little North Sea island has been bombed so heavily it would seem nothing could live on it.

But the rats did. Millions of them. There are so many that they have won the island back from the British Royal Air Force—are wondering how to retake it from the rodents.

Endicott Shelled Entering Chongjin Near Soviet Line

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—Red artillery shells splashed all around the American minesweeper Endicott as she swept into Chongjin Harbor, Korea, today.

The Navy reported today that the minesweeper fired 75 rounds of 100 millimeter shells at the coastal destroyer, the Navy said. The Endicott was "straddled" by the shell bursts.

The Endicott, other U. N. warships and planes from the U. S. aircraft carrier Philippine Sea, were on the scene of the attack. The Navy's report did not say whether the Endicott was hit.

Civil Rights

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators favoring civil rights legislation went ahead with hearings on their proposals today but an opponent said they "don't have a chance."

Sen. Ellender (D-La.) added to any bill to set up a committee to study Fair Employment Practices Commission (FEPC) law which "provokes a filibuster" in the Senate.

FEPC would prohibit employers from discriminating against work on race, creed or color. Designed to help Negroes and other minority groups, it never fails to stir Southern opposition.

LAKE MARY By VIRGINIA P. ANDERSON

The Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce met in the Community Hall Wednesday evening with Vice-President James A. Yates, president, Joe Maybury, following roll call and the secretary's reading of the minutes of previous meeting, treasurer reported a balance of $137.25.

Frank Evans, chairman of the Beautification Committee, reported the acquisition of the two cemeteries, given the county during Beautification Week. He described the ceremony when they were planted at the highway entrance to the Lake Mary Bathing Beach with some 75 school children, residents and friends of the community being present.

James A. Yates reported that the cemetery was now cleaned up and ready for any additional planting that the Chamber of Commerce wished to do. Sherman Concrete Co. donated concrete corner posts to mark the boundary of the cemetery. Mr. Evans proposed a rising vote of thanks to Mr. Yates, who has done a commendable job of cleaning up, practically without assistance from other members.

Lloyd Leadmon discussed the need to keep the newly pumped up beach at the park raked, and suggested that it be a project for the Boy Scouts. It was finally decided that Mr. Leadmon be authorized to hire someone to do this, with the Chamber of Commerce to pay the bill. R. E. True thanked the members of his committee who had collected $45.00 in the recent drive. He explained that this amount was not for the local Troop but had been turned over to the Boy Scout Commissioners in Sanford. Frank Evans moved that the Chamber of Commerce sponsor the Troop in process of organization.

In the absence of August Phillips, chairman of Recreation Committee, the microphone and juke box which are needed for Chamber of Commerce activities, were discussed and Roy Howell moved that the Chamber of Commerce write R. H. Eubanks, present custodian of them, and enumerate members of the Recreation Committee and request the return of such items to the Chamber of Commerce.

Vice-President Yates appointed a committee to nominate officers for the coming year. Mrs. W. T. Wampler, chairman, Mrs. Ida Keogh and Fred Werfelman.

Lloyd Leadmon introduced his guest, Mr. Robbins of the Seminole County Health Unit, who spoke briefly and needed sanitary conditions around the rural home.

He stressed the following points: high ground location, pure water supply, proper sewage and drainage disposal, and sanitary conditions around the rural home. In any problem that might arise, A. W. Tomkinson reported upon the method by which Ross Mobley operates a public telephone at his filling station.

Mr. Maybury's letter of resignation as president of the Chamber of Commerce was read and accepted. After discussion of the need for new draperies and shades in the Community Hall, Mrs. Frank Evans made a motion that the Home Demonstration Club replace both and that the Chamber of Commerce pay for the materials used. Raymond Hall reminded the members that the Home Demonstration exemption law should be kept. In order to raise money to pay for music purchased by the Lake Mary orchestra, the Recreation Committee in collaboration with P. R. Breemer, leader of the orchestra was authorized to plan an entertainment for the near future.

Roy L. Howell, on behalf of the County Democratic Committee, thanked the people of Lake Mary for the response they made at the Lake Mary Political Rally. Vice President Yates discussed the contemplated closing of the road from Mrs. J. H. Cowan's property, south to the edge of Lake Mary, and presented the legal aspects of the situation.

Following adjournment, members of the Home Demonstration Club served pie and coffee. Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Vedder left April 1 for their home in New York.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Brasington were Mr. and Mrs. Lew Hoffman and Mr. and Mrs. Carl A. Anderson of Cincinnati, who are wintering in Leesburg.

William Nixon has been moved from the Orange Memorial Hospital in Orlando to the home of his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Nixon, where he is recovering from a leg injury.

Mrs. Jessie Vickery is visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Ooson.

Pat Freeman is out again after an attack of mumps. Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Clemens and family have rented the C. C. Collins home on Crystal Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Smith and her family have moved to Leesburg, Fla. for their home in Orange. Mrs. Smith left Wednesday for Washington, D. C., where she has accepted a position with the Atlantic Coast Line.

Florida Crops Are Slightly Damaged By Week Of Rains

ORLANDO (AP)—Moderate to heavy rains over most of Peninsular Florida the last week of March caused some damage to truck crops, the U. S. Department of Agriculture said today.

The semi-monthly report of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics said the damage was principally to those starting maturity or in the harvesting stage.

A few areas such as the Everglades, however, were in need of rain, the report said.

Harvesting was interrupted to some extent and shipments for the second half of the month showed a decrease from 15 to 20 per cent under the preceding semi-monthly period. Seasonal gaps between winter and spring crops accounted for some of the decline, the bureau said.

California had relatively clear, warm weather after March 22 but in Texas and Oklahoma for the most part were unfavorable because of dry weather.

Weather was favorable in Mississippi and Alabama but cool nights and heavy rains were unfavorable for commercial crop planting in Georgia. The same was true in South Carolina and North Carolina.

Florida crop details:
Lima Beans - Poor to fair with supplies to continue light during April.
Snap beans - Improvement in quality and quantity expected.
Cabbage - Quality variable and volume expected to decline.
Cantaloupes - Fair to good condition, slight acreage increase.
Celery - Spring crop generally good.
Corn - Poor to good; yield decreased by leaf blight.

Cucumbers - Progress fair to good; some rain wind damage.
Eggplant - Weather unfavorable in South Florida areas; supplies light.
Escarole - Fair to good.
Lettuce - Limited supplies, volume declining.
Pepper - Fair; supplies and prospects light.
Potatoes - Spring crop fair to good progress; winter supplies virtually harvested.
Squash - Poor to fair; some rain damage.
Strawberries - Some producing sections closed out; supplies light.
Tomatoes - Fair to good.
Watermelons - Irregular as result of adverse weather; stands uneven and development retarded.

Citrus Industry Overcomes Surplus

LAKELAND (AP)—The Florida citrus industry has overcome the handicap of a record orange crop and now has only as many boxes to dispose of as it did this time last season.

Starting the season with an estimated 8,700,000 boxes more than the year before, the industry on April 3 had only 2 1/2 million boxes left, Florida Citrus Mutual said.

At the present rate of use, three million boxes a week—the remainder could be gone by the last week in May, Mutual added.

With the volume situation so favorable, "Neither we nor the trade (Northern buyers) can see any reason for this mad rush to move these oranges," J. C. Strickland, Mutual fruit expert, said in a special bulletin to all shippers.

He repeated a recommendation made by Mutual last week—that each shipper move 30 per cent less this week than last. The idea is to stabilize the market at the higher prices which usually follow a reduction in supply.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH

JACKSONVILLE (AP)—A coroner's jury Monday said the death of 17-year-old George Felton Andrews Jr. after a fist fight at Andrew Jackson High School was accidental.

The jury absolved Jackie Forsyth, 15, of blame in Andrews' death Wednesday. Andrews died of a brain hemorrhage after he and Forsyth were involved in a fight.

DRUNK INSTEAD

DADE CITY (AP)—A suspected suicide for whom officers and firemen dragged the Withlacoochee River several hours Saturday, has been found in jail on a drunk charge, Sheriff Leslie Bessinger reported.

The search was made after the automobile of Hardy Crawford was found with his hat shoes and a suicide note. Relatives said the threatened to take his life.

Bessinger said Lake County officers notified him Crawford was in the county jail at Tavares. The sheriff had no explanation for Crawford's activities.

KILLED IN FIGHT

TARPON SPRING (AP)—An itinerant commercial fisherman, whose body was found floating in the Anclote River here, died of choking and head injuries, a coroner's jury reported.

The jury did not say who caused the death of W. W. Ritty, 35.

Three fishermen who admitted fighting with Ritty on a fishing boat Sunday night are being held for investigation.

SHOT TO DEATH

CHICAGO (AP)—Two brothers, to death Monday night by a man who said they had quarreled over ownership of a set of weights.

The victims were Joseph, 38, a truck driver, and Anthony Edward, 35, a piano mover.

Detective Emil Domko said Chester Carmack, an unemployed truck driver, told him he shot the Edward brothers with a gun he had been carrying since a fist fight last Friday with Anthony. The quarrel was over a set of weights, Domko said.

Carmack was held for questioning. No charge was filed immediately.

HOLLYWOOD By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—How do they do it—dancers like Fred Astaire, Gene Kelly and Ray Bolger?

Astaire has run through dozens of toupees, but he still dances like a whirlwind. Kelly reaches the 40 mark next August, yet he seems to float over the dance floor like a puppet on strings. Then there's 48-year-old Bolger.

"Bolger is back to back with Astaire and Kelly. He's got the same kind of dancing some of his wonderful dances in 'April in Paris.' So I asked him for the secret on how he and his colleagues remain in such good form."

"The only thing I can suggest," he replied, "is that we learned to dance differently from the kids of today. When I started out, I first learned how to dance in wooden shoes. The clog taught me to dance on my toes. That was before the era of having metal taps on the soles of the shoes."

"Because of the taps, today's dancers learn to dance on the balls of their feet. That's a lot harder on them than dancing on their toes as I do."

"But don't a dancer's legs give out eventually?" I asked.

"Not necessarily," Bolger replied. "Not long ago I did a television show with Pat Rooney. I did a dance that was a marvel of agility, and Pat was well into his 70's."

It's not the usual thing in show business to praise others in the same field, but Bolger expressed a high opinion of Astaire and Kelly.

"Fred is simply the greatest," said Bolger. "Every motion denotes class. Kelly is great, too, but in a different way. He has a fine, athletic grace."

Bolger mourned the fact that newcomers do not have the training that his generation did.

"Vaudeville is gone, and so is the repertory theater," he remarked. "But the situation is not hopeless. There are still opportunities for young kids to get ahead. For instance, when I do a broad way show, I have rehearsals for the understudies. Many of them have gone on to featured roles because of it."

"And TV is helping to develop stars, too. I know of no brighter prospect than young Donald O'Connor. And Imogene Coca and Sidnor. And Imogene Coca and Sidnor. Broadway for a long time, have come into their own on TV."

Bolger was less optimistic about the state of the stage musical. "Natural" no single person can put up that much money. That means that the money has to be solicited from many backers. I've known of shows that held auditions for prospective backers for two years or more, and still could not raise enough money.

"Since musicals are so expensive, they usually must run for 100 weeks or more to break even. It's too tough on an actor to play his heart out eight times a week for two years."

"But," he added as he went into a movie, "if a musical will survive, it always has."

A request for a concrete floor to replace the wooden floor in the Sheriff's office was requested by Sheriff P. A. Mero. The Commission granted the request, provided the cost was not over $500.

Frank Leahy Says Children Require Proper Training

By HAL BOYLE
SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Frank Leahy of Notre Dame has eight children, and a friend once told him: "Your greatest coaching job is in your own house."
Leahy treasures that tribute. He has a theory that children as well as football players require proper training.
His theory has worked out magnificently on the gridiron. In nine years at Notre Dame his football teams have won 71 games, lost nine and tied seven.
His parental coaching seems to be working out just as well in the home. He and his pretty red-haired wife, Flossie, and their eight youngsters make a fine family team. They have five sons and three daughters ranging in age from 15-year-old Frank Jr., to seven-week-old Christopher.
"Flossie is one of eight children, and I am one of eight," said Leahy, "and before we got married we decided we'd have eight our selves."
"I think we are the luckiest couple in America. And we're still on the offense. We'll have more children."
I had a pleasant Sunday afternoon visit with the Leahys in the big brick home at Long Beach on the south shore of Lake Michigan where they are rearing their own squad.
One after the other the Leahy children came in and wished me welcome, a ritual they observe with all callers.
"All Notre Dame football players are taught that when they meet a person they should look him in the eye, pronounce his name clearly and address him as 'sir,'" said Leahy.
His children do that, too, although one of his daughters told him recently, "Daddy, really, that isn't necessary for a girl to do. It's too formal."
Leahy, who is now being taught the polka by this particular daughter, grinned as he recalled her objection.
"I may be old-fashioned," he said. "But I think respect, obedience and courtesy are disappearing in too many American homes. We want our kids to learn these things."
Each of the Leahy children is given certain chores and duties to perform. Every night after dinner they and their parents say the family rosary together.
"About every two weeks I line them up and grade them on five items—neatness, courtesy, respectfulness, cooperation and unselfishness," Frank said. "The winner gets an extra allowance."
"They enjoy the competition, and I believe it makes them better."
As to punishment, the Leahy household has one flat rule: "If you've done something wrong and come and tell us, there'll be no hairbrushing."
The hairbrush is the instrument of discipline, and Frank wields it. The spankings happen only once in a great great while," he said, smiling. "It works better now

Rural Common Sense
By SPUDS JOHNEON

Mineral supplements for Florida livestock are an excellent example of the old adage, "A little goes a long way."
Small amounts of minerals are helping many farmers to raise healthy, high quality cattle and hogs and, also, to obtain efficient utilization of feed.
Common salt alone can make a big difference in feed utilization. In one test in another state, as a matter of fact, one pound of salt meant a saving of more than 200 pounds of feed. Pigs that got no salt required 287 pounds more feed to produce the same gains made by pigs that received one pound of salt along with their feed.
In a Florida Agricultural Experiment Station test, pigs that were provided with adequate minerals while feeding on peanuts produced 464 pounds of pork per acre, or 228 pounds more than a that were not given mineral alone with their peanuts.
Minerals have eliminated "salt sick" from many herds of cattle and also have been a major factor in improved feed utilization. Mineral supplement requirements will vary to some extent on Florida ranges, as deficiencies in mineral content of soil have helped farmers to succeed with their cattle, cobalt has helped farmers on other soil types. Phosphorus, likewise, has been very helpful.
Mineral mixtures are necessary when their cost is compared with the difference in feed utilization and the all-round difference in the animals that have ready access to them and animals that do not get enough minerals.
With feed costs rising and with hogs bringing lower prices than in several years, it is especially important for the farmer to provide minerals for his hogs now. Although the price of cattle is much steadier than that of hogs, the same holds true for cattle. Cattle must have adequate minerals for maximum feed utilization.
Providing minerals for stock should not be a hit-or-miss proposition, however. Farmers in doubt as to what minerals their animals may need can receive adequate information and suggestions on the matter from their county agents or from the Florida Agricultural Experiment Stations.
The Leahy home-coaching system may sound formal and old-fashioned, but it works wonderfully well. His children are happy, spontaneous, and secure. Frank is very affectionate toward them. As I started to leave, he turned to five-year-old Jimmy and said: "Jimmy, will you tell us your favorite wish?"
Red-haired Jimmy looked up and piped: "I wish the whole world would pop up to Heaven!"
He thinks he's got the greatest dad and mom in the whole world. So do the other Leahy kids. And the reason is that the whole family prays, plays and works together, the way old-fashioned families used to do when having eight kids wasn't such a rarity.
The Leahys want to have as many children as they can. As another friend of Frank's once observed: "He never was one to hold down the score."

TODAY'S BIBLE VERSE

Any other arrangement would be a mockery. The husband that must be first partner of the fruits.—2 Tim. 5:16.

The Supreme Court let that hot potato, sometimes called Georgia's unique unit voting law, lay. The honorable justices seem to know that the Constitution gives to the individual states the power to decide the method and manner of voting.

Senator McMahon (D-Conn) says he is "highly doubtful" if any Southerner can win the Democratic nomination. It would make for an interesting convention if the South should take the attitude that it is "highly doubtful" if any northern Democrat could carry the South in the November election.

Robert Ruark, popular newspaper columnist, is convinced that Senator Kefauver is going to be the next President. "He's Southern enough to keep the South from ulceration," this writer says, "while being Yankeeified sufficiently to appeal to the votes that don't fancy lynching, segregation and the kind of Mississippi insularity as typified by the late Senator Bilbo." That may be. Yet all of Florida's candidates for important state offices have endorsed Senator Russell.

Being willing to dish it out doesn't imply a willingness to take on the part of any candidate running for office. But unfortunately such is not always the case. One can see all the short-comings of their opponents but are blind to their own incompetencies and are therefore indignant if anyone should dare to suggest that they might have any. You can generally tell something about the size of a man as much by how he takes criticism as by how he criticizes.

There were four automobile accidents in Sanford during the weekend. Eight people were killed in similar mishaps throughout the state. And thus the frightful carnage continues. It is getting so that a thoughtful man can hardly take his car out of the garage without wondering whether he will be able to put it back. Carelessness, indifference, downright recklessness and lawlessness are the order of the day. And the entire public is paying the price, presumably for acts of a comparatively small percentage, in bruised and broken bones, cracked skulls and funeral expenses.

The dangers and difficulties of stopping cheating in colleges and public schools is illustrated by the deplorable situation at the University of Florida where the State Court of Honor has refused to grant a free hand in running the State Department; whereas undoubtedly political pressure brought to bear against the many officials through the efforts of parents of the accused. If these in authority, student honor courts, or officials cannot punish for cheating, how is the going to be stopped? And what, what happens in the administration's ineffectual dealing with its problems?

Festival Of Freedom

Coinciding with the Christian feast of Easter is the Hebrew Passover Festival, at which Jews the world over celebrate the deliverance of the people of Israel from their bondage in Egypt. The Jews look upon the Passover as a remembrance of the long and precious heritage that is theirs. It is during this season that matzoh, the unleavened bread, makes its appearance in devout Jewish homes, a reminder of the unleavened bread their forefathers took with them on their journey into the wilderness.

It is well for Christians as well as Jews to remember Passover. Many of the traditions of Christianity had their roots in Judaism. Many of the concepts of freedom and individual dignity cherished today began and were nurtured by the Jews who were led by Moses from the land of Egypt.

In the new state of Israel this year Jews who have known the tyranny and persecutions of Europe will celebrate the Passover with its age old rituals. For these people the feast will have special significance, for they, too, knew the terror of slavery and the privations of an exodus to a land of promise that some times seemed far away. American Christians as well as Jews will be thinking of this during the Passover, and extending the hand of friendship to those in Israel who have been delivered again.

Death Of A Poet

The death of the great Hungarian playwright, Ferenc Molnar, saddened American play-goers who remembered the wit, verve and poetry of his plays. Perhaps the best known of his work in America was "Lilium," the story of a hoodlum with a tender spirit he could never express. "Lilium" was made into a Broadway musical several years ago and enjoyed popular and critical success. The list of great stars of the theater who won honors in Molnar plays includes Helen Hayes, Eva Le Gallienne, Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontaine, Joseph Schildkraut and a score of others.

Molnar's later years were disturbed by what happened to his loved Hungary. He knew the beauty and the spirit of his country and loved it well. The invasions by the Nazis and the Communists affected him deeply. Long after the names of the petty politicians who have betrayed his country are forgotten people will still honor the plays of Ferenc Molnar and Hungarians will know pride in his memory.

Semper Paratus

No group of servicemen are prouder of their uniform than are the men of the United States Coast Guard. This month the Coast Guard celebrates its 162nd birthday, and its record of service in peace and war has earned it a place of honor among the American fighting forces.

Established by Alexander Hamilton in 1790 to prevent smuggling and piracy, the Coast Guard has grown into a life-saving organization as well. Many a shipwrecked seaman owes his life to the efficiency and courage of the Coast Guard. Coast Guard cutters venture forth into Arctic waters to scout out icebergs and make the paths of ships safer.

During World War II the Coast Guard trained men in amphibious landing techniques and many of the American troops put ashore on distant beach heads were carried in by Coast Guardmen. The motto of this splendid organization is Semper Paratus, always prepared. It has lived up to that motto for 162 years.

The Strength Of The Chain

Times - Union

Having been an artillery battery commander in World War I Harry Truman knows a little something about the military way of doing things. But he is definitely lacking in one of the aptitudes every good commander should possess. President Truman has demonstrated a weakness that has been the downfall of many a person who has served in executive capacity. He doesn't know how to pick a staff and make it work for him.

While not referring to Truman, General Eisenhower, in an interview this past week, discussed the importance of a man surrounding himself with good assistants. In substance, "Ike" declared that an administration will be as strong as the aides whom the top man chooses to help him. The members of a President's cabinet might be compared to the members of a top-ranking military officer's general staff. They are more numerous, of course, but the system is designed so that it lends itself to the delegation of responsibility. Some commanders are more lenient in the amount of responsibility which they delegate, and, as President of the United States, Truman has been inclined to be an extremist in this respect. This has been particularly noticeable in his handling of foreign affairs. He has given Dean Acheson almost a free hand in running the State Department; whereas the predecessor exercised a strong influence in fashioning American foreign policy. Perhaps if Truman had chosen stronger men for his cabinet, he would have been more successful in delegating responsibility, but poor top level assistants have been his nemesis. And no command is any stronger than the weakest link in this general staff chain. If Eisenhower goes to the White House as President of the United States, he will carry with him a knowledge of how to make a staff work. This is a skill which he has acquired during long years of military service. A natural flair for military politics, plus a knowledge of how to make a general staff work, have enabled him to climb to the top of the ladder in his profession.

The ability to transfer this skill to the civilian job of President will determine to a large extent whether "Ike" Eisenhower will make this nation a good chief executive if he wins the November election. After nearly eight years of "loose" governmental policy-making by weak links in the Truman administration's chain of command, somebody is needed in the White House who has a thorough knowledge of what constitutes good staff procedure, be that person a civilian or a military man. A strong top commander, with a staff of strong, honest assistants, is needed to start this country back on the road to efficiency in government.

LAKELAND UP - Co-operatives should tell 4-H Clubs, FFA members, and others of the coming generation more about their part in the American business system, the president of the American Institute of Co-operation advised.

Although many people think of co-operatives in terms of farm groups, actually they are among the smallest of co-operatives, said F. K. Stern. He pointed to certain big insurance companies as the plants of U. S. Co-operatives. Stern spoke at a co-operative convention attended by about 150 co-op leaders. The 3-day meeting ended today.

WHEN THE RAIN COMES DOWN, YOUR HAIR STAYS UP

Too Late To Classify

By RUSSELL KAY

It is time Florida quit bowing to the fads that quality meats must come from Kansas City or Chicago. Today cattlemen and packers know that Florida is producing as fine meat as can be found anywhere in the world.

While the menus of our better hotels and restaurants still plug Kansas City Prime or Choice and speak of Western steaks, I'm confident that many of those delicious, juicy slabs of beef, pork chops and Florida packed.

Today the largest, most complete and modern meat packing plant in the entire South is operated in Tampa by Lykes Brothers, and from this gigantic plant comes packaged and canned meats the equal of that produced anywhere in the country.

Last week, at the invitation of my good friend Al Whidden, I took time out to visit the Lykes Plant and was truly amazed. Occupying a total of 15 acres, this expanding industrial complex gives employment to over 600 people and has a capacity of 2,400 hogs and 400 cattle daily.

In addition, cold storage space is provided for more than 2,000,000 pounds of meat which I was told is the largest cold storage facilities to be found East and South of Chicago and Kansas City.

In addition to fresh meat, Lykes Packing Company specializes in attractively packaged hams, bacon and sausage. Everything is handled in the most sanitary surroundings and rigid inspection prevails throughout the entire plant.

Entertaining activities not long ago, a new modern building was erected and the latest up-to-minute meat canning equipment installed. Now canned meat products of the highest quality are being packed right here in Florida.

At the present time these new canned meat products include corned beef hash, vienna sausage, beef stew, beef tripe, brunswick stew, chili con carne with beans, and a high quality, well-balanced dog food that carries the trade name "Romp."

Now the whole family, including your dog or cat, can dine on a 100 per cent Florida product which includes just about everything in the meat line, grown, produced, processed, packed and canned right here in Florida. The name Lykes is synonymous with Florida and for almost a century this pioneer family has played an important part in the development of the state. Dr. R. T. Lykes, whose parents migrated from South Carolina to Florida in 1852 and settled near Brooksville, started it all when he gave up the practice of medicine to enter the cattle business.

With the courage of a pioneer and an unshakable faith in Florida and its future, Dr. Lykes expanded his cattle interests from a local operation until Lykes cattle roamed the open ranges in Florida. Following the Spanish American War, Cuba was crying for cattle to replenish stock lost during the war and Dr. Lykes began an export business that ultimately led to the formation of the Lykes Steamship Company, a concern which today owns or operates on charter over 100 ocean going vessels and is known in shipping circles throughout the world.

Dr. Lykes' seven sons expanded and carried on the business they father had founded including the development of cattle ranches, citrus groves, insurance, export, packing and canning.

Throughout the years the Lykes family has held steadfast in its belief in Florida and its future, and the development of this new meat packing and canning industry is based on that faith and vision that has caused this pioneer family to continue its investments here and spend millions in development that has proven of untold benefit, not to the Lykes alone but of the state as a whole.

Now with a canned product of outstanding quality, a merchandising program is under way to introduce them to the people of the state. Ensigning Al Whidden, a man of wide experience in merchandising and advertising, they have recently launched a newspaper, radio and poster board program that will be expanded as rapidly as new territory can be opened up. The Jack Lacey Ad Agency is handling the program.

Respectfully,
W. H. Miller,
(Miller Farms)

vertising Agency of Tampa was entrusted with preparation of copy and made it a point wherever possible to do business with Florida firms and contribute to the growth and development of business and industry in this area.

It was a lucky day for Florida when Dr. R. T. Lykes foresaw the practice of medicine and the role of a country doctor to found the Lykes organization we know and respect today.

Sanford Forum

Sanford Daily Herald
Dear Mr. Deane:

We have heard so much complaining about the present State Administration, its excessive spending, its playing ball with gambling boys etc. Now that Sanford has the opportunity to try to do something about these things, every right thinking person should remember that Sanford has a man that views that view and mis-handling of the taxpayers money with contempt, a man that does not mind being stepped verbally, and is ready to come back for more.

If we turn our backs to Bralley Othman now, we have no right to complain later.

Now I want to make a suggestion to the decent people of Seminole and other counties, look in the windows of the gambling dives, see who is being cheered for, look in the windows of liquor stores, see who they want for our next governor, then vote for the man who is not pictured there, as we who want a man that will represent the taxpaying public, not one who represents the table robbers.

We are certain that there are enough respectable people that are willing to earn their money honestly to put the only one that we know enough about into the governor's office and make a great state greater. Don't vote for the man who is being cheered by the element that is no credit to any state.

2 Million Voters Trek To Polls In Illinois Primary

Taft Opposes Stassen On Ballot But Like Write-In Seen

By The Associated Press
An expected two million voters began going to the polls in Illinois today and the nation watched to see which presidential hopefuls they prefer.

A two million turnout would be the biggest in a decade. Weather and confusion, both warm and distinct possibilities. The all-time high is 2,674,713 set in the 1936 presidential primary.

The race is for popularity alone, although results may influence the decision of 50 Democratic and 50 Republican delegates to national conventions in July. These 100 will be elected today and 10 more on each side will be named at state conventions.

Major contenders on the ballot for the Republican preference are Sen. Robert Taft of Ohio and former Gov. Harold Stassen of Minnesota. There was a strong write-in campaign underway for Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, however.

Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee is alone on the Democratic ballot, but he faced a write-in upsurge for Illinois Gov. Adlai Stevenson. Voters can write in Stevenson's name for President and also put an "X" by his unopposed listing for nomination as governor.

For Stevenson, today's election may be the point at which he decides finally whether to seek the Democratic nomination as President.

He has maintained he only wants to be governor again, but reports that he is favored by President Truman have brought pressure, heightened when Mr. Truman announced he would not seek re-election.

Meanwhile, there were maneuverings up and down the land and on both sides of the Atlantic.

In Washington, Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia predicted he will receive between 500 and 400 first ballot votes for the Democratic nomination. It takes 616 votes to be nominated by the Democrats.

In Paris earlier, Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts had said Eisenhower, whom he backs, would get 500 first ballot votes if the Republican nominating convention were held now.

Both nominating conventions will be held in July at Chicago.

From Paris also came word that Eisenhower's military aides seem to think the general has asked to be released from the post as North Atlantic Treaty Organization Commander in Europe.

Number Of Blazes Keep Firemen Busy

A trash fire on Fourth Street and Holly Avenue was put out last Saturday night at 6:15 by firemen but erupted again at 8:30 p.m., before finally being subdued. It was reported by Fire Chief M. N. Cleveland today.

Between the two calls to the trash fire, firemen had to answer a call to extinguish a smoldering trash in a car near Seventeenth Street and Park Avenue at 7:01 a.m.

Later Saturday night firemen answered an alarm for a wood fire in the Loch Arbor section of the county.

At 12:30 a.m. Sunday morning a minor blaze broke out north of the Ninth Street depot on the grass near the Atlantic Coast Line railroad tracks.

Chief Cleveland said the fire was caused by a burning flare that ignited waste-diesel oil. The blaze caused no damage.

An overhauled stove in the home of Earl Evans, 1011 French Avenue, brought firemen to the residence yesterday afternoon at 4:00 p.m.

Hollister testified before the Senate internal security subcommittee which is digging into the question of whether there have been Communist influences on U. S. policies in the Far East.

The subcommittee's inquiry has centered on the Institute of Pacific Relations (IPR), a private, international research organization of which Lattimore is a trustee.

As a Johns Hopkins University professor and Far Eastern Affairs specialist, Lattimore has been an occasional consultant to the State Department. Questioned by the subcommittee for 12 days, he swore he never has been a Communist or Communist sympathizer.

COSTELLO FINED
NEW YORK (AP)—Gambler Frank Costello was fined $3,000 and sentenced to 18 months in prison today for refusing to testify before the Senate Crime Investigating Committee.

Sentence was pronounced by Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan who denied Costello's last-minute effort to obtain a mistrial.

The sentence would be served in a federal prison.

It would be the first time Costello, with a long career as a racket boss, has served time behind the bars since 1915, when he spent 10 months in jail for carrying a gun.

Former Gov. Harold Stassen of Minnesota ended his Illinois campaign Monday night at Chicago with an attack on Taft's foreign policy. He called it "negative."

Court Of Honor

light in February when it was revealed that a university employee had stolen and sold to students keys to machine graded examinations.

Miller said that because an employee was involved, the university had a greater responsibility to see that the guilty students were "rehabilitated."

Earlier, members of the Honor Court had issued statements charging Miller had destroyed the effectiveness of the court by his action.

Nine of the 11 Honor Court members issued statements objecting to modification of their decisions.

Chancellor John Tinkle and Clerk Fred Jones said the court accepted the first group of modifications March 22 but upon receiving the second group felt "we no longer had the prerogative to enforce our honor code."

President Miller, in a statement after those made by the court members, said "I have viewed with extreme regret the fact that the young men and women of the court have found it necessary to take such a sensational means of impressing their displeasure and disappointment."

Tinkle and Jones said that Dr. Miller had modified penalties of three expelled students to "40, 34 and 30 penalty hours." Forty penalty hours would add about a year and two-thirds academic work.

Dr. Miller said in his statement that of 23 cases appealed to the disciplinary committee, 12 were modified and eight affirmed. He said of the other three, "the only ones modified by the president, one had left school and the other two were given penalties of a loss of credits ranging from approximately a year to a year and a half."

More than 100 of 200 students involved in the cheating scandal have been convicted. Florida's enrollment is about 8,200.

The cheating involved selling of keys to machine graded examinations.

Tinkle and Jones charged the president "has removed all our constitutional rights by setting up a policy that we cannot expel or suspend a student in the recent cheating examinations."

Their statement also said "there are certain of those found guilty by who have lied under oath, who distributed the exam key for monetary remuneration, who used the keys themselves, who persuaded fellow students to lie under oath and who have cheated on their exams for as high as five semesters."

They said the Honor Court resignations protested "reinstatement of certain of these individuals."

Among the statements by other Honor Court members, Richard Campbell, Miami, said "It was told to me by a source I consider reliable that some of these individuals were told by a university official to go ahead and admit to what they had done and not to worry about it."

Court Member Millard Roberts said "I feel that unless we take this action our honor system will be upheld by the administration for the benefit of a particular group of individuals."

James W. Parker, Miami, said "certain individuals that this court feels were so undesirable that they should no longer be a part of the university, have, by acts of powers above the court, been allowed to remain."

Steel Strike

"I am making certain suggestions as a basis for possible settlement. I wouldn't have embarked on this course had I not felt some confidence that the parties will be receptive."

He said he had presented the suggestions to the industry, and now would present them in a separate conference to United Steelworkers leaders. This is the first time, he said, he has offered direct suggestions for a settlement in five days talks.

Kepler declined to say what his suggestions were, but he did say they don't call merely for a postponement of the strike, but for a settlement.

The projected strike in steel already has idled about 100,000 workers. That meant more than 200,000 were absent from work in the nation's two major labor disputes—steel and communications.

In communications approximately 97,000 workers are involved in strikes against the Western Union Telegraph Co., the American Telephone & Telegraph system and Western Electric Co., manufacturing subsidiary of A.T. & T.

In all the disputes wages are the chief issue.

The scheduled steel strike has been postponed four times by the union at the request of the government. Philip Murray, CIO United Steelworkers Union president, said in an NBC radio speech Monday that "at midnight, the nation's production of steel will come to a halt."

Steelworkers were reported to have staged pre-strike walkouts at two plants of the McWorth Steel Corp., in Detroit, and at the H. H. Robertson Co., near Pittsburgh. The three plants employ about 2,350 men.

In Pittsburgh Ernest T. Weir, National Steel Corp. board chairman, called for use of the Taft-Hartley Act, which would result in an 80-day strike delay. He charged "There must have been a deal between powers in the administration and labor leaders, in which the labor leaders received assurance they 'demands would have support.'"

St. Pete Newspaper Sold To Canadians

ST. PETERSBURG (AP)—Ralph H. Nicholson announced the sale today of the St. Petersburg Independent to Roy H. Thomson, Toronto, Canada.

Thomson is owner of 15 newspapers and five radio stations in Canada. This is his first newspaper venture in the United States. He indicated he might consider others.

The sale agreement was signed in Charlotte, N. C., where Nicholson is president and publisher of the Charlotte Observer. Final details are scheduled to be completed at an early date when Thomson will take over active control of the newspaper.

No purchase price was given. Thomson said he contemplated making no changes in the management or control. He said the editorial policies—Independent—will be determined and carried out by the local management.

Love Phillips is general manager of the Independent.

TRUMAN'S POWERS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Judiciary Committee today approved a 60-day extension of President Truman's wartime emergency powers. Leaders hope to speed it through the House before recessing Thursday.

Mr. Truman sent Congress an urgent request Monday for an extension of his emergency powers, including authority to seize and operate the railroads, until Congress can act on a long-term extension.

The committee action sent to the House without change a resolution by Rep. Fulgham (D-Ohio) to keep Mr. Truman's powers on an emergency basis until July 1.

Tribune Reports Pepper Fight In Delegate Slate

TAMPA (AP)—The Tampa Tribune today reported "indications of another in the traditional fight between the Pepper and anti-Pepper forces within Florida's Democratic Party."

It said a letter has gone out over the stenciled signature of Democratic National Committeeman Jerry W. Carter, endorsing a slate among the approximately 80 pro-Russell candidates running for 24 delegate seats to the National Convention.

The spilling of votes among the mass of candidates for Sen. Richard B. Russell has threatened to be a serious handicap since Sen. Estes Kefauver, his only opponent for the presidential nomination in Florida's May 27 primary, has a unified slate of 34 delegates.

The Tribune said Dr. E. G. Peck Ocala, chairman of the Russell-for-President Committee in Florida, said nobody says Carter or anyone else permission to select a group of delegates.

The story said at least two of the candidates on the Carter slate can be identified as friends of former Sen. Claude Pepper—Newman C. Breckin, Crawford, and Colin English, Tallahassee. Breckin is former president of the State Senate and English is a former state school superintendent.

The letter said the slate included the "most loyal Democrats, having the greatest vote getting power" among the many Russell candidates, the Tribune added.

Sen. Smathers Raps NSB In Steel Bill

PALM BEACH (AP)—Sen. George Smathers (D-Fla.) has accused the Wage Stabilization Board of taking sides in the steel industry wage deadlock.

"I told a joint convention of the American Hardware Manufacturers Association and the Southern Wholesale Hardware Association Monday night that 'the federal government, in an unhelpful and unwise manner, has started playing on one of the teams.'"

He said the WSB "exceeded its authority in trying to force a political philosophy into the steel industry, contrary to law, and to require that steel workers join the union."

"On the union side, some action should be called for by the law," he asserted.

"When the board projects its issue into the price controversy, it does so without authority, and in fact directly contrary to the expressed wishes of Congress and properly enacted law."

"We can't run our Democracy through the price controversy, it won't stand for it. We can't expect peace in the industry until the umpire gets off the pitching mound and goes back behind the plate to call 'em like he sees 'em.'"
