

Local Urban Renewal Okayed By City Commission

Two Oppose Action

The City Commission by a 3-2 majority Monday night voted to endorse urban renewal legislation after Attorney Kenneth Leffler emphasized that the bill would include a project by project referendum.

The final bill will be patterned after the Tampa and Orlando urban renewal bills.

Opposing the legislation were Commissioner J. H. "Jimmy" Crapps and Mayor Joe Baker.

Baker said he was opposed to the bill because it "further encroaches on the fundamental rights of the individual" giving more power to the local government and, through federal law, more control of local government to federal government.

Crapps said it would put the city in the real estate business to make a profit.

However, the strongest objections came from Edwin Shinholser, local attorney, who criticized the bill on the grounds that the rights of the private individual would be denied.

Shinholser said the bill was an encroachment by government and "would put the government into private business." He said that under the bill, the fundamental private rights of an individual are "abused."

However, Leffler answered Shinholser saying there were plenty of safeguards in the bill and that it would be up to the people to vote on it.

John Krider, Chamber of Commerce manager said, "we don't hesitate taking federal funds for schools and hospitals" and called opposition to the bill "scare tactics" whenever the world federal government is mentioned.

Commissioner Tom McDonald said he was not afraid of the federal government. "I'm a part of it," McDonald declared.

The whole basis of the program, according to Francis Roush, chairman of the chamber group, is to clean up the downtown area.

Crapps said he felt that we weren't ready for urban renewal now. "Why worry about something that won't be here for 10 years," he stated.

Leffler said "we can start on this tomorrow. The need is there."

Mayor Backs Up Zoning Board

Mayor Joe Baker assured members of the City Zoning Board that the City Commission will stand by any policy of the zoning.

Baker made the statement after a joint meeting of both boards Monday night to discuss differences of opinion regarding the rezoning of a piece of property on 25th St. and Elm Ave. from residential to commercial.

The zoning board had opposed the move while the city voted for the rezoning.

Zoning Board Chairman Clifford McKibbin told commissioners Monday that improper and spot zoning could lead to "commercial slums."

Baker said that all the facts in the case were not brought to the commissioners' attention before, and that the rezoning would be reconsidered at the regular board meeting next Monday.

NAVY MEN, who also are new members of American Legion Campbell-Lossing Post 53, raised the exhausted blood supply at the Seminole County Branch of the Central Florida Blood Bank by three pints Friday. Mrs. Doucette, supervisor, has stated that an emergency situation exists at the Branch and asks that donors visit the facility at 1802 E. Second St. on Mondays from noon until 8 p. m. or on Wednesdays, Fridays and Saturdays from 9 a. m. until 1 p. m.

Rebels Topple Korea Republic

SEOUL, Korea (UPI)—Military rebels toppled the Republic of Korea government in a pre-dawn coup today and by nightfall had claimed complete control of the country despite U. S. efforts to stop them.

A revolutionary committee took over the capital with troops and tanks in a near bloodless operation, proclaimed martial law, ordered the arrest of the cabinet of Prime Minister John M. Chang and decreed the National Assembly and all provincial legislatures dissolved.

U. S. military and diplomatic officials on the scene issued statements of support for Chang and opposition to the rebels, but the revolutionary committee appeared to have consolidated its hold before sundown.

Col. Won Palk Yun, a spokesman for the new ruling junta, said the rebels had won the support of the army general staff and that President Postun Yul had endorsed their martial law of the country.

The announcement was made after troops surrounded the ROK army headquarters in Young Don Po, near U. S. 8th Army headquarters, and threatened to shell it unless the general staff went along with the revolt. The troops later were withdrawn, indicating capitulation.

Gen. Carter B. Magruder, commander of U. S. and United Nations forces in South Korea, proclaimed support for the fallen regime of Prime Minister John M. Chang. He was backed up by Washington.

Redistricting Bill Senate Bound

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—The Senate voted today to make the proposed $75.7 million general appropriations bill a special and continuing order of business for Friday.

The Senate voted to convene at 9:30 a. m. Friday and stay in session until final passage of the big money measure.

Meanwhile, the House passed congressional redistricting bill was placed on the Senate calendar for a vote of the full membership later this week or early next week.

Sen. John Rawls of Marianna said he will push to amend the bill to prevent the splitting of Volusia County and dividing it between two districts.

Rawls and others called the plan, adopted by the House Monday by a 61-39 vote, "irresponsible" in many respects and said it will never be accepted by the Senate.

Rawls is chairman of the Constitutional Amendments Committee, which quit work on congressional apportionment after agreeing to the make-up of eight of the 12 districts.

The committee reached a statement on how to divide 22 central and southeast Florida counties into the other four districts.

When the House bill reaches the Senate, Rawls said, he'll move to put it on the calendar for a full vote of the Senate without further committee study.

He filed a series of amendments which would change the House bill to conform with the eight districts agreed to by the Senate committee, including a district composed of Volusia, Seminole, Lake, Marion, Sumter, Citrus, Hernando and Pasco counties.

The House bill carried up Volusia, putting the eastern portion in district with Orange, Brevard, Indian River, and St. Lucie, and joining the western section to Pasco, Hernando, Citrus, Sumter, Marion, Lake, Seminole, and Osceola.

The Senate and House plans are identical on the make-up of North and Northwest Florida districts, including individual congressmen for Duval and Pinellas counties and a new congressman for Northwest Florida.

The Senate committee recommended splitting Dade on a north-south basis and giving each a congressman. The House plan gives North Dade a congressman, but joins South Dade to a district with Monroe, Collier and Lee.

The big redistricting fight revolves around Edward, Palm Beach and the tier of counties stretching from Monroe to Manatee, including Polk, Brevard and Orange.

Red Cross Needs Program Help

The Red Cross is appealing for more help with their "Swim for your Life" Water Safety Program for this summer.

An orientation program, planned for mothers and aides to help with the beginners phase of the program, scheduled for Monday morning has been rescheduled for Wednesday morning at 9:30 a. m. at the Municipal Pool, due to poor response. Mrs. Kilpatrick, secretary, said today.

A minimum of 30 adults are needed to learn to give assistance to the hard-pressed instructors, in order that as many children as possible may be taught to swim to save their own lives and others.

It is not necessary to know how to swim to participate in the Aide program, but their trained help will be invaluable in checking rolls, giving tests and watching out for small groups, until the instructors get to them.

Probe Set

NEW YORK (UPI)—Wall Street agreed today that the Securities & Exchange Commission's plans for an investigation of American Stock Exchange operations would have no long-term influence on stock prices.

SRD Called High Salaried 'Bumblingscrats' By Avery

District 3 County Commissioner James P. Avery today lashed out at the State Road Department and called its officials high salaried "bumblingscrats" who are wrecking the county's road program.

Avery made the statement after it was discovered that one of the top primary projects in the county was left out of the SRD's tentative operating budget for this year.

This project is SR 436 from Al-lamoite Springs to the Turkey Farm.

"In my opinion," Avery said, "this is a premeditated act on the part of these high salaried bumblingscrats in DeLand which is directed toward hamstringing our program."

Avery called for a solid front of the commission at the budget hearing by the SRD in Tallahassee on May 25. "Let's get a charter plane if necessary," Avery said. He also urged commissioners to get all public officials from municipalities in the county to be present at the hearing and "back us up."

"Who is going to take the responsibility for the people killed on that stretch of road if there is a two or three year delay," Avery asked.

"It's the same old story. Take the traffic light at 436. We wait two years for it and now that we get it . . . they turn it over to without light bulbs," Avery said.

Chairman J. C. Hutchison explained that he spoke to SRD engineers in DeLand that they informed him that only that portion of SR 436 from Hwy. 17-92 to Red Bug Rd. would be done this fiscal year.

Hutchison said that officials felt that this was the critical part and wanted to do the road as a "split project."

The board agreed to attend the hearing and also to get the county's legislative delegation so be present.

City Board Finds Redistricting Acceptable Now

The City Commission Monday night went on record as "accepting" the revised redistricting plan submitted to the County Commission last week.

Earlier, city officials had opposed any pie-licing of the county and cutting up Sanford between four commissioners.

Under the revised plan, Sanford would be split up into three commission districts—1, 2 and 3 with District 1 covering east of French Ave., north of 18th St., including east of Mellonville and east of Sanford south of 20th St.; District 2—between French and Mellonville, between 18th and 25th St. and all of Sanford south of 20th St.; District 3—west of French Ave., north of 25th St. including Lake Mary north of Lake Mary Blvd.

Redistricting Meet Slated Next Week

The County Commission today called on public officials from all municipalities in the county to attend a redistricting meeting next Tuesday at 10 a. m.

The purpose of the meeting, according to the board, is to hear any woes or disagreements on the revised redistricting proposal submitted to the commission last week.

At this morning's meeting, the board agreed to change the redistricting in Forest City. Under the revised move, the precinct would be split in half and the board today agreed to leave it as it is.

In other business, the board named Charles Franklin Benham as building inspector at a starting salary of $4,800 per year.

House Okays Lt. Governor

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—The House Constitutional Amendments Committee today approved a revised article of the Constitution creating a lieutenant governor.

The lieutenant governor would be elected on the same platform as the governor and would succeed him if he were unable to fill out his term.

Secretary of State Tom Adams asked the committee to approve a change permitting off-year elections of state and local officials. The committee postponed decision on the matter until another meeting tonight.

Tough Problem

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate today tackled one of the most controversial issues of the session—President Kennedy's federal aid program for public grade and high schools.

ONE OF the many freak consequences of the Illinois floods in pictures here where a house in Clinton has been carried for more than 200 feet by raging waters and finally stopped by a telephone pole. Just above its roof and chimney a car, leaving a battered garage, appears ready to drive over it. Devastating storms continued to harass wide areas of Kentucky, Arkansas and other sections of the West and Middle West. A tornado hit upper New York State.

Bates Wins Alderman's Post In Casselberry

Casselberry Fire Chief Paul Bates, in Monday's special election to name an Alderman filling the vacancy on the Board since February, won the post by a 387 vote over opponent Joe Bryant's 229.

Bates ran as an independent candidate while Bryant had the backing of the United Citizens.

Mrs. Lillian Beisel, clerk, reported today that of the 850 registered voters, 625 took part in the election. She said a total of 619 ballots were cast locally, three of which were disqualified. The remaining were absentee ballots which did not return in time.

Bates, who has been the town's fire chief for the past 20 years, has served eight years on the board, three as mayor. He said this morning that he conducted his campaign on the basis of work done in the past. He also stated that he ran opposed to the new charter and that the people knew it.

"I am a constructive man," Bates continued, "and I believe if you can't help anyone, you should leave him alone."

"I have plans for the future, especially concerning the children. My 20 years as volunteer fire chief have been without remuneration but I have received something that very few men have . . . 95 percent of the youngsters in this area, when they meet me on the street, call me by name . . . they know me and respect me and I respect them."

'Freedom Riders' Go Into Hiding

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—A group of bi-racial "freedom riders" forced to abandon an anti-segregation bus ride through the South flew here Monday night and immediately went into hiding.

The group was forced to cancel their violence-marred bus caravan when bus drivers refused to chauffeur them any further. The drivers' action apparently stemmed from violence surrounding two bus trips by the riders earlier this week and the refusal of Gov. John Patterson to guarantee the integrationists safe passage through Alabama.

The 16 members of the mixed racial group then arranged to fly from Birmingham to New Orleans. However, their departure was delayed when authorities received a telephone call that a bomb had been placed aboard the airliner.

The integrationists were removed from the plane and a search instituted. The flight was canceled and the group eventually departed on an Eastern Air Lines flight at 9:30 p. m.

Commission Asks Meet On County Home Needs

The County Commission today agreed to hold a joint meeting in the near future with Volusia County officials to study all aspects of financing and leasing a new county home to take care of the aged in Seminole County.

The meeting was suggested by District 3 Commissioner James P. Avery. Avery suggested that the board look over the Volusia Nursing Home and meet with Volusia Commissioner E. E. Stone, Volusia Auditor James Deplin and Sheriff John Johnson, manager of the home to discuss all aspects of a county home facility.

Avery earlier had suggested that either the county build a new facility or lease a facility to take care of the aged.

In other business, the board asked Road Supt. J. C. Lavender to write a recommendation on placing a load limit on certain subdivision streets.

Lavender earlier had suggested a 10-ton limit.

The board also authorized Chairman J. C. Hutchison to study the possibility of placing signs in the county parks to put a halt to recent outbreaks of vandalism.

Congolese Red Strengthens Stand

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—Communist-backed Antoine Gissanga was reported purging moderates in his Stanleyville regime today to block reconciliation with other Congolese leaders.

Observers here believed Gissanga was tightening his control over his Oriental Province government, particularly those leaders suspected of wanting an arrangement with President Joseph Kasavubu's central government at Leopoldville.

The observers recalled the recent warning by Central Foreign Affairs Minister Justin Bomboko that Oriental would be brought under Leopoldville control by force if necessary.

Economy Scores Gain In April

WASHINGTON (UPI)—New evidence that the economy scored a strong, widespread gain in April was reported today by Commerce Secretary Luther H. Hodges.

Hodges announced sizable increases in personal incomes, especially wages and salaries, and in factory sales and new orders.

Individual incomes reached a record annual rate of $419.5 billion, up $2.5 billion from the March rate and $4.1 billion from the February pace. Wage and salary payments advanced sharply, with more than half their increase in manufacturing.

New orders and sales of durable goods each advanced 4 per cent in April, an unusually large gain.

Reds Take Advantage At Meet

GENEVA (UPI)—Lack of Western unity and co-ordination has given the Communists an advantage even before the start of the 14-nation conference on Laos, Western officials conceded today.

The conference was scheduled to begin this afternoon to seek a formula to "neutralize" the little kingdom before the smouldering civil war there ignites all Southeast Asia.

The opening was delayed four days by bitter wrangling over who should represent Laos. The Communist demand that the rebel Pathet Lao receive equal status with the neutralists and the pro-Western government split the Allies. The United States finally gave in on this point Monday to save the conference.

Allied officials said this open argument—mainly between Britain and the United States—gave the Communists the upper hand going into the conference.

Liaison among the Allies has been so poor that Canadian Foreign Minister Howard Green appeared in the conference room last Friday ready for the meeting to begin. He had not been told it was postponed.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and British Foreign Secretary Lord Home were expected to try to remedy this state of affairs before the real battling starts.

Oviedo High School Annual Is Dedicated To Mrs. Arie

By MARIAN R. JONES

The 1961 Annuals "The Oviedo-ian," went on sale Monday. Mrs. Douglas Arie was surprised and thrilled to tears when her picture "We dedicate this Annual to..." Mrs. Arie has been secretary to the principal for the past eight years and has done a remarkable job and many side-jobs of "looking after the welfare of the children." She also has had to be "pestered" by "we parents" on many occasions when calling into the office. She did it with her usual smile though, for which we owe her a vote of thanks.

A copy of the annual was presented to Mrs. Arie at the Friday morning chapel program. The annual was published under the direction of Prof. Paul Mikler and Prof. Arch Hosick, sponsor and co-sponsor, with the able assistance of Miss Sandra Bellhorn, editor; Julie Gore, assistant director; Betty Duda, business manager; Marian Fabry, assistant business manager; Carol Took and Jerry Arndt, sports editors; Bessie Fleming, miscellaneous editor; Katherine Duda and Barbara Beasley, typists; Nancy Estes, photographer; Gladys Alford, assistant photographer and Denuta Moraki, ad editor with the assistance of all class members soliciting ads.

The "Favorites Section" features Bessie Fleming, the last of the five Fleming sisters at O.H.S., as O.H.S. sweetheart; Kenneth Sparks and Julie Gore, most school spirited; Nancy Estes and Mike Kennedy, wisest; Marian Fabry and Jerry Arndt, most athletic; Jerry Under and Bessie Fleming, cutest couple; Kenneth Sparks and Julie Gore, most popular; Jerry Arndt and Betty Duda, most likely to succeed; and Sandra Bellhorn and Walter Teague, most dependable.

Bessie Fleming, as miscellaneous editor, wrote the Class Prophecy, signing it Bessie Fleming, R. N., her chosen profession. It is witty and full of fun.

"The Last will and Testament," also under miscellaneous, brought many laughs from students and parents alike when read.

Salvation Week To Highlight Aid To Needy

National Salvation Army Week is being given recognition here with a listing of all the services and helps that the local corp has given to help the needy in this area.

During the first quarter of the year in Sanford, in the Social Welfare and Relief department, 265 applicants were given 41 grocery orders, 5,539 articles of clothing and 325 pairs of shoes.

Transient and homeless people were aided, with 116 persons given temporary lodgings, and fed 130 meals, with 14 of them being provided with shoes and clothing. Of the 127 persons who applied for help, 8 of them were women and 12 were children.

The work of the Salvation Army, besides its regular staff, is aided by thousands of volunteers across the nation, to strengthen community life, through its spiritual and social welfare ministry.

In addition to its welfare work with homeless people in service centers and camps, the Army provides care for children in settlements, day nurseries and home.

In one year, the organization helped 7,649 unwed mothers, across the nation, who were housed in its homes and also 4,683 who were not in residence.

Nearly a half million disaster workers and victims of floods, fires and other disasters were served with mobile canteens and thousands of persons in hospitals, correctional institutions, and other institutions were visited and helped.

One of the most important services of the Salvation Army is in providing social, educational and recreational programs for all age groups through community centers and through boy's clubs to encourage boys to grow to upright manhood.

Refreshments were served to Sheriell Melvin, Dennis Gaines, Michael Rich, Jimmy and Randy Wilbanks, Debbie Goble, Cindy Hood, Diana Chester and Ricky McGayhe.

The "Latin Quarter" in Paris is the site of the Paris University, and is so called because education at the university once was given in Latin and the students went about the streets singing in that tongue.

Gary, Folds, local DCT Club president opened the dinner meeting and Bill Liphrott gave the welcome address. Response was given by Ralph Cowan of Cowan's Dept. Store. Miss Gayle Burke delivered the invocation.

Each employer was introduced by his student employe after which DCT Coordinator Louis Girard presented annual awards.

Miss June Holloway was named Girl Student of the Year, Gary Folds, Boy Student of the Year and Bill Liphrott won the Achievement award. Girard concluded the presentations by citing achievements of the year's program made by each student.

Larry Davis, Seminole High Club member who is president of the State organization, was presented with a miniature mounted gavel by Miss Cathy Carlos, fellow student.

There were 103 employers and guests of the students in attendance.

High School Students Flunk Nationwide Civic Survey

EDITOR'S NOTE: Former President Harry S. Truman who since 1918 has increasingly criticized young Americans' ignorance of their Constitution and civic affairs, last week told a United Press International reporter, "If you want a headline, ask the younger generation what is the correct title of the Chief Justice." UPI did, and added five other basic questions in polling high schools across the nation. Here are the results.

Out of 213 average American high school students: —24 knew that Earl Warren's correct title is Chief Justice of the United States.

—153 could explain generally the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution.

—141 could name five cabinet positions in the executive branch of government.

—135 knew the U. S. senators from their states.

—173 could list three provisions in the Bill of Rights.

—111 knew that the initials CIA stands for Central Intelligence Agency.

These figures collected by United Press International in a 20-city survey, indicate former President Harry S. Truman was right when he said last week:

"The younger generation doesn't know enough about the Constitution or current events."

Asked what is Warren's correct title, most students said "Chief Justice of the Supreme Court" or "Chief Justice of the U. S. Supreme Court." A variety of answers ranged from the correct title to "Head Marshall of America" or simply "your honor."

The students knew more about the Fifth Amendment—or at least that part of it dealing with protection against self-incrimination. In one way or another, about 71 per cent of them said individuals "don't have to testify against themselves."

Only 10 of the 213 also knew the amendment guarantees "due process of law."

A senior at New Trier High School, Winnetka, Ill., said "it probably covers quartering of soldiers," and added "it is not very important to know about the Fifth Amendment." He said he was going to Princeton University next fall.

Several students apparently would have been better off pleading the amendment than trying to explain it. A 16-year-old Atlanta, Ga., boy thought it concerned "slavery and suffrage." Another said the amendment "states we may not ingratinate (sic) ourselves while giving testimony."

More than 66 per cent of the youngsters could name some "cabinet" positions, and many also knew officeholders' names, but a number of new positions were created, including "speaker of the House," "Chairman of health, wealth and education," "ordinary" and "coroner."

Nearly half the students could not name the two U. S. senators from their states. Of those who knew both, few could say which party they represented.

Four of the eight students questioned in Philadelphia knew their senators are Joseph H. Clark and Hugh Scott. One of six in Pittsburgh knew the two names, and none of six in San Francisco could correctly identify Clair Engle and Thomas H. Kuchel.

Poppy Day

Saturday, May 20, has been designated as Poppy Day for the Campbell Loring Post of the American Legion Auxiliary Unit 53 of Seminole County.

Melanie Anne Howard is this year's Poppy Girl. In 1919, after World War I, the poppies bloomed in abundance on the battlefields of France where so many of our men had fallen in battle and the replica of this poppy has become the Memorial Flower of the American Legion Auxiliary.

Contributions made on Poppy Day are given 100 percent to aid needy war veterans and children of veterans. It is a privilege and an opportunity to wear a Poppy on this day to pay tribute to all who have died in the service of their country.

The Poppies are made by hand by disabled veterans who receive pay for each Poppy they make, the material being furnished them free by the Auxiliary Department of the state in which the hospital is located.

Through the American Legion Poppy Day, more than $300,000 is paid annually to needy disabled service men and women for making the poppies.

Dr. Crone's

Worry Clinic

Donny's mother needs to mix a lot of "horse sense" with her medicine. But all parents of a firstborn tend to be overly fearful. So have more than one child in order to enjoy the later ones.

CARE H-485; Donny B., aged 4, is a lively youngster with a neurotic mother.

"Oh, Dr. Crone, I am so worried about Donny," she began. "He catches cold so easily and today his temperature has been 104."

"Besides, I forgot to give him his vitamins day before yesterday, so could that be what caused his fever?"

"I just go all to pieces worrying about his health. If I had another child, I'd be a wreck."

Donny's mother is wrong. With a second baby she'd be far more relaxed.

"Every little ailment of the firstborn causes undue apprehension in both mother and father. They are always afraid it may be fatal."

But when you've gained experience with the eldest, then you can calmly enjoy the next babies. For you know the firstborn went through fevers and upset stomachs and measles and falls downstairs without serious damage.

You new parents need to mix a lot of "horse sense" with your medicine. For instance, your own parents, now 40 or 50 years old, probably NEVER had spinach or cod liver oil or vitamin capsules or orange juice.

Yet they are undoubtedly as hearty as I am. Indeed, I never drank even an average of one glass of milk a day, nor did my brother and my two sisters, yet we are as healthy as can be.

And my father, as well as his four brothers and sisters, also drank little milk, never tasted spinach, had no oranges except at Christmas, yet all of them lived well into their 80's.

And they never sprouted almost naked on beaches trying to get suntans, either!

Furthermore, my grandparents lived to be 85 and 90 respectively, all without vitamins and modern scientific feeding.

So if you miss giving your child his feeding on schedule or overlook his vitamins, don't fret unduly.

Fat modern babies are not necessarily HEALTHIER babies: Vitamins and modern baby foods make fatter babies and taller babies.

But sheer bigness or tallness is NOT an antidote for disease! So please don't think your fussiness in the kitchen is what will insure your baby's long lifespan.

The chief reason babies have a longer life expectancy nowadays is due to vaccination against smallpox, inoculation against diphtheria and whooping cough, plus pasteurized milk, purified water, etc.

We still have no evidence today that the newer generations are going to live to be 110 or 120, despite vitamins and scientific feeding. The old people in George Washington's day lived as long as the old people today!

"Fit" may give you adults a temperature of 100 to 101. But your children may show 104 or 105 temperatures with the same thing.

And fever itself is a helpful thing for it promotes faster production of white blood corpuscles. Meanwhile it also slows down the multiplication of germs.

Simple inflammation of tonsils will run a child's fever to 105, but that isn't fatal. Call your doctor and let him watch the case but don't try to break the fever, at least till it passes 105.

(Always write to Dr. Crone in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long 4 cent stamp, addressed envelope and 30 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Hellum Hellum first was discovered in the sun's atmosphere by spectroscopic methods. It takes its name from the Greek word "hallos," meaning "sun."

Political Notebook

WASHINGTON—(NEA) — If appointed by former President Eisenhower. Some of them, like Llewellyn Thompson in Moscow, will be kept where they are. But many of them are expecting reassignment in the near future.

There are vacancies in Cuba, Dominican Republic, Hungary, New Zealand and Switzerland.

President Kennedy's nomination of his friend Earl E. T. Smith, former ambassador to Cuba, was withdrawn when it met Senate opposition. This is the President's only diplomatic appointment setback thus far.

Of the first 57 ambassadorial appointments by the President, 22 have been political. This is a 40 percent ratio, which is pretty high. But it is not expected this percentage will be maintained for the full diplomatic list. The Eisenhower average varied between 25 and 38 percent.

Among the obvious political appointments have been Averell Harriman as roving ambassador, Adlai Stevenson as ambassador to the UN, J. Kenneth Galbraith as ambassador to India, David K. E. Bruce to London, James M. Gavin to France, Anthony J. Drexel to Spain, William McCormick Blair to Denmark, John S. Rice to Netherlands, and Angier Biddle Duke as chief of protocol.

The two most impossible jobs in the department, advisor on disarmament and ambassador to the nuclear test ban negotiations in Geneva, have been given to Republicans—John J. McCloy and Arthur H. Dean of New York.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I recently went to a physician who has a reputation for being tops in his field. The doctor hardly looked at me, but he spent a full thirty minutes ASKING ME QUESTIONS.

Now I think a doctor who claims to be good should be able to find out what is wrong with a patient by just giving the patient a good thorough examination. What's your opinion? ANNOYED

DEAR ANNOYED: Next time go to a veterinarian. He is the only doctor I have ever heard of who can make a diagnosis without asking questions.

DEAR ABBY: While my husband was asleep, I went through his pockets to change a $5.00 bill to pay the milkman. I found a pink envelope addressed to him at a hotel where he recently stopped on business, marked "hold for arrival." I read it, Abby, and the more I read, the sicker I got. That love letter would make a cheap novel look tame.

I said nothing, but kept the letter, I've watched him search his pockets and brief case frantically. I know he's looking for that letter, but I have said nothing. I can't look him in the face, I detest him so much. We have young children to raise and I won't divorce him. But what am I going to do? I can't stand for him to touch me. SICK AND DISGUSTED

DEAR SICK AND DISGUSTED: Tell your husband you found the letter and let him take it from there. The air needs to be cleared, and it's up to you to make the first move.

DEAR ABBY: I have a nosy neighbor who is getting me down. She tells me all the neighbors' business and I am not even interested. She tries to find out my business so she can spread it around. She has asked me how much my income is and where it comes from. (I am a widow.) She has asked me what time I get up in the morning and what I had for lunch. She's asked why my married children haven't invited me to live with them or why they don't live with me. If I am gone from my home for a few hours she demands to know where I've been. She is extremely persilant and I have had no experience in handling such a rude and offensive person. How can I put her in her place without being as rude as she is? BEWILDERED

DEAR BEWILDERED: Don't pussy-foot with a cat. When she asks a personal question, tell her it is none of her business. There is nothing rude about defending one's privacy.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "A GIRL WHO CAN'T SAY NO": Better learn how to say "NO" now. It will come in handy later.

We The Women: By Ruth Millet

Going through today's mail I came across an ad that made me sit up and take notice. "We're out looking for new customers," it said.

Like most folks, my mailbox is usually half-filled with direct mail advertising. Catalogues, letters, postcards, folders, co-opers—all from people wanting to sell me something.

But do they come right out and say that they have something to sell or that I am a prospective customer? Nope. They all want to "give" me something, or do me a great big favor, or

I hope they get a lot more with their honest sales pitch. For if they do—maybe the men who stay awake nights trying to figure out ways to make a potential customer feel like a beneficiary will figure out that there's nothing wrong with honest selling.

And then we won't have to read a whole page of double talk before we finally find out what an advertiser is trying to sell. Isn't it amazing how refreshing a plain, honest sales message seems after all these years of the "we-want-to-do-you-a-favor" approach to selling?

Jacoby On Bridge

By Oswald Jacoby

How do you bid the North hand after West opens with one diamond? Naturally, you start by making a negative double and you are pleased when your partner responds with one spade.

What is your next bid? Should you give a single or double raise? Your hand is clearly worth a spade raise. Your partner may have a very bad hand. After all, you have practically forced him to bid, but there are still distinct possibilities of game. In fact many people think game is so likely that they jump to three spades with this type of hand.

However, a mere raise to two is sufficient. In itself this immediate single raise shows a very good hand because you are inviting a game after forcing your partner to bid.

With seven high card points, four spades after the raise. South won't be too happy with his contract after West opens the jack of spades, but because trumps break nicely and West holds both ace and king of hearts everything will come out all right.

NAACP Official Won't Retract Flag Statement

TAMPA (UPI)—Florida NAACP Field Secretary Robert Saunders, under fire from former Ku Klux Klan Grand Dragon Bill Hendrix of Oldsmar, said today he had no intention of retracting his statement that the Confederate flag was a "flag of treason."

Saunders and Hendrix differed over the weekend in a squabble touched off by a bill pending in the Florida Legislature which would prohibit "incultating, defacing, defiling, defiling, trampling upon, or casting contempt upon" the Stars and Bars.

Disc Jockey Guilty Of Payola

NEW YORK (UPI) — Disc jockey Peter Tripp was convicted today of having taken up to $35,000 in "payola" from record makers and distributors.

The technical charge of which Tripp was found guilty was commercial bribery.

A three-judge court found Disc Jockey guilty of 35 of 39 counts that charged him with taking payola in exchange for playing the record-makers' selections on his local radio program.

Brother And Sister Reunited After Seven Years

After a seven year separation, Mrs. J. A. Glasscock, the former Loretta Petroski, and her brother, Gary L. Petroski of Goldenrod, met May 8 at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. V. Petroski, 135 Birchwood Dr., in Maitland.

The brother and sister were parted when he entered the Army and she married. Her husband, Jimmy, and Gary were stationed in Germany and visited on holidays.

When they returned home, Gary was employed in Meadville, Pa., his hometown, and Jimmy was stationed in Camp Gordon, Ga., then again in Germany, this time taking Loretta and their two children with him. At the same time, Gary began working at the Martin Plant in Orlando.

On April 24, the Glasscocks returned to the United States and for the first time in the seven years, finally were able to visit the family for a reunion when Loretta's three children, Becky, Jimbo and Vinnie, who was born abroad, and Gary's son, Jeff, saw each other for the first time. This also was the first meeting of the sisters-in-law.

The Glasscocks and their family will go to Arizona when their vacation ends and Gary will continue at Martin's.

Whispering Smith Ends Up Just One More Disaster

NEW YORK (UPI) — First "Klondike" clunked. Then "Acapulco" went kaput. And Monday night, "Whispering Smith" tried out as NBC-TV's newest Monday night-11-9 EDT attraction.

The time slot has become a disaster area. Advance hoops indicated the series might be a frontier-style "checkmate." That is, Smith really developed new methods for apprehending outlaws when he served the Denver Police Department in the 1950s. He was a pioneer criminologist. Somewhere in translation into TV, though, the series lost something. It's just another bad Western.

Audie Murphy plays the title role in bland, expressionless, clenched-teeth style. As for his method for bringing in the villain, it seemed familiar. He shot the rogue in one of those outdoor fair fights.

Actually, there was a shred of absurd detective work in evidence. Before the showdown, Smith appraised the shooting style of Johnny Gates, the man who trained for 10 years for this encounter. Mrs. Gates was shown urging on her Johnny by whipping him. One of the actors referred to Mrs. Gates as "loud-mouth burple" and that struck me as a fine title for a companion series to "Whispering Smith." Anyhow, Johnny trained by filling scarecrows full of lead and imagining that his target was Smith.

Whispering developed a brilliant plan of action for the big gunfight. He threw himself to the ground, fired, and wounded Johnny. Later, he explained, "You been practicing on a stationary target, Johnny. When I moved you couldn't track me fast enough."

"Not? These science fakers are all over the TV screen these days. More modern criminology was employed by Mrs. Gates, who had to get Smith dismissed from the department before letting her son repay a family debt by attempting to murder her here. She sent her daughter out to frame Smith in one of those moony hotel room scenes.

But there were other equally memorable scenes: Ma Gates lashing her son with a bullwhip after he lost a saloon brawl.

A remorseful Johnny, played with feeling by Robert Redford, telling Smith, "when I kill you tomorrow, I won't laugh."

And my favorite scene of all came as Ma Gates heard her son say he no longer felt a hatred for Smith. Quickly, with great emotion, she straightened the kid out. "Don't throw it all away," she cried. "Don't stop now, when we're so close, Johnny boy."

I tell you, this is the show with heart.

Deanna Nichols Crowned May Day Queen

The annual May Day Ball, the climax of the Seminole High School schedule of formal dances, was held Saturday in the Civic Center.

May Queen Deanna Nichols, chosen as the most popular student, was crowned with a sparkling tiara by King, Mike Roberts.

The procession of the Queen's royal court proceeded down carpeted aisles forming a vee and meeting before the stairs ascending to the stage where a lovely garden scene was the setting for the crowning. White wrought iron chairs in a delicate design were enhanced by an archway of flowers and fern over the throne chairs and with flower bedecked columns around the background.

Tiny, four-year old Don Nichols bore the crown on a satin cushion and three and a half-year old Kim Roberts in fluffy white organdy was the flower girl.

The princesses of the court were seniors, Sunny Skinner, in two-toned blue taffeta, escorted by Doug Tammy and Susan Tallman in blue embroidered organdy, who was escorted by Emmett McCall.

Junior attendants were Debbie Scott, who wore a lavender and orchid gown and was escorted by Mike Caolo and Jeanne Robson, in a pale green sheer gown, trimmed in lace, whose escort was John Boniface.

Diane Beasley, in pink net was the sophomore princess and was escorted by Jack Ivey, Susan Halback, in gold-spangled organdy, escorted by Berry Johnson, represented the Freshman Class. Following the crowning ceremonies, the court and audience were serenaded by the girls Triple Trio singing "Tenderly."

Six tiny girls from the Joan Johnson school of dance then sang and danced a little hula for the Queen.

Soloist, Suzanne Jones sang "Love Is Where You Find It" and then the Triple Trio returned to close the program, singing a school favorite, "Moon Glow."

The orchestra played a special selection while the King and Queen, the princesses and escorts danced the first dance. Then at the second number all of the beautifully-gowned young ladies and handsomely dinner-jacketed young men rose to dance away the rest of the evening. In the center of the floor of the Civic Center ballroom, a tall, decorated May-pole stood with a flowing tiered fountain in which water lilies floated, at its foot and from its head a rainbow of colored streamers rayed out to all points of the room.

Tables were garnished with fern and flowers and glowed with candlelight while birds chirped and twittered from golden cages around the dance floor, to give a festive spring atmosphere to the ball.

Later in the evening refreshments were served and several home-type movies of school events during the year were shown.

Frank Yakot's orchestra played for the dancing and Buddy Kirk, president of the Key Club, served as Master of Ceremonies. The dance was sponsored by the Student Council.

Retarded Children Assn. To Kick-Off Membership Drive

Plans are underway by the Seminole Assn. for Retarded Children to kick-off an all-out drive to sell to the general public, shares in the organization, starting with the "Roaring Twenties Revue" being produced by the Navy Wives Club at the Seminole High School auditorium. The curtain is slated to rise on the performance of talented local amateurs at 8:15 p. m. Wednesday.

The aim of the sale of shares at $2 each, the cost of a year's membership, is to underwrite the badly needed support for the maintenance of the Little Red Schoolhouse.

This school for mentally retarded children of local parents was begun in August, 1939, when the facilities of the old building, which has been used for many purposes in its existence, were obtained to provide a place to start a school. A teacher, Mrs. Ida Sires was hired and enrollment began.

There now are seven children in the school, and Mrs. Sires can handle two or three more, but each child must be taken one at a time, with several weeks given to the orientation of each. This is to accustom him to the new world of the school, since many children, so afflicted never have been outside of their own home.

The Seminole Assn. was formed to underwrite and support the school, with parents of retarded children and others who are interested and compassionate, working diligently to found an active, functional organization. The membership is open to anyone who cares to lend his support and aid.

Foremost among the supporting clubs is the Civitan Club, whose annual Fruitcake Sales go entirely toward the support of the school, and other than private donations, this is the school's main means of financial support.

Several local women's societies also have helped, as have the Navy Wives Club. They have painted, made drapes, provided furnishings, cleaned and helped in innumerable ways. The Elks Wives Club and the TGF also have given valuable assistance. Kenneth McIntosh is the president of the organization, and the

Cleveland Concerned Over Urban 3-2 Vote

State Rep. Mack Cleveland Jr. today expressed "concern" over the split City Commission vote endorsing urban renewal for Sanford and said that the bill was still not out of the woods as far as the legislative delegation is concerned.

"Putting a project by project referendum in the bill," Cleveland said, "satisfied our major objections to the bill, but we still are concerned over the 3-2 vote," he said.

Trouble Looms For Rights Of Way Bill In House

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — A House-passed bill authorizing construction of a toll turnpike between Miami and Tampa cleared the Senate Roads Committee today, but an administration bill to tap state retirement funds for highway rights-of-way ran into trouble and was tossed to a subcommittee.

The Senate refused today to heed the tax warnings of its spending chairman and voted down an effort to get a bill off the calendar which would freeze county contributions to public schools at 25 per cent of the cost.

The bill for the Tampa-Miami turnpike is permissive and does not require that it be built. It merely authorizes the Turnpike Authority to make a study of the proposal and build it if feasible. The road committee delayed until Thursday action on a controversial bill to put a professional highway commissioner over the State Road Department, a proposal killed in the House after Gov. Farris Bryant publicly opposed it.

Vienna Mentioned As Major Talk Site

VIENNA (UPI) — Austrians began making tentative plans today to host a summit meeting early next month between President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

Foreign Minister Bruno Kreisky and Chancellor Alfons Gorbach said the Austrian government would be "very pleased" to act as host.

Navy Hunts Clues For Vanishing 27

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — On Dec. 5, 1945, five Navy Avenger bombers carrying 14 men roared off from a Florida base on a post-war training mission over the Atlantic. They never returned.

A Martin Mariner amphibian carrying a 18-man crew took off to search for the missing squadron. It vanished too, and the mystery has gone unsolved for more than 15 years.

Last Thursday, a dredge puffing in the Banana River here may have churned up the first clue to the fate of the 27 missing airmen.

It is possible, a Navy officer said Tuesday, that the wreckage speared up by the dredge might be from one of the Avengers. Parts of a body were also found.

South Nears Major Victory On School Aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Administration leaders, in a bid for Southern support, were reported today to have accepted an aid-to-education amendment which in effect would prevent the government from withholding funds from segregated schools.

The amendment is drafted in general terms. It would bar the withholding of school aid funds to exert any kind of federal control.

Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, (D-Ga.), originally wrote the amendment to the $2.5 billion Kennedy administration school aid bill. But under the strategy approved by Democratic leaders, it probably will be offered instead by Sen. Lee Metcalf, (D-Mont.).

The version put forth by Talmadge is not as strong as another by Sen. Strom Thurmond, (D-S.C.), which would specifically forbid the government to withhold funds from states or communities which operate segregated schools. This amendment, due for a vote today, appeared headed for defeat.

Freedom Riders Ignore Threats

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — The "freedom riders," a band of white and Negro travelers who endured curses, blows and a fire bomb in a bus trip through the South, today ignored threats posed by a Louisiana segregationist group.

A Citizens' Council spokesman called for officials to run the "freedom riders" out of the town and state "before violence erupts."

But 14 of the "freedom riders," turned out of one bus and beaten in Alabama, planned to be on hand tonight for a rally marking the seventh anniversary of the Supreme Court's decision banning public school segregation.

A council official said the arrival of the group "warrants immediate action to rid the community and the state of the agitators before violence erupts."

He called their presence an invitation to riot.

"We expected arrests when we left Washington early this month—but not attempted murder," said Dr. Walter Bergman, one of the travelers in commenting on the bus trip that ended in Birmingham, Ala.

Nevertheless he hailed the trip as "the most significant thing done in race relations in years."

Bergman is a former University of Michigan professor.

He told a news conference Tuesday the journey had accomplished its purpose. So did a traveling companion, the Rev. B. Elton Cox, a Negro minister from High Point, N. C.

"It pricked the conscience of the country and gave Americans a new concept of the depth of segregation and degradation in the Deep South," Bergman declared. "It proved what we set out to prove," Cox said, "that American citizens cannot travel freely in the United States. Laws are on the books but they are not being enforced."

City Clamps Down On Church Services At Civic Center

The City has established a new ruling for clamping down on the use of the Civic Center for holding religious services, City Manager W. E. Knowles said today.

Knowles said he sent a directive to the recreation and parks department recently putting the new ruling into effect.

In his memo on the directive Knowles said "The Civic Center will not be available for any church or religious sects or organizations for services or other uses."

According to him, the city will honor any "existing" commitments but would terminate any future use by such groups.

At the present time, the Jehovah's Witnesses are preparing to hold their spring circuit assembly in the facility.

Knowles pointed out in the memo that "I wish to point out that the City Commission did not allow any leeway for anyone, including the city manager, to vary from this ruling."

"I suggest that a copy of this be kept on hand to show anyone affected, because I doubt if it will be very popular."

Sanford Woman Seriously Hurt In Auto Mishap

A 44-year-old Sanford woman was listed in "critical" condition at Seminole Memorial Hospital today after she was injured in a one car accident on Hwy. 17-92, one mile north of Sanford early this morning, the Florida Highway Patrol reported.

Trooper J. L. Sikes said that Ruby Keller Elliott, 616 E. Third St., suffered severe head injuries in the mishap which occurred at 4:30 a. m.

A passenger in the car, Juanita Johnson, was shaken up in the accident and was treated in the emergency room at the hospital for cuts and bruises.

Sikes said that Mrs. Elliott apparently fell asleep at the wheel when the accident occurred. He said that the car, a 1960 model, turned over twice and crashed into a tree.

The car was declared a total loss, Sikes added.

Courthouse Inspection Set

A complete inspection of the courthouse by zoning department building inspectors will get underway within the next week after the County Commission Tuesday authorized the inspection to find out cost estimates to fix leaks in the building and other needed repairs.

Chairman J. C. Hutchison Tuesday echoed the words of the entire body when he said "something is going to have to be done about this building."

District 4 Commissioner Vernon Dunn said "If we only had the courage to increase the building fund millage to one mill, with $5 million for new construction added to the tax roll each year a courthouse project could be accomplished with only a 23-year bond issue and possibly a 20-year issue."

NAS Schedules Open House This Saturday

An open house at the Naval Air Station will highlight the local observance of Armed Forces Day, Saturday.

The hours during which the base will be opened to the public will be from 11 a. m. to 4 p. m. A full program of events is scheduled including two vertical assaults on a position by a Marine assault unit operating from helicopters.

In addition, a realistic ground assault on a "pill-box" position complete with explosive charges, flame thrower and automatic weapons will be made by the Marines of the NAS Marine Barracks.

Static displays will include an F-102, F-101, F-100, A4D Skyhawk, F8U "Crusader," ASD "Skywarrior" and a full scale model of the "Bullpup" missile.

Another interesting event on the day's program will be a ground controlled approach to be made by a station plane during which the transmissions between the controller and the pilot will be broadcast to the crowd.

On display at the main hangar deck will be an A3J "Vigilante" trainer which will be open for inspection by the public. This trainer is an exact model of the A3J cockpit. North American's A3J "Vigilante" is the Navy's newest bomber and is scheduled to arrive at the station this summer.

Summit Meeting On Laos Nears

VAN NAMONE, Laos (UPI) — Negotiators of the royal Laotian government and two rebel factions agreed today to hold a summit meeting on formation of a coalition regime on a meeting site.

The coalition would include the pro-Western government of Premier Prince Boun Oum, the "neutralists" of ex-Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma and the pro-Communist Pathet Lao.

The United States called today for a strengthened, veto-free control commission to enforce the cease-fire in Laos, where the rebels and the pro-Western government were reported to have agreed to try and form a coalition regime.

The delegate for the Souvanna Phouma regime, Pheng Phoung Savan, accepted a royal proposal for the summit meeting, but insisted the conference be held in Xieng Khouang, the rebel "capital."

The meeting ended with no decision on this point. The negotiators scheduled another session for Friday to decide on a meeting site and other points.

The government was expected to hold out for either Luang Prabang or Vientiane.

The three factions also agreed to the formation of a sub-commission to "cooperate" with the International Control Commission in enforcing the cease-fire.

But they made no agreement on forming a joint delegation to represent Laos at the 14-nation conference in Geneva.

Bill Killed

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The House Education Committee killed a bill Tuesday that would have required failed students in all newly-constructed public schools. The action came after education officials said the measure would add 80 per cent to school building costs.
