The Driving Force

In a power-rich land such as ours, where heat, light and energy are 'available at the touch of a switch or the turn of a valve, it seldom occurs to us all areas of the world are not so fortunate.

In Gambia, Africa, a peanut farmer burns the shells to fuel his electric generator.

Cotton seed husks fire boilers in the Sudan and Tanganyika. In East Africa waste from a tea plantation runs a generator. The Siamese convert rice and sugar waste into power. In our own country many industrial by-products serve as fuel to achieve production more efficiently, with less expense. This serves to point up the fact that the driving forces, the power behind all of man's machines and op-erations isn't, primarily, fuel in terms of coal, gas, water or nuclear energy.

The true drive stems from his ingenuity, make-do and know-how.

Delusion Of De Gaulle

French President Charles de Gaulle's Western allies have gone through several cycles in their relationship with him. It is clear they have now entered another one.

In World War II he was first greatly admired for his foresighted military judgments and then nearly despised for his ramrod stiffness as a leader in exile who often hamstrung his more powerful confederates in America and Britain.

They gave him new regard when he became France's first postwar leader. They knew he alone could restore some semblance of order to a torn nation. But when the French cast him aside, statesmen in friendly countries took it as fresh proof De Gaulle was unsuited to politics. There were a few regrets.

Out of retirement he came. In 1958, once more to lead a badly disrupted country. To Western men who feared for France's future as a free land, his coming was a marvel of resurrection.

All the qualities previously scorned were now halled as just what France needed. There seems little reason to doubt the soundness of this view. De Gaulle pulled his people together, ended the draining Algerian strife, set his country on a highly prosperous course.

Yet the same delusions of French grandeur which marred his wartime tics with Churchill and Roosevelt showed themselves anew in this otherwise remarkable second De Gaulle regime.

Flouting reality, he talks of separate defense for France in a nuclear war. in truth, America's power is his only shield. in the face of the strongest assurances of aid America has given any land in peace time, he professes doubt that we would come swiftly to France's side in every conceivable future war emergency.

The basis for his doubt is false. He cites our "slowness" in entering each of the two world wars.

But on those two occasions we had no commitments to help France or anyone else. We were an isolationist nation, in contrast to today. when we are enmeshed in countless military and diplomatic entauglements around the globe. We now have more soldiers in Europe than we had in our whole army before World War II.

Farthermore, if slowness is the issue, France itself stands convicted of painful inaction even after it was in World War II, A France that was not helping itself carries little weight as a complainant today.

France in 1963 is not a great power, nor is it ever likely to be so again. It is a highly prized element in the valiant free world family. But its future safety and well being are entirely bound up with the fortunes of all the other important members of that family.

De Gaulle's efforts to deny this bond have gone too far. He needs his friends more than they need him. He has dreamed long enough. It is time he looked the harsh facts of modern nuclear life straight in the face. They do not favor the course he now pursues.

Miss Mary Anne Watson Vows Said In Beautiful Candlelight Ceremony

In a setting of servenity and beauty, accented by eandle-light, the marriage of Miss Mary Anne Watson and James Curtis Jones was sol-emnized on Friday evening. July 5, at 5 p.m. in the First Baptist Church, with the Rev. Fred B. Chance, pastor, of-

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Margaret K. Watson and the late Mr. John H. Watson, and Mr. Jones' parents are Mr. and Mrs. John D. Rown Jr., of Jacksonville, formerly of Sanford,

The vows were spoken before the altar which was decorated with baskets of white gladioli and potted palms. Three seven branched candel-abra, entwined with fern and white blossoms, held burning tapers which furnished illumination for the service. Family pews were marked with sprays of white blossoms and fern tied with white satin ribbons.

Miss Joan Wilke, organist, gave a program of traditional wedding music prior to the ceremony and Miss Patty Glenn Johnson, soloist, sang "I Love You Truly," "Be-cause" and "The Wedding Benediction."

The bride was radiant in a traditional wedding gown fashioned of Chantilly lace over satin. The fitted bodice was finished with long, tapered sleeves and closed at the back with self covered buttons. It featured a sweetheart neckline and a brush train which fell from unpressed pleats at the waist. Her imported veil of illusion was attached to a headpiece of satin petals and pearlized orange blossoms. She carried a white Bible which church upon graduation from high school. After a wedding trip to Silver Springs and other points of interest the couple will re-side at 2315 Palmetto Avenue, Apt. B. For traveling, Mrs. Jones chose a double breasted, two piece suit of dacron-seersucker of olive green and white stripe, with a scalloped edge on the bodice. With it she wore white accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet. Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Arthur

Dear Авьц:

DEAR ABBY: Could you please tell me why so few Americans hang up flags on special holidays? On our street there was only one flag out on Memorial Day-ours. We are English born and America is our new home. We love it, but can't understand this about the American people. They praise America, sing the anthem, but when it comes to paying $2.40 for a flag, they hesitate. It beats me. In England, a flag flies from every house, large and small. It was the same on my daughter's street here in America. One flag-theirs, It makes me so mad I could scream.

..... CANOGA PÅRK

DEAR CANOGA: The colorful tradition of showing the flag seems to be fading in America. And it's regrettable, for my taste. But REAL patriotism doesn't have to be demonstrated. Some of the most confused un-Americans are frantic flag-wavers. We have our Colonel Blimps, too.

DEAR ABBY: I was under the impression that my husband was working seven days a week, night and day, for five months. One afternoon a young woman came to my apartment and told me that my husband has practically been living with her all that time. She said she loved him and wanted me to give him up. When my husband came home and saw her there he almost jumped out of the window. He told her in front of me that it was all over between them. She said she'd never let him go. He practically had to throw her out. I never felt so sorry for a woman in all my life. My husband has tried to make it up to me in every way

It is very embarrassing to me when a waitress notices that I haven't eaten much and asks, "Was there something wrong with the food and she gives me an argument, and says, "Are you SURE there's nothing wrong with it? You hardly touched it." Abby, I'm not a child, and I don't need to be coaxed into eating more than I want. How can I get waitresses to stop calling attention to the fact that SMALL EATER

Fige Sunfart Gerald Page 10-Tues, July 9, '68 Dollar Squeeze Put On Cuba All Over World

WASHINGTON (UP1) - A new crackdown on financial transactions with Cuba is expected to make it difficult for Cuba to deal in dollars anywhere in the world, U.S. officials said today.

The new regulations block more than $30 million in Cuban assets in U. S. banks, prohibit unlicensed transfer of dollars to or from Cuba, and bar unlicensed transactions with Cuba or Cuban nationals or transactions involving Cuban property. In effect, the order bars Cuba from use of the U. S. banking system, for example, in transmitting funds for purposes of subversion elsewhere in Latin America.

It is almed at such cases as the arrest of a man in Ecuador last month on charges of being a Cuban agent, who had $25,000 in U. S. currency in his possession. Because any transaction in dollars, even through foreign PRICE OF BEAUTYbanks, at some point involves a clearing operation with a U. S. bank, officials believe the order also will prevent Cuba from trading in U. S. surrency with other countries.

The regulations could affect Cuban diplomatic operations in Latin American counafter a shampoo. ### Attorneys For Hoffa Accuse Justice Aides

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) Attorneys for Teamsters president James R. Hoffa say that the U.S. Justice Department violated the secrecy of a grand jury which indicted the union leader, and "threatened and cajoled" some of the jury witnesses. In seven pre-trial motions iled Monday, asking that the jury tampering charges against Hoffa be dropped, the attorneys charged that the witnesses were allegedly threatened by a special as-sistant to U. S. Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy.

The attorneys said the assistant sat in on some grand jury sessions which resulted in the indictment against Hoffa, took notes and later used them in an attempt to have witnesses change their testimony. They also asked that if the charges are not dropped, the trial be moved to another city.
