

Foreign Group Gives Program For Area PTA

By Shirley Wentworth
The program of last Tuesday's meeting of the Bear Lake Elementary PTA was highlighted by a panel of three foreign students who took part in a roundtable discussion on educational facilities and requirements at the elementary level in their native lands as compared to those in this country.

Making up the panel were David Chan of Hong Kong, Balphazar Hayer of Switzerland and Martha Sanchez of Nicaragua. Discussion, led by Allen Actor, PTA program chairman, revealed that there is more similarity than differences in teaching methods used in all countries represented.

The regular monthly PTA business session was held preceding the program. Mrs. Marly Tomlin and John Hall were elected as delegates to represent the school for the County PTA Council and Mrs. Beverly Gray and Mrs. Joan Kelley were appointed to serve on a nominating committee with a third member to be appointed from the executive board.

Room count was won by Mrs. Gore's fourth grade class and fourth grade mothers were hostesses for the social and refreshment period.

Rollins Reading Professor Speaks For CTP

By Jane Casselberry
Dr. Carol Burnett, professor of Reading at Rollins College in Winter Park, was guest speaker for the regular monthly meeting of the Council of Teachers and Parents held last Tuesday at the South Seminole Elementary School at Casselberry.

Speaking on "Children's Reading Problems in Elementary Grades," she expressed the belief that students should not be required to repeat a grade due to poor reading ability in the first three grades because some children are naturally slower than others in developing reading skills.

Dr. Burnett thinks that a good balance in the use of phonics or sight reading is preferable over specific use of one or the other.

Major Joseph Laird, CTP president, presided at the meeting.

Copies of the revised Constitution and By-Laws were distributed and will be voted upon at the April meeting.

A nominating committee, consisting of Mrs. James Shepherd, Mrs. Charles Lockyer, Mrs. May Ostrow, Mrs. J. H. Legg and Principal Christy Harp, was appointed to select a slate of officers also to be voted upon at the next meeting.

The committee will meet Wednesday morning at 9:15 in the office of the principal.

Refreshments were served in the cafeteria following the CTP meeting.

Water Vapor On Mars Proven

PALESTINE, Tex. (UPI) — The Stratoscope II space balloon probe of Mars confirmed the presence of water vapor and carbon dioxide on the planet, scientists reported today. But they could not tell whether there was enough to support any form of life.

During last Friday night's flight of the giant unmanned balloon with an instrument package and a 36-inch telescope, scientists got five "acans" of Mars.

They could not get more views of the red planet because of its position in the sky and trajectory of the balloon as it sailed from Palestine to land at a point near Pulaski, Tenn.

During the Civil War, a small band of Confederate soldiers crossed the Canadian border on Oct. 19, 1864, and raided the Vermont town of St. Albans, robbing the bank before escaping back into Canada according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Castro Decrees Death For Burglars, False Cops, Thieves

MIAMI (UPI) — Premier Fidel Castro decreed death early today for burglars, false policemen and thieves who use children in their work.

In a two-hour speech broadcast by Radio Havana, Castro declared also that he has just about patched up his differences with the Roman Catholic Church. He said some fundamentalist protestant sects still oppose him, but charged that they are "subsidized by (U. S.) imperialists."

The bearded revolutionary depicted Havana as a city terrorized in some areas by housebreakers and infested in others by "pretty boys," "students who do not study," and "bums" and "shiftless types" who hang around pool halls.

It was the first time he had revealed the existence of so many "anti-social types" in Cuba.

Castro said he is going to recruit troops and skilled workmen from Cuba's factories to man the "most modern weapons" which he said his regime now possesses.

He denounced refugees for fleeing from Cuba, but at the same time assailed the United States for not providing transportation to carry them away.

This was a reference to the fact that the most recent shipment of U. S. ransom goods to the Castro regime was carried by a freighter which went to Germany instead of returning to the United States.

Castro spoke at a mass meeting marking the sixth anniversary of a suicide attack on the Cuban "White House" by about 30 students led by Jose A. Echeverria. All of the attackers were killed.

The premier made no reference to the 1957 attack.

Castro's speech contained the usual attacks on President Kennedy and other U. S. leaders, who he implied are afraid to smash him because of Soviet threats of retaliation.

His main attack, however, was focused on internal conditions.

"There are neighborhoods in the capital, such as Alta Habana, where . . . families are terrorized by anti-social elements," he said. "At times, they use children to carry out robberies or to enter houses and open them."

"We must take measures against that. For those who rob houses, using violence, there must be the death penalty."

He said also that persons masquerading as policemen will be executed.

Castro said that in some cases crooked judges work hand in glove with the thieves.

In his comments on the church, Castro blamed "reactionaries" for the differences which led the Roman Catholic Church to excommunicate him because he expelled scores of priests from Cuba.

Since that time, however, the Vatican has exchanged some kind of an understanding with the Kremlin through Alexei Adzhubei, Premier Nikita Khrushchev's son-in-law, who ended a two-week visit to Italy yesterday.

"Conflicts between the (Castro) revolution and the Catholic Church have begun to disappear," Castro said. "In the first months of the revolution there was talk of counter-revolutionary (anti-Castro) cases in the church but now such talk is seldom heard."

U.S. Denies Navy Fired On Trawler

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department says Russia's charge that U. S. Navy ships fired on a Russian trawler was "without foundation."

No "surface vessel" was within 12 miles of a U. S. destroyer engaged in gunnery practice as the Russians said, and a State Department spokesman added that the ship was firing ammunition with only a seven-mile maximum range.

Spokesman Lincoln White said investigation of the alleged incident 70 miles east of Norfolk on March 8 when the Russians said two missile cruisers and a destroyer fired dummy rounds at the Soviet fishing boat revealed: The site of the alleged incident is located within "an established and recognized U. S. Navy operations area," and on the day in question, "U. S. naval vessels, none of which were cruisers, were in the area."

"Six U. S. Navy destroyers fired gunnery exercises in this area on March 8."

"The ship nearest the location of the alleged incident fired an anti-aircraft practice at a towed sleeve target. At the time of the firing this ship was 10 miles from the position which the Soviet Union reports was the location of the incident."

How Long, How Long?

They say one picture is worth a thousand words. This picture shown above, taken by our Herald Photographer, Bill Vincent Tuesday at the scene of the truck-train collision in South Seminole, graphically highlights the need for traffic signals at every rail crossing in this area. We have repeatedly urged, stressed, and begged for traffic signals at all the crossings. Let this picture speak for itself. Why do we always wait so long!

Political Notebook

WASHINGTON (NEA) — It is both sheer coincidence and inevitable fate that half a dozen important matters affecting the U.S. transportation policy have come to a head at one time. They illustrate better than anything else the mess this policy is in.

President Kennedy has again sent to Congress recommendations for new transportation legislation which Congress last year did nothing about.

The U.S. Supreme Court has held in effect that railroads have the right to change work rules which would eliminate what the employers call "featherbedding" and the employees call "job security."

This decision would become effective March 29 after more than a decade of hickering between management and labor and two years of presidential commission investigation and court litigation.

Railroad management now has invited the four "central" brotherhoods, with 200,000 members, to resume talks on this subject in Chicago March 13.

If either side or both of them decide at that time they have nothing further to discuss, the issue becomes a National Mediation Board case, headed for settlement or a strike about June 1.

Before this crisis hits the 11 off-train brotherhoods with 450,000 members are scheduled to begin negotiations with Class 1 railroads for a new wage agreement.

A complete railway tie-up by early summer is possible.

A Senate subcommittee, headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., has just reported favorably on his proposal to defer until 1964 all action on railroad merger applications now before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Legislation to provide more federal aid for mass transportation facilities in metropolitan areas does at last seem likely to pass in this session of Congress.

Repeated delays to which the handling of vital transportation issues have been subjected are viewed by many authorities as precisely what's wrong with the transportation picture today.

Nothing was done about transportation problems while they were small and manageable. Indecision has allowed them to grow until they are almost unmanageable.

The big bottleneck is resistance to change.

Unless all forms of transportation can modernize to take advantage of new technologies, unless they can be regulated and allowed to compete on more even terms, some of them appear to be headed for bankruptcy, nationalization or extinction.

This is the gist of "Quest for Crisis," a new study of world transportation problems made by James N. Sites of the American Association of Railroads.

On an Eisenhower fellowship last year, Sites found that wherever sound economic practices governed transportation policy—as in Switzerland, Germany and The Netherlands—the railroads give good service.

Where politics and resistance to change have determined transportation policy—as in Britain and Italy—the railroads are in a mess.

Present soundings indicate that if the Kennedy administration exerts the right kind of pressure, it can get action in this session of Congress on the President's transportation reform program, which includes two principle bills.

The first would give the railroads exemption from the minimum freight rate regulation such as now enjoyed by waterways in carrying bulk cargo and by motor trucks in carrying farm products.

If Congress does not approve this, the President proposed as an alternative that waterway and highway carriers be brought under the same regulation as the railroads.

The second bill is a catch-all which would in effect make air, rail, truck and water carriers more truly competitive by equalization of rates and regulation, elimination of subsidies and approval of experimental and joint tariffs aimed to give shippers better and lower cost services.

"Every Now and Then I Throw Him a Bone!"

Helen Fuller Says

Congress Aiding Colds?

WASHINGTON — Had a bad cold lately? If your doctor couldn't do much to help, maybe Congress can.

Last week the U. S. Public Health Service announced its belief that there is a link between colds and air pollution. According to Surgeon General Luther L. Terry there is "strong circumstantial evidence" that sulphur compounds in the atmosphere "trigger outbreaks of upper respiratory infections"—runny or stopped-up noses, coughs and sore throats.

Sulphur gases enter the air from burning coal and oil in factories and home furnaces, and through some refining processes. Most modern plants have devices that trap smoke and ashes before they can leave the smokestack. But they are not equipped to stop the noxious sulphur gases from escaping into the air.

Earlier this year President Kennedy called on Congress to approve a program to deal with air pollution in general on the same kind of large-scale basis we are now attacking the problem of water pollution. Now, since new findings of the specific harmfulness of sulphur fumes have come out, Sen. Maurice Neuberger (D. Ore.) is urging Congress to call for intensified research to get at this cause of the common cold at the source.

Several recent studies cited by Sen. Neuberger demonstrate what he describes as "a dramatic relationship" between the levels of sulphur dioxide and sulphur trioxide in the air and the frequency and duration of the common cold and other respiratory ailments. Studies carried out by Dr. Curtis Dohan, professor of preventive medicine at the University of Pennsylvania and medical director for the Radio Corporation of America compared the frequency of colds among office and industrial workers in selected cities with the levels of sulfates in the air in those cities. In the eight eastern cities Dr. Dohan studied there was a striking relationship between the frequency with which workers were laid low by colds and the level of sulfates in the air. There appeared to be no relation between the frequency of colds and the presence in the air of other pollutants or weather conditions.

Recent investigation by the Public Health Service in different areas of the country from those studied by Dr. Dohan reveal equally dramatic evidence of correlation of sulfides in the air and asthma.

Finding a probable cause of tens of millions of lost work-days every year, not to mention the "personal distress due to coughs and sneezing," does not guarantee a rapid cure. The problem, it seems, is to find a way to remove sulphur from fuels before they are burned—at a cost that is not prohibitive. The U. S. Bureau of Mines has a method of extracting as much as 90 per cent of the sulphur from fuel oils—but at a high price. That does not daunt the lady Senator from pioneer Oregon. Sen. Neuberger proposes that Congress assign the technicians to give the same old American try to the problem of a low-cost way to extract sulphur from fuels that has solved considerably more difficult problems in the past.

Shall it be said of a nation on its way to the stars that it couldn't cure the common cold?

 Funeral and burial expenses give you something else to live for.

An Ohio man was locked in a store refrigerator for two days. What a waste of time in these cold days.

A wife is a doll. Her husband should take her out to a nice restaurant once in a while to get her stuffed.

Don't worry about your hands getting cold these days. Prices will keep them deep in your pockets.

Over the country there are millions of little reasons why you should pay attention to school zone speed limits.

There's no place like home... for pictures!

Dr. Crane's Worry Clinic

CASE O-482: Myrtle D., aged 34, is the wife of a professor.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "my husband rages and storms because I wear a girdle."

"He claims that girdles and corsets are artificial aids that women should never employ."

"For he says if we lived right, we'd never require such unnatural devices to hold our waistlines in shape. "But I feel much better when I wear a girdle, so is my husband right?"

Corset manufacturers and the salesmen of girdles are actually God's assistants. Maybe that sounds surprising at first glance, but please recall the simple fact that God expected us human beings to improve on the body we get at birth.

For example, shoe manufacturers are also God's assistants. For the human foot is not adapted for sharp stones, plus snow and ice, unless it is protected with footwear invented by the human brain.

God gave the horse a single type of hard hoof. But even the horse has benefited from man's ingenuity in equipping the horse with iron shoes to keep its hoof from being cut to shreds on sharp stones.

God created us so we were figuratively born with shoes in our heads.

He expected us to employ our fertile brain to protect our feet with all sorts of footwear, including skis and ice skates, rubber boots and galoshes, tennis shoes and high heeled pumps, sandals etc.

Because we were thus born with shoes in our heads, we have innumerable variations and can adapt more readily to outside weather changes than any other creature on this Earth.

All of us are born naked. But God expects us to wear clothing, despite nudists to the contrary, for clothing is more efficient than bare skin.

Chickens have only one "suit" of feathers and animals have only one fur coat. They do make a shift from winter to summer via molting or shedding excess fur, but they are incapable of quick changes.

A human being, however, can shift from a bathing suit to a winter costume within 5 minutes. And next day, if the weather again turns balmy, he can change back again.

The poor hen or dog just pants when a sudden stiff converts freezing outdoor climate to a torrid wave.

Myrtle's husband seems to think it is disgraceful to improve on nature, yet he himself has filled teeth and a partial plate in his mouth. He also wears eye glasses, thus improving on his defective vision.

As regards to the human torso, a corset or girdle is just as valuable an aid to the body as eyeglasses, false teeth or a hearing aid.

South Seminole Elementary Has First Readiness Clinic

By Jane Casselberry
The first of three readiness clinics for parents of children entering the first grade next year was held at the South Seminole Elementary School at Casselberry Tuesday night.

The meeting was well attended by interested parents who were given suggestions on things to do in preparing their child to enter school for the first time.

A fascinating collection of colorful pre-school toys and games, which are fun as well as educational, was displayed and uses were explained.

Parents also were shown how to make many do-it-yourself scrap craft projects. Reading readiness books were available and their uses also were explained.

The clinics are sponsored by the Council of Teachers and Parents with the next one scheduled for Tuesday, April 9. It will deal with specific problems such as speech, eye-sight, the timid child or other areas of social adjustment.

Vacation days are planned for children who will be attending first grade at South Seminole next year on March 27 or April 3, according to the area in which they live.

More details will be announced later.

Art Exhibit Preview Set

Some 15 works of art will be displayed at the Hollis College Musee Gallery of Art Sunday for an invitational preview from 3 to 5 p. m. of an exhibit of contemporary sculpture and paintings by the art faculty of the University of Florida.

Among the 15 contributing artists are Hollis Holbrook, head of the U of F art department and Enrique Montenegro, a visiting artist on leave from the University of Texas.

After Sunday the public is invited to visit the Gallery and view the exhibit through April 14.

Mrs. Gerald Knight from Apopka was the guest speaker, and gave a very interesting talk on horticulture. She said, "There is no such thing as a 'green thumb.' Plants need water, food, good environment and someone to work with them. In case one needs help with a particular plant, your County Agent has bulletins on almost anything, which our taxes pay for, and you should use them."

I have had so many nice letters this week from readers. It is wonderful and I am so glad to receive them, so keep them coming. Received a letter from a reader in response to Mrs. J. D. (Nell) Cordell's request for pickled eggs. Here is Mrs. John Donelson's recipe. In fact she sent in two different ones. First one is: Remove pickled beets from jar and add hard boiled eggs that have had shells removed. Leave over night in pickle juice.

The other one is to save pickling vinegar from your favorite pickles, color any desired color with food coloring, or no color at all. Eggs become tough if left indefinitely in the vinegar. So, Nell, try these and if any one else has a different idea let us hear from you.

Miss Beasley Honored At Bridal Shower
By Linda Smithson
Miss Barbara Beasley, Oviedo bride-elect, was honored with a recent miscellaneous shower in the auditorium of St. Luke's Christian Day School in Slavia.

Hostesses for the party were Mrs. Anna Mikler, Mrs. Olga Jakubeln, Mrs. Emily Jakubeln, Mrs. Elizabeth Duda, Mrs. Pauline Arnold and Mrs. Mary Tesinsky. Barbara greeted the guests, seated at a table adorned with an arrangement of azaleas and roses and wore an orchid corsage, a gift from the hostesses. Assisting her in opening the many gifts were her bridesmaids, Judy Jakubeln, Carol Parker, Pat Hollar and Virginia Beasley. More than 50 friends of Miss Beasley attended the shower.

Green plants in bathrooms can add immeasurably to the decor says the Society of American Florists. The softness of plant life injects a feeling of decoration which otherwise is difficult to achieve. The steam from the shower and sunlight from a bathroom window insure healthy growth of plants.

13th Birthday Celebrated At Slumber Party

Miss Mary Ann MacTavish, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. MacTavish, was guest of honor at a slumber party Saturday night at their home 205 Oakland Ave. in Sunland Estates.

The honoree had celebrated her 13th birthday earlier in the week. A group of friends arrived in the afternoon for an all night gab-fest and enjoyed watching TV and dancing the twist.

Party favors were given to each guest and snacks served during the evening.

On Sunday morning they all attended 8:30 Mass, then returned for a breakfast of doughnuts and milk before going to their respective homes.

Invited guests included Christine Androsko, Judy Bates, Linda Ellingwood, Juanita Dillow, Linda Leahy, Kristine Smith, Janice Wolfe, Sharon Pariani and Trudy Fortwig.

Farewell Gifts Presented To VAH-9 Wives

The pinerest home of Mrs. D. F. Munday was decorated in a spring theme when Mrs. W. E. Markley and Mrs. Munday entertained the VAH-9 Officer Wives at their monthly coffee. A table spread of fruit kabobs, sweet rolls and cookies was served with the coffee.

Center of interest for the day was a table of gifts brought to the various wives by their husbands from previous Mediterranean cruises. The display was considered a help in making shopping lists for the forth-coming cruise.

The business meeting was presided over by Mrs. G. W. Kimmons. Many plans were presented for activities to be enjoyed by the Host Owl wives during the cruise. A report on the future activities of the Naval Officers Wives Club was given by representative Mrs. T. B. Wood.

Farewell gifts of miniature Revlon bowls were presented to two departing wives, Mrs. G. N. Kushn and Mrs. E. L. Ebbert. The monthly coffee for April is scheduled at the home of Mrs. J. L. McCracken.

Others enjoying the morning social event were, Misses: A. F. Reno, J. L. McCracken, J. D. Moloney, J. J. Moynihan, W. L. Lewis, Jr., C. H. Jasper, T. E. Quillan, N. G. Marshall, P. N. Becton, J. L. Shipman, A. O. Karnes, R. D. Harrop, and R. A. Wing.

District Officer Visits Auxiliary

The sixth district president of the American Legion Auxiliary, Mrs. Robert Williams, of Orlando, made an official visit to the Campbell Loring Post 53 Auxiliary recently in the Legion Home on Highway 17-92 and initiated a class of new members.

Mrs. Warren J. King, president of the unit, presided at the meeting and Mrs. J. Q. Galloway served as sergeant-at-arms.

Mrs. Williams was assisted in the ceremony by Mrs. Joel S. Field, who lighted the blue candle of justice and presented each new member with a poppy, representing those who paid the supreme sacrifice for our country.

Mrs. T. J. Siles lighted the yellow candle, emblematic of freedom and presented each member with a small American flag. Mrs. William Coveney lighted a candle for democracy, representing our government of the people, by the people and for the people.

Mrs. King, lighted a blue candle—the auxiliary emblem of loyalty to God, country and self. She presented each new member with a blue star on a white background, the emblem of the American Legion Auxiliary, and welcomed them into the unit.

Mrs. Williams instructed the fundamentals of the Auxiliary, the work among veterans in the hospitals, widows and orphans and gave a short resume of her trip to Las Vegas where she attended the national convention.

Following the initiation ceremony, a buffet lunch was served from a table decorated in white and green, using shamrock cut-outs, green streamers and a large floral centerpiece of white lilies-of-the-valley and rose buds in a green glass container, all carrying out the St. Patrick's Day theme.

Mrs. Charles D. Webster, past department historian, was general chairman of the meeting, assisted by Mrs. King, Mrs. Siles, Mrs. John Pierre, Mrs. Jerry Porella, Mrs. Josephine Milliken and Mrs. Allen Bashara.

Action On ACL Merger Predicted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Interstate Commerce Commission Wednesday agreed to speed action on a plan to merge the Seaboard Air Line and the Atlantic Coast Line railroads.

The ICC decided that the case involved "issues of general transportation importance" which warranted consideration by the full commission. Normally the case would have been heard first by a division of the commission. No date has been set for the beginning of full ICC consideration. The proposed merger already has won approval of an ICC hearing examiner despite objections of the Justice Department. If the merger is approved, the combined line would operate 9,809 miles of track in Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama and Florida.
