Bible Verse For Today
Rest in the Lord, and wait patiently for him.—Psalm 37: 7, 8.

Henry Morgenthau has returned from Europe but we'll bet he didn't visit Germany.

Chicago was shocked by "Tobacco Road," but it put up with Al Capone and his gangland killings for ten years.

U. S. Speeds Up Plans To Give Everybody Job—headline. What a slick such a headline would have been any time prior to 1929!

We have failed to notice where the one arm bandits have been given any defense by even one newspaper.—Sanford Herald. There is no defense for them.

Northern newspapers are already beginning to talk about their cold waves. That means fall is here and winter visitors will soon be on their way South.

They don't have lynchings in the North, but Dutch Schultz and four or five of his gunmen were shot down in New York the other day.

The threat of Upton Sinclair's "End Poverty in California" has succeeded so well that its wealthiest citizen is planning to leave the state, taking most of his wealth with him. That may be good business for California. But then again it may not.

There is no question about the six counties through which the cross-state canal passes wanting that project completed, but future candidates for public office, particularly state officers, should bear in mind that those six counties are in the minority.

Editor Dosh has resorted to sex appeal to sell the cross-state canal. He runs a canal story under a two column cut of six bathing beauties. Maybe the girls are just waiting to go swimming in the canal.—Fort Meyers News Press. A few bathing beauties along the banks of the canal will attract more sailors than the short route will.

Army engineers are preparing plans for the first bridge over the cross-state canal. What good is a canal, bridge skeptics may ask, when there will be no canal?—St. Petersburg Independent: The idea is, you see, to build the bridges first then they will have to dig the canal to keep from appearing ridiculous.

Today communitism along the right-of-way of the proposed cross-state canal, or voting on bond issues to purchase that right-of-way for the government. Tomorrow we shall know what folks along the canal think about the project—from the point of view of the taxpayer's pocket-book.—St. Petersburg Independent. About 26 to 1, wasn't it?

When it comes to putting up a real battle Ethiopian monkeys seem to have it all over the Ethiopians themselves. When Italian soldiers started throwing rocks at them, the monkeys threw them back, and latest reports indicated that the anthropoids got somewhat the best of the argument. At least some of them turned traitor and went over to the other side.

As the League of Nations proceeds to boycott all Italian goods and prevent the export of necessities to Italy, and as Italian soldiers continue their march into Ethiopia, they are walking in shoes, or in boots made of American leather by Czechoslovakian shoe manufacturers. The latest shipment amounts to 130,000 pairs of shoes of the heaviest American leather.

Harmful To Business

The legal battle over slot machines continues. Yesterday Judge Atkinson of Miami issued an order restraining State Comptroller Lee from expending public funds for "enforcing, administering, or attempting to enforce" the powers or duties of the recently enacted slot machine law anywhere in Florida.

Judge Atkinson declared that the operation of slot machines constituted a "nuisance" and a "lottery" and adversely affected the "morals and general welfare of the community." Now the case goes again to the Supreme Court where the constitutionality of the slot machine act will again be questioned. Meanwhile, the operation of slot machines in Florida is illegal.

Business men and all other decent citizens have much at stake in the outcome of this slot machine controversy though it is extremely doubtful whether all of them realize the extent to which their interests will be hurt if the public operation of these "one armed bandits" is permitted on a wholesale scale. Many of the admitted evils of the open saloon days are certain to be repeated if not exceeded.

One of our business men in commenting on the slot machine controversy said to us the other day that one thing in their favor was that they didn't take the money out of town, that it remained here at home, and as a consequence slot machines did not hurt business. As he saw it, what one man lost was won by another man, and the community as a whole was never the loser.

However, it requires a considerable sum of money to keep slot machines in operation. The exact sum varies, of course, according to the size of the community and the number of machines in operation. But a thousand machines might require ten thousand dollars at all times to keep them in play. Any time that you might make the rounds of these machines, you might find in them ten thousand dollars, you would certainly find a considerable sum of money.

This sum of money, whatever it is, represents cash which has been diverted from the normal channels of trade. It is money which is NOT being spent with the merchants. It is cash which is NOT being used as the basis for credit. If every person in the community contributed ten dollars to a fund which was to be buried in a hole in the ground in the middle of a vast forest, no one would say that such an act would NOT hurt business.

And yet, some people seem to feel that a thousand slot machines can take ten thousand dollars out of circulation without hurting business. In this belief they are completely wrong. If every man in town devoted ten percent of his income to playing slot machines, and if he always won just as much as he lost, he would still have ten percent less to spend on his normal expenses.

This money which goes into slot machines is as definitely buried, as far as the community is concerned, as if it had been thrown into the lake. Furthermore, the individual who plays the machine has about one chance in a hundred of winning anything at all, and invariably if he continues to play he loses everything. Slot machines are indisputably an economic hazard which no citizen and no community can afford to tolerate.

The Freedom Of The Seas

The time-honored American policy of "freedom of the seas" is apparently headed for the discard, if it has not already reached that stage. Ever since this country was a country we have insisted upon our right to send our merchandise and our agricultural products to the far corners of the world and to send our ships into the most dangerous zones and have always stood ready to fight anyone any time who tampered with them. But now in our desire to avoid involvement in foreign wars, all this is changed.

"In 1812," says the Bradenton Herald, "we rushed unprepared into a fight with the British over this principle. To be sure, we came near defeat and the treaty of peace did not mention the issues which had brought on the war; but the fighting served notice on the world, nevertheless, that we were ready to battle for that principle. It remained a cardinal part of our program.

"Then in 1917 we went to war again because of interruption of our sea-borne commerce. That commerce had been so thoroughly interrupted by both sides in the World War that there actually was a possibility, at one time, that we would fight England instead of Germany. But the German submarine seemed a greater menace than the English cruiser, and besides the English owed us money, and in the end we fought the Germans. The freedom of the seas was one of our chief reasons. Since, we have spent great sums on our navy, and most of us have supposed that this was to enable us to enforce our concept of a free sea on any nation that questioned it.

"Now, however, we have turned in the opposite direction. Mr. Roosevelt's neutrality proclamation warning citizens that they ship goods or buy passage into a war zone at their own risk is a direct reversal of the traditional American doctrine. Heretofore we have argued that an American could use the sea lanes anywhere on earth save where an actual, effective blockade existed and that our warships would be ready to make that right good. Now we are singing a different tune.

"No more striking testimonial to the growth of the peace sentiment in America could have been devised. We are no longer ready to use our navy to protect American lives and property anywhere and any time. We prefer, instead, to let American lives and property look out for themselves if they do not choose to remain at home.

"This may chagrin the patriot. But to the ordinary citizen it looks like common sense. It is hard to avoid war when you persist in clinging to a policy which you must fight to uphold."

Valiant Fight Is Made By Sanford, But DeLand Wins

Bulldogs Score One Touchdown In Game Before Big Crowd

It was a valiant fight the Sanford Colory Feds put up last night in their game with the DeLand Bulldogs in DeLand, but the opposition won, 7 to 0, the result of a pass from Sample to Henderson at the start of the second half. It was DeLand's sixth consecutive victory this season, and Sanford's fourth consecutive defeat.

Sample's pass to Henderson, who took it on Sanford's 45 and galloped to the Sanford seven-yard line before being downed, brought the homecoming crowd of more than 1,500 to its feet with its swiftness and unexpectedness.

Jake Denning carried the ball over from the three-yard line on the second play to score the Bulldog marker. He added the extra point with a plunge off left tackle.

The first half of the game showed no great advantage for either team.

In the fourth quarter, Sanford in an attempt to score, opened an aerial attack, but fumbles and several penalties served to nullify the ground game.

Getting the ball again just before the game ended, the Sanford players tried another aerial thrust and advanced the ball from their 20 to the DeLand 52 just as the game ended.

Sanford got nine first downs to DeLand's five. DeLand's long end runs for 28 and 25 yards, and Denning's five plunges were features of the game. Lawson and Merchant were the chief ground gainers for Sanford.

High School Spirit Of The Right Kind Outlined By Judge

"The real genuine High School spirit is doing the right thing at the right time without being told to do so, and the second evidence of a real High School spirit is doing the right thing after being told to do so one time."

This was the definition given by Judge R. A. B. Wilkinson in an address to the Student Body Friday. He prefaced the statement with the comment that "most people's conception of a High School spirit is cheering and booing the athletic teams," but he declared that this is an erroneous idea.

JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL NOTES BY ELIZABETH KELLY Sports Editor

This week's play completed girls' volleyball in the Seventh and the Eighth Grades. Volley ball has been the sport of the past six weeks under the direction of Miss Takach. The last two weeks of the first six weeks period was given over to tournament play, and the following are the winning teams of the two grades: Junior League, first place; Cuba second place; Wildcat, third place; All American, fourth place. The first place team is credited with 30 points while the other three teams have 29, 18 and 9 points respectively. The Athletic Department feels that the first six weeks of play has been especially helpful to the girls in developing power, gracefulness and ability to play well. During chapel exercises this morning, the girls of the above winning teams were presented with athletic emblems.

In a conference with Miss Takach this morning, it was learned that she plans to teach the girls the game of basketball during the next six weeks of play. Yesterday the girls journeyed to Oviedo to play the Oviedo girls in volleyball. Although the Sanford girls lost, it was easy after three sets of games had been closely played. The school's newly selected cheer leaders of Jane Bryan, Helen Hahn, and Estelle Hart led the cheering at the game yesterday.

The girls making the trip to Oviedo were: Mary Frances Wells, Elizabeth Kelly, Jane Lloyd, Peggy Henderson, Betty Patterson, Carolyn Dugan, Mary Lynn Ross, Blanch Swope, and Clara Bell Hill.

BOYS' SPORTS
The six weeks round of volleyball has been completed for the boys in the Seventh and Eighth Grades. The last two weeks were devoted to tournament play in this sport as it was for the girls. The winning teams are as follows: Hawks, first place, captained by David Greer, and Gators, first place, captained by Reppard Sapp.

Mr. Schirard plans to carry out six weeks of basketball training for the next period of boys' play. Fundamental instruction in this sport will begin on Monday of the coming week. On Friday afternoon of the past week, the Junior High boys defeated the Lyman High boys in a basketball game staged at the sixth street park by the order of 26 to 6. Duane Ferguson of Sanford and Steve of Lyman were the individual stars of the game. Duane Kelly and Randall Walkhill, Sanford's ends, thrilled the crowd several times in snugging long passes for touchdowns. Nearly two hundred boys and girls of Junior High were on hand to cheer the team to a win over Lyman.

The boys' volleyball team dropped a heavy game to the Oviedo High boys yesterday at Oviedo. The Oviedo team plans to play Sanford at home Wednesday of the coming week, and it is when that the boys hope to even up the count with Oviedo. Sanford boys planning to help to Oviedo yesterday were: Walter Northcutt, Walter Williams, Lester Swope, Ed Allen, Kelly, David Greer, Randall Greer, Ed Ross, Walter Swope, and

Crooms Defeated By Ocala Eleven Friday Afternoon

Howard Academy Is First Team To Defeat Local Squad

Crooms Academy colored team of Sanford lost its first game of the season Friday afternoon when the Howard Academy team from Ocala won 6 to 0. The game between the Panthers and the visiting Wild Bulls was played on the local field before a large crowd.

Crooms defeated St. Petersburg a week ago 6 to 0, downed DeLand two weeks ago 14 to 0. The next game for the local squad will be against New Smyrna in that coastal town next Friday. Yesterday's game was fought bitterly by both teams as each team made sizable gains on off tackle and end runs. The tally was registered during the last six minutes of play on a forward pass from Crooms' twenty yard line.

Howard Academy gained three first downs and Crooms Academy gained three first downs. Smith was the outstanding ground gainer for Howard Academy while Patrick starred for Crooms along with Rozier, Williams and Humphrey. The line play by "Buttermilk" was outstanding as he threw Howard Academy's best throw for a first down. Reeves was the outstanding lineman for Howard Academy.

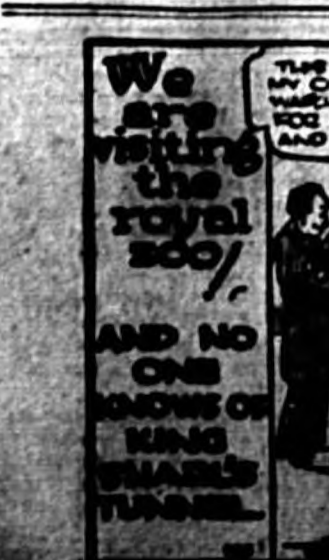

Detroit Race Meet Reflects Prosperity

DETROIT, Oct. 26. (AP)—Detroit's fall horse race meeting which closed recently was the first one which showed a small profit for the promoters. All the other meetings, since racing was resumed here two years ago, finished "in the red."

The biggest contributing factor, race officials said, was Detroit's improved financial condition. There were many more $5 bettors and fewer $2 bettors at the fall meeting than in any of the previous ones.

Another 60 days of racing is programmed for next year. The first meeting, one of 33 days, will open May 29. The opening date of the fall meeting has not been set.

Italy Refused To Accept Strategic Points On Red Sea

Potential Gibraltar Was Once Offered To Fascist Nation

By CHARLES FORTZ
PARIS, Oct. 25. (AP)—A potential Gibraltar of the Red Sea once offered to Italy, is now in the hands of the Italian Fascist government, the emperor of Ethiopia (Chick-Said) 500 square miles of barren desert and wood-wind rock, is to the southern entrance of the Red Sea which (Gibraltar) is to the Mediterranean. Gans on the sea-side; the could easily command (Yemen) (Hadhramaut) (Mandala) (Mascot) who found his communication with Italian Somalia dependent on (Yemen) (Tosca) to the Indian, has been sending troops and supplies through the strait and under the shadow of Chick-Said—the colony Italy turned down.

Two merchants of Mascot realized the strategic position of Chick-Said and bought it from the Arab chieftain, Ali Thabit (Houein, in 1898). The Turks heard about the purchase and promptly occupied the peninsula, but an agreement between France and Turkey in 1919 turned Chick-Said back to the Arab chief and through him, back to the merchants of Mascot.

In 1900 the French merchants had spent large sums trying to interest their government in buying the territory. They turned to Italy.

Italian experts examined the peninsula and told their government it wasn't worth the $500,000 asked. It was subsequently offered to and turned down by France, England, Spain, Russia, Austria and Germany.

France alone expressed an interest in the affair, but French experts argued that land belonging to French citizens was French soil—so why pay good money for it?

Discouraged, the merchants let their property go undeveloped. The Turkish government thereupon fortified the peninsula. France protested, but the protest was unanswered and was forgotten.

In the Italo-Turkish war of 1911-12, Italian ships bombarded the Turkish forts on Chick-Said. Then the World War broke out and Chick-Said was almost forgotten.

In 1918 Chick-Said became the property of the Italian Fascist government. The Fascist government had no desire to hold the Red Sea mouth against all comers, but the Turkish fortifications remained.

Today Chick-Said is only a barren peninsula containing a few native Arab villages where the natives recognize the authority of the Italian Fascist government.

France has never given up her claim, but it is unlikely that she will press it. (The French map of the peninsula still is marked as a part of French Somaliland, across the strait.)

Street Orchards Give Food, Shade In Moscow Plan

MOSCOW, Oct. 25.—(AP)—A decision to plant fruit trees along Moscow's streets to replace dying shade trees has been adopted with a plan that other cities might well copy the idea.

Tens of thousands of apple, peach and cherry trees are being cultivated on state farms of the Soviet Union and will be transferred to the city as soon as they have attained three years of growth.

The immediate thought that has occurred to Moscow's citizens is will it be their privilege to pick ripe fruit from the trees as they pass along the streets?

Temporarily, at least, the authorities have that very idea in mind. No restrictions are contemplated to prevent a hungry citizen from climbing up a tree and feasting on the fruit.

Measures will be taken, however, to prevent abuse. Anyone who tries to make a business of collecting the fruit will be prosecuted by the authorities.

An elaborate code of regulations will be drawn up during the three years of grace while the trees are still on the farms. Policemen will arrest anyone descending from the trees with baskets. They may wink at bulging pockets.

Planting of the trees is part of a general beautification and reconstruction plan for Moscow. Wide new avenues will be cut through the city, flanked by large apartment houses and government buildings.

Parks will be laid out in a circular system around the city and the Moscow River, to be lined with the Volga by the new Moscow-Volga canal, will accommodate shipping from the far-away Caspian Sea.

Municipal heating also is planned. There will be central plants from which heat will be piped to apartment houses and other buildings.

Work under the reconstruction program is to start in January. A 10-year period has been fixed for its completion.

The fruit trees will be planted in 1938. In all, 140,000 of them are being prepared.

Mountains Having 'Growing Pains', Hence The Quakes

'Fault Line' Marked In 1925 About 60 Miles From Helena

HELENA, Mont., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Helena's prolonged earthquakes are almost certainly the growing pains of the Big Belt mountains, a range of the Rockies about 10 miles east of the city.

The last time they moved a little in their many million year rise was in 1925. Then there was a quake, south of Helena, about 25 miles as had as this year's.

The 1925 quake did not kill anyone, because its worst shaker hit open country. It cracked vast masses of rocks off the mountains and blocked the Northern Pacific railroad for a long time.

It called attention to what is going on under the Big Belt mountains and fixed definitely one fault line. The seismological map and geological studies on this 1925 quake and its fault line leave some doubt whether the present shock comes from a deep underground slip on this identified fault line, or whether there are still unknown fault lines that might slip under the Big Belt to account for the Helena shakes.

The Big Belt mountains run northwest and southeast about 70 miles. That they are growing slowly as most of the other Rockies, has been fairly certain among geologists. In fact, most are convinced that the area is included in a long-time triangulation set up by the U. S. Coast and Geodetic survey to determine how much the mountains move around in a century's time.

The fault line of the 1925 quake lies about 60 miles south of Helena. It extends from near Three Forks to close to White Sulphur Springs. It crosses directly underneath the southern portion of the Big Belt range.

The 1925 quake shook the territory south of the fault rather than northward in Helena's direction. On seismographs it registered nearly twice as long as this year's earthquake.

The new quake may be a movement of the lands north of the fault adjusting their foundations to equalize the slips to the south-west in 1925. At least, the continued tremors this year about

Little TVA Along Savannah Is Seen As Project Goal

Propose $17,500,000 Development Near Augusta, Georgia

AUGUSTA, Ga., Oct. 25.—(AP)—A "Little TVA" on the upper reaches of the Savannah River is seen as the ultimate goal of the proposed $17,500,000 development by the federal government at Clark's Hill, 21 miles above Augusta.

The proposal has been received favorably by President Roosevelt in the appointment of a commission of three to study its possibilities and report direct to him. On his commission are Col. Earl F. Brown, representing the army engineers; Roger B. McWhorter, chief engineer of the federal power commission, and Sherman M. Woodward of the national resources committee.

The development, based upon the recommendations of the board of army engineers, has a three-fold program: to make available an abundance of cheap electric power for distribution in eastern Georgia and western South Carolina; to assure a dependable year-round channel for navigation on the Savannah River between Augusta and Savannah, and to provide flood control.

The plan provides for the construction of a concrete gravity dam at Clark's Hill, creating a reservoir area of 52 square miles. The reservoir would extend about 37 miles up the Savannah River to the Trotter's Shoal site, 23 miles up Little River, Georgia, eight miles up Little River, South Carolina, and six miles up Broad River to the foot of Anthony Shoals. It would consist of the dam with spillway in the present channel and a power house immediately below the dam.

The engineers estimate that 60,000 acres of land will be required for the project, 35,000 of which will be cleared for the reservoir area. Of this acreage, a substantial part is now owned by the Geor-

Jelly Bean Era' Draws Fire From A Baseball Critic

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 25.—(AP)—

The "jelly-bean" age has hit the baseball camps, bringing with it a long, low wall from Joe Schultz, St. Louis Cardinal field man who remembers when men were men and outfielders were corals.

"There is a difference in the crop of young ball players," Schultz reflected.

"You don't run across many big men anymore, like (Pete) Traynor and Chick Hafey. That is, you don't see many of them who are worthwhile prospects. Too frequently the big men are slow."

"In the old days almost every club carried and used one big outfielder who was slow and not particularly good on defense, but who could hit the ball hard. That isn't being done anymore. The baseball prospect of today must have speed. If he can't give you anything but base hits you don't want him."

His formal discussion got to the heart of the situation.

"I don't believe the rising generation eats as well as we ate when we were youngsters. Mothers and even fathers are eating hay and trying to live on grapefruit juice and an oyster cracker and the diet is reflected in the size of the youngsters."

"This is the 'jelly-bean' age. In the old days the kids were confined, the mothers and fathers ate all they wanted and the boys were huskier and tougher."

Cost Of Relief Injuries Fixed At $28,000,000

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—(AP)—A growing stack of damage claims prompted officials to estimate that it would take 17 years and $28,000,000 for the government to pay for all injuries suffered by those getting jobs in the work-relief program.

The estimate, worked out by officials of the United States employment compensation commission after consultation with those of the work program, was based on experience gained during Civil Works Administration.

Already there have been 2,440 damage claims filed because of injuries to employees in the work-relief program. Officials considered this an "all-time" figure, however, which would rise weekly as new men went to work.

The compensation commission is paying out $28,000 a month on claims from injured Civilian Conservation Corps members. This figure, too, is rising each month as new men go into the camps under the expansion program.

The commission still is paying out to workers injured while employed by the C. W. A. at a rate of $100 a month. This figure is going down slowly, however. It reached its peak in January, 1931, when it was $125 a month. It was $100 a month when the commission established the rate of $75 a month.

The commission is carrying over $100 million in claims for the year ending in 1935.

Politicians ignore it---
Brain trusters scorn it---
Business Men take it for granted!

FOR the last five years, Federal and State agencies have tried to relieve unemployment by "made-work." Ways and means of creating jobs have challenged the ingenuity of those in government who believe that a job is better than a dole. But how were jobs created before the depression came?

The AIC Of Economies

As an advertising agency, it has been our privilege to see the inside of the American economic system during the past 60 years and more. We have sat in the councils of management. We have studied the problems of sales and have translated the virtues of a product into the most compelling appeal we could command in order to sell the goods of our customer. And then what happened?

As sales increased, jobs were created. As volume grew, there were more jobs inside the plants whose products we helped to sell. More jobs, too, in the plants where raw materials were used. When the railroads shipped more goods, more freight cars were needed, more handlers employed. In distribution, jobbers and retailers in turn employed more sales people. All this has been an every day routine in the operation of the American economic system. Business Men take it for granted. Politicians ignore it. Brain Trusters scorn it.

America Builds From Within

But the American economic system has been built by jobs made from within and not from without. By jobs that resulted from ever greater sales ability and sales strength as spread throughout the nation by advertising—salesmanship-in-print.

In the past 63 years we have invested for clients upwards of $500,000,000 in advertising — $180,000,000 of that amount in the last five years of depression. Billions in sales accrued to our clients as a result of investing this money. Employment for hundreds of thousands of men was thus created. A million retailers made their mark-up on millions of sales. Freight loadings swelled. Banks turned their money. Ships loaded their cargoes. And dividend checks got into the mail.

Salesmanship-In Print Turns Dollars Into Jobs

All these things happened because someone appealed successfully to the millions to buy. Because someone accelerated the quick exchange of goods with advertising, which Lord & Thomas defined 30 years ago as Salesmanship-In-Print.

True salesmanship-in-print is a great deal more than the mere writing of copy. It is a commercial concept as wide as the field of human imagination and emotion. It is the vital stuff of which commerce is made. And the man who can apply its principles with mastery and creative fire are few indeed. Yet they are here at Lord & Thomas—they have always been here. Men with the feel for ideas that sell. Men who know that advertising success, like all commercial success, depends on getting big men behind you; men who can sell the most for the money.

Jobs Made From Within

If America's recovery is to be real, it must, as always before, rest securely on jobs made from within American business. Politicians ignore this. Brain Trusters scorn it. But Business Men who win, take it for granted. And in giving irresistible buying Reasons—Why the millions with money, salesmanship-in-print creates jobs for the other millions, which means a Real Recovery.

Additional Grant For Canal Would Boost Sum Close To The 100 Million Mark

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28. (AP)—Florida's appropriations from the $4,880,000,000 work relief appropriation were shown today in unofficially assembled figures to have reached the $69,777,999 mark.

The sum included $5,000,000 allocated for the Gulf-Atlantic ship canal, and should President Roosevelt decide to proceed with the first year canal construction program, as outlined by Army engineers and urged by Senate Fletcher of Florida, another $20,000,000 would be provided for the project.

With the government's big push to create jobs now in full swing, Florida Works Progress projects contemplating the aggregate expenditure of more than $29,000,000 now bear presidential sanction.

Bryan Faces Recall As Mayor Of Lincoln

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 28. (AP)—W. Bryan, three times governor of Nebraska and brother of William Jennings Bryan, the Commoner, is facing the possibility of recall as mayor of Lincoln. Petitions seeking his recall, allegedly bearing 1880 qualified signatures, four more than the number necessary for a recall election, have been filed with the city clerk.

Friends of Bryan said the efforts to recall the mayor were pressed by persons whom the city council had refused licenses to sell liquor.

Bryan characterized the petition as a protest against the policy of law enforcement and reasonable regulation of beer and liquor.

Here's The Oldest U. S. Coin To Date

Believed to be the oldest United States coin in Sanford is a copper one-cent piece, the property of Mrs. John Schirard. It was coined in 1797 and is unlike any other American coins so far discovered in that in place of stars there are 13 rings on the face of the penny, each ring containing the name of one of the 13 original states. Mrs. Schirard also has a penny coined in 1800.

Nearly as old as the Schirard penny is a one-cent piece bearing the date of 1796 and which is owned by Roy Mays. This coin shows the head of a figure denoting liberty and carries the word "liberty" on one side and "one cent" on the other side.

Ethiopian Interior Penetrated Farther By Italian Troops

AAA Court Ruling Before Christmas Thought Possible

Condemnation Rights Of Government To Also Be Decided

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28. (AP)—The Supreme Court agreed today to decide whether the government can condemn land for its alum cleaners and low-cost housing construction programs. It consented to review a case from Louisville, Kentucky, which was decided against the government by the lower courts.

The high tribunal also announced that constitutional provisions of the Agriculture Adjustment Administration Act will be argued on Dec. 9, thus making possible a decision by Christmas.

The important Louisville housing case deals with the plan of public works which include condemnation of two city blocks. The Federal District Court entered an opinion saying "no power to condemn the national government to condemn the property as a for the purposes for which it is intended."

Thomas J. Mooney again lost in his effort to get the Supreme Court to review his conviction of complicity in the 1916 San Francisco Preparedness Day bombing.

Department Asks Forty Million For Army Air Armada

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28. (AP)—Harry H. Woodring, acting secretary of war, intimated today that the War Department would ask an appropriation exceeding $40,000,000 for starting the next fiscal year a five-year plan to double the size of the Army's air armada. The amount is more than twice as large as Congress voted for the present year.

The exact figure to be submitted to the budget bureau has not as yet been determined, Woodring said in an interview.

Gang Gunfire Today Slays Two More Men

NEW YORK, Oct. 28. (AP)—Gang guns blazed again today, leaving two men seriously wounded in the doorway of an apartment house on West 84th Street. Police started an investigation to learn if the ambush had any connection with last week's gang warfare in which five mobsters, including the notorious Dutch Schultz, were exterminated.

Civilian Population Ordered To Leave Makale Which Will Not Be Defended

Engineers Arrive To Hunt For Gold

Survey Will Be Made In Territory Now In Italy's Grasp

The Associated Press Prepared for any counter attack by Ethiopian tribesmen, Italy's fascist armies drove deeper today into the interior of Haile Selassie's empire. In the northern Addis Ababa sector, Mussolini's Roman legions marching on Makale advanced their lines more than 12 miles.

An exchange telegraph (British) dispatch from Addis Ababa said the civilian population of Makale, a strategic mountain pass and gateway to the interior was ordered to evacuate Makale, the dispatch said, will not be defended as part of the Ethiopian strategy to allow the Italians to penetrate deeper before making a counter offensive.

General Emilio De Bono, commander-in-chief of Italo's East African troops, hurried to the front from Entebbe and assumed personal command of the offensive. He took formal possession of new territory and ordered the consolidation of all the area to the rear of the new front line.
