Tax furor showdown

County to decide utility tax; land appraisal deadline nears

By J. MARK BARFIELD Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - The furor over county taxes will come to a head in two meetings this week. Monday, at 5 p.m., Seminole County commissioners will consider imposing a 4 percent tax on utility payments made by residents of rural and other non-city areas of the county...

million annual budget for the year beginning Oct. 1. The second hearing will be held on Sept. 24 at the same time.

Both the Monday and Tuesday hearings will be held in the county commission chambers of the County Services Building on East First Street at Mellonville Avenue.

The county's budget proposal includes a slight tax increase for all property owners, largely to pay for the endangered lands purchase program approved by voters last year. Unincorporated residents could also see a slight increase in their municipal services tax unless commissioners approve the utility tax. If they do, the services tax could be lowered below last year's rate.

The furor has been two-fold. First, owners of older homes were shocked this year to find their homes had been reappraised by Property Appraiser Bill Suber up to three times the previous amount. Suber said a study begun three years ago indicated owners of older homes were getting away with too low assessments.

A panel of judges with the Fifth District Court of Appeals indicated they believed his appraisals were too low.

The ruling was in a case involving a Sanford homeowner, Merv Oster, who had sued Suber saying many older homes in his neighborhood

United Way campaign kicking off

By NICK PFENAUER Herald Staff Writer

The 1991 Heart of Florida United Way Campaign is about ready to begin. This year's goal for Seminole, Orange and Osceola Counties is $12 million.

Some of the fund raising is already underway with the pace setters, seeking support from major business organizations in the three county area. The actual public campaign will begin September 13th, and continue until November 21st.

Allan M. Norton, president of Martin Marietta space division is this year's General Campaign Chairman. Katrina Nelaer, communications director for the Heart of Florida campaign said, "Mr. Norton suggested the goal figure this year. Last year the United Way campaign produced $10.9 million, but this year he hopes we'll be able to do better to help an increasing need."

The official drive will start with a "Tip-Off" this coming Friday at the Bosphor Orlando Resort near Sea World. Jeff Turner, of the Orlando magic, has been named as the 1991 honorary campaign chairman.

Nelaer said, "We don't have any specific goal for Seminole County, but there are 16 separate organizations or agencies in the county which will benefit from the money we are seeking."

She added, "We have a total of 84 programs and agencies in the three county area, and they will all be benefiting from our fund raisers."

The following have been listed as either operating in Sanford and Seminole County, or offering services with branch operations.

Hundreds praise the Lord at Sanford prayer breakfast

By VICKI BOESCHNER Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - The Christian community, under the guidance of Rev. Amos Jones of St. Paul Missionary Baptist Church in Sanford, gathered in the Seminole High School cafeteria Saturday morning.

"It's a beautiful morning," Jones said, lifting the celebration to the heavens in prayer. "The birds are singing and we have much more to be thankful for than they do."

Toddlers in their finest clothes sat beside their parents and grandparents eating danish, sausage and fried eggs. From crackling speakers in the podium spiritual music blasted across the room.

"Praise the Lord," said Jenise Jackson who said she attends the prayer breakfasts when

Longwood to consider budget approval

By NICK PFENAUER Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD - It's budget approval time here. The City Commission will bring its proposed 1992 budget and millage rate up for first reading and public hearing Monday night.

Both items have already been tentatively approved by the commissioners following many work sessions and earlier meetings. The official ordinances however will be presented Monday, and for the final reading on September 23.

The proposed budget calls for $7,053,460 for the General Fund, $2,148,931 for the Enterprise Fund, for a total of $9,202,391.

The millage rate, 5.12, is at the same level as the just-concluding 1991 fiscal year, although with the increases in property assessments, the city will receive more tax money for its operation.

One item not included in the proposed budget is the possible purchase of the Longwood Village Inn hotel for conversion to a City Hall. That matter so far has received the approval of the commission only to have it placed on the November general election ballot, to allow the citizens an opportunity to express their desires.

Meanwhile, the newly formed Village Inn Acquisition Committee held its first official meeting Wednesday night. Among items discussed were earlier appraisals, previous renovations and annual maintenance costs, possible financing proposals, and additional discussion on the overall project.

City Administrator Don Terry had previously informed the commissioners and residents attending commission meetings, that if the purchase of the century old hotel is approved by the voters, money would not be included in the fiscal year 1992 budget, but be considered for 1993, unless other means of financing are determined.

The Longwood City Commission meets at 7 p.m., Monday night, in the city commission chambers at the Longwood City Hall.

'It's not what you know, but who you know'

Until we mentioned Johnny Hodge in our story about the M.D. Gatchel family, a bunch of you old timers (and that includes us) had forgotten about "way back when" E.H. Cullum once supervised the night softball programs down on the lakefront.

This was during the late 1920's and early 1930's. The softball field was between the "old" zoo and what once was the American Legion hut. It had a "skinned" diamond (an all clay infield). And, if our memory serves us right most of the teams were sponsored by agricultural growers and shippers such as American Fruit Growers, Chase & Company and others. If you can remember some of the teams give us a ring.

Folks, this was high class softball! It seemed like half the town turned out to watch the games. After all it was about the coolest spot in town. From time to time fans had to fight mosquitoes but not the midges we suffer today. The Herald reported the games and kept everybody up to date. Its ace reporter was a fellow

But Johnny Hodge for several years was the league's most valuable player. He was a tremendously effective moundman, a southpaw, to boot, with speed one could scarcely imagine. Oh, yes, Johnny worked for the Florida Power & Light Company and later on also toiled for the old Seminole Memorial Hospital before the county sold it to the Hospital Corporation of America.

We also tried on our "thinking cap" and remembered another outstanding softballer, Bookie Bach. Now, we know there were more but there's not that much room to

County residents raise recycling rates, again

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Seminole County residents increased their recycling rates for the second consecutive month in August, according to figures released late Friday by the county's recycling office.

In all, residents of the seven cities and unincorporated areas recycled almost 956 tons of glass, aluminum, plastic and other reusable materials in August. In July, they recycled about 913 tons. In June, about 844 tons were recycled countywide.

Nearly 8,000 tons of garbage have now been separated from the household garbage for recycling since the county first began their program in November.

The state urged counties and cities to adopt recycling programs to reduce the need for more garbage dumps, which can pollute drinking water supplies.

Sanford residents dropped their recycling efforts in August. They separated a total of about 61.5 tons last month, compared to nearly 70 tons in July. Lake Mary residents also dropped their efforts a bit. They separated about 61 tons in August, compared to about 38 tons in July. Longwood residents increased their recycling efforts from 41 tons to almost 43 tons during the two months.

In all, the county out-recycled city folk last month. The unincorporated areas offered a total of 553 tons of garbage for recycling. The seven cities collected a total of about 402 tons in August.

Using a search warrant, sheriff's officers searched their home.

In Moore's bedroom, they found 24 marijuana plants and processed marijuana, the arrest report said. He was charged with cultivation and possession of more than 20 grams of marijuana.

The report noted that officers also found less than 20 grams of marijuana in Dantel and Cora Hall's bedroom as well as several bags of cocaine and assorted drug paraphanelia.

Police reported that less than 20 grams of marijuana and several smoking devices were found in Johnny and Barbara Napier's room.

In Steven and Carolyn Kiley's room, police reported, they found less than 20 grams of marijuana.

The report also noted that two smoking devices were found in Huth's room.

There were also 37 marijuana plants found growing in the back yard, according to the reports.

The men were arrested and transported to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility. The women were served with notices to appear in court because six juveniles were present in the home.

NASA scrambles to repair leak for Discovery launch

By Associated Press

CAPE CANAVERAL — NASA is going ahead with preparations for the scheduled launch Thursday of the space shuttle Discovery while trying to resolve a leak that could delay the mission.

Should repairs be needed, Discovery would have to be rolled back to its hangar and delay the launch for about two weeks.

A decision had been expected Saturday, but now won't be made until Monday.

The leak appears to be in a valve on a helium line, part of the plumbing of the steering system located in the orbiter's aft end. Helium is used to pressurize the reaction control system. 44 small thrusters that maneuver the spaceplane on orbit.

A leak in one of the dual systems could result in overpressurizing its monomethyl hydrazine fuel tank, causing it to burst, a potentially catastrophic event. An alternate line is available, but under the tightened post-Challenger rules, both lines have to be usable.

"The pressure in the reaction control system has been creeping up," NASA spokeswoman Lisa Malone said Saturday. "It is acceptable for flight, but engineers want to gather more data this weekend."

When the pressure increase was first observed Thursday night, engineers attributed it to a valve that had failed to close properly, causing a leak, Malone said.

Believing a speck of debris might be lodged in the valve, engineers Friday flushed the line with liquid helium. But that did not eliminate the problem.

Malone said pre-launch activities on launch pad 39A would continue in parallel with trouble shooting.

The reaction control system will be pressurized for flight and tested again about 4 a.m. Monday, which will require the clearing of the launch pad.

Unless the steering system fails the test, the countdown for Discovery's 13th voyage and 43rd space shuttle flight will begin at 5 p.m. Monday.

Astronauts John Creighton, Kenneth Reightler, James Buchil, Mark Brown and Charles "Sam" Gernar are due to arrive from Houston Monday night, and liftoff is scheduled for 6:57 p.m. Thursday.

Lawyer says drug caused woman's nymphomania

Associated Press

FORT LAUDERDALE — The attorney who invented the nymphomania defense for a woman accused of prostitution has added a new twist to his case.

Prostitution suspect Kathy Willets became a nymphomaniac after taking the drug Prozac, defense attorney Ellis Rubin told a national television audience Friday.

Speaking on CNN's "Sonya Live," Rubin said Mrs. Willets had little sexual desire before a psychiatrist prescribed Prozac in May 1990 to help treat her depression. Rubin says he is considering suing the psychiatrist.

"We're researching that," Rubin said. "We're going to sue somebody."

Prozac has stirred controversy because it has been blamed in some cases for suicidal behavior.

"Maybe Kathy isn't prone to be violent when she gets this drug in her brain, but maybe she has another effect," Rubin said.

A couple of hundred people attended community prayer breakfast held Saturday in Sanford.

they occur to help revive her spirit. "When things seem bad, I turn to the Lord to refresh myself."

A couple of hundred nestled at tables of four in the northern wing of the school's dining facility. The meeting had been scheduled to take place at the Sanford Civic Center, but an overbooking at the center would have left the caterers without kitchen facilities.

"Give thanks for the kindness and graciousness which allowed us this facility," Jones said. Proceeds from the ticket sales to the breakfast will be donated to the Castle Brewer Scholarship Fund.

"The Christian Education Committee wants to help sponsor programs which further the growth and development of our membership through meaningful experiences," said Altermease Bentley, director of the education committee.

The scholarship foundation will be used to assist Sanford students in pursuing post-secondary education, according to Geraldine Wright, assistant director of the education committee.

"We want to help them go on to higher education," Wright explained.

Jones said he was pleased with the turnout for the morning event.

The purpose of the meeting, he noted, was two-fold. Fellowship among believers is an important aspect of Christian life and the prayer breakfast offered an opportunity to gather together.

The scholarship fund, Jones said, allowed the community to "do something positive for young people in pursuit of higher education."

But, as for the instruction on prayer, he added, "We are gathered also to emphasize the real essence and manner of prayer."

mention most of them.

But, as you old timers might recall, Johnny Hodge's daughter, Patty, married David Gatchel, grandson of M.D. Gatchel who was the husband of the late and still well known Roberta Gatchel of Sanford Kiwanis Club fame.

In that yarn we did mention three members of one of the Stewart families in Sanford. They were Ruth, Minnie and Max. Ruth was the wife of M.D. Gatchel's son, Forest, and the mother of two sons, Stewart and David. Miss Minnie, as she was so affectionately known, and Ruth were pillars of the First Baptist Church for about as long or even longer than Judge R.W. Ware taught the men's Bible class at the First Methodist Church which was something like 50 years.

And to us it seems Ruth was the superintendent of Junior Sunday School department of the church for nigh on to 50 years. Few Baptist youngsters in Sanford failed to be taught, supervised and influenced by Ruth Gatchel.

Brother Max, by the way, was very civic minded. He was a member of the Sanford Lions Club and managed one of the organization's junior baseball teams for many years. We even recall the team he managed — the Pirates. This was the league R.A. Cobb supervised for the Lions Club so many, many years. By the way, do you recall that Max always drove a Packard?

But the main story we want to share with you today happened in 1958. We were living in Fresno, Calif., serving as president that year of one of the Kiwanis Clubs. One week our speaker was a Capt. Bertleson, commanding officer of the Lemore NAS under construction not far out of Fresno. While having lunch we learned the captain was a Floridian, from West Palm Beach. He was surprised to learn we were a Floridian and asked, "From where?"

"Sanford," we replied.

"Where?" he asked again.

Again I said, "Sanford."

"I know this is a shot in the dark but did you ever know a fellow by the name of Stewart Gatchel?" he asked.

"Know him?" we said, "our mothers are next door neighbors."

When we first met Bertleson we figured that if there had been any connection with Sanford it would have been through the Navy. But that didn't add up at all since here was a naval officer inquiring about a Stewart Gatchel who graduated from West Point.

Here's the story.

When Gatchel completed his prep military schooling at Marion Military Institute in Alabama he wanted a Congressional appointment to West Point. Instead, he got an appointment to Annapolis. Meanwhile, Bertleson got an appointment to West Point but wanted to go to Annapolis.

The two got together and approached their respective Congressmen. They were able to get the Congressmen to switch the appointments. Gatchel went to the U.S. Military Academy and Bertleson went to the U.S. Naval Academy.

When Lemore NAS was commissioned we had a choice seat in the VIP section for the affair. Some of our fellow Kiwanians couldn't figure out how we rated the invitation.

We guess it's like they say. It's not what you know but who you know. And things do create oddball outcomes. We got to attend the commissioning of a brand new naval air station because we knew a young man wanting to go to West Point. And it happened but 3,000 miles from where we were both born.

Nelaer explained, "The United Way has possibly the highest percentage of the money received going to the actual programs." She said, "We normally need only 12¢ on the dollar for administrative and fund raising expenses. On the year just ending, we kept it down to only 11¢ for each dollar."

During this past week, Nelaer has been teaching with courses being taught at Seminole Community College, to train "Loaned Executives." These are business employees who are assigned to help raise money for United Way during the annual campaigns.

As for future programs, Nelaer said the United Way is planning a community wide needs assessment in the near future. "We'll be contacting leaders in Sanford, Lake Mary, Longwood, all over our three county area, to ask their help in identifying the pressing needs of the people. The United Way can do more, and we want to be certain we do what is most needed."

that were similar to his were assessed at much lower amounts. The DCA returned the case to circuit court for a jury trial. No hearing date has been set.

The ruling came one week before Suber mailed the assessments.

The reassessments led to a declaration of protest, filed locally by Sanford Commissioner Lou Howell. If homes had to be reappraised, do it gradually, Howell and hundreds of followers said. Suber responded by saying he could not. He said was required under state law to assess properties fairly. The older home would still be under assessed, which was unfair to new home owners.

(The deadline for appealing the assessments is Monday.)

The second target in the tax war is the agencies who set the tax rates. But even if tax rates don't go up much or at all, if assessments increase, the amount of taxes that will have to be paid will go up.

County commissioners were facing potential increases in insurance and other necessary expenses. Also, voters approved a $20 million bond program last year to purchase environmentally-sensitive lands in the county. The first year tax cost will about 25 cents per $1,000 of taxable property.

Commissioners had also pledged last year to continue to increase fire engine crews by one man, a $1.2 million cost. Another $1.2 million was seen to be needed to replace badly deteriorated roads.

Although County Manager Ron Rabun proposed increasing the countywide tax rate slightly, even though the same same rate would have produced $5.8 million more for the county because of the reassessments and new construction. Commissioners whittled some expenses out of the budget and lowered the tax increase to 4 percent from Rabun's 7 percent proposal.

If the 25-cent lands tax were removed, the currently proposed tax rate of $5.75 would actually be lower than last year's rate of $5.53.

As is proposed, the owner of a $50,000 home taking a $25,000 homestead exemption would pay $143.83 in countywide taxes. The owner of a $100,000 home would pay $431.48, assuming the exemption was taken.

Let's see what a reassessment will do to taxes. Say a home valued at $50,000 last year paid the county tax bill of $138.36 based on the $5.53 rate. If the home doubled in value, as many have, under the proposed new tax rate of $5.75, that citizen will now pay a tax of $431.48, three times last year's taxes.

To pay for the additional firemen and other programs, Rabun recommended commissioners lower the unincorporated property tax and adopt a 10 percent tax on water, electricity and other utility bills. The cost to many residents could easily have reached $200 a year. Residents weren't ready for the cost and dozer, protested on July 30. Commissioners voted the tax down.

Without the utility tax revenue, commissioners tentatively set the unincorporated tax rate at $3.38, 25 cents higher than last year. Even so, they eliminated the road reconstruction program and cut a road paving program in half.

Several days later, commissioner Jennifer Kelley, who had opposed the 10 percent tax on July 30, suggested commissioners reconsider a 4 percent tax.

A group of west Sanford residents met with Kelley a week ago, saying they don't pay any utility. In fact, property taxes should be lowered to help compensate for the reassessments.

Joyce Still has been considered more dynamic than Kathryn Kuhlman. Just recently, a small child that was dying with cancer was healed and visibly changed immediately. In the presence of the congregation the child's eye which hung out of the socket was made normal, the child's hair began to grow which had been lost through medical treatment. Through the Word of knowledge, God gives her the name of the afflictions and things only that person and God would know.

School milk scam; local prices drop

From Staff and Wire Reports

Seminole County schools are paying less for milk this year than last while much of the country is in the midst of a bid-rigging scheme on milk contracts which has spread to 16 states in a scandal that has victimized school children and cost taxpayers millions of dollars.

According to Eldon Chambers, director of the district food service department, said that the Central Florida region was among the first in the country to resolve the investigation into the situation, receiving recovered money and damages in 1988.

Since the investigation began in 1988, the Justice Department has filed 40 criminal cases against some 50 dairy companies and executives, including some of the nation's biggest dairies.

Thirty-eight dairy companies and executives have entered guilty pleas and 18 people have been sentenced to prison. Seven companies and executives have been acquitted; charges have been dismissed against two others.

In the latest court action, Pet Inc. pleaded guilty Wednesday to violations of the Sherman Antitrust Act for fixing bids for milk contracts in South Carolina.

"In the short run, the kids at school are the victims. If you're having to spend more on milk, you don't have as much to spend on other food for them," said Paul McElwain, chief of school nutrition in Kentucky. "In the long run, the taxpayers are the victims."

Dairy companies have been slapped with almost $19 million in fines and damages, and the Justice Department was seeking another $6.1 million in damages, a spokeswoman said.

The investigation began when federal officials learned that dairy marketers were fixing milk prices in Florida schools to undercut competition.

"Somebody talked in Florida and it's been spreading northward and westward ever since," said Jim Gulick, head of the North Carolina Justice Department's antitrust division.

Federal investigations have been conducted or are pending in Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Kentucky, New Jersey, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Texas, Virginia and five other states the Justice Department would not identify.

Federal prosecutors said the probe could extend to other states. In addition, some states are taking action against the dairy companies.

"It's quite widespread ... and quite appalling," said Judy Whalley, deputy assistant attorney general in the Justice Department's antitrust division.

Officials at Pet, one of the larger dairies that has pleaded guilty in the scam, said the St. Louis-based company is trying to distance itself from the fresh dairy business. Pet sold its fresh dairy division in 1985, but the sale was unrelated to the federal probe, spokeswoman Beatrice Miller said.

"We're concerned about the issue and we're concerned about our good reputation," Ms. Miller said. "No employees that were involved in the fresh dairy division are with Pet at this time."

In its plea agreement Wednesday, Pet was fined the maximum $1 million recommended by the U.S. Attorney's Office.

Officials at Coble Dairy, another large dairy that has pleaded guilty, refused to comment.

$1 million in milk scam

Associated Press

GREENSBORO, N.C. — A federal judge fined a St. Louis-based dairy $1 million after it pleaded guilty to conspiring to rig bids for school milk contracts.

Pet Dairies will face no more federal criminal charges, although it could face state charges or civil lawsuits.

Pet admitted conspiring with unidentified companies to rig bids for the Alamance County school milk contract for 1985-86. The system paid Pet about $388,000 that year. U.S. Attorney Bob Edmunds said after the brief hearing Friday before U.S. District Judge N. Carlton Tilley, Edmunds was unsure how much the system lost because of the bid-rigging.

County considers money for free-food distribution

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Seminole County commissioners will decide Tuesday whether to provide seed money for the start-up of a free food program for 1,500 needy families.

They will vote on whether to grant $14,435 to the Seminole Community Volunteer Program Inc. to enable the agency to rent space in the Zayres Plaza from the Seminole County Expressway Authority for the program which offers cheese, butter and other staples to low-income residents.

About $4,000 will be needed to rent a store for a year, renovate the space for the program and the rest will be used for operations expenses until the federal government begins reimbursing the agency. The food distribution will be done by volunteers from the Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP).

The commodities program has been an on-again, off-again affair since the mid-1980s when the program was dropped by Red Cross. The Salvation Army operated it for about two years until 1988 when expenses began to exceed the federal reimbursements.

Several other efforts were made to start the program again, but all failed due to the expenses involved.

County social service officials estimate about 1,500 families will be eligible for the program under federal income guidelines.

About $3,800 is available in county coffers from community development money. But nearly $11,000 will have to be paid out of the county's general fund, which includes property taxes, for the balance.

High school report

Allison Slater: Senior

Year underway at Lake Mary

Lake Mary High School students continued to work on the new school year this week as clubs and organizations began planning for fall activities and athletics geared up for their season-opening games. Student government held its first meeting of the year this past Tuesday, with the subject of Homecoming heading the agenda. Homecoming week will be held the week of Nov. 4 and will feature such activities as the 1991 Miss Ewe Pageant, Spirit Night, the Homecoming parade, the Friday night football game against Deland and the Saturday night semiformal dance.

Also on the agenda was the Lake Brantley game spirit week, which will pump students up for the Sept. 30 game against archrival Lake Brantley High School of Altamonte Springs. Other clubs such as Students Against Violating the Environment, Interact, SADD, Key Club and others have held their first meetings and are planning projects for their new members. Nearly every club is open to all students and is encouraging new members to attend its meetings, which will be announced via the Inter-Club Council bulletin board in the multi-purpose room. The principal's honor organization, the Order of the Golden Fleece, held its first breakfast for its members and will be initiating new ones in November.

Meanwhile, the athletic teams, including football, cross-country, and other fall sports, are practicing daily in anticipation of their new seasons. A parent pep rally was held for all sports this past week, and next Friday afternoon the first student pep rally will be held for the first home football game against Ed White High School of Jacksonville. The cheerleaders, marching band, and chorus members have been holding daily practices and are ready to support the teams and perform for the student body this fall.

After school delights

SANFORD — Three Sanford elementary schools will benefit from free after school activities sponsored by the Sanford Recreation Department.

Starting tomorrow Goldsboro, Hamilton and Pine Crest elementary schools will be the sites of special after school activities to keep first through fifth graders occupied from the close of school until 5:30 p.m. "We'll have kickball, dodgeball and crafts," said Lisa Ellis, program coordinator at the recreation department.

"But it's much more than that," she added. The after school programs sponsored by the recreation department have been at the three schools since their inception more than three years ago. Ellis said she does not know if there are any plans to expand to other Sanford schools in the future. "There's been a lot of interest at these schools," she said. Midway Elementary School is serviced by a satellite chapter of the Boys and Girls Club of Sanford so there is little need for additional after school activity. The program at all three schools will begin an hour earlier on Wednesday afternoons because school will be let out earlier to allow teachers to participate in school improvement plans. "Most of what we do is outside," Ellis said. "After being in class all day, the kids just want to be out and running around." On rainy days, the staffs are prepared to entertain the youngsters with films checked out of the library. The need for after school activities is increasing with the number of latch-key children of both single parents and families where both parents work. "Day care can be very expensive and it's either that or leave the children alone at home," Ellis said. The recreation department programs are free of charge.

Greener grass at Seminole

Although the saying goes, the grass is greener on the other side of the fence, this is definitely not true at Seminole High. Literally speaking, not only is our grass greener, but we have more of it than just about any other high school in the county. In addition to all this grass, we have lots of shrubbery and beautiful landscaping that goes well with all of our new buildings.

Sometimes we forget how fortunate we are to have a school that looks so much like a college campus. But after attending games and activities at other schools in the area, we look around our school and realize how nice it looks. The fact that it is not all concrete buildings and paved parking lots gives our school a warm, friendly feeling.

At lunch time, you'll find students, not only in the cafeteria, but outside taking a break from being cooped up indoors. Visitors to our school are always quick to comment on what a beautiful campus we have at Seminole. We know it, and we're proud of it!

Finding a parking place at school is often difficult, unless you get there really early. The student parking lots are always full, while the faculty lots have places to spare. Could it be that faculty members are parking in student lots or do we just have more student drivers?

Not only do we have a new principal at Seminole, but there are lots of other fresh faces. New faculty members and staff, transfer students and an exchange student from Germany, are joining the Seminole tribe. We welcome them all and hope they'll be happy here.

Even though this has been a short week, due to the Labor Day holiday, teachers and students are getting into the real school routine and doing what we're all really here for — teaching and being taught. The real work has just begun. When's the next holiday?

Lake Mary High School

Lake Mary High School opened its doors at the start of the 1991 school year.

"From the beginning there has been a tradition of excellence," said principal Don Smith, who is entering his first full year at the helm of the school. Smith took over the top spot last October when Don Reynolds, who opened the school, retired.

Smith said he is proud that Lake Mary High School has an active student body who is geared toward doing their best.

"They're all geared toward making the school the best in the district," said Smith.

One of the programs that the school is very proud of is the "Shadowing Your Future" cooperative effort which is being done be-

"Shadowing Your Future" pairs students in the applied economics class with professionals in the community who let the youngsters follow them through a typical day on the job.

"We need more community volunteers to work with us," Davis said.

Smith noted that the school has consistently scored above the state and the national average on the Scholastic Aptitude Test.

In 1990 Lake Mary students scored an average of 436 on the verbal portion of the test and 492 on the math section.

More than 60 percent of Lake Mary High School graduates go on to take part in some form of post-secondary education.

The Lake Mary PTSA-LSAC board of directors includes Bill Boyd, president; Mary Ann Cleveland, college committee chairman; and Jeanne Morris, legislative committee chairman. Penny Rizzo, committee chairman; Patti Williams, college committee chairman; and Margaret Ballenger, secretary.

NATIONAL BRIEFS

Soviets want human rights conference

MOSCOW — The Soviet Union called Saturday for an international human rights forum opening here next week to serve as a bulwark for its newfound freedoms even as ethnic tensions claimed more lives in a southern republic.

Economic hardships were also on people's minds.

France called for large-scale Western aid to "reconstruct" the moribund Soviet economy, and former Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze said he fears food riots this winter.

French Economics Minister Pierre Berezgovey disclosed Saturday that the 12-nation European Community was considering urgent food aid.

Israel worried about U.S. loan

TEL AVIV, Israel — Foreign Minister David Levy believes Soviet immigration to Israel could be jeopardized if the United States fails to approve $10 billion in housing loan guarantees, an official said Saturday.

Israel radio reported, meanwhile, that Washington has offered Israel a compromise of tens of millions of dollars in extra financial aid as compensation for a delay in considering the guarantees.

The official, who spoke on condition of anonymity, had no information on the report. Israel, Washington's largest foreign aid recipient, now receives $3 billion annually from the United States.

Business promotes fun, food

By VICKI DeSORMIER

SANFORD — By early afternoon a very modest crowd had gathered behind Mr. Bill's Southern Gourmet Bar-B-Q at 919 First St. in Sanford for a street party that had begun at 11 a.m. and was scheduled to last until 11 p.m.

Bill Morris, who owns the restaurant with his wife Joyce, said he wanted to tie the business' first promotion to the start of school.

Besides jumping in a Moon Walk and dancing to the driving beat of Motown tunes in the street on Poplar Avenue, which had been blocked off between First and Second streets, youngsters had the opportunity to enter coloring contests and receive information about staying in school.

"We've been here for 10 months and we want people to know about us but we also want to somehow promote education if we can," he said.

Morris said his parents were both educators and he believes young people need to be encouraged to stay in school no matter what it takes.

"It's the most important thing," he said.

Morris is originally from North Carolina but has been in various locations in Florida for 17 years.

"We think Sanford is a wonderful place and we want the community to get to know us," he said.

Charla Kendall, 11, of Sanford, said she and her sister Kandy, 9, wanted to dance and they'd come just for the music.

"I don't want nothing to do with school on Saturday," she said.

Morris teamed with Lloyd C'Onnor, owner of the Cold Front ice cream parlor in Lake Mary, to help ease the oppressive heat of the afternoon.

"It's awful," said Morris of the heat.

Morris said that the street party was his wife's idea.

"She really wants to involve the community in all we can," he said.

Recess over, not problems for Congress

By STEVEN KOMAROW
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — The Soviet upheaval will combine with domestic politics to spice up issues from arms treaties to unemployment lines as Congress convenes for its fall session this week.

"When Congress returns from the recess, it returns to a different world," said Sen. Jack Danforth, R-Mo.

Pending arms treaties on both conventional and nuclear arms and trade agreements with the former Soviet government will be scrutinized in a new light. Lawmakers will wrestle with the aid questions of both how much and to whom the money should go.

The developments also could be a factor in the Senate's consideration of President's Bush's nomination of Robert Gates to head the Central Intelligence Agency.

Gates was deputy director of the CIA during the Reagan administration's secret arms sales to Iran, and before he's confirmed he'll have to survive a grilling on what he knew and what he did.

A former CIA colleague, Clair George, was indicted Friday for lying to Congress about the Iran-Contra affair.

Also possibly affecting the Gates nomination is a probe by congressional panels into whether President Reagan's 1980 campaign made a deal with Iran to delay release of the U.S. hostages in Iran until after Jimmy Carter was defeated.

Gates is one of two controversial nominations on the Senate schedule; the other is Supreme Court nominee Clarence Thomas.

The Judiciary Committee hearings later this month will focus on why Thomas, who is black, opposes laws designed to help black advancement. Lawmakers will also try to elicit his views on abortion and whether he would vote to overturn the 1973 Roe vs. Wade decision that made abortion a woman's right.

Bush hasn't sent the Senate a nominee to replace Dick Thornburgh as attorney general. Thornburgh resigned to run for the Senate in Pennsylvania against Democrat Harris Wofford.

DRUG COUNSELOR

MARY BALK

If friend uses drugs, leave

DEAR MARY: One of my girlfriends is messing around with marijuana. She also takes beer from the refrigerator in her garage. She thinks it's really fun and she wants me to do it with her. So far, I've been able to make up excuses about why I can't, but she's starting to put some pressure on me. I think she looks and acts stupid when she's smoked some dope, but she thinks it's great. I don't want to get involved with drugs. What should I do?

STRAIGHT

DEAR STRAIGHT: You don't have many options. Get copies of some recent articles about the real dangers of using alcohol and other drugs. Share these with your friend and let her know that you care about her and are afraid she may be destroying herself. If she chooses not to listen and continues using drugs and trying to get you to, you may want to talk to a school counselor or some other adult whom you trust. Above all else, stay away from her when she's using, and leave immediately if she tries to get you involved. Ultimately, you must understand that if she chooses to continue to use, her primary relationship will be with the drugs and her drug-using friends, and you will have lost her anyway.

DEAR MARY: Our children are young, ages 4 and 2, but we want to teach our children the difference between right and wrong. It seems like many young people grow up without any training in what's right and wrong, so I want to be sure my kids get the right messages from me. How can I be sure they do?

LOVING MOM

DEAR MOM: You can't make sure your kids ever learn anything you are trying to teach them — that's up to them; but you can make sure that you are giving the clearest possible messages to them to make it easy for them to understand what you feel is important and what your expectations and principles are. Here are some ways you can make your values clear:

- Communicate your values openly. Talk about why honesty, self-reliance and responsibility are important.

- Recognize how your actions affect the development of your children's values. Your children will copy your behavior. Consider how your attitudes toward alcohol, tobacco, and drugs may be shaping your children's choices about whether or not to use these things. This doesn't mean that you cannot use alcohol in moderation; but make sure that your children understand that what is legal and appropriate for adults is not necessarily so for children.

- Look for conflicts between your words and your actions. Such behaviors as telling your child to say you are not at home when you receive an unwanted phone call signals them that it's all right to be dishonest.

- Make sure that your children understand your family values. Sometimes parents assume mistakenly that children have "absorbed" values even though they may rarely or never be discussed. You can test your children's understanding by playing a "What would you do?" game discussing common decision-making situations such as: 1) if you found someone's wallet, 2) if someone tried to get you to eat or drink something that you weren't sure about, etc.

Independence shared

Canine Companions expand the world for handicapped persons

ANDREA BROWN
Herald Correspondent

LONGWOOD — Dogs are great. Dogs are lovable. Dogs are fun. And it's hard not to be doggedly excited when speaking about the dogs that participate in Canine Companions for Independence, under the direction of Longwood resident Iva Cherner. Countless hours are spent training and turning playful pups into grown-up guide dogs. The dogs' leash is then turned over to a "participant," an individual unable to carry out all of the physical tasks related to daily life.

Cherner oversees the Southeast region. After establishing an advertising agency locally, she became the director of Canine Companions in 1988.

Cherner says, "I'm not responsible for training the dogs. I'm responsible for day to day operations, interviewing applicants, etc." She continues, "We recently put together a Board of Governors and hope to begin a capital campaign the beginning of next year, because we want a training center in Central Florida."

Currently, there are centers located in California, North Carolina, and New York. But, all the fur in the world can't raise the monies needed for a center here; human volunteers can. Cherner welcomes them with loads of enthusiasm. Some of the events planned locally include a Jello Jump at the Altamonte Mall in October and "Santa Paw" in December. (picture-taking of you and your favorite pet).

Cherner says, "Last year we even photographed a rat — with a big red bow." She again stresses, "Presently, there is a waiting list of 40 people, so we need as much help as possible."

Four types of dogs are provided by Canine Companions: Service Dogs — those familiar with 89 basic commands; Social Dogs — for those individuals who experience communication difficulties; Signal Dogs — for the hearing impaired and, Specialty Dogs — for individuals with special needs (i.e.: hearing-impaired and wheelchair confined.) The dogs-of-choice are the Labrador and Golden retrievers.

Cherner explains, "None can resist the face of a Lab or Golden plus they retrieve. We take their innate being and use it."

The dogs also provide a tremendous amount of self-esteem and independence for the participant and that's something to bark about.

Cherner agrees, "People don't always know how to approach a disabled person. But, when you have this wonderful dog, they no longer see the person in a wheelchair — they come, pet the dog, say hello to it, hug it, give it a cookie, whatever."

Janet and Disney Severt are testimonials to these facts. Janet became a participant in November 1989. She traveled to California, applied to the program and received Disney, a Labrador retriever.

Severt comments, "I have limited hand and leg use. Disney makes me less dependent, more spontaneous. The dogs are natural ice-breakers."

Severt's life was dramatically changed by Disney and she firmly believes in the program.

As she states, "This has changed a lot of people's lives who are afraid. It is especially good for children since they will have something their peers don't have."

Meanwhile, as the dog days of summer come to a close, Cherner, a friend to dogs and people, along with other dedicated individuals, continue to plan for autumn and winter fund-raisers, working hard to provide a very valuable service to those who might benefit.

Kindergarten garden honored statewide

By ANDREA BROWN
Herald Correspondent

SANFORD — Geraldine Clark decided to join the Master Gardener Program, sponsored by the Seminole County Cooperative Extension Service. Her love for gardening prodded her to take the step to become a trained volunteer.

When Celeste White, Urban Horticulturist, challenged Clark last September to assist 180 kindergarten children at Idyllwilde Elementary School to grow a vegetable garden, she was more than willing to take on the project.

Little did she know that the knowledge she has gained through the years, the personal time spent cultivating land, and the deep love of watching something grow, would bring her statewide recognition.

Teachers at Idyllwilde had contacted the Agriculture Center to request assistance in the class project. The children were to grow their own vegetables which they would then incorporate with their studies. A Thanksgiving dinner was planned for the miniature gardeners who are now first graders.

The garden was placed behind the school with wide rows of lettuce, radishes and onions. There were also marigolds that blossomed against the vegetables. A second garden which consisted of snow peas and carrots was also cultivated by the children with Clark's assistance.

In June, White once again contacted Clark to submit her project at the three-day conference for master gardeners that takes place once a year in Gainesville at the University of Florida. This was the first year that Clark did not attend, and the first time that she had ever entered a competition.

It paid off. Geraldine Clark was awarded a statewide honor, the Award of Excellence, for her kindergarten garden.

Submitting the entry wasn't easy since she wasn't prepared for it. She never dreamed that she would win since she was asked on short notice to prepare an entry.

Clark shares the award with the Idyllwilde kindergarten class of 1990-91 and with the Agriculture Center, where the award will be proudly displayed.

She says that without contributions from the following businesses the project could not have happened.

"Gregory Tru-Value Hardware, Suniland and Izora Garden Club of Sanford were strongly instrumental in getting the project underway," she said.

The Clarks made Sanford their permanent hometown several years ago. Originally from Pennsylvania, Clark and her husband, Dave, traveled to and fro for many years until they decided to move to Florida permanently.

A retired schoolteacher, Clark's green thumb is evident at her home on Holly Ave. The carefully designed landscape acts off an array of beauty in the comfortable neighborhood.

"If you are afraid to get dirt under your fingernails, there is no room for you in the Master Gardener Program," Clark confided. She said the love for the cultivating art soon erases any phobias that pertain to dirt.

Secretary Marion White, seated left, is collecting dues and selling raffle tickets as Treasurer Louise Buffalo, right seated, and Second Vice President Dorene Fish assist. Other officers not shown: First Vice President Emily Whatton and Corresponding Secretary Eula Scott. Devotional was given by Lucy Nell Young. The club, started in 1911, will celebrate its 80th anniversary in December. In the 1930s and early 1900s the clubhouse building was the focal point for many activities in Longwood, including dances, afternoon movies and weddings. For additional information, call 830-6022.

Go, Gruby girls!

Here's an update on those dancing Gruby girls:

Jenny, who graduated from Seminole High School last year, is dancing full time at Disney MGM Studios. Jill, a sophomore at SHS, dances seasonally at Opryland USA in Nashville.

The sisters hope to continue in the entertainment field with Jenny's ultimate goal — Broadway. She attends classes at Seminole Community College and saves all her money toward fulfilling her dream.

Marsha Gruby has spent most of her motherhood shuttling her daughters back and forth to auditions, dancing classes and shows while Daddy James has been working hard to balance the budget. But now that Jenny is an adult who drives, Mom Marsha is relieved of some of her highway hostage duties.

Marsha credits the girls' schoolteachers, who diligently worked with them to get as much dancing in as possible, for their success.

HOROSCOPE

By Bernice Bode Oost YOUR BIRTHDAY

Sept. 8, 1991 It looks like you'll have opportunities to operate in a more free and independent manner in the year ahead. Restrictions that hampered your progress will be eliminated so that you can be your own person.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) What you're hoping for at this time is not out of reach today — if you apply your ingenuity and resourcefulness rather than wait on others to do what needs doing. Virgo, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for Virgo's Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $1.25 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) For best results today, let others you're involved with think that the ideas or concepts you authored are their own. It's results, not acknowledgment, that counts.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Try not to be a loner today; good things could happen if you get out and mix with friends. In case there is nothing on your agenda, stir something up yourself.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You're presently in a favorable achievement cycle, so don't waste your energy on insignificant objectives. Go after meaningful targets with gusto.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Try to spend some time today with a special friend whom you feel always leaves you with something worthwhile. This individual may really have something significant to offer today.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Try to keep material goals uppermost in your mind today; they'll serve as inspiration for you to put forth the necessary effort to achieve success in your present endeavors.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) This could be the day to meet someone socially with whom you'll have an instant affinity. You know of one another, but you've never been formally introduced.

Overall conditions look hopeful for you in the year ahead, because your ambitions and talents will blend together harmoniously. You could do well in several areas at the same time.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You are now in a promising financial trend where increased earnings are a strong probability. However, you'll have to work hard for what you get.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) A rather unique opportunity might be presented to you by an old friend either today or tomorrow. It might not look like much on the surface, but it could have greater depth than you realize.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You're likely to be more successful today using traditional methods rather than unorthodox ones. Things that worked for you previously can still get the job done properly.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Some information you receive from one party is of great value to a second party. If you bring these divergent factions together today, everyone could profit — including you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Developments that could improve your lot in life, both financially and with regard to your career, are likely to transpire today. Look for signals so you can stay on top of what occurs.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) A project that has been ineffectively managed by another could come under your direct control today. You're not apt to make the same mistakes.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You're likely to do better at this time by concerning yourself more with long-range results than with immediate effects. You're in a cycle where you should lay sturdy foundations.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) There are indications that you may start to cultivate an extremely important relationship today. It won't be established overnight, but it could eventually turn out to be one of the major alliances in your life.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) New heights can be achieved at this time — if you have the motivation and desire to do so. A tenacious effort may be required, but it will be worth it.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Associates will appreciate the value of your ideas and suggestions today, perhaps even a bit more than you do. Accept their comments and praise as sincere.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) An individual you found successful with in the past may want you to team up again in a new endeavor. This could turn out to be an even bigger accomplishment.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You have the gift today of arousing enthusiasm in others regarding things you regard with ardor. To the amazement of friends, you'll even convert a negative pal.

ARIES

(March 21-April 19) This is a good day to implement plans and procedures to help you achieve your most important, present objective. Get moving on it promptly.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Your greatest asset today is your ability to make a favorable and lasting impression on those you'll be involved with socially. You don't have to put on pretenses, just be yourself.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Don't leave an important matter that deeply concerns you unfinished today. There are definite advantages to finalizing the situation now.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Weigh your alternatives carefully today before making a critical decision. You have far more options at your disposal than you may realize.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Concentrate on situations today from which you can derive some form of material gain. You could be extremely fortunate in these areas — if you do the right things.

You are enjoying your breakfast of tea, toast and marmalade, and reading the sports pages. Suddenly the phone rings. You jump and reach for the receiver.

"Hi!" You recognize the voice of your uncle. He knows you have had some success at bridge, but secretly he thinks he plays better than you. He calls only when he has a tough problem to give you.

You write down the North-South cards, and before you can protest about the bidding, your uncle tells you that West leads the heart king and then the heart ace. You, as declarer, ruff and cash two top trumps. East discarding the club jack on the second.

"How do you continue, nephew?"

At least you have a chance to return to your breakfast while you think. Clearly East has the club ace; otherwise West would have opened the bidding. You have two known losers and must avoid two club losers. This requires discarding three clubs on dummy's diamonds before West can ruff in with the spade jack and lead a club through dummy's king.

There is only one way to do that — assume West has four diamonds.

"Right, uncle. I cash the spade queen and diamond king. Then I lead the diamond eight and finesse dummy's 10."

Immediately the line goes dead. Now you know that the 10 wins, allowing you to cash the A-Q of diamonds, discarding clubs while West has to follow suit impotently. West ruffs the diamond five, but you have discarded your penultimate club loser. Contract made.
