

Week End Football Games Will Prove Severe Tests For Leading Grid Teams

Game Week Is Set To Repeat Notre Dame Invasion And Thereby Win Its First Victory Over Rockne's Irish

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Quietude, whether it be in the state or quality of being quiet; repose, tranquility; rest. Then he went to the telephone and gave his story to a modern re-writer man and, wh. it finally saw the light of day, he was surprised to find that quietude is the thing not want of a Saturday anywhere in the vicinity of a pair of goal posts. This, it might be mentioned, coming approximately everywhere, thus narrowing the situation down considerably.

Anyhow, football comes up for a big league trial this week for the first time this season. It has been out on a splurge with Walls, Wynn and Hoken Pocus and now it is suddenly in on the major time with crowds and stakes increasing accordingly. The transition from minor to major engagements on Saturday is more abrupt than at any time in the writer's memory. In only one line of inquiry is it possible that one can go wrong and that is in naming the so-called little games. There are not any.

The hosts with which the 1933 season is getting to a climax is not realized by the fact that California and Southern California are meeting at Berkeley. To the Golden Bear, Stanford alone is a more significant opponent than U. S. C.; to the latter, significance begins with the Golden Bears and ends, when and if it does, this. This is only an issue to be contested as early as the third Saturday in October but the game, far from being a scrimmage in this respect, is just a prominent example. The day has more issues than the thirty loss.

Perhaps as interesting as any will be the meeting between Georgia Tech and Notre Duff at Atlanta, since it will give us a first on Southern football in relation to the rest of the country the latter being very prominent on Notre Duff's schedule. The Harvard-Army game at Cambridge is another first year because the latter change is good and Harvard seems to be getting the 1933. It is a first in the history of the game. The Army's performance is interesting because it is playing one of those "rest of the country" schedules.

The new Big Six conference is set to meet in the Missouri Valley and stand plenty of watching this weekend. Probably as strong as any set of teams in the country, it will have a chance to prove something definite when Nebraska and Syracuse, highly qualified and national representatives, have at it in Lincoln. Missouri will get a real test of the speed of its line in its meeting with Iowa since and, if the Tigers really intend to dominate the situation cut this way, they will do well to start dominating with this one or turn their attention to something less precarious.

Speaking of tests, perhaps Alabama, apparently headed back to some national affairs, will be tested in its own hand against the subject matter. I would like to mention the fact that Illinois is to meet the Big Ten, will meet Illinois at Chicago in a touch-down but I am not sure whether this will mean anything by 1933. At that, any conference game is a little more than a game and we must look with interest to the game in Ohio State until the final outcome is in.

The Buckeye are playing Michigan and ordinarily this would be a game of great interest. An idea of the game can be seen in the fact that Ohio State has won 11 of its last 12 games.

One representative in the east is the game between Chicago and Michigan. The game is set for Saturday and will be a real test for both teams. The game is expected to be a close one and will be watched with interest.

anguine, and the Republicans are privately a little worried. Some of the Republicans are saying that Herbert Hoover gave a speech here enroute to California about Nov. 1st.

Gov. Smith received tremendous ovation upon his arrival here late last night. Ten thousand people lined the streets to welcome him, and the police had literally to fight their way out of the station with the Governor in their midst. Without any attempt at parading, the Democratic nomination as whisked to the Congress Hotel. Through streets lined with people and red street flares several thousand people gathered outside

It was a good thing for the G. O. P. that all the people who came out to see Smith wouldn't vote for him. As the flames crackled merrily they danced they yelled for "Al" the yells finally became so insistent that the Governor took a bow as the hotel balcony far above their heads, and when he appeared the noise was terrific.

The Democratic leaders, however, are saving the main demonstration for later. Tomorrow Governor Smith is to be taken on a long parade through the boulevard system of the city, and then the Democratic hordes of Chicago will be out en masse. The district leaders are intent upon a huge Tomorrow night Gov. Smith will deliver his last address of the campaign west of the Alleghenies. Saturday morning he returns to Albany for a few days rest before embarking upon a whirlwind 10 days campaign along the Atlantic seaboard.

Whispers About Citizenship Of Hoover Silenced

It is no secret at Republican headquarters that Hoover has taken this attack on his citizenship closer to heart than any other of his public career. Consequently when his political opponents unjustly attacked him on this score he regarded it as "dirty" politics. He has wanted to silence these attacks for a long time but his political advisers urged against it.

The action of the State Department brought the whole matter into public print and Hoover agreed that work should issue a statement on the whispers that he once tried to join in a British section. Now both Hoover and his advisers believed that the matter had been taken out of the campaign.

Versatile Crabtree Has Directed All Of Floridians' Scoring

UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA, GAINESVILLE, Oct. 18.—(AP)—The Navy Division—Cannonball Clyde Crabtree, Florida's crafty and brilliant quarterback, who looms as the South's greatest signal caller, this year, has played less than three quarters of football in the 'Gators two games thus far, yet in that brief period has directed Florida to a tight touchdown, on the Vators total to date.

Charlie Bachman, Florida coach, is a great believer in Crabtree. He has not seen many Southern football teams yet, but is inclined to think Crabtree just as smart, if not smarter, than any quarterback sported on Dixie grid this season.

Bachman says the prettiest play he has ever seen in football was the lateral pass play last Saturday against Auburn. Crabtree to quarterback for 30 yards, and a touchdown.

There doesn't seem to be anything this youngster from Clarksville, can't do with a football, and do wonderfully well. He can pass with right or left hand, can kick with right or left foot, can kick either way 40 yards while on the run, and is without superior in the South when it comes to juggling a football. He has developed to perfection every art known to a grid backfield man.

Florida's array of backs are creating a big stir down the South this season. A third team was given action against Auburn, and they showed up well. Brubrough, who threw touchdowns in the game; Goughbread, Carthon, Smith, Bethens, Owens, Bowyer, McEwan, James, and others, played a prominent role in Florida's win.

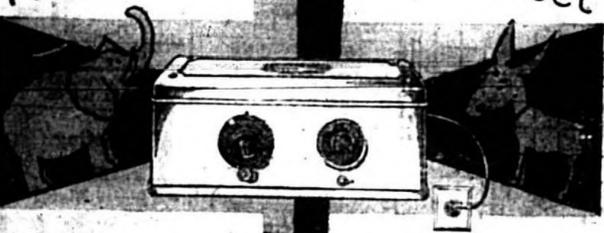

Football fans about the state are talking 'Gator football' and with Meyer as the feature attraction of the annual Homecoming Saturday, indications point to by far the season's largest gallery for Fleming Field.

STATISTICS SHOW PRICE MOVEMENT OF RAIL STOCKS

Figures Reveal That "Highs" Occurred After Speculations

NEW YORK, Oct. 18 (INS)—An interesting statistical study of the movement of railroad stock prices over a period of years, the Standard Statistics Company has shown that in eight out of the last thirty-one years the annual "high" was made in January, following two or three months of accumulation in the fall of the preceding year.

This is interesting in view of the current buying activity in a number of high-grade railroad shares which have always been considered as the leaders in the "speculative" market. It points to the logical accumulation of the rail stocks in the eye of the investor, the period of largest earnings for the transportation systems.

Between the years 1897 and 1928, according to the statistical review referred to, twenty consecutive rail shares recorded their year's high price in January of the following years: 1903, 1907, 1910, 1913, 1914, 1917, 1921, 1922.

The December month also holds a good record, with the same stock in their peaks in 1898; 1906; 1908; 1909; 1924 and 1925. Thus December and January about 66 per cent of the high records were made while the remaining ten months shared the other 34 per cent.

February and June were entirely bare of high price records, March held only 1; April 1; May 2; September 4; October and November 3 each. It is also significant that in the five months from January ahead, September to January inclusive, the rail stocks reached their peak prices in twenty five out of the thirty-one years while in that part of the year already passed the high-price peaks were passed only six times or less than twenty per cent of the time.

These facts being well known and appreciated by shrewd traders it is not difficult to understand why the railroad stocks met with their best public reception in the fall of the year, when the harvest is being gathered and frightened away over the transportation system in greatest volume.

Referring again to the current railroad stock market, it is of course gratifying to the bulls that speculative interest revolves around the number of the highest grade dividend payers of roads which have been consistent money makers in the last four or five years. Buying of this sort responds in large measure to the personal investments of the large individual and institutional investor, who have a need of recovering to the call loan market funds to carry their load. Just now they are satisfied with money and are scanning the security horizon for attractive but safe opportunities of their money.

Traffic over the American railroads was in disappointing volume in the first part of the year, but conditions have improved materially since July, and the recent increase in crop prospects has generally brightened the outlook for the so-called granger roads. There has been a large production of the stock of bituminous coal in the roads in the coal mining territory must materially increase their loads in the fall season, while to sharp gain in cotton production will provide heavy traffic for the southern roads.

Earning capacities of many of the leading roads have been somewhat handicapped this year by wage increases, but improving operating efficiency has offset the efforts of the higher pay-rolls. That being the case, the railroad heads are hopeful that the anticipated wage raises on the western lines will be covered in the same way. Incidentally the roads have received a modest plan in the form of a small increase in mail pay.

Bulls in the railroad stocks have the satisfaction of knowing that the speculative excesses that have visited other sections of the stock market have not impaired the technical position of the rails. New York Central, Baltimore and Ohio, Great Northern, Northern Pacific, Southern Pacific and other prime investment rails are down from 10 to 25 points from the high of the year and in a position to respond with higher prices to expanding operations, increased earnings and enlarged speculative demand for their stocks.

From the investment standpoint it is significant that the rails return close to 5 per cent on the investment, while industrials range from less than 2 per cent to 3 per cent or better. Per cent to 5 per cent or better. The rails therefore have an investment appeal which will steady them when the speculative cyclones force a retreat to the storm cellars for holders of the high flying specialties.

This National Key Town Map Free to Anyone Interested in Cutting Costs

To lower distribution costs, business is turning to the key town method of buying and selling by telephone. By this plan each representative can "travel" farther, reach more people, buy and sell more—and cut expenses.

The national key town map, showing key towns and their calling areas, is now ready. This and regional maps may be obtained through any of our business offices. These maps are free.

Key town plans work like this. The sales or purchasing representative goes to the key town in person. From each he makes his contacts by telephone with customers and prospects in that area. Expense visits in person are made less often; yet by telephone more frequent and up-to-the-minute relations are maintained.

Related telephone services supplement the key town plan. Classified business telephone directories furnish lists of prospects, sequence calling lists save hours of time, the toll-free toll-free plan makes it possible to have bills for calls sent to home offices—avoiding the carrying of cash and waiting in long lines of cars. Thus Long Distance can be cut out of your selling or buying problems—to increase business, yet lower costs. A call to our nearest business office will bring a copy of the national key town map to you.

Helps For Mothers

By Emily Hoffman
Has food become a habit in your home? This seems to be the case in most homes where there are children. There are various reasons for this but it is probably safe to say that parents themselves are largely to blame for this condition. It is as soon as a child begins eating that this is noted as a matter of course and no comments on food are made at the table. The child will eat naturally what is put in front of him. Even though he may occasionally be an artist of food the child will make a mistake in his own case if it is not natural. It is something that is essential to health, explain that there are certain foods or ways of preparing the same which are different from what you are used to. The average child likes to eat, and when he can get the average child will not overcome prejudices against foods under such condition.

There are mothers who cater to the child's taste by providing special food, and will excuse the act by saying the child is finicky about eating. In one family where there are four children it often happens that the mother must prepare five different kinds of meat at one meal to satisfy each child and the grown-ups. Often either of the parents, like a food and it is made noticeable by comment that they forget that children are prone to imitate their elders. All mothers do not serve foods as attractively as they can, and in some families it is customary to give too large quantities of foods. Either the quantity will put a damper on the appetite. The mother who allows her children to eat between meals is putting a check on their appetite at meal time and children who are permitted to eat the dainties first because they like it, cannot be expected to eat a nourishing disner, no matter how good it is. In some families it is customary to make the children clear the plate, and force is frequently resorted to in accomplishing this. The refusal of food by children often creates an unpleasant scene when the mother attempts to make them eat. This nervous feeling that completely destroys the appetite and makes eating impossible. This is the natural effect of all emotions such as fear, anger, worry etc. If a child is forced to eat under these conditions he cannot digest the food.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Caught from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified croscetin that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth. Of all known drugs croscetin is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritation. Creomulsion contains, in addition to croscetin, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the croscetin goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritation, and is especially for building up the system after a flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (S.P.)

ROSA ZAGNONI MARINONI.

We understand that Will Rogers has changed his opinion regarding the "All I know is what I read in the papers and a few whispers now and then."

The presidential campaign is held over and no one has been chosen yet.

We heard Josephus Daniels Tuesday night on the radio in Orlando.

It takes a good strong partisan prejudice like this one to make the people understand just how much mischief has been going on in the government.

Our Republican friends laugh at the business we believe in a protective tariff for Florida fruits and vegetables.

We are always glad to publish letters from our readers expressing their opinions regarding national matters.

It is a treat to store for the readers who begin their letters with the expression "This afternoon I read in the Sanford Herald..."

Religious Toleration

The caption which we have chosen for this editorial was a far more frequently used phrase in the Sixteenth and Seventeenth Centuries than it should be today.

So important an issue was it then, and in the following century, that the founders of our country and the framers of our constitution insisted that it be written into the fundamental laws of this land.

We do not know at what point in the progress of our history that this change has taken place.

Yet, only the other day, we heard a man say he was going to vote against Al Smith because he was a Catholic.

We admitted that Tammany is an organization was crooked, as crooked as the Vire machine in Philadelphia, or the Thompson-Crowe machine in Chicago.

It is impossible to argue with a man like that. It is of no avail to show him that presidential appointments are subject to the approval of Congress.

Pampering Papayas

On a recent trip to Miami we had the pleasure of visiting Dr. J. Peterson's "Bonita Grove," a remarkable garden, and experimental farm, in the southern part of Dade county.

Dr. Peterson is a scientific farmer. He does not drop the seed in the dirt and wait for watermelons. He makes a careful chemical analysis, and then by adding the proper fertilizers he makes a soil exactly suited to his purpose.

Papayas, or pawpaws as they are known by their more intimate acquaintances, are a particular hobby of Dr. Peterson.

Bob Holland a writer, for the Miami Herald takes his pencil and figures hastily on the back of an envelope what possible profits there are in such papayas.

"Dr. Peterson's papaya trees are planted ten feet apart. That means something more than 400 to the acre, but I called it 400 to make the arithmetical computations easier.

"Dr. Peterson sells the papaya for 15 cents a pound at his orchard. That means 60 cents for each fruit or $30 for each tree.

"Not so bad. Discount the figures 50 per cent for trees that do not bear, cut off another half for possible losses due to floods, frost, pestilence, insects and general hard luck.

"If one wants to be optimistic one would figure that each tree would have 80 melons before knocking off for the year and they would average six pounds apiece.

What this papaya industry may mean to Florida, we can only wait and see. There seems to be absolutely no limit to the possibilities of Florida soil.

NEW YORK HERALD TRIBUNE

Though grandfathers and grandmothers are and do in large numbers, the young men of the world are the backbone of the nation.

thirty He writes in "Popular Science Monthly" that you may make a successful flyer if you learn after thirty-five, but the chances are slim, and they rapidly diminish with each succeeding year.

Just how far experience can be relied on to offset the natural deficiencies of age in a pilot cannot yet be determined.

The Osage master who spent thirty-eight dollars in one month for scalp treatments had a great goodly hair which gave them the white whorls for nothing—Nathaniel Democrat.

RAILROAD PETITIONS L. C. C. DIVORCE REMOVED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 (HOLLYWOOD)—The National Railroad Laborers' Union today filed a petition with the Interstate Commerce Commission today for removal of the union from the list of carriers subject to the Interstate Commerce Act. The union claims that the act is unconstitutional and that the union is a labor organization and not a carrier.
