LIVERTON LONES SECTION CONSTRA

What does a man mean when he says, "Let's get down to brase tacks"? He means that he thinks it's time to discuss the real issue.

And that's always a good idea! Nothing is gained by "beating around the bush." Wise men seek the issue . . . and settle it!

In America there are millions of people who attend and support the Church. There are other millions who do not. What is the real issue on which these two groups disagree?

This is the issue: Is man the self-sufficient master of his world, able to overcome every problem by his own strength . . . OR is man the noblest creation of an all-powerful God, weak in the face of life's turmoil when he stands alone, but strong when he joins heart and hand with God?

You're a man and you've seen something of life! Getting down to brass tacks... are you stronger WITH GOD or without?

THE TWO CANOEISTS

THE cance season's here, so naturally there's in-terest in a problem about cancelsts.

Recently, 'twas stated that Jack and Jill, canoe enthusiasts, had an argument about whether to so up or down river, and each started off in a different direction. That is, they started from the same point at the same time, one up and one down the river; and in 20 minutes they were two and two-thirds miles apart. By that time each had "cooled off." Both turned around and started toward each other. They met around 20 minutes later a mile from the starting point. The question was asked, what were the speeds of the current and of the boats?

There was some question about the answer given. However, before discussing it, we'll let you try to work it out yourself.

SQUARING THE TRIANGLE

THIS is an interesting puzzle you can make and prove to yourself that an equilateral triangle can be squared. Draw on a larger scale either the square or the triangle above, using cardboard or a thin strip of wood. Cut it into four pieces, along the lines indicated. The segments can be used to form either a square or a triangle. (The triangle, in this engraving, is slightly reduced).

The numbers will help you remember the solutions, which are not as easy as you may think. Try the puzzle on your friends.
