NATION IN BRIEF

Senate Finance Panel Approves Tax-Cut Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Finance Committee has approved tax-cut legislation after lacking on a provision for a special tax break to help pay the costs of higher education.

The full Senate will start work next Tuesday on the massive tax bill, which extends the antirecession tax cuts enacted last year and limits the ability of wealthy investors to use tax-avoidance schemes.

Amendments approved Friday would protect low- and middle-income persons against a tax increase in 1977; reduce estate taxes by $2 billion a year; and provide an $800-million tax reduction for capital assets held more than five years.

Scandal Plot Thickens

WASHINGTON (AP)—The latest figure in the Capitol Hill payroll-sex scandal can partially confirm a claim by Elizabeth Ray that a congressman offered Miss Ray to have sex with Sen. Mike Gravel in an effort to gain a political favor, according to a well-placed source.

A second source said Miss Ray made the claim recently to federal investigators, naming her one-time boss, then Rep. Ken Gray, as asking her to visit Gravel's favor. Gray, who retired last year, denies the allegation, and Gravel says he does not recall ever meeting Miss Ray.

Colleen Gardner, whose lawyer claims she was paid a high salary by Rep. John Young as a reward for her sexual favors, was an eyewitness to the sexual encounter between Ray and Gravel aboard a Potomac River houseboat belonging to Gray, the well-placed source said Friday night.

Young Named In Scandal

WASHINGTON (AP)—The chief of the Justice Department's criminal division says the department will look into the newest congressional payroll-playmate scandal, but a decision to launch a full-fledged investigation will depend on what facts are turned up.

The scandal involves 59-year-old John Young, a 10-term Democratic congressman from Corpus Christi, Tex.

Young said Friday that if the Justice Department and House ethics committee do not begin a probe of charges by a former staff member that he was required to have sex with Young, her loss, he would request an investigation himself.

Hays' Condition Improves

BARNESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Rep. Wayne Hays, rapidly improving from an overdose of sleeping pills, was on his feet and "complaining about everything," his physician said.

Hays, center of the congressional payroll-sex scandal, was moved Friday from an intensive care unit to a private room. Dr. Richard Phillips said Hays took an overdose of sleeping tablets that may have been up to 10 times the normal dosage.

Phillips said he did not know whether the overdose was a suicide attempt or accidental.

Carr Tells Of Fourth Killing

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—A parolee with a history of arrests on sex offenses is due to lead Connecticut police to the grave of a woman he says is his fourth murder victim, officials said Friday.

State police said they expect Robert Frederick Carr III to point out the grave of a black woman, about 20 years old, who he claims to have killed.

We Believe In SEEDCO Because

SEEDCO is one of the most reliable organizations of those who are concerned with health, education, employment, citizenship, management, and quality of life. SEEDCO is a community organization, useful to self, the community and surrounding areas, financially, collectively, and industrially.

Geo H. Starke, M.D.

SEEDCO is the nutrient to Seminoke County. Have you seen a plant that appears dead and no use? Then it is given nutrients and tender loving care. Suddenly there appears new growth and the plant is healthy. This is what SEEDCO is doing for Seminoke County.

Alfreda Wallace, Beautician, Community Worker

I am for SEEDCO one hundred per cent (100 pct.). It is a most worthy organization. May God bless all who helped SEEDCO into being in the first place. It seems to be a survival plan from God, for the poor of this community.

Wm. Lawrence

Since I've been exposed to the benefits of persons employed with SEEDCO—I shall continue to support SEEDCO.

Rev. A. Finkley

SEEDCO is a remarkable program involved in providing jobs for many people of Seminoke County on welfare and lay-off positions. Without such an outstanding program it would not be possible for many of the unemployed to support themselves.

Veronica Jones, Secretary

I think SEEDCO is the most viable and functional organization that has ever come to Seminoke County and Central Florida, because it provides jobs for low-income groups, thus reducing unemployment and welfare rolls. I am a friend of SEEDCO and will continuously do what I can to assist the staff and Board of Directors with the promotion and general welfare of SEEDCO.

Sue Blackshear, Teacher

I am supportive of SEEDCO because I believe the organization is striving to provide employment for those people who are least likely to find jobs in the present slow economy, and to provide opportunities for members of minority groups to perform jobs at all levels.

I am a resident of Seminoke County and a registered voter.

Mary M. Derr

SEEDCO would not have any meaning without brilliant men like Mr. Orr and Rev. Jones. SEEDCO has caused many dollars to be spent in Seminoke County. It has given many people the initiative to help what is right, and has been many people to the welfare roll.

May God help it to continue to grow.

Hester Dukus

I appreciate the help SEEDCO gave. It has provided jobs and services for our community. Many thanks to SEEDCO Corp.

Rev. C.H. Bailey

Fun And Games Are On The Agenda Play Program Opens Monday

By JANE CASSELLHERRY Herald Staff Writer

The Sanford Recreation Department will open its summer playground program for boys and girls Monday at the Sanford Civic Center Youth Wing and the Westside Recreation Center with registration and free play.

In addition to regular activities such as softball, basketball, jump rope, track and field, table games, coloring books and puzzles, special events are featured each day, such as Hoho Day, Mini Monster Day, Bicycle Jam, hobby day, wicker roast and watermelon slicing.

All types of contests are planned, including bubblegum blowing, whistling, limbo, shaving, hula hoop, frisbee and hula hoop dancing.

The playground will be open June 14-30 from 8:30 a.m. to 11:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. Children must be picked up before 11:45 a.m.

Non-residents must pay recreation cards prior to registration at the tax collector's window at city hall.

A recreation card will also be required at the youth centers for sixth grade and up, at the Civic Center, Sanford Avenue and Seminole Boulevard, Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and Westside Recreation Center, 919 Perimeter Ave., Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 9:30 p.m.

Special classes are also offered. There will be arts and crafts classes at both centers on Monday, Wednesday and Thursday through July 29 for children 6-12 years old (1:30-3 p.m.).

Students participate in one class period per week and each class is limited to 20 children. Due to the increased cost of arts and crafts supplies there will be a $1 fee for materials.

Offered at the civic center only will be tennis lessons for beginners, 9-11, June 15-29. Students must supply their own racket and there will be a $2 instructor fee for the 12-week program. Classes will be held on Tuesday or Thursday mornings.

Summer ceramics classes will be held at the Cultural Arts Center at 5th and Oak Avenue. Classes will be held on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, July 15-29, from 10 to 2:30 p.m. Students participate in only one class period a week and material fee is $1.

There will be a story hour for children 4-6 on Wednesday mornings from 10 to 11. The class is limited to 30 children and there is no registration fee. It will begin June 16 and conclude July 20.

Handicapped youngsters will be included in the summer recreation program this year through the use of trained "Lookout" volunteers supplied by OUTLOOK Central Florida.

For further information call 322-3161, Ext. 68.

Forgery, Theft Cases Also Docketed Area Youth Faces Burglary Trial

By KRIS NASH Herald Staff Writer

An 18-year-old Fern Park youth is scheduled to face a Seminoke County grand jury charge of grand larceny in connection with the March 4 theft of an antique Italian revolver and other items from the home of an Altamonte Springs family.

The trial of Joseph J. Santarone, 30 Oxford Road, Fern Park, is one of 19 slated to take place before Circuit Judge Joe Cowart Jr.

Santarone is accused of entering the dwelling of Charles Cooper, 615 Vandenberg St., Altamonte Springs, and committing burglary while armed with a deadly weapon. Cooper told Seminoke County Sheriff's detectives that the antique gun, several dollars worth of change and a small German pocket knife were missing following the break-in.

Francisco Barros, 16, of Fern Park, entered a plea of no contest in circuit court a week ago in connection with the same incident. Barros is presently entering a plea awaiting completion of a presentencing investigation (PSI).

Donald George Leinfelder, 22, of Del Rio, is charged with grand larceny in connection with the theft of two television sets from the Days Lodge, 450 North Douglas Ave., Altamonte Springs.

A 21-year-old Delray man, Donn Condon, pleaded guilty to a similar charge last week in connection with the same case and was released on bond pending the outcome of a PSI.

Other defendants docketed for trial this week include: —James Irving McKenna, 45, of Oviedo, charged with forgery and uttering a forged instrument in connection with the possession of a controlled substance.

—David Dale Hadelast, 21, of Oviedo, charged with two counts of possession of a controlled substance.

—James Raymond Hovatt, 21, of Winter Park, accused of possession of a controlled substance.

—Melvin Wallace Moore Jr., 31, of Oviedo, charged with possession of a controlled substance.

Panel Named To Discuss 'Mosquitoes'

A panel of city and county officials and blind mosquito experts has agreed to participate in a workshop session to consider control of insect horde which are causing Sanford merchants to lose thousands of business dollars annually.

Greg Like, legislative assistant to Rep. Vince Fiechtel (R-Leesburg) announced Friday that a blue ribbon group has agreed to participate in the discussion scheduled for Wednesday, June 16, at 7:30 p.m. in the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce building.

Elizabeth Beck, a representative of Health and Rehabilitative Services Department, Florida Bureau of Entomology; Frank Wilson, public county mosquito control expert and Phil Yoder, Lake County Mosquito Control official, are slated to join Seminoke County Commissioner Richard Williams and a City of Sanford representative on the panel, Like said.

Fiechtel will serve as moderator for the discussion, which Like said will include a slide presentation by Wilson and a lengthy audience participation segment.

A group of Lakefront businessmen, led by Gene Meadors of Meadors Marine, recently complained to local officials that blind mosquito swarms were driving customers away, creating filthy conditions and otherwise ruining business in the vicinity of Lake Mosroe.

Fugitive Charged In Kidnap Spree

By KRIS NASH Herald Staff Writer

INVERNESS, Fla. (AP)—A fugitive was held Saturday on a $70,000 bond, charged with abducting a 14-year-old girl and a 28-year-old man and stealing two cars in an 18-hour spree that began with a canoe ride.

Neither hostage was harmed, police said. They credited Debra Bogart, investigator at gunpoint, with the capture of the apparently talking her captor into releasing her.

Harold W. Still, 32, of Carleide, Ohio, was bringing the Bogart girl home when a policeman spotted the car and took him into custody Friday, authorities said.

Still was padding a stolen canoe down Thursday when he abducted the teenager and the 28-year-old man, said a state police spokesman. She was pinning on the riverbank with her boyfriend when Still approached, demanding money and the boy's car.

The boy, 15-year-old Timmy Shaw of Inverness, was unharmed and reported only a minor bruise on his forehead before Still was taken into custody, said a state police spokesman. Aided by residents, they began a manhunt in the area of school housing.

"Police said Still, who escaped through a state prison in Raleigh, N.C. last year while serving time for burglary, later took

Layer To Seek 'A Second Term'

Incumbent County Commissioner Richard Williams has announced he will seek reelection.

Williams said he will seek reelection through the district 3 seat as three Democrats. Former Altamonte Springs Police Capt. Dave Gunter has officially announced, as has James Carlin. Reportedly seeking support for the post is a third Democrat, former Altamonte Springs Councilman Dan Dorfman.

DeViese said he supports city participation and opposes double taxation. He also said the county should try to attract light and medium industry in hopes of providing stable employment.

Williams says he doesn't oppose groups other than homeowners. In fact, he said he welcomes support from any quarter. But he said it's the homeowners' interest he has at heart and has been most effective in serving during the past three and one-half years.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Law Program Official Charged With Larceny

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—Some of the tuition that students from 13 counties paid to learn how to enforce the law went into the pockets of the head of the program, officials charge.

Richard H. Wright, head of the Lively Vocational Technical Center's law enforcement program, was arrested Friday on grand larceny charges. He was accused of misappropriating $5,000.

His arrest came after Leon County Sheriff Supt. Ned Lovell suspended him from his $17,000-a-year job. Officials said they had not yet determined how much money had allegedly been misappropriated.

Shooting Evidence Allowed

TAMPA (AP)—A judge has refused to suppress evidence that police seized in a search of the home of Anthony Antone, one of three men charged in the contract slaying of former policeman Richard Child.

Police said the evidence seized at Antone's Tampa home included a .23-caliber bullet, a bullet-punctured couch and fibers from an air-conditioning filter.

Ellis Marlow Haskew, 37, of Miami, who pleaded guilty to second-degree murder in the slaying in an agreement to testify for the prosecution, told investigators that the filter was used to muffle gun shots.

Counterfeit Scheme Stymied

JACKSONVILLE (AP)—The FBI says it solved a counterfeiting conspiracy before it started, thanks to a contact made by one of three men arrested in the case.

Investigators said the group, including a former FBI official, planned to print $1 million worth of counterfeit American Express Co. travelers checks.

Robert Earl Schmeck, 44, a car salesman and one of those charged with conspiracy, was trying to find a buyer in Philadelphia and happened to contact an American Express undercover agent, the FBI said.

Arthur Nebraska, head of the FBI in Jacksonville, said the government seized photographic negatives and print proofs of checks at the Robinson Printing Co.

Ronald Eugene Robinson, 26, who opened the printing company here last year, was arrested along with Schmeck and George R. Brookshire, former vice president of Florida National Bank at Arlington.

reject a similar grievance filed by Jackson Heights Middle School librarian Lynette Cornelius. Layer said that the grievance procedure was initiated by annual contract teachers who were not in accordance with either the master contract or the state law.

He said annual contract teachers could only try to solve their problems through informal procedures.

According to the teacher, Layer offered her position teaching English in another county high school, if she would sign a waiver on continuing contract status and teach a fourth year on annual contract.

"It was not stupid enough for me to do that," said Mrs. Edwards. "He said it was another probationary year, so where would I be this time next year?—right where I am now."

Not being pleased with continuing contract would also cost Mrs. Edwards $1,000 in salary over the year.

She said that Orlando biology teacher Judy Edwards, who was also told her contract was not being renewed after three years, was made the same offer and has been reinstated at the school on fourth year annual contract status, and had accepted.

Mrs. Edwards said she is not certain what her next step will be, but she will meet next week with her attorney to see whether she should take her grievance to arbitration. "I can't fight as a teacher. I'll continue to fight as a parent and taxpayer," she said.

Mrs. Edwards said Layer told her it would be useless to file the third step in the official grievance procedure and bring her case before the school board. Even if the board were unanimously in her favor, Mrs. Edwards said Layer told her that he was not legally bound by the board's decision or recommendations when it came to hiring teachers or granting continuing contract status. According to Florida Statutes, these powers belong to the superintendent alone.

Layer refused to comment on the meeting with Mrs. Edwards, except to reiterate the statement he made at Wednesday night's school board meeting. Faced with recommending that the board

"It was not stupid enough for me to do that," said Mrs. Edwards. "He said it was another probationary year, so where would I be this time next year?—right where I am now."

Not being pleased with continuing contract would also cost Mrs. Edwards $1,000 in salary over the year.

She said that Orlando biology teacher Judy Edwards, who was also told her contract was not being renewed after three years, was made the same offer and has been reinstated at the school on fourth year annual contract status, and had accepted.

Mrs. Edwards said she is not certain what her next step will be, but she will meet next week with her attorney to see whether she should take her grievance to arbitration. "I can't fight as a teacher. I'll continue to fight as a parent and taxpayer," she said.

Mrs. Edwards said Layer told her it would be useless to file the third step in the official grievance procedure and bring her case before the school board. Even if the board were unanimously in her favor, Mrs. Edwards said Layer told her that he was not legally bound by the board's decision or recommendations when it came to hiring teachers or granting continuing contract status. According to Florida Statutes, these powers belong to the superintendent alone.

Layer refused to comment on the meeting with Mrs. Edwards, except to reiterate the statement he made at Wednesday night's school board meeting. Faced with recommending that the board

He said annual contract teachers could only try to solve their problems through informal procedures.

According to the teacher, Layer offered her position teaching English in another county high school, if she would sign a waiver on continuing contract status and teach a fourth year on annual contract.

OPEC Cartel Having Troubles

Failure of the ministers of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries to reach any agreement about increasing oil prices should tell the United States and other consumers of energy a great deal.

OPEC's solidarity in holding oil prices at the present high $11.51 per barrel during the economic improvement of the Western industrial nations has been remarkable in some respects. It is an indication that the cartel has been effective to a degree.

But only to a degree. Iraq is openly underselling its neighbors because it needs the cash, much to the chagrin of Iran and Saudi Arabia. Iran, also strapped for funds, is giving highly favorable credit terms, and going so far as to suggest a barter arrangement with the West so that it can swap its oil directly for the technology and munitions that it needs.

And Saudi Arabia, the oil giant of the Middle East, is vigorously suggesting that oil prices not be raised until the OPEC nations have a better reading on the extent and duration of the world's economic recovery.

Sheikh Ahmed Zaki Yamani, the Saudi oil minister, pointedly reminded other OPEC ministers that "oil is not immune from worldwide considerations of supply and demand."

Without a doubt it was the law of supply and demand that forced OPEC members to disband the meeting in Bali without raising prices. The natural temptation for the oil producers would have been to jack up the price a notch so that the price slippage created by the financially pressed OPEC members could start from a higher level.

However, OPEC members did not dare to take this chance. And we in the United States must credit the conservation efforts of our European allies and competitors for the fact that the prices of thousands of items related to the cost of oil will not rise on July 1.

Despite improving economies, nations in West Europe as well as Japan have reduced the use of oil since OPEC increased prices 10 per cent last September. U.S. industry also has made great strides toward conserving energy.

American motorists, on the other hand, are behaving as if there were no tomorrow. Presently they are burning gasoline at a rate 6 to 7 per cent above last year. Federal officials estimate that the consumption of motor fuel in 1976 will be at least 5 per cent ahead of last year. By mid-year the U.S. driver will be consuming 7.5 million barrels of gasoline a day.

The American extravagance is reflected in the Middle East and Latin America. The rising demand in the United States has pushed OPEC's oil production up a percent from a year ago to almost 30 million barrels a day—nearly to the peak before the 1973 embargo.

It means that U.S. motorists have siphoned off the world oil surplus and are giving the oil producing cartel a footing for another price rise in the near future. OPEC officials estimate that the chance of raising prices in Bali, but if the present U.S. energy greediness continues their inhibitions will be removed by the time of the next meeting in Qatar in December.

Should that occur, the American motorist will have himself to blame. As one expert noted, he is putting the oil cartel in the driver's seat.

The Point's Honor

Cadets at West Point are required by their honor code not to "lie, cheat, or steal, or tolerate those who do."

The military academy is holding its entire junior class beyond the normal summer departure date to investigate charges of honor code violations pending against nearly 150 juniors.

It has come to light that an Army report prepared last year on the honor code recommended easing the harsh penalties for violations of the code, which it regarded as too demanding in light of the realities of normal behavior in today's society.

It is argued that there should be some extension of the punishment of dismissal from the cadet corps, considering the circumstances of each violation rather than imposing an arbitrary penalty.

Unfortunately there are no shadings in points of honor. Either the cadets can be trusted absolutely or they cannot.

West Point should not begin to shelve its code to match what many people perceive as a loss of ethical direction in the larger society.

BERRY'S WORLD

No one really knows, on the other hand, how many veterans have been collecting educational benefits without bothering to go to school. But at one community college alone, investigators found that the taxpayers had spent over $1.7 million for the education of veterans who didn't attend classes.

A year ago, we reported that students were collecting overpayments and bogus benefits under the GI bill. The House Veterans Committee, meanwhile, ordered the General Accounting Office to investigate. Here are the findings of the GAO and the committee staff.

Nine years ago, the Veterans Administration single educational benefits by a trifling seven tenths of one per cent. The rate now has reached an alarming 13.5 per cent. At the end of 1975, the overpayments totaled $1.4 billion.

At the Florida Junior College in Jacksonville, for example, House investigators found a startling number of Vietnam veterans on the rolls whose transcripts showed they hadn't been studying.

One had been carried as a student since 1969. He had enrolled in 32 courses without earning a single credit. Yet the school permitted him to remain enrolled, and he drew a minimum of $270 a month from the taxpayers the whole time.

After the visit from the House investigators, the school hastily reviewed its records and dropped 25 per cent of the veterans from its student body. This should save the taxpayers at least $1.2 million.

The same story has been repeated around the country. A VA audit team at Northern Virginia Community College, for example, turned up "discrepancies" in literally thousands of cases.

The "potential liability" in 81 of the cases was estimated at $768,220.99.

Footnote: The VA is trying to tighten its budget to avoid the overpayments and to increase its collections.

HORSE ABUSE: The world's most famous horses, the Lipizzan Stallions, have been cruelly abused by their current U.S. tour.

Sworn affidavits and taped statements, documenting the brutality, have been turned over to us. Employees who have worked with the horses have also told us stories of repeated negligence and mistreatment.

The Lipizzan Stallions, whose ancestors were carefully bred by royal families of the 17th century, have appeared in several movies. Their dramatic rescues from Austria during World War II was featured in a Walt Disney movie, "Miracle of the White Stallions."

Here are a few typical allegations about how the beautiful animals are now treated in the "Wonderful World of Horsemanship" show — allegations which the management denies as "absolutely false."

—A year ago, a company truck turned over, burst into flames and burned alive the driver and four horses. Former employees swear that the director had been warned repeatedly that the fuel hose was leaking. Finley said that he had never received any such warning and that investigators were unable to determine the cause of the accident.

Around

The Clock

Prosecuting attorneys and arresting officers don't always see eye to eye; federal dollars aren't always utilized to help out those they're slated to assist and philosophical hardeners aren't always right when they argue stiffer penalties are the only deterrent to rising crime rates.

A perfect example of a contraction to the hard-line argument is the Pre-Trial Diversion program under way in nearby Orange County.

The state attorney's office and local lawmen cooperate with the Office of Court Alternatives to select first offenders and help them get that needed break without the incriminating "CRIMINAL" stamp going on their records.

The program is financed by a federal grant from the U.S. Department of Labor. Asst. State Atty. Lawson Lamar had this to say about the program: "The carrot is much sweeter here than in a normal criminal case. If counseling is successfully completed, then charges are dropped — period. They go back out into life without the stigma of a conviction."

The selection process is handled carefully. Last year of 3,000, only 143 offenders between the ages of 18 and 26 were chosen. Of that number there was an 80 per cent rate of success. "Across the country, they tell me you can get a 30 to 60 per cent success rate, you're lucky," says Ron Nasiatka, Orange County superior court alternatives.

In addition to helping first offenders, the program removes some of the load from crowded court dockets. Lamar said prior to the program's adoption in 1972, "Courts had no choice. They (offenders) could go to jail or get put on probation — both of which are usually undesirable."

Nasiatka and helps locate names of offenders usually Orange Countians — who they feel are good risks. If they're chosen, they are removed entirely from the judicial process — and counseling begins.

At least 20 youngsters are selected each month. It appears to be a viable program, and one that has State Henry A. Kissinger and Mexican officials.

The idea, it was learned, was one of "a number of rather ingenious and interesting proposals" Kissinger said he received Friday from the Mexicans. "Intensive discussions" on the prisoner exchange were to begin shortly.

Mexican authorities have been accused of mistreating the 500 Americans imprisoned in Mexico and of preventing access for U.S. consular officials and attorneys.

Kissinger, who was spending two days here, told a news conference that an even larger number of Mexicans are in U.S. jails. He said the objective of negotiations with Mexico is "to alleviate the general situation of individuals being held in prison in a foreign country."

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Deep anxiety spread among political refugees today after armed men seized at least two dozen persons, the latest in a series of abductions and murders of foreigners seeking asylum here.

"We're desperate ... our situation is very difficult and very dangerous," said a Uruguayan woman who would identify herself only as Maria, one of an estimated 20,000 Latin American refugees in Argentina.

She was in one of two specially rented refuge hotels that were raided early Friday by about 30 armed men. She said they shouted, "Police, police," roused tenants from their beds and demanded that they get dressed within one minute.

DEAR DR. LAMB, M.D. My father is 68 and has diabetes. He is insulin. He has no will power, and when my step-mother fixes his diet he stays pretty much on it. The problem is when he visits his friends, they give him candy and cake etc., things that he knows he shouldn't have and he says, "A little won't hurt him." This week he had a heart attack and died. I am sure that if he had stayed on his diet he would have lived. I am sure that if he had stayed on his diet he would have lived. I am sure that if he had stayed on his diet he would have lived.

DEAR READER — Doctors see this problem all the time. Well meaning friends are often a person's worst enemies. The amount of insulin a diabetic takes is regulated by his diet and daily activities. When these are altered the insulin dosage must be accurate. Of course they should not press food on him. I'm sending you The Health Letter number 3-11, Diabetes: Diagnosis, Prevention and Management. It will tell you more about the relationship between diet and insulin. Order for $2.00. Payment by check or money order. Payment by credit card will be charged to your account. BILL CURRIE

Car Count Warrants Lighting

Fighting a tidal wave of "blind mosquitoes" on U.S. 17-92 north of Sanford, we conducted an unofficial survey of traffic along the lakefront drive the other night to determine the number of vehicles using that roadway to get to and from the City of Sanford.

We did so under extremely adverse conditions. It was a case of keeping the windows of the car up and running the motor to keep the air conditioner going or cut the motor, roll down the windows and have to fight off the scourge of Lake Moore.

Finally, we resorted to the former, used up untold amounts of precious gasoline and went on about our business — for 45 minutes — of counting the vehicles which passed our vantage point.

All this was done in an effort to determine just how many vehicles utilized the scenic drive after dark.

Why did we torture ourselves in this fashion? It seems some members of the Sanford City Commission are unhappy with having to shell out approximately $1,000 per year for the electric bill for those lights that are outside the city limits.

It has been proposed that the Seminole County Commission pay for those lights which are in the county. However, county commissioners have expressed reluctance at the proposal and at least one Sanford city commissioner has said the lights should be turned off if the county won't pay the costs incurred.

Throughout our "battle" with the "blind mosquitoes" over that 45-minute period, we dutifully noted a total of 13 minutes passed our vantage point just north of Mangoustanne Avenue.

Fifty-two different vehicles were on their way into Sanford while 91 others were headed towards Interstate-4.

This boils down to an average of more than three vehicles per minute using that stretch of U.S. 17-92, or better than one very 20 seconds.

Should that stretch of highway between the city limits of Sanford and Interstate-4 be consigned to darkness because of a squabble over the light bill, it could be disastrous.

Both papers should have explained the petition and more than one. Since people don't know the petition exists, the failure to get enough signatures won't prove a thing.

People have not signed it because they don't know it is there. Most homeowners would sign if given an opportunity. Surely the majority of us are capable of making a choice if given information.

The argument against the petition is that the state needs the money and that taxes will have to be raised on something else to make up for the loss. My answer to that is, everyone needs home and reassessments have made it difficult for many to keep their. Let's tax luxuries. Some of them are even harmful.

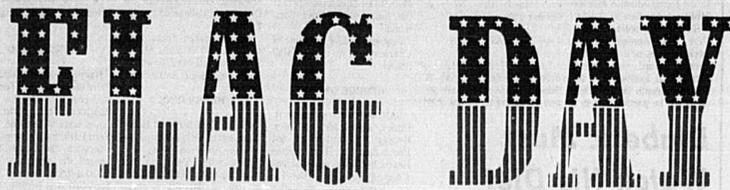

Letters to the editor are welcomed for publication. All letters must be signed, with a mailing address and, if possible, a telephone number so the identity of the writer may be verified. County Atty. Tom Freeman, a Democrat, dropped by county commission chambers Tuesday. He was chewing on a reporter's ears and started in on Commissioner John Kimbrough, a Republican.

"What got you up, Tom? You were smoking pot something," Kimbrough asked. Freeman didn't have an answer and hastily scurried away.

Sharp-Tongued Star Has Rabbit Ears Nastase Has Earned His Nickname 'Nasty' On Court

KEAUHOU-KONA, Hawaii — Around the flopping black mane of Ilie Nastase, the Romanian madcap, controversy swirls as naturally and as frenziedly as a Pacific squall.

Nasty, who may be the most gifted tennis player in the world, is simply too insensitive to the subtleties of normal human relations to realize the impact of his on-court actions and utterances.

Muttering "bloody Nigger" during his Aris Challenge Cup final with Arthur Ashe for $100,000, winner take all, confirms Nastase's tenuous grasp of the nuances of decorum in sports.

In fairness to Nastase, he probably didn't even know he was saying it. The words weren't tossed at Ashe directly. Only that intrusive parabola network microphone at court-side picked it up — just as several years ago during an

"Hello, Colorful!"

Arthur, ever phlegmatic, looked at him blankly.

"You don't like that 'Colorful' huh," shrugged Nasty. "Well, actually you not colorful."

Habitually, when the Romanian sees the black American star, he yells out, "Hey, Negrone!" During the match he cussed in French. He'll use profanity in a variety of other languages he has picked up in his dozen years as a worldclass player. He has called Tom Okker a "bleeping Jew" in a match in Los Angeles. He complained about 20,000 Jews watching him when he played against Harold Solomon in Maryland, and was later forced to apologize for his remarks.

And yet the mercurial Ilie has his own super-sensitivity that's easily scratched. He is quickly aroused by questions about 1) his disruptive antics on the court and 2) his status with the Romanian government.

"What you call antics?" he fumed when the subject was brought up after he won the $100,000 outright by beating Ashe in five sets. There had been a 30-second clock in operation to make sure Nasty's tactics — he fumed at linemen as he usually does and gave Ashe the finger (a Romanian version of hook 'em-horns) three times — didn't interrupt play.

"You can breathe. You can take your pants off. Long as you play by clock."

Nastase is a tennis player with rabbit ears. He hit a tentative overhead shot and yelled to himself deprecatingly.

Youth Golfers Arise...

Seminole County summer youth activities are rapidly developing into a golf hotbed, thanks to two Seminole County Public School coaches and a golf club owner more interested in people than profit.

"We found Paul Callahan who is real interested in helping young people. Then, of course, Cindy and myself have just volunteered our services to help," said Lyman High School Athletic Director Dick Copeland.

Paul Callahan is from Sabal Palm Golf Club on highway 434 in Longwood and Cindy is Cindy Maloney, golf coach at Teague Middle School in Forest City and Director of the Junior Golf Association of Seminole County.

The threesome and the Sabal Palm facility result in perhaps the best golf learning opportunity for youth in the state from four through high school for the summer and an expanded program of golf from grade six on up next school year.

Cindy wants to base Seminole County golf down into the Middle School. Of next year, "We're going to play Winter golf. Get situated and start around October," she said. "We are going to offer golf in school. We have half the equipment now and the rest is on order. It will be taught. Everybody will get the opportunity to learn golf, whether they have any clubs of their own or not," Ms. Maloney said.

Umpire Irvin Smith gets good look, ready to call SCC's Rick Smith out at home after tag by Randy Maxwell.

Students who take part in the summer program in the Lyman high school area will get a shot at working with the high school team, even if they're sixth graders. "Golf clubs will be furnished through the pub. ed. department, and the kids will be taught the basics, limited only by our facilities," says Copeland. Last year Copeland went down to Milwee Middle School and picked up six or eight prospective golfers and anticipates a boom in the Lyman area as a result of summer golf. His golf team will be busy this summer, too. "We're going to film the boys this summer, so they can study themselves," Copeland said.

As for the Teague Middle School area, Maloney sees it as self-contained. "What I'd like to see is intramural tournaments within the school, with established handicaps—we may even go to the flight system," she said.

"The interest in golf is big around here," Cindy said. "We started the program and had a first time turnout of around 100. We ran a program at the school, now these kids didn't even see a golf course, and we finished with over 20. We had a program at the course (Sabal Palm) and over 30 finished. We had several area matches, just informal matches on a hosting basis, not a league type thing, not yet," she gushed excitedly.

Cindy has been in physical education for 10 years. She spent four years in Michigan before coming here five years ago, and she's turned on to youth golf. She plays personally only on weekends. "I didn't play once during the year with the kids," she said. "I was in the golf cart going from hole to hole, answering questions, demonstrating, keeping the learning process going. I could only play weekends."

"The golf boom is so new that most of the schools, particularly middle schools, are not yet aware of it," said Cindy.

The news, however, should not keep back kids who want to start playing or continue playing.

The summer program itself gets underway Tuesday at Sabal Palm. It is divided into two overlapping segments. The first is a learning clinic for kids who do not know anything about golf. These will be a series of 10 lessons offered for $30. If the youth cannot attend all the lessons or only once a week, the program is individual and the youth can take whenever he can at a per session cost of $2.50. The beginner may be four to 17.

As the beginner progresses he will commence to be in the second segment of the program, which is tournament play. Tournament play is geared to ability and to age, and will include anyone with any ability from beginner to a non-graduating golf team member.

As an example, three holes of play may be a big day's tournament for a beginner or for a very young golfer.

If you are a youngster wanting to learn golf, play summer golf, or continue the program you have just started, tell Mom to get you to Sabal Palm every Monday. There you'll find Dick Copeland giving his time, Cindy Maloney giving her time and Paul Callahan giving his time and the facilities of Sabal Palm. There are no greens fees for the program.

NFL Tilts TV's No. 1

WASHINGTON (AP) — It won't come as any surprise to pro football fans, but the Federal Communications Commission says National Football League games are "one of the most, if not the single most, popular type of programming on television today."

And the commission said the antiblackout law which permits telecasts of sold-out home games has boosted, not hurt, ticket sales and can be considered a benefit to the viewing public.

The FCC, in its third annual report to Congress on the effects of the sport's antiblackout law, says about 30 per cent of all households in markets which support NFL teams watch their home team's televised games. It is 24 per cent more than Senators and House conferees have agreed in principle to make permanent the sports antiblackout law which permits telecasting of any local professional event that is sold out two hours in advance. The law, enacted in 1973, expired after the 1975 NFL season.

ABC Gets Nod For Olympics

MONTREAL (AP) — Roone Arledge, president of ABC Sports, said he was confident all along that his television network would wind up with exclusive rights to the 1980 Winter Olympics in Lake Placid, N.Y.

"Our position from the start was that there was no way they could get the Games, but they could cause a lot of mischief," he said Friday of CBS and NBC.

And indeed, they did. ABC and Lake Placid organizers agreed to a contract of some $10 million last February. But the other networks cried foul, and the International Olympic Committee decided to investigate.

On Friday, the IOC announced from Lausanne, Switzerland that it had given the nod to ABC. "This decision substantiates the choice made by the Lake Placid Olympic Organizing Committee in favor of

Shubert Seeking AM Title

HAINES CITY — While a mere 16-year-old Fred Pierce youth was setting the pace after two rounds of play in the Florida State Amateur Golf Championship, three Seminole County golfers also had their sights set high Saturday and today.

David Abell shot a 70 Friday and snatched the lead away from Clearwater's Jack Veggie by a single stroke. Meanwhile, Altamonte Springs' Jack Shubert also shot a 70 and moved into a tie for ninth place among Championship Flight contenders. He was five strokes behind going into Saturday's round.

Casselberry's Jerry Grisson shot his second straight 77 and was in the thick of the running for Second Flight honors. Sanford's Frank Mabace III skied to an 84 Friday and was playing for Sixth Flight honors.

The tournament is played on the 7,300-yard Grenelle Golf and Racquet Club course.

Raines Keys Legion Wins

WEBSTER — Tim Raines blasted three home runs and drove in seven runs Friday night to pace Post 53 to 12-3 and 4-1 American Legion victories over Webster.

In the opener, Clay Meinke pitched a four-hitter and Raines cracked two round-trippers for four RBIs. Billy Merchant, Robert Smith and David Wiggins also hit home runs with Wiggins' being a grand slam.

In the nitecap, Terry Smith was coasting along with a one-hitter when he had to retire with a twisted ankle. Wiggins held Webster hitless the rest of the way and Raines added his homer and three RBIs for the offensive punch.

Post 53 upped its record to 5-3 and played Lake Highland Saturday afternoon.

Foreman Predicted To Outsmoke Frazier Tuesday

NEW YORK (AP) — The television screen shifts to a commercial and — Lawdy, Lawdy — there sits Betsy Ross, in bonnet and apron, sewing away on the first American flag.

Papa drops his pipe. Mama falls off the chair. Junior chokes on his popsicle. Where did Betsy Ross get that mus-lace? And we didn't know Betsy had a pug nose and cauliflower ears.

"You may not believe this," says George Foreman, former heavyweight boxing champion of the world, losing his curf. "I'm Betsy Ross. Tell Joe Frazier I got this fight all sewed up."

Another night, another family gathering in front of the TV. Suddenly, there's a break in "Police Story." Up pops this guy in a conkain cap, bandana and leather jacket who says he is Davy Crockett. Only this Davy Crockett is black and he's got a flattened profile and a heavy growth of beard.

"I hope George Foreman members the Alamo," says former heavyweight champion Joe Frazier, "because after the June 15 fight he won't be able to remember nothin' else."

So the publicity drums roll for the 12-round heavyweight roll for the 12-round heavyweight brawl at Nassau Coliseum next Tuesday night between two of the biggest, toughest, hardest-

Randy Maxwell & Co. pecked away at the Seminole Community College Faculty slow-pitch softball team and wound up an easy 14-7 victory Friday night in a Metro League encounter.

Maxwell stroked out two singles and a double to help pull Lake Monroe Inn into a three-way tie with Gregory Mobile Homes and Seaboard Coast Line for first place in the Metro League's second half. Each of the three are undefeated in two games.

SCC Faculty is at the other end of the spectrum, winless in two games.

Maxwell had plenty of help Friday night at Fort Mellon Park. Harvey Turner, Wes Rich and Danny Lee each had two hits for the winners. Lee and Rich had RBI singles in the first, when Monroe assumed a

Charlies Wins, 9-1

Charlies continued its domination of the Women's Softball League Friday night, registering a 9-1 triumph over Burger King while the Outcasts forfeited to Shoemaker in the other scheduled game.

Cathy Griffin tripled and singled to place Charlies while Vern Boykin had two singles. Joan Turner and Carol Pickles had run-producing singles in the four-run second inning when Charlies took command.

Burger King managed only three hits off Charlies pitching, two by Patty McGeever and the other by Pam Schultz. McGeever singled in the third and eventually scored. Burger King's only run on an error.

Merthie: 1-Hitter

Darryl Merthie pitched a one-hitter and the Panthers capitalized on 13 bases on balls to score a 14-0 victory in the Rebels Friday in a Pee Wee baseball game.

George Franklin, Ardea Williams and Darrell Hopkins had the Panthers' hits. A two-out single in the second by Ed Behrens broke up Merthie's no-hitter, which would have been his second straight gem.

Well, Since You Asked . . .

Q. I recall some years ago that Arthur Ashe used to wear black-rimmed glasses when he plays. Why doesn't seem to wear glasses these days? — D.R., Levittown, Pa.

A. In terms of cerebral muscle received, it is undoubtedly the Yankees' Catfish, who's set for life. But strictly on a yearly salary basis, discounting bonuses and deferred payments and insurance, I feel Tom Seaver, getting $300,000 from the Mets, is the highest paid hurler.

Q. Who is the highest paid pitcher in baseball? I say it is Catfish Hunter. T.W., Redville, N.C.

A. I don't know. I don't know who is the highest paid pitcher in baseball. I don't know who is the highest paid pitcher in baseball. I don't know who is the highest paid pitcher in baseball.

Q. Suppose you have a man on second base and your batter gets a single to the outfield. The man on second is trying to score and the throw comes to the plate. The play is very close but the catcher misjudges the throw and the runner misses the plate but neither realizes what has happened. Both the catcher and the runner are awaiting a call, but what is the umpire supposed to do? — Mike Fepper, Helms, Ky.

A. Nothing. The runner will be out when and if someone on the team in the field is smart enough to see what happened and gets the catcher to touch the plate after the runner has walked away, while appealing the play to the umpire at the same time.

Q. Could you please tell me where can I get 1977 Super Bowl tickets for the game to be held in Pasadena, Calif. How much do they cost? — Robert Dutt, Williams, Calif.

A. The Commissioner's Office of the National Football League controls the Super Bowl. Write to that office at 410 Park Ave., New York, N.Y. 10022 for information. Tickets for recent Super Bowls have sold officially at $20 apiece.

Q. What was the baseball player's name who was sick and went to the park with a real live monkey on his back? What major league team did he play with? — J. Newton, Winfield, Kansas.

A. The most prominent example of a baseball player cracking up under the strain of major league play was Jim Piersall, the colorful outfielder of the Boston Red Sox, whose experiences became the subject of a book and subsequent movie "Fear Strikes Out." Jimmy had a mental breakdown in 1962, his first full season in the majors. He did all sort of weird things, like spitting a water pistol at an umpire, running from the plate to third base and then back to the mound, and so on.

Purtzer, Dent Top Kemper Golf Field

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — "I've just got to hang in there," rookie Tom Purtzer said. "I've got to keep on hangin' on."

Purtzer, the surprising young man who led through three rounds of the Bicentennial Classic last week, gained a share of the top spot Friday with a four-under-par 68 that tied him with big, hard-hitting Jim Dent for the 36-hole lead in the weather-tormented, $250,000 Kemper Open Golf Tournament.

"I really don't understand how I did it," said Purtzer, a 24-year-old Arizona State product who hadn't even challenged before his sudden rush to the top last week. "I don't know what's happening. I wish I did. I really wish I did. I've just got everything going. I'm feeling good and I'm putting good."

"I'm putting good," warned Dent, who shared the lead at 136, eight under par on the Quail Hollow Country Club course. The one-day event is at the Augusta National Golf Club reached two par fives in two and didn't make a bogey on his way to a second-round 68.

"I'm playing very, very well," said Ray Floyd, the Masters champion and defending title-holder here. He shot a second-round 67 that put him just over 67 at 140.

"I'm playing much better than I did at Dallas (where he finished runner-up), but I'm not sure," said Mark Hayes, "I'm very excited about the last two rounds."

Hayes, who had a second-round 68, was one of three tied at 138, just two shots off the pace. Also at that figure were former Masters champion out. But this time was different. "I'm playing much better than I did at Dallas (where he finished runner-up), but I'm not sure," said Mark Hayes, "I'm very excited about the last two rounds."

There has been a lot of talk about sticking Blake out. I don't agree but I'd like to see him to get what they are saying and have courage of his convictions.

Everyone, except the most dyed-in-the-wool Perez fans, agree that the decision should have been reversed. Instead of Perez winning by a KO in the third round, Pete Ashlock did the right thing by reversing the decision and ruling that Madison won when the referee stopped the fight in the first stanza.

After Perez's famous fight with Joey Vincent last August he didn't come out of that fight with any marks that resembled the ones he was walking around with with Madison.

Madison has fought at the Sports Stadium twice and also did away with Vincent.

"I've been beaten Ramirez seven out of the last nine times," said Madison. "I'm not sure if I'm a fighter or not. I'm not sure if I'm a fighter or not. I'm not sure if I'm a fighter or not."

Tuesday night at the Sports Stadium, the battle between former heavyweight champions, George Foreman and Joe Frazier, will be piped in from New York on closed circuit TV.

Then, a week later on June 22, Ashlock will present his 11th live show in Central Florida this year. Plans call for a "triple main event" with all three bouts being a championship.

Gene Wells is expected to be on in defense of his mid-dieight Southern title, Edgar "Mad Dog" Ross is in preparation for a challenge to his Southern junior middleweight crown and Joey Vincent is expected to offer the Florida welterweight title. Others to see action will include Cassberry's Scott Clark and Melbourne's Frankie Santoro.

The Wakeira River has been on the quiet side this week but both camps, Wakeira Landing and the Wakeira River Haven, report a good string of catfish and a few broadhead.

Fishing from the bank around Marina Isle Camp is paying off. On the other end of Lake Jessup near Marina Isle Camp, bream fishermen are finding the best of the best.

John Landford, manager of Osteen Bridge Camp, reported bass schooling heavily; a pair of visitors from Virginia brought in two of nearly four pounds each but forgot to leave their names.

Eldon Williams, postmaster for the town of Leary, Georgia, his wife, Martha, and Lowell Ingram fished the St. Johns River around noon Bluff and in two days on the river landed a total of 130 fish. Bream made up the largest part of their catch but the highlight was a catfish of almost 12 pounds. They stated they are looking forward to their next trip to Sanford and hope to do even better.

Bill Bonham, 53, gained the victory. Clemson's Seibert S.C. Top Amateur CHARLESTON, S.C. Miller-Tipton Couple Wed — Bride's Book — McGraw-Ball Say Vows

Barbara Ann Miller and James McCall Tipton were married June 11 at 12 p.m. at the First Baptist Church, Gainesville, with Rev. Carl Whidden, Gainesville, performing the double ring ceremony. Richard E. Hunter, Gainesville, was organist.

Mrs. James McCall Tipton

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Marie Miller, 2620 E. Captain Ave., Sanford and Chester H. Miller of Deland. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Tipton, Des Moines, Ill. Given in marriage by Ludwig Gramza, Orlando, the bride wore a formal gown of polyester organza over tulle with a sheer sweetheart neckline encrusted with Venice lace medallions and standup ruffle. The sleeves formed a caplet trimmed with rows of lace. The full A-line skirt formed into a chapel train bordered with a large ruffle of Venice lace. Her chapel length veil of illusion was attached to a bandeau of lace trimmed with beading. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses, daisies and baby's breath.

Mrs. Crawford James Bass

Mrs. Sherry Behney, Kissimmee, was matron of honor in a gown of yellow flocked polyester styled with empire waist, spaghetti straps and large double ruffle at the hemline, with matching cape. She carried a nosegay of yellow daisies.

Bridesmaids included Miss Sue Thomas, Ft. Lauderdale; Mrs. Sally Parry, Gainesville; and Mrs. Kay Segerdahl, Chicago, Ill., sister of the bridegroom. They wore gowns similar to the honor attendant in mint green flocked organza with matching daisy nosegays. James R. Tipton, Chicago, served as best man. Groomsmen were Mike Roberts, Knoxville, Tenn.; Gary Jennings, Knoxville; and David Haddock, Birmingham, Ala. Following a reception in the church fellowship hall, the couple left on a wedding trip to the Bahamas.

Morris-Bass Are United In Marriage

Jennifer Lynn Morris became the bride of Crawford James Bass on May 1 at 7 p.m. at First United Methodist Church with Rev. Leo F. Kim officiating at the candlelight, double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Morris, 1211 Randolph St., Sanford. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a long gown featuring lace bodice and sleeves trimmed with seed pearls. Her fingertip veil and trailing length train were edged in matching lace and she carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and lily of the valley.

Mrs. Kathleen Wall served as matron of honor in a pastel gown. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and blue baby's breath.

Janet McGraw and Thomas B. Ball III were married June 12 at 5 p.m. at Arlington Antebellum Home & Gardens, Birmingham, Ala. with Rev. Bill Hartley performing the double ring ceremony. Organist Paul Newman sang during the ceremony with Bill DeVan on the guitar following the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Robert McGraw of Birmingham. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Ball Jr., 107 Crescent Blvd., Sanford. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a Victorian gown of white silk chiffon with Venice lace trim around the neckline, long full sleeves and chapel length train. She wore a matching wide brimmed white hat and carried a bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and baby's breath.

Mary Beth Fife of Birmingham served as maid of honor in a gown of white voile with blue and yellow floral print and carried a basket of roses, flowers. Melinda Britnell, Birmingham, was attired identically to the honor attendant.

Thomas B. Ball Jr. served his son as best man. Groomsmen were Robert A. McGraw, Birmingham; Ken Bernick, New Orleans, La.; and Dave Ostrowski of Peru, Ill.

A reception at Arlington followed the ceremony. The couple, both of whom are Auburn, Ala., will make their students at Auburn University, home in Auburn.

Mrs. Thomas B. Ball III

Richardson-Nesmith Marry

Kimberly Jan Richardson and Richard Lee Nesmith were married June 12 in the First Presbyterian Church, Lakeland, with Rev. D. Dahlberg officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J.B. Richardson of Lakeland. The bridegroom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. M.A. Nesmith Jr. of Gainesville, formerly of Sanford. Married in an ivory silk organza gown of Nottingham lace fashioned on the A-line, the bride was attended by matron of honor Deborah F. Baker, Break Wiegart.

Roy Dalton, William Williams, Williams Gray, Richard Deas and Breck Wiegart.

The bride is a graduate of Lakeland Senior High School and attends the University of Florida Law School. The bridegroom, a Seminole High School graduate, is also attending the University of Florida.

The couple will live in Gainesville.

Best man was Larry Blair, Groomsmen were Bill Bracken, Powell Austin and Vic Gishler. Chantelle Brusnahan served as flower girl.

Following a reception at Sanora Clubhouse, the couple left on a wedding trip to Gatlinburg, Tenn.

Her fiancé, born in Hampton, Va. is a 1973 graduate of Seminole High School, where he was DCT Club president, and active in Mu Alpha Theta.

The wedding will be an event of the National Honor Society, who's of June 25 at 7 p.m. in the Community United Methodist Church, Casselberry. All friends and relatives are invited to attend.

Youth Ranch Gets Check

Locals Plan Pictorial History Of Sanford

(Continued From Page 1-C) Bishop had hoped the book would be ready for publication before Christmas, but she believes it is more realistic to project a completion date in the new year.

But it is Mrs. Bishop—and her shabby typewriter—who is the Goddard behind the book. "No one else would tackle it, they had more sense, knowing what an enormous job it would be," she smiled.

So on March, she put her nose to the grindstone, and has already written up an outline to the year 1944.

The committee has been given copies of her work, and they will be suggesting deletions and additions. Mrs.

They Tell Father's Mistakes

DEAR ABBY: Last summer we sent Jimmy, our 12-year-old son, back east to visit both his mother and his father. They live within 15 minutes of one another, and Jimmy had a wonderful time visiting back and forth.

When he came home, he said he was very upset when his paternal grandparents told him stories about how "stupid" his father had been in school and what a "very baby" and "sissy" he had been as a boy. This hurt my husband's feelings, and it took us a long time to explain to Jimmy that his grandparents shouldn't have put down his father — who's a wonderful man and deserves respect.

DEAR CONCERNED: I doubt if anything you write to your in-laws will help the situation — and it may worsen it. (They probably thought they were being "entertaining.") Tell Jimmy that if his grandparents resume such stories of his father's boyhood, to tell them politely that no matter what kind of boy their son was, he is now a wonderful man and a super father, and (he Jimmy) would rather not hear about his father's faults as a child.

DEAR ABBY: When a woman and a man have a very intimate relationship, and are in each other's company constantly, but are not married, I know that the lady is called his "mistress," but what is the gentleman called?

DEAR ABBY: I don't know if it's an eye for an eye, or if it's a nose for a nose, but I've noticed that when I look at my own nose, it seems to be a little different from the rest of my face. I've noticed that when I look at my own nose, it seems to be a little different from the rest of my face.

In And Around Sanford Saying Farewell For The Summer

Since retiring to Sanford less than a year ago from Atlanta, Martha and Ned Yancy are already up to their necks in community involvement.

Saturday night the Yancys' Gordova Drive home was bustling at the beams with activity when they entertained at a farewell fete featuring fun, food and festivity. The cocktail buffet was gathering of friends for a final fling before many depart for summer vacations.

In a lovely candlelit atmosphere guests retreated to the vacation plans. From the sound of the interesting itineraries, all four corners of the globe will be covered.

Invited to share the hospitable event with the host and hostess were Zona and Art Beckwith, Annabelle and Clarence Henderson, Bill and Walter Gielow, Ruth Jean and Harry Hobson, Elizabeth and G.B. Buchanan, Doris and Bill Brumley Jr., Ruth and Harry Moore, Dorothy and A.C. McNeely and Linda and Frank Voltoline.

Also Lottie and Bob Karns, Sierra and Gerald Jones, Bonnie and Henry Schumacher, Jerri and Bill Kirk, Liz and Norman Helrich, Virginia and Jack Barney, Anna Mae and Giles Chapman, Wynelle Lanier, Mary Joyce Hestman and Doris and Carl Dietrich.

The Loch Arbor home of Betty and Joe Kurimai was the site of a "success" dinner party for more than 50 guests Saturday night. The dinner honored the faculty and production staff of Dance Arts 11th annual recital following the first of three performances.

Faculty and business associates honored were Valerie Weld and Miriam Wright, directors-instructors; Jackie Greene, Mary Ann Grover, Holly Kurimai and Sara Lee Roberts, instructors; Jon Bates and Christy Fransa, student assistants; Nell Whitner, secretary; and Walter Hye, business manager.

Production staffers honored were Pat Scott, coordinator; Ruth Kniffin, Lorraine Peyton, Eleanor Maresca, Robert Maresca, Harry Kniffin, David Smith, David Wright, George Weld and Allen Brown.

Also David Scott, Richard Scott, Nola Ferguson, Polly Gregg, Grace Phillips, Genevieve Richardson, Ester Russell, Carl Fugate, Ruth Gaines, Elizabeth Gordon, Laura Kane, Shirley King, Edward Korgan and Cheri McGuire.

Also Helen Malloy, Tony Selvidio, Sandy Scott, Sue Sessions, Mary but are married, I know that the lady is called his "mistress," but what is the gentleman called?

20 Crowing Roosters Wake Him Up

By ELDA NICHOLS Herald Correspondent

Hal Freeman becomes very popular at feeding time. (Herald Photo by Edna Nichols)

Would a crowing rooster bother you early on a Sunday morning when you really wanted to sleep? Well, what would you say to 20 crowing roosters!

Hal Freeman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Freeman, Longwood, has a backyard full of plain and fancy chickens that he raises as a hobby. "Trouble is, most of them are roosters. I buy them when they are tiny, and don't know what I've got 'til they've grown up!" he said.

Hal's mother is a teacher at Sanford Grammar School, and is not at all concerned over the requirements for the National Graduate Realtors Institute.

A junior at Lyman High School, Hal has been raising chickens as a hobby for about two years. "They eat a lot of feed bill," he said. "They like to get out and scratch."

Recently a Bantam hen hatched several eggs. "It's a mixed group," Hal laughed. "The couple of other chickens had laid eggs, and the Bantam look over the nest."

A Doberman dog and three cats and a group of gerbils are also in residence at the Freeman's. The chickens and cats often eat out of the same dish. The Doberman is another story. "Generally, he doesn't pay any attention to the chickens about feeding time. Walking out one day with an empty feed bag, brought all the chickens on a run. When they discovered it wasn't feeding time, several roosters got very upset and spurred him.

Hal has many interests besides chickens. He plays guitar and piano, paints, collects bottles and coins, and recently received a metal detector for exploring. "I also enjoy studying local history," he said.

He turns them out in the yard every day. "That helps with the bugs," he said, "and it's nice just to have them in the yard."

Playing Games With Kids Helps Get Good Photos

NEW YORK (AP) — Two pennies can make all the difference between a good photograph of your child — and a great one, says Dino Semprini, the tower of a portrait studio here and a noted photographer of children.

According to him, the pose conveys the feeling you want to impart in your photograph. Since the difficulty lies in coaxing an active youngster to maintain one position the few seconds needed for the photograph, Semprini plays games.

"I place two bright, shiny pennies on the floor," he says, "and I challenge the child to keep each covered with a foot. It works every time."

He has other methods for achieving good results. Since "involved" children are more playful, he has toys and games on hand to help strike lively, responsive moods. He also has tall props, such as stuffed animals, so the child remains preoccupied.

The parent is another attention-getter he uses to maintain interest. "The presence of mother or father reduces fear of unfamiliar surroundings," he says. "At the same time, the parent can coax different facial expressions."

And he takes plenty of poses. "The amateur often stops clicking when he thinks he has it. The pro keeps on shooting until he knows he has it," he declares.

Games are the days when well-scrubbed children, primed in starchy ardent splendor, stared stiffly out of a photograph with waxy expressions engraved on their young faces, Semprini points out.

"Modern lighting and fast film have changed all that," he explains. "Today, children look more casual in realistic portraits that are every bit as appealing."

And apparel no longer makes a difference. Children look just as well in everyday school clothes as in Sunday-best outfits.

REP. MORRIS UDALL

And Washington Sen. Henry M. Jackson, another former rival, said Saturday he would work for Carter "if I am asked, and indications are I will be." Jackson added, however, that he would not formally release his 221 delegates.

—Carter announced on Sunday the formation of a committee of women to advise and assist him after pledging to make the fullest use of female talent in the campaign and, if elected, in his administration.

—Scholars at Harvard University's Institute of Politics on Sunday released a study criticizing the low priorities assigned by both major political parties to the selection of vice presidential nominees. There are better ways, they said, which both parties should begin using this year.

rchitect's Pact nging Expected

Sanford city commissioners are expected to sign a contract for the architectural design of the new city hall building.

Watson and Company, the Orlando firm that won the city's priority list, has agreed to the city's offer of a 7 1/2 percent fee on the $1.3 million construction budget.

A negotiating session last week, Watson officials had asked for a 7 1/2 percent fee of the total project cost.

ceptual sketches will be presented to the commissioners within two weeks — and if the commissioners like the ideas presented they can terminate the contract.

city hall will be built on a 6-acre site behind the city hall, which was officially opened 51 years ago.

on the agenda for the 7 p.m. meeting at city hall sessions of use of the old city hall building after it's closed, a proposal to host the 1977 state Little Major tournament, five additions to the city's street project, the July 4 celebration and CATV's offer of pay TV.

ublic hearing has been scheduled to consider the city's application for federal funds to a 7.4 acre recreational site on Poplar Street by Seaboard Coast Line Railroad.

After years of legal skirmishing, the Wekiva is in line to become Florida's first officially designated "wild and scenic river" — a designation that has been delayed by the squatters' camps, which must be removed before the Wekiva is eligible for federal preservation funds.

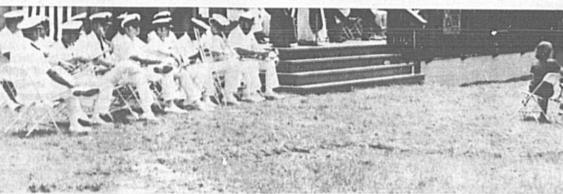

A state purchase of 4,636 acres of environmentally endangered land along the Wekiva, approved by the Cabinet last month, could clear the way for designated part of the river — from SR-46 to the St. Johns River — as "wild and scenic" but one of the landowners is reportedly balking at selling.

The squatters' camps, all upstream from SR-46, will be removed in three phases, with the ones in the worst condition being demolished first.

The problem, Euga says, is hauling the remnants of the camps — lumber, plumbing and other materials — downstream to a marina.

Euga, who has just completed a month-long survey of the approximately 90 camps, said some of the better camps might be kept by the state for the use of park rangers who will eventually live on the river to help preserve it.

The three-phase demolition project is expected to take at least a year to complete, Euga said.

Architect's Pact Signing Expected

Sanford city commissioners are expected to sign a contract for the architectural design of the new city hall at tonight's meeting.

The contract, awarded to the Orlando firm that won the city's preliminary bid, has agreed to the city's offer of 10 percent of the $1.3 million construction budget.

For special occasions, at least, I sometimes like to fancy up my cookies a bit...
Instead of getting out the cookie press, I roll a small wad of cookie dough (about the size of a nickel in diameter), then press down with the end of an empty, clean thread spool.
Some plastic spoons have a design on each end. Some have three openings, larger spoons have six, and if you want a very large design and a larger your house. You can find many others, I'm sure.

Church Endorses Carter; Udall's Support Sought

By The Associated Press
Jimmy Carter's efforts to wrap up the Democratic presidential nomination moved to New York City today where he was to appear on a platform with Rep. Morris K. Udall and California Gov. Edmund G. Brown, Jr.

Brown is actively challenging Carter for the nomination, while others, like Udall, maintain substantial delegate strength but are no longer campaigning against the frontrunner.

On the Republican side, President Ford scheduled a meeting in Washington with civil rights critics of his stand on school busing.

Rival Ronald Reagan planned a delegate foray in Iowa next weekend after 18 of 19 GOP-at-large convention delegates at a state party convention in neighboring Missouri declared themselves for Reagan on Saturday. Missouri will send 49 delegates to the convention.

Udall has said it appears Carter will be the party's nominee, but he has not joined the ranks of former rivals endorsing Carter.

"Obviously we would like to have his support," said Carter's press aide, Jody Powell. "But we don't have any reason to believe one way or another that he will endorse us today."

Another former Carter rival, Sen. Frank Church of Idaho, canceled an appearance in New York after telling Iowa supporters this weekend that he planned to endorse Carter today. Church has 78 delegates.

His appearance today before the New York delegation to the national party convention along with Udall, who has 336 delegates, and Brown, with 277 delegates, capped a busy week of fence-mending among party leaders and former rivals.

One former rival, Idaho Sen. Frank Church, canceled an appearance in New York after telling Iowa supporters this weekend that he planned to endorse Carter today. Church has 78 delegates.

Meanwhile, Democratic national chairman Robert Strauss said today that he expected to stay in his party post through the coming presidential campaign. Speaking on NBC's "Today" show, Strauss said he had already told Carter and the other candidates of his willingness to stay on through the general election.

Ford now has 965 of the 1,130 delegates needed for the GOP nomination, Reagan has 868 and 102 are uncommitted, with the spotlight on 10 states where Republicans have yet to make a choice.

Newsweek magazine said Sunday its own survey indicated Ford would hold his narrow lead, going to the Republican National Convention with 1,160 delegates to Reagan's 1,089. Former Treasury Secretary Jan Connally agreed on NBC's "Meet the Press" the contest would be sewn up before the Aug. 16 GOP convention, but he wouldn't say by whom.

And in Washington, the Democratic platform drafting subcommittee unveiled on Sunday a new income-maintenance program guaranteeing a minimum income for the poor and elderly whether they worked or not.

Carter picked up 23 delegates over the weekend, 11 in Missouri, 10 in Delaware and the rest from scattered delegate switches. He now has 1,299.5 of the 1,505 needed for nomination.

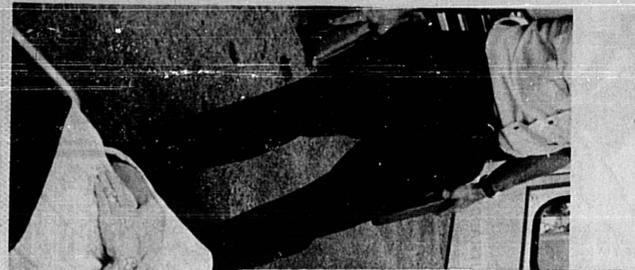

His appearance today before the New York delegation to the national party convention along with Udall, who has 336 delegates, and Brown, with 277 delegates, capped a busy week of fence-mending among party leaders and former rivals.

One former rival, Idaho Sen. Frank Church, canceled an appearance in New York after telling Iowa supporters this weekend that he planned to endorse Carter today. Church has 78 delegates.

Scholars at Harvard University's Institute of Politics on Sunday released a study criticizing the low priorities assigned by both major political parties to the selection of vice presidential nominees. There are better ways, they said, which both parties should begin using this year.

Commission Weighs Law On Utility System

By ED PRICKETT
Herald Staff Writer

A county ordinance designed to halt the current practice of requiring taxpayers pay double for the purchase of utility systems was presented today to the Seminole County Commission during a work session at the courthouse in Sanford.

Two commissioners present at today's meeting — Chairman Mike Hattaway and Commissioner Richard Williams — agreed to postpone official action for 75 days until the document has been checked out by financial experts.

Williams said the new ordinance is "primarily a legal, but also a financial document. We should have the financial experts take a look at it to make sure we're talking about the lowest possible price."

Hattaway agreed. The ordinance is modeled on one presently in use in Brevard County.

According to Hattaway, the document would prohibit utility firms from receiving payment for facilities donated by developers who, in turn, had charged homeowners for the facilities.

"They (taxpayers) pay for it twice."

"Once when he buys his home and once again when he pays for the utility," the chairman remarked. In other words, a homeowner who pays a developer who donates lines pays a second time when his money is used also to purchase the utility system for the county.

Utility Attorney Ned Woolfolk and Utility Director Bill Dale said the new ordinance also gives the county the option to purchase new systems. Previously, there was no ordinance, per se, that dealt with the purchase of utilities.

Last year the county officially entered the utility business with the purchase of Indian Hills and Consumer Utilities. About $2.4-million in bonds were sold to raise money to buy the two firms which are located near Casselberry.

Although no new utility purchases are on the immediate horizon, owners of private firms from time to time contact the county in an attempt to sell their system.

"I've had lots of people contact me," Hattaway said. "I tell them we're in limbo right now."

With the ordinance, Woolfolk said the county will be able to determine a "fair market value of systems... some thing to hang our hat on instead of generalities."

Architect's Pact Signing Expected

Sanford city commissioners are expected to sign an $84,500 contract for the architectural design of the new city hall at tonight's meeting.

Watson and Company, the Orlando firm that was top spot on the city's priority list, has agreed to the city's offer of 6 1/2 per cent of the $1.3 million construction budget.

At a negotiating session last week, Watson representatives had asked for a 7 1/2 per cent fee of $185,000.

Conceptual sketches will be presented to the commissioners within two weeks — and if the commissioners don't like the ideas presented they can terminate the contract then.

The city hall will be built on a 6-acre site behind the present city hall, which was officially opened 51 years ago this month.

Also on the agenda for the 7 p.m. meeting at city hall are discussions of use of the old city hall building after it's vacated, a proposal to host the 1977 state Little Major League tournament, five additions to the city's street paving project, the July 4 celebration and CATV's proposed offer of pay TV.

A public hearing was scheduled to consider amending the city's application for federal funds to develop a 7.4 acre recreational site on Poplar Street donated by Seaboard Coast Line Railroad.

Squatters' Camps To Be Destroyed

By JACQUELINE DOWD
Herald Staff Writer

Demolition of squatter's camps along the Wekiva River will start Wednesday afternoon.

"It's just the start of a long hot summer," said Delbert Euga of Sanford, a member of the Florida Council on Conservation and the Environment who is handling the state program to remove the camps, which are all on state-owned land in the Wekiva basin.

After years of legal skirmishing, the Wekiva is in line to become Florida's first officially designated "wild and scenic river" — a designation that has been delayed by the squatters' camps, which must be removed before the Wekiva is eligible for federal preservation funds.

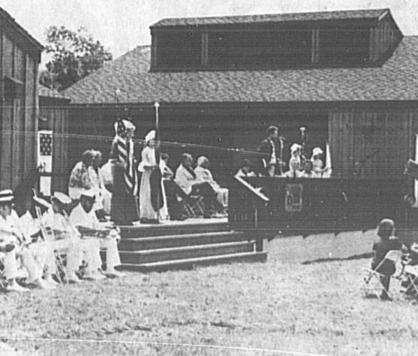

A state purchase of 4,636 acres of environmentally endangered land along the Wekiva, approved by the Cabinet last month, could clear the way for designated part of the river — from SR-46 to the St. Johns River — as "wild and scenic" but one of the landowners is reportedly blocking a selling.

The squatters' camps, all upstream from SR-46, will be removed in three phases, with the ones in the worst condition being demolished first.

The problem, Euga says, is hauling the remnants of the camps — lumber, plumbing and other materials — downstream to a marina.

Euga, who has just completed a month-long survey of the approximately 90 camps, said some of the better camps might be kept by the state for the use of park rangers who will eventually live on the river to help preserve it.

The three-phase demolition project is expected to take at least a year to complete, Euga said.

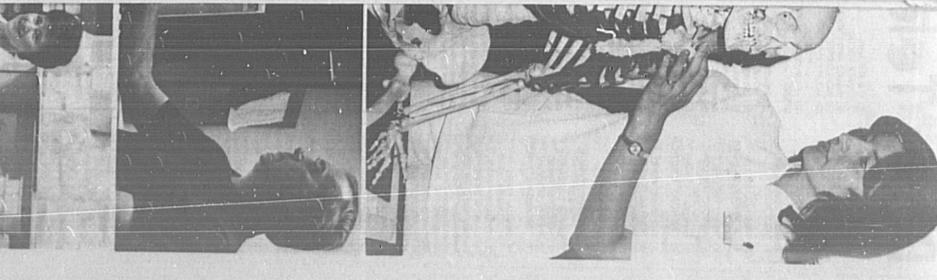

GIRL SCOUT DEDICATION
One of the largest Girl Scout Bicentennial projects in the nation — a $2,000 Ecological Studies Center — was dedicated Sunday near Chuluata in eastern Seminole County. The building, part of the Citrus Council of Girl Scouts Mah-Kah-Wee program center, was partially funded with a $14,000 grant received through the Seminole County Bicentennial Committee. Participants in the dedication ceremonies included Dr. Gloria D. Scott, president of the Girl Scouts; Dr. William R. Adams, executive director of the Florida Bicentennial Commission; Jack Harner, chairman of the Seminole County Bicentennial Committee; and Claire Kosbar, president of the Citrus Council. IN BRIEF

Senate To Vote On Massive Tax Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — With federal income-tax cuts due to expire July 1, the Senate begins voting this week on a massive tax bill that would extend the cuts.

The bill also would limit some of the tax-avoidance schemes available to the wealthy, and create some tax breaks while eliminating others.

The bill consists of up to 1,700 pages and requires a 500-page report to explain. Because of this size, there is going doubt that Congress can complete action before July 1.

But there is virtually no chance that the lawmakers will allow taxes to go up on that date. Either the tax-cut portion of the bill will be split off and considered separately or the tax-cut extension will be made retroactive to July 1, no matter when it is passed.

Democratic Platform Finished

WASHINGTON (AP) — The program the Democratic party is proposing on welfare, national health insurance and education can be financed without additional cost to the taxpayer if the nation returns to full employment, party officials say.

The party was making full employment the central issue in the campaign platform that its 153-member platform committee was taking up today. A 15-member subcommittee completed work on a proposed draft Sunday.

Gov. Wendell Anderson of Minnesota, chairman of the platform committee, said Sunday that he expects the final platform to be "much more practical, much shorter, and much more general than the kinds of platforms that we've had in the past."

Gangs Attack Motorists

CHICAGO (AP) — Youth gangs roamed Chicago's South Side late Sunday night and early today attacking motorists straggling by torrential rains, killing one woman and assaulting at least 15 persons, police said.

Phyllis Anderson, 51, was shot to death and her husband, Les, 51, critically wounded when they refused to pay a gang $10 to push their car across a flooded bridge, authorities reported. The Andersons' three children were cut by flying glass when three shots were fired from a handgun into their car.

Police said that in another attack, Edward Rosen, 35, of Schererville, Ind., finance director of St. Francis Hospital in Blue Island, suffered a broken jaw and wounds to the left cheek when attacked by youths carrying baseball bats. Rosen was listed in good condition.

FBI Contacted Journalist

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI says it had two contacts with Jacques Srouji, a Nashville journalist, shortly before he testified before a House subcommittee investigating "insecure security," according to a well-informed source.

The FBI is reportedly under investigation by a special Justice Department team looking into the possibility that the bureau attempted to use Mrs. Srouji to manipulate the congressional probe. The FBI acknowledged the contacts with Mrs. Srouji in a letter to the subcommittee chairman, the source said.

The source said FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley told Rep. John D. Dingell, D-Mich., chairman of the House Small Business subcommittee on energy and environment that the contacts occurred on April 22 and April 23. Mrs. Srouji testified before Dingell's subcommittee April 28.

Mother Defends JFK

NEW YORK (AP) — The late President John F. Kennedy was a religious man who "attended church regularly, was a frequent communicant at Mass and understood the meaning and value of daily prayer," his mother says.

"He did not hide his Catholic upbringing or downplay its importance during his campaign for election," Rose Kennedy said in a written reply to a newspaper column that said Kennedy did not believe in his religion.

The June 8 column by James Reston in The New York Times was about religion and public office. It made a distinction between Jimmy Carter — "a deeply religious man" — and Kennedy, who "wasn't."

Killing Involved Conspiracy

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The gangland-style bomb killing of investigative reporter Dan Bolles involved a conspiracy tainted with possible land fraud in Arizona, police say.

Bolles, 47, died Sunday, losing an 11-day battle for his life. Both legs and one arm had been amputated as a result of the bombing of his car at a midtown hotel June 2.

The Arizona Republic reporter had gone to the hotel to meet a man who claimed to have information about a land fraud story on which he was working.

Drummond To Run Against Hattaway

Former Republican County Commissioner Greg Drummond officially announced today he will enter the race for Florida's 11th Congressional District seat in the November election. Drummond has referred to incumbent Democrat Bob Hattaway.

Drummond has persisted for months that Drummond would seek Hattaway's seat, but prior to today the former commission chairman said only that he was considering the race.

Drummond is expected to challenge Hattaway on the aborted Sunshine Law amendment the Allamonte Springs Democrats introduced this year in the Florida legislature. Although the Hattaway-sponsored measure failed to pass a Senate committee vote, it was approved in the Florida

ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY

Don Lykkekak, Altamonte Springs resident who is an attorney, has announced his candidacy for the state attorney's post in the 10th judicial circuit which covers Brevard and Seminole counties. A 1970 graduate from the University of Florida Law School, Lykkekak is running on the Democratic ticket and will oppose Republican State Attorney Abbott Herring.

Teamster Leader Rips Dissidents

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Teamsters President Frank E. Fitzsimmons, preparing to open his union's national convention, says dissidence within the union is the product of a handful of troublemakers who remind him of communist infiltrators.

Fitzsimmons declared that those groups advocating "workers power" and the takeover of unions and industry "put me in mind of the old days of the communist trend and threat to invade labor organizations in the United States."

The head of the 2 million-member union lashed out at critics during a news conference Sunday preceding today's opening of the Teamsters' 21st Constitutional Convention.

Single out for special criticism was PROD, an insurgent group that recently issued a massive report of alleged corruption and malfeasance within the Teamsters, the nation's biggest and richest union.

"PROD seems to be the spokesman and provider of publicity for all these would-be groups trying to infiltrate this labor organization," Fitzsimmons said.

In his report, PROD, a small but increasingly vocal group, called for a number of reforms, among them revised officer election procedures and a ceiling on union salaries, which run into six figures for national officers and some local officials.

Asked whether the convention would act on these proposals, Fitzsimmons replied: "What are you talking about? What kind of reforms?"

State Senator Will Oppose Grady Sims To Seek GOP Nomination

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Attacking Republican primary rival John Grady as an interloper who has switched parties five times, State Sen. Walter Sims today announced his candidacy for the GOP nomination for the U.S. Senate.

Sims said he was looking forward to a primary fight with Grady, a Belle Glade physician who switched from the American Party this spring to run for the Senate as a Republican.

He said he would speak on his rival's "impurities and irresponsibilities" in their primary campaign. Asked what he meant, Sims said: "I think we should recognize the fact there is a big difference between the rhetoric and bouncing around from one position to another and legislative experience."

An Orlando realtor, Sims has served in the state legislature since 1970.

He has been highly critical of State Republican Chairman William Taylor for encouraging Grady to run for the Senate as a Republican, but Sims downplayed today any hostility over the party leader's role in the switch.

Sims said it was "illegal to start with and improper for the party leadership to take a position in the primary."

He said Grady's candidacy as a Republican serves a useful purpose in that it keeps a potentially strong third party candidate off the ballot in November.

Sims described Grady's candidacy as a Republican as a "bitter thing for our party that has him running on a third party ticket."

"As far as Sen. Chiles is concerned, we elected him to Washington and he went off six years ago and I don't think we've seen or heard from him since," Sims said.

Describing himself as an Alabama sharecropper's son who made good the hard way, Sims attacked the federal bureaucracy and said he would fight for "common sense attachments to the federal purse strings."

Jerry Wurf, in an address prepared for today's opening session of the 750,000-member American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees convention here, said the fiscal crisis plaguing New York City has led politicians, including liberal Democrats, to lay the bulk of blame for local problems on public employees.

"All across the United States we are being told that public employees are overpaid, unproductive and the recipients of special privilege," he said.

Youth Killed In Chase

MIAMI (AP) — Police trying to shoot at the tires and gas tank of a car during a high-speed chase shot and killed a 16-year-old boy as he cradled a stolen shotgun in his arms, authorities said.

Police said Ruben Morejon of Miami was killed Sunday as he and four others fled from a gun store robbery in a stolen car at speeds up to 116 miles an hour. The ensuing chase involved 24 patrol cars, officers said.

Police said they recovered 10 shotguns, a nine millimeter automatic handgun, 2 Colt revolvers and a .45 caliber semi-automatic carbine from the car. They said the weapons had been stolen from the gun store in Miami.

Detention Law Changed

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Alcoholics and their families have greater protection under a new state law that allows authorities to hold intoxicated persons in jail for a longer period of time, officials say.

Legislators responded to a real need by extending the time from 12 to 72 hours, said George Clarke, who heads the Health and Rehabilitative Services Department's alcoholics rehabilitation program.

"The problem with the present 12-hour limit is simply that it is not always physically possible for a treatment facility to pick up inmates from distant rural detention places in that short a time," Clarke said.

Crash Endangers 200

ST. AUGUSTINE (AP) — Some 200 persons were endangered when a small aircraft crashed on a crowded beach, but a retired flight engineer yelled out warnings just in time, police say.

Carr was paroled after serving less than three years on a sexual contact charge. The 37-year-old resident was arrested in Miami on May 31 and was charged with involuntary sexual battery, kidnapping and assault with intent to commit murder.

Under questioning after his arrest, Carr told sheriff's officials of the four graves and the led police on a grisly tour to a pair of graves near Bay St. Louis, Miss., and another in Granary, La.

Police said the two boys were killed in the fall of 1972, while Carr was free on bond after his Connecticut arrest. They were identified as Todd Payton and Mark Wilson, both of North Miami.

Officials indicated that the girl, identified as Tammy Huntley of Miami, and the Hartford woman were killed after Carr was paroled.

Seven Die On Highways

By The Associated Press

Seven persons died in traffic accidents on Florida roads over the weekend including four people who died in a pair of two-vehicle accidents, the Florida Highway Patrol said early today.

A speeding car went out of control and smashed into another vehicle on State Road 45 in Pasco County Saturday, killing the driver and passenger of the fast-moving auto, state troopers said.

The victims were identified as Randall Eugene Jones Sr., 33, of Brooksville, and Thomas Michel Hinson III, 19, of Lutz.

Thieves Loot Homes, Automobiles

By KRIS NASH Herald Staff Writer

Thomas C. Frisbie was asleep in his home at 1010 Bradford Dr., Lake Howell, early Sunday morning when something suddenly startled him awake.

Frisbie listened and realized that a key was being inserted into the lock on his front door.

Frisbie leaped from his bed and rushed to the door as it was being swung open, frightening away an intruder who left the keys dangling from the lock.

Frisbie took a look at the keys and realized they were the ones he kept in his pickup truck, which was parked outside.

Charging out to where the vehicle stood, Frisbie discovered that one of the doors had been unlocked and that some $600 in property had been stolen from inside, including a citizens band (CB) radio, a Polaroid camera, a tape cassette player and a .22-caliber automatic revolver.

The incident, reported by Seminole County Deputy Donald McCormick, was one of several burglaries occurring in the county over the weekend which involved CB radio gear or stereophonic record playing equipment.

Donald P. Dwigings, of 2730 Balta Drive, Trailwood, told officers that someone smashed out a wing window on his truck Sunday morning and looted the vehicle of a radio, 28-cassette CB, a CB monitor, and electric drill, a hunting knife and assorted small items worth a total of $500.

Bracken estimated the total value of the theft at about $500, officers said.

Radio News Service Fighting To Survive Amid Prosperity

NEW YORK (AP) — Come June 18, NBC Radio's "News and Information Service" starts its second year on the air, still in the red, still costing $10 million a year to operate and still trying to persuade prospective station clients that all-news radio is the only way to go.

NBC executives initially hoped to have 75 stations in the nation's top 100 markets signed for NIS' 24-hour-a-day, seven-days-a-week news service when it began. It only began with 27 stations in major and minor markets.

"No, I wasn't too optimistic," says Jack G. Thayer, head of NBC's radio division, adding that NIS now serves 62 all-news stations with another 11 scheduled to start the service in the next three months.

"What happened was simply this: This happens to be the best year radio has ever had. And as a consequence, stations that normally don't do too well are doing fantastic business."

Two optimistic.

Employees Union President Lashes Out At Officials

Killing Victim Discovered

CANTERBURY, Conn. (AP) — A cross-country grave-digging expedition led by a parolee convicted of a sex crime has unearthed another body, the fourth person the man claims to have sexually molested and slain, authorities say.

The body of a 21-year-old woman was found Sunday in a grave near a lovers' lane after Robert F. Carr III pointed out the spot, police said.

Carr was not present during the digging after being flown here from Florida where he had been arrested. Authorities there said he told them of killing a teen-age girl, two youngsters and the woman here.

Last week Carr led authorities to the graves of a 16-year-old girl and two 11-year-old boys in Louisiana and Mississippi. All three were from the Miami area, authorities said.

The latest burial ground pinpointed by the 23-year-old Norcross, Ga., man was a back road in this peaceful farming community of 3,000 persons in east-central Connecticut, authorities said.

Police said they were with Carr when he was arrested by officers as being in good condition, though they did not say how or when she died.

Longwood, Casselberry Councils Meet Tonight

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer

A series of public hearings will open the Longwood City Council meeting at 7 p.m. today while in Casselberry that city council will consider (at 7:30 p.m.) items already discussed in detail at a workshop.

In Longwood one public hearing concerns allocation of $22,747 in federal revenue sharing for the period July 1 through Dec. 31, while two others are on zoning matters and a fourth will consider the possibility of adopting the state's sanitary code.

The city council previously decided to allocate $5,000 of the federal revenue sharing funds for public safety, $5,000 for environmental protection and $12,747 for public transportation.

The zoning hearings are to consider a request for a change in category from business district to residential to permit the renovation of a former office building into a single family home on Longwood Hills Road and a request from J. R. Hattaway for a change from business district to commercial of four lots south of and fronting on SR-434.

Council member Jane Lorman has sponsored the adoption of the state sanitary code to regulate the operation of fruit and vegetable stands in the city.

During the regular meeting the agenda includes a request from a citizen regarding a water bill; a request from the Winsor Manor Homeowners Association concerning maintenance of a pump station and bids on water meters.

In Casselberry the council will hear a proclamation from Mayor Gerald Christensen declaring the period beginning today through July 4 as "Honor America" time.

The board will consider the appointment of Robert McAllister and Richard A. Honick to the police reserve unit; a site plan review for a new Cumberland Farms; approval of a change order for the Eastbrook lift station; authorizing the city attorney to prepare a resolution for the closing of Oxford Road.

During a water session after the regular meeting, the city council will consider authorizing the city attorney to prepare a condemnation resolution relating to the Rossman property; review preliminary plan of Sherwood Forest, first addition; consider recommendation on concession stand proposed by the Casselberry Jaycees and Land O' Lakes tennis courts.

In Casselberry the council will hear a proclamation from Mayor White, in a petition filed with the Supreme Court April 9, argued that Garrity should have adopted a plan proposed by four court-appointed masters which called for the closing of 15,000 students.

The Home and School Association argued for a plan of its own, relying on so-called magnet schools with specialized programs designed to attract both black and white students to attend voluntarily.

In addition to calling for bus- ing, the Garrity plan spells out some details of curriculum, grade structure, location of bilingual programs, school chie- ces and other matters.

Integration of elementary and middle schools has been peaceful.

to seek curbs on the power of federal courts to impose bus- ing. However, Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi announced on May 29 that it would not do so.

Garrity's order, issued on May 10, 1975 has been followed by outbreaks of violence in some Boston schools and neighborhoods. Police have been stationed routinely inside South Boston High School and there has been racial trouble at two other schools in white neighborhoods to which black children have been bused.

JACKSONVILLE (AP) — Nearly 1,800 members of Bolshermakers Union Local 865 were to go back to work today after voting to accept a new contract to end a 12-day strike at Jacksonville Shipyard.

Officials of the union of bolshermakers, iron shipbuilders, blacksmiths, forgiers and helpers said the vote Sunday was 427 to 359 for a three-year pact with Jacksonville Shipyard.

The new contract provides pay hikes ranging from 25 to 75 cents an hour the first year, officials said. Other details of the contract were not available.

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — The head of a Senate panel which reviewed 229 executive appointments this year predicts that the next legislature will reform the procedure to permit a type of one-year probation.

"The confirmation process is the best handle the legislature has on executive officeholders," said Sen. Edgar Dunn, chairman of the Select Committee on Executive Suspensions and Appointments.

The confirmation process saw one of the fireworks that went off in 1975, when Gov. Reubin Askew suffered a big legislative defeat by losing his nomination of O. J. Keller as Health and Rehabilitative Services Secretary.

KEY BISCAYNE (AP) — Key Biscayne, a lush, self-proclaimed island paradise where residents once sold coconuts to fight for tighter zoning rules, is once again mired in a dispute over community growth.

Among the controversies is a $1.5-million proposal to double the size of Hickenbacker Causeway, the only thoroughfare linking the three-mile-long island to Miami on the mainland.

The causeway is often backed up with miles of autos filled with beachgoers and tourists on weekends and holidays.

PANAMA CITY (AP) — Ronald Reagan's state campaign leader says at least 10 Florida delegates pledged to President Ford are closet Reagan backers who will support Reagan on platform disputes and other key issues at the Republican National Convention.

L.E. "Tommy" Thomas said Sunday that the 10 are bound by Florida law to support the President on the first two ballots at the Kansas City convention.

But he said they are expected to switch to the former California governor if the nomination fight goes to a third ballot.

Public Hearing Slated

WINTER SPRINGS — Public hearings will be held tonight on Ordinance 135 to increase the minimum inspection fee charged by the building department from $5 to $10 and Ordinance 136 updating the building code.

Changes in the sign ordinance will also be discussed. The issue of unsafe electrical conditions, which were approved in the original inspection and now have resulted in two Hacienda Village residents being threatened with legal action and possible termination of services by the City Building official, will be on the agenda.

The Mayor's office will conclude the agenda.

Japan's Agony Is Familiar

Americans, who are just beginning to regain their footing following scandals at the highest level of government, can understand the political torture wracking Japan as a result of Lockheed Aircraft Corp. bribery of Japanese public figures and servants.

Lockheed officials have testified that they paid $12.6 million in fees, commissions and bribes to Japanese officials and businessmen over the last 18 years in order to stimulate sales.

The payments and the certificate that much of the real bribery story has yet to be told, because it shields high officials, has rent the Japanese society to the extent where many believe that Prime Minister Takeo Miki's tenure is threatened.

Lockheed officials have testified that they paid $12.6 million in fees, commissions and bribes to Japanese officials and businessmen over the last 18 years in order to stimulate sales.

The most apocalyptic of prosecutors take another step and insist that the Lockheed affair will irrevocably change the complexion of Japanese politics dramatically.

The United States has experienced much of what Japan is enduring and the symptoms are familiar. Every rock is being overturned in Japan to find scandals, the public appetite for accounts of wrongdoing is insatiable, suspicion lurks everywhere, citizens are turned against one another, sensationalism is the order of the day, there is an overwhelming desire to retaliate without discrimination against those in power and many institutions are under attack.

We have great faith that all is not as bad as it seems. In the United States, the basic strengths of the country are reasserting themselves and the nation is pulling itself out of the political as well as the economic recession.

Japan, whose social and economic underpinnings are strong, also will recover in due time. It is entirely possible that Prime Minister Takeo Miki will be deposed as a public offering of penance. It is less likely that the Liberal Democrats, who have ruled since 1948, will be deposed by the Socialist Party, the next strongest political alignment.

The United States has been careful not to rock the boat in its Japanese foreign policy, yet some decisions of potential high voltage have to be made. Japan, for example, does need the submarine tracking aircraft that Lockheed was offering to sell until the scandal broke. The security of Japan depends upon acquiring them.

The suggestion offered by the Pentagon that the sale of the aircraft or the license to manufacture them in Japan should be a government to government deal makes a deal of sense, provided that Washington does not acquire Lockheed as another founding.

Hand wringing over allegations of corruption and coercion within the powerful International Brotherhood of Teamsters is nothing new.

But the concern of a 2,000-member group of reformers within the Teamster ranks is an encouraging signal that the union's 2.3 million dues-payers are no longer going to wink at the shenanigans of union officials.

The dissidents, banded together under the title "PRO," have accused Teamster leader Frank Fitzsimmons and his top aides of defying the law by enjoying salaries in excess of $100,000 annually, free cars and homes, large pensions and more than a little graft.

Violence in the past, such as the apparent demise of former union president James Hoffa, has dampened the ardor of the membership for moves against the union hierarchy. PROD blames Congress and federal agencies for failure to enforce laws and to pass tougher legislation.

Efforts at the coming union convention in Las Vegas to place curbs on leadership abuses are unlikely to get far. But the rumblings of discontent among members, if nurtured, may yet force federal action and internal pressures for reform.

WASHINGTON — The question of how to counter Soviet gains in Africa came up the other day behind closed White House doors.

Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, citing his efforts in Africa, said: "We have a good chance to stop this slide toward outside intervention."

House Democratic leader Thomas "Tip" O'Neill broke in with a question: "Have we never had an African policy before?"

"These 48 countries have been evolving from colonialism," explained the President, "and it has been difficult to have an overall policy for these nations heretofore."

Around

The Clock

After a 20-year affair with Congressman Bullnose, Ms. Molly Wag suddenly walked out on him and told her story to the public.

Ms. Wag swears her reputation is irreparably damaged, and she's been dismissed from her former $25,000-a-year job as congressional aide.

During an interview, Ms. Wag told as much as she could remember of the entire, sordid affair.

"How did it, er, all begin, Ms. Wag?"

"Oh, I can't answer THAT," she said. "That's coming in my book. You do know I'm writing a book."

"Why, no, I thought you couldn't even type, or file, or for that matter, perform any of the duties normally associated with a thinking person."

"On well," Ms. Wag answered. "You know how those Washington tales get started. I did take Typing 101 at the state university, but I flunked. I had a female teacher, and you know I never did get along with those female teachers. I'm sure you may be I ought to write a book about that someday, too."

"To be frank, Ms. Wag, I'm puzzled. Why did it take you 20 years to make up your mind to expose the man who would pay you to write a book about that someday, too?"

"You silly boy," Ms. Wag countered. "When I met Old Bullnose he was one of the most powerful men on the hill and the talk of the town. He was as tall as a Texas tree and his muscles rippled under his custom-tailored clothes like a fast-moving stream. Everything was bunkery... then."

"But I was 20, and he was 40, and he was 60, and he was 80, and he was 100, and he was 120, and he was 140, and he was 160, and he was 180, and he was 200, and he was 220, and he was 240, and he was Wants To Play In LA Or San Francisco Cementing Marriage Factor In O.J. Trade Request

NEW YORK (AP) — His marriage and the realization that his career could be ended at any time because of injuries has caused superstar running back O.J. Simpson to ask to be traded to either the Oakland Raiders or the Los Angeles Rams.

The Buffalo Bills' record-breaking runner, who has appeared in several movies, also said he would probably end his career with this season.

"This is strictly a personal situation," Simpson said by telephone from Las Vegas, talking about his desire to be traded. "It has nothing to do with Buffalo or the fans there."

Simpson said that last season his family didn't accompany him to Buffalo because of his children's schooling, and that was a major reason for wanting to move back to his native California.

"There were rumors going around Buffalo this past season that my wife and I were going to be divorced, and when we were apart we did have problems," Simpson said.

"What forced me to make the decision was my family. I wouldn't be bearing away from them another five months."

Born in San Francisco, Simpson started in football and track at Southern California before signing with the Bills in 1980. Another Buffalo trade that season was Robert James. James and Simpson are the only players still on the team from the 1969 season.

Last year, James, a cornerback, severely injured his right knee in a preseason game and underwent an operation.

"Robert James may not play ball again," Simpson said. "It started me wondering when I might be injured. It can end any day."

Simpson said he has twice met with Ralph Wilson, the Bills' owner, who "understands the situation. He said he would do all he could to respect my wishes and wanted to get a correct deal."

Although Simpson did not specify to which team he wanted to be traded, he said he didn't want to go to the San Diego Chargers.

"I went through some tough years on a rebuilding team already, and I think I have already paid my dues," he said.

He also said he felt the San Francisco 49ers don't "have that much to give Buffalo" in exchange for the league's top runner.

The Los Angeles Herald-Examiner reported that Wilson would consider dealing Simpson, who will be 29 next month, to the Rams for running back Lawrence McCutchen, two top defensive players and cash.

Wilson said he planned to talk with owners of the Chargers, 49ers, Rams and Raiders at a league meeting in New York this week.

Arizona State, E. Michigan Still Unbeaten

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Arizona and Arizona State are living up to their billing in the 30th College World Series.

After three days of the eight-team, double-elimination tournament, top-ranked Arizona State and Eastern Michigan are the only unbeaten — and looming in the wings is Arizona.

"I think it's becoming clear there is a separation between the top teams and the rest," said Arizona State Coach Jim Brock after his club knocked off Washington State 5-3 Sunday night.

Brock surely numbers his club as elite — and although he didn't say it — Eastern might be Arizona.

The Sun Devils' victory sent them into a Tuesday night match with pitching ace from the Eastern Michigan, which advanced by nipping Clemson 2-1 in 10 innings.

Shubert Seventh In State

HAINES CITY — Jack Shubert finished seventh in the championship flight for the best showing by a Seminole County golfer in last weekend's Florida State Amateur Golf Championship, but the biggest play of the day belonged to Orlando's day player, who finished with a two-over-par 74 for a 72-hole total of 290.

Kirk, a 38-year-old Orlando club salesman, won his first big title Sunday when he shot a two-over-par 74 for a 72-hole total of 290.

Defending champion Veghte had a 71 for 291, but was disqualified when officials found out he signed an incorrect scorecard. The error hadn't changed Veghte's overall score but showed him with the wrong total for the second hole.

The disqualification boosted 16-year-old David Abel of Fort Pierce into second. He closed with a 79 for a 296 total on the par 72, 7,252-yard Greenleaf Golf and Racquet Club course.

Champion In State

CHAMPIN' AT THE BIT by Alan Mover

"THIS HORSE NOT ONLY RUNS LIKE A CHAMP, BUT IN THE OPINION OF EXPERTS HE ALSO HAS THE LOOK OF A CHAMP, AND HAS BEEN HORSE OF THE YEAR TWICE IN A ROW."

The Phillies were able to manufacture just a single run and came away with the frustration of having failed to get an extra-base hit in a game for the first time since August 1975. No, all Jones wants is his next game, really.

"The future," he says, "will take care of itself. There's no need to think about anything except winning No. 13."

The way Jones is pitching, the future seems to be here already. The San Diego left-hander is by far the hottest thing in baseball this year — and Sunday put victory notch No. 12 on his belt.

"I guess I'm just hot against them," said Jones after shutting out Philadelphia 5-0 in the first game of a doubleheader, the second time he's done that to the Philly-losing Phillies this year.

The Phillies had no better luck the second game, losing a 4-3 decision to the Padres.

The Baltimore Orioles, trying to shed a nasty losing streak, were going about it in strange ways.

First, Reggie Jackson, the Orioles' top slugger, threatened to walk out if his pitchers didn't run up opposing Kansas City batters. Then the Orioles announced Sunday they traded Ken Holtzman, their best left-handed pitcher, but didn't tell anybody where he was going. Jackson and Holtzman are two castoffs from Charles O. Ray's funny farm in Oakland.

English picked up a regional berth for a loss in the first round.

French driver Andre Haller was killed Saturday night when his Datsun struck a guard rail and burst into flames. A race official also collapsed and died of heart stroke.

"My right foot, my accelerator, it is burning, just like Jack's," said Gips Van Lennep of Hallam, Calif., co-driver.

The heat may have cost the British team of Alain de Cadenet and Chris Craft, who finished third, a second-place finish. Both suffered foot burns similar to that suffered by Jack and his successors, and had to slow down. They also lost time installing cooling tubes during the race.

"But everyone has cooled off," Holtzman, who was traded Friday because the star left-hander wouldn't sign a contract, apparently has been sent packing by Baltimore, which wouldn't satisfy his salary requests according to the Orioles, the only catch is that Holtzman must sign a contract with the mystery club in order to play for the White Sox. And he's unable to reach agreement with the pitcher.

One thing is certain. The Orioles will not lose their 10th straight game today. They don't play again until the 11th.

Red Sox 1B, Twins 2 Rookie pitcher Rick Jones won his first major league start with a nine-inning and Carl Yastrzemski broke a 6-for-10 slump with a three-run homer in the White Sox's 4-2 win over St. Louis in the first game of their doubleheader.

Kennedy, Castino Players of Year

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — A pair of 300 hitters, Terry Kennedy of Florida State and John Castino of Rollins, have won the first-ever Florida College Baseball Player of the Year awards.

Kennedy, a catcher who batted .364 and hit 21 home runs, beat out Miami pitcher Garin Long (15-0). Solano Florida pitcher Chris Welsh and Florida outfielder Nick Belmonte in the university division voting.

Castino, a third baseman who hit a .319 average and 12 home runs, edged Eck College pitcher-outfielder Joe LeFebre in the small college poll.

Softball Playoffs Tuesday

Get your calculators to figure the possibilities. And don't forget the box lunch, umbrella and recusator for Saturday.

That's the story in Sanford's Church League, where the slow-pitch softball playoffs Tuesday and Thursday offer some fast thrills by Pinecrest Baptist, Church of Nazarene and First Presbyterian as they jockey for the two remaining spots in Saturday's all-day playoffs at Fort Mellon Park.

First Presbyterian had it easy Saturday, eking out a forfeit over Holy Cross Episcopal. First place Pinecrest closed out a 153-season game with an 11-5 win to the Nazarenes and a forfeit win over Assembly of God.

Nazarene lost a sure shot in the four-team post-season tournament when it lost to Sanford Christian, 15-9, a team which also lost to First United Methodist. First Baptist defeated All Souls Catholic in the other game, 9-2.

Thus all eyes are on Tuesday's 5-45 game at Pinehurst Field, where the Methodists play the Presbyterians. A win by the latter seals third place for it, and leaves fourth spot to Sunday's Pinecrest Baptist of Nazarene. A Presbyterian loss, however, would create a three-way tie for third and fourth spots.

Pinecrest and Nazarene play at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the game of the playoffs for the last two spots, whether it is a two-way or three-way tie. If Presbyterian is denied Tuesday, it comes back Thursday at 5:45 for a Tuesday's other winner, that game being for third place. The loser meets Tuesday's loser for fourth.

First Baptist and First United Methodist have tournament spots wrapped up.

Cage Merger 4,5,6 OR None

PARIS (AP) — He was at the smallest kid in the class, a Cub Scout boy moving through a Boy Scout world, a little boy who learned tennis to show the world he was there. He played the toughest in the world, he used all his natural physical skills — his big serve, his daring lateral game at the net — in a way that no amount of Solomon's courage could overcome.

Panatta had beaten Bjorn Borg and Eddie Dibba, Solomon's Miami buddy since age 12, en route to the title. The group, he said, made up the "new tennis," unorthodox, pretty, unyielding players whose endurance and baselining ground strokes make up their strength, rather than volleying skill.

"I didn't have any zip until it was too late," Solomon said. "The adrenalin only started going for me in the fourth set and I couldn't win it, so it was for nothing."

Le Mans 24 Hours To Ickx

By The Associated Press

Belgium's Jacky Ickx sweated through the 24 hours of Le Mans to capture the Classic, which was marred by tragedy.

"I feel pain in my right foot," Ickx said after plotting his Porsche 906 to victory. "It is burning and burning. It is burning like hell, burning like hell."

A surprisingly high total of 24 of the 50 cars which started the race finished, but didn't finish as the finish as temperatures soared above 90.

French driver Andre Haller was killed Saturday night when his Datsun struck a guard rail and burst into flames. A race official also collapsed and died of heart stroke.

"My right foot, my accelerator, it is burning, just like Jacky's," said Gips Van Lennep of Hallam, Calif., co-driver.

The heat may have cost the British team of Alain de Cadenet and Chris Craft, who finished third, a second-place finish. Both suffered foot burns similar to that suffered by Jack and his successors, and had to slow down. They also lost time installing cooling tubes during the race.

English Ousted In Second Set

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Orlando's Gary English was the only area putter to survive the first round in the Northern Regional qualifying for Pat's World Putting Championship Sunday.

English won his 18-hole match with a 1-1 tie, but was eliminated in his second match. Losers in the first round also included Dan Anders, Joe Marazziti, Eddie Turner and Mike Pfeiffer.

The putters vie in the Southern Regional today, the Central Tuesday and Western Wednesday. The World finals are Thursday and Friday with two finalists qualifying from each of the four regions.

English picked up $750.00 for a loss in the first round.

The Phillies were able to manufacture just a single run and came away with the frustration of having failed to get an extra-base hit in a game for the first time since August 1975. No, all Jones wants is his next game, really.

"The future," he says, "will take care of itself. There's no need to think about anything except winning No. 13."

The way Jones is pitching, the future seems to be here already. The San Diego left-hander is by far the hottest thing in baseball this year — and Sunday put victory notch No. 12 on his belt.

"I guess I'm just hot against them," said Jones after shutting out Philadelphia 5-0 in the first game of a doubleheader, the second time he's done that to the Philly-losing Phillies this year.

The Phillies had no better luck the second game, losing a 4-3 decision to the Padres.

The Baltimore Orioles, trying to shed a nasty losing streak, were going about it in strange ways.

First, Reggie Jackson, the Orioles' top slugger, threatened to walk out if his pitchers didn't run up opposing Kansas City batters. Then the Orioles announced Sunday they traded Ken Holtzman, their best left-handed pitcher, but didn't tell anybody where he was going. Jackson and Holtzman are two castoffs from Charles O. Ray's funny farm in Oakland.

English picked up a regional berth for a loss in the first round.

"But everyone has cooled off," Holtzman, who was traded Friday because the star left-hander wouldn't sign a contract, apparently has been sent packing by Baltimore, which wouldn't satisfy his salary requests according to the Orioles, the only catch is that Holtzman must sign a contract with the mystery club in order to play for the White Sox. And he's unable to reach agreement with the pitcher.

One thing is certain. The Orioles will not lose their 10th straight game today. They don't play again until the 11th.

Red Sox 1B, Twins 2 Rookie pitcher Rick Jones won his first major league start with a nine-inning and Carl Yastrzemski broke a 6-for-10 slump with a three-run homer in the White Sox's 4-2 win over St. Louis in the first game of their doubleheader.

Upstarts Grab AAU Spotlight

LOS ANGELES (AP) — In the absence of the established stars, a bunch of upstarts to publicize their intention of making the U.S. Olympic team.

Such lesser-known athletes as Tom Anderson, Mack Parks, Millard Hampton, James Robinson, Randy Smith and Fred Lake all won AAU titles in the three-day meet as America's top track talent lined up for the U.S. trials which begin next Saturday.

Andrews, a University of Southern California junior, came from out of nowhere to win the 400-meter hurdle in 48.55 seconds to equal the NCAA record and become the second fastest American ever in the event.

Parks, the former UCLA freshman who has won the AAU title by jumping out to a 41.82 time to win the 400 and make himself No. 10 in the event in history.

Hampton, a 19-year-old junior college sophomore from San Jose, Calif., took advantage of Steve Williams' absence to win the 200-meter dash in 20.89 seconds.

Robinson, the Pacific-Ocean 800 champion, did not finish his best of the NCAA 800 when he was involved in a showing match in the middle of the pack. Saturday he took the AAU title by jumping out to a 3:00 lead early.

This time of 1:46.6 was good but he said, "I'd like to be 1:45.5 just to make the Olympic team."

Smith was a top stepchild. He was a top stepchild in the 1955, running second in the NCAA meet. But had a 1.70 mile in the year since graduating from Wichita State. He also had not met the Olympic Trials qualifying mark of 3:32.10 this year. Saturday he won 3:28.20, a time that is fast & 8.7, beating the American record holder, Doug Brown. Lake captured the javelin with a lifetime best of 286.58 as Bill Schmidt, the bronze medalist in the 1972 Olympics, fell to third behind Richard George.

Provisos Used To Benefit Few

Legislators Gain More Power

By JOHN VAN GIESSEN
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — The handful of legislators who annually draft a compromise appropriations bill are acquiring unprecedented power by adding proviso language to the spending bill, critics say.

The proviso language is getting too onerous, too substantive and there should be some kind of limitation on it," said Rep. Barry Kutan, D-Miami Beach. "It's getting worse and worse every year." Actually there is a constitutional limit on provisos, but legislators work at it.

The constitutional section on appropriation bills says, "Laws making appropriations for salaries of public officers and other current expenses of the state shall contain no provisions on any other subject."

The Supreme Court has ruled that the constitution forbids use of proviso language to make substantive changes in law. The only way to halt the practice, however, is to challenge a particular proviso in court.

The $1.95 billion 1976-77 appropriations bill contains more than 90 provisos. Some are seemingly innocuous, some establish policy guidelines and some alter laws passed by previous legislatures.

There is, for example, a proviso extending the July 1 deadline set by the 1975 legislature for completion of the reorganization of the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services. The new deadline is June 30, 1977.

House Appropriations Chairman Edmond Fortune, D-Palme, defends proviso language as vital in setting policies that the legislature wants bureaucrats to follow.

"If I think it's necessary to have proviso language to establish the policy of the state," Fortune said, "I didn't, we might as well have a lump sum and let the executive have all the power."

Many provisos are drafted by the conference committee created to resolve differences in House and Senate spending bills.

Some, such as the HRS reorganization extension, are added to the spending bill by a single lawmaker. The extension was the brainchild of Rep. Earl Dixon, D-Jacksonville, whose concern focused on transfer of about 500 HRS employees from Jacksonville to Tallahassee.

Other provisos appear in a conference committee report on the appropriations bill, opponents have no effective opportunity to kill it. Legislators must either approve or reject a conference committee report — they cannot amend it.

"Ten people make a decision for the whole legislature and you either vote for it or against it," Kutan said, "I certainly feel that writing this kind of proviso language is extremely harmful and really countermands the legislative process."

While Fortune defended provisos, he conceded that would otherwise be defeated. He freely admitted using a proviso to settle a score with a lobbyist.

Fortune engineered a proviso which would eliminate 36 Division of Hotels and Restaurants positions next Jan. 1. He said he was reacting to David Arpin, Florida Hotel and Motel Association lobbyist, and division director Anthony Ninos, whom he blamed for defeat of his bill transferring food service inspections to HRS.

"They defeated my bill, so now come Jan. 1 there's 36 inspectors without a job," Fortune said. But Ninos said, "What they've done is emasculate an agency that doesn't deserve it."

Another proviso made elimination of 42 state education positions contingent on enactment of a Senate bill. The bill failed to pass, however.

Unless specifically vetoed by Gov. Reubin Askew, other appropriations bill provisos will.

—Grant up to 90 days of full pay to Department of Community Affairs employees whose jobs were abolished by the spending bill.

—Require the Department of Criminal Law Enforcement to report by Jan. 1 on the most effective system of providing crime laboratory services.

—Establish basic per student grants at $750 and implement the factors to be considered in carrying out the school funding formula next year.

—Require the Division of Public Schools to recommend "a realistic funding formula" for transportation of exceptional pupils by Feb. 1, 1977.

—Limit community college funding to an enrollment of 162,132 full-time equivalent students.

—Require a common course numbering system in community colleges and universities.

—Establish university funding priorities as upper level undergraduate, lower level undergraduate, masters graduate, doctoral graduate and other programs.

—Require the state universities to make the salaries of female faculty members equal to male salaries for comparable work.

—Limit enrollment in teacher training courses at the universities.

—Continue use by the governor and Cabinet of four state airplanes, but require a study on making the aircraft pool self-supporting.

—Full salary and forbid increased pay for reclassified HRS positions.

—Phase out the state tuberculosis hospital at Lanama by June 30, 1977.

—Rehabilitation an additional 90 days to complete its reorganization.

—Prohibit construction in Broward County of a new $1.5 million hospital for the criminally insane.

administered a prototype HRS Client Service Delivery System. District VII is indeed fortunate to have Mr. Earle assume the Subdistrict Administrator's position. His experience and expertise will be invaluable as we implement the new service delivery system for HRS in this district," commented Mrs. Burnett.

Prior to his appointment, Earle has been Project Director for the Client Assistance Project with Vocational Rehabilitation Program Office. Previously, he had been Project Director for the prototype Client Service

Visiting Nurses

LONGWOOD — The Visiting Nurse Association of Orange and Osceola Counties, in agreement with county officials, has assumed the home health program for Seminole County. Earlier, Earle had served several years in various capacities in the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation, his last position being that of District Director for V. R. He has a Bachelor of Science degree from Florida Southern College and a Master of Science degree from Florida State University.

Networks Cater To Affiliates

EDITOR'S NOTE — It's a delicate and complex thing, the relationship between TV network and affiliate. Says CBS News President Richard Salant, "If either side were to go all the way in asserting its rights, the whole thing would fall apart."

LOS ANGELES (AP) — This is the time of year when the three major television networks lay out huge sums of money to raise themselves and push their products to a small-but-very-special audience.

CBS-TV recently spent more than $200,000 to impress and entertain a few hundred of these people for two days. Buses carried them from their fancy hotels to the CBS Studio Center, where three big sound stages were furnished and decorated for their use. Chasen's, a posh, expensive restaurant, catered three-course lunches. And the concluding dinner banquet featured small and oyster appetizers, filet mignon and entertainment by Steve Lawrence and Eydie Gorme.

Dear Abby

"Nothing doing. Nothing doing!"

DEAR ABBY: I know you've had some pretty far-out problems in your life, but this one will surely take the cake. I am a 16-year-old boy, and to put it bluntly, I've fallen in love with one of my teachers. You may think that's normal for a kid my age, but the teacher happens to be a male, and he's a priest as well.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: About LONG SUFFERING HUSBAND. I would like to ask that clown this question: If his wife had to have, would he expect her to tolerate ragged in the house?

Teen Prefers TV, Phone To Homework

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my 15-year-old daughter. Here is her routine: The minute she comes home from school, she turns on the TV and watches it until bedtime.

Right after supper she calls her girlfriend, and they yak for about an hour. Then her boyfriend calls her, and they yak for another hour.

Then she takes a bath and washes her hair. After that, she watches "Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman." When it's over, she calls her girlfriend and they discuss it.

THEN she starts to do her homework. But by that time she is all tired out. Her grades are barely passing, and she complains that the teachers give her too much homework. I tell her she should start her homework earlier, it wouldn't be "too much."

You may think that's normal for a kid my age, but the teacher happens to be a male, and he's a priest as well.

Although I've never considered myself completely gay, and believe me, this is, I've even considered going into priesthood just to have more in common with him, but I'm not sure I'd make a good priest. I just claim up, so I probably think I'm just quiet.

Heart Muscle Is Diseased

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D. DEAR DR. LAMB—Recently a close relative died of cardiomyopathy. He was a heavy drinker and smoker. I was told cardiomyopathy is a non-coronary heart disease. Were the heavy drinking and smoking major factors in the cardiomyopathy? What does it mean to say that cardiomyopathy is a non-coronary heart disease? How prevalent is this? How can it be prevented? DEAR READER—Myopathy means disease of the muscle. Cardiomyopathy means disease of the heart muscle. It is called a non-coronary heart disease because the basic disease process is in the muscle itself. Coronary heart disease, the common form of heart disease, causes heart muscle damage as a complication of the basic disease of the coronary arteries.

As the coronary artery is obstructed and unable to deliver enough blood to the heart muscle the muscle is damaged. If this is sudden it causes a heart attack. In cardiomyopathy the artery is normal and able to supply adequate amounts of blood but the muscle is inflamed or otherwise damaged.

Alcohol is a toxin and is toxic to heart muscle. It causes loss of inflammation of the heart muscle fibers. This is called alcoholic myocardiitis or myocardiopathy. Rheumatic fever may attack the heart muscle and cause rheumatic myocardiitis. Occasionally a young woman may have changes in her heart muscle after pregnancy without an infection of the heart or any disease in the arteries.

Other people have a gradual enlargement of the heart muscle even though the blood pressure is normal and the heart valves are normal. The progressive enlargement of the heart muscle just beneath the outlet valve of the heart may cause obstruction to blood flow similar to that seen when the valve itself is constricted from disease. The cause of these changes is not known and can occur in a person who has never

DOONESBURY

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BIDE OSOL. For Tuesday, June 15, 1976. ARIES (March 21-April 19) You'll be very successful today in dealing with others if you're not too aggressive. People will cooperate if you guide. Don't push.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Your ambitions will be in high gear today. You'll be motivated by something you strongly desire. Keep your reasons to yourself for now.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) "Selfless" will work wonders today. Undertake what you have to offer. Let the person you're dealing with fill in the blanks.

CANCER (June 21-July 21) Benefits occur today because of your sincere desire to serve someone who needs help. You won't do it for profit, but you'll gain anyway.

LEO (July 22-Aug. 22) Today and tomorrow could be especially rewarding days for you, provided you pursue goals in accordance with your highest ideals.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) The market value of goods, services or talents that you have to purvey today is up. Keep this foremost in setting your price.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You make a very favorable impression today, although you told West if he had let South hold that second trick, South would not have made his game.

Jim: "Rubber bridge players have lots of fun, but very few of them make any effort to play really good bridge." Oswald: "Here is a hand to illustrate this. Playing at three no-trump, South let East hold the first trick with the queen of spades."

Slash In CETA Funding To Cost 220 Area Jobs

A $1.1 million reduction in funding of a federal jobs program will claim the positions of 220 workers employed in county and city government and other Seminole County agencies by Jan. 31.

Director of Administrative Services Bob Ellis informed the Seminole County Commission today that Title VI of the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) program has been eliminated.

Scandals Keep On Brewing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Allan Howe was reported ready to enter an innocent plea at his arraignment on charges of soliciting sex from two Salt Lake police decoy prostitutes as the Utah Democrat promised a response to pressure from congressional colleagues to resign.
