Nativity Displays Facing Challenges Nationwide

United Press International
With Christmas decorations being hung out across the nation, civil libertarians and atheists are going to the courts for what has become a pre-holiday tradition — challenges of nativity displays on public property.
"It's a hot potato" legal issue, atheist leader Madalyn Murray O'Hair says.
Opponents of government-sponsored scenes of Christ in the cradle are winning some of their efforts to stop the displays on grounds they violate the separation of church and state doctrine in the Constitution. But in some cases, they are losing or compromises are being made.
And usually in the process they are enraging people who defend nativity scenes as one of the few remaining non-commercial holiday traditions.

"Christmas isn't Christmas without a nativity scene," said a resident of Pawtucket, R.I., where a legal battle has surrounded a city-owned creche display that had been put up for 40 Christmases.
U.S. District Chief Judge Raymond J. Pettine, ruling on a suit filed by the American Civil Liberties Union, declared the "government may not assist in the fight to keep Christ in Christmas" and ruled the city could not spend any money to put up the display this year.
In response, a citizen's group — the Citizens Committee to Continue Christmas — bought the 14 freshly painted life-sized figures and manger from the city for $300. About 150 people Saturday put up the nativity in a private park — next to city's non-religious decorations.
"I wanted to see them go up, no matter what," said Carolyn

Palo, 27, one of the organizers.
In Denver, however, another federal judge approved the placement of holiday decorations that include a small nativity scene on the steps of the City-County Building.
U.S. District Judge David Winder said the figures of the Madonna and Child, and the shepherds, Magi and animals that are part of nativity scenes, can be seen as holiday folklore rather than governmental endorsement of religion.
"It is both a religious symbol of the birth of Christ and a sign of the holiday season on a par with Santa and mistletoe," the judge ruled last week. "Its meaning derives from the context of its use and from the eye of the beholder."
Winder's decision and a similar decision in Texas later upheld by a federal appeals court suggest a strategy that may ironically become the basis of legal arguments by people defending Christ-scenes in other courtrooms.

If backers of the decorations play down the religious symbolism, deny that the creches "put Christ back in Christmas" — the very attribute many people admire — some judges may allow the scenes on public property.
But Ms. O'Hair charged public-sponsored nativity scenes are a clear-cut violation of the separation of church and state and the courts were just too frightened to outlaw them.
In some cases, defenders of nativity scenes have moved to avoid legal fights by accommodation.
In Santa Monica, Calif., where a group affiliated with Ms. O'Hair threatened court action against a privately owned scene displayed in a public park, both sides settled instead to have both the scene and an atheist display put up on the same property in a compromise.

County To Take A Hard Look At Wetland Regions

By LEE DANCY
Herald Staff Writer
A complete review of Seminole County's comprehensive land-use plan is required in 1982, and decisions the County Commission makes during its evaluation could affect numerous property owners.
County officials are especially interested in taking a good, hard look at wetland areas. A request by County Administrator Roger Neiswender to hire a consulting firm to evaluate the soggy parts of Seminole will be considered by the board during its Tuesday meeting beginning at 9:30 a.m. in the commission chambers in the courthouse in Sanford.
Money to cover the cost of a consultant will come from a state grant for $20,000 from the Florida Department of Veterans and Community Affairs. Neiswender will ask the commission to appoint a selection committee to review bids from consultants the county might hire.
A lack of specific technical expertise and a general shortage of manpower are the two major reasons an outside consultant is being recommended, said Jim Easton, assistant county administrator.
First, county planners do not have the specific technical expertise to properly evaluate the County's wetlands. Second, the county planning office is understaffed currently, Easton said.
"We just do not have the staff time," Easton said. "The Planning Department is two people short right now."
A more scientific basis for application of land-use controls in the wetlands category of the comprehensive plan was one specific request made by a citizens' committee appointed by the board in 1977 to review the new document.
Joyce Sellen, principal planner for the county department, said the request for a consultant is in part a response to the committee's recommendation for a more scientific evaluation of wetlands.
Other parts of Neiswender's request regarding the upcoming land-use plan review includes a proposal to make Ms.

Sellen the coordinator of professional services in the evaluation.
If the board approves the request to search for a wetlands consultant, the bid process and selection of the appropriate firm will take about 30 days, Easton said.
Wetlands study is the first part of the total comprehensive land use plan review, Ms. Sellen said. Many county departments, including Drainage, Environmental Services and the Office of Management and Budget, will be involved in the evaluation process.
Easton said there will be opportunity for public input to the county review of the plan all the way through the process.
"Each and every element of the plan must be evaluated," Easton said. "It will be generally updated in stages, and that's why we need the technical expertise of biologists, botanists and other specialists."
The comprehensive plan was adopted by the commission Sept. 27, 1977. Its "natural resources" element contains policies encouraging protection of environmentally sensitive areas, such as wetlands.
Few specifics are given in the original plan, however, on characteristics, functions, benefits or values of wetlands areas. Approaches or performance standards required for protecting environmentally sensitive areas also are not specified in the original plan.
According to an information package prepared by Neiswender on the land-use plan evaluation, one of the main objectives of the process is to determine exactly which parts of the county can be classified as "environmentally sensitive."
Once specific wetlands areas are determined county officials can begin devising methods to protect the environmentally sensitive areas. Part of this effort will include protecting nearby property owners, determining efforts needed to protect public health and safety and ensuring good water-quality maintenance, according to Neiswender's information package.

Recession Not Official, But It's The 8th In 33 Years

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Although not yet officially declared one, the United States is in its eighth recession since 1948.
If the previous ones are an accurate yardstick, this recession will end by mid-spring following more increases in unemployment and decreases in production.
Recessions are measured several ways — how long they last, how much economic output declines, the fall in industrial production, rise in unemployment, decline in employment, and how many industries are affected.
Murray Weidenbaum, chairman of the president's Council of Economic Advisers, says the country is sliding into an "average" recession.
But of the seven previous recessions since 1948, none was average in all these respects.
In duration, they varied from six months in 1960 to 16 months in 1974-75, the average being 10 months. This is measured from the peak of business activity to the low point.
If the current slide began in July, as many believe, and if it is "average" in this respect, the bottom would come in May.

Pearl Harbor — 40 Years Later...

Clinton Westbrook with mementoes of Pearl Harbor.

...Sanford Veterans Recall 'Day Of Infamy'

By DAVE FALSTAD
Special to The Herald
Sunday Dec. 7, 1941, began quietly, an ordinary Sunday morning. But for several Sanford residents stationed at Pearl Harbor, this was to be a most extraordinary day. At 7:55 a.m. Japanese bombers bearing the rising sun insignia reached Pearl Harbor and launched their attack.
Ralph Simas, John Corcoran and Richard Gibbs were just finishing up four-hour shifts on guard duty. None of them expected anything unusual to happen, and Simas' plans called for "getting ready to get some sleep."
Clinton Westbrook, now the Seminole County veterans service officer in Sanford, was assigned to the U.S.S. Arizona, which sank with over 1,200 men. In a stroke of good fortune (it didn't seem lucky at the time), Westbrook had been called away from the Arizona to serve on a garbage barge. When his ship was attacked he was unloading garbage in a 50-foot launch. He attempted to return to his ship to help with the defense, but before he could reach it the Arizona took a bomb near the magazine.
Corcoran, an Army corporal guard, was assigned to Hickam Field with the 64th Coast Artillery, anti-aircraft. He saw the red circles on the Japanese planes and the Arizona on fire, and realized immediately what was happening. He received an alert to go to his battle position.
Corcoran had joined the Army in his home town of Newark, N.J., because he expected to be drafted soon anyway. Draftees had no choice in where they were sent, but as a volunteer, he could request a Hawaiian assignment. The Army at that time paid $21 a month and offered a good benefits package. "The service was good before the war," Corcoran recalls. The last thing he expected when he joined was that he'd get into a war. He thought World War II would be settled without involving America.

Gustaf Nordgren was in charge of the tug Sotoyama, floating in drydock next to the destroyer Shaw, when the Shaw's bow fell on his tug. The Sotoyama sank, but Nordgren got all 17 of his crew to safety. "I got my crew off and we took shelter behind the gravel pile until things cooled down a bit," he explained. After things got quieter, Nordgren and his crew circulated among the other tugs, fighting fires and helping ships in danger of capsizing.
Simas, doing duty aboard the Nevada, was forced to put out his nap indefinitely. The Nevada was hit by four torpedoes and seven bombs, one of which went right down her stack. Simas, a fireman first class, was assigned to the auxiliary room below decks and was therefore unable to see what was going on.
Gibbs of Almonte Springs was in the same predicament in the boiler room of the Reid. He could hear the chaos around him, but he couldn't get on deck right away to see what was happening. He remembers bearing somebody running on the deck yelling, "It's the real McCoy, the Japs are here." He immediately went back to work in the boiler room to build up enough steam pressure to get the Reid moving. This took an hour and a half.

The ship steamed out of the channel that served as the harbor's entrance at its maximum speed of five knots. The Reid spent the next 70 hours looking for Japanese to shoot at with anti-aircraft guns. "They were shooting at anything in the air," he recalls, "even shooting down some of ours. There was no taking time to identify them." People were on the highway watching the attack "like it was a big circus," Gibbs recalls. "Some of the carloads of people got shot up pretty bad."
The armed forces had equipment on the island that wasn't immediately available for use against attackers. According to Gibbs, "They had plenty of anti-aircraft equipment on the island that they could have used against the planes but they were stored in Cosmoline (a kind of grease). Two days after the attack, however, the island "looked like a porcupine with all the anti-aircraft equipment."
Gibbs spent the next two and a half years on the Reid. After that he spent some time at a naval hospital in Alaska for treatment of injuries. The Navy then decided to send him to Brooklyn to work on the U.S.S. Iowa, which he served on after it was launched. He spent some time on the Iowa "softening up" the Pacific islands for American invasion troops.

The Iowa also was used to transport President Franklin D. Roosevelt to and from the Yalta conference. On his way back home, Roosevelt gave a speech on deck. Gibbs attended the speech and still has a copy of the transcript in a scrapbook that he kept throughout the war. After the Iowa, Gibbs was assigned to the amphibious transport Colusa and sent back to the islands, where a typhoon almost prematurely ended the military contributions of both Gibbs and the Colusa. Both came through in fine shape, although Gibbs had his doubts at the time.
In a "believe it or not" twist, Gibbs ended the war in the exact location where it began; he was back in Pearl Harbor, on the same spot, on the Colusa, when the Japanese representatives were signing the papers for unconditional surrender in Tokyo Bay.
Westbrook of Sanford watched the surrender from the U.S.S. Taylor. The memory that sticks in his mind from that day isn't hatred or triumph; he just remembers feeling relieved that it was finally over.
Simas may have felt his luck was better at Pearl Harbor than later on. While he managed to help keep the Nevada from being sunk, the next ship he was on, the aircraft carrier Lexington, went down in the Coral

Sanford Man Jailed In Shooting

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer
A Sanford man is being held today in the Seminole County jail on $8,000 bond in the shooting of another Sanford man at about 8:55 p.m. Sunday in a parking lot at the Seminole Garden Apartments, 1600 W. Fifth St., Sanford police said.
According to police, Jessie James Jackson, 33, of 1600 W. Fifth St., was being held after he allegedly shot Willie E. Ports, 26, of 1314 W. 17th St., in the upper left hip with a handgun.
Following the shooting, Ports was transported by Herndon Ambulance Service to Seminole Memorial Hospital, where he was treated and released, hospital officials said.
Police said the incident occurred when Ports was leaving the apartment complex with Naomi Berry, 44, Orlando, and her sister, Carrie Berry, 28, apartment 84, Seminole Garden Apartments. The three were leaving the complex to go to Orlando, police said.

Witnesses told police Jackson had been harassing the younger Ms. Berry at a local laundromat earlier in the evening and had followed her to the apartment. When the trio started to get into a vehicle parked at the apartment complex, Jackson fired several shots at the car, shattering the windshield and causing damage to the body of the car, police said.
According to police, Jackson then told Ports that if he got into the car with the two sisters he would shoot him.
Police said Jackson shot at Ports again, hitting him in the left hip. The wounded Ports fled the area on foot, returning when police arrived on the scene. Ports was then taken to the hospital for treatment.

In The Dark On Outage

A power outage in downtown Sanford on Saturday morning initially put Florida Power & Light Co. workers in the dark regarding its location.
Some downtown Sanford residents and businesses, including the Evening Herald, found themselves without electricity for approximately two hours from 10 a.m. to nearly noon Saturday. The two-hour blackout was not corrected sooner because FPL officials were not initially aware of the electrical disruption.
Bruce Berger, district manager for Florida Power & Light's Sanford district, said an electrical connection on a pole located at the corner of Persimmon Avenue and First Street burned "in the clear," or while it was open.
If the switch had short-circuited to another line, FP & L's main office would have been signaled of the trouble. Berger said his office was unaware of the burned switch until it received a customer complaint.
Approximately 500 customers were without service for the two-hour period, Berger said.

NATION IN BRIEF

11 Skydivers Killed in Pearl Harbor Crash

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii (UPI) — Navy scuba divers searching reef-filled waters near the Arizona Memorial have recovered the 11th body of a skydiving team killed in a weekend plane crash. The only survivor, who bailed out, was hospitalized today.

Today, while services for the 40th anniversary of the Pearl Harbor attack were being held aboard the memorial, a federal investigator was to begin seeking the cause of the tragedy Saturday night.

Khadafy: 'No Death Squads'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A war of words and nerves mounts between the United States and Libya, with Col. Moammar Khadafy calling President Reagan "a liar" and both sides swapping charges of death plots.

Libyan leader Khadafy denied Sunday that he has dispatched an assassination team to kill high-ranking U.S. officials, but the State Department said it has "concrete evidence" of such a plan.

'Woof! Woof! Your Honor'

CHESTERTOWN, Md. (UPI) — An attorney plans to appeal his client's rape conviction because he didn't get a chance to question a crucial witness — Shellcross Sniffer, the bloodhound.

Sniffer, who is used by the Kent County sheriff's department, has made legal history in a case that officials said apparently is the first time a dog identified a suspect when the victim could not.

Natural Gas Bills Up?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Proposed changes for financing the $50 billion Alaska pipeline project would drive up the average residential natural gas bill by $72 a year, a congressional staff analysis concludes.

The waiver package, submitted to Congress by President Reagan seven weeks ago, would make it easier for the pipeline consortium to finance the project by shifting much of the financial risks to U.S. gas customers.

Legacy Of Life

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Four different transplant operations using organs provided by a single 14-year-old girl who died Friday were performed over the weekend at Presbyterian-University Hospital, officials said.

Hospital administrator Frank Rubin said the quadruple transplant was a record for Presbyterian-University, and "as far as we know, a first in the country."

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: A "back door" blizzard with 50-mph winds dumped up to 2 feet of snow on the upper East Coast, paralyzing Boston with its worst pre-winter storm since 1926. The blizzard was blamed for three deaths and bad weather on the West Coast caused four others. The New England storm took residents and weather forecasters by surprise early Sunday. Power was knocked out to thousands of residents and ditches were littered with abandoned vehicles. On Nantucket Island about 20 miles off Cape Cod, thousands of tourists were stranded for the weekend because the ferry could not operate in rough seas with 12-foot-high waves. The snow tapered off in most places Sunday night, but it left icy roads, power outages and snow drifts. Travelers advisories were scattered over New England because strong winds were whipping light snow flurries about and blowing already fallen snow into drifts. Gale warnings also continued along the entire New England coast. An intense Pacific storm dumped up to 7 inches of rain across western Oregon before easing Sunday night after washing out highways, sending rivers over their banks and forcing at least 200 people to flee their homes. Thick patches of fog shrouded parts of normally sunny Southern California, shutting down flights for several hours at Los Angeles International Airport for a second consecutive day.

Couple Jailed In Pharmacy Holdup

A young married couple who botched the stickup of a Fern Park pharmacy were being held in the Seminole County jail today without bond on armed robbery charges.

Joseph W. Lincoln, 30, and his wife Connie, 24, both of Nashville, Tenn., were charged with robbing the Dollar Prescription Pharmacy on U.S. Highway 17-92 shortly after noon Friday.

According to sheriff's department spokesman John Spolski, Joseph Lincoln entered the store, displayed a handgun and demanded both drugs and money. After being given a quantity of various controlled drugs, Lincoln reached into the cash register and scooped up a handful of cash, Spolski said. However, Lincoln dropped the loot and fled without picking it up.

He jumped into a waiting car driven by his wife and sped away, Spolski said, pursued by two patrol cars which had been alerted to the robbery.

During a short chase, deputies fired three shots at the getaway car in an attempt to flatten its tires, Spolski said. One bullet struck the vehicle on the right rear bumper. No one was injured.

The Lincolns were finally stopped at the intersection of Derbyshire Road and Thundertrail in English Estates; about two miles from the pharmacy, Spolski said.

The couple are also wanted in Nashville on armed robbery charges, he added.

STUDENT SEXUALLY ASSAULTED

A 24-year-old Seminole Community College student from Sanford was sexually assaulted at gunpoint at about 12:30 a.m. Sunday by a man who offered him a ride while he was hitchhiking, according to Seminole County sheriff deputies.

The victim told deputies the man picked him up in Longwood, drove him to Kentucky Avenue, an area east of Sanford, and forced him to perform sexual acts at gunpoint.

The assaulted man gave deputies a description of the man, but no arrests have been made.

WARNING

The Sanford Police Benevolent Association (PBA) today warned that the local PBA is in no way connected with the Central Florida Police Benevolent Association and "receives absolutely no benefits whatsoever from their high-pressure telephone solicitations."

In issuing the alert, Sanford PBA spokesman Larry Monti said the Central Florida PBA has stepped up its fund-raising efforts in Sanford recently and "the people should know who their money is going to."

"Representations made by their professional solicitors that the Sanford Police Department benefits from these donations are completely false," Monti said.

"If you feel that solicitors have misrepresented themselves to you in this manner, contact Secretary of State George Firestone, Florida Capital Building, Tallahassee 32301.

SUSPECT SNARED

A Sanford man suspected in the theft of more than $5,000 in Seaboard Coastline Property has been arrested and charged with the crime.

Darl Montgomery, 23, 1320 W. Eighth St., was imprisoned in the Seminole County Correctional Facility after being charged with grand theft.

Numerous articles including 15 batteries, 100 gallons of gasoline, five gasoline engines, 100 sledgehammer handles, eight sledgehammers and two wrenches, valued at $5,150 were reportedly stolen from an area between Sixth and Seventh Streets and Persimmon and Pecan Avenues. Approximately $1,080 in vandalism was also done to two trucks.

COURT SENTENCINGS

A 26-year-old Kissimmee man accused of burglarizing a Sanford department store 10 months ago has been sentenced to five years in state prison.

Curtis James was charged with entering the Zayre store on U.S. Highway 17-92 Feb. 10 after throwing a brick through a window.

In other court action, five persons were sentenced for crimes to which they had earlier either pleaded guilty or been convicted. They are:

— Harold Lee Tanner, 20, 1100 Willow Ave., Sanford, criminal mischief, 35 weekends in the county jail. Tanner was accused of breaking a window and a metal shelf during an attempted escape from the county jail on Feb. 18.

— Ida Hopson, 53, 519 E. Eighth St., Sanford, welfare fraud, one year probation. Ms. Hopson was accused of accepting unemployment compensation while she was employed.

— Robert T. Dorsey Jr., 22, 609 Cherokee Circle, Sanford, burglary, three years probation. Dorsey was accused of breaking into the Sanford Garden Club, U.S. Highway 17-92, on May 3.

— Anna Szabo Federer, 29, 107 Sandalwood Way, Longwood, grand theft, five years probation. The charge against Ms. Federer stemmed from a May 13 incident at the Jefferson Ward store in Altamonte Springs during which she attempted to return a suitcase she had not purchased at the store.

— Terrence Hill, 16, 509 E. Fourth St., Sanford, grand theft and improper exhibition of a weapon, two years in the state prison system's youthful offender program and two years probation. Hill was accused of stealing a bicycle July 20 from the rear of a Sanford beauty shop and threatening a pursuer with a knife.

Convicted Killer Tries Last-Minute Appeals

FORT LAUDERDALE (UPI) — Defense attorneys for a convicted murderer scheduled to die in the electric chair at 7 a.m. Tuesday will make a last-minute appeal to a federal judge today to issue a stay of execution.

An evidentiary hearing before U.S. District Judge Norman Roetiger Jr. was set for 1:30 p.m. today on a petition for a stay by Alvin Bernard Ford, 28, of Gainesville. If a stay is denied, defense attorneys say they will ask the 11th Circuit Court of Appeals in Atlanta to block the execution.

Cops On 'Sheiky' Ground?

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Hollywood police officials are investigating reports of dissension in the department and disruption in service because about half of the city's officers moonlight for a Saudi Arabian sheik.

Prince Turki bin Abdul Aziz, fifth in line to the Saudi Arabian throne, employs 150 of Hollywood's 290 officers when he vacations in south Florida.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Pope: 'Men And Women Workers Are Equal'

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope John Paul II has called for worldwide equal-rights laws to put men and women on an equal footing in the working world but said women who wish to remain at home should not suffer discrimination.

"The problem of juridical equality between men and women workers should be resolved with a social legislation that recognizes the equality of men workers with women workers," John Paul said Sunday in his weekly noon blessing from the window of his apartments overlooking St. Peter's Square.

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet doctors are amazed by the vision improvement of a 12-year-old American boy going blind from an incurable disease and may know today whether two weeks of fungus injections have been successful.

Todd Cantrell's mother, Betty Cantrell of Dalton, Ga., said her son would receive one more injection today. Doctors at the Soviet Union's Helmholtz Clinic said they would then examine test results before deciding whether further treatment was advisable.

...The Last Thing He Expected Was A War

Sea. Simas went over the side and was picked up by a destroyer. After that he was sent back to the States to work on the Altamaha, a Jeep carrier, and finished out the war stationed at Cecil Field, outside of Jacksonville.

Nordgren remained at Pearl Harbor until May 1943, when he was commissioned as an officer and briefly sent back to the States. Then, like so many others, he was sent to the Gilbert Islands and Marshall Islands for the invasions. Another promotion followed, which sent him back to Pearl Harbor, where he remained until the end of the war.

After the surprise attack, Corcoran found himself in a task force that was being built up to go to Japan. He ended up going to Canton Island for six months, then was sent back to the States for treatment of injuries. He was then assigned to a prisoner-of-war camp in Georgia, where he was responsible for 250 POWs. It was during this assignment that he met and married his wife. After receiving his discharge he moved to Miami, where he stayed for a number of years before coming to Sanford.

Many of the survivors feel they should have had some sort of advance warning of the attack. Corcoran says, "I blame the government. Roosevelt knew what was going on, but even he didn't believe it. And he was supposed to be an educated man." Corcoran tells a story he says he can't vouch for personally: A radar operator saw the Japanese planes on his screen and was told, "You're drunk, go sleep it off."

Gibbs tells a story, also undocumented, that a patrol pilot radioed that he had been shot down by Japanese planes, but nobody believed him. In fact, the Army had recently installed an anti-aircraft warning system, which was in operation only from 4 to 7 a.m. An inexperienced observer turned in a report of aircraft shortly after 7, but was ignored. Gibbs adds, "Most everybody I talked to thought we should have been warned. They ignored the warnings they did get."

A lot of years have passed since World War II was fought, and some of the survivors have managed to make their own peace with Japan.

John Corcoran shows medals he won.

Simas, who came to Sanford in 1959 and worked at the post office for 14 years before retiring, feels no animosity. He believes it was the respective governments' fault, not the people's, and he thinks he'd like to visit Japan someday. Gibbs also feels the leaders were the culprits, and says of the Japanese, "They're nice people. I don't think a majority of the servicemen feel badly toward the Japanese people."

Nordgren, who was born in Sweden, came to Sanford at the age of nine and wound up his career with 13 years in the Seminole County property appraiser's office, also finds a sharp contrast between the feelings of then and now. He remembers being "real mad at the way they did it (the attack). "I don't know how to describe how mad I was; I doubt anybody could. Things that went on, men dying all around..." Corcoran, however, there's no forgiving or forgetting. The thought of Japanese envoys "eating steak with Roosevelt" while their fliers prepared to attack the United States still angers him. "We never did anything to Japan. You can't forgive people like that," he says.

Not all the survivors would agree with Corcoran, but he certainly spoke for more than himself when he said, "It just doesn't go away."

Docs Renege On Loans; Medical Students Suffer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Thousands of doctors — many with big salaries, flashy cars and posh lifestyles — are failing to repay the low-interest government loans that helped them get through school.

As a result, the federal assistance program is short of money and thousands of prospective medical students are unable to obtain loans from it.

Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., is angered by the figures and wants the loans repaid. This Tuesday, he will chair a Senate Governmental Affairs Committee hearing into the Health Professions Student Loan Program.

"If I were a student attempting to secure one of these loans in today's budget cutting environment, I would be pretty upset to be rejected knowing that practicing physicians, many of whom are earning high incomes, have failed to repay the federal loans which made their careers possible," Percy said.

Percy aides said about one-third of the 167,000 former medical and health care students who benefitted from the program, including 5,700 doctors, are seriously delinquent in their payments—depleting $23 million from the money pool.

One aide estimated as many as 5,000 respective doctors, dentists, optometrists, pharmacists and nurses will be denied government loans this year because of the delinquent loans.

Percy said, "Almost every aspect of the collection end of this program files in the face of good business sense."

The senator is sponsoring legislation to create new tools for collecting debts under federal loan programs, including a provision for reporting delinquent borrowers to commercial credit bureaus.

Crooms, Seminole Play

Freshman basketball is the big game in town tonight when Crooms and Lake Mary collide at 6:30 in the Seminole High gymnasium.

Coach Chris Marlette's Panthers are off to a flying start with two lopsided victories over Lake Howell and Leesburg.

Center-forward James Rouse picked up the Uncle Jones Bar-B-Cue award for the Panther player of the week by scoring 25 points and hauling in 12 rebounds in the two wins.

In other basketball tonight, Ron Merthle's and Beth Corso's Seminole girls travel to Jones for a junior varsity and varsity match starting at 6:15.

Senior Tony Hardy threw in a career-high 35 points as Sanford clobbered Oak Ridge, 93-52, last Thursday.

Freshman Mona Benton, Dieldre Hillary and Maxine Campbell provide the reserve strength.

Tribes Boosters Meet Tonight

The Seminole High School Athletic Boosters will meet tonight at 7:30 in the teachers' lounge at the high school.

Seminole athletic director Jerry Posey encourages all interested boosters to attend.

Ingredients Strange, Results Wonderful In Dolphins' Victory

MIAMI (UPI) — Some of the ingredients of the 24-14 victory over the New England Patriots were strange, but the Miami Dolphins think the result was wonderful.

The win assured Miami of going into their last two games against Kansas City and Buffalo in first place in the AFC Eastern Division. They boast a 9-4-1 record, a half game better than Buffalo and a full game ahead of the New York Jets.

Even before the Jets had been upset, Miami Coach Don Shula said his Dolphins were right on schedule for a playoff berth.

"We got the great comeback against Philadelphia and then we played a fine football game today," Shula said after Sunday's victory over the struggling New England Patriots, now 2-12. "Now it is time to prepare for next week at Kansas City."

On the first Dolphin score — a one-yard sneak by David Woodley — the officials took 30 seconds to decide it was indeed a touchdown. On the second, reserve defensive back Mike Kozlowski had the ball bounce up into his hands on a fumble and was able to streak into the end zone. And on the third, Eddie Hill suddenly found himself faced with a clear path to the end zone after being surrounded by three hostile Patriots.

Woodley was smothered by nearly the entire New England defense on his scoring sneak and officials took their time unspilling the tangle of bodies before finally signalling a touchdown.

"You can't move, you just hope you can breathe," Woodley said later. "I knew it was a touchdown, but they (officials) couldn't tell because there were so many people on the pile."

Kozlowski, who was awarded a game ball for his 25-yard fumble return, felt like it was Christmas early.

"It just bounced up into my arms. I just started running — I was hoping it was a touchdown," he recalled. "It's just a great feeling. It's my first game ball."

"I don't have a mantle, but I might make one to put the ball on," he said.

The strangest touchdown of all might have been the one on the pass from Woodley to Hill.

Woodley dropped to pass on a third and goal situation from the 4-yard-line, couldn't find a receiver in the end zone so he had to dump it off to Hill behind the line of scrimmage.

Hill ran into trouble immediately, as three Patriots encircled him. After he staggered back from the first hit, one Patriot seemed to knock another off the play and all Hill could see was the goal line.

"I don't know if anyone knocked anyone else

off the play or not," Hill said. "After the first guy hit me, I started to look for somewhere to go. I didn't stop to look for the license number of the truck that hit me. I just saw the end zone. I said, 'Get in there, and I did.'"

Hill's touchdown was the one that put the Dolphins out to stay for good at 21-14. New England had opened with a 1-yard-touchdown from Cavanaugh to tight end Don Hasselbeck but Miami tied it on Woodley's sneak and went ahead Kozlowski's fumble return.

New England came back with a touchdown sneak from the 1 by Matt Cavanaugh in the fourth quarter to tie it at 14, but then came Hill's score and an insurance field goal by Uwe von Schamann from 32 yards out.

On the way, Miami's Tony Nathan logged his first 100-yard day in three years as a pro with 119 yards in 17 carries.

"It was something I looked forward to for a long time and it finally happened today. It's a great feeling," said the exuberant former

Playoffs Make Rozelle Smile

Pro Football

By United Press International — Commissioner Pete Rozelle has a smile on his face, it's probably because of the wacky playoff situation in the NFL.

With just two weeks to go in the regular season, only one division title has been decided and only one other playoff berth has been determined.

The races shape up as follows with two weeks left:

In the American Conference, Miami (9-4-1) has taken over sole possession of first place in the East with its 24-14 victory over New England. The New York Jets (8-5-1), tied for the lead entering Sunday's action, lost to Seattle 27-23 and fell to third place behind Buffalo (9-5), which upset San Diego 28-27.

In the Central Division, Cincinnati (10-4) lost to San Francisco 21-3 and now leads Pittsburgh (8-5) by just 1/2 games.

Denver (9-5) downed Kansas City 16-13 and combined with San Diego's loss, the Broncos now lead the AFC West by a game.

Redskins 15, Eagles 13 — Linebacker Monte Coleman returned an interception 52 yards for a TD to help Washington stun Philadelphia.

Seahawks 27, Jets 23 — Second-year quarterback Dave Krieg, making his first start as a pro, came off the bench to throw his first TD pass in more than two years — a 72-yarder to Brian Baschnagel with 13:06 left — to rally Chicago to its upset of slumping Minnesota.

Pro Football

Avellini's TD pass, his first since Oct. 14, 1979, came one play after Minnesota had taken a 7-3 lead on a 3-yard TD pass from Tommy Kramer to Ahmad Rashad.

Cowboys 37, Colts 13 — Ron Springs scored three TDs in the first half and Tony Dorsett rushed for 175 yards as Dallas handed Baltimore its 13th straight defeat.

Billie 28, Chargers 27 — Joe Cribbs plunged a yard for a TD in the third period, leading Buffalo past San Diego.

Astronomers Gaze At Baseball 'Stars' Movement; Boone Sold

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (UPI) — There could be enough stars on the move at this week's winter baseball meetings to make an astronomer gaze in wonder.

Catcher Bob Boone, a three-time all-star, was the first to be sent to a new team Sunday when the Philadelphia Phillies sold him to the California Angels.

The cutting of Boone and his big contract may be a foreshadowing of things to come at the week-long meetings.

Minnesota would like very much to cut loose its two highest-paid players, Smalley and Wynegar, and there is a good chance the Twins will find some takers.

Cub Scouts Earn 'Hiking Bibles'

The Scouts of Pack 837 have had a busy week. On Nov. 28, 13 Cub Scouts and two Boy Scouts received "hiking Bibles" from their sponsor, The Geneva United Methodist Church. The Bibles were awarded by Charles Holzer, the church lay-leader, in the absence of the Rev. Gary Isner who was recovering from minor surgery.

Then, on Nov. 30, the Cubs viewed a slide presentation of early Seminole County history brought to them by Mrs. Lorraine Whiting of Geneva.

Mrs. Whiting's interesting slides depicted how the boats came into Lake Harney with supplies, showed how the primitive houses were made out of sticks, mud, pine wood and covered with palmetto branches, and even included a few frames showing the festivities that surrounded the 1913 celebration of Seminole County becoming an independent county.

Scout Master Buddy Long then conducted a candlelight ceremony for the advancement of the scouts. He lit the white candle which represented the "Spirit of Scouting," explaining that this spirit was shared by boys all over the Free World. Ian Manigan lit the Bobcat candle, followed by Boggie Lyle, who lit the Wolf candle and the Bear candle as he received his advancement to the Bear rank. The candle representing the Arrow of Light remained unlit because the pack does not have a scout of this rank yet.

Lou Childers

The boys receiving awards were: Tedrick Moore, Tony Anderson, Brent Blackard, Brice Ceiner, Chris Durrando, Tony Sini, Mike Mellor and Scott Hora.

The young pack, formed about a year ago, has a lot of enthusiasm from the boys and their parents. It is anticipated that this coming March about eight Cubs will move up to the Boy Scouts.

Mark your calendar now — December 11, at 7 p.m. The children of Geneva Elementary School will present the annual Christmas program in the kindergarten room.

Mrs. Charlotte Brown, music teacher at Geneva, is working with the students now in preparation for the Winter Holiday program entitled, "Tis The Season To Be Jolly." According to Mrs. Brown, "This program is a series of tableaux correlating singing with picturesque Holiday cards enacted by the students of all grade levels."

If you are new to the Geneva area you may not know about the annual community candlelight service held on the lawn of the Geneva United Methodist Church.

The Rev. Gary Isner believes this is the 27th Christmas Eve service to be held in Geneva. This year's program will begin at 7 p.m. on Dec. 24. If you haven't attended in the past, why not plan on making this your first time!

Boy Reporting 'Pot' Cut Down To Size

DEAR ABBY: When I first read the letter from "Concerned Mom," whose husband grounded their 13-year-old son for reporting the neighbors to the police without consulting his parents, I agreed with your answer: "The boy's motives may not have been all that commendable." (The police confiscated two dying marijuana plants in the neighbors' garden.)

In a later column you ran some letters objecting to your answer.

Those letters contained one common element — the illegality of marijuana, which is not in dispute. The issue was: Should the kid have called the police without consulting his parents? (Note that this was not a violent crime, or one that had to be reported now to ensure that the criminals did not escape.)

I think for the boy to have informed the police without consulting his parents was sneaky, disrespectful and plain rotten! Two of the letters praised the boy for informing on his neighbors — one even stated that he should have done so secretly. That technique is used in Soviet Russia. The children are decorated for informing on their neighbors, and parents too! The Nazis did the same thing in Germany. What a dangerous tradition to establish.

I think your answer was right on, Abby. Don't

Dear Abby

CONCERNED COLLEGE STUDENT

DEAR CONCERNED: Since giving equal time to my detractors, I've heard from an impressive number of supporters. Thanks to you and all the others who wrote. In my heart I knew I was right.

DEAR ABBY: I've been married for 12 years to a man I thought would always be faithful. Jim was my one and only love, and I thought I was his. After we had three children, I had a hysterectomy, so there's no chance of my having any more babies.

Last week I noticed Jim was walking funny, and he acted like he was in pain. At first he said nothing was wrong, then he admitted that he had had a vasectomy on his lunch hour!

Abby, since I've had a hysterectomy, why should my husband need a vasectomy?

DEAR DIS: Maybe he doesn't trust your hysterectomy.

DEAR ABBY: Because of a recent suggestion in your column, I have made some changes in my choice of Christmas gifts.

I had planned to give all of my grandchildren sweaters with their names on them in great big letters.

You pointed out that a child molester could approach a child and, noting the "Linda," "Jimmy" or "Suzie" on the sweater, pretend to be a friend of the family and address the child by name. The child, of course, would then believe the stranger could be trusted.

Abby, a million thanks for discouraging children's clothing bearing the child's name. For identification purposes, the name of the child can be sewn on the inside of the garment.

Cigarettes, Coffee Hike Heart Rate

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB — My daughter is 25 years old and her pulse rate is 100. I think that is too high. She also has trouble sleeping. Otherwise she is in good health, no fever or complaints. She seems nervous to me and smokes a lot of cigarettes and drinks a lot of coffee. Could this have anything to do with her high pulse rate? My pulse is only 64 to 72 and you would think mine would be higher. Should she see a doctor?

DEAR READER — You will get a lot of different answers about pulse rate, because it is highly variable. I presume you are talking about a resting pulse rate.

For adults it is commonly said that the normal range is from 60 to 100 but that includes a lot of people who have a higher heart rate because they are not in optimal health. A person who is in good physical condition, does not smoke, does not swallow excess coffee, colas, tea and other caffeine-containing beverages and has no illness should have a heart rate closer to 70, as you do. Fit young men often have heart rates of 50 or even below, especially those who are athletes.

Cigarettes will increase a person's resting heart rate as much as 10 to 20 beats a minute. Coffee can do the same thing. Stopping these habits in a healthy person often results in a remarkably lower heart rate. In these cases it is my opinion that the high heart rate is an indication that the coffee and cigarettes have affected the body adversely.

of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1561, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. Incidentally, the coffee may be causing your daughter to be anxious as well as having a high heart rate.

Now, the heart rate can be much higher with vigorous exercise. Rates of 250 and over a minute have been reported in girls between the ages of 15 and 17 during skiing. Of course babies and young children tend to have much higher resting heart rates than adults.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have been taking Atromid-S almost since it was first available for high cholesterol. My cholesterol was below 300 when I started taking it. Now it has shot well above 500 and evidently is still higher as the doctor wouldn't tell me what it was the last time I had it checked. I have in my mind that the Atromid-S has been making it climb. I am on a low-cholesterol diet and my weight has shot up also. It can shoot up five pounds overnight.

DEAR READER — Don't jump to conclusions. There are many things that can cause a high cholesterol. That includes liver disorders that prevent normal drainage of bile and low thyroid conditions.

The real clue is probably your weight. The sudden five-pound gain overnight is probably water retention unless you really eat a lot in one day. Then it can be retained undigested food.

But weight gain often results in a further increase in the cholesterol level. Before getting excited make a real effort to start eliminating excess fat by controlling your calories and starting a sensible daily walking program.

HOROSCOPE

YOUR BIRTHDAY

December 8, 1981
This coming year things should work out in ways that will enable you to get more of the material things for which you have been longing. Keep your shopping list within reasonable limits.

recently may want to borrow something from you today. It would be wise to get to know this person better before lending anything.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Much can be accomplished today to advance your self-interests provided you're not intimidated by challenge or hard work. Get rolling early.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Be charming and friendly toward members of the opposite sex today, but be careful not to become too attentive toward someone who is already spoken for.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) If you are working for someone else today, put forth an honest effort to earn what you are being paid. If the boss sees you goofing off, it could affect your job. Predictions of what's in store for you in each season following your birth date and where your luck and opportunities lie are in your new Astro-Graph, Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

CANCER (June 21-July 21) Be loving and caring toward your special someone today, but by the same token try not to smother him or her by being too possessive.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 21) Important agreements, especially those affecting your career, should be spelled out on paper today, rather than being done orally or by a handshake.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 21) Normally you're very industrious, but today you could ignore your tasks unless they are special chores you truly enjoy doing.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Don't ask people who are fond of you to do things today that could cause them considerable inconvenience. They'll resent being used.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You'd better tie a string around your finger. There's a possibility you might forget something vital you promised to do for your mate.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Normally you know how to get pretty good mileage from the money you spend, but today could be an exception. You'll pay more for something than you should.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) In order to be a good leader today you will have to be firm and forthright. Flattery or appeasement won't earn you the respect of underlings.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You're innately kind and compassionate, and someone with ulterior motives who recognizes these qualities in you might try to take advantage today.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Someone whom you met notrump. Perhaps this is due to too much match point play where four notrump counts 430 or 630.

Alan: "Here is a hand from a very important IMP match. The bidding at the winners' table is shown in the box. The key action came when South passed over East's one-spade overcall. This led to a spade raise by West and a three-club call by North."

Oswald: "South's four-club call is foreign to most of our younger experts. He had available three hearts and a spade cue bid all of which would have served to thoroughly confuse North and put him under a lot of pressure. The four-club bid was perfect. North could pass or bid again. North made the right decision and bid the game."

Alan: "The play was simple also. South won the spade lead and promptly played his king of diamonds. The defense got two diamond tricks and that was all, since declarer was able to set up dummy's diamonds for three discards."

Oswald: "The other table got to three notrump and were down one after a spade lead." (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)
