Bureau Reports
Employment Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's total employment continued to rise last month while the jobless rate remained unchanged at 5.5 per cent of the work force, the Labor Department reported today.

The number of Americans at work rose nearly 700,000 to 82.7 million, the report said. Since employment normally rises in October, the department's Bureau of Labor Statistics figured it as a rise of 260,000 on a seasonally adjusted basis.

The actual unemployment total dipped nearly 200,000 to 4.5 million, but since this is expected each October the bureau figured it as no change on a seasonal basis.

The bureau also reported that average earnings of some 50 million rank-and-file workers remained virtually unchanged at $3.73 an hour and $139.13 a week.

It said the average weekly paycheck was up $9.63 or 7.4 per cent over the past year, more than double the 3.3 per cent inflation in living costs over the same period.

Unemployment among men rose slightly from 3.8 to 3.9 per cent for a total of 1.6 million; the rate for women edged up from 5.4 to 5.5 per cent with a total of 1.7 million. The jobless rate for teenagers declined from 16.5 to 15.3 per cent with a total of 1.1 million.

'Food' Described
Herald Staffer Tries Crooms Lunch

Even Teachers: "I ate there twice . . . and got sick both times."

By MARION BETHEA

In response to numerous complaints we had heard concerning lunches at Crooms High School and reading disparaging remarks in the school newspaper, "Panthers Growl" by students this reporter appraised the situation first hand yesterday.

Standing in line, one student queried another, "tell her what you think of the food."

"Replying, he said, 'food'—ha, ha, ha, is that what you call it?'" continuing he said, "well what else can you do but eat it when you're hungry?"

McGovern On TV Tonight
To Answer Nixon Talk

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

George McGovern, who has been his White House bid on television made him "highly skeptical about whether the Nixon administration will ever bring peace."

Democratic challenger McGovern has "meddled around with foreign policy" the way no other presidential candidate has in the history of the United States, he said.

"I want to remind you that at the very time we were in the process of negotiating a peace he has offered to renegotiate that peace and give away everything we've obtained at the bargaining table, through the sacrifice of 56,000 American men and countless wounded."

McGovern had said last week that, if elected, he would respect the terms of any agreement made during the Nixon administration. But he added he would reserve the right to try to change any provision for military aid to the present South Vietnamese government.

The Democratic vice-presidential nominee, Sargent Shriver, said the President's election-day peace effort has collapsed.

"The fact is," Shriver said in a Scranton, Pa., speech, "Nixon goes around talking about producing a generation of peace, and tonight he extended it. He said he's going to have a century of peace."

"Think of this fellow. Here's a man who hasn't had a day of peace in his entire administration, the first such president in the entire history of the United States and here he's promising us a generation or century of peace."

Wilson Fails
In Attempt
For $$ Aid

By BILL SCOTT

Thomas Wilson III, newly Sanford Housing Authority executive director, said today he is mulling calling U.S. Senators Edward (Ted) Kennedy and Edward Brooke to advise them of the refusal of the Nixon administration to release congressional approved moneys for aiding public housing, such as the local 400 rental units.

Wilson returned from a Thursday meeting in Jacksonville with officials from the regional U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) empty-handed, having failed in efforts to convince the federal agency to release needed moneys to prevent the Sanford Authority from having to file bankruptcy proceedings after Dec. 31, due to a lack of sufficient operating funds.

Money to aid the national public housing system has been approved by congress, but according to Wilson, the Nixon national administration is "sitting on the funds."

The Sanford housing director said he felt both Sen. Kennedy and Brooke, who worked in Washington to obtain legislative appropriations, should know that the funds are being held up.

"I might even contact Sargent Shriver," Democratic Vice Presidential nominee and advise him of what's going on, so he can let George McGovern

Arrests Are Made
Before Crime Found

By GARY TAYLOR

Three youths arrested in connection with the burglary of an Altamonte Springs residence were apprehended by Det. Sgt. George Abby, Det. Robert Kunkler and Det. Jerry Capshaw before the detectives even knew where the crime had taken place, according to Sheriff John Polk.

Preston James Barnett, 17, of 302 Ellsworth Street, Altamonte Springs; Daniel Henry Cotton, 17, of 20 East North Street, Winter Springs; and a 15-year-old juvenile from Orange City were charged with breaking and entering with intent to commit a felony.

The three allegedly entered the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Christianson, 226 Ellsworth Street, Altamonte Springs about 11 a.m. Friday. Items taken from the house included an AM-FM stereo tuner with two speakers, a shortwave clock radio, a wrist watch and $80 cash.

After interrogating the three, it was learned where the crime was committed. The detectives also learned that the stereo tuner and speakers were traded to an 18-year-old Longwood man for three lids (ounces) of marijuana.

Armed with search warrants for the Longwood house, the burglary and vice squads of the sheriff's department along with Chief Wesley Dowell, Lt. Eddie Sweat and patrolman Jim Pileones of the Longwood Police Department searched the premises.

The stereo tuners was recovered during the search, along with a quantity of marijuana, seeds and some plants found growing in the front yard.

The boy the officers are looking for was not at home at the time of the search, although his father was. Authorities, holding eight felony warrants on the 18-year-old, are withholding his identification pending his arrest.

Barnett and Cotton were jailed under $500 bonds.

Det. Sgt. Johnny Wright, along with Det. Sgt. Tony Society and Sgt. James Williams of Calumet, arrested two men on carrying a concealed weapon charges after Wright received

At Crooms High School Herald Scribe Reveals "Truth" About Lunches

GOOD DAY

As we took our place at the table a student said, "you're really in for it!"... another said, "Don't say that, this is one of our good days, you should see and avoid of a screen."

The lunchroom is equipped with cooking equipment, not in use and the food is satellite. Nevertheless, Mrs. Butts explained the food is transported from Seminole High in hot receptacles and cannot understand why the food should be cold. However, there are no steam tables and, as any housewife can verify, during a 30 minute period, food left standing on a table will be cold to some students buying three lunches. Incredulously, we asked how this could be and she replied it was students who received free or reduced price lunches. On Monday, she said they received five lunch tickets, and use three of these on one day. "What do they do the other days," we asked, "if they are on free or reduced lunches?" "Then they pay," she said, "with what," we said "Oh, they flash a $10 bill," and these are children on welfare?" we said. "Well," she answered, "their parents qualify, where the kids get the money we don't know."

Mrs. Butts is understandably perturbed at the criticism, but we assured her it is not directed at her. Our only objection is the fact she queried tempting a "hatchet job" on anyone. But when the largest portion of your tax dollar goes to education and conditions such as described at Crooms exist, "there's something rotten in Denmark," and we intend to find out what it is.

NEW OFFICERS of South Seminole Optimist Club look forward to a busy and productive year. Deltona Residents View Bus

By FANNETTE EDWARDS

DELTONA — Deltona residents were given a view of the bus, which they hope will soon be a reality in Deltona and East and Southwest Volusia County, for a bus service is what the people have been praying for, for many a month.

John Stephens, director of communications of the Daytona Chamber of Commerce, spoke on the one cent per gallon gasoline tax referendum, which the people will vote on the Nov. 7 election, explaining that with the additional revenue received from this tax, it will be possible to install a bus line that will benefit the people of Deltona.

At present all they have is the DeLand bus which comes to the Shopping Plaza, makes a few stops and continues on to DeLand. But what the people in Deltona need, is a bus that will take them through the town and stop at the various streets within Deltona. Because there are so many "pros" and "cons" to the subject, Stephens tried to answer all questions, pertaining to costs of operations. Stephens said that the cost of the bus system will be $3,376,000. Toward this the government grant will be two-thirds or $2,250,000 of the initial investment. The State of Florida will pay 1/4th for $562,500 and South Volusia County pay 1/16th or $487,500 plus an estimated $202,500 for the first year operation loss, a total of $765,000. The operational loss for subsequent years will be much less.

PRESENT to answer questions for Deltona residents on the Nov. 7 referendum to provide countywide bus service were (from left) John Stephens, director of communications for Daytona Beach C of C; Joseph Benedict, councilman-at-large for Volusia County; and Floyd Tredway, chairman of county transportation committee. Bus was on display that will be used starting Jan. 1 if the issue passes. (Charles Edwards Photo)

Court Suit Lodged By Lad's Dad

By BILL SCOTT

A department store's filing of a suit filed by the father against a 16-year-old Casseberry youth in March, has resulted in the boy's father filing a damage suit against the store.

Court records disclose that a suit filed by the father against Zayre's Department Store, Casseberry outlet, charges a store employee or servant with physically holding the youth and incarcerating him against his will, while a package carried by the boy was searched.

Later, Seminole Sheriff's deputies were called and the 16-year-old was placed in the county jail detention cell on petit larceny charges.

According to Johnny Fuller, Juvenile officer, charges against the boy were never filed in juvenile court, thus having the effect of being dismissed.

Michael Maher, Orlando attorney, is the boy's attorney.

Parkland Signs Must Be Removed

Assistant County Attorney Howard Marsee told Seminole County commissioners that he would not recommend that the Board get into the business of allowing signs on parklands. The matter has been under study for some time. The sign erected by the Five Owls Ranch on 17-92 and Hutchison Parkway intersection has been determined to be on county property which has been designated part of the Big Tree Lake Jessup Park property.

Marsee said that all owners of signs now located on county parklands should be given a 90 days notice to remove the signs.

TAX OPPOSED

During Commissioners' reports, Al Davis proposed a resolution to be sent to the state legislative delegation opposing the tangible and intangible property taxation. The resolution would urge the delegation to repeal that tax in this state. A work session is scheduled on this matter for Nov. 21.

Also scheduled for work session on Nov. 21 is a resolution proposed by Commissioner John Kimbrough to amend zoning regulations requiring property adjacent to residential property be zoned residential.

Commissioner Al Davis reported that he had many calls of complaint about the situation in the streets and driveways near Milwee School at the hours of opening and closing of the school. It seems that residents are unable to get into or out of their own driveways because the students refuse to move out of the way. And they walk down the middle of the road in what has been described as open defiance of the commuters attempting to go past the school.

Sheriff John Poek said that all of his cars are tied up during school opening and closing all over the county. He said that he could send in an unmarked car to patrol the area. "But it all goes right back to parental training. Some of the parents accept our reports of their children's behavior in the way it should be and then there are other parents who feel we are harassing their children."

STUDENTS BLOCK TRAFFIC

Commissioner Sidney Vihlen reported that he had met with officials of Oviedo regarding the traffic signal at the intersection of SR-419 and SR-320 and SR-426 which runs east and west. Vihlen said that the traffic increase in these areas is dangerous. He requested a resolution requesting a survey by the State DOT regarding signals in that area. Oviedo can cooperate, but cannot afford the total cost of the signals, Vihlen commented.

BIDS APPROVED

In other business, five bid items were approved by the Board for equipment for the road and maintenance departments. Approved were bids submitted by Johnny Bolton Ford for a special truck for $4,208.86; a new truck with flat dump, $6,089.89 three new sedan trucks with trade,

Planner Suggests Drainage Changes

By ANN SIECZKOWSKI

County Planner, David Farr told Seminole County Commissioners that the drainage standards could easily be amended to prevent drainage into open bodies of water, to design a system where a receptacle would be used with drain fields extended. Farr said that this could be incorporated into the subdivision regulations.

Bush said that he had two reservations, in that this system would need overflow valves to bypass the system and this would require more maintenance expense. Further, that in some areas, marginal marshy areas, the system would not work at all, that it would be a total waste of money. "We need to sit down and work on these standards."

A work session will be held next Tuesday to study the proposition from Tallahassee regarding the selection of a site for the new Florida Law Enforcement Academy. According to information presented, the Academy will provide basic recruit training for all Florida law enforcement agencies, municipal, county and state.

This training would be accommodated at an in-resident academy by a professional staff of experts in police skills. Future plans include intensive training for all law personnel to upgrade skills and help to keep abreast of the current technology through training. The Academy will possess a combination of experience and academic credentials which will surpass resources available at most colleges presenting criminal justice programs. "This expertise will make the Academy a clearinghouse for training knowledge which will be drawn upon daily by police agencies throughout the state."

The site required could be located anywhere in Florida. However, certain criteria which will affect the final selection of the site includes location (zoning, character of surrounding area), proximity to community amenities; physical characteristics (size, shape, topography); access (road, rail, air) and utilities and service (water, sewer and power).

Since it has long been felt that Seminole has the best possible facilities already built located at the airport, and has long been in discussion and bidding for this academy, a work session was set with authorities and other interested personnel to bring matters up to date on this facility.

Aid For School Asked

By ANN SIECZKOWSKI

Dr. Michael Scala of Harbor School in Maitland appeared before the Board of Seminole County Commissioners requesting land and other assistance for the school. Harbor School was organized as a non-profit organization known as the Developmental Disabilities Center, Inc. by a group of local physicians, educators and civic leaders and others interested in the plight of the handicapped child.

The ultimate goal of the group is to provide complete facilities and services in every aspect of mental disabilities and retardation, but the immediate need is provided for at the Harbor School, now in its second year of operation.

Services are provided to the preschooler with a handicap, the emotionally disturbed, the educable mentally retarded and children with perceptual disorders and learning disabilities. Following complete testing and diagnosis, a prescriptive education is written for each individual child.

Dr. Scala said that the facility serves Orange, Seminole and Osceola, although there have been few requests from there to date. He said that Dr. Michael Gutman felt that the Seminole facility should be in close proximity with the Mental Health Center and assured Dr. Scala that the Center Board would approve. Commissioner John Kimbrough, obviously totally surprised, suggested that Dr. Gutman had better let the Center Board know what he is thinking before he makes such statements.

Scala said the operation is included on State and Federal levels for the Junior College to train their peoples in special education methods. He said that if the Five Points area which was suggested by Chairman Drummond, is large enough and if SJC is agreeable for additional acreage later so that there will be room for recreational purposes, he would certainly like another meeting to discuss the arrangements.

Another work session has been scheduled for November 7.

Sewage Systems Guidelines Here

David Farr reported for Langley Adair, Pollution Control Officer who was absent at Tuesday meeting. Adair's report indicated that his office had received the new guidelines for consideration of additional connections to sewage systems. Basically, these new criteria include: plants in compliance with laws and regulations are not restricted. Proposed connections for which a building permit and/or sewer permit was obtained prior to the date of the official order are authorized to be connected to the system. Factors to be considered are the condition of the receiving waters; efficiency of present treatment facilities; efforts by applicant to comply; hardship cases, to be considered individually; need for revenue to attain state of financial feasibility; public housing projects, where prior commitments have been made, and permits obtained, but con-

Drug Abuse Council Praised Bannick Reports Progress

By ANN SIECKOWSKI

Tim Bannick, president of the Seminole County Drug Abuse Council received his request for $2000 funding which he requested some weeks ago. He appeared before the board and repeated a list of previous and more recent accomplishments of the group during his association with it. He said that it is a very young organization, but filled with very dedicated personnel. In less than one year, regular "rap" sessions have been started with the youth in the area and with remarkable response. Just recently, Jeno Paulucci donated the keys and free use to the building formerly occupied by a radio station, and located across the street from Seminole Memorial Hospital, which will house the "holing" operation as well as several other programs in the planning stages. Cleanup crews are expected in this weekend so that opening can be expected very shortly.

Bannick was invited to report twice a month to the commission and that when necessary and if found justifiable, there would be additional funds available from the county contingency fund for the operation of the council activities. The new facility for the Drug Abuse Council is licensed by the State of Florida to operate. Bannick said that two instructors have been acquired to train the Hot Line volunteers. One is Tom McIntosh, who organized the Hot Line programs in Southern California and Ray Apert, who also has had much experience in the program. The program will include teams of one adult and one teen on duty together.

Sanford Herald Praised On Annual Progress Edition Letters To The Editor

Editor, Herald: Your Progress edition is a fine piece of work, with its well laid out, comprehensive coverage of the seemingly limitless factors of the stimulating life-style of the area. The picture coverage is amazing, not only in the number of shots used, but for the high quality, sharp detail in them and for the clarity of reproduction in the various sections. The multiplied scores of recreational, business and personal elements of "the good life" are well described in keen reportorial styling. And while we're commending the news staff and photographers as well as the "back shop" people let's not overlook the business department. These folks turned in a magnificent job, not only in the sale of space, but in some outstanding lay-outs and copy. Congratulations to all! Many happy returns of the day! George Touhy

For Chappell Editor, Herald: Congressman Bill Chappell has a background as a lawyer, 12 years in the Florida House and an outstanding 2 terms in Congress. When his opponent stated "you voters have a choice of a citizen representative in Congress" he unwittingly made the best campaign speech of the year for Bill Chappell. So zealous is Mr. Chappell truly to represent the citizens of his District, he has formed 6 "Citizens Committees" in his District to keep him and the Congress informed on legislation needed at the grass roots. These citizen-communications are always acted upon. Two of their bills are already public law. Congressman Chappell has an unusually good voting record in his 4 years in Washington. A conservative, his vote is always affirmative in those areas of government which will benefit his constituents personally. Some of his avowed aims are: No forced busing Strong national defense Reasonable tax reform A strong ecology program Personal safety insured by positive police authority Public service jobs for unemployed and work opportunities for youth He has voted for all retirement and social security benefits, veterans compensation and medical care and he has helped to write Phase 2 of the inflation controls. The above is but a partial listing of the effectiveness of Bill Chappell as a professional representative in Congress," but it should serve as a refutation of the opponents statement that Congressman Chappell is a "professional politician and an opportunist." Any voter who would discount Mr. Chappell's genuine desire to help resolve his District's personal and corporate problems, does so at his own risk. No serious voter should consider swapping a statesman like Bill Chappell for a politically untried man regardless of his ardent for good government. Miriam Evans (Mrs. Burton Evans)

Successful Editor, Herald: The successful United Fund Campaign for Seminole County, just concluded, could not have been successful without the splendid cooperation from your people at The Sanford Herald. I have never worked with a group of people so dedicated to the cause as the outstanding volunteer workers in this campaign. We want to share with you a special interest we have in Florida because in the next three years we will make Florida our retirement home. One of our daughters is Lori Wilson, the Brevard County Commission Chairman who is running for State Senate in the election of November 7th. Lori is young, only 35, but she really knows the value of a dollar! She knows how important it is to people like us that every dollar be spent carefully. That's why she is so strongly opposed to any talk on groceries, medicines, pensions or savings. That's why she fights so hard to protect home values and reduce property tax. We are proud of Lori for many reasons, but most of all because she wants to help people like you and us plan our retirement years and enjoy those years. She has always taken a strong interest in people older than she is and she tries many of her ideas out on us or her grandmother. If you elect Lori as your State Senator, we're sure she will work hard to make your life and ours in Florida even better. Sincerely Connie and Lloyd R. Bryson (Lori Wilson's parents)

Barker Begins Probation

MIAMI (AP)—Watergate defendant Bernard L. Barker, found guilty of illegally raising a $25,000 Republican campaign check, began his 60-day probation Thursday with a check-in at the Miami Parole office.

The former Central Intelligence Agency agent was handed a 60-day suspended jail sentence and probation Wednesday by Criminal Court Judge Paul Baker. He had been charged with a felony but Barker refused the offense to a misdemeanor.

Barker's judgment was conditional on Barker's surrender of his notary seal, but local parole officials weren't quite sure that was legal.

"We're trying to figure out how to handle the notary seal," said Phillip Ware, district parole supervisor. "There is some question about the court's authority to revoke a notary seal issued by the governor."

But Ware said Barker agreed not to use the notary seal until the matter is resolved.

"His parole officer may, of course, have other contacts with him at home or at work," Ware said. "He'll be handled like any other case. But 60 days is a short time."

New Assistant Attorney Is Accepted By County

By ANN SIECZKOWSKI

Many relatively insignificant items of lesser import were handled by the Board of County Commission at Tuesdays meeting. One was the seating of another Assistant County Attorney. The appointed attorney Thom Rumberger was out of town on a case, Assistant Attorney Howard Marsee was in court on a matter for the County Assistant Attorney Bud Kirk was in court and the Commission was left without an attorney in the session. Marsee sent in another of their office assistant attorneys, Sutton Hilyard, to represent them. Commissioner Al Davis questioned the legality of this action at first since Hilyard had not been appointed as an assistant county attorney. Later, during Marsee's report to the commission, he requested that the Board include Hilyard among the assistant county attorneys and the Board did take this action.

MICROFILM STORAGE:

Representatives from the office of Clerk of Circuit Court appeared before the Board to discuss fireproof microfilm storage vaults. It was the opinion that there should be two copies of the county records on film and that they should be filed in separate locations for security reasons. Commission Chairman Greg Drummond suggested that Rod Laver, administrative assistant, check the available supply and condition of storage files before purchasing any new equipment as requested at this work session.

PROBLEM "LICKED"

Last week, County Engineer William Bush requested a transfer of petty cash funds for stamps. This caused some furor in the Clerk's office and with the auditor since they see no reason for an increase in petty cash funds in any department. Ashby Jones, deputy clerk, suggested that the county simply make direct payment for the stamps for the departments to avoid any petty cash confusion. Zoning Administrator Bob Brown has been buying the stamps for his department out of his own pocket funds. Rod Laver said that when the move is completed into the new courthouse and there is a centralized mail room, then this problem of stamps need not exist at all.

ABSTRACT JOBS

Some time ago, chairman Drummond requested Laver to research the scheduling for abstract work done for the county. He said that the determination should be made in terms of dollars rather than in numbers of jobs assigned to the two companies which have indicated an interest in working for the county in this capacity.

SHACK IN THE WAY

Victor Gischler was back for about the fourth time before the county board again about authority to move that dilapidated shack, whose owner cannot be found, but which is located in the middle of a road, partly in the county right of way and partly on Gischler's property and blocking access to his property. Gischler said that he wanted the road cleared of the obstacle so that he could place a trailer on the property for his parents. Assistant County Attorney Howard Marsee said that the County could simply tell Gischler he could move the building but must agree that the county is not involved in any suit which might ensue from its removal.

PIT BACK ON AGENDA

There would appear to be no end to the Albert's Pit saga. Again this week, Assistant Attorney Sutton Hilyard, said that Raymond Albert, owner of the pit, upon which a temporary injunction has been placed against any dumping until the fire in it is extinguished, has now requested temporary permission to dump non-combustible matter into the pit. The Forestry Service suggested that these non-combustibles might help to extinguish the fire. The attorney for Albert is agreeable to signing a limited dumping agreement. Hilyard said that the no garbage should be allowed and that the agreement should expressly state non-combustibles. "It may be advantageous to the County to get this agreement with Albert that no garbage will ever be dumped, but only non-combustibles may be dumped into the pit."

Commissioner Bud Vihlen said that his understanding was that a permanent injunction and eventual closing of the pit was the ultimate goal of the commission. "It will take a large amount of time for visual inspections to keep a check on the record on cooperation is not very good." Commissioner Al Davis said that Albert's agreements don't mean anything, that he violated many citations before and "I see no reason to concede to his wishes now."

When elected, Hugh Evans will take to the Florida Senate a record of accomplishments. He has been a civic leader in his community, served the youth and his church. He was a member of the Brevard County Commissioners, and served as Chairman. He pushed for modernization of county government. His efforts brought on reduced property tax rates for property owners. When Hugh ran for the Commissioner's office, he outlined a specific program of things he wanted to accomplish. He kept those promises. . . As your State Senator, he pledges to be "A man you can turn to" for integrity, experience and results. Elect Hugh Evans, your State Senator, District 16.

Flood Prone? Highland Hills Plat Tabled

By DONNA ESTES

The board asked that City Engineer William Palm give a report to the zoning board on whether the land once developed will properly drain toward two "temporary" retention ponds on the tract.

Albert Clark, a principal in the company, said soil borings indicated water following storms will remain in the ponds only three to four hours.

V. Zvorykin, former owner of the parcel and with property adjacent, said the land was under water during Hurricane Donna and for two years afterward. "The land is hardpan," he contended. "Water cannot escape."

He again stated his fear that eventually water from the tract, when developed, will be channeled across his land and warned that when this happens he will be forced to sue. "Someone has to be responsible if damage is done to my land," he said.

Zvorykin said he had conferred with both County Planner David Farr and County Engineer William Bush who agreed with his statements about the land being flood prone.

Zoning Board Chairman R. H. Ferrell said he had personally seen standing water on the property, but board member, Robert Hammond, said the land has been "dry as a bone" for the past 16 years.

Rev. Jack Lindsay pointing to Clark's information that soil borings had shown 30 gallons of water to disappear within 35 seconds indicated the soil could not be hardpan.

Concrete Structural System plat at the Port of Sanford, located on the St. Johns River near the hamlet of Lake Manroe, James Ryan, Seminole County Port Authority administrator, said today.

Ryan stated the plat, expected to be completed in 90 days, would provide 140 jobs to county workers.

Concrete Structural Systems will produce concrete modules for use in hotel construction, similar to that used in the Contemporary Hotel at Walt Disney World.

The firm will also be engaged in producing concrete module town houses, Ryan said.

In occupying 11 acres of port property, Concrete Structural Systems becomes the fifth industrial firm to locate at the port.

Ryan said when the new facility is in production, the number of jobs provided by all firms would total approximately 200.

Construction is being done by Williams Development Company, who received a notice to proceed Thursday, Ryan added.

Lori Wilson Best Choice For State Senate Seat 16

The most important decisions Florida voters will make in the Nov. 7 election concern the state legislature, especially the 40-member Senate, where most of the actions which affect you as a taxpayer and a Floridian take place.

The Senate, you will remember undergoes some changes in this session. Reapportionment cuts that august body from 48 seats to 40. In addition, a new seat was created — No. 16 — because of the rapidly burgeoning population of East Central Florida.

We in Brevard and the neighboring counties of Seminole, Osceola and the tip of Northeast Orange have an opportunity to be especially influential in that state Senate.

This, too, is the most unusual race in the entire election. There will be four names on the ballot — a Democrat, who was unopposed in that party's primary; a Republican, also an unopposed party nominee; and two independents who got on the ballot via the petition route.

We strongly recommend County Commission Chairman Lori Wilson, an independent candidate, as the best qualified in race for Senate Seat 16.

Mrs. Wilson's opponents are: Tom Dolan, a banker. Dolan announced months ago that he would run for the U.S. Congress, then switched to the state Senate candidacy when reapportionment failed to create the congressional seat he was eyeing. We believe that his state Senate candidacy is simply a way of marking time; that he had geared up and was determined to run for some office. Typed as the "big-money" candidate, Dolan has spent many months — and many dollars in trying to sell himself. He would be at best, a temporary and part-time senator, and with his banking interests, could possibly be tagged with the special interests label.

Hugh Evans, a retail store owner and county commissioner, did a most commendable job on the commission, but he too announced for the U.S. Congress, then changed his mind at the same time as Dolan. Evans, as the GOP's chosen, must also be considered as a part of that party's manipulation of recent weeks which have left a bad taste in many people's mouths.

Mrs. Barbara Moorhead has no real credentials for public office. She is a "spoiler" candidate who obtained just barely enough signatures to be listed on the ballot. She has no real chance to win. Mrs. Moorhead could be a good office holder on a local level, but her lack of knowledge of state government would be a serious hindrance at this time.

As we have said editorially before, Lori Wilson has consistently done her homework better than any other county commissioner. She is an intelligent, attractive, able and fulltime public servant. She has worked with state and national governmental officials effectively in many ways.

Perhaps most important of all, Lori Wilson's independent candidacy offers a breath of fresh air for those who are fed up with the petty political party shenanigans.

Lori and her supporters got 10,291 petition signatures for her candidacy, more than twice the number required by Florida law. Her broad base of support among Independents, Democrats and Republicans, makes her the first really serious independent candidate for a major office in Florida.

In a state Senate almost certain to be very closely divided between Democrats and Republicans, an independent thinking and acting Lori Wilson could be a very key freshman senator.

In the different atmosphere surrounding this year's election, most voters will be picking and choosing for the best man or woman on the ballot, rather than just following party labels, from the top of the ticket on down.

We believe Lori Wilson's election will give all voters of this area their best possible choice in the Florida state Senate.

DEAR ABBY: Twelve years ago my lover and I came to the United States from Italy. We married one year later, and now have three children, all born in this country.

Without meaning to boast, I should tell you I am considered a very beautiful woman. My husband is a typical Italian—jealous and suspicious. He is also a fool as I want only him.

My husband became an American citizen four years ago, but he never applied for citizenship for me. Now each time we have a fight he jumps on me like a tiger and says I should not give him any trouble or he will send me back to Italy. I am sick of hearing that.

Can he actually send me back? If I divorce this tiger, will I have to return to Italy? Please answer in your column only as my husband always gets the mail before me.

DEAR ABBY: This information may well defang and declaw your tiger. As an alien who has lived in the U.S. for five years, you may apply for citizenship yourself.

DEAR ABBY: A few months ago my brother in law started making indecent advances to two of my married sisters. He'd come around when he knew their husbands were at work.

Things got so bad they couldn't handle him, so they finally told their husbands, who put the fear of the Lord in George. Now that problem is taken care of, but here's another. George's wife cannot understand why she and George are now excluded from family get-togethers, and she is beginning to ask questions. What should she do?

ONE OF THE FAMILY

DEAR ONE—George's wife should be told that the excluded brother in law had a "little falling out" with those families. And if he insists upon further details, tell her to ask George. In other words, "Let George do it."

DEAR ABBY: My son and daughter in law have a darling two-month-old baby, and they ride all over on a motorcycle with the baby strapped to the mother's back.

My son and his wife wear heavy helmets in case they fall off or get into an accident, but the baby doesn't have anything on his head. I don't like to meddle, but I mentioned this to them, and they didn't pay any attention to me.

Now what should I do? WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Mention it again! And this time explain to those foolish parents that they are exposing that child to possible injury or death! No one should ride a motorcycle unless he is protected.

And that goes for infants too!

Have Values Really Changed? Survey Shows Traditional Family Still Best

DES MOINES (AP) — Changing values in society are reflected in the basic unit of American culture, the family — but most people still believe traditional family roles are best.

Ninety per cent think children should be planned. Over half agree two is the ideal number of children. Six of 10 respondents do not include legal abortion as a favorable method of population control.

Seventy-eight per cent think that birth control methods and information should be available to anyone, including unmarried teenagers.

Age of respondents is again a factor, with only 14 per cent of those under 35 against this as opposed to 40 per cent of those over 55.

Fully 85 per cent of those taking part in the survey said parents today are too easy with children, and many feel this trend is a threat to American family life. But only one in four was willing to admit that he or she was too permissive with children.

Respect for hard-line discipline methods is high. More than two-thirds of the respondents believe in physical punishment, with the younger favoring it more than the older and men more inclined toward it than women.

Almost half the parents feel their teenagers don't share personal problems with either parent and 92 per cent say parents never share their own personal problems with teenagers.

Most feel that parents often put detrimental pressure on young people to join organized activities such as sports and scouting, but nine out of ten feel parents should be involved with their youngsters in such activities. Many insist fathers do not spend enough time with their children.

Thirty-five per cent of the respondents to the survey agreed that the 1950s were "the good old days." Only a minority, however, expressed a desire to return to those days, no matter when they were.

Coming Sunday: Pros And Cons Of Abortion

A series of stories by Donna Estes on the controversial subject of abortion will begin in the Women's Section of Sunday's edition of The Sanford Herald this week with two prominent Seminole County physicians giving their views.

Dr. Stuart Culpepper, a doctor who specializes in anesthesiology and a member of the Seminole County School Board, and Dr. C. P. Brooke Smith, internist and cardiologist, give their views "scientifically" on the matter.

"Abortion murder? When does an unborn offspring of two humans become a human being itself? Is it during the embryonic stage or during the fetus stage? What indeed is the difference between an embryo and a fetus?" All the queries are answered from two different points of view.

Later stories in the series will discuss legal aspects of abortion, the most common methods used in detail, where abortions can be obtained legally in Florida and what assistance is available for the unwed mother.

The Herald will endeavor to present both sides of the subject in these comprehensive articles to be completed with a "Man on the Street" survey.

Only Second Time Greyhounds 'Rare' Favorites

By HERKY CUSH
Herald Sports Staff

It's been a "rare" week for the Lyman Greyhounds. They've been working in preparation for their game with Sanford Seminoles and doing so under the position of being the favorite for the contest. Without a doubt it's a position strange to the Greyhounds as well as their coaching staff. Who, for only the second time in this season must keep the Lyman gridders informed as to the dangers of being the favorite.

Greyhounds defense. He calls the "signals" for the defense and has done a superb job all season long. Another standout on the defensive unit is Junior Glenn Hill, the tall, lanky defensive end who takes tackles all over the field. Hill has perhaps as much range as any defensive player in the state. He covers a lot of territory despite the fact that he often charging into the enemy backfield. Among the other defensive stars are Mike White, Richard

Stokes, Mike Hawkins, Clay Phillips, Terry Travis, Mike Tenyson, Phil Fader, Don Craft and Tom Bacchus. Offensively in the last two games the top performers have been halfbacks John Mitchell, Al Cleveland, Tom Gooch and Steve Clark; quarterback Bob Constantine; flankers Matt Leslie and Tom Gooch and end Rod Dowling. During their upset victory over Evans last week the Greyhounds were able to take full advantage of breaks

FOUR TO ONE are not good odds when you are the one and that's just the way Sanford Seminoles quarterback Brent Carl feels as four Bishop Moore defenders pounce upon him. Seminoles hope to afford Carl more protection in their battle with the Lyman Greyhounds tonight at Lyman High Stadium.

Of Last Year Seminole Seeking 'Reverse'

By GARY TAYLOR
Herald Sports Editor

Throw out the record books, forget the season averages and don't even try to figure out the outcome of tonight's tilt between the Sanford Seminoles and the Lyman Greyhounds. Game time is 8 p.m. at Lyman.

Will McCoy, another quarter back for the Seminoles, was expected to be able to play tonight, but now his status is questionable. Other probable starters joining Carl in the backfield tonight will be Turner Davis at fullback, Tommy Thompson at tailback and Benny Montgomery at wingback. Donald Brown is expected to start at tight end, with Frank Sisan at split end. Making up the offensive line are Marcelino Daniels at center, Reggie Smith and Alan Myers at guards and Billy Hardy and Larry Germain at tackles. On defense, Clint Holt and

Lions Host Astronaut in Homecoming Tilt

By GREG SINDAD
Herald Sports Staff

It is homecoming night for the Oviedo Lions. They meet the Astronaut War Eagles in an attempt to capture their second victory of the year at John Courter field in Oviedo at 8 p.m. It will be the first meeting ever between the two teams and although this is the first year of existence for the War Eagles they are favored over the Lions.

Gators, Tigers Collide

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The aerial circus which marks the Auburn-Florida football game the past two years gave way to a pair of running attacks in this year's traditional meeting of Southeastern Conference foes Saturday. Auburn's Terry Eley is leading the SEC in per-game rushing with an average of 103.3 yards. Florida's Dave Moore is the best in per-carry gain at 8.3 yards.

Henley leads in scoring with 54 points in seven games. Moore has tallied five touchdowns. These new stars of the offense, however, have to share the attention with the defense of both these young teams. Auburn has yielded only 122 yards a game rushing. The Tigers' pass defense appeared weak in early games but tightened up against aerial-minded Florida State last week.

Prep Grid Playoff Picture 'Clearer'

The rich got richer in the state prep championship football program with little in the way of surprises in last week's grid action. In District 3-AAAA Winter Park and Gainesville continued unbeaten and are sharing the point lead in this section. Both have 7-0 records and 58 points thus far. However, the Parkers have an inside track to this title since they have played few teams out of their class. It would be possible for the Parkers to lose a game and still wind up with enough points to win the District 3-AAAA title and advance into the state playoffs.

Senior Golf To Cudone

PINEHURST, N. C. (AP) — Mrs. Philip Cudone, tournament veteran from Tyrone Beach, S. C., has won the North and South Women's Senior Golf Championship for the third time in four years. She slipped to an eight-over-par 82 in Thursday's closing round but wound up the 54-hole Pinehurst Country Club tournament with a total of 225, winning by a 10-stroke margin. She recently won her fifth consecutive U. S. Golf Association women's seniors title.

'Leggy Kicker' Has Principal 'Upset'

PLANTATION KEY, Fla. (AP) — Threedy football placekicker Theresa Dion's scheduled appearance on Coral Shores High School's gridiron Saturday night has put the opposing school's principal in a quandary. "What's going to happen here Saturday? I don't know," Dion said. "I'm going to school with bleachers that seat only 500 people," Coral Shores High School principal Roger Allen said. He estimated as many as 3,000 fans will show up following publicity about Dion's appearance. West Mary Immaculate High School's 17-year-old placekicker. She is the only girl on a varsity football team in Florida.

Errol Estates Lovely At Least For Present

Whether the ladies can maintain their enthusiasm and continue their complimentary attitude once the play for pay begins only remains to be seen. "The live" action began this morning when a pair of amateurs, Brenda Bradshaw and Pamela Clark took to the tee for their 8 a.m. starting time. The rest of the field followed in what appears to

Miami Wants Title More Than Records

By JOHN R. SKINNER
Associated Press Sports Writer

MIAMI (AP) — No National Football League team has walked the hallowed path of invincibility since the 1942 Chicago Bears. But the Miami Dolphins, currently 7-0, say a 14-0 record would be a hollow achievement without a Super Bowl victory. "It really doesn't mean that much," said pass catching star Paul Warfield. "Our objective is to get to the playoffs." Coach Don Shula admits he'd like to have the 14-0 record, but said, "The vital thing is to win the world championship and see if we can look back and see you were unbeaten also." The Bears won all 11 of their games in 1942, but lost the NFL title contest to Washington. The only other team to go unbeaten was the 1934 Bears with a 13-0 record, but that team also lost its regular season game to the New York Giants.

Homecoming At Showalter Unbeaten Saints Seek 7th Win

By JRICHARDS
Herald Sports Staff

Unbeaten powerhouse Trinity Prep, currently boasting a 6-0 season record at Carrington, will host the Showalter, 2-1, in the Saints' Homecoming game at St. Charles Park's Showalter Field Saturday at 8 p.m.

Coming home after a tough, grueling five game road trip, the Saints will bring their highly vaunted and much feared offensive machine into play for local fans for the first time since the season's opener in September. If anything, the Saints' are more awesome than then.

While a good offense was expected all along, Trinity's defensive efforts have developed into a shut-out minded crew of hard-training young men who hate the idea of even giving up first downs and delight in ball hawking fun recoveries coming off bone-jarring tackles. While Admiral Farragut doesn't offer the challenge of the Saints' next foe, contending Cardinal Moore of Sarasota, Coach Haly has pointed out that this week's game could be a slugfest. "Despite" their record, Trinity've got a pretty good team. They throw a lot and we haven't seen too much really good throwing lately," he said. One reason the Saints haven't been up against too much in the way of an aerial attack is the way the shut off an opponent's weapons to the best of their ability. Six foot plus defensive front wall puts on a good Trinity rush, sacking the quarterback with little regard for his physical or emotional well-being; and in the defensive backfield, Trinity puts together a group of ball-hawkers who love to hit and will steal every thing that isn't nailed down, especially a pass.

Celia is irate about sex! But it's her own kind that infuriates her! So analyze the symptoms of females who join the "Women's Lib." They need psychiatric counseling to relieve the scars from earlier emotional trauma! Torrid romances would also help!

Case V-535: Celia J., aged 28, is very irate on the sex problem. "But, Dr. Crane," she burst out, "it is against my own sex that I am most angry."

For what do those Women's Lib advocates expect by trying to give away our feminine privileges? "It has taken civilization at least 10,000 years, hasn't it, to evolve the present dignity and respect, plus the legal protection and medical care, which modern women enjoy?"

Personally, I don't care to share men's chubrooms or enter their washrooms. "I may thus be 'unliberated' but I prefer my present luxurious status quo!"

WOMEN'S LIBBERS

Celia is correct in her diagnosis that many of the Women's Libbers need psychiatric analysis.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Readers Are Not Stumped By Trees

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — I want to tell Mrs. J. C. who wants to get rid of tree stumps in her yard that we had 10 trees cut down about two years ago. They kept sprouting out around the edges. When the grass was cut we had to trim around the stumps. I started mowing bleach on the stumps to keep them from sprouting and they started to rot. After awhile, we could start to pick up loose pieces. Now some of the stumps have completely rotted and others have partially rotted. When I see bleach on sale, I buy the limit to use for this purpose. It has worked for us. Even though it takes time, it is great when you can cover a hole with sand and watch the grass grow — GLADYS.

DEAR POLLY and Mrs. J. C. — To get rid of tree stumps pour coal oil on them and, on a still day, set fire to them. They will burn deep into the ground. Plain salt also kills them. Be sure, there is no fire ordinance in your town before setting fire to such stumps and that the fire cannot spread beyond the stump — MRS. J. A. B.

DEAR POLLY — A lot of people ask me to make things for them and intend to pay me but want me to tell them "how much?" How would you go about setting the charges for making knitted and crocheted items such as ponchos, tablecloths, bedspreads, etc.? Do you charge by what the materials cost, how hard it is to do, how long the item is or how much time that is required to make it? I would really appreciate some advice — RUTH ANN

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with those manufacturers who tightly glue all those papers on their products. They are on stoves, sinks and even on the bottoms of frying pans and casserole dishes. I consider this a form of paper pollution — MRS. H. W.

DEAR POLLY — When making some long play pants I had no elastic for the waist on hand so I used the elastic from an old pair of pants hose. This was already the correct size and worked perfectly. As this elastic is not so strong it is more comfortable and stretchable than what I would have bought. Also a good idea when sewing for children — ZULA

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

SATURDAY

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Until mid-afternoon it seems difficult to get the full cooperation of others since most everyone is thinking of personal achievements that will bring more success. The rest of the afternoon and evening are splendid for taking time to build up a new assurance of your abilities.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Use tact in trying to find out what is expected of you by associates. Then, make sure you do more than your share of the duties. Don't argue over petty things. Be sensible.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Impress associates with your efficiency, then discuss with them ways for increased production in the future. If you work at a measured pace, you get fine results and improve your health.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) The morning is fine for pleasurable hobbies. Later attend to that pile of work that is awaiting you. You are highly talented and can accomplish a great deal now. Be efficient.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) A good day to catch up on your work at home, although it's tiresome, but it has to be done. Get the kinks out of that special talent you have and put it in operation.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You can get errands done early and take care of odds and ends in the home. Handle important correspondence before stepping out for recreation. Don't keep others waiting on you.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You must not take any risk where money matters are concerned. Evening is fine for visiting with relatives you enjoy. Operate on a sound budget so you are not too extravagant.

Keep Eyes On Local Seminole Issues

It may seem to be almost impossible, yet enlightened self-interest fairly cries out for the voters of Seminole County to rivet their gaze and political judgment on local contests.

The pyrotechnics of the presidential campaign which have been so obviously stage-managed by the Republicans and mis-managed by the Democrats do show signs of getting out of hand.

The rosy glow of peace in Indochina which glowed so brightly a week ago has dimmed. The GOPsters are expressing concern about an apathy based on the polls showing President Nixon with an almost unprecedented margin of popular votes.

The McGovernites seem to be alternately cheered by the unflappability of the South Dakota Senator and dismayed by the lack of popular indignation at the campaign tactics of the Nixonites, as shown in the Westgate affair.

But these are not the intimate and the very close concerns which should be the object of thought and analysis by the Seminole voter.

First are the elections of a public service commissioner, a state attorney for the 18th judicial district, state senators for the 16th and 17th districts, a state representative for the 33rd district (this is especially important for Seminole giving the county a legislator not tied in with other than Seminole interests), and state representatives in special precincts of the 34th, 44th, 46th and 47th districts.

Then the voters will choose these county officials: clerk of circuit court, assessor of taxes, tax collector, sheriff, county commissioner districts one and three, superintendent of schools, supervisor of elections and district school board districts two and three.

Our news columns have given broad coverage of the stands the various candidates have taken. The candidates have, as a rule, been working hard and long to get their message across.

We believe that, with the exception of the candidates for the state legislature, party designations and loyalties are not of the greatest importance.

In the state legislature there can be no real doubt but that the Democratic party will retain its control and will be working with Gov. Reubin Askew a powerful Democrat in the Mansion. Thus common political sense tips the balance in favor of the Democrat candidate if the voters want to have their interests best represented.

Another general rule which needs to be remembered and heeded is that an incumbent who has had the experience and has done a good job should not have the fact of his office-holding held against him.

Just the opposite. It is essential that those who would take the place of efficient, experienced and dedicated public servants do more than just press their hopes and promises.

It is up to them to prove their abilities and their character by means of past records and by means of solid and persuasive arguments.

It would be harmful in the extreme if Seminole voters vote for a change just to the desire of change. These are critical times and never more critical in this county where only the best of talents, the best of experience and the best of dedication can hope to meet the challenges which are upon all levels of government.

Key posts which must be filled and which in themselves demand the most careful consideration, apart from the legislative and the county commission, are in the fields of law enforcement and education. In these no rule of thumb is sufficient. Performance must be the guideline.

Thus while the presidential fireworks may well attract the eyes of voters, this must not be at the expense of a large percentage turn-out of registered voters who vote on every candidate and every amendment which will face them next Tuesday!

Despite the astronomical odds against it, there exists the mathematical possibility that any candidate, no matter his name, who could win those states by a margin of ONE VOTE in each state, would have enough to take the key to the White House.

It so happens that adding up Wisconsin, 11 and Maryland, 20

Presidential '72 Nixon Vs. McGovern And 12 Votes

grabs on Nov. 7. This the electoral votes of 12 states represents the number of comes to 270—exactly enough members of the House of California, with 45 Representatives, 43, plus the electoral votes, Illinois, with 26, plus three for the District of Ohio, 25, Pennsylvania, 27; Columbia. The winner needs 270 Texas, 26; Massachusetts, 14; Missouri, 12; Virginia, 12; out of that total of 538.

The impossible of George Wallace is tragically missing this year, but there can be some interesting conjecture, nonetheless.

Elections can take funny turns. It's a kind of weird statistic to note that Richard Nixon got 49.5 per cent of the popular vote in 1960, and lost to Jack Kennedy, in 1960. Mr. Nixon got only 43.4 per cent of the popular vote, but beat Hubert Humphrey. And, of course, George Wallace.

The impossible of George Wallace is tragically missing this year, but there can be some interesting conjecture, nonetheless.

It is fact of history that a switch of fewer than 12,000 votes — 11,974, to be exact — in 1960 would have made Richard Nixon president, instead of Jack Kennedy.

That was pretty close, but let's take the role of the fact that it didn't take 12,000 votes to swing an election. Twelve — an even dozen — could do it.

Under the jackpot, winner-take-all rules of the Electoral College, the candidate winning a state, even if only by one vote, gets the entire electoral vote for that state.

As everybody knows, there are 538 electoral votes up for grabs on Nov. 7. This the electoral votes of 12 states represents the number of comes to 270—exactly enough members of the House of California, with 45 Representatives, 43, plus the electoral votes, Illinois, with 26, plus three for the District of Ohio, 25, Pennsylvania, 27; Columbia. Lies and Sabotage Keynote Campaign

By BRUCE BOSSAT

A political reporter can only be deeply saddened by the mounting reports of widespread political sabotage in the 1972 presidential campaign.

The reporter who covers high-level politics usually does so for a number of reasons. The work is important because it concerns the struggle for the most powerful office in the world. In that struggle, too, there is great human interplay — often dramatic, frequently comic, sometimes tragic.

Furthermore, the newsman who does this work conscientiously and devoutly does so quickly that, taken as a whole, the men in politics are enormously hard-working, genuinely devoted to good purpose, intensely interesting. They compare very favorably with the best in any field. They often far outdo some of the self-anointed purists in the academic world, who privately are battling like alley cats for advancement in their own realm.

Yet it has to be dismaying if even half the reports of this year's sabotage are true. What bothers most is not just the shaking of trust, which is terrible enough, but the mean-spiritedness that seems to mark so many of the alleged sabotage incidents.

In the nature of things, the prudent reporter has always assumed there is some lying and other misrepresentation in politics as in many of our endeavors. His discriminating task is to learn, if he can, when truth is being told and when it is not, rather than to say, too easily all politicians are liars.

This time, however, the evident magnitude and scope of misrepresentation has gone beyond all bounds. Much that we hear, to be sure, is not evidence proved in court of law. Still, the allegations come from the most part, from diligent reporters who have carefully checked their sources and who are working for newspapers jealous of their reputations for integrity.

If what they are digging out is true in any reasonable measure, then this campaign has been disrupted constantly by the passing of phony letters, the making of phony telephone calls, the distribution of false campaign schedules and much other information, the calculated harassment of voters to discredit candidates (by such things as middle-of-the-night calls).

The generating source of most of this is said to be, of course, the high command operating from President Nixon's White House and places nearby. As yet these can generally be classed only as allegations, and we must let them stand as such.

Nevertheless, even without ironclad, court-styve proofs, the effect of these reports already is devastating.

To say that these reported incidents subvert the free political process ought to be grave enough comment. Men battling for high office are being victimized. In 1972, by circumstances whose origins they cannot really know.

But the damage can be far more sweeping than that. If such practices should become really common, they will not be kept to the political world alone. They will move this society toward very wide disruption and distortion of many kinds of human relationships.

Who in such a world would want to trust the mails, or the voice on the telephone, or the man who comes saying he is one thing while in fact he is another? Some of this special, vicious kind of human corruption is being practiced now in realms beyond politics.

Society, for all its ills, is founded on many kinds of trust in ordinary day-to-day living. To break these bonds would be crushing.

One Man's Opinion

A Vietnam Peace Is Nixon's Peace

By DON OAKLEY

It would be the final bitterness in the long and bitter experience of the Vietnam war if the coming at last of peace, uncertain and imperfect as it is likely to be, was not the beginning of a much-needed period of healing but was instead the cause of continued division among Americans.

It would be the height of irony if the ending at long last of the killing and the dying did not redound to the credit of the man responsible for this achievement but instead served to increase the peculiar and deep-seated distrust some people seem to have of him.

The claim that the President could have secured a peace agreement, with the same terms, a year ago or four years ago is probably to be expected in the future of the last days of a political campaign.

That does not excuse it, however. It is the lowest blow delivered by either side in a pretty low campaign. It is the sorest of sour grapes.

We have only to recall just where we were four years ago to begin to appreciate the magnitude of what has been accomplished.

More than half a million American soldiers were on the soil of Vietnam. More than 30,000 had died and scores of new names were added to the casualty lists every week. Yet nothing seemed to have been accomplished. The enemy was as strong and determined as ever, our ally as weak and as far from self-sufficiency as ever. There seemed absolutely no exit.

When Richard Nixon entered office, he had four alternatives in Vietnam.

He could continue things as they were: he could launch all-out war against North Vietnam; he could withdraw America from the war as quickly as possible and leave the South Vietnamese to luck and the mercy of the Communists; or he could begin a gradual withdrawal coinciding with a gradual turning over of its own defense to South Vietnam.

The first two courses were clearly unacceptable to the American public. The third—immediate withdrawal—might have been popular for a time. But had the President taken this course, the same people who are charging him with "wasting" four years to make peace would instead be damning him for "betraying 17 million South Vietnamese."

A Changing World

A Russian's Real "American Dream"

By JOHN PINKERMAN
Editor, Copley News Service

Today, unfortunately, this country has an abnormally excessive number of detractors—sophisticated cynics who scoff at what some of us call the Great American Dream.

To these people should be known Igor Sikorsky, a refugee from Soviet communism and an American many years ahead of his time, both as an aviation engineer and as a philosopher. Sikorsky died Oct. 26 at the age of 83. That was the day of the Vietnam "peace" breakthrough and as a result, Sikorsky's death didn't get the newspaper attention it might have received on other days.

Sikorsky, although, nearly blind from glaucoma, was in his office at the Stratford, Conn., plant bearing his name the day before his death and was looking forward to a March 5, 1973, golden anniversary—50 years since the day he established a multientery airplane factory on a Long Island chicken farm.

There will be a celebration next March all the same, but it will be in the nature of a memorial observance, and a tribute that Sikorsky will be unveiled in the lobby of the Stratford plant. Speakers will extoll Sikorsky's engineering genius, concentrating on his invention of the helicopter.

However, this reporter who knew Sikorsky well back in the 1930s can't help but hope that the speakers also will recall the 1930s can't help but hope that the speakers also will recall the true nature of the man along with his material accomplishments. He fled his native Russia when the Bolsheviks took over in 1919, and he never forgot what America gave him—freedom and opportunity.

I will long remember an interview way back then when I asked him what he credited most for his success in convincing the skeptics of the value of large, multiengine aircraft and helicopters. "It's my country, too (Sikorsky was naturalized an American citizen in 1929). There is the unlimited opportunity for creativity in the United States — there is no limit to what a man can do if he tries hard."

This was a true mark of the man's humility. As a young reporter I had tried several times without success to reach him at a security-conscious factory. Finally, I walked near the factory entrance and followed eight miles after him as he drove home. He seemed startled when I trailed him into his own driveway, jumped out and ran to his car. Was I some sort of a Communist agent?

However, when I told him all I was seeking was a brief interview after several futile tries with company public relations people, he laughed.

"Oh, what's the matter with them anyway," he said. "Sure, what do you want to know?"

It was that day, standing in the cold in Trumbull, Conn., that Sikorsky predicted someday there would be huge air planes flying around the world. How big? "Eighty tons or more," he said. I talked later with other aircraft people and U.S. military men. Eighty-ton passenger planes? Ridiculous, they said. "That guy's a dreamer," one so-called "expert" scoffed.

Who was right? Today there are Boeing 747s flying around the world with ease, and fully loaded they weigh 710,000 pounds — 355 tons.

Classroom Problems For Teachers

By KENNETH J. RABBIN
Copley News Service

Society's problems that are supposed to prevent learning and are believed to worry instructors are not keeping teachers from doing their job in the classroom.

That goes for such pet issues as drug abuse, lack of academic freedom, changing curriculum and instructional methods, dropouts and absenteeism, diverse ethnic and socioeconomic backgrounds of pupils and pupil health and nutrition problems.

Classroom teachers are much more concerned with finding enough time to teach and wisdom, as it seems to be doing and tell the public what to do and done to improve instruction, children also may benefit.

These are some preliminary conclusions drawn from a national assessment of public school teacher needs conducted and being analyzed by the National Education Association.

Although the study primarily is of interest to school people at this stage, it can help sift facts from conventional wisdom, as it seems to be doing and tell the public what to do and done to improve instruction, children also may benefit.

Fort Worth school district has requested use questionnaire for use with local faculties. Other teacher groups and school systems are considering similar polls.

The study is designed to determine what is bothering teachers, now how or why. After this basic data is analyzed, NEA specialists will work through its state and local affiliates on those questions. NEA organizations in Iowa and New Jersey and the South Jersey district have requested use questionnaire for use with local faculties. Other teacher groups and school systems are considering similar polls.

'League' Presents Facts On Candidates

The following has been prepared by The League of Women Voters and is offered to the Herald in an attempt to better educate our readers on the issues and the candidates.

SCHOOL BOARD

1. How do you feel you are particularly qualified for this office?
2. Do you think the proposed 45-15 school plan is an acceptable method of dealing with the expected growth of school population in Seminole County?
3. As a school board member, you are responsible for the quality of education in Seminole County, what steps would you take to upgrade the system?
4. Do you believe that property taxes should continue to be used as a major source of revenue for education? If not, what alternative sources of revenue would you favor?
5. Do you feel a need for better communication between the school board and the community? If so, how can this be achieved?

DISTRICT 1

Name: Kenneth Patrick, Democrat, age 35, 119 Lake Diana Dr., Longwood, Fla. 32750.

1. I have a Bachelor of Science in Education, graduate work in School Supervision and Administration, Curriculum Psychology, and four years teaching experience. Education is my life's work. Since leaving teaching in 1965, I have worked with teachers, principals, supervisors and State Department of Education personnel representing Prentice Hall's Educational Book Division in Florida, as a consultant, public relations and sales service representative.

DISTRICT 2

Name: Missouri Belle Swetford, Democrat, no reply received.

TAX ASSESSOR

1. How do you feel you are particularly qualified for this office?
 2. As a tax assessor what is your opinion of the present tax assessment in Seminole County?
 3. How would you increase the number of people registering and voting?
- Name: Terry G. Goemle, 2472 Sandford, Republican, age 34.
1. I have been employed by the Seminole County Tax Assessor for the past seven years and have been Assistant Assessor since 1968. I have attended 12 technical schools dealing with all phases of assessing and appraising. My education includes: Banking, Business Development Officer, Commercial Bank of Winter Park, Florida.
2. Using current market values as a criteria, assessments in Seminole County are in compliance with the laws of Florida under which the Tax Assessor must operate. I believe the assessments are equitable and this is most important. Taxes are high, registration is low. The assessor's main function is to control equity by appraising all property at full just value.
3. Seminoles initial problem stems from inadequate financing. After study, I am convinced we must change the method by which we finance schools. We must: relieve the overburdened voter; improve the teaching conditions; lower the pupil teacher ratio; and improve expenses per pupil. One expert in educational finance said it this way, "I have never found a good cheap school."

DISTRICT 3

Name: Richard E. McCanna, 1520 N. Maitland Ave., Maitland, Democrat, age 55.

1. Former Assessor for Seminole County which was completely administered the office of Tax Assessor and is aware of its duties and responsibilities, the greatest of which is to provide a well balanced assessment roll upon which to levy taxes. DISTRICT 5

Name: Robert M. Hanson, Address: Rt. 1, Box 18E, Sanford, Fla. age 47.

1. I have worked in education for 23 years. I hold a Bachelor of Education from the University of Florida and a Master of Education from the University of South Florida. Name: Barbara Morehead, Independent, Lori Wilson, Independent, Noi questioned.

DISTRICT 7

Name: John Vogt, Democrat, age 35, 110 Mutiny Lane, Merritt Island, Florida 32952.

1. I believe that education should receive the highest priority in the proposed Federal Revenue Sharing Program thus relieving a portion of the burden now being placed upon all voters tax base. No federal controls should be allowed on this money however, but controlled totally by local school boards.

DISTRICT 8

Name: Hugh M. Evans, Republican, age 46, 231 Lynn Avenue, Melbourne, Florida 32955.

1. I believe that this is one of the most vital issues facing our state today. Every effort must be made to place these lands in public trust immediately.

DISTRICT 9

Name: Tom Dolan, Democrat, age 38, 28 County Club Drive, Cocoa Beach, Florida 32931.

1. I believe that this is one of the most vital issues facing our state today. Every effort must be made to place these lands in public trust immediately.

highly qualified laymen to serve on the policy board is more desirable. Selection of a panel of nominees by a committee composed of representatives of the major statewide organizations could produce highly qualified individuals for consideration. If the governor is then required to select from the panel, the process will be more open and the selection will be more meaningful. A system of confirmation, partisan political influences could be minimized.

2. No it is necessary to have qualified persons serving on the board. The Florida Cabinet automatically becomes the State Board of Education, and there are no qualification requirements with reference to that part of the officeholder's position. Education is too important an area not to have qualified persons. I would suggest that a State Board of Education be appointed. Local property tax may not stand much longer as a county's source of revenue for education. Property will be eliminated but it would probably go to the state. It would then be necessary to return funds to the County. What controls the state will enact for this return must be determined. Consideration of alternative sources would be based upon required funding.

DISTRICT 10

Name: John E. Polk, Address: 106 Laurel Dr., Sanford, age 37.

1. I feel that my 10 years as a State Trooper and four years as your sheriff gives me the essential background not only in law enforcement, but as an administrator. I seek myself informed as to the needs of the Seminole County and work closely with the chiefs of our Municipalities to see that these needs are met.

DISTRICT 11

Name: James M. "Mike" Hattaway, Address: 7410 Woodcrest, Goldenrod, Party: Democrat, age 27.

1. I am prepared for the office of County Commissioner because of the various leadership positions I have held; in business, community and local civic organizations. I have made it a point to study and learn the proceedings of Seminole County and the past number of years. I am already aware of the county's problems and idiosyncrasies.

DISTRICT 12

Name: John G. Angel, Address: 1586 Valencia, Sanford, Fla. age 49.

DISTRICT 16

Name: Troy Hay, 2064 Grandview Ave., Sanford, Democrat, age 44.

1. Qualified by having served five years as Chief Deputy Clerk and eight years as Tax Collector—college graduate in Business Administration—life long Seminole County resident—installed first tag agency in South Seminole in 1965, in 1966 combined with branch office—promoted further extension of all services. Instrumental in present county-wide job and wage classification program. Have sincere desire to serve the people.

Husband Learns Hard Way; His Wife's Work Isn't Easy

By MARY SUE WEBB
Copley News Service

Richard Hansard agreed to do all of the things his wife ordinarily does as part of her daily duties in the home. Lyn Hansard took over the at-home activities of her husband.

"Did Richard last three months?" you ask.

The answer is a tired "no." He gave it up after only three weeks — utterly exhausted.

It all started when Hansard brought home a copy of Ms., a new magazine dedicated to women's rights. Lyn, who is a working wife, read it and became militant about housework. Instead of sympathy, her husband pooh-poohed housework with a "it's only trivial" remark.

That was too much for Lyn, so they agreed to the wager. If he won the bet, the cats would stay in a kennel instead of going along on the next vacation.

Hansard began bravely — he would not allow his wife into HIS kitchen.

After work, he would do the dinner dishes he was too tired to wash the night before. (Lyn would relax on the couch.)

He would cook dinner. (She was still relaxing.)

He would check to see if she picked up her work clothes. (He would bring her a drink.

They would eat. He would clear the table. (Time for more relaxing for Lyn.)

Bedtime — she would retire. He would straighten up the house.

"During the second week, I came home from work one night totally exhausted," said Richard. "That night she said she would let me do the dishes. I was so tired I didn't have to remind her to give me a light, either," said Richard.

"One night I started rearranging all the groceries on the kitchen shelves," Richard said. "She's 5-foot-4 and I'm more than six feet. She got upset at me for rearranging HER kitchen. But I told her it was MY kitchen."

"As I was doing it, the handle fell off a cupboard. I started to fix it, but remembered that was her job. I just went in and dropped the handle on her lap as she sat watching TV."

Lyn said she had no trouble repairing the handle. Nor did she check the oil, getting the ski rack put on the car or washing the car cause any problems.

Richard thought she massaged a few spots on the car, but she said he would have let her plants die if she hadn't sneaked around and watered them.

Since she began working about a year ago, she has been trying to get more household things done on week-nights and has failed.

Both agreed the change was good for their three-year-old marriage.

"Men do not realize all that women do," Richard said. "It is the wife who puts out that clean towel you reach for when you have soap in your eyes."

Lyn, who said she is in no way a rabid Women's Libber, explained that men are afraid of losing their comforts at home if they liberate their women. "Women go along as they have been raised and they do certain things. But who is to mop the floors is something a

McGovern Challenges 'Peace Talk'

Nixon's Course Denounced

By LEE BYRD
Associated Press Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. George McGovern says President Nixon has betrayed the nation's hopes for a Vietnam settlement by pursuing a course that "is not a path to peace, but a detour around election day."

At the same time, McGovern said Nixon was perpetuating "the same old lies" about Democratic domestic proposals.

"We see now," said McGovern, "that when the President's most important adviser announced that peace had come, it was actually a deception designed to raise our hopes, before we went to vote on Tuesday."

McGovern's remarks came in a nationally televised address Friday night which was spurred by Nixon's own broadcast 22 hours earlier.

The senator said Friday on television that both Nixon and South Vietnam's President Nguyen Van Thieu had turned thumbs down on the plan advanced by Dr. Henry A. Kissinger. Instead of the major breakthrough publicly claimed by the President "there has been a fatal breakdown," he said.

McGovern said the Kissinger outline had "almost the same terms" offered by the communists four years ago and "embraced the same principles" that he, McGovern, has long advocated.

"But Mr. Nixon has closed the door to peace once again," said McGovern. "If he escapes his responsibility, do you think he will win the war after the election, once he is free of the will of the American people?"

"Now they play politics with our prisoners and our soldiers and life itself. It is they who treat our men like toy soldiers, to be knocked over by the hand that should protect them," he added.

Concert Slated On Nov. 3

A free concert of chamber music will be presented at the Civic Center Auditorium Nov. 3 at 7:30 p.m. Six artists of the Florida Symphony Orchestra will present a varied and interesting program for piano, viola, bassoon, flute, cello and aboe.

The front part of the center section will be reserved for older citizens and their friends but otherwise there are no reserved seats.

In Three Cities Qualification Closed

By DONNA ESTES

Longwood's veteran city clerk of 14 years, Omie R. Shomate won re-election unopposed to another two-year term as the candidate qualifying period for the Dec. 5 municipal elections in three of the county's six cities closed Friday.

Earlier this week, first term Councilman Troy Island of Winter Springs also won re-election unopposed as no candidates qualified against him for the group 5 seat on the governing body there.

In Longwood, three candidates including the current council chairman, a member of the city's charter revision board and a former councilman qualified to seek the office of mayor. Incumbent Mayor Kenneth Brown is not running for re-election.

Eugene Jaques, who has served a total of six years on the Council, is running for the chief executive post as well as Donald Schreiner and former Councilman Sandra Thompson.

For the two seats on the City Council, five candidates have qualified. Running for the district 3 post are former councilman and current zoning Board Chairman B. H. Ferrell and Kenneth DeWitz, a member of the fire department.

Seeking the district 5 office are former Councilman B. L. Helms, Norma Jean Henington and former Council Chairman Percy White.

Casselberry, meanwhile, has 12 candidates for the remaining one year of the unexpired term of Mayor Curtis Blow, resigned, and three seats on the City Council.

Vying for the mayor's office are former Councilman Bill Grier, Zoning Board Chairman Cecil Harmon and Councilman Harry Sambrook.

Campaigning for the three seats on the Council currently held by Thomas Napier (resigned), Sambrook and John Leighty are: Greg Driggers, Thomas Embree, Louis Kirby, Richard Leigh, Leighty, James Miller, Joseph Sumara, Richard Wirz and John Yamnitz.

Winners will be determined by the three top vote-getters. There is no provision in the Casselberry Charter nor in the Longwood laws for the winner to carry a majority of the votes.

Suit By Glenn Turner Tossed Out Of Court

By DONNA ESTES

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—A federal judge dismissed Glenn Turner's suit against a Newark superior court judge Friday when Turner's lawyer said the milk oil promoter was $11,000 behind in payment of legal fees.

Turner sued Superior Court Judge Morris Pashman earlier this year after Pashman banned the Orlando businessman's Dare To Be Great motivational firm from the state.

Friday Richard J. Donohue told U.S. District Court Judge Lawrence A. Whipple he hadn't been paid about $1,000 in legal fees and some $3,000 in expenses.

Whipple immediately dismissed Turner's suit on those grounds and grounds the hearings had been adjourned several times already at Turner's request.

In addition, Whipple ordered stricken from the dismissed complaint an allegation that Pashman was involved in a conspiracy. Another attorney involved in the case said a clerk presumably will file out such references before the record of the dismissed case goes into federal court's permanent file.

Whipple also ruled that Donohue doesn't have to turn over any of his legal work to any counsel Turner may employ in the future.

Turner already has paid $60,000 into a superior court fund which would be divided among the alleged victims of Dare To Be Great if Pashman's order is upheld in an appeal to the 3rd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Philadelphia.

Civil actions have been untaxed against Turner in at least 42 states. He faces additional criminal charges in Michigan later this month.

Petite Blonde Hauls Florida Fruit To NY

So now I know what it feels like getting up early on the weekend... 'stead of catching that extra 40 winks!

Today's edition is something new for us.

We'll probably make a couple boners... and I apologize for same beforehand.

At the same time... a pledge that we'll constantly strive towards improvement, but never lose sight of the fact that we are your voice and offer our facilities to you for expression.

Thank you for your continued support and interest.

First boner... yesterday's 'League Presents Facts On Candidates' pages (information provided to us) indicated candidate Vince Fechtel, Republican for District 34 as not having submitted a reply to submitted questions.

Fechtel called and said that he "hand-carried" same to the League office.

Thanks to Seymour Benson for offering clarification on Amendment 4 (Homestead Exemption) — "as the present law reads, in the event of the death of a marriage partner, a homestead would be divided between the children and the surviving spouse, even as a will should exist to the contrary."

According to the amendment, which reads, "... providing for there are no minor children," Benson continued, "the home would be owned in total by the spouse unless minor children are involved. If minor children are involved, the present law applies as indicated above."

Think about this for a moment... The Nixon administration is considering $7.5 billion in aid, including $2.5 billion for North Vietnam, in a five-year program of economic assistance for Indochina.

That would come under the term of reparation, I believe... which if you check it with Webster means "the award of satisfaction or compensation for a wrong, injury, etc."

Who is the winner, and who is the loser, really?

Fire Control District On Tuesday's Ballot

By DONNA ESTES

The possibility of creating a fifth fire control district in Seminole County is one of two local county questions on the ballot in Tuesday's election.

The question is to be voted upon only in precincts 14, 24, 31 and 39 for those areas outside the incorporated limits of Longwood, Casselberry and Altamonte Springs.

This area is currently served by the Fern Park Volunteer Fire Department. It is anticipated in the event the question is approved that the equipment presently used by the volunteers will be transferred to the district.

County Commission Chairman Greg Drummond said one mill taxation within the district would generate about $68,000. He added he would oppose a levy higher than one mill for the fire district.

Fire district budgets are reviewed line by line by the County Commissioners before approval is given.

New Sign Ordinance Considered In City

By BILL SCOTT

For the first time political signs pleading for citizen votes for a certain political candidate will be legal in Sanford, if the new city sign ordinance, approved Thursday night by the Zoning and Planning Commission is accepted Nov. 13 by the city commission.

Until an ordinance is adopted officially by the commission, it appears it is not legal to post political signs within the city confines, since there is no mention of such advertising in the present sign ordinance.

Albeit, the city has not tried to enforce a prohibition of political pandering, but has laid down certain "guidelines" in the past few years aimed at controlling the size and locations of the installations.

At first there was a brief effort to prevent any sign placing, but under threat of long court actions involving many prominent citizens as well as politicians, who realized the need for advertising in the election, the city turned its back and allowed the "sign cities" to be created hither and yon.

When legalized, the signs will still be restricted in placement and size, but some controls must be expected to prevent the sidewalks, poles and lawns from blossoming into gardens of paper, paint and weed.

A limit of nine square feet per sign in each premise involving residential zones and 32 square feet for a commercial or industrial zone. These signs must be confined within private property and not be less than 30 feet from the curbline of any street intersection.

Political signs may be displayed 30 days prior to seven days following an election for which it is intended. A temporary sign permit must be acquired from the zoning board

Three Bandits Die; Two More Fought

LAKE WALES, Fla. (AP)—A supermarket manager sneaked a quick telephone call to police Friday night and foiled a robbery attempt which resulted in the shooting deaths of three bandits and capture of two others.

Witnesses said the five robbers entered the Public Supermarket singularly and fanned out. Police said the men yanked out two of the three telephone lines inside the market and then drew guns, but didn't get to manager Bill Saunders in time to prevent him from calling the Lake Wales police station a half mile away.

"The manager got off a call to us before the robbers entered the cashier's cubicle," Polk County Sheriff Lt. Larry Fuchs said.

Witnesses said Saunders received several blows to the head as the robbers took $1,916 from the cash registers, but several customers held hostage during the holdup were uninjured.

Just minutes after Saunders' 7:22 p.m. call, 12 Lake Wales policemen and sheriff's deputies converged on the store. Their arrival coincided with the robbers' exit.

"They came out shooting and we returned the fire," Sheriff's Capt. Ray Willis said.
