Soviets Reluctant To Confront U.S.

By NEA-LONDON ECONOMIST NEWS SERVICE

LONDON - (LENS) - Why has the Soviet Union agreed to take part in the Arab-Israeli peace-making operation which, if successful, is bound to diminish its influence in the area? It is true that the U.S.S.R. has shown time and again its extreme reluctance to run the risk of direct confrontation with the United States.

This reluctance was so obvious that it drastically reduced the political dividends that the Soviet Union could claim from the Arabs in return for its support and its arms; the Arabs knew that the Russians would not back them beyond a certain point.

It is possible also that some of the Soviet leaders were arguing that their Middle East investment was not a paying proposition except for Iraq. Russia's partners are not oil exporters - and that nearly 20 years after their original entry into the politics of the area the time had come for a change of policy. Even so none of this mite explains why the Soviet Union has embarked on a course that is likely to increase America's influence in the area. If the Russians had hoped to win some compensatory influence in western Europe, this calculation has not come off. The Middle East crisis has strained relations between Europe and the United States but in a way distasteful to Moscow.

The European community's first reaction to what some see as the start of a Russian-American condominium was to think about closer European integration in defense. The Russians are as hostile as they ever were to any scheme for west European defense, which according to the accepted dogma in Moscow is bound to involve at some stage the acquisition of nuclear weapons by West Germany, a prospect from which they recoil.

The key to Russia's conduct in the Middle East lies in its basic foreign policy premise: the search for an understanding between the

With American industrialists showing no uncontrollable enthusiasm for venturing into the Soviet market, some of the early Russian illusions about a quick switch from coexistence to economic collaboration must have vanished

The curious thing is that the evolution of the Middle East crisis, with its different and unexpected — but just possible — economic payoff for the Soviet Union, is likely to give a new impetus to the Brezhnev line.

It may do so, in the first place, by changing the price structure of energy. Admittedly, consumption in Russia and east Europe is rising slightly faster than Soviet production of crude oil and natural gas. But the obstacle to greater production is not the lack of natural resources; it is the lack of the costly equipment required to harness the huge but inhospitable resources of

In more general terms, the Russians might even think that a western economic crisis would offer them a special sort of opportunity. They may be hoping that a simultaneous recession on both sides of the Atlantic, aggravated by fuel shortages, would give Soviet trade negotiators the chance of making some striking bargains. If western factories were running well below capacity, if unemployment were rising and trade in the non-communist world shrinking, the Soviet Union could look like an attractive market, the argument runs: foreign investors might offer better terms and western governments might be induced to back them with credit facilities.

That may be the Russians' hope, at any rate, although it is doubtful how much investment money would be going spare in the west in those circumstances. And, quite apart from economics, a slump-hit western world offers obvious political opportunities to Russia. The hopes of yesterday are being revived in a new

Volunteer Army Not Applauded

COPLEY NEWS SERVICE WASHINGTON- Although it has been one year since the last young American was drafted, the allvolunteer armed force program is still sputtering and Congress and the Pentagon appear to be sharply divided over its chances of success. As calendar year 1973 came to a close, U. S. military manpower was more than 20,000 below the Jan. 1 objective of 2,240,000, the lowest total strength since pre-Korean War

This shortfall has occured despite substantially higher pay, a vigorous and increasingly expensive recruiting effort, a hike in the number of women and blacks, an enlistment bonus program and lower entrance standards set by the fiscal 1974 budget to Capitol Hill last January, he asked for funds to provide a total armed force of 2,232,904 as of June 30, 1974.

But Congress, which finally passed the Pentagon appropriations bill six months into the current fiscal year, has ordered a cut of 43,000 personnel in year-end strength for a total of 2,190,000.

While the lawmakers were more interested in saving money than in easing the Pentagon's recruitment problem, fewer enlistments will be needed over the next six months. Allocation of the 43,000-person reduction has not been completed, but 12,000 has so far been levied against the Army. That would bring its year-end strength to 792,000 but it

WASHINGTON- The latest racket, stimulated by the cutback in airline flights, is a black market in tickets.

Government documents, intended for official eyes, only, describe a "massive marketing of stolen and counterfeit tickets." Organized crime has been named as "the major distributor," although "hundreds of entrepreneurs" operate on "a small but

Two government agencies, the FBI, a federal grand jury, the police of at least three states and two congressmen are moving quietly to break the flourishing black market. Here are the backstage developments:

-Representative John Murphy, D-N.Y., in a private letter to House commerce chairman Harley Staggers, D-W. Va., has reported that the traffic in stolen and counterfeit tickets is costing the airlines "several millions of dollars....three millions stolen tickets having gone through Los Angeles International Airport alone." Murphy asked for "immediate hearings" on his bill to curb the illegal tickets. ARRESTS DUE

-The federal grand jury investigation, according to an internal report, "involves approximately 7,000 stolen tickets from four agencies and airlines in the New York metropolitan area." Already, 175 people have appeared before the grand jury and "arrests are scheduled for the latter part of January 1974."

-William Halligan, the Federal Aviation Administration's security security chief at New York's vast Kennedy Airport, has reported confidentially "I have learned that there has been communication between the police in the states of New York, A world energy crunch in the remainder," the foreword one end of the scale and "Nuclear aircraft carriers Florida and Nevada, and sometime next month, they hope to blow

> -The Civil Aeronautics Board has warned that a black market in legitimate tickets can also be expected. In a private letter to Congress, Chairman Robert Timm has cautioned: "We envision the very real possibility of some ticket agents buying up blocs of seats well in advance of flight dates and then reselling these seats to the public at inflated prices. Because of the scarcity of transportation, the public could well prove willing to pay these scalpers' prices." The CAB wants authority from Congress to crack down. The necessary legislation has already been introduced by Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich.

"CARELESS MANAGEMENT"

Most airline tickets disappear in shipment. FAA documents around the country by truck. "Theft from these shipments is the main supply to the criminals," states one memo.

The "second largest loss," according to the memo, occurs within the travel agencies "through careless management." A "popular criminal activity" is to "purchase a travel agency, sell all the tickets available, make no payments to the airlines and close the door of the agency." This is known in the trade as a "Bust Out Operation."

Another memo reports that the ticket bootleggers range from a husband and wife team who formerly worked for a New York airline to a maitre d' pushing tickets in a prominent New York restaurant. They don't advertise, but by word of mouth their clientele covers every walk of life. One recent case involved an elderly grandmother, her grandson (and) a nephew who could get

The basic problem, states an internal report, "is the lack of central control for all airline tickets." The airlines are also required to honor the bootleg tickets. Complaints to the police, at least in the past, have produced negligible results. Explains the report: "The police are hampered by local courts who consider an ndividual in possession of a ticket as a petty offender."

Watergate Merry-Go-Round: White the world waits of the Senate Watergate Committee to reveal more evidence of highlevel skulduggery, the committee staff apparently has unlimited time to pursue low-level nonsense.

In November, the staff spent two weeks probing the source of what some of the staff members considered unflattering remarks about themselves which appeared in Rolling Stone, the pop weekly. As a result, Scott Armstrong, a committee investigator, was suspended without pay for a month,

Now, Wayne Bishop, a former Connecticut State Police inspector, has been assigned to find who on the staff has been making unauthorized long-distance telephone calls.

In the first day, according to staff members, Bishop discovered the sources of about $40 worth of calls and the miscreants were forced to pay up. There is some doubt, however, about the cost-effectiveness of the campaign, since Bishop is paid

Vandals Cut Power

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) - Apparent vandalism Monday night left an estimated 41,000 customers of the Florida Power & Light Co. in Fort Lauderdale and Pompano Beach in the dark for up to 90 minutes. FP&L officials said the outage occurred about 11:30 when insulators were shot off high tension transmission

Citrus Damaged

LAKELAND, Fla9 (AP) - Based on information from an extensive survey. Florida citrus growers say freeze damage to crops in December may be far worse than they "Fruit crops and tender groves in numerous locations were damaged far greater than temperatures and duration indicated," said Tom Osborne, general manager of Florida Citrus Mutual Monday. "At the present time we're noting defoliation and excessive droppage in many areas in middle and southern parts of the citrus belt," said Osborne. "It is a clear indication to us that groves in these areas were not as dormant as those in extreme northern parts of the citrus

belt and thus were more susceptible to the cold weather." EAL Hunts Jobs

MIAMI (AP) - Eastern Airlines officials say they are trying to soften the blow to 1,000 employes who are being laid off by helping the workers find new jobs. The company has set up its own employment service and airline employes have been loaned microfilm sheets with job listings by the Florida State Employment Service, officials said. "Public response has been excellent also, and we have several hundred additional jobs given us specifically for Eastern employes," said Hal Clark, the airline's personnel manager for the southeastern region.

Jax Subsidy Asked

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) - Jacksonville University, a private four-year college, has asked the city of Jacksonville for $200,000 to help it meet a projected $400,000 deficit.

Dr. Robert H. Spiro, JU president, said enrollment has declined 20 per cent to 2,000 students because of competition by the University of North Florida and Florida Junior College at Jacksonville, both state institutions, and because of the end of the military draft.

Golfing

By John Cherwa

Herald Correspondent

EDITOR'S NOTE: John Cherwa will be writing a regular golf column for The Herald, bringing you coverage of all area links and special events. We would appreciate area pros, clubs and organizations directing their information to him, either by mail, at The Herald or at his home phone number: 838-8437.

Seminole County is in the midst of a building boom with most of the forests and fields turning into developments and subdivisions but luckily the area golfer has not been forgotten. Two "new" golf courses are springing up in the Casselberry area to challenge local linksters. Actually only one course is new and that is in conjunction with the housing development Sterling Park. Nine holes have already been laid out but it lacks grass on the fairways, greens and tees. The other course is "new" in the sense it has never been played before, Land 'O Lakes is just finishing up stage one with extensive renovation of their front nine. The front nine is not open as yet but from the looks of things when ready it will rate as one of the most plush and scenic com-

Double Your Pleasure

What was formerly known as the back nine at Land 'O Lakes was the site of this week's humorous incident. On the fourth hole (known to long time residents as 13) Norman Vaughn found himself in thick rough, as a matter of fact he could hardly see his

As his iron went into the grass two golf balls came out, one close to the green and the other a few feet in front of him. Playing partners Jack Kelley, Jim O'Conners and Jack Hutchison went to the rule book and I think they are still looking.

Sheoah Waiting Completion

Seminole's newest course, Sheoah, is anxiously awaiting completion of their new full service clubhouse. Resident Pro-Mickey Bessignano is setting the early part of March as the opening date.

There has been some question as to Sheoah's status recently but to clear up all questions it is a PUBLIC, not private course. It rates as a par 71 featuring plenty of bunkers, tree lined fairways and four lakes.

Host pro Mickey O'Brien now claims a new course record for nine holes, of 30. Of course, O'Brien will face a stiff challenge on the 19th of this month when the Men's association holds a "beat the pro" tourney.

O'Brien will play the course, recording his score, then the Men's group will hit the links trying to beat the mark. They have the advantage of applying their handicap although some fare a good chance without doing such.

Strong competition should be coming from Fred Peithman, Eddie Elom, Bill Atterberry, and Ferrel Stevens.

Women's Competition

In the way of championships, Valley Forge's women will be competing for the club championship the middle of this month. The ladies will be seeded in groups A, B an C with the lower

Cardascia Cards Hole-In-One

Rolling Hill's member George Cardascia is still in possession of the latest hole-in-one. On Dec. 5 he popped one in from 137 yards out on tricky number five. Congratulations George.

The latest winners in the Saturday tournament held weekly are Bob Tanner and Craig Monroe as they carted home a 69 for two-ball, best-ball, low-gross honors. Other winners were the team of Bill Welch and Bill Roof with a 61 in the low net category. Also coming in with 61 was Paul Klaus and Fred Wolfe.

Guys And Dolls

Mid Florida kept a lot of people happy by not forcing them to make a choice between their Guys and Dolls tournament and watching the Dolphins win the Super Bowl as they changed the date of the event until the following Sunday, Jan. 20.

Kostyn Holes Double Eagle

Over at Mayfair preparations are being finalized for the Little Red School House Tournament to be held on the 20th. This year's tournament is set to be one of the finest ever. Pete Kostyn was the lucky one this week when he pulled off a double-eagle on the par five, 480 yard 12th hole. A double-eagle and this writer is still looking for his first eagle. Way to go.

'UnSuper' Bowl

HOUSTON (AP) - Bud Grant caustically let the National Football League know what it could do to improve the environment of Super Bowl week . . . if not for the Minnesota Vikings, then for future championship teams. The Viking coach, without a show of anger, directly blamed the NFL for the facilities which his players are using this week to practice for Sunday's game against the Miami Dolphins at Rice Stadium.

"This is shabby treatment," Grant said flatly upon inspecting the locker-room at Delmar Public School. "This is not a pickup game a bunch of kids will be playing. This is the Super Bowl."

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - College football teams are looking into the possibility of joint travel to games in the same general area as a means of conserving energy, according to a spokesman for the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Ross H. Smith, Director of Athletics at Massachusetts Institute of Technology and chairman of the NCAA's newly created Special Energy Committee, said Monday he wouldn't even rule out the possibility of teams trading intersectional games so they wouldn't have to travel far from their own area.

He pointed out the NCAA is compiling a master 1974 football schedule which will be made available so teams can consider trading intersectional contests.

"Maybe we'll have to play them a little tighter.

Give 'perfect' wife a ride—on the wagon

By Abigail Van Buren
c 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My German-born wife is a wonderfu girl-cheerful, affectionate, honest, immaculate, and a great cook! But she has one fault: she loves beer! And how! In five years she has gone from 130 pounds to 210! The other day the delivery boy volunteered: "Three cases this week. You and your wife are our best customers!" [I never touch the stuff.]

Her doctor told her she was drinking too much. She told him, "Beer is healthy." I even hinted that she should Commier Alconones Anonymous, and sice sald. I in hot an alcoholic. I drink only beer!"

I love my wife, but I can see the handwriting on the wall, or better yet, on the belly, the back and the bottom. I've heard there is something one can slip into coffee to create an aversion to alcohol. What is it? Also, please include some advice on how I can get her to drink the DRINKS MILK IN INDIANA

DEAR DRINKS: Don't look for a miracle potion to slip into her coffee. [I've never heard of any.] Face the problem head-on and tell her if she's not an alcoholic, she's drinking like one. It's no joke. Your fraulein needs to go on

DEAR ABBY: I went with this guy for almost a year. About six weeks ago he quit calling. No goodby, no explanation, no nothing-he just disappeared from my life. The problem is I have had his stereo setup for the last five months and I don't know what to do with it. I heard from a third party that he is afraid to ask me for it, so he may break in some time while I'm gone and take it. That way he won't have to face me. I don't think it's my place to deliver it to him, so what should I do? This coward is 22, and I am 21. WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: Even the he's behaving like a juvenile, be adult, and tell him to either pick up his stereo, or send someone after it. It's childish to communicate thru a third party, so pick up the phone, and speak your piece.

DEAR ABBY: I try to keep up good family relations by sending gifts at gift-giving times, like graduations, Mother's Day, weddings, birthdays, Christmas, etc. and of course, hospitalizations, but the last six gifts I sent were

Would it be permissible to enclose a self-addressed postcard with each gift, asking to be advised that my gift was delivered? It is such a nuisance to "trace" gifts to find out if the store made a mistake, or the post office flubbed. NAME WITHHELD

DEAR NAME: Since we take for granted that everyone knows that a gift should be acknowledged, it would be poor taste on your part to include a self-addressed postcard requesting an acknowledgement. Perhaps this will serve as a reminder to the forgetful.

CONFIDENTIAL TO ALL YOUNG PEOPLE WHO ARE SEARCHING FOR THE TRUTH: Here's one: To quote the late Arthur Noyes, an eminent psychiatrist, "Develop good habits early in life because the older one gets, the more like himself he becomes."

Nixon: Politics Behind Milk Price Leap

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) - The White House says "traditional political considerations," but not campaign contributions, influenced President Nixon's 1971 decision to boost milk price supports. It kept the lid on tapes and documents involved in the incident.

Acknowledgement that politics figured in the controversial decision was made in one of two "white papers" issued Tuesday to counter charges that contributions swayed Nixon in the milk case and in an antitrust suit involving International Telephone & Telegraph Corp.

Although the White House at one time con sidered making public summaries of tapes and papers bearing on the two cases, it said such a step was vetoed because Nixon feels strongly about maintaining the confidentiality of presidential files.

The tapes and documents already have been given to Special Watergate Prosecutor Leon

Nixon's conduct:

Political considerations influenced Nixon's decision to boost milk price supports. Tapes and documents of the incident are under wraps.

Jaworski, and the White House expressed hope he and a federal grand jury "will respect the confidentiality of these materials. The carefully prepared and detailed "white papers' made these key arguments in defense of

-Milk prices. Under Democratic leadership, Congress was about to pass a bill ordering higher price supports, and Nixon "could not veto it without alienating the farmers-an essential part of his political constituency." He knew of promised 1972 campaign contributions from the three largest dairy cooperatives but did not discuss them with dairy leaders or with advisers who helped him reach his decision.

—IIT. Nixon intervened only once in the ITT antitrust case, after former aide John D. Ehrlichman told him the Justice Department was about to act contrary to Nixon's personal philosophy. He withdrew the intervention two days later after John N. Mitchell, then attorney general, reasoned that otherwise Erwin N Griswold might resign as solicitor general. All this took place before ITT pledged financial support if the 1972 Republican National Convention were held in San Diego, Calif. The two White House statements, made public with scant advance notice, apparently ended the so-called "Operation Candor" disclosures that began with the release last month of Nixon's tax returns. Aides said they knew of no further statements concerning Watergate-related matters.

Consumer advocate Ralph Nader and others are suing Nixon, contending he increased milk price supports in return for $427,000 in campaign donations from the three biggest dairy co-ops The milk case statement said "there was no mention of campaign contributions" at a March 23, 1971, meeting of Nixon and dairy leaders. The White House said later that day Nixon met on the support issue with seven advisers and

"the political power of the dairy industry lobby" was brought to the President's attention.
