WET DEMANDS HEARD IN EVE OF CONVENTION

Republican Chieftains Gather To Clear Up Mass Of Minor Details Before Meet

CHICAGO, June 10.—(A.P.)—In an atmosphere vibrant with demands for prohibition repeal or re-submission, Republican chieftains gathered in force yesterday to clear up a mass of minor details for the national convention beginning next Tuesday.

Hotel lobbies were jammed with national committeemen and delegates openly expressing opinions that the Republican platform would be weak if dry organization leaders arrived but kept their plans secret; delegate contests were put off until today, and the names of James H. Garfield, of Ohio, chairman-designate of the convention, and a committee, was the latest news around as the probable new chairman of the national committee.

A White House denial that President Hoover had committed himself to any specific prohibition plank was echoed by Chairman Frank of the national committee here. Republican leaders in the national capital, however, the president had indicated acceptance of the prohibition principle.

Elsewhere, the anti-prohibitionists continued to add recruits to their cause, although sharp disagreement arose in both Republican and Democratic camps as to how a change should be brought about.

Whispered suggestions for a national party referendum were being spread in the White House, it was learned by Governor Harry P. Byrd of Virginia, who yesterday received the endorsement of the state's delegation for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Byrd's own plan for a new constitutional amendment to permit a direct popular vote on prohibition was endorsed by Gov. John G. Pollard in a keynote address to the Virginia Democratic state convention.

In the dry stronghold of Indiana, Republicans in state convention approved proposals for re-submission of prohibition and repeal of the state enforcement act.

So confident were the Republican leaders here that the platform to be adopted next week at least would favor re-submission that they began talking about the possibility of such a plank.

The differences which arose in the Washington tentative discussions over whether Congress should submit the question to state legislatures or conventions continued in conversations here.

That a dry refusal to discuss prohibition, saying it was a matter for the resolutions committee and the convention.

Democratic General Brown, President Hoover's prohibition manager, said no one would gain the definite language of the plank until the resolutions committee reported.

David W. Sullivan, national committeeman for Kansas, expressed the opinion the plank would be for re-submission. He added, however, that on calling for repeal would be "bold."

Charles A. Raynes, national committeeman for Iowa, also predicted a re-submission plank.

Gene Sarazen Wins British Open Title

(A.P.)—Gene Sarazen, American golf star, today won the British open golf championship with a record score of 283 to carry on the American golfing sweep in the event, unbroken since 1923. MacDonald Smith, another American, finished second with 288.

MRS. OWEN WILL RESIGN ON DEC. 1 FROM CONGRESS

Re-iterates She Does Not Believe "Lame Duck" Office Term

JACKSONVILLE, June 10.—(A.P.)—Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, defeated for renomination to Congress from the fourth Florida district, will resign on Dec. 1, she said yesterday in conceding the victory to Mark Wilcox, West Palm Beach, Fla., campaigning on a wet platform, had piled up a strong lead over the daughter of William Jennings Bryan in 334 precincts of the 418 in the district.

She is standing in these precincts with Wilcox 42,810; Mrs. Owen 34,770.

In conceding her defeat Mrs. Owen said she did not believe in "lame duck" office holding and in a telegram to Wilcox said:

"The returns appear to indicate your nomination and I am writing to offer you my congratulations. I both voted for and worked for the bill which passed through Congress abolishing the lame duck session. This bill is now in the process of being ratified by the several states."

"I have repeatedly stated I do not favor the dry every year in election and the successful candidate in a congressional election."

"I shall therefore take the action dictated by consistency and submit my resignation to become effective Dec. 1, 1932, so that my successor may in the November election be elected both for the full term and for the unexpired portion of my own."

"If I shall furthermore extend my successor every assistance in familiarizing himself with the arduous and complex duties of the office and offer him my fullest cooperation."

After Wilcox came out on his repeal platform, Mrs. Owen offered a referendum plank and although she had voted recently against submitting the dry question to a referendum said she would vote for it if it came up again in Congress.

Wilcox amassed imposing majorities in six of the district's 18 counties, carrying Mrs. Owen's home county, Dade, and the populous counties of Duval, St. John, Palm Beach and Volusia as well as Indian River, Martin, Okechobee and Putnam.

In Duval county Mrs. Owen lost approximately 2 to 1; Wilcox had more than 1000 majority in his home county of Palm Beach.

WEST PALM BEACH, June 10.—(A.P.)—Assuming it would be premature to comment on the preliminary until it was definitely settled, Mark Wilcox, candidate for Congress from the fourth district, last night sent a telegram of appreciation to his incumbent opponent, Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, who earlier in the day conceded the nomination.

Wilcox will have to be a candidate to fill Mrs. Owen's unexpired term from November to March as well as a candidate for the three-year term beginning in March, if he accepts Mrs. Owen's offer.

His telegram in reply to her read:

"My sincere thanks for your very gracious telegram. Permit me to express my thanks for your spirit of good sportsmanship and my thanks for your offer of full cooperation in event of my ultimate election."

SANITATION IN BONUS ARMY'S CAMP IS POOR

Health Officials See Menace From Condition Existing At Open-Air Quarters

WASHINGTON, June 10.—(A.P.)—While leaders presented petitions at the White House and Capitol urging immediate bonus payment, Dr. William C. Fowler, District of Columbia health officer, yesterday pronounced the veteran army's living conditions "frightful."

A committee representing the former service men called at the White House and placed their communication to the President in the hands of one of his secretaries.

Earlier it had delivered the petition to Vice President Curtis and, finding Speaker Garner busy presiding over the House, left a copy at his office. The message was read to the Senate and House.

Dr. Fowler said the open air encampment at Anacostia flats was the worst menace to the city's health since he took office.

Meanwhile, the District commissioners sent telegrams to governors of all the states urging them to do whatever they can to keep their veterans at home.

Local police, cooperating with government agencies involved made plans to send detachments of the veterans to obsolete army posts in the vicinity of the capital to reduce the congestion.

At the main camp, a village had sprung up where a week ago there was a vacant field. Crude huts, their roofs thatched with dried grass, straw or tree branches, supplemented the shacks erected as temporary shelter for a few hundred.

The medical and dental department reported numerous outbreaks with the scabies pest—made famous in doughboy days.

The police hoped for rain to discourage the veterans and set them on their way home. The medical officers hoped for dry weather as salvation from disease.

To help them in their plight moves were made in Congress to give the veterans food and shelter. A resolution introduced by Senator Brookhart, Republican, Iowa, would authorize the war department to furnish them army rations. A resolution introduced by Representative Keller, Democrat, Illinois, would authorize their being furnished with army equipment.

Only good natured laughter greeted the police when in the early morning hours they offered the veterans free truck rides from the city.

The veterans' uncrowned king of the day was the Rev. James R. Cox, Catholic priest of Pittsburgh, Pa., who some months ago led an unemployed army to the capital. Bare-headed in the blazing sun, 6000 veterans at the main camp heard the priest extol their cause.

He wore the uniform of an army chaplain, in which position he served in the World War.

He attacked the government for its help to the "bankers and millionaires," but urged them to be "real Americans." They shouted their unanimous assent to a motion that Cox be their spokesman on Capitol Hill.

The bonus issue will come before the House Monday.

Effort Will Be Made In City To Form Orchestra

In the hope of organizing a 50 or more piece symphony orchestra comparable to those in cities twice the size of Sanford, George C. Fellows, veteran band and orchestra leader, today issued a call for all musicians playing any instrument that might be used for this purpose to meet at the Sanford Elks Club next Thursday night at 8:00 o'clock.

The new organization will be called the Sanford Symphony Orchestra, and it will be available for any public occasion. Mr. Fellows is of the opinion that this city and county holds more than enough talent which could eventually be composed into a worthwhile and creditable orchestra, and that the city will benefit to a large degree from the publicity attending such a feature.

Under present plans, rehearsals will be held once each week at the Sanford Elks Club, whose officials have donated the use of the hall for this purpose.

Mr. Fellows declares himself well qualified to direct an organization of the size contemplated. He has had 35 years experience in the musical field, and he urgently requests the co-operation of every player of a string, wood, or brass instrument.

Financial Trouble Impells Socialite To Take Own Life

CHICAGO, June 10.—(A.P.)—Royal C. Vilas, 62, socially prominent former manufacturer, shot and killed himself yesterday in his suburban home.

A letter addressed to his third wife, whom he married nine days ago, was said by the coroner to have described financial difficulties. Last year Vilas resigned as chairman of the Frys National company, railroad equipment manufacturer.

Another letter was addressed to a friend, Robert Lansing of St. Petersburg, Florida.

His brother, Ward A. Vilas, died in 1920 from an overdose of a sleeping potion while being used for divorce.

Vilas' first wife, who divorced him in 1920, hanged herself six years later. His second wife was Mrs. Edna Vance of Houston, Texas, whose recent divorce in Pinellas county, Florida, was not disclosed until Vilas married his former secretary, Miss Myrtle P. Highland 35.

HOUSE, SENATE OCCUPIED WITH 3 VITAL BILLS

Drive Is Launched For Quick Enactment Of Important Legislation, Adjournment

WASHINGTON, June 10.—(A.P.)—The vital economy, relief and supply bills yesterday absorbed both House and Senate in a drive for quick enactment of this important legislation and early adjournment.

The badly riddled economy bill was sent to conference for adjustment of differences as they accelerated work on the long delayed appropriation measures.

Senate Democrats served notice they would demand action on their bill to lend $300,000,000 to the states through the Reconstruction Corporation for relief of the unemployed. The Hoover home loan discount legislation will be considered today in the House with a view to final action Saturday.

The Senate Banking Committee substituted the House home loan bill yesterday for the measure introduced by Senator Watson, Republican, Indiana, and prepared to take final action next Monday.

Privileged legislative status in the House was given the Fulmer bill to turn over to the Red Cross 40,000,000 bushels of farm bonded wheat and 500,000 bales of cotton to feed and clothe the hungry.

Meanwhile, the Senate Agriculture Committee approved the McNary measure to use 50,000,000 bushels for the same purpose. Early action on these was forecast by party leaders in both branches.

With the Senate struggling hard to dispose of the big supply bills to pave the way for adjournment probably next week, the House considered the last of the money legislation, "the $15,000,000 deficiency measure."

One stumbling block loomed over the economy measure is whether the House will accept the Fulmer plan voted by the Senate instead of a straight federal salary cut. It was rejected by the House, which approved a flat 11 percent salary slash with a $200 exemption.

Chairman Jones of the Senate Appropriations Committee said the conference would get to work today with the hope that an agreement may be reached before the week-end.

The Senate resumed its labors on the appropriation bills after several months' delay pending action on the gigantic revenue and controversial economy measures. It tackled and passed the $150,000,000 war department money measure.

This was the fourth of the 10 major supply bills to be approved by the Senate. It faces a tremendous task in getting them all out of the way in time for an adjournment within the near future.

Mrs. Dorothy Lamb, county school nurse, was the principal speaker before members of the Sanford Kiwanis Club, meeting at the Montezuma Hotel Wednesday. Her subject was "County Conditions Among the Unfortunate," and she brought a clear picture of conditions in this county to the Kiwanians.

Upon suggestion of Karl Lehmann, the club's Under-Privileged Child Committee will receive from Mrs. Lamb full data on cases which require immediate attention in the county. Committee heads will issue bulletins to all Kiwanians, who are expected to see that the condition is eased or corrected, if possible.

Among those present at the meeting were: Mrs. Lamb, W. M. Lawson, Orlando, as guests; Kiwanians Homer Harris, Ray Fox, Dave Henke, E. I. Hoy, Ed Randall, H. M. Rucker, W. T. "Wet" Candidates Favored In State Primary Election

Two Gun Fights Mark Efforts To Check Crime

A trail of blood that led officers all over Georgetown during the early hours of the morning; a bag of groceries that had been riddled with buckshot, and dozens of broken windows in the Eckerson Fruit Canneries Inc., building on Thirteenth Street are mute evidences of two tense gun battles staged in this city early yesterday and early this morning.

Chief of Police Roy G. Williams, in reciting the story of the two shooting affairs, declared that he believed that they both were engaged in by the same lone robber who attempted to enter Stenstrom's Grocery Thursday morning, was frightened away, and succeeded in entering the place this morning.

According to Chief Williams, a special force has been watching out-lying business houses and garages for the past two weeks, in the hope of nabbing the persons responsible for a petty crime wave that threatens to assume serious proportions.

Yesterday morning at about 3:00 o'clock, officers cruising in a police car near the Stenstrom Grocery, opposite the canning plant, saw a man about to enter the building. They opened fire immediately after ordering the person to stop, and for several minutes, they engaged in a gun battle with the robber, who fled across the street and was firing from the rear of the canning plant.

The battle ended after 18 or more shots had been exchanged on both sides, and after officers saw the man fall to earth back of the plant. Thinking the man had been killed, police turned their attention to one of their own number who had apparently been wounded.

However, the officer was unharmed and when police went to the spot where the man was seen to have fallen, they found no trace of the robber.

This morning at about 3:00 o'clock, officers cruising near the Stenstrom Grocery noticed that the place had been entered. Venturing a guess that the robber made his way back to Georgetown from which he had come, police immediately motored toward Sanford Avenue, going by a circuitous route that avoided officers being seen on Tenth, Eleventh, Twelfth, Thirteenth, Fourteenth and Fifteenth streets.

Some of the officers hid themselves in the darkness of the Junior High School on its south side, while others took positions in that vicinity, awaiting the robber.

Their suspicion that the man would return to Georgetown was well founded, for, only a few moments after they had stationed themselves near the school, they saw a man walking along Tenth Street. This person, carrying two large sacks slung over his shoulders, crossed the street, and started to cut across the school grounds.

As he neared the school itself, one of the officers stepped forward, leveled a shotgun at the man, and ordered him to halt. Instead, the man wheeled around quick as a flash, raised a shotgun, and fired.

Upholding its appropriations committee, the Senate rejected a House provision limiting to 10,000 the number of army officers, and agreed there should be 12,000, as now.

Reversing its attitude toward other appropriation bills, it turned down 47 to 22 an attempt by Senator McKellar, Democrat, Tennessee, to send it back to the committee with orders to cut 10 percent from the $302,000,000 it carried as it came from the House.

Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, assailed the training methods of the war department in the citizens' military training camps, contending they taught opposition to the initiative and referendum, election of judges and the right of recall.

Later in the day a proposal by the Stenstrom to abandon the canning plant was ...

Martin, Sholtz Still Retain Advantages; Mrs. Owen Concedes Victory To Wilcox

JACKSONVILLE, June 10.—(A.P.)—Democratic nominations for two of Florida's contested congressional seats today had fallen to prohibition referendum candidates and a third to a repealer, while a referendum advocate and a dry will fight it out for a fourth in the runoff.

Mark Wilcox, West Palm Beach, in the Fourth District, who wants the Eighteenth Amendment repealed decisively defeated the incumbent Ruth Bryan Owen, who was a referendum candidate. Three hundred and 83 precincts out of 419 in the district gave Wilcox 53,716 and Mrs. Owen, 42,495. Mrs. Owen already has conceded defeat.

A runoff between Representative Tom Yon, dry, and Millard Caldwell, referendum advocate, appeared assured in the Third District. Two hundred and 75 precincts out of 283 in the district gave Caldwell 16,883, R. G. Patterson, 10,662 and Yon 17,067.

Nomination for congressman-at-large is up to John Anson and Joe Sears, both referendum candidates. Ten hundred and seventy precincts out of 1853 in the state gave Anson 55,388, Sears 58,949, Hall 20,206, Frank 18,476, and Jennings 11,823. H. Peterson forced Representative Urgan, Democrat, into a runoff in the First District. Three hundred and 30 out of 878 gave Urgan 36,859, Peterson 20,538 and Lowry 10,534.

John Martin in all probability will meet Dave Sholtz in the runoff for governor. Twelve hundred and 37 precincts gave Martin 63,014 and Sholtz 53,761. Harde in third place with 49,179. The standing of the other gubernatorial candidates was Caldwell, Burrance, Hart, Gomez, and Watson.

Only about 400 votes separated Anson and Lee in republican's race. Ten hundred and 81 precincts gave Anson 48,490, Lee 48,072, and Swearingin 39,484.

Nathan Mayo led Franklin King by a wide margin in the commissioner of agriculture's contest. Five thousand 99 precincts gave Mayo 97,908 and King 77,714.

Hudson Burr held a substantial lead in the railroad commissioner's race. Nine hundred and 34 precincts gave Burr 34,148 against his nearest opponent, W. D. Douglas, who had 33,876. The standing of the other candidates was Wells, Byrd, Newbern, Redding, and Davis.

War Department's Appropriation Bill Passed By Senate

WASHINGTON, June 10.—(A.P.)—Carrying 2000 more officers than the 10,000 sanctioned by the House, the $309,000,000 war department appropriation bill was approved last night by the Senate and sped to conference with the other branch of Congress.

Final approval came without a record vote.

Upholding its appropriations committee, the Senate rejected a House provision limiting to 10,000 the number of army officers, and agreed there should be 12,000, as now.

Reversing its attitude toward other appropriation bills, it turned down 47 to 22 an attempt by Senator McKellar, Democrat, Tennessee, to send it back to the committee with orders to cut 10 percent from the $302,000,000 it carried as it came from the House.

LITTLE INTEREST BEING SHOWN IN G.O.P. CONVENTION

Enthusiasm Expected To Mount Now That Budget Is Balanced

WASHINGTON, June 5.—With the problem of a balanced budget now well on its way to solution, attention of the American people will shortly shift back to the task of choosing candidates for the next presidential election.

A short time before the opening of the Republican National Convention in Chicago and the beginning of the active campaign for the presidency, political observers note here an extraordinary absence of political interest up to this time. Rarely has the nation approached the convention stage with less press attention it is said, and interest is expected to mount shortly.

Commentators here ascribe the apparent apathy to the fiscal emergency, which only lately seems to have been moderated by the rapid action of Congress; and to the fact that party platforms and candidates seem to be pretty well forecast. It is with some foreboding that politicians note the absence of pre-convention excitement.

They are asking whether the decision of the voters is made up just as far in advance as the possible party lineups, and whether the nonchalance betokens determination on the one hand "not to change barrels while going over Niagara Falls," as one Hoover supporter put it; or on the other hand a deep dissatisfaction that will express itself in a heavy Democratic protest vote.

With the renomination of Mr. Hoover and Vice-President Curtis practically assured, interest in the Republican convention centers on the prohibition plank. This is now being considered in Washington and may be drawn up before the convention, removing even the excitement of that topic at Chicago.

Mr. James K. Garfield, of Ohio, Administration choice for chairman of the Resolutions Committee, is now seeing wet and dry Republicans alike, and if Mr. Walter F. Brown, Postmaster General can be believed, the miracle has been achieved of producing a plank that will "suit both wets and dries."

On the Democratic side, attention centers suddenly around Tammany Hall and the investigation of Mayor Walker by Judge Samuel Seabury, which has brought up the question of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt's position. Governor Roosevelt now seems to be the favored Democratic candidate despite "favorite sons." He has close to a majority of delegates and is the second choice of some of the favorite sons delegations. His decision in the Tammany dispute will have a far-reaching effect on his fortunes hereafter.

If Judge Seabury prefers ouster charges against Mayor Walker the issue goes straight to Governor Roosevelt. If the latter decides to hit the Mayor he will probably lose the Tammany vote in the Chicago convention.

Shots In The Dark

In the last session of the Legislature a poll was taken on the question of who would be the next governor of Florida. The result was overwhelmingly in favor of Cary Hardee. Later a poll was taken among the newspaper editors of Florida on the same question and again the choice was Cary Hardee. Innumerable straw votes conducted in various parts of the state during the recent campaign indicated that the leader among the gubernatorial candidates was Cary Hardee. But on June 7 the choice of the people was NOT Cary Hardee.

We have no quarrel with the people over their favorite for governor. Neither have we any apologies to offer for our support of Mr. Hardee. He appeared to us during the campaign as the safest, most conservative, yet constructive man among the candidates available. He seems so yet. Whether we erred in our judgment, or the people of Florida in the primary, remains to be seen. It is, however, a source of particular gratification to us that among the seven counties in the state giving a plurality to Hardee, Seminole was one.

The choice for governor, among Democrats, has now narrowed down to Martin and Shoits. Martin is a former governor, well known to Floridians, and already discussed in these columns. Shoits is comparatively unknown. Whether citizens who voted for him gave him their support because of his speeches and his personality, or whether they were voting against the two ex-governors, is a moot question. The fact remains that he had no organization, no newspaper support outside his home county, and spent very little money on his campaign. He was, in truth, the "dark horse" about whom much has been whispered but very little believed.

We wish at this time to extend our congratulations to Mark Wilson, the new congressman from the Fourth Florida District. Though he offered no platform for his office other than repeal of the prohibition amendment, though he zealously avoided all controversial subjects in his campaign speeches except prohibition, we are willing to believe that he has ideas on other matters and that when complex questions are presented in Congress he may arise to the occasion.

The best representative any district of Florida ever had in Congress has been sacrificed to the cause of prohibition repeal. Mrs. Owen was not a fanatical dry. She, in fact, advocated reestablishment of the Eighteenth Amendment to the state to give the people a chance to express their will in the matter. But this was not enough. She must be dripping wet. Again we are glad to say that the people of Seminole County had no part in this ouster movement.

Another surprising upset of the campaign was the tremendous vote polled against Ernest Amor. We say "against," because we believe the votes received by Lee and Swearingen were votes against an existing state banking system popularly conceived to be the basis of Florida's financial ills. Neither of these two men has the experience or ability to make an efficient comptroller. The people were merely taking a shot in the dark.

Insull's Fall

The financial collapse of Samuel Insull, potent Chicago public utilities magnate, is one of many examples, during the present world-wide economic crisis, of the uncertain position which even the wealthiest men occupy. Unlike Ivar Krueger, whose break-up can be attributed in large part to his own dishonest methods, Insull appears to be merely the victim of unavoidable financial stragulation.

A patron of the arts, opera, and of public benefactions, his name had become synonymous with opulence, an opulence which was used to a great extent for benevolence. Now he has lost his fortune, variously estimated at over a hundred million dollars, and must spend the declining years of his life working for a small salary.

The illustration of his life, like many others, should have something to do with impressing people that one man's lot is seldom better than another's, so far as the benefits of mere wealth are concerned. If Mr. Insull has depended upon his fortune to bring him happiness then he is in a pitiable plight, but if his experiences have taught him that money is only a small incident in life, then he will not need or desire sympathy.

QUIZ OF BANKING SYSTEM IS URGED IN UNITED STATES

Committee Makes Report After Investigation Of Situation

NEW YORK, June 10.—Need for Congress, business leaders and the American people to give their immediate attention to a thorough study of the complex problem involved in the present banking situation with a view to necessary reorganization is stressed in a report on the banking situation in the United States by the National Industrial Conference Board recently. It characterizes the banking system as "not strictly a system but rather a heterogeneous collection of banking units operating under many and diverse laws and without adequately uniform control and regulation."

The report follows many months of research by the conference board staff and traces the various changes and influences leading up to the difficulties which banking faced in 1930 and 1931.

"These difficulties," it says, "did not develop over night because the banking system had suddenly become unsound, but rather because the abrupt changes in commodity and security prices and in production and trade revealed the fact that the system had failed to adjust itself to changing economic conditions during a long period of comparative business stability."

"If the test of a sound banking system is its ability to maintain its position and usefulness through economic adversity as well as prosperity," says the board, "the American banking system failed signally in recent years. The failure of the system to function satisfactorily under conditions of business depression revealed two serious defects. First, it showed that the functional changes that had brought it into closer relations with the security markets involved manifold risks. Second, it revealed clearly the structural weakness of a local independent unit banking system, especially the one-sided character of the burden of maintaining that system in smaller communities."

Must not the problem be faced whether a satisfactory system can be attained with legislative and administrative control of bank establishment and operation vested not only in the national government, but in the states as well? If unification of legislative and administrative control is to be attained, must there be a resort to some measure of compulsion?

What Is It?

Popular Magazine

Looking like a visitor from some strange planet, this "burned head" really is a policeman, garbed in a costume that protects him from gas. Fume-releasing material covers the body, legs and arms, while a mask protects the face and has an oxygen tank to purify the air.

Those who answer this question in the affirmative hold that there is ample legal authority for the federal government to take over the control of all banking institutions and make clear—that, if the Supreme Court of the United States should not uphold this view, the way of constitutional amendment remains open.

"Has not the time come to aim for a very material reduction in the total number of bank managements without reducing banking facilities? Branch banking, and in a less degree chain or group banking, would in a large measure substitute the services of professional management for those of amateurs in banking management. Should not all barriers to the development of these banking forms be swept away and their progress facilitated? Placing all banking under the jurisdiction of the federal government would prepare the way for such a policy, if it were deemed in the public interest."

BETTER PLAN OF HANDLING CHILD PROBLEM URGED

Hoover's Conference Gives Report Upon Child Delinquency

WASHINGTON, June 10.—More adequate methods of dealing with about 200,000 delinquent children coming before the courts of the country each year, are proposed in a report of the committee on the socially handicapped of President Hoover's White House Conference on Child Health and Protection, a summary of which has just been made public.

While concentrated effort has been brought to bear on the problem of juvenile delinquency within the past generation there has been no such amelioration of problems as might be hoped for, the committee reported. The report offers these suggestions as partial remedies:

There must develop a more effective application of the church's teachings to the age in which we live. The problems of maladjustment will continue to stagger us until this is brought about.

"Industry has a responsibility beyond that of immediate profit. We believe that the social engineer can show the significance of the cost of human waste and that industry may pay its share in the mounting cost of maladjustment."

"In the prevention of delinquency, no problem is more interesting than the reintroduction of adequate emotional satisfaction into the earning life; in the cure of the delinquent nothing is of more moment than that when he comes to earn, his job shall in itself really interest and challenge him."

"Fundamental in the present situation is the unprecedented role that the community plays in the child's life. Apartment life and its consequences, the restriction of the physical arena of family life, the easy access of outside influences through news, the automobile and the radio, constitute community influences which perhaps play a larger part in the life of the individual than any that have existed before."

"The commercialization of recreation, the national organization of recreational agencies, the syndication of news and opinion have, put these community influences beyond the control of the individual to an unprecedented extent."

"The community has not yet realized that it is responsible for building to satisfy the fundamental needs of the child and that it must not only offer opportunity for creative play, companionship and adventure, but must also protect children and young people from negative, demoralizing recreation."

LIBERAL POLICY IN GERMANY SEEN AS CABINET MOVE

Forces Of Hitler May Parade Once Again In Its Full Regalia

BERLIN, June 10.—A policy of "political liberation," which would remove some of the restrictions on free speech, is expected to be announced by the new government. Herr Adolf Hitler's Brown Shirt army beneficiary of considerable liberation in the past, will, it is anticipated, again be permitted to parade the streets of Germany in full regalia.

These changes are expected to be a decree dissolving several emergency decrees of a political character. They probably will be included with other decrees to be issued by the von Papen Cabinet over President von Hindenburg's signature the latter part of this week.

Credence is added to this report by the published statement of Baron Wilhelm von Gyil, Minister of the Interior, of decrees for peace orders to do away with "all injustice against the Nationalist movement." The Reich is expected to continue the ban against carrying weapons, also to continue the recent regulation placing all political arms under a vermin control.

This regulation is expected to be administered under direction of the Minister of Defense. It is also an indication of probable changes in the form of the organization of the Storm Troops, with a view to "purifying" them from their more radical element. As well as military detachments, it also probably includes units in the compulsory work service, which have been discussed as a means of giving employment, and undertaking public projects, for which insufficient funds are available.

Meanwhile Herr Hitler's relation to the new Cabinet is a subject open to much conjecture. One organ of the Third Reich, the Nationalist, who opposed the present government as an "alliance between Swastika and the baronial crown." Opinion is widely held that some agreement between Nationalists and Democrats existed recently. The Nationalist election in the Diet 15-20% of all the other parties. Two days after the election, the Nationalists and Democrats had absolute majority.

War Debts Cannot Be Cancelled, Says Former President

Calvin Coolidge, discussing the international war debts in the July issue of the International Cosmopolitan magazine, declares that these obligations "cannot be cancelled."

NEW YORK, June 10.—(A.P.) Calvin Coolidge, discussing the international war debts in the July issue of the International Cosmopolitan magazine, declares that these obligations "cannot be cancelled."

The former president, after reciting the circumstances connected with the various debt settlements agreed upon at the time he was Chief Executive, writes:

"I know we were not trying to overreach anybody nor trying to drive a hard bargain. The money we furnished we had to borrow. Someone must pay it. It cannot be cancelled. If we do not collect it from our own taxpayers."

Coolidge states that, at the time the settlements were made, "we were seeking to restore faith in international financial integrity for the good of the world."

While calling attention to the various loans made Europe by the United States, the writer says:

"But we got little help from specific figures or reasons for making the loans. In the main we furnished money to carry on the war. Other, borrowed it for that general purpose. After the armistice we furnished more money for food, supplies and reconstruction."

"Year after year we settled the bill of $11,000,000,000 on a present worth basis at five percent interest for $3,888,000,000. We thought that was within the capacity of the debtors to pay. We knew they must get the means to pay by producing goods and selling services. That is the way we got the means to make the loans. If we could produce the results within three years, we thought Europe could make the return to us in 62 years."

and fired once, the snail-shell whistling past the officers' heads, and entering a wooden door of the school.

Immediately the officers opened fire, emptying five charges of buckshot at the fleeing figure. Some took effect, for the man stumbled, dropped the rocks, and after running across Sintonia Avenue, disappeared in the general direction of Georgetown.

Until 7 o'clock this morning several officers followed a bloody trail that led in many directions over sand and paved streets and sidewalks, and even on the door steps of a church which the robber tried to enter. That the robber must be seriously injured is indicated in one of the prints left along the trail, where it is evident that the man lay on the ground, and bled profusely.

"Both battles were such ones," Chief Williams said this morning, "while the rest of the running plant has the appearance of having gone through a mill war."

Chief Williams believes that the man's life was saved by the large bag of groceries that he carried examination of them this morning shows that almost every article in the bag is in crackers to date, has several holes or holes.

"Love Affair" Coming To Milne Saturday

Again Ursula Parrott's equally interesting highlights the up-to-date American youth—their love, and marriage. In "Love Affair," she told a story about a modern girl, who discovered that a man "could kiss and ride away" but a woman could not. In her story, "Love Affair," which was transferred to the screen by Columbia Pictures, Miss Parrott relates the story of a modern girl—a girl who "kissed and rode away"—a girl who tried to play the love game the man's way—and failed.

But the modern girl, who found her place in the business profession, discovered the man, who adopted his emotions as well as his mind to the man's point of view? "What happens to girls who treat love as 'affairs'?"

Such is the theme of the photoplay, "Love Affair," with Dorothy Mackall and Humphrey Bogart in the leading roles, which is coming to the Milne Theater on Saturday. Other parts in this sophisticated drama are played by Hale Hamilton, Astrid Allmyr, Bradley Page and Edith Bell. Theatrical President handled the direction, so Sterling wrote the adaptation and dialogue and Dorothy Howell the story.

YOUTH IS OLD IN SHOOTING GEORGIA MEN

Year-Old Boy Captured After Chase Through Streets

ATLANTA, June 10.—(A.P.)—Two men were shot during a robbery in a store here early yesterday, and a Florida youth, captured in a chase through downtown streets and buildings, was held for a charge.

The suspect gave the name Wallace (Duddy) Hughes, alias W. V. Hughes, 18, of West Palm Beach, Fla., and confessed, police said, that he played the robbery role while drunk as hell.

The two victims of the robbery, both described as in critical condition, were W. J. Hamilton, 33, night manager of the restaurant, and G. C. Moon, 47, a street salesman, shot as he called the place on business.

Hughes was not captured until 4 A. M., four hours after the hold-up, and after another man had been detained through error.

A negro porter chased the robber through a number of downtown streets and through the corridors of the postoffice and an office building, before the trail was lost in a hotel.

In the hotel, a patrolman arrested a guest in the room adjoining that to which the robber had been traced. It happened that an Atlanta attorney, who lives at the hotel, knew the guest. He said the guest was not the type of man who would stage a hold-up, and so the lawyer started a search of his own.

He showed a window open in the room into which the robber had fled, and he and an officer went through the window onto the roof of the Georgia Power Company Building, adjoining. There they discovered Hughes. He was lying behind some structural iron work under the water tank.

Police said he offered no resistance, admitted the hold-up and that he held a pistol in his hand when found. There were three empty chambers in the pistol.

The shooting at the restaurant took place after the night manager had thought the hold-up a joke. "A boy came into the restaurant and ordered a cigar," Hamilton, the night manager, said. "He put down a half dollar. As I turned to hold up my hands, I thought it was a joke and clapped the gun down, telling the boy to get out the rough stuff as the police were just outside and would get him. But he showed he was in earnest and grabbed a $5 bill out of the cash register, running out of the restaurant."

"I jumped over the counter and took after him, grabbing him by the shoulder, but he got away. Mr. Moon was coming into the front door and I yelled for him to stop the boy. He grabbed him. Then the boy shot him and turned around and shot me." Here the porter took up the chase.

Hamilton related his story just before going onto the operating table. He and Moon were shot through the abdomen. Police said Hughes told them he had been in Atlanta only two days. The robbery took place at Hartman's restaurant at 105 Luckie Street.

Wakefield Gets Big Order For Products

As a result of the exhibit of Seminole County products displayed in the Atlantic National Bank of Jacksonville several weeks ago, the Wakefield Canning Co. of Geneva has just received a large order for guava jelly and other products from one of the larger Jacksonville restaurants.

The restaurant owner visited the exhibit, took a sample of the Wakefield product, and was so well pleased with both the quality and price that a substantial order has resulted.

Saves Fruit Trees

Here is a way to guard the orchard from spring frosts. An old airplane propeller is connected to the crankshaft of an auto engine mounted on a metal frame. A draft of air is directed on the lower part of the orchard by the propeller when the engine is started. This draws warm air from higher levels and prevents frost.

Another Distribution To Be Made Of Flour

Red Cross officials tonight stood ready to make a third distribution of free government milled flour to representatives of more than 400 Seminole County families who have already been served with flour and vegetables.

Flour will be distributed tomorrow morning at the old County Jail adjoining the fire station from 9:00 o'clock until noon. Local Red Cross officials today urged that persons living in towns near Sanford that have aided in distributing flour to the needy of those communities, call at the distributing point tomorrow, and secure a supply.

Revival Is Now Going On At Church Of God

W. J. Carpenter, pastor of the Church of God at Geneva and Sanford Avenues, this morning announced that there is a revival now going on at the church to which all persons are invited.

Featuring the revival are the sermons and songs of Battle Axe Bill, Mr. Carpenter states. As an extra feature, a prize will be awarded to the person bringing the largest number of persons in one conveyance tomorrow night. All services are held at 8:00 o'clock.

Even if I told you my name you wouldn't know me. I am just the average American. There are millions like me.

Like most people, I'm not an automobile expert, couldn't take a car apart and put it together again for the life of me—but I know what a car has to have and has to do to make a hit with me. And I'm here to say that I am a dyed-in-the-wool Chrysler fan.

I like the distinction and smartness of a Chrysler. I like the snap and dash, the smoothness and silence, the strength and safety of a Chrysler. There's something about a Chrysler that makes a fellow feel alive and up-to-date.

Believe me, when you get into a Chrysler and feel the wonderful results of its patented Floating Power engine mounting—when you drive a few miles with Chrysler's automatic clutch—stop a few times with Chrysler's hydraulic brakes—you don't need anybody's testimony that Chrysler is the most satisfying car on wheels.

I'm telling all my friends to drive Chrysler. It's the friendly thing to do.

NEWSPAPER ADS ARE ATTRACTION OF MOST BUYERS

Influence Of Advertising Emphasized At Annual Convention

TORONTO, June 10.—More than 87 percent of the women readers of newspapers and 33 percent of the men are attracted by bargain advertisements, said Mr. Joseph A. Bunting of the Daily Pentagraph, Bloomington, Ill., in addressing the thirty-fourth annual convention of the International Circulation Managers' Association, which has just completed a three-day session at the Royal York Hotel here.

These conclusions were arrived at as the result of an interview campaign among 1000 of the readers of his paper, said Mr. Bunting. Of those interviewed, he said, less than half of 1 percent admitted being influenced to read advertisements by their location in the paper. The guiding factor, according to the great majority, he continued, was the general appearance of the advertisements. When they have large striking and well conceived illustrations, with a proportionately small amount of text, they receive greater reader interest, he asserted, proving that illustrations are as valuable in advertisements as in news columns.

Home delivery circulation was much more valuable than street sale circulation, according to Mr. A. W. Cockerill, circulation manager of the Syracuse Herald, whose paper was read in his absence. The former, he asserted, means regular and not casual readers, and weather conditions have not such an effect upon it. Potential advertisers also favor it to a greater extent.

Wholesale rates must be increased to the point at which circulation revenue covers the cost of production and distribution, was the reply to a query as to the proper remedy for decreased circulation and advertising in Sunday additions. Every section of such editions, the speaker averred, must from the point of view of advertising be made to pay a share of its way at least.

Conditions in America, where 89 percent of circulation offered to buyers of advertising space is audited by the A. B. C., were contracted by Mrs. O. C. Harn, managing director of the audit bureau of circulation with the difficulty British advertisers encounter in trying to get the idea recognized by newspaper publishers that the space buyer has a right to know what he is buying.

The association, which will hold its next annual meeting in Chicago in June, 1933, chose Mr. J. T. Toler of the Constitution, Atlanta, Ga., as its new president and Mr. Clarence Eyster, of Peoria, Ill., who for many years has been secretary-treasurer, was re-elected.

Workers Of Chile Offer To Fight For Socialist Regime

SANTIAGO, Chile, June 10.—(A.P.)—Workers of Chile offered last night to take up arms in support of the new socialist government.

Labor groups, after two mass meetings, submitted to the government a proposal for the formation of a Republican socialist guard, composed of workers, who would be given arms.

The guard would assist the revolutionary junta, headed by Carlos Davila, former ambasador to Washington, any time it needed such aid.

The junta, which earlier had proposed a throng of laboring people that the welfare of the workers would be its first concern, said it would give consideration to the plan for armed assistance.

More than 5000 unemployed men demanded at a mass meeting yesterday that the government turn over to them the Club de la

Union, owned by wealthy and fashionable residents of Santiago.

The jobs asserted the club building should be used by working class people as a social gathering place.

Members of the revolutionary junta which seized power last Saturday came to the balconies of the presidential palace and addressed the throng, promising them the welfare of the workers would be the first consideration of the new government.

Chile's new socialist government pressed ahead with preparations to deal with the nation's outstanding problems.

It was announced a plan was under consideration which would bring about public operation of the sugar refinery at Vina del Mar. The refinery would be taken over from private control and would be operated by a committee. This action would be the first step toward the recently announced state sugar monopoly.

Orders were issued reopening the law courts suspended as a result of the socialist coup d'etat which ousted the regime of President Juan Esteban Montero last Saturday.

Statement Cites Triumphs Of Wet Forces Recently

WASHINGTON, June 15.—(A.P.)—Rufus Lusk, executive vice commander of the Washington branch of the Crows, today night issued the following statement:

"The sensation caused by Mr. Rockefeller's crushing blow to the drys has somewhat obscured the signs of prohibition's impending crash. For almost a week, each morning has brought fresh news of the crumbling of the dry edifice."

"During this week, a dry senator in North Carolina, the country's second most arid state, a general supporter of the Anti-Saloon League, in a disingenuous manner, finally admitted the error of his ways; every dry congressman is urged to participate in a coalition cabinet; Roman Catholic parishes were alienated by the Brethren's demands for the support of the Social Democrats and Communists. Thus the Nationalist and professional drys that control of American politics is nearing its end."

JONASVILLE, Wis.—The population of this village in southeastern Wisconsin was doubled with the arrival of one family man, his wife and their 13 children. Previously the town had 17 residents.

This lawn-edging tool can be made by attaching to the end of a five-foot wooden handle a sharp disk that has been fitted on a shaft of wood. A length of heavy flat iron is bolted to the handle and drilled for another bolt, which serves as an axle for the disk. An odd circular saw blade with a sharp edge is used for the cutting disk. Drawing shows the construction.
