Two Sides Can't Agree On Amount

City Will Pay Housing Authority Back, When . . .

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

The Sanford Housing Authority is threatening the city of Sanford with withholding its annual payment in lieu of taxes (PILOT) unless the city refunds money it paid improperly for renting office space on the ground floor at city hall.

The problem is that the SHA has asked the city to reimburse $10,891.94 when the amount in question, according to city records, is actually $12,253.32.

Under an agreement with the city, the authority pays Sanford $6,000 to $7,000 annually in lieu of taxes on the 480 public housing units it administers within the city. The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development nearly a year ago said the SHA could not properly spend its funds to rent a facility — city hall ground floor — that was built with a federal grant.

The city some months ago reimbursed some $19,000 to the federal program — Community Development Block Grant — from which that portion of the rent had been paid to the city. City Manager W. E. "Pete" Knowles said today that SHA did not have the authority to contract and spend federal money for renting the space and now is trying to correct its mistake at the expense of Sanford's taxpayers.

The city stepped in to assist the authority with its financial quandary with the federal government after Knowles determined a year ago the authority had received some $500,000 in federal money from the CDBG program for a housing rehabilitation and resale project.

The $500,000 funding was used to purchase eight dilapidated houses, refurbish them and resell to low income families.

At Knowles' recommendation the federal government cut off funding for the project. The city then assisted the authority by hiring an accountant to clean up the bookkeeping with the project and to sell materials and equipment on hand from the defunct project, returning those funds to the federal government.

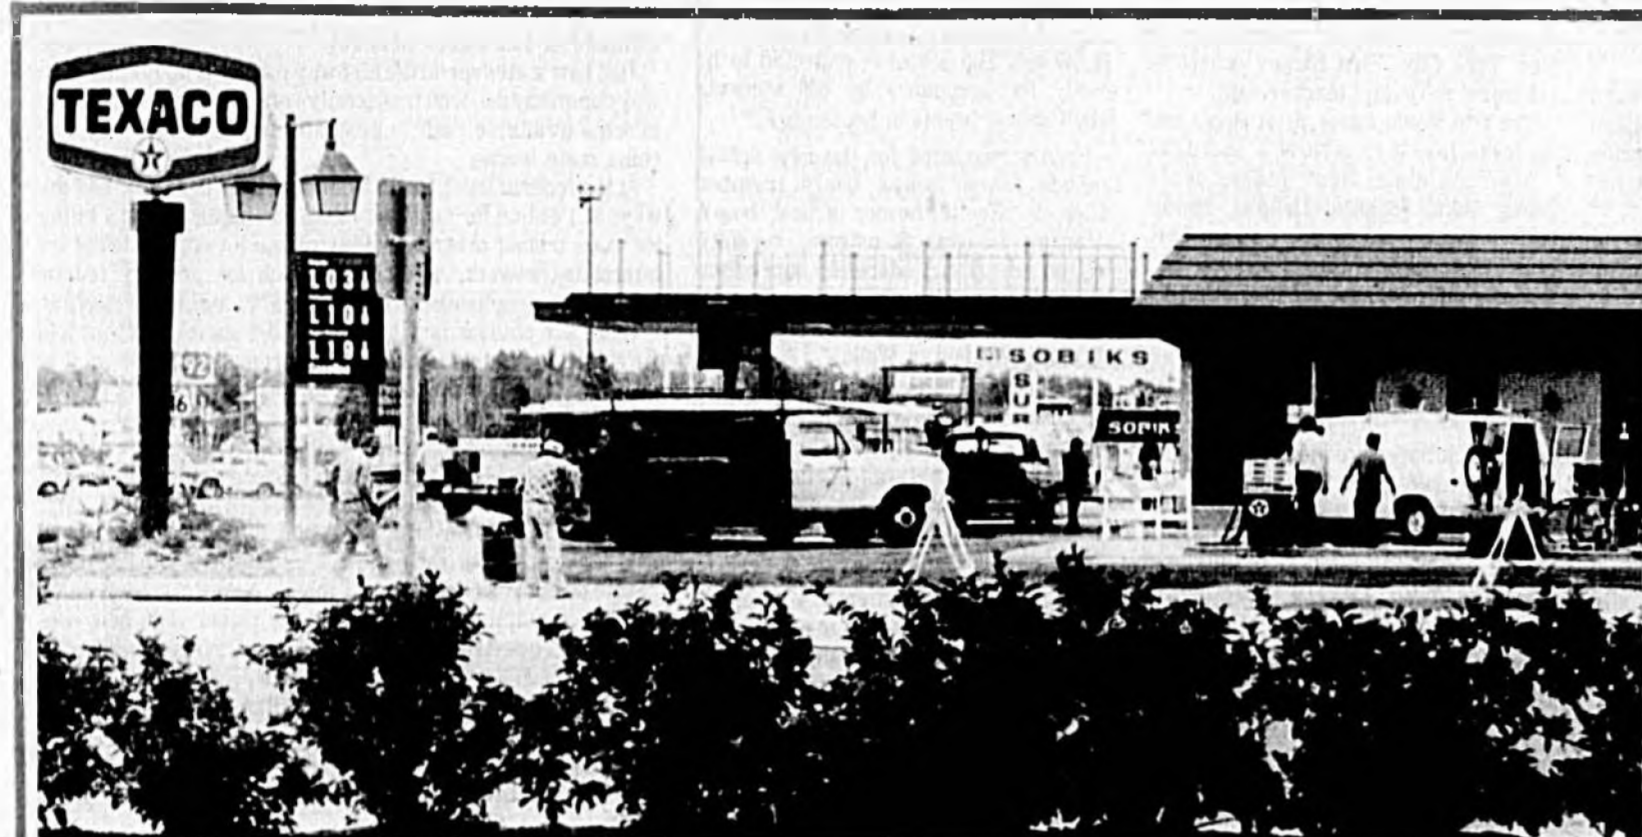

In an exchange of letters with Elliott L. Smith, executive director of the housing authority, requesting the return of rental fees from Sanford, Knowles said the $10,000 that is requested be refunded with the correct amount.

Knowles also asked the authority to provide copies of the authority's audit and auditor's statement about the refund, a breakdown of the amount requested to be refunded and a copy of the regulations under which the request was being made. The documentation was for city records.

Knowles has referred the matter to City Attorney Bill Colbert for a recommendation.

The Department of Housing and Urban Development, Jacksonville office, has instructed the housing authority to recover the rental fees improperly paid to the city or to defer payment in lieu of taxes until the city satisfies the debt.

The City Commission at its 7 p.m. meeting today will decide whether to repay the $12,000 or to take the issue to court.

BUSINESS AS USUAL

Closed for eight months since the former owner retired, a newly renovated Texaco service station on South French Avenue (U.S. Highway 17-92) at 25th Street in Sanford was reopened Saturday as Rocky's Texaco. Owned by Rocco Arbillot of Orange City, it will offer full and self-service gasoline pumps and general repairs. Jay LeDuc is the manager. The reopening of the station points to a reversing trend from a year to 18 months ago when some stations, squeezed by shrinking gas supplies, were forced out of business. Now gas supplies are great again, and the prices are dropping.

Easton Backs Idea

County May Pay For Zoo Work, But Not $94,000

By MICHAEL BEHA
Herald Staff Writer

Acting County Administrator Jim Easton will recommend that county commissioners pay for repairs to a park and road at the Central Florida Zoo.

Easton said today he is in the process of analyzing Zoo Director Al Rozon's request for $94,917 in repairs.

Rozon said in December the zoo board cannot afford to make repairs to a termite-infested picnic shelter, rotting timbers on an elevated nature trail and an access road which is eroding away.

The facilities in need of repair are in the 89-acre park outside the zoo's entrance. Under the terms of the zoo's agreement with the county, the zoo is responsible for the repairs.

But the zoo's directors want to spend money they've collected on improvements to the zoo's exhibits.

Rozon said the zoo wants to spend $100,000 collected in 1982 on a reptile house and a hooved animal exhibit.

Easton said this morning he has not yet completed work on a proposal to fund the repairs. He estimated that the work could be done for much less than Rozon estimated.

But because of the circumstances, Easton favors making the repairs.

Easton said if the zoo goes out of business, the property, leased to the zoo for $1 a year, would revert to the county.

"And commissioners would have to pay for the repairs anyway," Easton said.

There's also the question of liability, he said. If a person would be injured on any of the facilities the county could face a lawsuit.

But Easton wants to make sure the repairs are a one-time only expense.

"I want to see if they (the zoo) have a long-term financing plan and a five-year capital improvement plan," Easton said.

But this recommendation could face opposition from several commissioners.

Robert G. "Bud" Feather has expressed his opposition to the county picking up the tab for Study on possible move of zoo to Orlando due to be given board this week.

the improvements. Feather said the zoo has violated a public trust in failing to keep up the facilities.

Besides, he says, the county has other parks which are also in need of repairs.

And Robert Sturm said he doesn't want to make a decision until the results of a feasibility study on relocating the zoo in Turkey Lake Park in Orlando.

The study is expected to be given to the zoo's board of directors by Friday.

Sturm said the commission would be premature to make repairs until it learns whether the zoo is staying at its present 21-acre site near Sanford or moving to the Orlando park.

Lake Mary Hires Coach Nelson

By SAM COOK
Herald Sports Editor

Lake Mary High School Principal Don Reynolds wanted a football coach who had won a state championship. Reynolds got his man today when he hired former Bishop Moore coach Harry Nelson for the job.

Nelson, 48, won a state championship while at Bishop Moore in Orlando in 1970. Nelson replaces Roger Beathard, who resigned following a 1-9 season last year during Lake Mary's first year of varsity competition.

Reynolds hopes Nelson, who is presently teaching at Colonial High School in Orlando, will begin the new job on Jan. 24. It is contingent on Reynolds working out a teaching position with the Seminole County School Board office. Nelson will teach history and physical education.

Reynolds said Nelson's credentials and record at Bishop Moore were the determining factors in hiring the veteran coach.

"Harry Nelson's credentials at Bishop Moore were just too impressive to pass him by," said Reynolds about his new coach. "I wanted someone who had won a state championship and when I was at Seminole High, I saw him take mediocre talent and beat the fool out of us year after year."

Nelson was one of three finalists for the job. Reynolds wouldn't reveal the other two, but he made his decision over the weekend to select Nelson.

Other factors instrumental in the hiring were Nelson's ability to get along with people and high recommendations from former students and players.

"I never talked to anybody who played for him that didn't adore him," said Reynolds who queried several Sanford professional people about Nelson. "He's a great influence on the kids and I didn't talk to anybody that worked with him that didn't like him."

Nelson last coached at Colonial in 1980. During his 13 years at Bishop Moore, he posted a 65-49-3 mark. In the state championship year, the Hornets were 12-1. At Colonial (1977-80), Nelson was 17-14 in three years for an overall mark of 82-63-3.

Prior to coaching in Florida, Nelson was an assistant to Gene "Torchy" Clark, University of Central Florida basketball coach. Clark and Nelson guided Xavier (Appleton, Wis.) High School to three undefeated football seasons from 1961-63.

After three years away from the game, Nelson was itching for a new challenge which the Lake Mary post offered.

"My six guns were smoking. I needed another gunfight," Nelson said today.

"Lake Mary has good people that like their school. I'm really looking forward to it," he said.

Double Tax

Cities May Review Sheriff's Budget

Seminole County commissioners were scheduled to discuss today their response to double taxation resolutions filed by seven cities.

Acting County Administrator Jim Easton said today he will recommend that commissioners allow representatives of the seven cities "to review the sheriff's budget with us."

Negotiations between the county and the seven cities — Sanford, Lake Mary, Longwood, Winter Springs, Casselberry, Oviedo and Altamonte Springs — about claims made by the cities that they were paying $2.4 million in taxes to the county without getting any benefits eliminated all but one area of disagreement.

The cities asked the county to allow them some input into that area, the sheriff's department.

In the negotiations, the cities said they were paying nearly $1.2 million to the county for the sheriff's road patrols in the unincorporated areas of the county.

Commissioners have until Friday to respond to the claims made by the cities. If they fail to answer the cities' claims, the cities could revive a lawsuit against the county.

Commissioners also will give authorization to Helman Hurley Charvat Peacock-Architects of Winter

Park to begin design work on two projects.

Last week, commissioners met with the architects, consultant Walter H. Sobel of Chicago, judges and other constitutional officers to review plans for renovation of the courthouse and the old Seminole Memorial Hospital.

At that meeting they decided to give the architect authorization to begin work immediately on both projects, paving the way for commissioners and their staff agencies to move into the hospital by this summer.

Plans for the courthouse should be completed by June, allowing construction to begin on that facility to provide additional courtroom and office space for the circuit and county courts.

According to the time frame established last week, the commissioners' move to the old hospital should begin in June. The tax collector and property appraiser will move to the hospital between January and March 1984.

After renovation of the courthouse the clerk of courts will receive two floors in the north wing, the courts will get one floor and the tax collector and property appraiser will get the remaining floor. — MICHAEL BEHA

How far will the new 5-cent federal gasoline tax go to build new roads and fix old ones? Not far enough. See Page 2A

Man Killed, 2 Injured In Wreck

One man was killed and two others injured when a pickup truck collided with a tractor-trailer truck and overturned on Interstate 4 near Longwood on Sunday at about 10:50 p.m.

The dead man, who was in the pickup truck, had not been identified by Florida Highway Patrol by Monday noon.

The victim was trapped with the driver of the pickup, W.A. Washington of 332 N. Parramore Ave., in Orlando, and a passenger, Major Calvin Fuller of Alabama, when the truck left the road.

The injured were freed from the pickup by rescue services. The two vehicles were traveling west on the I-4 when the accident occurred about a half mile north of State Road 434. The driver of the tractor trailer, Clyde E. Nance, 54, of St. Augustine was not injured, police reported.

Police said they are having difficulty identifying the dead man, believed to be a fruit worker because he carried no identification. According to Seminole County Medical Examiner Dr. G.V. Garay the dead man was being given a lift in the pickup truck.

He said the man died as a result of a concussion of the brain. The man is 40 to 50 years old, 170 pounds, about 5 feet 11 inches tall and the little finger on his right hand has been amputated. Dr. Garay said.

Judge Hastings' $150,000 Bribery Trial Postponed

MIAMI (UPI) — Alcee Hastings, Florida's first black federal judge, dropped his bid to have his bribery conspiracy trial moved out of Miami today and won a two-day delay in the proceedings.

In a closed meeting with attorneys for Hastings and the federal government, U.S. District Judge Edward T. Gignoux agreed to postpone the start of jury selection in Hastings' trial from Tuesday to Thursday at 10 a.m. EST.

Patricia G. Williams, Hastings' attorney, withdrew a motion — with the agreement of the prosecution — that the trial be moved from Miami to Fort Lauderdale.

Hastings had asked for the change of venue because he feared renewed unrest in Miami's black areas if he is convicted.

Ms. Williams met with Gignoux in a closed meeting along with Reid Weingarten and Robert I. Richter, attorneys with the U.S. Department of Justice's public integrity section. Gignoux was expected to rule on other pre-trial motions today.

Hastings is charged with bribery, conspiracy and obstruction of justice. He is accused of planning to reduce the sentences of two Fort Lauderdale racketeers in exchange for $150,000.

Justice Department officials in Washington said Hastings appears to be the first sitting federal judge to be indicted for criminal conduct while performing his judicial duties. But he is not the first to be indicted for criminal activity.

Otto Kerner was a federal judge when indicted for crimes committed while he was Illinois governor and remained a federal judge throughout the criminal process. Several other sitting federal judges have been indicted but stepped down from the bench before the criminal process began.

His case before Gignoux also has attracted attention because of Hastings' legal moves since his indictment a year ago. He sought to challenge the charging of any federal judge as improper prior to impeachment. He sought television coverage of his trial as a method of exoneration before the public. He moved for removal of the jurist assigned to try him on grounds bias.

The prosecution, meanwhile, has found a number of key witnesses unwilling to testify.

While under investigation by a grand jury, Hastings, 46, declared, "This investigation is replete with instances of over-zealousness, lies, innuendoes, misquotes, inaccuracies, media leaks."

His attorney, Miss Williams, has presented a catalogue of 129 prospective defense witnesses. They include a number of well known figures including civil rights leader Vernon Jordan. She also listed 59 exhibits for the defense and a list of 103 questions for each potential juror.

Events leading to Hastings' indictment began in August, 1981. An FBI informant reported that Hastings would consider dismissing a case against underworld kingpin Santo Trafficante Jr. for $600,000.

The informant was a previous client of William A. Borders. See JUDGE, Page 2A.

Negotiations Move Slowly In New York Prison Siege

OSSINING, N.Y. (UPI) — Rebellious inmates holding 17 prison guards hostage met today with Ossining Correctional Facility officials bargaining for an end to a three-day, cell-block siege. A crack police unit massed nearby in case negotiations failed. Prisoners told officials Sunday all the hostages were safe. Officials did not know how many prisoners were involved in the uprising.

Gov. Mario Cuomo was being kept informed about progress of the negotiations.

Prison officials have not commented on prisoner demands, although they said there have been complaints about a lack of recreation activities. But state Sen. Ralph Narino, R-Syosset, chairman of the Committee on Crime and Corrections, said Sunday night the prisoners' main demand seemed to focus on overcrowding at the facility, which houses 2,150 prisoners. The leaders of the uprising also wanted amnesty for their actions, he said.

The takeover began at 7:40 p.m. Saturday.

Budget Decisions Due

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan will make crucial decisions on the 1984 budget this week, amid growing signs his economic principles will be tempered by political realities to head off $200 billion-plus deficits.

Administration officials hinted at the likelihood Reagan would agree to some cutbacks or delays in planned defense spending and were careful to distinguish between his opposition to higher taxes in 1984 and future years.

Their comments seemed to suggest Reagan may accept the reality of a record deficit in the range of $200 billion next year, but further compromise on taxes in later years to build confidence in the economy.

'No Social Security Taxes'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A key Republican senator, pledging to fight tax increases to bail out Social Security, says the money gap can be closed by slowing benefit increases, adding government employees to the system and making other minor changes.

Sen. William Armstrong, R-Colo., warning of the danger of more unemployment, pledged Sunday to fight any proposed tax increases to scrape together the billions of dollars needed to bail out Social Security.

The 15-member presentational Commission on Social Security Reform is up against a Saturday deadline to present its recommendations to President Reagan. The main stumbling block is whether to lean on taxes or crimp benefits to come up with cash to keep checks flowing to 36 million recipients.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: Blinding wind-whipped snows and icy rains across the Northern Plains were blamed for treacherous travel conditions that caused an airliner to skid off a runway in Minnesota, killing one passenger and injuring three others. Rescue efforts for two snowmobilers in the Big Horn Mountains of Wyoming were stymied Sunday by high winds and blowing snow that also temporarily cut off all access to one small mountain community. Two people were killed in separate accidents on snow-covered Nebraska roads and at least 10 people were injured in a 23-vehicle pileup blamed on poor visibility in near-blizzard conditions created by blowing snow near Sidney. Winds gusting to nearly 80 mph raked the foothills of northeast Colorado, and winds above 60 mph howled across southeast Wyoming and Montana's upper Yellowstone Valley. Southeast South Dakota and northeast Nebraska received 3 inches of new snow and parts of northwest Iowa were coated with 2 inches. Travelers advisories for snow were out Sunday night for southeast South Dakota where up to 6 more inches was forecast by morning. A band of snow wrapped around southwest to northeast Minnesota, threatening to dump up to 5 inches of snow on the central portion of the state.

Field Trips May Be Nixed

By MICHAEL BEHA
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County School Board members may face a ticklish problem Tuesday morning when they try to decide if several school field trips will be approved.

The board moved its meeting from Wednesday night to Tuesday morning to allow board members time to travel to state and national school board conferences which begin Wednesday.

But the board may not show the same courtesy to students and teachers planning to visit Washington D.C. and New York City.

Field trips requiring teachers to miss school days are on a list of items board members may eliminate to help make up a loss of $1.37 million in state funds. Superintendent Robert Hughes said it costs the county a minimum of $29 per day when a teacher is out of the classroom.

The board withheld approval for two overnight field trips in December but now is faced with a request from a Teague Middle School group which has already paid $6,500 for reservations in New York City. That money cannot be refunded, a Teague teacher said.

The trip would cause 64 students and three teachers to miss three school days. A second group from Teague and a group from Jackson Heights Middle School want to go to Washington D.C. That trip would take teachers and students out of school for four days.

Also Tuesday, the board will be asked to advertise for an architect to develop plans for two new school facilities proposed for construction this year.

Assistant Superintendent for Facilities Benny Arnold said the architect will draw up plans for construction of a new elementary school in Sanford, estimated to cost $2,574,000 and an addition to Oviedo's T.W. Lawton Elementary School.

The two projects top the board's list of priorities for school construction this year.

A school planned for construction this year in Winter Springs is expected to get a name Tuesday. Graham Contracting Inc., of Orlando is building the school for $2,849,000. The school is expected to be ready for occupancy by 600 students when school begins in September.

Names suggested for the new school include former school board member Allan F. Keeth, former school board attorney Douglas Stenstrom, recently retired elementary education supervisor Mary Groome, Angelin Taylor, Roy F. Mann, David L. Thrasher, Velma S. Mitchell, William J. Wells.

A variety of other names were also suggested. Among those names were Willowick, Eagle Elementary, Tuscarora, Tuscarora Trails, Meandering Trails, Wilderness Point, Sandforilla, Sandforilla, Sankawilla, Sandinole and Tuskarford.

Lake Mary Elementary School Principal Jack Frost suggested the school's name not include any reference to Tuskarwilla. The district already has a Tuskarwilla Middle School in Maitland.

Frost said Lake Mary High School and Lake Mary Elementary School often get deliveries for the other school.

Mass Burglar Suspect Faces Only One Charge

The trial was scheduled to begin in Seminole County Circuit Court today of a Longwood man suspected of having committed up to 180 burglaries using newspaper subscribers lists. But Bruce Robert Pedrick, 33, former circulation manager of the Orlando Sentinel, will face only one charge. Prosecutors, however, won't say why.

Pedrick was arrested July 24 outside the newspaper's circulation substation, State Road 436 near Altamonte Springs, reading a computer printout of vacationing newspaper subscribers, Seminole County sheriff's deputies said.

According to investigators, Pedrick read into a tape recorder the names, addresses and telephone numbers of newspaper subscribers who were expected to be out of town and the dates they would return. He would then drive to the neighborhood, telephone to make sure no one was in the house and break in, detectives said.

Assistant State Attorney Don Marblestone has said that Pedrick would be prosecuted on only one burglary charge. He declined further comment.

Brevard-Seminole State Attorney Douglas Cheshire would not comment on whether Pedrick had been granted immunity, but did say that he did not expect any further cases to be forwarded to his office.

JEWELRY, TOOLS TAKEN

A Sanford woman reported Wednesday that jewelry and tools worth more than $1,300 were missing from her house.

Linda Sergent, 40, of 117 Mayfair Circle, told police she noticed the items were missing Wednesday afternoon.

CAR BROKEN INTO

Two Volusia County men reported their car was broken into while it was parked at Seminole Community College Wednesday.

Kevin Redd, 20, of 1317 Merryfield Court, Deltona, reported that a tape player and radio valued at $100 were taken in the break-in. A wallet and $60 owned by Barry Thompson, 18, of Orange City, were also reported stolen.

RUSTLER THWARTED

The mooing of his cow at 8:30 p.m. Friday prompted Willard Ainsworth, 35, of 2860 Cameron Ave., Sanford, to call sheriff's deputies.

When deputies arrived at the scene a few minutes later, they found that someone had attached a rope around the neck of Ainsworth's cow and had tried to lead the animal away.

The mooing of the cow apparently frightened the rustler away.

David H. Kaplan, 44, of 115 Satsuma Drive, reported the theft.

PAIR ARRESTED

Two motorcyclists were arrested for reckless driving Friday night in Geneva.

Police said the pair, John Michael Braddy, 20, Rt. 1, Oviedo, and John Michael Marion, 22, Chuluota, were arrested when they were caught drag racing on State Road 46 in Geneva Friday at 11:10 p.m.

DUI ARRESTS

The following people were charged with driving under the influence of alcohol or drugs in Seminole County:

— Gerald Lee Roy, 36, of 174 Bristol Point, Longwood, was arrested at 1:35 a.m. Friday by deputies after he was observed traveling at a high speed on State Road 436. Deputies said Roy turned in an unsafe manner onto Douglas Road and finally was stopped in the parking lot of the Altamonte Springs Inn.

— Vernon Bartlett, 34, of 1106 Ash Circle, Casselberry, was arrested at 12:56 a.m. Saturday at the intersection of State Road 436 and Wilshire Drive in Casselberry on a charge of driving under the influence of alcohol and failure to yield the right-of-way.

— Ronald Velten, 36, of 408 Beth Drive, Sanford, was arrested at 2:05 a.m. Saturday along Airport Boulevard near U.S. Highway 17-92 in Sanford after he was observed driving at a high speed.

— Hussain Kassim, 42, of 403 Alderwood St., Winter Springs, was arrested at 9:25 p.m. Friday on State Road 419 in Oviedo following a traffic accident.

— Wesley Scott Steele, 18, of 2415 Key Ave., Sanford, was arrested Friday at 11:30 p.m. Police said he was unable to stay in a lane on U.S. Highway 17-92.

...Judge Hastings Faces Fall From Judicial Power

Jr., a prominent Washington, D.C., attorney, an ex-president of the largely black National Bar Association, a former member of former President Jimmy Carter's reelection campaign — and a close friend of Hastings.

Since Trafficante, accused of racketeering, was not scheduled to go before Hastings until March of 1982, the FBI took another course.

A retired FBI agent, posing as one of two Fort Lauderdale racketeers who Hastings had convicted earlier in 1981, approached Borders with $25,000 in "up front" money.

The money, according to an FBI affidavit, was part of $150,000 intended to bribe Hastings into reducing the sentences of racketeers Frank and Thomas Romano of Fort Lauderdale from three years to probation, and to lift an order impounding $1.2 million of the Romano's assets.

Hastings lifted $845,000 of the impounded property the day after Borders called the undercover FBI agent to report the deal was on, the FBI said. He set a sentence-reduction hearing for the Romanos, agents said.

The final $125,000 was given to Borders on a Friday afternoon in October 1981 in a downtown hotel in Washington, D.C., the FBI said. Hastings was in Washington at the time to attend a testimonial dinner in honor of Borders.

Borders never made it to the dinner. He was arrested. Returning to his condominium home in Fort Lauderdale, Hastings withdrew himself from the bench after being questioned by the FBI, but remained in office, collecting his $70,000-plus a year salary.

On Dec. 29, 1981, a federal grand jury indicted both Hastings and Borders charging them with conspiracy to commit bribery, defraud the United States and obstruct justice.

Borders has since been convicted and sentenced by Judge Gignoux to five years in jail.

Hastings' trial was delayed while federal prosecutors searched for witnesses. Both Trafficante, and reputed gambler Joseph Nesline, 68, refused to testify against Hastings, even when granted immunity from prosecution and later when charged with contempt of court. Borders also refused to testify against Hastings.

Meanwhile, Hastings' attorney at the time, Terence J. Anderson, argued before the 11th Circuit Court of Appeals in Atlanta that no judge should be subject to criminal prosecution until impeached and removed from the bench by Congress. He said federal prosecutors could otherwise "get even" with judges who overruled them by harassing them with charges based on flimsy evidence.

The court of appeals rejected the argument. Its ruling has been appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court.

In October, attorney Williams argued that Hastings' trial should have television coverage "as a matter of crucial im-

Gas Tax Will Only Dent Repair Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Highways and bridges nationwide are in such bad shape that all the extra money raked in by the 5-cent boost in the federal gasoline tax would cover only New York's repair bills.

The more than $20 billion the new gas tax will raise over four years would fall far short of what Texas officials say they need just to rehabilitate existing roads in the state.

A United Press International survey shows that state officials have a virtually endless list of projects that would devour the millions of extra nickels Americans will begin pitching into Uncle Sam's coffers this spring.

The gasoline excise tax will go up to 9 cents a gallon April 1 under a law signed last week by President Reagan. Reagan says the tax is a way to make highway users pay for fixing up the nation's roads, bridges and mass transit systems.

The money also will be used to finish the Interstate highway system. Overall, the road program will create about 320,000 jobs, mostly in skilled construction trades, officials estimate.

One highway research organization, The Road Information Program, last fall estimated the total price tag on bridge and highway repair or resurfacing nationwide would run to $317 billion. The higher gas tax, now authorized for four years, would generate about $22 billion if collections follow the estimate of $5.5 billion annually.

Just how states spend the highway money is up to state highway commissions, which generally rate proposed projects and allocate available cash — generally federal funds plus matching state money.

At the federal level, the $5.5 billion a year is earmarked this way: $1.7 billion for repair of interstate highways; $1.1 billion for mass transit programs; $800 million for completion of the interstate network; $600 million each for primary federal roads and miscellaneous roads; and $700 million for bridges.

There are obvious needs, and the UPI survey of about half the states indicates no shortage of projects officials want to work on as they spread the extra funds over both work on new roads and repair chores.

In New York, for example, state officials estimate needed road repairs total $4.5 billion, with bridges needing another $1 billion in work. The most visible problem is in New York City, where four East River bridges, including the Brooklyn Bridge, need $385 million in repairs.

State officials say much of the money New York gets will be tagged for maintaining existing roads rather than new construction. A quarter of the state's highway mileage is rated in fair shape and 13 percent is rated poor.

Texas officials say they need $7.8 billion just to rehabilitate existing roads, and over the next 20 years could spend $37.6 billion building and reconstructing highways. One-third of the need, they said, is in the Houston area.

Dioxin Debris Case Goes Back To Court Today

TIMES BEACH, Mo. (UPI) — Flood debris that may be contaminated with highly toxic dioxin was loaded aboard trucks to be hauled to a landfill if a judge's ban can be lifted. But residents of the landfill area said they would continue to battle the plan for hauling away the debris and said it should be disposed of some other way.

State attorneys today were scheduled at a hearing in Mexico, Mo., to ask Circuit Judge Ed Hodge to dissolve his temporary restraining order blocking the transfer of the debris to the Bob's Home Service Inc. landfill in Warren County near Wright City.

State official ordered the debris loaded on the trucks during the weekend.

Times Beach Mayor Sidney K. Hammer said residents of his town were tired of the cleanup delay.

"We are just before the point where people will be taking over on their own and getting this trash out of here," Hammer said. "We'll either burn it or put it up next to the highway (Interstate 44) by ourselves."

But emotions also were running high in Warren County, 40 miles away, where residents gathered Sunday to consider ways to prevent the Times Beach debris from being brought to a landfill in their county.

"Landfilling is not the way to dispose of dioxin," said Sandra Rogers of Wright City, who was leading a town meeting at the Veterans of Foreign Wars hall.

Warren County Prosecutor Tim Joyce, who requested the restraining order from Hodge, said there is no reason to alleviate the Times Beach problem by including Warren County in the disaster.

Joyce criticized Gov. Christopher S. Bond's handling of the debris problem and accused Bond and the Department of Natural Resources of taking the "cheap and easy way out" of storing the debris. He said Bob's Home Service is not legally permitted to take the debris and suggested incineration and storage in barrels as alternatives to landfill.

Dioxin has been linked to cancer, birth defects and liver disease in laboratory animals.

The debris was left by the Meramec River after it surged out of its banks in the first week of December.

portance directly relating to the restoration of his (Hastings') long-standing good reputation with the general public and the legal community's trust."

When Judge Gignoux rejected that and other motions including one that Gignoux disqualify himself, Hastings assailed the court for what he called "cronyism" and "prejudice."

Gignoux did grant Hastings the right to act as his own attorney and dismissed some evidence obtained in an illegal search of Hastings' office.

Alcee Lamar Hastings was born an only child, in Altamonte Springs, Fla., on Sept. 5, 1936. He graduated from Fisk University, did graduate work at Howard University and got his law degree in 1963 at Florida A&M University in Tallahassee.

Moving to Fort Lauderdale, he was denied a room in a motel on the day he arrived. It was the start of many civil rights battles that led him into politics.

"It was a personal crusade. I came down here to try to be a lawyer who was, incidentally, black. Mostly I was trying to make a living," Hastings said three years ago.

Hastings ran unsuccessfully for at least eight different political positions, losing in a 1970 stab at the U.S. Senate. In 1976 he started teaching law at NOVA University, and by 1978 he was a Circuit Court Judge. The following year he was appointed as Florida's first federal judge by then-president Jimmy Carter.

Environmentalists Get All Wrapped Up In Their Work

MIAMI (UPI) — A group of environmentalists, in mock protest of pop artist Christo's plan to wrap 10 islands in Biscayne Bay in pink fabric, wrapped the Dade County Courthouse today in pink garbage bags. The wrappers, led by Jack Kassewitz Jr., head of the National Wildlife Rescue Team, arrived at the courthouse before dawn today and tied a huge pink ribbon made of flamingo-pink plastic trash bags around the courthouse. It stayed up about 10 or 15 minutes before the police removed it.

Christo, a Bulgarian-born artist who lives in New York, has obtained permission from local and state officials to wrap 10 bay islands in five million square feet of pink polypropylene fabric.

Officer Violated Procedure

MIAMI (UPI) — For the first time since the fatal shooting of a young black man ignited three days of violence in the Overtown slum, the chief of police has admitted that the officer who fired the shot violated police procedure.

The shooting of Nevell Johnson Jr. in a video arcade by officer Luis Alvarez prompted rioting in Overtown two weeks ago. Before the rampage ended, another man was killed by police, 26 were injured and a dozen businesses looted or burned.

In an article in the Miami Herald Sunday, Police Chief Kenneth Harms admitted Alvarez had violated police procedure by going into the arcade without authorization.

Sanibel May Curb Shelling

SANIBEL ISLAND (UPI) — Hunting for seashells by the Sanibel Island seashore may soon cost unwary shellers $500 or 60 days in an island jailcell.

A "law with teeth" being considered by the Sanibel city council would make the taking or possession of shells containing live mollusks illegal on the island.

Argentines Angered By Thatcher's Falklands Trip

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (UPI) — Argentine political and military leaders condemned British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher's surprise Falkland Islands trip as "arrogant colonialism" and warned of repercussions against London.

On today's third day of her visit to the Falkland Islands, Mrs. Thatcher was visiting the main battle sites of Britain's 74-day conflict with Argentina, a Falklands official said.

The prime minister was expected to gather evidence to forestall an impending political storm next month over publication of a report critical of the government's failure to foresee the threat of Argentine invasion.

Withdrawal Talks Hit Snag

KHAIBE, Lebanon (UPI) — Israel sought several "changes" in a U.S. compromise proposal aimed at breaking a negotiating deadlock in today's fifth round of talks over the withdrawal of foreign forces from Lebanon.

In Jerusalem, an unidentified senior Israeli official said Sunday the latest U.S. compromise formula for the talks with Lebanon called for the creation of two subcommittees to discuss both nations' priorities for the talks.

Meeting alternately in the Beirut suburb of Khaibe and the northern Israeli town of Kiryat Shmona, Israel and Lebanon have failed to reach an agenda in the U.S.-led talks that begin Dec. 28.

Lebanon insists the withdrawal of 30,000 Israeli troops dominate the agenda, but Israel demands the talks first focus on security arrangements and normalizing relations between the two nations.

City Commission May Decide Tonight

Cinema-Pub Coming To Downtown Sanford?

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Denial of a zoning change to allow the old Ritz theatre to be converted into a cinema-pub will highlight tonight's meeting of the Sanford City Commission.

The commission will meet at 7 p.m. in City Hall, 300 N. Park Ave.

Also on the agenda is the proposed annexation of the ABC Conveyor property on Cornwall Road.

ABC Conveyor, which employs 45 persons, is requesting the annexation of a seven-acre tract between Cornwall Road and North Way and between County Road 427 and the Seaboard Coast Line Railroad right-of-way.

ABC's annexation request stems from the wishes of officials of nearby Jungle Laboratory who want to be annexed into the city for water and sewer services.

However, because the ABC property is between the city line and the laboratory tract, and because state law prohibits non-contiguous property from being annexed, the ABC parcel must come into the city before the Jungle property can be annexed.

ABC Conveyor Vice President Felix Moses said his firm is "being a good neighbor" to Jungle Laboratory which is expanding its operation on Silver Lake Road.

And Charles Williams and Dennis Brazier, who are leasing the old Ritz Theatre, Second Street and Magnolia Avenue, want to locate a cinema-pub there. The city's Planning and Zoning Commission last week turned down a request for a conditional use at the spot. Alcoholic beverages can be sold on those premises only with permission of the city, according to the zoning code.

The advisory board turned down the request after adjacent businesses protested and because no off-street parking is provided.

Williams said today that he is working attempting to gain permission in writing use a downtown business's parking facilities.

Williams said if the City Commission grants his appeal, he is prepared to spend about $75,000 on a complete facelift at the Ritz, including removing every other row of seats inside the theatre and installing butcher block tables. This will reduce the capacity from 400 seats to 200.

Williams said he plans to show first-run movies at the theatre and could go into operation by the second week of February.

Williams said he has a lease on the Ritz with option to buy. He said he can't understand the refusal of the Planning and Zoning Commission to approve the cinema-pub plan, adding he could show XXX movies at the site and give beer away free without city permission.

He said he plans to charge $1 admission to the cinema-pub.

Life In The 21st Century

BOSTON (UPI) — In the 21st century American men routinely will marry three times in their lives and a phone call to Japan will cost 25 cents, a professional forecaster says.

Depicting what American life will be like next century, forecaster Marvin Cetron said that more women will bear other people's children for a fee and that vast medical breakthroughs will be achieved.

Cetron, president of Forecasting International Ltd. of Arlington, Va., said at a convention Saturday that he based his predictions on a computer analysis of current events and trends.

"More women will initiate pre-marital sex," he told the annual convention of the Northeastern Retail Lumbermen's Association. "And more women will bear children for others for money. But the birth rate will fall as more emphasis is placed on sex."

Cetron, who works mostly for industrial clients, said Americans will live longer but also work longer, which will be necessary to keep up with inflation and finance a more active lifestyle.

Medicines will be discovered to cure addiction to drugs and alcohol and a non-addictive painkiller more powerful than morphine will be developed.

And, he said, the cost of a telephone call from the United States to as far away as Japan will cost only 25 cents because of satellite communications.

He said men routinely will marry three times in their lives — taking their first wife for romance, their second to bear children and the third for mature companionship.

Manmade Hearts Commonplace In 20 Years

TUCSON, Arizona (UPI) — Artificial hearts may be available to thousands of Americans in 20 years, but first the units must be made cheaper and smaller, the head of cardiology at the leading heart transplant center says.

The mechanical blood pumps will be constructed with economical tiny, rechargeable power units by the time they are widely used, Dr. Donald C. Harrison of Stanford University said Sunday in an interview preceding the start of a three-day American Heart Association conference.

The first recipient of a permanent artificial heart, retired Seattle dentist Barney Clark, is tied for life to a large, bedside, air-drive unit at the University of Utah Medical Center in Salt Lake City.

"That problem has to be overcome before it (artificial heart) will play a major role," said Harrison, who also is the immediate past president of the American Heart Association. He said only a small segment of people with severe heart disease would be candidates for an artificial heart.

"But that could be tens of thousands," he said.

The heart association said in a report issued Sunday heart and blood vessel diseases are expected to kill more than 1 million Americans in 1983. This will occur even though cardiovascular death rates have been dropping for the past 15 years.

"What we're doing is putting off premature death," Harrison said.

He said lifestyle changes such as diets with lower cholesterol and reduced smoking, as well as improved treatment and better heart-attack emergency aid are probably responsible for the 25 percent decline in heart death rates since 1968.

The heart association estimated 42,330,000 Americans have one or more forms of heart or blood-vessel disease. The great majority — an estimated 37 million — have high blood pressure.

Heart attack remains the leading cause of death in the United States.

Kuwait: No Struggling Nation

With a remarkably loose interpretation of federal law, the Reagan administration reportedly will permit Kuwait to lease U.S. public lands to drill for oil and mine mineral resources.

Apart from the question of permitting a foreign country, which participated in the 1973 oil embargo, access to our publicly owned oil, gas and other resources, the administration may be afool of the law governing such transactions.

Under the Mineral Lands Leasing Act of 1920, no foreign country may obtain federal mineral rights without offering reciprocal rights to U.S. firms.

There is no such reciprocity from Kuwait, which once expropriated oil properties within its borders that were owned by U.S. companies.

But the U.S. Department of Interior is said to have decided the reciprocity clause is satisfied by Kuwait's sale of oil to this country—an interpretation of the law certain to be questioned by both friends and foes of the administration.

The administration's obvious desire to increase commercial ties with Kuwait is understandable. Washington wants to strengthen its links with the Middle East oil nations. But where will this catering to Kuwait lead? If Kuwait obtains federal leases, other Middle East oil producers surely will bid to tap the same resources.

Before that occurs, there should be a thorough debate about letting a nation, which once turned off the oil spigot, gain control of energy resources within our own borders.

Also, an administration that espouses free trade should make sure that trade is not a one-way street. U.S. investors should be permitted the same access to foreign resources as foreign investors have to our oil and gas.

Kuwait, through its 1981 acquisition of Santa Fe International, already controls what has become the sixth largest oil company in the world. It hardly qualifies as a struggling nation that needs special treatment from the United States.

Mess In Argentina

Argentina's ruling generals have made such a mess of things that their pledge to return that country to civilian rule within a year should be cause for rejoicing, or at least relief.

The military men, who showed some signs two years ago of coming to grips with Argentina's chronic economic problems, have since failed miserably. Inflation is in triple digits and seems virtually out of control. Argentina's foreign debt totals at least $37 billion and the government is $1.6 billion in arrears on scheduled payments.

The military men, who showed some signs two years ago of coming to grips with Argentina's chronic economic problems, have since failed miserably. Inflation is in triple digits and seems virtually out of control. Argentina's foreign debt totals at least $37 billion and the government is $1.6 billion in arrears on scheduled payments.

The government's meager financial reserves were squandered in the ruinous Falklands war. This misadventure also destroyed what remained of the junta's credibility with even right-wing Argentines.

Still, as the generals bow out, the man on the street in Buenos Aires might want to hold his applause long enough to see who takes their place. The odds-on favorites at the moment are the Peronists, the political descendants of the populist movement institutionalized by the late dictator Juan Peron and his charismatic wife, Eva Duarte, better known as Evita.

A Peronist regime might be the one thing capable of making Argentines remember their generals fondly. After all, Peronist rule in the decade after World War II and again during the mid-1970s produced runaway inflation and debt. That, in turn, helped to wreck an economy that, by rights, should be one of the strongest in Latin America.

Argentina is blessed with a rich land, abundant natural resources, and an energetic, well-educated population. What too many Argentines lack is the instinct for sensible, stable politics. Given a chance next November, they may well give the Peronists a chance to try again.

If past performance is any guide, that will not prove to be a wise choice.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Hi I'm bi-coastal!"

By DONNA ESTES

The U.S. Department of Health and Human Services will undertake a study of the pertussis, or whooping cough, vaccine to determine how risky it is to children and how it can be improved.

U.S. Sen. Paula Hawkins, who requested the study several months ago, held hearings last year as chairman of the Senate Sub-committee on Investigations and General Oversight on the cost and potential adverse reactions from childhood vaccines, including the pertussis vaccine.

"Although there is widespread agreement in the scientific community that the benefits of pertussis vaccination far outweigh the risks associated with the vaccine, adverse reactions to the vaccine were acknowledged," Sen. Hawkins said. She noted that reactions range from fever and convulsions to permanent brain damage.

One British study, on which the U.S. government bases its vaccination consent form, estimates that one in 100,000 children suffers permanent brain damage as a result of the pertussis vaccine, Sen. Hawkins noted.

However, other studies, including one conducted in Scotland, have shown a higher risk factor.

"The United States has never conducted a thorough and independent study of adverse reactions of the pertussis vaccine. Until now, we have had to rely on questionable data or on studies conducted in other countries," she said.

"The study I have requested will finally provide a thorough and accurate assessment of what risks are involved in administering the pertussis vaccine in the United States."

Mrs. Hawkins, who introduced legislation last year to require the pertussis study told Health and Human Services Secretary Richard Schweiker last September that she would prefer the study be implemented administratively to avoid the need for legislation.

Schweiker said he has called for the study to be completed by May 15. "I share with you the desire to ensure that the vaccines used in preventing diseases of childhood are as safe and effective as possible," he said.

"Ninety-five percent of all school-age children in the U.S. are vaccinated against whooping cough, a disease that can be fatal," Mrs. Hawkins said.

"Clearly the pertussis vaccine can be a lifesaver, and it is vital that we restore the public's confidence in this vaccine. This study can help us reach that goal by identifying risk factors, assessing adverse reactions, and determining ways to improve the safety and effectiveness of the vaccine," she said.

Mrs. Hawkins also reports that the FBI will expand its efforts to find victims of parental kidnapping by suspending for one year requirements thought by many to cripple the effectiveness of the federal parental kidnapping prevention act.

Under the new program the FBI will suspend two controversial enforcement requirements of the act: proof that the child is in physical danger or the victim of abuse or neglect, and authorization to prosecute parental kidnapping complaints from the Justice Department's Criminal Division.

Mrs. Hawkins, who sponsored the "Missing Children Act," recently signed into law by President Reagan, said the new law and the FBI's new policy together provide tremendous potential to find missing children.

She noted that it is estimated that 100,000 children in this country are the victims of parental kidnapping.

JEFFREY HART Shooting Of The Pope

MEMO TO GEORGE SHULTZ. Yes, Mr. Secretary, it is damned inconvenient, but the Soviet plot to kill Pope John Paul II is now coming out into the daylight. Efforts on the part of the U.S. diplomatic establishment, including some of your own employees, to shove the toothpaste back into the tube will be futile and are very likely to be embarrassing to the U.S. government.

Stories have been planted in the press suggesting that the whole plot is mere "speculation." Diplomats and CIA personnel in Rome have told the Italian government that it has no "proof" that the Soviets were involved. The Soviet embassy in Paris has circulated a demand that the French media spike the story.

It won't work. As soon as Claire Sterling laid out the facts in her now famous Reader's Digest article, followed up by a stunning Marvin Kalb NBC-TV news special, the rock had been turned over. We now have a cover story in Newsweek and a feature story in Time.

Andropov has a problem. Except that Andropov cannot be impeached, he knows how Nixon felt in 1973. His problem is that he authorized the assassination attempt against John Paul II, and has been found out. The problem is not going to go away.

The facts are now widely known. Mehmet Ali Agca, the Turkish gunman, was not a political fanatic or madman loner but a professional killer.

After killing a Turkish editor and being sentenced to life, Agca walked through numerous locked doors to freedom — obviously sprung from prison through the payment of heavy bribes.

He made his way into Bulgaria, the most tightly controlled police state in the Soviet empire, and stayed at the best hotel in Sofia. He was provided with expertly forged papers, stamped with a genuine Bulgarian visa, and was provided with a gun. He left Bulgaria $50,000 richer than when he entered, and, en route to the Vatican, junketed around Europe.

Agca has named names, and his Bulgarian contacts are being rounded up by the Italians. He has described in detail the interior of the apartment of the Bulgarian official who was his control.

The Bulgarian secret service is merely a branch of the Soviet K.G.B. It is inconceivable that a plot of this magnitude represented the whim of some middle-level Bulgarian official. The head of the K.G.B. at the time was, of course, Yuri Andropov.

Why is Agca singing? The Italians told him that they could no longer keep him in solitary, and planned to put him in with other prisoners. In which circumstance he might live, at most, 15 minutes.

Mr. Shultz, it is obvious that the American establishment wished the whole thing would go away. It is an international embarrassment. Comrade Andropov has rudely torn the mask of illusion from the reality of Soviet international behavior.

This Pope affair threatens the resumption of détente. It throws into jeopardy the idea of further lavish economic credits to the Soviets. It cannot fail to make people look for the joker in any Soviet arms control proposals.

More profoundly, it reveals — though hardly for the first time — that the men who run the Soviet Union are not only reckless but, to use an old-fashioned word, evil.

Conservatives Eye Pentagon Waste

WASHINGTON — For years I have been crying out against the prodigious waste in the Pentagon. Like others who believe the best hope for peace is a military deterrent, I have warned repeatedly that giving the Pentagon brass hats a virtual blank check for arms expenditures really produces less bang for more bucks.

I had high hopes that Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger would rein in the runaway spenders in the Defense Department. Some conservatives shared this hope. In fact, less than two months after President Reagan was inaugurated, a rockribbed conservative group called the Committee on National Security compiled a report for me which pinpointed some $32 billion that had been wasted on various military programs.

Now, after two years of supposedly tight-fisted management by Cap the Knife and his cost-cutters, another eminently conservative group has issued a stinging report on the

ROBERT WALTERS

Energy Conservation

WASHINGTON (NEA) — In a series of administrative actions which defy rationality, the Department of Energy is waging a determined campaign to discourage energy conservation in the nation's 83.5 million households.

Ignoring its mandate to promote the efficient use of energy, DOE finds itself isolated from scores of state governments, consumer organizations and industry groups which oppose the department's indefensible position.

At issue is the provision of the National Energy Conservation Policy Act of 1978 which requires that DOE formulate mandatory nationwide energy efficiency standards for more than a dozen household appliances. The appliances include furnaces and space heaters, central and room air conditioners, clothes washers and dryers, humidifiers and dehumidifiers, ranges and ovens, refrigerators and freezers, water heaters, dishwashers and televisions.

According to the General Accounting Office, four of those items — furnaces, water heaters, space heaters and central air conditioners — are responsible for almost 15 percent of the country's total energy consumption while the remaining appliances account for an additional 5 to 7 percent.

DOE began the elaborate rulemaking process required to implement the congressional mandate in 1979, but the process was suspended in 1981 after two House Republicans warned President Reagan that the proposed standards "threaten to create multi-billion (dollar) havoc in the appliance industry."

Most appliance manufacturers would indeed prefer no standards whatever but they already are confronted by energy efficiency standards for some or all of the appliances in 41 states and would rather deal with uniform national requirements than disparate state standards.

Moreover, at least one progressive firm — the Carrier Corp., one of the country's leading producers of home heating and cooling equipment — believes that establishment of energy efficiency standards for central air conditioners, furnaces and water heaters is imperative.

"Anything less than immediate promulgation of minimum standards for this type of equipment is simply not in the nation's best interests," says Edward A. Bally, Carrier's director of industry relations.

Establishing readily attainable minimum efficiency standards only for central air conditioners, Carrier notes, would produce annual savings for consumers equal to almost 44 million barrels of oil — valued at more than $1.3 billion at current price levels — by the end of this century.

In addition, improved efficiency would reduce the summertime peak demand for electricity by more than 26 million kilowatts, Carrier says. Since it costs utilities about $1,500 to provide each new kilowatt of generating capacity, they could save an additional $39 billion in construction costs.

But the Department of Energy, citing "the inherent diseconomies of governmental regulatory interference in the market-place" as its rationale for resisting impositions of any standards.

To justify that position, DOE relies upon the provisions of the 1978 law which waive the imposition of standards if it is found that they are not technologically feasible or economically justified or that they would not result in significant energy conservation.

But the General Accounting Office, in a scathing report, concludes that DOE reached those conclusions through a "highly questionable" decision-making process in which data was blatantly manipulated to reach preconceived conclusions.

States which have imposed their own efficiency standards will have those initiatives automatically negated by DOE's "no-standard standard" and will be able to gain reinstatement only if the department acts favorably on their petitions for special waivers.

The department already has rejected any standards for clothes dryers and gas ranges and ovens. Later this year, it probably will take the same short-sighted action with regard to all of the remaining appliances.

ROBERT WAGMAN Lawmakers' Pay Raises Necessary?

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The House and Senate pay increase was part of the continuing resolution passed in the lame-duck session.

The House gave itself a 15 percent increase, hiking members' annual salaries to $69,800 from the current $60,662. The Senate wanted to avoid the political heat of directly voting itself a pay raise. Instead, it voted to maintain the current salary, but to eliminate any cap on outside income. This gave senators a larger raise than they would have gotten by voting in a 15 percent hike, but keeping the $25,000 ceiling on income from honorariums.

As always, this year's debate about congressional salaries was framed almost completely in political terms: At this time of wide-spread unemployment and economic upheaval, could a congressman vote himself a raise and then go home to face the voters? This debate ignored the reality — which is that congressional pay is, in fact, inadequate.

When the new members of the 98th Congress met in Washington just before Thanksgiving, old hands told the freshmen what to expect, what to avoid and, in general, how to get the job done. Several speakers gave the newcomers some blunt advice: If you plan to live on your congressional salary alone, you'd better be prepared for some tough times.

The facts are simple. Since 1977 the Consumer Price Index has risen 60 percent. White-collar salaries paid by private industry have risen 55 percent. In the same period, congressional salaries have risen 5.5 percent.

With 12 million people unemployed and the average U.S. income for a family of four set at about $23,000, it's hard to explain why a congressman can't make ends meet on $60,000 a year.

However, that congressman has expenses that are almost unique. He is expected to maintain two households — one in his home district and one in Washington, where the cost of living is perhaps the highest in the United States.

Take the case of Rep. Ken Holland, D-S.C. When he first came to Congress eight years ago, Holland assumed that money would be the least of his problems — but he quickly learned the financial facts of life. Holland moved his wife and four children to Washington, but found that his monthly utility bills were higher here than the cost of his four-bedroom home in South Carolina. By 1982, he had moved his family back to South Carolina and was living in his House office. Like him, more and more congressmen are leaving their families at home and are either sharing small apartments or actually living in their offices.

This year, the financial strain became too much. Holland, a bright, well-respected legislator, resigned to return to the practice of law — admitting, very honestly, that he now will be able to at least double his congressional salary.

The congressmen's plight tends to elicit little sympathy, and many people offer the knee-jerk response that anyone who can't make ends meet on $60,000 a year shouldn't run for office. However, this would mean that the only candidates would be the independently wealthy or those who, in the private sector, would be unable to match a congressional salary.

at the once-hallowed Pentagon.

The conservatives' somewhat-embarrassed disillusionment with the defense establishment was expressed by Heritage Foundation spokesman Herb Berkowitz this way.

"For years the liberals threw money at social problems hoping that they would go away. They never did. So they asked for more money each year. The same applies to defense. We keep saying we're falling behind and keep throwing money at the Pentagon. The public has already soured over defense spending. If things continue this way, we will only destroy the national consensus behind a strong defense."

The foundation report says bluntly: "Our defense establishment has stagnated." It gives these explicit reasons:

— Resources wasted on fancy weapons that are "prone to break down," when simpler, cheaper alternatives are available.

— The Pentagon is not prepared to meet

"the threat of conventional forces (to) vital American interests ... We are forced to rely on the nuclear threat when we no longer possess ... nuclear superiority."

— Massive increases in the unit cost of weapons systems, due less to inflation than to "the policy of focusing almost exclusively on complex hardware and unrealistic budget planning and management." The cost escalation forces a reduction in the number of weapons produced.

— Inadequate cost-saving initiatives. The Pentagon's projected $11 billion savings over seven years will be a drop in the bucket. Cost increases for major weapons programs alone are estimated at a staggering $277.5 billion over a 20-year period.

Footnote: When the Heritage Foundation speaks, the Reagan administration listens. White House Counselor Ed Meese is expected to advise President Reagan to endorse the foundation's recommendations publicly.

Mona's 20.6 Bursts Leave Opponents Crying

By CHRIS FISTER
Herald Sports Writer

When Seminole High girls basketball coach Ron Merthie designated Mona Benton as the team's captain this season, he knew the 5-8 guard could handle the responsibility even though she was just a sophomore.

After all, Benton played with the Lady Seminoles as a freshman last season and led the Seminole 15 and under AAU team to the nationals in Boston over the summer.

And, in 12 games this season, Benton has shown she is worthy of the role as team captain.

"I gave Mona the responsibility of captain because she was showing leadership qualities," Merthie said.

Prep Basketball

"She is consistent in doing what I ask of her. She comes to practice every day and has never had an attitude problem. She does the type of things I like for a team captain to do."

Benton didn't know she was going to be the Tribe's captain until the first game of the season. "I'm proud to be the captain in my sophomore year," Benton said. "I hope I can come out and be a leader and show that I can play as a sophomore."

From the opening game of the 1982-83 season, it was evident that Benton was ready to be a leader. Now, after 12 games, Benton is averaging 20.6 points per game as the Lady Tribe has recorded an 8-1 record, 5-2 in Five Star Conference play.

Benton has hit 40 of 78 free throws for 51 percent and is second on the team in assists with 39, an average of 3.2 per game.

"She is rapidly improving in ability," Merthie said. "She has more confidence and is taking the initiative. She shoots the ball well and handles pressure situations well."

Benton's basketball career began when she made the seventh grade team at Lakeview Middle School. But, it was her brother, Keith, that taught her the most about the game in the early going.

"I used to watch the boys play all the time and just picked up on the game from that," Benton said. "Keith took me out and taught me a lot and then I made the team at Lakeview."

Benton emerged as a scoring machine at Lakeview when she led the Mustangs to two SYSA championships by averaging 40 points a game.

While a ninth grader at Crooms, Benton made the Seminole varsity and earned a starting role as a freshman.

The Seminole captain has a goal of helping the Tribe to the district championship this season and has another two years to do it if the Lady Seminoles fall short this season.

But, with Benton leading the way, Seminole won't come up on the short end too many times.

"I'm pleased to have played a part in her career," Merthie said. "She has the attitude and ability to go a long way."

Mona Benton, Seminole High guard, tosses in a jump shot against DeLand. Benton is averaging 20.6 points a game as a sophomore.

Tonight

8 p.m. Seminole vs. Lake Brantley girls at Seminole Community College
Two Five Star Conference foes clash at a neutral site tonight since Brantley's gymnasium floor is not finished. Seminole has an 8-4 record and is 5-2 in the conference while the Lady Patriots stand 4-9 and 3-4 in the conference.
Seminole's starting lineup includes: Mona Benton (10.6 scoring average), Maxine Campbell (8.8 average), Arlene Jones (8.4 points per game), Patricia Campbell (7.8 rebounds) and Dieder Hillery (13.1 points, 10.8 rebounds).
The Lady Patriots are led by Rhonda Vazquez (11.9 points), Linda Trimble (12.4 points, 7.4 rebounds), Michelle Brown (8.1 points, 5.7 rebounds), Kara Pritchett (8.2 rebounds) and Linda Nunez rounds out the starting five.
At 6:15 Seminole's junior varsity goes for its sixth straight victory. Coach Sonya Manley's squad is led by high scoring Andell Smith and Temika Alexander.

8 p.m. Apopka at Lake Mary girls
The Lady Rams should get back on the winning track tonight against Apopka. Friday night, Lake Mary was dumped by Winter Park, 60-39 at Winter Park. Lake Mary, 8-3, is led by Laura and Peggy Glass, both averaging over 10 points per game. Kim Averill who does it all and assist leader Lisa Gregory. Michelle Swartz, who had an impressive game against Winter Park (10 points, 4.4 free throws, 8 rebounds), also starts for the Lady Rams.
JV action starts at 6:15, players to watch for the Rams include Karen DeStetter, Becky Bellows, Tasha Coleman and Lisa Simkins.

7 p.m. Osceola vs. Crooms at Seminole High
The Panthers are riding a 44 game winning streak which extends over three seasons and coach John McNamara's squad is 10-0 this season.
Starters include Robert Hill, Alvin Jones, Daryl Williams, Mike Wright and Melvin Brinson.

Phelps Dunks Vikings

By SAM COOK
Herald Sports Editor

As Seminole Community College center Luis Phelps headed for the locker room Saturday amidst an entourage of young admirers, injured teammate Rudy Kulper wandered by and said, "Nice game, Lu. I'm not coming back. You don't need me."
"You better come back," retorted Phelps. "I'm tired of getting beat up." Not as tired as St. John's Junior College was Saturday night at SCC. Phelps, a 6-8 freshman from Brooksville, personally took apart the Vikings with 29 points, 12 rebounds, seven blocked shots and four exhilarating dunks as the Raiders broke open a tight game in the last 10 minutes for a 71-59 victory.

The victory was the first in Division II for SCC and raised its overall record to 11-6. The Raiders, 1-0, take on Division II favorite Lake City Wednesday night. The Timberwolves, 1-0, are ranked 11th in the nation and No. 1 in Florida. The game is at Lake City. They are led by 7-3 center Lester Fonville.

Phelps, meanwhile, must have looked that big to St. John's Saturday. The Vikings had no starter over 6-5 and the personable ex-Spring Hill standout pretty much had his own way most of the night. "I try not to think about their (St. John's) size," said Phelps after the game. "It was pretty easy at first but then they started zoning me and I couldn't get the ball."

Sanford's Keith Whitney had a solution to that. The 5-9 guard started popping from the outside. He hit three in a row from the 18-22 foot range to pull the Raiders within 35-34 at halftime.

Phelps and Whitney totaled in 14 points each in the first 20 minutes, although the Vikings controlled the action with their heater-skeler type of play.

"We played right into their hands in the first half," admitted coach Bill Payne about the 2-12 Vikings. "We were just running up and down the court and acting wild.

"But Luis (Phelps) had his best game for us. He had some awesome dunks. And Keith (Whitney) played well. It was nice to see him have a good game."

Whitney finally put the Raiders ahead for good with 13:30 to play with a jumper from the corner. Sixth man Ricky Sutton followed with a bucket and freshman Delvin Everett sent the fans up for grabs with a rousing slam off a fastbreak for a 47-44 lead.

Everett's rebound basket, a Phelps' dunk and Everett's rebound up put the game out of reach, 62-52, with 4:10 to play.

"When Keith starts hitting from the outside, it opens up the middle," said Phelps. "I think I had my best night tonight. My points, rebounds, blocks and slams all came together."

Phelps had a lot of help on the boards from Everett. The 6-5 Apopka freshman had 11 rebounds while Bernard Merthie had nine. Whitney and fellow guard Jimmy Payton each had five assists. Phelps and Payton had two steals.

SCC hit 25 of 58 shots for 42 percent. The Vikings connected on 21 of 55 for 35 percent. Phelps hit 10 of 21 for his career high and 9 of 12 free throws. Whitney hit 8 of 15 and 4 of 5. Everett added 12 points.

The status of Kulper, the Raiders' 6-10 center and leading scorer, however, is still unknown. "I can't run on it yet," said Kulper about his badly-sprained ankle.

4th-Quarter Scores Doom Bucs

IRVING, Texas (UPI) — At the end of one of those Twilight Zone kind of games that are filled with oddities and big plays and opportunities forever lost, it was left to a man who has been a part of both organizations to sum up Dallas' 30-17 win over Tampa Bay in the opening round of the NFL playoffs Sunday.

"Dallas knows how to play for the money," said Tampa Bay defensive lineman Dave Stalls. "That's for sure." Stalls should know since he was part of the 1977 Dallas Cowboys, the group that won Super Bowl XII. And he also knows that on a surprisingly mild January afternoon, his team let one slip through its fingers just when it appeared the Tampa Bay Buccaneers were ready to bury the most experienced playoff team the National Football League has ever known.

As much as any of the eight first-round playoff games, it was a contest marked with strangeness.

Dallas quarterback Danny White went into the game with a badly sprained thumb and an infected tooth that required the work of a dentist only a few hours before the game. But despite all that he threw a career-high 45 passes and completed 27 for 312 yards and two touchdowns — all against a secondary depleted by injuries.

Tampa Bay quarterback Doug Williams was also hurt, plagued with a hamstring pull, and he could manage only eight completions in 28 attempts.

But for more than three quarters the Bucs frustrated the Cowboys, had taken advantage of curious bounces of the ball and were leading 17-16.

Linebacker Hugh Green had plucked a fumble by White out of the air and run 60 yards with it for a touchdown. Mark Cooney had intercepted a White pass and returned it 50 yards to set up a Bill Capece field goal.

And Neal Colzie had deflected a pass to teammate John Holt for another interception in the end zone, an event that was quickly followed by a 49-yard scoring throw from Doug Williams to Gordon Jones with less than two minutes left in the third quarter.

But now, because of two penalties called against Bucs offensive tackle Charley Hannah, the Bucs were backed up at their own 12-yard line in the first moments of the fourth quarter. One big play, however, and the Bucs could put Dallas away.

Instead, it was rookie defensive back Monty Hunter, an obscure fourth-round draft choice from a school with an enrollment of 1,000, who made the play. Hunter appeared in front of a Williams pass at the Tampa Bay 19-yard line and sprinted into the end zone for the touchdown that put Dallas in front for good.

Dallas gained 456 yards to 218 for the Bucs, picked up 29 first downs to Tampa Bay's eight and owned the football for 40 minutes to 20 for the opposition. But if it had not been for Hunter, the Cowboys might well not be looking forward to playing the Green Bay Packers next Sunday in the conference semifinal round of the Super Bowl tournament.

"I cannot believe this happened," said Hunter, the Salem (W.Va.) College product who had never before intercepted a pass in the NFL. "I had outside coverage and my man broke inside. So I just stopped and turned into my area and the ball came right to me. "I was nervous to start today because this was the biggest game I've ever played in. But as it progressed the jitters went away."

Hunter's touchdown was the second of the three that Dallas mustered against the typically brutal Tampa Bay defense.

Rafael Septien kicked two early field goals, both of 33 yards, before Green picked off White's fumble in the second quarter and suddenly made a game of it. White threw a 6-yard touchdown pass to Ron Springs with 35 seconds to go in the first half to put the Cowboys in front 13-10 and, after Hunter's score, White wrapped things up with a 10-yard touchdown throw to Timmy Newsome.

Woodley, Miami March Past Pats

MIAMI (UPI) — The Miami Dolphins have won their way to a rematch of the 41-38 "miracle that died" playoff loss last January to the San Diego Chargers.

The Dolphins whipped the New England Patriots 28-13 in the opening round of the AFC playoffs Saturday and San Diego followed Sunday with a dramatic 38-21 defeat of the Pittsburgh Steelers.

As the second-seeded team, the Dolphins will be the hosts in the second round of the Super Bowl tournament.

In the Dolphin-Charger classic last January, San Diego took a 24-0 lead before the Dolphins clawed back to go ahead in the second half — only to lose on a 29-yard field goal in overtime by Ralph Benirschke.

The rematch had been set for a Monday night in November, but that was wiped out by the NFL players' strike. Veteran guard Bob Kuechenberg is one of only two current Miami Dolphins who have been to the Super Bowl, and he thinks the team has what takes to go back this year.

"The team that goes to the Super Bowl is the team that gets hot right now," he said. "And it looks like our offense is coming together just at the right time." The Dolphin offense rolled up 214 yards on the ground and 234 through the air Saturday in its best performance of the season.

In the other AFC semifinal matchup, the New York Jets, 7-3, are at the Los Angeles Raiders, 9-1, Saturday. In the NFC, Minnesota, 6-4, is at Washington, 9-1, Saturday, and Green Bay, 6-3-1, is at Dallas, 7-3, Sunday.

Playing at Riverfront Stadium, the Jets trailed, 14-3, in the first period before Freeman McNeil, the NFL rushing leader, crashed through the Cincinnati defense for a postseason record 211 yards on 22 carries in powering New York to a 44-17 triumph over the Bengals.

At Pittsburgh, Dan Fouts threw three touchdown passes — two to Kellen Winslow in the final period — to rally the Chargers to a 31-28 triumph over the Steelers. His 12-yard hookup with Winslow came with a minute left in the game as San Diego rebounded from a 20-17 deficit entering the fourth quarter.

At Minneapolis, less than five minutes after Mick Luckhurst kicked a 41-yard field goal to give Atlanta a one-point lead, Ted Brown dashed off left end for a 5-yard TD with 1:44 left to propel Minnesota to a 30-24 triumph over the Falcons.

Marcus Allen ran for two TDs and Jim Plunkett passed for 386 yards to power the Raiders over Cleveland

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Lyman Blanks Terry Parker; Seabreeze Blitz Numbs Rams

United Press International

Lyman's Keith Young and Ronnie Hollenbaugh booted first-half goals Saturday as the Greyhounds blanked Jacksonville Terry Parker, 2-0, in prep soccer action at Longwood.

The Greyhounds shutout goal keeping from senior John Pinkley and junior Ben Ritter to improve their record to 3-1 for the year.

"Pinkley had a relatively easy first half," said coach Tom Barnes. "He made one decent save. Ritter did a good job in the last 30 minutes of the game."

Young scored first when he took the ball down the middle zone, dodged left and kicked the ball inside the far post. Hollenbaugh scored on a dead ball play from 40 yards out 13 minutes into the first half for the final 2-0 outcome.

On Friday, the Greyhounds travel to Lake Mary to take on coach Larry McCorkle's Rams. The junior varsity match begins at 5 p.m. The Lake Mary girls play at 8:30 p.m. The boys get under way at 8 p.m.

The Rams, meanwhile, dropped a 5-2 decision to Daytona Beach Seabreeze Friday to fall to 5-3 for the season.

Goals by Donald Kelly and Andre Sanders gave Lake Mary a 2-2 deadlock at halftime, but Seabreeze broke loose for three second-half goals to take the 5-2 decision.

"Seabreeze is a high-pressure team," said McCorkle after the loss. "They put a lot of pressure on our defense and we couldn't handle it. I was disappointed the way we fell apart at the end."

The game was deadlocked until the final 15 minutes when Gary Jones, A.J. Connelly and Rick Moreno scored goals for the win. Moreno came with just 30 seconds to play.

Despite the setback, McCorkle praised backup keeper Mike Dunlap who was upbidding for Joe Dalton who was sidelined with a knee injury.

"Dunlap made two or three tremendous saves," said McCorkle. "But he was playing hurt (knee) too and there were probably a couple others he would have gotten to if he had been healthy."

Seabreeze had 23 shots on goal.

Lake Mary's goal came when Sanders kicked in a rebound to tie the game at 1-1. After Moreno beat the Ram defenders for a 2-1 lead, Kelly rammed in his 14th goal of the year for a 2-2 halftime standoff.

In other action Saturday, Lake Brantley scored two second-half goals to knock off Bishop Moore, 2-1.

Adversity Doesn't Stop Bucks

United Press International

The Milwaukee Bucks are proving they can play through adversity.

Despite losing starters Bob Lanier and Brian Winters to injuries in the last few weeks, the Bucks have continued to win. Sunday night, they put together another strong effort and topped the Phoenix Suns, 106-96, at Milwaukee.

The Bucks have missed Lanier's rebounding, but Dave Cowens came through against Phoenix with 11 rebounds, Marques Johnson had 10 and Alton Lister nine as the team out-rebounded the Suns, 50-36.

"I don't know if we can play much better than we did tonight," said Bucks' Coach Don Nelson. "We're getting better on the boards; in fact, we've been consistently better over the last 10 games."

With Sidney Moncrief scoring 24 points and Johnson adding 20, Milwaukee was able to hold on even though the Bucks, who had led by 11 points several times in the second period, were up by only 84-81 early in the final period.

The Bucks, who lead the Central Division, outscored the Suns, 14-6, with four points each by Johnson, Moncrief and Junior Bridgeman to take a 98-87 lead with just over three minutes left.

"Milwaukee played very well," said Suns' Coach John MacLeod. "They played a strong second half ... They were really impressive."

In other games, New Jersey topped Detroit, 110-102, and Portland downed Seattle, 110-101.

Stars Caught Short-Handed

United Press International

Careless thieves get caught red-handed. Careless hockey teams get caught short-handed.

Both Hartford and Minnesota were careless Sunday and paid for it with losses because of short-handed goals.

The Philadelphia Flyers got two short-handed goals 23 seconds apart in the second period to break a 2-2 tie and delighted a partisan crowd at the Spectrum with their ninth straight victory, an 8-4 decision over the Whalers.

In Chicago, Rick Paterson's short-handed tally in the second period also snapped a 2-2 deadlock and the Black Hawks went on to a 6-3 victory over the North Stars.

The Flyers' Mark Howe and Bill Barber scored at 14:05 and 14:37, respectively, while teammate Mark Taylor was in the penalty box. Howe took a feed from Bobby Clarke and beat Hartford goalie Mike Veisor and Barber followed with a hard wrist shot for his score.

"The two short-handed goals were the definite turning point," said Clarke. "We took advantage of the little breaks and turned them into big goals."

In other games, Buffalo routed Los Angeles, 7-2, the New York Rangers edged New Jersey, 4-3, Detroit bumped Edmonton, 4-3, and Winnipeg trimmed Pittsburgh, 4-3.

Morgan Drops Bird In Tuscon

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — Gil Morgan felt he was long overdue on two fronts — a victory on the PGA tour and a birdie putt to fall.

He got both Sunday and won the $54,000 first prize in the Tucson Open on the second playoff hole.

Morgan sank a 28-foot putt on the 467-yard, par-4 second hole of the Randolph Park North course to beat Lanny Wadkins and Curtis Strange.

"I was long overdue for a win," said the 36-year-old optometrist, whose last victory was at the 1979 Memphis Open. "I've been in contention numerous times, but I either played bad or someone else played better."

Morgan said he was not happy with his putting in the 3-under par 67 final round that sent him into the playoff.

"I couldn't make the birdies at the start, I made two real fast and I was thinking if I could just make one more, I could get into the lead," Morgan said.

YOUNGER BROTHERS

Lake Mary's Tom Olson (bottom) has his hands full with Lyman's Scott Andrew, brother of ex-Lyman standout Todd, whipped Olson, 8-1, in a battle between two of the county's best freshmen grapplers. Lyman and Lake Mary tied, 29-29, Friday night. Olson is the younger brother of Bob, the Rams' fine 141-pounder.

Rawls, Likens Capture Mat Championships, Rams Fifth

By SAM COOK

Herald Sports Editor

SEBRING — Lake Mary's Robert Rawls and Jack Likens captured individual championships Saturday as the Rams (104.5 points) finished fifth in the Sebring Invitational Wrestling Tournament. Haines City (149.5) won it.

Rawls, a 320-pound behemoth from Sanford, took the unlimited division with two pins (1:30 and :32) and an injury default in the championship match.

"This was the first time Rawls had to come from behind to win," said coach Frank Schwartz. "The kid (Vic Haller) from Lakeland was really a tough wrestler and he had Rawls on his back."

Rawls battled back from a 6-0 deficit with an escape and two reversals to pull within one point after two periods. On one maneuver, the huge junior ripped Haller's arm on a reversal and he couldn't continue after two periods.

Prep Wrestling

Rawls is 13-1.

"Haller didn't want anything to do with him after that," said Schwartz. "He couldn't raise his arm over his head."

Likens, meanwhile, disposed of three opponents to run his season record at 108 pounds to 13-0. His only loss was to John Aubrey of Edgewater when he wrestled "up" two weight classes.

"Likens totally dominated his division," said Schwartz. The blond-haired senior pinned Greg Mills of Okechobee and Pete Kinley of Port Charlotte in the preliminaries.

In the title match, Likens fell behind, 2-1, to James Biller of Venice, but escaped twice to tie the match and then added a takedown and back points for a 6-2 win. The Rams also received consolation champions from Ivan Carbia (101) and Ned Kolbjornsen (189). Todd Beauchamp (129) and Ed Aedes (223) garnered fourth-place finishes.

Willie Green, another Sanford product, turned in another impressive showing with a second-place finish at 170 pounds.

"Green showed his pin of (Robert) Quisenberry was no fluke," said Schwartz about Green's stick during Friday's tie with Lyman. "He pinned the number two and three seeds in the tournament."

"Willie's Mr. Nice Guy, though. If he ever gets mean, he's going to be a premiere wrestler."

The Rams, 5-1-1, take on hapless Boone Tuesday in Orlando before returning home to wrestle Oak Ridge Wednesday. The Seminole County Junior Varsity Tournament will be Thursday at Seminole High.

Lyman's Hill Makes First Team All-State

For the second consecutive year, a Seminole County football player has been selected to the 4A All-State Team. Last year it was Seminole's Isaac Williams who made all-state status, this year it was Lyman's senior linebacker Mike Hill who made the first team defense.

Hill, (6-1, 208) made the second team defense a year ago and came back for a sensational senior year for the Greyhounds, helping his team to the Five Star Conference title. Hill led the county in tackles with 92 solos and 46 assists for a total of 138. He also intercepted two passes and recovered two fumbles.

For the second straight year, Lyman's fine offensive guard Chris Tschieder was named to the Second Team Offense. Both Hill and Tschieder were selected to the Evening Herald's All-County team.

Lake Howell's junior defensive back Bill Lang was selected Special Mention while Lyman's Jerry Axley and Willis Perry made Honorable Mention. Lake Howell's offensive tackle Bill Norton also made Honorable Mention.

Lang ended the year with 60 solo tackles and 16 assists as the Silver Hawks compiled a 6-5 record and gained a berth to the Rotary Bowl. Axley led the county in passing with 1,146 yards and nine touchdowns while Perry was the third leading pass receiver with 18 for 318 yards. Axley, Hill, Tschieder, Perry and Norton were all seniors.

The First Team Offense consists of, Stacy Dawsey, Bradenton Manatee (5-9 1/2, 165, senior) and Barry Lett, Pensacola Woodham (5-10, 165, senior) are the receivers, linemen include Jeff Zimmerman, Orlando Evans, (6-5, 275,

Porter Out-Wires Cook For Feature Win

Auto Racing

NEW SMYRNA BEACH — Challenged all the way by arch-rival Jack Cook, LeRoy Porter drove the Lewis Green Camaro to a wire to wire victory in the 25-lap late-model feature on Saturday night at New Smyrna Speedway.

Third was Lee Faulk, followed by "Mr. Consistent" Duke Southard and current track champion Joe Middleton. Heat winner Smokey Yunick Jr., dropped out of the main on the parade lap.

Warming up for the coming World Series of Asphalt Stock Car Racing, Doug Latham won the thunder car finale, beating Barry Ownby, Tom Balmer, Richard McDill and Chuckie Lee. Heat winners were fastest qualifier Joe Coupas and Buddy Teed.

Street stock division's high point man Rick Clouser made it five wins out of six starts when he steered his 455-cubic inch Oldsmobile to victory.

"That engine has been in there since April," said Clouser. "They said that you can't make all that weight go around the turns, but I drive the hell out of it and that's where I win my races." Clouser added. Second to fifth were heat winner

Ron DiCandio, Doug Howard, Danny Burkhalter and Tim Greene.

Top four cylinder finishers were Milo Vidic, W. G. Watts, Mike Shuman, Al Gray and Bob Traak. Heat winners were Watts and Richard Newton.

"The Killer Green Bean Factory Team" of Doctor Oldsmobile and test pilot Mark Grimm bested a strong field of spectator racers.

Demo derby winners were George Windsor and Jerry Shaffer.

World Series' thunder car entries now total 100. With 62 late models and 34 modifieds also officially inked, the total amount of entries should have reached 200 as you read these lines.

PEOPLE

Evening Herald, Sanford, FL. Monday, Jan. 10, 1983-18

Briefly

AARP Chapter Formed In South Seminole

Arthur F. Bouton, national president of the American Association of Retired Persons, has announced the formation of the South Seminole Chapter No. 3533 in Florida. Bouton offered congratulations on behalf of the 13.5-million-member organization to the new chapter and its president, Harold C. Zeimer of Casselberry.

Local AARP chapters sponsor community public service programs; work to influence the enactment of local, state and national legislation of benefit to older Americans; and acquaint members and other older citizens with the programs and services offered by the national organization.

Conversational Spanish

Seminole Community College is offering a course in Beginning Conversational Spanish geared to those who wish to learn how to deal with Spanish-speaking customers in stores, restaurants, hospitals, doctors offices, and in hotels and travel agencies. It is also useful for anyone planning a trip to a Spanish-speaking country.

The course will be offered on Monday nights, from 7-9:45 p.m., beginning Jan. 10. The instructor will be Dr. Ann Bachmann. Late registration is now in progress. For further information, call the registrar's office.

Lisa Pickens On Dean's List

Lisa J. Pickens of Sanford has been named to the Dean's List at Carson-Newman College, Jefferson City, Tenn. for the fall semester, 1982.

The announcement of those achieving the honor was made by C-N Academic Dean Dr. Roy Dobyns.

Music Students In 'Who's Who'

The 1983 edition of "Who's Who in Music" will carry the names of 7 students from Seminole High School, who have been selected as being among the country's most outstanding campus leaders.

Campus nominating committees and editors of the annual directory have included the names of these students based on their academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and future potential.

Students named this year from Seminole High School are: Kaylyn Witherow, Annette Arsenault, Arthur Jackson, Sheila Brown, Sheryl Jones, Matthew Swinford and Christine Rufo.

Literacy Workshop

Seminole Community College will offer a Literacy Workshop beginning Jan. 18 in Bldg. 8 on the Adult Campus.

Seminole Community College will offer a Literacy Workshop beginning Jan. 18 in Bldg. 8 on the Adult Campus. The free workshop will instruct volunteers how to teach non-readers to read using Laubach materials.

The workshop will be held on Jan. 18, 20, and 25 from 7 to 9:30 p.m. For registration information, contact Bob Curtis, Seminole Community College, Ext. 443.

Local ADA Chapter Meet

The Lake Monroe Chapter of the American Diabetes Association will hold its regular monthly meeting in the cafeteria of the Central Florida Regional Hospital on Tuesday, Jan. 11, at 7:30 p.m.

A board meeting will precede the regular meeting at 7 and everyone is welcome to come for that portion.

Karen Stuart from the State Affiliate Office will show a film entitled "No Sugar Coating." There will also be a discussion as to "Where Do We Go From Here?" Everyone is encouraged to attend if there is any interest in any form of diabetes.

GED Correspondence Course

A GED Correspondence Course has begun at Seminole Community College for adults who want to earn a Florida High School Diploma and are homebound. There is no fee. For information call SCC.

Miss Whelchel Bride Of Jeffrey M. Welker

Linda Howard Whelchel and Jeffrey Mark Welker were united in Holy Matrimony Jan. 8, at 1 p.m. at Calvary Assembly, Winter Park. Russ Parker performed the 1 p.m., double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Charlotte Garrett, Route 4, Sanford, the late Mr. Guy Garrett and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Whelchel of Metter, Ga. The bridegroom is the son of Richard Welker, 500 Bridle Path, Casselberry, and the late Mrs. Shirley Welker.

Given in marriage by her father, the radiant bride chose for her vows a formal white organza gown lavishly embellished with imported Venice and Alencon lace. Fashioned along the slim silhouette, the fitted bodice featured Bishop sleeves and a bateau neckline in front that dropped to a V in back. Embroidered lace motifs enhanced the lush cathedral train. A tiara of Venice lace secured her veil of imported illusion.

MRS. JEFFREY MARK WELKER

Miss Jamie Garrett of Louisville, Ky., served the honor attendant's. Rick Welker of Apopka, and George Welker of Altamonte Springs, served the bridegroom as best men.

The reception was held in Johnson Hall of the church. Following a wedding trip to Vermont, the newlyweds will make their home in Sanford. The bride, a senior at the University of Central Florida, is activities director of the Longwood Retirement Village, Longwood. The bridegroom is manager of R.P. Welker Plants Inc.

DAUGHTERS BOOST BUILDING FUND

Most Worthy Grand Matron Mary Smith of Tyre Court No. 14 Daughters of Sphinx, Enterprise, presents C.J. (Kit) Carson, public relations director of the Christian Sharing Center of Sanford, a check for $50 for the center's building fund.

Women's Past Secret Clouds Happy Future

DEAR ABBY: I have this problem and really don't know whom to ask; so I'm turning to you.

I used to be what you would call a lesbian, but that is all in the past. I have never had a love affair with a male, but I have had a few affairs with females.

I have met this guy whom I really love, and we plan on getting married. He thinks he is marrying a virgin. I told him I was one, and I think I am, but now I wonder. Am I?

Another problem: Should I tell him about my past? We plan on getting married in June after I graduate from the University of Minnesota.

QUESTIONS IN ST. PAUL. DEAR QUESTIONS: Technically you are a virgin. The Human Sexuality Program at the University of Minnesota offers expert counseling. Go there. You need to learn more about your own sexuality. (A few lesbian experiences during one's adolescence does not necessarily a lesbian make.) And don't tell your fiance anything until you have all the answers.

DEAR ABBY: I am the executive director of the Lions Eye Bank at the University of Washington in Seattle.

Because of your column of Nov. 30, 1982, urging your readers to donate their organs after death, we received a pair of eyes the very next morning! Following a car accident in our state in which a young man was killed, his parents contacted us and donated their son's eyes. They said they would not have thought of it had it not been for your column.

Another mother told me after donating the eyes of her 23-year-old daughter: "Just think, part of our daughter is alive and well and seeing in Seattle!"

There is little one can do or say to comfort someone who has lost a loved one, but knowing that a part of him or her lives on helps to ease the pain of that loss. As a matter of fact, Abby, we hear more from families of donors thanking us for helping them make this special gift possible than we do from the people who have received corneal transplants!

People hear about donating organs, and they say, "Isn't that nice," but they never take the time to find out how to make the arrangements to carry it out. Thank you for spreading the word that all they have to do is pick up the phone and call any Lions Club. The club will do the rest.

DONNA OILAND, LIONS EYE BANK, UNIVERSITY HOSPITAL, SEATTLE, WASH.

DEAR ABBY: This is in response to "Right-Handed Mama," whose husband was forcing their naturally left-handed child into right-handedness because he believed "left-handed people are clumsy and stupid!"

If they're clumsy, how would he like to have boxed heavyweight champion Gentleman Jim Corbett, played tennis with Jimmy Connors, baseball with Babe Ruth, Reggie Jackson, Sandy Koufax or Lou Gehrig, golf with Ben Hogan or basketball with Willis Reed?

As for being stupid, he is obviously no match for Alexander the Great, Clarence Darrow, Julius Caesar, Napoleon or Queen Victoria, not to mention American Presidents Truman, Ford, Garfield and Reagan.

As far as creativity, what about Michelangelo, Leonardo da Vinci, Pablo Picasso or Bach?

This is only a sampling. Oh, one last name to drop — can her husband match brains with Albert Einstein?

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Chocolate Causes A Problem With Gas

DEAR DR. LAMB — My problem is getting worse every day and I'm afraid something is seriously wrong with me so I'm afraid to go to a doctor. Besides, my problem is very embarrassing. That is why I'm writing you.

I'm expelling lots of gas. I've noticed if I eat the smallest piece of chocolate it happens. I can't believe I'm never going to be able to eat chocolate again in my life. I can live with that but now it is almost anything I eat and it happens. I can't go out with people it now happens so often. If I don't eat it doesn't happen.

I'm 35, female and weigh 118 pounds. Can you help me? DEAR READER — You are not alone. About half the people who see gastroenterologists have a problem of excess gas.

Sometimes gas is from swallowed air. But in many cases it is caused by fermentation of undigested food. We know that because the gas produced in hydrogen, carbon dioxide and methane. None of these is present in any major quantity in normal air that a person would swallow. All are produced by bacterial fermentation of foods, particularly undigested carbohydrates. This of course does not mean that swallowing air cannot be the problem in some people.

I strongly suspect that when more is learned about bacteria in the colon that changing the bacterial flora may eliminate gas problems for some people.

In other people the solution is to eliminate the foods that cause gas. The bean group is a good example. They contain a complex sugar that cannot be broken down and digested completely by humans. A person who has lactose intolerance cannot break down the double sugar in milk and the fermentation causes gas.

I'm sending you The Health Letter 6-8, Controlling Gasousness. It will help you understand your problem. You might try an elimination diet. You could start with a diet that contains mostly the meat group and limited amounts of bread. Record your gas problem. Then add one food at a time and if your gas increases, eliminate it and go on to something else until you develop a list of foods that don't seem to cause a problem. The fact that you don't have gas when you don't eat suggest it is from undigested food. A breath analysis for hydrogen could tell if this is so.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Is it possible to be cured of VD while taking penicillin pills for two weeks for a different problem? DEAR READER — It depends upon what you mean by VD and how much penicillin you received. While penicillin is effective for most cases of gonorrhea it is not effective in some strains. Some strains are penicillin resistant.

While syphilis and gonorrhea can be treated with penicillin in most cases, there are other forms of VD which cannot be treated this way. Herpes simplex two, or genital herpes, does not respond at all to penicillin because it's a virus.

The amount and duration of antibiotic medication recommended is designed to ensure the highest probability of a complete cure for gonorrhea or syphilis. You can obtain cures with smaller doses for shorter duration but the cure rate will be well below that obtained by standard treatment.

HOROSCOPE

YOUR BIRTHDAY
January 11, 1983
Several secret ambitions which you have been harboring have an excellent chance of being fulfilled this coming year. Now is the time to bring them out into the open.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Regardless of outward appearances, think and act positively today in matters which affect your reputation or finances. You'll do the right things. Order now: The NEW Astro-Graph Matchmaker wheel and booklet which reveals romantic combinations, compatibilities for all signs, tells how to get along with others, finds rising signs, hidden qualities, plus more. Mail $2 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Send an additional $1 for your Capricorn Astro-Graph predictions for 1983. Be sure to specify birthdate.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You have good leadership qualities today and this will be evident to those with whom you associate. They'll find ways to ease you into a commanding role.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Continue to operate at full throttle regarding your important objectives and goals. Lady Luck is still in your corner, rooting for your success.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) This is a day that should be to your liking because everything will be moving at a swift pace and you're not likely to have any moments of boredom.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) A matter which has been concerning you could suddenly take a turn for the better today and enable you to realize your hopes. Be ready to act.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your greatest asset today is your ability to arbitrate touchy situations so that all concerned feel they got the better deal.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Whatever you do today, strive to do your very best. Your accomplishments could have far-reaching effects which you may not be aware of now.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your optimism is easily aroused today and this will have a delightful effect upon your companions. It will be hard to be dispirited in your presence.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Ways could develop today for you to add to your resources through other than your usual channels. These will be fleeting opportunities, so act quickly.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You can broaden your schedule a bit today, because you will be capable of handling several situations simultaneously — and do a good job on each one.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You're likely to be more fortunate in financial matters today than you will be tomorrow. While the breaks are going your way, do now whatever needs doing.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Get out and circulate today if things have been a bit dull for you romantically. Your possibilities for meeting someone to whom you'll be attracted are good.

WIN AT BRIDGE

Here are a couple of their hands.

Oswald: "Champion players like to bid. North's double of one heart was for takeout. Stansby bid two hearts to crowd his opponents, but South bid two spades with his rock bottom minimum opening. Needless to say, North took him right to game."

Jim: "Had Martel opened the king of hearts, four spades would have been down one almost automatically, but he led his singleton club. Even the greatest don't always find the best opening lead."

Oswald: "Stansby took the ace and king of clubs and normally would have given his partner a club ruff, but Chip discarded his 10 of hearts."

Jim: "Law looked at that rather astonishing discard and figured out that Chip didn't want a club ruff after all. He led a heart. The defense got their normal four tricks and a good score since many North-South pairs had stopped at spade part scores."

Oswald: "Had the third club been led, Chip would ruff, but declarer would probably have picked up the trump king and scored a top."

Jim: "Law Stansby and Chip Martel of California, who are currently playing like the best pair in the world, won the open pairs."
