West German Intelligence Hides Defector From KGB

BONN, West Germany (UPI) - The chief Soviet

interpreter at the East-West troop cut talks who defected with bundles of secret documents was hidden today by West German intelligence to debrief the prize catch and keep him from KGB murder commandos. In a scene conjuring plots from John Le Carre spy novels, Nikolai Koroliuk, 35, slipped out of a Baden, Austria, hotel, past Russian guards, went to the airport and caught the first available plane to the West, the Stuttgarter Zeitung newspaper reported.

Landing at that first Western stop, in Dusseldorf, West Germany, Koroliuk - the Soviet translator at the Vienna troop reduction talks — surrendered to airport police and they turned him over to intelligence officials who took him to a hideout.

"The service officials apparently wanted to prevent the Soviets, fearful he would spill important secrets, from silencing him by sending a murder cammando," the newspaper said.

Gandhi's Son 'Reincarnated'

NEW DELHI (UPI) - Police Thursday guarded a baby her mother claims is the reincarnation of Indian Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's son Sanjay. The 7-month old baby was born the same day Sanjay

I want to see my son." The late Sanjay had a baby of his own. Mrs. Devi said she thought her child was possessed and turned to pictures of Hindu deities hanging on the walls of her one-room tenement for guidance.

She said her baby spoke again and warned her, "If you don't take me there, to No. 1 Safadrajang Road Mrs. Gandhi's residence I shall leave you as I left my last mommy."

Several years ago, a prescient movie entitled 2001: A Space Odyssey" spellbound audiences with a plot about an extended space voyage. The spacecraft's master computer known as "Hal," who possessed the power of speech and was making most of the technical decisions, staged a murderous mutiny to take charge of the space

Thanks to computer technology advancing at an incredible rate, some primitive, conversational prototypes of "Hal" are already functioning out there in certain advanced U.S. industries, not only taking orders spoken to them, but frequently talking back.

According to The Wall Street Journal, a Ford Motor Co. worker in Teterboro, N.J. picks up a package at the loading dock, and tells the computer where to store it. With unerring accuracy, the package is carried by conveyor belt and unloaded at the proper storage shelf.

Meat inspectors at six Wilson Foods Corp. packing plants dictate all necessary data on each hog carcass to a computer, which prints a complete record on each farmer's hogs and later writes a check to the farmer.

Texas Instruments Inc., has developed a $3 silicon chip that can recite a vocabulary of up to 200 words. Soon, computers will be able to provide telephone directory assistance and make hotel and airline reservations. International Business Machines Corp. has been working for eight years on a word-processing system that could take

A talking chess board manufactured by Fidelity Electronics Ltd. of Miami is a big hit even at $360. And a flood of speaking toys is predicted by next Christmas. Toys for grownups are promised by Toshiba Corp., a Japanese electronics firm voice-controlled television sets will be available by 1983.

Some computers are programmed to respond only to certain individuals who have "trained" them. Others recognize a prescribed number of words no matter who speaks them.

Obviously, we're on the threshold of nearincredible developments: Cars, we are told by General Motors, will be able to speak out and warn of low oil pressure. The makers of appliances envision washing machines that will complain about overloads and ovens that call out when something is about to burn. The possibilities

The capacity of computers to solve mathematical problems in split seconds or remember everything indefinitely is, in a way, terrifying. Even more so when speech is added to the computer's mechanical genius, giving it the ability to rebuke its human master for the smallest error, and to rebel as well at anything less than perfection. Still, we shouldn't be too intimidated. If and when these talking computers get too big for their silicons and too sassy, we can deal with them just as the astronaut did in "2001." We can pull their plugs. That remaining recourse is already getting to be a comforting thought.

Since 1954, the 'Wonderful World' of Walt Disney has been a Sunday tradition on television. But now, NBC has announced that the show will be dropped at the end of the current season. Although the network gave no reason for the decision, several factors had been involved in speculation that the program was in trouble. Some feel that the "family" type of programming was an anachronism in a period when standards of marality are under debate. Others simply blamed the expected demise on the numbers." The popular '60 Minutes" news show on competing CBS has cut deeply into the Disney audience.

It appears the network would seek another time slot, if indeed the popularity of "60 Minutes" has led to the demise of the "Wonderful World." It seems a shame the public would lose program simply because it is wholesome entertainment.

Snell said when a child is sent home, if the parent uses the lice-killing medicinal shampoo then the child could return to school the next day. After the first shampoo, within seven to 10 days the child must have a second treatment, Snell says the second treatment is necessary to get rid of all the eggs.

The Disease Control Center in Atlanta, Georgia found the first treatment with the medicinal shampoo will get rid of only 20 percent of the eggs. Therefore the second treatment is needed to get rid of all of the eggs.

In a closely guarded basement room, a topsecret "psychic task force" is hard at work trying to perfect psychotechtronic weapons that will work through extrasensory perception - like long-distance telepathic hypnosis to enslave enemy leaders, or transmission of nuclear bombs instantaneously around the world through the power of positive thinking.

Proponents of ESP weaponry say it is as revolutionary as the atomic bomb. Most physicists say it's hogwash. Supporters of "voodoo warfare" claim that psychic weapons sank the U.S. nuclear submarine Thresher in 1963. They also say the Soviet nuclear disaster in the Urals in 1958 was caused by a bungled ESP explosion. The justification for the Buck Rogers brigade's secret budget — at least $6 million last year - is that there's an ESP gap between the United States and the Soviet Union,

According to the Defense Intelligence Agency, the Russians have already demonstrated the lethal potential of psychotechtronic weapons on flies, and even frogs. In fact, the late Josef Stalin hoped to develop ESP weapons as a stopgap equalizer in the days of American nuclear monopoly. Stalin's successors in the Kremlin, spiritual skeptics though they are, seriously believe they can develop such thought-provoking, not to say mind-blowing, devices as "hyperspatial howitzers" which can transmit a nuclear explosion in Siberia to the White House lawn with the speed of thought. Or, to cite another example, Soviet scientists are working on "photonic barrier modulators" which (like Haitian witch doctors) can induce death or illness from miles away. There is even speculation that the microwave radiation the Soviets beamed at the American Embassy in Moscow from 1959 to 1978 was some kind of an ESP attempt at mind control. U.S. scientists have yet to offer a credible reason for the low-level microwave transmissions, which were apparently harsome respected physicists on ESP weaponry, the response was general hilarity. One scientist, between guffaws, compared the psychic task force's project to a World War II attempt to train seagulls to drop fresh guano on the periscopes of German submarines. But it's no joke to the ju-ju team in the Pentagon basement. They believe. For inspiration, the psychic warriors have posted a sly quotation on the headquarters wall. It's from the late Admiral William Leahy, chief of naval operations in World War II, and it says: "The A-bomb is the biggest fool thing we have ever done ... The bomb will never go off, and I speak as an expert on explosives." Scholarships Spark NCAA Fire

Meetings of the 75th annual NCAA Convention begin today with most of the fireworks expected from proposals to offer scholarships on a need basis, limit freshman participation and take more control over women's athletics.

The American Football Coaches Association convention wound up Thursday by naming Georgia's Vince Dooley as 1980 Coach of the Year. The association also selected Rick Carter as College Division coach of the year for his work at Dayton.

The NCAA convention opens with day-long meetings of the organization's council and Competitive Safeguards Committee. The convention won't get into full swing until Monday afternoon when the first general session is scheduled.

Opponents say freshmen spend about the same amount of time on the practice field whether they're playing with the varsity or the junior varsity. Under the proposal for women's athletics, schools will have four years to decide whether they want their women's programs under the NCAA or the Association for Intercollegiate Athletics for Women — the current governing body for women's sports.

Greg Shatto, who scored 16 during the course of the game, put in two more to give them a total 12 in the second while Crooms also scored 12, with Tom Stiffey putting in half and Mitchell, Collins, and Alexander putting in the other half. The second half was played no differently, both teams giving all they had. But Crooms still managed to hold a seven point lead by the end of the third period, 40-33. For the Panthers, Alexander pushed in six points, while Grey followed with four. Dunn and Shatto were in on most of the scoring action, Dunn with six and Shatto with four. Jonathan Moore also put in a foul shot for the Patriots to end the third period scoring.

Crooms then jumped into a 45-35 fourth period lead, which was the beginning of the end of Brantley, as they fell further behind mid-way through the period, 53-39. Avezzano signed a four-year contract at $40,000 a vear in December 1979. The new contract, in effect, gives him a one-year extension and increases his pay for 1981 to $43,000, Andros said. Ailing Montgomery Bothers Eagles

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) - Philadelphia Eagles Coach Dick Vermeil hoped today's final practice in Tampa will clear up the question of the physical status of running back Wilbert Montgomery for Sunday's NFC championship game against "His leg is sore," Vermeil said after Thursday's workout. think he will be probable. Tomorrow we will know more. I think he will play. Quarterback Ron Jaworski was more definite, although Montgomery eluded waiting sports writers. "Wilbert will be there Sunday come hell or high water," Jaworski said. The Eagles were scheduled to work out this morning before flying back to Philadelphia where Vermeil had scheduled a late afternoon news conference. Montgomery injured his left knee while running Wednesday. but it was not revealed until Thursday's practice when he spent much of the time in the trainer's room, participating only in limbering up exercises.

"The trainer explained the muscles relaxed to the point where his left knee flexed," Vermeil said. If Montgomery is unable to go all-out against the Cowboys, it could affect both the running and passing game of the Eagles. The Eagles already are without wide receivers Charlie Smith, broken jaw, and Scott Fitzkee, broken foot, and Vermeil was grooming running back Louie Giammona as a backup wide receiver. Giammona is the backup to Montgomery at running back. "The trouble is, my second halfback is my third wide receiver," Vermeil said. He is expected to activate wide receiver Wally Henry off injured reserve today. Henry has not had any hard physical contact since he had his spleen removed earlier this season. but has been working out with the team this week. "We might as well (activate Henry), we have a spot,"

Montgomery has been plagued by injuries this year and Vermeil said the Eagles have played as good without him this year as they did when he was in the game. "But you're never better off having to go without him," he said. "It's not been Wilbert's year, that's all there is to it."

The key to the Super Bowl may be in the cards

The Dallas Cowboys, a wildcard playoff entry, shoot for a sixth Super Bowl appearance when they tangle with the Eagles Sunday in Veterans Stadium at 1 p.m. EST in the NFC championship game. The Oakland Raiders attempt to become the first AFC wild card since the 1970 realignment to qualify for the NFL title game when they take on the Chargers at 5 p.m. EST.

Dallas and Philadelphia both posted 12-4 records over the regular season, but the Eagles — who haven't won an NFL title in 20 years - took the Eastern Division title on the basis of best net points in division games. The clubs split two games this year, each winning at home, but Philadelphia's receiving ranks are depleted with Scott Fitzkee out with a fractured foot and regular starter Charles Smith still doubtful with a fractured jaw.

Dallas, which reached the Super

Now we have to do it on Sunday." Dallas Coach Tom Landry admits his club isn't on a defensive par with the Eagles, who yield a league-low 14

"Our defense obviously is not the best in the league," Landry said, "But it's capable. Our only weakness lies in inexperience in the secondary with people who haven't proven themselves yet."

The Raiders have spent the last few weeks proving themselves to everyone who sees them. Oakland and San Diego finished with 11-5 records in the AFC West, but the Chargers were awarded the division title in a tiebreaker. Each team won at home against the other in the regular season and, like the Cowboys' secondary, the Raiders' defense will also be in the spotlight Sunday.

San Diego boasts the league's most dangerous passing attack, led by record-setting quarterback Dan Fouts and a brilliant receiver corps headed by John Jefferson, Kellen Winslow and Charlie Joiner. San Diego set an NFL record for total offense with 6,410

Anti-Abortion Group Targets

12 Senators WASHINGTON (UPI) - An anti-abortion group's threat to work to unseat 12 senators next year has brought the lawmakers a new pledge of support from a pro-choice organization.

The Life Amendment Political Action Committee Thursday released a target list for 1982 topped by Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass. The National Abortion Rights Action League promptly denounced it.

Paul Brown, director of the anti-abortion group, said his committee will be out to defeat the 12 unless the senators switch their pro-CITY OF WINTER SPRINGS choice positions and support a constitutional amendment

People Getting A Kick Out Of Karate

Evening Herald

LEISURE

Eager Karate students are keeping instructor has grown so much that it will be included as a sport in the next Olympics. Jeff DeSantis busy these days. Its popularity

Interest in the Oriental martial arts has increased tremendously during the past few years. Karate and Kung Fu in particular have been helped by several movies and television programs which have shown the outnumbered hero dispatch villains with almost superhuman ease.

Numerous schools of instruction have opened and classes are available for men, women and children. Worldwide interest has ncreased to the extent that the 1984 Olympic games will include karate for the first, according to Jeff DeSantis, black belt instructor and co-owner of the International Karate Academy in Sanford.

There are several different types of karate being taught in Seminole County, DeSantis said, and while similar, each stresses a somewhat different philosophy. ...

Tae Kwon Do is a Korean version of the sport, placing more emphasis on use of the feet for attacking and kicking. "It's about 70 percent feet and 30 percent hands," DeSantis

The Mokokan style originated in Japan and this hard, aggressive style places equal emphasis on hands and feet.

Wah Lum Kung Fu is a softer style of the sport and takes many of its positions and moves from the animal world, such as the praying mantis position. DeSantis said this form originated in China.

No style is better than another, but DeSantis recommended anyone interested in learning the sport visit several schools, or dojos, and watch classes in action.

Many people take up karate with the idea of being able to protect themselves in case of attack but it offers more for the person willing to learn. It teaches not only how to fight, DeSantis said, but self control, self discipline and getting the most out of life. It makes you proud of your accomplishments."

The exercise is good for adults who want to get or stay in shape, and it is beneficial for youngsters as well, DeSantis added. It helps with their mental and physical development. Strict discipline is observed in class and the young people are expected to obey and respect the teacher.

Life At The Bottom

Seven years ago, a young Danish woman wrote a bestseller called "Baby." It was a grim, unappealing story that traced the lives of a group of people who lived in the ghetto of Copenhagen.

Recently her book was honored by the second annual Pegasus Prize, a new award sponsored by the Mobil Corporation that includes translation into English and publication in the United States. The author, Kirsten Thorup, insists that her story, though fiction, is based on real people, events and conditions in her country. Readers in this country have had trouble believing that Danes - known for their benevolent socialism — live the way she describes. "I tried to write the naked story," Miss Thorup says. "It's not really so different, you know. People who live at the bottom of society, whether in the United States or Denmark, share similar traits. A feeling of desperation, of being caged. This is the backside of society, people who don't make it." The title, she explains, refers to the slang use of the word, "baby," as well as being a description of people who can't seem to take care of themselves. "The unhappiness you have when you're well off is much different than when you're poor."

DEAR DICK: Who is this Gary Beeb, and who gives him the authority to criticize people or TV programs? Last week he downgraded John Wayne. This week he downgraded Bob Barker and "The Price Is Right." What does he like - crime, violence, sex, drugs and alcohol? JEANETTE WITHERSPOON, Crocker Mo.

While I sometimes disagree with Deeb, as I do with all critics, I certainly respect his right to an opinion. We all have our opinions; we all are critics. What makes Deeb and his colleagues special is that they are (theoretically) men and women of training and taste and possess, above all, the ability to express themselves well. Many of them - and Deeb is guilty of this - make their reputations by attacking (downgrading, as you put it) on the theory that nobody remembers good reviews, but bad reviews get you noticed. I don't agree.

DEAR DICK: I want to know if Bobby Vinton is his real name. Vinton does not sound like a Polish name. Is he really a Polak? I'm a Polak myself. VERA SKIRA,

Carter Deal On Hostages 'Doubtful'

United States and Iran for release of the 52 American hostages are progressing steadily but probably cannot be completed before the Carter administration ends Jan. 20, informed sources said Saturday.

The sources said steady forward movement was being made by a team of U.S. negotiators laboring here since Thursday to clarify and transmit to Iran through Algerian intermediaries the latest U.S. proposals.

But the sources cautioned against excessive optimism complicated with legal issues and financial problems. It was unlikely the two sides will come to a complete agreement by Jan. 20, when President-elect Ronald Reagan

Sources said the messages contained fresh queries about the mechanics of the process of transferring the disputed frozen assets of Iran - estimated to range from $6.5 billion to $14 billion - from American and foreign banks into an escrow account supervised by the Algerians.

There was a wave of reports and rumors the United States has, or was about to, transfer as much as $16 billion in escrow negotiations and observers said Iran apparently was seeking to Algeria. Officials in Washington would neither confirm or NBC News reported Treasury Department members me with bank lawyers in New York Friday to discuss the possible transfer of Iranian assets to the Algerian government, with one source saying $5 billion - $2 billion of it in gold and securities - was involved.

A State Department spokesman in Washington said he had "no information" to confirm or deny the rumors circulating in financial markets in London and Toronto. "We've heard these rumors. I have no confirmation," the spokesman said.

Longwood: 3 To Vie For Mayor

Herald Staff Writer

Two Longwood city commissioners elected at the Dec. 2 municipal election will be sworn in at the 7:30 p.m. meeting Monday at which a mayor and deputy mayor will be elected by the commissioners from among themselves. Up for appointment are the city attorney, city clerk, two seats on the Board of Adjustment and the District 4 seat on the Land Planning Agency.

J. Russell Grant, 65, will begin his fourth term on the city commission from District 3, while 33-year-old Winter Park Attorney Timothy O'Leary is a newcomer, having defeated the incumbent Bill Mitchell for the District 5 seat. O'Leary has been serving as chairman of the Land Planning Agency and now that he is assuming his new position it will be up to Commissioner John Hepp to name a replacement subject to commission approval. Present Mayor Steven Uskert, Deputy

Johnson Pleads No Contest In Rape-Kidnap

Herald Staff Writer

It was a bizarre case from the outset — a 37-yearold Orlando man entering the home of a Winter Springs woman under the guise of installing a burglar alarm, then tying her up and raping her. But things turned positively macabre when the case came to trial as Willard Patrick Johnson was portrayed as a man with multiple personalities, some good, some evil, one of them described by a minister as perhaps the devil himself. The peculiar nature of the case so baffled a sixmember Seminole County jury that in mid-November it could not reach a verdict and a
