Accused Rapist Tries Suicide In Seminole Jail

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

A 31-year-old Orlando man who was charged Thursday with attempted murder, burglary and sexual battery of a 67-year-old south Seminole County woman, punctured an artery in his right arm in an apparent suicide attempt while in custody in the Seminole County jail.

Keith Lambert, 31, of 7114 Forest Lake Road, Orlando, was being held in lieu of $1,000 bond on a Winter Springs prowling charge when he was charged at 6 p.m. Thursday in the assault of the woman, whose apartment he is accused of setting afire after allegedly raping her.

Lambert was found unconscious on the floor at the jail at about 11 p.m. Thursday. He suffered some loss of blood, according to sheriff's spokesman John Spolski. Spolski received an unconfirmed report that the man punctured his arm with a pair of tweezers. Lambert was treated in the emergency room of Florida Hospital-Altamonte Springs, and was returned to jail where he is being held without bond.

Lambert was charged in the assault after Seminole County sheriff's investigators said they matched his fingerprints with those taken from three burglarized homes, including that of the 67-year-old rape victim at Sorrento Apartments, Howell Branch Road.

After allegedly matching those prints with Lambert's prints, taken after he was arrested for prowling in the Dappled Elm Lane area of Winter Springs, at about 5 a.m. Wednesday, lawmen obtained a warrant and searched his Orlando apartment. Evidence linking Lambert to the Winter Park case was confiscated from his apartment, according to a sheriff's report.

When sheriff's investigator Steven P. Walther arrived at the Sorrento Apartments at about 6 a.m. Feb. 14, Seminole County firefighters were already on the scene, bringing under control a fire in the victim's apartment, which the suspect allegedly set. That fire destroyed most of the victim's property, Spolski said.

The victim, who had sought refuge at the home of a neighbor woman after her assailant had fled, reported to Walther that she had awakened at 4:30 p.m. Feb. 14 to find a man standing over her bed with a towel in one hand and a knife in the other.

The man, according to the victim's statement, ordered her to "Be quiet, or I'll kill you." When she began to fight, the assailant stabbed her in the right breast and as they struggled they fell to the floor between the bed and a window. The fight continued and the man tied the victim's hands and covered her face with a pillow and a blanket.

After raping her, the assailant ransacked her apartment, she said, and took at least $100 worth of jewelry and set the furniture afire. The man reportedly threatened several times to kill her, and, she said he may have thought she was dead when he left her lying on the floor and left the apartment, the sheriff's report said.

Investigators determined that the assailant entered the woman's ground-floor apartment by removing a window. They discovered a window in the apartment of the neighbor, where the victim went for help after the attack, had also been removed and there was evidence that the suspect had attempted to enter a

Pass Time

Cars streamed across the partially open railroad overpass on State Road 46, west Sanford, after barricades were removed at 5 p.m. Thursday. The overpass will be completed six to eight weeks after permanent connections are made with existing roadways. At that time, a second lane will be opened. The project was started by the Department of Transportation on May 13, 1982 and cost $2,461,964, according to DOT district construction engineer Samuel Thurmond.

Water Crisis End In Sight

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

By mid-March if all continues to go well, Sanford's EDB created water crisis should be over and the city's water capacity should be back to the 9.1 million gallons per day.

City Manager, W.E. "Pete" Knowles said Thursday that wells 9 and 10 at the new Hidden Lake well field and salvaged well 3 at the Mayfair Golf Course are operating now.

By the middle of next week, he said he expects wells 11 and 12 at Hidden Lake and salvaged well 4 at Mayfair to be connected to the city water system and by mid-March, salvaged wells 5 and 6 at Mayfair to be reconnected.

Meanwhile, the 16-inch irrigation well leased from the Frank Stenstrom family for use during the water emergency over the New Year's holiday, which has cost the city nearly $1,000 a day for leasing fees and rented diesel power pumps, was disconnected from the system earlier this week.

The city has been using is being shut down periodically.

The water crisis began on Nov. 15 when EDB was found in the first of the seven wells at Mayfair. The contamination came from the pesticide injected into the soil at the golf course last July to kill nematodes.

By the New Year's weekend, ethylene dibromide was found in five more Mayfair wells and they were ordered shut down by the city. In recent weeks the seventh well showed evidence of the pesticide.

While it was not contaminated to the point where it had to be shut down under state guidelines, it was taken off the system to prevent further EDB infiltration.

Two irrigation wells were connected to the system to provide additional water to the city temporarily. By mid-March or sooner the second irrigation well, which is costing the city $451 per day because of the rented diesel power pumps, will be disconnected from the system, Knowles said.

For periods of time the second irrigation well is being shut off now.

Part of the costs of the irrigation wells is being defrayed by a $40,000 grant from the state Department of Environmental Regulation.

Knowles said the city's contractor, Meridith Corp. of Orlando, has run into some trouble with the salvaging of Wells 5 and 6 at Mayfair.

The process used is forcing a eight-inch casing inside the original 12 inch well casing and drilling the well deeper. A quick drying cement is poured between the old and the new casing and on into the voids beyond the old casing, Knowles explained.

The recasing and redrilling operation in well 5 has hit a solid rock formation at 510 to 520 feet. The salvaged well is being redrilled to be 535 feet.

At the same time in the redrilling and recasing of well 6, Knowles said a lot of crevices and open areas before the 535 feet can be reached, Knowles said.

By forcing new casing into the wells and the cementing process, the salvaged well is shielded from the EDB contamination in the soil and in some layers of water over the 535 foot depth.

Knowles stressed that there is no guarantee that the shielded wells will remain free of EDB, but the water from the salvaged wells is tested almost continuously.

In addition, the capacity of the city's eight wells at the U.S. Highway 17-92 field at Airport Boulevard has been boosted by adding higher-capacity pumps.

While the city has spent or committed $300,000 for work on recovering its 9 million gallon per day capacity so far, Knowles estimates costs will reach more than $600,000 plus the $40,000 from the state grant when work is completed.

AMA Fee Freeze

Most Doctors 'Will Go Along'

From Staff and Wire Reports

The president of the Seminole County Medical Association predicts most local doctors will honor an AMA request to freeze fees for one year.

American Medical Association trustees Thursday unanimously authorized sending a letter to about 400,000 practicing physicians — both AMA members and non-members — urging them to keep their fees at current levels.

Dr. Frederick Weigand today said he thinks the idea is a good one, although he isn't sure how much good it will do.

"I'm not sure how much difference it will make in the long run," Weigand said. "Physicians' fees account for only about 18-20 percent of a person's overall medical bill. Hospital stays, drugs, X-rays and the like make up most of the bill.

"I haven't talked to anybody else about it yet, but I think most doctors will go along" with the AMA proposal, he said. The issue will probably come up at the association's next meeting in mid-March "and I'm sure everybody will be encouraged to go along with the AMA recommendation. But it will, of course, be up to the individual physician."

Dr. John J. Coury, AMA board of trustees chairman, told a news conference Thursday the doctors will also be asked to "continue to take into account the financial circumstances of each of his or her patients — especially the unemployed, the uninsured and those under Medicare — and to accept reduced fees when warranted."

"I think most physicians are doing this already," Weigand said. "In many cases we're accepting reduced fees or not charging at all, particularly in the area of OB (obstetrics). The parents of a lot of the babies delivered at the hospital (Sanford's Central Florida Regional) can't afford to pay. There's a lot of charity work going on in the medical profession right now."

"Nobody realizes the reality of huge medical costs more than physicians," said Sanford obstetrician Dr. Steve Phillips. He said he will go along with the freeze, noting that he just raised his fees four months ago.

Phillips said the only thing "that might put a crimp" in physician cooperation with the AMA proposal is the ever-rising cost of malpractice insurance.

Arbitration Program Honors Its Volunteers

An arbitration program which has successfully given more than 2,000 Seminole County juvenile offenders a choice in punishment and a second chance for a clean record was to honor its 46 volunteer arbitrators at a courthouse ceremony today.

Keynote speaker for the ceremony for the arbitrators of the Juvenile Arbitration Program is State Representative Elvin L. Martinez, Chairman of the House Committee on Criminal Justice, Florida House of Representatives.

Other speakers scheduled for the 3:30 p.m. event in room 200 of the courthouse are circuit court judges Robert B. McGregor, Kenneth M. Lefler, S. Joseph Davis Jr., C. Vernon Mize Jr., State Attorney Douglas Cheshire Jr., and A. "Dolph" Voge, director of the arbitration program.

Voge said Wednesday that the ceremony is a double celebration. Not only will the arbitrators be honored but the completion of the program's manual will be announced, he said. The manual, the only one of its kind in the state, is being used as a guideline for state lawmakers who are reviewing and updating 1977 statutes regarding juvenile arbitration.

The program, Voge said, began in 1978 as an alternative to the usual juvenile court proceedings and has saved Seminole County residents, using a conservative estimate, $2 million in court costs.

Intent of the program, which has treated an equal number of boys and girls under the age of 18, is to offer the first-time offender a hearing as an alternative to juvenile court.

The most common misdemeanor the program arbitrates is theft, then criminal mischief, battery, and alcohol or marijuana possession.

After a juvenile is arrested and it is established that the juvenile is a first-time offender and has committed a misdemeanor, the Department of Health and Rehabilitation and the arresting officer recommend arbitration and the state attorney's office considers arbitration, Voge said.

The case then is reviewed and if all parties agree, a hearing is set and an arbitrator chosen by Voge. The juvenile is then found guilty or not guilty and a sentence of community service or restitution or both is issued by the arbitrator. The entire process is usually completed within 60 days.

If the juvenile completes the arbitration program, the state attorney's office does not file charges in the case unless the youth is charged with a second crime or misdemeanor before his 18th birthday. If no second charge is logged before the juvenile's 18th birthday, the youth has a clean record, Voge said.

Voge said the arbitration program in Seminole County is the best in the state and in 1983 handled 633 cases. Background of its volunteer arbitrators, who attend a 10-week training program, range from people with doctorates to cabinet makers to lawyers.

He said the system is successful because the juvenile pays his debt to society quickly, and because the community service is through HRS, the work is supervised. If restitution is required, a receipt must be delivered by the juvenile from whom the restitution was paid. This is to prevent mom or dad from paying the debt, Voge said.

The program has a 95 percent success rate, which is far higher than the usual juvenile court system, Voge said.

Auto Train Cancels Daily Service Plans

Auto Train will not begin daily service between Sanford and Lorton, Va., on March 1 as originally planned, an Amtrak spokesman said today.

"We are meeting and exceeding our revenue performance with our tri-weekly service, but we are not sold out on a regular basis," said John Jacobsen, of Amtrak's Corporate Communications Office in Washington, D.C.

"We are being very cautious in our first year of operation," he explained. "We don't want to jeopardize the future of Auto Train, which by law has to be making a profit to continue to operate."

"Most of the equipment ordered in anticipation of daily service is now on line," Jacobsen said, "so we have the flexibility to absorb demand during peak periods by adding trains. We can run four or five trains a week when needed."

"We originally thought going to daily service on March 1 would be a legitimate move," he said. "We may look at it again in the summer."

School Board Will Press For Zoning Appeal Law TODAY

Despite an objection registered by one of its members, the Seminole County School Board will seek legislation giving the school system the right to appeal to the governor and cabinet the denial of rezoning requests by any city or the county or other restrictions imposed.

Member Roland Williams, absent from a school board meeting Wednesday, registered his objection through Carey Ferrell, the school system's assistant superintendent for finance and its legislative lobbyist, and through Chairman Bill Kroll Wednesday night.

Ferrell and Kroll said Williams would prefer not to cause hard feelings among the city and county governments in Seminole by pursuing the legislation and would like to see the legislation dropped.

But Kroll told his colleagues he talked to County Commission Chairman Sandra Glenn and Altamonte Springs City Commissioner Dudley Bates and neither objected to the proposal.

"When it is explained properly, others can understand," Kroll said, pointing to the 20 new schools which the system will build before the year 2000. "This will provide a mechanism to resolve" these questions, he said.

Normal recourse to the denial of zoning and other city and county restrictions is to the circuit court.

And Benny Arnold, assistant superintendent for facilities and transportation put in the board record of the meeting a letter from Daimwood, Derryberry and Pavelchak, architects of the new Hamilton Elementary School, showing it cost the board $4,675 for 93.5 hours of architectural services to reroute bus traffic at the school now under construction as required by the city of Sanford.

The Sanford City Commission turned down a site plan for the Hamilton School until bus traffic was re-routed from from 8th Street to Celery Avenue. The city commission said that the bus traffic should not be dumped into a residential area.

The board also is still smarting from the county commission's turndown of a rezoning request to permit construction of a school transportation-warehouse-food service and distribution center on a 5-Points tract between U.S. Highway 17-92 and County Road 427. The major objection to the rezoning from single family homes to institutional use was that it would violate the county's comprehensive land use plan calling for low density residential development at the site.

The school board is now looking for another site.

Ferrell said if the school board is given the right to appeal to the governor and cabinet, a right it already has in some cases on other issues, anyone wishing to appeal a decision from that level would have to go to the appellate court in Daytona Beach.

Ferrell said he is trying to arrange a joint meeting with the Seminole County Legislative Delegation to present the legislative program.

NATION IN BRIEF

No Matter How You Figure It, Poverty Is Up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Poverty in the United States has increased steadily since 1979 because recession and inflation reduced the value of such benefits as food stamps, Medicare and Medicaid, the Census Bureau said.

Gordon Green, assistant chief of the bureau's population division, said Thursday recession and inflation were high during the early 1980s and thus reduced the value of benefits the poor received.

There was a 10 percent decline in the real value of non-cash benefits to the poor between 1979 and 1982, he said.

No matter how poverty is measured, the rate and the number of people living in poverty grew between 1979 and 1982, the last year for which figures are available, Green said.

Contraceptives No Risk?

CHICAGO (UPI) — Women who use contraceptives for birth control have no increased risk of death, a study by Centers for Disease Control researchers shows.

Instead, they found contraceptive use decreased the death rate among the women studied by preventing pregnancy and thus complications associated with pregnancy and birth.

Researchers concluded: "There was no evidence that current use of IUDs, oral contraceptives, (Depo-Provera) or barrier methods of contraception was harmful to the women in the study."

Provenzano Didn't Fire Shot Paralyzing Officer

A renegade bullet that severed the spine of a corrections officer as he and a now-dead bailiff tried to subdue a well-armed gunman in an Orange County courtroom shootout came from the handgun of the dead bailiff.

Test results announced Thursday verified the bullet taken from the paralyzed body of Mark Parker, 19, of Winter Garden, came from the .38-caliber gun of bailiff William Wilkerson, 61, of Pine Hills, who died at the courthouse during the Jan. 14 shooting.

Parker, Wilkerson, and another bailiff, Harry Dalton, 53, of Longwood, who is still in a coma after being shot in the face during the battle, tried to subdue Thomas Harrison Provenzano, 34, of Winter Park, when he opened fire in the courtroom where he was to appear on misdemeanor charges. Provenzano recently was declared sane and competent to stand trial.

Two Killed, Two Critical

BRADENTON (UPI) — Federal investigators sifted through the charred wreckage of a twin-engine Piper Comanche today seeking the cause of a crash that killed two people and left two critically burned.

The plane, home-based in St. Augustine, crashed seconds after takeoff from Sarasota-Bradenton Airport Thursday afternoon.

The two dead were pilot Arthur Kerwin and passenger Frank Douglas, both of St. Augustine, police said.

Kelly Can't Practice Law

Former U.S. Rep. Richard Kelly, R-Fla., has been suspended indefinitely from practicing law in Florida because of his conviction in the 1980 Abcam scandal.

The Florida Supreme Court took the action Feb. 14 against Kelly, 59, who was found guilty of conspiracy, aiding and abetting bribery, racketeering and bribery in a trial that was highlighted by an FBI video tape of the congressman stuffing hundred-dollar bills in his pocket.

Fire Destroys Century-Old House In Chuluota

A century-old house in Chuluota was destroyed by fire Thursday night by a blaze fought by 14 county firefighters.

Ray Pippin, fire investigator for Seminole County, said it is not known when the believed-to-be unoccupied 2½-story house at Brumley and North Lake Mills road started to burn. The firefighters responded to a call at 10:58 p.m. and discovered the house totally engulfed in flames upon their arrival, Pippin said.

He said it took the 14 firefighters with four units and a tanker 45 minutes to an hour to bring the blaze under control. A nearby garage used for storage was saved from the blaze, firemen said.

Pippin said the cause of the fire is not known and investigators were at the scene this morning to determine how it started.

He said the house was reported to be a 100-year-old structure.

According to fire investigator Dawson Kerr, who is investigating the blaze with Pippin, the owner of the house is Ruth Weidenheimer of Orlando.

While the fire investigators could not put a value on the old structure, the Seminole County property appraiser said the house, built before 1900, is valued at $8,390 for taxing purposes.

BURGLARIES

A thief broke into a tool shed behind Semoran Landscaping, 2400 W. 25th St., Sanford, and took tools worth $525, according to a sheriff's report filed by Danny D. Floyd, 27, of 122 E. Lauren Court, Fern Park. The break-in occurred between 6 p.m. Monday and 7:30 a.m. Tuesday.

Two Rochester, N.H. men reported that a thief took $30 and two rings with a combined value of $143 from their room at the Day's Inn, State Road 46 at Interstate 4, Sanford. The items disappeared Monday or Tuesday and William M. Brock, 17, and Kurt M. Bolin, 18, said there was no sign of forced entry to their room, a sheriff's report said.

Joan and Frank Schirm of 3689 Jerico Drive, Casselberry, reported to the sheriff's department that $640 cash and a pocket calculator were taken from their home Monday or Tuesday.

THEFTS

A $500 boat trailer belonging to James P. Salvage Jr., 639 Pearl Road, Winter Springs, was reported missing from the parking lot of Ice Cold Auto Air, Inc., 108 W. State Road 436, Fern Park. The trailer disappeared between 5:30 p.m. Monday and 8:08 a.m. Tuesday, a sheriff's report said.

A $1,800 water pump and a $379 air compressor were taken Sunday from Deer Run Country Club, Eagle Circle, Casselberry, according to a sheriff's report.

EQUIPMENT TAKEN

A Sanford resident told police over $2,200 worth of tools and equipment was removed from his trucks and a shed at his home.

Steve Adam Bacus, 2405 Lake Ave., told police someone entered a shed and two pickup trucks at his third apartment in that complex. The woman was treated for stab wounds, cuts and scrapes at Winter Park Hospital, where tests confirmed that she had been raped, the report said.

When Lambert was jailed by Winter Springs police Wednesday, they alleged that they found burglary tools in his home. They had been called to the Dappled Elm Lane area by residents who were reporting attempted break-ins. After Lambert's arrest the officers reported finding signs of attempted forced entry on windows of homes at 1108 and 1134 Dappled Elm Lane, according to their report.

On Feb. 20 Lambert was found not guilty in a Seminole County court on a charge of aggravated assault of a woman at the ABC Lounge, 436 and County Road 15 on Sept. 8.

home between 5:30 p.m. Friday and 5:10 a.m. Saturday and took $2,202 worth of tools and equipment.

Missing were: a chain saw, $80; battery charger, $30; fishing rod, $30; four staple guns, $1,000; two wire cutters, $6; chalking and measuring tapes, $33; coins, $5; cassette tapes and speakers, $98; radio knobs, $5; two tin snips, $50; a power booster, $300; an air compressor $800; hatchet, $20; nail pouch $15; and a jacket, $20.

RESISTED

A man accused of creating a disturbance and refusing to leave the House of Babes, Casselberry, was charged with disorderly conduct and resisting arrest without violence.

A man was charged with resisting arrest after he repeatedly refused to produce his identification, a sheriff's report said.

Bobby Raby Kirby, 29, of 825 Francis St., Altamonte Springs, was arrested at 2:33 a.m. Wednesday. He posted a $500 bond and was released from the Seminole County jail.

BOOK LOAN

A Sanford man returned home to find a book in which he had stashed some cash was missing.

Ronald Dwight Replogle, of 301 Magnolia Ave., told police he was away from his apartment from 1 a.m. Friday until 7 a.m. Saturday and when he returned a paperback book in which he had hidden $200 was missing from a suitcase.

There were no signs of forced entry into the apartment, according to a police report.

FISHING GEAR GONE

Over $600 worth of fishing equipment was taken from a boat moored at the Sanford Marina.

According to a police report, $614 worth of fishing gear was taken from a boat owned by Phillip G. Boyd of 3302 U.S. Highway 17-92, Sanford.

Boyd told police that between 7:30 a.m. and 1:15 p.m. Sunday, someone took a $230 outboard motor, two fishing reels valued at $75 each, two $35 fishing poles, a $14 tackle box and about $50 worth of assorted lures and other equipment.

VEHICLE THEFTS

A 1984 Firebird Transam valued at $14,000 was stolen from Courtesy Pontiac, 3219 S. U.S. Highway 17-92, Sanford, Saturday morning.

Dealership mechanic Carl F. Shackford reported following a man who drove away in the vehicle, but didn't pursue the suspect after he stopped at a convenience store on Lake Mary Boulevard, Sanford, because he said he thought he might be a salesman for the dealer, a sheriff's report said.

Betty F. Lee, 47, of 205 Brider St., Sanford, gave sheriff's deputies the name of a man who borrowed her $7,000 Monte Carlo at noon Saturday and failed to return the car. Ms. Lee had told the man he could use the car for 10 minutes, a report said.

A 1973 Pinto belonging to Sharon Wilson of Orlando was stolen from the Texaco station at State Road 436 and Interstate 4, Altamonte Springs. Ms. Wilson's daughter, Kathleen Wilson, 23, of Orlando, reported the car, which would not run, was stolen between Saturday and Monday, a sheriff's report said.

Debbie I. Chavez, 33, of 1000 Gator Lane, Winter Springs, reported that she loaned her 1974 Pinto to a friend Sunday and the car was not returned to her within an hour as promised. A sheriff's report lists the value of the car at $566.48.

FIRE CALLS

The Sanford Fire Department responded to the following calls:

Higher Food Costs Boost Index By 0.6%

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sharply higher food costs raised consumer prices 0.6 percent in January, the biggest monthly jump for inflation since the 5-cents-a-gallon gasoline tax took effect last April, the government said today.

On a yearly basis, January's 0.6 percent increase would be an inflation rate of 7.8 percent, a labor department analysis said. The rate for all of 1983 was 3.8 percent.

The increase in the Labor Department's Consumer Price Index far exceeded the 0.2 percent acceleration that was the monthly average since prices began a dramatic slowdown late in 1981.

Although a poor start for 1984's anti-inflation battle, analysts said the accumulated damage to food prices done by the frigid December weather, the summer drought and a chicken-killing virus would soon fade away.

January's proliferation of independent telephone companies split from AT&T drove up telephone bills a record amount, 5.2 percent in one month.

The index went up a revised 0.4 percent in December.

Grocery prices went up 2.4 percent in January, the most since February 1974.

Fuel oil prices also surged, up 2.6 percent in January alone, the biggest jump in nearly a year. But a 1.1 percent decline in gasoline prices, the fourth consecutive drop, and slightly cheaper natural gas helped pull the overall energy price index down 0.4 percent.

The Consumer Price Index for January was 305.2, equivalent to a price of $305.20 for the government's sample market basket of goods and services that cost $100 in 1967.

The broadest category of food and beverages, including a small increase in restaurant meals, was up 1.6 percent in January, four times December's increase.

Egg prices shot up 21.3 percent, one consequence of the fight to contain the spread of flu virus that has forced the destruction of hundreds of thousands of chickens.

Beef prices were up 3.5 percent, pork 5.2 percent and poultry, 3.7 percent.

Fresh fruit prices climbed 7.8 percent in January, more than their 3.8 percent increase for the entire period since September 1981.

Healthcare Express Exhibit Opens Saturday

The Healthcare Express, Hospital Corporation of America's World's Fair exhibit, rolled into Sanford at noon to unfold its exhibit on "Human Energy" at Central Florida Regional Hospital.

Open free to the public Saturday (Feb. 25) from 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m., the huge trailer opens into a 1,000 square-foot exhibit featuring five talking computers which will test visitors on their healthcare knowledge. The displays are interactive — a visitor must touch them to make them work.

HICA, the Express's four-foot robot, immediately explored the local hospital, peeking into the newly decorated birthing room in the Obstetrics Department and the Short Stay Surgery Unit. Then he tried the tricky tongue twisters associated with the colorful animals painted on the walls in the Pediatric Wing.

All three areas will be open for the public to tour from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

HICA claimed he wasn't faint-hearted. "Loo, I've traveled over 24,000 miles, stopped at 95 HCA hospitals across this U.S.A., talked to thousands of kids, and I haven't burned out yet." HICA, nonetheless, showed great interest in the Understanding Your Heart program being set up. He loved the electronic quizzes which are only two in the 10-step program also scheduled Saturday for the public.

A panel of physicians will answer questions twice during the day, following a film on "Understanding Your Heart." at 10:45 a.m. and again at 2:45. The film will start on the hour, and will also be shown by itself beginning at 10 and continuing to 3.

The other features of the program include health screenings, nutritional demonstration, health evaluations and information about cardiovascular disease and its risks. The program was developed by the American Association of Retired Persons and the Health Screening Council, as well as the Labs Division of Pfizer.

After seeing the balloons, which will be handed out to children, and checking on the refreshments for Saturday, HICA was last seen with a cane pole in hand heading for the lake in front of the hospital.

"I'm going fishing, he said. "See you Saturday."

NATIONAL REPORT: Springlike temperatures in the 60s Thursday set more than a dozen records — eight of them in Michigan — and a surprise snowstorm blitzed Virginia with 8 inches of snow that caused scores of little accidents. Heavy snow and rain slowed lawmen searching the east Tennessee mountains for two desperate escaped convicts. The East Coast storm threatened local flooding in the Carolinas and Tennessee and dumped up to 6 inches of snow in the North Carolina mountains. Up to 3 inches fell in the Tennessee mountains. A heavy snow warning for 6 or more inches of snow was posted over the northern mountains of North Carolina and a travelers' advisory was issued for the central mountains. Warnings for gale force winds were issued for the North Carolina coast as winds were expected to reach 40 mph with even stronger gusts.

Should EPA Set EDB In Food Limits?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Members of Congress propose to speed up a time-consuming regulatory process by empowering and directing the Environmental Protection Agency to set immediate enforceable limits on residues of EDB in food.

Rep. Henry Waxman, D-Calif., chairman of the House subcommittee on health and the environment, said Thursday he is concerned that existing lengthy procedures "jeopardize the confidence of the public in its food supply."

At a news conference, Waxman said the legislation would speed up a current time-consuming regulatory process for setting limits the EPA said could take up to six months.

On Feb. 3, the EPA set voluntary national guidelines.

Carter People Upset Over FBI Probe Results

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Carter White House officials are assailing the FBI for clearing top aides to President Reagan of wrongdoing without resolving key questions about their use of President Carter's debate briefing papers in the 1980 campaign.

Aluding to the Watergate cover-up more than a decade ago, former Carter pollster Patrick Caddell said the Justice Department's three-page report closing the books on the matter "smacks of deja vu." Caddell said the probe should have been handled by an independent counsel.

In the report made public Thursday, the department said the eight-month FBI investigation did not show how Carter materials reached the Reagan campaign but produced "no credible evidence" any law was violated.

Justice Department spokesman Thomas DeCair said it was decided not to use polygraph examinations to resolve inconsistencies between figures in the controversy — including Reagan aide James Baker and CIA Director William Casey — because there was no "investigative purpose" or evidence of a crime.

Ex-Carter administration officials have charged that Reagan had an unfair edge in the crucial Oct. 28, 1980, debate a week before the election because his campaign had a copy of Carter's debate briefing book.

Bank Robbery Trial Monday

A Palm Beach man accused of robbing a Sanford bank at mid-day is scheduled to go on trial Monday.

Anthony Alexander Andrews, 26, of Palm Beach, is charged with robbing the Florida National Bank, 101 E. 25th St., Nov. 16 at 11 a.m. He is also charged with aggravated assault.

According to Gordon Hinesley, vice president of Florida National Bank's Orlando office, a man entered the bank and waved a revolver around and ordered all tellers to give him large bills from their drawers.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Cease-Fire Holds; Peace Pact Deadlocked

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Lebanon's warring factions observed a cease-fire negotiated by Saudi Arabia today despite apparent deadlock in diplomatic efforts to forge agreement in a wider peace package for the war-torn nation.

Iran-Iraq Battle Rages

LONDON (UPI) — Iraq today staged rocket attacks against two Iranian cities, killing at least 59 people and wounding 350, and Iran retaliated with artillery barrages on Basra, Iraq's second largest city, the Iranian news agency said.

Truckers: End Protest

PARIS (UPI) — Two associations representing most French truckers today called for an end to the week-old protest that paralyzed highways in France and caused shortages of medicine and food.

Police reported immediate improvements around Paris. Truckers who had blocked access to the critical freight-clearing station at Garonor in the northern suburbs left within an hour of their leaders' call.

East-West Thaw? It's Not Likely

Thy wish was father... to that thought.
— Shakespeare, 'Henry IV'

Western leaders, each for their own reasons, are eager for a thaw in East-West relations. And now that the sinister Yuri Andropov is dead, they think they see a possible crack in the ice. They are probably mistaken, for reasons we discuss below. Still, it is a useful exercise to consider what might be the minimal requirements for a genuine, as opposed to a merely cosmetic, improvement in Soviet-American relations in particular.

Start with one central truth: That Soviet-American relations are bad because the Soviet Union persists in activities that are irreconcilable with the security and survival of the West. Better relations, therefore, depend on whether the Soviet leadership is willing to stop at least some of these activities.

Here is a sample list that President Reagan might want to include in a private, "ice-breaker" letter to Andropov's successor, Konstantin Chernenko:

— Stop cheating on existing arms control treaties and agreements, including the 1972 anti-ballistic missile treaty, the 1979 SALT II treaty and the 1972 Biological Weapons Convention.

— Return to arms control negotiations in Geneva prepared to bargain in good faith for equitable, verifiable agreements that would stabilize the nuclear balance and permit substantial reductions in the levels of nuclear weapons on both sides.

— Cooperate in easing tensions in such regional hot spots as the Middle East, Central America, Southern Africa and Southwest Asia.

A positive response to the dispatch of such a list would indicate, but certainly not prove, that Chernenko and the Politburo were indeed prepared to deal. But any real improvement in relations would have to await Soviet actions. Remember that the fraudulently labeled detente of the 1970s collapsed in stages as Soviet actions invalidated Soviet promises one by one.

To encourage the Soviets along the path of a genuine thaw, the United States and its allies should avoid doing anything now that might suggest that the West will offer unilateral concessions. The willingness to do so during the 1970s helped to undermine prospects for a true detente by prompting a belief among the Soviet leaders that the West could, in effect, be bullied.

Thus, for example, there must be no slowdown in the deployment of cruise and Pershing II missiles being sent to Europe to strengthen NATO's nuclear deterrent. Nor must there be any slackening of effort, especially in the United States, to rebuild Western military strength and counter the continuing Soviet arms buildup. Falling defense budgets in the West during the 1970s were another of the signs to the Kremlin that "detente" could be turned into a one-way street.

Thinking about how much less dangerous the world could be if the Soviets so willed it is heady stuff. But what is the evidence for hoping that it might happen anytime soon? Mostly, it is thin stuff; so thin in fact that we have to wonder whether Shakespeare's wise words in Henry IV do not apply in these circumstances.

Chernenko is said to have murmured the word detente several times during his 30-minute chat with Vice President Bush. The new Soviet leader hinted publicly at the possibility of resuming arms control talks. And, he struck some Westerners as personally less hostile than the late Andropov.

Well, as we said, this is thin stuff. What kind of detente does Chernenko and the Politburo have in mind? Arms control talks? They were used during the 1970s to undermine Western and specifically American defenses while the Soviets piled armaments upon armaments, as they continue to do today. And as for Chernenko's personal demeanor, only the unsophisticated imagine that whim and personality shape the foreign policy of the Soviet state.

Konstantin Chernenko is probably only an interim leader in any case — he apparently suffers from advanced emphysema — and Soviet policy is almost certainly being made now by the collective judgment of the 12-member Politburo. And these, we need to remember, are the same men who have helped to shape Soviet policies that have posed the greatest threat to the security of the democracies since Hitler.

A thaw? Not likely. But test Chernenko just the same, offering him what every Soviet leader has been offered: Fewer tensions and better relations if the Soviets so desire.

BERRY'S WORLD

"If we could come up with something that would make more women want to vote for Reagan, we could write our own ticket."

Dig your turn of the century costume out of storage and turn up turned out in it for the 6th Annual Goldenrod Festival Saturday, March 3.

The fun begins at 9 a.m. with arts and crafts and commercial presentations. But if you arrive a little late maybe you'll be just in time to catch the 100-unit parade at 11 a.m. Seminole County firefighters will be marching along with Ronald McDonald, the Burger King Robot, Bahia Shriners and other local VIPs.

Later in the day, the firefighters will test their skills in a Firematics competition. Free entertainment will be the watchword of the day. The Petting Corral from the Central Florida Zoo, Doris "Eagle Lady"

Mager and her birds of prey, and an Orange County K-9 team will be on hand to fascinate animal lovers.

Live bands, singers and dancers will appear and a magician might make you disappear.

For those who are into machines, the Orange County sheriff's helicopter will be on display along with vintage cars — both antique and nifty 50s styles can be seen and enjoyed.

On a more serious note, the Seminole County Youth Deputies will operate a fingerprinting booth and, like most of the festivities, that service will be free.

There will be a nominal charge if you choose to ride the pony or the carnival rides. And don't bring your lunch. There will be barbeque, hot dogs, burgers and other refreshments to buy.

If you're really lucky, you may take home a prize. Area businesses will be giving away thousands of dollars in door prizes and there will be a fantastic grand prize for one winner. But to win you'll have to register in a participating Goldenrod business before the festival.

If you want to find the fun, look for Goldenrod in southeast Seminole County and into Orange County. The festival will be on Aloma Avenue one mile east of State Road 436, between Palmetto and north Goldenrod Road.

The festival is sponsored by the Goldenrod Area Chamber of Commerce and the Goldenrod Civic Club.

ROBERT WAGMAN Will New Facts Sway Congress?

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Two new studies indicate that conventional wisdom isn't always wise — at least regarding immigration and insurance, two issues that have been subject to heated congressional debate.

Last summer, the House of Representatives tied itself in knots over a major immigration-reform bill.

On one side were traditional liberals who noted that the United States had always welcomed immigrants and that quotas should be kept high and regulations minimal, especially for immigrants seeking to escape tyranny abroad.

On the other side were trade unions, conservatives and environmental groups, which argued that immigrants take scarce jobs away from those born here, use social services without contributing their fair share and strain the ecosystem by adding to the ever-growing population.

The argument that immigrants are bad for the economy began to get the upper hand in the debate; however, the House could reach no decision and the legislation was shelved.

Now a new voice has entered the debate. A study conducted by Dr. Julian Simon of the University of Maryland was recently published by the conservative Heritage Foundation, where Simon is a senior fellow. Simon concludes that immigration is actually beneficial to the U.S. economy.

Simon notes that immigrants tend to be in their 20s or early 30s, and thus exert little pressure on the social-service system. Contrary to some allegations, he says, there is no evidence that immigrants abuse welfare services. He notes that the average immigrant family receives only about $1,400 a year in welfare services, while services for the average U.S. family total $2,400.

Further, says Simon, immigrants tend to be entrepreneurs; they start businesses that create jobs. They also pay more in taxes than the average native-born family. Finally, he cites recent California studies which show that when immigrants do take low-paying jobs, especially in agriculture, those jobs are almost always necessary to the economy, but unwanted by native-born Americans.

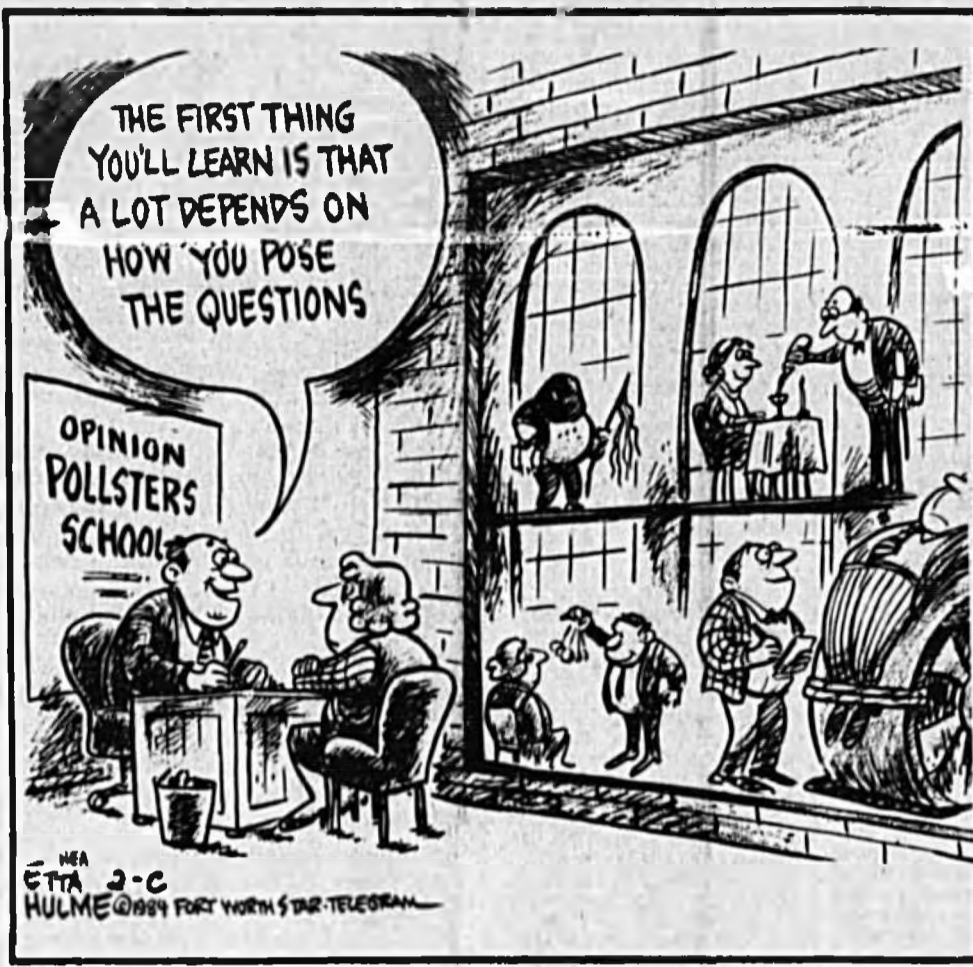

In sum, claims Simon, the myth "is that immigrants lower the standard of living of U.S. natives. This simply is not supported by the evidence."

"Unisex" insurance is another subject of heated congressional debate. Women's-rights groups are promoting a national law that would ban all gender-based insurance. However, the insurance industry claims that some underwriting risks are gender-related, and that gender must continue as a factor in many kinds of insurance.

One major battleground has been auto liability, especially regarding insurance for young drivers. The insurance industry argues that young male drivers have more accidents than young female drivers.

Not so, say opponents: Any differences in accident rates are due to the fact that the average male drives more miles than the average female. They add that auto-insurance companies should base premiums on miles driven, not gender.

But a new study strongly reinforces the industry's position. The study was conducted for the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety — a highly respected industry-sponsored group — by Dr. Allan Williams.

It's Chernenko's Turn

NEW YORK (NEA) — Say what you will, when it comes to efficiency the Soviet technique for selecting a new national leader sure leaves the American system in the dust.

Here we are, just getting over the Iowa caucuses and preparing for the New Hampshire primary, with a whole springful of primaries still ahead, to be followed by two midsummer national conventions and a general election campaign that won't be over till November.

The Russians had their new man picked before Yuri Andropov was even safely in the ground. A few discreet conversations among the leaders of the Politburo — a few black Zil limousines glimpsed hurrying here or there — and then the drums roll: "The Central Committee of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union has unanimously chosen Konstantin Ustinovich Chernenko as General Secretary of the Party."

And with that announcement the 270 million people of one of the world's two superpowers learn, all at once and quite irrevocably, who their new ruler is to be. By nightfall little girls will be presenting him with bouquets of flowers; by the next morning giant photographs of him will be going up all over Moscow and the other major cities of the Soviet Union.

The routine is an almost obscene insult to the hard-working peoples of that vast nation — or would be, if more of them appeared to mind.

Who is this Chernenko? By all accounts, a routine product of the communist system — a time-serving hack who hit the big time as a protégé of Leonid Brezhnev, was brusquely passed over for Yuri Andropov when Brezhnev died 15 months ago, but outlived his vanquisher and now has contrived to succeed him. "You shall have no preferment as long as I live," the Cardinal de Fleury told the Abbe de Bernis. To which the young priest replied, "I shall wait."

Not that there is anything young about Chernenko: At 72, he is the oldest man ever chosen to lead the Soviet Union. (Maybe the boys in the Kremlin decided Ronald Reagan's age was somehow his secret weapon.) Chernenko, moreover, is just the latest in a series of coeval elders who run the Politburo collectively, passing the top job around like the presidency of Switzerland or a medicine ball during those exercise sessions in the Hoover White House. There is little chance that Soviet policy will change in any perceptible way.

In a sense, this is good news for the rest of the world. Soviet policy is unreservedly malevolent toward those segments of mankind not yet under tight Soviet control, but it is also distinctly cautious — even (if I may be forgiven for using the word in this context) conservative. The rulers of the Soviet Union know they have no business ruling it: They are simply the political heirs of a ruthless takeover by force in 1917, and their insecurity is therefore limitless — which is why, of course, they must constantly try to extend their power until it is unchallenged literally anywhere.

But for the same reason they are also extremely reluctant to risk the power they have already acquired. It is not a committee of old men in charge of the Soviet Union, but a single young one in that happy position, that the rest of mankind has most to fear. Napoleon at 29, Stalin at 45, Hitler at 44, had all arrived where Chernenko has arrived at 72. At his age few men are much inclined "to dice with destiny for beers."

So the advent of Chernenko may, paradoxically, stimulate more tentative changes in the policies of Western nations than in those of the Soviet Union itself. Those who are forever pushing the West into ill-advised concessions will insist that now is the time to rescue American-Soviet relations from the morass into which Ronald Reagan has allegedly dragged them. Even the professional foreign-policy specialists of the Western powers will want to toss a bone or two to the Russian bear, to see if it is by any chance in a mood to sniff.

Unfortunately, steadfastness isn't one of those qualities for which democracies are famous. If the Soviet Union has nothing to expect during Ronald Reagan's political lifetime, it may decide, like the Abbe de Bernis, to wait. Some new patsy like Carter, or even a cynical Machiavellian like Nixon, would be preferable to the persistent and resourceful adversary now in the White House.

Treasury's Regan: 'Fire Feldstein'

WASHINGTON — The backstage squabbling between Treasury Secretary Donald Regan and Martin Feldstein, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, was toned down for propriety's sake when the two rivals appeared together before Congress two weeks ago.

But I've learned that only the day before, Regan suggested privately that Feldstein should be fired. During a meeting of senior managers at the Treasury, Regan surprised some of his top aides by referring to Feldstein disparagingly several times as he disabused on the disagreement over the administration's fiscal policy.

The next day, Regan adopted the air of a reasonable man trying to weather an impatience he knows must be suffered. He could afford to be tolerant, if still mildly disdainful, of the pedagogical Feldstein, for Regan's rosy view of the economy is the one the president accepted. Feldstein's gloomy forecasts were rejected.

But Regan made no secret of the course he thinks Feldstein should have followed once his advice was spurned: Shut up or get out. The secretary of the treasury lamented to his managers the fact that government doesn't emulate private industry, where employees "take orders and salute or else are booted out."

"He was simply trying to explain to his managers what underlies this Don and Marty show," a Treasury official told my associate Michael Binstein. "He expressed regret — even resentment — that there is a lack of esprit de corps in the administration."

Basically, Regan considers Feldstein's

continued harping about the gigantic federal deficits — and his support of tax increases — to be disloyal. He also thinks Feldstein's predictions of impending doom are based on ivory-tower economics, not marketplace realities.

But interviews with Treasury economists reveal that most of them agree with Feldstein's economic analysis. They say Regan is merely providing the rationale for a president who must play the election-year role of Dr. Feelgood, prescribing uppers without coming to terms with the malady.

But oddly enough, several Treasury economists agreed with Regan's views on loyalty even as they conceded Feldstein's superior analysis of the economy. They were sharply critical of Feldstein's publicity-seeking; there's a widespread suspicion that his real

ROBERT WALTERS Lavish 'Vacations' Deductible

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (NEA) — There are countless reasons why this city has long been one of the nation's premier tourist attractions — but advanced medical education never has been one of them.

Now, however, physicians can check into the lavish Desert Inn here and learn about arcane specialties ranging from "malignant hypertension" to "colonic polyps" in the privacy of their hotel rooms.

If Las Vegas doesn't appeal to them, the doctors can travel to Honolulu, San Juan, Miami Beach, Cancun or Acapulco for an update on everything from "diagnosis on diabetes mellitus" to "treatment of pulmonary embolism."

All of those cities are more renowned as popular vacation destinations than as centers of medical knowledge. Indeed, the literature promoting "continuing medical education" here acknowledges that "if any city in the world was built purely for the pursuit of pleasure, that city is Las Vegas."

But at least a half-dozen commercial enterprises now offer "educational" programs for not only doctors but lawyers, executives and other professionals. These programs allow those who attend to deduct from their federal income taxes virtually all of the costs of their vacations here and elsewhere.

It's scandalous, but perfectly legal because the Internal Revenue Service says individuals may deduct all the expenses of professional education which "maintains or improves skills required in doing your present work."

Thus, attendees at the Legal Seminar on Medical Malpractice can deduct their air fare, lodging, food and incidental costs incurred in participating in the Colorado Institute's "comprehensive five-day seminars presented... every week throughout the entire '83-'84 ski season."

These seminars are conveniently held in five of the country's most popular ski resorts — Park City, Utah, and Aspen, Vail, Snowmass and Steamboat Springs, Colo. — and they begin at 7:30 a.m., before the ski slopes open.

At 4 p.m. each day, after the slopes have closed, the Colorado Institute has a seminar for business executives on Investments, Tax Shelters and Financial Planning.

You don't have to be a professional to take advantage of the program offered by the Jackson Hole Personal Computer Resort in Jackson Hole, Wyo., one of the country's most spectacularly beautiful vacation spots.

Offering tax-deductible "personal computer instruction in an alpine paradise," the resort asks potential customers: "Why not vacation in Jackson Hole while learning to enjoy the IBM personal computer?"

The non-seminar diversions include tennis, racquetball, fishing, golf, skiing, hiking and horseback riding — and there's plenty of time for them because the computer course consumes only 18 hours of the visitors' time.

That course and others offered at various Western ski resorts requires participants to attend lectures at scheduled times and places, but the program for doctors in Las Vegas and other cities is far more flexible.

The physicians borrow video tapes from a lending library at a hotel, and view them whenever they wish in their rooms at "carefully selected deluxe establishments," according to an official of Philadelphia's Hahnemann University.

motive is to return as a hero to his professorship at Harvard this summer.

These officials contrast Feldstein's behavior with that of his predecessor, Murray Weidenbaum, who fought against runaway military spending and high deficits. When his advice was rejected, he resigned.

I've learned that the falling-out between Regan and Feldstein dates back to the fall of 1982 when they were working on the president's 1983 economic report. In a preliminary draft, Feldstein referred to the "failed economic policies of the last 10 years."

Furious, Regan reminded Feldstein that this was indicting two Republican administrations along with Jimmy Carter's.

"There's been no love lost since then," a source said.

Be Careful In Pruning Palm Trees

Old, brown fronds hanging from your palm trees may be cut off close to the trunk with a pruning or pole saw. But, be careful not to pull off fronds that are firmly attached as injury to the palm will occur. Think green this year by starting a regular feeding program for your palms. You can use a special palm fertilizer formulation or a regular N-P-K fertilizer with a high percentage of nitrogen, such as 16-4-8 or 12-4-8. A complete fertilizer with additional minor elements is better, if available.

Alfred Besesen
Urban Horticulturist
323-2500
Ext. 181

Young palms with no clear trunk need one to three pounds of fertilizer per feeding. Palms with clear trunks should receive 1/2 to one pound of fertilizer per inch of trunk diameter per feeding. Feed your trees three times a year — making your first application now another in mid-summer, and a third in early fall. The fall feeding will significantly increase cold tolerance and reduce the chance of nutritional deficiencies that may occur when the roots are less active.

Your lawn needs fertilizer, too. And, if you haven't already done so, this is a good time, now through the month of March, to get this little chore done. Select a complete fertilizer, such as 16-4-8, 12-4-8, 10-10-10, or 6-6-6. Follow the instructions for application as shown on the bag, or apply the equivalent of one pound of actual nitrogen per 1,000 square feet of lawn area.

In addition, proper mowing, watering, thatch control, and pest control must be combined to keep your lawn beautiful. Remember, all fertilizers may burn the grass if improperly applied. Never exceed the recommended rate and apply when the grass leaves are dry. When finished, water thoroughly.

WATERING

Speaking of watering, many of the lawns and shrub borders in our area are grossly overwatered. This is not only wasteful of a precious resource, but actually causes considerable damage to plants. As a rule, all you need to apply is from 1/2 to one inch of water every two weeks in the winter and the same amount one or two times per week in the summer. This is the equivalent of 300-600 gallons of water per 1,000 square feet per watering. All soils in our area are not the same, though, so you will have to adjust the amount of water to apply to your particular lawn or shrub border.

There are several ways you can tell when your lawn needs water. If you notice spots in the lawn which first turn a bluish-gray color and then brown, water is needed. If footprints remain long after you walk across the lawn, water is needed. If we have a long, dry spell with high temperatures and strong winds, all of these symptoms may appear.

During these periods, the plants lose water faster than they can absorb it and then wilt. With a little experience, you'll be able to tell when your lawn needs water. But, you must water when needed and not later, or permanent damage may occur. If the grass plants are full of water, they will be resilient and withstand foot traffic.

Avoid extremes when watering. Light, frequent waterings are inefficient and produce shallow root systems, making the plants more subject to drought. Excessive watering keeps the root zone saturated and is harmful, too. Roots, like leaves, need air to function and too much water can kill the grass. The best time to water is early enough in the afternoon so the grass goes into the evening dry. This will help prevent lawn-damaging diseases. However, early afternoon may not fit your schedule, so you may water whenever convenient.

Trees and shrubs need water, too. Especially those with shallow root systems, such as azaleas. On the other hand, deep-rooted shrubs, such as hibiscus, need deep watering. Underwatering any plant may cause severe wilting and subsequent leaf drop... overwatering may cause similar problems. Like turf grasses, roots of trees and shrubs need air. If too wet, the roots will suffocate and you may lose the entire plant. Some, such as junipers and other needle evergreens, like it on the dry side. If they get too much water, various disease may attack the stem and roots resulting in the loss of plants.

Most trees and shrubs (citrus is the exception) will benefit from a 1 to 2-inch layer of an organic mulch around the base to hold moisture and keep the roots cool.

Why not become friends with your plants... get to know them, their needs, and their likes and dislikes... and they'll reward you with many seasons of beautiful blooms, colorful foliage, and shade in the hot summer. Happy Gardening!

Old World Parents Won't Like New World Lifestyle

DEAR ABBY: I've been living in the United States for over three years, having come from a country that is predominantly Roman Catholic. My parents are very religious and they are living in everything.

This summer my parents are coming here for a two-week visit. They know that I am going with a nice Catholic boy, but they don't know that we are living together.

Abb, I've never lied to my parents in my life. (They have been times when I haven't told them everything, but I've never lied.) They come and see that we are living together. I am sure they will pressure us to get married, and neither of us is ready for that yet.

What should I do?

NEEDS ADVICE
DEAR NEEDS: Write to your parents and tell them that you and your boyfriend are living together and you hope that they will not pressure you to get married because neither of you is ready for that yet.

It may come as a shock to them, but the shock would be greater were they to come and learn it then. Of course, you could ask your boyfriend to move out while your parents are visiting, but I

Just that you could handle the guilt.

DEAR ABBY: I need your help. I've been married for seven months to a man I love with all my heart. Now the problem is a very heavy leather and he whistles rough his nose when he sleeps. It is not a snore — it is a whistle that is louder than any snore I've ever heard.

I'm a very light sleeper, and this noise wakes me many times during the night. I can't continue asking him up to tell him to turn over or put the pillow over his head. I've tried using earplugs (the kind used by people who work around noisy equipment) but they aren't comfortable and they don't stay in my ears. Please don't tell me I'm lucky to have a husband and be glad I can hear. I am only 22 and I can't go on like this for the rest of my life.

SLEEPLESS NIGHTS
DEAR SLEEPLESS: If your husband has not seen an ear-noise-throat doctor, he should. (A minor surgical procedure might relieve the problem.) If that fails, check your nearest university for its sleep disorder clinic. If you strike out there, see your friendly neighborhood pharmacist for wax earplugs that can be molded to the ear, are more comfortable and stay in.

And if any readers have suggestions — short of "separate bedrooms" — I'll pass them on to you.

DEAR ABBY: This is for the unmarried secretary who thought her married boss got her pregnant. She told him, and he quickly gave her $300 for an abortion, which she never

YMCA Conducts Drive To Increase Services

Rosalie Morace has been appointed a director on the Board of Management of the Seminole County YMCA. Mrs. Morace says she is delighted to be able to serve the Y in this way and sees it as an opportunity to bring some additional wholesome family programs to Sanford and surrounding areas.

Mrs. Morace says the YMCA has a strong foundation in quality programs for all family members. "We hope to see our branch grow so that it is able to offer more programs in the Sanford area. In the past much of the programming has been located further south in the county, making it difficult for local residents to attend regularly scheduled classes. This is changing rapidly, with progressive swim classes, soccer school, T-ball, and Indian Guides and Princesses already available in Sanford, and much more is coming," she adds.

Mrs. Morace and her husband, Jim, an engineer with Martin Marietta Corp. have lived in Sanford for eight years. They have a 5-year-old son, David.

Reporting that the YMCA is involved in its annual Sustaining Drive

right now, Mrs. Morace says she feels it is important for everyone to realize that a small YMCA like the Seminole Branch must raise the major portion of its funds through private and corporate donations. A small portion of the budget comes from the United Way and some from program fees.

"But we depend on donations from local people to support our services," she said. Donations made to the Sustaining Drive are tax deductible. They go toward keeping program fees as low as possible and also to provide scholarships for children who otherwise could not attend and benefit by programs especially suitable for them.

The Seminole Branch Y has only two regular paid staff members. Scott Washburn is the director and Colleen Pope is the business manager. The rest of the support network is based on volunteer time except for some part time program staff as needed.

Rosalie asks, "Remember that YMCA where you come from? The one that always had something going on — something for everyone in the family. With a little help from our community, we can have that right here too!" She would welcome ideas for programs you feel would benefit this area. She can be reached in care of the Junior Woman's Club of Sanford Inc., P.O. Box 2618, Sanford.

New programs are beginning this month. For information call the Y at 862-0444. Representatives will be in the area to help with the Sustaining Drive. Donations may also be mailed to the above address.

Grace Carries Raiders To Threshold

SCC Needs Win For State Berth

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Artis Johnson may have scored the game-winning basket in Seminole Community College's 76-74 victory over Daytona Beach, but freshman Linny Grace carried the Raiders to the threshold of the state tournament.

Grace, a blade-thin 6-3 forward, poured in 28 of his game-high 33 points in the second half and three overtimes as SCC finally bludgeoned the Scots on Johnson's eight-footer with two seconds left at the SCC Health Center Thursday night.

SCC's victory, coupled with Valencia's surprising upset of Lake City (see related story), puts the Raiders on the threshold of their season-long goal — a spot among the state's "Elite 8" in next week's state tournament at Stetson University at DeLand.

"That has to be the greatest game in the history of the Mid-Florida Conference," said an exasperated Daytona Beach coach Ray Ridenour. "That Grace was unbelievable. He just went by us on the baseline like we were standing still."

Indeed, the former Boone standout was a sight to behold. In the second half and overtimes alone, Grace hit 11 of 13 shots, all pressurized attempts as he slipped, slithered and strained through two or three Daytona Beach defenders.

"He's like a snake," said SCC coach Bill Payne. "He can sneak through anything. That's all Linny Grace. Nobody taught him that."

Seminole's victory sets up tonight's championship at 7:30. SCC, 22-10, needs only to beat Valencia, 11-18, for the third time this year to earn a spot opposite the second-ranked team in the nation, Miami Dade North, in Thursday's opening round.

Thursday's victory was a game which had everything — possibly the most exciting and entertaining at the SCC Health Center. Both teams were deadlocked at 28 at halftime, 60 at the end of regulation, 68 at the end of the first overtime and 70 at the end of the second.

Ironically, Johnson had two opportunities to put the game on ice from the free throw line — but he missed both one-plus-ones. "I didn't know if I wanted to play anymore after I messed up those two," said the Greenville, S.C. freshman. "But we pulled it out. That's all that matters. I found a shot when I needed it and fortunately it dropped. It relieved the pressure of the free throws."

The Raiders set the stage for their game-winner with a great defensive play by Grace with 1:35 to go. Several times during the game, Daytona had the last shot, but couldn't convert. It had another chance in the third overtime. All-state guard Mike Haynes ran the clock down to 1:35 before making his move to the hoop with the game deadlocked at 74-74.

He backed into the paint and tried a fadeaway jumper. The ball into the air and center Luis Phelps grabbed the rebound.

Guards Jim Payton and Mike Tolbert, who broke a scoring slump with 10 points, then ran the clock down to 16 seconds before Payne called a timeout. "We didn't set the play up to Grace," he said. "We just wanted to work the ball around until we got a good shot."

The Raiders inbounded the ball and Payton moved it accordingly until he spotted Johnson on the right wing. Johnson faked to the middle, then drove the baseline. His soft jumper from six feet away tickled the twine with just two seconds left and sent the Raider players and fans up for grabs.

But the shot wouldn't have been possible without the amazing Grace. With three minutes left in regulation, Grace put the Raiders up, 56-54, with a short jumper. Ten seconds later, Tim Branham dropped two free throws for a tie game, but Grace responded with another bucket, and when Tolbert converted both free throws with 2:08 to play following a Johnson steal, SCC looked to be home free with 2:08 to play and a 60-58 lead.

A Daytona turnover helped at 1:30, but a traveling call at 1:06 gave the Scot another opportunity. Haynes, however, missed a jumper with 31 seconds left and Johnson clutched the rebound. He was immediately fouled.

His free throw at the 29-second mark, though, rimmed out and Haynes snatched a rebound at the other end and converted it in to send the game into overtime with a bucket with 16 seconds to go.

Phelps hit a jumper and Grace dropped in a pair from the baseline for a 66-64 lead in the first overtime, but Haynes countered with a basket and his two free throws gave Daytona a 66-66 deadlock with 1:59 to go.

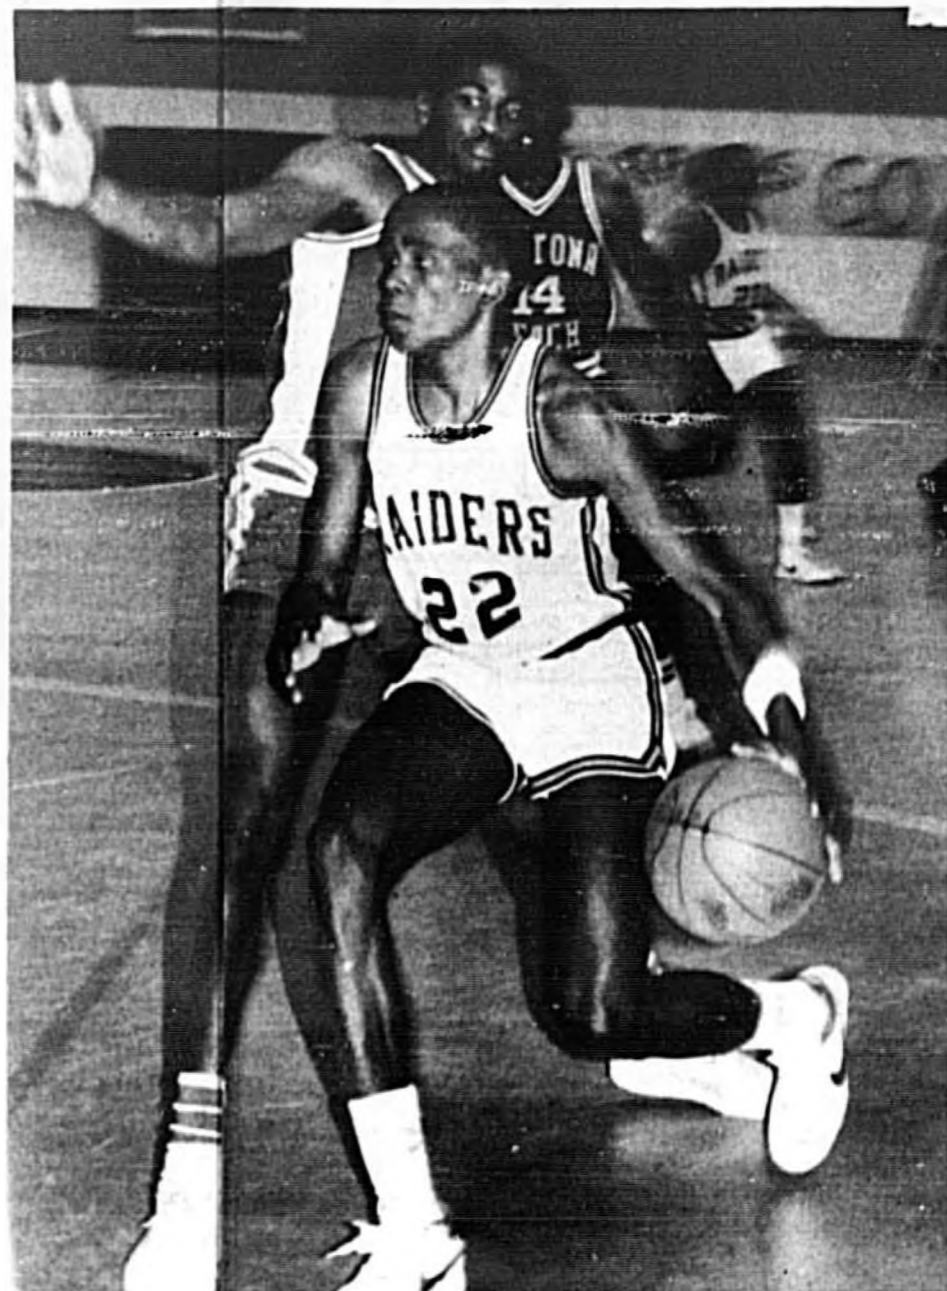

Grace notched to clutch free throws with 1:48 to play for a 68-66 lead and when Daytona missed on three shots in the last 30 seconds, the Raiders seemed to have it under control as Johnson grabbed yet another big rebound.

But with 14 seconds left, Johnson was again fouled and his free throw attempt wasn't close. Ridenour called a timeout with nine seconds left and set up a shot to Charles Stevenson in the corner. The 6-3 freshman

Payne Living Right: VCC Upsets Lake City

J.C. Basketball

SCC coach Bill Payne must be living right. Not only do his Raiders pull out a three-overtime victory in Thursday's post-season tournament nightcap, but Valent shocked Lake City, 76-74, in the tournament's opening game.

"I'm just lucky I guess," said Payne while discussing the Matadors' amazing upset. "I'd much rather play Valencia than Lake City."

With good reason, Lake City scrambled the Raiders Saturday and ruined their chances of an outright berth in next week's state tournament. VCC, meanwhile, has failed twice to SCC, though neither was easy.

Still, the matchup with the Matadors tonight at 7:30 definitely more appreciated by Payne and his Raiders. A victory tonight will earn SCC a spot in the state tournament against the second-ranked team in the nation, Miami Dade North.

"I'll do anything to get to state," said Payne, who has posted back-to-back 20-victory seasons in his first 10 years at SCC. "That's what this game is all about, coaching against a great team in the state tournament."

Miami Dade North coach Bill Alheim vs in attendance Thursday night an was impressed with the Raiders. They have a good club," said Alheim. "I saw them earlier this year against Indian River and they beat him, too."

Alheim wasn't picking a winner in tonight's VCC-SCC matchup, but he did have a preference. "Oh, we'd love to play Valencia," he laughed about the 1-18 Matadors.

Payne and his Raiders, however, don't expect to let that happen. "This is my last chance to get to state," said sophomore guard Jim Payton. "Valencia has won three in a row, and they're playing with confidence now, but we'll take them."

Lake City coach Joe Field will attest to the confidence factor. His Timberwolves had VCC on ropes, 47-34, at halftime but let the Matadors back in the game.

Behind 22 points each from Tony Fluker and Clevie Williams, the Matadors finally caught Lake City at 62 all with 6:16 to play. Ronnie Williams, who led all scorers with 24 points, then went down the lane for a 66-64 Timberwolves' lead, but Fluker came back with a bucket at 3:15 for a 66-66 deadlock.

Daytona Beach Mainland broke open a close game in the fourth quarter by going on a 13-2 scoring spurt as the second-seeded Bucs disposed of Lake Brantley's Patriots, 91-73. Thursday night in first round action in the 4A District 9 Tournament at Lake Mary High.

The Patriots, who trailed by as much as 15 points in the second half, trimmed Mainland's lead to six, 62-56, with six minutes remaining in the game, but in the next two minutes, Mainland outscored Brantley, 13-2, to take a commanding 75-58 lead with 3:50 remaining. The Patriots could come no closer than 13 points the rest of the way.

Mainland earned a spot in tonight's semifinal at 7 opposite DeLand's Bulldogs, a 58-49 winner over Apopka Thursday. In tonight's second game, top-seeded Spruce Creek tangles with fourth-seeded Seminole.

Kevin Morris scored in a game-high 25 points to lead Mainland while George McCould added 22 and David Hinson tossed in 16 points and grabbed nine rebounds.

Eric Trombo led Lake Brantley with 16 points. Greg Courtney added nine and Todd Hill, Austin Hodges and Leroy Brown had eight apiece. Hodges led the Patriots underneath with a game-high 12 rebounds.

"We got back in the game by being patient," Lake Brantley coach Bob Peterson said. "But, after we got back in it we started taking some poor shots. And didn't have any balance on defense, we gave them (Mainland) four or five fast breaks and they broke the game open."

District Basketball

Lake Brantley played well in the early going as it trailed by just two, 19-17, after the first quarter. Trombo pumped in 10 of his 16 points in the opening quarter.

Mainland went up by as much as eight points early in the second quarter, but the Patriots trimmed the Bucs' lead to one, 31-30, with 2:30 left in the quarter. Mainland then reeled off 10 points in the next two minutes to take a 11-point lead, 41-30, at halftime.

"We were down by just one with two minutes left (in the first half) but we totally got out of our tempo and Mainland took it to us," said Peterson.

Mainland scored the first four points of the third quarter to take a 45-30 lead, but the Patriots started crashing the boards the remainder of the quarter and pulled to within six, 57-51, going into the fourth. Lake Brantley outrebounded Mainland, 13-3, in the third quarter.

The Patriots stayed within six points, 62-56, in the early going of the fourth quarter and had a chance to pull within four as Hill came up with a steal, but Hill lost his balance and fell down and couldn't get up in time to get the ball back.

DeLand Overcomes Apopka

Third-seeded DeLand came back after a lackluster first half with some outstanding defense in the second half as the Bulldogs claimed a 58-49 victory over Apopka's Blue Darters in Thursday night's second game.

The hot-shooting Darters built an eight-point lead, 31-23, by halftime but DeLand stepped up its defensive pressure and outscored Apopka, 17-8, in the third quarter take a 40-39 lead into the fourth.

DeLand reeled off five straight points open the fourth quarter as the Bulldogs increased their lead to six, 45-39. Apopka pulled to within four on a couple of occasions but could get no closer. Stanish Collins in the game on ice for DeLand as he canned pair of free throws with 1:05 remaining to put the Bulldogs up by 10, 55-45.

Darrin Nealy and Kevin Weikel paced balanced DeLand scoring attack with points each while Kendall Footman added and Matt Fair tossed in nine.

Hornets Subdue Leesburg

In 3A District 6 cage play at Oviedo, Bishop Moore disposed of Leesburg, 44-36, to move into tonight's semifinal round against top-seeded Kissimmee Osceola.

The Hornets trailed, 19-16, at halftime but turned it on in the second half behind Mike Guevarra to post the victory. Guevarra totaled 14 points for the winners while AJ Graham had 15 for 3-21 Leesburg. Bishop Moore improved to 5-19.

Tonight at 8:30, coach Dale Phillips and Oviedo Lions try to upend second-seeded Jones for a shot at either Osceola or Bishop Moore in Saturday's championship. The Hornets and Kowboys play tonight at 6:30.

The Lions are paced by 6-6 Mike Schw (19 ppg) and 6-5 Darrin Reichle (nine ppg a seven rebounds). Steve Cohen, Kelly Klub John Kewley, Ed Norton and Allen Ung supply the rest of the Oviedo scoring punch.

LEESBURG (36) — D. Coleman 6, F. Coleman 4, Grad 15, Sharpe 4, Cannon 7. Totals: 13 10 15 36.

Seminole's Bruce Franklin goes high in the air while defending Lake Mary's Billy Dunn. Seminole whipped the Rams in the first round of the district tournament. Tonight at 8:30, the Tribe takes on top-seeded Spruce Creek. Mainland and DeLand play in the 7 p.m. semifinal. The two winners meet Saturday at 8:30 p.m. for the championship.

Track And Field Are Most Unique Of Athletes...Just Ask Them

NEW YORK (UPI) — To me, track and field athletes are the most unique of all. You don't believe it? Ask them.

Or go talk with Stephanie Hightower, the No. 1 women's hurdler in the United States. She's so quick and so fast that now you see her and now you don't. But she still takes too long at what she does. She spends too much time over the top of the hurdle.

I'm not saying that, she is. And so does her coach, Mamie Rallins. See, I told you these track and field people aren't the usual run-of-the-mill crowd you find in the other sports.

Hightower is from Louisville, Ky. and will be competing for the Bud Lite Track Club Friday night in the USA-Mobil Indoor Track and Field championships at Madison Square Garden.

A number of other top entries, including long jumper Carl Lewis, now billed as the world's most dominant athlete, pole vaulter Sergei Bubka from the Soviet Union; high jumpers Dwight Stones and Louise Ritter and milers Steve Scott and Tom Byers are some of those in the other events, but special attention is being focused on Hightower in the 60-yard hurdles.

That's because she has been a winner seven straight times indoors without being defeated and she leads all the other women by 25 points in the 15-meet Grand Prix which winds up with Friday's meet.

"Naturally, we'd like to finish the indoor season undefeated," says Rallins, with a story all by herself. She also was a hurdler and didn't compete in her first of two Olympics until she was 27.

"It's not that she has to win," Rallins goes on about Hightower, whom she looks upon almost as much maternally as she does as her coach. "She'd just like to do the best she's capable of doing and I tell her that's the way it should be. She needs to play a little bit. She needs to be a young lady. I don't mean she needs to play around. I'm only saying she's 25 and there are other things in life besides track and field."

Milton Richman
UPI Sports Editor

Mamie Rallins is a bright woman. A very interesting one as well. She ran in the 100 meter hurdles semi-finals in the 1968 Olympics in Mexico City and made the semis again in the 1972 Olympics in Munich. Now she is head women's track coach at Ohio State.

What she's trying to do with Hightower is get her ready for the Summer Olympics in Los Angeles. The big problem there is Hightower will have to run outdoors instead of indoors where she's virtually supreme.

"Once we go outside, I'll be the underdog," says the articulate Kentuckian, a three-time All-American at Ohio State who set a world indoor record of 7.36 in the 60-yard hurdles in the Indoor Championships at the Garden here last year.

"Track and Field Magazine ranked me somewhere around eighth outdoors," Hightower points out. "They didn't give me any respect. I think I have something to prove. My main goal is to make the Olympic team. Even if I do, I know it's going to be tough in Los Angeles because the Polish women and the East German women are the strongest in the hurdles."

Why?

"They're better technicians than we are," Hightower answers honestly.

That's what Rallins is working on, the technical part of Hightower's hurdling form. "I'm probably faster than the Polish and East German women," she explains, being candid again. "but they are better technicians than me. What I'm doing is doing too much time over the top of the hurdle. Mamie keeps constantly working on that with me."

Rallins says Hightower is exceptionally coachable.

"But one thing you have to understand is that she's shorter than most of the other hurdle competitors against," says her coach who earned an athletic scholarship to Tennessee State at the age of 30. "Most of the other hurdlers are somewhere around 5-7 or 5-8. Stephanie's 5-4. By being short, it takes her longer to get down to the ground you can't get to the next hurdle until you get down to the ground."

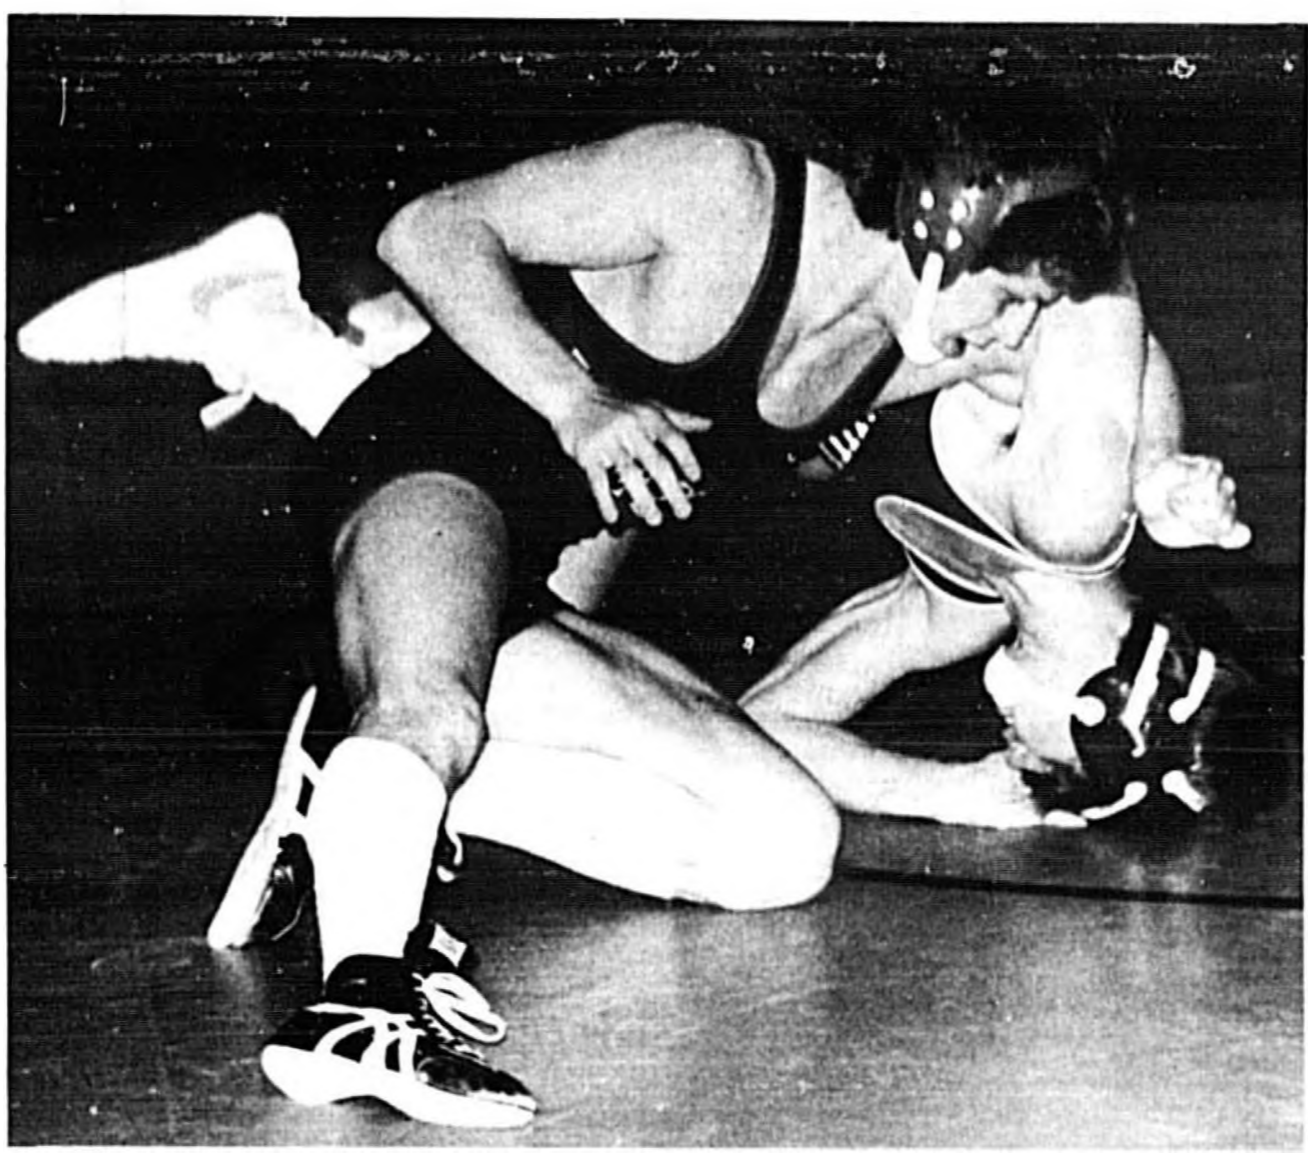

So what can Rallins do about it? She certainly can't make Hightower any taller than she is, can she?

"I work with what I've got," she smiles. Stephanie is very quick. That's why she can get away with hurdling the way she does."

Hightower is a niece Paul Warfield, the all-time great receiver who played with the Cleveland Browns and Miami Dolphins and now works for the Browns.

Then came the controversy. Seminole called a timeout with five seconds left to set up a final shot. During the timeout, Ridenour sent Johnnie Roberts into the game as a defensive replacement. Roberts, though, was listed as number 52 in the scorebook instead of 50, which he was wearing Thursday.

"We knew about it the whole game," said SCC assistant coach Terry Woods. "But it's not a technical foul until he reports."

Roberts reported and SCC had its chance for victory. "The referee called the technical," said Payne. "I even designated Payton to shoot it."

After some discussion, however, official David Jones changed his mind. He asked official scorer Robert Smith if Roberts had reported to the game. When Smith said yes, Jones asked him if Roberts had told him who he reported for. When Smith said no, Jones declared that he wasn't in the game yet, therefore there was no technical.

Payne and Woods both protested the decision, but it stood.

Grace was unsure about the defense he penetrated all night. "I don't know what they (Daytona) were playing," said the modest swingman. "All I know is that it was wide open and I want to go back to state."

One more win and he can.

IN BRIEF

Judge: Cribbs A Stallion; Bills May Appeal Decision

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — Buffalo Bills officials say they will consult with their attorneys first before deciding whether to appeal a ruling that allows running back Joe Cribbs to play for the Birmingham Stallions of the U.S. Football League.

U.S. District Court Judge John Elfin ruled Thursday the former Bills standout could play in the USFL this season, after issuing a decision on a controversial right of first refusal clause in his Buffalo contract.

"Testimony in the recent trial did nothing to change our conviction that all parties understood at the time of the original contract signing that the right of first refusal provision applied to all professional football teams and not merely (those) in the National Football League," said Terry Hledsøe, Bills general manager and vice president for administration, in a prepared release.

Evert Gears For Rematch

EAST HANOVER, N.J. (UPI) — Chris Evert Lloyd is still smarting from the 1983 tennis season. She lost six straight times to Martina Navratilova, who finished the year with 16 tournament titles.

Now Evert Lloyd and Navratilova stand one victory away from a renewal of their famed series that has Navratilova, No. 1 in the world rankings, trailing her rival by a 30-25 margin.

Evert Lloyd, 29, who still feels she has a few more good years left on the women's tour, is sporting a mid-sized graphite racket for the first time and it has helped the six-time U.S. Open champion reach the semifinals of the $150,000 U.S. Women's National Indoor tennis championships.

Santulli Leads Rams' Win

Lisa Santulli singled home two runs as the Lake Mary Lady Rams successfully opened their softball season with a 7-6 victory over Oviedo Thursday at Red Bug Lake Park in Casselberry.

Lake Mary, 1-0, hosts Colonial March 6 at Seminole Community College.

The Lady Rams exploded for five runs in the first inning and then tacked on two more in the fifth inning for the win. Beth Watkins picked up the victory.

Santulli had two singles to lead the attack as did Andrea Fenning. Lisa Simpkins and Terri Blayne each had an RBI single.

Swimmers Hold Car Wash

The Seminole High swim team will hold a car wash at the Sanford Burger King Saturday from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m.

For $1 you can car be washed and you will receive an order of french fries from Burger King.

SCORECARD

TRACK

Lake Mary's boys and girls track team lined up for Saturday's Lake Brantley Open by demolishing Oviedo and Lyman in a tri angular meet Thursday at Lake Mary High.

"We're right on schedule," Lake Mary coach Mike Gibson said about the win. "Saturday's meet should be a good test. It's the only meet this week and a lot of good teams will be there."

Powerful Oak Ridge and budding powerhouse Seminole will be two of the contestants for the boys while Adrienne Palitowicz will lead her Trinity Prep Lady Saints in the girls portion of the meet. All county teams will participate.

Field events and preliminaries begin at 9 a.m. Finals are set for 12 noon.

Elsewhere Thursday, coach Emory Blake's Lady Seminole cruised to an easy dual meet victory over Titusville, 93-31. The Seminole girls are expected to be one of the teams to beat at Lake Brantley.

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY FEBRUARY 25, 1984 Knowledge you've gained through personal experience will be advantageously used this coming year. LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You have the unique ability today to upgrade or transform things into something more useful. Use your talents to improve your home or office. VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) An aura of both glamour and mystery hovers about you today. LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Close associates will feel inspired to do things for you today that could be of considerable advantage to you materially. SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 23) Where your personal interests are concerned today, don't abdicate the leadership role. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You have a good nose for sniffing out bargains today. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) In social situations today, all eyes will be upon you, although you may not be aware of it. AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Be very selective as to whom you let in on your secret goals and ambitions today. GEMINI (May 21-June 20) People will share with you today provided they sense a willingness on your part to share with them. Let your actions convey this message. CANCER (June 21-July 22) Something may develop in your social affairs today requiring you to mediate a condition between two friends. You'll handle it like a diplomat.

Accutane: Hope For Cystic Acne

DEAR DR. LAMB — My son has cystic acne and has been taking a new drug prescribed by his dermatologist called Accutane. The doctor says he only prescribes it to patients who have severe cases of acne, and when other treatments fail. This drug has only been on the market for a short time. It has to be taken for four months and is very expensive. My son has been taking Accutane for six weeks. Before starting treatment he had blood tests, since the medicine tends to raise the cholesterol level. He has had a dry mouth and lips and some skin peeling. The doctor said to expect this. He's had no other problems. After the first six weeks I've noticed improvement and would like him to continue the medicine, but have reservations about side effects he may have later. The doctor claims that after he's off the medication, the dryness will go away and the cholesterol level will return to normal. I'd appreciate your thoughts on this. DEAR DR. LAMB — Your son's case is fairly typical of the type of acne that should be treated with Accutane. It's a strong medicine reserved for cystic acne and those cases that don't respond to more conservative treatment. The side effects usually aren't bad. Temporary dryness and peeling are the usual changes. The medicine seems to significantly alter the skin's tendency to produce excess sebum, the substance that causes acne. And while the cholesterol level may rise, it will return to usual levels once the treatment is stopped.

Staying on a low-fat, low-cholesterol diet and getting plenty of exercise while taking Accutane is important. DEAR DR. LAMB — Two years ago I had a serious bout of shingles around the left thigh to the abdomen and back. I'm still uncomfortable at times, especially in the late afternoons and at night. Is there any relief from the recurrent itching and burning? I'm 82 and in good health otherwise. DEAR READER — Evidently you have post-herpetic pain (neuralgia). This condition is extremely difficult to treat. It often can be prevented by using corticosteroids during the acute attacks. But when that doesn't work, there's little else one can do. If your pain is not too severe, you may be able to get some relief by applying medicines your doctor prescribed. More severe post-herpetic neuralgia may persist for long periods of time. Such things as nerve blocks or nerve resections have been tried with limited success. The problem appears to be directly related to the nerve that supplies the tissue in the area involved. As you probably know, shingles is a complication of the chicken pox virus. It's not the same virus that causes herpes of the lips or genitalia area (herpes simplex). Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

WIN AT BRIDGE

and play was fast and furious. South jumped to six spades. Everyone passed. West cashed his king and ace of diamonds. Then the furiousness began. North wanted to know why South had bid like a jackass and not like a bridge player. South wanted to know why North had bid and acted like some unspecified kind of ass. We give a little blame to South. He could have cue-bid four hearts and, after North had signed off at four spades, continued with a five-club cue-bid. North would have merely bid five spades, and South would have seen the diamond danger and have passed. Now we will discuss North's three-spade bid. It was a bid typical of those bridge players who try to bid their partner's hands as well as their own. North had absolutely no reason to expect the bidding to die at two spades, and if it did, the chances are that even two spades would have been in jeopardy. After all, South also knew what the score was. Over two spades South would still make some slam try or tries, but surely would not get too high.

By Oswald Jacoby and James Jacoby

The late Walter Malowan once said, "I suppose you can't help misbidding your own hands, but try not to misbid mine also." North's jump to three spades was a distinct misbid of his own hand. Two spades was the correct call, especially since North-South were 30 on score. The rest of the bidding

Soaring To New Athletic Heights

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

"It's like flying through the air. It's really fun."

That may well be if you happen to be an adventurous 13-year-old fond of twirling, jumping and flipping around metal bars and a skinny board several feet off the ground, risking life and limb in the pursuit of athletic perfection.

And that, as it happens, is just what Kim Walker of Casselberry is — a budding gymnast.

Kim and about 150 other Seminole County youngsters practice their flips, leaps, jumps and turns at the Salvation Army gymnasium on 24th Street in Sanford every weekday evening.

And Eugene Petty, 33, who has been coaching members of the Sanford Gymnastics Association, Inc. since its inception in 1976, is beginning to see some results from all his, and the kids', hard work. His students have begun bringing home prizes from state and national competitions.

Kimatha Kelly, 11, of Osteen, is the pride of the highly competitive group. Kimatha, who took up gymnastics five years ago, placed 6th overall in this year's state competition. She has Olympic ambitions and Petty, a physical education teacher at Sanford's Idyllwilde Elementary School, said she has the potential to make it to the 1988 Games.

Eighteen-year-old Linda Arnet of Sanford is already an Olympian. She brought home two silver medals from last year's Special Olympics in Louisiana, and in December she placed first in the state floor competition in Daytona Beach.

Linda said she has gained in confidence and poise and lost 40 pounds since she became a gymnast two years ago.

Her mother, Virginia Arnet, said she expected gymnastics "to help Linda, but I never dreamed she would become a prize winner." Mrs. Arnet has been influenced by Linda's success and has just joined the group as a gymnast, too.

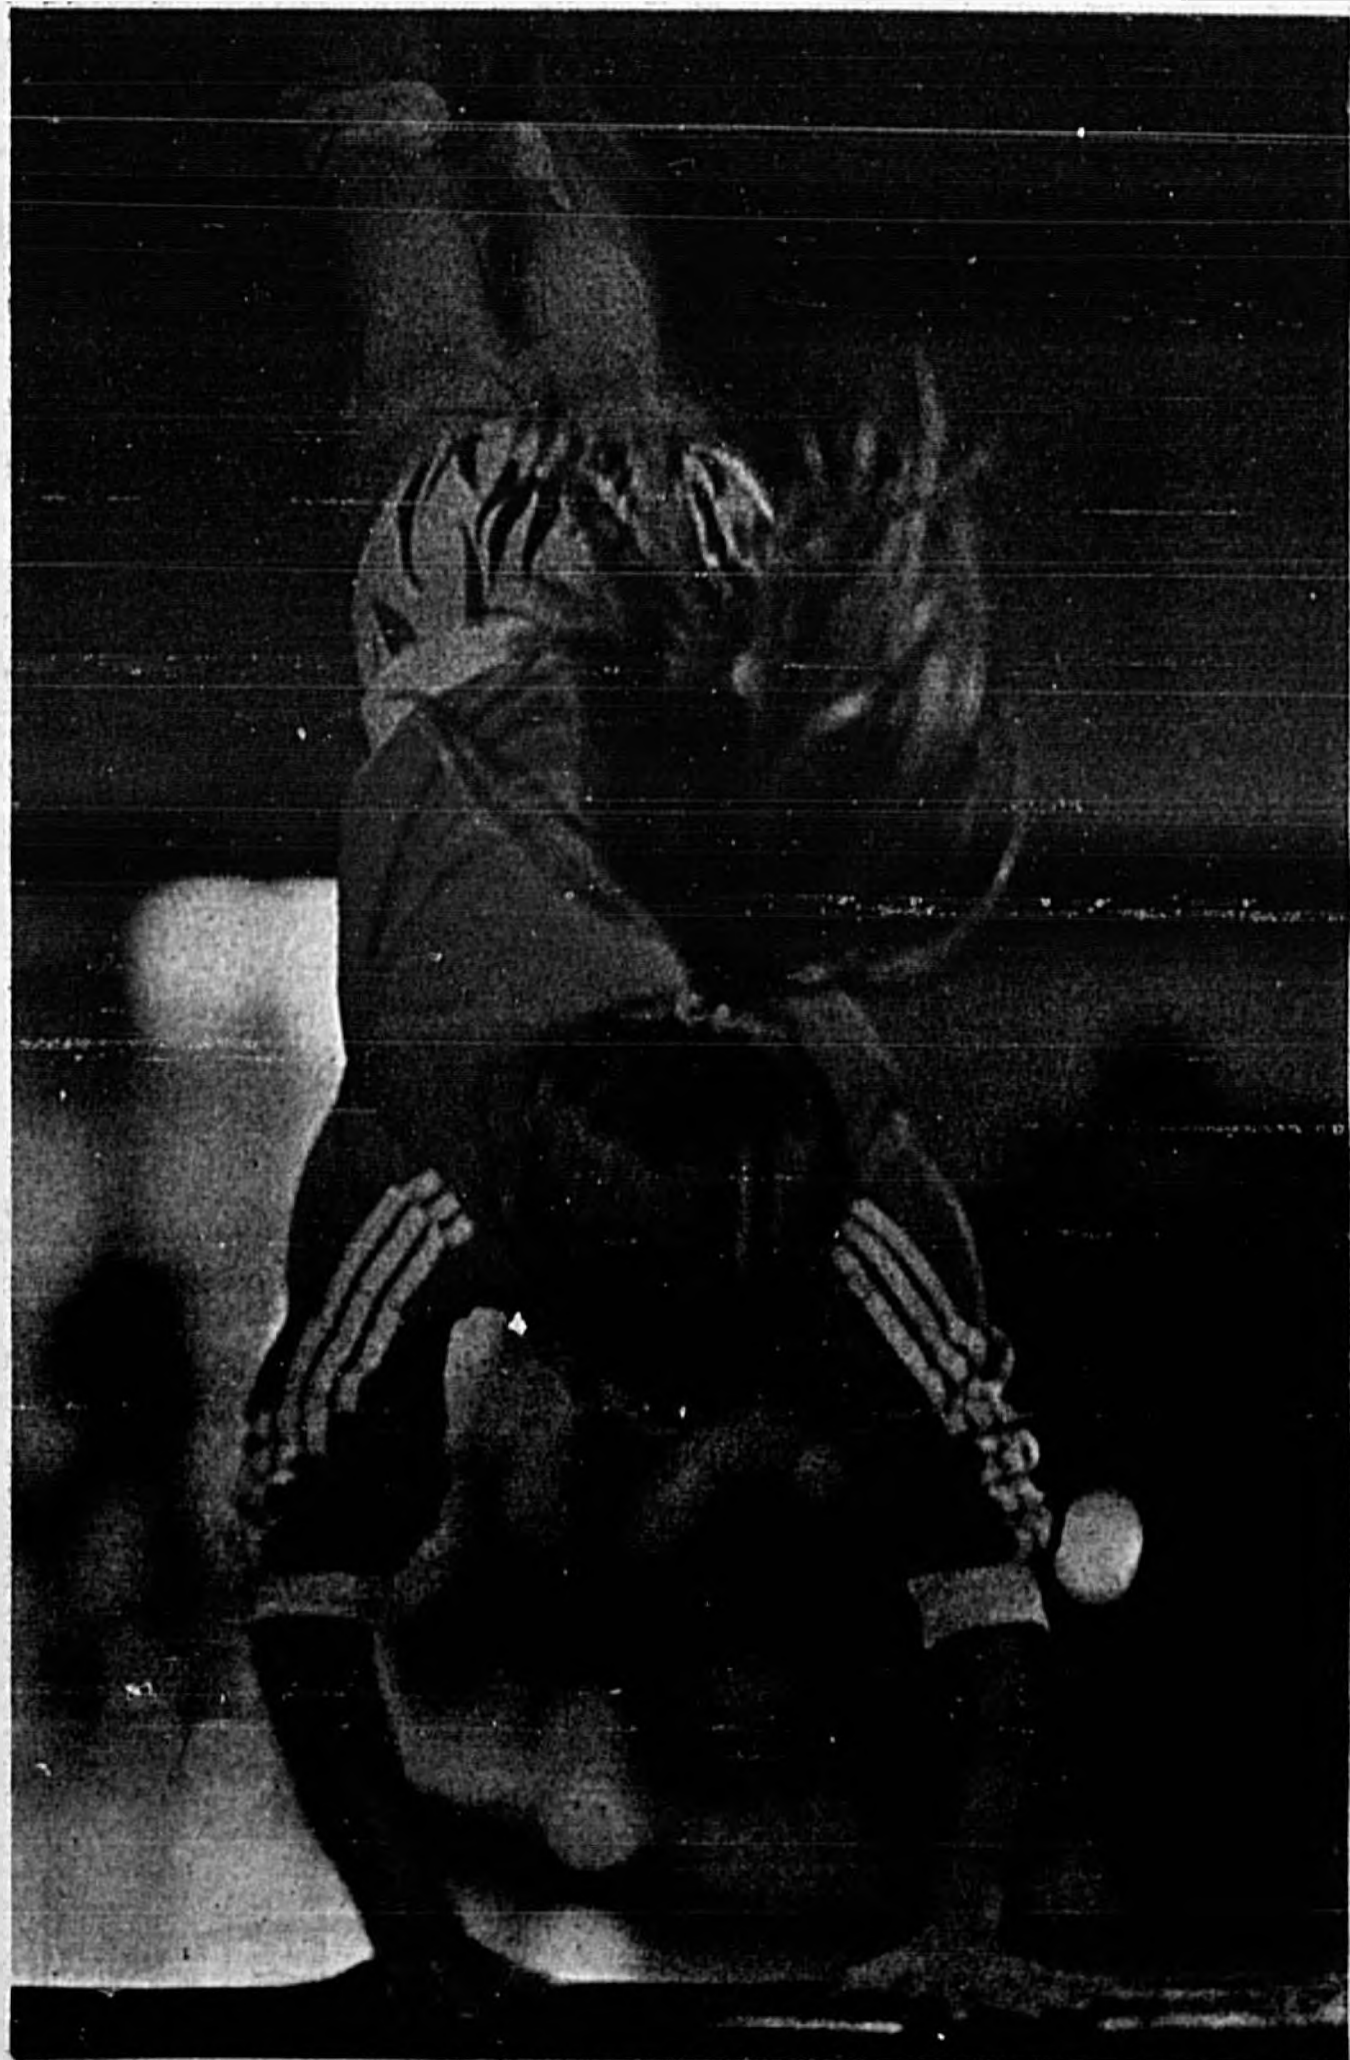

"I decided if I was going to sit here and watch for two hours twice a week, I might as well be doing something myself."

Jeannette Stiffey of Sanford, who has been a driving force behind the non-profit association since it began, said that gymnastics is for almost everyone.

"We have several handicapped children in the program. Doctors frequently recommend gymnastics to correct physical and coordination problems. We're happy to work with almost anyone, but before they start they need to tell us what their problem is so we can adapt the program to meet their needs."

Gymnasts pay $7.50 to register for the program and then $2.35 for each class they attend. Students buy their own leotards and team competitors purchase burgundy and white leotards and matching warm-up suits to wear to meets. They also pay $10 to the United States Gymnastics Federation in order to compete in national events.

Mrs. Stiffey said the association matches underprivileged children with sponsors who donate the cost of their participation in the group. The Ten-year-old Glenda Carter of Titusville practices her vaulting at a Sanford Gymnastics Association practice session.

Raspberry Awards Go To Year's Worst Films

By Vernon Scott
UPI Hollywood Reporter

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — If Terms of Endearment is destined to win the most Oscars in the Academy Awards this year, then Lonely Lady is a clinch to sweep the Razzies in the Golden Raspberry Awards.

While not as prestigious as the Oscars, the Razzies are every bit as selective.

Oscars are voted by 4,000 members of the motion picture academy. Razzies balloting is by 100 members of the True Appreciators of Bad Film

Foundation, comprised of filmmakers, promoters, students and fans who saw at least 50 horrendous films last year.

No movie, not even Gone With The Wind, has dominated a list of nominations as has Lonely Lady. It captured 11 Razzie nominees in 10 categories.

Winners of the fourth annual Razzies will be announced 24 hours before the Academy Awards are held at the Los Angeles Music Center April 9. No Razzie winners, however, are expected to attend.

Clearly not Barbra Streisand who was nominated for the worst actor Razzie for her performance as a young man in Yentl.

Competing with Miss Streisand for worst actor are Christopher Atkins, A Night in Heaven; Lloyd Bochner, Lonely Lady; Lou Ferrigno, Hercules, and John Travolta in Stayin' Alive and Two of a Kind.

Pia Zadora, generally acknowledged as a world class worst actress, won the Razzie previously for Butterfly. This year she is a nominee for Lonely Lady, an apt title in view of her performance.

Miss Zadora's stiffest competition will come from Faye Dunaway for her role in The Wicked Lady. Miss Dunaway, too, owns a Razzie for her revolting performance in Mommie Dearest.

Previous nominee Olivia Newton-John is a nominee for Two of a Kind. She was nominated two years ago for Xanadu. The field is filled out by Linda Blair in Canned Heat and Lonl Anderson in Stroker Ace.

The five worst picture nominees are limited to major films made by recognized producers and directors with serious intent. It would be too easy to pick on low budget losers.

Nominated this year as the pits of celluloid are Hercules, Jaws 3-D, The Lonely Lady, Stroker Ace and Two of a Kind. Only Two of a Kind enjoyed any box-office success — more than $30 million worth.

There is a five-way tie for second most Razzie nominations: Hercules, Jaws 3-D, Stroker Ace, Two of a Kind and Yor, The Hunter From The Future. All are well behind Lonely Lady.

Honors for worst actor in the three previous Razzie awards were Nell Diamond for The Jazz Singer, Klinton Spillsbury in The Legend of the Lone Ranger and Laurence Olivier for Inchon!

In addition to Miss Zadora's triumph in Butterfly, the previous worst actress laurels belonged to Bo Derek in Tarzan and Brooke Shields in The Blue Lagoon.

Nominees for worst supporting actress were Bibi Besch, Lonely Lady; Sybil Danning, Chained Heat and Hercules; Finola Hughes, Staying Alive; Diana Scarwid, Strange Invaders and Amy Irving who, incredibly, also received an Oscar nomination for Yentl.

Worst supporting actor nominees include Lou Gossett, Jr., who won the Oscar for best supporting actor last year in An Officer and a Gentleman. This year he is contending for a Razzie for his performance in Jaws 3-D.

Competing for the Razzie as worst supporting actor are Jim Nabors in Stroker Ace, Richard Pryor in Superman II, and Joseph Call and Anthony Holland, both victimized by Lonely Lady.

association has about $30,000 worth of bars, rings, floor pads and other special equipment which has been bought with the assistance of the Sanford Kiwanis Club and other supporters.

And the group is looking for even more community support in order to expand the program and find a bigger building of their own.

Petty said the association's program isn't duplicated by any of the elementary schools in the area and to develop into an expert gymnast, a child must get an early start.

"Gymnastics makes a well-rounded kid, both physically and mentally," he said. "It gives them something positive to do and improves their body image. I try to encourage any child with an interest to get involved because of what they can gain: total physical development, sound concentration, good discipline and if they stick with it, scholarships or maybe a future in the sport."

In the early stages of gymnastic development, Petty said, girls seem to be more adept at the sport, but as boys mature and gain strength they begin to excel in their events.

He said young boys excel in floor and vaulting events and older boys are best on the rings, high bars, parallel bars and pommel horse. Girls do their best work on the uneven bars, balance beams, vaulting and in floor events, he said.

Alexandra Paul Muscles Into A Jam

By Dick Kleiner

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — Some months ago a pretty, young actress named Alexandra Paul shot some scenes for a movie called I Won't Dance, with Kristy McNichol and Michael Ontkean.

There were some problems and they had to postpone the finishing scenes for six months. Now Miss Paul is heading back to the French Alps to shoot those remaining scenes.

But the problem is that, in those months between shots, she has changed and changed a lot. She now has muscles.

So Miss Paul is a little concerned about whether or not she will look like the same person in I Won't Dance.

She got all the extra personal equipment to star in the forthcoming CBS movie Getting Physical, which deals with the increasingly popular sport of women's body building.

A climatic scene for the film was shot in Pasadena's Civic Auditorium, so the stage was full of girls in bikinis flexing their muscles at the judges of a supposed contest. The young ladies all looked like they were in the wrong place; they should have been over where the Los Angeles Rams were working out. These ladies were powerful.

Miss Paul and Sandahl Bergman, her co-star, both started out as reasonably healthy young women. You probably remember Miss Bergman, looking fantastically fit, in Conan the Barbarian. After working out with body builder Franco Columbo for seven weeks, both women emerged with muscles from head to toe.

Robert Webber, who is also in the film, told co-producer Ann Weston that he didn't think the girls were particularly good to look at when they bulged in the places where they now bulge.

Miss Paul admits her boyfriend doesn't like the new image much, either.

"He doesn't like the fact that I've gotten this big," she says. "He doesn't like it when people comment that I may be stronger than him, or that I have wider shoulders than he has."

"We are talking about the problem all the time."

Miss Bergman, who admires her own new body, thinks it has helped her. She says that, as a dancer, she could always turn well, but she hadn't been a good jumper. Now she jumps better.

"We're used to thinking of women as delicate," says Miss Bergman. "But I think that's changing. I think the '80s are becoming a very physical time. Girls are getting into muscles, rather than just being soft and feminine."

Marcy Gross, the other co-producer, says it was a secretary at CBS, who is a body builder, who got the two producers interested in the theme as subject of a television film. They say the way the script worked out, it has a sort of Rocky theme — girl gets self-esteem through winning a contest over long odds — and that's a hot theme at the box office (or in the ratings) these days.

Miss Weston says there was an open casting call for the participants in the big contest scene. There were 150 applicants, so body building is getting to be a popular sport with today's females.

"I had never been a good athlete," says Miss Paul. "I had always been the last person to be picked for a team. They used to call me 'klutz.' But that's why body building is a good sport for me — you don't have to be coordinated at all."

However, she isn't sure what her new muscles will do for her career. She considered her dilemma as she prepared to go off to finish I Won't Dance in the French Alps.

Alexandra Paul worked out for seven weeks to prepare for her role as a body builder in the CBS movie Getting Physical.

"I'm supposed to wear skin-tight pants," she says. "But now they will show all these leg muscles I have. I'm a little worried about that."

Why 'Days Of Our Lives' Used Two Hourglasses

DEAR DICK: I am a fan of Days of Our Lives and I have been wondering what is the significance of the hourglasses appearing during the program breaks? They start off with one style of glass that shows a progressively larger pile of sand in the lower chamber. But for the finale, they show a completely different glass with the sand in a flat mass, with a smaller pile accumulating on top of it. Does anyone offer any explanation for this? — P.R.L., Malden, Mass.

Would you believe the answer is simply that a piece of film got lost? They filmed the beginning and ending with the same hourglass, merely to indicate the passage of time. But the piece of film they shot for the ending got lost, so they had to do it over.

When they went to re-shoot, they found the old hourglass was broken. They got a new one, which accounts for the difference. But they recently found the old ending, so you will have probably noticed by the time you read this that the big hourglass discrepancy has been rectified.

DEAR DICK: My question is about A. Martinez, who plays Quinn on The Whiz Kids.

Ask Dick Kleiner

There is a steak dinner riding on this. My mother thinks he is a Mexican, but I say Indian. Who is right? — M.R., Freeland, Mich.

I'll have mine with pepperoni and mushrooms. The name of the character she played was Mary Anderson Marshall.

DEAR DICK: I believe I read in your column that Quincey never was given a first name. On one episode he gave out his business card and it said "Dr. R. Quincey." Does "no first name" still hold true? — K.M., Marshfield, Wis.

Yes. Your eyes are sharper than the memories of the "Quincey" staff, because they can't recall that business card at all. The show is off the network now, as you know, and they insist that it went off with Quincey having no first name.

DEAR DICK: While watching Emerald Point N.A.S., I thought I had seen the actor who plays Glenn somewhere before. Can you tell me who he is and was he ever in a movie where he played a young doctor who fell in love with an older woman? — R.B., Killeen, Texas.

You have undoubtedly seen Andrew Stevens, who plays Glenn, before, because he has done several TV series, TV guest shots, TV movies and a bunch of feature films including The Fury, The Seduction and Death Hunt. But I can't recall him playing a young doctor involved with an older woman.

DEAR DICK: I would like to know what happened to John Coleman, the weatherman that was on Good Morning America? He was super and I looked forward to his report each morning. — M.H., Saginaw, Mich.

I've been unable to contact Coleman, to get his side of the story. But the network says he left the show and attributed the separation to "a mutual parting of the ways," whatever that means. He is gone, however, and you'll have to adjust to a new weatherman.

For Price, Taste, It's Carlo's Pizza Made From Scratch With Fine Ingredients

If you're a connoisseur of pizza and you've tried the rest, then maybe it's time to try the best... Carlo's at 1008 S. French Ave., Sanford.

Carlo's lays claim to this title by virtue of sheer hard work. As Paul Ballo, owner and chef, explains: "We do everything except grind our own flour," for the pizza.

The slight exaggeration is forgivable as one sinks pearly teeth into tender crust layered with special sauce and seasonings, topped with whole milk mozzarella. Maybe you've never given much thought as to what goes into a pizza, but your tastebuds will tell. And, according to Paul, so will your pocketbook since Carlo's offers pizza at "a price that no other place can beat — lowest priced pizza anywhere."

And, it's not a commercial pizza since its made from scratch by Paul.

Now this same thoughtfulness as to quality and ingredients goes into the preparation of all dinners prepared, Paul assures, and prices have not changed here in more than two years.

For a restaurant of its size, 52 seats, Carlo's boasts an extensive menu. At least 34 meals, not counting pizza and luncheon choices.

Ballo claims that by combining sauces, pastas and other ingredients, he can offer up to 700 different dishes. And, all dishes are prepared as they are ordered. The basic tomato sauce is prepared fresh each morning in the kitchen of the restaurant to ensure quality and consistency.

Paul, who has cooked in fine New York restaurants, stepped into his father's, Carlo's, shoes last year continuing a family business of eight years in Sanford. Carmella (Mamma) and Debbie (Paul's wife) have also been active in the family business.

Carlo's Restaurant, open for lunch and dinner, serves generous portions with lunches beginning at $1.99. The establishment is now open seven days a week.
