Longwood Mayor Says Bribe Offered For Vote

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

Shortly after being elected mayor of Longwood in a 3-2 vote Monday night, Commissioner Ed Myers charged that a commissioner-elect offered him "a bribe" for a vote.

He refused to say which of the two new commissioners made the offer, but promised to reveal all today.

In a prepared statement read into the record, Myers said, "I must report my first and only bribe attempt. On Dec. 24 I was approached by a commissioner-elect and told I could have the mayor's nomination, if I would nominate (David) Gunter for deputy mayor, but this commissioner is not for sale."

Gunter, who was sworn in at 8:15 p.m. along with Lynette Dennis prior to Monday night's work session, denied he had talked to Myers. Mrs. Dennis denied offering Myers a deal, but admitted she had chatted with Myers at the Christmas party for city employees that day while sitting at a table with some of the city secretaries.

"I'm not naive enough to think I could bribe Mr. Myers," she said.

She said Myers, who wears a hearing aid, "only hears what he wants to hear." Mrs. Dennis said she couldn't say for sure who brought the subject up, but they were discussing who the new mayor might be.

"I said there was a rumor

Conrail Engineer Ran 'Stop' Signal

CHASE, Md. (UPI) — Three Conrail locomotives ran through a "stop" signal 500 feet before the junction where they were hit by an Amtrak passenger train in the deadliest accident in the federal railway's history, investigators said.

The revelation Monday raised questions whether an earlier signal 2 miles before the junction told the Conrail engineer to prepare to stop or failed to do so, triggering the accident Sunday that killed 15 people and injured 175.

The Washington Post, quoting sources, reported today that Conrail engineer R. L. Gates told Conrail investigators the first signal gave him a "false clear," indicating he could switch over to the track where the Amtrak passenger train was roaring northward at 105 mph.

The Post reported the Conrail engines were moving at about 60 mph. Federal investigators have not revealed how fast they were going, but Joseph Nall of the National Transportation Safety Board said, "Obviously by the time they saw the (second) stop signal, it was too late for them to stop."

Nall said Monday Gates admitted he ran through the second "stop" signal about 500 feet before the junction at the Gunpowder River Bridge where he was rammed by Amtrak's Boston-bound "Colonial" train.

Nall said the signal by the junction where the trains collided had been in the "stop" mode for three hours before the grinding crash that one survivor said turned the area into "a war zone."

But No Scholarships Given Yet

SCC Sets Another Fundraiser

By Kathy Tyrity
Herald Staff Writer

Plans for the Feb. 19 third annual Dream Auction sponsored by the Seminole Community College Foundation for scholarships are well under way. But due to some state-mandated restrictions on last year's funds and a decision to buy equipment instead of giving scholarships, no scholarships have been issued to date, according to Dr. Jim Sawyer, vice president of Student and Information Services.

And thus far, SCC has raised more than $200,000 for scholarships.

Dr. Sawyer said he hopes the fund can pay for about 10 $600 scholarships in this coming fall term, despite having some $186,000 in a trust fund for that purpose.

The auction, which normally raises about $80,000 a year, will be at 6 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 19, at the Hilton in Altamonte Springs.

Sawyer said the state additional funding formula is still in effect, which means that for every $10 raised locally by the auction, the state will add another $4.

He also explained why in three years of fundraising no scholarships have been made available.

"The first year, we decided to dedicate all the money to equipment needs," he said. That was in 1984 before the Dream Auction was part of the fund raising when, he said, about $30,000 was raised and the state gave a matching grant of $20,000.

He said most of that first year's $50,000 or so went to "science and computer equipment that was not available through state allocations."

The second year, 1985, when the Dream Auction started, he said the state ordered a provision for holding the money in trust and using only the interest for scholarships, Sawyer said. About $80,000-$100,000 was raised (figures not confirmed because the financial officer was out sick), and Sawyer said it was decided not to issue any scholarships until the interest accumulated is greater.

"But the money will be dedicated to the scholarship and loan program," Sawyer said. The foundation's scholarship and loan program serves about 1,000 students a year with about $350 each, he added.

(Half are scholarships and half are loans.) However, he acknowledged, no monies raised to date through the Dream Auction have gone to scholarships, and are in a separate trust account. So far, Dr. Sawyer said, the account has earned $13,000 in interest. It was not determined today, again because the financial officer is out ill, whether the $186,000 on hand in the account includes accrued interest.

In 1986, the second year of the auction, about $100,000 was raised, but exact figures were not available. Nor did Dr. Sawyer know if that figure included the state's matching amount, although information given by SCC officials after the auction indicate it did not. That money, too, "after expenses" went into the trust account, Sawyer said.

This year, he said the foundation hopes to raise $100,000 with the Dream Auction and associated donations, and he said the board has determined that the money will mainly go to the scholarship fund. The board must make its plans for the state-partnership money and the plans must be approved in Tallahassee.

All three years, Sawyer said, the state issued a 40 percent matching grant.

As far as who will get the scholarships from this fund, Sawyer said the money will mainly go to support programs at the school, such as the nursing program, which he said fills "a strong community need." These scholarships will not be given based on individual need, he said, because there are other scholarships for those students.

"We have to identify the programs we would like to bring up to excellence, and these scholarships will include money for excellence in performance by students," Sawyer said. All of that, however, will have to be firmly decided by the board before the plan goes to Tallahassee for approval, he added.

"I hope that we would develop the goals and make the first awards for the fall of '87," Sawyer said.

Unfortunately for SCC, interest rates have been low in recent years so the spendable money from the fund isn't as high as officials would like. But as the fund doubles each year, Sawyer said the school can award more and more scholarships.

"Next year we'll have twice as much money and can make 20 scholarships and the next year 30, as the money multiplies," he said.

To make students aware of this money, he said he will be using the faculty, media and high school counselors as well as other contacts in the community.

Co-chairmen for the auction this year are Carl and Shirley Schilke and Mike and Jean Butler. There will be a kick-off planning breakfast for the Dream Auction at 8 a.m. Thursday at the SCC Cookery.

Tickets for this year's auction, including dinner, are $75 per person.

Testing For Drug Use...

...Students Volunteer, Teachers May Balk

What would you do if your employer or teacher demanded that you take a urinalysis to determine if you are using illegal drugs?

Students at Lake Mary High School are complying with voluntary requests, according to assistant principal Bill Moore, but none have been forced by the school system to take such tests. About 15 have been referred for drug counseling and subsequent tests.

"We have had some students who have been reported to have behaviors that may indicate drug problems," Moore said. That leads to referral.

But teachers around the state are being warned by the state teacher's union that such tests for them may be unconstitutional.

It seems the whole issue will be inconclusive until the Supreme Court makes some rulings, but so far government employees seem to have the most protection against the tests.

Private companies, such as Cardinal

Industries, of Sanford which imposes urinalysis on new employees, have more latitude in setting restrictive conditions of employment, although challenges are possible based on state laws or contractual grounds.

"Before they hand you a vial, hand them the Constitution," says the Florida Education Association United/Focus to teachers in its January edition.

In a recent memo to local education union leaders, Jack Seddon, FEA/United director of organizing, distributed recent court findings on the drug testing issue. "Consistently, the courts are finding drug testing to be a violation of workers' Constitutional rights," the United/Focus reads.

"Our members may have philosophical differences regarding this subject, but never-the-less, it is the responsibility of this organization to respect and protect our members' Constitutional rights," Seddon said.

The article continues to say that in their decision regarding drug testing, "the courts were unanimous in their repugnance of indiscriminate drug testing...the lower courts have concluded, among other things, that urinalysis is so unreliable as to violate due process of law; that drug testing plans violate the self-incrimination clause of the Fifth Amendment; that, in the case of federal government workers, the government cannot waive an individual's Constitutional rights to simply benefit the federal government; and in one court's conclusion in a case involving drug testing in the U.S. Customs Service that, "The plan put forth in the Customs Directive is so utterly repugnant to the U.S. Constitution, that this court has no choice but to permanently enjoin (them) from further implementing it."

FEA/United President Pat Tornillo said any members who are asked to submit to a drug test should immediately contact their local union and the FEA/United Legal Department. "We are here to help you," he said.

Line-Up For Learning

Students look over printed class schedules and stand in registration lines at the Seminole Community College Administration Building Monday. SCC spokesman Craig Orseno said 750 students registered. It was the largest single day's registration school officials can remember, he said. Registration continues through the week.

...Sanford Readying Mandatory Program

By Karen Talley
Herald Staff Writer

A mandatory drug testing policy and amended disciplinary measures for municipal employees will come before Sanford commissioners for review before the month is out.

The proposals, all related to substance abuse prevention, were worked up during the last four months by the city's personnel department at commissioners' request. The policies are being studied by City Attorney William Colbert, who said they'll be returned to the city with comments before the end of this month. The policies have already been seen by the city's civil service board.

Once adopted by commissioners, the amended regulations will be used in tandem with counseling services they approved last month. Accepted was a one-year contract with a private counseling firm. The contract, with Personal Performance Consultants (PPC), takes effect Jan. 15. It will be used by city administrators as a referral tool for those staffers who test positively under the mandatory drug screening program.

PPC will also provide free assistance to staffers and their families for financial and personal problems as well as offering them drug or alcohol abuse counseling on a voluntary basis. PC is a St. Louis based firm with an office in Sanford. Commissioners authorized $8,865 for the one year contract. Employees referred to PPC after a positive drug test must complete the counseling program or they'll face dismissal, said Personnel Director Fran Diedrich.

However, the emphasis is "definitely on assistance," rather than dismissal under proposed changes to city disciplinary procedures, she said.

While present city policy dictates dismissal for employees who are under the influence while on city time, the amendments involve probable suspensions in combination with definite referral to the counseling firm, Mrs. Diedrich said.

Rather than firing staffers, "We'll be attempting to work with them; giving them the chance to clean up their act and overcome their problems," she said.

The city will be able to tell if the employee is drug or alcohol free through follow-up testings, she said. If the employee isn't, dismissal will then be probable course of action, she said. Employees who refuse the first test also face dismissal.

Mrs. Diedrich spearheaded development of the policy changes and new testing program after commissioners called for them in October. While some of the proposals attempt to solidify the city's legal position regarding drug testing, others set up the specifics for

POLICE IN BRIEF

Two Arrested For Assault After Boys Shot With Pellet Gun

A 19-year-old Longwood man and a boy have been charged with aggravated assault in connection with pellets having been shot at two boys in a wooded area of Casselberry.

The arrests were made at about 3:20 p.m. Sunday, following the 2 p.m. gunplay in woods near Forest Park Lane.

Dan Bowen, 17, of 418 Forest Park Lane, and Wayne Woodruff, 12, of 3400 U.S. Highway 17-92, Casselberry, reported to police that they had been chased, threatened and assaulted by two suspects in nearby woods. One of them had been shot in the finger and the other said a pellet rifle had been held within five inches of his throat by one of the suspects.

The suspects were located by police and a pellet pistol recovered. A pellet rifle was found hidden in the woods.

Arrested along with the boy, who was released to his parents, was Randall Baker, of 968 S.E. Lake St. He was being held in lieu of $5,000 bond.

3 Arrested For Spouse Abuse

In unrelated incidents area lawmen reported arresting three men all charged with battery-spouse abuse.

Gilbert Lewis Keith, 40, of 142 Kelsco Court, Lake Mary, was arrested at his home by Lake Mary police at 8:20 p.m. Sunday. He was being held in lieu of $500 bond, accused of pulling his wife's shirt, throwing a glass of water in her face and pulling a telephone from the wall.

Seminole County sheriff's deputies charged Charles William Stanley Jr., 27, of 1135 Hillcrest St., Casselberry, with spouse abuse Sunday after he allegedly hit his wife in the side with a plastic baseball bat and hit her in the face with his fist. He has been released on $500 bond.

In the third case, Winter Springs police arrested David Cliff Sullivan, 26, of 187 Garden Drive, Winter Springs, at his home. His wife alleged he had pushed her against a wall and pressed his forearm across her throat. Sullivan allegedly resisted and fought police who arrived to investigate the Sunday incident at his home. He has also been charged with resisting arrest with violence. He was being held in lieu of $1,000 bond.

Criminal Mischief Reported

Two cases of criminal mischief were reported to the sheriff's department over the New Years holiday.

Geraldine Powers Soughers of Palm Bay told a deputy that while she was at Sierra Condos on Sierra Lane in South Seminole County someone scratched all four sides of her vehicle. It is not known what instrument was used.

In the second incident, Russell G. Thompson of 1652 7th St., Casselberry, told a deputy that someone shot five BBs at his mobile home during the holiday.

Burglaries And Thefts Reported

A clerk at Dino's Pizza, 1496 State Road 484, Longwood, reported that a lone, gun-brandishing bandit robbed that business of about $500 at about 7 p.m. Sunday. Before fleeing the suspect made the clerk lie on the floor, a sheriff's report said.

Yolanda M. Molina, 17, of 137 Hattaway Drive, Altamonte Springs, reported to sheriff's deputies that she left her car unlocked when she went inside the 7-Eleven, at 7551 U.S. Highway 17-92, Fern Park. While she was inside the store for about five minutes at 3:50 p.m. Saturday, someone stole her purse from her car. The purse and its contents were valued at about $150.

In Seminole Courts

Sentencings For False Prescription, Illegal Drug Sale And Growing Pot

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

A 21-year-old Altamonte Springs man who allegedly had a false prescription of hydrocodone filled at a drug store was sentenced to two years probation for attempting to obtain a controlled substance by fraud. It was one of three cases heard recently in Seminole-Brevard Circuit Court.

John Patrick Fizek, of 101 E. Altamonte Drive, was sentenced by semi-retired Circuit Judge Volie Williams. Fizek earlier pleaded guilty before Williams.

According to Fizek's arrest report, the suspected forgery was reported to the City-County Investigations Bureau agents and a sheriff's deputy was at the store when Fizek returned after asking to have the prescription filled. The incident occurred Sept. 5.

When stopped and arrested, Fizek allegedly fought with the deputy and forced his way out of the store. Bystanders helped the deputy subdue him, a report said.

In a second case, a Winter Park man who reportedly gave undercover agents a horse tranquilizer after selling them Quaaludes has pleaded no contest to sale and delivery of a controlled substance. Williams set sentencing for Feb. 5.

According to an arrest report, undercover agents met with Gene Stephen Wilson, 33, of 351 Sylvan Dr., and negotiated to buy a variety of drugs. The incident occurred May 22.

The agents struck a deal to buy 60 Quaaludes, legally known as methaqualone, and 650 tablets of an amphetamine, also known as speed. The agents then paid Wilson $500 and then he gave them half a white tablet each, which he said was a horse tranquilizer.

The agents arrested him and during a subsequent pat down reportedly found three syringes.

In a third case, a Sanford man charged with growing marijuana has pleaded guilty to a controlled substance.

William Milton Knoll, 27, entered the plea before Williams who set sentencing for Feb. 9.

According to an arrest report, Knoll was taken into custody with two other men April 30 at 5636 Deer Path Lane, behind the 12 Oaks Campground in the Seminole Woods area off State Road 46. The other men await final disposition of their cases.

Seminole City-County agents Lake County deputies and the Florida Drug Enforcement Agency took the men into custody after agents spotted a greenhouse from an airplane, according to an arrest report.

The agents had received a tip that led to the search for the crop and an FDLE agent who was in the air search is said to be an expert in locating such crops, the report said.

After the men were arrested, a search of the greenhouse produced about 222 marijuana plants, three- to seven-foot tall. Total weight of the crop was more than 100 pounds. Additional marijuana and drug paraphernalia was found in the home, according to the report.

3 Arrested In Drug Bust

Sanford police with warrants searched two homes at Lake Monroe Terrace Saturday night and reported arresting three suspects in connection with possession of illegal drugs.

Arrested at 47 Lake Monroe Terrace, their home, were: Rutha Lee Frison, 39, and Theodore Joelander Jordan, 25. They were arrested at 8:30 p.m. Saturday.

Ms. Frison, charged with possession of cocaine, marijuana and drug paraphernalia, has been released on $1,000 bond to appear in court Jan. 19.

In addition to those same charges, Jordan was also charged with possession of a firearm by a convicted felon, because a .357-magnum revolver was reportedly found in his possession. Bond was set at $2,000.

Although jail personnel said Monday Jordan had been released from jail, the Seminole County Sheriff's Department had not received a report on that release.

Also arrested in the other home, at 55 Lake Monroe Terrace, at 10:27 p.m. Saturday, was Herbert Earl Stevens, 30, of 78 Lake Monroe Terrace. Stevens who was at the 55 Lake Monroe Terrace home when it was searched by Sanford police, has been charged with possession of cocaine with intent to distribute. He has been released on $1,000 bond to appear in court Jan. 19.

Despite Wife's Protest

Man Charged With Spouse Abuse

A Casselberry policeman who responded a disturbance call at 1001 Espalante Way #33A, Casselberry, at about 5:40 p.m. Saturday heard a couple scream, cursing and shouting inside the home. The officer's knock on the door was ignored.

He heard a woman scream and went to a window and looked inside the home. There he reported seeing a man pushing a woman into a closet. The man was allegedly threatening to kill the woman and had a hand on her throat.

The officer kicked open the front door of the home and entered to confront the fighting pair.

The woman reportedly said she didn't want to press charges, because both she and her husband are in the U.S. Navy in Orlando and she feared an arrest would hurt their careers, an arrest report said.

Because of what he had seen and his fear for the woman's safety the officer charged Joseph Anthony Drummond, 20, of the above address, with battery-spouse abuse in the alleged assault on his wife Thresa Drummond, 20. There was also a child in the home at the time of the fight, but it was not injured, the report said.

Drummond was being held in lieu of $500 bond.

Couple Arrested For Having Pot

Altamonte Springs police who questioned a couple in a car at the Hotline Bottle Club, State Road 436, at about 4:10 a.m. Sunday, arrested the pair after reportedly spotting partially smoked marijuana cigarettes in the car.

Lizzy Armstrong, 30, of 3122 Terrybrook Drive #68, Winter Park was arrested along with Mireille Joan Mills, 34, of Orlando. They have been released on $500 bond each to appear in court Jan. 15.

Locked In Deputy Leads To Lockup

A Winter Park man, who accidentally locked Seminole County sheriff's Lt. Donald Ealinger inside his southeast Seminole County home while allegedly trying to evade other sheriff's deputies, was nabbed and subdued by Ealinger.

The man had allegedly armed himself with a kitchen knife just before slamming and locking a door of his home against sheriff's deputies.

He didn't realize he had locked Ealinger inside the home with him. Ealinger disarmed the man and Sgt. Terry Huffman kicked the door open and other deputies entered the home to aid in the arrest at about 5 a.m. Monday.

When sheriff's deputy K.B. Younger, the first to arrive at the home in response to a family disturbance call, arrived he was met at the door by the suspect's wife who told him she was hiding from her husband, who had allegedly hit her and whom she feared was going to set their home afire.

When the suspect spotted Younger he yelled for him to get out and put his fist through the door glass. His wife ran outside and Younger radioed for assistance from other officers.

Deputies saw the suspect go into the kitchen and Ealinger reached in through the broken glass section of the door and entered with a couple of other deputies, so the woman could get her clothing.

The suspect rushed toward the front door where sheriff's deputies had gathered. He had armed himself with a knife. Some of the deputies backed out the door. The man slammed and locked the door, but locked Ealinger inside the home with him, Younger reported.

The man advanced on Ealinger brandishing the knife. Ealinger drew his service pistol and called for help from the deputies outside. When Huffman kicked the door open the suspect was distracted and Ealinger grabbed him and took the knife, said Chief Deputy Duane Harrell.

Charged with aggravated assault on a police officer and resisting arrest with violence, as well as spouse abuse, was Jack Raymond Vreeland, 40, of 1416 Pelican Bay Terrace. He was being held in lieu of $1,000 bond.

Sun In Florida Snow In West

Staff And Wire Reports
The storm which brought high winds, scattered tornadoes and low temperatures to Central Florida has blown by into the Atlantic and in its wake is a warming trend which should continue through the week.

Gale force winds hit the Atlantic coast Monday from Daytona Beach south to New Smyrna Beach causing some beach erosion and the threat of possible evacuation of low lying areas.

Except for early morning drizzles and temperatures in the high 40s, Seminole County was spared Monday. The warming trend began at the crack of dawn Tuesday.

A storm that dumped up to 3 feet of snow on the central Rockies brought "heaven" to snow-starved skiers, but it swept roads with ice and posed a severe avalanche hazard as it bulled into the Plains today.

The storm, accompanied by winds that gusted to more than 60 mph, contributed to numerous highway accidents in Utah, including a tractor-trailer wreck that killed a truck driver and a school bus crash that injured two people.

Travelers advisories were in effect today from northern Arizona and New Mexico through much of Utah and the central Colorado mountains and into Wyoming, Nebraska and South Dakota, the National Weather Service said.

Winter storm watches were posted today in Minnesota and a travelers advisory was issued for northwestern Wisconsin.

The storm has dumped as much as 3 feet of snow in the mountains of northern Utah and the Colorado Rockies since Sunday and an additional accumulation of 1 foot to 20 inches was expected today, the weather bureau said.

Park City, Utah, received 35 to 36 inches of new snowfall and 32 inches was measured at Alta, Utah, on Monday. The mountains of northern Arizona picked up as much as 18 inches of snow from the storm.

"The storm is spreading into Nebraska and the Dakotas but the heavy snow is still in the Rockies," NWS forecaster Pete Reynolds said.

One to 4 inches of snowfall was expected today in northwestern Nebraska and southwestern South Dakota, Minnesota and Wisconsin as the storm moved through the Plains and toward the Great Lakes.

Heavy snow in Utah Monday prompted the National Forest Service to issue an advisory for extreme avalanche hazards on the steeper slopes above 7,000 feet along a 130-mile stretch of Utah's Wasatch Mountains.

"With more snow expected, the avalanche hazard will remain extreme," Forest Service spokesman Brad Melklejohn said. "Large, destructive avalanches are possible, and backcountry travel should be avoided."

The storm brought relief to ski resorts that lost up to 40 percent of their reservations last week due to a lack of snow. "For the people that like powder, it's heaven," Alta Ski Lifts President Chick Morton said Monday of the resort about 30 miles southwest of Salt Lake City.

But snow that lived up to the ski slopes brought danger to the highways. A tractor-trailer loaded with steel went out of control and crashed on slick U.S. Highway 89 near Kanab, Utah, killing the driver.

High pressure brought fair skies to much of New England, the Ohio Valley and the Southeast.

Local Report

High temperature Monday in Sanford was 59 degrees and the 8 a.m. reading today was 46 degrees as reported by the University of Florida Agricultural Research and Education Center on Celery Avenue. No rainfall was recorded. Partly cloudy and today with high in the low 60s.

Area Forecast

Today...mostly sunny. High near 70. Wind northeast around 15 mph.

Tonight...fair. Low in the upper 40s to lower 50s. Light northeast wind.

Wednesday...partly cloudy. High in the lower 70s. Wind northeast around 10 mph.

Trillion-Dollar Budget: More For Defense, Less For Farmers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan sent Congress the nation's first $1 trillion budget Monday, calling for a "leaner, better focused" government that would spend more on the Pentagon and AIDS research, but less on farmers, some veterans, student aid and dozens of other programs.

Program Cuts, User Fees
The $1.02 trillion budget for fiscal 1988 shows receipts of $916.8 billion, leaving a deficit of $107.8 billion — just under the Gramm-Rudman required total of $108 billion. It includes no increases in general taxes, but calls for a myriad of program cuts, user fees for government services and sales of government loans and assets, including Amtrak to reduce the deficit.

Though Reagan's document shows only $107.8 billion in red ink, congressional estimators put the figure about $60 billion higher.

The budget Reagan sent Congress last year totaled $994 billion, but increased spending throughout the year piled up the actual outlays to $1.015 trillion. Nonetheless, this is the first $1 trillion budget Reagan has ever sent Congress. When Reagan came into office, vowing to cut federal spending, his first budget proposal, for fiscal 1982, totaled $695.3 billion. Even before the budget was officially released at 8 a.m. EST, Capitol Hill budget leaders were insisting a major overhaul will be needed to make sure the government can raise enough money to pay for all federal programs and still reduce the deficit. Reporters and interested citizens stood in the 20 degree F. cold of a Washington winter to get copies of the brown-covered paperback document, which sold for $11 each.

The budget calls for $18.7 billion in spending cuts — including student aid, farm price supports, housing grants and transportation subsidies. It sees savings by requiring some better-off veterans to pay for medical care, reducing Medicare payments to doctors, and reducing cost-of-living increases to civil service retirees.

Sell Amtrak
It also shows $22 billion in new revenues, including the sales of Amtrak rail passenger service, many government loans, and the Naval Petroleum reserve; increased Medicare premiums for new recipients; and $6.1 billion in higher Internal Revenue Service collections, partly as a result of tax reform.

Social Security Secura
Reagan proposed no changes in Social Security, continuing a bedrock administration policy.

The budget for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1 calls for $312 billion in spending for the military, including both the Pentagon and Department of Energy nuclear research programs — a 3 percent increase plus an addition hike to compensate for inflation. The $312 billion figure reflects money defense officials are authorized to contract for in the coming fiscal year, actual "outlays" of cash would total $297.5 billion.

Reagan said the amount is "the minimum level consistent with maintaining an adequate defense of our nation."

However, Congress has consistently cut Reagan's Pentagon spending requests in recent years and this year may follow a similar pattern. Controversies loom over funds for the MX missile and the Strategic Defense Initiative, popularly known as "Star Wars."

More For Foreign Aid
Reagan's budget also requests more money for foreign aid, including more than $100 million for aid to Nicaraguan rebels known as Contras. That figure, sure to spark more debate in Congress, was not included in the budget released Monday but is reported to be included in a "confidential" section.

"Confidential" section.

Reagan sent the budget up to Capitol Hill about a month early this year, and many details were left out. Those are expected to be released in February.

The budget seeks changes in the multibillion-dollar federal farm program, with stricter limits on the sum paid to individual farmers and a new formula to calculate subsidy payments by ending their link to crop production.

Reagan proposed to trim the Agriculture Department budget by 7.8 percent, or $4.3 billion, to $50.7 billion. He also proposed to shift rural electric and telephone loans to the private sector, to terminate existing rural housing and development vouchers in favor of a housing voucher system, to substitute more federal loan guarantees for direct farm operating loans and to reduce crop export credit guarantees.

He also called for cuts of $1.2 billion in student aid programs, and reductions in support of vocational, handicapped and immigrant education.

"I believe this is the appropriate way to deal with the deficit: cutting excessive federal spending rather than attacking the family budget by increasing taxes, weakening our national security, breaking faith with the poor and the elderly, or ignoring the requirements for additional resources for other high priority programs," Reagan said in his annual budget message.

"We must realize that the deficit problem is also an opportunity of a different kind — an opportunity to construct a new, leaner, better focused, and better managed federal structure supporting a more productive and more competitive America," he said.

Tax By Another Name?
But the dissent began even as the budget was released.

Sen. Lawton Chiles, D-Fla., incoming chairman of the Senate Budget Committee, said Reagan actually is raising taxes by another name, calling them "user fees and asset sales."

"To me, that doesn't make much sense," Chiles said. "I think we ought to look at other ways (to raise taxes)."

Speaking Sunday, budget director James Miller set the tone for the administration: "It's quite important, I think, that the president hang tough, and the president is very tough on this issue. He is not going along with a tax increase, and he's not going along with a big cut in defense."

The budget calls for an increase for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, up from $7.9 billion in fiscal 1987 to $9.5 billion.

Reagan gave lukewarm endorsement to a pay raise for top federal officials, but said he planned to "cut substantially" the six-figure salaries recommended last month by an independent commission.

The Commission on Executive, Legislative and Judicial Salaries proposed that top Cabinet officials who earn $88,000 annually get $160,000 while members of Congress receive $130,000, up from $77,400. The panel recommended giving federal judges $110,000 to $175,000 (the proposed salary of the chief justice). Their salaries range from $70,500 to $111,700.

Veterans
For veterans, Reagan said the "administration believes that as a rule when veterans' illnesses are completely unrelated to their military service and they are financially able to provide for their own health care, they should do so." The budget recommends that veterans with incomes of more than $20,000 fall into the financially able category.

Farmers
Reagan proposed to "solve the farm program problems once and for all" with changes that, among other things, would limit the amount of federal payments each farmer can get to $50,000 instead of the current $250,000 annually.

Reagan said those changes would "eliminate the incentive for farmers to overproduce solely to receive federal payments."

His budget showed an increase in tax collections of $5.1 billion by the IRS, including $2.4 billion from higher efficiency and more from increased taxpayer compliance due to tax reform.

AIDS Research
For Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome research, Reagan recommended an increase of $118 million, 28 percent hike over last year. He also called for more money for biomedical research.

In the economic area, Reagan's budget projects economic growth for fiscal 1988, as measured by the gross national product, increasing at a 3.7 percent rate and the inflation rate stabilizing in the "3 percent to 4 percent range." Those figures are somewhat more optimistic than other economists', though not excessively so.

The budget shows interest rates on 91-day Treasury bills declining to 5.6 percent from the current rate of about 6 percent.

Father Reveals Wife Has MS

'Baby M' Case Comes To Trial

HACKENSACK, N.J. (UPI) — The lawyer for the surrogate mother in the "Baby M" trial argues she should be allowed to renege on her $10,000 contract with a childless couple because it violates laws against trafficking in babies.

In opening statements Monday at the celebrated trial that could determine the future of surrogate parenting in the United States, attorney Harold Cassidy said the surrogate mother, Mary Beth Whitehead, 29, "couldn't live with the fact her child would be told her mother exchanged her for money."

William Stern, a biochemist, and his wife, Elizabeth, a pediatrician, are seeking a court order granting them permanent custody of the 9-month-old girl conceived by Whitehead through artificial insemination with Stern's sperm.

Whitehead, who has said she bonded with the baby during labor and delivery, is asking the court to declare invalid the contract she signed agreeing to accept $10,000 for carrying the child to term and then giving her up. Whitehead has refused the money and argues that as the natural mother she should keep the baby she calls Sara.

The Sterns have named the baby Melissa and have temporary custody. The infant is referred to as Baby M in court papers.

Stern, of Tenafly, who testified for 4½ hours as the first witness in the non-jury trial before Superior Court Harvey Sorkow, was scheduled to conclude his testimony today. His wife was to take the witness stand after him.

Stern revealed Monday that he and his wife sought a surrogate mother because his wife has multiple sclerosis, which could have been exacerbated by pregnancy.

Lorraine Abraham, the court-appointed guardian for "Baby M," asked the judge to rule it was legal for a woman with multiple sclerosis to hire another woman to conceive a baby with her husband.

"It is in the child's best interests ... finding that her birthright is legitimate," Abraham said.

The child should not live with the stigma of being "deemed the product of an illegal agreement," she said. Her argument was the first indication that she is taking a position against Whitehead.

The case is believed to be the first in the nation in which a surrogate mother who refused to give up her child has been taken to trial. Legal experts say the final decision could determine the future of surrogate parenting, which is now largely unregulated in the United States.

The first phase of the trial will determine the enforceability of the contract between Whitehead and the Sterns. The second will determine permanent custody.

Cassidy argued the contract is illegal because it violates New Jersey's prohibition of trafficking in babies for money.

"The issue is whether in this state, in this society, whether money can buy anything," Cassidy said.

He also raised the question whether Elizabeth Stern is afflicted with MS and whether, if she is ill and her condition worsens, she can care for the child.

The case could have a precedent-setting effect nationwide on surrogate parenting.

The Sweet Scent Of Freedom

A thousand flowers are blooming in China. But they're not the flowers envisioned by Mao. They're the flowers of minds seeking freedom.

Recently, thousands of Chinese students marched for democracy in Hefei. "Government of the people, by the people, for the people," proclaimed a wall poster, quoting Abraham Lincoln.

The spontaneous protests moved from Hefei to Shanghai. There, 50,000 students demonstrated for democracy.

Authorities seemed taken aback by the sudden outpouring of desire for democracy. Official newspapers carried propaganda excoriating the students. There were arrests.

Can 50,000 Chinese university students be wrong?

In the eyes of the authorities, they are foreign devils bringing back the Cultural Revolution. But these protests couldn't be more different from the attacks against intellectuals of that era.

Chinese students are pleading for freedom of speech, freedom of thought, freedom to choose their student representatives. Ultimately, they are pressuring for democratic government.

The government granted economic freedom in a bid to catch up to the West. But reformers believed that they could give economic freedom without granting political and social freedom.

They were wrong. Ultimately, there can be no economic freedom without political freedom. And there can be no materialistic development on a Western model without political development.

The question facing Chinese intellectuals is how far they can push without provoking the reaction of the communist government.

By week's end, authorities appeared to be giving concessions to the protesters. In Beijing, it was announced that there would be more than one candidate for city government posts. Traditionally, the Communist Party has chosen the single candidate, who is "elected" by the voters in a sham election.

These concessions are small. Communists won't give up power. But democracy can't be granted. It must be won.

What kind of democracy do the intellectuals want?

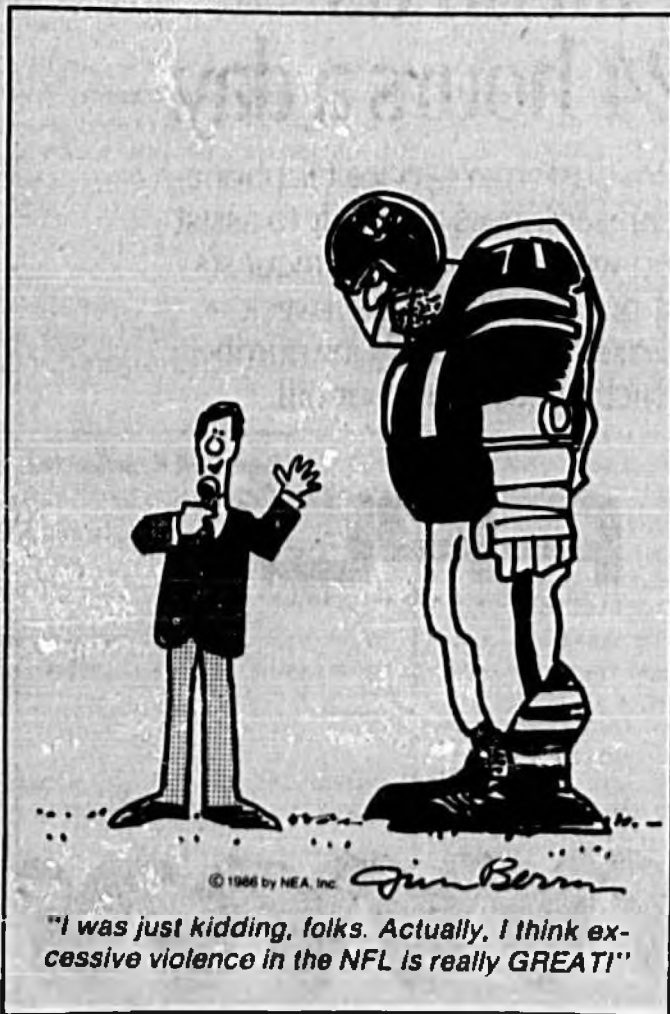

The word has varied meaning in China, from decentralization to elected government. It would be naive to expect that democracy, like communism, would come about in a Western mold in China. Chinese culture is stronger than foreign influences. China faces an age-old dilemma. Should it adapt to the modern world or trench within its walls?

The United States should urge the Chinese to accept the challenge of freedom. The flower of democracy may be scented with Confucianism and communism, but ultimately it will bear fruit. The fruit of an ancient Mandarin orange blossoming in freedom.

1986 Most Unacceptable Person Award: Amy!

Down through the years and the decades, in a kind of negative Oscar, comes the roll-call of dishonor and absurdity. Each year there are countless nominees for Most Unacceptable Person, candidates for Alexander Pope's "Dunciad," maggots on the human spirit, applicants for the big Asse's Ears.

The year 1986 was particularly rich. My ballots were cast for the departing Tip O'Neill. The genial Boston Irishman also had a vicious tongue, tried to block all moves against the communist Sandinistas, and throughout his career as speaker was, as Rep. John LeBoutellier put it, very much like the federal budget: fat, bloated, and out of control. O'Neill so thoroughly embodied — provided a visual metaphor for — all that is awful in political life that he will actually be missed. And perhaps because he will thus be missed, he narrowly lost in the voting for Most Unacceptable.

There were numerous other strong candidates. Bishop Hunthausen of Seattle, for example, garnered much support. Powerful arguments in his behalf were his homosexual Mass and his statement that our Trident submarine is the "Auschwitz of Puget Sound." But the winner by a large margin this year is Amy Carter, a junior at Brown University.

Now, there may be some excuse for Mzzzz. Carter, Brown University is a peculiar place. There was a strong undergraduate movement there to cause the infirmary to stock cyanide pills so that everyone could commit suicide in the event of a nuclear war — a move, one might suppose, redundant.

But Amy has overshoot even the Brown mark. She has repeatedly picketed against South Africa. She has repeatedly tried to block CIA recruiters on the campus, not only getting herself arrested but violating the constitutional rights both of the recruiters and her fellow students. She lives in a vegetarian commune and gives financial support to the continuing antics of Abbie Hoffman. She has dyed her strawberry blonde hair black. Perhaps black is more revolutionary than the former color, which is doubtless too WASP. Black is just like Guevara and Ortega.

Brown University, meet your True Daughter. She has managed to transform herself into a total cultural cliché. It is possible that she imagines herself opposed to "injustice," as in South Africa. But injustices in Poland and Afghanistan, or for that matter the Soviet Union, do not seem to interest her. If you put her on a polygraph machine, the words "South Africa" and "Chile" would cause the needle to jump. The words "Cuba" and "Nicaragua" would not cause her injustice nerve to twitch at all.

Amy gives the term "student" a bad name. We had some foreknowledge of all this in 1980, when President Carter, in the debate with Ronald Reagan, cited Amy's concern about nuclear weapons. The next day, before a primed audience, Reagan asked: "What do we do about inflation?" The crowd roared: "Ask Amy." Reagan asked: "What do we do about the hostages?" The crowd roared: "Ask Amy" — and so on into absurdity.

But she's a big girl now, at least chronologically, and she beats out all the others for the Most Unacceptable Person of 1986 Award. She has shown everyone how easy it is to be a jerk, and she wins a pair of Dan Ortega sun glasses and an Abbie Hoffman T-shirt.

Perot Is Needed By GM

WASHINGTON — General Motors showed that there's no place for an authentic entrepreneur in the nation's largest corporation when it ousted H. Ross Perot, the self-made billionaire, from its board of directors and stripped him of the chairmanship of Electronic Data Systems Corporation, the computer services company he founded 24 years ago and sold to GM in 1984.

Mr. Perot and his associates were paid $750 million for their shares in GM. The buyout arrangement contained a $7.5 million penalty if Mr. Perot criticized the company, but he was not to be silenced.

He told reporters gathered at a news conference that the company's actions were "morally wrong" and an attempt to shut him up. In characteristically independent outspoken style, Mr. Perot declared: "At a time when GM is closing 11 plants, putting over 30,000 people out of work, cutting back on capital expenditures, losing market share and having problems with profitability, I have just received $700 million from GM in exchange for my Series E stock and notes."

Because of GM's size and importance in the American economy, this is not just another board room maneuver of concern only to shareholders and company insiders. A tremendous number of smaller companies, numerous communities, and untold thousands of Americans are affected by decisions of the General Motors Corp.

It's hard to believe that General Motors, its shareholders, and employees would not have benefited from the Ross Perot influence on the board of directors. Mr. Perot is a man of exceptional insight, courage and energy. He is the embodiment of the entrepreneurial spirit in our times. As such, Mr. Perot is a rocker of boats. He is unsettling the bureaucrats in public or private organizations who are comfortable in their routines and don't want to be called to account.

Mr. Perot is the opposite of the raider type that is destabilizing American business. He is the constructive builder of business who is dedicated to a fresh look at problems and to innovation in products. If the American automobile business is to regain the market share it has lost to foreign cars, it will need leadership from the Ross Perots of the United States. It's a sad commentary on America's largest corporation that it determined to oust the man who had most to offer the company in these critical times.

What's The Beef?

Have you ever been linked to an airstrip? Neither have I, but Lewis A. Tambs has. There was the headline, right on page 1 of The New York Times recently: "U.S. ENVOY LINKED TO REBEL AIRSTRIP INSIDE COSTA RICA."

Tambs has been our ambassador to Costa Rica, and what linked him to an airstrip was a report that he "helped secure initial Costa Rican permission to build a secret airstrip for the Nicaraguan rebels early this year (1986) and was deeply involved in overseeing its use."

One of the persisting problems for Democrats and their media allies trying to make a mountain out of the contra-aid molehill has been to explain what's so bad about helping the Nicaraguan contras, who after all are only fighting for the freedom of their country from communist oppression. All the critics have been able to turn up has been a law passed by Congress (and effectively repealed in 1986) prohibiting U.S. funds from being spent on military aid for the contras.

That's the law they claim Lt. Col. Oliver North and others may have violated when they arranged for money in certain Swiss bank accounts to be used to help the contras militarily. Proving that that money belonged to the United States is difficult, however. Even if it represented a profit on sales of U.S. arms through Middle Eastern middlemen to Iran, the profit may legitimately have been the middlemen's, to spend as they saw fit. Also, some of it apparently was donated by the wealthy sultan of Brunei, who was rooting for the contras. And a large part of it may have been contributed by Saudi Arabia, for similar reasons. Where, in short, are the misspent U.S. funds?

Anyway, the Democrats are hanging onto that law with all 10 fingernails. And the law is also behind the Times' excitement over Ambassador Tambs's "link" to that airstrip. The Times' theory evidently is that, since Congress temporarily barred spending U.S. funds on aid for the contras, no U.S. ambassador (or staff member of the National Security Council, for that matter) could legally do anything that would encourage or enable or assist anybody else to spend his own money on such aid either.

But that's patently ridiculous. As a matter of fact, many in Congress who voted for the ban undoubtedly hoped that other nations and groups would rush into the breach.

But the need to jail somebody is central to the Democrats' plan for wringing political advantage out of the Iran/contras controversy (or "scandal," as the media love to call it). Just how single-minded they are in their determination to damage the Reagan administration will be manifested by their reaction to a forthcoming development.

Ever since Iran seized the Tehran hostages in 1979 and Washington froze all Iranian assets in this country (amounting to billions of dollars), Iran has been demanding the return of those funds. Negotiators are nearing agreement on the return of some $500 million of the total. Interest in the matter is inevitably heightened by repeated statements of the Ayatollah Rafsanjani, speaker of the Iranian parliament, that in return for settlement of the funds issue, Iran would put pressure on the terrorists in Lebanon to release the five American hostages they are still holding.

But the Democrats and the media casually telescoped our arms sales to Iran and Iran's earlier successful pressure for the release of two hostages, so they could denounce the combination as "trading arms for hostages." Will they now, to be consistent, object to "trading funds for hostages"?

Byrd Loves Leadership Position

WASHINGTON (UPI) — After six years of strumming second fiddle, Robert Byrd is back on the podium, orchestrating the 100-member Senate ensemble and just plain loving the feel of the baton.

Sitting with a couple of reporters around a low circular table in one of his offices last week, Byrd made no attempt to disguise his eagerness to get the 100th Congress moving.

Although he was fielding countless interviews on the forthcoming session — an almost obligatory assignment for reporters covering Capitol Hill — Byrd left the impression he was willing to give replies as long as there were questions.

Byrd is much too cautious to give specifics which time and circumstance could leave him stuck in an untenable position.

And, as always, a spot of history from a man who has made the most detailed history of the U.S. Senate a personal project.

He is, Byrd told the reporters, the first to have served as majority leader (1977-81) and minority leader (1981-87) of the Senate and then returned as majority leader (1987-).

"Yes, I'm excited," Byrd said, "but I've lived 69 years, mostly filled with excitement."

But that answer probably does not convey the total impact of moving from being Democratic leader in a Republican-controlled Senate, a personal gulag where he spent the last six years, to being Democratic leader in a Democrat-controlled Senate.

Although he makes no complaints, it is clear Byrd and the other Senate Democratic leaders have suffered as unwelcome stepchildren since President Reagan won the presidency in 1980 and brought with him to Washington the first GOP Senate in a quarter of a century.

Byrd compared the status of Senate Democrats "as some kind of invisible tribe" over the past six years. He said he and the other Democratic leaders were not brought into play by the White House, the Republicans led by Sen. Robert Dole nor, more surprisingly the Democratic House presided over by Speaker Thomas O'Neill.

Even when he was majority leader the first time, Byrd's role was different, with President Carter, notorious for his inability to deal with Congress, was in the White House. He says, "... we met some, usually at the White House."

This time around, however, Byrd predicts that the "Democratic Senate is going to be a force in its own right."

Our National Treasures Are Missing

By Jack Anderson
And Joseph Spear

WASHINGTON — How do you mislay Revolutionary War cannons? It isn't easy, but the National Park Service managed to do it.

Cannons, muskets, brass candlesticks, archival documents and a wagon were among the historical items that couldn't be located at eight parks, historical sites and recreation areas surveyed by the Interior Department's inspector general.

Two other $40,000 "surrender cannons," treasured reminders of the October day 205 years ago when the British surrendered and "the world turned upside down," were found to be in badly corroded condition from exposure to the elements at the Colonial National Historical Park in Yorktown, Va.

The inspector general's auditors concluded that many irreplaceable artifacts were rusting and rotting, while others were stored in conditions that invite theft or deterioration. No one can tell for sure what may be missing, because the records of the museums associated with the eight historical areas are in hopeless disorder. Here are some of the problems detailed in the inspector general's report, which was obtained by our reporter Tyler Clements:

— Many historic objects are stored in barns where they are subjected to mildew, excessive humidity, freezing and insects. "One storage area's floor was covered wall to wall with small, dust-covered objects," the report states. "Another park had a garage full of objects tossed on top of each other from wall to wall and floor to ceiling."

— Twenty-nine percent of the museums' catalog cards are missing. The cards are supposed to give the historic artifact's description, history, estimated value and exact location, but many were found to carry inaccurate information. At the Yorktown museum, for example, catalog cards were in "complete disarray, scattered all about rooms in stacks, trays and boxes."

— At Independence National Historical Park in downtown Philadelphia, the museum's records indicated that it has 2,000 pieces on loan from the city of Philadelphia. The correct figure is 4,000. The North Atlantic Region's general ledger shows artifacts worth $3.3 million; it should show $8.4 million worth.

— Appraisals are years out of date, the auditors found. In 1981, for example, several silver objects were stolen from the Edison National Historical Site in West Orange, N.J. The thief was caught and tried. The court recognized the stolen items' value at a mere $8,700, because that was the valuation placed on them in the last appraisal — 21 years earlier.

— The National Catalog, which theoretically contains descriptions of the entire National Park Service collection, lists only about 4 percent of it. According to Park Service curator Ann Hitchcock, the collection has approximately 26 million objects. The National Catalog lists only 1 million.

— All seven museums audited were found to have inadequate fire and burglary protection. Two had been the scene of major thefts, and the Cape Cod National Seashore museum was broken into undetected because "the intruder alarm system had been turned off by park employees."

— Gemstones valued at $20,000 (according to a 1960 appraisal) were found stored at the Edison museum next to toxic chemicals. At the Delaware Water Gap museum, valuable silverware was kept in a "remote and isolated" barn.

Hitchcock agreed that the inspector general's report was accurate. She said that proposed deadlines and estimated costs for revising the card catalog would be submitted to Congress this month.

Klein, Seminoles Hope Tough 'Sun' Assists Vs. Creek

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Coach Bill Klein and his Seminoles came away from Ocala Vanguard's 13th annual Kingdom of the Sun Holiday Classic with a consolation trophy last week. After losing to No. 1-ranked Miami High in the first round, Seminole whipped Hawthorne, Orlando Oak Ridge and Archbishop Rummel, La. All good teams.

Tonight, Klein finds out if they have gained something more than consolation.

The Seminoles, 9-4, trek to Port Orange for an 8 o'clock meeting with No. 7-ranked Spruce Creek. The Creek tipped the 'Noles at Sanford on a jumper in the last two seconds on Dec. 16.

"The tournament was tough and we played some very good competition," Klein said. "It all depends on whether the kids learned from it. If we can cut the turnovers down and play smarter, then we have learned something."

Klein said the Seminoles are ahead of mid-season form offensively and behind defensively. "We're progressing pretty well offensively. We're shooting the ball well," he said. "Defensively, our man-to-man is better than I thought it would be, but we have not progressed well mentally. We are still making too many dumb plays."

Klein started 6-4 Roderick Henderson, 6-8 Craig Walker, 6-1 Jerry "Stick" Parker, 5-11 Andre Whitney and 5-7 Michael "Spud" Edwards in Seminole's miracle comeback victory (down five points with 23 seconds to play) over Rummel. That quintet played all but two seconds of the second half.

Henderson, one of 11 players to make the All-Tournament Team, has been a model of consistency for the Tribe. The senior swingman is leading the county in scoring with 17.4 points. He is fifth in rebounding (7.8), fourth in assists (4.2), second in blocked shots (1.5), fourth in steals (2.2) and fifth in free-throw percentage (83.0).

"This tournament will make us a better team," Henderson said. "If we rebound and play defense with intensity, we can beat anybody."

Whitney and Parker also turned in strong efforts at the Kingdom. Parker upped his average to 14.2 points per game while Whitney edged up to 10.1 points and a county-leading 5.8 assists. Whitney is second to Oviedo's Brian Wilson in steals (2.9-2.8) and sixth in free-throw percentage.

During one stretch in the tournament, Whitney knocked down 15 consecutive from the charity stripe. He also contributed two big defensive plays when the Seminoles stormed back to beat Rummel.

"I've been working on my free throws a lot more in practice," Whitney said. "I know they're important, especially at the end of the game."

Edwards, the point guard, turned in his usual hustling effort at the tournament. He is third in the county with 4.8 assists and fourth with 2.2 steals.

Walker, meanwhile, has been impressive with his shot-blocking and rebounding, but sports just a 6.4 scoring average. He leads the county with 9.5 rebounds and 3.2 blocks per game.

"Craig could get 20 points a game just on the offensive boards," McNamara said. "We're trying to impress upon him the importance of hitting the offensive boards. No one can stop him when he goes hard to the boards."

Klein said the effort has been made by the guards to get Walker the ball, but it has not worked. "Craig knows he has to move quickly in the paint and he doesn't move quickly," Klein said. "They throw it and he misses it. I get on them for turnovers and then they don't throw it to him anymore."

Klein said more inside work and improved eyesight may be the answer.

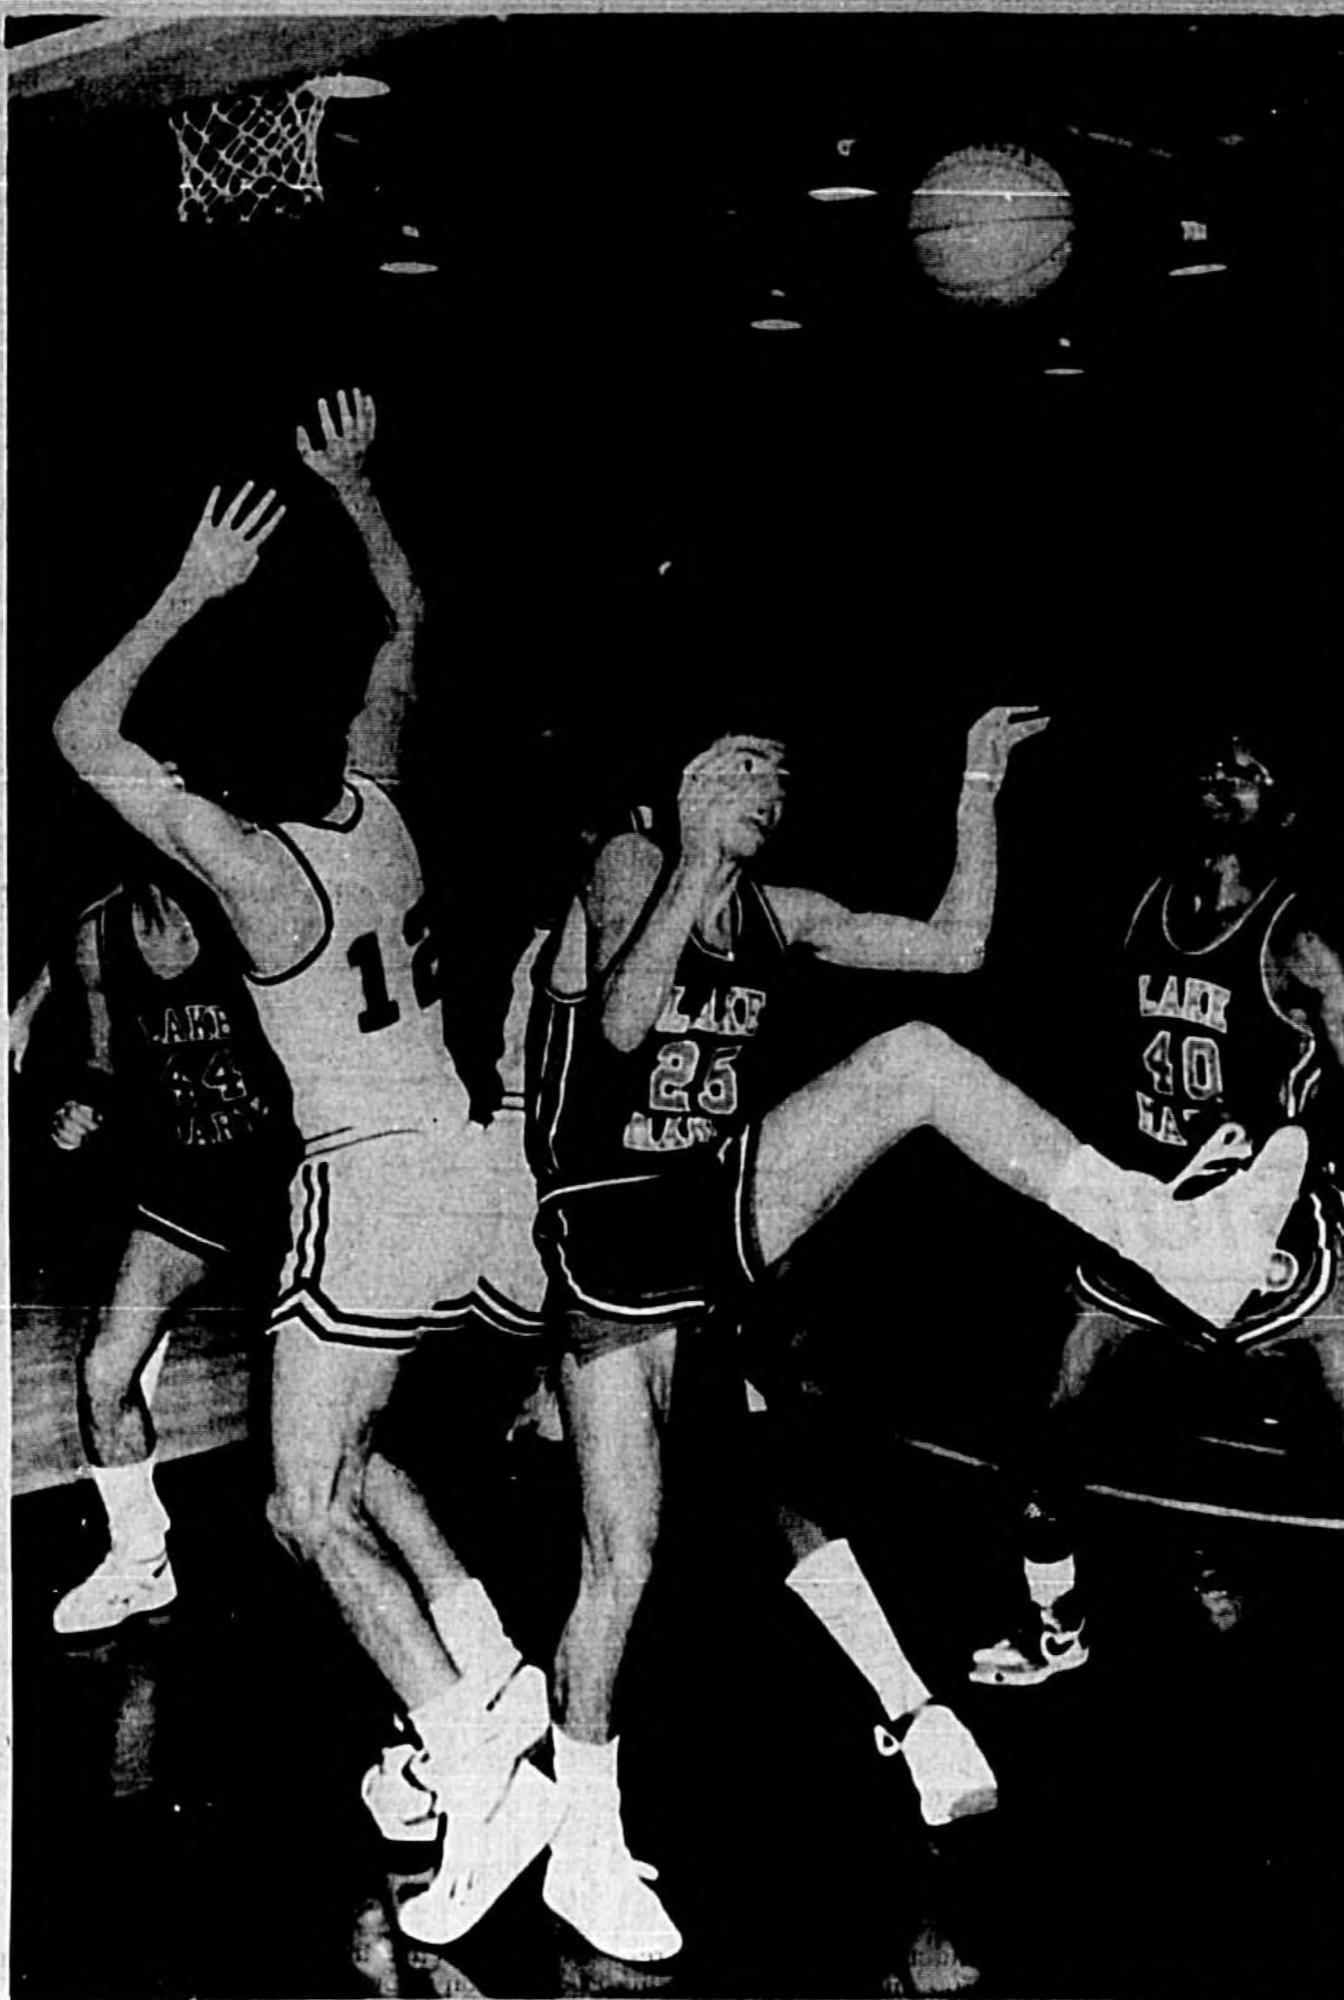

"For us to be good, we've got to improve Craig's scoring," Klein said. "Craig wears glasses and I don't know if he can see well enough without them. He said he has ordered some goggles, so maybe that will help. We will also work more on it in practice."

Tonight's tilt is just the beginning of a tough week for the 'Noles, whose four losses have been to No. 1 Miami Senior, No. 3 Daytona Beach Mainland (twice) and No. 7 Spruce Creek. Seminole hosts Daytona Beach Seabreeze Wednesday and arch-rival Lake Mary Friday.

● Lake Mary, 2-5, returns to action Wednesday at Lake Weir. Coach Willie Richardson has been using Oscar Merthie, Bernard Mitchell and Matt Napoli up front along with Terry "The Cat" Miller, Eric Czerniejewski, Cory Prom and Mike Mandeville in the backcourt.

"Napoli and Miller both played well in the holiday tournament," Lake Mary coach Willie Richardson said about the Rams' 1-1 Central Florida Classic performance. "Nap is shooting the ball real well and Miller is blending in with the team more while running the show."

Richardson said Merthie, a 6-2 senior, started the season well but has been forcing too many shots inside. "Oscar played well the first couple of game but he's been missing the easy shots," Richardson said. "His shot looked good during practice over the holidays. I hope it continues. Without him, we don't stand much of a chance inside."

Richardson said a tougher schedule has taken a toll on his Rams. "We haven't had any breaks," he said. "Our early games were pretty easy, but after that we've been taking some beatings."

The Rams beat Lyman in a consolation-round game and lost to powerful Clearwater Countryside in the opening round. ● Lyman, 5-3, will try to snap a two-game losing streak Wednesday at DeLand. The Greyhounds dropped the Bulldogs before the break but then lost two games — Gainesville Buchholz and Lake Mary — at the Classic.

Lyman coach Tom Lawrence has received steady play from point guard Robert Thomas (second in the county with 5.6 assists) and forward Craig Radzak. The 6-2 Radzak is third in scoring (15.4) and fourth in rebounding (8.3). Vince Florence, 6-6 Shawn Hester (second with 8.9 rebounds) and Willie Brown complete the starting five. Darryl Starks provides depth.

"When Hester gets in foul trouble we get in trouble," Lawrence said. "We have to keep him in the game for us to play well."

● Oviedo, which watched its seven-game winning streak go down the tubes with losses to No. 4 Jacksonville Raines and Countryside in the Classic, fell to 7-2. "We ran into two pretty tough teams," Oviedo coach Dale Phillips said. "I'm hoping we will bounce back after the break."

The Lions will have to wait for their first crack, which comes

Switzer: Bye, Bye To 'Boz'

NORMAN, Okla. (UPI) — All-America linebacker Brian Bosworth will not return to Oklahoma for his final year of eligibility.

Bosworth, who had a year of eligibility remaining because he red-shirted one season, did not play in the Orange Bowl after testing positive for steroids. He joined his teammates on the sidelines and expressed his displeasure with the NCAA suspension by wearing a T-shirt with the words "National Communists Against Athletics. Welcome to Russia."

In a public statement prior to the game he compared life in Norman, Okla., to living in Moscow.

"After having discussions today with Brian Bosworth, I have decided it would be in the best interests of the University of Oklahoma football program that he forego his senior season of eligibility in 1987," Oklahoma Coach Barry Switzer said in a prepared statement.

Switzer called Bosworth "one of the greatest players to have ever performed for the Sooners" and said he is confident Bosworth will have a successful pro football career.

Bosworth is eligible for the NFL draft.

In a statement released through the university, Bosworth said the past season "has been a once-in-a-lifetime experience for me. Coach Switzer has often said that I am an actor and that the lights are bright at OU. In that regard I have benefitted beyond comprehension from my association with the University."

"My association with the University of Oklahoma and the Oklahoma football program has been a very positive one," Bosworth said. "I have been treated very favorably by Coach Switzer during the past four years and could not have attained the many honors and awards without his total support."

During warm-ups for the New Year's night game, won 42-8 by Oklahoma, Bosworth, who finished fourth in this year's Heisman Trophy balloting, wore an orange University of Miami jersey with No. 14 and Testaverde written across the back. Vinny Testaverde is the Heisman Trophy winning quarterback who has led the Miami Hurricanes to victories over Oklahoma the last two seasons.

Bosworth walked to midfield with other team co-captains for the pre-game coin flip, but officials told him he could not participate and asked him to leave the field.

Bosworth said at a Dec. 26 news conference he took doctor-prescribed steroids this spring for muscle injuries.

Arriola Powers Lake Howell To 10th Victory, 54-50

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

The inbetween was not very pretty, but Seminole High's Lady Seminoles played outstanding basketball for the first four and the last four minutes Monday night en route to a 54-42 victory over Daytona Beach Seabreeze's Lady Sandcrabs before 51 fans at Bill Fleming Memorial Gymnasium.

Seminole, 3-6 for the season, plays at Port Orange Spruce Creek today at 4:45 and the Lady Tribe opens play in the Seminole Athletic Conference Thursday night at arch rival Lake Mary.

The Lady Seminoles opened up a 12-2 lead in the first four minutes Monday night, then lapsed into a defensive coma.

Seabreeze came back within 14-7 at the end of the first quarter, then took a 26-23 halftime lead. The Lady Sand Crabs took a 36-35 lead into the fourth quarter and led by one, 40-39, with four minutes remaining.

Seminole then went to its full-court, man-to-man defense and came back to life and reeled off 11 straight points to seal the victory.

"I wanted to go to the man-to-man earlier but that's hard with our lack of depth," Seminole coach Charles Steele said. "The girls have no intensity when they play a zone but that's something they are going to have to learn because we can't play man all the time."

Adrian Hillsman scored 10 of her game-high 26 points in the first quarter in a hurry and added six straight points in the last two minutes as Seminole pulled away. Hillsman also led the team with eight rebounds and six steals. LaShon Cash had a big fourth quarter as she scored five of her 10 points including a three-point play that put the Lady Tribe ahead to stay.

Seminole had good balance inside from Liz Long who had eight points and seven rebounds, Chineta Gilchrist with six points and five boards, Michelle Toombs with four points and six rebounds and Sherry Reddick with five rebounds.

SEABREEZE (42) — K. Robinson 15, L. Robinson 6, Williams 2, Wilson 5, Moore 12, Brown 2. Totals: 186-1042.

Behind Arriola for the Lady Hawks, Tammy Lewis tossed in eight points, grabbed 10 rebounds, dished out eight assists and came up with four steals.

Lewis Listens To Brother, 39 Points Blister Michigan

United Press International

That must have been some basketball to watch, back on those playgrounds in Anderson, Ind.

Troy Lewis, a junior guard trying to break a slump by recapturing the feeling of his hometown courts, Monday night scored a career-high 39 points to lead fifth-ranked Purdue to an 89-77 Big Ten victory over Michigan.

Lewis said he was responding to advice from his brother Kendrick, with whom he spoke during last weekend.

"He told me, 'Play the way you are capable of playing — play like you're on the playground,'" said Lewis, who scored 22 points in the first half.

"You always want to hit every shot," said Lewis, who hit 12 of 15 shots from the field. "But when you are shooting like that, anything you throw up goes in."

Purdue, 10-1 overall and 2-0 in the Big Ten, matched its best start in four years by beating Michigan for the first time since 1984.

"This is really special because we hadn't beaten Michigan since I have been here," Lewis said.

In other games involving ranked teams, No. 3 Iowa downed Wisconsin 78-63, No. 6 Syracuse got by Providence 89-85, No. 7 Temple topped George Washington 77-73, No. 9 DePaul defeated Furman 81-64, No. 13 Illinois topped Michigan State 79-72, No. 14 Navy

At Iowa City, Iowa, Ed Horton scored 16 points and Brad Lohaus added 15 to help Iowa extend the longest winning streak in the nation to 14 with a Big Ten victory over Wisconsin.

At Providence, R.I., Ron Seikaly scored 29 points and grabbed 10 rebounds and Syracuse used a 10-0 spurt late in the game to overcome upset-minded Providence. The Orangemen have won 14 straight against the Friars.

At Chicago, Dallas Comegys scored 18 of his game-high 22 points in the first half to lead DePaul over Furman. Comegys had 14 of DePaul's first 20 points to help the unbeaten Blue Demons to a 20-11 lead.

At Champaign, Ill., Glynn Blackwell scored 24 points and Illinois rallied with a 16-point spurt in the second half to defeat Michigan State in a Big Ten game.

At Annapolis, Md., David Robinson scored 31 points to become the first 2,000-point scorer in Navy history to pace the rout of East Carolina in a Colonial Athletic Association game. Robinson also grabbed 16 rebounds and blocked 7 shots for the Midshipmen.

Insurmountable Odds Face Sports Gambler

By Pehla Smith
UPI Sports Writer

Lem Banker owns a Mercedes, a Cadillac and a spacious Spanish-style house, complete with pool, outdoor gym and satellite dish, on a quiet street in Las Vegas, Nev. He also has an apartment in Manhattan.

Gardeners tend his lawn and rose bushes, and, most evenings, Banker saves his wife's hands from the dangers of dishwater by taking her out to dinner. The Bankers do not have to worry about rainy days. Neither does their grown daughter, Blaine, a model.

None of the money that provides their luxury and security was inherited. In fact, when Blaine was born in 1960, Banker had trouble raising the money for the hospital bills.

Nowadays, Banker earns a six-figure income from the profession he entered nearly 36 years ago. He likes his job and his life very much.

But if his daughter had decided to follow in her father's footsteps instead of her mother's, Lester "Lem" Banker would have been much opposed.

Banker is a professional sports gambler — legally, since he piles his trade in Las Vegas. But legal or not, he says, the odds against gambling success are nearly insurmountable.

"I help a lot of broken-down gamblers," he says. "But I never encourage gambling. It's too tough. Gambling has one of the lowest, if not the lowest, success rate of any profession."

Statistical studies, Banker says, have determined a gambler must be right 52.38 percent of the time to break even in football and basketball, 55 percent of the time to get in the black.

Banker, 59, speaks from experience. Benefactors and luck were all that saved him from disaster the first third of his career, which began in his father's confectionary store in Union City, N.J.

Benjamin Banker ran an illegal bookmaking operation in the back of the store. He never made a fortune — he didn't lose money either — until he was hospitalized. Lem came home from the University of Miami to run the business.

Lem Banker had no trouble turning a profit on the bookmaking. He just had problems keeping the money since he used it to gamble.

"He would earn it, and I would lose

It," Banker says. "He always bailed me out."

When his father died, Banker did not have enough money to pay for the funeral.

Likewise, he had only $600 to his name when Debbie Banker gave birth to Blaine. Banker split the sum betting on two college basketball games, got lucky and raised enough money to collect wife and baby at the hospital.

By that time, the Bankers were living in Las Vegas. A run-in with the Union City police, a federal subpoena to testify against a gambler in Terre Haute, Ind., and a feeling that both sides of the law had him under surveillance prompted Banker to go where gambling was legal.

"We were getting by, but always on my hustle," Banker says. "There was never any extra. I was living on my wit, going in circles. I had no direction."

All that changed in 1966. Following his late father's advice, he went against public opinion and bet everything he had on the underdog Chicago Bears in an exhibition game against the mighty Green Bay Packers. The Bears won straight up.

"Everything fell into place after that," Banker says. "I realized then it's more a game of numbers, rather than knowledge of any team. I used to know all the rosters, all the statistics. I changed my format around and started new betting schedules. I perfected these things."

He worked hardest to perfect money management, the part of betting Banker believes causes most failures.

"A lot of guys come to Vegas with brilliant financial backgrounds and great systems, and eventually, most of them go broke," he says. "One of a couple different things happen: Greed gets them, or they get stuck in a losing streak and try to get even, they have no discipline, or they fall in love with a specific team."

In his newly published "Lem Banker's Book of Sports Betting," Banker suggests ways to avoid such pitfalls:

- Don't bet what you want to win but what you can afford to lose; budget that amount and stick to it.
- Only bet what you know. Banker best knows football, baseball, boxing and basketball, and that's what he bets.
- The harder you work, the luckier you get. Banker works about 70 hours a week, reading sports pages and shopping the books for the best prices.
- If you're in a losing streak, don't try to get even all at once but a little bit at a time.
- Bet to make money not to pick winners.
- Play by the numbers, not your heart. Though he went to Miami, Banker took the seven points and bet Penn State.

2 Of 3 Won't Do For Giants

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (UPI) — The New York Giants must throw out their two victories over Washington this season and defeat the Redskins again if they are to advance to Super Bowl XXI.

The Giants swept Washington to win the NFC East title and account for half of the Redskins' record. New York defeated Washington 27-20 Oct. 27 in Giants Stadium to begin their current 10-game winning streak, then won 24-7 at RFK Dec. 7 to practically seal the division title. Now they face the difficult task of defeating a good team three times in one season.

Giants-Redskins III will decide the NFC championship Sunday at Giants Stadium.

"I've never had to play a team of their caliber three times in a year," Giants guard Chris Godfrey said. "It could help us that we're familiar with them, but it could hurt us if we take it easy in preparing for them."

"It will be a problem," Giants Coach Bill Parcells said of beating the Redskins a third time. "We're going to have to do it again. We got six turnovers down there the last time and it was still a close game."

There have been 12 occasions in NFL history when a team met another team it already had beaten twice during the season. The team that won the first two games took the third six times and lost six times.

The Miami Dolphins were the last NFL team to defeat an opponent three times in one season. The Dolphins swept two regular-season games against the New York Jets in 1982, then defeated the Jets in the AFC Championship Game. In 1983, Seattle defeated the Los Angeles Raiders twice during the season but the Raiders eliminated the Seahawks in the AFC playoffs.

"We're playing for the championship now," Parcells said. "Whatever happened in the 24 or 25 weeks since training camp started doesn't mean anything."

Parcells said he was not surprised by the Redskins' 27-13 upset victory over the defending Super Bowl champion Chicago Bears Saturday. Washington's triumph was not as impressive as the Giants' 49-3 rout of the San Francisco 49ers Sunday but was enough to make the Redskins the NFC's second wild-card team to advance to the conference championship game.

"The Redskins don't die easy," Parcells said. "I think they're the best team we've played this year. I think it's right that it should come down to this. I said after the last game, I thought we'd be seeing them again.

"I thought they had a good shot to beat the Bears. I thought they would beat the Rams (in the wild-card game)."

GIBBS: WHAT BELIEF?
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Washington Redskins Coach Joe Gibbs says the old belief that it is difficult, if not virtually impossible, to beat a team three times in a season doesn't apply to his team's NFC Championship Game against the New York Giants.

"They beat us twice and they could beat us pretty good the third time. I don't think something like that matters either way. There are two sides to that line of thinking and you can make a case for either one," Gibbs said.

The Giants, the NFC East champions who have won 10 straight, downed the Redskins 27-20 in Week 8 and 24-14 five weeks later, with the second game deciding the division title.

"The Giants have been on a roll all year. Really, the Giants' game have been the downers for us," Gibbs said.

The Redskins last beat the Giants on the road in 1983, during their last Super Bowl season.

TAYLOR: TOP DEFENDER
EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (UPI) — Lawrence Taylor, a chief catalyst behind the New York Giants' surge toward the top of the NFL, was named the NFC Defensive Player of the Year by United Press International.

The outside linebacker finished with 20 1/2 sacks to miss the NFL record by 1 1/2. He was the NFC's only unanimous Pro Bowl pick and a landslide winner for NFC Defensive Player of the Year honors in balloting announced Monday.

Taylor received 53 votes from 56 writers who cover the NFL. Washington defensive end Dexter Manley, Chicago middle linebacker Mike Singletary and San Francisco free safety Ronnie Lott each received one vote.

MONTANA GOES HOME
Joe Montana, who suffered a concussion in the 49ers' 49-3 loss to the Giants, was released from New York's Hospital for Special Surgery Monday. He had been held for overnight observation.

Kosar Downplays Clash

BEREA, Ohio (UPI) — Cleveland quarterback Bernie Kosar is downplaying his personal confrontation with Denver quarterback John Elway in Sunday's AFC Championship Game.

Kosar was asked whether he felt he was in an individual battle with Elway, and had a succinct answer.

"No," he said. "What does he think of Elway?"

"He's a good quarterback," Kosar replied with an expressionless face.

Cleveland wide receiver Brian Brennan spoke at greater length but with the same idea.

"This is hardly a Kosar vs. Elway wrestling match," he said. "It's our offense against their defense, our defense against their offense and the special teams against each other. The quarterbacks are a big part of the action, but not the whole shebang.

"I'll say this, though. We have a great quarterback in Bernie. He's super intelligent and a real team guy. He'll never hog the credit or the spotlight. He just wants to do what we all want to do — win."

The Browns, winners of the AFC Central Division and six straight games, will arrive in Dodgertown in Vero Beach, Fla., today for three days of workouts. The team will return Thursday evening and practice Friday and Saturday at Baldwin-Wallace College in Berea before hosting Denver on Sunday.

The Browns downed the New York Jets, 23-20, in a double-overtime semifinal clash Saturday. The Broncos, the winners of the AFC West, advanced Sunday with a 22-17 victory over defending AFC champion New England.

Most players have complained about lonely Dodgertown, but the consensus is that the isolation inspires good workouts.

"The lack of extracurricular things to do is important," says Kosar. "That way, our focus is strictly on practicing and other forms of preparation and not which movie is showing in town."

"We can't afford distractions, because Denver is a very capable team. They wouldn't be facing us next Sunday if they weren't."

Kosar said the Browns defense has played a major role in helping the offense.

"Their heady play has resulted in giving us great field position," he said. "We may give up possession, but we know the defense can put the ball back into our hands. Their strategy works."

Ross Accepts Dream: Georgia Tech

ATLANTA (UPI) — Former Maryland Coach Bobby Ross, calling it the fulfillment of "a lifelong dream," has accepted the head coaching position at Georgia Tech.

Ross, who left Maryland at the close of the season and then took a job with the NFL's Buffalo Bills as an assistant, said he had interviewed for college coaching jobs at California and Purdue University but he wanted to

at Georgia Tech.

"Everyone reaches a time when he reaches an ultimate goal and a lifelong dream," the 50-year-old Ross said at a Monday news conference announcing his appointment, "and for me, it was to be the head coach at Georgia Tech.

I didn't think I would reach this point yet, but I was extremely excited and delighted to be offered the job with Georgia Tech."

Ross replaces Bill Curry, who became the head coach at Alabama over the weekend. The Bills released Ross from his assistant coaching duties so he could pursue the Tech job.

Skillful, Young Lady Hawks Tie No. 10 Lake Mary

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

Lake Howell, a young team with some good skilled players, realized just how good it can be Monday night as the Lady Silver Hawks played Lake Mary's Lady Rams, the 10th-ranked team in Class 4A, to a 1-1 tie in Seminole Athletic Center action at Lake Howell High.

Lake Mary now stands at 8-2-2 overall and 2-1-2 in the SAC. The Lady Rams have a big conference clash Thursday at home against Lake Brantley. Both of the Lady Rams' losses were against Brantley. Lake Howell now stands at 5-5-2 overall and 3-2-1 in the SAC. The Lady Hawks are at Winter Park today and host Seminole Friday.

"The girls showed themselves tonight they can play with some of the better teams," Lake Howell coach Art Raynor

Cook Grabs Second '100' At Speedway

NEW SMYRNA BEACH — Former track champion Jack Cook, who was victorious in the first "Red Eye 100" Late Model Championship in 1984, came back to score another win in the fourth annual running of the traditionally extremely competitive event.

This year was no exception as seven lead changes took place among six drivers, and contact was made on several occasions, as the 24-car field circled the high banks at speed.

Pole sitter Stan Eads led the early laps. Daniel Keene moved up on the point on lap five, only to drop out while still leading on lap 21. Fastest qualifier David Rogers then took over for the next 44 laps.

Lee Faulk who was applying a lot of heavy pressure, muscled inside and was in the lead when the flying pair blasted him out of turn two.

Rogers was back in front by lap 73, but seven laps later, a crash forced him out of the event with a broken tie rod.

Ed Merdith led from lap 80 to 94. Coming up from the back of the pack, Cook took the lead for good with five laps to go. Merdith held on for second, with Roger Boone, who finally decided to buy a new set of tires, also completing 100 laps for a strong third place finish.

In the 100-lap Enduro, Alan Walker, now fully recovered from a serious accident, drove the G and W Racing stocker to a well-deserved win. Jeff Williams out-powered fast timer Pete Starr to win the thundercar feature.

IN BRIEF

Roy's Canadiens Capture Duel Against Ranford's Bruins, 2-1

United Press International
Nine months after Adams Division rookie goalie Patrick Roy and Bill Ranford staging a dazzling duel in the Stanley Cup playoffs, they returned to that form Monday night in the Montreal Canadiens' 2-1 triumph over the Boston Bruins.

In April, Roy's Canadiens and Ranford's Bruins opened against each other in the postseason's first round. Ranford was beginning his NHL career, coming up just in time for the playoffs from the minor leagues, while Roy was playing a postseason surge that carried him to the Stanley Cup championship and Conn Smythe Trophy as playoff MVP.

But without playoff excitement, both have struggled to win consistently in the first half of this season. Ranford, with a 3.15 goals-against average, entered Monday's game with a 5-9-1 record. Roy with a 3.07 goals-against and 10-10-4 record.

But in Boston's 39th game of the 80-game regular season and Montreal's 42nd, the netminders played like it was the spring again, as Ranford was impressive only to be overshadowed by Roy once more.

Ranford made only 18 saves but several were spectacular. Roy made 39 saves — including all 19 in the second period — and Ryan Walter snapped a tie during a power play with 3:23 left in the third to give Montreal the victory.

In other games, Minnesota and the New York Rangers tied 3-3 in overtime, and Washington beat St. Louis 6-4.

6-0 Tribe Frosh Crush Oviedo

Behind a 25-11 second-quarter spurt, Seminole High built a commanding 40-18 halftime lead Monday night en route to a 72-56 victory over Oviedo in freshman basketball action at Seminole's Bill Fleming Memorial Gymnasium.

Seminole, 6-0 for the season, takes on Lake Howell Thursday night at 7 at Seminole High, then hosts arch rival Lake Mary Friday night.

Brandon Cash was high-point man for Seminole Monday with 20 points while Willie "Sugar Tex" McCloud pumped in 17 points and grabbed eight rebounds. "Cool Bobby" Coffield added 12 points and seven assists and Jesse Ningtengale contributed 11 points. Brad Bolton was high for Oviedo with 19 points.

College Chiefs: Trim Budgets

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Presidents of NCAA member colleges have decided it is time to trim athletic budgets.

NCAA President John Davis, the faculty representative at Oregon State, predicted Monday the college presidents will decide later this week to call a special cost-cutting NCAA Convention in June.

"I think there is sentiment for a special convention this summer," said Davis. "I feel a pressure to move ahead in cost containment."

Davis, speaking at a news conference to discuss legislation to be considered at this week's regular NCAA Convention, said recruiting and reducing athletic costs are related.

Oviedo LL To Register Saturday

The Oviedo Little League will hold the first of two registrations Saturday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the complex on King Street, President Mickey Norton said Monday.

The second date will be Saturday, Jan. 17. Norton said a girls' softball league will also be formed for 12 and under and 13 to 15 divisions. Call Norton at 365-4040 for information.

Australia IV Tops Kookaburra II

FREMANTLE, Australia (UPI) — Alan Bond's Australia IV, using a "secret weapon" sail, defeated Kookaburra II by 24 seconds Tuesday in the America's Cup defender semifinals to clinch the second final spot for a showdown against Kookaburra III.

After trailing for five legs, skipper Colin Beashel was able to slice between Kookaburra II and the sixth mark for a 10-second edge that he increased the rest of the race.

Elks' Hoop Shoot To Be Saturday

The 15th annual Elks Hoop Shoot, sponsored by Sanford Elks Lodge 1241, gets under way for three age groups Saturday at Seminole High School, Elks spokesman James DeLong said Thursday.

Each age group — 8-9, 10-11, 12-13, attempts 25 shots from different areas of the floor. Local winners advance to the Jan. 31 district competition at New Smyrna Beach. For further information, contact DeLong at 322-1646.

Stocks Open Higher

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices opened higher today in heavy trading of New York Stock Exchange issues, extending gains won in the year's first two sessions.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which rose 44.01 Monday, was up 7.46 to 1978.78 shortly after the market opened.

Advances led declines 643-318 among the 1,452 issues crossing the New York Stock Exchange tape.

Early turnover amounted to about 18,577,000 shares.

The stock market broke from the gate early Monday and refused to look back, racing to a record close in the Dow on the strength of a strong bond market and the absence of tax-related selling pressures.

The Dow Jones industrial average closed at 1971.32, surpassing its previous closing high of 1955.57, set Dec. 2. The Dow also topped its previous single-day advance of 43.41, set Nov. 3, 1982.

"We could be seeing a delay in our year-end rally," said Alfred Goldman of A.G. Edwards & Sons in St. Louis. "The typical Christmas cheer didn't show up in 1986, and this created a high level of short-term skepticism and a high level of sideline cash, two ingredients you need for a rally."

According to stories on file with the United Press International, lower courts have been divided on the issue, but the majority have said tests by the government must be based on "individualized suspicion" and cannot be random without cause.

In 1985, a state superior court judge in Hackensack, N.J. struck down a school board's policy requiring drug tests of high school students, finding that the policy violated the "reasonable privacy expectations of schoolchildren."

But Assistant Attorney General Richard Willard was quoted by the UPI last September as saying he believes the weight of precedent is with administration, noting that the only two federal appeals court rulings on the issue have upheld mandatory tests.

A recent decision last July by the 3rd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals upheld New Jersey's random testing program for race horse jockeys. The court said the state had a compelling interest in protecting the integrity of the racing industry and jockeys had given up a degree of privacy when they chose to enter "this pervasively regulated business."

According to recent reports, 25 percent of the nation's Fortune 500 companies have implemented drug testing programs. The list includes Ford Motor Co., IBM, Lockheed and The New York Times.

Meanwhile, at Lake Mary High School, officials are implementing their program of asking "contracts" of all students involved in extra-curricular activities saying they will not take illegal drugs or alcohol and will submit to urinalysis if suspected of drug abuse.

"The program is in operation," said Moore. "As the new activities are coming up, we are getting more and more contracts signed. The school's policy requires all students involved in extra-curricular activities to submit to the conditions of counseling and testing if they are suspected of drug abuse."

"We have had a group of students take the urinalysis," Moore said. "They have been from teacher and student referrals, but only a very few were involved in extra-curricular activities."

Lake Mary High School has a student body of about 2,400. They received behavior reports on 20 students so far this school year; after consultation with the student and his or her parents, 15 were referred for drug counseling and possible testing. Of those 15, not all turned up with drug problems.

Moore said the parents have been very cooperative in every

Florida Boy Safe After Hostage Ordeal

GRAPEVINE, Texas (UPI) — A gunman who held a 10-year-old Florida boy hostage for eight hours at the Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport released the youth unharmed and surrendered after being "led to believe he would be allowed out of the country," officials said.

The gunman, identified as Solah Abou-Kassem, snatched Michael Caruso, 10, of Sunrise, Fla., from his parents at a Delta Air Lines ticket counter Monday, then roamed Terminal 4-E with a .38-caliber pistol pointed "squarely at the boy," said airport spokesman Joe Dealey Jr.

Abou-Kassem, described by officials as "highly agitated," spoke intermittently with hostage negotiators, threatening to kill the child unless he was flown to Egypt. Abou-Kassem released Caruso and gave up at 11:39 CST, nearly eight hours after the ordeal began.

"There were promises made. He was led to believe he would be allowed out of the country," Dealey said. The spokesman added, however, "There was never any intention of allowing him to leave without due process of law."

Asked if authorities had made false promises to the gunman, Dealey said, "I prefer to call it successful negotiations."

Caruso was immediately reunited with his parents, Michael and Cindy Caruso, who were waiting about 100 feet away from where he was released.

"We thank the Holy Father for the safe return of our son," the family said in a statement. A Delta spokesman said the boy's father "asked that they receive no publicity, and we're going to honor that request."

Reagan Well After Surgery

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan, reported "in good shape" after surgery for a painfully enlarged prostate gland, prepared for a final test today to learn if there has been any recurrence of the colon cancer found in 1985.

The 75-year-old president was scheduled for a CAT scan, in which doctors use equipment to take detailed pictures of his abdomen and pelvis. It was the only remaining medical procedure following the surgery and a checkup that included a colonoscopy, a cystoscopy, a cardiovascular examination and chest X-rays.

Reagan also expected diagnostic results today from a biopsy, or removal of body tissue (in this case nearly one ounce), that was performed during his one-hour operation Monday at Bethesda Naval Hospital in suburban Washington.

7 Dead In Fire

CHICAGO (UPI) — A suspicious fire spread quickly through a four-story apartment building early today, killing seven people, injuring nine and sending others leaping from the windows, authorities said.

A resident reported hearing an argument just before discovering the fire, which investigators said apparently was fueled by a flammable liquid.

The extra-alarm blaze broke out in the brick four-story, 32-unit building about 2 a.m. and flames shot from the roof as dense smoke poured out the windows. The fire was brought under control about 3:30 a.m.

going around town that he (Myers) would be elected mayor and Dave Gunter would be deputy mayor," she said. "There is always a lot of talk about who is going to be mayor, everybody knows that, and it's always a matter of contention between the old and new commissioners."

She said it didn't occur to her that talking to Mr. Myers might be a violation of the Sunshine Law.

A member of the audience Monday said he had "grave concern" about Myers' statement. "If you feel very strongly about it," he told Myers, "it might be turned over to the state ethics committee." Commissioner Harvey Smeritson explained any item turned over to the ethics committee must be kept confidential before the investigation.

Myers was nominated for mayor by June Lormann, who was re-elected deputy mayor on a 3-2 vote. Gunter and Mrs. Dennis voted "no" both times. Gunter nominated Commissioner Harvey Smeritson for mayor and Mrs. Dennis nominated Gunter for mayor, as promised. Since Myers received the necessary three votes no vote was taken on the other two nominees.

Gunter nominated Mrs. Dennis for deputy mayor.

While the death toll stands at 15, railway workers laid new track to restore service today along the busy Northeast corridor between Philadelphia and Washington.

Amtrak officials said engineer Jerome Evans jumped from the locomotive of the ill-fated passenger train seconds before the crash, but was crushed to death.

"I don't think he stood a chance if he jumped or stayed in the cab — not at the speed he was going," Amtrak spokesman John Jacobson said Monday.

The NTSB is trying to find out why the trains collided despite multiple trackside and on-board warning signals and a fail-safe device designed to stop a train if it runs a stop signal or gets too close to another train.

Investigators tested the trackside signaling equipment Monday and began checking "event recorders" recovered from the Conrail engines that show speed, braking and throttle conditions on the locomotives. Nall said the recorders from the Amtrak engines had not yet been recovered.

Nall said "this occasion is the first that the recorders were in use in both trains" involved in an accident.

The Post reported its sources said the Conrail engineer's account could be checked out with the "event recorders."

The Conrail crew and a railway dispatcher responsible for the section of track where the accident occurred have been asked to take a routine blood test for drugs and alcohol.

John Riley of the Federal Railroad Administration, which administers such tests, said although no evidence of alcohol or drug use had been found as of Monday, the results of the blood tests had not been completed.

employees' rights under the testing program, she said. Various law reviews and employment periodicals were culled from to develop the proposals, she said.

The drug tests will be mandatory for all city job applicants and employees who are suspected substance abusers. The judgment criteria for employee testing is "reasonable suspicion" on the part of their supervisors, Mrs. Diedrich said.

The city has 343 employees, approximately 60 of whom are in supervisory positions. The supervisors will be meeting with PPC representatives next week for a briefing that will include information about spotting potential use of drugs and alcohol among employees.

Under the proposed drug policies, supervisors must have a good reason to refer an employee for mandatory testing, she said.

According to the policy proposals, conditions for "automatic testing" are impaired appearance or behavior, or possession and/or use of drugs or alcohol while on the job. These criteria are grounds for "automatic dismissal," the city's policy manual states.

In addition to drug and alcohol use detection, the supervisors' sessions with PPC next week will stress an "overall approach to wellness," Mrs. Diedrich said.

The discussions will include stress management and measures to quit smoking, although this does not mean plans are in the works to create a smoke-free environment at city hall, she said.

Deborah Sillaway, Mark E. Davis Exchange Vows

Deborah Ann Sillaway of Sanford and Mark Edward Davis of Orlando were married Dec. 20 at 2 p.m., at the First Baptist Church, Sanford. The Rev. Wade Singletary Jr. performed the traditional double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Sillaway, 105 Rambledwood Drive, Sanford. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Davis, Castleton, N.Y.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her vows a white satin gown with beaded trim on the long sleeves. The fitted bodice featured an off-the-shoulder neckline and the skirt gently cascaded into a sweeping chapel train. A beaded and white floral wreath held her fingertip veil of illusion. She carried a presentation bouquet of a dozen red roses.

Deborah Von Herbulis attended the bride as matron of honor. She wore an apple red satin gown, off-the-shoulder style, with slightly puffed sleeves. She carried a presentation bouquet of six white roses.

Lisa Sillaway, sister-in-law of the bride, attended the bride as bridesmaid. Her gown and flowers were identical to the honor attendant's.

John Bottenburg served the bridegroom as best man. Ushers were Vobby Von Herbulis, Jeremy Sillaway, brother of the bride, and Joseph Rosser, cousin of the bride.

Jeff Sillaway, brother of the bride, was groomsman.

Katie Paul was the flower girl and Robbie Fosallious was the ring bearer.

A reception was held at the church and at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Rosser for family and out-of-town guests. Assisting were Louise Austin, Deloris Pickens, Ed and Ruby Alderman, Glynna and Glenda Alderman, Bonnie Balliet, Sheri and Renee Rosser, Teresa Principale, Gall Rosser and Sharon Shaffer.

Following a wedding trip to New York State, the newlyweds are making their home at Saratoga Springs, N.Y. The bride is employed a travel consultant and the bridegroom is a naval officer.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Edward Davis

Only Prompt Payment Can Cure Doctor's Ailing Books

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: Six years ago, I clipped the enclosed column from my local newspaper. I have found it very relevant and I think that it needs to be rerun periodically. At times, I have enclosed copies of this column to patients who have been delinquent with their accounts, and while some have been understanding, others have drawn tremendous objection to receiving any kind of pressure to pay for services rendered.

Over the years, physician overhead has increased tremendously. My current overhead is close to $100,000 a year, and in addition, due to various circumstances, I render nearly $100,000 per year of free services or reductions in my fees. Nevertheless, I still have tremendous problems in getting patients to compensate me for my services, and I know that I am not alone, as nearly every physician has the same problem. Sign me ...

DEAR M.D.: I'm using your letter as a reminder to those who owe their physicians — and their dentists, too.

DEAR ABBY: My partner and I are expecting a baby in June. Since we are not a traditional married couple, it may not occur to our friends to give us a baby shower. Therefore, we are wondering if it would be acceptable for us to either ask a good friend to host it at our house (we would pay all expenses) or hers. Or would it be all right for us to host it ourselves?

EXPECTING IN OAKLAND

DEAR EXPECTING: It makes no difference whether the expectant parents are traditionally married or not. I see no acceptable way to ask for gifts or to host your own shower.

insurance company, it's customary for his office to phone the patient and request payment, whereupon the patient usually becomes highly indignant! This person would probably froth at the mouth should his paycheck be held up for one day! Yet, that's what the doctor's bill is — his paycheck.

It's unfair that the doctor is usually the last one to be paid, and sometimes he's not paid at all! Sign me ...

K mart Expands Banking Service

By Jan A. Zverina

DEARBORN, Mich. (UPI) — K mart Corp. and First Nationwide Bank, a unit of Ford Motor Co., Monday announced an expansion program that will place at least 150 additional banking centers in K mart stores nationwide this year.

The new branches will be at K mart stores in California, Florida, Missouri, New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania. First Nationwide will open about 100 of the branches, based upon the agreement with the world's second largest retailer.

The remainder will be opened by members of the First Nationwide Network, a 44-member group of locally owned and managed financial institutions.

Other states might be added in a "multi-year program" that could mean another 150 branches a year in 1988 and 1989, First Nationwide Chairman Anthony M. Frank said.

"Using K mart's facilities, we've been able to substantially reduce our costs and pass that savings along to customers," he said, adding that the agreement allows it to open branches at about half of what a stand-alone operation would cost.

Neither K mart nor First Nationwide would disclose the dollar amount of the agreement, but both said the investment is minimal.

Frank said the in-store branches, which offer all services except safe deposit boxes, will enable First Nationwide to offer interest rates of between 30 and 40 basis points higher than prevailing rates, depending on locality.

Other advantages of the in-store banks include a 60-hour-a-week operation and a home buying guide, which allows a customer to find out confidentially how much of a mortgage he or she could afford.

"This is what we call marketing to the masses," K mart Chairman Bernard M. Fauber said, adding that "it seems so incredible that people would walk into K mart and hand us large sums of money and say 'Here, take care of this for me.'"

"Most of our competition has said 'We're not going to service Middle America and we're going upscale,'" Frank said. "There are also some who only use automatic teller machines (ATMs)."

Fauber said that although no formal studies have been made, he thinks having in-store banks will lead to more dollars being spent at K mart. He said he views the expansion only as an added benefit to K mart shoppers and has "not given much thought" to K mart's competition with Sears' Financial Services, run by the No. 1 retailer Sears Roebuck and Co.

The expanded agreement is based on a 1984 pilot program which established First Nationwide branches at 10 K mart stores in the San Diego area. That was expanded last year, and First Nationwide currently operates 44 branches at K mart stores throughout California as well as five in Michigan and four in Kansas.

Recycled Paper Sales Growing

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Trees grow slowly, but a San Francisco company has found a way to fuel spectacular sales increases with recycled paper.

"A businesslike approach to protecting the environment pays off for everyone," says Alan Davis, president of Conservatree Paper Corp.

For Davis, and his vice president and partner, David Calef, peddling recycled paper brought the 10-year-old operation a 3,947 percent increase in sales from 1981 to 1985.

This propelled Conservatree, doing $10 million sales this year, to number 36 on INC. magazine's list of the 500 fastest-growing U.S. companies.

Davis got the idea for the company a decade ago when he was working for an environmental foundation and wanted to print an annual report on recycled paper. He could not find a supplier.

He discovered mills producing reused paper did not advertise it as such, possibly because of public notions that recycled is inferior, and many distributors did not know they were handling such products.

Davis said he saw a market for high-quality recycled paper and, with an investment of $50,000, Conservatree was born.

At first Davis, a lawyer by training, targeted non-profit environmental groups and corporations sensitive about their images.

In 1982, Calef, who worked in politics before joining Davis, developed a strategy of concentrating on governmental buyers.

Now the mainstays of the business are state governments with laws giving bidding preferences to recyclers. New York allows a 10 percent advantage and California 5 percent.

Half of the California government's paper output, including its tax returns, is recycled. For New York the figure is 80 percent, with Michigan and Oregon using about 20 percent recycled paper, Calef said.

Use of recycled paper for California tax forms alone saves 5,000 kilowatts of energy and eight million gallons of water a year and reduces solid waste by 660 tons. It also keeps 20,400 trees from being cut.

The price of recycled paper, once it melds into the volatile market, is approximately the same as "virgin" products. Reused paper is usually indistinguishable from the virgin kind unless it carries a notice that it is recycled.

Many paper companies carry recycled products along with their lines of conventional virgin paper, but Conservatree is the only business dealing exclusively in reused wares.

Jerry Ryles, president of Consolidated Fibres Inc., a San Francisco used paper broker and processor, says the nation recycles about 23 percent of the 50 million tons of annual national production that is reclaimable. Total paper production is 65 million tons a year.

Scottish Firm Takes Fling At U.S. Highlands

By Charles J. Cannon

DENVER (UPI) - Scotland's largest maker and retailer of fine woolen goods is testing U.S. waters in the highlands of Colorado.

David Stevenson, managing director of The Edinburgh Woollen Mill Ltd., said Denver is the "ideal location" for the company's first U.S. outlet, which opened late in 1986.

"The growing retail industry in Denver, the central location and the longer, cooler climate were ideal for test marketing our merchandise in America," he said.

Stevenson, a 1964 Olympic pole vaulter, said American consumers are no strangers to his company's products. Edinburgh specializes in 100 percent Scottish wool and cashmere sweaters, suits and accessories for women and men, as well as traditional woolen kilts in various tartans imported directly from the mill in Langholm, Dumfriesshire, Scotland.

"We have had a tremendous mail-order business from the United States for years, and it has been rapidly increasing," Stevenson said.

If the Denver test marketing is successful, Stevenson said The Edinburgh Woollen Mill will expand its direct retail sales operations throughout the United States. No definite date has been set, but the company's next retail outlets will be "in the New England area."

"We want to give our loyal American customers the opportunity to buy direct from our retail outlet in the States, as well as the choice of still ordering from our retail catalogue."

The Edinburgh Woollen Mill began in 1946 as the Langholm Dyeing and Finishing Co., which dyed wool on a contract basis. Stevenson opened the first retail branch in Edinburgh in 1970.

Since then, the company has expanded to 80 shops throughout Britain, with 1,500 employees and annual sales of $50 million, tops among that country's wool retailers.

Stevenson said the company oversees every aspect of its products from raw materials to the ultimate sale, including design, manufacture, transportation and distribution.

"By maintaining total control in this way, the mill has built up an unbeatable reputation with its customers in providing the finest quality goods at the lowest possible prices," he said.

General Development Buys Vistana Resort

MIAMI (UPI) — General Development Corp., a real estate firm that builds planned communities, Monday announced completion of its $33.75-million purchase of Vistana Resort, a time-share development near Orlando.

Officials said about 450 managers and staff will remain with the company under its new ownership.

Chairman David Brown and President Robert Ehrling said Vistana, with 314 two-bedroom villas and townhomes with 144 units under construction, will make the company "a major force in the timeshare business."

Vistana, near State Route 535 and Interstate 5 southwest of Orlando, had sales of $30.5 million in the year ended May 30.

General Development, based in Miami, has nine communities on 254,000 acres in Florida with about 190,000 residents. The company had profits of $16.3 million on sales of $286.9 million in the first nine months of 1986.

Birth Of A Galaxy Observed

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — Scientists believe that for the first time they have observed the birth of a galaxy that was creating stars 12 billion years ago, a discovery that would indicate the birth of the universe was more gradual than previously thought.

A team of scientists, led by Hyron Spinrad, professor of astronomy at the University of California, Berkeley, presented their preliminary findings Monday before the American Astronomical Society in Pasadena.

Using tools that have been available for only about two years, the scientists focused on a source of radio waves 12 billion light-years away. Since it has taken that long for the light to reach Earth, they are looking backward in time, watching the formation as it occurred when the universe was very young.

The apparent galaxy is so distant and faint that the light it emits would be equivalent to the light received on Earth from a 25-watt light bulb on the moon, the scientists said.

The scientists said their discovery suggests the birth of the universe was more gradual than previously thought because older galaxies have been discovered much farther out in space than the one observed, which is about three-quarters of the distance to the edge of the universe.

S. George Djorgovski, a member of the scientists' team and a research scientist at the Harvard-Smithsonian Center for Astrophysics, said it has long been thought that all galaxies were formed at about the same time during a span of about 200 million years — a relatively short time in astronomical terms.

If the radio source observed by the team and known as 3C 328.1 is a galaxy, "then galaxies continued to form over a couple of billion years," Djorgovski said.

The galaxy was producing stars at the rate of "a few thousand solar masses a year," meaning that several stars equivalent to the mass of the sun were being created every day, said Patrick McCarthy, an astronomy graduate student at Berkeley.

He described the rate as "extraordinarily high."

The Milky Way, which is the Earth's galaxy, produces only about one new star in an entire year.

"People have searched for decades" for a newly forming galaxy, McCarthy said at a news conference.

He said extremely sensitive electronic light detectors made the discovery possible.

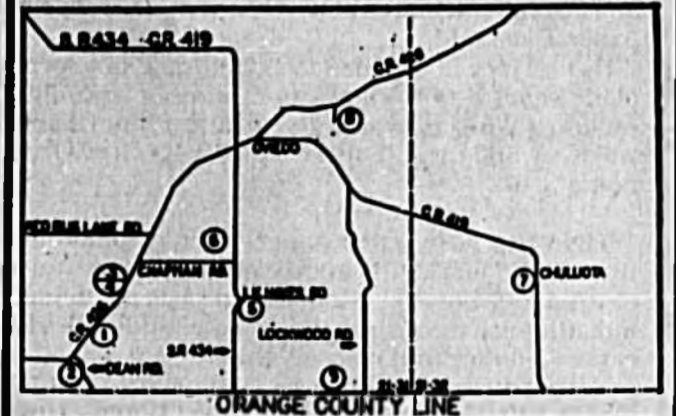

"We couldn't have done it two years ago," he said.

The scientists said the major constituent of the newly observed galaxy is a massive cloud of electrically charged hydrogen gas that radiates light 100 times brighter than the galaxy's stars — a fact that led scientists to conclude the galaxy had yet to form most of its stars.

The galaxy was destined to become three to five times bigger than the Milky Way, the scientists said.

Kids Need Blood Pressure Checks

CHICAGO (UPI) — All children over age 3 should have their blood pressure checked annually, and those with abnormally high readings should watch their diets and exercise regularly, government scientists say.

Even though hypertension does not typically pose a health risk until adulthood, the National Heart, Lung and Blood Institute in Bethesda, Md., made the recommendations because "hypertensive children tend to become hypertensive adults," Dr. Michael Horan said.

Charts containing the new information were published Monday in the journal Pediatrics.

Horan and his colleagues defined normal blood pressure using data from more than 70,000 white, black and Hispanic children in the United States and Great Britain.

Children's blood pressure is usually lower than adults' and naturally rises until a person reaches adulthood, Horan said. The median blood pressure for boys age 5 is 96 over 57; for 14-year-old boys it was 111 over 63. For girls, the readings were slightly lower.

The NHLBI Task Force on Blood Pressure Control in Children designated high blood pressure "somewhat arbitrarily" as readings above the 95 percentile for other children of the same age and sex, Horan said. He said true optimal blood pressure levels could not be established, since the risk of high blood pressure to children is not known.

"Unlike with adults, where you can peg blood pressure to cardiovascular risk, we don't have the data on children," Horan said in a telephone interview. "In the absence of risk data, we did what we felt was the next best thing."

The NHLBI's task force also emphasized doctors should treat pediatric high blood pressure primarily with diet and exercise and avoid drugs whenever possible.

"In the final analysis, a number of children will need drug treatment, but we want to keep that to an absolute minimum," Horan said.

Find Mild Alternatives To Strong Tranquilizer

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT - I'm an active, healthy, 70-year-old woman with a history of nervous tension. To manage this, I take 1 milligram of Stelazine twice a day. What is this drug? How does it affect a person?

DEAR READER - Stelazine is a major tranquilizer that is recommended for use only in patients with severe emotional problems. I advise you to discontinue this medication - under a doctor's supervision, of course - and to try other methods (such as therapy or counseling) to relieve nervous tension. The manufacturer of Stelazine cautions against using the drug for simple tension and anxiety.

If you need some medicine, a less powerful drug would be better to use. Stelazine can cause tardive dyskinesia, an unpleasant, irreversible neurological condition characterized by involuntary, repetitive movements of the face, trunk or extremities. Stelazine also can produce drowsiness, weakness, fatigue, loss of appetite, rash, restlessness and a neurological reaction that resembles Parkinson's disease.

DEAR DR. GOTT - I've been told I have a condition called neuroma. If I have surgery, will I lose any control of my foot? Is this surgery done in the office or in the hospital?

DEAR READER - Neuroma is a benign tumor that grows on nerve cells. It can occur anywhere in the body. If it interferes with normal functioning, it should be removed. The surgery can be done in either the office or the hospital; this depends on the location and size of the neuroma.

DEAR DR. GOTT - Three years ago I had thyroid surgery for Hashimoto's thyroiditis and Grave's disease. One month after surgery, I became pregnant after 10 1/2 years of a childless marriage. Two other women I know have had similar experiences. Would you comment?

DEAR READER - A woman's fertility depends on factors other than ovulation and the presence of sperm at the right time. Reproductive efficiency is controlled by other glands and hormones - the thyroid gland, for instance. Hashimoto's thyroiditis is a disease of the immune system that attacks the thyroid gland. With certain

WIN AT BRIDGE

James Jacoby
Sacrificing one trick to gain two is a dramatic play to remember. But a defender can battle to avoid taking that unwanted trick. In that situation the winner is usually the player who has the lowest spot-card in the key suit.

Declarer now exited with the heart seven. East won the nine of hearts and came to the right conclusion as to declarer's original distribution. South was known to have six spades and three hearts. Because West had discarded his lowest diamond on the second spade (showing an odd number of cards in that suit), East assumed declarer had only one diamond. So he cashed the diamond ace and played the club king. Declarer had to hope that was a singleton. He took the ace and played the king of spades. East threw the queen away, hoping he wouldn't be put on lead, but South now led his lowly two of spades. Hapless East had to win the three-spot and play a red card back to dummy. That let declarer shed his two club losers and make his contract.
