Uncle Sam's Picture

A modern version portrait of Uncle Sam as he looks today won first prize in a national art contest on the subject. The artist pictured the old gentleman as not so old as we sometimes see him. He is wearing a wide-striped, well-cut business suit, with a star-studded vest. Uncle is definitely a business man in the new picture. While this is one facet of his character, we wonder whether our energetic uncle didn't refuse to sit still long enough for the artist to note the rest of his appearance and personality.

In the first place Uncle Sam looks somewhat less tidy today than he usually does. He has been engaged in a little make-or-break wrestling match with a very tough opponent who knows all the dirty tricks of gouging, schatching and like midst of a very important job. biting. It is with sorrow that we announce that Mr. and Mrs. George Skinner were summoned to Cleveland a week ago last Saturday because of the illness of their daughter. On Mar. 18, Miss Georgianna Skinner died. She was a teacher in the schools of Cleveland, Ohio. At Christmas time she visited her parents here in DeBary and was apparently in the best of health. To Mr. and Mrs. Skinner we offer our condolences and neighborly sympathy. It was a double party on Saturday when William Langbehn attained the age of 75 and he and Mrs. Langbehn celebrated their thirtieth wedding anniversary. Eighteen people attended the party and seven more surprised them with another party on Sunday evening.

Speaking of birthdays, Joe Brenner will have one on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Manhardt were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ray E. Peck on Friday evening. They are spending a few weeks in DeBary.

The DeBary Civic Association held its regular business meeting on Friday evening at the Dickinson Memorial Library in Orange City. An American flag and the atandard to hold, it were presented to the association by Mr. and Mrs. Archie Rounds. There will be a card party called "Touring Florida", planed and run by Jules Voigt, on Mar. 28. All revenue will go to the building fund for the DeBary Civic Center. It was also announced that on Apr. 11, there will be a talent scout program. Have you discovered any talent that should be given an audition on that evening? If you know of anyone, consult Kay Menninger for an appointment with Axel Gadfly who will be glad to give them a hearing. Save the evening of Apr. 11 and join us for some fun.

On Thursday evening at $100 o'clock there will be a special meeting of the De Bary Democratic Club at the Joseph Christberger garage. The guest speaker will be the Hon. James Bweeney, state representative. Everybody is wecome.
