Communist Labor Leaders Call General Strike Of Italians

LONDON, Nov. 30.—The anti-Communist free world labor conference today in London invited 1,500,000 West European Catholic Union workers to join the new international. The vote, 48-8, came only one day after the Communist ordered a world campaign to call the Catholic workers on the side of the Communists.

By ASSOCIATED PRESS Prague municipal ruling council announced today that no new labor would be allowed to private enterprise.

It also decreed that workers now engaged in heavy industries and mining are to be virtually frozen in their jobs. The measures, published in the newspaper, Mlada Fronta, had two apparent motives:

1. To supply needed manpower and increase production in essential industries.

2. To hasten the liquidation of remaining private enterprise, the remnants of capitalism.

The council also ordered that manpower be shifted from administrative and other white collar jobs to the mines, factories, agriculture and forestry.

The Prague Central National Committee said that no worker now engaged in mining or the steel, heavy machinery, automobile and airplane industries might henceforth quit his job, even with the approval of his factory director.

Meanwhile in Rome, Communist labor union leaders called on 8,000,000 Italian workers to go out on a 24-hour general strike tomorrow in angry protest against the slaying of two peasants in a clash with police.

The executive committee of the Communist-led General Confederation of Labor (CGIL) ordered the strike to begin at 8 A.M. Thursday.

Interior Minister Martin Scelzo, two-faced chief of Italy's riot-trained police, said the government will not accept a general strike. The anti-Communist Free Labor Confederation (FLC) said its 1,000,000 members not to support the walkout.

Communist union leaders called the demonstration to protest against the police clash with peasants "quarrels" trying to take over farmland near Bari yesterday. A government communiqué said the pair were killed when police "involuntarily fired a volley from a sub-machinegun" at an angry mob.

In Hong Kong, it was reported Communist troops had entered Chungking, the Chinese capital, as Nationalist warships and planes went into action against Red coastal positions 100 miles south of Shanghai.

A dispatch from Chungking to a Chinese newspaper here said 30,000 Red troops crossed the Yangtze at 1 A.M. Tuesday, local time, and entered the outskirts of the third Nationalist capital brought under Communist guns this year. A second Red force occupied Kiangshien, three miles west of Chungking across the confluence of the Yangtze and Kiang River.

Nationalist navy headquarters said planes and warships had been pounding Red troop and shipping concentrations south of Shanghai for three days. The air-sea attack is an effort to forestall an expected invasion of the Chusan Islands, off Hangchow. The planes, the Navy said, attacked by day and destroyers swept the Communist areas at night.

These developments came as growing dissatisfaction with the Reds was reported North China where the Communists have ruled for a year.

Sofia, Bulgaria, former Communist Vice-Premier Traicho Kostov and 10 others were indicted by Bulgaria's Communist-dominated government on charges of treason, spying and economic sabotage.

They were accused of having worked with Yugoslav agents and American and British intelligence services.

Kostov's trial on such charges has been expected. Similar trials in other countries in the Balkans where have been named as "traitors" in support of Premier Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia.

Hungary Premier Imre Nagy, former Communist foreign minister, László Rajk, convicted Communist charges.

cluding: 1. The British government has promised to keep the United States informed of developments on possible recognition of the Chinese Communist regime but has not said that it has any plans for recognition. Acheson said he therefore supposes there is no plan in existence.

2. Most of the 30 nations which the United States asked to protest to the Communists against their detention of Ward are taking that action. Acheson made clear that even though Ward is no longer in jail the United States still hopes the protests will be made.

3. Acheson ruled out any steps by this government on the question of possibly recognizing the new government of President Aruffo Ariza in Panama until the situation has been clarified. He called the recent government upsets in Panama a "deplorable disruption" of democratic procedure.

4. Negotiations with eight Atlantic alliance countries in Western Europe for agreements under which they will receive $1,000,000 worth of American arms and military aid are in the "final stages." Arrangements for sending arms to Europe "will likely be expedited" as a result of plans for the integrated defense of the North Atlantic area now being worked out at Paris.

5. The United States will "abide faithfully" by a recommendation which the United Nations general assembly adopted Nov. 18 calling for the member nations to embargo arms shipments to Albania and Bulgaria because of their aid to Greek Communist guerrillas.

The American position on the Chinese Nationalist blockade of Communist-held Shanghai was discussed by Acheson in a carefully worded statement. Later he supplemented the statement somewhat in response to questions.

He said the jet plane in its present stage of development shows little likelihood of replacing current type planes because it is unable to operate with greater economy than present planes.

He added that the jet transport is more important in its promise for tomorrow than in its contribution it can make today.

W. A. Patterson, president of United Air Lines, told the group that "at long last, the airlines (to say) are able to talk about the year-round dependability of their operations. It's a big day in the fast-moving business of airlines to make long-range predictions—but I am sure that the gentlemen at this table will agree with me when I say that all-weather flying is not too far away."

Ralph R. Damon, president of TWA, said 1950 will see the greatest trans-Atlantic airlift in the history of the world.

He said the holy year, currency devaluation and the welcome awaiting Americans overseas will combine to set travel records. G. R. Woolman, president of Delta Air Lines, predicted the effect of air travel on business. He said that during the last 18 months, U. S. airline passengers saved 180,000,000 in the fastest surface travel. Timmie he said, aviation has changed the business map, permitting one-day "brief" trips to and from cities hundreds of miles away.

"I don't know where I am, I feel terrible. I have a terrible headache," the youth moaned over the phone.

De Blasy spoke to him next, but young Angle refused to say where he was. He said he had slept during the night in a certain field.

Finally, Mrs. Angle, his mother, persuaded him to divulge his location. He was at a drugstore in South Division Road outside the city limits.

De Blasy notified police headquarters and then dashed to the car and sped south. But Angle shot himself seconds before his arrival.

Ralph Jordon Of Georgia To Fill Line Coach Spot

ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Ralph (Sug) Jordan, former Auburn football and basketball star, and until last night Georgia basketball coach, has been moved up as line coach to replace J. B. (Kara) Whitworth.

Whitworth accepted an appointment last night as the new head football coach at Oklahoma A. and M.

The University of Georgia's head football coach and athletic director, Wallace Butts, named Jordan last night as he outlined several changes in the coaching set-up at Georgia.

Butts said that Quinton Lumpkin would either remain as freshman coach or move into Jordan's old football spot as assistant line coach.

Jordan would have to give up his basketball coaching job, Butts said.

To fill Jordan's basketball coaching job, Butts added, he would probably hire someone to double as both basketball and baseball coach. At least one more addition to the coaching staff will also have to be made since no one has been hired at Georgia since Jimmy Lampe went to Dartmouth for the basketball case and J. Sikke departed for Kansas as football coach.

Charlie Trippi has acted as baseball coach for the past two seasons.

Butts also said that Jordan's elevation would make it necessary to get a capable scout. He claimed Jordan was "one of the best" but that his new job would keep him with the team.

Butts praised Jordan as long deserving the promotion and as one of his "finest assistants since coming to Athens."

Jordan coached at Auburn before World War II and after the war he was for a time with the professional Miami Seabawks. He came to Athens in October, 1946.

Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Today I am turning this space over to Bob Eunson, just returned from the AP Paris Bureau. He has an unusual tale to tell:

Coming home after seven years overseas for the Associated Press, I received my biggest shock in finding my 15-year-old niece a glamorous full-grown movie star.

The last time I saw Joan, she was climbing trees in my brother's backyard at Scarborough. She was around little brown-eyed girl of eight whose greatest delight was being washed in a swing.

The big change has come in the last year, says my brother, Dale Eunson. The family name was swapped for Joan's grandmother's maiden name of Evans. "This reads the same initials and rhythm," Joan's mother points out.

Joan Eunson's hair was dark and thick. Joan Evans' hair is reddish and at present cut very short and Parisienne.

"This new fringe of red has highlights for the camera," her hair dresser at Samuel Goldwyn studio explained. "It's done by order by Mr. Goldwyn himself—to make Joan look older."

This recalls my first conversation with Goldwyn. Introduced to the great producer as recently returned from Paris, I expected questions dealing with DeLiaise, Communism or at least the Marshal Plan. Goldwyn fooled me.

"I've had you (thin) close cut hairdo." That was all he wanted to know from me.

By sticking in pears, cottage cheese, lettuce leaves and tea, Joan has lost her baby fat and become beautifully slim. Her mother believes Joan's personality has changed, too.

"She was always high-tempered, bossy and opinionated," says her mother, Katherine Albert. "She learned that aging costs money on a set, so she keeps her opinions to herself and listens to the director."

During the first year Joan also received her first kiss from Erley Granger in "Roseanna McCoy."

Was honored when a McCoy family in Los Angeles named a daughter Joan Roseanna.

Was voted Miss Hayride of 1949 by Phi Alpha Fraternity and "The Girl We'd Most Like to Have Visit Us On A Football Weekend" by Alumni Hall at Notre Dame.

Had her lips named among "The Most Kissable in Hollywood" by a makeup man.

Traveled 8,500 miles for personal appearance in 1948.

Answered by five radio shows and four magazine covers.

Was the subject of 33 magazine articles and receives 500 fan letters a week.

You'd think that a 15-year-old girl would react on such publicity—but Joan, she is not only a professional, she is a socialite. Her mother's name, Mrs. Eunson, is a name that has been in that line.

A POLIO PATIENT confined to an iron lung for the past year, Mrs. Phyllis Potmsell brings unbowed joy to her husband, Robert, and their two sons, Mickey (left) and Bobby, as she returns to her home in Oakland, Calif., for a brief visit with the family. (International Soundphoto)

Alex Groza Boosts Cage Scoring To 24 Points A Game

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(AP)—The National Basketball Association today offered two interesting features:

1. Alex Groza's ability to score points.

2. Denver's inability to win games.

Groza, center of the Indianapolis Olympians in the pro circuit, had been figured to retain little of his 20.8 scoring average attained last season at Kentucky, which placed him sixth among the nation's leading college scorers.

But the six-foot seven-inch center, huffed the skeptic.

Today he ranks first in the 17-team league in scoring with 33.3 points. That's 71 points better than Minneapolis' George Mikan, who is second with 31.2.

Furthermore, his average has jumped to 24 points per game. Last night, Groza led the Olympians to a 92 to 76 victory over the Tri-City Black Hawks, snatching the basket for 28 points at Indianapolis.

The triumph gave Indianapolis an even split in 16 NBA games this season and left it three games behind the western division pacemaker, Anderson.

The Nuggets' plight is pathetic. They've dropped 16 games in 17 starts, including their first 15 in succession.

They possess only 50 percentage points in the standings and are a hopeless 10½ games behind Anderson.

Philadelphia smashed Denver's winning streak last night, edging the Nuggets, 57 to 56. Leo Mogus' free toss with 30 arms aid to Europe have cost during the past year, he declared, as pointed out that military expenditures for the year have amounted to more than 15 billion dollars.

"I do not think we will have war," he asserted, and added that what concerned him the most was loss of foreign trade of this country.

He revealed that he would announce his candidacy for re-election next February.

Turning to state and local issues, he pointed out that Florida's only have to contribute 15 cents on every dollar in the $208,000,000 flood control project in 1950. The government of the United States has been Florida's friend, he declared.

Referring to recent channel improvements in the St. Johns River, he said that he had also been advocating a channel to the Indian River. Defending the cost of the Florida flood control program, he pointed out that floods during a two year period cost growers and cattle raisers of Florida more than $200,000,000.

Speaking of "prosperity week" and the growth of Florida since 1940, he pointed out a population gain of 31.4 percent during that period, as compared with the national average of 12.9 per cent.

Bank deposits in nine years have risen to Florida from $454,400,000 to $1,853,876,000, he stated, and income received by Florida residents from all sources had risen from $819,000 to $2,762,400,000.

Per capita income received by Floridians from all sources rose from $48 to $1,137, he stated.

Reds Swamped In U.N. Vote On Plan For Peace

53 Nations Vote For Western Power Declaration Against 5 In Soviet Bloc

PARIS, Dec. 1.—(AP)—The 12 Atlantic Pact nations reached unanimous agreement tonight on a plan to defend themselves against any possible aggression by Russia. A five-hour session resulted in an agreement that top military planners of the western world will meet in London to "internationalize peace and security." Immediately after the session U.S. Defense Secretary Louis Johnson left by air for Washington to take the plan to President Truman.

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—(AP)—The United Nations Assembly swamped Soviet opposition today and adopted a 12-point western power declaration laying down essentials for world peace.

The vote followed a shouted Russian denial that the Soviet Union is interfering with the affairs of Yugoslavia.

One point in the assembly declaration calls on all nations to refrain from any intervention in the affairs of other countries.

The United States-British proposal was adopted by a vote of 53 to 5. The negative votes were cast by the Soviet bloc. Yugoslavia abstained.

Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky told the assembly Yugoslavia's charges of Soviet interference are "nonsense."

The Soviet foreign minister obviously was angered by a Yugoslav declaration here yesterday defying the new Communist front against Premier Marshal Tito.

Yugoslav Ambassador Ivan Kossanovic, the "Tito" representative, said his country was a "neutral" island.

Vishinsky vigorously denied Kossanovic's charges that Russia professed desire for peace were not matched by Russia's deeds.

"Between the words and deeds of the Soviet union there never has been a discrepancy," he said.

Anderson Reveals Vegetable Waste Due To Packaging

Kiwanians yesterday at the Yacht Club were treated to a "vegetable waste" in the form of a report by Handy Anderson, manager of the Sanford State Farmers Market, Edward Higgins, manager of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, and a post-meeting talk by Senator Claude Pepper for those who cared to remain. Only half the membership stayed.

Mr. Anderson revealed that during the 87 years he had been working in the agricultural field in Sanford he had served as an inspector, collector, field supervisor and packing house manager of fruits and vegetables sent from Sanford to New York State.

"I am not a grower. However, I believe I am in a position to appreciate the problems a farmer has to contend with, such as high cost of labor, weather conditions, insects and diseases, and worst of all, low returns," he declared.

"It is regrettable," he said, "that from December, 1918 through May, 1919, I issued 80 dump tickets on suitable produce brought to the market for sale. This amounted to $1,188 in produce, equivalent to six carloads. The grower not only lost his hard work, fertilizer and seed, but in a good many cases, his containers.

A poor quality pack of fruits or vegetables, in my estimation, about the most useless thing a farmer can place before the eyes of the vegetable buying trade." He went on to stress the value of good quality and attractive pack of produce to attract buyers.

Mr. Higgins, summing up Chamber of Commerce projects, stressed the opening of the St. Johns River channel to 18 (Continued on Page Six)

Central Buying Office For State Ordered Closed

Agency To Save Money Is Abolished After Ten Months Trial

TALLAHASSEE, Dec. 1.—(AP)—The central purchasing office Governor Warren set up as a money-saving move last January went out of business quietly last night after a 10-month trial run.

Dan D'Alamberte, who served as director in addition to his regular duties as purchasing agent for State institutions, said the office closed on orders of Frank Wright, assistant to Governor Warren.

Wright declined to comment on reasons for the shut down. The Governor is out of the state.

The office was created by Warren last Jan. 10 and all boards and agencies directly under the supervision of the Governor were ordered to purchase office supplies and automobiles and trucks through the central office.

D'Alamberte said approximately $150,000 worth of purchases were made through the office during the 10-month period. He estimated in January that purchases of all the agencies covered by the Governor's order would amount to about $4,000,000 a year.

He said he was unable to estimate the savings made on the purchases that were made through his office.

Mr. D'Alamberte said Auditor Bryan Willis reported a savings of 18.36 percent on purchases made from Feb. 14 to March 21. In addition to D'Alamberte, the office had a full time secretary and a part-time assistant at a total salary of $3000 a month. The salaries were paid by the Workmen's Compensation Division of the Industrial Commission.

D'Alamberte received no additional salary for his extra duties. He has been purchasing agent for the State institutions under the Cabinet for several years. His regular salary is $2800 a month.

D'Alamberte said he did not know whether he would continue to make purchases for the various boards through his regular office. He will, however, continue his purchases—which total about $4,000,000 annually—for State institutions.

Purchases made through the office were about equally divided between office supplies and automobiles and trucks. D'Alamberte said he was not sure.

May's Appeal On Jail Term Is Rejected

Former Representative Must Begin Serving 8-24 Month Sentence Saturday

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Former Rep. Andrew J. May (D-Ky) today was ordered to start serving on Saturday an 8 to 24 month jail sentence for wartime bribery and conspiracy.

Federal Judge Henry A. Schweinhart turned down May's appeal for a reduction of the term.

May was not in the courtroom to hear the decision. The judge directed that he turn himself over to the Marshall of the eastern district of Kentucky Saturday. May was at his home in Prestonsburg, Ky.

Henry A. Garson and Murray Garson, heads of a $75,000,000 wartime munitions empire from which May was convicted of accepting bribes, also were ordered to jail. In their cases the order was effective immediately.

May and the Garson brothers were convicted in July, 1917, and received identical sentences in connection with $50,000 in bribes. May was accused of using his influence as chairman of the War Relocation Administration to get the brothers war contracts. Judge Schweinhart said that because of May's physical condition he would recommend that they serve their sentences at Ashland, Ky., penitentiary which is near his home.

May based his appeal for a reduction in sentence on his failing health (he is now 74), poverty, and the fact that a jail term would raise against him in future public activity or practice as a lawyer.

Lawyers for the Garson brothers pleaded that they had lost practically all their money, and that they had some valuable war work.

Father Of Five Is Given Death As Rape-Slayer

Celery Farm Worker To Die In Chair On 27th Of March

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Dec. 1.—(AP) Franko Chick, 25-year-old father of five children, was sentenced to death in the electric chair for the rape-slaying of Phyllis Connor, 17-year-old high school girl.

An Allen county grand jury returned a first degree murder verdict at 1:42 A. M. after considering the case all night. Judge William Schenck was sworn from bed and he came down and immediately sentenced the celery farm worker in the next Mar. 27 in the Michigan City, Ind., state prison.

Chick's wife was in the courtroom. Chick smiled and seemed relieved. He drank a cup of coffee in his cell and went to sleep immediately.

Chick also is under indictment in two other sex murders, that of Miss Anna Kuffetz and Miss Wilhelma Hauge, and had already been sentenced to life imprisonment in the kidnaping of a 19-year-old Fort Wayne housewife.

The state said Chick admitted slaying Miss Connor.

The killings of Miss Kuffetz and Miss Hauge have been alternately confessed and denied by Ralph Lohmuth, former Kokomo, Ind., factory worker who now is under death sentence for still another Fort Wayne sex slaying, that of Mrs. Dorothy Howard.

Still another man, Robert Clinton of Fort Wayne, is serving a life sentence in Mrs. Howard's slaying. A jury convicted him of murder. Both he and Lohmuth have appeals pending. Lohmuth has been granted seven stays of execution while officials try to clear up the tangled cases.

"She thought there were too many women in church choirs," De Franco told the court.

Huge Throng Turns Out To See City's Biggest Christmas Parade

More than 3000 happy children literally took over Sanford yesterday afternoon to greet Santa Claus, and to gaze with the help of the Jaycees the biggest and most beautiful parade ever held here in the Christmas season, a parade that was viewed by an estimated crowd of more than 8,000 people.

All along the First Street route, the crowd overflowed the sidewalks, ran on the pavement, and left a narrow lane just wide enough for the floats and marching boys and girls, and girls, ever seen here but due to the fact that they had not been decorated locally, no prizes were given for them.

Santa Claus, peeping out of the chimney in the little house on his float, got a rousing reception, and when he got off the float led by the Jaycees to give away 2,000 hours and bags of candy on the lawn back of the Tourist Center, he was literally swamped in a sea of eager children, many of whom held their toy balloons deftly away in the excitement.

In the miles, the Jaycees led a log problem keeping things in check. He drank a cup of coffee in his cell and went to sleep immediately.

Prizes for decorated bicycles were awarded to Harold Ann Kanner, Robert Borsdorf and Gene Nichols. Prizes for decorated vehicles were awarded to Glenn Allen and Lester Jones, but a third prize winner could not be located in the morning.

Winners in the 10 to 13 year old group were: Colleen Egbertson and Barbara Lowe as Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus; Joan Knapp, Hawaiian dancer and Milton Mao King, Huckleberry Finn.

Prizes were awarded to the Junior High School for their float.

Bill Green Urges World Labor To Fight Communism

AFL Leader Demands Fighting Organization Of 50,000,000

LONDON, Dec. 1.—(AP) President of the American Federation of Labor, called today for a fighting anti-Communist campaign by the proposed new Free World Labor Confederation.

"We must have a strong militant fighting international," he told the 250 delegates at a conference called to form a new anti-Communist confederation of 30,000,000 workers.

"Communists have chosen to fight our democratic trade unions. That is one of the reasons why we must carry the fight to them."

Green said the new international must work for "economic democracy."

That meant to him, he said, "free control of the right of labor to free choice of employment, the right to strike, the right of collective bargaining, higher wages, increased opportunity for education and better housing for workers."

"There is no economic freedom in the United States," Green said. "Every step toward a sustained high level of economic activity, an economy which can afford a minimum wage of one dollar an hour, the AFL said."

Green, an anti-Communist, said "The laborers of the world are the workers' paradise in a world of workers' paradise." He said the delegates here represent 10 countries.

Martin Bullock of the Netherlands, a spokesman for the International Trade Secretariats, pleaded with the Secretariats to cooperate with the new international.

Seven hours after the strike started at 6 A. M. its effects were scarcely felt. It was much more of a failure than a similar one-day general strike in France last Friday, and the second flop in a month for the Communist-led general Confederation of Labor (CGI).

Even the Communists had little claim to success. A spokesman for the CGI admitted that transportation was nearly normal in most cities.

Observers in Rome said the Communist weakness here could be traced to growing strength of the government-backed anti-Communist labor unions, now claiming 2,000,000 members.

Selecting prize winners among the decorated kiddies about presented an even harder problem than selecting winners among the decorated vehicles, but the judges, City Manager C. E. McKibbin, Mrs. Sam Mero Williams and Mrs. Mildred Babcock finally were able to make awards to the following:

Winners in the 10 to 13 year old group were: Colleen Egbertson and Barbara Lowe as Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus; Joan Knapp, Hawaiian dancer and Milton Mao King, Huckleberry Finn.

Prizes were awarded to the Junior High School for their float.

FRONT LIGHT AND TOMORROW MORNING for a good portion of peninsula Florida was forecast today by the Federal-State Frost Warning Service.

The forecast: "Clear skies and slightly colder, light northerly winds with long intervals of calm over north and central districts where temperatures on high ground will be about eight degrees warmer than temperatures on low ground locations and lowest temperatures in the colder low ground locations occurring about 7:00 Friday morning."

"Twenty-nine to 33 degrees with scattered frost in Gainesville and north portion of upper East Coast district; 31 to 35 degrees with scattered frost in the coldest pockets in south portion of Brooksville district and in Ridge and Hartwood districts; 30 to 40 degrees in west coast and Indian River districts; 38 to 42 degrees in Everglades district; and 42 degrees and higher lower East Coast district."

"Friday: Fair and slightly warmer. "Outlook: Slightly warmer and no frost danger Saturday morning. Some indications of colder weather with temperatures near the danger point for tender truck in northern districts by Sunday morning."

ELKS MEETING William W. McCall, vice president of the Florida State Elks Association and sheriff of Lake county, will visit the Sanford Lodge of Elks tonight, according to James Lodge, exalted ruler.

The program will include a candle light initiation ceremony. Plans will be made for the Elks annual Christmas party for underprivileged children.

 TODAY'S BIBLE VERSE
 There is nothing in this world as utterly simple as God's way of life as revealed by Jesus of Nazareth. It was called the Way and many have made it a path. Teach me thy way, O Jehovah, and lead me in a plain path.—Psa. 27:11.

The United States is planning a new series of atomic bomb tests in the Marshall Islands, bigger than the last ones and better. A reserved seat at the show should be provided for Messrs. Molotov, Stalin and Vishinsky.

For the first time since 1934 when he ran against Park Trammell and got defeated, Claude Pepper visited our office yesterday, in spite of the fact that we have supported him in every election except one. He shook hands graciously with everyone in the front office and then went back to the mechanical department where he was usually as solicitous. Before he left, he asked our support in next year's campaign, as if he suspected someone were going to announce against him, and as if it would be a tough fight and he would need every vote he could get. We have the feeling that the Senator is really out beating the bushes when he comes to our office after 15 years.

The labor government in New Zealand, first of such governments throughout the world to inaugurate a socialistic program, has finally been thrown out of office by the people, fed up with growing taxation and infinite government controls. It is unfortunate that such governments are often referred to as labor governments, as in England, for they are not truly labor governments at all, but rather socialist governments. As in France where the Radical Socialist Party is in reality, conservative in nature, it is sometimes customary in politics to adopt names which tend to deceive the public. Just as in this country, too, the "Fair Deal Party" is sometimes known as the Democratic Party.

Your government is not broke, and is not going broke," Senator Pepper told the Kiwanis Club after his meeting at the Yacht Club yesterday. We hope he is right, but with one or two minor exceptions, it has been nearly 20 years since the federal government has been able to live within its means. It has had to borrow money every year, whether in peace or war, to meet ordinary expenses, a practice which has increased its bonded obligations from $1 billion to 250 billion. That is not broke, of course, but it does mean that it is on the way to a high time to call a halt to appropriations, which unbalance the budget and cause our indebtedness. Senator Collins knows his. Why he persists in trying to mislead the people is hard to understand.

War in the Philippines, gun battles between Panama police and the army, similar strife in many parts of the world, frequent turning out of election differences and difficulties, raise the question of whether some nations should for democracy. It takes a certain amount of intelligence as well as some tolerance and understanding for the opinions of others to conduct an election. It is going to start a riot every time the office says "No" if you don't like, or if you don't want to come to a bloody election every time someone is against them. The United States is making a mistake in trying to force democracy on other nations.

Verdict On Mothers

Many prominent women who have successfully combined motherhood with other careers have risen to the defense of the American mother who is quietly doing a good job while the limelight is occupied by spectacular examples of failures in parenthood.

Dr. Lester Warren Sontag of Antioch College precipitated the dispute when he said that in his opinion American women made poor mothers. His statement was supported to some extent by Ferdinand Lundberg, co-author of "Modern Woman: The Lost Sex," who, however, qualified his statement by saying that about a third of American mothers are falling down on their jobs. The resulting publicity, said Lundberg, obscured the fact that the larger proportion of women in this country are performing satisfactorily. Both agreed that modern conflicting theories about child-raising cause confusion and conflict in the minds of conscientious women.

It is only the woman who is exceptional, emotionally and intellectually, who has the flexibility to adapt herself to two diametrically opposed careers, but that such women exist is an obvious fact. They form a thin top layer of the two-thirds of American mothers who are successful in their chosen role of wifehood and motherhood, devoting to it all of their time and energy. The mothers who make the headlines as failures seldom do so because of any constructive outside interest, but usually as a result of mental or emotional imbalance, or plain lack of training either in housewifery or self-control.

Saar Leans To France

One gain that the French expect to get out of the war is the Saar. Both the French and the Saarlanders appear to have profited by their experiences after World War I. Then the French, anxious to get the Saar coal, would have liked to annex the district; but the English and Americans, afraid of creating another discontented subject race, refused to turn the Saar Germans over to French rule.

Instead the area was put under the League of Nations with a popular vote scheduled 13 years later to decide whether the Saarlanders wished to be independent, continue under French government or return to Germany. Meanwhile, the French got the Saar coal, to pay for the loss of their own mines, ruined by the Germans during the war.

The popular vote came in 1935. Although the Nazis had been ruling Germany for two years, the Saarlanders decided that this was just what they wanted, and voted to join the Reich. Nazi excesses and the damage the area suffered in the war made the union with Germany less attractive. In 1947 they voted for economic union with France, and since 1948 have had local self rule under French supervision.

Now the word is that the Saar is reasonably content, and that the present arrangement may go on indefinitely. In any case, France has made a lasting gain, and Germany has suffered a serious loss. Will Germans learn from this?

Income And Spending

In reporting the rates of income and spending for the third quarter of this year, the Federal Reserve Board observed that a continued high level of consumer income and willingness to spend it have helped to cushion the effects of the small recession which occurred in the first part of the year.

The willingness to spend income is a factor which seems to be overlooked in a great deal of the debate about how high income should be. Most people who want more income do not want it for hoarding but for spending. When personal incomes are increased, the general dollar level of the economy is raised. This general willingness to spend income also means that a rise in dollar income does not mean much unless there is a corresponding rise in productive output. It is of small help to have fatter pay envelopes unless there are more goods available.

The Federal Reserve Board report also pointed out that people now are spending a larger portion of their net incomes than previously. This means that the relation is closer than before between the level of income and the level of business, and between the real value of wages and the amount of production they represent. These are useful points to keep in mind.

Chief Of Army Reveals Atom Use In Infantry Tactics

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 — (AP) — General J. Lawton Collins, Army Chief of Staff, said today that "serious study is being given to applying the atomic bomb to infantry tactics."

His comment, given in answer to a news conference question, represented a departure from earlier military thinking.

In the first years after the war, military men felt that the mass destruction characteristic of the weapon meant it would be useful only for strategic attack on cities. It would be too powerful for use against troops in the field.

Collins, replying to other questions at the conference, also said: "The Army is buying out of current funds new models of 29-ton light tanks, building a sample of a medium 35-ton tank, and is studying plans — but has no prototype model yet — for a heavy tank, or more than 50 tons. It is also purchasing many new high-teaching anti-aircraft guns, the "Skyweeper."

 2. The Joint Chiefs of Staff have agreed on a plan for defense of Alaska which will be carried out as soon as housing for troops can be completed. It is "not a grandiose plan, but a modest plan."
 3. Collins knows of no plan to rearm Japan or build up a Japanese army.
 4. The individual commanders of each of the six armies in the United States now have authority to take immediate action in their own areas if an attack should occur, without waiting to ask permission from the Pentagon.

DOCTOR IS IN—AGAIN!

SANTA AND THE MAGICIAN
 By LUCRETIA HUGHINS

Chapter 1
 Once upon a time there was a man named Mr. Dilly. He was a magician. All his life he had loved magic and had never wanted to do anything except a magician. He started practicing magic at a very early age. When he was five years old, in fact, he used to hide his carrots and string beans under the potato skin on his dinner plate and say, "Look, mother, vegetables disappeared!"

When he was in school he had scarcely any time to spend on geography or history because he was always studying magic. He knew a hundred tricks. He made the teacher's book leap out of her hands; he caused her chair to croak when she sat down; he gave her a glass of water that turned to ink.

One day he said, "Give me your old hat and I will change it into a new hat." The teacher gave him her hat and he about it up in a hat box and shook it and mumbled over it. But he hadn't studied that trick very carefully because when he opened the box there was no new hat or old hat either. Her ever did find either hat. The teacher was mad and would not let him come to school any more.

He didn't care. He just went on studying magic. When he grew up he called himself Mr. Dilly the Magician and travelled all over the country putting on magic shows.

Unfortunately, he was never a great success. This is why: he was never able to pull a rabbit out of his hat.

Everywhere he went he put on a show he was laughed at and sometimes even chased out of town when his audience found he could not produce a rabbit. Because what good is a magician if he can't do this trick that almost any old magician can do?

One Christmas day he came to a certain town and put on a special Christmas Magic show. Quite a lot of people came to his tent to see him. He did his very best tricks.

First he took a piece of rope that looked like any clothesline. He waved his wand and threw one end of the rope in the air. Strangely, the rope stood stiff, like a stick, one end on the floor and the other end seeming to go right through the top of the tent. Then Mr. Dilly did his smoke

4-H Club Hereford Cops First Prize In Livestock Show

CHICAGO, Dec. 1 — (AP) — A bunch of Texas kids can boast to be that they've raised the finest beef animal in the world, the grand champion steer of the 50th Annual International Livestock Show.

Their dust red, white faced Hereford, weighing 1,250 pounds, won the purple ribbon yesterday. The kids are the 4-H boys and several girls of the Pecos County 4-H Club.

The name of the great animal is Judge Roy Bean. Judge Bean—the original, a man—is the almost legendary figure of Texas frontier days who was the law "west of the Pecos."

The China Farms of Church Hill, Md., owned by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sears, showed the reserve, or second place steer, also a Hereford, China 906th.

The two winning animals beat out 100 of the best that cattlemen can raise.

The youngsters from Texas are no newcomers to the oval showing at the International Amphitheater. Last year their Texas, a Hereford, was reserve grand champion.

Dr. A. D. Weber, of Kansas State College, Manhattan, chief judge of the show, selected the two winning animals.

Weber backs up any Texas talk about the fine cattle: "I doubt," said Weber, "whether there have ever been any finer steers shown anywhere."

"Every year, of course, the animals shown here are top animals. But this year, it seemed to me, that the quality of the show extended deep into every class. There were more good animals farther down the line than ever before."

Weber is the only American judge to select the top show animal. This is his second year as chief steer judge.

"Naturally, there were a lot of hard decisions," he said.

"The reason for the good animals this year is the beautiful feed situation, and probably, in addition, the educational program put on by the 4-H and the agricultural schools."

Farm Price Index For Florida Is Up Twenty-Five Points

ORLANDO, Dec. 1 — (AP) — Index of prices for Florida farmers as of Nov. 15 was 25 points above the same period last year, despite lower prices for grain, cotton, dairy products, poultry, eggs and meat animals.

The USDA Bureau of Agricultural Economics said in its monthly report that increased citrus prices raised the citrus index from 63 in November 1948 to 139 in November 1949 and that this, together with high vegetable prices, accounted for the 25 point jump to 209 for all agricultural products.

However, the report said, under heavier movement of citrus, prices dropped seasonally from October to November, resulting in a 17.4 percent increase over the same period a year ago.

For the United States, the parity ratio (ratio of prices received by farmers to prices paid, interest and taxes) dropped to 100 on Nov. 15 for the first time since Nov. 1941, the report said, one point below a month ago and nine under November last year.

More than half the total area of Oregon is under federal control. This includes 13 national forests, two national park service areas and extensive grazing acreages.

Brilliant Jewelry Seen At Met Opening

NEW YORK, N. Y.—(SPE-CLIAL)—The tradition which has long reigned at the great openings of New York's Metropolitan Opera, this year shared much of the spotlight with faces, fashions, jewels and joys that were strictly 1940. According to Martha Percella who reviews these openings for the jewelry industry, it was the grand old ladies of the opera who had all they could do to outline the beautiful jewelry worn by younger box holders, and moving stars walked with antique white and clear diamonds.

The most brilliant opening of the Met has since before the war. The great ladies and the great jewels all were there. The famous diamonds and emeralds of the heiresses, Mrs. Cornelius with Mrs. Joe Azzarello, Sanford Avenue; Circle No. 5 with Mrs. S. G. Harriman, Loch Arbutot Circle No. 6 with Mrs. Bessie Circle 11 Park Avenue.

Congregationalists To Have Annual Sale

The Junior's Women's League of the Congregational Church will hold a bazaar on Friday from 9:00 A. M. until 5:00 P. M. at the St. Johns Electric Company. Among the articles which will be for sale will be stuffed animals with matching bills, children's sacques, mittens and booties, doll clothes, hand embroidered linens and aprons and cooked foods.

iridescent black silk highlighted by hand embroidered patterns. On her fan she wore a pair of diamond and pearl clips which matched her necklace made of a pearl medallion surrounded by diamond flowers. Her bracelets and earrings were diamonds also, but she shyly told reporters that her pride and joy was a pearl and ruby comb she wore in her black hair.

The most modern jewelry designs seen were worn by singer Edie Pliska's daughter who herself in a Metropolitan Opera singer. With a Sophie designed gown of brilliant blue, she wore a set of the new Salvador Dali jewelry including a frontlet made of the outline of a surreal face and studded with diamonds matching earrings and a "bleeding heart" clip designed of rubies and diamonds and worn on the wrist of her glove.

Generally speaking, earrings were large and important and most often of the pendant type. Necklaces ranged from fabulous bits of diamonds, emeralds and rubies, to short, high riding collars of pearls combined with diamonds. The most outstanding note of all was the fact that they were all beautifully cleaned and polished indicating that they are being worn more and more often in these days of increasingly brilliant social seasons.

The entire group of diamonds originally were set in the 19th century for the former Princess Anastasia of Russia a cousin of Alexander III who was the father of Russia's last czar. Mrs. Melchior purchased the jewels in Germany about twenty years ago and presented them to his wife.

One surprising bit of fashion news was the lack of short evening gowns among the audience. Certainly tradition held its own in this case because virtually all the well dressed women wore full-length gowns notable for their elaborateness.

Columbiad-radin star Dorothy Kilgallen chose a full-length black taffeta gown with a hoop skirt and deep off shoulder neckline. Her piece de resistance was no less than the Carlotta diamond, a 33 carat blood diamond which once was the treasure of Empress Carlotta of Mexico.

Mrs. Carlos Romulo, wife of the United Nations President, bewitched everyone in a light fitting, but a black gown, flowing in from the Philippine Islands especially for the occasion. It was made of

Hollywood By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Step right up, ladies and gentlemen, for some lessons in sex appeal. The teacher: Lauren Bacall. In an unusually frank discourse, Prof. Bacall declared "You don't have to be uncovered to be sexy."

"Sex should be subtly suggested. You do it with a look or an expression or with your voice." (She said this in her famed "If you need me, just whistle" tones. I was beginning to get the idea.

"An actress should be good enough," she continued on the "Bright Leaf" set, "to put across the idea of sex without untrapping herself."

"You may recall that one of her many stultic suspensions was for refusing the scantily-clad role of 'The Girl From Jones Beach.' No laughing girl, she.

"I have never posed for cheese cake," she remarked. "I just don't like it and I consider myself lucky that I haven't had to be subjected to it. I'm just not the type.

"There are lots of actresses who never pose for cheese cake, yet are considered sexy. Ingrid Bergman, for one."

As for the current trend of exposing the chests of male stars, she added: "I think it's terrible. They are certainly scraping the bottom when they have to resort to things like that to sell pictures."

Some of the spiciest reading these days is not in the books banned in Boston, but in the movie ads. Let me cite a few examples of catchlines from recent pictures: "Nameless, shameless woman, trained in an art as old as time."

"You need a friend, strong man, and I'm friendly." — "Thieves' Highways." "Whatever it is that French women have, Madeline Bovary has more of it."

"A mighty story of savage greed and sultry love."—"Hope Of Sund." "You are the most corrupt woman I ever met."—"The Great Singer."

"Every man is a soft touch for some woman."—"Mr. Soft Touch." "Men would do anything for Anna Lucasta."

"It's stacked ... with love in every line."—"Everybody Does It." "But the richest reading was in the ads for 'I Was A Male War Bride.' Excerpt: 'This is how Sheridan took Grant ...'

Mrs. H. T. Hunt entertained recently with a shower honoring Mrs. V. W. Newsome at the Hunt home of 801 East Second Street. During the evening several games were enjoyed with prizes being won by Mrs. James Wilson and Mrs. Clarence Rotundo. Mrs. Newsome received many lovely gifts from her friends and late in the evening delicious refreshments were served.

Those invited to be with Mrs. Newsome were Mrs. Douglas Kiehl, Mrs. B. Newsome, Mrs. J. Daniels, Mrs. Gordon V. Frederick, Mrs. J. D. McLaughlin, Mrs. Wilson and daughter Vicki Lynn, Mrs. Rotundo, Mrs. R. L. White, Mrs. J. J. Cates, Mrs. Michael B. Ward, Mrs. Tony Russel, Mrs. Gideon H. Revolin, Mrs. R. Z. High School Glee Club Presents Comedy Minstrel Featuring Popular Hit Tunes

A comedy packed minstrel show, plus a colorfully costumed musical review was presented by 50 boys and girls of the Seaside High School Glee Club Tuesday afternoon and evening at the school auditorium under direction of Miss Olive Reese Whittle.

Entitled "Lead An Ear", the show, especially in the review, featured many tunes from musical comedy hits such as "South Pacific" and "Miss Liberty". The girls made their own colorful costumes, while the boys appeared in blackface and strangely matched apparel in keeping with their comedy roles.

Jack Jones was stage manager and Shirley Middleton and John Fite provided the musical accompaniment, alternating at the piano.

The boys were aided in getting their minstrel show off to a good start by a chorus of girls headed by Gretchen Kirchhoff and including Ann Dunn, Jane Davis, Donna White, Ada Adams, Margaret Mulloy, Shirley Penneck and Dorothy Gilliard. Boys in the chorus singing, "Zippey Doo Dah" and "Yes, Sir, That's My Baby" were Ray Ireland, Roy Bryan, Donald Cain, Bill Harrison, James Hanson, Garnet White, Hobby Kinard and Charles Turner.

Donald Howard assumed the role of interlocutor, and a period of minstrel joking followed. Edman in the minstrel were Bill Brown, Clark Messler, Jack Spence, Bill Jimenez, Donald Fittell, E. D. Smith, Donald Ludwig and

H. McQueen says.

Segregation Is Banned On FHA Property

No More Loans Will Be Made For Housing Where Racial Restrictions Exist

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—(AP)—The federal government announced today that no further FHA financing assistance will be given to any "racially restricted properties."

Solicitor General Philip H. Perlman made the announcement at a meeting of the New York state committee on discrimination in housing.

Copies of his remarks to the New York City gathering were made public here.

Perlman said he spoke for President Truman, Attorney General McGrath and Home Finance Administrator Raymond M. Foley.

"The Federal Housing Administration is amending its rules so as to refuse to aid the financing of any properties, the occupancy or use of which is restricted on the basis of race or color."

He said that the entire matter had been passed over at the White House with the Justice Department and all other interested agencies taking part, and that the changes would help to implement the President's civil rights program.

"President Truman has been working on this matter for some time, and is most happy over the results of his efforts," Perlman said.

The new rules will not affect Federal Housing Administration financing already in force.

An official of the FHA said a report of the new rule extends to:

- 1. Individual financing of a single unit residence covered by any sort of racial occupancy covenant, and.
- 2. Financing of a building project.

Firemen Suffer From Strange Gas Caused By Blaze

BARBETON, O., Dec. 2.—(AP)—Twenty firemen were in critical condition in Chillicothe, Ohio, today and a score of others were hospitalized as a result of a $100,000 fire in downtown Barbeton.

Chemists rushed analysis of plastic phonograph records from the burned building to determine whether poisonous fumes had been released. The gas was described as one that packs a sometimes lethal wallop after being inhaled, and similar to some gases developed in World War I.

Nine firemen were taken to the hospital shortly after the blaze. In the next few hours, 13 others were hospitalized. Some of them showed up at the hospital, and after being given oxygen would apparently come out of a daze and ask "What am I doing here?"

Fire Chief Edward Perry and Fireman William Powell were described as being in "critical condition" this morning. The other 20 were treated in "good condition" by hospital officials. The firemen were bedded down on cots in the overcrowded hospital corridors.

The Columbia Chemical Co. chemist tentatively identified the gas which affected firemen and declared it was of a type that affected victims 24 to 48 hours after being inhaled. The firemen were being carefully watched by doctors.

The blaze hit the N. E. Simon Jewelry Store last night during Barbeton's 25-man fire department had help from volunteers from Coventry, Chappaqua Falls, Clinton, Mansfield and two Akron departments.

The blaze, whose origin has not been determined, caused $100,000 damage to stock and fixtures in the building, according to Fire Capt. Luther Dalbert.

British Catholics And Labor Regime Clash Over Aid

Government Accused Of Trying To Gag Church With Money

LONDON, Dec. 2.—(AP)—A battle between the Roman Catholic Church and Britain's Labor government has broken out over the issue of government aid for church schools.

The Catholic hierarchy of England and Wales has accused the government of trying to gag the church with threats to cut off state financial aid.

A spokesman of the Ministry of Education replied that Catholics are trying to tap the public treasury in a way which "amounts to a bribe."

While there is a parallel between the British situation and the recent arguments in the United States over federal aid to parochial schools, the situation is not exactly the same.

The Catholic Church in the United States has insisted that the inclusion of Catholic school children in government aid to education did not violate the American church and state. The American church attacked proposed legislation in Washington.

The grand jury said in a bold worded presentment Roberts was incompetent to hold office.

The jurors declared there was no effort even to make a concerted effort to stop the sale of liquor in the Haude county which has been unchecked for a long time.

The jury announced it was sending a copy of the presentment to Governor Warren for whatever action he wanted to take.

The special jury session followed in the wake of a grand jury indictment of illegal liquor sales by state and federal officers here Nov. 12.

The raiders, aided by court-appointed Eilers (citizens with arrest powers)—by-passing the Sheriff's office on the road.

Roberts said he was "subdued by the out-of-the-office. He blamed the by-passing action on "politics."

Joe Bowen, chief law enforcement officer of the State Revenue Department, said after the raid the officers had broken on a million dollar gambling and liquor empire which tapped over eight counties.

The grand jury said Sheriff Roberts had not made a single gambling charge during his present term of office and some for a long period before.

The jurors said it was "staggering" the Sheriff should have been by-passed on the raids.

Truman Says Federal Funds Spent In Jobless Areas Creates New Employment

With the threat of a coal industry shutdown removed, the President and his administration will concentrate their efforts on relieving distress in local areas of heaviest unemployment.

The Admin. President described a plan to build new homes, roads, and other public works, where feasible, out of the local area of New England and elsewhere.

Steelman said the President yesterday that the unemployment problem was "impending partly due to federal government."

Treasury Official Admits U.S. Budget Ought To Balance

Snyder Ducks Query On Spending Policy But Eccles Blasts Easy Money Bias

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Snyder said today the government's budget ought to be balanced now, but he ducked a question as to whether the way to balance it is through higher taxes, reduced spending or both.

Snyder was before a Senate-House Economic Committee which set TimOTHY W. Eccles of the Federal Reserve Board a letter sharply critical of Treasury-Administration policies.

Eccles said the Treasury has a "general easy money bias under almost any and all circumstances." And the policy, Eccles declared, leads to inflation at a time when it may be in the interest of economic stability to take the opposite action.

The Senate-Economic group is studying government money, credit and fiscal policies.

In his opening remarks Snyder pointed out the administration's policy on the budget and the issues.

The question is that the government is spending more than it is taking in, and it is paying out more than it is taking in.

The government is spending $100,000,000 more than it is taking in each year, and it will be spending more than it is taking in for the next year.
