

South Seminole JH Missile Club Tours Space Center

By Jane Casselberry
The South Seminole Junior High School Missile Club Saturday had what every missile buff dreams of, a VIP tour of Cape Kennedy Space Center, mecca of all young scientists. Protocol officer Henry Decker took the group of 24 students and nine adults on a two-hour inspection of the missile launch complexes including a visit inside the 10-foot thick concrete walls of a blockhouse.

As we entered the gate our guide pointed out the sky-scraper-like structures across the Banana River rising from the Merritt Island moonport.

Scattered about the palm-topped dunes of the cape the gantries of servicing the various missiles rise from billion dollar complexes, with the largest 27 stories tall. The Centaur rocket, buttoned up to protect it from the weather, stood for launching scheduled for this week. The Centaur will make a deep probe sending a survey package to the moon to send back television pictures and other data.

Progress made in the United States' man in space program, since Astronaut Alan Shepard made the first historic flight on May 5, 1961, was obvious as we saw the evolution from the first crude efforts to today's sophisticated Saturn launching pads.

We were shown the very small ordinary looking launch pad from which we sent our first astronaut into space and all the hardware used in the launch now being accumulated for re-assembly at the proposed Space Museum to be constructed on Merritt Island by NASA.

In contrast to the space age additions to the landscape, a light house, built in 1858 and operated by the Coast Guard still stands, and, oddly enough, it doesn't look at all out of place.

It was exciting to see first hand things so familiar to television audiences such as Hanger 5 headquarters for the astronauts, and the white room, surgically sterile room atop the gantry. Our guide described the past dramatic events which have taken place at the Cape and told of some of the future plans such as the Gemini program scheduled to send two men aloft in December for an extended time and plans to send up a group of scientists for six months in a laboratory the size of a house trailer by 1967 or 1968. All these things lead in the ambitious effort to put men on the moon by 1970 with the aid of the powerful Saturn V rocket and Apollo space craft. The group enjoyed a luncheon in the press club room of the Cape Colony Inn at Cocoa Beach where oil portraits of the six astronauts hang in the lobby as reminders that the motel and restaurant formerly were owned by the astronauts.

From there the group went to Patrick Air Force Base to view the impressive display of missiles there. Last stop was at a gift shop for the youngsters to buy souvenirs of their trip.

The school bus was driven by Mrs. Geneva Largent and other adults accompanying the group were Mrs. Catherine Martin, missile club advisor; Mr. and Mrs. Russell Moore, Tom Barnes, Mrs. Frank Stehli, Mrs. James Tate, Mrs. H. L. Severs and your reporter.

Florida's Cabbage Palm Serves a Variety of Purposes

Florida's cabbage palm serves a variety of purposes. Not only is it good to eat, but it also has many commercial uses as well. The sturdy palm fibers are manufactured into whisk brooms and brushes, while the tough fan-shaped leaves provide material for a variety of woven goods such as pocketbooks, hats and baskets.

Feasibility Study To Be Launched Soon

Development of east and southeast Seminole County, especially along the south shore of Lake Jessup, was given bright prospect this morning when County Engineer William Bush announced the State Road Department is ready to commence operations on the long-proposed causeway across that lake.

The generation-old idea of a causeway was given impetus when the State Board of Control selected for a state university the Adanucci site in Orange County at the Seminole County line three miles south of Oviedo city limits on SR 520.

CANAL DISTRICT officials visited the Volusia County Commission Thursday morning, briefing the members on the proposed location of a four-lane highway to parallel the St. Johns-Indian River canal. From left are Doloren W. Wiggert, consultant of Reynolds, Smith and Hills; John Krider, canal district chairman; J. D. Wingfield Jr., of the East Central Florida Regional Planning Council; and S. O. Longwood To Act On Bar's Liquor Permit

By Donna Estes
The Longwood City Council voted last night to consider revoking the liquor license of the Longwood Hotel and Bar for violation of city ordinance. The license is issued in the name of Carl L. Watkins.

The state beverage department revoked the state liquor license and padlocked the establishment Wednesday afternoon.

In other business the $640 bid of Orange Paving and Construction Company for resurfacing Church Street from the old city limits to Highway 17-92 was accepted.

Motions were made and approved to lay Wayman Street from Orange Avenue to Sanlando Springs Drive and to open and lay Warren Avenue from Grant Street to Lakeview Street.

Council agreed to receive bids for the installation of acoustical tile in the council chambers of the new city hall.

Richard Zartman, local builder, was authorized to draw plans for the proposed new municipal garage warehouse to be located on the property near the new city hall.

Mrs. Gerl Hittman expressed her appreciation to council for street lights being located behind her place of business on Sanlando Springs Drive.

Zyvorokin complained that city taxes on his orange grove on Seminole Avenue had been increased in 1963 over 1962. The complaint was taken under advisement.

Mark Bullock asked that council determine the correct spelling (Heider or Heiter) of the name on the street on which his residence is located. Bullock pointed out that use of both spellings on various city plats and maps is confusing. Investigation will be made by Longwood Mayor A. R. Lormann.

Financial statement was approved and various bills paid.

2 From DeBary Hurt In Crash

Two DeBary residents were injured seriously Thursday at 1 p.m. in a two-car crash on Highway 17-92, just north of Casselberry.

Under treatment at Florida Sanitarium and Hospital, Orlando, are:
Fred Steinhilber, 67, of 33 Iris Lane, DeBary, who received possible chest injuries. His condition was listed as serious.
Mrs. Ann Steinhilber, 70, his wife, who suffered possible head injuries and is in critical condition.

According to Florida Highway Patrolman Bill Stringfield, Steinhilber was driving north on Highway 17-92 when he started to make a left turn. His car was struck by a vehicle driven south on the highway by Frank Ellis Tomes, 33, of Richmond, Va., a visitor to Seminole County. Tomes was not hospitalized although he suffered minor injuries.

Canal Road Route Given To Volusia

Alignment of a proposed four-lane highway, paralleling the Sanford - Titusville Canal, was presented to the Volusia County Commission Thursday morning by Canal Authority officials.

John Krider, chairman of the St. Johns-Indian River Canal Authority, briefed commissioners on the authority's plans for supplying a connecting network of roads to "serve West Volusia and Sanford directly to the East Coast."

Krider and J. D. Wingfield Jr., planning operations director of the East Central Florida Regional Planning Council showed maps of the project—the canal, highway and a north-south parkway.

These, it was pointed out, would give West Volusia County and nearby areas "a clear shot" to the East Coast by way of the highway.

The road would use fill from canal dredging for a base. The 12-mile stretch in Volusia County would be supplied at no right-of-way cost to the county, commissioners were assured.

Rather, Krider noted, the authority has obtained all rights of way needed for the canal from the land owners.

A 530-foot wide swath of land is being obtained for the project. Two hundred feet of this north of the canal would be used for the highway.

The authority chairman told commissioners the roadway would be built far enough away from the canal to allow full utilization of the space for industry, marine and residential projects.

The canal would be 150 feet wide and 12 feet deep. In addition, another strip of land would be reserved south of the canal for an east-west two lane road.

Authority members next confer with the Volusia County Chamber of Commerce and the State Road Board to review progress to date in the project.

Attending the meeting, in addition to Krider and Wingfield, was Doloren W. Wiggert, consultant from the architect and engineering firm of Reynolds, Smith and Hills.

Like Mother, Like Family

Lord Shaftesbury said, "Give me a generation of Christian mothers, and I will undertake to change the whole face of society in twelve months." One of the noteworthy things about these words is that we give so much thought and time to seeking an answer to our political, social, and religious problems while overlooking the simple and seemingly workable solution of home training for our children by mothers and fathers.

The importance of being a Christian mother defies words. We fail to recognize this fact as we gaze around at the more glamorous occupations. Census takers note that the women of the home who have no other occupation seem to be a bit apologetic when asked about their job. We can imagine how many might say when asked what their job is that they are "just a mother." If any woman does a good job at being a mother she has won for herself one of the topmost honors known to human beings.

The experiences of family life give us some rather definite concepts of God. Of course, the perfect concept is seen in Jesus Christ. We also find God giving us other concepts as we read our Bibles. Christ constantly referred to God as the Father. We remember this repeatedly as we think of the Lord's Prayer. We read of His explanation of the forgiveness of God the Father as we study the parable of the Prodigal Son and at the close of this parable see the main character welcoming the wayward son home and realize that our Lord's parable is focusing our attention on God the Father.

In the Old Testament we see the concept of God as a husband. This part is learned of in the book of Hosea. His adulterous wife, Gomer, left him and her children but was forgiven by Hosea as God the father forgave Israel when she returned after her faithless activity.

In Isaiah 66:13 we read, "As one whom his mother comforts, so will I comfort you." These words were told to Israel when she was in Babylon. Israel was in exile but there was hope looming on the horizon of their experience. Myrrus was coming into power and it looked like he was being used by the hand of God for deliverance of Israel. What comforting words and how mother-like God was seen as being by Isaiah when as a climax to the encouraging utterance he said, "As one whom his mother comforts, so will I comfort you."

When we approach Mother's Day I tend to become more sentimental than usual. There are so many things that remind me of my own mother. I cannot but think of the willingness to sacrifice for her children that was constantly her attitude. Whether it was time, talent, or money she was willing to expend it on us children. There were many things that she could have had for herself if she had not gladly diverted their price for something that her children could use. I was one of those twice blessed individuals in that both parents felt the same way about their children and for this my heart pours out in thanksgiving. It has also been my privilege to have a wonderful wife whose life as a marvelous mother to my children calls for thanksgiving to God.

I would like to close by saying that it is most important that we not limit our tribute to mothers to one day

WCS to Have Breakfast

The WCS of the Casselberry Community Methodist Church will hold a May Breakfast Wednesday at 9:30 a. m. in Weaver Hall to be followed by a business meeting and worship program. Mrs. E. P. Richards is chairman of the affair. A small charge will be made for the breakfast which will include grapefruit, scrambled eggs, sausage, sweet rolls and coffee.

Lord Shaftesbury said, "Give me a generation of Christian mothers, and I will undertake to change the whole face of society in twelve months." One of the noteworthy things about these words is that we give so much thought and time to seeking an answer to our political, social, and religious problems while overlooking the simple and seemingly workable solution of home training for our children by mothers and fathers.

How will it be on Monday? What about our attitude two weeks from now? Certainly we know that this day should remind us that every day in the year should be "Mother's Day." Let us pray that we keep it in mind and heart throughout the weeks and years to come.

National 4-H Sunday Observed At Upsala

National 4-H Sunday was observed Sunday morning, May 3, at the 11 a. m. service of Upsala Presbyterian Church.

The Lake Monroe 4-H Handy Helpers Club took part in the service with a short program on "Life Dares Youth To Live" from the 4-H theme for 1964, "Learning for Living," the girls used the words of the pledge, Head, Heart, Hands and Health, in their talk.

In her introduction, Patty Baker said "The basic word in this theme is Living and Life Challenges the youth to do just that, LIVE! Without life learning and serving are insignificant. What we learn and how we serve are very important as we are challenged to live."

"Life dares me to pledge by Head to clearer thinking," said Joy Wilson. "In this fast moving world, man must be able to think clearly. We are given new ideas, new methods and new insight into life. We must be willing to look at these things but be able to choose what is best. Therefore our minds must be trained to have standards by which to judge."

Cookie Russell used as her pledge "My heart to greater loyalty." Loyalty to what? It is true that life dares me to stand firm and be loyal, but the important thing is to what am I loyal? To my God, my country and my fellowman.

"My Hands to greater service," said Sarah Dyson. "I with health. If we are to have a strong life. If we are to meet the challenge of Head, Heart, Hands and Health, we must be found faithful in keeping the laws of good health."

"Unless I accept the challenge of the 4-H pledge, I cannot take my rightful place in my club, community and my country," said Debbie Smith. "And above all, I cannot fulfill my Lord's purpose for my life. As youth we accept the challenge life places before us and in so doing we extend the challenge to you, our parents and friends. THUS Life dares you and me."

The program closed with Audrey Pyle giving the challenge prayer. Rev. James Hardin spoke to the congregation on "The Three Choices of Young People."

At the close of the benediction the 4-H girls were surprised by being presented with a 50 star flag by John Anders, Council Commander of the local Woodmen of the World, Celery Camp No. 625.

The Lake Monroe Club has 21 members. Their leaders are Mrs. H. R. Wilson and Mrs. H. L. Johnson.

It has been estimated that about 43 million tons of dust settles on the U. S. annually, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

DeBary Church Welcomes New Members

By Mrs. Adam Muller
New members of the DeBary Community Methodist Church were welcomed recently at a covered dish supper held in the social hall of the church with more than 175 persons in attendance.

Heading the supper committee were Rev. Cecil N. Ogg, Ed Parsons, Sid Swallow, Wesley Sankamp and Mrs. Ruth Creasey.

Buffet tables were overlaid with oyster white linen cloths and centered with arrangements of spring flowers. The three tables were laden with foods of many lands including special meat dishes, salads, fruits, cakes and rolls and casseroles.

Following the supper a musical program was presented by The Sacred Tone Junior Quartet of Sanford composed of Brent David, Clark Stapler, Mike McDaniel and Wade Singleton. H. E. McSwain, tenor, sang several solos and joined Rev. Ogg in a duet. Piano accompanist for the singing was Katherine Sellers of Enterprise.

The motion picture, "Family Life," was shown in the sanctuary by Ray Higgins to conclude the program.

Look For Flannel Lining

By Polly Cramer
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
DEAR POLLY—When the lining in a man or boy's jacket wears out you can replace it with a flannel shirt of the proper size. Turn the jacket with the sleeves wrong side out, slip the shirt sleeves over the jacket sleeves. Pin or baste the sleeves and the rest of the shirt in place and cut away any excess material. Sew the flannel lining in with blind stitches. This saves throwing away a good jacket because of a worn lining. The same could be done for a woman's jacket.—MRS. J. B.

Go Slow On First Apartment

For $100 a day, a young interior decorating firm is helping housewives size up their homes and redecorate on a timetable as their husband's salary allows.
The decorator spends one day in the home or apartment and analyzes each room for fabric, furniture and color changes. The housewife gets a working schedule which includes switches, products names, and paint color numbers—all co-ordinated to the change. Instructions tell her what step to take next after she has a chair upholstered, for example.
After 500 such jobs and 20 years as a decorator, Barnett Simon, head of Instant Interiors, concludes that one of the biggest mistakes is to choose stop-gap furniture. "They still have it 12 years later," he says, "and still don't like it."
With this in mind I asked him how he would advise young single persons (early

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: The boy who sits in front of me in history is very smart and gets 100's on almost all his tests. I was stuck during a test last week and asked him for some answers. He gave them to me WRONG! I didn't know it until we got our papers back. He got 100 and I got 68! I was plenty mad and told him I thought he was a dirty cheat. I admit I wasn't very honest to ask him for the answers, but don't you think he was twice as dishonest to have purposely given them to me wrong?
CHEATED
DEAR CHEATED: Don't expect to find an honest partner for a crooked deal.
DEAR ABBY: What can a woman of 42 do to get a compliment out of her husband? I have spent hours in the beauty parlor getting a new hair-do. No comment. I bought material and made myself a beautiful outfit in his favorite color—blue. No comment. I use cosmetics artistically and even searched for a subtle perfume. I thought he'd like. No comment. Everyone else tells me I am a fine-looking woman, but he never says a word. I know he loves me and our children, but sometimes I think, "Oh, what the heck!" NO COMPLIMENTS
DEAR NO: You're lucky. Some women get plenty of sweet talk from their husbands, and nothing else. By the way, when was the last time you complimented HIM?
DEAR ABBY: Last night I served blueberry pie for dessert and my husband, whom I shall call Dr. Jekyll, turned into a regular Mr. Hyde. He stormed around like a wild man, saying he never cared for blueberry pie because it took him two days to get the seeds out of his teeth, and asked why I insist on shoving it down his throat. Abby, I have been baking blueberry pie for 26 years (it's my favorite).

School And You

Some 'Parent Categories'

By Susan Light
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
DEAR MRS. LIGHT: May a veteran teacher express her views about parents?
Through the years I have found that most parents are friendly, co-operative and sincere in their desire to help their children do well in school. I enjoy knowing my pupils' parents and working with them toward common goals.
However, each year I am faced with a few parents who can really ruin a teacher's day — or even her career. The patterns keep repeating themselves; only the faces change.
Perhaps the most destructive is the mother who runs straight to the principal, the superintendent, or the school board with her complaints — without giving the teacher a chance to explain.
The gullible mama who believes every garbled story her Suse brings home from school — and repeats it to her friends — runs a close second.
Then there is the mother who frequently drops in on classes unannounced, seemingly only to criticize the teacher's methods, techniques and discipline.
Add to these the overly ambitious parents who expect their Johnny to get straight "A's" even though he has only average ability. When he fails to measure up, they are certain he is not being "properly motivated."
And the dotting mommy who expects the teacher to turn her wild Indian into a model of deportment, even though she can't control him at home, deserves a passing mention.
Yet, though perhaps misguided, these parents are at least interested in their children and the school. I can excuse them.
The parent who does me no harm, but disturbs me most of all, is the one who couldn't care less. This is the parent who fails to appear for conferences, is too busy to come to school programs, and who doesn't get up to see her children off to school. Anything is better than apathy. If these parents only realized what their indifference is doing to their children, perhaps they would wake up before it's too late.
Thank you for letting me speak my mind.
—JUST A TEACHER
ANSWER: And thank you for writing! I'm sure that thousands of teachers share your sentiments.
If parents could see themselves as teachers see them, and vice versa, perhaps there would be some changes for the better all around.
Please send your school problems to Susan Light in care of The Sanford Herald. While she cannot answer each letter personally, letters of general interest will be answered in this column.

The Mature Parent

Is This Real Friendship

By Mrs. Muriel Lawrence
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: My 8-year-old Ralph has got a case of hero worship for a 11-year-old boy who has recently moved into our apartment building with his mother and grandmother. I understand that the parents are divorced.
The boy is very mannerly with me but much too bossy with Ralph, making him do all the cleaning up after they have made a mess playing, walking off with any book or toy he feels like taking and not returning them unless I ask him to. It turns me up.
ANSWER: It's a long worm that has no turning. Can you wait for Ralph to turn against this bossiness in his friend? To discover that he wants more from this boy than he is getting in exchange for what he is giving? I hope so, because it is the 8-year-old's realization of the resentment he feels at a friend's domination that he must be able to call on in later, more crucial experiences with pushy friends—the girl, for example, to whom he is sexually attracted and with whom he may imagine himself to be in love. If, in our anxiety, we cannot give the child the time he needs to feel his resentment of pushiness in his friends, his response to it in other friends remains vague, losing the sharpness that should enable him to say to himself, "Uh-uh. This I know about. This I can do without."
It is not too difficult to sustain our anxiety over a friendship like this one if we are aware of the signs of deteriorating friendliness in ourselves. Instead of interfering in it, we can confidently await our youngster's first expressions of hurt at the plotting friend's refusal to share his new boy. His sudden renewals of interest in other friends new activities; family plans for visits, outings and parties; his increasing complaints as his disappointment in the friend reaches more and more of his awareness. For in these stages of disengagement from the bossy friend, we recognize the steps by which we ourselves have gradually withdrawn from unprofitable friendship with an overcontrolling and dominating person.
But if we are still harassed by bullies in our own life, our child's involvement with one who can be deeply disturbing. We can't credit him with the ability to develop some resistance to them. Other people's domination of us is too painful for us to endure the added pain of our child's submission to it.

Ulcers Plague Children

Wayne G. Brandstadt, M. D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Ulcers, once considered the monopoly of beleaguered businessmen, are plaguing children.
Peptic ulcers are more common in infants and children than was formerly believed because it is much harder to recognize in children than in adults. A child, unfortunately, cannot always describe his symptoms accurately. Also peptic ulcer symptoms always vary with age.
Often there are no symptoms until a complication such as perforation of the ulcer through the wall of the stomach, intestine or through a large blood vessel occurs. If a blood vessel is perforated there may be a massive hemorrhage through the bowels or vomiting of blood.
Several factors contribute to the cause of peptic ulcers in children. They are seen more often in children with parents who have had ulcers. They appear to be commoner in those whose blood group is O. Boys are afflicted about six times as frequently as girls.
As with adults, ulcers may follow extensive burns, treatment with the cortisone group of drugs, malnutrition or a serious debilitating disease. These children are usually more high-strung than their playmates and they often harbor hostile feelings that they may not show. They have a stronger than average need for praise and affection.
Although X-ray examination should be used in the diagnosis, the results are often less definite in a child than in an adult. However, once diagnosis is made treatment is often easier than with an adult. One child was cured when his father arranged to spend more time with him. Whatever the factors are that make the child tense, they should be found and corrected. When medical or surgical measures are required they are the same as for an adult with an ulcer.

We The Women: By Ruth Millett

"When I was a bride," writes a housewife, "I had complete confidence in my ability to run my home efficiently. I thought it would be easy.
"Yet, I wish some older, more experienced housewife had helped me work out some practical kind of housekeeping plan and when I was first married.
"it took me five years of working too hard and accomplishing too little before I was able to figure out a weekly work plan that isn't too hard for me, and which gives me a real feeling of accomplishment at the end of each day.
"Here's the system I finally figured out—in case any of the young wives who read your column are interested:
"Monday morning I sit down with a pencil and a sheet of paper, which I mark off in five-day sections, Monday through Friday.
"On another paper I make a list—usually it turns out to be a long one—of all the jobs, other than routine chores, that must be done that week.
"Then I pick out the jobs that are essentially errands. These I set down on the other sheet of paper, on whichever day I intend to do errands. Extra housecleaning jobs I divide between two other days.
"By the time I have finished, each of my five 'working' days—for I try to do nothing but routine jobs on Saturdays and Sundays—has its share of 'extra' jobs.
"At the end of each day I look at my list, cross off the completed jobs and feel a sense of satisfaction. The next morning I look at the list for the new day—and can tackle it with enthusiasm, because I am facing only one day's work at a time."
She is so right. For planning belongs in any field of business as well as in a prerogative. The housewife who plans her work can sweep aside the despair that comes from the thought that so much has to be done she doesn't know where to begin.

Jacoby On Bridge By Oswald Jacoby

There are any number of ways for South to reach seven hearts. I suppose that many of the players in the intercollegiate Bridge Tournament reached that contract.
But I also doubt if many of them made it although the play is clear-cut even if you aren't looking at all 52 cards.
South wins the opening club lead in dummy and wants to get to his own hand to pull trumps. He cashes dummy's ace of spades and ruffs a spade with the seven or eight of trumps.
Then he lays down a high trump and get a slight jolt. West falls to follow.
the rest of the way, provided he can get back to dummy. If he tries to get there with a club, he will go right down. Undoubtedly, he will lead a diamond and once he is in dummy he is home free.
He will start by cashing dummy's remaining high spade and will discard his last diamond.
Then he will play high diamonds. If East ruffs, South will simply overruff and draw trumps. If East fails to ruff, South will discard clubs. Eventually both he and East will be down to nothing but trumps. East will have to ruff a club, but South will overruff.

Suit Yourself PJs Take A Short Cut

By Jerry Sheehan

NEW YORK (NEA)—Move the conversation into the subject of bad habits and sooner or later you are bound to hear:
"I never (smoked, chased women, drank, spent money recklessly) until I went in the Army."
To these behavior shortcomings (rightly or wrongly) attributed to military service) can be added another frequently heard alibi:
"I never slept in my underwear until I joined the Army."
Uncle Sam, you see, believes that pajamas are a luxury (like sleeping itself) which can be left out of the soldier's way of life. Simple T shirts and boxer shorts, to the quartermaster's thinking, are all that any man could want for a full night's rest.
The fact appears that many ex-servicemen continue to wear underwear as sleeping apparel — to the dismay of the nation's pajama manufacturers.
A nonscientific grass-roots survey by the Little Gem Textile Laboratory reveals that only about half the male population sleeps regularly in pajamas. The breakdown: 50 per cent of the men queried wear pj's; 25 per cent wear underwear; 25 per cent prefer au naturel.
Several clothing firms have met the challenge of masculine apathy by turning out short pajamas which look like shorts but feel better to sleep in.
While they are at it, they are manufacturing T shirts which are more suitable for warm weather wear. A number of these are manufactured in a mesh knit weave, providing the ultimate in ventilation. Of course, there is no law against sleeping in a T shirt, but pajama tops have also undergone a transformation in recent years.

Warm weather comfort is represented here by a mesh knit T shirt with Nevalind seamless underarms and sherry pajama bottoms.

Starchiefs And Tempests Tied In Motor Loop

The Starchiefs stole the spotlight this week in the Bill Hemphill Motorcettes League as they came from two games off the pace to corral the front-running Tempests and share the number one spot with them.
The Starchiefs won three points from the Ramblerettes while the Tempests were able to gain a single victory over the Classics to create the tie. Lt. Joe Cleveland and Elaine Kostal were the "heroines" for the Starchiefs as Jo hit 188/820 which was her first 500 series in league competition and Elaine came through with 206/821. Barbara Kelly rolled 168/444 for the Classics and Marion Favella "bombed" 172/468 for the Tempests.
Elizabeth Barick tore 'em up for the Specials as they won three points from the Sky-larks. Elizabeth hit 206/482 for her second 200 game in the past few weeks. Janine Burke with 177/468 was the Ace for the Sky-larks. Carolyn Nelson scored 180/462 to spark the Le Sabres to a three game win over the Catalinas.
Dot Johnson rolled 198/483 for the Pontiacs but it was of little use as the better balanced Invictas, paced by Veronica Guinan's 170/448, took all four points. Joan Adams 167/454 was high in the Wildcat-Riviera class and Jo Brown with 158/448 paced the Ambassadors to a three-point win over the Grand Prix.
The 2-10 split was picked up by Rose Muska, Mabel Dugan, Linda Post and Betty Christlieb. The 2-7 was picked up by Barbara Kelly, Norma Schneider and Polly Thompson. Joan Magin converted the 5-7, Jean Mello the 5-7-9 and Polly Thompson made the 4-5-7.
Turkeys were rolled by Ted Marah, Jo Cleveland, Betty Murphy and Rita Gasil. Four strikes in a row were notched by Joan Magin.

Rex Back On Top Of Bowling Loop

Rex Liquors bounced back into first place in the Bualgesmen's League at Jet Lanes by virtue of a three-point win over Smith's Amoco Service while Cavanaugh Tire Service was dropping two points to Team No. 4 to enable Rex to sneak back into the top spot.
Rex and Cavanaugh have been exchanging the first two spots for five consecutive weeks. With only three weeks remaining on the schedule it is anyone's title. The third through sixth place teams are not ruled out at this stage because they could possibly catch fire and win most of their games and give the leader a battle right down to the wire.
Ray Robinson won all the honors this week with 211/897 while pacing Rex in their victory. Marshall Wilshire hit 201/508 to help keep Smith's Amoco close. Faron Builders won a 2 to 1 decision over Team No. 5 as Len Blood rolled 184/502 and Sam Faron 177/502.
Ralph Betts paced Dick's Appliance in its three game nod over Koodracks and Cline's Sinclair by shooting a good 183/518. Steve Barnes was the high man for Sinclair with 177/518.

Lake Monroe Jottings

By Mrs. H. L. Johnson
Well election day has come and gone. Near the closing time here in Monroe, the two lines waiting to vote, if stretched out, would have taken in a city block. . . . The Kenneth Kerns have had as their guests their son Roy and his family of Greenville, Miss. Roy is stationed there with the Air Force. They have been gone so long that this is the first time granddaddy and grannie Kerns had seen their small grandchildren. I understand they had a real wonderful time with them. . . . It makes me want to see my three small granddaughters real bad too. . . . Maybe Cindy, Carol and little Barbie will surprise us and walk in. . . . Murray and Ann Kanner took a hurried trip up to Chapel Hill, N. C., last weekend. . . . Ann Kanner and Patsy Stanton are planning a stork shower for Pat's sister Barbara Bryant for tonight. . . . We want to make a correction on something in last week's Jottings. Von da (Kern) and Willie Carter are residing in West Palm Beach instead of Ft. Pierce. Being down the state a little farther still doesn't keep them from coming home on weekends often. . . . Very glad to hear that Esther Spivey is now home again. She has been having her time of being in the local hospital quite often. But she says she thinks maybe she can stay home this time, if she obeys the doctor's orders. So you do just that Esther. . . . Also very glad to know that Mrs. J. I. Lake is home after her stay in the hospital. She and Mr. Lake both have been in the hospital but he beat her home. She is resting okay, according to her neighbors. Also very glad to find out that Robbie Dorn is doing okay and according to Mama Opal he will be able to return to school. Robbie was injured by an automobile some time ago. Now he will have a lot of lesson catching-up to do. But he will get it done. . . . Want to wish Yvonne Strippling a very happy birthday. She will be a year older this weekend. . . . The local 4-H Handy Helpers Club gave a very interesting program in the Upsala Presbyterian Church last Sunday. It was National 4-H Church Day and the girls used the 4-H pledge as a background for their program. After the service the girls were surprised by being given a 50 star flag by the local leader of the Woodmen of the World, John Andes. By the way, girls, a very important meeting next Wednesday at Mrs. Wilson's. At this time you will receive last minute instructions on correct table care for the banquet the girls will serve when the Lake Monroe Home Demonstration Club celebrates its 30th anniversary. Also the leaders will need to know how many plan to attend the 4-H Camp in June. So be there. . . . The HD Banquet will take place next Thursday evening in White Hall of Upsala Presbyterian Church. At this time the state district HD Agent, Miss Helen Holstein, will be the speaker. Also taking part will be Miss Myrtle Wilson, local agent and county agent and Mrs. Cecil Tucker. Hope every member will attend and make it a very enjoyable evening. . . . Sorry to hear that Miss Arie Mann is confined to her home because of illness. If I know Arie she also is worrying about not being able to be on the job at the Monroe School. In a few days you will see her back. . . . Mrs. S. E. Norwood and daughters Lorena (Mrs. J. H.) Tindel and Norine Norwood have returned from a motor trip to Knoxville, Tenn. . . . Ethel Todd had several of her Sanford Junior High girl friends over last weekend for a slumber party at her home on the Upsala Road. Wish you could have heard all she told me they did. . . . Our thought this week: "Example sheds a gentle ray of light that friends are apt to borrow. So first improve yourself today and improve your friends tomorrow."

Harrison received instruction in bread, cake and pastry baking, meat cutting and Army mess hall operation. He entered the Army last December and completed basic training at Fort Gordon, Ga.

The 22-year-old soldier is a 1960 graduate of Lyman High School in Longwood.

Before entering the Army, Harrison was employed by American Bakeries Company, Orlando.

Village Councilmen Object To 'Rules'

Rules of conduct for meetings of the North Orlando Village Council, as spelled out by Mayor Irene Van Epoeel during her first month in office, were challenged as being "contrary to the Village Charter" by newly elected Councilman Mrs. Mona Grinstead at the May council session.

Reading directly from a copy of the charter, Mrs. Grinstead pointed out that all meetings of the council are to be open to public citizens, that said citizens are entitled to be heard on any matter and that only the "full" council is given power to determine rules of order for the meetings.

Her statement was backed by thunderous applause from the large attendance, indoors and out, and by Councilman Dave Tilson who adamantly stated that he "would not recognize any rules unless established under regulations of the charter."

Tilson went on to list his exceptions to Mrs. Van Epoeel's action: (1) "your mandate that no business shall be brought before council unless three days notification is given in advance of meeting;" (2) "lack of notice to council members on prepared agenda;" and (3) "ruling that council member or citizen is 'out of order' unless called upon by you. . . . citizens should be given a reasonable opportunity to be heard as should answers from the audience."

He further stated that he wished to point out that "you, as mayor, in actually, are nothing more than another council member and I am in very violent objection to the fact that you have taken upon yourself to establish such rules without consulting other members of this council. Your rules were accepted by my vote of this council," he stressed.

In defense Mrs. Van Epoeel reminded that no exceptions to her proposed "conduct" rules were heard from council at their original introduction and insisted, although no names were mentioned, that "certain members of council have been known to change opinion from meeting to meeting."

In conclusion, motion was made by Councilman Arthur Ferrin that, "if necessary, a vote be taken at a future meeting" which met with approval from Tilson who explained that he "had no objections to establishing conduct rules for the meetings if they are established by all members of the council."

Oliva's Homers Pace Twins To Victory Over Angels

About Sports Thinking Out Loud

By Julius Stenstrom
Fifty-eight aspirants for berths on Seminole High's 1964 varsity football squad turned out Wednesday afternoon for the first session of spring gridiron drills.

Head Coach Jim Pigott greeted the unexpected large number of youngsters which included 18 returning lettermen and about 10 ninth graders from the Sanford Junior High School who also have high hopes of making the Tribe's varsity this fall.

Pigott said that there would be 24 positions open on the squad and they'll be filled by the best men among those who really want to play football.

Jim revealed that during the forthcoming season—the first in the Metro Conference—he will utilize three teams. The three elevens will go both ways, that is offensively and defensively. "One squad will be in there until they make a mistake," said Pigott. "When that happens," he added, "we'll make a change again."

The 22-year-old Oliva appears to be with the Twins to stay. Oliva had the Los Angeles Angels talking to themselves Thursday when he teed off for two homers, one of which was a grand slam, plus a pair of singles to drive in six runs in a 9-1 victory for the Twins.

The homers were Oliva's sixth and seventh of the season. Teammate Jimmie Hall also contributed his sixth as Jim Kaat posted his third victory with a five-hitter. Joe Adcock hit his third homer for the Angels.

The Indians moved back into first place all by themselves with a 9-4 triumph over the Orioles, the Yankees wore down the Senators, 9-6, and the Red Sox beat the Tigers, 7-8, in other AL games.

Philadelphia Manager Gene Mauch kept hollering for "more punch" and he finally got it—from a former heavyweight champion.

Not many people realize the Phillies carry an ex-boxing champ around with them. Catcher Clay Dalrymple certainly doesn't look like one to begin with and the ways he's been hitting lately, he couldn't outpunch your sister, anyway.

But he delivered a knockout punch Thursday night with a two-run homer that was his first hit in two weeks and carried the Phils to a 9-6 victory over the Milwaukee Braves.

Ex-Boxing King Helps Phils Keep Up With Giants

The word on Tony Oliva is high and tight, which may be a condition to be in on New Year's Eve but sure seems to be the wrong way to pitch to Minnesota's fantastic rookie.

They've tried pitching every possible way to him and nothing has worked so far. "If there was a higher league," quips Sam Mele, Minnesota's delighted manager, "we'd send him there."

Dalrymple, batting anemic .095, connected off Hank Fischer, who pitched a two-hitter against the Phillies his last previous time out. The blow put Philadelphia ahead to stay and helped Art Mahaffey to his second victory even though Jack Baldchun had to ball him out in the eighth following a three-run homer by Eddie Mathews.

Over 100 Cars To Compete In Drag Racing Program

More than 100 cars, including some of the hottest in the Southeast, will compete for $500 in trophies and prize money Saturday night as the Seminole Timing Association rolls out another top drag racing program at the Osceola Airport, near Geneva.

This particular fugitive spent most of its time running away from other E-clam entries in sweeping to first place at the Samaula Drag Strip last Sunday. Its 270 hp V-8 engine carried Walbel to a 99.64 mph clocking during one of its tours down the quarter-mile strip.

Top stock eliminations will feature the added color of Lakeland's "Great Southern Goat" entry, a 1964 Plymouth powered by a 625 hp engine. Driver Hugh Oglesby has driven the car to victories in almost every strip in Florida, including several at the local track.

Lions Meet Avon Park Tonight For Regional Crown

The Oviedo Lions put their 14-game winning streak on the line tonight in Avon Park when they vie with Avon Park for the Class B regional baseball championship.

Tonight's affair is scheduled to get under way at 7:30. Coach Paul Mikler has given the pitching nod to his ace hurler, Jim Courier. If the Lions can get by the always strong Avon Park nine they will win a berth in the state's Class B tournament finals to be played next weekend.

The Lions have a record of 14 victories against one loss. Their only set back came at the hands of the Lyman Greyhounds in the opening game of the season.

The contest tonight will probably be Oviedo's toughest of the season. Avon Park lost their first tilt of the year but have bounced back to come out victorious in 18 consecutive games. Mikler says the Avon Park nine is a well balanced ball club and both teams are expecting a pitcher's battle. The Oviedo coach said that both starting moundmen tonight have identical records of 9 wins and 1 loss.

Banquet Date Set

It was announced today that Seminole High School's all sports banquet will be held May 28 at the school's cafeteria.

Record Mutual Fund Sales Seen

Bernard Carver, president of Boston's B.C. Morton Organization predicted here yesterday record mutual fund sales for next year when Federal tax-cut legislation becomes fully effective.

"As a result, the combined assets of all mutual funds may well pass the $40 billion mark by the end of 1965,"

Mr. Carver spoke at the Mayfair here during the opening session of a three day conference attended by managers and representatives of 9 of the Morton Organization's 11 Florida financial-service centers, hosted by Harry C. Eichelberger, Sanford resident manager.

Mr. Carver told the gathering he expected the current installment of the tax reduction bill to spark a strong upsurge in sales of mutual fund shares and plans to invest more this Fall and Winter, adding:

"Fund industry volume in 1964 should be substantially higher than at any time since before the 1962 bear market. However, it will probably still be considerably under the previous high."

"But by next year when the full impact of tax legislation and economic expansion is felt, there is every reason to expect that hundreds of thousands of new shareholders will invest billions of dollars of new money in mutual fund shares. And much of that money will become available through tax savings."

B. C. Morton operates over 65 financial service centers nationwide, dealing in mutual funds, realty investment, insured savings and loan association placements, and insurance.

Girl Scouts Honor Their Mothers With A Mother-Daughter Banquet

Neighborhood I, composed of Seminole County, of the Citrus Council of Girl Scouts recently entertained at a Mother-Daughter Banquet at the Civic Center. This is an annual affair and this year, approximately 450 attended, including the brownies, cadets, senior scouts and their leaders and mothers with a host of distinguished guests.

The arranging committee included the Misses Kathy Tooke, Carolyn Lavender, Cathy MacLaughlin, Sue Monroe and Lorraine Spotts.

The doors were opened at 5:30 p.m. for viewing of displays and table setting.

Each troop was responsible for its table and food, which was elegant and delicious.

Mrs. Cathy MacLaughlin, Neighborhood I chairman, conducted the most interesting program beginning with the presentation of colors, followed by the pledge of allegiance and the singing of "America." Before Grace, a greeting and hello songs were sung.

After dinner, the guests were introduced and Mary Jean Turner, Senior Scout, read an appropriate reading on behalf of all mothers, and then Mary Jean led the group in singing.

Mrs. Frances Cobb, Senior Troop Leader for 11 years, made several presentations and announced that Mary Jean Turner and Sue Orsano were delegates to All State with Linda Stapler as alternate.

Mrs. Cobb presented 10 year pins to mothers and daughters for their faithful service. Receiving pins were Mrs. H. W. Danklefs and daughter, Donna Danklefs, and Mrs. L. E. Morgan and daughter, Nikki Morgan.

The Senior Troop held the audience captive with a skit on "How Not To Camp." The members held a meeting and decided they all knew what to do. They ended up at camp with none of the essentials and the only food was a bunch of onions, a banana and each brought a chocolate cake.

Following the skit, "Taps" was sung, and the colors retired.

Miss Sheila Best Is Honored Guest Of Bridal Shower

By Evelyn Laudy

A surprise miscellaneous shower, honoring Miss Sheila Best, bride-elect of Alan Albers, was held at the St. Luke's Christian Day School in Slavia recently.

A color scheme of orchid and white was carried out throughout the party rooms.

An umbrella over the gift table was done in orchid and the refreshment table was overlaid with a white cloth covered with orchid net. Pink roses and orchid colored Althea (Rose of Sharon) were used in lovely arrangements.

Miss Nyleene Albers and Miss Sharon Holloway assisted the guest of honor with opening her gifts. There were 30 invited guests among whom were Miss Best's mother, Mrs. J. S. Best, and her grandmothers, Mrs. G. R. Best and Mrs. Henry Thurston, and the groom-elect's mother Mrs. C. W. Yarborough.

Hostesses for the party were Mrs. Lex Abel, Mrs. J. L. Duda Jr., Mrs. George Jacobson and Mrs. E. L. Bellhorn.

Mrs. Glenn presented Miss Whittern with an appropriate gift.

The Ethel Root Circle of the Congregational Christian Church met recently at Fellowship Hall.

At the beginning of the meeting, a memorial service was conducted by the president, Mrs. Walter Bethea, for Mrs. Walter McPherson, wife of the church pastor, who died recently. The chair which Mrs. McPherson usually occupied, was draped in black, with a single bleeding heart flower. Appropriate Bible verses were read and a poem in her memory, after which the members sang, "Blest Be The Tie That Binds."

An impressive devotional service was presented by Mrs. Oscar Zitrower, based upon "The Carpenter" by Peter Marshall.

The program for the evening was on "Stewardship" which was discussed by Mrs. M. J. Corbett.

Reports were heard from various committee chairmen, and an interesting report was given on the quarterly meeting of the women's fellowship which was held recently.

The group decided that as their material aid project, they would financially aid Rider Memorial Hospital, and also would make bandages at the meetings for leprosy patients in India, which will be sent through the Church World Service.

The president appointed Mrs. Ralph Loring to serve as material aid chairman, and Mrs. Bonner Carter to be spiritual life chairmen.

At the conclusion of the meeting delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Edward Simpson to the following, Mrs. T. R. Alford, Walter Bethea, Bonner Carter, M. J. Corbett, Harold Herbst, Ralph Loring, A. M. Remus, Clayton Bagwell and Oscar Zitrower.

The General Business and Luncheon meeting of the Sanford Woman's Club met last Wednesday, with Mrs. B. F. McWhorter, Mrs. Virginia Middleton, Mrs. D. C. Howard, Mrs. R. D. Rhodes and Mrs. Roy Partin serving as hostesses.

After the luncheon, Mrs. C. R. Sims gave a report on the advertising campaign she has been directing, and reported there were only three and one half ads to be secured.

Mrs. W. L. Merritt asked the ladies for donations of day lilies to be used for beautification of the club grounds.

Mrs. Irving Pryor was elected president of the Civic Department, due to the resignation of Mrs. Effie Durden.

Mrs. W. L. Merritt, Mrs. Roy Tillis and Mrs. C. M. Flowers were elected delegates to the Seminole County Federation of Women's Clubs meeting to be held at the Hamilton House on May 28.

The annual May breakfast will be held at 8:30 a.m. on May 20 with card games following.

Patty used "Good Grooming" as her subject, starting out attired in a floral duster over a yellow linen dress with her hair in curls. By removing the duster and curlers and adding proper make-up and jewelry, Patty transformed her entire appearance in a matter of minutes into a well-groomed young woman.

Following her demonstration, Mrs. Gatchel distributed favors to all the ladies present.

Mrs. MARGE Echeberger, intendent vocalist, will be featured in "Heavy-Go-Round," a variety program to benefit The Seminole Association For Retarded Children, to be presented Tuesday, May 12, at 8 p.m. at Seminole High School auditorium.

"From Russia With Love" At Ritz

"From Russia With Love," the famous Secret Agent 007, second in the series of James Bond adventures, was filmed while the first, "Dr. No," was still playing to capacity crowds in virtually every country of the world. In Technicolor, the spy story opens Sunday at the Ritz Theatre, through United Artists release. Sean Connery repeats his characterization of James Bond in traditionally sky-lines of an historic city that spreads onto two continents—Europe and Asia.

Under the sky-lines — and under the sidewalks, in fact — is the thousand year old underground eldritch world of ancient Byzantine Emperors of Constantinople to store drinking water—and this, too, was used for a key scene in the exciting film.

The traditional director's call for "Quiet!" was almost meaningless during above

DANIELA BIANCHI plays the voluptuous girl friend of James Bond (Sean Connery) in the Ian Fleming story of international intrigue, "From Russia With Love." Filmed in Technicolor, the United Artists release will open Sunday at the Ritz Theatre and continue through Wednesday.

Movieland Feature

Walt Disney's "A Tiger Walks" will be featured Sunday through Tuesday at the Movieland Drive-In Theatre. It stars Brian Keith and is in color. Also on the bill will be Debbie Reynolds in "Mary, Mary," in color.

Co-featured on Wednesday and Thursday will be "Love Is a Ball," with Glenn Ford and Hope Lange, and "Lonely Are the Brave," with Kirk Douglas.

The triple color feature for Friday and Saturday, May 15-16, will be "Main Attraction," starring Pat Boone; "Captain Newman, M. D.," with Gregory Peck and Tony Curtis, and "The Kentuckian," with Burt Lancaster.

A Bengal tiger, weighing close to 400 pounds and capable of running down its prey at 30 miles an hour, plays a spectacular, starring role in "A Tiger Walks."

About the only time this tiger walks is when he first sees he has been left unattended during a truck repair stop in an unsuspecting small town and gingerly steps out to freedom and one of the wildest most provocative chase situations in the annals of moviedom.

Brian Keith, as a small town sheriff bent on bringing the big cat back alive, corners him with only a slow-ringing bullet from a tranquillizer gun to protect himself.

The tiger has just weathered a massive mortar attack perpetrated by a National Guard company. He has broken out of the perimeter, but can only make good his escape by racing through a supposedly unguarded gorge.

LEAP TO FREEDOM — This is the moment a caged tiger becomes a jungle beast roaming the streets of a city, in Walt Disney's Technicolor suspense drama, "A Tiger Walks," starring Brian Keith, Vera Miles and Pamela Franklin. This feature will run Sunday through Tuesday at Movieland Drive-In.

TABLE HOPPING

BY JUDY TURNER

Once again it is time to pay tribute to those VIM's... Very Important Mothers. Sunday is Mother's Day and you can serve her breakfast in bed then, but there is no need to wait to start showing her how much she is appreciated. Get dressed up in your stepping-out clothes and go out tonight or tomorrow night.

And a good starting place would be the Caribe lounge where they serve a tasty dinner made right there at Rose and Wilk's Restaurant... recent comment was that the steaks are very good. The Caribe would make a good finishing point too, since they're now open till 3 a.m. For that matter you can just stay there all evening. Lou reports that Norma is working especially hard with a lively lunch hour lately... and no wonder... the Caribe is so close and handy downtown besides providing a "get away from it all" noon hour atmosphere.

Friends of the Jim Spencers will be glad to hear that Jim has regained his golf form and is off in St. Lucie this week in the state amateur tourney. Doris went down with him... Meanwhile back at the ranch, so to say, Ed is still whipping up those delightful concoctions... like grasshoppers with ice cream and velvet hammers. And the food is superb as usual.

If you're shopping in the Seminole Plaza, or even if you make a special trip down, you'll want to stop in at the Trade Winds for a cup of coffee and a sandwich... at least that is the intention. Once you get inside and see all those goodies lined up for your inspection and choice you won't be able to stop picking up things to eat. From appetizing salads to luscious desserts... there is something for everyone.

In the mood for entertainment on a Wednesday night, say? Impossible? Not at all. Miss Carol Pettijohn is at the piano every night at Freddie's Steak House in the Lamplighter Lounge... enjoy the music and atmosphere as an accompaniment to a fine steak dinner.

Talked to a friendly voice at George's Tavern which belonged to one of the bartenders there... turned out to be Kris. The other one is Homer, and together with owner Laura Stephens they run a pleasant place indeed. George's has a complete line of beer, wine and liquor with a drive-in service, besides its bar and lounge. Plenty of free parking too.

New on the list this week is the Club Juana (pronounced wanna), opposite the Fern Plaza on 17-92. Message here says that FINALLY they have nightly entertainment to go with the newly redecorated and appointed club. There will be a grand opening soon to celebrate all these new things... Club Juana is owned by Mike and Teresa Pinter...

Just A Second(?)

There are so many international conferences these days that an important one slipped by with hardly anyone being aware of it.

The International Committee of Weights and Measures, which supervises the work of the International Bureau of Weights and Measures, which originated with the Treaty of the Meter in 1875, which was first adopted by French revolutionaries in 1791, convened last October to discuss some problems associated with weighing and measuring of interest to all scientists.

Don't feel badly about it, though, for Science, the magazine of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, has just got around to reporting on it.

One of the recommendations made by the committee involved a redefinition of the liter. It was supposed to be identical in value to the cubic decimeter, but recent discoveries revealed that the two differ by 28 parts in a million.

The committee also set wheels going that may lead later this year to a redefinition of the second. The Consultative Committee for the Definition of the Second hopes to be able to define the second in terms of an atomic constant by October, when another general conference will be held. Previously it was thought this couldn't be done before 1966.

In another matter, the Consultative Committee on Standards for Measuring Ionizing Radiations agreed to recognize the curie as a special unit of activity equal to 3.7x10 to the 10th power disintegrations per second. (But what is a second?)

Kidding aside, these matters are of vital concern to scientists and, since it is the scientists who are transforming the world, will affect all of us sooner or later, whether we understand them or not.

We should not be so foolish as to think that when the bell next tolls for meeting of the International Committee of Weights and Measures it does not also toll for us.

Thought For Today

Jesus said to them, Is not this why you are wrong, that you know neither the scriptures nor the power of God?—Mark 12:24.

In the time of Christ, men did not know what existed on the other side of death. But after the crucifixion and the ascension, Christ brought back the word that there is eternal life.—Robert Chamness.

Political Notebook

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Internal Revenue Commissioner Mortimer Caplin's statement that Bobby Baker had signed his accountant's name to his 1961 income tax return raises the question of how the nation's 150 handwriting experts operate.

"The secret," says a Post Office expert, "is to catch a man in those little idiosyncrasies he doesn't know he has. I don't even know my own after 23 years in the business."

It's where you dot your "i," high above or close, to the right or left, whether your dot is like a dot or like a comma, or whether you dot at all. It may be the way you cross your "t" with a long dash or short, straight or curved, up or down, high or low.

It's whether you end a word with a sweep, a downstroke or a neat, clipped-off curve. Or it may be how your different letters vary in height. How high is the "h" in "have" compared with the "ave"? How high is the "a" compared with the "v" and the "e"?

Does the lower loop of your capital "J" swing into the upper loop or not? Does the bottom circle of your capital "B" meet the vertical line or stop short with a jerk or curl back? How big are the loops in your "l's," "k's," and "b's"?

When you write, are your words spaced far apart or crowded close together? Are your "r's" narrow and pointed, flat-topped or top-heavy?

How do your letters slant? Do your "a's" look like "n's" or "o's"? Are they open or closed, fat at the bottom or narrow, straight up and down or slanted right or left, looped at the top or precisely drawn? Do your "v's" look like "u's"?

Most of these characteristics stay with a man until he dies. His writing will change temporarily when he's ill. It will change more if he shifts from right-handed writing to left. It will change some with natural aging. But many of his writing quirks will remain.

Experts have successfully checked out right-handed men who tried to disguise their writing by using crude left-handed scrawls. They have identified men from handwriting samples taken 20 years apart.

Post office analysts say they know no way to tell a man's character from his writing. But they feel pretty confident that given a reasonable amount of a man's handwriting they can tell whether he wrote another man's name on a series of checks.

In actual practice, the Post Office men find they're stumped about 20 per cent of the time. Usually, it's because they can't get enough samples. Sometimes it's because a clever writer is able to disguise his writing.

So far, the government men have been unable to find two people who write precisely alike. The Post Office Department has been making a study of the writing of 600 twins on the theory that twins are more likely to write alike than other people. In every case, the experts have been able to tell the writing of one twin from the other.

I was shown photographs of the teenage writing of each of the Dionne quintuplets. There was no problem in distinguishing between them.

In one famous New York kidnapping case, Federal Bureau of Investigation agents went through approximately 2 million handwriting samples from the New York State Motor Vehicle Bureau, federal and state probation offices, schools, aircraft plants and municipal records for writing similar to that in the ransom notes. They found the right man.

A major problem for the experts: juries are sometimes quite suspicious of handwriting testimony.

Letters

To The Editor

Editor, Herald:

The following is an open letter to the Seminole County Board of Commissioners:

I feel it my duty to again protest what I term your "Give Away Program." Giving away the tax payers' money for unnecessary and unessential purposes is fundamentally wrong.

I'm told recently you appropriated $6,800-plus for a Commission to study and recommend roads to be and from Orange County. It would seem to me the County Commissioners should perform that service with the aid of the County Engineer at a portion of the $6,800-plus.

I am told you contemplate a commission or authority to study, recommend, and build docks and harbor facilities at Sanford. Bonds are to be sold to finance it. Such expense cannot possibly be justified and will only serve to burden us with more and higher taxes.

The docks and harbor facilities are to handle the freight anticipated from the large canal between the St. Johns and Indian Rivers. Where the freight will come from, no one seems to know. That the canal could be a great asset is unquestionable; but only for pleasure boating. What is needed at Sanford is a Marina. Then to organize a regatta with races from Sanford, to Jacksonville down Indian River through the canal. Hundreds of miles of shore would benefit and Sanford would become a boating MECCA.

Then there is a Water Control Project where by the County is to be saddled with more taxes. Who will benefit? Orange County and some real estate developers. Seminole is a small county and for that reason, it is a poor county. With no one to challenge the authorities, it could soon be bankrupt. It is time the authorities, both locally and nationally, realize they are the trustees of our assets and rights. It is outrageous for them to bankrupt even the unborn.

S. F. Simpson
Fern Park

Editor's note: Commission Chairman James P. Avery says he knows nothing about a commission to study roads to and from Orlando. As to harbor facilities, there is a port authority committee making a feasibility study.

How is this all provided for? There are several answers: such as direct taxation, a flat fee system, personal contributions and by self operated social functions and activities.

We here in this community feel proud that we have no direct tax levy and no flat fee system. But by mutual aid we will respond to any part of the county where we may be of assistance at any time as long as we do not have to leave our own community unprotected. This has been and we hope will continue to be possible, to a great extent, by the fire conscious public in this and the surrounding areas, and even surrounding counties who have come to our events, and to those who have made other contributions to our department.

The time is here again when we are making preparations for our annual July 4 Fiesta. We would like to see you spend a pleasant day of happiness with us and help us continue this program of assistance to those who are near and dear to us all. If in any way we can be of help don't hesitate.

G. Theodore Waltz
Secretary
Longwood Vol. Fire Dept.

Editor, Herald:

Before heading for the "field and plow" along with many other disposed candidates, I wish to take this opportunity to express my sincere thanks and appreciation to the many many citizens of Seminole County who cast their vote for me yesterday. Your support was most gratifying in view of the fact that I was a novice in the political arena and not "intoxicated with experience."

Ford Cavanaugh

Editor, Herald:

Now that the campaigning is over, the ballots cast, the votes counted, and the atmosphere has stilled down and we are about to continue our day to day affairs under those public servants we have chosen to guide us, I cannot help but inform you not to forget one of your most important public servants The Fire Fighter.

As secretary of the Longwood Volunteer Fire Department, let me point out a few facts about the volunteer fireman. He is an average citizen who is subject to call 24 hours a day, who faces the danger of blast furnace-like temperatures, sometimes coming home with ruined clothing, or injured in one form or another necessitating medical care and absence from his employment or business and receives no remuneration other than the satisfaction he has done a good deed.

He is constantly being trained under the guidance of qualified personnel in the control of fires of any and all origins and types from the small back yard grass fire to the house fire and beyond to the large buildings of our industrial and commercial economy, and places of higher education and worship.

You may think this is a big field? Well it goes beyond that. He is there to give help and assistance in emergency cases like accidents, heart attacks, drownings, and emergency rescue activities during hurricanes, floods and national disaster.

Dr. Crane's Worry Clinic

CASE 5-459: Andy Smith is a veteran advertising man with the Cambridge (Ohio) Jeffersonian.

John Peters (Advertising Manager) and Bob Amos, talented editor, had met my plane at Zanesville during National Newspaper Week.

They took me to the Jeffersonian office to meet the entire staff of 65 employees.

During the day I addressed 2,000 high schoolers, plus 200 men at a combined service men's luncheon, and then an overflow crowd that night.

Over 20% of the entire city turned out, which shows the tremendous good will enjoyed by the newspaper.

Later I had a chat with Andy Smith, who said he especially relished every one of these columns that deal with advertising.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "I'll give you a personal example to show the importance of using proper words in proper places."

"As you know, our advertising clients may contract for a given amount of space.

"When I was a novice on the job, I would go up to such a client and tell him, 'You must use 15 more inches to fulfill your contract.'"

"That would often make him grow irate. He apparently felt I was trying to high pressure him.

"But then I hit upon a clever method of avoiding such an angry response.

"So now I smile and say, 'You have 15 more inches of advertising space coming to you.'"

"So now he beams and figures I am doing him a favor. Thus, he finishes out his contract and we are both happy about it."

Dean Swift, British literary genius, was once asked how to define literary style and he replied:

"It is simply proper words in proper places."

Well, that is also a superb definition of Applied Psychology, as Andy Smith has well attested.

One of the big drug chains used to serve eggs in its malted milk.

"Do you wish one egg or two in your malted milk?" would be the clerk's question.

This was an example of a "leading question" for it assumed the customer wanted some egg in his malted milk.

So the usual customer, even if he wasn't expecting eggs, would at least order ONE egg.

Another drug chain instructed its clerks to smile and say, after every customer had placed his order:

"We have a special today on shaving cream (or hand lotion, etc.) at a bargain price, so wouldn't you like some?"

And this zoomed sales enough so the General Manager told me, to pay the clerk's salaries.

Most of the dilemmas arising between human beings could be allayed by simply using proper words in proper places (and at the crucial moment).

So send for my booklet "New Psychology of Advertising and Selling," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20c.

The Herald welcomes letters from its readers on public affairs. The writer may use a pen name provided the letter also carries the writer's true name and address. Letters of fewer than 250 words will be given preference. Letters addressed to others are acceptable provided they do not deal in personalities. Poetry is not published by The Herald.

Editor, Herald:

I addressed the following letter to the chairman of the Florida State Road Department in Tallahassee:

Dear Sir:

I recently had occasion to use the Official Florida Road Map, 1963, issued by the State Road Department. I noted that the legend for military installations failed to list, and the Sanford position fails to show, the location of the Sanford Naval Air Station.

Sanford Naval Air Station is a fleet support activity of the U. S. Naval Forces, and the home of the Heavy Attack Wing, One of the Atlantic Fleet.

Since this is one of the largest and most active bases in the Southeastern military complex of the United States, and a key installation in the defense and attack capabilities of the Navy, I wonder how such an oversight occurred.

I certainly hope that you have been advised of this before and that some action is being taken to correct it.

Family Visit

They'll be here any minute! As soon as I finish the flowers I'll go and sit with Dad on the front porch, so we'll be right there when they all drive in. It'll be just wonderful to see them again.

Dad and I were saying last night that we couldn't have been blessed with better children or lovelier grandchildren. We've been so fortunate. Of course, there have been some tragic and terrible times, but God has never

THE CHURCH FOR ALL - ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor in the building of character and good citizenship. It is a nucleus of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four main reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Please go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

failed to give us the strength to meet them, and the courage to go on again.

We've always been a churchgoing family, and I know the children never miss a Sunday even now. Tomorrow we'll all go to church together, and it will seem like the old days when our family was still here at home. We have so much to thank God for, every one of us.

TO LIST YOUR CHURCH NOTICE CALL 322-2611

Geography Lesson: The Nile and St. Johns Rivers aren't the only two rivers flowing north. Readers let The Clock know they have favorite streams of fluid which also meander in a northerly direction. Up to the last phone call (there'll be more) the list includes the Genesee River, Amazon River, Monongahela River and the Red River.

The Genesee is located near Rochester, N. Y.; the Amazon in South America; the Red River ("Home of Red River Valley potatoes," a reader recites) flows north between Minnesota and North Dakota into Canada.

W. G. Ross offers this comment on the Monongahela: "The Clock is wrong. Another North American River which flows north is the Monongahela. It flows from West Virginia into the Allegheny at Pittsburgh to form the Ohio which flows into the Mississippi." It's important, he adds, for barge shipping of coal and other products.

Interested to note the interest in The Clock comments. Always welcome.

Units and personnel of Heavy Attack Wing One and Sanford Naval Air Station, along with McCoy, Oslando and Patrick Air Force Bases, will be featured in a preview of Armed Forces Day, May 16, over WDBO-TV, Channel 6, at 7 p.m. today.

Don't forget, if your birthday occurs this month, better check your driver's license. If you were born in an even-numbered year, it's due for renewal. It tells on your license.

State Comptroller Ray E. Green reports checks totaling $34,000 have been mailed to each of Florida's 67 counties as their share of the race track tax fund. They have received a total of $212,000 so far this year.

From the "How Come Department"—A Clock Watcher bought a length of aluminum wire to use as a clothesline. He cut it into four sections, strung each on a set of poles, pulling the wire as tight as he could. At nighttime all four are firm; in the morning, one—always the same one—droops. How come?

A Clock reader offers this suggestion for traffic improvement at 25th Street and Park Avenue: "Why don't they put a delayed green light or left turn signal at the intersection for drivers who want to make such a turn. As it is, you can sit there for many minutes waiting for cross traffic to clear so you can turn left."

A national democratic committeeman from Miami has the name of James James. Guess what his nickname is? Right... Jimmy.

And speaking of names, one in the Sanford phone book has intrigued Clock readers for some time. It's "Ifancie U Sheppard" with no period after the "U." A call to the person revealed that the neighbors were so proud of the baby they decided to invent a novel name. They did.

While we're correcting the record, here's one from an official of the newly-formed Las Columbus. The membership is made up of wives, mothers, daughters and sisters of the Knights of Columbus. And that's where the tie-in ends. The Las Columbus is an independent unit, not a K of C auxiliary.

Church-going on a downward trend? Hardly. For example, the membership of the Methodist Church in the United States is now 10,163,000, plus 1,005,199 in other countries, according to a report made at the church's quadrennial General Conference in Pittsburgh. The Florida Conference led all others in membership growth with an annual net increase of 10,264, bringing the total membership to 208,587.

SHS Band Members Given Top Awards

Seminole High School band members received the highest award possible—a superior rating—in three days of state contest competition in Tallahassee over the weekend.

The events were sponsored by the Florida Handmasters Association, northern division, and were conducted Thursday, Friday and Saturday on the Florida State University campus.

Six of the members who received superior ratings are Mike Corbin, tuba solo; Norman Leach, coronet solo; David Wieboldt, piano; Donna Ebersole, flutina; Val, tuba twirling.

Also receiving superior rating were members of the A Corps and B Corps twirling team. This group has never finished lower than superior in the 10 years the school has participated in the program, according to Ernest Cowley, Handmaster.

Gaining excellent ratings were Joel Fehl, flute; Susan Perkins, twirling; Joel Fehl, Betty Lou Corbin and Meda Neiman, flute trio; Norman Leach, Scott Malbon, John Horner and Mike Corbin, coronet quartet.

Piano accompanists were David Wieboldt and Becky Tanner.

While in Tallahassee, the group toured the State Capitol, Supreme Court Building, and other points of interest. A bus was chartered for the trip.

Hoffa Fund Use Probe Launched

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz started an investigation today into the use of Teamsters Union funds to pay the legal fees of James R. Hoffa.

Wirtz said the investigation was started at the request of 16 members of Teamsters Local 107 in Philadelphia.

The Local 107 members charged that Hoffa has been using Teamsters' funds in violation of the Landrum-Griffin labor law, which requires union officers "to hold its money and property solely for the benefit of the organization and its members."

The law also authorizes the secretary of labor to investigate if "he believes it is necessary in order to determine whether any person has violated or is about to violate" the law.

He had no further details on the shooting.

83 Servicemen And Families Aboard Plane

MANILA (UPI)—A U. S. military jet plane carrying 83 American servicemen and their families on a flight from California crashed tonight while coming into Clark Air Force Base, north of Manila. An Air Force spokesman said 71 persons were killed.

A spokesman said the big C135 jet of the Military Air Transport Service (MATS) was carrying 73 passengers and 10 crew members when it crashed on the south end of the runway while landing at the U. S. base 60 miles north of Manila.

Twelve persons survived the crash, the U. S. spokesman said.

The Air Force spokesman, Maj. John Rademacher, said the aircraft was coming in from Hawaii, where it had stopped briefly on a flight that originated at Travis Air Force Base in California.

Rademacher said the crash occurred about 7:15 p. m. (7:15 a. m. EDT).

Clark Air Base was to be the last stop on the flight.

A MATS spokesman at Travis said the C135 was carrying military personnel and their families.

The ill-fated flight originated at the Travis base in California at noon, EDT, Sunday. The C135 stopped over for about two hours in Hawaii before continuing on the last leg of the flight to the Philippines.

The ill-fated flight was a transport for Military Air Transport Service flights.

The Clark field crash was the fourth major air disaster in the past five days, bringing death to 167 persons.

Forty-four persons died Thursday when a Pacific Air Lines turbo-prop aircraft crashed at Danville Calif., near the end of a flight from Reno, Nev., to San Francisco. Authorities believe the pilot was shot in flight by a passenger. There were no survivors.

Forty-six persons died Friday night when an Argentine military transport plowed into a coastal sand dune as it approached for a landing at Lima, Peru, in heavy fog. Three persons survived the crash.

All six persons aboard were killed Saturday night when a U. S. Air Force C124, a four-engine Globemaster, exploded and crashed in a halloworm near Hohart, Okla.

Sinatra Saved From Sea Death

KAUAI, Hawaii (UPI)—Singer Frank Sinatra had a close brush with death Sunday when he and three other persons were swept out to sea by a huge wave near his rented house on the island of Kauai.

"In another five minutes he would have been gone," said Fire Lt. George Keawe, who took part in the rescue. "His face was turning blue."

The near-tragedy happened as Sinatra, Mrs. Howard W. Koch and two unidentified persons were struck by the wave as they waded in the surf of Waialua Bay.

The singer and Mrs. Koch, wife of the executive producer of a film which Sinatra is making in Hawaii, were swept about 75 yards out to sea by the undertow.

Adams Speaks
LAKELAND (UPI)—Secretary of State Tom Adams took time out today from riding herd on controversial primary election results to deliver the commencement address at Florida Southern College. He urged greater cooperation between Florida's public and private colleges and universities.

Cancer Film
A new film on cancer will be shown at 8 p.m. today in the North Orlando Civic Building. The film, which is suitable for mixed audiences, is being sponsored by the North Orlando Civic Association. A local physician will be in attendance to answer questions.

Returns To Be Certified Wednesday, Kelly Told

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—Returns from the May 5 gubernatorial primary will be certified Wednesday, Secretary of State Tom Adams said yesterday.

Adams, in a letter to Scott Kelly of Lakeland, said the official canvass should be complete by Wednesday and although the Canvassing Board does not have the authority to make a county-by-county check of the figures, his staff has been working long hours since Friday "to very carefully check the returns."

The returns are those officially certified by the commission of each of the 67 state counties.

Kelly, who ran third, had asked the board to make a check on the voting procedures of each of the counties.

MIAMI (UPI)—Miami Mayor Robert King High accused his opponent in the May 26 gubernatorial runoff Sunday of attempting to cloud up the campaign issues "with racism."

His opponent, Jacksonville Mayor Haydon Burns, spent a quiet Mother's Day at home with his family.

High left for the Tampa Bay area Sunday after repeating his charges that Burns is using the integration controversy to dodge campaign issues "because of his allegiance to vested interests."

The bi-lingual Miami mayor said Burns couldn't afford to talk about a $1.25 per hour minimum wage that he proposes because "of the railroads, the DuPonts and some big insurance companies."

Burns said his campaign for the runoff will make clear the difference between the philosophy of High, who he termed a "NAACP endorsed candidate" and his own.

The Jacksonville mayor went on to say he always supported the right of peaceful pickets and orderly gatherings, but he said he could not tolerate public disorders "that violate the rights of all citizens."

Meanwhile two Florida newspapers took opposite sides in endorsements.

The St. Petersburg Times endorsed High Sunday and called the Miami mayor "an honest and truthful man—he would represent the people without obligation to special interests."

The Orlando Sentinel endorsed Burns and said "He has a clear cut citrus program... and is a young man sufficiently energetic to meet the arduous requirements of the office."

'Be Seated' Show At Fair Closed
NEW YORK (UPI)—One of the major theater attractions at the New York World's Fair closed Sunday before its official opening.

The closing of producer Mike Todd Jr.'s $150,000 show, "America Be Seated," appeared to be in line with growing concern by concessionaires in the fair's amusement area that the crowds were not being drawn to their attractions.

Todd said the minstrel-type show closed because it was "not up to standard." Tickets cost $5. It was to have opened officially next Friday at the Louisiana pavilion but Todd has been putting on performances since it came down from a New England tryout last week.

3 More Seized In Bomb Plot
SAIGON (UPI)—Police arrested three more persons today in connection with a Communist bomb plot against Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara.

McNamara, who arrives Tuesday, will make another inspection check on the progress of the U. S. - supported war against Communist guerrillas. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of staff, arrived here today.

Vietnamese police said the three persons taken into custody today admitted their part in a plan to blow up a bridge between Saigon airport and the city at the time when McNamara's motorcade was scheduled to pass over it.

Two terrorists were arrested Saturday night while laying wires to 50 pounds of explosives under the bridge.

Monkey Throws A Wild Pitch
MIAMI (UPI)—A 10-pound ring-tailed monkey named Mona Lisa broke out of her cage last night and played havoc with a clothing store in a shopping center here.

To the delight of onlookers at Sunland Shopping Center, the cinnamon-colored monkey threw shoes, boxes, boots and clothing from one end of the saddle and togs shop to the other.

City To Have Light Agenda
A light agenda faces the City Commission in its semi-monthly meeting at 8 p.m. tonight.

Agenda includes a public hearing for rezoning, already approved by the City Zoning and Planning Commission, of the area north of 24th Street, south of Grove Manor and east of the A.C. railroad from R-1A to R-1A; appointment to the Sanford Housing Authority, consideration of a list of buildings for condemnation hearing, request by Clifford McKibbin, chairman of the Zoning and Planning Commission, regarding the feelings of agricultural use in a city-owned muck bed, and request of the City of Miami for a contribution to pay for the review of Southern Bell telephone rates.
