Astronauts Expect Good Orbit

HOUSTON (UPI) — Astronauts Joe Engle and Richard Truly, who will fly the second orbital test flight of the space shuttle this fall, said today they expect to have a successful flight but doubted they'd top the first mission.

"I don't think there's any danger of that," Engle said when asked if he was going to top the performance of John Young and Robert Crippen last April. "After looking at film footage of the landing John did, that was a very un-Navy like landing he did."

Young was a Navy pilot before he became an astronaut. Engle is an Air Force colonel.

"Besides, they were first," Engle said. "When you ask what are you going to do to top that, nobody is going to top that."

Truly agreed. "I learned a long time ago don't try to top John Young," Truly said. "Following John and Crip is a hard act to follow, but we'll do our own thing. The flight, I believe, will be just as successful."

Engle and Truly are scheduled to launch from Cape Canaveral, Fla., on Sept. 30, fly a five-day mission and land at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif.

They will for the first time test the remote manipulator system — a remote control crane that will be used to unload the shuttle's payload bay in space. They also will test maneuvering characteristics that Young and Crippen did not try on the first flight, a three-day mission designed primarily to go up and come back.

Engle, 48, who flew the X-15 rocket plane into space, will be commander of the second shuttle mission. Truly, 43, a Navy captain will be the pilot. Both flew two approach and landing tests of the shuttle, piloting it off the back of a Boeing 747 to a glide landing.

Engle and Truly have been consulting daily with Young and Crippen. Engle said Young had given him some succinct advice.

"Don't do nothing dumb," Engle quoted Young as saying.

Engle and Truly said there had been thorough examination, testing and modification of the heat shield tiles that popped off during the first mission and both said they were unworried about the system intended to prevent the shuttle from burning up upon re-entry into the earth's atmosphere.

"Essentially, the tile protection system worked as designed and before the first flight it had not been tested. Now it has," Engle said. "So I'm sure confident."

Brady Suffers Epileptic-Type Seizure

WASHINGTON (UPI) White House press secretary James Brady, shot in the head during the March 30 assassination attempt on President Reagan, suffered a "grand mal" epileptic-type seizure in his hospital room Monday, the White House announced.

Brady, 40, was promptly treated with intravenous medication and anesthesia after the seizure at George Washington University Hospital, White House spokesman Larry Speakes said.

"His vital signs are normal," he said. "He is sleeping under anesthesia and is currently in the post recovery room."

Grand mal seizures are characterized by rapid, sometimes violent, muscle contraction and relaxation. In many instances, the seizure lasts for several minutes, leaving the victim open to potentially harmful injuries. The victims often bite their tongues as they clench their jaws.

Speakes said a subsequent brain scan showed no apparent cause for the seizure and there is continued healing of Brady's earlier injury.

Dr. Robert Kobrine, Brady's neurosurgeon, is "continuing to observe Mr. Brady in the recovery room at this time," Speakes said.

Commissioner Praises Florida's No-Fault Insurance Reforms

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — The state needs to "throw down the gauntlet" and defend Florida's automobile insurance no-fault reforms and excess profits laws, Insurance Commissioner Bill Gunter said Monday.

The department just completed a review of the major sections of the Florida Insurance Code under provisions of the Sunset Law. The proposals will be submitted to House and Senate legislative committees for consideration.

"I want those within and outside the industry alike to know that this department will vigorously and aggressively defend Florida's excess profits and no-fault laws with equal fervor," Gunter told a morning news conference.

"I intend to use every power of persuasion at my command to defeat every misguided assault on the law," he said, adding that no-fault reforms enacted in 1976 and 1978 stabilized a pyramiding system of higher rates.

Gunter praised the recent Florida Supreme Court decision upholding the excess profits law on automobile insurance, and said it would be applied "fairly and equitably" on an annual basis.

The average premium in Florida has decreased by five percent since 1977, while the comparative cost nationally was a plus 20 percent, Gunter said.

The average auto insurance premium in Florida last year was $274, compared with $287 in 1977 and last year's national average of $313.

"We need to throw down the gauntlet and show that we won't be dissuaded from our priorities," Gunter said. "Our first line of protection is for the people of this state who pay the bills."

Gunter also proposed a new program aimed at combating the growing trade in "phantom vehicles" — nonexisting cars and trucks that are insured and then reported stolen, allowing the "victim" to collect on the insured vehicle.

The program would require insurance agencies to inspect at least 10 percent of all private passenger nonfleet motor vehicles being insured for the first time.

Any Seminole High School student desiring to make a schedule change for the 1981-82 school term must do so during August 10-14 between the hours of 8 a.m. and 3 p.m. The student should report to the guidance office, according to A.W. Epps, principal.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Developed Out Of Womb, Miracle's In Fine Condition

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI) — Miracle, a full-term baby girl developed outside her mother's womb, was described in excellent condition at St. Anthony's Hospital today and she and the mother should be able to go home by Thursday.

Miracle was born Friday to Doretha Jackson and weighed 5 pounds, 4 ounces.

"She looks so healthy and serene," hospital spokeswoman Verna Carey said of the infant.

Carey said the parents and doctor had not been aware that the development of the child was taking place outside the womb.

Mrs. Jackson is a school psychologist serving three Pinellas County schools. Her husband Wallace teaches electronics at St. Petersburg High School.

The spokeswoman said the mother said she and her husband had decided earlier to name their child Miracle if it was a girl because she had been told three years ago after a tubal pregnancy ended in a miscarriage that she could never have children.

Orange Juice Can Be Fatal

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Joggers who drink orange juice and other potassium-heavy juices in the belief that the body throws potassium off during exercise may actually be poisoning themselves, medical researcher Dr. Robert Cade says.

Cade, a University of Florida researcher — and developer of the exerciser's drink Gatorade — says he believes the notion that the body loses potassium through exercise is a myth.

"We find there's almost no potassium in sweat and runners lose an insignificant amount through perspiration," Cade said. "What is lost is replaced when they eat their next meal."

Far more harmful than losing potassium is consuming too much of it in an effort to avoid the loss, he said. Runners can kill themselves trying to replace potassium they may not even be losing.

Too much orange juice before jogging, he says, could be fatal. "Just a couple of liters (about 2½ quarts) of orange juice just before or while you're running could be deleterious. More than that could be fatal," Cade said.

Fliers Out For Adam

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (UPI) — More than $150,000 worth of fliers bearing the face of 6-year-old Adam Walsh have been distributed and his parents have appeared on television pleading for his safe return, but police still are stumped about the mysterious disappearance of the youngster one week ago.

The hazel-eyed youngster was last seen around noon Monday, July 27, in the toy department of a Sears store at a Hollywood mall. His mother, Reve Walsh, was shopping for lamps four aisles away when her son vanished.

Adam's parents believe Adam was kidnapped for companionship rather than ransom and have appealed to the public for help in finding their son.

His father, Motel executive John Walsh, and mother offered a $50,000 reward and appeared on television to plead for their child's safe return. They have promised not to prosecute the abductor if Adam is returned safely.

A public hearing on the proposal will be held on August 11, 1981, at the hour of 7:00 p.m. or soon thereafter, in Room 200 of the Seminole County Courthouse, Sanford, Florida. The public hearing is being held in order to discuss and hear comments on additions and revisions to comprehensive amendments to the adopted Seminole County Comprehensive Plan.

The report is available for review at the Planning Department of the Courthouse in Sanford. A limited number of the reports are available for distribution to groups representing diverse business, professional, civic and community interests, and to members of the general public. All interested groups and individuals are encouraged to critically review these draft amendments, ask questions and provide reactions. Contact Woody Price, Planning Director at 322-4320 ext. 101 for information. Staff of the Planning Department is available to discuss the draft amendments should individuals or groups so desire.

Fame

BOB GIBSON of the St. Louis Cardinals used to intimidate hitters with his aggressiveness — and his fastball. Sometimes it would sink and sometimes it would sail.

Intimidating Gibson Shares Thrills Galore

By BOB GIBSON

Thrills? I've had my share. For starters, there was the no-hitter against the Pirates in 1971. Being a high-ball pitcher, I had just about given up any thoughts of throwing a no-hitter. But that particular night in Pittsburgh I was overpowering.

The Pirates managed just four base runners, three on walks and one on a wild-pitch strike out. We scored five in the first and coasted to an 11-0 win. I fanned 10 and I learned later that it was the first no-hitter in Pittsburgh since 1907.

Then there was the 1964 World Series. We had won the National League pennant on the very last day of the season after overcoming a six and one-half game Phillies' lead with only 12 games to play.

We won the Series opener 9-5, but I was the loser in the second game. And the Series was knotted at two apiece when I took the mound for Game 5. We won 5-2 on (Tim) McCarver's homer in the 10th.

In the Yankee ninth, Joe Pepitone's line drive caromed off my right hip and bounced toward third, but I was able to recover and throw him out at first. If I hadn't made the play we would have been beaten by Tom Tresh's subsequent home run. I gave up six hits and fanned 13.

The Yankees tied the Series again by winning the sixth game, and I was the pitcher in the deciding contest. Mel Stottlemyre was Yogi Berra's choice. We opened up a 6-0 lead and won the game 7-5 and the Series 4-3. My 31 strikeouts in 27 innings was a Series record.

But the entire 1968 season has to rate at the top for me. As a player, I was always concerned with consistency, and consistency is what I had in 1968. I can't remember having a bad start — I just seemed to do everything right. It seemed that every pitch was knee high on the corner.

It was a once-in-a-life-time year and a season I cherish. My pitching stats that year: 22 wins and 9 losses, 34 games started, 28 complete games, 305 innings pitched, 198 hits allowed, 49 runs (or which 38 were earned), 62 walks, 268 strikeouts and a 1.12 earned run average. I also had 13 shutouts.

Looking back, it seems almost impossible to give up only one run a game over the course of an entire season; it stands as the lowest ERA ever by a pitcher working 300 innings. I won the Cy Young Award and the National League MVP that year, and in the World Series I was 2-1, including an opening-game shutout in which I struck out a record 17 Tigers, giving up five hits. I also hit my second World Series home run, thus becoming the first pitcher to hit two World Series homers. My 35 strikeouts broke my own Series record.

I liked what my teammate Mike Shannon had to say about my performance that year. He said that watching me pitch was "like watching Rembrandt paint a picture."

Outwardly, I've never shown much emotion — that's not my style. But many times the skyrockets were going off inside me and they're doing that right now as I contemplate the Hall of Fame.

Six Three-Homer Games Tops Mize Remembrances

By JOHN MIZE

I guess that most players would remember any game in which they hit three home runs. Well, I did it six times — still a major-league record.

And I remember something about each and every game. I suppose one's first three-homer game provides a special thrill. I had never hit three in the minors. But midway through the 1938 season the Cardinals, my team, were hosting Boston. The Bees had piled up an early lead, and they coasted to an easy win. But I tagged Jim Turner for three consecutive drives batting fifth in the order behind Joe Medwick.

A week later I hit three more in the second game of a double-header against the Giants, and I remember us sweeping the twin bill.

I didn't turn the trick at all the following season, but I did it twice again in 1940. It was early in the season in Cincinnati — an extra-inning contest — and the strange thing about it was that no umpires showed up for the game. It was a make-up affair and evidently there was a mix-up in the scheduling. Larry Goetz was called in (he was living in Cincinnati); the Reds' coach Jimmy Wilson and one of our pitchers, Lon Warneke, filled out the crew for the day.

In September I hit three successive homers against the Pirates at Sportsman's Park, but we lost a slugfest, something like 16-14.

My next three-home run occurrence was seven years later in a Giants uniform. Boston whipped us big, but I hit three in a row off Johnny Sain.

Finally, in 1950, I walloped three for the sixth time, playing for the Yankees in Detroit. I was hitting fifth behind Joe DiMaggio. And Art Houtteman was the Tiger pitcher. All three drives were close to 400 feet, and I broke my own record for doing it the most times.

Looking back, the odd thing was that in the six games, I hit 18 home runs and must have had close to 30 RBIs, but we only won one of the contests.

I had a good shot at making it seven times too.

I already had two in New York one day and I had the "take" sign on a 2-0 pitch. It was a fast ball right down the middle, and I've often wondered what might have happened if I could have taken my cuts.

With many years experience installing and servicing heat and air conditioners in the Sanford area, Southern Air of Sanford, Inc. employees

Southern Air Has New Look, Same Quality Service

If you see those new white trucks with red, white and blue stripes and the Carrier logo on them driving around town, it's not a new air-conditioning firm. Southern Air of Sanford has a new look for its trucks and building at 100 N. Maple Ave. But rest assured, it still has the same quality sales and service for which it has been noted since 1961.

Southern Air also has new owners, who took over the operation on April 1 from former owner, George Mills. Although George is enjoying a well deserved retirement he still pops in now and then to see how things are going, said Chris Lillie, president.

Chris, who purchased the business along with his partner Keith Sweers of Pompano, is new to Sanford. He says he likes the area and is happily settled in now. Sweers runs the operation in Pompano.

Lillie has a Class A certification as an air-conditioning contractor with the state, having been certified since the first test was given in 1974. He has been in the business since he got out of school.

Still on the job are long-time employees Earnest Watson, better known to his friends and customers as "Big Red" and Lester Pedone.

Ernie, who is service manager, has been with the company for 10 years. Lester is construction manager and has been with the company for 12 years.

Southern Air offers 24-hour service. The office is open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., but there is an answering tape machine to take your calls after hours. The firm gives top priority to emergency calls from those who are ill or have certain high risk medical problems and to commercial accounts.

We are set up to handle everything from small window air-conditioning units to large commercial central air conditioning and heat pump installation and service," said Chris.

We pride ourselves on fast, friendly service," he added. Call 322-8321 to find out about Southern Air's senior citizen discount for service labor.

Southern Air serves all of Seminole County, West Volusia and North Orange Counties. They will be glad to give free estimates. The firm has been a full line carrier dealer in Sanford since 1965, but also services all other brands.

They have a 5,000 sq. ft. of floor space in their shop which is fully equipped for doing fiber glass duct work as well as sheet metal duct work.

Southern Air carries a large inventory of parts and equipment to provide fast service.

They can arrange financing with as little as 10 percent down and as long as 36 months to pay.

In addition to servicing and installing air conditioning and heat pumps in existing residences and new construction, Southern Air also services commercial refrigeration such as walk-in coolers and ice machines.

The men at Southern Air are certified heat pump specialists and they sell, install, and service a full line of heat pumps.

Laudner Held In Check, Baker Shuts Out O-Twins, 3-0

KNOXVILLE — Even Tim Laudner couldn't strike here Monday night.

Orlando Twins' slugging catcher along with the rest of his mates, 3-0 to send the O-Twins reeling to their third straight defeat.

Laudner has been on a home run binge of late. He has closed within one round-tripper of the Southern League record held by Mark Hotman of 37. The Twins need only six "taters" to break the league mark of 146 by Asheville.

Monday night, though, Orlando could muster just three hits as it fell into third place. Bob Mulligan was the hard-luck loser for Orlando despite surrendering only six hits and two earned runs. Mulligan fell to 2-5, while Baker leveled off at 4-4.

Former Los Angeles Dodger catching prospect Kevin Pasley slugged a homer for Knoxville. Orlando wraps up its series Tuesday and returns to Tinker Field Wednesday night for a four-game set with Memphis.

Whitmire Aces Mayfair's 16th

R.C. Whitmire recorded a hole-in-one Saturday at the Mayfair Country Club according to club pro Al Lovato.

It was the second ace for Whitmire at Mayfair. He used a five-iron on the 144-yard, par three 16th hole.

Hilton's Homer Power(s) Drill

Casey Hilton slammed a home run as Power Drill upended the Carpetbaggers (13-5) in Women's softball action Monday night at Summerset Field in Casselberry.

In other games, Foley's Follies crushed Area One, 18-0 and the Misfits subdued Valone's, 7-1.

Montreal Expo outfielder Tim Raines seems to be looking for the 33,738 votes he needed to surpass Dave Parker for the third starting spot in the National League outfield for Sunday's All-Star Classic in Cleveland. Raines finished fourth with 412,364 votes as a write-in candidate. Many of the votes came on a write-in campaign staged by the Evening Herald in conjunction with the Orlando Twins baseball club. Even though the Sanford speedster didn't make the starting lineup, it's almost certain he will be picked by Dallas Green as a backup performer.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Chemical Fumes Kill 28, Poison 1,000 After Wreck

SAN LUIS POTOSI, Mexico (UPI) — Army troops today closed off the remote mountain village of Montanas where lethal gas fumes from a derailed freight train killed 28 peasants and poisoned more than 1,000.

The Red Cross said the death toll could rise even higher. Some 600 people have been evacuated from the village, 240 miles north of Mexico City, and 3,000 have fled from the nearby town of Cerritos.

Authorities did not indicate, however, if there would be a mass evacuation from the village, where a 35-car freight train hurtled off the tracks Saturday, flipping 27 tank cars and spilling more than 4,000 gallons of chlorine gas.

Red Cross official, Dr. Carlos Galvan, said 28 people died from exposure to the acid fumes and over 1,000 more were poisoned and taken to hospitals.

"Unfortunately, there is the possibility the persons exposed longest to the fumes will suffer from permanent mental and nervous disorders," he said.

Gambian Rebels Release 2

DAKAR, Senegal (UPI) — Leftist insurgents in Gambia, besieged by Senegalese troops and tanks, released two of 29 hostages seized in a coup attempt and agreed to negotiate an end to the violence, Senegalese radio said.

The radio said Monday the rebels freed a Senegalese diplomat and another unidentified hostage, but still held other hostages, including one of the two wives and children of Gambian President Dawda Kairaba Jawara.

The rebels from Gambia's 900-man paramilitary field forces launched the coup at dawn Thursday, seizing key installations in the capital of Banjul and taking 31 hostages while Jawara was in London for the royal wedding.

Within hours of declaring they would establish a "dictatorship of the proletariat," Senegalese troops and tanks moved across the border to crush the rebellion at Jawara's request and routed the rebel forces from Banjul.

President Jawara warned the rebels Monday he would mete out "total and terrible" retribution if they did not lay down their arms, but also promised them "humane treatment" if they surrendered.

Begin Wins Agreement

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Prime Minister Menachem Begin, capping five weeks of political haggling, won agreement from his prospective coalition partners and will present his new government to parliament on deadline Wednesday, an aide said today.

The government press office announced the coalition signing ceremony would take place tonight at Begin's office.

"There is no more doubt," the aide said. "The prime minister will definitely present his government in the Knesset tomorrow."

Three religious political parties have joined Begin's Likud Bloc to form a government, giving him a bare 61-vote assured majority in the 120-seat parliament to face the strongest parliamentary opposition in the country's history.

Bombings Wrack Iran

On Mahamed Ali Rajai's first day as president of Iran, bombings killed 15 people and wounded 33 others. Japan demanded Tehran slash its oil prices and supporters of leftist guerrillas besieged Iran's embassy in West Germany.

Rajai's assumption of the presidency Monday, replacing ousted chief of state Abolhassan Bani-Sadr, coincided with an official announcement of 15 more executions of leftists, raising the number of executions to 319 since the June dismissal of Bani-Sadr, now in exile in France.

Rajai, who gave up the office of prime minister, was sworn in as chief of state along with 27 members of parliament, who were elected to replace legislators killed in the June 28 bombing of the Islamic Republican Party headquarters in Tehran.

The new president's first day in office was marked by violence, including the detonation of a bomb in a booby-trapped car outside Pasteur Hospital, only 500 yards from his office. The bombing killed one person and wounded 18 others, Tehran Radio said.

Sadat To Meet With Reagan

United Press International

A basic disagreement over the role of the Palestinians in the Middle East negotiations hangs over the first meeting between President Reagan and President Anwar Sadat of Egypt.

Sadat, scheduled to arrive tonight, will be in the United States for four days. He will have three meetings with Reagan, whom he has never met, and also will travel to Plains, Ga., to talk with former President Jimmy Carter, the chief architect of the Camp David accords that brought about the Egyptian-Israeli peace treaty.

Egypt and Israel Monday signed documents setting into motion the final phase of that agreement, creating a multinational force to watch over the Egyptian Sinai, once the Israeli forces are withdrawn in April 1982.

Sadat has just completed a series of meetings in Britain where basic agreement was reported by British officials on a number of issues, including the belief the Palestinians, through the Palestine Liberation Organization, should play some role in the stalled West Bank autonomy talks.

Israel refuses to deal with the PLO, and the United States is committed, by a 1975 agreement, to have no negotiations with the PLO until the organization recognizes Israel's right to exist.

Warning Strike in Poland

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) — Defiant Solidarity union protesters demanding more food blocked Warsaw's main streets with about 150 buses, taxis and trucks for a second day today and workers staged a one-hour warning strike in Czesochowa Province in a growing challenge to the government.

The union vowed the standoff in the capital would go on until a two-hour strike in the Warsaw region Wednesday and it warned attempts to break the protest would trigger wide-spread walkouts.

"After that strike, we will go home or to work," a union spokesman said today. "But we declare: the patience of the people is running out. There are only 150 of us. There could be thousands."

"We can't step back... We categorically will not bow from our position," Solidarity leader Lech Walesa said after crisis talks with the government on how to end the widening crisis over an August cut in meat rations, food shortages and increasing prices.

Newspaper To Close Without Pay Cut

Unions Weigh 'Do Or Die' Ultimatum

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — With the fate of the century-old Philadelphia Bulletin in their hands, union leaders said today they would refrain from talking publicly about an ultimatum that they cut $4.9 million in costs or allow the paper to close.

The newspaper's owner, the Charter Co. of Jacksonville, Fla., Monday announced that unless the seven unions representing about half of the newspaper's 1,900 employees could meet that demand, the 14th largest newspaper in the country would close its doors permanently Aug. 18.

Charter Co. officials blamed accelerating losses since 1979 for forcing the ultimatum. The Bulletin lost $13.4 million in 1980 and another $10.3 million in the first six months of this year, said Tom McMorrow, a Charter vice president.

The unions are free to design the concessions that would achieve the desired cutback "any way they want," McMorrow said. "But the $4.9 million

"It certainly is a do or die situation," said Gus Schott, president of the Graphic Arts International Union Local 7P. "I'm not speaking about anything until we find out if we can have a determination."

The unions, he said, "share the commitment not to divulge anything until then."

Leonard Spears, attorney for the Typographical Workers' Union of Philadelphia, reiterated the need for silence. "We certainly believe it's a serious situation. Whether or not there's going to be full acquiescence, whether or not even we can — that's a problem."

Some employees were not optimistic that an acceptable arrangement could be made.

"I don't see the union going back on its (contract) demands," said Robert Stadler, a 13-year veteran of the newspaper's printing department and the union representative for the Typographical Workers.

"We are barebone now," said another union member who, like most of the Bulletin employees, asked not to be identified. "I can't see that we can do more for less."

The announcement was the second time in two weeks that a major daily newspaper has said it will close.

Time Inc. announced two weeks ago that the Washington Star, the capitol's afternoon daily and Washington's oldest newspaper, would cease publication Aug. 7 because Time has lost $45 million since buying the paper in 1978 from Joseph Albritton.

The Bulletin, founded in 1847 by Alexander Cummings, has a circulation of 406,000 and a total annual payroll of almost $42 million, publisher N.S. "Buddy" Hayden said.

In the event the unions determine they can meet the ultimatum, Charter will cut non-union costs by $1.4 million by eliminating 63 full-time positions, most of them in the advertising and circulation departments, McMorrow said. He said no layoffs were planned for the news staff.
